THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

EVEN SO, NOT BAD

Life may be in the serene and yellow leaf for some of us, business may have that certain offensive odor, and the whole shebang may go to pot any minute—but, man and boy, I've never seen the hills greener at this time of year. . . . And we still have the glory of autumn's colors to anticipate.

THIS IS IT, FELLOWS!

This Russian pagan, Mr. K., has little to commend him to an American. For he has nothing good in mind for us. But one trick he pulled, the other day, which we found amusing. He strode outside to announce to waiting newspaper reporters that he was about to make a momentous announcement. The newshawks perked up their ears and held their breath till he let them down with the announcement:

"I am going to dinner."

A man who isn't worth more dead than alive has missed it all. And we're not plugging life insurance, either.

23 YEARS

This column has an idea that Prestonsburg's May Ford Hyden deserves more than a little pin and a mere mention in a newspaper for her 23 years of perfect Sunday School attendance. If you don't think that is something worth memorializing, just take a peek at the spotty records of most of the rest of us.

COURT OKEHS WHAYNE'S BID ON EQUIPMENT

No Other Bids Offered On Lease-Purchase Pact; Radio System Transferred

A second attempt by the Floyd fiscal court to make legal its rental-purchase of road machinery was successful Monday as the Whyne Supply Company was the only bidder.

It was Whyne's machinery which the county acquired under the same agreement in mid-summer and which it has had in operation ever since. Terms of the agreement stand unchanged.

An attempt to complete the arrangement was made last month at a fiscal court meeting but failed when County Attorney Robert S. Wellman held that no bidder offered an advantage to the county and that Whyne had failed to stipulate its terms.

After the machinery had been delivered by Whyne and put into use the Attorney General's office held that fiscal courts must advertise for bids on such equipment, even though it was not being acquired by outright purchase.

Whyne's bid, unchanged from outset, was $73,601.40. The county has leased the machinery with option to purchase, and with all rentals paid to be applied on the purchase price if the option is exercised. Under an agreement with the state the county is paid for the use of the machinery on rural highways, and thus it "pays for itself."

Postal Receipts Here Increase More Than $17,000 in 6 Years

A new all-time high in the nation's mail volume was reached during fiscal year 1960 ending June 30, which continued the steady upward trend of the past seven years at a rate which even exceeds the population growth, according to advance information from the Annual Report of the Post Office Department which has been made available to Postmaster Bess S. May.

Although subject to last minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as 63.6 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures for 1953 when the annual volume was 50.9 billion pieces.

During this same period, it was pointed out, the revenue of the Department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,091,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

Here in Prestonsburg, receipts of the post office climbed from $26,929.61 in 1953 to $44,355.87 last year.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the postal service," Mrs. May said, "but the whole department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically. As I recall it, that was the way President Eisenhower outlined the principal objectives of the department when Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was being sworn in back in 1953, and that's the way we have been operating ever since."

THREE SUITS ASK $175,000

Motor Vehicles Involved In Damage Actions Filed Here During Past Week

Three suits filed in circuit court here within the week seek to recover a total of $175,000 in damages.

Seventy-five thousand dollars were asked for permanent injury to Ray Field, 2, and for impairment of his earning ability after he attains the age of 21, and an additional $25,000 are asked for medical, hospital and nursing expenses and loss of his services till he reaches his majority.

The suit was filed by Raymond and Thelma Jones, parents of the injured child, against Burnice Fields, Jr., and Fields' employer, the Womwell Automotive Parts Company. The petition, prepared by Atty. Paul E. Hayes, alleges that on June 8, Fields negligently drove a motor vehicle against the child on Ky. 122 at or near Melvin.

The second action is that of Elvy Jean Mosley, 15, suing by her mother and next friend, Elvyrta Mosley, and asking of the Greyhound Corporation $50,000 damages for injuries allegedly suffered in a fall from a bus. The suit accuses the company of negligence in equipping, inspecting and maintaining.

YOUTH LEADS IN EXHIBITS

At Eighth Annual Fair; South Prestonsburg Club Winner For Homemakers

The eighth post-war Floyd county fair was dominated by exhibits of young people, it was noted when the number of entries was tabulated this week. In school, 4-H, and F.F.A. divisions the number of exhibits ran higher than usual, it was said.

The fair, plagued by rain at the opening, wound up Saturday with better weather and the board was in an optimistic mood in regard to finances, although no complete accounting has yet been made. The board of directors will meet late in this month at which time the profits will be known.

Five hundred five exhibits were entered by 4-H clubs in the county and of these 225 received blue ribbons, 200 were awarded reds and 80 were given white ribbons. F.F.A. organizations entered 103 exhibits, 32 taking blue ribbons, 63 were given reds and eight received white ones.

This high number of youthful entries was reflected also in the school exhibits. Traditionally the schools have a larger presentation.

Blockhouse Bottom Site Being Purchased, Report; State Leads in Program

Blockhouse Bottom, site of the pioneer Harman's Station, will within the next few months become the location of the Prestonsburg-Pointsville Airport, THE TIMES learned Wednesday.

Appraisal of land values there has been done, and purchase of the airport site is now under way, it was said.

The airport will be ready for use next spring, an authoritative source said.

A landing strip 4,000 feet long and 500 feet wide will be provided, with the state taking the lead in the development. The communities of Prestonsburg and Paintsville have pledged local contributions of $12,500 each, but the State Aeronautics Board, prodded by Governor Bert Combs, is not waiting to get action started. The state's contribution will be $50,000, and that is available now, it was said.

(Blockhouse Bottom, near the mouth of Johns Creek, and across the Big Sandy River from East Point, was in pioneer days the site of Harman's Station, first white settlement on the Big Sandy. It was to this refuge that Jenny Wiley, heroine of a pioneer incident that has become a part of the region's folklore, fled from her Indian captors.)

It was said this week that the airport may be ready for use even before it is accessible by auto. Construction of a bridge across Johns

DWALE MAN SURRENDERS

In Catlettsburg Mishap; Body of McKnight Found Saturday on Highway 3

Edward Goble, 50, formerly of Dwale, surrendered Tuesday to Sheriff E. M. Woods, of Boyd county, as the driver of the automobile which struck and killed Thomas McKnight, 49, of Catlettsburg, Rt. 2, Saturday night.

Kentucky state police had been seeking the whereabouts of the driver of a hit-run car since discovery of the body, the night of McKnight's death. The death car was found a mile from the accident scene, apparently stalled because the impact had broken the radiator. Body of McKnight was found on Ky. 3, the new Louisa-Catlettsburg road, about eight miles south of Catlettsburg.

Goble was quoted by officers as saying he realized he had hit something but was afraid to go back to investigate. They said he told them of abandoning the car, hitchhiking to Ashland, then going by bus to Ironton, Ohio, and later to Cincinnati.

The Boyd circuit court grand jury is in session and is expected to investigate the case before adjourning.

Goble has been away from Dwale for several years and has been working as a restaurant employee in Ohio, it was said here. He is a son of the late Will T. Goble.

PILOTS STRESS NEED OF AIRPORT FACILITY

"There are many persons in Prestonsburg and vicinity who would take to the air lanes for travel if there was an airport here," commented a businessman who has his own plane this week, noting the increased number of pilots or those studying for license in this county.

Russell May, who owns a Piper Clipper and has been flying for several months, points out an occasion when he needed a sign design in Lexington. It was 9 o'clock in the morning when he called the Blue Grass town and located what he needed. He drove to the Pikeville airport in 45 minutes, flew to Lexington in an hour and 15 minutes, was back in Prestonsburg at 3:30 p.m. with the design. He said that if there had been an airport here he could have been back in his place of business by noon.

There are several veteran pilots here. John P. Wells, who has been flying for years, owns a Tri-Pacer which he uses for business and pleasure; Carl Wise, who recently sold his Stinson plane but will buy another soon, and others, like Charles McNally, who has licenses from the Civil Aeronautics Authority but have disposed of their private planes.

Archie Hayes, president of Hayes Metal Products at Hi Hat, was granted a license last week to fly his two-seat Poney after an examination at Cincinnati. Bobby Ranier is studying at Pikeville to fly. An instructor from Ashland is available there four days a week.

Harry Ranier, Prestonsburg contractor, keeps his plane and pilot at the Huntington airport. He owns a 4-passenger Piper Aztec and uses it for business. Hardin C. Short, of the Short Oil Company here, is a licensed and veteran pilot who is deeply interested in the projected Blockhouse Bottom field.

One local pilot pointed out this week the increase in flying safety that would accrue with construction of the Prestonsburg-Pointsville airport. Fields at Hazard, Pikeville, Wise, Huntington and Louisa need only the construction of the field here to make the chain complete.

Prestonsburg pilots keep their planes at Pikeville or Huntington and occasionally utilize the small field at David.

NEW SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLAN DISCUSSED HERE

Mayor Edward B. Leslie and several members of the financially-hemmed City Council are exploring ways to provide an urgently needed sewage disposal system, began private discussion recently of the unique and successful experiment of a small town in Missouri.

Fayette, a town of 3,100 population, beset with the problem of raising a huge amount for a sewage system, turned to nature's way. The city fathers built a 15-acre lagoon by throwing up a rectangular earthen levee, discharging the sewage into it and letting bacteria, worms, snails and algae purify and dispose of it.

This radical innovation in sewage disposal has captured the imagination of cities, particularly small towns, health authorities and the interested public.

"I'm convinced this method of sewage disposal would save Prestonsburg $150,000," said Councilman W. H. May this week. He pointed out that the location of the disposal area could be made far from town and remarked that the objections about odor are automatically removed, for none accrue from this natural method.

Mayor Leslie evinces interest in the Fayette project but hasn't formed an opinion as yet, due to the paucity of information on this kind of a system.

Nine to 10 acres of land that is level, or which could be leveled, would be required for Prestonsburg. It is not known if the clayey soil of the vicinity would lend itself to such a natural system of sewage disposal.

The United States Public Health Service has initiated a five-year study of the Missouri town's system.

COMBS SIGNS VETERAN BILL

Medical Bill Enacted By Recent Legislature Implements Federal Law

Governor Combs Saturday signed into law the bill extending bonus payments to all out-of-state Kentucky veterans as 21 of them watched the ceremony.

Combs also signed a bill expanding state medical care to the needy aged in the presence of Economic Security Commissioner Jo Ferguson, Health Commissioner Russell Teague, and House Speaker Harry King Lowman, of Ashland.

Both bills, enacted a week ago by a special legislative session, carried emergency clauses and are effective immediately.

However, the medical-care program does not go into actual practice until January 1, and court actions are holding up the writings of bonus checks.

The bonus-signing ceremony climaxed months of controversy over a clause in the act that required legal residence in Kentucky last November 3, to be eligible for bonuses ranging up to $300 for stateside duty and $500 for foreign service.

Combs' action included some 100,000 veterans who would have received no bonus under the original act. The additional cost for this has been estimated at $36,000,000.

Boyce Lyttle, of Dayton, Ohio, a spokesman for some Kentucky veterans living in Ohio, told Combs:

"We want to thank you and the people of Kentucky for doing this. You said you would do it."

Combs then asked the veterans to "do something to get this litigation moving fast."

Lyttle said the group would give it some thought.

"Believe me," Combs said, "we are most anxious to get this thing moving. The checks are ready to be written."

Combs noted that the check writing must be held up pending court litigation because the status of a veteran could change, say three months from now.

Several court suits have been filed challenging validity of the bonus act, thus holding up the sale of bonds for raising money to pay the bonus.

Lyttle said the veterans are thinking about putting a portion of their bonus money into a special fund to help needy persons in Kentucky.

For example, Lyttle said, "we could pay for an iron lung for a polio victim."

Another spokesman for the out-of-state vets, Stanley Dezarn, of Hamilton, Ohio, noted that his group started the original action towards obtaining bonuses for veterans who have moved to other states.

He said that his group understood that the state "can't hand out money" without first investigating how much it would cost. Dezarn said many veterans are thinking about turning over their bonus money to a fund that would help promote industrialization in Kentucky.

Maddox - Martin Wedding Solemnized at Martin

The marriage of Miss Clara Jean Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Maddox, of Martin, to Mr. De-Morris Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Martin, of McDowell, took place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2, at the First Methodist Church of Martin. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. R. S. Derfield.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Alicia Crisp, organist, presented a program of wedding music, and Sherrill Frazier sang "I Love You Truly" and "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress of white lace over satin, with matching headpiece and veil. She carried white orchids on a white lace-covered Bible.

