

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

WHY? ... Somebody told somebody else that officers assigned by the Division of Boating to Kentucky lakes and streams have no authority to make arrests. Why, then, a law, why define a violation of that law, and why set a penalty? ... Beloney ...

That is as plausible as the excuse made by a constable for his failure to arrest a bootlegger. "He's got a federal stamp, and who am I to tackle the federal boys?" was his classic alibi.

WHOOPIES!

You know, it's not only the small weeklies that fall for "old hat" stuff and an assortment of phonies. None other than the respected Associated Press was taken in last week by an oldie that has been going the rounds since World War II -- a mounds-covered yarn which this column has long ago either printed or rejected on the grounds that it was too much in the category of common property. Yes, the AP rushed the story out as honest-to-goodness news to its member-newspapers, with dateline and all. It reads (just in case you've forgotten it):

Cheraw, S. C., Aug. 16--A woman motorist who happened into the no man's land of "Operation Swift Strike" may still be confused after crossing a "bombed out bridge" and speaking with a "corpse."

Umpires in the Army-Air Force mock battle had declared the bridge "demolished."

As the woman approached the span, a 101st Airborne paratrooper told her she couldn't cross because it was "blown up."

Believing her eyes instead of her ears, she crossed the bridge anyway.

At the other end she told another guard, "I think that guy back there is crazy. He told me the bridge had been blown up."

"Don't talk to me, lady," the paratrooper answered with regret. "I've been dead for three days."

JUST SKIPPED IT I would be no deeper in the dumps than usual (even if this edition does have only eight pages), but for one report that has reached this desk. This report tells of a public gathering in the East recently, a gathering at which the "Star Spangled Banner" is traditionally played or sung. But they skipped the national anthem at a recent meeting. Why? Because those present would have had to take the trouble to rise to their feet!

Wonder what is to be the upshot of this age of the hand-out, sit-down and sleep-it-off? When its people work more enthusiastically at striking than at producing, think harder on ways to get something for nothing than on how to earn honest money, can't stand up for the national anthem or will not kneel in prayer, a nation has fallen upon evil days, if not on its face.

THAT'S WHAT THE MAN SAID

Well, two telephone calls and other attempts at arriving at the truth beyond a shadow of doubt having failed, we print the story as Ray Allen told it: (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

LIBRARY TAX, VOTING MACHINES GIVEN O.K.

EDW. CAUDILL NEW MEMBER OF FISCAL CT.

Four Voting Machines Leased To Alleviate Congestion At Polls

Edward Caudill, who was recently appointed Magistrate in District No. 1 by Governor Combs to fill the vacancy created by the death of his father, Magistrate Johnny D. Caudill, attended his first fiscal court meeting in an official capacity last Friday.

(A few days before his appointment Caudill was named by the Floyd County Democratic Executive Committee as the party's nominee for election to the office at the November election.)

At Friday's meeting the court adopted a resolution placing on the November election ballot the question of creating a public library district and also voted to lease four Shoup voting machines from the State Property and Buildings Commission.

The resolution placing the library district question on the ballot was voted after a petition had been filed with the court, asking that this be done. The question to be submitted to the voters of the county will read, substantially, as follows:

"Are you in favor of establishing a public library district for Floyd county which shall have the authority to impose a special ad valorem tax for the maintenance and operation of the Floyd county public library district, provided that such special tax shall not exceed five cents on each one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all property in the district?"

The petition asking the vote was signed by residents of all parts of the county.

The four voting machines being leased will be placed in operation at the November election and are being acquired to prevent such congestion in certain larger precincts as to prevent voters from having time in which to cast their ballots within the hours prescribed by law. Division of some larger precincts and the creation of new precincts cannot be legally done till after January 1, the Attorney General has advised County Judge Henry Stumbo. The extra machines may, however, be used in larger precincts where the voting was so heavy at the primary that some voters did not have an opportunity to cast their ballots, the opinion said.

The four machines are leased at a cost of $190 each this first year, and the county may elect to continue its lease over a period of 11 succeeding years at a rental of $189.13 each per annum. At the end of the 12 years the machines would become the property of the county. If bought outright, each machine would cost the county $1,837.03.

Although congestion at the polls at the May primary did cost a large number of voters their ballots, it is believed that the shorter November ballot will cause no such trouble. The court acted, however, to prevent, insofar as its finances would permit, any possible recurrence of the primary situation.

WHISMAN SAYS VALLEY SLATED FOR FULL AID

Kentucky is on the right track, and the Big Sandy section as it plans and works with the state Area Program Office stands to get its full share of assistance from the national redevelopment act.

