This Town-- That World

A WELCOME VISITOR

A little girl came into this office today, and she was welcome, even if not welcomed as she should have been. She was quite a relief. She was in need of money, apparently, but she wasn't begging. She was selling little bundles of sassafras bark wrapped with a red string. She charged "just whatever you want to pay." This little girl was welcome here on two counts: 1. I like sassafras; 2. I like people who at least try to earn what they get.

A VISITOR ELSEWHERE

Lenna Moore is visiting over in Indiana this week, and I have been waiting for days now for that telegram he promised to send from Louisville. He hinted that, inasmuch as that fair city went Republican at the November 7 election, his wife would run something like this:

"Arrived in Louisville, enjoying this clean, refreshing air. Know a man by his friends—I like Ike!" His silence may be the result of running afoul of some disappointed Democrat.

THE ONLY ANNUAL REPORT I EVER READ

At hand is the "Annual Report" of the Big Sandy Petroleum Company, Inc., of Paintsville, which, for my money, is the best of its kind ever perpetrated. As a rule, I take one glance at one of these expensive printing jobs and throw it in the general direction of the waste-basket. But not this one. Col. Irvin R. Arrowood's pixilated hand is visible on every page. This handsomely printed Report has evoked more belly-laughs and served the Kunnell's company better as an advertising medium than anything we've seen. It's all tongue-in-cheek, it's "Mad," it's a lampoon (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

TEACHER HERE HEART VICTIM

Extension Instructor, Minister, Is Stricken Enroute To Classes

Stricken by a heart seizure while en route to Prestonsburg to teach a Morehead State College extension class, Ira T. Caudill, 58, died Saturday at his home in Morehead.

The extension class instructor here was a member of the faculty of the Breckinridge Training School at Morehead, had taught in the Pikeville city schools 13 years and also in the Morgan and Rowan county schools. He was an ordained minister in the Missionary Baptist Church and at the time of his death led the work in two Rowan county missions of that church.

Prof. Caudill was educated at Morehead State College and the University of Kentucky. He was a son of the late Henry and Evaline Proctor Caudill and was a native of Rowan county.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Iva Dehart Caudill, two sons and two daughters; Dr. Paul Caudill, Lexington; Mrs. Caroline Jukes, Gainesville, Florida; the Rev. Thomas Caudill, Simpsonville, Ky.; and Mrs. Genevieve Whitt, Carlisle, Kentucky.

AREA INDUSTRY URGED FOR FOREST OWNERS

COOPERATIVE GROUP PLAN IS SUGGESTED

Graves Disappointed At Slim Attendance; Area Interest Needed

"An industry is interested in coming here but it's not coming unless the people of this section are interested."

So commented Don Graves, service forester, Division of Forestry, after Monday night's scheduled meeting of landowners with state and federal personnel for the purpose of forming a land-holding corporation had failed to attract local interest. Only three Floyd residents appeared for the meeting.

Mr. Graves said a second meeting will be planned if any real desire for a meeting is shown.

The company interested in this area is an Eastern firm which would establish a band mill with a production of 5,000,000 board feet of timber products a year. It would perhaps make an initial investment of $150,000, it was said.

But before this enterprise would locate in this or any other area, Mr. Graves pointed out, it must have a guaranteed timber supply under forestry management. That was why the meeting was called here for Monday night.

It was hoped that at that meeting a landholding corporation would be formed, thus pooling timber and land resources and giving the firm assurance of a supply of needed timber.

The proposed installation would be an integrated-type operation, manufacturing not merely one product but developing any given piece of raw material to its fullest. Lumber of high quality, even many posts from scrub and undesirable timber growth, would be among the products produced.

And, it was explained, all this would be done under supervision of forest technicians to protect the land, see that cutting was done systematically and that reforestation is carried out.

H. B. Newland, of the State Department of Economic Development, in charge of wood utilization, was here for Monday night's abortive meeting.

Former Resident Here Hunting Mishap Victim

Mason Lee (Skip) Noss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Noss of Jackson, Michigan, was accidentally killed while hunting, October 20.

The Noss family formerly resided in Prestonsburg.

PRUETT WINS POST

The Times erred last week in its report of the Allen city election. Lee Pruett was elected to the Board of Trustees, not defeated, as we reported.

MRS. BROWNING NEAR TOP IN WORLD O. E. S.

Mrs. Josephine Harkins Browning, of Ashland and Henderson, and a native Prestonsburg woman, last Friday became right worthy associate grand matron of the General Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at the order's 30th triennial assembly at Miami, Florida.

The Prestonsburg woman this will in 1964, by natural accession to office, become most worthy grand matron of the world Order of Eastern Star and its more than 3,000,000 members. Her march to Eastern Star world leadership began 18 years ago. No other Kentucky woman has ever held the top office in the international organization.

Mrs. Browning is a past worthy matron of Adah Chapter No. 24, Prestonsburg, and served as grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky in 1942-1943. She has been chairman of the board of directors of The Bank Josephine here since 1954.

Representing District 5 at the triennial assembly were Miss Burieta Gearheart, worthy matron of Adah Chapter, Mrs. Leatha Joy, junior past worthy matron of Adah Chapter, Mrs. Anna Lowe, past grand representative of Oklahoma, Mrs. Clara Warrick and Mrs. Sallie

Warrant Names Sammons For Attempt To Rape; Two Others Are Jailed

Robert Lee Sammons was jailed here last Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald on a warrant charging him with attempted rape. He was accused by a 14-year-old girl.

Others jailed within the week included:

Lee Baldrige, drunk driving, arrested by State Troopers D. H. Goble and D. Lafferty; Burriss Spears, drunk driving and no operator's license, booked by Deputy Sheriff H. Johnson.

ASK MINERS SEE MACHINE

Demonstration Slated At Eastern; Inventor Notes Thin Seam Use

Coal miners from this section and adjoining states will congregate at Adkins' Goose Creek mine at Eastern to view a newly-designed one-man coal-cutting machine to be demonstrated, December 1-3, Orval Adkins, owner of the mine, announced this week.

"Many closed mines will re-open during 1962 in West Virginia, Kentucky, and elsewhere, and low seams never before mined will be opened up," Cyrus Messenger, coal research consultant, Washington, D. C., predicted last week, pointing out that with the new machine one man can undercut coal seams as low as 20 inches high at a rate of 12 feet per hour or faster.

O. Wayne Martin, owner of Irishtown Coal Company, Dunbar, Pa., designer of the machine, says the entire unit weighs less than 200 pounds, is powered by a 1½-horsepower electric motor, and is positioned and operated by one man. A three-man crew, according to Martin, can cut, blast and remove 95 tons of coal per shift from any seam, using the new machine for the undercut operation.

Adkins issued an invitation to all miners to attend the demonstrations, which will take place throughout the three-day period.

Liberty Pastor To Lead Revival at Church Here

The Rev. Don Young, pastor of the Liberty Methodist Church, will be the evangelist in the revival which will begin November 26 and continue through December 3 at the Community Methodist Church here, it was announced this week by the pastor, the Rev. David L. Blankenship. The public is cordially invited to the service, which will begin daily at 7:30 p.m.

GUILTY PLEAS ENTERED BY 2

Coal Firm Convicted Of Stream Pollution; Howell Given 1 Year

The November criminal term of circuit court convened Monday, and in its first three days of work two persons were convicted — both on pleas of guilty.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill expressed disgust with the lack of progress made and the poor prospects for the session. He said several cases alleging absentee voting violations were continued till January 8 because witnesses failed to appear.

The October term ran into last week. One of the last cases heard at that session was that of the Inland Steel Company, charged with stream pollution. The company was fined $100 and costs after law and facts were presented.

The probation of Billy Ray Howell was set aside last week.

The present court term does not have a grand jury.

This week, Teddy Amburgy entered a plea of guilty to a breaking and entering charge and was given a one-year term. He is expected to ask probation. Sadie Click pleaded guilty to a charge of selling whiskey, was fined $20 and sentenced to jail 30 days. Another selling indictment against her was dismissed.

The $1,000 bond of Stanley Fritz, who is accused of unlawfully and feloniously converting the property of another, was forfeited.

Cases dismissed and the reasons given for dismissal: Clifford Newsome, child desertion, "parties living together;" William Hall, selling mortgaged property, insufficient evidence.

FEDERAL AID IS EXTENDED

On Eastern Turnpike; $20,000,000 Envisioned As Savings On Highway

The federal government has agreed to share the cost of building the freeways extending eastward from the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said Monday. This includes the road from Prestonsburg to Salyersville.

Saving to the state would total $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, depending on final cost of the work.

Cost of the entire 203-mile project remains a matter of guessing since much still is unknown about routings. At the outset, the estimate was $73,000,000, including $39,000,000 for the toll road from Winchester to Campton.

Plans now call for extending the toll section from Campton to Salyersville, with freeways to Prestonsburg and Pikeville and to Hazard. Additional revenue bonds will be sold to finance this work, reducing the overall cost of work to be financed directly out of tax revenue.

Ward also said Monday that present plans call for utilizing some present sections of highway serving the affected Eastern Kentucky points adequately.

These would include stretches of U. S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Pikeville, and KY 15 for a few miles east of Jackson toward Hazard.

Much expensive construction remains to be done, nevertheless. The Eastern Kentucky route will be almost completely new from Campton to Hazard, except for the 12-mile stretch east of Jackson. New construction also is involved from Salyersville to Prestonsburg.

The rugged terrain puts an average cost of about $1,000,000 a mile on the mountain construction. The total cost of the freeway arms will remain unknown until decisions are made on how much mileage of present highways will be incorporated into the system.

The federal government will pay 50 per cent of construction costs, both on new routings and relocation of some bad sections of present routes.

While still in the planning stage, state officials had indicated they were leaning toward 100 per cent use of state funds to finance the entire project so as to avoid delays caused in getting federal approval on one project after another.

They were planning then on a work schedule that would see the entire new system completed during the Administration of Governor Combs.

Combs himself revealed a change in this expensive planning when, on October 18, he related to a press conference that completion might be six years away.

He said the plan of the Administration was to schedule projects from one location to another in (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

Kentucky 4-H Poultry Judging Team

Floyd county's 4-H club poultry judging champions and winners in the recent Kentucky State Fair at Louisville will compete in the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25, it is said. The team will leave here Thanksgiving Day.

HYDEN LEADS PARTY, POLL REVIEW SHOWS

A review of the November 7 balloting which was swept by all Democratic candidates shows that Jack Hyden, Republican candidate for Sheriff, though defeated by Henry Hale, Democrat, by 1,757 votes, polled majorities in seven precincts and also led in the absentee voting. His showing was the strongest made for his party on a countywide basis.

