

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

The election is over. A good thing to do would be for us to turn our thoughts to Christmas and its spirit of "peace on earth, goodwill to men."

NOT ALL DEADLY SERIOUS

The campaign had its moments of humor, and we are not thinking of the chuckles most of us got out of the flag-waving politicians. There was the placard which turned up here which was in the form of a "Posted" notice. It read, as well as we can remember:

NO HUNTING

If Nixon is elected, we will need these rabbits ourselves. Then there was the story of the fellow offering a wager in any amount that if Kennedy was elected the banks would close and soldiers would be marching within three days.

If there were any takers, they forgot that three days after the election came Armistice Day (or Armed Forces Day.)

I stayed up Saturday night, as usual, for GUNSMOKE, only to find that Ike had beat Matt Dillon to the draw.

LESLIE VICTOR IN CITY RACE

Mayoralty Incumbent Winner over Ranier For Term Remainder

Dr. Edward B. Leslie won at Tuesday's election his race to continue as Mayor of Prestonsburg for remainder of the unexpired term of Ex-Mayor Bill Napier by 51 votes over Harry Ranier.

Dr. Leslie was named by the City Council to the post after Mayor Napier resigned to accept an appointment with the state administration, early this year, and Tuesday's election holds the office for him for another year.

FLOYD COUNTY VOTES 'STRAIGHT' DEMOCRATIC

Record 14,886 Votes Cast Tuesday Despite Introduction of Machines; Local Races Spur Voters' Interest

Floyd county remained a Democratic stronghold through Tuesday's voting, turning in heavy majorities for all the party's candidates while the state as a whole was voting Republican for the third time in a row in Presidential elections.

Despite the introduction of voting machines in every precinct and the consolidation of precincts, making necessary longer travel for many voters, the county polled a record 14,886 votes.

High interest in the hard-fought election campaigns in three educational divisions of the county and in the Prestonsburg mayor's race contributed to the heavy polling in a day marked by perfect weather.

Senator John F. Kennedy won 31 of the 34 precincts of the county, and in most of them scored heavy majorities over his Republican opponent for the Presidency, Vice-President Nixon. His Floyd total was 9,876 to 5,010 for Nixon. Only Tickey, Mouth of Mud and Cliff precincts gave the Republican candidate a lead.

Former Governor Keen Johnson polled 8,676 votes to 5,657 for John Sherman Cooper, Republican incumbent, in the race for U. S. Senator, although Cooper's statewide victory is of landslide proportions.

These majorities were impressive, but Congressman Carl D. Perkins piled up the biggest lead in the county with a 5,461-vote majority over his Republican opponent for Congress, Herbert Rowland, of Johnson county. Perkins had 9,770 votes to his opponent's 4,309.

This county gave strong backing, too, to the Constitutional convention and the road and parks bonds issue. The convention question had 5,626 "Yes" votes to 2,607 against, and the road and parks bonds won the county vote, 6,900 to 1,905, carrying every precinct. The constitution convention polled leads in all precincts except Jim Banks where the vote was a 107-107 tie.

The voting over the county was orderly, and the operation of the voting machines was almost trouble-free, except in Antioch where help had to be summoned from Prestonsburg when the mechanism could not be unlocked.

Successful Evangelist To Return Here Nov. 21 For Revival Campaign

The congregation of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church is making preparation for the return of Evangelist Homer Martinez for a series of revival and soul-winning services, beginning Nov. 21.

Martinez, resident of Ft. Worth, Texas, and nationally known for his evangelistic campaigns, conducted a revival here several years ago in which he drew the largest crowds ever to attend services in the present building. The evangelist will be coming directly from a campaign with the Trinity Baptist Church, Amarillo, Texas.

The revival choir and congregational singing will be under the direction of Steve Taylor, of Greenville, South Carolina. Services at the church will be conducted each (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

The Prestonsburg Community Development Council wants your judgment as to what are the three greatest needs of the town. The question as posed, "What, in your opinion, are the three greatest needs of our community, in the order of their importance?" may be voted on in the blanks below:

- 3.

If you have a solution for meeting these needs you are asked to write on a separate sheet of paper and enclose with the above ballot. Mail to Mrs. R. V. May, Chairman of Prestonsburg Community Development Council, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

BLAIR SCORES BOARD UPSET

Defeats Curtis Stumbo But Cooley's Victory Gives 'Antis' Margin

Administration forces won in two of the three educational divisions in which school board members were elected at Tuesday's polling.

A sensational upset victory was scored in Division 4 by Bill Blair, administration candidate, over Curtis Stumbo who had been regarded by many as a certain winner. He polled 1,315 votes to Stumbo's 1,290.

In Division 3, John M. Stumbo, Jr., present chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, was re-elected over three opponents. He had a total vote of 1,106 to 882 for Emmitt Conn, 580 for Walter L. Akers and 78 for Joe I. May.

The anti-administration victory was scored in Division 5 where Ross "Bud" Cooley polled 1,384 votes to 1,111 for Eugene Mullins. Cooley's victory apparently gives anti-administration forces a 3-2 edge on the board, with Ray Howard and John G. Hall the other two opposition members.

Machine Age Succeeds Color, Drama of Old Ballot Elections; More Than 14,000 Vote in Floyd

The Machine Age overtook Floyd county politics Tuesday, and the voters apparently are glad of it.

Many liked the novelty of the voting machines. Others liked the features which eliminated the possibility of chain balloting. It was quickly and neatly done—didn't even leave my fingerprints behind," commented one voter.

And the vote results, except for absentee balloting which was done on regular, printed ballots, were known almost instantaneously with the closing of the polls.

The tabulation of Floyd county's record vote—more than 14,000 ballots were cast—was completed at the courthouse here by 11 o'clock election night. But for the absentee ballots and the challenging of 73 absentee ballots, it would have all been over by 8, Sheriff Herschell Warrens, ex-officio member of the election commission, said.

True, some of the color and excitement of election night was missing. A sizeable crowd gathered at the courthouse, but there was no circuit courtroom jam, there was no guard at the door to keep outside those not directly interested in the election (who isn't?), and it appeared that there wasn't enough suspense to force anybody to resort to the "nerve tonic."

Gone was the banging of ballot boxes, the suspicious scrutiny of every move, the loud predictions of victory and defeat, and the general air of something about to happen.

It was a far cry from the days when election officials rode horseback as they brought in the ballot boxes from outlying precincts, with nearby precinct officials requiring, sometimes, for some mysterious reason, the longest time to get here with the boxes and their precious contents.

Those who predicted that the new-fangled machines would scare voters away were dead wrong. City and school elections added to the general interest and contributed to the heavy voter turnout, true, but there are some who are convinced many voters showed up at the polls out of curiosity, just to try their hand at the new device.

They tried their hands, and learned that the machines make voting easier than ever.

"The finest thing since they took the crank off cars," commented one.

"Now if I can just get out of here," said another after she had turned the switch and the curtain had closed.

"If the Lever Brothers will only do their work, this is what the doctor ordered," said another, referring to the officials who operate the outside levers of the machine.

All of which adds up to the general conviction that the voting machine, like the horseless carriage, is here to stay.

SCOUT GRILL IS DEDICATED

To Bus Tragedy Victim At Chatterawha; Finance Chairman Makes Report

Dedication Monday of the Anna Laura Goble Memorial grill at Camp Chatterawha in Jenny Wiley State Park by the Sandy Valley Girl Scout Council was one of the featured events on the area Scout calendar for November. The event, at 4 p.m. commemorates the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Goble, of Emma, who was a victim of the bus tragedy near here in Feb., 1958. The grill was presented to the Council by the child's parents.

The grill, built on a platform shaped like a trefoil, has a cooking surface of approximately two by three feet. Troop No. 40, Prestonsburg, of which the Goble child was a member, conducted the ceremony.

Neighborhood meetings have been featured by the Council this week, it was noted. One was held at Wheelwright and the final one for the week here Thursday evening. With the observance of Veterans' Day, Friday, the Council has scheduled no other events prior to the National Girl Scout Convention to be held in St. Louis, Nov. 14-18. Neighborhood meetings at Paintsville, Williamson and Hazard will follow the convention.

Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., finance chairman of the 1960 fund drive, reports on the status of the effort in a release to the public. She noted that a total of $11,848.01 has been collected for a goal of $14,700.

Two basic leaders' training courses were given during the month of October, it is noted by the Council. A total of 58 persons attended all or part of the sessions. Twenty-five completed the 16-hour course. Registrants were from Hazard, Williamson and Whitesburg.

A statistical study of the membership rolls of the number of Girl Scouts in each town of the area was also released by the Council. A total of 1,245 Scouts are now in membership in 12 area towns, as follows: Belfry, 32; David, 40; Drift, 15; Hazard, 141; Martin, 48; Metewar (W. Va.), 24; Paintsville, 123; Pikeville, 179; Prestonsburg, 134; Weeksburg, 20; Whitesburg, 70; Williamson (W. Va.), 346; and Wheelwright, 90.