Miss Ada Maggard, maid of honor, was dressed in a ballerina-length, pale green batiste dress with matching headpiece, and wore a corsage of pale green carnations.

Kenis Martin, of McDowell, a cousin of the groom, served as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a green and gold jersey dress with brown accessories. The ushers were Daryl Luxmore, of Martin, and Barry Dean Martin, of McDowell.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left on an extended honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Michigan and Canada.

Dodson Writes Teachers Have Support Obligation To 1960 Revenue Program

The teachers of Kentucky have an "unalterable obligation" to support the present revenue program adopted by the 1960 Legislature, and to inform others of the need to do likewise. This was the plea made by J. M. Dodson, executive secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, writing in the current issue of the association's official publication, which was released today.

"We have a good revenue program," he reports, and it should not be changed. Continuing, he notes that "there has been agitation of the part of a few people to make rather radical changes in that revenue program." Some people suggest that the sales tax part be repealed; others would modify it to exempt certain commodities.

Calling for wholehearted support of the present program, Dodson points out that "the sales tax cannot be repealed," because it was put into the statutes as a result of the vote last November on amending the state's constitution to provide a veterans' bonus.

He also notes that "the schools will bear the brunt of any reduction in sales revenues," since other revenues are committed, and that "the exemption of food and medicines from the sales tax would result in the loss of one-half of the increases made in school appropriations by the 1960 Legislature."

Dodson is the executive of the large (25,000 member) state association of teachers, which has been on record for a well-financed state program of education to support strong public schools. The KEA was an active supporter of the sales tax without exemptions when it was enacted by the 1960 Legislature.

He calls upon teachers to remind the public that only part of the new revenue program has been put into effect. The other part, calling for a reduction in the state income tax, becomes effective next January 1. This reduction will equal "almost exactly the same as the revenues expected from the tax on sales of food and medicines."

Veteran Rail Employee Succumbs at Paintsville Following Long Illness

Carl Wiley, 65, well-known retired C. & O. railway employee, died at his home at Paintsville, Sept. 26, following a long illness. He was the father of Mrs. Marie Stephens, of Allen, Mrs. Jewel Tussey and Mrs. Carlene Burchett, both of David.

Mr. Wiley was a son of J. M. and Amanda Brown Wiley and had resided at Paintsville for the last 11 years. He was a member of the United Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Mae Rose Wiley, and besides Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Tussey, these other daughters and sons: Mrs. Roberta Dixon, Dayton, Ohio, Miss Nell Ruth Wiley, Paintsville, Mrs. Etta Branham, Willow Run, Mich., Paul David Wiley, Robert Glenn Wiley and Virgil Vencil Wiley, all of Paintsville. Surviving are two brothers, Merida Wiley, Paintsville, and Morton Wiley, of West Van Lear, and a sister, Mrs. Ella Spears, of Hager Hill.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m., Friday, Sept. 30, from the United Baptist Church at Paintsville, with Revs. Florida Lyons, Paris Music and Grover Fannin officiating. C. & O. employees acted as pallbearers: Walter Holbrook, Linsey Travis, Bill Robinson, Bill Tipton, Earl Horn, Mont Lilly, Taylor Music, Jack Arms, Harry B. Music.

Carlos L. Helton, 25, owner and driver of the coal truck with which the auto collided, was uninjured.

State police said the car hit the left rear of the truck. The collision occurred at 6 a.m., a short distance above the Bristle Buck turnoff at McDowell.

TO THE PARENTS AND VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DIVISION NO. 3:

I ask you to please take time to read and seriously consider the statements below:

On Nov. 8, 1960 the voters of our District will decide whether we are to be represented on the Board of Education by a man who is now a member of the Board, and, if reelected, will make no changes in our school policies, or if we will be represented by a man who believes that many changes in our school policies need to be made, because the schools are not now being run with the best interest of the children at heart. In proof of this I invite you to investigate the actions of the voting majority of the Board over the past years, and especially for the past three months.

The voters of our District must not lose sight of the issue—You are either for or against the present "set-up". If we are to have better schools I am convinced the administration candidate must be defeated. I entered this race at the insistence of the people who know it is time for a change, and who know that I can win. After traveling over the District and talking with the people, I am convinced that I can win with the help of the good people who are interested in better schools for their children.

I endorse the "For the Children" program of RAY HOWARD and JOHN G. HALL and I shall vote with them to put this child-centered program into effect.

Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

The Echo Wasn't Complimentary

Some political leaders in Kentucky and others outside the state have expressed something akin to consternation upon reading the election fraud "confessions" of an Eastern Kentucky legislator as published in Harper's.

A Louisville member of the General Assembly, Mar-Lwe Cook, has indicated he will take, or have some other individual or group take, steps to require Harper's to divulge the name of the author, presumably with the idea of learning where such shocking things happened and who had a hand in such election crookedness.

This crookedness consisted of the use of whiskey, cash, promises and other considerations designed to bribe voters or those who control blocs of votes, according to the anonymous writer. The story the author tells is nothing new; it is old hat in many counties of this part of Kentucky, and we will be surprised to learn if it is new to the city of Louisville itself.

Yet it is well that the article provides a shock. A shock is needed. Almost everybody in Eastern Kentucky knows that fraud, coercion, bribery, favoritism and a long and sordid string of other crimes against the suffrage of a free people have been practiced for generations. Those who are unwilling to look in the other direction know that the same thing, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, has been happening in other parts of Kentucky and in other sections of the country. They have been doing mighty little about the situation, but this publicity given in a "quality" magazine may stir up new ire and arouse some of the old indignation, such as ours, that has subsided to a simmer with the years.

A school election vies with a Presidential election for interest in this county, just now. And this is one of the tragedies of this situation out of which will emerge a new national leader and, on the local level, leaders in the field of education, which is presumably dedicated to innocent children: these leaders will profit by the use of whiskey and money and promises, etcetera, either on election day or immediately preceding it.

One good lady writes this newspaper:
"I'd like to see an organization of honest citizens who will be present on election day—10 of them to each precinct, sworn to indict any man or woman seen handling money or violating election laws. And I'd like to see a judge who would call a special grand jury session to investigate—but I'll be dead long before any of this takes place."

Somewhere in the files of The Floyd County Times will be found more than one editorial suggesting some similar action. Those editorials were written out of a sense of outrage as men and women in financial need were used as pawns by men of means and education and opportunity to know better.

But, somewhere along the way, we grew tired of sounding off and getting back only an echo that sounded mighty like "Nuts!"

Why Not a Constitutional Convention?

Almost without exception, Kentucky's progressive organizations and leaders are supporting the move to call a constitutional convention. Only this week did a small group announce its opposition.

Political affiliations are not binding Kentuckians to be for or against the convention; Republicans and Democrats find themselves aligned together, and so do pro-Administration and anti-Administration adherents.

Even Keen Johnson and John Sherman Cooper, fighting it out for the Senatorial post, have shaken hands on their hearty agreement to support the constitutional issue.

Why such unanimity among those whose interest in a sound, modern constitution transcends party lines, even though they are often at loggerheads on many other issues?

First of all, they know the vote this coming November is on the question of calling a constitutional convention, not actually to change the constitution. They know, too, that the constitution is antiquated, that revision must be made if the state is to make the progress all want it to make.

Besides, they know that the people have their hand in this matter, all the way. After the calling of a constitutional convention is voted, the people will at another election name delegates to the convention. These delegates will meet in February, 1963. And, after they have done the work of revision, the people of Kentucky will vote to approve or reject what the convention has done.

All this will require four or five years, and three elections will be held before the work of revision is finally accepted or rejected. It may seem like a dilatory method of getting the things done that are urgently needed, but it really is a deliberate method that is a safeguard. No snap judgment will be taken; the people will have time to read and study about the things that are being done, experts of varying political beliefs will have a hand in the revision work and provide a check on each other.

No single administration at Frankfort will have full influence on what is done. Bert Combs, the present Governor, will be out of office, a successor will be in Frankfort, when and if the revision is finally adopted.

The people are not asked to surrender one inch. It is their constitution. It must serve them well if they and their state are to go forward. It will do just that if its weaknesses, which have developed after many long years of use, are remedied.

NEW LAW PROTECTS CROPLAND, ACREAGE ALLOTMENT HISTORY

Any farmer who diverts cropland to permanent cover under a Conservation Reserve contract is protected in his cropland and acreage allotment history for an additional period equal to the period the land was under contract, chairman William C. Bertram of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said this week.

Previously these acreages have been protected only for the life of the Conservation Reserve contract. Doubling of this period is provided under a new law passed at the recent session of Congress and signed by the President in September.

The legislation provides that cropland which is diverted from an allotment crop to a conservation use under the Conservation Reserve program shall continue to be classed as cropland for twice the period of the contract and, for purposes of determining future allotments, shall be considered as though it had been planted to the commodity.

This new provision, Mr. Bertram said, does not apply to contracts terminated before the end of the period for which the contract was originally signed.

Contracts under the Conservation

Reserve program range from three to 10 years. ASC officials hope that the new legislation will encourage participants in the program to maintain former allotment crop acreage in vegetable cover for at least twice as long and perhaps permanently.

The provisions of the new law will be considered in the determination of farm acreage allotments for 1961.

William M. Cook, 52, Of Melvin, Is Victim At Pikeville Hospital

William M. Cook, 52, of Melvin, died Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Pikeville Memorial hospital following a long illness. He was a miner.

Mr. Cook suffered a mine injury nine years ago and had been in ill health since then. A son of the late George and Eveline Caudill Cook, he was the husband of Elizabeth Terry Cook, who survives.

Surviving are a son and three daughters: Raymond Cook, of Melvin, Mrs. Wilma Jean Johnson and Mrs. Betty Doris Adams, both of Albion, Mich., and Mrs. Ruth Evelyn Andrews, Battle Creek, Mich. He had no surviving brothers or sisters.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Wednesday, from the Joppa Regular Baptist Church at Melvin, the Revs. Banner Manns, Hershell Huff, Mack McCloud, Jerry Hall and Ellis Moore officiating. Burial was made in the Reynolds cemetery at Mallie, Knott county, under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our appreciation to everyone who, in any way, assisted us in the passing of our beloved father, Wayne Dameron. We are grateful to the many friends and relatives who sent food and flowers, to the ministers Rev. Blankenship and others, for their consoling words of comfort, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their thoughtful and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

Kentucky has the only constitution that sets a limit on the salary of public officers and employees. The low limit of $7,200 places a handicap on the state when it seeks to hire qualified doctors, scientists and school administrators.

When Kentucky's constitution was written in 1891, one-third of the population could not read.

UK Emeritus Prexy Urges Constitution Be Revised In Article

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president emeritus of the University of Kentucky, has called the Kentucky Constitution "antiquated" and "badly in need of repair." Writing in the current issue of the Kentucky School Journal which was released today, he urged the 25,000 teachers of the state to use their influence in securing approval by the voters of the call for a limited constitutional convention.

This is one of the questions which will appear on the ballot in the general election, Nov. 8; the movement to revise the constitution has the support of many state-wide organizations and individuals.

Our constitution, Donovan says, "has become antiquated because we have neglected to amend it when it was in need of repair." He calls this "the most important issue that faces Kentuckians today," and says our "horse and buggy constitution needs revision "in order to have a modern state."

He is co-chairman of the committee on the revision of the constitution which was authorized by the 1960 Legislature. Judge Parker Duncan, of Bowling Green, is the chairman.

HOMECOMING FOR FLOYD COUNTY VETERANS OF WORLD WAR I, APRIL 22, 1919

"Prestonsburg and Floyd County Turn Out En Masse to Pay Homage to the Boys Who Fought The Hohenzollerns," was the headline of the Prestonsburg Post, following a Homecoming Day for the returning veterans, April 22, 1919. "Cheers for the living, tears for the dead," the lead paragraph of the story said.

Honoring the returning soldiers and sailors, who left the train at East Prestonsburg, and marched across the bridge to the center of town was a parade of veterans led by Pvts. Thomas Martin, Robert Crum, Ervin Sealf, Corp. Troy Shepherd, Capt. E. E. Archer, Sgt. J. B. Clarke, Sgt. Fred Carpenter and others. Welcome addresses were made by Congressman John W. Langley, Prof. T. J. Coates and the Hon. A. J. May.

its bus, the steps of which, according to the petition, were in such unsafe and defective condition that the girl, a passenger on the bus from Prestonsburg to Allen, was caused to fall "with great force" against a part of the vehicle or some object inside it and on out the door. Shock and injury to the nervous system and severe back, leg and abdominal hurts are claimed. The petition was prepared by C. W. Napier, Hazard attorney.

