PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

AUGUST 1, 1963

This Town... That World

Dog days are about to set in, I am not particularly happy, the weather is gosh-awful, and I am ready to agree with our readers—there really isn't any overpowering need for this column to be written this week, if at all.

REVISED VERSION

I listen to stories of many types, hoping to hear one which, perchance, can be cleaned up enough to be printed. The unfairness to crop up in quite a while is the one about the traveling salesman and the motel room. Told there wasn't one available, he reminded the manager that he had been a weekly guest there for years, that there just had to be some place for him. Which led the manager to look up a bit more closely and to come up with a cubicle which was barely large enough for a half-bed, a small chair and a radio.

But the guest was overwhelmed to find therein a knight in armor, a tall, frosty glass of lemonade, and the radio playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

At this point the narrator pauses and inquires of the listener, "Heard it?" The victim declares he hasn't, and the spinner of this yarn grins fiendishly and informs him, "You should have—it's the national anthem."

THE REASON?

The State Department of Health informs one and all that illegitimate births in Kentucky have increased 61% in the last 10 years. This reminds me that the state used to get a lot of wolf scalps by offering a bounty.

COMBS NAMED AS TRUSTEE

Five East Kentuckians Named to Hospital Board; Dr. Heydinger Is Elected

Governor Bert T. Combs was one of six additional trustees elected last week for Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc.

Five of the six are Eastern Kentuckians. They are, in addition to the Governor, whose home is in Prestonsburg, the Honorable Edward Hill, circuit judge of Harlan county; Maxwell P. Barrett, of the Hazard law firm of Reeves, Barret, & Cooper; Maurice Henry, publisher of the Middlesboro Daily News, and Mrs. Harry M. Caudill, Whitesburg.

David K. Heydinger, M. D., of Columbus, Ohio, a member of the Board of National Missions, United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., and on its Division of Health and Welfare, was also named.

Except in the case of the Governor, who will begin his service as trustee Dec. 10 after he has completed his term of office, the election is effective immediately.

Trustees will receive no compensation for their service. The announcement of the election of the six additional trustees was made following a meeting of the Board of Trustees named June 28, when Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc. was organized.

2 ROAD JOBS ARE AWARDED WITHIN WEEK

Successful Bidder On Little Paint Work Is Adams Construction

Two separate contracts were awarded last week to the Adams Construction Corporation to do bituminous concrete surfacing of 1.505 miles of the Whitaker (Little Paint) road in this county. The company's low bids for the work totalled $27,643.75.

The surfacing job will begin at U. S. 23 and extend westward. The improvement is being financed through the state's rural secondary program, which is financed with two cents of the gasoline tax.

Surfacing of the new U. S. 23, near Hager Hill, began Wednesday morning and is slated for completion by November. It was said that grade and drain work on the route, which includes excavating deeper into the cliff near Blockhouse Bottom to provide a solid roadway, will be finished by the time surfacing reaches that point.

Surfacing of the portion of the Salsyville-Prestonsburg road which has been completed between Prestonsburg and the junction with Ky. 404 is well under way, as is the work of widening U. S. 23 between Patton and Friend streets here.

NAB OSBORNE WITH WHISKEY

Troopers, ABC Agents Continue Operations Against Bootlegging

State troopers and Alcoholic Beverage Control Board agents continued their operations in the county through last week in the drive on bootlegging, and it was announced this week that the pressure will be maintained. Two more arrests are reported.

One of those arrested is Charles D. "Onion" Osborne, who was captured last Thursday night on Middle Creek, with eight cases of beer and a case and a half of whiskey being taken from the auto which he was driving. The car was registered in the name of Ervin Shepherd, of Blue River, State Police said.

The second arrested was Clarence Slone, who was captured on Turkey Creek Saturday night by State Trooper Larry Hutton and ABC Agents Claude Flanery and Bill Y. Manning. The officers confiscated two and a half cases of beer and six half-pints of whiskey and gin.

Trials of Slone and others are scheduled for next Monday.

Referring to the Floyd county liquor situation and work undertaken to meet it, Harold S. Moberly, commissioner of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said Wednesday that A. B. Meade, of Prestonsburg, is malt beverage administrator with the department and is not in charge of enforcement. "I make this statement in fairness to Mr. Meade," he said. "I don't want him to be blamed for action taken when he is not responsible for it."

Mr. Meade said earlier, "I have no enforcement authority, but if I did I would not shirk that duty."

Osborne entered a plea of guilty before County Judge Henry Stumbo, was fined $20 and costs, jailed for 30 days and placed under $500 peace bond. The plea of guilty reduced severity of his sentence, it was said.

His arrest was made by State Troopers Elmo Allen, Don Goble and ABC Agents C. A. Flanery, Bill Y. Manning and Elwood Whit.

The body was returned to this county Monday, and funeral rites were conducted Tuesday from the Old Beaver Church at Drift, the Revs. Mack McCloud, Jennell Moore and Luther Conn officiating. Burial was made in the family mausoleum at Whitehouse under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

EMMA YOUTH IS DROWNED

At Ypsilanti, Michigan; Companion Finds Body Following Lake Tragedy

Jackie Lee Jarrell, 17-year-old Prestonsburg high school junior, drowned in a public swimming area in a lake at Ypsilanti, Michigan, Sunday. He had gone from his home near Emma to Michigan to visit relatives a few days ago.

The youth and a friend were swimming together when the victim stepped into deep water and disappeared. He was brought to the surface soon afterward by his companion, it is said.

He was a son of Woodrow Jarrell and Hattie Fannin Jarrell, who survive. Surviving also are a brother, James Edward Jarrell, and a sister, Joan Jarrell, both at home.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) from the Benedict Baptist Chapel on Cow Creek, the Revs. W. D. Jagers and William Amburgey officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery on Cow Creek under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

BUSINESSMAN ROAD VICTIM

Ligon Merchant Dies In Pike County Mishap; Funeral Held Wednesday

Effort Reynolds, 51, Ligon merchant and auto dealer, was killed instantly Sunday afternoon at East Elkhorn City when the car he was driving left the highway on a curve. Death was due to head injuries, it is said.

Billy Hamilton, 25, also of Ligon, a passenger in the Reynolds car, suffered minor injuries. He said that Reynolds was thrown from the car. State Policeman Cecil Uzzle, who investigated the accident, said that it was thought defective brakes caused the tragedy.

Reynolds was a son of the late Festus and Belle Newsom Reynolds. His wife, Mirtle Newsom Reynolds, survives. Surviving sons and daughters are Billy Gene Reynolds, of Beaver, James Calvin and Freda Reynolds, both at home, and Mrs. Fay Salisbury, Mason, Ohio. A brother and three surviving sisters are Edgar Reynolds and Mrs. Maxie Lucas, both of Ligon, Mrs. Hazel Brown, Mason, Ohio, and Mrs. Clara Tackett, Melvindale, Michigan.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday from the home, the Revs. Jerry Hall, Charlie Jones, Milford Adams and others officiating. Burial was made in the Burton cemetery at Ligon under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

THREE TOWNS PLAN PLANTS

Federal Funds Aiding In Sewage Treatment; Hall Issues Reminders

The towns of Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville and Louisa are either putting in new sewage systems with treatment plants or have applied for federal funds with which to make these installations.

Commenting on these efforts, Dr. R. L. Hall, health officer, Floyd County Health Department, said this week:

"Since these towns are making an effort to take this type of pollution out of our streams, every effort should be taken by individuals and firms that are not in these towns to install proper sewage systems so as to keep their sewage out of the creeks and river."

"If you are planning," he added, "to build a new home or business that has a bathroom or rest-rooms, or even if you are installing a new bathroom in an old building, you should make sure that your sewage systems are properly installed. If you are not sure how to install your system, then you should contact the health department and a representative will come by and give you the necessary instructions."