Kennedy Is Victorious; State Goes Republican

WINNER HAS WIDE MARGIN IN ELECTORS

Massachusetts Senator First Catholic To Win; Cooper in by Landslide

Election of Senator John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat, to the Presidency of the United States became a mathematical certainty early Wednesday morning, but it was not till five hours later that his Republican opponent, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, gave the victory the "official" stamp by conceding his defeat.

Mr. Nixon delayed his statement while Illinois and California hung in the balance, although the Kennedy edge in California, the Republican candidate's home state, was sizeable and indicated it would fall into the Democratic column. Illinois continued in doubt until early Wednesday afternoon when the big Democratic edge piled up in Chicago surmounted the whittling-away process going on elsewhere in the state.

Thus the youthful-looking Kennedy becomes the first Catholic to be elected President. He was the second member of the Catholic Church to win the presidential nomination, the late Al Smith, the first, losing to Herbert Hoover by a landslide 24 years ago.

The religious issue figured heavily in the election, but there was doubt that the losses Kennedy incurred thereby in small, heavily Protestant states were as great as his gains in big electoral states where the Democratic standard bearer pulled an offsetting Catholic vote.

Kennedy jumped off to a big edge in the early vote tabulation, scoring in the East with victories in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, Rhode Island and New Jersey. He led also in the South, only Virginia, Tennessee and Florida going Republican. South Carolina and Texas, two states counted on heavily by G.O.P. leaders, stayed Democratic.

The mid-west, however, was another story. Ohio, Indiana, Oklahoma and Kansas went into the Nixon column early. The Rocky Mountain and West Coast areas were almost solidly Nixon except for California.

But Kennedy's electoral college vote mounted through the night till he needed only a mere handful to win. Meanwhile, the popular vote edge held by the winner had dropped to less than 1%.

FREE TESTS FOR DIABETES

Scheduled Next Week; Mobile X-Ray Clinic Tests For Tuberculosis

Cooperating in the observance of Diabetes Detection Week, which has been proclaimed by Gov. Bert Combs for Nov. 13-19 throughout Kentucky, the Floyd County Health Department has equipped its nurses to make free diabetic tests anywhere in the county.

It was also announced that free tests will be given at the health department office all day Monday and Thursday.

The series of chest X-ray clinics being conducted by a mobile unit in the fight on tuberculosis is resulting in from 80 to 100 examinations being made daily, it was said. The health department quoted Dr. Drevrets, of the U. S. Public Health Service, who is working with the mobile unit, as saying he is "well pleased with the results." Dr. Drevrets is "on loan" to the Kentucky Department of Health, which is working with the State Tuberculosis Hospital Commission in seeking out tuberculosis in heavily infested areas such as Floyd county.

The mobile clinic spent election day at the courthouse and, despite the rush of political affairs, examined 53 persons.

JURIST PLANS RETIREMENT

International Court Head, Floyd Native; Jessup May Succeed

Judge Green Haywood Hackworth, whose boyhood was spent on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, this county, will retire next February as a member of the International Court of Justice in The Hague, it was learned here this week.

Now 77, Judge Hackworth had been re-nominated for re-election to the International Court by nominating groups from 11 Western European, Latin-American and Asian countries. He sent a message Monday, however, to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, requesting that his name be withdrawn.

The Floyd county native's withdrawal from contention leaves Dr. Phillip C. Jessup almost complete assurance of the international post. Jessup is believed to have the support of the United States, Britain, France and Canada, since nominating groups from those countries had submitted his name for election.

Thus Judge Hackworth will surrender a $20,000-a-year, tax-free post which he has held for the last nine years.

An authority on international law, Hackworth served as legal adviser to the State Department before being named to the World Court.

Dr. Jessup, his successor, is 63 years old, is an expert on international law and has been prominent in various international conferences. When he was appointed as a member of the U. S. delegation to the 1951 session of the U. N. General Assembly the Senate refused to give its confirmation after a bitter attack on Jessup by the late Senator McCarthy.

REACH HALFWAY MARK IN FUND DRIVE HERE

"Operation Bootstrap," the effort being staged to raise funds as the public's contribution toward an athletic field at Prestonsburg high school, drew just shy the halfway mark Wednesday afternoon. Byron M. Thompson, chairman of the committee heading the drive, announced.

At 2 p.m. Wednesday, total purchases of Youth Confidence bonds and certificates stood at $15,030. A total of $30,500 is needed to qualify for the project for the $9,500 aid voted by the Floyd County Board of Education.

Thompson expressed complete confidence that the goal will be reached without any trouble. "The participation has been wonderful, and the drive really is just now beginning to roll," he said.

DEVELOPMENT HEADS MEET

Progress Plans Studied By Community Council; Drama Report Is Made

The Prestonsburg Community Development Council at its regular weekly meeting at the Wise Cafe here Wednesday heard two reports on the progress of plans to develop the town and area.

One report, offered by Phillip Blackburn, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, told of the printing of 10,000 tourist brochures on the area. These will be sold to Prestonsburg businessmen at four cents each to recover cost.

The meet, presided over by Mrs. R. V. May, president, also discussed the plan of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association to present an outdoor drama at the park here in 1961.

Mrs. May, in commenting on plans to get industry here, observed that "There are so many things to do before we can hope to get industry interested in our town." She mentioned the need of a tourist information center and the beautification of the new Auxier road when it is completed and being used as the chief access road to Prestonsburg.

The drama group is now negotiating an addendum to the contract entered into several weeks ago with Paul Green, the celebrated playwright, Henry P. Scaf, chairman of the board of directors of the Association told the Development Council. Two or three miscellaneous matters have to be ironed out with Green for the writing of the play. The main contract itself has been signed.

An amphitheatre is planned at the state park here with construction to be initiated in the spring. Formal opening of the drama, based primarily on the Indian captivity of Mrs. Jenny Wiley, is tentatively scheduled in the summer of 1962.

Marlena Kishpaugh, Robert E. Lee Wed at Ponca City, Oklahoma

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Lee who were married in a simple, double-ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 16, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church, Ponca City, Okla., have established residence there at 314 1/2 South 13th street.

The bride is the former Marlena Kishpaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Kishpaugh, of Ponca City, formerly of Prestonsburg, Mr. Lee is the son of Mrs. Jeff Lee, Route 4, Ponca City, and the late Mr. Lee.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her waltz-length gown of white chiffon over layers of silk net and taffeta was complemented with a lace jacket styled with a V neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with a double row of French lace and was attached to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible crested with pink rosebuds. White wrist length gloves and a pearl necklace completed her costume. She wore an antique wedding bracelet worn by her grandmother at her wedding.

Mrs. Letha Luana Grossman, of Ponca City, was the bride's only attendant. She was attired in a light blue silk organza waltz-length gown with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white rosebuds.

Serving as the bridegroom's best man was his brother, Charles R. Lee, of Arkansas City.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Kishpaugh was attired in a grey shantung dressmaker suit accented with black accessories.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Lee wore a blue floral print sheath dress with a blue voile jacket and white accessories.

The bride was graduated from Prestonsburg high school and attended Murray State College at Murray, Ky. She is a graduate of the Ponca City School of Nursing and is now employed as a registered nurse by the Ponca City hospital.

Mr. Lee, a graduate of the Ponca City high school, attended the Ponca City Business College and is employed in Arkansas City.

The Purpose of a Community Development Council

(A guest editorial, No. 1 of a series)
BY MRS. R. V. MAY

Community development is the concern and the responsibility of every citizen. Indeed, without the support and interest of all members of a community, real development is impossible. With this fact in mind, the organization of a Community Development Council for Prestonsburg was undertaken. To be effective, it will require the active support of all service groups, all official groups, all special or professional groups, all partisan groups, and of all private citizens.

The need for coordinated planning and action is evident on numerous fronts. We are part of a depressed area at a time of national economic slow-down. Little search is required to reveal crying needs. Trash, weeds, broken sidewalks, and fallen fences assail the eyes. The stench of sewers rises in our nostrils. The empty business houses on our main street discourage the business community. The life-lines of industry, transportation by highways and airlines, are conspicuous here only by their absence. The need for improvement in our schools and recreational facilities remain, despite some signal successes in those areas. The preliminary census reports show a loss of 500 residents of Prestonsburg and a loss of some 12,000 Floyd counties, proof that our people are looking elsewhere for a livelihood.

The need for action, then, is clear. Nor has it ever gone unrecognized by the various groups in our community. Each in its own way has been trying to meet certain phases of our problem. Church groups, the local Council of Church Women, the Ministerial Association strive to raise the moral and spiritual tone of our community. The city government is striving to provide necessary services. Private business interests are trying, alone, and in conjunction with the JC's, Kiwanis, and Better Business groups, to improve the economic climate. Women's clubs attempt progress in library service, city beautification, and civic responsibility. Other groups work in the areas of health, education and welfare. The efforts of these groups often meet with success but never more so than when they all work together. Witness the grade school playground, the gymnasium, and the current drive for a high school stadium.

