

Geddy-Born Squad Needs Support

Rescue Squad Answers Calls From Area

...that strikes the center the Floyd & Rescue Squad ... the pictures of ... regional tragedies in ... the group has so unselfishly ... to ameliorate human suffering.

There are pictures made in this county, nearby Johnson county, at Louisa, near Charleston, West Virginia, and many other places. There are no pictures of the School Bus Tragedy on the wall. The group was born then, born following the individual efforts of the group that worked long hours with hundreds of others to rescue bodies from the river.

Graham Burchett, captain of the squad, was director of operations in recovering the bodies of the children lost in 1958. He reminisced of the squad experiences the last four years while waiting for last week's meeting to open.

He spoke of the great need for the services of his group in this area.

"You know we have gotten as high as three calls a day and our yearly average of calls will run between 20 and 25," he said. "Sometimes, I think, unless there is a greater base of support for the organization, we will run into insurmountable financial difficulties. However, we are keeping our chin up."

You follow Burchett upstairs and make a tour of the premises the squad has been years in building. Captain Burchett notes that it will be necessary to surrender all of this to the strawberry processing plant.

"We had to lease it to the processor to relieve our financial condition and to insure the plant came to Prestonsburg," he said. "The processor couldn't get a place to set up his plant and we really needed the lease money."

Squad members drift in slowly and break into groups of two and three, awaiting the meeting to open. Before a man sat down he emptied his pockets of coins on Burchett's desk at the end of the big conference room.

"That's our dinner money," he said, smiling. "Every first Thursday in each month we have our staff prepare dinner and all of us eat here together. The members contribute the coins they have in their pockets on meeting nights."

James B. Goble comes in, places the secretary's books on the desk. Beedie, to his friends, lost all of his three children in the School Bus Tragedy.

Burchett picks up a gavel, raps for order.

"The first business tonight is financial," he said. "We are down to our last few dollars. We have some radio units and a siren to pay for. We needed them badly or they wouldn't have been bought. How to pay for them is a problem."

Followed a lot of technical discussion on finance, with suggestions from the floor. Finally the money was made available by transferring from various small funds.

Burchett seemed relieved.

"Well, everything seems to be all right to the present," he said, shaking his head. "But I'm wondering what we'll do when the utility bills come due."

He called for volunteers to go to Lexington to pick up radio units acquired from state surplus. There was a bit of aside talk among the members and three hands were raised.

"I now need five volunteers to help out Saturday when Ambassador James Wine speaks at the high school here," the chairman noted. One by one, five men volunteered.

"If I could turn the members' enthusiasm and their dedication to their work into money we wouldn't have a financial problem," the chairman said.

The meeting adjourned and Captain Burchett turned to The Times man, said:

"Tell your readers that the squad is in desperate need of funds, that if we are to continue operations we must have financial assistance—now. Tell your readers of what you saw here tonight, of the morale of the members and their whole-hearted devotion to the work. Try to make them understand that the Rescue Squad is unselfishly serving without pay and in many instances by neglecting personal businesses. Try to make our people understand that we need money and need it now."

Shown here are four members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad as they searched last year for the bodies of two persons drowned in Pike county. All the members serve without pay and the organization, founded here following the Bus Tragedy in 1958, is in urgent need of funds to finance its activities.

This Town-- That World

Every spring I get started fishing a little later. I have just had a horrendous thought: A spring will come when I'll not get started at all.

WISE GUY!
The guy gravely shook my hand, reminded me that he knew I am in the newspaper business and am supposed to know a few things. Then suggested that he would like to ask me a question. I consented to hear it (by that time I was in a condescending mood). Then he asked:
"Tell me, how did the fool get his money in the first place?"

CLEAN UP IN THE CLUTTERPUPS
It's clean-up time again—as if there ever were a time when it wasn't that time—and still the law forbidding dumping at roadsides, into streams, etcetera, gets broken, too, shattered, every day. The warning signs get covered up, the law who work at cleaning up the countryside are threatened with being buried alive—and yet nothing is done.

KENNEDY ASKS FUNDS FOR WORKS PROGRAM

PUBLIC WORKS PLAN HAILED BY OFFICIALS

Jobs for Unemployed, Instead of Dole, Seen In Kennedy's Program

President Kennedy's call upon Congress to approve a $600,000,000 public works program for depressed areas of the country, drew ready backing here this week.

Officials and others hailed the move as a means of letting the unemployed earn their living while creating something worthwhile in contrast to direct relief and idleness.

The proposal involves expenditures of $350,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

It was presented to the House Public Works Committee as an amendment to the President's request for a two-billion dollar stand-by public works program to combat future recessions.

Administration spokesmen denied that the $600,000,000 proposal carried with it any implied criticism of the area-redevelopment program authorized by Congress last year to deal specifically with areas of severe and persistent unemployment.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, told the committee that the new proposal would cover many projects not eligible under the area-redevelopment program.

Also in line for the new funds would be communities in 30 states not now officially designated as depressed areas, but which have had an unemployment rate of six per cent or more over the past year. Louisville and Owensboro (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Postoffice Custodian Retires After 30 Years; Successor Not Yet Named

Ill health caused Vester J. Fraley to retire Saturday as custodian at the postoffice here after 30 years' service. He announced his decision to retire after undergoing examination by Huntington specialists earlier last week.

