This Town... That World

Note to my nightcrawler broker: Disregard order cancellation dated February 19.

Monday was a sight for winter-tired eyes. Some talked of gardening, others of fishing. Spring seemed just around the corner. But we were warned that that snow on the north hillsides "was waiting on something." Next morning, we all were wading about in it.

HAPPY DAY!

No sad songs for me, but some morning the old typewriter will be silent and the cluttered desk a bit more forlorn than usual. Some may walk into the office and asked, "When?" Whatever they say, I shall not worry. No more of this fretting about advertising, news content, deadlines, bills, payrolls, taxes—never a sigh for such mundane things.

For I, on such a morning, will have gone fishing.

THE SHORTEST FORM

All JFK's plans for reduced taxes to the contrary, this, we have it straight from Washington, will be the "shortest" tax form for use in 1964.

- 1. What was your income last year? $.....
2. What were your expenses? $.....
3. How much have you left? $.....
4. SEND IT IN.

If it is true that the snows of many winters whiten the hair, the sunning of many summers should make the eyes less frosty.

THE STAMP OF APPROVAL

I have great respect for the office of President of these United States, am happy to join the President in commending walking to others, but haven't, on my own part, engendered enough enthusiasm yet to walk more than two blocks except in case of dire emergency such as needing food for the dog or a cough drop for myself.

This is all very encouraging. JFK's idea that the human foot is more than a pedal extremity to shove down on the brake. It beats goldfish-swallowing, all hollow, I'm sure, although I string my fish up when I catch 'em instead of swallowing them. It also has its points over stacking people into telephone booths or playing Russian roulette. (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

Mrs. Thelma E. Bunting, Age 64, of Prestonsburg, Succumbs At Lexington

Mrs. Thelma Ellis Bunting, 64, Prestonsburg, died Sunday at the Kentucky Baptist hospital, Lexington. She was stricken by a heart attack two weeks ago.

Mrs. Bunting was the wife of W. V. Bunting, who survives, and a daughter of the late W. T. and Mary Tackett Ellis. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, in which she for years was an active worker.

Surviving sons and a daughter are Tom Bunting, Columbus, Ohio, Robert Bunting and Mrs. Frieda Grass, both of Lexington. Surviving sisters are Rebecca Ellis and Catherine Ellis, both of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Mary Branham, Lexington.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the First Presbyterian Church here, the Rev. T. W. Chisholm officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery under the direction of Floyd Funeral Home.

CITY COUNCIL MOVES ON SEWER WORK HERE

LEGAL STEPS AUTHORIZED ON PROJECT

Easement Acquisition Necessary for Job, Said; Name Building Inspector

Adoption of an ordinance by the City Council Tuesday night authorized all legal steps necessary to acquiring easements for location of stations and other items of the sewer construction project proposed here.

Acquisition of such rights is a prerequisite to the letting of a contract on the big undertaking. Mayor George P. Archer said Wednesday that members of the City Council and others are joining in a "crash program" to get this phase of the work done within a week.

Half of the grant made to the city for the sewer and sewage disposal construction work has been approved by the Community Facilities Administration. A telegram was expected later Wednesday from the U. S. Public Health Service, approving its half of the grant.

The Council at a special meeting Tuesday night adopted a budget, the second in the city's history. C. F. Rinehart was employed as full-time building inspector to meet requirements of the Community Facilities Administration as urban renewal work here is studied.

The city budget and audit will be topics of study and discussion at a Town Hall meeting which Mayor Archer will call, possibly early next month, it was said. Wednesday, workmen were applying 600 tons of gravel to streets. The gravel was purchased by the city, it was pointed out.

MAY AWARDED CAR CONTRACT

200 Car-Body Shells To Be Placed In Lake As Refuge For Fish

The Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources has awarded to May's Garage at Allen the contract for supplying 200 car-body shells to be placed in Dewey Lake as cover for fish.

May's bid for providing the bodies, stripped of frame, bumpers, deck-lids and fenders, and delivering them to one designated area on the shore of the lake was $9.69 per body.

Work of placing the car-bodies will be done by personnel of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources. The car bodies, each of which will weigh about 600 pounds, will be loaded onto a barge and taken to four marked areas at each of which 50 of the bodies will be placed, end to end, at a depth 10 feet below the conservation level of the lake.