So said John Whisman, administrator of the Kentucky Area Program Office, at the meeting of the temporary Area Development Council committee at the Hatcher hotel, Pikeville, last Thursday.

The temporary committee at this meeting scheduled September 20 as the date when a permanent organization for the Big Sandy area will be formed. The organization meeting will be held at the Paintsville Country Club and will be the culmination of work begun at the original area meeting held in Prestonsburg.

Boundaries of the Big Sandy area were defined at last week's

Governor Combs Names Prestonsburg Attorney To Judicial Council

Gov. Bert T. Combs appointed Harris Howard, Prestonsburg attorney, to the Kentucky Judicial Council, Monday. Howard's term will expire July 1, 1965.

Combs also appointed Richard Garnett, of Glasgow, to the Council, for a term that will expire a year earlier than Howard's.

The Kentucky Judicial Council, created by the statutes a few years ago, was set up to study and make recommendations on court procedures.

Howard is a law partner with his father, J. W. Howard, and Fred Francis.

Mission At David Becomes A Church As Dedication Held

The David Baptist Chapel last Sunday afternoon became the David Baptist Church.

Its dedication as a church ended its status as a mission of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here. The new church has 37 charter members, and the Rev. Charles L. Roesel is its pastor.

Dr. C. R. Daley, editor of The Western Recorder, Baptist state publication, gave the dedicatory sermon, and his charge to the church included the statement that "the David Baptist Church must be characterized by a deep evangelistic passion. Social benefits and all others are by-products."

David L. Francis, mayor of Huntington, W. Va., and president of the Princess Elkhorn Division of Princess Coals, Inc., which has contributed heavily over the last 20 years to the religious life of the David community and to the church there, brought a "Word of Greeting." Reminiscing about the early days of David, the families there, the lack of a highway and the problems faced and met, Mr. Francis, a Presbyterian layman, said of the founding of the new church:

"Looking back over 20 years, this is our greatest moment."

He paid high tribute to the Rev. J. E. Durham, the first minister called to David by Princess Elkhorn. The Rev. Ira McMillen, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, presided at the dedicatory service. R. V. May presented the new church, on behalf of the parent church, a silver communion service.

ABSENTEEISM COSTING FLOYD SCHOOL SYSTEM

Absenteeism is costing the Floyd county school system an indeterminate but huge amount of money, according to Earle P. Martin, director of pupil personnel.

Last year 161,142 days of absence were marked down against the pupils. Whether due to illness, economic problems or other causes, this high rate of absenteeism is a debit to the school system, since funds are allocated to the counties on the basis of average daily attendance.

Wayne Ratliff, assistant county superintendent of schools in charge of finance, says this loss means fewer new classrooms, less capital outlay, lower teacher salaries and less money for current operating expenses.

County Superintendent Charles Clark, in an attempt to take effective remedial action on absenteeism, recommended the employment of Richmond Stone as a third director of pupil personnel. Stone will assist Martin and Herbert Prater in a drive to keep students in school.

Martin is not wholly pessimistic, however, on the absenteeism problem. He finds from a statistical study that the "holding power" of the schools on the secondary level is increasing.

He assembled figures on the School Here Bulging At Seams As Student-Body Nearly 800; Allen Tells of Teacher-Need

The Prestonsburg high school building, only a few years after it was built, is nearing the point where it will be wholly inadequate to serve pupil needs.

This was pointed up this week when more than 100 students entered to make a record-breaking enrollment of 787. There were many more freshmen, 60 more sophomores, a few less juniors but 35 more seniors than enrolled last year.

"I don't know where this student increase has come from, and will not know until I can study the situation a few days," said Woodrow Allen, principal.

He needs teachers, too, to staff the classrooms.

"Right now I would like awfully well to have a certified mathematics teacher," he said. "I need three teachers and I'm not particular about their field just so they have a degree and a Kentucky teacher's certificate in the elementary field."

Auxiliary high school will be discontinued at the end of the term this year and students there will be transferred to Prestonsburg next year. Prestonsburg high school will probably need four additional classrooms next year, it is thought.

The grade school enrollment is equal to that of the high school, it is said, making a total city enrollment of around 1,600 students.

Beaver Valley Club Hears Reed Discuss Impressions of Europe

The Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club of Wheelwright held its regular meeting Monday night, August 14, when several guests and all members were in attendance to hear B. F. Reed talk on his recent trip to Europe. His party consisted of a number of persons dedicated to the task of getting Americans to visit foreign countries to promote goodwill and better understanding.