Last of the three suits was filed Saturday by Charles Akers, father and next friend of Palestine Akers, aged 10 months, asking a total of $25,000 for injuries.

The action, prepared by County Attorney Robert S. Wellman, claims negligent operation of a truck by John R. Daniels caused it to collide with an auto in which the child was a passenger.

Under Kentucky's constitution a legislator can legally solicit bribes from lobbyists. A limited constitutional convention might make this practice illegal.

CORRECT, SIE! We have an inquiry about the subscription price "of your weekly newspaper." And now we are wondering if our correspondent is guilty of faulty orthography or if he is a keen judge of the state of our finances. . . . When folks ask us how the newspaper business is, we invariably reply, "Weakly" and, if necessary, spell the word for them.

OF THE WORLD SERIES We are reminded that this World Series now under way is the first for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 33 years. I thought it was 35. But I remember that 1925 series so well because it was the first I heard via radio, also because I was so keenly disappointed when my nonpareil, Walter Johnson, got his ears pinned back in the opening game. . . . That radio we listened to in Lexington was a contraption put together by Niel Plummer from parts bought at Kresge's and he and I alternated with the ear-phones, the one with the headpiece relaying the information on to the other. . . . This guy Plummer is now Dr. Plummer and head of the University of Kentucky's Department of Journalism.

He was a pretty handy man with screwdriver, pliers and tape in those days. Me, my talent ran more to scissors and paste. . . . Who remembers when we would congregate in a vacant lot—at the rear of Henry Fitzpatrick's store, I believe it was—and listen to the marvel of radio as one World Series was being played? . . . Gosh, how old am I, anyway?

Of the 29 entries of livestock, 19 were awarded blue ribbons, nine were given red ribbons and one, white. One hundred twenty entries were made in the division of field crops, vegetables and fruits. In the home economics, open class, section of the fair were 156 entries and in the flowers section were 59 offerings.

Thirty-two antiques were entered, 21 being awarded blue ribbons, 11 receiving red ones. In the textile division were 64 entries.

The Future Homemakers of America clubs made 271 entries, 50 receiving blue ribbons, 101 taking reds, and 120 being given white ones.

Four Homemaker clubs had entries in the Homemaker's booth. The South Prestonsburg Club was awarded first place, the Harold club taking second place with North Prestonsburg and Prestonsburg Day clubs tying for third place.

Twelve passes thrown; two completed for 17 yards; three interceptions. These cold figures tell a lot about our 10-7 defeat by Auburn.

Let me add quickly that this is no reflection on our passers. Tom Rodgers played a fine game, both offensively and defensively. And Jerry Woolum had no real chance to show he can throw the ball.

The breakdown was elsewhere. In the first play, Auburn threw a real good pass defense at us. Their rush was excellent, exerting great pressure on our passers all night. And their coverage of our receivers was good, too.

Facing this caliber of defensive play, you must have excellent execution of your pass patterns. We didn't have it. A cut in the wrong direction by a possible receiver summed up more than one play for us. As I have said repeatedly, the details of assignments are vital; they must be carried out correctly.

Rodgers and Woolum didn't get adequate protection consistently. Two big reasons are named Ken Rice and Billy Wilson, Auburn's twin 250-pound terrors at tackle.

These two boys are tremendous football players. Both are strong, quick, and agile. On one play in particular Rice was blocked to the ground and still managed to scramble to his feet in a hurry and get the tackle.

These two, and others, put a fierce rush on our passers. On the interception that led to the winning field goal, our receiver was open, but a strong rush paved the way to a bad throw.

Let me explain how two great tackles like Rice and Wilson can bust you—on offense as well as defense.

The Auburn quarterback would send his fullback through the line a couple of times, using the power of the tackles to open the way. Then when we had to gang up to stop the fullback, the quarterback would fake the line plunge, keep the ball and run wide.

In the face of this, Auburn wasn't able to sustain a long drive. I think that's a credit to the fine effort of our boys, especially on defense. They gave it all they had.

When we had the ball, their tackle power was just as damaging. The result is simple. We had to use blocking strength to get our fullback out of there. We had to use double-teaming to get the trouble was that they could block them out if they penetrated deep into the works out of time three or more of were used up on one of. They are fine players.

Many farmers who seeded alfalfa in past years after September 30 lost the stand and had erosion problems. But, says Warren Thompson, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service agronomist, here's a system that probably will help get a good alfalfa crop going.

D. A. R. URGES STATE ALERT FOR SUBVERSIVE TEXTBOOKS

Frankfort Ky., Sept. 30 — Two Maysville members of the Daughters of The American Revolution appealed to the State Textbook Commission, Friday, to be alerted to textbooks that contain subversive material.

Mrs. Andrew Duke said the National Society of The D.A.R. has compiled lists of satisfactory and unsatisfactory books, evaluated on whether they promote pride, confidence, and trust in this country; whether they refrain from partisan presentation of political concepts as world government and the United Nations, and whether they omit from bibliographies names of persons with subversive affiliations.

After a local study, Mrs. Duke said that, of 121 elementary books on multiple lists from which local districts adopt, 23 were unsatisfactory. At the secondary level, 26 of 59 were listed as unsatisfactory.

In Maryville schools, four unsatisfactory books are used; in Mason county, 10, Mrs. Duke said.

Mrs. C. C. Calvert, Jr., asked the commission "to do your utmost to sort out those that are unsatisfactory."

Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler pointed out propaganda is most dangerous when hidden. He suggested that book companies be more cautious, in view of organized interest in subject matter of textbooks.

Butler said the commission has the power to remove a book from its list if it considers it subversive.

The commission adjourned until 10 a.m., Saturday, to approve a basic list of textbooks for 1961-65 from which local school districts must select books by next April.

The commission lists not more than 10 books in each subject in each grade. Subjects for which books will be selected are mathematics, science and health.

The state is spending $2,300,000 to buy textbooks this year for about 520,000 elementary pupils — about $1,000,000 more than last year.

For the first time, the state is furnishing textbooks to high school pupils. About a fourth of the texts used in high schools will be free this year. State money for high school books totals $540,000.

If a limited constitutional convention is called in Kentucky this November, the people will elect 109 delegates from the House of Representatives districts.

NEW SORGHUM (Mill Operating Daily) RAMSEY FARM Highway 23 PIKEVILLE, KY.

Of the states with constitutions adopted in the 1870-90 period, only Illinois has fewer amendments than Kentucky. This is because under Kentucky's constitution only two amendments can be voted on at one time. It would take more than 25 years to bring Kentucky's constitution up to date by amendments, since no amendment may relate to more than one subject. That is the reason a limited constitutional convention is needed.

When Kentucky's constitution was written in 1891, state government cost three million dollars a year and provided few services. State government now costs half a billion dollars yearly and provides many more services.

Since 1792 Kentucky has had four conventions which have revised the constitution. The constitution was last revised in 1891.

Church Retreat Held At Camp Chatterawha

The Wheelwright Community Church held a retreat at Camp Chatterawha, Oct. 1, with several members of the church participating. Rev. H. M. Wiley, Wheelwright, and Rev. Orin M. Simmerman, First Methodist Church, Prestonsburg, were counselors for the retreat. Attending from Wheelwright were: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grimm, Debbie, Donna, and Robert Lyle, E. H. Roberts, Mrs. Raymond Gibson, Cynthia and Valerie Gibson, Mrs. Belle Stevens, Miss Christine Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Pace, and Kerry and Kim Pace.

FINANCES ARE LISTED AMONG PROBLEMS OF CONSTITUTION

Could you wisely spend one billion dollars in about two weeks? If you think you could, there may be a job waiting for you in Kentucky's General Assembly which this year budgeted Kentucky's first billion-dollar appropriation.

But before you ask for a pen and checkbook, consider these facts: The General Assembly meets for 60 days, but is so over-burdened with local problems, insignificant legislation, and other trivial details that it can only allot about two weeks to considering the budget.

Then there is the minor matter of getting the other 135 legislators to agree with you on how the billion dollars should be spent, and of course you have to convince three million Kentucky taxpayers that you spent their money wisely.

In 1891, when Kentucky's present constitution was written, the legislature had only three to four million dollars to "concern themselves with each session."

Times have changed since 1891, but the set-up of the General Assembly remains the same. Thus in the 12 subjects that could be considered by a limited constitutional convention, one subject is "Legislation."

Critics of the constitutional limitations placed on the General Assembly point out that ancient provisions in Kentucky's Constitution, such as requiring that a bill be read on three separate days before both bodies of the legislature, may take as much time as is devoted to appropriating the billion dollars.

Another constitutional limitation on the legislature which has been criticized since it was adopted in the 1891 constitution, is the term and qualifications of office for Representatives. As one delegate to the 1891 convention pointed out, the General Assembly "is the only calling we know of where men are expected to do expert work without training."

With Representatives elected for only one session, much time is lost while new members learn the complexities of legislative procedure.

"These are some of the problems that would concern the 1963 Constitutional Convention, if the proposal to hold a limited convention is approved November 8. If the proposal passes, no changes in the legislative set-up recommended by convention delegates would become law unless the voters formally approved them."

Ashland Votes For Factory Despite Protest

Ashland, Ky., Sept. 30—Ashland's City Commission voted, 3 to 1, Thursday night to permit a light industry, a clothing factory, to move into a residential area, even though 279 residents signed a petition against the move.

The largest crowd in at least 12 years argued both sides of the question. Present were residents of the zone up for change, plus many members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

Mayor David Aronberg promised the residents the city would "take measures in the interest of safety." A major fear of dissenters was that factory workers driving in a residential area would create a traffic hazard.

Kentucky's constitution limits the House and Senate to one doorkeeper each. This was written in 1891 when the House and Senate chambers had one door only. The chambers now have six doors each but five of them go unguarded.

The biennial session of the legislature is limited to 60 days under Kentucky's horse-and-buggy constitution. Only two other states have shorter sessions than Kentucky.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"SOCIETIES TO PRESERVE SOMETHING"

Interest in what used to be takes many forms. One form that has its lunatic fringe, as nearly all good things do have, is an effort to preserve, by artificial respiration and other modern ways, some ancient folkway that is plainly dead. Some of these efforts, of course, are deliberately comic, some have a return in appreciation by old-timers, some are pretty hair-brained. Such an organization as the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Singing is pretty effective, so long as some of us oldsters remain to cheer the efforts of the bemustached singers, many of whom are far too young to have participated in any barber-shop music. There is, however, a sort of halo around the head of a good quartet; it is a shame that many of our singers have gone commercial or gone underground since more sophisticated groups are a dime a dozen on TV. Maybe there ought to be a Society for the Preservation of the Rebel Yell. We who lived long enough ago to have heard the real McCoy at Confederate reunions have blushed when we have heard Hollywood versions of this bone-shaking yell. Of course, maybe we read into the screaming in unison of the aging fellows something that a mere recording of sound would not have discovered. Here is a list of sounds that should be recorded while they are still to be found, before civilization and standardization extinguish them:

1. Hog-calling of the native, untrained, back-country kind. Since some people have paid attention to this necessary farm procedure, I fear that even hog-callers may become sophisticated and be as unnatural as the yodeler whom I heard, years ago, in the Great Smokey Mountains, his yodeling carried for miles around the bends in the trail and was distinctly musical, but it was identical to recorded Swiss efforts, and I had heard similar things on the stage as far back as the early years of this century. To one who grew up among "holers," as we called our yodels, this was interesting but slightly unnatural.
2. Sounds of a farmyard while all the distinctive farm animals are around, know a few places where there could still be found cows and calves, horses and mules, sheep and hogs, as well as miscellaneous poultry. It may soon be that many of the younger generation have never heard the full barnyard chorus. Some of these sounds may strike young people as being as foolish as did a reference recently in a college to a wood stove. One young man, a graduate student, asked how a wood stove kept from catching on fire, and he was not trying to be pert, for he had never seen a stove that burned wood.
3. An actual auction sale. It might be far-fetched to suggest such a thing, but all of us oldsters know that the highly-advertised auctioneers heard for years on the air are merely one breed and are by no means representative of the whole tribe. One of the auctioneers of Bowling Green, now long dead, could have given pointers to any of the well-paid chatters heard on the radio; in fact, he injected a lot of local touches, so that he was worth side show for entertainment.
4. A typical Sunday School in a one-roomed church, where all the classes are running at once. Again, this would be difficult, for the accompaniment of braying mules and nickering horses would be hard to bring back. It would add something false to corral a lot of strange animals to give the proper tone.
5. A typical day at the country store loafers' gathering place. Properly staged, this would be a masterpiece, for it would give a cross section of our basic democracy in action. Politics, banter, risque yarns, drawing comment—what possibilities all these things have!

