This Town-- That World

FRESIDE MUSINGS
Winter Wonderland—poopy! Boreas, you are a villain worse than Fagin. Please, no further mention of "old-fashioned winters"—we're convinced. . . . Wonder if it could be arranged to pay gas bills like income taxes, in installments? The snow stopped the flu, one optimist opined—but a misanthrope wanted to know how much that helped us who had the flu first. . . . If that snowdrift moves, don't shoot—it may be me. . . .

Only 11 more days till Spring—tra-la.
The best thing that could happen during this cold weather would be for a smile to freeze on some folks' faces.

IT ALL DEPENDS

A reader sends this desk a newspaper clipping telling of a Kenton county judge slapping jail terms on parents who fail to provide for their children, requiring them to work during the day to support their youngsters, then return to spend nights in prison.
"This should make good reading to some readers of The Times," our correspondent writes. And we comment: It will not be good reading to some, too.

HE TAKES THE PLEDGE

We have been receiving considerable mail from out-of-state readers, most of them from Ohio, since the Kentucky bonus law was enacted. One regular contributor is "Application for Reinstatement of Citizenship in the State of Kentucky." Strikes me that I've printed a part of this "application" before, but nobody around the office agrees, and so here is the "pledge" signed by the applicant after he lists his name, his woman's name, the number of his youngsters, etc.
"I do hereby pledge that me my woman and all my kids wish to return to make our home in the state of Kentucky. I further pledge that I had no idea of being a Yankee for life when I left and that I have had no Yankee children while gone from this state. I pledge that I have not been a resident in Yankee territory for more than three years, and I have been faithful to return every holiday.

FLOYD NATIVE CRASH VICTIM

Clarence Robinette Dies Wednesday of Injuries; Four Children Escape

Clarence Robinette, 32 years old, of Chicago, formerly of Harold, was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon in a highway accident near Ripley, Ohio, as he was driving to this county. His four children escaped with minor hurts.
Robinette lost control of his auto on an icy, snow-covered highway, and the car rammed into a tractor-trailer, it was said. He died an hour later of chest and head injuries.
The Robinette family moved about seven years ago from Harold to Chicago, where he and his wife were employed. The victim was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Robinette, and after their deaths he was reared by his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Collins, of Harold.
Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Melva Kidd Robinette, four children, a brother, Gordon Robinette, of Chicago, and one sister, Addie of Florida.
The body will be brought to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home tonight. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

MICRO-WAVE SYSTEM PLANNED BY GAS FIRM

P'BURG-W. VA. LINK TO COST NEAR MILLION

Communications System To Be Part of Network; Work Planned This Year

A micro-wave system that sends communications from mountaintop to mountaintop like a beam of light will be installed this year by the United Fuel Gas Company to form the backbone of a giant communications network.

Prestonsburg will be the Eastern Kentucky terminus of the United Fuel system which will have origin at Cedarville, W. Va., and extend through Charleston and Huntington along the way. Thirteen stations will be installed along the route, most of these on mountaintops, and some of these will have towers 320 feet high.

The United Fuel system will cost an estimated $876,000 and is expected to be completed by Oct. 15. It will be the middle link in a vast communications system to be put into operation by United Fuel's parent company, the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

The micro-wave system to be installed by United Fuel will have a capacity of 240 channels, and these channels will, in addition to carrying vocal communications, send teletyping signals which will be relayed by remote control the flow of gas in the company's pipelines.

Approximately 80 per cent of United Fuel gas deliveries already are controlled by some form of automation requiring communications circuits. Pointing out the vital importance of a communications system to gas pipelines operation, D. E. York, superintendent of communications for the company, said the new system will be wholly reliable, not subject to failure because of storms or power service interruptions, and will also be economical.

The United Fuel system will operate from batteries which can, in an emergency, be recharged by natural gas-driven generators.

Kentucky sites for towers were listed as Wallbridge in Lawrence county, Inez in Martin, Arkansas mountain in this county, and possibly a point nearer Prestonsburg. Receiving and transmitting equipment will be housed in the United Fuel office here.

Hitherto, voice communications have been mainly dependent on telephone lines either owned outright by the company or leased by it.

ALARM TRAPS 3 AT MARTIN

In Lafferty Restaurant; Howard Wholesale Break Remains Unsolved, Said

Three persons—one a youth of 14—were trapped inside the restaurant of Charlie Lafferty at the "Y" outside Martin, Saturday night and later were jailed here on charges of breaking and entering.
A burglar alarm betrayed the presence of the looters, and the owner of the restaurant and Mason Moore, owner of a nearby business held the trio inside while awaiting arrival of State Troopers Goble and Williamson.

One of the trio, Randall Reed was still in jail Tuesday, in default of $1,000 bond. The juvenile, who had no previous criminal record was released to his father, and the third, Chester Ray Cisco, who also is said not to have been in previous trouble with the law, was at liberty under bond.

Looting of the Howard Wholesale at Allen, Feb. 29, remains unsolved. Allie Howard, owner of the business, said this week an audit revealed that about 2,200 cartons of cigarettes were taken, presumably hauled away in a truck. At first the loss was estimated at between 80 and 1,000 cartons. The loot is valued at approximately $4,000.

An attempt to break open the wholesale firm's safe was unsuccessful, Mr. Howard said. He also said the thieves failed to take any money.

FIRM DEFERS BUILDING JOB

Francis Announces Store Plans Postponed; Council Lack of Action Scored

R. G. Francis, of the Francis Stores here, said Tuesday that plans of his firm to build a store building at the corner of Court street and First avenue have been indefinitely postponed.

The future of building plans depend, he said, upon the attitude taken by the City Council on the progress of Prestonsburg, particularly in respect to low-rent public housing.

"I feel," Francis said, "that the Council is not interested in helping the people who are already here or in helping bring in any new people to Prestonsburg."

He pointed out that there now are 10 empty business buildings in the business district of town and that only improvements such as the housing program will give Prestonsburg the progressive atmosphere it must have to encourage business men to risk their money and their business future in commercial ventures here.

"Other towns, at least one in this county," he said, "are taking advantage of progressive programs through federal aid while Prestonsburg is doing nothing. A do-nothing Council and a do-nothing town will make do-nothings of all of us."

Joe Dutton, 62, Dies At Weeksville Home; Rites Slated Friday

Joe Dutton, 62, of Weeksville, died at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday at home. A miner, he was a victim of arteriosclerosis.

Mr. Dutton was a native of Johnson county, a son of the late George and Anna Meeks Dutton. His wife, Verlie Dutton, survives.

Surviving sons and daughters are Lloyd Dutton, John Dutton and Becken Dutton, all of Weeksville, Mrs. Maxine Mullins, Marion, O., Miss Ruby Dutton and Mrs. Shirley Shamoun, both of Detroit. One brother, John Dutton, and a sister, Mrs. Telitha Gose, both of Weeksville, survive.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday at 10 a. m. at the home, the Revs. Lem Cecil and the Rev. Moore officiating. Burial will be made in the Tackett cemetery under the direction of Merion & Call Funeral Home.

Mrs. Susan E. Osborne, Aged Hite Woman, Victim At Martin, Wednesday

Mrs. Susie Ellen Osborne, 79 years old, of Hite, widow of Samuel P. Osborne and last of the family of Thomas T. and Louise Dings Osborne, early residents of the town of Martin, died at 11:45 a. m. Wednesday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. Cause of death was not given.

Mrs. Osborne was preceded in death by her husband 11 years ago. She leaves three sons and four daughters: Algie and Harold Osborne, of Hite, Norman Osborne, of Drift, Mrs. Mae Wohlford, of Martin, Mrs. Maude Smith, Mrs. Stella Smith and Mrs. Eva Stephens, all of Hite.

Funeral rites will be conducted Saturday at 10 a. m. at home, the Revs. Guy Deane and Robert Martin officiating. Burial will be made in the family cemetery under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

GOBLES LEARN DAUGHTER SAFE AFTER AGADIR EARTHQUAKE; DOG MAY HAVE SAVED LIVES

BY QUENTIN ALLEN

Buying a little dog isn't such a bad idea. Especially when that little dog saves your life.

A former Prestonsburg woman, Patty Goble Mohammed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Goble, and her husband, Charec, have survived within the past week and a half a catastrophic upheaval of earth and sea which claimed 12,000 of the 50,000 population of Agadir, Morocco.

Two earthquakes and a tidal wave besieged Agadir, but for Patty and her husband, a Moroccan educator, the new purchase of a pet took them to their home, 15 miles outside the city, instead of to a movie theatre which they had planned to visit, and which was reduced by the quake to rubble.

Mr. and Mrs. Goble, after three days of waiting and calling for any

Busy Governor Takes Time Off To Give Blood

If the Red Cross asks you for blood during its March campaign, "I don't have time" now is a mighty poor excuse for refusing.

Gov. Bert Combs, possibly the busiest man in the Commonwealth, gave 30 minutes of his time and a pint of blood to the Red Cross recently. He left a busy office, crowded with state officials, legislators and other visitors to make the donation.

He said, "I'm just paying back what I got in 1954." Then a Court of Appeals judge, Combs suffered a ruptured appendix which necessitated an emergency operation and blood transfusions.

Abner Bryant, 63, Dies At Huntington, Friday; Burial, Newman Cemetery

Abner Bryant, 63 years old, of Pikeville and a native of this county, died at C. & O. hospital, Huntington, W. Va., last Friday after an illness of three months following a paralytic stroke.

Mr. Bryant was a son of the late Sidney and Mary Akers Bryant. Employed by the C. & O. Railway Company 35 years, he was section foreman at Shelby when he became ill. He was never married.

Surviving are two brothers and three sisters, Hillad Bryant, of Martin, Johnny Bryant, Salyersville, Mrs. Pearl Adams, Wellington, Ohio, Mrs. Della Bryant, of Hunter, and Mrs. Frances Isaacs, of Ligon.

