

This Town-- That World

It's only 24 days more till Christmas, and so this Fourth Grade joke will do as well as any to start the season off, right or wrong, courtesy of Joe Burke.

"Do you know why Santa Claus wanted to have a garden, 'way up there at the North Pole?"

"No—why?"

"So he could ho! ho! ho!"

Big-hearted, old Santa—the guy who leaves you flat broke and looking for a big-hearted banker.

VAGARY

Ever try looking at a distant hill-top and wondering what lay on the other side? For want of something better to do or write about, I've been indulging myself this vagary while trying to drum up words for this column. I think I know the meanderings of the highway from this office to Martin pretty well, but the longer I think about it, the less certain I am that I would wind up at Martin if I could walk, or fly, a beeline from here over the point on the ridge which I have picked. The fact that I had to do some figuring, one cloudy, overcast day, as to where the north was from my boat on Dewey Lake did nothing to make me more confident about my directions.

EXPLANATION

Recent Sunday School lessons have dealt with the matter of Christian growth. Last week I ran across a pretty sound explanation of why many of us fail to grow. We are much like, it was pointed out, the little boy who fell out of bed. Asked why, he said, "Cause I stayed too close to where I got in."

DOG DAYS

I am, as usual, having dog troubles. There was a time when, if the master chased me down, I simply loaded him into the family car and carted him back home, then fled either while he was engaged in making loud demands of entrance to the house or after I had tied him up. After that, his Nibs would settle down to a day in his own domain. But now this pet, or pest, knows the way to where I reportedly work, and so there's no escaping him.

All this wouldn't be so bad if (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

SEAL SUPPORT URGENT, SAID

X-Ray Machine Cost Points Up Funds Need; Six Clinics Scheduled

The need for public support of the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association through purchase of Christmas Seals is particularly urgent this year, it was pointed out this week after thousands of Seals had been mailed to prospective buyers and users.

Part of the need arises from the fact that the X-ray machine in use at the Floyd County Health Department for chest examinations has been condemned and the Tuberculosis Association has been obliged to purchase another at a cost of about $4,800. Of this amount, $2,700 was borrowed. This debt must be retired at the rate of $1,000 a year.

X-ray clinics have been promised the county every six weeks. Heretofore, clinics were held three months apart.

At the three clinics held here this year 280 patients were examined. In all, 1,773 X-ray chest pictures have been made this year, with 13 new cases of tuberculosis found. A total of 1,558 skin tests also have been made.

Fifty-two t. b. cases are now under treatment, and six patients have been released from hospitals, the Association reported.

GUILTY PLEA ENTERED IN DEATH OF OFFICER

MILLER GETS LIFE TERM FOR MURDER

Mining Company Fined For Stream Pollution; Six Others Convicted

Charlie Miller was permitted to enter a plea of guilty Monday to the charge of willful murder filed against him for the revolver slaying here a few months ago of Deputy Sheriff Wesley Fannin, and a circuit court jury quickly set his penalty at life imprisonment.

It was the second attempt by the 46-year-old Miller to enter a guilty plea. At the September court term he sought an "agreed" verdict of life imprisonment, but at that time relatives of the slain man held out for a full trial and a possible death penalty.

Miller's was the last murder case on the court docket.

Six other convictions—most of them on pleas of guilty or the equivalent "law and facts"—had been recorded as of Tuesday morning. Yet the term as a whole was a desultory affair.

The Johnson Mining Company was fined $100 and costs for stream pollution. This case was of special significance, since the Johnson firm is a Pike county enterprise which was indicted for polluting the Big Sandy river in Floyd county, although the mine wastes entered the stream in Pike.

Jim Gibson was fined $100 and costs after he entered "law and facts" to a drunk driving charge. His driver's license was revoked for a period of six months. Isaac Stumbo, who took his drunk driving case to trial, was fined $250.

Reba Blanton was committed during the week to jail for 60 days on a prior conviction of selling intoxicants, but another selling case was dismissed on the grounds that it was the same case to which she had earlier pleaded guilty in a lower court. Fred Little was fined $100 for assault and battery, and Ezra Marsillett was fined $50 for possession of moonshine whiskey.

The shooting and wounding charge against Jim Marsillett and Jim Miller was dismissed, marked "evidence insufficient to convict."

Hauled into court to stand trial on a charge of stealing chickens, Lee Hall, of Branham's Creek, was first permitted a hearing to determine his sanity. The jury disagreed as to this, and he was not brought to trial on the charge on which he had been indicted.

Two child desertion cases were decided with the defendants being obliged to support their dependents: George Sweeney to pay $25 a week by agreement, Hershell Shepherd, $10 a week. The jury in the trial of Nicodemus Tuttle, charged with pointing a deadly weapon at another, held him not guilty. Trial of Joe Horn on a child desertion count resulted in a "hung" jury. The one-year term earlier voted Ronald G. Sexton was probated.

Cases dismissed and reasons given for each dismissal follow:

Ray Williams and Donald Lee Nelson, deserting pregnant wives, now living with their wives; George Rose, cold check, and Buster Coburn, carrying concealed deadly weapon, lack of prosecution; Julie Ousley, Dora, Lincoln and Jim Gibson, breach of peace; Harold Dean Bates and Ray Walters, destroying private property; Anna Workman, grand larceny, prosecuting witness mistaken as to the person who took property.

The $500 bond of Otis Newsome, accused of chicken stealing, was forfeited when he failed to appear for trial.

Fish And Game Club Slates Officer Election At Maytown High School

The Floyd County Fish & Game Club will elect officers for the ensuing year at its regular monthly December meeting at Maytown, it was announced this week by Arnold Workman, president of the organization.

The meeting is scheduled at the Maytown high school at 7:30 p. m., Workman said. He urges all members to attend.