Mr. Fraley began work at the postoffice in 1932, earlier being employed at Fatterson Field after ending his Navy service. His successor at the postoffice had not been named this week.

Announcement of the award was made by Rufus P. Thomas, Kentucky Power Company's industrial development representative, who is chairman of District 7. Haskell Tackett, Kentucky Power representative, presented the $200 check to Mrs. R. V. May, president of the Community Development Council, at the Council's weekly luncheon meeting last Wednesday.

FIGURES NOTE TONNAGE RISE

Operators Association Serving Area Announce Upward Trend In Mining

Production of coal in the field represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association has continued to rise through to March 17, the Association's recent statistical release shows.

An upward trend in tonnage began at the turn of the year and has continued until now the increase is 26 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The March 17 figures show that the mine operators in the area group have produced 2,630,610 tons this year. Last year at this time they had produced only 2,081,600 tons for the same period.

The statistics of the increased production is reflected in the number of working days of the various associated companies. Most of them are working the full five-day week. Four firms dropped to four days, two companies fell to three-day (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

HEART CLINIC IS SCHEDULED

At Health Department; Indigent Patient Aid Is Clinic's Objective

First of the two-day heart clinics to be held in the Floyd County Health Department offices here under auspices of the Kentucky Heart Association has been scheduled for Thursday and Friday, April 5 and 6, for the benefit of indigent patients from Floyd and surrounding counties. The Heart Association plans four such clinics here a year.

All persons must have a written statement from a doctor recommending that they be permitted to go through the clinic. Services will be limited to 40 patients each day. Six heart specialists are scheduled to afford their services to patients during the clinic.

A technician will be at the Floyd County Health Department all day on Tuesday, April 3, to make the x-rays and electrocardiograms so that the doctors' work may be speeded up and more patients serviced. All persons who plan going through the clinic and who have a doctor's statement recommending the service, are urged to come to the Floyd County Health Department for the electrocardiogram and x-ray on Tuesday, April 3. These persons will be the first to be examined on the clinic days.

AMBASSADOR PREDICTS FOREIGN TRADE RISE

Back in the United States for a brief visit, James W. Wine, U. S. ambassador to Luxembourg, joined other Eastern Kentuckians here Saturday night in a fund-raising dinner and lecture for the benefit of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Ambassador Wine's contribution was to appear in a lecture on economic and socio-political conditions in Europe. The duchy of Luxembourg to which he is this country's chief emissary has been described as Europe's "listening post," and his audience of approximately 250 persons benefitted from what the ambassador had seen and heard.

Preservation Of Historic Church Is Advocated By History-Minded; Presbyterians Plan New Building

The First Presbyterian Church here is considering a new building, it was said this week. The present building is considered inadequate, and the church for several years has been obliged to rent a cottage for the younger Sunday school pupils and for the church-hour nursery.

Razing of the present building would destroy one of the area's historical landmarks. Persons interested in local history and tourist attractions are suggesting it should be preserved.

"Among several things, this building is the place where one of the first mission schools was held, and many of our older citizens will remember going to school there," it was pointed out by the Rev. T. W. Chisholm, pastor. "It was the building in which the first high school in the region was held."

A member of the Floyd County Historical Society commented this week that too many of the county's historical landmarks are disappearing if the area is to promote tourism successfully.

"The church could consider selling it for a memorial to those of the past, or perhaps as a museum where historical items could be displayed," he said. "This is certainly indicated when we are making an effort to encourage tourists to visit the section."

FUND DRIVE GOAL NEAR

New Fire Department To Serve Area Towns; Contributions Sought

Contributions to the Community Fire Department at Allen have now passed the $5,000 mark and are expected to reach $6,000 Friday, according to an announcement by Graham Burchett, president of the group. Donations run from $5 to $500, he said.

The recently-organized fire department is expected to be in operation in 90 days, it is said. It will serve any community in the county that calls for its services.

Purchases of a truck, hose and other necessary equipment will be made in the immediate future. All equipment will meet state and insurance company standards.

Walter Frasure, who is one of the promoters of the department, urges contributions be made at once to complete the drive for funds.

"We will accept contributions, large or small, from any source," he said. "We plan to meet at the Allen school Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and we are urging all interested persons to attend as we want the public to be served to have a voice in choosing the equipment."

Burchett notes that his group will cooperate with all other Floyd county fire departments and the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, of which he is captain.

Those interested in the new fire department will meet weekly on Fridays until it is in full operation.

CONLEY TELLS MOTEL PLANS

Restaurant and Pool Construction Slated; New Units To Be Added

Construction which will involve an expenditure in excess of $100,000 is expected to be begun soon on restaurant and swimming pool adjuncts to the Kentucky Motel here, with an additional 10 to 12 living units to be the last items on the building program.

Plans for the building program were outlined Wednesday by Charles N. Conley, part-owner and manager of the motel.

The additions will be located on the lot adjoining the present 28-unit motel on South Lake Drive.