Hyden led in these precincts: Prestonsburg No. 1, Prestonsburg No. 2, Cliff, Auxier, Mouth of Beaver, Lackey and Mouth of Mud. In the absentee voting he also led, 47 to 37.

In the hotly contested race for the office of County Judge, Ex-Sheriff Gorman Collins, Republican, reduced the 1957 majority of

95 PATIENTS ARE EXAMINED

By Children's Clinic; Civic Groups, Churches Contribute Food, Milk

Ninety-five patients from Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Pike and Knott counties were examined by doctors of the Crippled Children's Commission at the clinic held at the Floyd County Health Department recently.

Representing the Commission at the clinic were Dr. Marjorie K. Smith, Louisville, director of the Crippled Children's Commission; Dr. Wm. C. Robard, Ashland, orthopedic surgeon; Dr. Harry Stambaugh, Louisville, plastic surgeon; Dr. Guy Cunningham, Ashland, pediatrician. (Dr. Stambaugh is a son of Mrs. Lottie Stambaugh, of East Point.)

Food and milk for the patients were contributed by the Kiwanis Club, the Kiwanians, the Church of God, Church of Christ, Assembly of God, the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Community Methodist churches. Assisting in the clinic were Mesdames Blaine Hall, Edw. P. Hill, J. B. Clarke, W. J. Dingus, W. C. Rimmer, Hardin Short, Fred Francis, F. L. Heinze, J. R. Camicia and Miss Ella Noel White.

CANCER LEADS DEATH LIST

Mortality Rate Is Low In Floyd County; Cause Is Matter of Dispute

Special to The Times
New York, N. Y., Nov. 13 — How many Floyd county residents get lung cancer each year? How many fall victim to other kinds of cancer? How does the mortality rate locally compare with that in other areas?

A new report, released by the U. S. Public Health Service, gives the latest official figures for every section of the country.

What it shows, for one thing, is that lung cancer is now the leading cause of cancer death among American men. The number of male deaths has increased six-fold in the past 20 years.

Is it due to cigarette smoking? Is it due to air pollution? Or is it due to a combination of these and other causes? The controversy continues to rage, with medical authorities, torn between statistical and clinical proof, unable to agree (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

CONTRACT IS AWARDED FOR ROAD EXTENSION

Kelly Coleman Involved In $250,000 Cage Suit; Is Former Wayland Star

The Chicago Majors of the American Basketball League and two of their players—one of whom is Kelly Coleman—were named in a $250,000 damage suit filed Tuesday by the Camden, N. J., Bullets of the Eastern Basketball League.

The HMC Corp., owner of the Camden club, charged in the suit that Leroy Gibson and Coleman jumped to the Majors in violation of their contract with the Bullets. The suit said Gibson and Coleman formed the nucleus of the Camden team and that their absence will cost the Bullets more than $250,000 in gate receipts for the season.

Coleman is the former Wayland high school great. He later played at Kentucky Wesleyan College.

TREE SETTING PLANS TOLD

Three Practices Offered To Farmers, Owners; Foresters To Supervise

Elder Goble, office manager of ASC here, points out this week that farmers and landowners can now make application for any one or all of three forestry practices on a cost share basis.

Practices offered by the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation committee are site preparation of land for tree setting, tree planting, and timber stand improvement.

As in previous years the ASC will pay $1.60 per hundred for tree planting, one half to the Division of Forestry for the tree cost and one half to the farmer. Site preparation will pay $10 per acre.

Timber stand improvement as well as tree planting, must be done under the supervision of a forester, Goble said. The forester will visit the site to be planted or improved and suggest the best varieties of tree seedling or methods of improvement.

Slightly over one million tree seedlings were planted in Floyd county this year and there is no reason it can't be done again, Goble said.

Don Graves and Arthur Leach are the foresters serving this area for the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Goble notes that all orders for trees must be placed with his office but several interested agencies will solicit orders.

Application for practices must be made by December 31.

VARIED PARTY WINS FEATURE AREA POLLS

Democratic and Republican county races in the area were spotty with party wins at the recent election, it is noted from available returns.

Floyd county's neighbors, Pike and Johnson, elected, respectively, straight Democratic and Republican tickets but Breathitt's races were split.

The Democratic sweep that carried the entire county and district ticket to victory in Floyd county stopped at the Johnson county line.

Republicans won there by substantial margins.

All county posts in Pike were won by the Democrats. Mrs. Bessie Riddle Arnold, fighting for an unprecedented eighth term as County Court Clerk, defeated her Republican opponent, Cleo Justice Chaney, with a vote of 11,889 to 9,114. The closest race in Pike developed in the Sheriff's contest with Democrat Charles E. Keese winning over Republican Thaddeus Scott by a mere 173 votes. However, Republicans captured five of the magistrate posts to give them a majority on the fiscal court for the first time in 20 years.

Chief interest in traditional Democratic Knott county was the race for Tax Commissioner. The Democratic nominee, Bruce Martin, who polled a minority of the votes in the Primary but who won the right to run under the party emblem in a court contest with Delmar Draughn, lost on a write-in campaign conducted by Draughn. Final returns showed Draughn had defeated Martin by a ratio of about four to one.

Magoffin county's most heatedly contested race was for the office of Sheriff between incumbent and Republican Ben Patrick and Roy Holbrook, Democrat. Final returns showed Holbrook by only eight votes.

In Letcher county Democrat James Caudill won for County Judge over Bill Adams, Republican, and Democrat Charlie Wright defeated Republican Mrs. June Breeding for reelection as County Court Clerk. Republicans won the Sheriff and Jailer offices.

Democrat Sam Deaton narrowly eked through in Breathitt county against J. Phil Smith for County Judge. Democrats won easily in the other county-wide races. Carl Back was named Sheriff; Mrs. Cora M. Noble was elected County Court Clerk; Talbert Turner, Jailer; William P. Bach, County Attorney, and Allison, Tax Commissioner.

Other Democratic Pike county winners were Ervin S. Pruitt, unopposed for County Judge; John Paul Runyon, also unopposed, County Attorney; John P. Young, Tax Commissioner.

Carried to victory on the Republican sweep in Johnson county were Joe E. Radcliffe, County Judge; C. O. (Buzzy) Wheeler, Jr., County Court Clerk; Ray E. Preston, Sheriff; Paris Eblevins, Jailer.

Capturing General Assembly posts in the various counties were (See Story No. 3, Page 8)

STATE NAMES ROAD, BRIDGE CONTRACTORS

Completion Envisioned In 455 Working Days; Ford Builds Lake Road

Apparent low bidders on the Prestonsburg extension of the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike and a four-lane bridge crossing the Big Sandy here are the Kentucky Road Oiling Company and the Mattingly Bridge Company.

Bids on the bridge and 3.1 miles of the highway from Prestonsburg up Middle Creek to a point near the junction of the David road with the Prestonsburg-Salyersville route were opened at Frankfort, Friday. The joint bid offered by Mattingly and Kentucky Road Oiling was $2,156,587.

It was said here that the twin projects are to be completed within 455 working days from the date the work order is issued.

The Eastern Kentucky Turnpike will be a four-lane toll road from Winchester to Campton and a two-lane toll route on to Salyersville. The extension from Salyersville to Prestonsburg will be a freeway.

Mattingly Bridge Company already is engaged in the construction of the bridge across the river at Auxier and other spans on the new Prestonsburg-Pointsville bypass of U. S. 23.

The Johnson Mining Company, of Garrett, is the apparent low bidder on 1.3 miles of the Cedar Creek-Right Fork of Island Creek road in Pike county. Its bid was $41,295. Johnson is the contractor on the road nearing completion from a point near the Dewey Lake bog dock to the vicinity of the lodge being built at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The Winston Ford Company, contractor on the road from Stratton Branch to Goble Branch along Dewey Lake, expects to complete that project within two weeks. Grade and drain work has been completed and the last blacktop surfacing is expected to be done today (Thursday). Installation of guard posts and some rock work are all that remain to be done.

THORNSBERRY MINE VICTIM

Machine Operator Dies In McDowell Roof Fall; Burial Made At Topmost

Jeff Thornsberry, 39, of McDowell, was killed instantly at 10:45 a.m., Wednesday of last week, in the mines of the Jones Brothers Coal Company there. He was a coal cutting machine operator and "kettle bottom" fell on him, crushing his skull.

Mr. Thornsberry was a veteran of the China-Burma theatre of action in World War II. A son of the late Garrett Thornsberry and Mrs. Melvina Hall Stephens, of Topmost, he is survived by his widow, Mabel Thornsberry.

Surviving sons and daughters are Jackie, Danny, Judith, Bonnie and Linda, all at home. Surviving brothers and sisters are Arnold Thornsberry, Frank Thornsberry, Miss Rosa Thornsberry and Mrs. June Mullins, all of Topmost, Rex Thornsberry and Mrs. Madeline Mullins, both of Pinetop, Kentucky, and Mrs. Della Allen, Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Saturday, from the home of his mother at Topmost, ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Topmost under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Prestonsburg Dentist Moves Offices To Harold

Dr. Gordon Sturgill, Prestonsburg dentist, has closed his offices in Prestonsburg and reopened offices at Harold, full time. Dr. Sturgill, who moved here from Louisville last February, has maintained a part-time office at Harold since that time. The desire for dental services by the people of the Harold section has far exceeded the time allocated for the office on a part-time basis, thus prompting Dr. Sturgill to open full time.

FREE DIABETES TEST
Every man, woman and child in Kentucky was urged today by Robert S. Tillet, M.D., Louisville, chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, to take advantage of the free diabetes tests offered by physicians, hospitals and laboratories during National Diabetes Week which begins Sunday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SUPERINTENDENT COMMENTS ON VOTE

EDITOR, The Times: It is true that those of us who love every inch of Floyd County, have doubts occasionally about the future. Economic depression always leads to mental depression, except in the case of those strong, hopeful souls who are determined to make Floyd county a better place in which to live. The miracle is that many of those hopeful souls are still with us and determined to stay, no matter what the cost.

Those people who read last week's Floyd County Times and its account of the success of the voters' reaction to the library tax, must have read with a great deal of satisfaction. The fact that an overwhelming majority of those who voted on the library tax favored it should drive a very real lesson home to each of us. It should be very clear to us now that when the voters of Floyd County are really convinced that they and their children are getting their money's worth in service, they are willing to let their weight be felt at the polls.