Dr. Hall reminded the people of Floyd county that if they are planning to build a store, restaurant, clothing store, garage, service station, or any other type building that (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

Korean Scouting Leader Guest Speaker At Camp; Has Distinguished Record

Mrs. Lah was accompanied to the camp by Dr. Burnis Jarman, president of Pikeville College, Miss Virginia Hatcher and Mrs. Lon B. Rogers, all of Pikeville. The Korean Girl Scout leader is a guest of the Jarman.

Mrs. Lah has a distinguished record in international Girl Scouting. She was a delegate to the 18th World Conference of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, in Denmark in June and visited this country in 1957 as an Adult International Visitor. Her travels have been world-wide.

She plans to visit the national headquarters of the Girl Scouts, observe the movement in local councils in small cities, review training materials and add to her information on service work projects.

PLANT OFFERS NEW PRODUCT

Betsy Layne Refinery To Expand Facilities; Fourth Station Erected

V. H. "Jack" Tomlinson, manager of the Kentucky Oil & Refining Co., Betsy Layne, announced last week the production of a new fuel at the company's plant and plans for expansion of manufacturing facilities.

Added to the list of Kentucky Oil & Refining's products is a lighter fluid which is being marketed to wholesalers under the trade name, Kenlite. A cheap gasoline known as Kentane, for use in older model cars, also is on the market.

The company recently added a 210,000-gallon storage tank to its Betsy Layne plant and now is in process of adding other equipment which will cost an estimated $50,000, Tomlinson said.

The firm will soon open its fourth service station, the latest at Garth, and plans five other stations. The planned expansion program will double the present seven employees of the company, it was said.

Garden Improvement Winners Are Named; Lafferty, Top Place

Winners were picked Wednesday in this county in the Eastern Kentucky Garden Improvement program. The three winners for first, second and third place are Johnnie Lafferty, Sr., of Cliff, Ernest Bates, Huesville, and Dick Davis, Prestonsburg.

Other gardens judged of high quality were those of Arthur Hall, Galveston, Garland Martin, Langley, Alvin Taylor, Prestonsburg, and Oliver Marshall, David.

District judging by specialists will be made next week, it is said by Robert Jones, Floyd county agent. The district includes seven Eastern Kentucky counties.

This is the third annual garden improvement derby in this area. The project is sponsored by a state-wide committee. More than 200 gardens were entered in this competition this year which was only one-half of the number in the previous year. The March flood was considered a deterrent to the program this year, Jones said.

ARREST FIVE IN SHOOTING

Bonds Totalling $10,500 Executed After Affray; Tackett Is Hospitalized

Five men are under bonds totalling $10,500 following their arrest in connection with the shooting of Delmar (Bob) Tackett on Little Mud Creek Saturday night.

Tackett was severely wounded from the blast of a shotgun fired at close range into his legs. The charge tore into the calves of his legs, and he was taken to the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Those arrested and charges against each:

A. B. Hall, shooting and wounding and reckless use of a deadly weapon; L. C. Hall, shooting and wounding; Columbus Hall, assault and battery and shooting and wounding; Finley Hall, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; Ernie Hall, shooting and wounding. Bond required on each count for each defendant was $2,500.

The men were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Harold Johnson and James Hall.

Questioning of the five failed to elicit definite information, it was said at the County Judge's office. The affidavit signed by the wounded man, however, accused A. B. Hall of firing the shot. Tackett said he and Ernie Hall went to the store of Bennie Marshall and there got into a fight over $10 which he claimed.

The men were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson and James Hall.

The Court of Appeals last week overruled a motion asking that Pikeville be restrained from issuing criminal warrants for non-compliance.

Both the motion and the suit were filed by Ward and two other Pikeville residents, O. S. Batten, civil and mining engineer, and Dr. M. D. Flanery.

The publishing company owns the Pike County News, a weekly newspaper, and Pikeville radio station WLSL. Ward is editor and publisher of the newspaper.

Ward pleaded not guilty on grounds that the ordinance is unconstitutional. However, it was agreed by stipulation that the firm had not complied with the ordinance.

The company was accused of failing to file an established net profits report and failing to deduct the occupational license fee from salaries paid to about 20 employees. The company has paid a minimum license fee required of businesses there.

The city began enforcing the revenue measure in June.

The revenue measure, effective July 1 of last year, was upheld in Pike circuit court by Judge James B. Stephenson.

It calls for a 1 percent levy on the gross earnings of employees, except domestics, in the city, and a 1 percent levy on net profits of those engaged in trades, businesses, and professions.

The measure includes a minimum license fee for trades, professions, and businesses. Those in these categories pay either the minimum license fee or the 1 percent net profits tax, whichever is greater.

The penalty for failing to comply ranges from fines of $50 to $500, a jail sentence of 30 days, or both.

City Attorney O. T. Hinton had asked for a fine of the maximum amount, $500, but no jail sentence.

FISHTRAP JOB ON SCHEDULE, PERKINS TOLD

Railroad Relocation Must Await Changes In Highway, Report

Work on the Fishtrap Reservoir project on which much of the Big Sandy valley is pinning its hopes of protection from flood devastation is moving along on schedule, but that schedule does not envision its completion till the summer of 1963.

So, in effect, wrote Brig. Gen. Howard W. Penney, acting director of Civil Works, to Congressman Carl D. Perkins who had inquired about the progress made in negotiations between the Corps of Engineers and the C. & O. Railway Company toward effecting relocation of the railroad in the reservoir area.

Completion of the relocated U. S. 460 in the area is expected before June 30, next year, and relocation of the railroad, said Gen. Penney, cannot be begun till this job is near completion. Negotiations with C. & O. he added, have not produced a definite agreement, but, even so, this has not retarded construction.

Congressman Perkins expressed concern about the reservoir project and his desire to expedite in every way possible its completion. Wrote Gen. Penney, in part:

"It is recognized that the devastating floods which occurred during the spring of this year have caused considerable agitation for early completion of this project and we are sympathetic with the desires of the people in the area to furnish relief from this situation at the earliest possible date. However, as you know there are limitations, funding and otherwise, within which an undertaking of this magnitude must be accomplished. Our current schedule is for initiation of the dam structure in fiscal year 1965, and completion of the overall project by the summer of 1968. Meanwhile the funds made available to date have been utilized primarily for highway relocation, land acquisition, and continuation of detailed planning. During fiscal year 1964 highway relocation, necessary to replace roads affected by the project and to provide access to properties which will be isolated by the reservoir, will be continued. The land acquisition program and utility relocations currently under way will also be continued during fiscal year 1964 and, if progress on negotiations with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway permit, railroad relocation will be initiated.

"You may be sure that every effort is being exerted to assure completion of the Fishtrap Reservoir project on schedule as the urgency of providing flood protection in the Big Sandy River basin is fully appreciated."

Questioning of the five failed to elicit definite information, it was said at the County Judge's office. The affidavit signed by the wounded man, however, accused A. B. Hall of firing the shot. Tackett said he and Ernie Hall went to the store of Bennie Marshall and there got into a fight over $10 which he claimed.

Confiscation and sale of property allegedly used in the illegal whiskey and ABC agents.

It was alleged that Shepherd permitted Osborne to use the auto, knowing Osborne was engaged in the illegal transportation of alcoholic beverages. The complaint demanded that Shepherd be found to have committed a nuisance as provided by KRS 242.310, that the auto be forfeited to the Commonwealth, an order of sale entered and the Sheriff directed to sell the car.

The defendant in his answer to the action denied that his car was used for transport of alcoholic beverages with his knowledge and consent and also pointed out that the General Motors Acceptance Corporation has first and superior lien against it in the amount of $630.21, gional Hospitals, Inc., was incorporated. It will begin to operate five Miners Memorial hospitals in Eastern Kentucky, October 1. The hospitals are in Harlan, Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro and Whitesburg.