The need is clear. The time for action is now. Never have we had available to us so much help from technical and professional agencies. Some 26 state and federal agencies offer counsel and advice for community action. The State Department of Economic Development through its Community Affairs Division has helped us get organized and will continue to give us special attention throughout the coming year.

The purpose of our Community Development Council is to coordinate the planning and action of all interested civic groups as we survey the needs of our community. We hope, together, to identify our problems; to determine, together, on a practical course of action; and, together, to carry out our decisions as effectively as possible. To accomplish this we return once more to the need for UNITED action. Whatever is good for my fellow-citizen and my neighbor is good for me. So let us all support the United Planning and Action Team and get UP and AT our mutual problems.

Technological Advances In Coal Industry Slated For Inspection, Thursday

A vote of confidence in the coal industry will be cast by Kentucky's leading citizens in Lexington, Thursday.

Led by Gov. Bert T. Combs and Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt, a party of more than 100 state officials, industry leaders, and other visitors will inspect the latest type coal-fired boilers and attend a luncheon in tribute to the glowing prospects for the state's coal industry.

Host for the day's festivities is the Kentucky Coal Association, whose executive secretary is Fred B. Bullard. He explained that the "Coal Day" activities were arranged to "reacquaint the public with coal's importance to the state of Kentucky, to the national economy and security, and to commercial fuel consumers."

The coal association guests will visit Lexington Concrete Products, Inc., for a demonstration of the Coal-Pak automatic boiler which provides all the heat used in the manufacture of concrete blocks. The party will stop at the University of Kentucky's new Medical Center, where another coal unit provides heat in the winter and air conditioning in the summer.

"Coal is coming back strong into markets such as these because of its very great advantages in cost and reserve equipment for automatic handling and clean operation is another factor in coal's favor."

B. F. Reed of Drift, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, will preside at the luncheon, where guests will be welcomed by John R. Cook, Jr., acting city manager of Lexington. In addition to Governor Combs and Lt. Governor Wyatt, scheduled to speak at the Thursday luncheon are E. E. Litkenhous, director, Spindletop Research Institute; Stephen F. Dunn, president, National Coal Association; Joseph E. Moody, president, National Coal Policy Conference; and R. H. Stevens, Cincinnati consulting engineer.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

The only sad fact in the ownership of a sporting dog is that the inexorable passage of time will take its toll all too soon and that there will come a day when, even though he should have served faithfully for many seasons, infirmities will force his retirement to a well-deserved life of ease. It is then we face the problem of a replacement.

Henry Davis, Sporting Dog Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, suggests that we approach this inevitable time with a realistic attitude and start looking for a suitable replacement before the older dog has passed his period of usefulness in the field. The wise sportsman will start breaking in the prospective replacement a couple of seasons before the older dog is too far over the hill.

Sometimes, however, we have the misfortune to lose an experienced hunting dog through sickness or accident before we can school a replacement. And many of us prefer to start from scratch with a very young puppy. This is not as easy as it might sound, and every owner of a new puppy should acquaint himself with some of the rules or short cuts in treatment or handling which may make his task much easier.

It is best to bring the youngster into your home in the daytime, the earlier the better. This gives him a chance to become familiar with his new atmosphere before facing the ordeal of the first night away from the family. Watch him carefully and at the first signs of restlessness take him outdoors or provide a newspaper on which he can relieve himself. The chances are his nervousness will bring about a few mishaps you cannot prevent, but under no circumstances should he be punished for this. Time enough for that when he has become acquainted with his new home.

Dogs dislike spoiling their own beds for they are naturally clean animals. But puppies have frequent calls to nature and must respond. Housebreaking should begin at an early age and should be accomplished in four to eight weeks, but you can expect occasional lapses in manners. Your puppy will usually want to relieve himself shortly after eating. Adopt a definite feeding schedule and stick to it. He will learn to anticipate these feeding times.

Puppies from three to six months of age should be taken outdoors at least five times a day; six to nine months, four times a day; older dogs, three times a day.

When your puppy commits an error on your carpet or rug—and he will go to him promptly and by the tone of your voice make it plain to him that he has made a grievous mistake. Scold him severely, place his nose in close proximity to the "crime," shame him and then take him outside. It will be too late but he will eventually get the idea. If he continues to repeat these errors, scold him and give him a sharp slap across the rump with a folded newspaper. It will not be long before the puppy will come to associate these walks with doing his duty and your troubles in this respect will be almost over. Always praise him when he takes care of his needs promptly.

The next step is to accustom him to the leash. Teaching the young dog to lead is a simple matter, but he should first become familiar with the collar and leash. If you have more than one puppy, put collars on all of them. After they have become accustomed to the collars, tie short pieces of rag to the collars. The puppies will tug against these streamers in play. This aids in accustoming the puppy to an attachment to his neck.

After your puppy has become used to his collar, see that it is tight enough not to slip over his head and tie or chain him in a comfortable place where he cannot become tangled up or choke himself. Leave him to his own devices several times a day. He will soon stop his attempts to break away and begin to realize that the leash or chain means that he no longer has his liberty. Learning to come when called by voice is next.

Take the dog outdoors. Attach a light check cord 20 to 30 feet in length to his collar. Allow him to have a short romp. When his attention is attracted to something else, call him by name and give the command "Come" or "Come here." If he responds, pat him, reward him with a tidbit and allow him to continue his romp, calling him to you at intervals.

Presently he will become tired of having his pleasure interfered with and will refuse to come when ordered. Grasp the end of the cord, repeat the command "Come," prefaced by his name, and give the cord a sharp jerk. He will probably try to resist, but keep giving the command and a few sharp jerks may bring him to you. If he does not come, pull him to you in no uncertain manner, repeating the command. Then reward him with a tidbit and caresses. Repeat this several times and stop the lesson.

Never allow any type of lesson to last too long.

CABIN BLAZE CLAIMS TWO

Johnson County Mother Rescues Two Children, Mother-in-law In Fire

A tragic Friday evening fire in a five-room log cabin in the Miller's Creek section of Johnson county, brought Johnson county's first double fatality in many years as two children, aged three and two, perished when an heroic attempt by their mother to save them failed.

Roger Reed, three, and James Reed, two, died as fire swept through their tiny log hut near Van Lear. The children's mother, Mrs. Fred Reed, had to abandon a heroic rescue trip back into the blazing house to save the last of her 10 children when her hair caught fire.

Mrs. Reed, mother of 10 children from ages three months to 12 years, carried eight of her children and her mother-in-law out of the holocaust. She returned to the house to get Roger and Jimmy, whom she saw standing near a chimney near the back of the log structure, but was thwarted by flames which were all over the house by that time.

"My babies were crowded together next to the chimney, screaming for help. Just as I saw them my hair caught fire and I had to leave them," Mrs. Reed sobbed to firemen from the Johnson county Fire Department later.

The body of one was found about 9 p.m., Friday, and the other was found Saturday at noon. A coroner's inquest was held to ascertain the identity of the two.

Mr. Reed was working in the fields away from the home when the blaze occurred. County Assistant Fire Chief Jim Robinson estimated that the fire must have started around 6 p.m. since the house was completely burned down when his crew answered the call about 7:45.

Because the Reed home sat at the top of a steep hill, the fire department's equipment could not be used. Firemen dipped water from a nearby well to help cool down the smoldering remains of the house before they could search for the bodies.

A drive was launched Monday by Paintsville merchants, neighbors, and other persons to help the family through the tragic accident.

Firemen theorized that sparks which popped out of the open fireplace might have started the fire.

LEADERS ARRIVE

Washington, Oct. 21—Three leaders of the West German coal industry will arrive in New York Monday for meetings with U. S. coal exporters to discuss the problems of coal exports from the United States to Germany.

Finally, California did it. Illinois and Michigan then came through to add to the Democratic victory margin.

The Republican party made slight gains in both the House and Senate but not enough to threaten the Democratic majority in both.

Kentucky was Republican by upwards of 50,000 votes Wednesday afternoon, and Senator John Sherman Cooper with a lead of 140,000 at that time was riding a landslide as victor for the first time for a full term in the U. S. Senate.

The roads and parks bond issue apparently was winning approval by a substantial margin in Kentucky, but the constitutional convention was trailing slightly with its only hope resting on unreported votes from several Eastern Kentucky counties.

Diabetes Detection Week Proclaimed By Governor; KSMA Directs Program

Gov. Bert Combs has proclaimed Nov. 13 through 19, Diabetes Detection and Education Week in Kentucky. This statewide observance joins the national campaign which is sponsored by the American Diabetes Association in cooperation with medical societies, public health departments, and civic organizations.