"The election of officers is an important matter," the president said, "and if we are to have an effective program the continued interest of all members in the club's activities should be maintained."

Salisbury Meted Fine Following Sunday Raid By Prestonsburg Police

An early Sunday night raid staged by Prestonsburg city police at the home of German Salisbury on Highland avenue yielded 14 cans of beer but a search of the nearby trailer home of Denzil Ratliff, Jr., failed to uncover any intoxicants.

Officers participating in the raid were Chief of Police Bill Potter, and policemen B. M. Thompson, Frank Blackburn and Ray Clek.

Salisbury pleaded guilty to City Judge Henry P. Scarr, Monday evening and was fined $50 for possessing intoxicants for sale.

TEEN MARKET STUDIED HERE

$5,822,000 Is Spent In Floyd, Is Estimate Of Commerce Chamber

Special To The Times

New York, N. Y., Nov. 27—How big is the teen-age market in Floyd county? How much is spent locally each year for food, clothes, beauty care, entertainment and the other needs and wants of teenagers by them and their parents?

Based on the latest figures, it amounts to no less than $5,822,000.

Most parents of teen-age children would be unable to state just how much their particular costs are in this direction. They have never figured them out.

A guide to what they amount to at each teen-age stage is contained in surveys and studies made by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and by U. S. News and World Report.

They show that the costs go up rapidly as children get older. It takes twice as much, for example, to support a 15-year-old as it does an infant.

The Chamber of Commerce reports that the consumption of food, milk, soft drinks, chewing gum and candy increases until it reaches a peak in the late teens.

As to clothing, the pattern is similar except that the change is most marked when the child enters his teens.

A breakdown shows that $790 a year is required to maintain the

Mrs. Emma Osborne, 57, Of Prestonsburg, Dies; Burial, Mayo Cemetery

Mrs. Emma Ellis Osborne, 57, died Monday at Titusville, Florida, where she had been visiting a son, Bill Tom Osborne since November 10. She had been in ill health for some time.

Mrs. Osborne was the daughter of the late W. T. and Mary Ellis. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Surviving is another son, Charles, of Prestonsburg, and three daughters: Mrs. Jean McCurley, Mrs. Rebecca Goble and Mrs. Patricia Waltherman, all of Warsaw, Indiana. Four sisters survive: Mrs. W. V. Bunting, Miss Rebecca Ellis, Miss Catherine Ellis, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Mary Ellis Branham, of Lexington.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p. m., Friday, from the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. T. W. Chisholm officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery under the direction of Floyd Funeral Home.

BOND, SERVICE PIN AWARDED FOR UTILITY FIRM SERVICE

A resident of the Prestonsburg district, Newton L. May, is observing during November his 35th consecutive year of service with the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company.

In observance of the occasion, Mr. May will receive a United States Savings Bond and a company service pin.

Employed as a senior engineer with the gas company, Mr. May joined the system as an engineer in 1926. He is a graduate of Maytown elementary and senior high schools.

He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and of the First Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. During his leisure time, he enjoys golfing, bird hunting and collecting Indian relics.

STATE BATON TWIRLING CHAMPS

$2,000 GRANT MADE COUNCIL

For Retarded Children; Annual Contributions Announced by WHAS

It was announced last Thursday on a special Thanksgiving Day program on WHAS-TV and Radio that the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children was the recipient of a $2,000 grant from the 1961 WHAS Crusade for Children.

The grant to the Council is to be applied toward transportation costs involved in the operation of three classes for retarded children at Martia and Prestonsburg.

The grant was made possible from record-breaking contributions totaling $231,136 from citizens of Kentucky and Southern Indiana. There were forty-four grants totaling $200,386 with an additional $23,131 being held to cover Kentucky grant requests that require further processing by the ministers of "The Moral Side of the News" panel.

The $165,131 allocated to Kentucky agencies and $34,124 to Indiana agencies represent an all-time high in money allocation to each state. Money contributed from Kentucky stays in Kentucky and money contributed from Indiana goes back to Indiana.

Again this year, Crusade expenses were held to less than 7%.

FOOD STAMP TALK IS SET

Compliance Aspect Discussion Planned, Administrator Says

Four meetings scheduled next week will have for their purpose discussions of compliance aspects of the pilot food stamp program and the eliciting of information relating to food retailers of the county, Arvid Dopson, U. S. Department of Agriculture representative, said here Tuesday.

The schedule of meetings, each of which will be held at 7 p. m.:

For grocers of Magisterial District No. 4, at Betsy Layne high school, Monday; District No. 2, at Maytown high school, Tuesday; District No. 3, at McDowell high school, Wednesday, and for District No. 1 at Prestonsburg high school, next Thursday.

Army Helicopter Removes Injured Soldier To Knox

Prestonsburg grade school children got a glimpse of a scene out of one of their favorite TV programs, "Whirlybirds," Wednesday morning when an Army helicopter landed on the school playground to remove an injured soldier to the Army hospital at Ft. Knox.

The soldier is Roger Waugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Waugh, of David, who suffered a bruised shoulder and back in a car wreck near here Sunday. His injuries are not serious, his physician, Dr. John G. Archer, said.

ELIGIBILITY CHECK ASKED

Surplus Food Program Needs Periodical Study, State Supervisor Says

The state is encouraging counties to make regular rechecks of federal surplus-food recipients, and the operation has produced mild to drastic cuts.

"All we ask is that the federal and state laws be obeyed," said Marvin Casey, an area supervisor with the State Agriculture Department. He said no punitive action is intended.

The regulations require a participating county—there are now 108 in the state—to reinterview each recipient at least every three months.

"All that's necessary is to find out if there has been any change in financial status and family size," Casey said.

There obviously had been many such changes recently in Harlan county, Casey said the free-food lists there "have been cut way down," possibly as much as 50 percent.