The non-profit, non-sectarian corporation was set up through efforts of the United Presbyterian Board of National Missions to keep the hospitals open and operating as community hospitals.

The articles of incorporation of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., provide for a board of trustees of no less than five and no more than thirty. Eleven have now been named.

It is expected that at least 20 trustees will be on the board by fall. They will be recruited in Kentucky and other Appalachian states as well as in other parts of the nation.

About ten trusteeships will be held open until next year, when Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., is scheduled to purchase five remaining Miners Memorial Hospitals in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Medical and hospital and regional advisory councils will soon be formed to consult with the trustees. Community advisory councils will also be appointed.

Methods used by state pollution-control agencies to check water quality also will be shown.

The editorial closed with, "We hereby challenge the Board of Commissioners and its agents to issue a warrant for the arrest of the editor of this newspaper. We shall then see whether the time has been reached in this city when honest dissent is a crime."

Hinton said the defendant, acting on legal advice, was determined to test the ordinance, not only by civil suit but through criminal proceedings. He added that the defendant was acting in good faith in testing the ordinance.

It's the season for melons. Choosing a top quality watermelon is easy if you're buying a half or any piece where you can see the interior—dark, soft, watery areas indicate decay. When you buy the whole melon, look for one that's symmetrical in shape and firm to the touch. It should have a velvet-like bloom over the surface. When the melon is ripe, the underside usually will be yellow and the stem dry.

INTERSTATE, PARKWAY SYSTEMS 46% COMPLETE

Frankfort, Ky., July 29 (Sp.) — Forty-six per cent of the interstate and parkway road system planned in Kentucky is either open to traffic or under construction, according to the State Department of Highways.

About 229 miles of interstate roads and parkways are open and 244 miles are under construction, the Department reports.

Under construction and partially completed are Interstate 64, 65, 75 and 264 and the Mountain and Western Kentucky Parkways. Either in planning or engineering phases are Interstate 24, 71, 275 and 471 and the Central Kentucky Parkway.

The Department gives this review of Kentucky's multi-million dollar program under the direction of Highway Commissioner Henry Ward, beginning with projects in the west and continuing across the state:

Interstate 24—route to be established by Federal Bureau of Public Roads, Kentucky Highway Department, pass west of Hopkinsville, connect with Western Kentucky Parkway near Princeton, continue west to near Paducah and then bridge the Ohio River into Illinois.

Western Kentucky Parkway—now under construction, this route extends from I-65 near Elizabethtown to Princeton, 127 miles. If I-24 is not located in this area, the Parkway will extend to the Paducah area. Paving is more than half completed and this Parkway is scheduled to be opened this fall.

Interstate 65—fifty-six miles, from Louisville to Upton, including the Kentucky Turnpike now open. Work in progress through downtown Louisville and superstructure of bridge across Ohio River to Jeffersonville, Indiana, being placed.

Central Kentucky Parkway—this 72-mile four-lane highway will extend from I-65 at Elizabethtown through Hardin, Nelson, Washington, Anderson, Mercer and Woodford counties to US-60 near Versailles. When coupled with other trunklines, this Parkway will give Kentuckians their first east-west cross-state route. It is estimated to cost $53.5 million.

Interstate 64—forty miles of this 192-mile route are open from Louisville to US-60 east of Frankfort and 18 miles from Winchester to east of Mt. Sterling. I-64 will extend in Kentucky from Louisville to the West Virginia border. Eleven miles from the Big Sandy River in Boyd county to the Carter county line are expected to be completed this year. Fourteen miles from near Lexington to west of Winchester are under construction. This route will serve 12 counties and the cities of Louisville, Shelbyville, Frankfort, Lexington, Winchester, Mt. Sterling, Morehead and Ashland.

Interstate 264 (Watterson Expressway)—this is a 14-mile route circling Louisville from Shively to US-42. It will tie in later with I-64 and then stretch 22.5 miles to I-71. This expressway system will be capable of handling Louisville's heavy traffic volume.

Interstate 71—mainly in planning stage, although some right-of-way acquired in Louisville area. This 77-mile route will reach from I-264 near Louisville to I-75 at Walton, south of Cincinnati, and then continue bearing both I-71 and I-75 markers to Cleveland, Ohio. It will cross seven Kentucky counties.

Interstate 75—will extend 186 miles from Covington-Cincinnati bridge (now under construction) to the Tennessee border, estimated to cost $240 million. Open to traffic are 34 miles from Covington to Williamstown; 12 miles from Porter road to Georgetown; eight miles from Clay's Ferry Bridge (Kentucky River) to Richmond, and four miles from Saxton to the Tennessee border. Under construction are 18 miles from Ky. 36 near Williams-town to Porter road north of Georgetown; 6.2 miles from Georgetown to

White, Negro Students In Huntington 'Share-In'