Mr. Reed's group included 16-11 from Kentucky, two from Wyoming, one from Montana, and two from Wisconsin. Countries visited included France, Belgium, Poland, Hungary, Russia and Germany, primarily the capital cities of each.

Mr. Reed described his impressions of the people and their customs. His views and comments were original and interesting, and his talk was well received.

ABSENT VOTE HEARINGS SET

Rivalling in interest the lone murder case expected to be brought to trial during the September criminal term of circuit court will be the trials of defendants named in indictments voted by the special grand jury here in June after its investigation of alleged election law violations.

Defendants in the 21 indictments voted by the special jury are scheduled for trial, beginning September 12. The court docket, released this week by Circuit Clerk Henry Stephens, shows that trials of these cases are to continue September 13, 14 and 19.

Although no murder case is on the docket, the indictment of Charlie Miller in the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff Wesley Fannin is expected early enough in the term to permit his trial before adjournment at end of the month.

Of the 161 cases docketed for trial, 48 accuse defendants of child desertion, but many of these will never reach trial. Fifty-five cases will be called the first day of court, September 5. Most of these are expected to be continued and some dismissed for lack of prosecution, however.

Carrying a concealed deadly weapon, formerly an offense which appeared rarely on the docket, appears only one time on the September list of cases, and liquor cases of all types number only seven.

Thirty-five cases of grand larceny, breaking and entering and knowingly receiving stolen property are listed for trial during the month. In frequency these rank next to child desertion.

BACK TAXES DUE, CLAIM

IRS Charges Brighton Owes $197,632; May Formerly Owned Firm

The Brighton Engineering Company, which is designing two sections of the Eastern Kentucky toll road and which did the general engineering planning for the West Kentucky toll road, owes the federal government $197,632 in back taxes and penalties, the Internal Revenue Service has charged.

The claim covers the years 1957 and 1958 when Brighton was owned by William H. May, Prestonsburg native who is now a resident of Frankfort.

The Internal Revenue Service objected to deductions for contributions to a company pension plan, to professional fees, salaries, rents and travel and entertainment expenses.

May sold Brighton in 1959. Ex-Governor Lawrence W. Weatherby, a stockholder in the company and its attorney, said later that Brighton's present corporate officials look upon the tax claim as their own liability to the limit of their resources, with May having no direct responsibility. He added that he believes, however, the differences with the Internal Revenue Service can be settled out of court, just as a major portion of such claims are handled.

"The legality of the claims will be the main issue," he was quoted as saying.

May now heads Tecon Engineers and is an engineering consultant of national stature. In Louisville (See Story No. 3, Page 8)

WPRT PLANS ANNUAL DRIVE

For Retarded Children; Kick-Off Dinner Slated With Combs As Speaker

The kick-off dinner for the annual fund drive by the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children will be held at the high school cafeteria here, the evening of Sept. 5, with Gov. Bert T. Combs as the principal speaker, it was announced this week. Sale of tickets to the dinner will begin within the next few days.

Day following the dinner, Radio Station WPRT will initiate its annual radio auction to raise funds for the Council to carry on its work. This year's will be the fifth such auction staged by the station.

Mrs. John G. Archer is in charge of arrangements for the kick-off dinner. Last year, this event netted $700 for the fund. Benefiting from funds raised in the county and annual contributions made by the Crusade for Children staged by the Courier-Journal and Times and Radio Station WHAS, the Floyd Council for the Retarded is now operating three classes--two at Martin and one at Prestonsburg.

PIONEER GAS MAN CLAIMED

O. W. Van Petten Victim In California Hospital; Was Native of Illinois

Oliver William Van Petten, 69, of La Jolla, California, formerly of Prestonsburg, died of a heart attack Friday in a San Diego, California, hospital.

A native of Cramer, Ill., and educated as an engineer at the University of Illinois, he came to this county with the Pennagrade Oil & Gas Company and until the early 1930's was connected with the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company or its predecessors. After leaving here he went to Charleston, West Virginia, and became a vice-president and director of the Columbian Carbon Company, heading that company's Appalachian division until his retirement two years ago.

He was widely known as a civic leader, and was an elder of the Presbyterian Church in Charleston. Following his retirement, he and Mrs. Van Petten, the former Mary Faith Archer, of Prestonsburg, moved to La Jolla, California.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two sons, O. W. Van Petten, Jr., Los Angeles, California, and Albert Archer Van Petten, Santa Maria, California, a daughter, Mrs. William Merritt, Auburn, New York, and six grandchildren.

Burial was made in Ft. Rosecrans cemetery, San Diego, California.