The funeral was conducted from the Little Nancy Regular Baptist Church at Hi Hat Tuesday morning by the Revs. Henry King, Jerry Hall, Sr., Jerry Hall, Jr., and Jonah Isaacs. Burial was made in the Newman cemetery at Hi Hat, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

Morris Is Transferred To Floyd S. S. Office; Rockcastle-Co. Native

Floyd county is now being served by a new social security representative according to a statement released by Thomas B. Thompson, district manager of the Pikeville Social Security Office. He is James A. Morris, who recently transferred back to his native state from the Hamilton, Ohio, district office.

Mr. Morris, who was born and raised in Rockcastle county, Kentucky, attended the University of Cincinnati. He replaces James Gabhard, who recently left the Pikeville district office.

Mr. Morris will be at the Prestonsburg Employment Office each week of advising and assisting Floyd Thursday at 9:30 a. m., for the purportants in all matters pertaining to Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. In addition, he will be at the Wayland hotel building in Wayland, on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 1:00 a. m.

Thompson reminded all Floyd countians however, that for more prompt service they may call at the Pikeville office on any Monday through Friday if convenient.

Another service offered by Mr. Morris is that of appearing before interested groups for an explanation of the social security law. He encourages representatives of interested groups to contact him, or write direct to the Pikeville office if more convenient.

MAYOR LESLIE NAMES FOUR

To City Housing Body; Approval Is Withheld By Councilmen, Monday

Four men—two Democrats and two Republicans—were named Monday evening by Mayor Edward B. Leslie to form a new Prestonsburg Housing Commission but the City Council failed to give his appointments its approval.

Named by Mayor Leslie were Carl Horn and Dr. George P. Archer, Democrats; Otis Cooley and James Adams, Republicans. The new commission was selected to fill the vacancies created recently by the resignations of the four original members and to further community hopes of low-rent public housing.

The Mayor's appointments were not rejected, but approval was delayed pending arrival of what spokesmen for a group of the Councilmen described as "further information."

(In an advertisement appearing elsewhere in this edition members of the Council who have demurred on taking definite action say that they are not opposing the improvement but that they pledged the voters at the last city election they would oppose urban renewal and other projects requiring federal aid if such programs required the condemnation of private property.)

Mayor Leslie strongly urged the Council to take action at Monday's meeting. Councilmen Joe Wheeler, Jarrell and Bill May spoke for the group who opposed approval of a new Commission at that time.

Jarrell and others siding with him argue that legislation has been requested which would give the people a vote on the issue, and they have urged that the bill introduced in the House at Frankfort be given committee approval and submitted to the Legislature for passage.

Mrs. Roberta Click Is Victim At Eastern

Mrs. Roberta Click, 70, widow of Joseph Click, died Sunday morning at her home at Eastern, believed to have been the victim of a heart attack. Death came as she sat before the fire, and was unexpected.

Mrs. Click was a daughter of the late S. P. (Bogue) and Mrs. Rebecca Allen Radloff. She was a native of the vicinity of Maytown. She had been a member of the Regular Baptist Church 52 years. Her husband preceded her in death, in 1938.

INLAND STEEL COMPANY TELLS OF 1960 SCHOLARSHIP PLANS

The Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright this year will award to high school graduates who are children of Inland employees, two $300 scholarships to Pikeville College and one $500 scholarship to the University of Kentucky. It was announced by H. O. Zimmerman, Inland's manager of coal properties. High school graduates interested in applying for one of these schol-

AREA, STATE HARD HIT BY FOURTH SNOWSTORM

GOP Precinct Elections Are Scheduled March 19, Dewey Daniel Announces

Republican precinct elections will be held at 3 p. m. (EST), March 19, to select two committee members, a woman and a man, from each precinct of the county. It was said here this week. The precinct committee election date is usually followed by the assembling on the following Saturday of the new committeemen to elect a permanent county chairman and secretary.

Notice of the precinct elections was given by Dewey Daniel, Seventh district member of the state G. O. P. executive committee, who pointed out that the county committee must meet within 15 days after the precinct committeemen are named.

BIBEE GIVES DRAMA ADVICE

Berea Business Manager Tells Floyd Association Of Presentation Pitfall

In an effort to learn from the experiences of others the problems incident to the production of an outdoor drama, the board of directors of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association invited L. B. Bibee, business manager of Berea College, to confer with them here Sunday.

Bibee detailed some of the phases of the drama industry.

One of several adverse factors could be fatal to a paying production. "Are you set to house and feed the thousands of tourists who will come to see your production?" he asked. "Upon the success of this depends the success of your production."

The Berea College man revealed statistically just what happened with the presentation of "Wilderness Road" that fabled "in the red" last year.

He said 60,000 people saw the play the first year, 75 per cent of them persons who drove to the theatre within a radius of 75 miles. The

STORM SLOWS MINES, OTHER JOB ACTIVITY

Governor Combs Acts In Hazardous Situation; Schools Remain Closed

Traffic ground hurriedly to a halt in almost all of Kentucky and in adjoining states for the fourth time in as many weeks as another snowstorm struck the region Wednesday.

Gov. Bert T. Combs, in the face of mounting snowfall all over the state, declared a state of emergency Wednesday afternoon. Six inches of snow fell on snow that already covered the ground here. The United Fuel Gas Company office here reported that the snow was 19 inches deep at Pineville and still falling.

Severest impact of the snow was on construction companies and retail trade establishments over the area. Wednesday afternoon, there still were no telephone, power and gas interruptions, but one gas company official said they were "keeping their fingers crossed."

Kentucky Power Company requested Harris Brothers Construction Company here Wednesday to keep two men on an instant alert for service interruptions. Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company had not had any interruptions in field.

PLANT TO VALLEY COAL

Greenup-Carter Holdings Of Company Are Slated For Ohio Installation

The estimated 750,000 tons to be needed annually for the Lawrence county power plant of Kentucky Power Company will definitely be produced in the Big Sandy coal field, The Times learned this week.

Inquiry as to the source of this coal was made after fears had been expressed that the coal for the plant might be mined from the large Greenup and Carter county coal land holdings of American Electric Power Company, parent company of Kentucky Power.

The Greenup-Carter coal owned by American Electric Power, it was learned, is earmarked for another plant for which a site has been purchased at Hanging Rock, Ohio.

The coal tonnage the Lawrence county plant will use will be roughly 6 per cent of the 1959 production of the Big Sandy field. (The Times erroneously stated last week that the plant will require about half the 1959 tonnage of the field.)

Members of the 58th All-District team, chosen on the basis of season play, are pictured here as they were selected Saturday night after the district finals in Prestonsburg. They are, first row, left to right, Darryl Luxmore, Martin, Clinton Terry, Maytown, John DeBord, Prestonsburg, Gary Trusty, Garrett, Jackie Gray, Wayland, Forrest Newsome, Wheelwright; second row, Jody Sword, Wheelwright, Bud Howell, Betsy Layne, Donald Tuttle, McDowell, David Conley, Martin.

Public Housing - the Greatest Good To the Greatest Number

The Times does not like arguments, especially those arguments in which friends and acquaintances array themselves on opposing sides; and, unless driven by a powerful conviction that duty demands that it voice its opinion, it remains silent.

The issue of low-rent public housing is one which constrains our comment. We consider it of the utmost importance to the community.

A good yardstick to measure low-rent public housing by is the time-honored consideration, "Does it render the greatest good to the greatest number?" Let us consider the issue in that light.

First of all, whom will it adversely affect? Those who oppose low-rent housing may feel that it would reduce the demand for residences which are privately owned here and which are for rent. The experience in towns and cities which have low-rent housing is that it does not mean empty rental properties. Mt. Sterling is a case in point, and it is pointed out there that the town's housing facility brought in new residents, including disabled veterans, veterans and public assistance recipients who previously had been obliged to live in homes that were little more than shacks, out in the country. Grant every objection by opponents on this score, and you will have only a few landlords—a half-dozen, perhaps—who could possibly be affected.

Next, let us consider the benefits. First of all, low-rent public housing will bring to Prestonsburg, a community which, like most others in Eastern Kentucky, has been crying its needs for help for years, the expenditure of a million dollars—work for those of the building trade, a bright, attractive addition to the community—and all this without one cent of cost to Prestonsburg.

It will bring families into Prestonsburg, and each of these will be a customer for local stores and other businesses; they will mean new users of city-owned gas and water. This strikes us as rather important, particularly at this time when at least ten business buildings are vacant and the local economy suffers.

It will regain for Prestonsburg the reputation of being a progressive community, not one which closes its eyes to human need and to the necessity of progressive development of its material and human resources.

Most important of all, to us, is that consideration which low-rent public housing would give to the less fortunate of our people. It may be difficult for most of us who live in warm, comfortable homes to envision the stern realities of life faced by others, some of whom live barely outside our doors. God has been good to us all, but those who freeze and starve and live a miserable existence must think more deeply than most of us to realize that truth.

The greatest good to the greatest number? The low-rent public housing program will give employment at a time and place where it is needed; will put a million dollars in circulation—and every cent of it a gift with no strings attached; will give to needy human beings a new dignity and new meaning in life as they are offered modern living quarters in pleasant surroundings. What have the "greatest number" to lose?

The Prestonsburg City Council should do as the Councils of other communities have done to their eternal credit—it should take immediate action to gain for the community this improvement while opportunity knocks.

service as of Wednesday afternoon, an official said.

United Fuel Gas Company reported that its field work was suspended and three jobs were cancelled indefinitely. Approximately 50 men were being held at the local district offices for trouble. The office personnel here was sent home early.

First round of the 15th regional basketball tournament, scheduled to be played here Wednesday night, was postponed. Last week's snow curtailed in the same fashion first-round district tourney play.