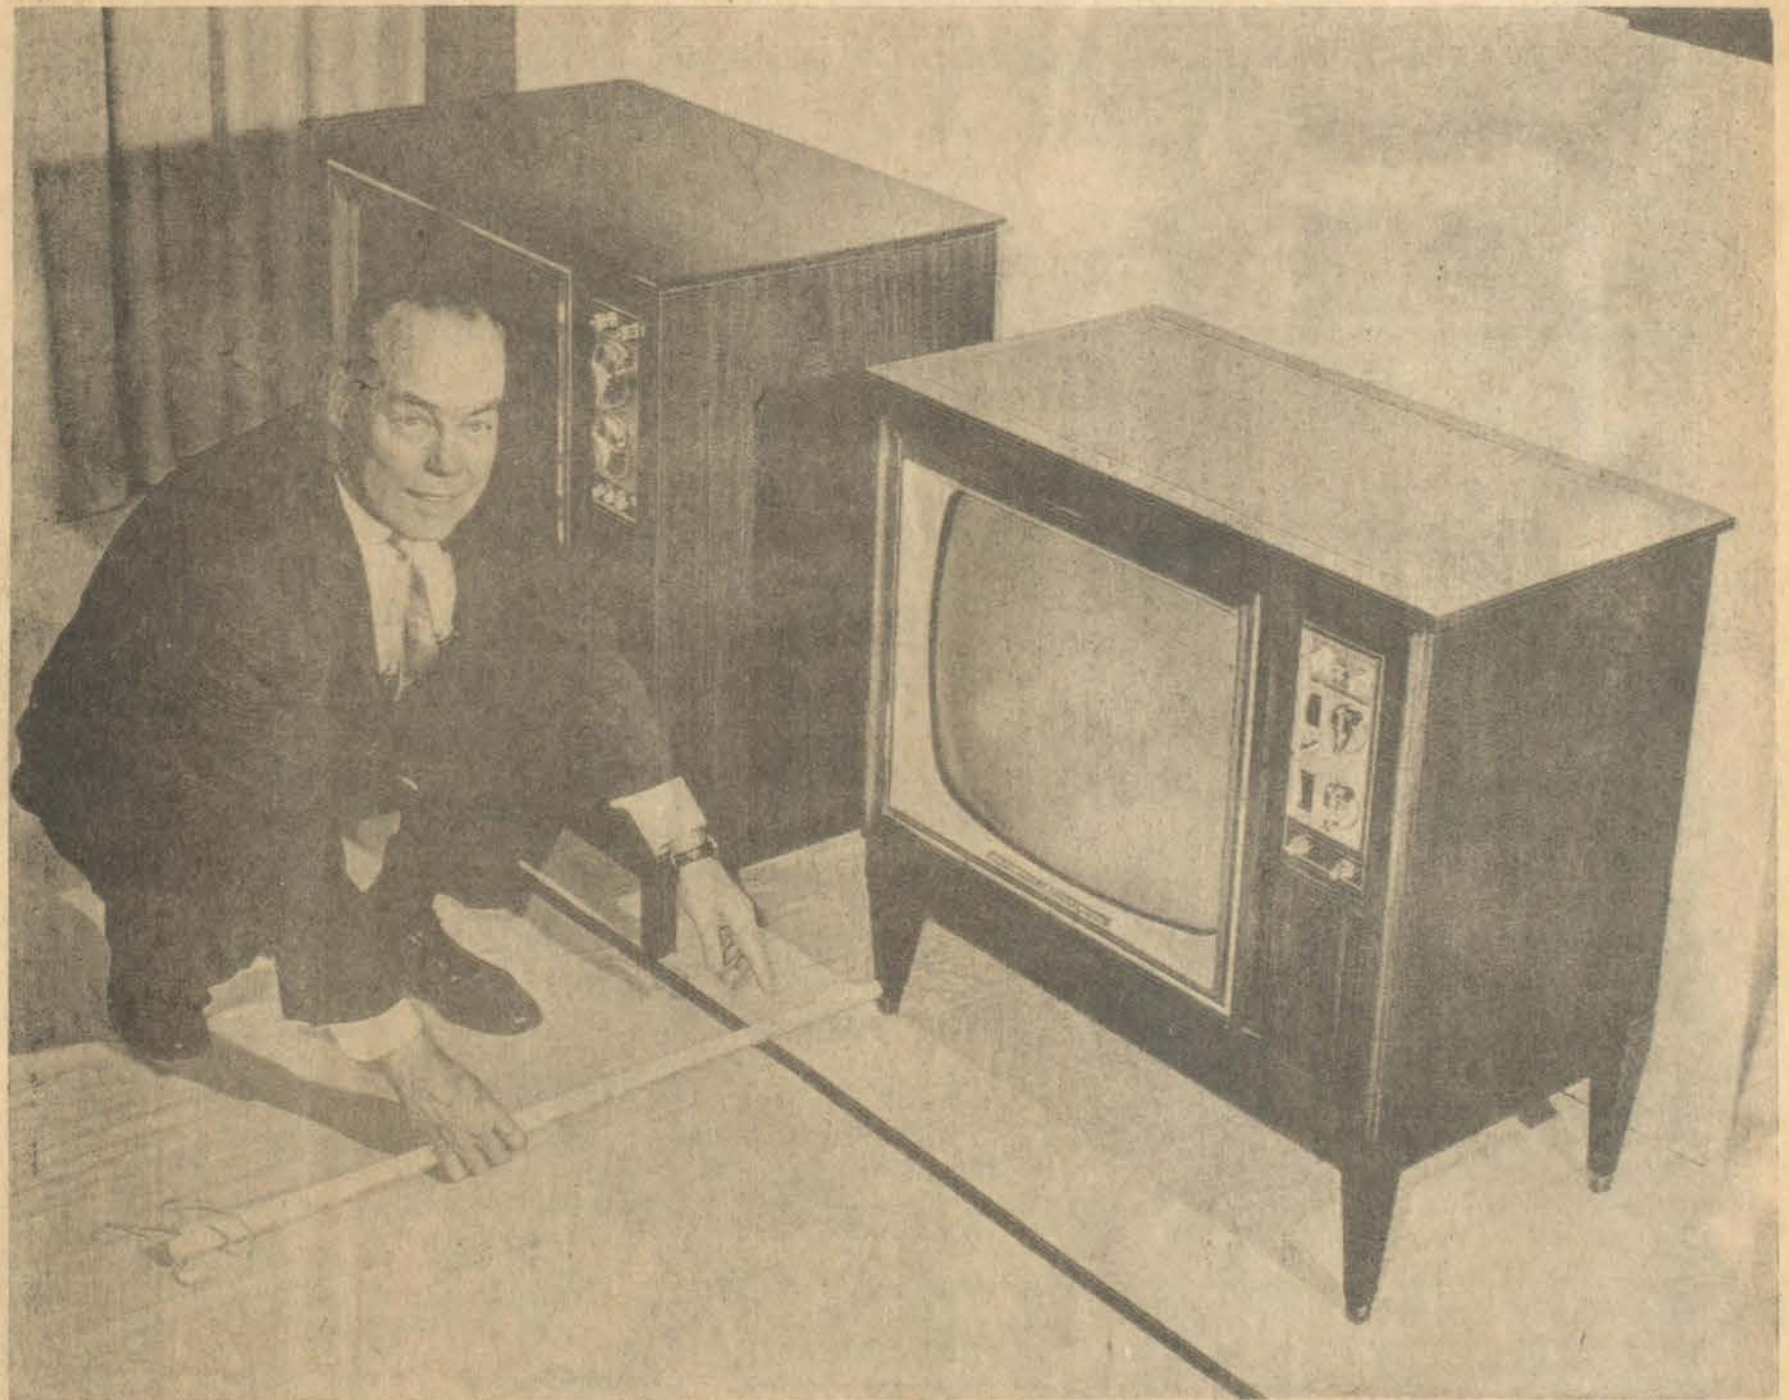

Racial demonstrations took place in Huntington, July 20 toward removal of discrimination in public accommodations.

The Civil Interest Progressive Organization of Huntington, composed of white and Negro students, held a "share-in" at the White Pantry Restaurant on 9th Street, off 5th Avenue. All demonstrators were non-violent and well-behaved, but were refused service. The manager turned off the air-conditioning, turned on a heater fan in order to force the students to leave. The students remained, and the establishment was closed approximately an hour later. Further demonstrations are anticipated by the C.I.P. Organization to end racial discrimination in public facilities and in employment.

"The tempo of action will increase in Huntington," a C.I.P. spokesman said.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE
by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Are you getting all out of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Department that you should? Are you availing yourself of the help and assistance that is given by employees of this Department to individuals and groups? Do you talk with your CO about conservation problems; about hunting areas and fishing spots? Actually, do you even know your conservation officer? If you don't, you should.

A conservation officer is no longer just a law enforcement officer, although that, to be sure, is his main duty. But, he actually is a public relations man; and advisor; a hunting and fishing consultant and the man in your community who should be able to explain fully the services, the program and the objectives of your department.

If you are having trouble with a farm pond for instance, consult this officer; if he does not know the answer to that problem, he can get it. If you are not clear on a particular phase of the law, he will, in all likelihood, be able to put you right. If you are going fishing or hunting, he should know the areas which you should visit at a given time of the year; he should know about the bait best suited; the game most prevalent; the areas that are open to hunting or fishing and he may be able to point out a safety device that would come in handy.

Yes, your conservation officer is a jack-of-all-trades and is good at them all. He is a fellow you should know and if you are not acquainted with him, it would be a good idea to seek him out and have a chat with him.

Artist and Naturalist Retained To Lecture; West Virginia Native

Ray Harm, wildlife artist and naturalist, has been retained by the Kentucky Department of Parks as a staff artist and lecturer for special week-end programs, Edward V. Fox, Parks commissioner, has announced.

This agreement with the noted painter is a result of the Department's efforts to offer quality and variety in the recreation program of the parks, Charles Spears, Parks recreation director said.

At each week-end session, Friday night will be "Meet Ray Harm Night." The evening program, starting at 7:30, will include painting, nature study and interpretation.

On Saturday morning, those participating will enjoy hikes or guided nature walks. Harm will go along to interpret wildlife and nature study.

Harm, a 36-year-old native of the West Virginia mountain country, was reared near Elkins. He now lives at Berea. His colorful background includes training show horses for circus performances, dude-ranching, wild-west shows, cowboy work and music.