The restaurant structure will be 90 by 43 feet, with a seating capacity of 65. "We plan this to be the finest restaurant in point of equipment, appointments and food this side of Lexington," Mr. Conley said.

The swimming pool, which will be for guests of the motel, will measure 20 by 40 feet.

Although 10 living units have been talked, Conley said 12 may be built to give the motel an even 40 in all. The new structure will be of the Holiday Inn type, of two stories with glass front.

Plans for the additions to the motel were prepared by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect. The work will be done by Bev Burchett, contractor.

Pastor Plans Revival Before Leaving Church; Services Start Friday

LOCAL AREA GATHERINGS ARE SLATED

Incentive Awards, Art Competition Will Feature Beautification Efforts

Prestonsburg's 1962 cleanup had its beginning Tuesday evening with a planning and organizing meeting held at the city building.

Mrs. Blaine, chairman of the project, announced approximately 20 projects represent all sections of the city.

Prizes will be awarded to those as an incentive to a more intensive cleanup and beautification of the entire community. First and second place cash awards will be made in the competition between the several areas into which the community has been divided.

In addition to this, a poster contest for the lower grade school children and an essay contest for the upper grades are being sponsored, with Marvin Music offering cash awards of $5 each to the boy and girl winner in each division. Winners in the upper grades will be designated Cleanup King and Queen; in the lower grades, Cleanup Prince and Princess.

"Community Pride" is the theme of the 1961 spring cleanup project here. This theme is being amplified with a quotation from Lincoln: "I like to see a man proud of the place where he lives; I like to see a man so live that his place will be proud of him."

A series of area meetings are being planned. The first will be held Monday at 7 p.m., at the Assembly of God Church, West Prestonsburg; the second, at the Floyd County and Regional Library at the same hour on Tuesday.

Dirt In A Brand-New Cover

Because of recent federal court decisions a new magazine, EROS—"a new quarterly on the joy of love"—will be finding its way into American homes via the U. S. mails. It is the spawn of a new interpretation of America's obscenity laws.

A prospectus, outlining the proposed quarterly and its contents of "art" and "great literature," frankly states: "It is the magazine of sexual candor . . . It is not bound by formulae, inhibited by spurious 'morality' or fig-leaved by censors . . . EROS is the most glorious magazine in world history."

Thus it is that while small groups over the country earnestly work to rid the nation's homes of the filth and smut, obscenity and pornography found in books and magazines, the nation's highest courts open the floodgates to raw sewage and take the dirty words and pictures of dirty, little boys and grown-up morons from rest-room walls and grace them with color and fine paper and the names of renowned artists and writers—and give all this judicial blessing.

Whatever the setting, dirt remains dirt. And by any other name it smells as rank and noisome.

So it is that those who would protect the young mind and youthful sensibilities from the perverted in the beaux-arts and belles-lettres must face attack on a new front. Some gains have been made as work has been done with news-stand owners. Much more is to be gained in that quarter. But in this new theatre of operations the enemy has the support of the judiciary of so-called Christian America, a judiciary which says, in effect, that if the outside of the glass is pretty and clean its contents are pure enough for human consumption.

We do not suggest a Puritan prudery for America even for American youth. But this obsession with the glorification of the baser instincts and the consequent appeal to such instincts—all with the blessings of the law as interpreted by the courts—appears to us to be another of numerous signs of a general disintegration of the national character which, if unchecked, will one day contribute to national disaster.

Then the fight for decency must continue. This newspaper suggests to its readers that they, on the local level, may help by giving careful consideration to the work begun through the Council of Local Churchwomen's committee on Good Literature, and, having done so, by giving their support to such effort.

NOTICE OF HEARING

A public hearing will be held at City Hall, Martin, Kentucky, at 7 p.m., April 16th, to discuss subdivision regulations now being considered for adoption by the City of Martin to include an area of approximately five miles radius of Martin. All interested parties should attend this meeting.

THE SUNDAY CHURCH SCHOOL AND CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

By JAMES E. GOBLE Superintendent, Sunday Church School, First Presbyterian Church

In this age of technological advance and in a time when we have seen the very urgent need for educational improvement in every phase of our lives, let us approach the matter of the Sunday Church School from the angle of Christian Education.

We can be sure that one primary purpose of any Sunday School is to "bring up a child in the way he should go . . ." The young mind and attitude must be bent . . . trained to conform to the teaching that has been given to us in Holy Scriptures. He must be instilled with the admonition to "study to show thyself approved . . ." Those who make a careful study of the Scriptures will be made aware of the dependence that must be placed in God in every phase of our existence. If these studies are guided by a competent teacher in our Sunday Schools, dedicated to the task of serving God by their teaching, using a curriculum that has been prepared following in every detail the teaching of Jesus Christ, many will be brought to place their dependence upon Him as the giver of every good and perfect gift; the saviour of man, the Son of God, and will place in Him their faith and receive Him as their own personal saviour.

Having been brought from the darkness of ignorance, disbelief and sin into the light that is shed only by Jesus Christ, this being the first step in a life-long quest for knowledge, each of us must continue to receive the constant teaching afforded us by our Sunday School, to enable us to grow in the grace of God. Jesus said, "Feed my sheep," and it is the purpose of the Sunday Church School to provide this nourishment of the soul that will enable each one to reach the pinnacle that is his in his relationship to God.