Paris Brown, 71, of Lancer, died at home, Friday. He was found dead in bed, presumably from a heart attack. A farmer, he was at one time a Prestonsburg city policeman.

Mr. Brown was a son of the late Henry and Mary Goble Brown and the husband of Laura Dials Brown, who survives. Surviving is a son, Walker Brown, of Ypsilanti, Michigan.

Funeral services were held Sunday, at 2 p.m., from the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church, the Rev. Will Horn officiating. Burial was made in the Owens cemetery at Auxier under the direction of Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE AID HIGHEST IN EAST AREA

Eastern Kentucky has the highest concentration of public assistance payments of any section of the state.

With the exclusion of Fayette and Jefferson counties, which have a much larger population than any other county, there are 19 Kentucky counties with public assistance payments in excess of $800,000 annually. Thirteen of those counties are in Eastern Kentucky.

The figures, compiled by the Research and Statistics Service of the Department of Economic Security, Frankfort, were released this week in an annual report for the fiscal year of 1960-1961.

Unemployment insurance payments are not so concentrated, it is shown. There are 25 counties, again with the exclusion of Jefferson and Fayette, which have unemployment benefit payment in excess of $300,000. Only eight of these are in Eastern Kentucky. Floyd county unemployed received $553,624 in benefits and public assistance clients were given $983,050.

Town Meeting Slated On Civic Improvement At Martin, Next Week

A town meeting on citizen participation in civic improvement is set for 7:30 p.m. next Monday, at the Martin high school building.

William D. Fromm, of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development's Planning and Zoning Division, will be the guest speaker. Fromm also will show a motion picture on planning, "A Tale of Two Cities." Refreshments will be served.

COAL SEAM MINED BY RUNYON IS KNOWN AS THE CLAYBORN BAILEY LEASE

The coal seam mined by Runyon is known as the Clayborn Bailey lease, near Betsy Layne. Strip or auger mining of the lease began, the petition claims, in August, 1961 and has continued without necessary permits required by Kentucky law. It is also claimed that defendants were notified in December, 1960, of requirements exacted for such a coal operation under state law.

It is contended that defendants negligently and willfully violated Kentucky Revised Statutes 350.060 and 350.990 in that unregulated strip mining of coal and related processes cause soil erosion, stream pollution, including the likelihood of floods, destroys the land for agricultural purposes, destroys or impairs the property rights of citizens, creates fire hazards, and in general creates hazards dangerous to life and property.

A suit asking a total of $10,500 was filed by Manis Crawford, father and next friend of Manis Crawford, Jr., against Birdell Johnson, alleging the youth was permanently injured as the result of the wreck of a truck which Johnson was driving. The Crawford boy was a passenger in the truck.

In a third circuit court suit Mrs. Ruth Moore, administratrix of the estate of Franklin W. Moore, seeks to recover from the Confederate Life Insurance Company and B. J. Fusner, $1,000 which she and her late husband paid for stock, Dec. 16, 1960.

The Confederate Life Insurance Company was chartered, with Mr. Moore as president, but its organization was never completed. The suit points out that the terms of the prospectus issued by the company were not to exceed 20% of the amount advanced for stock. The balance, it is claimed, was to be refunded to the Moores. No refund was made, nor was any stock issued, the petition alleges.

LABOR DAY, USA, is almost here again, and from all indications, there'll be a record number of folks on the highways... headed for picnics in the park, sun 'n fun at the beach, or the cool, quiet relaxation of the mountains. Wherever you're headed... be sure you drive carefully... so you'll be sure to arrive!

TIPS-TO-THE-WISE DEPARTMENT: Call ahead and be sure! Whether you're planning a long Labor Day weekend, or just now taking your vacation, you'll do well to phone ahead and confirm any reservations by Long Distance. It takes only a few minutes to call... and Long Distance rates are low (even lower when you call station-to-station, with special values after six p.m. and on Sundays). The few minutes and the few pennies you spend could save you a lot of trouble and worry!

ALONG THE WAY Labor Day, notice the increase in the number of outdoor phones. These handy "outdoor citizens" are on the job 24 hours a day... offering you convenience and protection.

TWO MILLIONTH SHARE OWNER! The owners of A. T. & T. stock now number 2,000,000—people from all parts of the country, all walks of life. A great many are small share owners. 335,000 people hold between one and ten shares. And some are "small" in another way—quite a few BABIES own shares given them by proud relatives! In addition, more than 300,000 Bell System employees own A. T. & T. stock purchased through payroll allotments. Needless to say, we phone company employees are mighty proud of this convincing vote of confidence for our business.