In Ohio county, surplus food distribution was held up several weeks ago until local officials complied with the law and began reinterviewing.

Grayson is in the rechecking phase and last week Casey helped supervise a similar operation in Jessamine county. The prodding will continue.

"It's generally true that where there is a close screening job there are large numbers deleted from the food rolls," Casey said.

He said Jefferson county is an outstanding example. The county joined the program last March with 21,000 persons listed, he said, and by October was down to some 11,000.

"They sent out caseworkers to determine eligibility," he said. "They didn't wait for people to come and tell them they no longer needed free food."

Overall statistics could be misleading in trying to analyze the statewide situation because opposing factors have affected the outcome. While rechecks have been thinning the food lists, Casey said, normal seasonal unemployment as winter approaches has offset this downward trend.

Thus, about 390,000 persons were eligible last month to receive free commodities, which range from creamery butter to canned meat. In the previous month about 387,000 were eligible.

It's possible the rechecks will make themselves felt more strongly this winter, Casey said. (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

WORK ORDER IS EXPECTED

Construction Start On Turnpike Section Envisioned In 10 Days

A work order on the Middle Creek sector of the Eastern Kentucky highway from Prestonsburg to the junction with the David road was expected to be issued this week to the successful bidders, the Mattingly Bridge Company and the Kentucky Road Oiling Company.

The beginning of construction, it was said here Wednesday morning, is expected within 10 days. Work on the four-lane bridge across the river here and on the three miles of highway will begin simultaneously, it was said.

Kentucky In Vanguard Of Economic Planning To Meet Emergencies

The Federal Office of Emergency Planning has designated Kentucky as the vanguard state in implementing economic stabilization in this area, it has been announced by Major Gen. Arthur Y. Lloyd, Kentucky adjutant general and director of Kentucky's civil defense program.

William D. Patton, director of the Area 2 office of Emergency Planning, said, "Kentucky was selected from among the other states in this area because of the considerable progress it has made toward planning for economic stabilization in the event of an emergency."

Other states in Area 2 include Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Ohio and Delaware and the District of Columbia.

"Kentucky will serve as a model for the rest of Area 2," he said, "to exemplify the course of action we expect states to take."

Robinson Is Jailed As Parole Violator; Arrested At Boldman

Estill Robinson, who was jailed here November 24 by Parole Officer James Duff and State Trooper D. H. Goble as a parole violator, was returned to LaGrange reformatory Tuesday by Duff. He was arrested at Boldman.

Robinson was convicted on a manslaughter charge in the Pike circuit court and had been released from prison on parole only a few weeks ago. He had been paroled to a Western Kentucky but had soon returned to this section, it was said.

Others jailed within the week: Malcolm Lewis, possessing moonshine and disturbing church, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Harold (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

FIVE BULLETS STRIKE BUS

Shots Allegedly Fired By Former Magistrate At Allen Last Sunday

Neither county nor federal courts have been asked to issue a warrant for the arrest of John May, former Floyd magistrate, who allegedly fired revolver bullets Sunday afternoon into a Detroit-bound Greyhound bus at the Allen bus station.

In the absence of a warrant, state and county officers looked for May in a patrol of the Right Beaver Creek section Sunday night but no intensive search was made for him.

The shooting was witnessed by several persons. It followed refusal of James Pickrel, of Ashland, driver of the bus, to permit May to board the bus. He claimed May was intoxicated. Five shots were fired into the body and a tire of the vehicle. The bus had dual rear wheels and so the driver was able to drive here, although the outside tire on the left rear wheel was punctured.

Other bullets hit the rear of the bus, striking the motor housing, and another glanced from the side of the vehicle.

The shooting over, May left the scene in a private auto. He has been working in Ohio, it was said.

ALCOHOLISM UNDER ATTACK

Information Week Emphasized Problem Of Alcoholism In State

Alcoholism Information Week, an educational and informational campaign emphasizing that alcoholism is a treatable disease, is being observed throughout the country from November 26 to December 3.

The campaign is part of a nationwide observance being sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism, the national voluntary health agency in the field of alcoholism.

"Alcoholism is one of America's four major health problems, along with mental illness, cancer and heart disease," it was said this week by Frank Layne, local representative of the Division of Alcoholism, Kentucky Department of Health. "It is estimated that there are five million alcoholics in the country."

Layne, in discussing Alcoholism Information Week, continued in a statement: "Let's remember there is help for the person suffering from the disease of alcoholism. During Alcoholism Information Week we hope to call this fact to the public's attention, thanks to the wonderful cooperation of newspapers, TV, radio and other informational media."

The Department of Health through its Division of Alcoholism is your agency. It is ready to help Kentucky citizens who want help for alcoholics and their families. It is a resource for any community which desires to set up a program of prevention and treatment."

average 13-year-old youngster, that the cost is $855 for a 15-year-old, $910 at age 17 and $940 at age 19. This is without college costs for those in their late teens. At the midway point, which is at age 16 1/2, the average annual expenditure is $890.
On the basis of this average, the overall amount spent in Floyd county per year in behalf of the teen-age population, which the 1960 census set at 6,542, is estimated at $5,822,000.
The nation's teen-age population will be growing rapidly in the next few years, it is pointed out. Between now and 1967 there will be an additional 1,100,000 of them each year.
It Floyd county follows this national rate of increase, the number of teen-agers locally in 1967 will be 9,620.
They will make an even greater impact on the local economy than they are making today. Already, retailers are finding it worth while to cultivate this booming market.

I know I am late with this statement, but I have kept thinking I could find the right words that would really show my appreciation for the nice vote I received November 7. This is being written on Thanksgiving Day; and, though I may not have found the right words, I can say to each of you, I thank you very much. May God bless you and guide all the newly elected officials of our county.