Other reports in the county showed:

1. Burchett Trucking Company here had 30 men idled by the snows, and three jobs were suspended. A third job the company had planned couldn't be got under way.
2. Ranier Construction Company, with large field operations, was trying to maintain operations under great difficulties. Many men had failed to reach jobs for several days.
3. Hayes Metal Products, Company, of Hi Hat, suspended operations before last week-end. An unofficial source said approximately 45 men were idled.
4. Harris Brothers Construction Company, power distribution contractors, has not worked any since Wednesday of last week. Thirty-two men are idle there.
5. Truck mine operations ceased almost completely Wednesday. Many had been operating on a hit-and-miss schedule for days. Several of the larger mine operations were affected by the snow. Production in the field represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association skidded significantly, according to that group's most recent report.
6. Schools, closed in the county since at noon Wednesday of last week, were still closed. Employees of the county superintendent's office were sent home at 1 p.m., Wednesday.

"I further plead that the only Yankee-acquired possession that I will bring back with me is money. I pledge that I will in no way try to smuggle shoes into the state of Kentucky, and that I have not tried to learn the English language.

"I pledge that the only laws I will obey will be the "Code of the Hills."

This one before me happens to be signed by Branch Robertson, who says he would like to settle down in Stover Hollow at Lackey. He reports that he lived in "this hyar" state 40 years, 6 months, 5 days, 27 hours and 73 minutes before migrating to "furrin" territory.

He explains the 27 hours and 73 minutes by saying that in Kentucky you live more hours in the day and more minutes in the hour than you do elsewhere.

SCIENCE LESSON

We have no objection to science and we have no standing quarrel with scientists, even though they have made such a major contribution to the world as the means for man to blow himself and his world into smithereens.

But while some scientists were rigging up the A-bomb and its big cousin, the H-bomb, and others were fighting to keep man alive with penicillin and a whole flock of helpful antibiotics, here comes along an Oxford University zoologist who spends 30 years nursing a theory and who at last announces to an unsuspecting world that man is descended directly from a hairless ape that ages ago lived in the sea.

This critter, he declares, was getting along reasonably well—at least managing to stay off relief, we would say—while living on land, but the competition became something awful and he began wading shallow, offshore waters to graze for food.

As everybody who watches television knows, plain water isn't good for the hair, and over a period of several hundred thousand years, says the scientist, the poor ape lost his hair—a feat I personally accomplished without benefit of salt water in 30 years. Moseying offshore and buoyed along by the water for an eon or so, the animal finally learned to stand upright.

So he up and leaves the sea, returns to land and begins chasing fortune and women.

night. Our house would weave back and forth. But other than that nothing. Many tourists were killed. The beautiful city is nothing. Hotels full of tourists this time of the year are dead. There's no telephones. . . I am going to mail this letter in another town, about 300 miles away."

The days in between the first news of the disaster and the first word of Patty's safety were tense and painful days for the Prestonsburg couple.

The Gobles sent a telegram or February 29 to the Red Cross which advised them to contact the Moroccan embassy in Washington. The embassy asked that they be in touch with the Moroccan consul, State Department, Washington, D. C. A Mr. Campbell, speaking for the consul, painted a gloomy picture for the Gobles. He said that the International Hotel was completely destroyed. Americans missing in the hotel could be identified only through customs where it was required that they list where they would stay while in Morocco. Eight Americans were listed as dead and 52 others registered with the Red Cross.

"No," he said in answer to request, "if she is dead, it is not possible to bring her body home. Typhus, you know."

On March 3 a telegram from the State Department let the Gobles know that Patty and her husband were in Rabot. After the earthquakes and tidal waves had all but leveled the city, an epidemic of typhus broke out. What was left standing of Agadir was then ordered to be bombed until it would be reduced to rubble and burned. The disease was as terrifying as the upheaval of the earth.

A Pike county "ham" radio operator, relaying a message from Guadalcanal, informed the Gobles that Patty and her husband were safe and sound last Sunday night.

The earthquakes, 82 minutes apart, were of such magnitude that they damaged the measuring instruments at the Casablanca Observatory. Fires broke out while rescue work was in progress.

The tidal wave apparently dashed 300 yards into the city through the harbor, overlooked by a massive citadel atop a 720-foot rock. A Spanish ship, the Avelino Correa, radioed that the harbor's dock was cut in two and all the loading cranes collapsed.

Communications were wrecked. The French estimate of 700 dead the first official account of casualties, was radioed from the French air base just outside Agadir.

A French family said: "It was terrible. We saw stones and plaster flying around and thought it was the end. We had to dodge falling stones. It was hell let loose."

To The Citizens of Prestonsburg

We the undersigned members of the Prestonsburg City Council would like to take this means of expressing our stand on Low Rent Housing and Planning and Zoning.

During the campaign preceding the November Election we made the following statements:

"We advocate the spending of federal funds so long as it will not take the HOMES AND PROPERTY OF OUR CITIZENS AGAINST THEIR WISHES, NOR DENY THEM THE RIGHT TO BUILD, LIVE, AND ENJOY THE TYPE HOME THEY CAN AFFORD AND DESIRE"

"We advocate A VOTE OF THE PEOPLE ON SUCH MATTERS AS URBAN RENEWAL, PLANNING AND ZONING, ETC."

"OUR ONLY RECORD OF BEING AGAINST IS THAT WE STAND UNITED AGAINST GOVERNMENT SEIZURE OF YOUR HOMES AND PROPERTY AGAINST YOUR WILL."

The above was our platform and the opposition ticket sponsored the government program waging a campaign mostly on Low Rent Housing and the majority of our people rejected this program in November. Yet we are being asked to ignore and disregard our promises and put into effect the Low Rent Housing Ordinance along with which the Planning and Zoning Ordinance is required. These Ordinances carry condemnation clauses and also deny the property owner the right to control their property.

It is not our intention to block any improvement in our town. We are willing and ask that these measures be placed on a ballot and submitted to the people again for their approval or rejection. We had a bill presented to the Legislature permitting this request and to date we have had little or no cooperation in urging the passage of this bill. We were informed at the last Council Meeting that the bill would die in the committee in Frankfort.

YOU BE THE JUDGE WHO IS BLOCKING IMPROVEMENT IN OUR TOWN—WE 5 MEN WHO ARE TRYING TO FOLLOW THE DICTATES OF OUR CONSCIENCE BY LIVING UP TO THE PROMISE MADE TO THE PEOPLE OR THE SPONSORS OF LOW RENT HOUSING BY THEIR LACK OF INTEREST IN URGING THE PASSAGE OF A BILL WITH NO OPPOSITION ALLOWING THESE IMPORTANT MEASURES TO BE DETERMINED BY THE PEOPLE.

second year only 33,000 people came, and the director revamped the promotional plans to include highway markers. To this was attributed the increased attendance of 41,000 the third year. Fourth year's attendance was only 27,000, he said.

"Berea didn't have an outside drawing card," he pointed out. "Here you have Dewey Lake and Jenny Wiley State Park." He wanted to know what was planned to attract tourists outside the drama.

Bibee said the "Wilderness Road" budget was too large and the amphitheatre was built with an over-ample capacity. He suggested that instead of the 2,000 seats they had at Berea the promoters of the drama here reduce their sights to a seating capacity of 1,200.

He noted the adverse effects of weather and suggested that some sort of roof or cover be provided for the amphitheatre although to his knowledge this hadn't been done before. "Don't buy rain insurance, it won't protect you," he advised.

The drama association, organized to depict the story of Jenny Wiley, who was captured by the Indians and held captive in the Big Sandy valley, had scheduled a conference with Kermit Hunter, at Lexington today (Thursday) but the Hollins College playwright telephoned that he would be unable to be in the state as planned. He suggested a new date of April 1. Hunter is author of "Unto These Hills," "Chucky Jack" and "Horn in the West," all successful dramas. Paul Green, author of "Wilderness Road," has also indicated an interest in writing the drama desired by the group here.

Despite the inclement weather the meeting was well attended here Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Edward P. Hill, chairman of a committee to make a preliminary survey of housing facilities in the section open to tourists, reported to the board.

Attending the directors' meeting besides Bibee from other towns in the area were Dr. Carl Woods and Dr. Leonard Roberts, both of Morehead State College, Attorney and Mrs. J. K. Wells, of Paintsville.

Mrs. Luna A. Gearheart, Aged Floyd-Co. Native, Succumbs In Colorado

Mrs. Luna Allen Gearheart, widow of Ballard Gearheart and last of the family of Archibald and Flurinda Gearheart Allen, of this county, died Feb. 24 in Palisade, Colo., at the age of 85.

Mrs. Gearheart and her husband, both teachers in the Floyd county schools in the 1890's, left the county for Colorado in 1902, four years after their marriage.

Surviving her are four sons, Emmett, Med and Clarence Gearheart, all of Palisade, and Dick Gearheart, Grand Junction, Colorado. She also leaves six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was made in a Masonic cemetery, beside the grave of her husband, near Palisade.

EDUCATORS ARE QUESTIONED ON TEACHING IMPROVEMENT

By ALLAN M. TROUT

(In The Courier-Journal)

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 24—How do public educators propose to improve the quality of instruction in view of the $73,500,000 of additional State money to be spent on the foundation program the next two years?

That was the central theme of questions posed to them Wednesday afternoon by the House Investigative Committee on Education.

The questions were directed to Wendell P. Butler, superintendent of public instruction, and three members of his staff from the Department of Education. The latter were:

James L. Patton, assistant in charge of instruction; Sam Alexander, assistant in charge of administration and finance, and J. C. Powell, director of records and reports.

The climate of the session was set by the questions rather than the answers.

The questions revealed the problems of concern to the legislators and their people back home.

The answers revealed that the public educators, do not, at this time, have a plan of reform that can be spelled out in specific language.

The questions were asked by Representative Harry M. Caudill, of Whitesburg, chairman, and Representatives Richard P. Moloney, Lexington; Marlow W. Cook, Louisville; Leonard Hislope, Somerset; Ralph Bates, Frankfort; Henry Neel, Henderson, and Tom Brizendine, Franklin.

Here is a sampling of the questions and answers:

Question—If teachers' salaries are to improve, don't you think there ought to be an improvement in teachers.

Answer—Certainly. We believe there will be an improvement as higher salaries attract better qualified teachers to Kentucky positions.