He and the members of his family—wife Carmella, daughters Barbara Jo, 14, and Linda, 11, and son, Ray, Jr., 9—have entertained many gatherings with their folk singing.

On January 1 this year, Harm became the first Herman L. Donovan artist in residence at the University of Kentucky. This is the first award made from the fund donated by the President emeritus from the income off his farm, near Richmond.

His first series through August 31 for the Department of Parks follows:

August 2-3—Kentucky Dam Village State Park, Gilbertsville.

August 9-11—Pine Mountain State Park, Pineville.

August 16-17—Audubon State Park, Henderson.

August 23-24—Carter Caves State Park, Olive Hill.

August 30-31—Pennyrite Forest State Park, Dawson Springs.

Strict Enforcement Of Strip Mine Laws Pledged by Matlick

Frankfort, Ky., July 29 (Spl.) — "The state's strip and auger mining laws must be rigidly enforced," Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlick said recently in commenting on a recent WHAS-TV film concerning floods and strip mining in Eastern Kentucky.

Matlick said he issued orders shortly after taking office in April, 1960, that every effort would be put forth by the Department of Conservation to bring about complete compliance with the state law regulating strip and auger mining.

"The law had not been rigidly enforced prior to 1960. On July 1, 1960, an investigation showed that only nine out of a total of 160 operators in Eastern Kentucky had posted bonds and obtained permits as required by the law," Matlick said.

The 1960 and 1962 Legislatures strengthened the law by regulating auger mining, increasing the total bond required from $100 to $1,000, and permitting legal action to be instituted in the Franklin circuit court for non-compliance with the law.

The basic requirements of the present act require an operator to post a bond of $100 an acre, furnish a map of the area, and pay a fee of $50 plus $15 for each acre he disturbs. It also requires some grading and revegetation of the area.

Reports from the Division of Strip Mining and Reclamation show that as of June 1, 1963, all operators of record were in compliance or legal action against them had been initiated.

"Bringing about compliance has not been easy," Matlick said. In January, 1961, 112 operators from Eastern Kentucky were cited to appear in hearings held in the Commissioner's office to show cause why they should not be forced to stop their operations.

Fifteen operators in Eastern Kentucky were sued in circuit courts for operating without a permit. Nine of these suits resulted in fines from $100 to $1,000 each, one was dismissed because the operator had left the state and five are pending in the courts. Eighteen bonds have been forfeited and the money is being spent to reclaim the areas for which the bonds were posted.

"Most of the unreclaimed areas were disturbed prior to 1960 when the law was not so rigidly enforced and during the period when auger mining was not regulated," said Matlick.

"Under present statutes there is nothing our office can do to reclaim these old areas but we can and will insist on complete compliance on all current operations. Orders were issued today," Matlick said. "to the Director of the Division of Strip Mining and Reclamation and his fieldmen to redouble their efforts to see that all operators are adhering to the law and regulations."

Matlick has also requested the Director to furnish his office a complete report on the status of all operations in both Eastern and Western Kentucky, within 30 days.

"If there are any current operators not fulfilling their responsibilities under the law," Matlick said, "this office would like to know so that action can be taken to bring about compliance or cancel their permits."

IN MEMORY

In memory of dear brother, Chester Wells, who died two years ago, August 1, 1961:

Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for that sweet, happy smile,
From a loved one gone,
Some day we hope to meet you
and see that smile,
In a better land,
Never to part again.
Just when your years were best,
You were called from this world's sorrows,
To go to eternal rest,
There are things you didn't do,
Though you did your best.
Now you are gone,
Your going was truly just,
For no one lives forever,
Life is just a lease,
Your dying was really a must.
Though it is hard for us,
We must dry our eyes and try not to weep,
You and our Father had a promise to keep,
In the kingdom above.
A wonderful brother, father,
and aid.
One any better God never made,
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million—that brother
was you.
Honest, liberal, ever upright,
loved by your friends,
And all whom you knew,
That dear brother was you.
You had a kindly word and good deed for everyone,
And died beloved by all.
None ever knew the depths of our deep regret,
But we remember when others
forget.
In our hearts your memory
lingers, always fond and true,
There's no day nor night,
dear brother,
We do not think of you.
Sadly missed by your sister and all of your family.

Illegitimate Birth Rate Increases 60 Per Cent; Infant Mortality Down

Frankfort, Ky., July 29 (Spl.)—Kentucky's illegitimate birth rate increased by 60.1 per cent during the years 1951 through 1961, the fiftieth annual Vital Statistics Report for Kentucky states.

This fiftieth annual report proudly displays a golden cover as a visible sign of its celebrated age. Released this week by the Office of Biostatistics, Kentucky State Department of Health, it is Kentucky's initial source for birth and death statistics for the 1961 calendar year.

A county-by-county breakdown of the numbers of various diseases, deaths and their causes, births, and stillbirths occurring in Kentucky or to Kentucky residents during 1961, is only one of the report's many features. Facts useful to those interested in developing programs and analyzing trends of public health and medical care are illustrated by colorful graphs and charts in the report.

Accounting for 71.4 per cent of all deaths in Kentucky are heart disease, cancer, vascular lesions of the central nervous system, and accidents. Pneumonia, diabetes, diseases of the arteries, immaturity, congenital malformations, and postnatal asphyxia, as well as other causes, are additional leading factors behind deaths in the state.

Kentucky, the report points out, still has a high death rate due to communicable diseases. Although the infant death rate has declined from 32.9 to 27.7 deaths per 1,000 births in the last 10 years, nevertheless, this rate is considered high in comparison to other states.

Population estimates have been gathered for the report. If comparing Kentucky and Florida's population increase in similar 10-year periods, it is amazing to note that Kentucky's population has increased only 1.5 per cent whereas Florida's has grown by a zooming 78.7 per cent.

The number of hepatitis cases in Kentucky is one of the highest in the nation. This disease has been on the increase since 1955 when there were on the average of 17 cases per 1,000 persons in the state; in 1961 there were approximately 100 cases per 1,000.

While the total number of syphilis cases dropped from 2,212 in 1960 to 1,898 in 1961, the number of infectious cases, those in the primary, secondary, and early latent stages, increased from 153 to 222. In considering these figures it is well to remember that they refer to reported civilian cases only. Countless numbers of cases are unreported to the State Department of Health. Gonorrhea is also on the upswing with an increase of 243 reported cases over 1960's 3,195.

Since 1911, when central registration for births and deaths began in Kentucky, vital statistics reports have been compiled annually. Before work is started on the annual Vital Statistics Report, necessary information must be sent from all counties in Kentucky. The report is delayed in its publication since causes of death must be investigated and copies of death certificates for persons dying out of the state have to be received at the State Department of Health before tabulation may begin. Preliminary figures for 1962 are now ready in temporary form for those who request them. Facts other than those found in this report are available at the local, state, and federal level.

This Vital Statistics Report is being sent to state registrars, county health departments, high school, university, and college libraries, and sociology and commerce departments of state universities and colleges. A Statistical Summary for Professional Use will also be distributed to individuals upon special request.

State Parks' Nature Study

BIRDWATCHING—Ray Harm, wildlife artist and naturalist, is conducting a week-end series of special programs for the Kentucky Department of Parks. Harm (kneeling), has found that a popular phase of his nature series are bird walks and nature hikes. While walking, he points out different animals, birds, and flowers and discusses characteristics of each. At informal lectures he also displays prints of many of his paintings and shows several stuffed birds and small animals. Here Harm points out a bird to a few members of a study group at Kentucky Dam Village State Park. Shown (from left), are: Dr. Charles Butrey, 5422 Rosecliff Dr., Lorain, Ohio; Michael Uram, 2418 Lynch Ave., Granite City, Ill.; and Mrs. Fred Schlunz and daughter, Suzanne, 1225 Roosevelt Ave., Ames, Iowa.