The story that the Governor's Commission on Higher Education had recommended the location of a state maintained junior college in Floyd County, coupled with the overwhelming voters approval of the library tax, should give us greater hope for the future and charge us with energy enough to march forward to a greater Floyd County.

CHARLES CLARK
Superintendent of Schools

'MORE PROUD OF OUR PEOPLE'

EDITOR, The Times: The election on last Tuesday has many ramifications and will greatly influence Floyd County's future.

However, Floyd County voting so favorably in favor of the Library tax makes me more proud of our people. To insure the opportunity for our children to have adequate facilities will do a great deal to improve Floyd County in all respects.

The people are to be congratulated.

Agree Or Not—I Say What I Think

(An editorial by S. C. Van Curon in The Frankfort State Journal)

Ah do deca-uh! This stock phrase of surprise is what may be expected from the presidents of Kentucky's colleges to the report released yesterday by the Commission on The Study of Higher Education. Unthinkable!—is probably a more appropriate word to use in describing their reaction to the criticism leveled at higher education in Kentucky.

After all what layman, however knowledgeable and astute he may be, has the right to be critical of this private little domain ruled over by the Ph. D's who draw their robes of learning about them as an impenetrable shield against invasion by the proletariat taxpayer. They are the grand Llamas of learning and are not to be questioned.

How dare anyone to be so crass as to suggest that a master board of laymen be created to control and coordinate all higher education activities in Kentucky! After all, their activities are not supposed to be the common knowledge of the taxpayer. How higher education is to be operated is beyond the ken of the common herd. These things are discussed in the little private circle of the presidents and members of their boards who now make up the Council on Public Higher Education.

The fact that the presidents are in good position to control the thinking of their present boards is much to the liking of these grand Llamas.

It wasn't until the 1960 General Assembly that the meetings of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky were opened to the public and the press. The people were spoon fed what information the powers at the University wanted them to have.

It's perfectly all right for the presidents, in their private little circle, to war among themselves over state appropriations, buildings, and extension centers. It doesn't matter how much duplication is created or how much money is wasted. This is the sole domain of the college presidents and it just ain't any of the public's business.

Oh, it was all right for the curriculum study committee, that had several college professors on it, to be extremely critical of the curriculum of our primary and secondary system in Kentucky.

And, I think, the criticism will prove very helpful to education in Kentucky. But when it comes to the colleges, uh uh; keep your hands off.

The proposed state board would be composed of 12 members, one from each of seven appellate judicial districts and five at large, appointed by the governor for staggered four-year terms. This State Board would establish a research staff, under a director whose training, qualifications, and pay would be commensurate with that of the university and state colleges.

The university and state colleges would continue to operate under their boards of regents and trustees. The committee recommends that the council continue to operate in an advisory capacity only.

Reason for this, the report said, is that composition of the present council "lends itself to limited vision of the responsibility for the development of the higher educational program of the state, and to political maneuvering."

You can bet the quoted words above shook the halos of the college presidents.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our appreciation for the helpfulness of everyone who in any way assisted us during the illness, death and funeral of James P. Stephens. To those who sent flowers, to the ministers, the Revs. David Blankenship, Floyd Lafferty and Franklin Collins, we tender our heartfelt gratitude. Last but not least we are appreciative of the fine and efficient service of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

CARTER AND SHEPHERD BAG DUCK IN UNUSUAL FASHION

There are more than one way to kill a duck. Proving it is the experience of Brady Shepherd and A. C. Carter.

They were on their way to Vermillion, Ohio, recently and night overtook them on U. S. 60. They drove into Norwalk, Ohio, in the early hours of the morning and pulled up to a filling station.

While they were "gassing up" the Norwalk chief of police and another policeman drove by. One of them peered at the Kentucky car. Suddenly the police vehicle turned around, came back and parked beside Shepherd and Carter.

The chief walked around to the front of the visitors' car, pulled a duck from between the radiator and car body. Only the bird's neck had been visible.

The policeman held the duck up, appraised it with a sportsman's eye.

"Mister, that's the very duck I've been trying to kill for three days," he told Shepherd and Carter, "and you two men drive along in the dark and kill it with a car. Which proves there are more ways than one to kill a duck and there's no beating a Kentuckian for luck."

Carter and Shepherd brought the duck, an eight-pound mallard, home.

Two expected 58th district basketball powers — Wheelwright and Wayland — clash in the second game of a doubleheader at Wheelwright, Saturday night. In the first game, Martin will play Garrett.

In the remaining football game involving an Eastern Kentucky football team, Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference champion Hazard meets Highlands of Fort Thomas, Friday night, in the north- Kentucky city.

These two teams will be clashing for the third successive year in the semi-finals of the Class AA playoffs. Highlands has won both previous games, but Paul Wright's Bull Dog's are the favorites this season on the basis of their perfect 10-0 record.

Homer Rice's Blue Birds are also unbeaten. Both have met and defeated Ashland, but Hazard by a greater margin.

Belfry added some football prestige to the Mountain Conference by beating McKell, 49-7, in the 11th annual Big Sandy Bowl. Both had been the second-place teams in their respective conferences.

Senior fullback Dixon Nunney tallied five touchdowns on long runs in pacing the Prestonsburg Black Cats to a 48-0 triumph over M. C. Napier.

The Wayland Wasps have four regulars returning from last season's quintet. Van Fatten at 6-4 and Brewie Gibson at 6-3 and Phillip Coleman, 6-1, comprise the biggest front line in the district, and all have experience and speed.

Wayland has belted Auxier, 22-41, and Betsy Layne, 63-42, in two starts to date, while Don Wallen's defending regional champions opened with a 116-36 win over Auxier.

Pete Grigsby's McDowell Dare Devils have coasted to three victories in whipping Auxier, Martin and Maytown. They go to Betsy Layne, Saturday night, in quest of their fourth victory.

Membership Drive Set By Jaycees; Captains Of 3 Teams Are Named

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce launched a membership drive Monday that will continue through December 4. It was announced this week by Cal Herrick, Chamber president.

In order to implement the drive the present members have been divided into three groups under the direction of captains to personally solicit those eligible. Serving as captains are Jim Salyers, Delano Stumbo and Earl Compton.

"All men 21 years of age and not over 35 are eligible for membership," it was pointed out by Vance Mitter, of the Chamber. He urged interested persons to contact him at Cox's Department Store or L. B. Griffin, of the Leader store.

The Chamber will meet Monday evening at the Wise Restaurant at 6:30 and interested persons are urged to attend, Mitter said.

The three membership drive teams will compete with each other in the city-wide effort, it is said.

The Junior Chamber, long interested in civic affairs, has sponsored several worthwhile programs. Among these are maintenance of the playground here, publication of a tourist brochure and sponsorship of the local football program.

Robinson Thanks Voters

I wish to thank the people of Floyd county for their kindness during the primary and final elections and for their support at the polls. Those who opposed me conducted themselves as gentlemen and for them and those who supported them I have no ill feeling whatsoever.

I will try my best to make Floyd county the best County Clerk it has ever had. Floyd county has been good to me, and it is my earnest desire to be good to its people.

Sincerely,

Quail Population Rises In Kentucky, Announced; Biologists Optimistic

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11 (Spl.) — A slight increase in the overall quail population of Kentucky, along with sectional boosts in the number of rabbits, highlight the impending small game hunting season which opens in Kentucky on November 16 and continues through January 14, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, announced today.

Biologists of the Department, who make a 12-month study of the rabbit and quail trends, find that in Western Kentucky the quail population increase is sharp while in other areas only a small increase is noted over the previous years. Although generally the state as a whole has more birds than last season, the population has not yet reached the bumper crops that were present in 1958 and 1959, the survey indicates.

After a small rabbit kill last season, the rabbit population is beginning to bounce back, biologists find. According to their figures, a sharp recovery has been made by the cottontails in the Bluegrass area, while mild increases are noted in most all other sections. Biologists believe that the low cycle in rabbits may have been hit last year and that the trend is toward greater crops. They are basing the optimistic outlook on the results of a mail carrier survey which was conducted throughout Kentucky by rural carriers during June, July and August. In all three months the incidence of young rabbits was good, as compared to the crops of last year and on these checks are pegged the prediction for more rabbits this season.

As decided a few years ago, the season for rabbits and quail will open on the first Thursday in November and will continue for 60 days or through January 14. Again this year the bag limit on rabbits is eight with a possession limit of 16 after two or more days and for quail the daily limit remains at 10 with double that number permissible after two days in the field.

Squirrel hunting, after a brief closed season, will reopen on November 16 for the state as a whole. Closing date in the eastern area will be on December 8, while for the western part the closing date will be November 27.

The furbearers season opens on November 16 and continues through January 14 during which season mink, opossum, raccoon, muskrat and other furbearers may be harvested for their pelts.

The grouse season, which ordinarily is the same as for quail and rabbits, opens this year on December 1 but continues through January 29. This later date was decreed by the Commission since the colder weather is better for grouse hunting and also to extend the sportsmen's hunting holiday a few weeks by the later closing on this species. The bag and possession limit is four.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

The numerous problems that confront the novice salt-water fisherman may be solved by reading. But the most valuable knowledge we have gained has been from the years of practical experience passed on from one generation of fisherman to the next, says Robert D. Hall, Salt-Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Sailing with a Bahamas skipper for blackfin tuna, for instance, we were taught the reason why long trolling lines are so successful when running down a school. The moving school opens to allow the boat to pass, then regroups itself behind the white-water wake of the boat. Bluefin tuna will react somewhat differently to the disturbance created by the movement of a boat. School-sized fish are often attracted by the churning propeller and will often strike short lines of eight to 20 feet. Many a large bluefin tuna has been caught by trolling a line across the wake of a passing coastwise steamer.

Captain Tom Jones, of Beach Haven, New Jersey, showed us how easy it is to put bluefish down by sailing through a school so that you are forced to resort to jiggling the bottom if you wish to fill the fish box.

A commercial fisherman along the Indian River of Florida demonstrated how sea trout (spotted weakfish) could be attracted by slapping the surface of the water by an oar.

These little instances help to show that one can always learn a better method of doing a particular thing if he listens to the advice of the other guy.

Coal Dock Blast Charge Against Union Official Dismissed At Pikeville

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 13 — A charge against Joe Castle of causing an explosion in or under a building was dismissed on motion of the Commonwealth in Pike County Circuit Court, Monday.

Castle, 54, representative of District 30 of the United Mine Workers of America, was charged after the blasting of a nonunion Eastern Kentucky Collieries, Inc. coal dock here September 18, 1959, during a long U.M.W. strike.