But I had better stop, or you will want to organize a society for the Protection of Readers Against Long-winded Old Men.

The proposed constitutional convention is limited to 12 subjects so the convention can confine its attention to modernizing the state government without changing its fundamental philosophy.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled in Gaines v. O'Connell that the proposed constitutional convention cannot go beyond the twelve subjects that will be listed on the November ballot.

ROOM FOUND AT CANEY FOR 1 OF 10 APPLYING

A record total of 185 students from Floyd, Knott and surrounding counties enrolled this fall in Caney Junior College, topping by one the largest previous enrollment.

With its dormitories and dining room and classrooms filled, Caney had to turn away youths this year at a ratio of nine applicants for whom there was no room to every new student who could be accepted.

By far the largest number of these students came from Knott and Floyd counties. By entrance examination, they rank higher than any year's class of beginning students to date; well over the average of their graduating classes by statewide tests. Five new students were accepted to academic probation with high school grades of less than average, and three students were retained in college from last year with college grades under 8, hence on academic probation. The remaining 179 students have school records of good standing to this time.

The greater number of Knott county students came from Hindman High school, with the Knott county high school at Pippa Passes close behind. From Hindman are: Delmas Bolen, Douglas Elkins, Hillis Everidge, Juanita Craft Everidge, Virginia Gayheart, Jack Johnson, Rabon Martin, and 1960 graduates Patty Chaffins, Billy Paul Coburn, Terry Conley, James Gordon Cox, Netta Jean Huff, Paul Hunter, Barbara Jones, Sarah Mildred Jones, and Patricia Terry.

From the Knott county high school at Pippa Passes are: William Childers, Elmer Fraley, Rosetta Sexton Hall, Tuthelo Stone Jacobs, Wilma Reynolds, Gienna Stone, Mary Lois Watson, and 1960 graduates Roger Hughes, Jimmie Jacobs, Gleason Short, Alice Kathryn Stone, Carson Stone, Gene Autry Stone, James Thornsberry.

Carr Creek graduates are: Joyce Cornett Amburgey, Daniel Scott Cornett, Alfred Mullins, Carole B. Smith, and John R. Smith. College students entering from Cordia high school are: Betty Sue Grigsby, Geneva Patrick, Eleanor Jacobs Ritchie, Carol Russell, Bertha Singleton, and Lenora Smith.

Knott county graduates from Garrett or Wayland high schools are: Delores H. Boleyn, Whitt Chaffins, Ernestine Hall, Freddie Hall, Bonnie D. Jacobs, Beulah King, Juanita King, Phyllis Osborne, Sandra Stone, Douglas Thornsberry, Hagar Tuttle, and Irene Wicker.

Floyd county graduates of Garrett high school enrolled in Caney Junior College are: Connie Adkins, Joyce Case, Helen Castle, Patricia Centers, Sallie Jo Conley, Bradford Handshoe, Douglas Hicks, Patricia Lafferty, Diana Martin, Juanita Moore, Ralph O'Quin, Edith Patrick, Elizabeth Pratt, Rabon Pratt, Phyllis Scott, Winchell Scott, Gertrude Sparkman, Barbara Johnson Turner, Glenn Turner, Brenda Wallace, Dana Whitaker, Sue Whitaker.

Floyd youth from Wayland high school: Sherrill Callahan, Phillip Chaffins, Henry Fuels, Millard Moyer, Daniel Ramey, Eva Ring, Judy Fraley Stone, and Minnie F. Bentley.

SOUTHERN BELL

CATS' UPSET VICTORY FEATURES LOOP PLAY

Hazard, Prestonsburg and Mike Minix were the headlines on the Eastern Kentucky high school football front over the past week-end of play.

Paul Wright's Bull Dogs and the Paintsville Tigers remained the only unbeaten football teams in the area, and Prestonsburg, playing one of its better games in recent years, toppled Pikeville from the unbeaten ranks by a 14-13 count.

Mike Minix, Paintsville's uncanny senior halfback, who seems to get stronger with each game, tallied four touchdowns in pacing his mates to a 38-6 romp over Catlettsburg of the Northeastern Kentucky Conference. The state's leading point-producer with 126 points raced over from 50, 41, 29 and 14 yards.

Coach John Goble's Prestonsburg Black Cats were aggressive throughout and weren't to be denied as their line continually opened big gaps in the Pikeville forward wall. In the first period, the Black Cats drove 67 yards in 11 plays, with quarterback Bobby Marshall alternating fullback Bob Smith, Dennis Stephens and Bill Leedy in the series. Stephens, a 160-pound senior halfback, sped in from the five and also annexed the point on a run for a 7-0 first period lead.

Midway the fourth period, the Black Cats upped the count to 14-0 when Marshall executed a perfect fake and keep play and raced 17 yards around end for the marker. Bill Leedy dove for the point after.

Pikeville then took to the air as Black Cat reserves were in the game. Bill Baird, who does everything well, hit end Bobby Venters in a 46-yard pass and run six-pointer to narrow the game to 14-6. Then, with three minutes left in the tilt, Baird climaxed a 70-yard march by going in from the seven and running for the point.

Black Cat linemen Ashland Joseph, Paul Minix, Dickie Fitzpatrick, William Prater and Paul Johnson held Baird to a minimum through the line, but had trouble stopping him around the ends.

Hazard, with senior halfback Darwin Turpin scoring three times, moved in front of Belfry, 7-0, at halftime before a huge crowd at Belfry, Saturday.

Turpin raced 70 yards in the first period and after Burlow's conversion, that was all the scoring until the third period when Turpin countered again from five yards and Belfry's fullback John Phillips sped 65 yards to cut the deficit to 14-7 at the close of the third frame. Turpin and Junior Davidson racked up another marker in the last period.

Ed Orick's M. C. Napier Navajoes upped their season's mark to 3-3 with a 19-14 conquest of Wheelwright.

College Scouts Trail E.K.M.C. Football Stars

College football scouts have hit the Big Sandy valley early this season seeking players for next year's college freshman teams. Pikeville's Bill Baird has been contacted by at least a half-dozen schools. Mike Minix, Paintsville's tremendous halfback, has more than a score of offers. Two Southeastern Conference schools are hot on the trail of Napier's Jerry Brewer, and Hazard's Darwin Turpin is receiving wide acclaim.

City Installs Plastic Sewers, And Drain Pipes

The first plastic sanitary sewer main in the United States was installed recently in Needham, Mass., according to the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing.

The material was chosen because the city feared industrial wastes might deteriorate the asbestos-cement pipe formerly used. N.I.G.P. says. Plastic is light, easy to cut or drill and weld. Needham also is using plastic for storm sewers.

The Federal Housing Administration approved plastic sewer and drain pipes early this year.

DAD'S NIGHT, FRIDAY

Prestonsburg high school will be host to the fathers of its football players Friday night when the "Cats tangle with Louisa here at 8.

Each father, guardian or relative will wear the corresponding number of his son's jersey number and will be seated in the rear of the Prestonsburg bench.

The Black Cats were a much improved team last Friday than the week before when they bowed to Underdog Jenkins by a 6-0 margin. The loss was a bitter one for the Pikeville Panthers, who were playing their last game for resigning coach Charlie Deaton. It was their first defeat this season and the final 14-13 score does not show the big difference in play of the two teams that night as Prestonsburg led 14-0 before putting its reserves in for the final six minutes when the Panthers tallied twice.

Thus Pikeville basketball coach John Bill Trivette and Deaton temporarily ended their coaching careers with one-point defeats. The Panthers lost out in the finals of the regional tournament last season to Meade Memorial by a one-point margin.

The tenth annual Big Sandy Bowl game has named Lynch, defending Class A state champion, and the M. I. Kadets, Class AA, of Region 3, as opponents for Paintsville's November spectacular.

Lynch has won five games thus far this season, and the Millersburg Institute has won four and lost to Somerset, a Class AA school.

President James Powell of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference has permitted M. C. Napier to count one of its outside opponents as a conference game to permit the Navajoes the necessary six games to be eligible for the league crown. In a drawing last week at Elkhorn City, Leslie County was drawn as the sixth opponent. Since Napier had already beaten Leslie County, the Perry county school is now 3-2 in conference play.

Bottle Travels From New York To Hong Kong

Westhampton, N. Y. (AP) — A bottle tossed into the Atlantic Ocean at this Long Island resort has been recovered by a British Royal Air Force captain at Hong Kong.

The bottle was tossed in the summer of 1959, by John H. Tully, Jr., 18, a student of Nottingham Academy, Baltimore, who was working as a lifeguard. He enclosed a note in the bottle asking the finder to notify him.

The youth has received a post card from Capt. Roland M. Porthout saying he recovered the bottle and the note—"wet but legible"—at Repulse Bay at Hong Kong, July 25.

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS

BY WILLIAM E. SCENT
KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

Q. Has the Department of Revenue filed any regulations recently that affect the sales of retailers?

A. Yes. In the interest of retailers, an exemption from sales tax was granted to certain "charitable" and "educational" institutions.

Q. Should a merchant pay sales tax to the state on sales made to "charitable" and "educational" institutions after September 30?

A. If a merchant makes sales to institutions which are exempt from the Kentucky use tax by the Constitution, the merchant is not liable to the state for sales tax on these sales. The merchant is required to include these sales in his "total receipts" entered on line one of his sales tax return. He may then deduct on line 21 all sales made after September 30, to institutions which have been granted authority to issue "Purchase Exemption Certificates."

Q. Who can apply for his exemption?

A. Institutions of purely public charity, educational institutions and nonprofit charitable hospitals may apply.

Q. How does this exemption work?

A. The institution should make application to the Department of Revenue for authority to make tax free purchases. When the application has been approved, an exemption number will be assigned to the institution. The institution is then entitled to issue a "Purchase Exemption Certificate" to its suppliers. When the institution makes purchases, the merchant should write the exemption number on the invoice and keep a copy on file.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Will Pemberton, of Wyandotte, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon, to Okie Tackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Tackett, of River Rouge, Mich., and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mullins, and Mr. and Mrs. Epp Tackett, of Hartley, Ky. Miss Pemberton attended Ecorse high school and is now attending a school of cosmetology. Mr. Tackett is a graduate of River Rouge high school and is presently employed by Golden's Market, River Rouge.

THE WATCHMAN SPEAKS

Is it the spirit of bigotry, prejudice and hate for people of a free country to know the facts and discuss them?

When the religious issue is injected into politics in order to stir up prejudice and bigotry, it is wrong.

When the religious affiliation of a candidate may affect the fulfillment of his official duties, we have the right to ask honest questions and the right to expect candid answers.

The two men running for the Presidency are Richard Nixon and John Kennedy. Nixon is a Quaker, Kennedy is a Roman Catholic.

QUAKERS: Popular name for the religious Society of Friends, founded in England about the middle of the 17th Century, primarily by George Fox. The Quakers affirmed the doctrine of immediate divine revelation. Refused to support a paid ministry. Held that war and taking of oaths were inconsistent with Christianity. They adopted a plain dress as a protest against pride and vanity. The sect spread to the United States about 1661. Many found a haven from persecution in William Penn's colony of Pennsylvania, founded in 1682.

ROMAN CATHOLICS: They believe Christ founded their church. They say Peter was the first Pope. They say the present Pope John is the 262nd successor to Peter as Pope. The Vatican is a tiny state and the Spiritual Home for Roman Catholics. It is a sovereign state, a political power. It contains imposing institutions, has a radio station, broadcasts in about 30 languages, has a daily newspaper, employs 300 correspondents, provides one of the fullest and finest international coverages in the world, has a splendid printing plant, produces ecclesiastical documents in some 30 languages. Members in the world, 484 million children and adults.

The symbol of the Pope is two keys; one is that of religion, the other is that of sovereign power. He claims to possess both. The first allegiance his first allegiance would be to the Vatican flag.

A Catholic is not permitted to participate in interfaith activities unless he receives special permission for such participation by a Catholic Bishop. This would be the same for a Catholic President of the United States; his first allegiance would be to the Vatican flag.

IN SPAIN: to exercise the office of Chief Justice of State, or King, or Regent, it shall be necessary to profess the Roman Catholic faith.

IN ARGENTINA: To be eligible to the office of President, or Vice President, a person must belong to the Roman Catholic Church.