May the Sunday Church Schools over the world continue to provide the leadership and the instruction that is so greatly needed that many may be brought to know Christ, and having found Him, to increase their knowledge and strengthen their faith in the realm of Christian Education.

FOLEY ENDS JAIL LEAVE

Surrenders To Jailer, Returned To LaGrange; Johnson Held On Bond

Lemuel O. Foley, Jr. early last Wednesday morning voluntarily ended the six months of freedom he gained last September by joining others in a break from the county jail here. He walked into the jail, told Jailer Lawrence Hale that he had decided to do his time without further delay.

Three days later, he was in LaGrange reformatory to serve the sentence imposed on him for breaking and entering.

Leroy Millard Johnson, one of four men arrested last week after a Mud Creek girl had been missing from her home several days, was held to the grand jury under $2,000 bond. He was charged with statutory rape. The other three jailed with him—John J. McKinney, Burnis Rogers and Thomas P. George—were released when the girl excuplated them of blame.

Others jailed within the week and charges on which they were booked:

Floyd Stanford and Paul J. Elkins, possessing moonshine, Greenberry Goulden, operating a place of business without a permit, Robert Bailey, no operator's license and reckless driving—all arrested by Sheriff's deputies; George Washington Bailey, driving while intoxicated, booked by State Troopers Delmar Lafferty and W. Williamson.

Sheepmen Are Warned Of Marketing Deadline To Receive Payments

March 31 is the final date for selling wool and unshorn lambs if the producer intends to file an application for a government incentive payment for the 1961 wool marketing year, according to R. O. Wilson, chairman, of the Kentucky ASC committee.

Wilson urged sheep producers who sold wool or unshorn lambs during the 1961 marketing year, which began on April 1, last year and ends on March 31, this year, to file their bills of sale with the local ASCS county offices before April 30.

were specifically mentioned in this regard by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, who followed Heller to the witness table.

Earlier, Budget Director David E. Bell told the committee that $350 million of the $600 million appropriation could be spent in fiscal 1963 if Congress appropriates the money. He denied that this would necessarily unbalance the budget, which carried a projected surplus of $463 million.

Heller and Goldberg both pronounced themselves "satisfied" with the nation's economic recovery Monday but Heller conceded that "if the economy were zooming, the case for this program would be weaker."

Both proposals drew fire from Republicans, but the outlook for the immediate spending looks brighter than for the two billion dollar standby authority, which was attacked by G.O.P. committee members as an attempt to bypass the House Appropriations Committee.

The two billion dollars would be taken for money appropriated, but not yet obligated by Congress, to a specific project.

In his letter to the chairman of the committee, Kennedy said that the nation's economic performance of the last two months had fallen short of expectations, but that he looks for a "strong and continued expansion throughout the year and into 1963."

The President said he is chiefly concerned about the areas where the unemployment rate has failed to drop substantially since the beginning of the recovery—958 localities which account for 38 per cent of the United States population.

(This figure includes 40 counties and 12 labor markets in Kentucky which are designated as re-development areas. Thus far, only one re-development-area project has been approved for the state, a $7,500 timber-resources study).

The President said construction projects under his immediate program would be limited to those which could be initiated or accelerated within a reasonably short time and completed 12 months later.

The program would finance such state and local projects as water-supply improvement, sewage systems, modernization of public buildings, and port improvements. Also included would be conservation activities to improve public land; water, fish and wildlife resources, and the construction or improvement of federal laboratories and other public buildings.

Under the proposal, funds could be allocated to federal capital-improvement projects in eligible areas and for grants and loans to states and localities for improving community facilities.

The federal payment could go as high as 50 per cent of a project's costs, and even higher in exceptional cases.

The $600 million proposal is similar to one advanced by Representative Carl D. Perkins (D., Ky.), who wanted an immediate expenditure of one billion dollars.

The Administration's proposal Monday had been forecast in general terms last week. It was said to be the result of a letter to Kennedy from Representative John A. Blanton (D., Minn.) and Senator Joseph S. Clark, Jr. (D., Pa.).

Goldberg said the programs "do not contemplate a restoration of leaf-raking projects—they are not a redo of the 30's." He explained that the money will go toward projects already approved by Congress but for which money has not yet been authorized.

The President's letter said: "If legislation and the supporting appropriations are enacted promptly, expenditures under the immediate program would be approximately $25 million in the remaining months of 1962, $350 million in fiscal 1963, and $225 million in the early months of fiscal 1964."

Open Letter of Thanks

On Wednesday, March 14, our home at Garrett was severely damaged by fire. Through the alertness and goodwill of our neighbors and friends and with the aid of students from Garrett school, they successfully fought the fire and not only saved part of our home and furnishings but also prevented a major fire disaster in our community.

On Sunday, March 25, Wayland Star Chapter No. 434, Order of the Eastern Star, was host for a miscellaneous shower in our honor. Again our friends and neighbors were very kind to us with their gifts and with their words of comfort and cheer.

Knowing it would be impossible to see each person to whom we owe thanks in either or both of these occasions, we want to offer publicly this note of gratitude. To each and every one we express our heartfelt thanks.