The chief purpose of the campaign is to find persons who are unaware that they have diabetes.

The Kentucky State Medical Association is directing the state program through its member physicians who will give free diagnostic tests during the week. County health departments' nurses will also make simple tests on urine specimens for all adults whom they see on home or office visits. Persons whose tests are positive will be referred to their own physicians for further diagnosis.

This is the tenth year in which a special emphasis has been made on detection of diabetes in Kentucky. In the previous drives, more than 1,000 new cases have been found each year. However, there are still an estimated 15,000 diabetic Kentuckians who have not yet been discovered or treated.

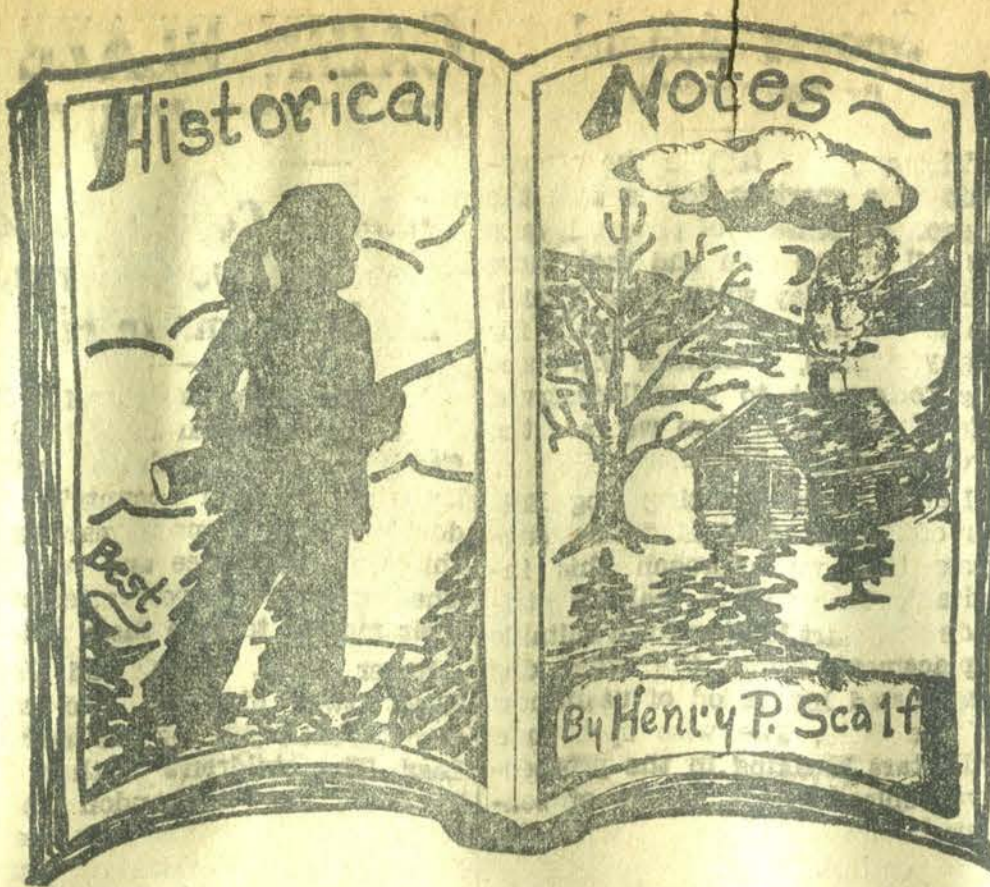

Diabetes is caused by improper action of the pancreas gland. This gland produces insulin which makes it possible for the body to use sugar. If the pancreas does not work correctly, sugar goes into the blood stream, then into the urine and is finally excreted as waste.

Families in which there is a history of diabetes are especially urged to take advantage of the free diagnosis. Diabetes when undetected and untreated can be fatal.

WHITE FAMILY

Many of the early settlers of Kentucky, when it was a wilderness, inhabited mostly by wild animals and Indians, came first to Fort Boonesborough, which was established 1775, in what is now Madison county, on the south bank of the Kentucky River, about two miles from Ford, Clark county. Among depositions given by pioneers at Boonesboro is one which bears the name of Aquilla White, indicating that he first reached Boonesboro in April, 1779; in a petition from Boone's Fort, October 16, 1779, which includes also names of those who had been killed in defense of the fort, or in hunting, are found the names of two others—Ambrose White (killed) and Benjamin White.

Records indicate that Aquilla White and Benjamin White later removed to what is now Montgomery county. Among the certificates for land issued by the Virginia Commission was No. 329, Peter Harper, south side branch of Licking River, adjoining Benjamin White (No. 328) settlement in June, 1779; in "Historical Sketches of Montgomery County," by Richard Reid, pages 8 and 9, are listed some "first settlers," visitors and locators, Benjamin White "and 10 or 11 others in company, some of whom came to a point on the waters of Salte three or four miles from Estill's battleground, where they marked a large ash with the letters 'White, 1779.'" They made an improvement for White, and one on the opposite side for Harper. Definite information about Benjamin White is lacking; he was possibly the Benjamin White who located in Lincoln county, Ky., or he may have removed to Ohio.

Aquilla White, who settled first at Boonesboro, later removed to Montgomery county, was Revolutionary soldier. He is listed in the Pension Rolls of 1819, which indicate that he served in the Revolutionary War with the Pennsylvania Line as a captain, and that he was at the time 89 years of age. Later records of the name White in Montgomery county, Ky., are not at present definitely linked with either of these early locators or settlers of the county. Some of these families are as follows:

The October Court of 1823, Montgomery county, Ky., the will of John White was offered for probate. He named in his will Polly, his wife, and "at her death, to all my children," written Dec. 8, 1822. The will of Henry White was probated in Montgomery county, Ky., February, 1826. He names wife, Anna White; daughter, Evianne White; witnesses, George Case, Joseph Fanning, Barton Raborn. Will Book C, page 160, Montgomery county, Kentucky, December 30, 1825. Settlement of the estate of Charles White, deceased.

In 1850, there was living in Montgomery county, Ky., a family consisting of Thomas White, age 66, clergyman, born in Virginia; Mary White, age 67, born in Virginia; Sarah Miller, age 29.

In History of Kentucky (Kerr), volume 4, page 597, is the biographical sketch of James W. White, farmer, near Mt. Sterling, who was born Oct. 22, 1820, son of William and Emily (Jones) White, the former a native of the Red River District of Kentucky, the latter of Montgomery county, members of Somerset Christian Church; children—James W. and Clarence White. James W. White married November 3, 1881, Anna Ratliff, daughter of Richard and Mary (Thompson) Ratliff, and they had three children, two of which survived: (1) Emily White, married Elgan Sharp of Sharpsburg, Bath county; (2) Mary, married William Eubank, Jr., of Montgomery county.

CONGRESSMAN JOSEPH M. KENDALL

Publicity incident to the erection and dedication of the two historical highway markers, commemorating the Battle of Ivy Mountain and The Garfield Place, prompted Mrs. James E. Garnett, Hazard, to send a copy of a letter from Joseph M. Kendall, West Liberty, to the editor of the Licking Valley Courier, August 25, 1930.

Regarding Kendall, Mrs. Garnett writes a brief biography copied from Herrington's Encyclopedia of American Biography:

"Joseph M. Kendall, lawyer, Congressman, was born May 12, 1863, in West Liberty Ky. He was elected to the 52nd Congress to fill the vacancy caused by his father's death. He declined reelection but was elected to the 54th Congress as a Democrat. He is a very successful lawyer of Prestonsburg Ky., and was active in the public affairs of the

Combs, Slated Speaker At Educational Meet; Expect 3,000 Teachers

Gov. Bert Combs will be the featured speaker at the first general session of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association meeting in Ashland on Nov. 17.

Gov. Combs will speak on "Improving Education in Kentucky" at 9:00 p.m., following a concert by the All-District band, directed by Fred Marzan, Morehead State College.

The second session of the two-day meeting will feature talks by Lyman Ginger, dean of the College of Education at the University of Kentucky, J. Marvin Dodson, executive secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, and Wendell P. Butler, superintendent of public instruction.

Music for the second session beginning at 9:30 a.m., will be furnished by the Morehead State College concert choir, directed by James Ross Beane.

More than 3,000 Eastern Kentucky teachers are expected for the two-day meeting, with general sessions to be held in the Paramount theatre.

William C. Shattles, Ashland, is president of the EKEA, Fred Cox, Virgie, is first vice-president, Frankie Best, of Cliff, is second vice-president and Monroe Wicker, Morehead State College, is secretary-treasurer.

Following the morning general sessions on November 18, will be departmental meetings of EKEA. Morehead State College will hold its annual dinner meeting in the ballroom of the Henry Clay hotel at 6:00 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 17.

Mrs. Naomi Harvey, Kentucky Woman, Elected in Texas

Mrs. Naomi Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Childers, of Ashland, formerly of Allen, this county, has been elected county attorney of Potter county, Texas, The Times has learned.