Conference Scheduled On Higher Education; R. V. May To Attend

Louisville, Ky. — R. V. May, of Prestonsburg, will meet here November 30 with representatives of 16 Southern states to hear the report of the Commission on Goals for Higher Education in the South.

Mr. May is a member of the Governor's Commission on Higher Education which recently made its report to Governor Combs.
The unprecedented meeting, called to release the Commission report by Governor Buford Ellington, of Tennessee, chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference, and Governor Terry Sanford, of North Carolina, chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board, will attract governors, legislators and educators from the South.
The Goals Commission report is a comprehensive blueprint for action to guide the South in developing a system for higher education "second to none in the nation." It is the product of nearly a year's study by seven of the region's most prominent citizens, under the guidance of Commission Chairman, Colgate W. Darden, Jr., former governor of Virginia.

Delegates to the meeting were named by the governors of their respective states.

 On the other hand, in October, 1960, only 250,000 persons were eligible. Casey attributed the vast increase since to a presidential order making more foods available.

The key man in reinterviewing and recertification in most counties seems to be the welfare director, chosen by Fiscal Court. Casey said a paid, full-time director does the most thorough screening.

The minimum income for a recipient is $65 a month. It ranges up to an allowable $155 monthly for nine or more persons "eating at the same table"—not necessarily blood members of the same family.

A person failing to pick up free food for two straight months is disapproved for the third month and must be reinterviewed.

Chiselers, Casey said, are inevitable in any program.

"You're always going to have some freeloaders," he said. "It's up to the individual counties to weed them out."

 buildings along its south side to permit connection of the new bridge with the existing highway. Only one structure, that of Mrs. Rebecca Dings, remains, and it is to be moved to a new site.

While this work was ready to begin the State Department of Highways was completing its advertising for bids on surfacing of the East Kentucky Turnpike between Winchester and Campton.

The department will open bids December 19 on the final three projects totaling 12 miles of cement-concrete pavement and incidental construction in Powell county.

Bids will be opened December 8 on three other paving projects embracing 15.6 miles of the turnpike in Clark and Powell counties.

By awarding these contracts early, a spokesman said, contractors can stockpile materials for surfacing when the weather breaks next spring.

By then, he added, grading and draining will have progressed far enough that paving can proceed without interruption.

The 43-mile stretch of the turnpike from Winchester to Campton is scheduled for completion late next fall.

From Campton, the toll road will extend to Salyersville and from there, by present planning, a freeway would run to Pikeville.

A freeway is also proposed from the Campton juncture to Whitesburg by way of Hazard.

Miss Jo Ann Hackworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hackworth, of David, was united in marriage to Mr. James W. Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lyon, of Isonville, Kentucky, Saturday, October 28, at 11 a.m., in the Church of Christ, Prestonsburg.

White gladioli served as decoration for the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Harold Dicks, pastor of the Church of Christ, Mrs. Harold Dicks, organist, presented the traditional wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin covered with white Chantilly lace featuring a round neckline with finger-tip sleeves. A white satin bow accented the back of her wedding gown. She wore a finger-tip veil of silk with a crown of sequins and pearls. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of her aunt.

She carried an orchid bouquet with lilies-of-the-valley attached to a white Bible with orchid streamers.

Mrs. Bobby Hackworth, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor, and wore a white wool dress with a white feathered hat. She wore a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. Willis Lyon, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Roger Fitzpatrick and Forrest Hackworth, cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with matching jacket with black and white accessories, with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Lyon, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue dress with beige accessories, with white carnations.

A reception was held at the Wise Cafe dining room. The three-tiered wedding cake was served with punch, coffee and nuts, by Mrs. Lou Ellen Patton, Mrs. Jolene Castle, Mrs. Donald Hicks, Mrs. Mae Hackworth and Mrs. Raymond Davis. Miss Linda Lyon and Miss Phyllis Ann Davis registered the wedding guests.

Mrs. Lyon chose a blue tweed, two-piece suit with black accessories and her orchid corsage for her wedding trip.

Mrs. Lyon is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and Mayo State Vocational School. Mr. Lyon is a graduate of Sandy Hook high school, served four years with the United States Air Force and graduated from Mayo State Vocational School, where he studied electronics.  the pooch would lie down, stretch himself and go to sleep as most dogs do, but he doesn't. He wants out, then back in, he wants a friendly pat, he insists on seating himself in the editorial chair, on barking furiously at other dogs or human passersby.

This morning, dog's best friend decided this thing had gone far enough. So our canine visitor was met at the door and a yardstick was applied to various parts of his anatomy with such vigor that the stick broke. But did this send this dog yelping home to lick his wounds and nurse a well-founded grudge? It did not.

The dummox simply walked out into the middle of the street and lay down. Maybe he isn't so dumb. Perhaps he knew I would remember he's deaf and would not be able to hear an approaching car, and that as a result I would relent and open the door.

Anyway, that's exactly what I did. And we're right back where we started — or, rather, where we've been for the last several weeks.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Some of the religious world's greatest troubles are BECAUSE:

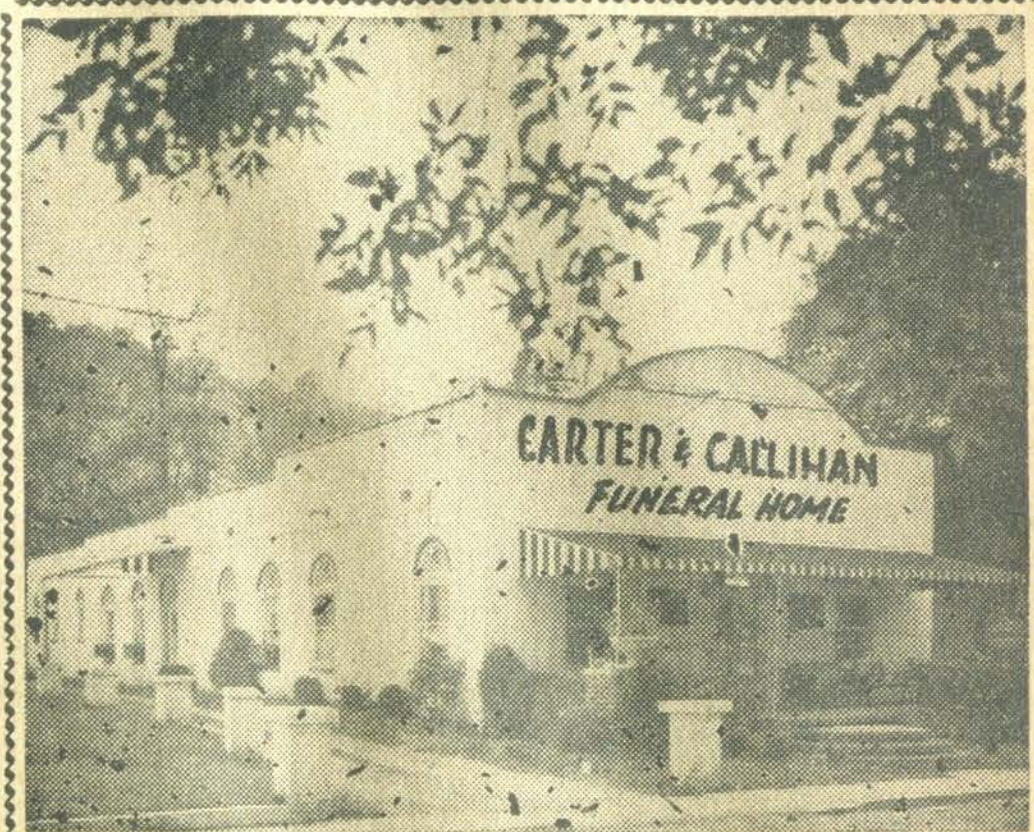

1. We (the leaders) preach Christ of contention, envy and strife instead of good-will as did all of the Apostles in the springtime of Christianity.
2. The leaders of "denominations" are "preaching up" denominations, especially their own and preaching all others down.
3. We do not unto others as we would they should do unto us.
4. We shun most all of the teachings of Christ and the Apostles.
5. We, too often, shake not the hands of our denominational "foes" and thereby fail to touch their poor hearts.

We have nothing to sell, but wish to give away THE TRUTH as it is in Christ Jesus.

FIND INTELLIGENCE TESTS DO "INCALCULABLE HARM"

Stephen Randall Gearheart celebrated his second birthday, November 30, at his home in Harold. His birthday cake was decorated with autumn flowers and leaves in realistic colors. Randy, assisted by his mother, served cake and refreshments to a small group of friends. Those attending were, Gary and Larry Roberts, Sandy and Tim Newsome, Paul D. Gearheart, Walter Wayne Gearheart, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Allen, and Randy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Gearheart.

Educators and psychologists are re-examining the subject of standardized I.Q. (Intelligence Quotient) tests for children, arguing that using them in guidance can do "incalculable harm." In an article, "Let's Look Again at Those I.Q. Tests," in the December Reader's Digest, Jonh Kord Lagemann says that the tests are supposed to measure only "native ability," but actually are linked to culture. In prosperous suburbia, one of four children scores above 125; in poor neighborhoods, only one of 16.

The child's educational career is shaped by the I.Q. tests, Lagemann writes. The top five or ten percent are set on the academic high road to college; the bottom group are labeled "slow" and taught accordingly. A teacher may try to ignore the tests, but as one said, "Once you know a child's I.Q. you tend to see him through it." At some popular colleges, I.Q. 120 has become the cut-off point for applicants. At the University of Kansas, a survey was taken of the classes from 1955 through 1959. If the under-120 group had been bar-

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

FAR AWAY AND LONG AGO

William H. Hudson, noted English naturalist and novelist, called his autobiography, especially the part dealing with his childhood, FAR AWAY AND LONG AGO. There was some good reason for this, as he had grown up in Argentina, which was and is pretty far from the British Isles. I know of no better boyhood account in English or American literature.

But when my generation contemplates its own youth, it certainly has a right to think of it as far away and long ago, even though some of us have not strayed very far from our birthplaces. It is not a matter of geography and even of time, though time does have some bearing on the strangeness of it all.

We, in the catch decade or so in the other century, when many parts of our state were still in a semi-pioneer condition, we have lived what would seem like a millennium to oldsters of other times. Though there were changes from generation to generation in our early-American way of living, even the earliest ways were still known when I grew up; the log-cabin era was by no means over. Most of our log houses were left-overs from actual pioneer times, but I have seen new ones built. Home industries were those of early times except that homespun clothes were nearly gone; I do recall seeing an elderly man at Fidelity one election day clad in homespun, as picturesque an old fellow as Daniel Boone himself.

Recently, while driving through scenes that I knew as a young rural schoolteacher, I kept saying to myself a line from Whittier's "Snow-Bound": "Shut in from all the world without." The poet was talking of the heavy snow that had isolated his New England home; but I was thinking of the isolation of little neighborhoods that I knew more than a half century ago. Our little hills, for all practical purposes, were as valid boundaries as mighty rivers or lofty mountains. It was an adventure to go beyond the near horizon. Probably not two people of any hundred had ever been a hundred miles from home; probably ninety per cent had never been more than twenty miles away. Our county seat was only ten miles from Fi-

With the time drawing near for all state agencies to present their year's report to the Governor, the Kentucky Handicapped Children Commission can point with pride to a flesh-and-blood statement that is "in the black." A human deficit of 330 handicapped children, who a year ago faced the prospect of months of waiting for Commission help, has been wiped from the books.