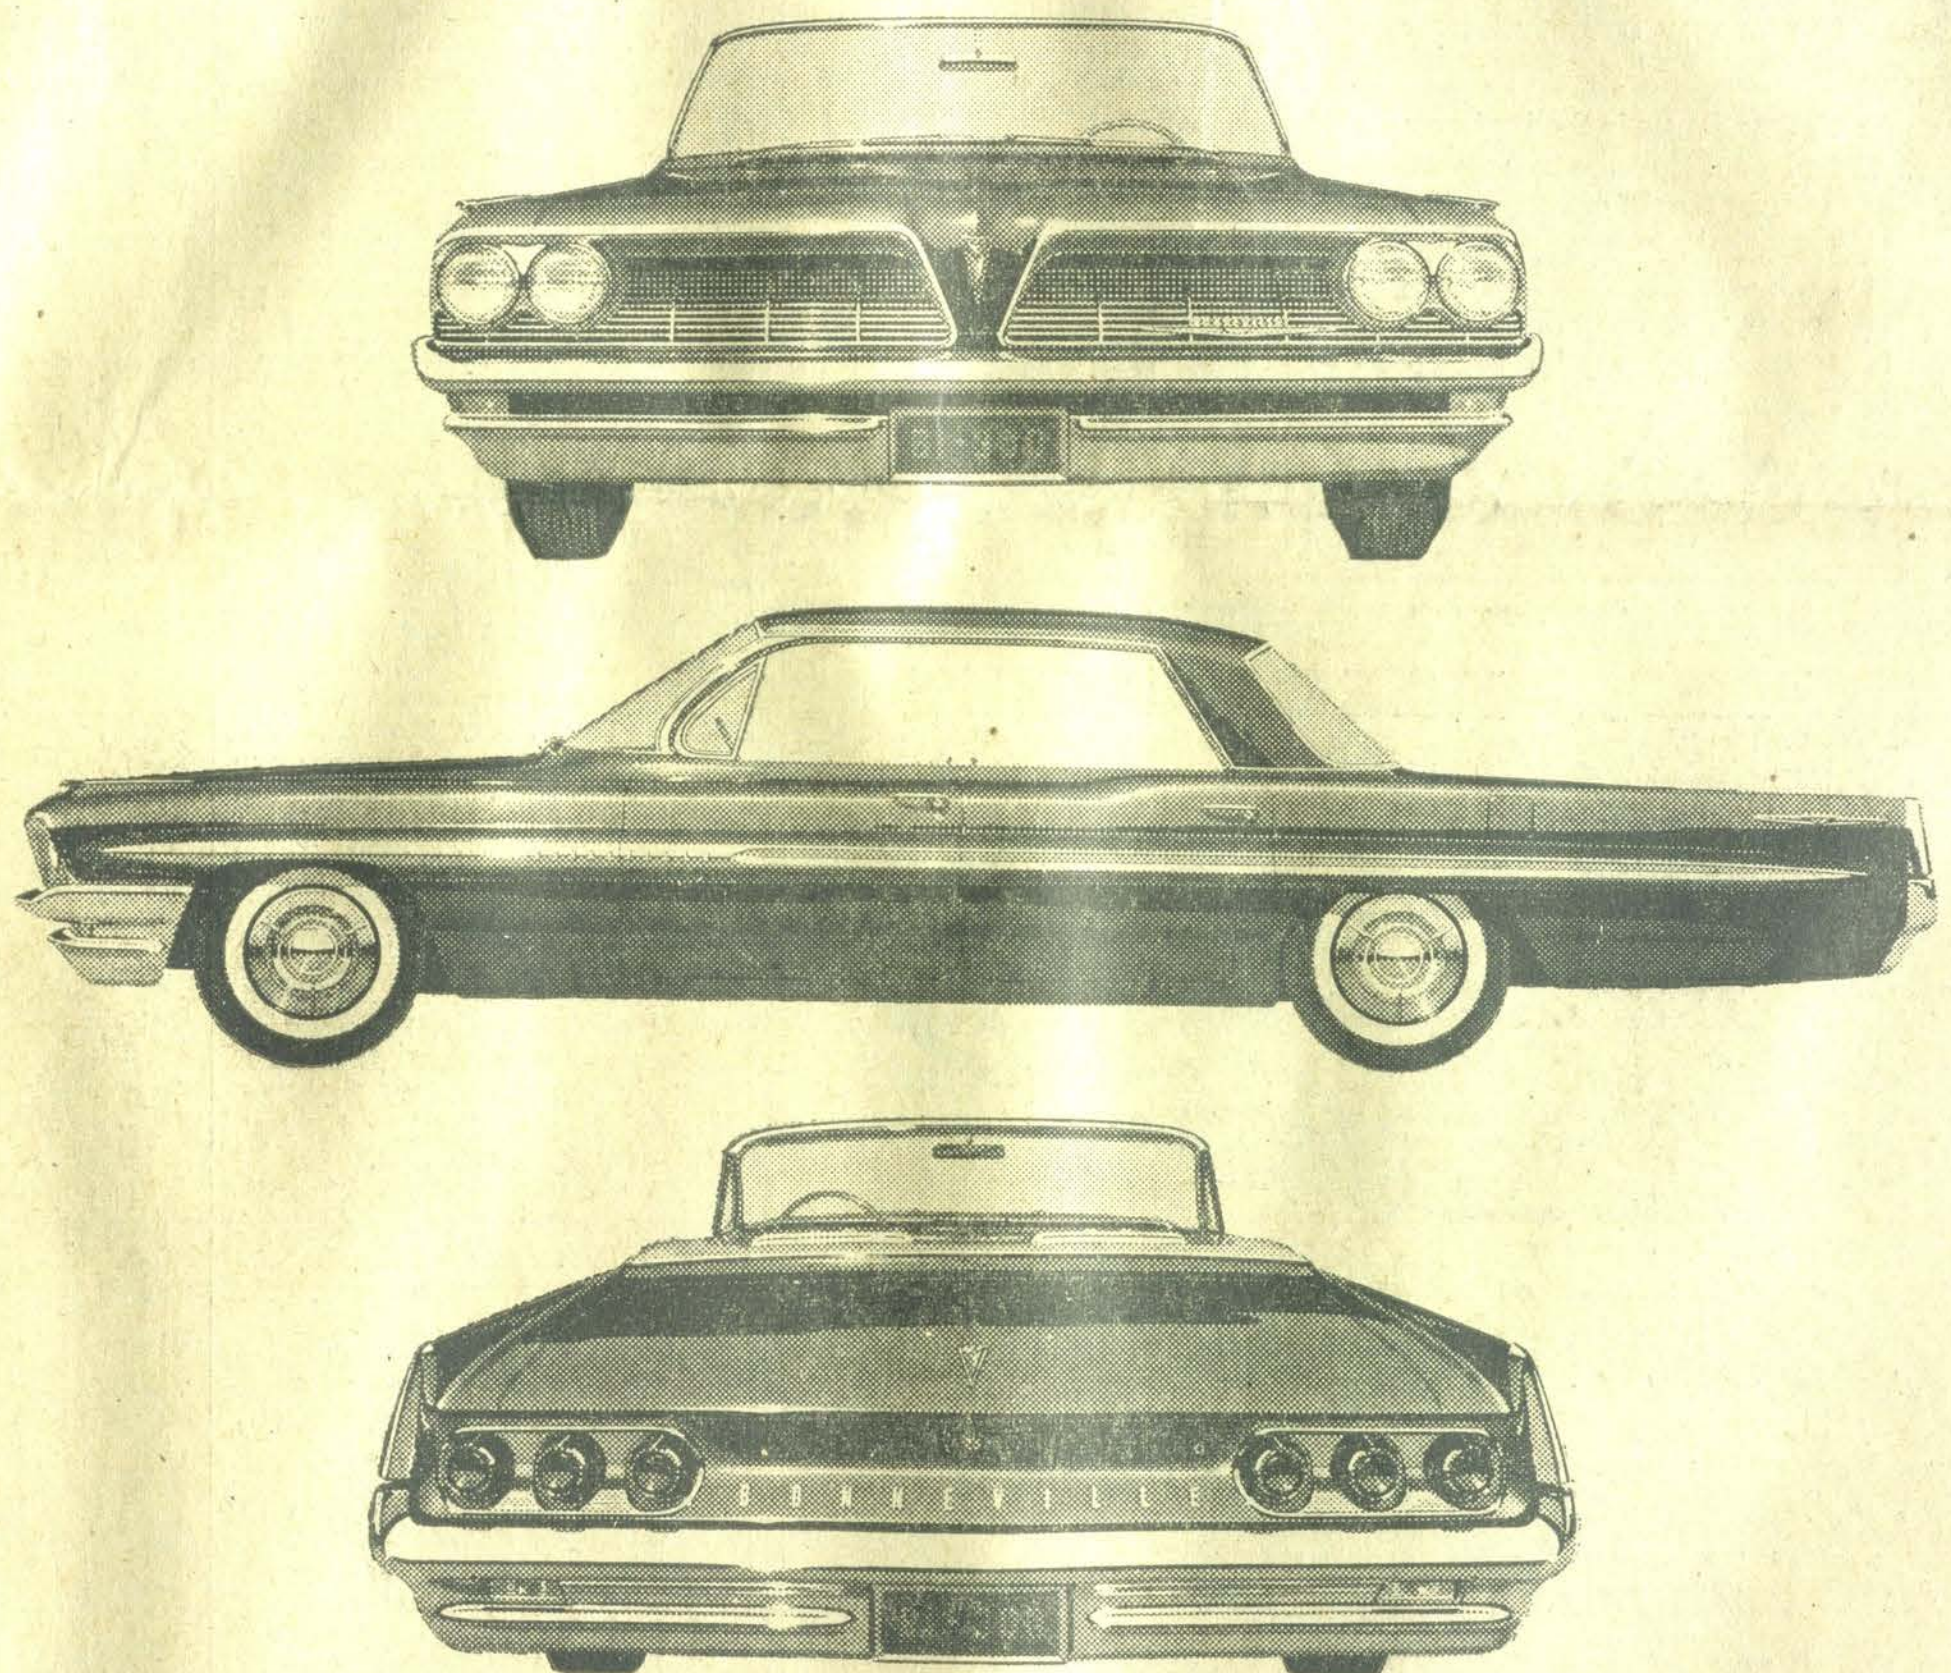

PARAGUAY: The President of the Republic must prefer the Roman Catholic religion.

OHIO (In the U.S.A.): Catholic nuns and sisters and priests in their garbs may be placed on public payrolls as school teachers. This law of one of our states came about through only two terms of a Catholic Governor.

Pope Leo XIII stated that "the state must not only have the care of religion, but must recognize the true religion of the state, that is the Catholic Church, the Roman Catholic religion and help this church prevail over all churches."

WYATT SAYS ROAD NETWORK, FORESTRY OFFER AREA HOPE

Northeastern Kentucky can become a mecca for tourists and be developed into one of the greatest wood-producing areas in the nation. So said Lieut. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt during a Northeastern Kentucky area development meeting Sept. 27 at Morehead.

Wyatt added that the state is working on a network of highways, building water impoundments and improving watersheds, encouraging better forestry practices, and carrying on other programs designed to attract tourists and new industries. He proposed that the federal government's "economic feasibility" formulas for participation in highway and water-control projects be restated so as to permit the accelerated use of federal funds for such vitally-needed projects in Eastern Kentucky and the rest of the Appalachian area.

Wyatt noted that Governor Bert Combs has announced a major state road from central Kentucky to Whitesburg and Pikeville—with bids for construction of the first stretch to be opened October 4—but added that completion would come much more quickly if full matching funds were available from the federal government.

"The problems of the area can be met only with solutions which have never before been tried," Wyatt asserted.