The case came up during five previous court terms and was continued four times because of the absence of key witnesses.

Commonwealth's attorney Kelsey Friend moved to dismiss the charge Monday because key witnesses were again absent. Last June Circuit Judge James B. Stephenson ordered that the case be tried or dismissed on November 13.

The blast caused minor injuries to three adults and a child, did an estimated $8,000 damage to the dock, and damaged some nearby homes.

ALLEN-MARTIN CLUB MEETS
The Allen-Martin Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting, Nov. 9, at the home of Mrs. John Sherman. The business session preceded the program.

Pecans were distributed among members to sell for the club. A motion was made that article III of the constitution, entitled membership, be changed to read: "The method of admission of new members will be left to the executive committee."

Mrs. T. A. Combs resigned as president. Mrs. Beecher Scutchfield, vice-president, will have charge remainder of the club year.

Mrs. T. J. Allen was in charge of program on Spiritual Values. She introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Fleming, of St. Juliana Catholic Church, who gave an interesting talk on prayer.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Marshall. Each club member is asked to bring a guest who would be interested in becoming a member of the club.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. Emmett Tackett, Mr. Charles Marshall, Mrs. Beecher Scutchfield, Mrs. David Marrs, Mrs. T. J. Allen, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. T. A. Camb, Mrs. Chas. Luxmore, Mrs. R. J. Reynolds and the hostess, Mrs. Sherman.

Quail Population Rises In Kentucky, Announced; Biologists Optimistic

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11 (Spl.) — A slight increase in the overall quail population of Kentucky, along with sectional boosts in the number of rabbits, highlight the impending small game hunting season which opens in Kentucky on November 16 and continues through January 14, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, announced today.

Biologists of the Department, who make a 12-month study of the rabbit and quail trends, find that in Western Kentucky the quail population increase is sharp while in other areas only a small increase is noted over the previous years. Although generally the state as a whole has more birds than last season, the population has not yet reached the bumper crops that were present in 1958 and 1959, the survey indicates.

After a small rabbit kill last season, the rabbit population is beginning to bounce back, biologists find. According to their figures, a sharp recovery has been made by the cottontails in the Bluegrass area, while mild increases are noted in most all other sections. Biologists believe that the low cycle in rabbits may have been hit last year and that the trend is toward greater crops. They are basing the optimistic outlook on the results of a mail carrier survey which was conducted throughout Kentucky by rural carriers during June, July and August. In all three months the incidence of young rabbits was good, as compared to the crops of last year and on these checks are pegged the prediction for more rabbits this season.

As decided a few years ago, the season for rabbits and quail will open on the first Thursday in November and will continue for 60 days or through January 14. Again this year the bag limit on rabbits is eight with a possession limit of 16 after two or more days and for quail the daily limit remains at 10 with double that number permissible after two days in the field.

Squirrel hunting, after a brief closed season, will reopen on November 16 for the state as a whole. Closing date in the eastern area will be on December 8, while for the western part the closing date will be November 27.

Lonesome Pine Heads
Slate Business Meet
At Virginia Hostelry

Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, embracing 10 counties in Kentucky and five in Virginia, will meet at the Wise Inn, Wise, Virginia, for dinner at 6:30 November 27, with a business session to follow at 7:30. Invitations have been mailed to all members of the board, Council officers, institutional representatives and Council members-at-large.

These groups constitute the official governing body for the administration of the Scouting program in the total area. Purpose of the annual business meeting is to review the progress of Scouting for 1961, project plans for 1962, and to elect Council officers, the executive board and Council members-at-large.

Institutional representatives, are appointed by the respective institutions which hold charters for the operation of the Scouting program. The executive board consists of 50 members, in which are included a president, six vice-presidents, the Council commissioner, three national Council representatives, six district chairmen, a treasurer and the chairman of seven Council operating committees.

Walter P. Walters, of Pikeville, who has served as president for the past four years, will retire from that position on December 31 of this year, and his successor with other Council officers and members will be elected, Nov. 27.

Six-Month Disability
Necessary for Waiver
Of Insurance Premium

Total disability for six consecutive months is necessary before the Veterans Administration can grant waiver of premium on GI life insurance policies issued during and following World War II.

This reminder that the disability waiver of premium on government insurance policies (NSLI) is not automatic came today from Olney B. Owen, Manager, Veterans Administration Regional Office, Louisville, Kentucky, as a result of the large number of inquiries reaching the VA in recent weeks.

Owen reminded veterans who become totally disabled that they must apply in writing to the VA to have their premium payments waived, and continue making premium payments until the VA notifies them of its approval of waiver.

When the VA agrees that the disability has been total "for insurance purposes" for at least six months, premiums paid from the date the waiver was made effective will be refunded and premiums suspended for the duration of the total disability, regardless of the duration, Owen explained.

However, Owen cautioned, the disability must begin before age 60. After waiver of premium is granted, the policy is still eligible for annual dividends and the insurance stays in force at full face value the same as under premium-paying conditions.

Diabetes Association Offers Urine Tests;
Early Detection Urged

"Only a few more days are left in which Kentuckians can take advantage of the free urine sugar tests being offered by physicians, hospitals and laboratories in Kentucky," Dr. Robert S. Tillett, Louisville, chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, said Thursday.

In cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, the KSMA is sponsoring for the eleventh year a Diabetes Detection and Education Week in Kentucky, during which time a concerted effort is being made to find as many as possible of the estimated 15,000 Kentuckians who unknowingly have diabetes. "More than 1,000 persons," Doctor Tillett continued, "are now leading happier, healthier lives as a result of having taken advantage of the free tests offered during the ten previous campaigns."

"Early detection of diabetes is very important," he said, "because control measures are much simpler if the disease is discovered early."

All Kentuckians, even those who may have had the test a year ago, are urged by Doctor Tillett to take advantage of the free tests before the week is over, at which time the drive will come to a close.

TO MY MANY FRIENDS IN FLOYD COUNTY:

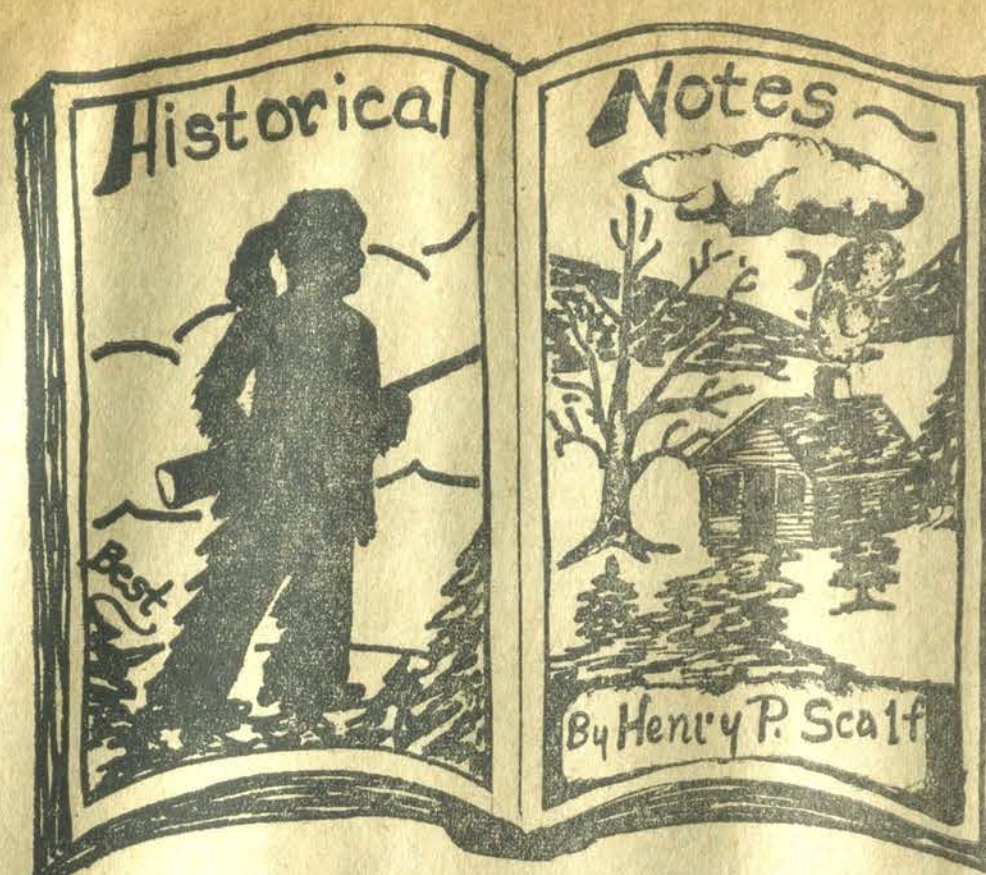

I want to thank each and every one who took part in my campaign and helped me in so many ways. It has been a long, hard campaign.

I am very proud of the majority of nearly 4,000 votes. I will do my best to be the best Jailer Floyd county has had. I certainly don't want the good people of Floyd county to be sorry they put their trust in me. For my opponents I do not hold any ill feelings.

To my attorney, Mr. Scott Collins, who worked so hard in the contest suit for me and gave so much of his time in my behalf: He is a fine attorney and has become a true friend to my family and me. Words cannot express how grateful I am to him and all the fine people of Floyd county. I will not let you down.

LAWRENCE HALE
Jailer-Elect

IDENTIFIES PICTURE

Remember the picture a few weeks ago of a scene on the Elk-horn & Beaver Valley railroad used by The Times in the ad, Our Historic Heritage? Readers were asked to identify the scene.

Clyde Allen, of Martin, correctly informs us that the scene was at Dinwood and was photographed about 1915. The store in the picture was that of H. H. (Black) Justice, he said.

FOUR MEN OF THE CUMBERLANDS

Dr. M. B. Taylor, the Red Fox of the Cumberland in The Trail of The Lonesome Pine, by John Fox, Jr., is a central personality in the pamphlet, Four Men of the Cumberland, by this columnist. He was hanged at Wise, Virginia, for complicity in the murders of the Mullins family at Pound Gap.

Talt Hall, the Beaver Creek bad man, was also hanged at Wise for the murder of the Norton town marshall. Hall and Taylor were in jail at Wise together, awaiting the hangman's noose.

Talt sat inscrutable in the death cell awaiting the inevitability of his doom and Taylor in an adjoining cell was in mortal fear that Hall would burn the jail down.

Read about it in the pamphlet. A few copies are left. Send $1 to this columnist, Box 421, Prestonsburg. It will be sent postpaid.