Pfc. Paige Participates In Training Exercises

Fuld, Germany—Army Pfc. Delmer Paige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calaway Paige, of East McDowell, Kentucky, recently participated with other personnel from the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment's 1st Reconnaissance Squadron in a three-week field training exercise at Hohenfels, Germany.

During the exercise, designed to improve individual and unit combat efficiency, Paige and other members of his unit tested newly issued military equipment including the M-38 recovery vehicle, the M-113 armored personnel carrier and the M-151 jeep mounted with the M-60 machine gun. The members of Paige's unit who were part of an "aggressor" force acting against other U. S. Army units during the exercise, were armed with the new M-14 rifle which packs the fire power of a light machine gun and can be fired at rates up to 750 rounds per minute.

The primary mission of the 14th is the constant surveillance of NATO's Fulda Gap, a 100-mile segment of the Iron Curtain which serves as the gateway to Berlin. Paige is assigned to the squadron's Troop C which is regularly located in Fulda. He entered the Army in September, 1958, and arrived overseas in August, 1960.

The 22-year-old soldier attended McDowell high school.

15 STATES NOW USING WORK RELIEF PROGRAMS

Policies of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which opposes the idea of asking reliefers to work, are heading for a "blow-up" and already are being resisted in at least 14 states, Charles Stevenson notes in the December Reader's Digest.

The federal government supplies funds to match relief money spent by state and county welfare departments; but if the local money is spent on work relief projects, HEW will not pay its share. Despite this penalty, Stevenson says, work-relief is being used, with excellent results, in California, Oregon, Utah, Maryland, Delaware, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Vermont, New York, Illinois and Florida.

The article, titled "Must We Have Relief Programs That Make Chronic Dependents?" was written by Stevenson following a coast-to-coast study of local conditions.

In Sacramento, California, he found a program which last year rehabilitated 94 out of 353 persons officially certified as having no hope of ever supporting themselves; this year, more than half of some 398 idlers were made self-supporting within three months. Polk county, Oregon, put reliefers to work on public maintenance projects. So many loafers moved out that its welfare expenditures were cut by more than half. Minnesota lowered its welfare costs by 30 per cent. In Ohio, 88 county and city agencies have 8,500 persons working out their relief grants.

The Cook county (Chicago) public aid director, Raymond M. Hilliard told Stevenson: "It takes only six months of idleness for a man's work habits to start atrophying. He becomes so dependent he will never want to face up to working again."

TAX ON DIVIDENDS
Payers of dividends and interest again this year are being asked to remind recipients of such income that it must be reported on their Federal Income Tax Returns.

Who gets that dollar you spend for food? Less than 40 cents of the dollar goes to the farmer. On the average, 60 cents of each dollar spent for food goes for processing, transporting and distributing costs.

ELLEDGE FAMILY

A letter from Mrs. Mary H. Smith, 750 Oak Drive, South Ogden, Utah, offers information on the Elledge family of Floyd and Morgan county and requests help in extending her genealogical research.

"I am sending a copy of a letter written by my great-grandfather, who was born in what was then Floyd county, Kentucky. I have found this family in the 1830, 1840, 1850 and 1860 Census in Clark and Edgar counties, Illinois. They all list Kentucky as their birthplace. One enterprising census enumerator in 1850 for Edgar county even included the county, which was Morgan. I know that this area was a part of Floyd county until 1822. They went to Illinois in 1823.

"This past several days I have been reading an old history of Kentucky by N. S. Shaler, published in 1884. This kind of reading certainly gives a person a better understanding of the problems in researching the area. It would be wonderful to find some descendants of some of these people if they are still in Eastern Kentucky.

"Isaac Elledge is a very popular name in the family. I found several children of that name in Illinois, also two heads of families in Wilkes county, North Carolina, in 1790, with the same name.

"I have access to the Kentucky tax lists at a large genealogical library in Salt Lake City, Utah. Kentucky is one state that has been conscious of genealogical records, it seems. They have a large file on Kentucky and a man who works there as a researcher says that he would rather do research on Kentucky families than any other."

The letter referred to by Mrs. Smith, follows:

"I, D. (Daniel) W. (William) Elledge, was born June 6, 1813, and will be 72 years old at my next birthday. I was born in the state of Kentucky, in what was then Floyd county. My father's name was James Elledge, the son of Isaac Elledge, he being a Baptist minister. My father was born in North Carolina, in Wilkes county on the Yadkin River. He came to Kentucky with Daniel Boone in the 18th year of his age. His mother was an Irish lady by the name of Jiny Linn.

"My grandfather died in Kentucky before I was born. My grandmother lived to the great age of 102. I remember seeing her die at my father's home in Kentucky. My mother's name was Elizabeth Mansley (or Wamsley). Her father was Thomas Mansley (or Wamsley) from Wales. His wife's maiden name was Comfort Ingram and was of French descent. My grandfather Mansley enlisted in the Revolutionary War, was one of Washington's life guards. His religious proclivity was Methodist. He also died before my recollection. My grandmother, I remember well. She was a fine looking old lady. My father moved from Kentucky to Illinois when I was sixteen years old."

The above letter was written from Yoncalla, Douglas county, Oregon, January 28, 1885.

Mrs. Smith writes that James Elledge was 74 years old in the 1850 Census, making his birth year 1776, coming to Kentucky in 1794. "Since Daniel was 16 on leaving Kentucky that would make it 1829," she adds. My Utah correspondent continues:

"This letter was written when he was very old and there could be a few errors. It has been said that Elizabeth Mansley (Wamsley) was a cousin of Daniel Boone."

Mrs. Smith includes a genealogical chart of the Elledge family with her correspondence.

Daniel William Elledge, his birth date noted in the letter, married Cynthia Ann Hicklin in Floyd county, Kentucky, December 22, 1830.