Kentucky Map Shows Streams, Reservoirs; Available From State

A revised Kentucky map showing more than 1,700 streams and reservoirs is now available to fishermen and water-sports enthusiasts. The 20 x 44-inch map was compiled and drafted by the Kentucky Department of Economic Development and published by the Kentucky Department of Conservation. The recently completed Rough River and Buckhorn reservoirs appear on the stream map for the first time. Three other major impoundments now under construction—Barkley Lake, Nolin Reservoir and Barren Reservoir No. 2—are shown in outline. Another new feature is location by symbols of ten other reservoirs, each of more than 100 acres in area. The symbols indicate whether the reservoirs are completed or under construction. Said to be the most-detailed stream map published by any state, the Kentucky map should prove of interest to any person or organization concerned with surface drainage, as the map shows the waterway system of every county and their relationship to each other. The waterways are printed in blue. County names and boundaries, and city names, are in black. Copies of the map may be purchased from the Department of Economic Development for 75 cents.

"Crime Doesn't Pay"—They Say

"Crime doesn't pay," we are told over and over again, and yet, if we reduce the matter to dollars and cents, one look at the underworld till will convince most of us that crime not only is big business but that it also is profitable business.

The so-called bootlegger isn't big business, but behind him—far, far back in the shadows and usually well-protected—is the individual or the syndicate which supplies him and hundreds of others, and that is big, profitable business.

One smalltime sneak thief doesn't constitute a thriving enterprise, but somewhere there is a "fence," and this outlet for stolen items deals in big money. And so the story goes, all the long, forbidding gamut of crime.

Yet there are those who say a little bootlegging, a little stealing, a smattering of vice here and there are only to be expected and should not cause much concern. Some officials have a tendency to wink at crime—some, because they fail to see the threat it presents; others, because they are too indifferent to care or too lazy to enforce the law; still others, because they are financially interested in crime.

Then, entirely aside from any actual connivance with crime, there is that tendency on the part of citizens, juries and court officials to coddle the criminal. Often this is an attitude adopted with good intentions, with the thought that no man is beyond help and that every human soul deserves a chance. But it has a profound weakness, in that mercy for the criminal results in those who dispense mercy forgetting the innocent upon whom the criminal preys. Citizens using their influence to persuade officials that the criminal is basically a good fellow and deserves another chance, juries turning from their sworn duty and returning verdicts on the basis of sympathy and not for the common good, jurists overworking their right to probate or suspend sentences—these are examples of mercy being a misnomer, inasmuch as those who really deserve protection are the last to be protected.

J. Edgar Hoover, famed director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, discusses this and other weaknesses in the judiciary in the following, which is being addressed by the FBI to all enforcement officials:

Nothing discourages and disheartens law enforcement officers more than the knowledge that their efforts in apprehending criminals are too often no more than useless expenditures of time and money—useless because unwarranted leniency in the form of suspended sentences, parole, or probation so frequently makes a mockery of good police work.

Assuredly, we must continually strive to rehabilitate those persons who have strayed from lawful ways. On the other hand, consideration must be given to protecting society by isolating depraved individuals who have no respect for law and order or the rights of others. The scales of justice must be balanced.

Certainly, the principles of parole, probation, and other rehabilitative measures are good, but maladministration can nullify their worthwhile aspects. Conscientious, hard-working parole and probation officers, frequently underpaid and seldom able to discharge the heavy burdens placed upon them by the archaic clemency systems still existing in some areas, are just not equipped to cope with ever-expanding caseloads. Adding to their dilemma are some misinformed and misguided jurists and an apathetic citizenry who cause and condone the release of hardened criminals who gleefully accept society's softness and repay it in the coin of treachery.

The realm of vice, which is the breeding ground for crimes of greater violence, is winked at in far too many instances. A recent preliminary survey on courts in a large city revealed, for example, that of almost 30,000 individuals arrested for lottery, numbers rackets, gambling, bookmaking, prostitution, and operating a disorderly house, 73 percent were discharged by magistrates! Out of well over 800 gamblers who pleaded guilty, only 12 percent ever went to jail! Fifty-eight percent were ordered to pay fines or costs—which have been correctly described as nothing more than license fees for gamblers. Two hundred and fifty others were given suspended sentences or placed on probation.

When vice, the very fountainhead of crime, is treated lightly, it is not difficult to understand why criminals do not fear the "wrath" of some of this nation's courts. Invertebrate criminals who prey on honest men and still escape punishment are encouraged in their disdain for law and go on to commit depredations of even more heinous proportions.