DOING FEUD RESEARCH

A letter from Capt. John E. Howes writes he is doing research on the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud. He plans to write on the subject.

In the first letter he said that he was a grandson of "Devil Anse" Hatfield but didn't spell out his descent.

To you who would like to correspond with the captain, his full address is Medical Detachment, 014339761, 8th Evacuation Hospital, APO 180, New York.

FARMER AND GEAN FAMILIES

A letter from Oliver Haight, 651 N. 52nd Street, West St. Louis, Illinois, inquires about the Farmer family of Kentucky. The letter comes to this column via Robert Wallace, regional librarian, who received it from Mr. Haight.

James P. Stephens, 89, Of Cliff, Is Claimed; Rites Conducted Friday

James Paul Stephens, 89, of Cliff, succumbed to a long illness at 9:15 p.m. at home, Tuesday of last week. He had been in ill health for five years.

Mr. Stephens was a former merchant of Dwayne and Water Gap and taught in the Floyd county schools for 21 years. Formerly associated with two Prestonsburg stores, he later served as chairman for nine years of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation committee. His remaining years were spent on the Cliff farm.

He was a son of Greenville and Malinda Hale Stephens and was married in 1903 to Lydia Emerson Cooley, who survives. Surviving is a son, Woodrow Stephens, of Cliff, and a brother and two sisters: Former County Superintendent of Schools John Stephens and Mrs. Cynthia Branham, both of Water Gap, and Mrs. Florence Crisp, of Martin. Also surviving are nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday, at 2 p.m., from the home, the Revs. Floyd Lafferty, David Blankenship and Franklin Collins officiating. Burial was made in the Stephens cemetery at Water Gap under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Aged Garrett Resident Dies At Sister's Home; Burial, Martin Cemetery

Claude V. Pennington, 61, of Garrett, died Tuesday of last week, at the home of a sister, Mrs. Sophia Mullins, at Garrett. He had been in ill health three years.

THANKS VOTERS

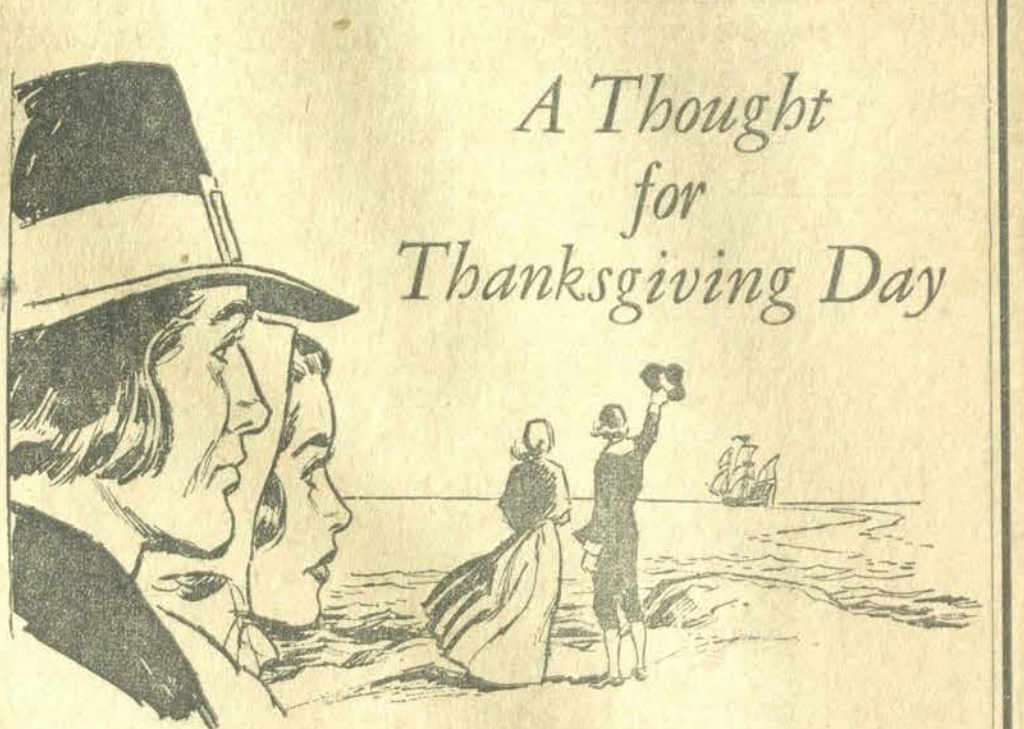

I wish to thank the 155 good people who voted for me in the write-in ticket at Martin against the ones on the kind of ticket we should have been on if we had been dealt with fair and honestly. I think I have the best record of any of the councilmen that was running on either ticket, as I did not ask one person in the town of Martin to vote for me and didn't at any time tell any one I was a candidate for one of the members of the town board, and didn't even get a chance to come home to vote on election day, as I was tied up on a job away from home. It's good to know you have that many nice people to remember you and put enough confidence in one to vote for one without being asked to.

DAVID WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The David Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Ottis Bussey in Prestonsburg. Mrs. Oak Mullins opened the meeting with a short devotional program which was followed by the Flag Salute. Mrs. Raymond Bradbury, the November program chairman, introduced B. F. Reed, of Drift, who spoke of his visit to Russia, Germany, Belgium and other European countries. Mr. Reed gave the club members a much better understanding of some of the more troubled areas in the world today.

During the business session plans were made for aiding in Scout work and holding an annual Christmas workshop.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ottis Bussey and Mrs. Jesse Webb.

First Rabies Case Transmitted by Bat Confirmed by State

The first known Kentucky case of rabies in a bat was reported last month, when laboratory tests confirmed that a bat which has bitten a Fayette county woman in September, was rabid.

Dr. Russell Hall, Floyd county health officer, warned that any person bitten by a bat should immediately see a physician. Antirabies treatments should be begun without delay, Dr. Hall advised.

This is very important in case of bat bites, he said, as laboratory confirmation of rabies in bats is frequently delayed. The bat is believed to be the only warm-blooded animal that can carry the disease without showing any symptoms of illness. Transmission of rabies from animal to animal or from animal to man is by biting, with the virus carried in the saliva.

To identify bat rabies, material from the head of the bat must be injected into laboratory animals and only after several such passages can the production of "Negri bodies"—the positive identification—be shown. A more rapid method of rabies identification is the fluorescent-antibody technique. In this technique, slides are prepared of the brain, treated, and examined under a microscope. However, in the case of bat rabies, several passages of brain material through laboratory animals is usually necessary before a positive identification can be made.

R. L. Hectorne, D. V. M., director of Veterinary Public Health, State Department of Health, said several bats captured in Powell County in August, during a drive to find rabies in wildlife there, have unofficially been reported as rabies carriers. Laboratory confirmation has not yet been received from the United States Public Health Service.

Birthday of Girl Scouts Founder Celebrated

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 7, under the leadership of Mrs. Alan Reed and Mrs. Kate Ward, was hostess to Brownie Troop No. 6 and its leaders, Mrs. Bill Howard, Mrs. Tom Branham and Mrs. Robert Jones, Oct. 31. The birthday of Juliette Lowe, founder of Girl Scouting in this country, was celebrated. The Brownies were greeted and the program began with folk games. A report on the life of Juliette Lowe was given. Candles were lighted and "Happy Birthday" was sung by all. About 50 Scouts enjoyed refreshments.

After the Brownies departed, the Intermediates made plans to plant yellow tulips in the design of the trefoil for the 50th anniversary in 1962. The celebration was closed by the planting of an official Girl Scout rose bush. Committees planning and carrying out the program were: Decorating, Lou Goble, Janie Wright, Alana Reed, Patty Taylor, Glenna Fannin, Karen Lafferty, Clara Herald, Ann Callihan, Freda Compton; folk games, Janie Webb, Junella Ramey, Judy Sullivan, Karen Nelson; song leader, Sharon Meade; report, Paula Pig; welcome, Loretta Blanton, Daveann Wallen, Lois Wells; serving, Missy Francis, Pamela Warrix, Josephine Archer.

Written by STANLEY SHAPIRO and MAURICE RICHLIN. Directed by ROBERT MULLIGAN. Associate Producer HENRY WILLSON. Produced by ROBERT ARTHUR. A 7 PICTURES CORPORATION. RAOUL WALSH ENTERPRISES, INC. PRODUCTION. A UNIVERSAL INTERNATIONAL RELEASE.

We're not attempting to do justice to this opus—the story can be told only with pictures, as the Report does. There's a shot of "Modern Electronic Equipment" that must be seen to be appreciated, and others. It winds up with a photo depicting the employees' rest and retirement program—a graveyard.

The only mistake Irvin made was, he didn't print enough of these reports. Fellows like Allan Trout, Bert Combs, Wilson Wyatt and Governors of some of our surrounding states got in ahead of us, and left us only one copy.

Know whom I thought of while enjoying all this? Henry Arrowood, Irvin's brother. He would have got a bang out of this. If he were with us, I promptly would have given him credit for the whole job.

as to where the responsibility lies. However, as to the mortality from lung cancer, there is no disputing the figures. The official report shows that there were 34 deaths among residents of Floyd county from all types of cancer in the year ending January, 1960.

Lung cancer, however, was responsible for only one, or 2.9 per cent, of them.

Nationally, it accounted for 14.4 per cent of the total and, in the state of Kentucky, for 13.3 per cent.

Although the lung cancer toll in the United States is small when viewed in the light of the 260,047 lives taken in the year by cancer as a whole, the fact that it is growing is causing concern.

Not everyone in the scientific field is impressed with the evidence that indicates cigarette smoking is the chief cause of lung cancer. Dr. Joseph Berkson, of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, is one. He says, "I don't believe we have found a connection between the two." The National Cancer Society disagrees.

In proportion to population, lung cancer mortality in Floyd county was found to be below average. It amounted to 2.4 per 100,000 in the year.

In the United States as a whole, the rate was 20.9 per 100,000 and, in the East South Central states, 16.5.

SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES OUTLINED BY UK SPECIALIST

Lexington, Ky. — Several changes have been made in Social Security administration in 1961, says S. Q. Allen, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service economist.

Some of the important ones:

1. Men now may elect to retire and draw benefits at age 62 instead of waiting until age 65 as formerly provided. If a man does retire at 62, he will draw 80 percent of the monthly benefits he would get if he had waited until he was age 65.

2. Widow benefits are increased under the new law to 82½ percent of what the husband received or would have received had he lived to age 65. This increase in benefits is up almost 10 percent.