These areas will be about a quarter-mile apart and all will be located down-lake, between Brandy Keg Cove and the dam. It was said here this week that the state has asked the U. S. Corps of Engineers to raise the level of the water to elevation 640, on or about April 1, in which event the car bodies would be placed at the surface of the water. After that, the lake would be raised the 10 additional feet to elevation 650.

Placing of the car bodies in the lake was decided upon when it was discovered, upon lowering the impoundment level last fall, that there is a dearth of fish cover. Placing of the car-bodies farther up the lake was not permitted on the grounds that in the shallower water they might create a hazard to boating.

Because the tourist season is expected to be under way before April 1 and the empty lake offers an unsightly view to visitors, a move toward refilling of the impoundment early next month has gained favor locally within recent weeks.

The lake, first of all, was lowered to permit Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources personnel to seine out rough fish and to permit the winter's rains to wash the accumulation of mud from the banks. But heavy freezes have hampered seining, and the winter has to date had only light rainfall.

P.-T.A. TO MEET

The grade school Parent-Teacher Association will meet at the school auditorium at 7:30 tonight (Thursday), it is announced.

Melvin Youth Victim At McDowell Hospital; Rites Conducted Monday

Luther Hensley, Jr., 15, of Melvin, succumbed Saturday at the McDowell Memorial hospital. He had been ill three months with a gland ailment.

The youth was a son of Luther Hensley, Sr., and Haley Newsom Hensley, of Melvin. Surviving brothers and sisters are Curtis Lee Hensley, Bobby Deane Hensley, both in Ohio, Gary Monroe Hensley, Phyllis Hensley and Donna Clare Hensley, all at home, and Mrs. Anna Lee Pennington, Miami, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday from the Joppa Regular Baptist Church at Melvin, the Revs. Jerry Hall, of Ligon, Jerry Hall, of Drift, and Arnold Tackett officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

CLARK POLLS 510 TEACHERS

Classes 15 Days Behind Schedule for the Year; Defer Extra Day Plans

Superintendent Clark announced Wednesday morning that Saturday classwork will not be begun this week. "A review of our situation shows that Saturday classes are not necessary at this time," he said.

Snowfall again Tuesday morning cost the county school system another day of teaching time, and County Superintendent Charles Clark said, later in the day, that the schools may be open for classes Saturday of this week.

If this is done, it will be the first time for schools of the county to be in session on Saturday. But never before has the weather cut into teaching time as during this term. Tuesday's suspension of classes brought to 15 days—three full weeks of teaching—the total time lost.

Kentucky school law provides that common schools shall be in session not less than 175 days. "Most colleges start their summer sessions, June 6 to 8, and one more day of lost time would put our schools into conflict with the opening of colleges which many of our teachers plan to attend," Superintendent Clark said.

Teachers of the county were polled last week on the question of having Saturday classes, if necessary. Three hundred fifty of the 510 teachers had returned their ballots as of Tuesday, and of these the vote was better than 2 to 1 for Saturday classes.

The State Department of Education already has given tentative approval of Saturday classwork. Teachers were polled on the question of an extra day of classwork per week because some attend Saturday extension classes.

But few Saturdays may be needed. There may be no further loss of time because of the weather. Besides, two days' teaching time will be made up by keeping the schools open during spring vacation at state basketball tournament time, March 20-23. In a poll of teachers on the question of teaching during vacation the vote was 288 for, 21 against.

Marion Yates Convicted On Possession of Brew; Joseph Juror Disappears

Marion Yates was convicted in quarterly court Monday on a charge of possessing home brew and, in addition to a fine of $50, was jailed for 30 days.

A week earlier, Denny Joseph was fined $50 on a drunk driving charge, but a member of the trial jury disappeared and could not be located before the jury was dismissed. A second trial Monday resulted in his acquittal.

A jury in quarterly court fined Edmond Ritchie $30 and added a 10-day jail term for drunkenness. Among those jailed within the week were:

James Justice, possessing moonshine whiskey, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson; Lonnie Conn, arrested by Trooper D. H. Goble on a charge of reckless use of a deadly weapon; Johnnie Warrens, booked by Sheriff Henry Hale and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald on a charge of operating a place of business without a license.