Frankfort, Ky., August 12 (Spl.)—Wildlife artist and naturalist Ray Harm has an oversimplified explanation for his success:

"Dad taught me to be observant." That hardly tells the story. For, at 36, Harm has parlayed his sixth-grade education and that razor-sharp observation into a remarkable collection of talents and skills.

Latest chapter in the Harm story has been his work with the Kentucky Department of Parks. He is serving as staff artist and lecturer for a special series of week-end nature programs.

Not one for formality, Harm has no set format for his park programs.

Instead, the West Virginia native confesses that he more or less "plays it by ear." He prefers to let the mood of his audience dictate the type of presentation he makes.

At each state park session, Friday night is known as "Meet Ray Harm Night." He introduces listeners to his work, including paintings and examples of stuffed birds and small animals. Then he talks at random about wildlife and nature, inviting questions all the while.

Saturday mornings usually bring on outdoor activity, a nature hike or a talk under some spreading shadetree. Harm identifies birds and animals by both sight and sound and discusses their characteristics.

From Saturday noon on, he gears his program to fit the desires of the persons attending the first two meetings. His schedule for the remainder of August includes visits to Audubon State Park, Henderson, August 16-17; Carter Caves State Park, Olive Hill, August 23-24; and Pennyrile Forest State Park, Dawson Springs, August 30-31. Dates for another series will be announced at the end of August.

Brooks have played a secondary role in Harm's self-education. Often he tells his audiences that he has spent more than half his life "sleeping under the open sky."

On impulse he once parked his car along the highway and hiked into the New Mexico continental divide country. He stayed 43 days with no tools except a pocket knife, yet he actually gained weight living off the land.

Now married and the father of three children, he is forever studying plants, birds, and animals in the woods and thumbing through books. Yet he has a tendency to sell himself short.

"There's been a lot of fuss about the painting and studying I've done," he offers, "but I deserve little credit. I was fortunate enough to have been born in beautiful mountain country. Nature has always been my background."

As an artist, he is a perfectionist. Patience is his forte. He spent nine weeks on a perch 30 feet high studying bald eagles for one of his more recent paintings. Sometimes he sketches an idea as many as two dozen times before he adds the first touch of color. His paintings of birds are done feather by feather, layer by layer.

Born near Elkins, in the West Virginia mountain country, Harm got an early indoctrination into the hows and whys of nature. His father was a naturalist, herbert and outdoor lover.

Both parents were concert violinists. Ray, at the age of five, began to learn to play classical music on the violin. Later he learned two other stringed instruments—the guitar and uke.

Harm left home at 13 to go West. He worked for a circus, for dude ranches and wild west shows, and as a cowboy for cattle outfits at roundup time.

He followed the rodeo circuit in season, doggin' and calf-roping and riding saddle broncs, barebacks and bulls. He remembers having his share of "busted bones."

"Needless to say, this kind of work kept me in the out-of-doors—and on the move," he recalls. "I could watch prairie chickens courting at daybreak in one state and in the same week catch a sight of mountain quail. My sketch books stayed full."

Road Job Acceleration Seen When Management Planning Is Organized

Frankfort, Ky., August 17 (Spl.)—Highway Department officials look for earlier construction starts on key road jobs, now that the new Office of Program Management is functioning.

The job of getting road projects ready for building on schedule has been given to J. C. Moore, a veteran Highway Department engineer and former deputy commissioner with considerable experience in programming and scheduling highway construction and improvement projects. His title in the new position is assistant commissioner.

In outlining the work of the office, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward directed that it see that projects are ready for scheduled contract letting dates by expediting such preliminary functions as location, design and acquisition of right-of-way; and that it make full use of the electronic data processing facilities of the Department.

As head of the Office of Program Management, Moore's new responsibilities include maintaining an approved project program of construction, programming federal aid projects with the Bureau of Public Roads and keeping records on the status of projects.

4.1 No person shall uncover, make any connection with or opening into, use, alter or disturb any public sewer or appurtenance thereof without first obtaining a written permit from the Superintendent.

The owner shall indemnify the City of Prestonsburg from any loss or damage that may directly or indirectly be occasioned by the installation of the building sewer. Fees for connection shall be as required in sewer service rate ordinance.

4.4 A separate and independent building sewer shall be provided for every building, except where one building stands at the rear of another on an interior lot and no private sewer is available or can be constructed to the rear building through an adjoining alley, court, yard or driveway, the building sewer from the front building may be extended to the rear building and the whole considered as one building sewer.

4.5 Old building sewers may be used in connection with new buildings only when they are found, on examination and test by the Superintendent, to meet all requirements of this Ordinance.

4.6 The building sewer shall be cast iron soil pipe, ASTM A-74, latest revision; vitrified clay sewer pipe ASTM C-13, latest revision; asbestos-cement sewer pipe ASTM C-428, latest revision, or approved equal.

4.7 The size and slope of the building sewer shall be subject to the approval of the Superintendent. In general, the building sewer shall be the same size as the service branch but in no event less than six (6) inches in diameter except in case of pipe in 5 foot or longer lengths, with which it shall not be less than less than one-eighth (1/8) inch per foot.

The building sewer shall be laid at uniform grade and in straight alignment in so far as possible. Changes in direction shall be made only with properly curved pipe and fittings.

Drain pipe and sump for collection of such sanitary drainage shall be above basement floor or in separately watertight or drained sump or channel.

4.10 Floor, basement or crawl space drains which are lower than ground surfaces surrounding the building shall not be connected to the building sanitary sewer. No sanitary inlet which is lower than six inches above the top of the lowest of the two adjacent public sanitary sewer manholes shall be connected by direct drainage to the building sanitary sewer.

4.11 All excavations required for the installation of a building sewer shall be open trench work unless otherwise approved by the Superintendent. Except where bends are supplied, trenches shall be straight in direction and grade to accommodate prefabricated joints. Trenches shall be at least 20 inches wide opposite center line of the pipe. Building sanitary sewers laid in undisturbed ground must be laid on at least four inches of pea gravel, sand or other approved grillage to support the bottom quadrant of the pipe. Building sewers laid in made or filled ground shall be embedded to the lower quadrant with at least a four inch concrete pad below the invert or other support that may be considered necessary. Backfill shall be carefully tamped in and around pipe in not over four inch layers to top of pipe for proper support. Should material or power fail to accomplish 95% complete compaction, grillage shall be substituted to top of pipe. Backfilling shall be solidly tamped up to six inches above the pipe, and hand placed up to 18 inches above the pipe. No backfill shall be placed until the pipe laying has been inspected.

4.12 All joints and connections shall be made gas tight and water tight. Cast iron pipe joints shall be firmly packed with oakum or hemp and filled with molten lead. Federal Specification AZ-1-156, not less than one (1) inch in depth. Lead shall be run in one pouring and caulked tight. No paint, varnish or other coatings shall be permitted on the jointing material until after the joint has been tested and approved. All joints in vitrified clay pipe or between vitrified clay pipe and other approved pipe shall be made with an approved prefabricated rubber or plastic material conforming to ASTM Specification C-425, latest revision, and installed clean and uninjured by handling or weather according to manufacturers direction, completely "homed" into place. The cement-asbestos sewer pipe shall be jointed with compressed watertight rubber rings meeting ASTM Specification D-1869, latest revision, and installed clean, according to manufacturers directions.