Potter county, of which Amarillo is the county-seat, has a population of 150,000. Mrs. Harvey waged her successful campaign against a veteran political figure and won on a platform of "abolishing private practice of law in the county attorney's office."

Mrs. Harvey received her law degree from the University of Houston and has served as city and school attorney and as assistant district attorney.

The newly elected official's mother is the former Myrtle Allen, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Alex Allen.

The David Woman's Club met Nov. 3, at the Prestonsburg high school. Mrs. C. T. Dahlin, Mrs. Ray Spears and Mrs. James Carvins attended the Seventh district meeting in Jenkins. The David Club received first place on Scrap Book and second place on Scrap Book.

The club has pledged to donate to the following funds: T.B., Heart, Polio, Cancer, Red Cross, Retarded Children, Veterans and Latin America.

Mrs. Ora Howard will enter the Vogue Sewing contest to be held in March. The club will also work on toys and clothing for the needy.

Miss Fanny Mae Howell, program leader for "American Home," introduced Miss Hazel Hill, home economics teacher at Prestonsburg high school. Miss Hill and two student teachers, Miss Peck and Miss Witt, made candies, cookies, punch, and Christmas decorations. Material was given to members for the food and decorations.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Oak Mullins, Mrs. William Mullins, Mrs. Gene Wells and Mrs. Thomas Caruthers.

The next meeting will be a covered dish buffet for members and their husbands, Dec. 10, at the clubhouse.

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS

BY WILLIAM E. SCENT
KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

For some persons, the Kentucky sales and use tax has been confused with the Kentucky motor vehicle usage tax. The following questions and answers may help you to better understand the difference between these taxes.

Q. What is the motor vehicle usage tax?

A. It is an old tax of 3 per cent levied since 1936 on the value of a motor vehicle when it is registered in Kentucky for the first time.

Q. How is the value of such motor vehicle determined?

A. (1) For new passenger cars, including station wagons, the value is 90 per cent of the full list price including all accessories and extras, either standard or optional, and transportation. All equipment installed by the manufacturer and listed on the manufacturer's price label attached to the window, plus all equipment installed by the dealer, is to be included in the list price. (2) For used passenger motor vehicles, the taxable value is the same as the average wholesale value of the same make and model listed in the N.A.D.A. Official Used Car Guide in Region A.

(3) For new trucks, hearses, ambulances or motorcycles, the taxable value is 90 per cent of the factory price, plus transportation charges and all equipment and accessories.

(4) For used trucks, the value is set as the percentage of the factory price as shown in the special truck section of the "Blue Book" published by the National Market Reports, Inc. The per cent is 85 per cent for trucks in use less than one year, 70 per cent for trucks in use one year but less than two years, etc.

Q. Are any vehicles being licensed in Kentucky for the first time exempt from this motor vehicle usage tax?

A. Yes. Motor vehicles sold to the United States, to the Commonwealth of Kentucky, to educational institutions or charitable institutions as provided in Section 170 of the Constitution, are exempt from the motor vehicle usage tax.

Q. Would a person be required to pay the Kentucky motor vehicle usage tax twice?

A. No. If a motor vehicle is licensed in Kentucky and the motor vehicle usage tax is paid, the tax will not become payable again.

Q. Will a person be required to pay the new sales or use tax in addition to the motor vehicle usage tax?

A. If a person pays the 3 per cent usage tax to license a car in Kentucky for the first time, he is not required to pay any Kentucky sales or use tax on that sale.

HISTORICAL NOTES

county or the counties bordering Morgan; Captain Henry Rusk (Rust); a State Senator from Greenup county and George M. Foster, of Owen county.

"I come now to the gist of my story and its purpose. My uncle told me that Col. Jim Hatcher, of Pikeville, is planning to build a Memorial Arch across the Mayo Trail in the Ivy Narrows and that an appropriate monument would be erected. No braver soldiers ever lived and a monument would be wise and proper. I do hope that Col. Hatcher's generosity will not end with the arch but will flower into a noble and glorious monument. I am only a searcher after Truth for which these soldiers fought gallantly and died bravely. They were heroes, every man of them, if God ever made a hero. Pardon this slender story and of the lives they led and of the deeds they did. Yours in Truth, Joe M. Kendall."

She told everyone if they could see what a beautiful home she could see they wouldn't turn it away. She asked her husband to raise her two children in a good Christian home. This message she left for her 11 year old son, "Tell Larry his mother went on to Heaven shouting the praises of God." The day before she deceased she told her mother she had a vision of Jesus telling her how to be baptized. He appeared to her and told her to have her head and face wet in water. This was her whole desire, was to be baptized and tell the message. Rev. Elmer Messer and Rev. Shady Hall went to the hospital and baptized her the way Jesus had told her to have it done. After the baptism she told them she had been right down the river of Jordan.

She told her mother the same day that she was just getting ready to take a deep sweet peaceful sleep. Just before the death angel came she told her husband God had called her and in a little while she would be going. She closed her eyes and with a beautiful heavenly smile she fell asleep in Jesus. She requested her message be published to the public. May God bless and save everyone that reads this message. This was written by the mother of Gladys, Mrs. Cora Conley, of 63 Vernon Road, Shelby, Ohio.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservationist

FARMERS INSTALL TILE

Four Floyd county landowners have installed drainage tile on their farms. They are James Auxier, of the Little Paint section, who is in the process of completing 800 feet; Estill Robinson, also of Little Paint, who is installing 610 feet; Clyde Warrick, of Hueysville, installing 560 feet; and Alvin Taylor, of Town Branch, installing 610 feet.

ORDER TREES

Last year Floyd county landowners ordered 729,000 seedling forest trees. The goal this year is 750,000 trees.

The Soil Conservation district will attempt to supply tree planting bars to everyone who orders trees. The planting bars make the work faster, easier and a larger percentage of survival will result.

CONSTRUCT POND

George Roberts and Tom Fields have constructed a farm pond on the Davidson farm four miles south of Allen on U.S. 23. The pond will furnish water for livestock for two fields. Water is also expected to be used for irrigation and fish production.

CONSTRUCT WATERWAY

James R. Shepherd, of Left Abbott Creek section, has constructed a waterway and plans to install 500 feet of tile in the future.

Mrs. Grace Conley, of Right Fork of Abbott Creek, plans to install 1,300 feet of tile within the next few weeks.

Robert DeRossett and Hobart McGuire, of Auxier, installed tile last spring. There has been very few days this summer when cold water was not running from the tile. McGuire's field was not very productive and had mostly wild grass. This year the field produced a fine crop of grain.

Mrs. Lina Shortridge, Prestonsburg, Succumbs Following Long Illness

Mrs. Lina Osborne Shortridge, 74, of Prestonsburg, died at home Oct. 19, of a long illness. She was a daughter of the late Colonel and Elizabeth Patton Shortridge and widow of Andrew Shortridge.

Mrs. Shortridge has no surviving children. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church. Surviving is a foster daughter, Mrs. T. J. DeRossett, Prestonsburg; a brother, Cal Osborne, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Conn, both of Prestonsburg. Funeral rites were conducted Oct. 22 from the Prestonsburg Free Will Baptist Church, the Revs. F. S. VanHose and Julius Castle officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery here under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thompson and baby son, of Huntington, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snodgrass.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gray were business visitors in Huntington, Thursday. They were in Morehead, Friday, to meet their son, Jimmy Delano, from Ft. Knox, who spent the week-end here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hicks and daughter, Brenda, were in Glasgow, Ky. Sunday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hicks, and son and new baby daughter, Kimberly Ronnie Hicks.

Mrs. Allie Parsons and daughter, Janice Mae, have returned from a week's visit with relatives in Indiana.

W. A. Malone is recuperating at his home here after undergoing surgery at Central Baptist hospital in Lexington recently.

Born to the Rev. and Mrs. James Critt Stratton at the Methodist hospital in Pikeville, Wednesday, a 9-pound son. This, the couple's first son, has not been named. Rev. Stratton is pastor of the Methodist Church here.

The Allen P.-T.A., sponsor of the Halloween carnival in the school, Friday of last week, reports one of the best and quietest carnivals ever held in the school. A large crowd attended, and the proceeds, which were very good, will be used for the benefit of the school.

Recommendations for use of insecticides on certain fruits have changed, says J. G. Rodriguez, University of Kentucky Experiment Station entomologist.

MAYTOWN WILDCATS WIN FIRST 2 GAMES ON BASKETBALL CARD

The Maytown Wildcats opened their season Wednesday, Nov. 2, with a win over the Auxier Hornets. Auxier got off to a fast start by scoring the first two baskets to take a 4-0 lead. Then junior forward Danny Stephens set the pace for the Wildcats by scoring 10 points in a row. From there on the Wildcats had it easy.