FLU EPIDEMIC FEARED HERE

Respiratory Ailments Fill Hospitals; Hall, Archer Urge Caution

"I think we're going to have a pretty strong flu epidemic in this county in a couple of weeks," Dr. Russell L. Hall, of the Floyd County Health Department, said Wednesday in a discussion of the spread of Asian flu into this section of the state.

Capacity of hospitals of the area continued to be taxed as the number of persons suffering from influenza, colds, pneumonia or other respiratory ailments increased.

Dr. George P. Archer, of the Prestonsburg General hospital, estimated that half of those admitted there have influenza. A heavy incidence of pneumonia has been experienced this winter, particularly among the very young and the aged.

Both he and Dr. Hall suggested that the people avoid large crowds, since Asian flu is highly contagious. Dr. Archer said the custom of visiting patients at hospitals should be discontinued till the threat of an epidemic has subsided.

Some schools in the state have been closed by the wave of illness ascribed to Asian flu but the number of cases in this county has not yet posed any such problem. Cabell county (W. Va.) schools were considering closing, Wednesday.

PIKE SCHOOL MAN RESIGNS

Justice Says He Sold Board Tools, Equipment; Farley Expresses Regret

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 13—Abner L. Justice, of Millard, supervisor of buildings and grounds for Pike County Board of Education, resigned his post with the county school system at a board meeting last week.

Justice, who was in charge of construction and maintenance, told a reporter that "about 1958" he sold the Board of Education $500 worth of equipment.

Kentucky statutes prohibit sales to the board exceeding $25 of school funds in a single school year by a board employee.

Justice, who had been employed by the board since 1946, said he did not know it was against regulations.

Justice last week said he bought the equipment, which included saws, from a mail-order house and sold it to the board for use in the John's Creek high school industrial art department.

Violation of the statute involved, K.R.S. 156.460 requires immediate dismissal. Such an offense is a misdemeanor and carries a fine of $50 to $500.

A board attorney said there was no moral wrong implied and Justice's action was a technical violation. He added that prosecution for a misdemeanor is limited to a year after the occurrence.

C. H. Farley, county school superintendent, recommended with regret the board accept the resignation.

Farley said no replacement is in sight for Justice, whom he praised. Farley said he regretted that the situation had arisen and he referred to Justice as a valuable employee. "I have never worked at the side of a more enthusiastic person in the huge program he had conducted."

"The way I feel it is best for me to hand in my resignation," said Justice.

Justice said he had bought the equipment for his own use and had paid more than $700 for it. He had used it himself and had it quite a while prior to its sale to the board.

Justice said Glenn McDowell, a member of the John's Creek faculty, had looked at the equipment and stated that it was what he wanted for the school, which was equipping a workshop for industrial art.

The Pike county grand jury recently indicted the county school supervisor, Woodrow W. Runyon, Pikeville, on an embezzlement charge.

Runyon, discharged after the indictment, was accused of taking $18,178 through irregularities in buying school-bus equipment from 1951 to 1962.

The School Board Tuesday indicated its intention to tighten controls over its expenditures, book-keeping and compliance with regulations.

The board, on Farley's recommendation, voted to employ Robert Clay Johnson, Pikeville lawyer, as board counsel. His employment is subject to approval by the State Board of Education.

The lawyer's brother, G. F. Johnson, Jr., a board member, abstained from voting on the employment.

MEIGS HOLDS GROUP ERRED

Train Discontinuance Approval Is Appealed For Rail Commission

The Kentucky Railroad Commission has asked the Kentucky Court of Appeals to reverse the recent Franklin circuit court judgment that directed the Railroad Commission to approve the C. & O. Railway Company's application to discontinue the last remaining passenger train service on the Big Sandy.

Judge Meigs, of the Franklin circuit court, directed on January 28 that the Commission's order of October 28, last, forbidding the railway company to discontinue the service be set aside.

Railroad Commissioner Robert Dameron announced here that Attorney General John B. Breckinridge's office has filed on behalf of the Railroad Commission, a brief with the Court of Appeals, seeking a reversal of Judge Meigs' order.

Meigs held that the railroad company has been operating Trains 36 and 39 at a financial loss; that the Railroad Commission following the hearing held in Prestonsburg did not find that such condition would in the future change for the better "but only speculated that it might," that the passenger train service is not necessary in the public interest, and that denial of the company's application to discontinue service was not supported by the evidence in the record of the hearing.