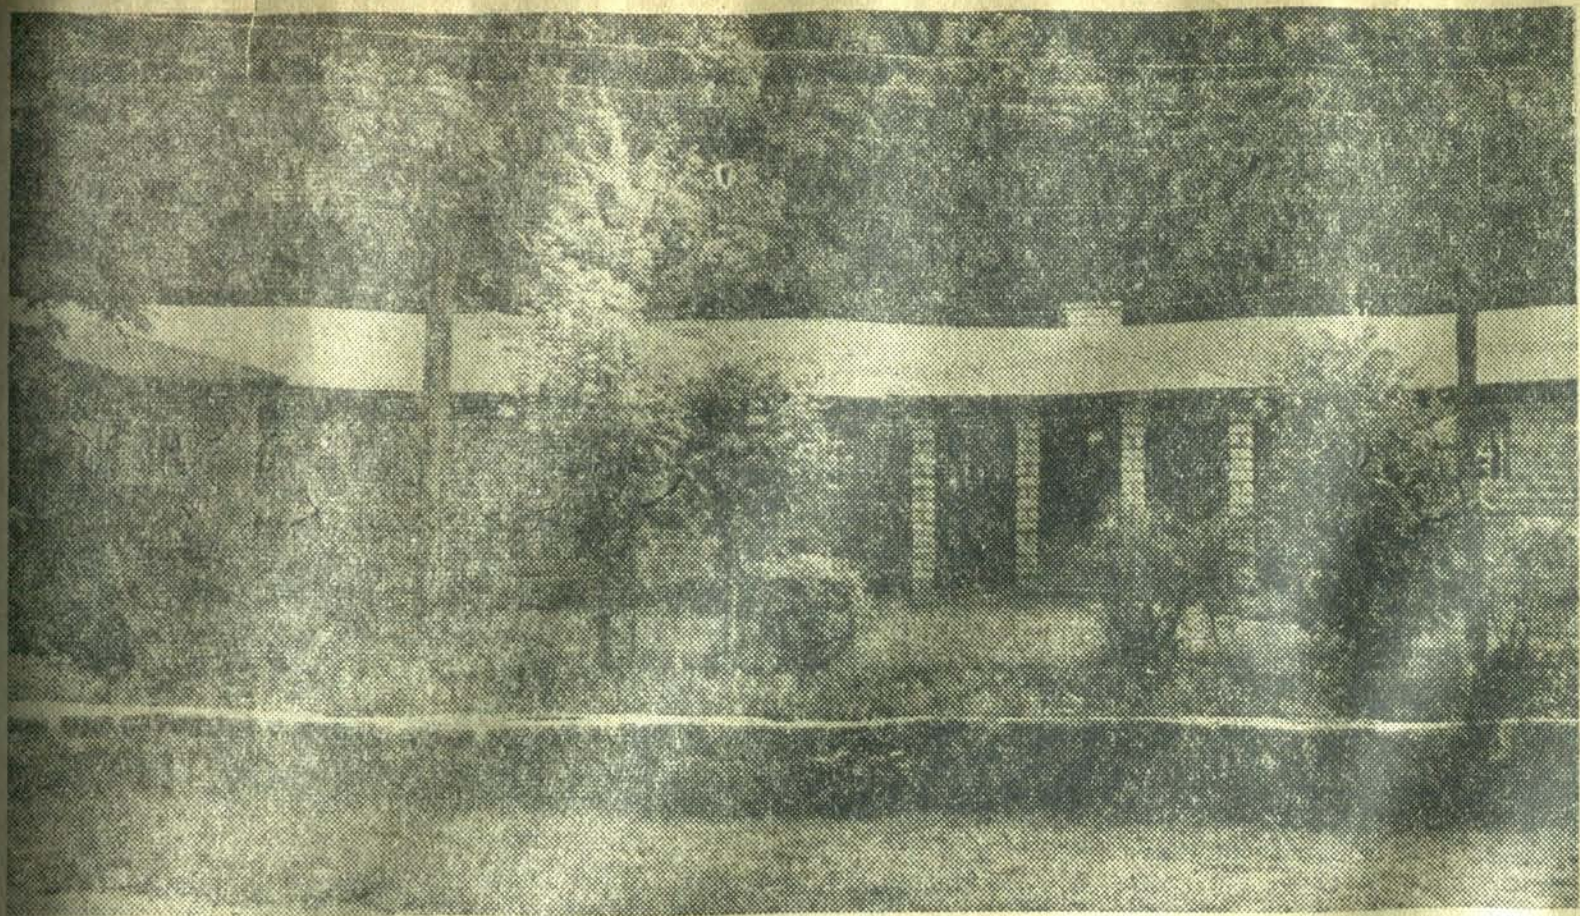

The meeting at which the Lieut. Gov. spoke was the second of four planned in Eastern Kentucky to discuss development of the region.

Sales Tax Funds Increase Payments To Dependent Children

Kentucky's public assistance program, rejuvenated by new sales tax appropriations and matching federal funds, has provided for the second straight month Floyd county's dependent children with monthly payments in excess of the 1959 levels.

According to Commissioner of Economic Security Jo M. Ferguson, last month's average payments per family were $85.16—an increase of $12.44 over August, 1959. The total amount paid to the county's dependent children reached a new high of $34,406.

Litter Prevention Kits Distributed To Schools In Clean-Up Campaign

Kits containing educational material for litter prevention and beautification are being distributed to every school in Kentucky by the Department of Education, in cooperation with Gov. Bert Combs' program to "Make Kentucky A Cleaner, Greener Land."

The kits include material for colorful bulletin-board displays in the schools, an illustrated teachers' guide suggesting various clean-up and beautification projects for children, letters from the heads of departments of state government urging co-operation in the program, a copy of Governor Combs' proclamation designating September as Kentucky Clean-Up Month, and many other items of interest to school children.

In a letter addressed to teachers, Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler asked them to make full use of the kit to teach their pupils the importance of the campaign.

"Effective litter prevention necessitates a change in personal habits and manners," Butler said. "Since molding attitudes and influencing behavior can be done most effectively among children and young people," he continued, "activity in the schools is vital if we are to succeed in the Governor's state-wide program."

Kentucky Constitution Hinders State Growth

Kentucky's constitution prohibits a corporation from holding any real estate for over five years, except such as is necessary for carrying on the business for which it was chartered. This limit is a handicap to Kentucky's attempt to attract new industry and has limited the sums that otherwise would be loaned and invested by corporations in Kentucky. This limitation is one of the 12 subjects a limited constitutional convention would consider.

About one thousand friends and alumni crowded themselves and their cars into Caney's narrow valley Sept. 18, to attend the dedication of the new dormitory which the Alumni Association had built and given to the Caney Junior College.

They were there also to pay tribute to Mrs. Alice Lloyd who began all this work at Caney, in 1916. Mrs. Lloyd, ill and weak, listened to the ceremonies from her cot, across the campus, on her Eagle's Nest porch.

Governor Bert Combs in his dedicatory speech pointed out that Kentucky is, unfortunately, known for its horses, mint juleps, feuds, and moonshine whiskey, rather than its potential. But its people are interested in education, he added, said he Governor:

"The children of the mountains should have equal opportunity with those in other parts of the United States. They have just as much intelligence, energy, and imagination." The Governor directed this statement to the Caney College students.

"We can and we will restore the timbers, dam up the hollows for lakes and parks, preserve our natural resources, educate the mountain people, and dedicate ourselves to cooperating, to goodwill, and to work and loyalty," he added.

Combs said he had never seen such loyalty shown by an alumni group as does Caney's to Alice Lloyd and June Buchanan. "There must be a special harp in heaven for people like Mrs. Lloyd and Miss Buchanan, who have sacrificed so greatly for others," he said.

The Alumni met for a business meeting after the Governor's talk. New officers elected were: Dr. Joe Taylor Hyden, of Martin, president; Arnold Lowe, of Eastern, vice-president; Elizabeth Sloane, Jones Fork, secretary-treasurer; Buena Hall, Hallie Conley, Cordell Martin, Stanley Slone, and Denver Robinson, executive committee.

Wayne Ratliff, outgoing chairman of the finance committee, suggested that a new project be taken up—a dormitory for girls, for instance.

FHA Executive Council Meets September 20

The executive council of the Big Sandy District of the Future Home-makers of America, held a meeting Sept. 20, at the Prestonsburg high school. Plans for the fall meeting were made.

Shelby Prater, of Prestonsburg, presided at the meeting. Goals were made for the chapters to reach within the coming school year.

Freida Charles, of Prestonsburg, was elected as the new song leader. Velma Cannon, of Wheelwright, was named Miss Charles's assistant.

Radiation Control Plan Submitted By Kentucky; Breckinridge Lauded

Kentucky's proposed radiation-control plan is in the hands of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission for examination, having been prepared and submitted with what AEC Commissioner Loren K. Olson called "almost incredible" speed.

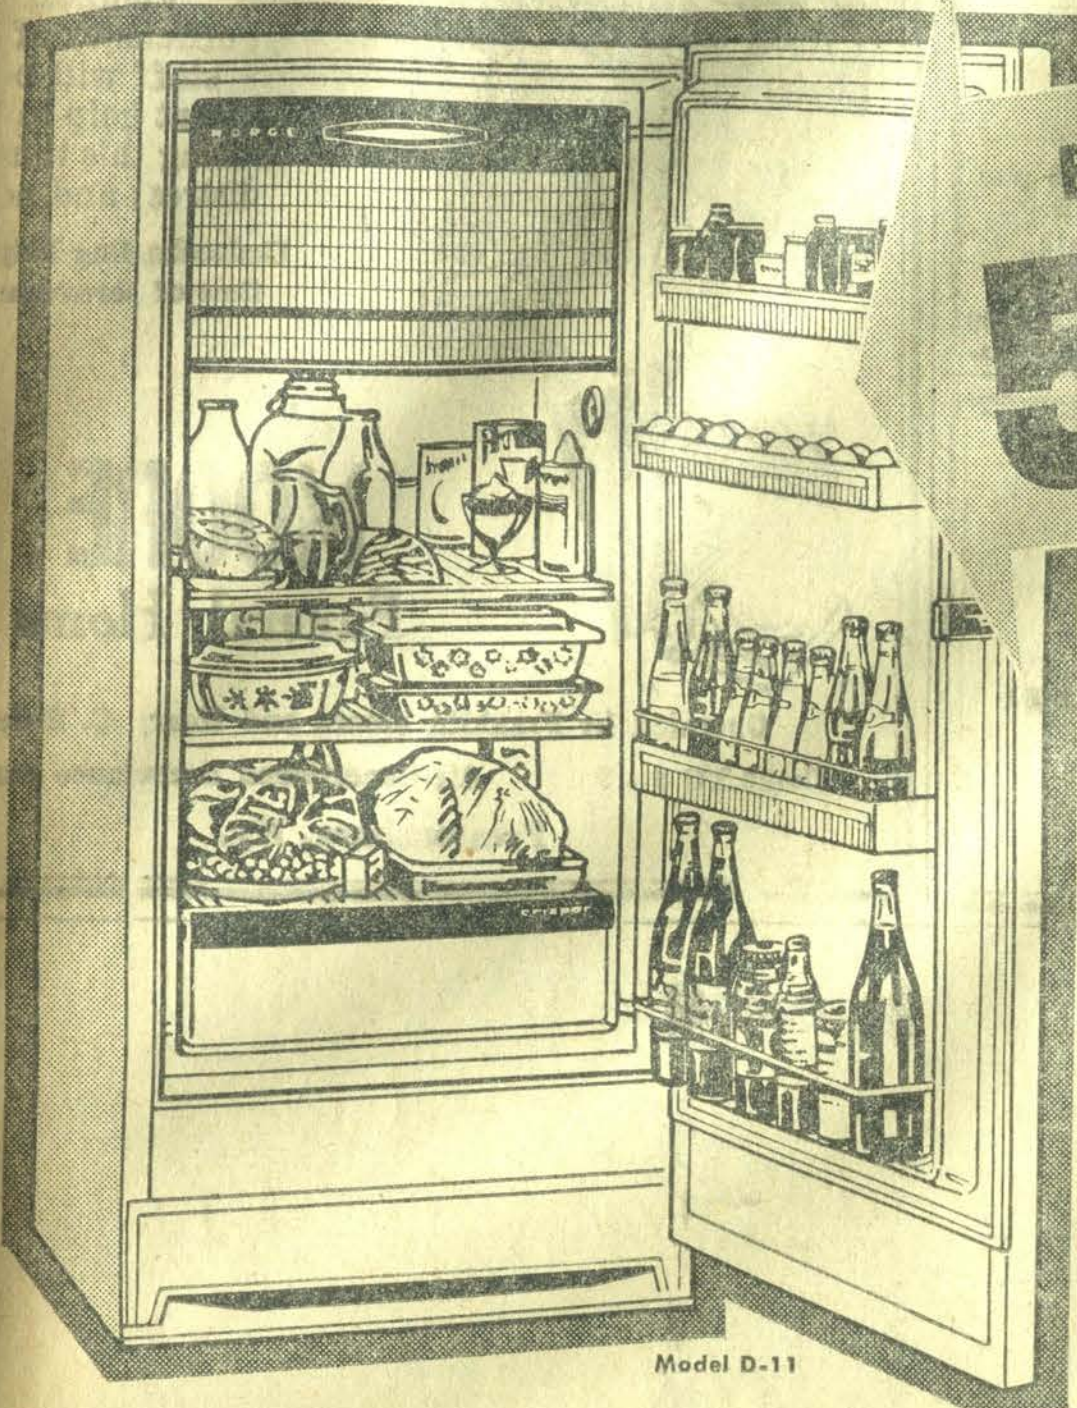

Olson came to Frankfort to receive the Commonwealth's proposal from Attorney General John B. Breckinridge, chairman of Gov. Bert Combs' Task Force on Atomic Energy. Kentucky was the first state to submit a radiation-control plan, a necessary first step toward gaining authority to regulate and license the possession and use of specified radioactive materials by industry. Congress in September, 1959, authorized a transfer of such authority from the Atomic Energy Commission to states able to qualify to exercise it. The Kentucky plan was submitted three days before the first anniversary of President Eisenhower's signing the act into law.