Q.—Why can't you base a teacher's salary on merit, as well as on experience and training?

A.—Salary raise for merit is not given generally anywhere in the nation. But two experiments are under way in a limited scope.

In a few districts in Florida, a teacher can request a merit evaluation. The test is applied to her pupils, as well as to her. But to obtain this evaluation, she must agree to a re-evaluation within four years. Results of this experiment have not been published.

In one of the Western states, not identified, an experiment has been started by which a school board can withhold merit increments from unsatisfactory teachers. Results have not been published.

The Department of Education has no plans for merit raises except to explore the matter. Kentucky teachers are not unhappy at the absence of merit raises, but when the subject arises, they express concern at who would determine the merit.

Q.—Do you have a way of evaluating teachers? Do you give them tests to show how much they know about the subject they teach?

A.—Yes. Teachers are evaluated as to training and experience. But tests are not given in subject matter. Such tests are applied at the proper level, namely at the college level where they are trained. A graduate is presumed to have passed all these tests before she begins to teach.

Q.—Are not your teachers over-trained in how to teach, and under-trained in what to teach? Have you not allowed method to get the upper hand of subject?

A.—This is one of the most hotly debated questions in public education all over the nation. Some years ago, when so-called progressive education came into vogue, too much emphasis was put on method. The reaction has set in, and now the complaint is that too little emphasis is put on subject.

The Department of Education is aware of the gravity of this question. In co-operation with the teacher-training colleges of Kentucky it is in continuing effort to achieve a sensible balance between method and subject.

Q.—After four years, the tenure law gives the teacher a life contract. How, then, can you get rid of bad teachers? Do you ever fire teachers, for laziness or inefficiency?

A.—The tenure law was passed to give teachers protection from dominating superintendents. Now a reaction has set in against it. Possibly the law needs some loosening to make it easier to drop poor teachers.

The law now gives a way to fire teachers for all the ordinary reasons of unfitness. The trouble is, local accusers will not bring charges, or go through the legal process to remove them.

As a consequence, teachers seldom, if ever, get fired for laziness or inefficiency.

Q.—How do you permit local boards to pay football coaches more than chemistry teachers.

A.—This is a frequent criticism. The fact is, salary schedules in this respect must be in proper order before the department will approve them.

The coach is usually a teacher also. The salary schedule must list his proper salary as a teacher. Then it must list the extra duties the board assigns him to, outside the classroom, and the pay he is to get for those extra duties.

The department does not make an organized effort to determine if terms of these salary schedules are violated. That is the responsibility of the board to which the coach and chemistry teacher are under contract.

Q.—Isn't it true that some school systems pay membership dues to teachers to Kentucky Education Association?

A.—That is not true, to the best of our knowledge. If true, it is highly irregular and should not be tolerated.

It is true, however, that some school systems deduct K.E.A. dues from the salary checks of teachers and pay them to K.E.A. in one lump sum. This is permissible.

In this connection, the attorney general has ruled that boards can pay the membership dues of their members to the Kentucky School Boards Association.

Q.—When a teacher is assigned to teach a subject outside her qualified field, is she tested for knowledge in the new subject to be taught?

A.—No. As to tests generally, the department must assume that any qualified teacher already has passed all necessary tests in the college that trained her.

Q.—Teacher salaries have been gradually rising for 10 years in Kentucky. How do you explain that for the same 10 years, the marks in entrance examinations at University of Kentucky have been going down gradually?

A.—We do not know that for a fact. We would be inclined to question the accuracy of the statement.

Q.—School boards often conceal vacancies until the last minute so they can fill them with unqualified teachers at very low salaries. Why are they not compelled to advertise vacancies, to give qualified teachers notice that the positions are open?

A.—Advertising would not be amiss in such cases, provided the board specified that nine but qualified teachers need apply. Otherwise every Tom, Dick and Harry with certificates dating back 40 years would swamp the office, insisting they were good teachers.

Next meeting of the committee was set for after adjournment of the House Friday. Butler and his staff were notified to appear again, prepared to answer questions in these two fields:

1. Specific plans of the department for merging local school districts, particularly high schools, when they are adjacent.

2. Specific plans for providing free textbooks in high schools, with estimates of probable eventual costs.

State Offers Firms Advice On Alcoholism

By J. Collis Ringo, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Within the last two years nearly every national magazine carried one or more articles dealing with some phase of alcoholism.

This mass-media education has produced some very favorable results. Unquestionably, more people accept alcoholism as an illness today than did a year ago. This acceptance has influenced a number of individuals suffering from this illness to seek available help.

The medical opinion that alcoholism is an illness is comparatively recent. For thousands of years alcoholics were stigmatized as wilful moral degenerates. In the business world excessive drinkers were warned, perhaps several times, then discharged.

Some major industries in the United States now take a more enlightened position. They recognize the fact that a majority of the adult population in this country indulges in beverage alcohol. Of this number who drink a small minority, about 6 1/2 per cent, due to some psychological or metabolic predisposition, over a period of years develop the illness of alcoholism. This illness may affect anybody in their organizations from top management to machine operators.

Most of the employees affected have long, satisfactory employment records. These companies have a large stake in the experience and knowledge of these individuals. Not as a humanitarian motive, but primarily as a dollar motive, these companies now make every effort to detect this alcoholic illness in its early stages.

When discovered, many times before the victim has any inkling he is in trouble, the employee is advised of the progressive stages of this illness and remedial measures inaugurated. The companies following this plan report large savings in money (the DuPont Company says at least $1,000,000 per annum) to say nothing of the saving in human misery.

The Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism is now prepared to offer to any business firm a simple and almost fool-proof plan of early detection and information concerning successful plans to help affected individuals.

JOHNSON IN CARIBBEAN

Caribbean — Robert L. Johnson, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, of Goodloe, Ky., took part in Operation "Skyhook," a balloon launching and recovery project conducted in the Caribbean during the latter part of January while serving aboard the anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge.

Purpose of the operation, which utilized the world's largest balloons, was to measure cosmic ray activity at altitudes up to 120,000 feet.

The balloons, as large in diameter as a football field is long, and composed of seven acres of polyethylene, were launched from the Valley Forge.

Tracking of the devices was handled by destroyers of the task force, planes and radio and radar devices.

WEST LIBERTY, HAZARD ARE CONTEST WINNERS

Cash awards totaling $900 are being presented this month to winners in the Better Eastern Kentucky Program, sponsored by 31 financial institutions. Winners in the contest judged from scrapbook entries were announced by Rufus P. Thomas, industrial representative of Kentucky Power, which coordinates the program.

The winning communities in the three population groups are:

Group I (to 1,200 population)
1. West Liberty, $150; 2. Salyersville, $100; 3. Neon, $50.

Group II (1,200 to 2,000)
1. Vanceburg, $150; 2. Grayson, $100; 3. Jackson, $50; Greenup—honorable mention.

Group III (2,000 to 10,000)
1. Hazard, $150; 2. Paintsville, $100; 3. Catlettsburg, $50; Jenkins, honorable mention.

The prize winners become eligible for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce state-wide contest and will compete for additional cash awards. The state winners will be announced at the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting in Louisville, April 18-19.

Judges in this year's contest were: Malcom Mason, Kentucky Utilities, development engineer; Tom Watkins, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, director of member relations; and Jerry Mahoney, Kentucky Department of Economic Development, director of community development.

The judges praised the scrapbooks and said several should be circulated around the state to show other communities how to operate a community development program and how to prepare a comprehensive progress report.

Judging was based on the following eight program activities: civic improvement, rural development, education, main street modernization, tourist promotion, industrial development, organization and planning, and continuity of effort.

PROPER DIET IS VERY IMPORTANT

If you have reached the retirement age or the age at which you can "slow down" a little, you still can look forward to a long, health life—if you eat the right foods. Although a proper diet is needed at any age, the right foods are especially important for you now.

You can never "retire" from eating the kinds and amounts of food you need, unless your doctor recommends a special diet, don't limit your eating in fear of an upset stomach or some similar complaint. Such trouble usually means that better food habits are needed—a different diet, not less food.

Here are the foods you need: leafy, green or yellow vegetables—one or more servings daily; citrus fruits, tomatoes or other foods high in vitamin C—one or more servings each day; potatoes, other vegetables and fruit—two or more servings daily; milk—two and a half to three cups daily, or milk products that contain calcium equal to this amount of fluid milk.

Meat, poultry or fish—at least one serving a day; eggs—four or more a week; dry beans and peas, nuts—at least one serving a week; baked goods, flour, cereal—some enriched or whole grain cereal food every day; and butter or margarine—some each day. Include at least the smallest number of servings listed in each group for a well-balanced diet. Don't short-change yourself on size of servings—a tablespoon of beans or a small leaf of lettuce is not a full serving.

If you are putting on extra pounds, this is no sign you should stop eating the right foods. Perhaps you get less exercise now, yet still eat as you did when you were more active; if so, you may need less food. However, overweight often is the result of the wrong foods, rather than too much food.

Overweight can be especially dangerous as you grow older, but don't try to make big changes in your weight without a doctor's advice. If you are only a few pounds overweight, try to lose them gradually—cut down on high-calorie foods (fats and sweets) rather than

RENOVATE PASTURES

Many of the pasture fields in the county, need renovating, or to put it another way, brought back to top production. Legumes sown with fescue will disappear from the stand in a few years, and fescue will take over.

While fescue is one of the best grasses for our soil, it is much better if a legume makes up part of the stand. Legumes improve the nutrient value of the pasture and provide the nitrogen needed by the grass.

On these fescue fields, legumes can be seeded without destroying the grass sod. The first step in renovating a pasture is to have a soil test made to determine the lime, phosphorus, and potassium requirements. After these materials are applied, disk the field heavily. Enough to disturb 40 to 60 per cent of the sod. Sow legumes at nominal rate, being certain it is inoculated. The first year the pasture should be managed to give the legume an advantage over the grass.