The application to discontinue the train service was opposed by The Pike County News, The Floyd County Times and other newspapers of (See Story No. 2, Page 3)

GIRL CLAIMED BY MENINGITIS

Martin Grade Student Is Stricken At Party; Autopsy Is Performed

Death last Friday morning of a 12-year-old girl as a result of meningococcal meningitis caused the Floyd County Health Department to undertake immediate steps to prevent further spread of the disease.

The victim, 12-year-old Marilyn Pitts, seventh grade pupil at the Martin grade school, died at the home of her parents, John L. (Bud) Pitts and Delphia Johnson Pitts, near Dock. Her illness began the preceding Tuesday night while she was attending a birthday party at the home of a girl-friend.

Cause of her death was established by autopsy performed at Huntington, West Virginia.

Dr. Russell L. Hall said Health Department personnel have been working to locate direct contacts with the girl. A preventive is being administered.

Surviving the victim, besides her parents, are two brothers and six sisters, Edgar, Ronald, Donna Sue, Mary, Delores, Sharon, Debbie and Carol.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday from the Pitts home on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, the Revs. John Ousley and Mitchell Chaffins officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Drift Woman, Daughter Hurt in Emma Wreck

Mrs. John Henry, of Drift, and her daughter, Karen, were injured Wednesday morning when their auto skidded on icy U. S. 23 at the Emma "narrows" and dropped approximately 50 feet toward the river.

Mrs. Henry suffered a possible back injury, lacerations and contusions, it was said at the McDowell Memorial hospital. Her daughter was dismissed after treatment.

HIKERS REACH 34-MILE POST; VOW TO TRY AGAIN IN APRIL

Carlos Branham and Estill Lee Carter, who attempted a 50-mile hike Saturday, are shown at Harold, two miles before they quit at Betsy Layne. They vow to try again in April.

Of the five Prestonsburg men who planned to do a 50-mile Kennedy hike last Saturday, two didn't start, three did but of the latter one dropped out after eight miles and the other two pushed their legs to the limit.

The two best out of five were Estill Lee Carter and Carlos Branham. They were "shooting," or trudging if you will, for 50 but had to be satisfied with 34 miles. Roger Colvin started at Allen with them but had to appease his legs and feet at Betsy Layne.

John Allen, Jr., and Jim Sword, realists when the time for action arrived, never showed up.

Carter, Branham and Colvin left Allen at 6 a.m. They planned to walk to Pikeville city limits and return down U. S. 23 to Prestonsburg. That would be the Kennedy 50.

Fortified only with a light breakfast and pockets full of chocolate bars, they swept out south toward Pikeville, passing motorists offering them lifts. Colvin's pedal extremities began complaining long before he reached Betsy Layne but he held himself together for he had the extra incentive of winning a bet. Carter, manager of Lake Bowling Lanes, and Branham, a Navy veteran with a discharge only five days old, reached the Mullins school a few miles south of Pikeville at 10 o'clock. Here a mobile unit of Radio Station WLSI intercepted them to ask for a radio-cast. They complied, said they felt fine. A Times man shot a picture or two to prove it.

They took a few minutes break at Pikeville, changed socks and Carter caressed a few incipient blisters. Facing about, they trudged back down U. S. 23. At Harold, dusk and an increasing reluctance of the feet to "pick 'em up and set 'em down" came together. They began to have grave doubts.

They quit at Betsy Layne at 7 p.m. Their legs refused to budge. Carter had to boost them into the relief car.

"I'm going to try again in April and all the jokers who say that they can do it are invited to try it with me," Carter said. "Walking isn't crowded, you know."

COMMISSION IS NAMED TO STUDY COAL REGION

Tournament Manager Says Coaches Favor Broadcast of Games

Ed Stewart, principal of Maytown high school, which is the host school to the coming district basketball tournament to be played in the Prestonsburg high school fieldhouse, said Tuesday that a poll of coaches has resulted in a decision to permit Radio Station WDCC to broadcast the tournament games.

The first poll, in which some schools abstained from voting, opposed the broadcasts on the grounds that they would cut into tournament attendance, but the second vote apparently was strongly in favor of the radio coverage.