3. Minimum benefits for a person retiring at age 65 have been increased to $40 from the former level of $30. Minimum benefits for widows also have been raised to $40. Minimum benefits payable to two or more survivors have been increased to $60 a month.

4. Amount of work needed to qualify for benefits has been reduced. A person is now "fully insured" if he has one quarter (three months) of coverage for every four calendar quarters which have elapsed between January 1951 to the first of that year when the person died (or reached retirement age).

5. Amount of benefits withheld when a person works AFTER retirement has also been changed. Benefits of a retired worker between 62 and 72 will drop $1 for each $2 he earns if his pay is between $1,200 and $1,700 each year; and drop $1 for each $1 he earns more than $1,700.

PAIGE IN GERMANY

Fulda, Germany — Army Pfc. Delmar Paige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calaway Paige, of McDowell, Kentucky, recently participated with other personnel from the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment's 1st Reconnaissance Squadron in a river crossing exercise near Aschaffenburg, Germany.

During the exercise, conducted on the Main river under simulated combat conditions, the squadron's tanks, jeeps and personnel carriers crossed the river on pontoon bridges built by supporting engineer units.

The 14th's primary mission is the constant surveillance of NATO's Fulda Gap, a 100-mile segment of the Iron Curtain which serves as the gateway to Berlin.

Paige, a scout in Troop C of the squadron which is regularly located in Fulda, entered the Army in September, 1958, and arrived overseas in August, 1960.

The 21-year-old soldier attended McDowell high school.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

CONVULSIONS, SPASMS, AND FITS

One of my colleagues showed me an article in a sports magazine in which the author said that an old squatter in Texas had died of fits. Then the author explained himself by saying that there are social degrees revealed by the term used: the upper crust had convulsions, the lowest class had fits, the rest of us had spasms. The author had something on his side, for I can recall how often the standing of a person was shown by what was the matter with him. Poor white trash sometimes had fittified children; brats just like them but living in better homes at Fidelity had epilepsy. Many a plain person had bellyache, or on a slightly higher level, stomach ache. Only about the time I left Fidelity, fifty years ago, had people of several social castes begun to have operations for appendicitis or to have digestive troubles. We knew of asthma and sniffles but had not yet heard of allergies. We had seen people who looked as good as any of us but who ran a temperature in the afternoon or when work needed to be done; many of us felt that these folks were just plain lazy, though sometimes more sympathetic people said that the trouble was walking typhoid fever. It was ages before I learned that some of my neighbors had had undulant fever, now a fashionable disease and an expensive one. My boy endured nine years of it from drinking unpasteurized milk down in Florida, and it got to be pretty expensive on both of us. At Fidelity he would have taken some quinine and calomel and bitters and kept on running a temperature, pretty much ignored by those who were in better health.

Many philologists have made lists of words on different levels, lists that reveal a lot of human pride in being up on the social ladder. Long ago in this column I ranked victuals, grub, food, eats, and some'n'd'eat as they appeared to me then and now. It takes a lot of adjusting to remember where I am, for my knowledge of food in its various forms might tempt me to use the wrong word. When greens became fashionable again, some years ago, I lost no time in reminding some of my dainty friends of their unnecessary contempt for plain but needed foods. One of these same friends has probably never forgiven me for telling her that I had won out, that my plebian tastes had been justified.

But we plain Kentuckians are not alone in this constant struggle between the lower-downs and the higher-ups. In classic times the Romans had good words for everything, and less-good ones, too. The illiterate, the smart-alec, and the foreigner often must have felt out of place. But, as the empire spread over western Europe, the words, high and low, spread, too; and the irony of it all is that many a low word in Latin times became the ancestor of the exquisite French or Spanish word of today. Take the matter of eating, for instance: edo was the Latin word meaning "to eat," but there was a slangy one something like mango, which meant "to eat undaintily, to gobble." That lowly word, however, came down as manger, the dignified word of French. I have often wondered whether some exquisite French or other Latin descendant has not blushed for the coarseness of their ancestors in using such earthy words. Dozens of other pairs of words could be cited to show that the Latins and their descendants were fighting, as we are, a losing battle against plain, homely, even coarse, words. Who knows but that some of our most atrocious slang may be ultimately the most careful, the most exquisite English?

Modern Food Retailing Featured by "Specials"

Weekly and week-end "specials" have become a characteristic of modern day food retailing in this country. Each week most supermarkets and grocery stores feature a variety of items priced at levels below their regular price. Some are offered at near the retailer's purchase price. Stores offer "specials" to attract customers and thereby increase store traffic — with the hope of selling not only "specialized" items but additional items, too. Consumer response to store specials should be based on several economic considerations involving the use of both time and money.

Taking advantage of "specials" can often lead to worthwhile savings. But ALL specials are not good deals for EVERY family. Here are some of the factors to consider. (1) Has the price really been lowered? Usually it has—but not always. (2) Is the item of high quality or is it the quality you want? Make sure lower prices are not based on lower quality. (3) Is the item or brand one you normally use and are familiar with? If you experiment, buy only a small amount. (4) Remember that quality of products may vary, especially on perishable—making price comparisons difficult. Comparisons are easier on brand items. (5) Does your family like the item? Buying items that the family won't eat is false economy. (6) What quantity or size package is on special? Don't buy more than you can use in a reasonable length of time or more than you can properly store. Quality and condition may be lowered by extended home storage. (7) Regular prices on some items vary seasonally with supply differences. Don't over-stock on an item that may be headed toward lower prices.

On Kentucky highways a round yellow sign with black letters warns motorists they are approaching a railroad crossing. Near the tracks is the sign bearing the familiar cross-bars.

State officials led by Gov. Bert Combs recently dedicated nine new airports in Kentucky in one day. The state currently is spending about $½ million a year in airport construction.

Establishment of new industries and expansion of existing ones have created 24,858 new jobs in Kentucky this year, according to Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt.

Generating electricity with no moving parts

... another new way AEP keeps your electric costs low

Hot gases blasted at jet speeds through a magnetic field will generate electricity.

Working with the Avco-Everett Research Laboratory, 12 electric utility companies, spearheaded by AEP, are beginning to turn a development of the space age into a practical source for electric power. Called magnetohydrodynamics, this research holds rich promise of improving the efficiency of today's best power plants by 40%.

Doing things in new ways to improve service and efficiency is one big reason why the average unit price of electricity, for customers of Kentucky Power Company, has not gone up during twenty years of inflation.

Your service is better, your rates are lower because Kentucky Power Company is a part of the American Electric Power System. Supplying more electricity than any other investor-owned utility, AEP aids the economic growth of 2,350 communities in seven states. Through integrated operations, progressive engineering, research and coordinated management, the six member companies of AEP bring you low-cost power with greatest dependability.

FLOYD HYMN SELECTION AGREES WITH NATION'S

"The Old Rugged Cross" is Floyd county's favorite hymn. And it's the nation's, too.

Readers of The Floyd County Times cast 12 ballots for "The Old Rugged Cross" for first place in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll.

Their second choice was "How Great Thou Art," with 11 votes.

"Amazing Grace" was third with four ballots.

A total of 59 readers of The Times voted in the hymn poll, which ended October 10.

More than 61,000 newspaper readers from coast to coast voted in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll and 10,482 of them chose "The Old Rugged Cross," a vivid hymn which describes the traditional meaning of the Cross, as their dearest religious song.

Bill McVey, the Christian Herald Gospel Singer, who directed the survey to determine the hymns America loves best, and Audience Analysts, Inc., Bala-Cynwyd, Pennsylvania, the independent research organization which tabulated votes from readers of more than 1,000 newspapers, reported that "How Great Thou Art" was a close second to "The Old Rugged Cross."

"How Great Thou Art," a dynamic gospel song describing God's omnipotence, received 8,449 votes. Audience Analysts said this large vote doubtless was due to the song's popularity at hymn sings across the country. "How Great Thou Art," a favorite selection of baritone McVey and Billy Graham, was fourth in last year's Christian Herald hymn poll and McVey attributed part of its current popularity to its moving evangelistic feeling and strong melody.

The third favorite hymn was "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," a song which has earned a place in Americans' hearts by its warm expression of faith held by Protestants of every denomination, McVey said.

McVey, who has sung all the top 50 hymns at Christian Herald Community Hymn Sings across the country, reported that "In the Garden," a hymn which tells of God's compassion and guidance, received 3,368 votes for fourth place in the poll and was especially preferred in the Midwest.

The Christian Herald Singer

noted the rise in acceptance of "Amazing Grace" among American churchgoers. This gospel song, which relates how faith provides confidence, moved from ninth place in the 1960 Christian Herald hymn poll to fifth place with 1,816 votes in the poll.

The sixth favorite hymn of the 61,445 Americans who voted was "Rock of Ages," a religious song which describes man's confidence in God. "Rock of Ages," seventh in McVey's Christian Herald poll, received 1,511 votes in the July-October National Newspaper Hymn Poll.

The next four favorites were: "Sweet Hour of Prayer," 1,157 votes; "Abide With Me," 1,112 votes; "Beyond the Sunset," 1,050 votes; and, "Whispering Hope," 741 votes.

McVey said the vote received by "Whispering Hope" was the biggest surprise in the nationwide balloting. This hymn was 27th in the Christian Herald poll but moved to 10th in the National Newspaper Hymn Poll.

This year's poll, co-sponsored by Christian Herald Magazine, the nation's largest interdenominational Protestant publication, and newspaper editors in every state except Hawaii and Vermont, recorded more than 1,900 hymns and gospel songs. Last year, Christian Herald readers voted for 1,666 religious songs.

McVey pointed out that readers who voted in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll divided their ballots almost equally for gospel songs such as "How Great Thou Art" and for hymns such as "What A Friend We Have In Jesus."

"Even though many of these hymns and gospel songs have been torn out of the hymn books, they can't be torn out of the hearts of people who love them," McVey said.

Maytown High School Homecoming Scheduled Friday Evening, Nov. 24

Plans are being made for Maytown high school's first Homecoming, which will be held November 24.

The Maytown Woman's Club is sponsoring the Homecoming banquet, which will be held in the school cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. The banquet will honor all former students, graduates of Maytown high school and their wives, husbands or guests. The program includes guest speakers of the alumni, two of these being V. O. Turner, who was a principal here for several years and later county superintendent of schools, and Ollie Robinson, County Court Clerk-elect. Music will be provided by students in the music classes, under the direction of Doug Smith.