A pasture can be renovated for approximately one half the cost of establishing a new pasture. Another big advantage is that the pasture can be grazed throughout the year.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS

Anyone wishing to order strawberry plants through the strawberry committee must have their order with money at the Extension Office before March 15. The plants this year will be obtained from a plant farm in Maryland. The price delivered in Prestonsburg is $14 per thousand for Tennessee Beauties and $16 per thousand for Pocatontas. Plants will be delivered on April 1.

LAWN IMPROVEMENT

Within the next two weeks lawns should be fertilized. Any of the complete fertilizer such as 4-12-8, 5-10-10 or 6-12-12, will be satisfactory. Fifteen pounds per 1,000 square feet will be sufficient on most lawns. The timing is most important. Fertilizer applied now will be available to give the bluegrass an early start. Fertilizer applied later in the spring, will be of more value to crabgrass than bluegrass.

Additional bluegrass seed should also be added, now. Even, if seed was added in fall, a light seeding now may help. Be especially careful, to seed bare spots and patches heavily infested with crabgrass.

CHEER FOR THE AGED

Nearly 300,000 Kentuckians are past 65 years of age. Gov. Bert Combs said recently, taking official recognition of the increasing number of older persons in the Commonwealth. Economic and social conditions often prevent older people from fulfilling satisfying and useful roles in society, Combs declared. To promote the welfare of these persons, the governor appointed an Interdepartmental Committee and a Citizens Committee on the Aging. The first will consist of the commissioners of economic security, health and mental health, and the superintendent of public instruction. The second group will be composed of 19 private citizens.

U. S. egg consumption has gone up only 3 per cent in the last 25 years.

SOUTHERN BELL REPORTS 30,000 MORE STATE PHONES

The impact of the Southern Bell Telephone Company's operations on Kentucky's and the south's economy is illustrated by the firm's 1959 Annual Report received in Prestonsburg today. Southern Bell serves Prestonsburg and 175 other exchanges in Kentucky.

The year ended, there were 520,000 Southern Bell telephones in the state, 29,300 more than at the close of 1958.

The company payroll in Kentucky was $21,533,000 for 1959, the report shows. Employees, spread over a big part of the state, numbered 4,530. Taxes paid to federal, state and local agencies totaled $12,247,000.

The company built $19,334,000 worth of new facilities in Kentucky.

President Ben S. Gilmer, in making the report for the directors, disclosed that in the south as a whole, a new record was set when more than 550,000 Southern Bell telephones were added in 1959, a new high by home 78,000 telephones. Of these, 215,000 were residence extensions, reflecting the trend toward more telephones in each home.

The number of Southern Bell telephones more than doubled in the past ten years, which the report described as "Our busiest decade." The company now operates more than 6,825,000 telephones compared to about 3,000,000 at the beginning of the 1950's.

Local calls made over Southern Bell telephones in the single year 1959 averaged nearly 42 million daily, nearly 15½ million more than a decade ago. Long distance calls averaged over 1 million daily, double the number a decade ago.

Demonstrating its faith in the continued economic growth of the south, the company in its nine-state territory constructed $266 million of new facilities, equivalent to a "million-dollar plant" each working day. Construction totaled $250 million in 1958.

Southern Bell's wage costs for the year totaled $33,600,000, up $23,400,000 over 1958. The company has 66,000 employees. Tax payments to federal, state and local agencies in 1959 amounted to nearly $168 million. This does not include the nearly $66 million in federal excise tax on telephone service paid by customers. Total taxes amounted to $2.98 per telephone per month.

"The company has long pointed out," said the report, "that the excise tax, enacted as an emergency measure, should be eliminated. As it is, essential telephone service is the only utility service now so taxed with luxury items."

The report stated that the per-share earnings of $1.89, while at a slightly higher rate than for 1958.

were short of what they should be and were below the level of other businesses generally, regulated and non-regulated. It continued—"we must compete with other businesses for materials, supplies, competent employees and capital and our earnings should be more in harmony with theirs than they are now or have been since the war. Good earnings make it possible in the long run to provide better telephone service and at a lower price than would otherwise be possible."

Mrs. Wallace Is Named For Mental Health Meet

Mrs. Jane Wallace, Floyd county public health nurse, was one of six Kentucky health nurses chosen to attend a three-day conference on mental health at the state Health Department, in Louisville, March 1-3.

Purpose of the conference was to evaluate the mental health program in Kentucky. Also attending were representatives of the hospital staff and U. S. Public Health mental health consultants.

The average income today will buy more of almost any food than it did in 1947 or before World War II.

By Quentin Allen
WHEELWRIGHT WINS DISTRICT

The slumbering basketball giant awoke in the early minutes of the fourth quarter and, to the chant of "pour it on 'em," walked past valiant Martin 63-43 in winning Wheelwright's first district crown.

The finals were played last Saturday night before a near capacity crowd.

A point-tight defense frustrated Wheelwright's tallish five the first half. An Oklahoma type offense, timed to a slow possession game, found Luxmore and Conley potting shots over a hapless Wheelwright zone.

Fighting a courageous man-to-man defense, ball-hawking rebounds, and dribbling past a tenacious "press defense" by Wheelwright, Martin played a brilliant first half. Martin's Richard Collins won the applause of the field-house. He was as slick in his ball-handling as the icy parking lots outside.

Hanging close to the Wheelwright stalwarts soon brought an accumulation of fouls on the Martin regulars. The first five left the game with six minutes left in the fourth quarter. From that point on, the chant "pour it on 'em" was for real. The points rained down on Martin.

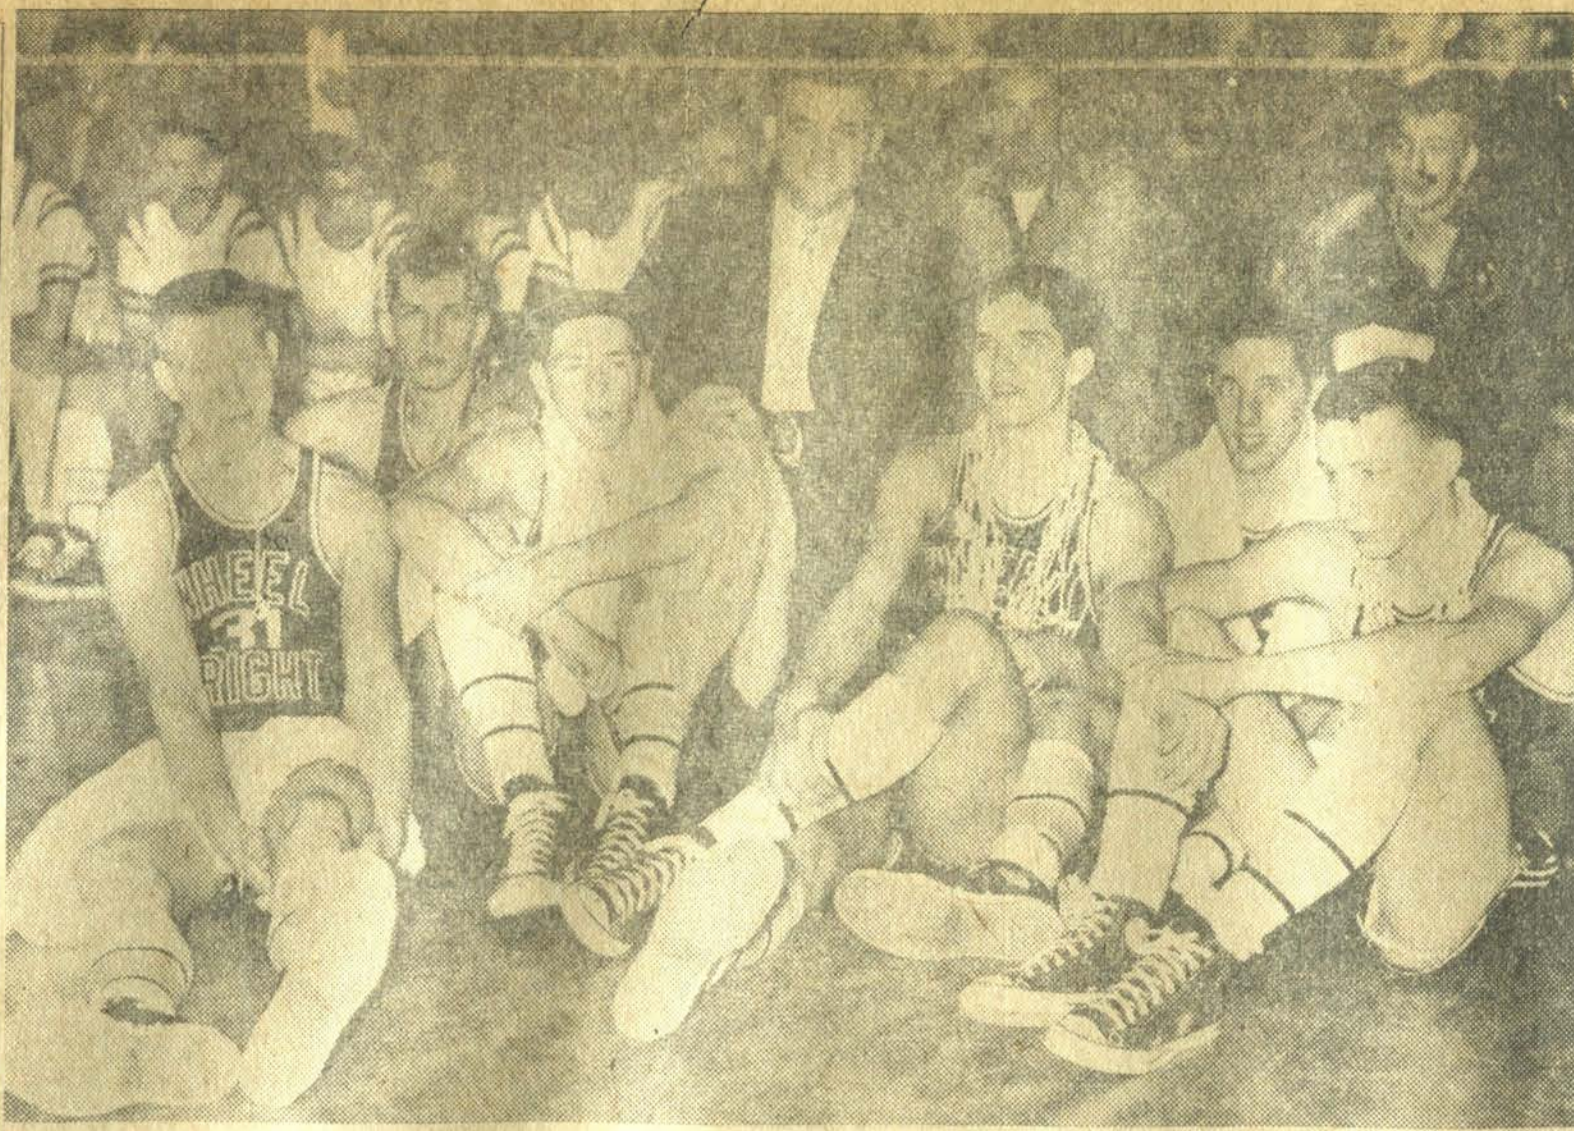

Forrest Newsome kept the Wheelwright five in contention with his soft, job jump shots from the circle in the first half. He was deadly at the free throw line. One irritated fan, obviously a Purple Flasher, moaned softly, "he's bound to miss one sometime."