America is not a vengeful land, it is not a cruel land; but certainly something must be done to make it an internally peaceful land. Crime in 1960 rose 12 percent over the previous year, and in the first quarter of 1961 our country appears headed for a new all-time high annual record. The first part of this year shows an increase of 10 percent in crime in American cities, with a 9 percent jump in murders, a 2 percent rise in forcible rapes, and a 3 percent increase in aggravated assaults.

Between March, 1950 and June, 1961, there have been 154 individuals on the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list. Of this number, 130 previously received either suspended sentences, parole, or probation. The leniency granted these vicious criminals resulted in untold suffering by their innocent victims.

For a peaceful and wholesome society, it is imperative that the rights of law-abiding citizens be given at least the same respect and consideration as the rights of lawbreakers. We can never hope to see crime abate until the perpetrators of evil deeds are taught the full meaning of the old adage, "Crime doesn't pay." Such a lesson cannot be taught by words alone; only stern action in our courts, involving a philosophy of making the punishment fit the crime, and realistic administration of rehabilitative measures can force back the criminal plague.

Uncle Sam Plans Aid To Share Its Business With Small, Big Firms

The largest customer in the world, Uncle Sam, is going to make it still easier for both large and small firms to get their share of Government business.

Several important changes are being made in the coverage of the U. S. Department of Commerce publication, "Synopsis of Proposed Procurement, Sales and Contract Awards," according to Robert M. Luckey, Manager of the Cincinnati Field office.

Effective at once, Synopsis, which is issued daily, will list every proposed advertised or negotiated procurement made in the United States resulting in an award in excess of $10,000. It will also contain a listing of the 2,000 projects valued at $170 million to be let by the Post Office Department by December 15, 1961. Another feature is the announcements of the selection by General Services Administration of architects who will design federal structures. The Synopsis will also list all awards in excess of $25,000 giving the names of the successful bidders for the purpose of making known subcontracting opportunities.

Except where security considerations prohibit such publication, all research and development programs and advance notices of the Government's interest in a specific research and development field will be published in the Synopsis.

Businessmen interested in these new opportunities may secure the information by subscribing to the Synopsis, which is available at $10 a year regular mail and $28 air-mail.

Sample copies of the Synopsis and subscription order form may be obtained from the Department of Commerce Field office, 809 Fifth Third Bank Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

COMBS URGES CONTROL JOBS

On Regional Waterways; Fishtrap Dam Project At Design Stage, Said

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 11 (Spl.) — After reviewing extensive damage caused by recent floods in Eastern Kentucky, Gov. Bert Combs has asked Commissioner of Conservation J. O. Matlock and Steve Wakefield, director of the Flood Control and Water Usage Division, to push as rapidly as possible additional flood control projects for Kentucky. "Floods are a major, recurring threat to thousands of Kentuckians and we must press in every way possible for needed flood control projects," the Governor declared. Wakefield declared that because of personal appeals and appearance before federal committees, the Public Works Appropriation Bill passed by Congress for 1960-1961 contains more projects and more money for Kentucky than any other bill in the past.

Cost of projects now under construction in Kentucky totals $68,549,000. Four of the projects are Ohio River locks and dams.

Also under construction are the Nolin River Reservoir in Edmonson county, Barren River Reservoir in Allen county and Barkley Dam on the Cumberland River near Eddyville.

Three projects also included in the 1960-1961 Appropriation Bill are in the advanced engineering and design stage. They are Fish-trap Reservoir, located on the Big Sandy River in Pike county; Green River Reservoir in Green county near Greensburg, and a lock and dam on the Ohio River at Hawesville.

Three other projects currently are being investigated and surveyed. One of these is on the Big Sandy River.

The 1961 acreage of burley in Kentucky is estimated at 209,000 — up 12,000 acres from last year due to an increase in acreage allotments. This is the largest acreage since 1954. The preliminary yield estimate of 1,625 pounds per acre is the same as a year ago but 165 pounds above the 1950-59 average.

KENTUCKY SHOOT SEASONS NAMED FOR STATE HUNTERS

Frankfort, Ky. (Spl.)—The shooting season for Kentucky nimrods are breaking out all over and from now until January 29, when the grouse season ends (with the exception of a short period in early November), hunters will find plenty to do.

Almost without exception, early game forecasts can be placed in the "good" category, and the over-all season may be a "cliff-hanger," the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources believes.

First to "break" is the squirrel season in the western sector of the state where the first half of a split season opened on August 15 and continues through October 31. A second phase in the western zone will open on November 16 and continue through November 27. The eastern section squirrel season opens on August 26 and continues through October 31, with the second phase opening on November 16 and continuing through December 8.