William Tallent, 6-foot-3 senior hold-over from last season, took scoring honors for the Wildcats by scoring 22 points. Other players scoring high were: juniors Danny Stephens (17) and Hubert Halbert (14), and freshman Robert Tallent with (14).

Friday night, the Wildcats won their second game of the season by downing the Garrett Blackdevils, 78-53.

Maytown plays arch-rival Martin this Wednesday, Nov. 9, at Maytown which should be a good game. The Wildcats won the last game. On Friday, Nov. 12, the Wildcats travel to Phelps for the first game away from home.

Taking scoring honors for the Wildcats was William Tallent, who scored 27 points for the night, giving him a total of 49 points in two games. Also scoring high was Jack Turner with 16 points.

Neuritis Pain Like An Electric Shock

A middle-age woman told us she suffered 3 years of torture with neuritis pains. She said the pains would strike her like an electric shock. Today this lady again enjoys life and says the change is due to taking RUGON. Her pains are gone and she is entirely free of misery.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW liquid formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON AID at W. A. Rose Drug Co.

Election report, after the manner of Dr. Gallup's prediction of the vote:

The returns indicate that Senator Kennedy has been elected President. However, it must be noted that last-minute switches in the voting may have taken place. Too, there is to be deducted from the totals some votes to cover the margin of error. We also take into consideration the fact that the electoral college has not yet been polled and that Nixon may demand a recount.

POST-ELECTION THOUGHTS

Floyd county and most other counties of Eastern Kentucky acquitted themselves admirably on the roads and parks bond issue and the constitutional convention. . . . We are still wondering how any mountain county—and there were a few—could show a majority against the bond issue. . . . Some Blue Grass counties voted against the issue, but they are the "Haves" who have little sympathy with the "Have Nots."

Closeness of the popular vote in the Presidential election clearly indicates the possibility of a President being elected, some day, by less than a majority of his fellow-Americans. Which brings us around to wondering why the President should not be elected by direct vote of the people, the man getting the most votes taking the marbles. . . . The votes are cast by individuals, are counted one by one—so why stick to the old electoral college and throw an undue balance of power in a few populous states?

Religion was a big issue in Kentucky, it is certain. Which makes the Republican victory in heavily Catholic counties such as Kenton and Campbell rather interesting. . . . And take a gander at the big Kennedy majority in Protestant Floyd. . . .

We conclude by relating to one and all a reliable report that Salt River was rather choppy this week for smooth sailing.

DID THIS EVER HAPPEN?

(It Could)
"Daddy, give me a dime."
"What for?"
"Why, Daddy, they said they were buying votes at the 'lection. I want to buy me one."
(P.S. The kid's old man couldn't produce—he had already spent all he had in the same dirty business).

Prestonsburg Man, 88, Dies Monday Morning At Home of Daughter

Cleveland Shepherd, 88, Prestonsburg, was claimed by a heart attack at 12:30 a.m., Monday, at the home of a daughter here, Mrs. Donald Horn. He was a retired gas company employee.

Mr. Shepherd, a native of Magoffin county, was a son of Marlon and Lydia Allen Shepherd. His wife, Islant Shepherd, preceded him in death in 1939.

Surviving sons and daughters, besides Mrs. Horn, are Vinson Shepherd and Joe Wheeler Shepherd, both of West Prestonsburg, Bud Shepherd and Mrs. Dave Sizemore, both of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Buster Patton, Pikeville, and Mrs. Peji Ratliff, Paintsville. Surviving brothers and sisters are Fair Shepherd and Rush Shepherd, both of Hueysville, Mrs. Susan Harris, of Wayland, and Jim Shepherd, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Wednesday, from the Prestonsburg Free Will Baptist Church, the Revs. William Amburgey and Ira T. McMillen officiating. Burial was made in the West Prestonsburg cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Named To Head Floyd Campaign In March for Dystrophy

Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Prestonsburg, has been appointed Floyd county campaign chairman of the 1960 Thanksgiving March for Muscular Dystrophy. The announcement was made by Thelma L. Stovall, Kentucky treasurer, who is serving as MDAA state campaign chairman.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick will head MDAA's annual appeal for funds to support a broad attack on the problems created by muscular dystrophy. There are more than 200,000 victims of the crippling disease in this country, most of them children in whom it is nearly always fatal. Medical research to find the cause and a cure for the mysterious malady is the largest part of MDAA's program.

The drive here is part of a nationwide effort in which hundreds of thousands of marchers will participate, culminating locally in a door-to-door appeal in November. Numerous civic associations, fraternal orders, and social organizations are again aiding the march. As in other years, local, state and national groups of fire fighters and firechiefs are giving active support. The 1960 March for Muscular Dystrophy has also been widely endorsed by officials and dignitaries in all walks of life.

In accepting the post of Floyd county chairman, Mrs. Fitzpatrick urged residents and community groups to give generously in response to MDAA's appeal.

"Among our Thanksgiving blessings," she declared, "we can count the many great advances medicine has made against other lethal diseases. Perhaps our campaign to support research into muscular dystrophy will be a crucial factor in the conquest of this tragic disease."

A national, non-profit agency, MDAA built and is supporting the Institute for Muscle Disease, a $5,000,000 complex of laboratory units in New York City, where muscular dystrophy and other neuromuscular disorders are being intensively studied.

The association also supports more than 100 other research projects in medical and scientific institutions here and abroad, maintains a network of fifty-one MD Clinics throughout the country, and provides patient services through more than 364 chapter affiliates.

FINALE SUNDAY

The Little League football program for the 1960 season will officially close at 2 p.m., Sunday with an all-star game involving players from all four of the league's teams. Tickets have been on sale by Little League players. This money will go into the league fund to assist in buying more uniforms for an anticipated eight-team league next season.

These same players will soon move into Little League basketball. There will be one winter basketball league of eight teams, four from the seventh and eighth grades in the Prestonsburg grade school and teams from David, Spradlin Branch, Dwale and Bonanza.

These eight teams will comprise the seventh and eighth grade league. A six-team league from the fifth and sixth grades of Prestonsburg grade school will also be formed.

HUNTING SEASON

The hunting season for rabbits, quail and grouse will open in Kentucky, Nov. 17, and will continue through Jan. 15. The duck season opens on Nov. 30 and extends through Jan. 8, while the goose season opened on Oct. 31 and continues through Jan. 8.

Once again this year the nearby Dewey Lake refuge will be open for gun deer hunters. This season opens Nov. 30 and continues through Dec. 3 with either bucks or does to be killed. One deer per hunter per season is the limit. The archery season there opened on Oct. 19 and continues through Nov. 17, offering 30 days of hunting to the bow and arrow hunters.

The Ashland Shriners have switched from a high school to a college game for their annual bowl game this season. This year Marshall College and Eastern State College will send their football teams against each other Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. on Nov. 19th.

The game will be played at Putnam Stadium. Paintsville's Jim Conley is one of the Maroon's backfield stars.

Kelly Moore, junior Black Cat utility man, did an excellent job filling in at fullback for the locals in their 20-6 loss to arch-rival Paintsville last week. Moore gained almost half of the yardage for the Black Cats and scored their lone touchdown.

COLTS TAKE LITTLE LEAGUE LEAD

The Colts grabbed the lead in the Prestonsburg Little League football program last Thursday night in beating the highly-regarded Eagles, 20-7.

On Monday night the Colts, coached by Dr. Herbert Salisbury, Clifford Wright and Freddy Cottrell, downed the Browns, 14-6. Earlier in the season the Browns had copped a 7-6 decision.

After Thursday's final game between the Cardinals and Eagles, an all-star game will be played Sunday afternoon at 2.

PLAYOFF, BOWL TILTS REMAIN ON GRID CARD

Eastern Kentucky high school football fans can now follow the play of Paintsville, Pikeville and Hazard, since the regular season has ended.

Hazard, Eastern League champion and Region 4 Class "AA" winner for the second consecutive year, is idle until the return play-off with Highlands of Pt. Thomas, Nov. 18, at Hazard.

Pikeville's Panthers, second place team in the mountain league, will pit its forces against Harlan in that city's Blue Diamond Bowl this Friday.

Independent Paintsville finishes its regular season Saturday with Bellevue in one of the most important games in the school's athletic history. A win would put Walter Brugh's Tigers in the semi-finals of the Class "A" Region 3 play-offs in their first season of competition in that class.

Aside from these upcoming games, the city of Paintsville will be host to the tenth annual Big Sandy Bowl football game which will feature undefeated Lynch (10-0) and M.M.I. (8-1) Friday night at 8.

In past week-end games, Paintsville downed Prestonsburg, 20-6; Hazard rolled over Middlesboro, 33-7; Pikeville won over Whitesburg, 20-13; and Williamson downed neighboring Belfry, 21-14.

Paintsville is now 10-0 and star halfback Mike Minix still vans the state in the individual scoring picture, although he was limited to one touchdown by Prestonsburg's stubborn defense. Minix has 228 markers, six touchdowns shy of the state record.