What Newsome missed, Vicars, Belcher and "Red" Major Hall put back in. In the second half, Vicars ranged out deep in the key and was fouled repeatedly. The tenor of the game changed at the half. Martin came back a bit more anxious, some of their poise left in the dressing room. Maybe it was the fouls or fatigue.

Jody Sword cannot be underestimated. The little playmaker, already rumored to be going to Marshall College to be middle man on their fast break, played it cool.

Wheelwright was a quiet town last week. This week, no doubt, will find it even quieter and the Prestonsburg fieldhouse proportionately louder.

If Wheelwright makes the finals and Pikeville should last that long, there will be people hanging from the rafters, snow or no snow, blizzard or no blizzard.

The Wheelwright Trojans await the awarding of the District Trophy after defeating the Martin Purple Flash, 63-43, Saturday night, at the Prestonsburg fieldhouse. Sitting, from left to right, are: Major "Red" Hall, Bruce Belcher, Forrest Newsome, Bobby Vicars, Doug Sammons and Jody Sword. Kneeling behind the team is their coach, Don Wallen. ## BEARS LOSERS OF NAIA SPOT

Villa Madonna Takes Crucial Post-Season Contest At Covington

Pikeville, Ky., March 7 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears, champions last year of the 24th district of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, lost their title to the Villa Madonna Rebels, Tuesday of last week, 73-66, in an overtime period.

After taking two losses in a row for the first time this season, the Bears hung up their basketball shoes until next fall. In their last previous game, the Georgetown Tigers took a hotly disputed decision over Pikeville, 99-71, Feb. 29, in a semi-final game of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament.

The Bears closed out with an over-all record of 18 wins and eight losses in new Coach Paul Butcher's first year at their helm. With their best conference record since Pikeville became a senior college, they hung up a 10-1 mark in KMAC play, and were season champions of the loop for the second successive year.

The Butchermen boasted the top two scorers of their season's last game in Donnis Butcher, who notched 23 points, and Vern Woods, who dropped in 18. Dave Kriege took up the pointmaking chores for Villa Madonna and led the winners with only 17 points when high-scoring Dan Tieman was held to 12, but three other Rebels also tallied in double figures.

Butcher gave the Bears their last lead, 60-58, when he broke a 58-58 tie with a fielder with 53 seconds left in the game but Tieman knotted the score again with a bucket at the other end of the floor. With time running out, the Bears held for the last shot, but it missed, leaving the score tied 60-60 at the end of 40 minutes, and setting up the overtime period.

Everett Horn netted 11 points against Villa Madonna, and Paul Setser eight. Ken Maynard in his last college basketball game, rot six points, sinking two of five field tries and both his free throws, Pete Campbell and Harry Meek went scoreless.

What Newsome missed, Vicars, Belcher and "Red" Major Hall put back in. In the second half, Vicars ranged out deep in the key and was fouled repeatedly. The tenor of the game changed at the half. Martin came back a bit more anxious, some of their poise left in the dressing room. Maybe it was the fouls or fatigue.

Jody Sword cannot be underestimated. The little playmaker, already rumored to be going to Marshall College to be middle man on their fast break, played it cool.

Wheelwright was a quiet town last week. This week, no doubt, will find it even quieter and the Prestonsburg fieldhouse proportionately louder.

If Wheelwright makes the finals and Pikeville should last that long, there will be people hanging from the rafters, snow or no snow, blizzard or no blizzard.

If Wheelwright and Pikeville were to meet, who would win? If it is the most tournament-wise team, you would take Pikeville. If it is the taller and higher-scoring team, you would take Wheelwright. The ratings rate Wheelwright higher and the U. P. rates Pikeville higher. Both John Bill Trivette and Don Wallen are fine coaches, although experienced. Would the most pressure of the Pikeville mentor is more experienced team win? Pikeville has played at least 18 major teams. For pure talent, maybe it would be Wheelwright. The breaks of the games might tip the game to one side. But are breaks made or do they just happen? If both teams play well the roll in, or roll to one side, will be decided by one to five points.

SWEET RIDE OF SUCCESS

Don Wallen, a former Trojan star and a graduate of Georgia State Teachers College, was a little shook after the final game with Martin.

Don quietly and modestly accepted handshakes from well-wishers with a trace of gentlemanly tears in his eyes. This season has been a hard road for the Trojans. They have been flying high and everyone has been trying to shoot them down.

They were hit a few times but they refused to come down. Wheelwright lost only three games the entire season while winning twenty-three. They came back after each defeat to prove their mettle.

After the game, prior to the ceremony of making various awards, little Jody Sword and Bobby Vicars carried their coach to the center line.

It seemed that Wallen kept saying, "gosh, gosh, gosh," and was shaking his head incredulously. He deserved the ride that all coaches want.

A FINE EFFORT

Martin made an inspiring effort. You can't take anything from the Hosses. Conley is a fine shot, Luxmore played hard, Collins was a cool floorman.

SUMMER LEAGUE WANTED

It has been suggested that a summer league be initiated in Prestonsburg this summer. It was explained that it would be much less expensive than baseball and the initial cost would be negligible. Two goals, inexpensive lighting, a rubber basketball, a few interested people, and Prestonsburg has not only the means to improve its basketball team but also a means to provide some much needed recreational facilities.

The teams could represent stores, charge admission, give the boys something to do, give good civic-minded individuals something to do, and we all could be happy and proud.

COLLEGE OFFERS PRIZE FOR BEST SHORT STORY BY HIGH SCHOOL AUTHOR

Pikeville, Ky., March 8 (Spl.) — A cash prize of $10 for the best short story or poem by a high school author in this region is being offered by PRISMS, Pikeville College's literary magazine.

Several pages of the next issue have been reserved for manuscripts by writers of this area, including high school students, it was announced. Deadline for material from off the Pikeville campus is March 20, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said.

PRISMS, now in its second year, is devoted largely to the writing of Pikeville College students, it was noted. A sellout in its last appearance, it will receive a much larger printing in the forthcoming edition, to avoid causing disappointments.

Manuscripts may be submitted under the following conditions, Dr. Page said:

Only original short stories and poems will be considered. There are no subject limitations. Short stories should be between 500 and 1,000 words in length; poems may be of any length. Typed manuscripts should be double-spaced, and handwritten work should be in ink, on wide-lined paper.

WHEELWRIGHT TROJANS WIN DISTRICT TITLE

Wheelwright's rangy Trojans won their first 58th District high school basketball championship in Prestonsburg last Saturday night as junior forward Forrest Newsome sparked a last half rally to pace the Left Beaver community to a 63-43 decision over a game but under-manned Martin five.

For two and one-half quarters, Donzil Halbert's smaller Purple Flash out-rebounded and out-fought the taller Trojans, but personal fouls hampered Martin's efforts and Wheelwright moved in front at 41-40 with seven minutes of play-time left.

Martin's David Conley, on some great outside shooting, had put the Purple Flash in front 15-14 at the end of the first quarter and 29-23 at the half-way point.

Newsome, probably the best all-around player in the tournament, 28 tie at the close of the third quarter to move his team into a 38-38 tie at the close of the third stanza. He hit three successive foul shots to give his team a 41-40 lead which they never relinquished.

With six minutes to play, Martin lost their entire starting five—Raybourne Wright, David Conley, Darrell Luxmore, Rodney Collins and Jess Hampton—on personal fouls and Wheelwright had easy sailing in breezing to the twenty-point victory.

Newsome, who does everything well, paced the Trojans with 27 points and senior playmaker Jody Sword hit 14. Conley was tops for Martin with 24.

Wheelwright had gained the final round with an opening 75-64 win over a good Wayland team and a

MISS CONLEY IS LISTED WITH PERFECT STANDING

Georgetown, Ky., March 9 (Spl.) —Seventeen Georgetown College during the first semester it was students made perfect standings revealed today by the college registrar, J. Foley Snyder. Special recognition will be given by President Robert L. Mills at the convocation hour on March 8.

A perfect standing means that a student must make a grade of A in all his course work.

Among the students who made the standing is Miss Rebecca Conley, senior daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conley, of Prestonsburg.

FOURTEEN FROM FLOYD EXCEL AT MOREHEAD

Morehead, Ky. — Fourteen Floyd county students have won places on the first semester honor roll at Morehead State College, President Adron Doran announced.

The Floyd county students were among 274 students who received second semester recognition for achieving an academic standing of B or better.

One of 20 students who made perfect 4.0 standings was Gary Branson.