WAYLAND

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met March 12 for its regular program meeting, and had Donald Lafferty, of the State Police, discuss safety and the use of safety seat-belts. A question and answer period followed.

The devotional was given by Mrs. T. J. Spillman, and she asked that all observe Sunday School week, April 9-15.

At the business meeting conducted by Club president Mrs. Glenn Paek, the club voted to give $5.00 to the Red Cross drive, and Mrs. Paek reported that $89.04 had been taken in the Heart Fund drive by the club and Boy Scout Troops of Wayland and Garrett, and for the March of Dimes drive, $125.29.

Invitations were read from the Wheelwright Woman's Club, inviting the club members for dinner, April 9, and from the Drift club to dinner April 16.

A letter from the Morehead Woman's Club was read, announcing Mrs. Adron Doran for the office of president of the State Federation.

The officers presented by the nominating committee for the 1962-'63 club year are: Mrs. S. M. Martin, president; Mrs. Fred Hall, vice-president; Mrs. Arnold Cooley, recording secretary; Mrs. Mervil Dixon, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Paek, corresponding secretary. The club voted unanimously for these officers.

The Teacher Appreciation Dinner was discussed but no date was set. It will probably be the first week of April.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Hornsby, Mrs. Arnold Cooley and Mrs. John Duttill, to the following members and guest: Donald Lafferty, and Mesdames J. T. Spillman, Harry Sherman, M. M. Collins, Mervil Dixon, Earl Castle, Fred Hall, John Reed, Delbert Sloan, Milton Trusty, Glenn Paek.

The next regular program meeting will be April 16, at 7 p.m. in the clubhouse.

SUIT ASKED DUST RELIEF

Ousley, Others Charged Coal Dust Was Nuisance; Verdict for Defendants

A circuit court suit filed by Willard Ousley and others, of Dinwood, against Mrs. Lack D. Roberts and the Evans Elkhorn Coal Company ended Wednesday afternoon in a jury verdict in favor of the defendants.

Trial of the case required two days. Fifty-nine witnesses were listed but all did not testify. The plaintiffs sued for $5,000 damages, and sought an injunction to abate the alleged nuisance of coal dust and noise created by operation of a coal tippie at Dinwood.

Bennie Blackburn was returned here Tuesday night from LaGrange reformatory where he is serving a 21-year sentence for manslaughter, to appear in the action in which the Commonwealth seeks to collect a $5,000 peace bond which it contends he forfeited. His testimony was heard Wednesday afternoon by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, and he was returned to LaGrange soon afterward.

The peace bond was executed after the fatal shooting of Bill Buck Baker at Blackburn's trailer-home near Knotley Hollow, and the Commonwealth contends Blackburn forfeited it by later shooting and wounding James "Red" Stone.

Judge Hill had not made a decision, Wednesday afternoon. Other testimony may be heard, it was said.

Rob't Wellman Resigns As President of FCHS; Vote To Present Play

The Floyd County Chapter, Eastern Kentucky Historical Society, voted Tuesday evening to accept the resignation of Robert S. Wellman as president and since he was also chairman of the Floyd County Civil War Observance committee, recommended a successor to the state committee.

Wellman, former county attorney and who has maintained an interest in the Society since it was founded in 1954, has accepted a position with the Federal Government and will move away in the near future. Henry P. Scalf was named to succeed Wellman as president of the Society and David Herodford was recommended to the state committee as chairman of the Civil War observance committee.

The Society voted to present The Proud Heritage again this year. This historical drama, offered last July on the grounds of The Garfield Place, will be presented this year in late August. James Salisbury, principal of Martin high school who directed the play last year, will again direct it, it is said.

The Society meets regularly on the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Regional Library, it is noted by Robert Wallace, secretary, and members are urged to attend.

Did you know that the disease beriberi got its name from a word meaning "I cannot?" According to some sources, the victims felt too sick to do anything—thus the name "beriberi" or "I cannot."

where in the world will move quickly into an economic relationship with the Common Market if the United States doesn't. He declared he would prefer competition from Europe and to "take on all comers in world enterprise," rather than face the alternative, which could be the loss of existing markets as a result of U. S. failure to cooperate.

Europe, he said, is much like parts of Eastern Kentucky—it has not realized its potential. He painted a picture of vivid contrasts in speaking of East and West Germany. In East Berlin, he said, despair and apathy are written on the faces of the people, the atmosphere is reminiscent of a "mined-out" coal town—a few families left, a few hens scratching in the dust, a few hound dogs lying around. West Berlin, on the other hand, is a scene of bustling activity, and the spirit of the people is buoyant.

Wine, a native of Knott county and a former Prestonsburg attorney, was joined here by his mother, Mrs. Marie Wine, of Frankfort. After visiting her and his daughter, Vi, a student at Centre College, Danville, he returned to Washington early this week. He will leave for Luxembourg Saturday.

The dinner meeting was held in the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria; the lecture, in the high school gymnasium. B. F. Reed, drift coal operator who visited Ambassador Wine in Luxembourg while touring Europe last summer, introduced honored guests. Fred Bullard, of Hazard, introduced Mr. Wine. Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, gave the invocation.