COUCH FAMILY

In 1846, Mrs. Talitha Couch Scalf, widow of Brittain Scalf, of Russell county, Virginia, gathered up her children and loading the household furnishings on a covered wagon, migrated to Johns Creek, Pike county. Two or three of the family were nearing adulthood but most of them were very young. Hezekiah was a mere toddler and James, the youngest, was an infant in arms.

Why Talitha Couch Scalf decided to leave Russell county is a mystery. It was the ancestral seat of the Couch family and relatives were abundant to help her in rearing the family. It may have been that the death of her husband, Brittain, by a falling tree while working as an overseer on a Russell county road, prompted her move to Kentucky.

Who was Talitha Couch Scalf? The question is answered by Dr. S. C. Couch, Cleveland, Virginia, who wrote this column recently:

"The first Couchs to settle in the Castlewood District of Russell county, Virginia, were John and Fanny Couch, his wife. Born to this union was a son, Jeremiah Couch, who was my grandfather. Talitha Couch Scalf, wife of Brittain Scalf, was an aunt of my father, Noah Couch, the son of Jeremiah Couch. I remembered my father speaking of his uncle, Brittain Scalf, many times.

"The record of Jeremiah Couch goes back to the first Census taken in Russell county, Virginia, in 1820. Your great-grandmother, Talitha Couch Scalf, was a daughter of my great-grandparents, John and Fanny Couch."

Every night the Roanoke River will run uphill
...another new way AEP keeps your electric costs low

The same water will go over the dam again and again, when the new Smith Mountain hydroelectric plant goes operational in 1963. Nights and weekends, when electric power needs are reduced, power from our coal-burning generating plants will be utilized to pump the Roanoke River backwards, into a reservoir, for re-use in generating electricity during peak power-need periods. This idea of creating a second reservoir for temporary storage of river water and then pumping a portion of it back to the first reservoir for the generation of more electricity, will increase the power production of Smith Mountain nearly ten times.

Doing things in new ways to improve service and efficiency is one big reason why the average unit price of electricity, for customers of Kentucky Power Company, has not gone up during twenty years of inflation.

S. S. District Office Announces New Hours; Benefits Are Explained

The Social Security district office in Pikeville, will be open from 5 to 7 o'clock every Wednesday evening for the next three weeks for the convenience of people 65 or over who work during the day.

In announcing the special evening hours, Thomas B. Thompson, manager of the Pikeville office, noted that many older people who are still employed do not understand that recent changes in the social security law now make it possible for a good number of them to collect some benefits in addition to their earnings.

Older workers, made eligible to collect some social security benefits for the year 1961, may lose some of the payments due them if they do not make application for them before the end of January, 1962, Thompson said.

Unfortunately, Thompson said, a number of older people continue to think that they cannot collect any social security benefits at all if their earnings are over $1,200 for the year. This is not true, he emphasized.

The social security district manager suggests that working people 65 or over who have not yet applied for their social security benefits stop in at his office during the day, or during the special Wednesday evening hours, to find out just where they stand.

Some may find that their earnings are too substantial to permit payment of any benefits right now, but the time devoted to their visit will still be well spent. Thompson pointed out that there is no disadvantage in filing a claim for social security benefits after a worker has reached 65, even though he may be earning more than would permit him to draw benefits at the present time. Even if no benefits are payable now, the necessary paper work in applying for benefits can be taken care of so that checks can be issued without delay after earnings have gone down or stopped entirely.

The social security district office in Pikeville is located at the corner of Second and Division streets, over the Standard Drug Store.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

On hundred years ago this week the Kentucky legislature, which had been in adjournment since October 4, returned to Frankfort and resumed its deliberations. The Unionists had majorities in both houses large enough to insure their being able to pass their measures over the vetoes of Governor Beriah Magoffin, a Southern sympathizer.

Under the circumstances, Governor Magoffin might have thought there was not a great deal to be thankful for, but he issued a Thanksgiving Day proclamation anyway. His understandable lack of enthusiasm was more or less reflected in the wording of the proclamation:

"In accordance with long-established usage, I hereby name Thursday, the 28th day of November, instant, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. We are, as a people, suffering the evils of civil war, but in our grief and sorrow at surrounding ills, we must not be unmindful of the manifold blessings each day enjoyed by us."

It was not until November 28, 1861, eight days after the Kentucky Confederates "sovereignty convention" at Russellville had completed its work and adjourned, that the Louisville Journal was able to give its readers a complete report of what had been done there. The convention necessarily had been held in Confederate territory. Newspapers published in Union-held sections of Kentucky, as the Louisville Journal was, thus had to get their reports at second hand, from Southern papers. The Journal said its account had been copied from its former Louisville competitor, the Courier, then being published at Nashville.

How did the Louisville Journal obtain copies of a paper printed at Nashville? While it did not say so specifically in the story about the Russellville convention, or in other occasional references to things printed in the Courier, it may have been receiving copies by way of Hopkinsville, which was held by the Confederates and Henderson, which was within the Union lines, for a separate item in the Louisville paper said: "The only channel of uninterrupted communication at present between the loyal and rebel states is through Henderson, Kentucky. There is quite a local trade between Henderson and Hopkinsville, and the citizens of each place pass and repass daily without obstruction."

Under the heading, "A TRUE WOMAN," the Journal printed an item written in a sentimental style typical of wartime reporting: "While the soldiers were passing through our city yesterday, at the corner of Chestnut and Centre streets, a noble-hearted woman saw a private in one of the wagons

World's Largest Wreath To Feature Decorations On Grounds at Capitol

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 31—Visitors to the State Capitol grounds this Christmas season will see a 40-foot tree, red and green lights, the world's largest Christmas wreath and other decorations reflecting the spirit of the holiday season.