Teammate Johnny Porter, Mike Lyons and end John Carroll shared the offensive spotlight with Minix.

HERE! EASIER GOING FOR THE DRIVER AND THE LOAD, LONGER LIFE FOR THE TRUCK!

'61 TORSION-SPRING CHEVROLETS

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on.

and look! NEW REAR-ENGINE CORVAIR 95's

A panel and two pickups that put a thrifty air-cooled engine in the rear, the driver up front and as much as 1,900 pounds of load space in between! That's more capacity than a conventional half-tonner. Yet these Corvaire 95's are nearly two feet shorter from bumper to bumper. Highly maneuverable. Built to last and bound to save on a busy schedule!

CORVAIR—Side doors open a full 49" wide. Loading height is a low 14" H1E1

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

I call Bruce my combination angel-terror. Soon he will be four, and he is a fascinating mixture of mischief and goodness.

At bedtime, I always tiptoe into his room to be sure he's covered. Then it is that I am struck by the innocence of his face in sleep. Then it is that I realize how helpless is this small dynamo, who plunges with such boundless energy about our house and yard all day. Then it is that I am struck by the awesomeness of my responsibility.

I realize it is entirely up to me to see that Bruce learns right from wrong, to see that he grows into the sort of man who will be a credit to his family, his community, and his country. I must teach him to keep a steady heart and a level head, to resist the many temptations that will be strewn in his path, to hold honor and truth and integrity high.

When I think of my task, I send a small and special prayer to God to aid me. And I thank God for his Church on earth which, for years to come, will be helping me, again and again, in making my small mischief into a man.

CARE FOR CLOTHING

Proper clothing care means longer wear. University of Kentucky Extension clothing specialists point out. Fix a rip or hole as soon as it appears in a garment, or like a "leak in a dike," it will get worse.

MAYTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Robinson, Larry and James were business visitors in Louisville recently. While there they visited Miss Bernice Patton.

CHILD CONTROL

A child is lost without control by his parents, but he needs controls that are fair, says Mrs. Mary Browder, University of Kentucky Extension family life specialist. Children need a firm support to hold to when the stresses of growing up come. Parents should let children "sway with the breeze" but be held firm by the strength of love; then they can stand by their own strength when they are adults, she points out.

Without food additives, you would have very few foods on your table that were grown in other parts of the country; you would be eating mostly "in season" foods grown near your home. Many foods would be almost colorless or quite bland-tasting without additives.

NURSES TO MEET

The Licensed Practical Nurses of District No. 9, will meet Monday at 6 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stump, 2nd Street, Pikeville. (No. 116 in a Series)

A PRESTONSBURG GROUP PICTURE OF 50 YEARS AGO

Half a century ago the group picture was popular in this area as good photographers were scarce. Wherever possible family groups availed themselves of an opportunity to be photographed.

Shown here in this approximately 50-year-old photograph, a prized possession of a Prestonsburg resident, are, front row, left to right, John Kennedy, Alex Davidson and Arthur Archer. Back row, left to right, are Ernest Archer, Mrs. George P. Archer, Mrs. W. B. Diamond, Mrs. W. B. Garriott, Mrs. Ralph Booten and Miss Fanny May.

These old photographs of our past are presented as a part of The First National Bank's friendly service, with the hope they will contribute to your pleasure.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

When fall comes our way, the majority of fishermen clean and store their tackle, believing the season has come to a close. Unfortunately, this group of uninformed sportsmen are missing out on perhaps the best fishing of their lives.

Chilly fall days are now cooling the waters after a hot summer. Big sluggish fish that retreated to cool, deep water, and were hard to catch, during the hot summer days, are now alert and feeding hungrily to store up for the cold winter months ahead. Fishing for all species except bluegills and crappies is by far at its best in the fall. To be more specific, you're unlikely to catch as many as in the earliest fishing of the season—but those you do catch will run far larger.

How do you go about catching these late-fall fish? Let's take them by species.

During the earlier part of the season you'll have the same weed beds as in spring and summer, so you fish for bass in the same way. A great majority of the time you can get more fish in the last hour or two before dark than in all the rest of the day, states Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

About the middle of the period in question, water weeds die and sink to the bottom. This means that the bass scatter—like gold, they're just where you find them. The best bet, nearly always, is in water from eight to 12 feet deep.

Use lures that run approximately four feet under the surface—retrieve slowly. Indeed, as freeze-up approaches, a bass can't catch a lure run at high speed, for he's become very sluggish. Therefore, you'll get only a poor, slow-motion fight from him; your pleasure must come from bringing in what are likely to be the largest lunkers of your life. Incidentally, from this very cold water, they'll have a better flavor than any bass you ever ate before. After the weeds are gone, the bass all scattered, is the one time of the season when trolling for them is likely to prove more successful than casting.

You'll probably find walleyes where you found them all summer, on a gravelly bottom, rather deep. Here, of course, bottom-skipping with a lure is best. You should catch more of them than you did even in spring, and they're practically certain to run far larger on the average.

Fish for pickerel in exactly the same places that you'd fish for bass. The same lures and methods will do very well, but a pickerel shows a preference for a spoon rather than a plug. If you're fishing specifically for pickerel make your retrieve faster, especially in the latter part of this season, than you would for bass.

Pike feed very actively all winter, and in late fall—generally after some fairly hard frosts—is the time to fish for him. You won't get as many as in spring, but they, even more than bass and walleyes, are about sure to run far larger.

Pike are so closely related to pickerel that the two might be called identical except for markings and the great difference in size, and they have about the same instincts and feeding habits. Therefore a spoon is generally a somewhat better bet than a plug and your retrieve, in later fall, should be moderately fast.

All the foregoing was about the northern states. As we go south, that late-fall period comes later, naturally, owing to the milder climate. When one strikes the southern states it may not begin until the first of November. However, excellent though late-fall fishing can be in the South, I have never found it spectacularly so for big ones as in the North.

Three factors united happily Saturday to give us a satisfying victory over Vanderbilt, 27 to 0.

Some key seniors were ready to go after weeks of injuries; our sophomores showed they have learned what's going on out on the field; and the team as a whole was determined to atone for a miserable game at Nashville last year.

That combination gave us the all-out effort and sustained play execution that did the job in fine style. I know it's corny to credit a victory to a team effort, but you tell me what else you can call it when an entire squad rips and slashes like ours did.

The line charge—both on offense and defense—was excellent. The blocking, by linemen and backs, was the best of the season, and the defense hit hard, as the statistics well attest.

What a difference it makes to have all hands hale and hearty—and with some solid contact work behind them. Six seniors and one sophomore were at or near their top form Saturday for the first time in weeks.

Senior halfbacks Charlie Sturgeon and Calvin Bird were their old selves again, running hard and blocking and tackling well.

Charlie ran over people in taking the ball down to the three to set up the first touchdown. He was hit solidly at the line of scrimmage and again a few yards farther on. And Calvin twisted and squirmed like he used to in going over from the 15. He also showed good all-round effort. On one punt he was first man down by a mile, tripping up the receiver.

Although showing the effects of a four-week layoff, quarterback Tom Rodgers indicated he may soon be at top form again. He passed well, but was even more valuable as a runner. His speed makes our rollout pass-run play especially tough to defend.

Also Tom adjusts about as quickly as anybody you'll see. On one play a mix-up left him with the ball when he shouldn't have had it. He alertly slid through a hole and rolled for good yardage.

The returnees in the line were no less important. A well Lloyd Hodge rocked and socked as of old. Bob Hunt, Red Hill, and Don Sinoir also were able to turn loose after being hobbled for some time.

The second big factor for us was the continued, even improved, play of sophomores. Jack Steward and Tommy Simpson paved the way for Gary Cochran's 8-yard touchdown smash with crisp blocks, and they turned in the same kind of effort at other points. Dave Gash, Jerry Woolum, and Tom Hutchinson got the job done again. But they had more help this time—because of returnees—and it showed up.

The final factor, and an important one, was our boys' humiliation over last year's debacle against Vanderbilt. They were determined to make up for it on the field. I for one am willing to concede that they did.

That effort showed up in just about every phase of the game. In pass defense, our boys rushed furiously and covered receivers well. Our rush gave the Vandy passers time to look for only one man, and if he wasn't open for a quick throw, there was seldom a chance for a second look.

The kicking game was very good. We kicked the ball well and got down in a hurry to cover. Look at where Vandy got the ball. They

DWALE CRYPTOLOGIST LANDS IN FAR PLACES

Three weeks ago Ensign Bruce Akers, of Dwale, became a graduate of the first class of its kind at Imperial Beach, California. Armed with credentials as a cryptologist, he will report for duty at Naval Security Group headquarters at Washington, D. C., this week-end.