Mr. Stewart is manager of the tournament.

COMBS LAUDS MINE GROUP

Commissioner Mandt Credits Inspectors, Operators for Record

The Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, its commissioner and the inspectors who implement its safety program were honored last Saturday at a luncheon at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, for having attained in 1962 the best safety record in the 83-year history of the department.

Governor Bert T. Combs, coal industry leaders and A. H. Mandt, commissioner of the Department of Mines and Minerals, spoke at the 1962 record was reviewed.

"I know of no achievement in education, highways and all other fields that is more important than the achievement attained by this group," the Governor said. "The most important thing is the safety of our citizens."

He pointed out that 1962 saw in Kentucky the lowest number of fatal mine accidents in 52 years and that more tons of coal were mined per fatal accident in the department's long history.

Last year, more than 3 1/2 million tons of coal were mined per roof-fall accident. The best previous year was 1959 when 2 1/2 million tons per accident were produced.

Willard Stanley, senior inspector at Martin, said this week there has not been a fatality in the last seven months in the 11 counties of his district.

Commissioner Mandt credited the hard work of mine inspectors, the cooperation of mine operators and the cooperation of the Governor's office for the great 1962 record. He pointed out that for the past two years his department has concentrated on reducing accidents at the working-face of the coal, the area where most fatal accidents occur.

Of the cooperation given by the Governor, Commissioner Mandt said:

"Often my office needs help. He has never failed us, and sometimes being on our side didn't do him any good in some places."

Fred Bullard, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, said that at times in the past the Department of Mines and Minerals has been a "political football" but that it has operated free of pressures during the Combs administration.

Politics was eschewed, unless this statement by Bullard supplied that flavor:

"I came here today, part of the way, on a road which some people call a road that goes uphill to nowhere. All I can say is, give us more roads like this. . . . In the past three years we have had a Governor of action, not promises. . . . I haven't agreed with him on everything, but I say to you, Bert Combs is Kentucky's greatest Governor—at least, he's the greatest in my lifetime."

Mr. Bullard served as toastmaster.

In other remarks, Governor Combs predicted the 1963 tourist season will be the greatest ever in Kentucky history.

"If it's not, we're all dead, including anybody who's ever been favorable to Combs," he jested in a barb obviously aimed at criticism of his administrations spending on state parks.

Combs said about $18 million in state funds had been spent on the park system since he took office, but that out-of-state tourists spent over $205 million in Kentucky last year, an increase of 27 percent over 1961.

He appealed to residents of his native Eastern Kentucky to make (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

COMBS PICKS 4 AREA MEN ON PROBLEMS

Dr. Page Appointed Chairman of Group; Governor Is Hopeful

The 22-man commission established last week by Governor Combs to study and help solve the problems facing Kentucky's coal industry includes two Floyd countians and two others who are former residents of this county.

A. H. Mandt, formerly of Manton, now commissioner of the Department of Mines & Minerals; Dr. Palmer L. Hall, of Morehead State College, formerly of Prestonsburg; Robert Holcomb, of Pikeville, formerly of Prestonsburg; C. Alan Reed, of Prestonsburg, and George E. Evans, Jr., of Wayland, were named to the commission.

"It is hoped that they may be able to assemble information and data that may be helpful in solving the problems now confronting the coal industry," Combs said.

Combs called the group the Small Mines Advisory Commission and named Labor Commissioner Carl Caba liaison official. Caba will call a meeting of the commission soon.

Named to the group were citizens interested in the industry. Dr. A. A. Page, former president of Pikeville College, was appointed chairman.

Other members are Cattie Lou Miller, public information commissioner; Fred Bullard, Lexington; Cordell H. Williams, Hazard; C. D. McDowell, Harlan; Robert Landrum, Louisville; Bruce Stephens, Jr., Hazard; Roy Crawford, Jr., Whitesburg; Dave Spait, Lexington; M. K. Eblen, Hazard; Carson Hibbits, Pikeville; Dan Jack Combs, Pikeville; Norman Chrisman, Pikeville; W. R. Roll, Lexington; C. E. Beam, Pikeville, and William Turnbull, Middlesboro.