Because of the advantage the licensing power will give a state in attracting industries making use of radioactive materials, a number of states have been racing to be the first to file a control plan. After Kentucky won, the AEC Commissioner said at a press conference that New York and New Jersey had been the nearest runners-up, with about 10 other states trailing the leaders.

When Olson commented upon Kentucky's speed in completing the plan, Governor Combs said chief credit was due to Breckinridge and James N. Neel, Jr., Kentucky's Director of the Division of Atomic Development. Neel, a native of Henderson, had been the Atomic Energy Commission's assistant counsel for federal-state relations before Kentucky employed him to direct its nuclear program. Combs added that Breckinridge and Neel had received valuable help from Bruce Kennedy, Commissioner of Industrial Development, and Dr. Russell E. Teague, Commissioner of Health.

Chairman Evans Reports On Easter Seal Campaign

Mrs. Viola M. Morey, executive director, Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, made a final report on the 1960 Easter Seal Campaign, Sept. 8, noting that the citizens of Floyd county have been most generous in their contributions to this most worthy cause.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Martin, treasurer of the Floyd County Chapter, said that Floyd county contributed during the 1960 campaign $1,587, which is an amount greater than the contribution of any neighboring county. George E. Evans, of Estill, is chairman of the Floyd county chapter.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservationist

FARM WATERWAY TAKING SHAPE

The rapidly eroding ditch which once cut through Wallace Calhoun's farm on Bull Creek has disappeared. In its place is a gently sloped grass waterway which is being constructed under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service.

The gully, which had washed out in places up to waist deep, was partially filled in with Mr. Calhoun's farm tractor. After the ditch was filled in so that machinery could cross it, he began to plow away from the center. Gradually a 30-foot-broad waterway took form, shallow enough for crossing with farm machinery but deep enough to carry the heaviest rainfall without erosion.

Mr. Calhoun has become more enthusiastic about his waterway as the work has progressed. He is able to visualize how his completed grass waterway will look and will function because he has observed other waterways in Floyd county.

A grassed waterway may solve an erosion problem for you. See your Soil Conservationist or one of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District supervisors today.

Floyd countians are becoming more interested in soil conservation practices. At least 10 Floyd county farmers have signed up for their second soil conservation practice, including tile drainage, waterways, and ponds. Several plan to construct their third practice this fall. The drainage has been requested by 24 farmers. These projects will range from 200 to 2,000 feet of tile.

The construction of ponds by 12 farmers is planned, if suitable sites can be located.

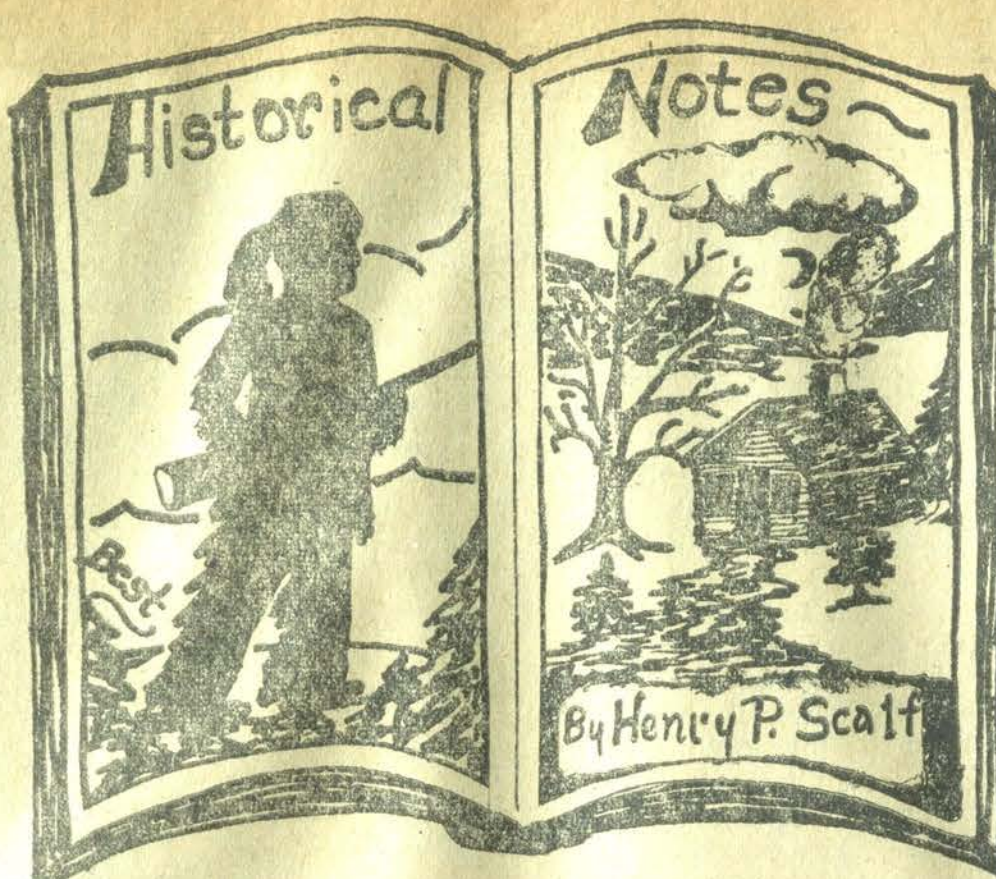

Seven new waterways have been requested for this fall. A few waterways which were not completed last spring will be completed this fall, also.

Engineering services for the tile drainage, waterways, ponds, and all other practices will be provided by the Soil Conservation Service at no cost to the farmer.

CALCIUM IN THE BODY

About 99 per cent of all the calcium taken into the body is used for the body's framework. The other 1 per cent remains in body fluids. Without calcium, muscles can't contract and relax and nerves can't function properly.

Can wool blankets be washed in an automatic washer? Yes, if the machine can be manually controlled or if there is a soak cycle followed by a rinse and spin. However, much felting and shrinking will occur if wool blankets are allowed to wash through the regular cycle.

IRONTON HANGINGS

Hangings have always held a morbid fascination for many. Older citizens in Floyd county recall even now the horror of the death of young Gus Finley at Prestonsburg in the 1880's, for the murder of Jim Hunt at the present Harold. Finley predicted that he would be the last man hanged in Floyd county. His prediction was correct.

Hangings and crime in Ironton, Lawrence county, Ohio, may be a far straying for this column but a story in the Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Advertiser, Sunday, March 13, 1960, is a bit of history we cannot forego. It was titled, "Murder Trial Recalls Gory Bygone Slayings," and was by Charles Collet.

"The first, and perhaps the only case of capital punishment ever to occur in Ironton, took place at the county jail the night of April 2, 1869, when Sheriff W. T. Ellswick hung Andrew Price, convicted of first degree murder. The legal hanging occurred at 11 o'clock on a Friday night, witnessed by two members of the Ironton clergy, the Rev. J. H. Young and Rev. J. W. Dillon. Three physicians assigned to witness the hanging were Dr. Jonathan Morris, Dr. N. K. Moxley, Sr., and Dr. Otto Arnold, who was a dentist. County officials witnessing the execution were John Snyder, treasurer, W. H. Donahue, recorder, J. R. Thomas auditor, W. E. R. Kemp, a carpenter who built the scaffold and high board fence around it and a man named W. P. Harris, also were witnesses.

"The item, four columns in length, was printed in the Ironton Register, April 8, 1869. The headline read "Death on the Gallows." In addition to the witnesses named, the item states that representatives of the Cincinnati Commercial, the Gazette and Ironton Register witnessed the hanging. The newspaper story is very descriptive, weird and gruesome, describing each step taken by the condemned man from his jail cell to the yard. The weather outside the jail was said to be "cold with a heavy mist falling." The county allowed Sheriff Ellswick $125 for being the hangman. The newspaper with the story is at the Briggs Public Library.

"The second murder on record in the county was that of Dr. Beggs, who lived at Sheridan, just east of Coal Grove. A man named John Wagoner was arrested by Sheriff Jasper Kimball. On the night of January 20, 1882, mob rule took over in Ironton. The prisoner was taken from the jail about 3 a.m., hung on a tree limb in the court house yard. The story of that exciting night was written with caution, as it was often later said that members of a lodge organized the "necktie party." The murdered doctor was said to be a member of the lodge. Later years many stories were told about the masked mob and how two prominent Ironton citizens who happened to be on the streets at that hour of the morning were treated.

"During a half century of news reporting, we recall three sensational trials at the court house resulting from gruesome murders. There have been other murders, but none so terrible. Harley Beard, a farm hand murdered three members of the Massie family on Greasy Ridge at their home in 1910. After killing the three, he slept in the house until morning, took their horse and buggy driving to Gallipolis, where he took a train for Chicago, and was arrested there the next day. The horse and rig gave the clue. That was the first murder of our reporting career. We sat at the press table, dodged under when Elmer Massie, the prosecuting witness threw a big brass cuspidor at the prisoner when he made a derogatory statement about his murdered sister. Beard was hung for the crime.

"Berkley Fleming killed his step mother, half brother Cub Stewart, at their home near Sulphur Springs, buried them in the yard near the home and came to town to spend their life's savings. That was just following the big flood in 1913. Fleming visited the news office, stood near our desk and read the story in the newspaper as we had wrote it and asked questions. That was the next day after the bodies had been dug up. He was under suspicion at the time and was arrested the next day by John "Cat" King at the Clutts House on Center Street. He was sentenced for life. The Jim Thompson case in 1932 was the last first degree conviction in local court. Jim was electrocuted for wrecking the N. & W. passenger train killing two in an attempted robbery, the night of April 21, 1932."

LYKINS FAMILY

The Lykins family that settled heavily in Morgan and Magoffin counties originated early in America. It is variously spelled Lykins, Likens, or Lycan. Members of the family are found in Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, and in Eastern Kentucky. Many of them spell their names differently.

One of the earliest of the family in Eastern Kentucky was David Lykins, born 1793, who married Nancy Williams, daughter of the Revolutionary soldier, Rev. Daniel Williams, of Morgan county. Issue of this family was divided on the Civil War and Peter Lykins went into the Union Army while a brother joined the Confederacy. Peter afterward settled in Lewis county, Kentucky, the town of Petersburg being named for him.

The family was for many decades prominent in Morgan county, several officials being elected from the clan. The first county judge of Morgan was William Lykins. Another son of David Lykins was "Squire" John Lykins, of Morgan county.

Many of the family migrated from Morgan and Magoffin counties to Indiana and Ohio. Several of the descendants of Peter Lykins still live in or near Vanceburg, Lewis county, Kentucky.

RED FOX OF CUMBERLANDS

Dr. M. B. Taylor practiced medicine, served as minister of the Gospel, enforced the whiskey laws in the Cumberland. Finally turning outlaw he was hanged for the Mullins murders at Wise, Va. John Fox, Jr., called him the "Red Fox of the Cumberland" in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The story of Dr. Taylor is told in a pamphlet by this columnist. Included are the stories of Big Ed Hall, who was ambushed and killed, Bad Talt Hall who was hanged and Devil John Wright, who died a respected old man with his boots off. The booklet is priced $1, postpaid. Address Box 412, Prestonsburg.

"LEATHERNECK"

The term "Leatherneck" was supposed to have originated in the British Navy where the Marines' uniform had a leather tongue which closed the opening of the collar.

MUSHMELON

Columbus carried muskmelon seeds on his second voyage and had them planted on the Island of Isabela in 1494. From there they spread to both American continents.