4.13 The building sewer shall be connected into the public sewer, at the easement line or property line, only by authorized agents of the Superintendent, if a service branch is available at a suitable location. Where no properly located service branch is available an authorized agent of the Superintendent shall cut a neat hole into the main line of the public sewer and a suitable wye or tee saddle installed to receive the building sewer. The invert of the building sewer at such joint of connection with a wye saddle shall be in the upper quadrant of the main line of the public sewer. A neat workmanlike connection not extending past the inner surface of the public sewer shall be made and the saddle made secure and water tight by encasement in concrete, or with Epoxy cement specially prepared for this purpose. The first length of the building sewer after the connection to the public sewer shall be a wye-branch, with the branch laid on top pointing away from the public sewer, temporarily plugged for use in smoke testing of the building sewer.

4.14 The applicant for the building sewer permit shall notify the Superintendent when the building sewer is ready for inspection and connection to the public sewer. The connection shall be made under the supervision of the Superintendent or his representative.

4.15 All excavations for building sewer installation shall be adequately guarded with barricades and lights so as to protect the public from hazard on streets, sidewalks, parkways and other public property satisfactory to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

4.16 All building sewers shall be smoke tested through the wye branch at the public sewer connection, with public sewer tightly plugged off, after connections at both ends are made and after all pipe is properly bedded and backfilled at least to top of pipe and if backfill is completed, within two weeks after completion of backfill. At time of test any openings into the building drain inside the buildingly cease all violations.

5.1 No persons shall discharge or cause to be discharged any storm water, surface water, ground water, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, cellar drainage of ground water origin, cooling water or unpolluted industrial process water to any sanitary sewer. The Superintendent or his representative shall have the right to any time to inspect inside or outside buildings or smoke test for connections to building sewers and require disconnection of any pipes carrying such water to the building sewer. No sanitary drain sump, sump pump, or sump pump discharge by manual switch over of discharge connection shall have a dual use for removal of such water. Facilities shall be entirely separate.

5.2 Storm water and all other unpolluted drainage shall be discharged to such sewers as are specifically designated as storm sewers, or to a natural outlet approved by the Superintendent. Industrial cooling water or unpolluted process water may be discharged, upon approval of the Superintendent, to a storm sewer or natural outlet.

5.3 Except as hereinafter provided no person shall discharge or cause to be discharged any of the following described water or waste to any public sewer:

(a) Any liquid or vapor having a temperature higher than 150° F.

(b) Any water or waste which may contain more than 100 part per million by weight of fat, oil or grease.

(c) Any gasoline, benzene, naphtha, fuel oil or other flammable or explosive liquid, solid or gas, which by reason of their nature or quality may cause fire or explosion or be in any other way injurious to persons, to the sewage works structures or to the operation of these works.

(d) Any garbage that has not been properly shredded.

(e) Any ashes, cinders, sand, mud, straw, shavings, metal, glass, rags, feathers, tar, plastics, wood, paunch manure, or any solid or viscous substance capable of causing obstruction to the flow in sewers or other interferences with the proper operation of the sewage works.

(f) Any water or waste having a pH lower than 5.5 or higher than 9.5 or having any other corrosive property capable of causing damage or hazard to structures, equipment and personnel of the sewage works.

(g) Any water and waste containing a toxic or poisonous substance in sufficient quantity to injure or interfere with any sewage treatment process, constitute a hazard to humans or animals, or that will pass through the sewage treatment works to create hazards in the receiving waters of the sewage treatment plant, or exceed the state or interstate requirements for the receiving stream.

(h) Any waters or wastes containing suspended solids of such a character and quantity that unusual attention or expense is required to handle such materials at the sewage treatment plant.

(i) Any noxious or malodorous gas or substance which, either singly or by intersection with other wastes, is capable of creating a public nuisance or hazard to life or preventing entry into sewers for their maintenance and repair.

(j) Any water or waste that contains cyanide in excess of a concentration determined by multiplying 0.2 p.p.m. by the ratio of the average flow in the receiving stream to the design flow of the sewage treatment works.

(k) Any toxic radioactive isotopes, without special permit.

(l) Any water or waste that contains flouride in excess of a concentration determined by multiplying 1.2 p.p.m. by the ratio of the average flow in the receiving stream to the design flow of the sewage treatment works.

5.4 Grease, oil and sand interceptors shall be provided when, in the opinion of the Superintendent, they are necessary for the proper handling of liquid wastes containing grease in excessive amounts, or any flammable wastes, sand and other harmful ingredients, except that such interceptors shall not be required for private living quarters or dwelling units. All interceptors shall be of a type and capacity approved by the Superintendent, and shall be located so as to be readily and easily accessible for cleaning and inspection.

Grease and oil interceptors shall be constructed of impervious materials capable of withstanding abrupt and extreme changes in temperatures. They shall be of substantial construction, watertight and equipped with easily removable covers, which, when bolted in place shall be gastight and watertight.

5.5 Where installed, all grease, oil and sand interceptors shall be maintained by the owner, at his expense, in continuously efficient operation at all times.

5.6 The admission into the public sewers of any water or waste having (a) a 5-day Biochemical Oxygen Demand greater than 300 parts per million by weight, or (b) containing more than 350 parts per million by weight of suspended solids, a chlorine demand greater than 50 the characteristics described in Article 5.3, or (d) having an average daily flow greater than 2% of the average daily sewage flow of the City of Prestonsburg shall be subject to the review and approval of the Superintendent. Where necessary, in the opinion of the Superintendent, the owner shall provide, at his expense, such preliminary treatment as may be necessary to (a) reduce the Biochemical Oxygen Demand to 300 parts per million, the suspended solids to 350 parts per million, and the chlorine demand to 50 parts per million, by weight, or (b) reduce the objectionable characteristics or constituents to within the maximum limits provided for in Article 5.3, or (c) control the quantities and rates of discharge of such water or waste. Plans, specifications and any other pertinent information relating to the proposed preliminary treatment facilities shall be submitted for the approval of the Superintendent and of the City of Prestonsburg and the Floyd County Health Department, and no construction of such facilities shall be commenced until said approvals are obtained in writing.

5.7 Where preliminary treatment facilities are provided for any water or waste, they shall be maintained continuously in satisfactory and effective operation by the owner at his expense.

5.8 Survey data required. Within three (3) months after the passage of this Ordinance, all users of the sewerage system who discharge industrial wastes to the public sewers, shall fill in and file with the Superintendent an industrial waste questionnaire which shall furnish pertinent data, inclusive of quantity of flow and an analysis of the water discharged to the sewage works. Similarly, any person desiring to make a new connection to the sewerage works for the purpose of discharging industrial wastes to the public sewers, shall fill in and file with the Superintendent an industrial waste questionnaire which shall furnish pertinent or predicted data inclusive of quantity flow and an analysis of the industrial waste to be discharged into the sewerage system.

5.9 When required by the Superintendent, the owner of any property served by a building sewer carrying industrial wastes shall install control manhole in the building sewer to facilitate observation, sampling and measurement of the wastes. Such manhole, when required, shall be accessibly and safely located, and shall be constructed in accordance with plans approved by the Superintendent. The manhole shall be installed by the owner at his expense and shall be maintained by him so as to be safe and accessible at all times.

5.10 All measurements, tests and analysis of the characteristics of water and waste to which reference is made in Articles 5.3 and 5.6 shall be determined in accordance with "Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Sewage," latest Edition, and shall be determined at the control manhole provided for in Article 5.9 or, upon suitable samples taken at said control manhole. In the event that no special manhole has been required, the control manhole shall be considered to be the nearest downstream manhole in the public sewer to the point at which the building sewer is connected.

5.11 No statement contained in this Article shall be construed as preventing any special agreement or arrangement between the City of Prestonsburg and any industrial concern whereby an industrial waste of unusual strength or character may be accepted by the City of Prestonsburg for treatment, subject to the payment therefor by the industrial concern.

ARTICLE 6—PROTECTION FOR DAMAGE.