Following the banquet will be the Homecoming basketball game and the crowning of Maytown's first Homecoming queen. Candidates are Valetta Osborne, Sandi Ellis, Janie Hagans, Alice Manuel and Sue Thornsburg. This first Homecoming is planned as a special class and school reunion.

CAIN TO VISIT FLOYD

Roy M. Cain, contact representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, will be in Floyd county next week for the purpose of assisting veterans and their dependents in filing and prosecuting claims for benefits to which they may be entitled from the Veterans Administration.

Friday, November 24, he will be in Tackett & Tackett's office in Prestonsburg.

DeRossett Is Thankful

I am deeply grateful to the voters of Magisterial District No. 4 for the confidence you expressed in me at the recent election. I sincerely trust that I will be able at all times to so conduct the office that you will feel your confidence was not misplaced.

As I pledged you in the campaign, I will serve with dedication and purpose and will be available at all times to offer you the facilities of the office.

Again, to all of you, I repeat my appreciation. My opponent fought a clean race and the voters expressed themselves without rancor or ill feeling.

We can now all work together for the good of Floyd county. (Pol. adv.)

Moore-Clevenger Vows Solemnized November 3

The wedding of Miss Jewell Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stallard Clark, of East McDowell, Ky., and Mr. Wilbur Clevenger, son of C. C. Clevenger, of Morehead, Ky., was solemnized at the Morehead Methodist Church, Friday, Nov. 3 at 1 p.m.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas W. Ditto in the presence of the bride's parents, Linda Pierce, Bonnie Olsen and Anna Gail Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ulrich of Linticum Heights, Md., were the only attendants.

The bride is a graduate of McDowell high school and is a senior at Morehead State College.

The groom, a graduate of Morehead State College, is teaching at Collinwood high school in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Clevenger will join her husband there in January.

TO ALL CITIZENS OF PRESTONSBURG:

We take this opportunity to thank each of you for your vote of confidence that you have placed in each of us, and we assure you that we will do our utmost to live up to your expectations. We will consider each and every project that comes before us with genuine concern, not only with the immediate results in mind but will consider as well the future effect on our city.

We invite each of you to attend your council meetings and see what is being done in regard to your city government. The best-informed citizen makes the best citizen.

PUSH BOATS ON THE BIG SANDY RIVER

Push boats were a feature of transportation in the Big Sandy valley prior to the coming of the railway and were widely used on the larger streams where the steamboats couldn't go. They were also used in the summer on the main stream when the water was low in the river.

Shown here in this 1890 photograph are two push boats, the Sunshine and the Shanks, docked together at the mouth of, it is thought, Big Paint Creek or Johns Creek. Calvin Osborne, "skipper" of the Sunshine, is shown standing at the cabin.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our past in recognition of our colorful history.

Learn The Truth About THE CATHOLIC CHURCH By Mail...At No Cost!

You can easily investigate Catholic faith and worship in the privacy of your home.

Just send us your name and address and advise that you want to know what the Catholic Church really teaches... what Catholics really believe. We will send you an interesting course of instruction which is short, yet complete.

We will send you a book explaining Catholic faith and worship... written in an easy-to-understand form. There are six test sheets which you can mark and we will check and return to you. This will enable you to determine how well you understand the book. It will give you quick and authentic answers on any point you do not immediately understand.

There is no writing to do... and nobody calls on you unless you request it. Nobody knows, in fact, that you are inquiring into Catholic teaching. Thousands of people are taking the course, and learning for the first time wonderful truths about the Church established by Christ Himself.

We know that many people would like to learn all about the Catholic Church—but hesitate to make personal inquiries. This offer is made for the benefit and convenience of such people, so they may get authentic Catholic information and study it in the privacy of their own homes.

You will find in this course of instruction answers to the questions which confuse non-Catholics. You will discover that Catholic belief and practice are not what they are so often misrepresented to be.

And if it is true that the Catholic Church is Christ's Church... as we maintain... you owe it to yourself to get the facts. This you can read-ly do through this short course of instruction... without cost or obligation... and in the privacy of your own home.

As Catholic laymen, who treasure our Faith, we invite you to understand it and, we hope, to share it.

Write today, giving your name and address and stating that you want the course of Catholic instruction by mail. The book and simple test sheets will be mailed to you immediately in a plain wrapper, without any cost or obligation to you. And nobody will call on you or urge you to join the Catholic Church. Write TODAY. ASK FOR INSTRUCTION COURSE — KC. But — please — apply only for yourself.

OUTSTANDING COUNCIL MEMBER

The Floyd County 4-H Council selected Mrs. Estill Meeks as the outstanding Council member for 1960-61.

Mrs. Meeks has been a council member for four years and has served as Representative to the District Council and last year served as president of the county 4-H Council. She is also a 4-H Club leader at the Betsy Layne Club.

4-H JACKETS
The Floyd County 4-H Council voted at their last meeting to award 4-H Club packets to club members winning district project championships for the first time. Club members who will receive jackets this year are: Clara Allen, electric; Randolph Hicks, horse; Joan Hicks, housekeeping; Vietta Conn, frozen foods and canning; Delbert Martin, gardening; Katie Hamilton, room improvement; Dennis Hunter, woodworking; Judell Conley, photography; Joe Ed Ousley, strawberries.

Other district champions that will not receive jackets since they had received one in previous years are: Delbert Ousley, Freer Martin, Tyrone Martin, Dearl Morrison, Burgess Lowe, Phyllis Combs, Mae Rita Gayheart, Melanie Conley, Steven Hunter, Debbie Sammons, Roger Merritt.

The jackets will be awarded at Achievement Night.

HOLIDAY FOODS
Holiday foods—turkeys, cranberries, nuts, fruit, etc.—are among the more plentiful foods for November so you should find many good buys for holiday meals, according to Mrs. Frances H. Pitts, Home Demonstration Extension Agent.

Poultry prices are especially good and you can plan to serve poultry often during the coming weeks, she notes. The turkey crop is about 26 percent larger than a year ago and sizes to fit any family's needs are available at budget prices. Broiler-fryers continue in good supply and egg prices are lower than at this time last year.

Include beef and pork roasts in your November menu planning, too. Hog slaughter is expected to be about five percent more this fall and winter than last year, so pork will be plentiful during this month. A good supply of beef, especially the top grades, also is available.

Cabbage and potatoes are on hand for fall menus, too. No oversupply of cabbage is expected in most areas, but the fall potato crop from western states is at least 10 percent larger than last fall. Turnips, parsnips, winter squash, rutabagas, cooking greens (kale, mustard, collards, spinach, and turnip greens) also will appear during the coming month. You'll also find good prices on shipped fresh vegetables, such as fresh corn from Florida.

You can buy apples for about any purpose during November, she points out. A large crop from northeastern states is being harvested now and stored for the next few months. You'll find plenty of cranberries, too, for serving with both holiday and everyday meals. Citrus fruits are coming to local markets earlier than last year; the quality is very good for the season but they probably will improve in sweetness during the month. Both grapefruit and orange crops in Florida are heavier than last season. Tree nuts such as almonds and pecans also are plentiful for holiday eating and cooking. Prune and raisin supplies will be adequate for fall demands.

Ample supplies of fresh, frozen and canned fish and shellfish can be found in most areas during November, Mrs. Pitts concludes. More plentiful species are: clams, cod, haddock, ocean perch, fish sticks and portions.

One of Nine Freshmen Paul Setser's Brother On Junior Varsity Five

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 13 (Spl.) — Roger Setser, of Auxier, a brother of Pikeville College's basketball stalwart of the last three years, Paul Setser, is a member of this year's Pikeville junior varsity.

The Jayvees opened their 16-game basketball season Saturday night with a 74-72 win over Sue Bennett College Greer Dragons at Pikeville. They are coached by John Waddell, education teacher and assistant coach at Pikeville, a Hindman high school product who was himself a star of the Bears a couple of seasons ago.

With nine freshmen, including Setser, and a sophomore on the squad, the little Bears' schedule calls for meetings with six teams on a home-and-home basis. Included are Sue Bennett, Clinch Valley (Wise, Va.) and Kentucky Christian (Grayson, Ky.) colleges; Marshall University's freshmen, the Cumberland junior team, and the Winchester (Ky.) AAU.

They will entertain the Mayo State Vocational School cagers from Paintsville twice at Pikeville, and play one game each with freshmen teams at the University of Louisville and the University of Kentucky.

The remainder of the Pikeville Jayvee schedule:

Nov. 28—Mayo Vocational, Pikeville; Dec. 1—Winchester AAU, Winchester, Ky.; Dec. 2—University of Louisville frosh, Louisville; Dec. 8—Clinch Valley, Wise, Va.; Dec. 12—Cumberland, Williamsburg, Ky.; Dec. 16—Sue Bennett, London, Ky.; Dec. 18—Mayo Vocational at Pikeville; Jan. 4—Cumberland at Pikeville; Jan. 6—Winchester AAU at Pikeville; Jan. 13—Marshall frosh, Huntington, West Virginia; Jan. 26—Marshall frosh at Pikeville; Jan. 29—Kentucky Christian at Grayson; Feb. 12—University of Kentucky frosh at Lexington; Feb. 16—Clinch Valley at Pikeville; Feb. 20—Kentucky Christian at Pikeville.

ON PLENTIFUL LIST

Holiday foods—turkeys, cranberries, nuts, fruit, etc.—are among the more plentiful foods for November so you should find many good buys for holiday meals, according to Mrs. Letta Jasper, University of Kentucky Extension specialist in consumer marketing.

LIQUID COAL SLURRY HELD FUEL OF FUTURE

South Amboy, N. J., Nov. 6—Liquid coal slurry, burned directly in a furnace like oil or gas, may well be the electric-power industry's fuel of the future, officials of four companies said Monday.

A demonstration of the process of burning the slurry, containing more than 30 percent water, was held here in the 80,000-kilowatt station of the Jersey Central Power and Light Company.

The slurry was brought by barge from Cleveland.

The demonstration, which will last about a month, is a prelude to a plan by Consolidation Coal Company, Pittsburgh, and Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation to raise capital and build a 20-inch slurry pipeline from the coal fields of Pennsylvania and West Virginia to Philadelphia and New York.

The other company involved is Babcock & Wilcox, designer and maker of the cyclone-type furnace in which the slurry was burned.

Coal slurry has been moved by pipeline from Cadiz, Ohio, to a power plant at Cleveland for several years, but in the Cleveland plant, the slurry has to be dried out at great expense before it is burned.

Development of a method of burning the slurry without dehydrating it means, spokesmen for the companies said, that even though a coal slurry does not contain as much energy per pound as solid coal or oil, it could easily become much cheaper as a source of electric power than either.