Those charged with enforcing the law, of educating and leading the public might consider why it was that men have almost stopped the once-common practices of dynamiting streams, seining fish, hunting out of season, disregarding size and bag limits, etcetera. Did culture and high ideals catch up with these fellows? No, it was the law. Officers made arrests, officials prosecuted, juries handed down verdicts, men went to jail or were fined, or both.

And that, incidentally, is the only procedure by which many of us will ever learn not to dump garbage along our roadsides, pollute streams and generally create havoc with the natural beauty of the countryside.

Education is wonderful. Patience is a virtue, almost as golden as silence. But patience can become toleration of intolerable conditions, and the only education some folks ever get is in the dear school of experience.

If the law will make a clean sweep of some of these violators, there will be less cleaning up left to be done by those who respect the law and take pride in the appearance of what would be one of the most beautiful places in the world if nobody lived here.

HEREWITH MY APPLICATION
It has just occurred to me that every golf club should have a new kind of pro. The swankiest course needs a professional duffer. Your ordinary club pro with his smooth swing, his intricate knowledge of the mechanics of the swing and all that simply drives most of us to desperation. It's a duffer to be a sort of buffer for every other duffer that they need.

Any golf club would be surprised to know how many members would not quit the game in disgust, or wrap their clubs around the nearest tree, or blow a gasket, if they only had a competent man for this important post.

And I hereby apply. I'm very competent, and my competency is recognized by at least a few golfers. There was Tom Dingus whom I give as a reference. He used me for a round or so at a time when he had a low opinion of his game. Thurman Hughes has switched from southpaw to playing the game in the conventional, right-handed way, and he has had a few moments of gloom. He has invited me for a round. Clifford Boyd came all the way from Paintsville and suggested we get together for a few holes. Under severe questioning he broke down and confessed he needed help.

I am at your service, gentlemen. I can and will help. I will trot out my well-grooved slice, I will look up to see a ball that's still on the tee, I will bury your troubles in my divots.

But I still maintain your golf club should pay me to restore your confidence in your respective games as I make you look good and feel much better about your status as golfers.

Miss Margaret Willis, director of Library Extension, said that Prestonsburg, as headquarters for the six-county Eastern Kentucky Library region, has a workable collection of books for its library and two Bookmobiles. Miss Willis added, however, that books are badly needed for deposit stations in smaller communities. In 1960-1961, she said, the Division put more than 20,000 new books and 400 records into circulation in the Eastern Kentucky region.

In announcing the project, William C. Erwin, Jr., chairman of the Louisville Jaycees, stressed that books be "usable and up to date. Books on Kentucky history or by Kentucky authors will be welcome, regardless of age. Others should have been published since 1950," he said.

Although declining to estimate the number of books the drive would bring in, Erwin said that a similar project in Akron, New York (population 3,000) netted a total of 20,000 volumes for Jaycees here.

Erwin stated that the Louisville Jaycees will inventory and catalogue the books with the help of the Library Extension Division and local volunteer librarians. He estimated the job would take about two months. The Division will also direct distribution to the various counties, he said.

Dates of the book drive coincide with National Library Week in Kentucky, April 8-14. Gov. Bert Combs proclaimed the observance last week.

Winners in Group II of towns below 1,800 population were: Sandy Hook, first place, $200; West Liberty, second place, $125; and Grayson, third place, $75.

The total of $800 in cash awards is contributed by 32 financial institutions in District 7. Emphasis in the 1961 contest was placed on community beautification as well as economic development.

ACTION IN 5 AREAS MARKS LEGISLATURE

The 1962 General Assembly's place in history will be marked by legislation in five major areas—budget, congressional redistricting, education, state governmental reorganization and constitutional revision.

Gov. Bert Combs said the Assembly, which concluded its session last Friday, made a "noticeable contribution" to the state's progress.

To finance state government for the next two fiscal years the Legislature adopted, upon Combs' recommendation, a budget, which includes more money to finance expansion in education and health and welfare services. The budget law appropriates $540,793,071 for the 1962-1963 fiscal year and $563,248,642 for the following year. The lawmakers left the sales tax intact.

The 1962 session cut the number of Kentucky congressmen from seven to eight in accordance with the failure of the state's population to increase at the rate of the rest of the nation.

The Administration's "Omnibus" Education Bill, now law, combines several phases of state authority over the public school system.

The reorganization act combines several health and welfare agencies into one superagency to be headed by a coordinator appointed by the Governor.

A 1962 act proposes a convention in 1965 to revise eight parts of the Kentucky Constitution. This would have to be re-enacted by the 1964 session and then approved by the voters in November of that year.

Two proposals to amend the Constitution were adopted by the 1962 session, which will need concurrence of the voters; to increase the number of amendments submitted at one time from two to five; and to repeal the salary section outright.

Some of the major work accomplished by the Legislature during its final week:

The lawmakers completed passage of the Omnibus Education Bill, containing several regulations of the public school system, and a companion measure to establish a commission to enforce standards of the teaching profession. Another education bill—to appropriate $75,000 for each of the next two years to a state committee for school district audits—was given final approval by the Senate.