These separate opening dates were decreed, as was the case last year, by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission to give the hunters in the western region earlier shooting, since the food crop for squirrels matures in that area earlier than in the eastern zone. The eastern zone includes Lewis, Rowan, Menifee, Powell, Estill, Jackson, Rockcastle, Pulaski and Wayne counties and all counties lying to the east, including Floyd. The bag limit this year will be six per day with a possession limit of 12 after two or more days of hunting.

Biologists with the Department report that the mast crop this year is about as good as for last season but will be later in maturing and, therefore, hunters may not be highly successful in the early part of the season. The squirrel crop this year should about equal that of the past season, when the overall take was described as good. The young squirrel crop this spring appeared to be good, which, of course, is an indication of a good fall population. The mast crop of last fall and winter also was about par and with plenty of good food during those months the holdover breeding stock is believed to have been as good if not better than the year before, biologists claim.

Hard on the heels of the squirrel opening dates come the opening volleys of the dove hunters. That split season will open on September 1 and continue through October 31 then reopen on November 16 and continue through November 24. Shooting again this year will start at noon, standard time, and close at sunset and the bag limit will be 12 per day with a possession limit of 24 after two or more days of hunting.

Early call counts, made by biologists last spring, indicate a population of adult birds to compare with that of 1960 and reports are that the hatch was about as good as for the past year. Basing their prediction on these facts and information from northern states, the Department believes that the dove crop this year will be about as good as the excellent shooting of the season before. Because of the late crops this year, however, the Department believes the birds will not be bunched-up at the beginning of the season and that the best shooting will be about the middle of the season.

The gun deer season, in 38 counties, will be of a four-day duration this year and was moved to the first half of November. For the 38 counties the shooting opens on November 8 and continues through the 11th while for three counties, Breathitt, Perry and Knott, a two-day season, November 10 and 11, has been set. This brings to 41 the number of counties in which deer may be hunted this season. The archery season runs throughout the month of October in all 41 counties. As for last year, only one deer may be killed by a hunter, with bow and arrow or by gun.

The Kentucky deer herd has been increasing year by year and indications are that hunters will have a larger number to shoot at this year than ever before. About one out of five gun hunters last year harvested a deer and an equal yield is predicted for this season. Road kills by automobiles hit a new high last year, and this, the Department believes, is a good sign that the population is steadily mounting.

Many hunters last season were disappointed in the harvest of rabbits and checks in the field revealed a smaller kill than for the previous year. However, these checks also showed that more rabbits were killed in the latter days of the season than in the forepart which is a good indication that brood stock were left in the field. Furthermore, farmers and conservation officers report seeing many young rabbits during June and this points to a greater rabbit population this fall.

The season opens on the third Thursday in November, which is the 16th, and will continue through January 14. The bag limit this season is eight with a possession limit of 16 after two or more days of hunting.

Quail hunters in some areas were agreeably surprised last season with the population of this fast flying bird and call counts in the early spring signified a good supply of adult birds. Results of this year's hatch have not been determined, but scattered reports from the quail hunting areas have been good. With little rain in June the Department believes the young birds fared better this year than last and with the stocking of a greater number of young birds than ever before, a fairly good quail hunting season will be available. The Department, in cooperation with various sportsmen's clubs, has distributed many quail "produced under lights" this spring and if they in turn have produced coveys the population should be greatly increased. These "under lights" quail were produced in the winter months from eggs laid by quail kept in heated and lighted areas and some were placed in the hands of sportsmen's clubs early in the year. They were released as adult birds in the early spring.

The season opens on November 16 and continues through January 14 with a bag limit of 10 and a possession of 20.

Grouse production in the Eastern Kentucky mountains has been on the increase for several years and this may be the peak year for this fast flying bird. Since the grouse are more active in cold weather, the grouse hunting season opening has been moved to December 1 and will continue through January 29. This will give hunters several additional days in the field after the regular small game season ends on January 14 and the Department believes a greater number of these birds will be harvested in the late season. The grouse have become so plentiful in their native habitat that the Department has started a trapping project in this area and is transferring the trapped birds to other areas which contain second growth timber. That is the ideal habitat for this bird. The bag and possession limit this year will be four.

The season for harvesting furbearers opens on November 16 and continues through January 14. Forecasts and predictions on wildlife populations are variable but, taking into consideration the better than average outlook for all species, Kentucky hunters should, indeed, be in for some fine shooting this fall.

REPORT SUNDAY

All youths of the Prestonsburg grade school district interested in playing on any of the four Little League football teams this season are asked to report to the Prestonsburg high school gymnasium this Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock for weigh-ins and other details pertaining to this year's league rules.