Other Floyd students who made the Morehead honor roll and their standings are: Ruhmah Baldwin, 3.63; Florine Bates, 3.00; James Buford Crager, 3.35; Linda Davis, 3.07; Bobby Hall, 3.00; William Harris, 3.00; Calla Hicks, 3.31; William King, 3.00; Rosemary Moore, 3.14; Glennis Ramey, 3.00; Esta Tackett, 3.00; Mary Ann Walker, 3.21; Randall Wells, 3.07.

More Than 7,500 Killed On Roads

During the past decade more than 7,500 persons lost their lives on Kentucky highways, the Department of Public Safety reports.

More than 125,000 persons were injured during the same period and economic loss from traffic accidents totaled nearly a billion dollars, the agency adds.

The department comments: "These are cold, hard, unyielding facts. They stand for human suffering, for a voice in many homes that will never be heard again."

Many of these deaths and injuries and much of the traffic loss need not have occurred. "This is the most tragic fact of all," the department says.

They would not have occurred in many instances, the agency warns, if motorists had taken time to avoid such simple mistakes as speeding, improper passing, following too closely, jumping the light, failure to yield the right-of-way and drunken driving.

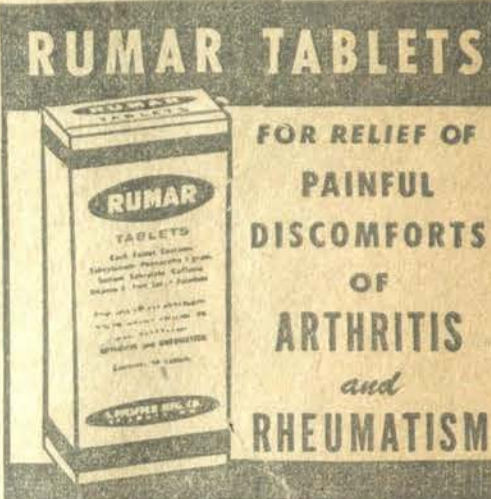

"In other words," the department concludes, "be your brother's keeper on the highway."

CRAGER

TACKETT

Two Prestonsburg high school graduates figure prominently on the campus of Morehead State College.

James Buford Crager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Crager, of Cliff, is serving as president of the Student Council there, and Joe P. Tackett, Jr., of Prestonsburg, is president of the senior class there.

Both were regulars on the Morehead football team last fall. Crager is majoring in physical education and business administration. Tackett is a physical education major.

Tackett, who is a member of the Campus Club, was recently honored when he was named "Mr. Morehead." Crager is a member of the Campus Club, the Cosmopolitan Club and the Council of Presidents.

But the Prestonsburg team is still short. Excuse me, but would anyone have a big boy they can loan Prestonsburg? Bill Goebel would appreciate.

NICE GOING!

Let it be known that the Prestonsburg Emergency & Rescue Squad are a bunch of angels. How they can stand the freezing weather of last week is something beyond flabby, blood-thin-as-water ME. I was cold in my jalopy and they were out in that miserable weather.

Fellows, for services way, way beyond the call of duty (and no money involved), for directing the traffic in a fine and sensible way, we can only say that little word, "Thanks."

APPRECIATE

It was nice to see Emergency and Rescue Squad member Bill Callihan out directing traffic. Bill, pursuing the same duties last year, was a traffic victim of an errant driver. Now, after several operations, Bill has resumed his civic duties.

They don't make enough like Bill Callihan, we are thinking.

DOWN THE DRAIN

It was disappointing, I imagine, for Maytown fans to watch a 20-10 season go down the drain. For Prestonsburg, it was their sixth win of the season. The paradox of paradoxes came true in that game. Less than a week before Maytown had beaten Prestonsburg by 30-some points.

Was it pressure? Was it an unaccustomed floor? A few bad breaks. Whatever it was, it's sad. Teams lie up a season of hope and come to the district tournament for a little glory.

Some never find it. And some do, as Prestonsburg, in suddenly reversing their field and adding two wins in three tournament games.

Sophomores Billy Blackburn and Dixon Nunnery, plus all-district guard John DeBord and newly appointed forward Bobby Marshall looked like a team with a sudden shot of Hadacoil.

They had zip and pep, and, surprise again, defeated highly-rated (county-wide) McDowell. Marshall drove from his forward position as though he had found a home and Blackburn proved that he can run and shoot. Nunnery, a good competitor shows a good one-hander.

LOOKOUT FOR NEXT SEASON

Denzil Halbert says that most high school basketball schedules are made up in the summer.

"We hope next year to schedule some doubleheaders with Dunbar or Clark County at Prestonsburg," the Hoss said. Denzil, one of the area's best coaches, said he expected his Purple Flashers to be much better balanced next year.

We had a good "B" team this year and I expect that team to a 17-5 record this past season, Hoss said. Sammons, Hammonds and Collins will give us a lot of help, he concluded.

BOREDOM GO AWAY!

After basketball, then what. Let's face it, basketball is our biggest source of entertainment. Now that most of the county teams are out of the tournament, what are we going to do to amuse ourselves?

Watch TV every night? Electronic entertainment emanating from a squawk box is adequate at times but there are those who desire live, flesh and blood performers. Say, for example, basketball or baseball or football, among the sports, or something of interest in another area of entertainment.

Oddly enough, our entertainment has a disadvantage. It is enjoyed most while sitting down. So we should change because this gives the bottom a tendency to spread, the chest to sag inward, and shoulders to droop like a willing flower.

If we could only entertain ourselves. A game of golf, a set of tennis, a snappy go at ping-pong, volleyball, horseback riding, fishing, water skiing, softball all good games to play.

There are those who are tired of their sitters getting all the exercise. Exercise is necessary to good health, to stave off coronaries, to live longer and more zestfully. It is, if you like, therapy. After a little exercise, a problem looks smaller and is most probably in its right perspective.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

What's in a name? There must be something. The first year Wheelwright changes his team name from Maroons to Trojans, they win the district tournament.

That's what's in a name.

GLASSES, ANYONE?

Sharp shooting Forrest Newsome wears glasses. What could he do if he were wearing contact lenses? When asked if he were nearsighted or farsighted, Newsome replied that he is nearsighted. One spectator piped up, "I think he's goal-sighted."

REHASHING DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

Wheelwright's numerous fans attending the final session of the 58th District tournament in Prestonsburg, last Saturday night, had good reason for their joyous actions since Wheelwright's championship efforts were their first in the school's history. The victory also marked the first time Wheelwright has ever had a team in the regional tournament.

Martin will be making their sixth appearance in the regional tournament under the 13-year reign of coach Denzil Halbert.

Wayland high school was awarded the sportsmanship trophy for exponents throughout the entire season. The best treatment to 5-8 senior guard, won the free throw trophy with 23 of 26 shots. Prestonsburg's cheerleaders were adjudged as the best cheerleading unit.

Martin's David Conley, playing in four tournament games, paced the

TIDBITS of Kentucky Folklore
By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Recently I have been digging through some records and a lot of memories to get some autobiographical things that I want to write down for myself and my descendants.

One thing that impressed me was that I have had so many teachers. Maybe I owed it to humanity to teach 36,000 students in my more than a half century in the schoolroom. It came as a great surprise that I had had 55 teachers, from the first one at Fidelity in 1895 to the last one at Indiana University in 1929. Surely, if a person can be influenced by the teachers he has had, I should be something much greater than I have ever been or can hope to be.

Through no mere sentimentality I look back upon my country teachers—nine of them—with a good deal of affection. So far as I know, only one of them is now living; the last few years have taken many, and a few died long ago—three as victims of tuberculosis. In spite of the actual number of credits that those nine people may have had, they were without exception educators. About half of them were not much more than the requisite eighteenth years of age when they taught me. Not a one except my last man teacher was over thirty, and he was not much above that. They had read enormously for people who did not have so much as two years of high school education; they had wide interests for that time and made our little Fidelity schoolhouse a symbol in my mind of learning.

Highways Are Vacationways

By The Kentucky Traveler
Frankfort, March 7 — Most fish hooked at Kentucky Lake between Sept. 1 and Nov. 15 will be eligible to compete for a cash prize, except "the one that got away."

That's the period of the second annual Kentucky Lake Fall Fishing Derby sponsored by operators of resorts and other businesses in the lake area. Prizes will total $5,000, the Paducah Chamber of Commerce announces.

So motorists with a yen to compete with hook and line should take one of the several good roads into the area and get into the fish fest, advises the Kentucky Department of Public Relations. The fact that the derby is being repeated this year is a good indication that it was a success last year. Two state parks on the lake are going to spread Kentucky hospitality pretty generously this year, since the Commonwealth is making special efforts to lure the vacationer.

East Kentucky, too, will get more vacationers soon, if good roads are a tourist inducement. Gov. Combs says it is possible construction will begin this summer on a 200-mile highway into this section—the 43-mile, 4-lane stretch of toll road from Winchester to Campton. Two-lane forks will extend from Campton to Whitesburg and to Pikeville. The state is awaiting authority to issue toll road revenue bonds. Natural Bridge State Park and a profusion of mountain scenery are among the section's travel attractions.

Auxier, smallest school in the meet with only 14 boys in high school, won the sentiment of the crowd as they led favored Martin for three quarters before losing their entire starting five via the foul route. Martin also lost their starting five in the final game after leading favored Wheelwright for three periods.

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad did its usual commendable job in controlling the parking and disbursing of the tournament crowds.

ANNOUNCEMENT
An Educational Program For The Children

I am a candidate for the Floyd County Board of Education, Division No. 4 and solicit your support at the November, 1960 election upon the following platform:

- Restore the teaching profession to its proper dignity by removal of Gestapo tactics and threats to teachers.
- Increase the salaries of all teachers by eliminating waste and unnecessary jobs.
- Bring all good teachers who have been run out of Floyd county back home to our own schools where they are needed.
- Keep good teachers teaching by creating an atmosphere of friendliness and good will among all school employees.
- Appoint a well trained, qualified Superintendent of Schools who has the ability to supply the educational leadership needed in Floyd county.
- Make appointments to all positions in the school system on the basis of qualifications.
- Keep the school system and the teachers free from all political entanglements.
- Improve the Course of Study in all high schools so that our children will not be handicapped because of a meager background when they go to college.
- Work with an Educational Advisory Committee made up of citizens from every community in the county to help formulate school policy and to develop a wise school building program.
- Encourage Parent-Teacher Association groups in every school district.
- Develop a more economical maintenance program by employing local labor thereby eliminating the many unnecessary permanent employees on the payroll.
- Provide a transportation program that will not force children to leave home before daylight and return home after dark, and eliminate discrimination between children attending rural schools and consolidated schools.