The omnibus bill removes the state superintendent of public instruction from membership on the State Board of Education. The board is given authority to suspend local superintendents and board members and to recommend to local boards that superintendents, teachers and school officers be ousted. The state superintendent is given the right to recommend such suspensions.

Final approval was given to a bill to increase the maximum unemployment benefit payment from $37 to $40 a week and the minimum from $11 to $12. The bill carries a provision for disqualifying workers who quit their jobs voluntarily.

A Senate resolution to continue the Commission on Public Education and appropriate $35,000 a year for its operation was enacted.

The Senate gave final passage to a measure limiting absentee voting to college students, members of the armed forces and their wives, employees of the United States, members of the merchant marine, and members of religious or welfare agencies attached to the armed forces.

The House gave final legislative approval to a bill to tighten restrictions under which strip-mine operators qualify. It requires a minimum $1,000 bond to guarantee that operators will reclaim spoiled land.

The House approved and sent to the Governor a Senate bill to remove the $12,000-a-year maximum salary limit on officers and employees of the public school system. The Legislature previously had repealed salary limits imposed by law on governmental officers not named in the Constitution, but a separate bill was required to make this apply to school employees.

The Senate gave final legislative approval to a House measure adopting a revised code of criminal procedure, the first revision since 1876. Under two House bills given Senate approval the Court of Appeals would be permitted to assist circuit courts to correct overcrowded dockets and be required to establish terms and dates for circuit courts.

The Assembly enacted a bill that requires all political advertisements or statements to be signed by the writer or by names of the officers of the organization that issues them.

The Senate Rules Committee killed two bills that would have allowed school boards in nine counties to levy higher tax rates. A proposal to allow teachers in a school district to vote on whether they wanted Social Security coverage in addition to Teachers' Retirement benefits also died in the Rules Committee.

The House tabled, or in effect, killed, a bill to abolish the city-manager form of government in second class cities.

The House approved a Senate measure to set up a system of prevailing wages on public construction projects.

A measure specifying that no distributor, processor or producer can sell milk or milk products at less than cost to other distributors received final legislative approval in the House.

One of the last measures enacted as the session waned was a Senate bill to create an apparatus for state control of the peacetime use of atomic energy. Another last-minute bill enacted was the measure to reduce the weekly working time of firemen in second class cities.

FIRST FLOYD COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES AND YOUNG TEACHERS

Photographs of our yesterdays are now prized souvenirs of the past and many of them were taken when life's career was opening. This photograph, made in 1915, shows six young ladies who became teachers in the public schools.

The First National Bank salutes the teachers of our area who have dedicated themselves to guiding young students, now today's leaders.

Don Wallen Named Coach of the Year; Hazard Team Is Champ

Don Wallen, youthful holder of an outstanding coaching record at Wheelwright high school, was named Coach of the Year by his fellow-coaches of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference in session last Saturday at Hazard.

Wallen took his team to the state tournament in 1961 and to the regional finals this year.

Hazard high school was officially declared the 1962 basketball champion of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference. The Bulldogs also won last season's football championship.

Don Wallen's Trojans were awarded the runner-up basketball trophy.

Mickey Gibson, Hazard's fine all-state guard, was named the basketball player of the league for the year, thus joining Ricky Kestner, who won the same honor in football.

Named to the all-conference basketball team were:

Ricky Kestner and Floyd Hatfield, Belfry; Doug Kincaid, Fleming-Neon; Sam Smith and Mickey Gibson, Hazard; Larry Pack, Jenkins; Bill Woolfster, Pikeville; Danny McClarnais, Napier; Jim Rose and Bob Sword, Wheelwright; Dixon Nunnelly, Prestonsburg; Donnie Phipps, Elkhorn City.

Jim Caudill, Hazard high principal, was re-elected league-president, and Arthur Mullins, veteran Elkhorn City Athletic director and basketball coach, was re-named secretary-treasurer for the eleventh consecutive year.

Regarding the spring sports play-offs, the regional track meet at Prestonsburg will determine the league winner. The conference school that advances farthest in the meet will be declared the champ. The same will hold true in baseball.

Open dates for the 1962 football season: Cumberland, October 5; Belfry, September 21; Buckhorn, September 28; October 26; Wheelwright, September 28 and October 12; Napier, October 12; Whitesburg, August 27 and November 3.

Lexington, Ky.—Clair Timothy, a vigorous, hardy hay grass released by the University of Kentucky in 1958, proved its worth again in special tests last year. William Stroube, UK Ag Experiment Station agronomist, said several classes of seed of timothy were grown alone and with alfalfa. There were no marked differences in yield regardless of the class used.

NUNNERY HONORED

In being named to the all-Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference basketball team, Dixon Nunnelly, Prestonsburg high school senior, became the first local athlete since the days of Lowell Hughes to be so honored, by making both the football and basketball select teams.

Nunnelly averaged 15.6 points as a guard on the Blackcat case team and is expected to qualify for the state track meet in the 440-yard run and as a member of the 880-yard relay team.

Wheelwright high came in for its share of honors at the weekend gathering of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference coaches in Hazard.

Don Wallen was voted by his fellow members as "Coach-of-the-Year" for doing the best coaching job in the league, and two of his players, Jim Rose and Bob Sword, were named to the all-league team.