CAPITOL BURNS

On September 20, 1814, after the national Capitol had been destroyed by the British, Congress moved into Bidgett's Hotel which was guarded by U. S. Marines.

LOOK WHAT DODGE HAS DONE FOR COMPACTS

The name, Lancer: one hardtop; one 2-door sedan; two 4-door sedans; two wagons. What kind of cars are they? This kind: two feet shorter; many pounds leaner; a couple of hundred dollars less in cost than usual automobiles. Lancer welcomes a family of six lavishly. Has plenty of trunk. Its fully-unitized body is very quiet, very tough. Lancer is also mannerly. It corners decisively, takes a well scarred road with aplomb. Parks obediently. More reasons to buy? Read on. The interiors are rich, but simple: Shed soil, wear well, feel good. The engine is highly spirited, but extremely light on regular gasoline. One more thing, Lancer is built by Dodge. Our name is on it. This means Lancer will stay nice and shiny. How so? The body is rustproofed by an exclusive Chrysler Corporation process. Enough talk. Meet Lancer at your Dodge Dealer. Now.

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS

BY WILLIAM E. SCENT
KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

Q. What changes are being made in Kentucky's tax structure besides the adoption of the sales tax?

A. Since Kentucky now has a sales tax, some of our other taxes have been lowered, some repealed, and others changed.

Q. Which taxes have been repealed?

A. All state occupational license taxes, with the exception of the cigarette wholesalers' license tax, were repealed.

Q. Does this mean that those who sell cigarettes, ice cream, etc., are no longer required to purchase a Kentucky license?

A. Yes, as far as the state is concerned, but this does not apply to any license required by a city; and the fiscal court of each county was given the authority to require licenses to sell ice cream, soft drinks, and cigarettes at retail or to operate a restaurant, pool hall or bowling lanes.

Q. Which taxes have been reduced?

A. Cigarette tax, bank deposit tax and the personal income tax.

Q. How much was the reduction in the cigarette tax?

A. It has been reduced from 3c to 2 1/2c per pack.

Q. How much was the reduction in the bank deposit tax?

A. The bank deposit tax was reduced from $1.00 per $1,000 deposit to one cent per $1,000 deposit.

Q. How much was the reduction in personal income tax?

A. The personal income tax credits were increased from $13 each to $20 each and the income surtax was removed, both effective January 1, 1960. Thus, a family of six with a $5,500 annual income, if they use the standard deduction, would be required to pay $47 income tax under our present rates. Under the new rates this same family using the same standard deduction would not be required to pay any Kentucky income tax.

Q. What taxes have been changed?

A. Prior to July 1, 1960, Kentucky had selected sales taxes on certain items. It was necessary to make adjustments when the sales tax became effective to avoid unfair taxation. For example, the sale of a new automobile is subject to Kentucky's 3% motor vehicle usage tax. The sale is therefore not subject to the sales tax. Utility charges were subject to a 3% utilities gross receipts tax. The utilities gross receipts tax was removed and all utility charges are subject to the sales tax.

ATTEND SCOUT CAMPORE

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 16, 17 and 18 Boy Scouts of Garrett Troop No. 144 attended the Floyd county fall camporee at Dewey Lake. The boys were accompanied by their assistant scoutmaster, Bill Francis, Jr. and Maryland Francis. Scout executives for the Jenny Wiley District, Jack Hodge and Bob Staggs, supervised the affair.

The Troop left Garrett Friday evening at 8 o'clock taking with them food and all the other provisions needed. Campsites were set up just below the dam. All meals were prepared by the boys. Rain set in shortly after they were in camp but the Troop remained on the job until late Saturday evening when some of the boys' parents asked them to return home. The other nine remained until the camporee closed Sunday. Boys who toughed out the entire week-end were Larry Francis, Paul Francis, Danny Francis, Gary Francis, Hubert Draughn, Jimmie Case, Jerry Martin, Timmy Bailey, Johnny Prater, and those who returned Saturday evening were Richard Triplett, Johnny Martin, Larry Shipley, Phillip Rowe, Anthony Rowe, Ronnie Moore, Bob Richmond, Jimmie Potter and Tommy Rice. All the boys who attended received 1960 Fall Camporee patches for their uniforms.

The Garrett Boy Scouts handled the direction of traffic and the parking of cars during the Old Regular Baptist New Salem Association at the Garrett school gym this past Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The troop directed the motorists into and out of the ballpark. The boys' tour of duty started at 7 each morning and continued until every car had left the area, which was around 4 on Friday and Saturday and 2 p.m., Sunday. Many attending the association complimented the boys on their work through their leader, Shelby Draughn. In addition to handling the traffic, the Troop also found time to take shifts manning their concessions stand which was set up near the gym. Under the supervision of Virginia Draughn the boys were able to raise around $40 for use by their troop.

Forestry Field Day Scheduled At Noble; Schneider To Welcome

The Kentucky forestry industry gets the attention Tuesday, Oct. 11, at an all-day forestry field day at the University of Kentucky Robinson Forest at Noble, in Breathitt county.

This is the third annual field day, says Charles Derricks, resident superintendent. The forest is located in Breathitt, Perry and Knott counties; the meeting site is on a turn-off midway between Jackson and Hazard on Route 15; the actual conference will be at the sawmill about five miles from the turn-off up Buckhorn Creek on Clemon's Fork.

G. W. Schneider, department head, will make the welcome talk. James A. Newman, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service forester, will speak on "Importance of Roads in Forest Management," O. M. Davenport, University of Kentucky Experiment Station forester, will speak on "Planning A Road System in Robinson Forest," after which there will be an inspection tour of the road systems of the Beardam tract.

PLENTY OF TURKEY

Wishbone, drumstick, white meat, dark meat—there's a favorite for nearly everyone when you serve turkey. Turkeys are in plentiful supply—and prices are attractive, too.

Light or bright-colored felt hats can be brightened by sponging with a solution of one cup water and one or two teaspoons ammonia. Squeeze a soft cloth out of the solution and sponge the nap. Then steam the hat.

REMOVING INK STAINS

Ink stains from a ballpoint pen should not be washed. Water tends to set them and make them hard to remove, even by bleaching. Give your dry cleaner first chance at the stain removal job; usually he can remove the stain if it hasn't been set by water.

PICTURE PRETTY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	15	1-5
Monday	Hebrews	2	13-15
Tuesday	Mark	7	14-23
Wednesday	John	14	1-14
Thursday	John	8	12-18
Friday	Philippians	1	4-11
Saturday	John	16	25-33

Pretty as a picture, isn't she? She looks "downright" angelic. Yet, five minutes from now, she may be a little bundle of fury!

Children change faster than the wind. They haven't learned to hide their feelings. But while grown-ups may present a better camouflage to the world, there are few of us without inner conflicts. And these conflicts can be serious.

It would be a lonely world if we had to keep all our problems to ourselves. We don't. God never intended that we should have to solve all our difficulties single-handed. Remember, He established His Church on earth for us. In that Church we will find understanding fellowship, and the faith to work out our own destinies.

Take your problems to Church. Pray that you will find a solution to them. Talk them over with your minister. And what seems a maze today may become a straight road tomorrow.

MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

McBean, Ga. — Miss Joan Carol Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Collins, became the bride of Mr. John Andrew Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson, Aug. 28, at 5:30 p.m., at Berlin Methodist Church.

The Rev. Glenn S. Radford officiated in a bridal setting formed by baskets of white and pink gladioli, chrysanthemums, fern and white tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Edward Oetjen, soloist, and Mrs. Marvin Saxon, pianist, presented the wedding music. Selections included "Whither Thou Goest," "Because" and "O, Perfect Love."

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of Chantilly lace made with fitted bodice with Sabrina neckline outlined with seed pearls and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The floor-length skirt of tulle ruffles featured an apron of Chantilly lace. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a half crown of lace covered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Her only jewelry was a gold double-cased watch which was a wedding gift from her grandfather and her grandmother, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Collins. The watch was suspended on a gold chain borrowed from Mrs. Ed Floore.

Mrs. Lewis Collins, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Carole Busby was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Jackson, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Thomas Crawford. They were gowned alike in dresses of powder blue batiste over taffeta made with rounded neckline, puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. They wore small matching veils and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations showered with ribbon streamers.

Miss Susan Busby was flower girl and wore a floor-length dress of powder blue batiste over taffeta. She wore a headband of net and satin and carried a small nosegay.

The groom's father served as best man and ushers were Lewis Collins, brother of the bride, Martin Thompson, and Thomas Crawford.

The mother of the bride wore a sheath of blue chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a dress of powder blue voile and lace with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held at McBean Community House. The receiving line was formed in front of floor baskets holding pink gladioli and fern. The three-tiered wedding cake was placed on a table covered with white net and satin. Silver candlesticks holding white candles flanked the cake. The punch tables were covered with cut work cloths and were decorated with arrangements of pink gladioli and silver candelabra holding white tapers. Miss Virginia Saxon greeted the guests and Miss Beryl Tinley kept the bride's book. Sandra Broome, Miss Linda Broome, and Miss Marilyn Saxon, all cousins of the bride. Also Miss Frances Clark, Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. B. S. Tinley and Mrs. Edna Thompson.

After a wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the couple will reside at 312½ E. 12th St., Bowling Green, Ky.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, Raleigh, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, Aiken, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jenkins, Savannah, Ga., Miss Peggy Jenkins and Miss Sherry Jenkins, of Savannah.

283 AREA RESIDENTS START COLLEGE WEEK-END COURSES

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 6—The enrollment of 283 Eastern Kentuckians—most of them schoolteachers—in week-end classes at Pikeville College brings to 766 Pikeville's present student total.

Included in the Saturday-class enrollment are 66 Floyd countians. Held on Saturday mornings and afternoons, the classes are for teachers and others who cannot attend during the week. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said. A Saturday student, carrying about a third of a full-time load, can earn up to six hours of credit during the semester.

Floyd countians taking Saturday classes at Pikeville are: Maye Akers, Harold; Wilma Allen, Minnie; Ramona K. Auxier, Emma; Mary A. Bennett, Prestonsburg; Emma Bilips, Martin; Mabel Blackburn, Endicott; Shirley Bradley, Langley; Imogene Caldwell, Lancer; Margaret Compton, Harold.

27 Million Seedlings To Be Ready To Plant In Kentucky Next Spring

If all the seedling trees to be harvested next spring from Kentucky's two seedling nursery farms were transplanted to the same tract, it would occupy approximately 10 per cent of Floyd county.

The 27,000,000 seedlings that will be ready for planting in the spring will cover 27,000 acres at the recommended transplanting density of 1,000 per acre.

These figures were revealed by Commissioner of Conservation J. O. Matlick in a report to Governor Bert T. Combs.

Some 17,000,000 seedlings were produced for the spring, 1960, planting from the state tree nursery program.

The seedling nursery recently was expanded with funds from Kentucky's new revenue program.

A second nursery farm, in Morgan county near West Liberty, was placed in operation earlier this year. The other seedling nursery is located at Kentucky Dam Village State Park.

Within the near future, according to Gene L. Butcher, director of the State Division of Forestry, production at the two nurseries will be expanded to 50,000,000 seedlings annually.

Lady's Arm Bent Like Jack-Knife

One lady told us her arm used to be doubled up like a jack-knife because her muscles were stiff and sore with rheumatic pain. She said people would stare at her. Finally she got RUGON and now says she can raise her arm above her head and the awful pain and stiffness is gone entirely.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON at W. A. Rose Drug Co.

A NEW INSPIRATION FOR THE MOTORING WORLD

You are looking at the completely new Cadillac for 1961—a motor car that will inspire the automotive world for years to come.

While unmistakably Cadillac in stature and in majesty, it represents a totally new concept in fine car design.

Its graceful silhouette reveals less over-all length and increased head room. Its delicately formed roof lines provide an almost uninterrupted panorama of vision—while a crisp, new sculptured design of front, rear and sides confers a degree of distinction that is entirely new to motoring.

Beneath this visual elegance resides a host of dramatic engineering advancements—an even finer, quieter and smoother-performing engine... an entirely new front suspension system... a lubrication-free chassis... wonderfully improved steering and braking... and greatly increased maneuverability and handling ease.

This new world of motoring pleasure has been interpreted in eleven individual body styles—each with an exceptionally wide selection of beautifully crafted and appointed interiors... and an unusually generous choice of accessories, fabrics and colors.

Your dealer will be proud to introduce you to the entirely new 1961 Cadillac at any time. We sincerely believe that you will find it an inspiration in motor car quality and goodness.