This season, only sixth, seventh and eighth-graders will be permitted to play on any of the four teams. Holdovers of last season, sixth and seventh grades will retain the property of last year's Eagles, Cardinals, Browns and Colts. All newcomers will be put in a player's pool and the four teams will draw them.

League play will begin September 12, and each team will play a nine-game schedule. Practice sessions are not to be held more than three times weekly. Games will be played on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7:30 at the high school field, and all practice sessions will be held at the grade school field.

At last Thursday's league meeting the league adopted the use of Little League football shoes; however, tennis shoes may still be used. Coaches may use any offense or defense they desire and no player weighing over 110 pounds on weigh-in day may play in the backfield.

Quarters again will be divided into 16 plays, excluding penalties, kicks and kick-offs. Every squad member is to see action in every game.

The schedule and squad rosters will be announced next week and the all-star jamboree will be held November 2. All players must maintain a "C" average and be in school five days prior to the game.

 Although Brighton has figured prominently in engineering work for the Combs administration in its road-building program, Tecon is not known to have done any business with the administration.  His hunting companion, J. M. Turner, of Wayland, took to the waters of Elkhorn Creek, outside Frankfort last week, and soon thereafter was engaged in the rather thrilling pastime of landing a 10-pound largemouth bass. Our informant declares he has a picture of the fish, but he hastily explains they had it stuffed before posing it for the camera. He also wants to know if this isn't a record for Kentucky streams.
 We think it is. It's either a whopper of a bass or just a plain whopper.

MORE FISHING
 The walleye went on a binge last Sunday and Monday, and may yet be cooperative, in the Big Sandy. Buster Herald and Henry Gray showed up here Sunday with two, one of which weighed 6 1/4 pounds. And Gray reportedly lost a perfectly good plug to one which did not tarry in the manner of his going.

From Dewey Lake, John Warrick reports two bass of the four-and-five-pound class, caught recently trolling. From the same place another guy whom I sometimes think I know pretty well hauled in, after a terrific struggle, a bass measuring all of 13 inches.

Combs To Ask Law For Quick Ouster
 Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Bert Combs told newsmen last week that he will submit legislation to the 1962 General Assembly which would change the procedure for ousting school officials. The Governor said that after much consideration it was believed that the removal power should not be in the Governor alone, but that legislation should be enacted which would authorize state officials to expeditiously remove a school official guilty of misconduct.

 were joined immediately thereafter by Mr. Goebel, and they held the three inside the store till the arrival of Chief of Police Bill Potter and Policeman Beverly Thompson. Spradlin later told Trial Commissioner Harold Stumbo he will plead not guilty and will waive examining trial. Juvenile hearings will be held for the others.
 Capture of a moonshine still on Branham's Creek, Friday night by Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis and Claude Flanery, ABC Board field agent, resulted in four men, Lee Hall, Bert Hall, Virgil Rogers and Noah Adkins, being placed under bond by the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville. The still and 5 1/4 gallons of moonshine whiskey were confiscated.
 This was the second still in as many weeks to be taken by Wheeler and Flanery. Accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Harold Johnson, Robert and James Hall, they captured a 50-gallon still and seven gallons of whiskey on Pitts Fork of Middle Creek, Aug. 10, and arrested 67-year-old William Thomas Hibbens as the alleged operator. Because of Hibbens' age, the charge against him was made in the Floyd quarterly court.
 Deputy Sheriff Lewis and State Trooper Aller confiscated 55 cases of beer and arrested Junior Little, driver of the car in which the beer was being transported, last Wednesday night at Jack's Creek. Little was booked in Magistrate Edward Caudill's court.
 Eight cases of beer were taken by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson and State Trooper Leach, the same night at Jack's Creek, from a vehicle operated by Donald Scarbury. Women companions of Scarbury said they could not drive, and he was permitted to take them home on his promise to come to Prestonsburg the next day. He has not shown.
 Three men were jailed here over the week-end on drunk driving charges. Names of defendants and the arresting officers: Earl Boien, arrested by State Troopers Allen and Gobie; Edward R. Payne, booked by State Trooper W. Williamson; Henry M. Thomas, arrested by State Troopers Don Gobie and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald.
 Z. D. Gibson was booked by Troopers Gobie and Allen on charges of drunkenness and littering the highway. This is one of the first arrests to be made in the county on a littering charge.
 Fred Little was jailed Saturday by Policeman Herschell Hitchcock, of Wheelwright, on a charge of assault with intent to kill.