MOST POTENT AREA FARM VOICE IS W. D. CLICK, KENTUCKY NATIVE

By HENRY P. SCALF

Farmer Bill Click, known personally by hundreds of Eastern Kentuckians and by thousands via radio and television, is a Kentuckian by birth and a West Virginian by the circumstances of his career.

He left Berea College in 1914 to become a county agent in Nicholas county, West Virginia. Like all good Kentuckians, he had the intention of returning to his native state.

"My full intention when leaving Berea was to stay three years in West Virginia and go back to be a farmer in Kentucky," he says. "Those three years have been long ones."

Gov Bert T. Combs contributed a bit to reclaiming the WSAZ-TV farm director at Huntington for Kentucky last week. He named him a Kentucky Colonel. Since all these honorary titles are getting a bit confusing, it can be resolved by letting West Virginia call him Farmer Bill and Kentuckians refer to him as Colonel Click, sub.

Farmer Bill or Colonel Click, he is a farmer by heritage and choice. At first he was very much a dirt farmer, for he was born Feb. 27, 1889, on a small Jackson county, Kentucky farm. His father named him William D. He had 10 brothers and sisters.

"The farm is still in the family," he notes, "but it is not much of a farm as farms go today. My parents, however, reared six boys and five girls on the 168 acres."

Click's parents, Daniel and Elvira Hatfield Click, had come to Kentucky in 1878 from Eastern Tennessee in a covered wagon and settled between Birby Knob and Clover Bottom in Jackson county. The years rolled along and the children grew up. The parents had instilled into each a desire for an education. Bill went to Berea's Foundation School, later to Berea Academy.

To pay expenses, Bill did farm work, carpentry and painting. He had to cut and carry his own firewood, as did all Berea boys. Graduating from the Academy in 1913, he remained to study vocational agriculture. Others of the Click clan followed to Berea, ten in all procuring at least part of their education there.

In the summer of 1914 Click worked with some government men who were making a farm survey in Madison, Scott and Mason counties, Kentucky. Soon afterward he received a call to Summersville, Nicholas county, West Virginia. The county seat town of Nicholas in December 1914, was tough to reach for there was no railway to the mountain-enclosed village. Bill rode in on a sled through the giant drifts of snow.

Nicholas county was raw and virgin territory for a county agricultural agent. Click undertook to show the mountaineers the fruits of scientific farming. He advocated the application of fertilizer, assured the farmers it wouldn't "burn the soil up." He argued against planting according to the signs of the moon and discounted the ability of a wooly woot to predict the weather.

Doing double duty as a teacher of agriculture in the Summersville high school he met Miss Nell Kirkpatrick, of Morristown, Tennessee, who had come into the West Virginia mountains to teach home economics. A romance blossomed into marriage in 1916. She was a Presbyterian and the wedding was held in the local Presbyterian church. Click has been a Presbyterian since those days, is now an elder in the First Presbyterian church, Huntington.

The Clicks left Summersville, April, 1918, went to Hamlin, Lincoln county where his intense drive for better farming methods led him to concentrate on organizing 4-H clubs. He became active in church work, promoted poultry clubs, helped establish the waterworks and a new high school. He left Hamlin in 1921, went to Wayne county. At Wayne he bought a home and intended to stay. He did stay nine years but the nearby county of Cabell wanted him and he went there in March, 1930. He bought a new home in Huntington.

He served Cabell county 22 years, promoted successfully a 4-H Club camp and started scores of boys and girls on a successful career by good foundations in 4-H projects. He retired, yes, retired in 1952, after 38 years as a county agricultural agent. He had a 300-acre farm up the Ohio River from Huntington where he raised white-face cattle and he wanted to spend his remaining years there.

WSAZ-TV grabbed the retired agent, made him farm director of the station. He began to write a column for the Herald-Dispatch.

Farmer Bill Click in a Kentucky hat presented at Ashland.

He had a wide field now for his agricultural talents through the airways. He is listened to on the radio or viewed on television by thousands in Eastern Kentucky, Southern Ohio and in West Virginia. He is the tri-state's most potent agricultural voice.

His greatest satisfaction comes from the knowledge that he has contributed to the success of so many men and women. One of his greatest thrills, he says, was to find a protégé in a high position at a national 4-H Club meet at Washington. That story is of Miss Mildred Fizer whom the magistrates of Cabell county thought too young and inexperienced to make a good

U. S. 127 Crosses Wolf Creek Dam

Frankfort, March 8 (Spl.) — A popular access route to Kentucky's Lake Cumberland region is newly designated U. S. 127, formerly Ky. 35, known as the Constitution Trail.

A 130-mile portion of this road from Frankfort to the Tennessee line is a scenic and historic trip that passes through the Herrington Lake and Lake Cumberland recreation areas. The route traverses the length of Wolf Creek Dam.

Twelve miles from Frankfort, the road reaches Lawrenceburg, a historic old town identified with the distilling industry. It was named for Capt. James Lawrence, commander of the Chesapeake and originator of "Don't give up the Ship!"

At Harrodsburg, 31 miles along the way, is Pioneer Memorial State Park, site of the first permanent white settlement in Kentucky. A replica of Old Fort Harrod and the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln's parents were married are maintained here.

Nearby is Dix River Dam and Herrington Lake, a popular fishing resort, scene of the spring white bass run.

Forty miles along the way is Danville, cradle of Kentucky statehood and site of Constitution Square where the Commonwealth's first constitution was framed. Many of the old buildings still remain.

U. S. 127 next passes through Hustonville, Liberty, Russell Springs, and Jamestown, 96 miles from Frankfort.

Near Jamestown is Wolf Creek Dam, a 240-foot-high structure impounding Lake Cumberland. The lake, 105 miles long with 1,256 miles of shoreline, provides vacationers with one of the nation's finest recreation and fishing areas. Facilities for enjoying the area are found at a state park occupying a 3,000-acre wooded peninsula.

U. S. 127 then passes through Albany, 124 miles from Frankfort, and continues to the Tennessee line.

Governor Says He's One of Few Mountaineers Who's a Bad Shot; Tells Plans for Chain of Lakes

Frankfort, March 9 (SPL) — Gov. Bert Combs, who is an advocate of a strong fish and wildlife program, describes himself as "one of the few mountaineers who is a bad shot."

But he likes hunting and fishing, prefers hunting, and intends to do more of both "as soon as I have time."

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reports in its magazine, "Happy Hunting Ground," that the Governor had time to go hunting only twice last season and neither time did he get his limit. "Plenty of birds," he said, "but as I told you, I'm a poor shot." He is a member of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club.

The Governor formerly kept bird dogs, and when a youngster, he says, "We always had a coon hound or two around the house." Recently he enjoyed a coon hunt in which four coons were found in one tree. He also likes rabbit hunting.

With the help of the fish and wildlife agency, the U. S. Corps of Engineers and the Department of Highways, Combs hopes to bring in to being a chain of lakes in Eastern Kentucky. A quarter of a million dollars, he says, has been set aside to start this program and "we hope that we can have at least a half dozen of these dams started within the next two years."

They would serve to combat floods and soil erosion and to bring in fishermen and other seekers for recreation.

Although the Governor used to fish when a youngster, "as all country boys fish," he hasn't had time for the sport lately and doesn't claim to be an expert. But he says, "I'm anxious to learn and to try our big lakes."

Separate Department Is Created To Handle Child Welfare Work

The United States Supreme Court has decided that a coal operator may not offset against royalty payments due the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund any damages caused by union strikes.

The ruling involved the Benedict Coal Corporation, Lee county, Va., which contended it could withhold part of the 40-cent tonnage royalty due the Fund because of strike damages resulting from shutdowns between 1950 and 1953. All bituminous coal operators under contract with the UMWA pay the royalty to finance the Welfare Fund.

Benedict was directed by the Supreme Court, in a 7 to 1 decision, to pay the $76,504.26 in overdue royalties, with interest, to the fund immediately and without regard to any damages collectible from the UMWA itself for the work stoppages.

The court concluded that suits brought against coal operators by the trustees of the fund to collect royalties due under the contract must be kept separate from any actions between the union and the operators. The clear import of the collective bargaining contract, the court said, "is that the parties meant that the duty to pay royalty should arise on the production of coal independent of the union's performance."

The majority opinion was written by Justice Brennan, with Justice Stewart abstaining and Justice Frankfurter dissenting in the 7 to 1 vote.

A jury in the U. S. District Court for Eastern Tennessee, in March, 1956, upheld the company's plea and said it could offset the royalty payments with the $81,017 damages claimed by Benedict as loss resulting from strikes.

Stamping Ground derives its name from herds of buffalo which gathered about the springs and traces which centered there. Jesse James' parents once lived at Stamping Ground.

JOHN C. C. MAYO AND ASSOCIATES INSPECT BIG SANDY TIMBERLANDS

John C. C. Mayo, of Paintsville, was one of the first men to interest northern capital in developing the vast natural resources of coal and timber in the Big Sandy Valley.

Mayo and several parties of northern capitalists, many from as far away as New York City, travelled all over the valley and its larger tributaries in the late 1890's to evaluate the possibilities of development. His persistence resulted in the extension of the railway to the upper valley and the organization of many giant coal corporations.

Mayo is shown on the left in this picture sitting beside a giant poplar tree. The other two men are identified as only his associates from outside Kentucky who were interested in timbering.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our past as a bit of its friendly service with the hope they will contribute to your understanding of our historic heritage.