A committee of Frankfort citizens is planning the decorations.

The 40-foot tree will stand in front of the Capitol. Behind the building, the floral clock will be decorated as a huge Christmas wreath.

A tree-lighting ceremony will be held December 11 at 7 p.m., with Governor Bert Combs throwing the switch to light the tree. Red and green bulbs will be placed in all the outdoor lighting fixtures at the Capitol.

Following this, a Community Christmas Sing will be held, with the 40-voice Georgetown College a cappella choir, directed by W. Wayne Johnson, furnishing the music.

On several Sunday afternoons before Christmas Day, Santa Claus will talk to visitors to the floral clock. Several groups of evergreen trees on the grounds will be sprayed with white snow-mix and spotlighted.

TOP LADY BOWLER SCHEDULES PRESTONSBURG VISIT, DEC. 18

The top women's team captain in bowling will roll into Prestonsburg, Monday, December 18.

Brunswick star Shirley Garms, captain of more than 20 champions during her career, is scheduled for an appearance at Crown Lanes here. M. R. Daniel, manager of Crown Lanes, said Mrs. Garms will roll an exhibition match and give free instruction to local bowlers.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Garms has led her teams to at least a dozen victories within the state, including three wins in the Chicago city tournament. She established a new world record in 1961 by rolling a 2,022 nine-game total in a Milwaukee tournament.

Her finest team victory, however, was achieved in national competition when she was captain of the WIBC champions in 1954-1955. In 1961, she captained the championship BPAA National Women's Team.

Individually, Mrs. Garms has also been a consistent winner. She's five-time champion of the Chicago match games and has two titles each in the Chicago singles and Central Illinois all events. In 1961 she also added the Ruppert-Brunswick Tournament of Champions to her record.

During her 22-year career, Mrs. Garms has rolled a high game of 279 and a top series of 702.

As a member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff of Champions, she is one of the more than 125 big league stars on the staff who promote bowling with exhibition and instruction appearances throughout the country.

SPORTS CHATTER

many of the answers come harder right now than they ever did. The point is that it's a good deal more important for the coach to guess right on this kind of thing than on a matter of whether to pass or punt. The loud ones can argue the point if they want to, but they can't change it.

Any coach can do that part of his job best when he has the respect of his boys; and he can keep the respect of his boys best when he isn't assailed with the kind of bombast which tries to picture him as a simpleton or a fool.

We open our football season tonight and I hope a large number of the good people of Austin come out to the game because we have, once again, a mighty fine group of boys who've worked hard getting ready.

My boys will try to win. So will I. We may do it. But if we don't I wish the wise ones would stay out of what hair I have left.

My main job is still to try to make decent men out of good boys—in a world where that outcome is by no means guaranteed. I'd like a chance to get at it.

PIKEVILLE BEARS

Hindman's All-State guard Jim Moore led the Bearpack with 21 points each. Campbell averaged 23 points per game in the tourney, sinking 21 of 43 shots from the field and four of seven free throws, and hauled down 22 rebounds.

After the Bears had rolled to an 11-point lead, 33-22, in the first 13 minutes, the Indians reduced their deficit to 44-39 at halftime, and to 52-48 by the time Blevins was whistled out. Fielders by Moore and Campbell pushed it up to eight, 56-48, in the next minute; but then Slusher went to work.

Hitting six of Cumberland's next 10 field goals, the big senior from Four Mile, Kentucky, pushed his team ahead four times by one or two points, only to have three field goals by Campbell and a pair of free throws by Charles Duncell take away the leads. Ron Shelton of Manchester put the Indians on top to stay, 71-70, with 1:14 remaining.

Duncell, the former Lees Junior College and Dilce Combs high school star from Hazard, in his first start with the Bears, hit for 14 points and snatched 12 rebounds against Cumberland. John Will Hunt, of Feds Creek, the only man to hit better than 500 in both games for the Bears, chipped in nine points for a total of 20 in the tourney, including nine fielders on 16 shots.

The sharpest shooting in the West Liberty contest came from reserve center Gerald Preston, who was used briefly late in the game, tried two long shots, and sank both to notch four points for himself in half as many minutes. Campbell and Moore again led the Bears in scoring, Campbell with 25 points and Moore with 12.

After entertaining West Virginia Tech., Tuesday (Nov. 28) and Butchermen are slated for a series of road games through the first half of December. Their next home stand will be against the Transylvania Pioneers on Monday, Dec. 18.

Patton Participates In Training Exercise

Coast of California — Samuel J. Patton, seaman, USN, son of Felix Patton, of Lackey, Kentucky, while serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Oakhill, participated in a large-scale Navy and Marine Corps training exercise observed by Admiral George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, on November 18, off the coast of Southern California.

More than 40 Navy ships and aircraft squadrons, and elements of the First Marine Division and Third Marine Aircraft Wing took part in the operation, which featured anti-submarine warfare operations, missile firing, carrier operations and an amphibious assault.

The admiral observed the at-sea phase of the exercise from the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk and went ashore by helicopter to watch the amphibious landing in the Camp Pendleton area near Oceanside, California. It was his first opportunity to see the Pacific Fleet in action since assuming the Navy's top post last August.

Injunction Is Obtained Against Coal Operator; Law Violation Charged

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg has obtained a court order in the United States District Court at Pikeville, permanently prohibiting Jack Little, Jack Little Coal Company, L & L Coal Company and K & L Coal Company, of Pikeville, from violating the minimum wage, overtime, record-keeping and shipping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The order was entered by Federal District Judge Mac Swinford. The complaint was based upon an investigation by the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions of the United States Department of Labor.

In addition to banning minimum wage and overtime violations, the injunction obtained by the Department of Labor specifically directs the firm not to ship goods in interstate commerce which have been produced under conditions in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act and orders it to keep proper records.