Coal is cheap at the mine compared to other fuels, they said. Its big handicap always has been the cost of transportation.

A Babcock & Wilcox engineer said the new process of burning slurry directly would be economically feasible for any industrial plant big enough to make its own electric power as well as for electric-utility companies.

"Even plants that do not have cyclone furnaces can burn slurry at reasonable cost by installing centrifuging or filtering equipment to get out a substantial part of the water," he said, "but this requires capital investment."

The proposed pipelines to bring coal slurry—which looks like fuel oil—to the Philadelphia-New York area would cost $100,000,000, an official of Texas Eastern said. He did not believe there would be any great difficulty in raising the money or in getting large power companies to burn slurry.

Anthracite as well as bituminous coal can be made into slurry and transmitted by pipeline, a spokesman for Consolidation Coal Company said, and pipelines to move powdered coal in this manner in time may restore to the coal mines many of the markets they have lost in recent years.

The powdering of coal and its movements in pipelines would cost railroads and barge lines some of their present coal traffic.

CONN THANKS VOTERS

I wish to take this opportunity to thank every person who voted for me for Magistrate in the November 7 election and all who supported me in any way. I appreciate the sportsmanship and goodwill of my opponent, Eddie Akers, and assure him and all others who opposed me that I hold no ill-will toward any of them.

Again—my sincere thanks to all.

EASTERN TO GET FACULTY-HOUSING LOAN

Richmond, Ky., Nov. 7—A $3,360,000 loan has been approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency for two dormitories and eight apartment units for faculty housing at Eastern Kentucky State College.

President Robert R. Martin said the rate of interest is 3-3/8 percent.

The loan will pay for Judge McGregor Hall, six-story women's dormitory named for Judge Thomas B. McGregor, Frankfort, a regent and Earle Combs Hall, men's dormitory named for the vice-chairman of the board of regents.

Ground was broken recently for two dormitories. They are expected to be completed by January, 1963.

PERFORM SATISFACTORILY

The two recommended varieties of Spring oats for Kentucky use, Andrew and Mo. 0-205, performed satisfactorily last season in University of Kentucky Ag Experiment Station tests. Andrew yielded 44.3 bushels an acre and Mo. 0-205 yielded 42.7 bushels, says James Shane, small grain researcher.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, a "sovereign convention" of Kentuckians who were Southern sympathizers met at Russellville, in a part of the state held by the Confederate Army, in response to a call that had been issued in October "to take into consideration the unhappy condition of the state." At that time Kentucky had 110 counties; the 200 delegates who assembled were said to represent 65 counties. In three days, they adopted a "Declaration of Independence" from the United States, voted to apply for admission to the Confederacy, set up a provisional Confederate state government, named George W. Johnson of Scott County governor, chose other state officials, and selected Bowling Green as the state capital.

The old State Constitution and laws were declared still in force, except where inconsistent with the acts of the convention or with acts of a Legislative Council which was to be the law-making body until a legislature could be elected.

Henry C. Burnett, William E. Simms and William Preston were named commissioners to go to Richmond, Va., and present to the Confederate States Congress a petition for admission. (This would be granted December 9; after that date, there was a star in the Confederate flag for Kentucky, and representatives and senators from the Confederate Congress until the end of the war.)

The acts of the Russellville convention were never recognized by the United States government. The Richmond government welcomed the new state on the theory that Kentucky at heart had been for the South all along and that only the occupation of much of the state by Federal troops had prevented secession by a more representative group than the one that assembled at Russellville. It was believed that more Kentuckians who favored the South would join the Confederate forces if given assurance that they were not fighting against the legitimate government of Kentucky.

Governor Johnson and six other state officials chosen by the convention were all from counties then held by the Union Army, two of the six being from Bourbon and one each from Jefferson, Spencer, Mercer and Oldham.

During the week under review, Brig. Gen. William T. Sherman at his own request was relieved as commander of Union Army forces in Kentucky, and was succeeded by Brig. Gen. Don Carlos Buell. Sherman had held the command only 30 days; his predecessor, Brig. Gen. Robert Anderson, had held it only 24 days. Both Anderson and Sherman had issued orders to curb the arresting of civilians who had not committed overt offenses but were believed to be Southern sympathizers. Under Buell, such arrests would increase.

Brig. Gen. John C. Breckinridge, CSA, who had resigned as U. S. senator from Kentucky, assumed command of the First Kentucky Brigade. Nicknamed the "Orphan Brigade," it was to win fame as perhaps the best infantry unit in the Southern army.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

THE AMAZING WORLD OF INSECTS

Most of us are prone to regard insects with disgust. Some are obnoxious, of course, but only about 5% of all insects are harmful to man. The rest are highly beneficial and we would not exist without their help. On our tables there would be no vegetables and fruits to eat without the help of insects. The bumblebees and certain species of flies help to pollinate our orchards, we'd have no fruit. So valuable is their help, many orchardists rent hives of bees to place near their trees in bloom.

Insects and their feats and intelligence are truly amazing. The beetle is the strongest creature known to its size. It is called "The Strong Man of the Insect World." If a man could lift in proportion to a beetle, he could carry a dozen two-ton trucks on his back. If a man could jump like a flea, in proportion to its size, he could leap over the top of the Empire State Building!

A moth has feathery, fernlike feelers for its antennae. These feelers can smell and are ten times more sensitive than the nose of a bloodhound. A moth can fly through pitch black night and locate its mate six miles away, by faint scent-trails in the wind.

Think of the ants! Call them pesky if you wish, but admire their powers and wisdom. They far excel man in these! You can freeze an ant stiff as a poker and when it thaws out, it will trot off! You can put an ant under water and let it stay eight days, take it out and it will come alive! You can cut off an ant's head and it will live headless for over forty days. You can injure an ant and the rest will come and nurse and tend it and try to heal it!

Talk about drills and chisels! The insects have these in deluxe style! Leaf-cutter bees and hornets shear off leaves with their "scissors" and use them in nest construction. The ichneumon fly can drill a hole through two inches of solid oak wood, in order to lay its eggs inside a grub. Butterflies gave man the idea for inventing the self-filling fountain pen. It has a tubelike proboscis which sucks up the nectar from a flower like a fountain pen sucking up ink! The seventeen-year locust, or cicada, has a chisel hard as iron, with which it can split a hard hickory limb and make trenches in it to lay its eggs. The praying mantis has a pair of hooked steel traps on its front legs, with which it snaps its prey and holds it like a vise. Dragonflies catch more mosquitoes than man can ever destroy with sprays. It eats them so greedily, it often gets clogged up and choked, and so full it cannot swallow. One dragonfly can eat forty big horseflies and lick its chops for more!

Think again of the help of insects. Without them, we'd have no fish and no song birds, for insect larvae furnish most of the food for both birds and fish. And we'd have no fine silk to wear without the help of the silkworm moth.

And think how fast insects can multiply! That's why we need more birds to hold them in check. A single house fly, if left alone to produce offspring during one season, would produce over five trillion descendants! And did you ever know that when a housefly gets sick or hurt, the other house flies will work with it and try to resuscitate it, by breathing into it and lifting it. Animals will do the same. I've seen cattle and other animals gather around a sick one and nose it and breathe on it, in order to try to heal it. And talk about grief! Did you ever hear cattle gathered around where a beef has been slain? When they get a smell of the blood, they mourn and carry on something awful! There are seven great orders of insects, of which we shall write in later columns.

Mrs. Elzie Y. Ford, 70, Of Meta, Claimed Nov. 3; Heart Attack Victim

Mrs. Elzie Young Ford, 70, of Meta, died at 4 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, at home. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Mrs. Ford was the widow of Will Ford, a daughter of Alfred Young and Mary Pauley Young. She was the mother of Gwen Ford, a former Prestonsburg resident, now of Detroit, Mich. Surviving, besides her son, Gwen, are a brother, Carl Young, Tampa, Fla., and two sisters: Mrs. Hattie Ratliff, of Boldman, and Mrs. Elka Smith, of Meta; a granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Auxier Hale, Prestonsburg, and two great-granddaughters.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 5, from the home, the Revs. Charlie Elswick and Eddie Henson officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Meta.

Floral Clock Pays Off To Child Care Agencies

Frankfort—The floral clock here has passed its six-month anniversary. Since the clock was dedicated on May 4, a total of $2,027.14 has been taken from the pool surrounding it. Of this, the following amounts have been given to these state child care agencies for recreation and athletic equipment: Kentucky Training Home, Frankfort, $350 during May and June; Kentucky Children's Home, Lyndon, $450, July; Dept. of Child Welfare Boys' Camp, Gilbertsville, $446, August; Kentucky School for the Deaf, Danville, $350, September; Kentucky School for the Blind, Louisville, $350, October.

HOME FROM V. P. I.

Wheelwright—Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Vicars, of Blacksburg, Va., were visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Vicars of Bypro and Mr. and Mrs. Vanover, of Weeksbury, over the week-end. Bobby, one of Wheelwright's former basketball players, attended the basketball game at Wheelwright Saturday night. He said he thought that Don Wallen, coach at Wheelwright, has an excellent team for this year. Bobby is attending V. P. I. at Blacksburg.

For 1962...an all-new kind of Ford!

the car that's just right for just about everybody

You've never seen anything like it, because there's never been anything like it... until today. On the outside the new Ford Fairlane 500 measures a quick 197 inches from stem to stern. A good foot shorter than the cars from which it borrowed its name, it calls the snuggest parking places home. At the same time, on the inside the new Fairlane 500 is every inch as big as some of the biggest Fords ever built.

The new Fairlane 500 is priced way under previous Fairlanes, well under many compacts. But Fairlane economy doesn't stop with a pretty price tag. It runs to amazing gas savings—with the world's first economy V-8 or the nickel-nursing Fairlane Six. Routine service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, only twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. And it adjusts its own brakes.

right between Galaxie and Falcon

- RIGHT! Big-car room, ride, performance.
- RIGHT! Compact-car price, economy, handling.
- RIGHT! Only car anywhere near its price with the twice-a-year maintenance schedule first introduced by Galaxie.
- RIGHT! Unique economy choice: the world's first economy V-8 or the delightfully thrifty Fairlane Six.

- RIGHT! Fine-car upholstery, appointments, luxuries.
- RIGHT! The built-in value that pays off in pleasure now—and in profit when it comes time to trade.
- RIGHT! Quality and precision craftsmanship you've never before enjoyed in any car anywhere near its low price.