Mid-point in his career in the naval service, Ensign Akers has been around a lot of the world in the last 14 years. Anxious to begin service, he dropped out of Prestonsburg high school after a year's study and resumed courses in the Navy. Through the U.S. Armed Forces Institute, he became a graduate of Prestonsburg high in 1953. He was then 23 years old.

Akers' first assignment was at a Norfolk, Va., radio school. Here, learning the fundamentals of communication, he had time to review the careers of his father and three brothers in the service. Jake, his father, began the tradition of armed service for his sons when he served two years in the Moro Insurrection in the Philippines. The natives had to be subdued, for after liberation of the islands they took on the United States and the newly-established Filipino government. Jake saw two years of active service in the southern archipelago.

Archie Akers, brother of Bruce's, now an official of the Ryan Aeronautical Co., at White Sands, N. M., and in charge of certain missile testing procedures, spent seven years in submarine service. Francis served four years, three months and 12 days in World War II Navy. He is now living in Texas. Still in the service is Paul W. Akers, the third brother, who is in the submarine service aboard the USS Runner, based at Norfolk, Virginia.

Jake, the father, can repeat without any memoranda the years, months and days of their service. He knows their exact enlistment dates and notes with paternal pride that since 1938 there has been only a three-month period when one of his sons was not in service.

Following the radio school assignment, Bruce was sent to the state of Washington where he spent five months in communications. From there he was assigned to Adak Island in the Aleutian archipelago near the Alaskan coast. This was the first of two Adak assignments.

On Adak he experienced the "williwaw." He explains that at Adak the Japanese Current meets the Behring Sea Current, the former bringing warm waters, the latter cold. Result is the "williwaw," a wind, rain, sleet, hail and other meteorological what-have-you blowing at 110 miles per hour. Once for three days this weather phenomena persisted. No human being can live in it out of doors.

Bruce says it wasn't cold weather on Adak, only unpredictable. The mean temperature was 55 degrees during his first assignment and a record cold was 15 degrees Fahrenheit. He pointed out that a member of the armed forces could complete his entire assignment at Adak without going outside, such is the maze of interconnecting tunnels.

In summer it became dark at 11:30 p.m. and dawn broke at 4 o'clock. In the winter the sun's schedule was daylight at 8:30 a.m. and darkness at 3:30 p.m. In mid-summer they pulled the flag down at 10:40 p.m., 50 minutes before the Arctic night draped the lonely outpost.

The Navy is as unpredictable as the Adak weather, for it jerked Bruce Akers out of the near-Artic and sent him to Brazil for a two-year stint at Recife in communications there.

As impressed with Brazil as he was unimpressed with the possibilities of Adak, he likes to talk of Brazilian affairs, particularly the geography, roads, cities and how they have solved the integration problems. This last is not a problem any more. It was solved by intermarriage of the races, and while Akers doesn't advocate that solution, he admits it seems to work in Brazil.

Being in communications, he noted the problems of roads in Brazil. In that tropical country a new road can be torn to pieces in a few months by fast-growing tree roots.

Two years in Brazil and he was assigned to Charleston, S. C., where he married Miss Shirley Jones, at Clio. They now have a nine-month-old daughter. Indicative of the traveling in store for this daughter it is only necessary to point out that she has already made four trans-continental trips plus an aside trip to Alaska and back.

Keeping Akers on the go, his superiors sent him to Port Lyautey, French Morocco, for 18 months.

He had envisioned French Morocco as a barren, bandit-infested country where Arabs in flowing robes charged about, carrying off beautiful damsels or fighting vendettas among themselves.

French Morocco is the breadbasket of France, he said. There are fine irrigated farms, all conducted in the feudal fashion. The landlord lives in a mansion with scores of semi-serfs living in shanties around the manor house. "A fine system for the landlord," Brue observes.

After French Morocco came San Juan, Puerto Rico, and then a three-year-assignment as an instructor in communications at Imperial Beach, California. Perhaps the Navy thought he was having it easy at Imperial Beach, for it returned him to Adak for ten months.

Now a graduate in cryptology, he envisions a few years at Washington, D. C. But you can't tell, he says. The Navy may find another odd corner of the world where his newly-acquired skill is needed.

MRS. BRADBURY, SPEAKER
 The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met at the clubhouse, Nov. 2, for a program meeting, with Mrs. Arthur Bradbury, of Wheelwright, guest-speaker on the Federation of Women's Clubs of Kentucky. Mrs. Bradbury, newly appointed Savings Bond and Stamps chairman for the Kentucky Federation, discussed this briefly, telling members how they could help in this drive.

Mrs. Glenn Pack, club president, conducted the business meeting. The club voted to donate $30 to the Boy Scout drive. Each member was asked to bring $1 to the next meeting for the Veterans' Christmas gift to be sent to the Lexington hospital. This should be $36.

Mrs. J. C. Wells announced the new roof had been put on the clubhouse at a cost of $110. Also that 100 pounds of pecans had been sold and another 100 pounds are ready to be on sale.

Mrs. Earl Castle, club treasurer, announced that $25 had been sent to Pikeville College, which is an annual gift from the club.

Three new members were accepted by the club: Mrs. Merville Dixon, Mrs. Robert Hicks, Jr., and Mrs. W. E. Bentley.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mesdames Earl Castle, Charles Hughes, and Glenn Pack. Guests were Mesdames Arthur Bradbury, and Roy Souleyrette, Wheelwright; Mrs. Oliver Sloane and Mrs. Troy Webb, Garrett; and members present were Mesdames Otis Kilburn, N. D. Howard, Adam Buckovich, Harry Sherman, L. B. Price, S. M. Martin, J. T. Spillman, Charles Horisby, Ellen Hornsby, J. E. Miller, Bert Stapleton, J. C. Wells, Delbert Sloane.

The president announced the litter barrels had been placed in Garrett and Wayland by the club and others would be ready soon for Lackey.

9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

effort each time, and if the boys forget it, the opposition will let them know where it hurts, out on that striped field.

If you saw the game you may have noticed some mix-ups at the snap of the ball. The Vanderbilt defensive quarterback was calling signals while ours were being called. That's illegal.

On the controversial kickoff, I thought the Vandy back may have stepped into the playing field and then back into the end zone to down the ball. In that case it would have been a safety for us. The films didn't show the incident.

However, if this call did cost us two points, it wasn't a bad spot for it to happen. We had enough points this time.

REED GROUP OKEHS BONDS

Regional Commission Approves Bond Issue; Great Need Is Cited

B. F. Reed, chairman, Eastern Kentucky Regional Development Commission, announced today that "the Commission has approved both the highway and parks bond issue and the constitution question because we have a special interest in them." He explained that "development in our region, even more than in other places, requires the strongest possible programs of all kinds."

Reed continued by saying "we must face up to the fact that our present constitution, written for the needs of 1892, absolutely will not allow us to have the education, health and welfare and other programs demanded to meet today's problems in Eastern Kentucky. With regard to the vote to be taken November 8, however, it needs to be repeated over and over that this vote is not upon the constitution itself; it is only a vote for a convention to draft a limited number of changes which will then be submitted to our people for their vote to approve or reject."

The Commission's Chairman indicated that a "most important factor" concerning road bonds, shows that we will severely drain state highway funds in the next two years just to match available federal funds which we certainly can't afford to lose. Therefore, Reed emphasized, "unless we provide bond money to match federal funds, we will not have funds for the local and area roads so essential to our economy."

The need for bond money for parks development is virtually undebatable, Reed asserted. "There is no other way to gain funds for the parks so basic to a tourist industry on which we base much of our determination to bring commerce and jobs to our region," he said.

Chairman Reed strongly stressed that "a yes vote on the constitution and bond issue questions is a sound decision for Eastern Kentuckians—a no vote will help to tie our hands in working realistically for development. We of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Development Commission strongly urge all Kentuckians to vote yes on these two issues."

Cadillac

Some secrets its owner can't keep!

We wouldn't go so far as to say that your life is an open book when you're seen in the company of a new Cadillac car. But we will admit that at least a few of the pages have been turned. For a Cadillac indicates—with unmistakable clarity and eloquence—the personal virtues that lead a man to the "car of cars". Beautiful, distinctive and substantial—it reflects his eminence in his field of endeavor . . . and testifies to what he has made of his years. Gracious, spacious and luxurious—it denotes his desire for comfort . . . and his concern for the well-being of his family and passengers. Practical, sound, and desired—it evidences his awareness of the true aspects of value and quality. And if a Cadillac has historically cast such credit on its owner—how much more grandly it will do so in 1961! For the car now offers more of everything to inspire the respect of those who behold it. Its styling is graceful as never before. Its interiors are remarkably generous in every dimension. And its performance and ride make every journey a miracle of motion. You ought to inspect and drive this 1961 Cadillac. Your dealer will be delighted to accommodate you. And we wager you'll quickly see the wisdom of letting the "car of cars" reveal a few discreet secrets about you.