6.1 No unauthorized person shall maliciously, willfully or negligently break, damage, destroy, uncover, deface or tamper with any structure, appurtenances, or equipment which is a part of the municipal sewage works. Any person violating this provision shall be subject to immediate arrest under charge of breach of the peace.

ARTICLE 7—POWERS AND AUTHORITY OF INSPECTORS.

7.1 The Superintendent and other duly authorized employees of the City of Prestonsburg bearing proper credentials and identification shall be permitted to enter upon all properties for the purpose of inspection, observation, measurement, sampling and testing in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

What's Going On
FISH & WILDLIFE
 by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
 Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

It is said that more game is killed on the highways, by traffic, than by the hunters in the field. This is true, we believe, especially of rabbits and squirrels and we are now approaching a period when the roads will be a greater attraction for these two species than at any other time of the year. Of course, the rabbits are killed mostly at night while daylight hours, especially early morning and late afternoon, are the favorite time for the squirrels to prance along the highways.

So, it's 24 hours a day that the driver must be careful of the wildlife on the highway.

And why do rabbits, for instance, use the highways other than to cross them. Well, there are several ideas on this subject. Some say that the hot sun of the day leaves the highways warmer than surrounding areas at night and that is an attraction for rabbits to use the roadways as a playground. Also, biologists know that rabbits like open areas on which to play and if these openings cannot be found in the fields, then they'll use the highways. Anyway, it's for sure that the rabbits do use the highways more during the early fall than at any other time.

Now, for the squirrels. It is not known why squirrels may be seen in such great numbers on the highways in the early morning and late afternoon. They are not playing on the highways and they are not seeking food there, it is believed, but it is known that it is during these periods that squirrels travel most and that probably is the reason for their being on the highways.

Be that as it may, we know that these two animals do use the highways a great deal; that great numbers are killed and, therefore, we urge all drivers to "give the wildlife a brake." Careful drivers can prevent much slaughter on the highways, although it would be foolish to advise anyone to endanger themselves to avoid killing wildlife. But, drivers can cut down on the wildlife toll, if they are careful.

After serving in the Navy as a radio operator (1945-47), he returned to cowboy life. Two years later he made a fateful decision—to enter art school.

He graduated from the Cooper School of Art in Cleveland, and later attended the Cleveland Institute of Art. While in Cleveland he met and married his wife, Carmella, and was named staff artist for the Cleveland Audubon Society.

Harm found the going rough as an artist. He drove trucks, trained saddle horses, and farmed to supplement his income.

His life changed, however, when a Louisville businessman, Wood Hannah, Sr., saw his paintings and liked them so much he commissioned Harm to do 20 pictures. Then other Kentuckians—among them Gov. Bert Combs and University of Kentucky President Dr. Frank G. Dickey—became interested in his work. He is the first Herman L. Donovan Artist-in-Residence at the University. Dr. Donovan is president emeritus at the University.

Harm is grateful. He has settled permanently in Kentucky, near Berea. He calls the state the "key to his success."

Besides art, there are other evidences that Ray Harm has educated himself well. He built his own house. He speaks four languages—Spanish, Italian and Japanese, as well as English. He has an ardent interest in history, civics, literature, science, government and politics.

It has been a long climb for a boy who left home at 13.

THE REAL POWER IN GOLF. The man who means the most in golf today is not Arnold Palmer, not Jack Nicklaus, not Gary Player. He is the lawyer who brings in the gold for these three men.

Mark McCormack drove a 1954 Ford until he took over Palmer's affairs in 1960. Now he handles all business ties of Palmer, Nicklaus and Player for a ten percent commission. Palmer says that he makes no decisions without first reviewing pertinent business data with McCormack. All of McCormack's deals — "30 or 40 companies," says the lawyer — have contributed to make the 34-year-old Palmer the healthiest endowed golfer ever. Says McCormack: "Arnold Palmer could quit playing golf right this minute, never win another tournament, and for the rest of his life he would be a very rich man."

Arnold's seven-year-old daughter Peggy sees all this in a different light. Peggy says, "My Daddy really wants to stay home with us, but he can't. If he does, his lawyer will fire him."

WILLIE MAYS SPECTACULAR. A West Coast television team, Lee Mendelson and Charlie Elstein, are preparing a television documentary on Willie Mays. One afternoon they went out to Candlestick Park and started shooting Mays in the third inning of a game. One of the TV technicians said, "Why shoot him now? He's in a slump."

Mendelson said, "We ordered a home run. We need it for the show." A moment later, Mays responded by hitting a home run. Two elderly ladies, sitting in back of the television crew, had overheard Mendelson's remarks. Said one to the other: "I told you the game was fixed."

VOICE FROM THE DEAD. Just before Davey Moore's last fight — the fight that would end in his death — he granted a remarkable interview to writer Bill Libby. The subject: the possibility of death in the ring. The interview is published in the August issue of SPORT and this is a sample of what Moore said:

"I ain't scared of dying. I ain't scared of being hurt. I don't wanna be dead. I'm the most live man you ever saw. And I don't get hurt... I ain't gonna let me get hurt. And when I got no chance, I'm gonna quit. Fans sitting comfortable at ringside may think it's wrong for a fighter to quit when he got no chance, but not ol' Davey."

Yet at the end of the tenth round of his fateful fight with Sugar Ramos, after taking a merciless beating, after twice being draped over the ropes, after twice in the tenth round being knocked down, Davey Moore refused to quit. He told his manager, Willie Ketchum, "Maybe I can still fight."

"No, no more fights," said Ketchum. "There'll be other nights."

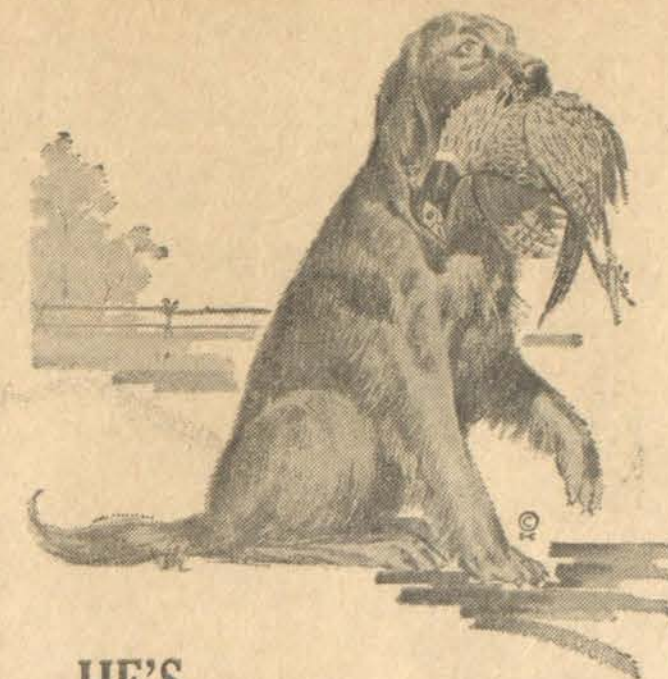

There'll be no other nights for Davey Moore. When Gil Hodges was named manager of the Washington Senators, another manager, Casey Stengel, had warm words for Hodges. "He's strong enough," Casey said, "to squeeze your earbrows off."

Linebacker George Tarasovic of the Pittsburgh Steelers is an insurance agent in the off-season. He compares playing defensive football and selling life insurance this way: "In both cases, you've got to cover your man."

Yankee infielder Phil Linz was stopped early this season by a traffic cop. Linz, who wears contact lenses, showed the cop his license. "Where's your glasses?" the cop asked after looking at the license. The Yankee said, "I've got contacts." The cop growled back, "I don't care who you know."

The average factory worker in the United States today can purchase his family's monthly food needs with the income from just $7 hours of work, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A decade ago, it took 51 hours of work to purchase the same amount of food.