Rose missed the Courier-Journal's all-State first team by two votes; thus was named to the second team. Tommy Castle, Virgie's outstanding guard, was also on the second team.

Floyd McCoy, Inez senior center, was the only other 15th region player named to any of the three all-state teams, and he was a third team choice.

According to voting of the cage coaches this is how the region's stars were tabbed at the close of the season: 1. James Rose, Wheelwright; 2. Tommy Castle, Virgie; 3. Dean Stewart, McDowell; 4. Floyd McCoy, Inez; 5. Don Blair, Virgie.

Paintsville's 20th annual pro-amateur golf tournament has been set for July 6 to 8 this year. Warm weather over the past week-end saw about 50 jig-fishermen on Dewey Lake. Catches were scarce, although yours truly and Paul D. Wells came in with five in the 1 1/2 to 2 pound class. All were Kentucky bass. (Mr. Moore should have seen the 20-inch landed by Olin Elliott—Ed.)

Wheelwright high has two open dates in football for the 1962 season, September 28 and October 12.

What's Going On in
FISH & WILDLIFE
by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Get out your tackle, boys, this fishing is going to be in full swing at any minute now.

We're right now in what should be the height of the fishing season, but because of high waters, March fishing, especially in the first two weeks, has been dragging. It is dragging not because of a dearth of fish, but because the waters were in poor condition for fishing and due to the fact that fishermen were unable to get into the waters.

However, a brighter day is coming and should be here at any minute now. With the cessation of rains and with warmer weather, this spring should offer some of the very best fishing in a number of years. There are several reasons for this.

First of all, the lakes and streams will undoubtedly have an abundance of fresh, cool water. It will be rich water from the food standpoint because much fertility has been washed in by the heavy rains that carried such food materials from the watersheds.

Furthermore, fish apparently like shelter, and there will be plenty of these this spring. Because of the high waters many trees that have lined the banks of the lakes have toppled into the water, offering ideal shelters for several species of fish. Drift piles will be found in many bays and tributaries in areas where they were not to be found last season. These, too, will offer good fishing areas and will be visited by many fishermen.

Then, jig fishing, which has been stymied by the high waters, should break into the picture the moment the lakes recede to their banks and the waters become stabilized.

Then, too, there are the famous runs of white bass and crappie that are in the immediate offing.

Yes, the fishing season has been slow, but there is no doubt in my mind but that when the conditions get right within a few days excellent fishing will be had in Kentucky waters.

Deadline Is Extended For Vet Bonus Filing By Act of Assembly

Gov. Bert Combs has signed into law House Bill 23 extending the deadline for filing Kentucky veterans bonus applications to June 30, 1962.

In granting the extension, Governor Combs urged all eligible veterans who have not yet filed to get their applications in as soon as possible. The bill also stipulates that the Governor may, by executive order, grant a further extension to December 31, 1962.

"All applications received under this extension will be processed as speedily as possible in the order they are received," said Maj. Gen. Arthur Y. Lloyd, Kentucky adjutant general. He urged that applicants exercise care in filling out applications to avoid delays.

To date, 720 bonus applications have been received by the Veterans Division since the previous deadline of December 31, 1961. Processing of these applications will begin immediately, Lloyd said. There are an estimated 25,000 eligible Kentucky veterans and beneficiaries who have not applied for a bonus, he added.

THE FEMININE SIDE OF BOWLING NEWS
By IMA BOWLER

Final plans have been made or the City Association Tournament for women, and here is the information I promised you on that. It is open to all W. I. B. C. members, and will be held in three parts on the following dates: May 2-3-4, Crown Lanes, Team Handicap Events; May 7-8-9, Lake Lanes, Singles-Doubles Events; May 10-11-12, Starlite Lanes, Scratch team events.

There will be an all events trophy awarded, and to be eligible for this you must bowl in at least three of the events. The trophy will be awarded on highest total pins from all events.

For more information contact tournament committee members Jess Mahan, Earlene Daniels, Venice Reynolds, Dena McNally, Betty Davis, Barbara Franklin, Iris Hall.

For the benefit of some of you who possibly don't understand some of this—I didn't until it was explained to me—let me undertake to put it a bit simpler. The first event at Crown Lanes will be a handicap event between teams. Any team already in existence is eligible. The winner of the team handicap event in highest total pins will be the City Association champion. Handicap will be found by taking your average and subtracting from 180. There will be no limit on the handicap you can have, so there is really no reason why any team shouldn't enter.

Singles and doubles events mean that individuals and pairs will bowl for high scores. You can pick your own pairs, and again prize money will be based on how many entries we have. There will be a team scratch event at Pikeville, and you can see how well you can do there, cash prizes to be awarded just like the others.

Lake Lanes Ladies will play host to the Blue and Grey Ladies team from Pikeville next Sunday. These gals haven't lost yet, so go by and support them. High bowler at Lake last week was Mary Zemo who bowled 208 on Tuesday night. Shame on you, Mary—on Wednesday night you got 108. Margaret Stanley was Lake Lanes' pin princess and Faye Potter was high bowler at the Crown with 191.