AG LEADERS PLAN MEET

Additional Strawberry Acreage Is Need, Noted; R. L. Shepherd To Preside

Extension agents from Floyd, Magoffin, Martin, Morgan, Johnson and Pike counties with interested landowners will hold a meeting at the courthouse here, Wednesday, February 26, at 7 p.m. in an effort to up at the pledged strawberry acreage in the area.

Representatives of the Extension Service and several landowners who attended the strawberry promotion meeting at Paintsville, Wednesday of last week, viewed with concern the slow response of growers to pledge additional acreage to insure continued operation of the processing plant here.

Deadline for orders for plants is March 8 and at least an additional acreage of 160 is needed. The processor has said he can operate successfully if 200 acres are set. According to Jack Friar, Floyd county agent, approximately 40 acres in this and adjoining counties has been pledged.

Several specialists at the Paintsville courthouse meeting spoke on the desirability of increasing strawberry production. Robert Shepherd, of the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development committee at Quicksand, said an increased strawberry acreage would materially raise the living standards of the growers and W. A. Johnstone, agricultural representative of the Kentucky Bankers Association, urged the growing of strawberries as cash crop. Another speaker was Frank LeBlis, Kentucky Department of Commerce. He said that Kentucky's agricultural income last year was the highest since records were started.

Shepherd will preside at the meeting here next week. Wendell VanHoose, chairman of the Johnson County Strawberry committee, presided at the Paintsville meeting.

Two Men Volunteer

Draft Board No. 166 here announced this week that two of its registrants entered the armed forces, February 13, as volunteers. They are Carl Reed, of Hippo, and Randall D. Holbrooks, Halo.

When Teacher Education Was Plain Waste

Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, this year will produce 662 potential teachers—more than any other college or university in Kentucky.

We have the word of Miss Louise Combs, director of the division of teacher education and certification, State Department of Education, for that, and we congratulate Eastern as the college makes such a notable contribution toward the state's future education and culture.

Most of these 662 who are trained to be teachers will teach and will remain in Kentucky. But it was not always thus. Time was when the training of teachers in Kentucky's tax-supported colleges was sheer waste of money and manpower.

Till less than five years ago, when Bert Combs became Governor of Kentucky and a tax program was designed to fit the needs of education, the education of teachers in tax-supported colleges of this state was probably the greatest waste of financial and human resources ever committed in the name of education in this Commonwealth. It was monstrous waste to use the money of Kentuckians to educate other Kentuckians for the teaching profession, then to see them make mess hegira to other states for teaching jobs because salaries were so pitifully low at home that they did not provide a living wage.

Ohio and Michigan and many of the other states profited from Kentucky's teacher-education program. But not Kentucky. Kentucky's money was being poured down the drain and some of its finest talent was almost literally being deported.

Without the sales tax that would not be a story belonging to five years ago and the years before that. It would be continuing, with "Finis" nowhere in sight.

TRUST GOD

We can have God in our lives and not be afraid to trust Him. He is eternal, He is forever, He is real. He made the earth and the heavens. He has power to keep us. We must not put our trust in man but in God. He is the one who can deliver us and He can give salvation to every one who asks for salvation.

In Psalms 144:10 David praises Him. "It is He that giveth salvation unto kings; who delivereth David his servant from the hurtful sword." So why should we put all our trust in man when God is able to deliver? Psalms 146:3: "Put not your trust in princes nor in the son of man in whom there is no help." God is so real that He is forever. Psalms 145:10: "The Lord shall reign forever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praise ye, thy Lord."

We should praise the Lord for His greatness by living for Him. We should praise Him by trusting Him in time of trouble as well as trusting Him when we think all is well with us. When we really praise Him we are trusting Him. The Lord will keep us and He will hear us when we really call upon Him with an honest heart and if we labor or fall He will help us up. We read in Psalms 145, Verses 14 and 15: "The Lord upholdeth all that fall and raiseth up all those that are bowed down." "The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon Him; to all that call upon Him in truth." Are you trusting Him today?

GUIDING YOUTH IN CAREER

Young people can choose among some 24,000 different kind of jobs in the United States.

The number in the labor force will increase from 74 million in 1959 to 87 million in 1970, with about 82 million jobs available. Increases will be highest for those under 25 years of age and for those over 45 years of age; competition will be highest in these age groups.

Automation is presently displacing 38,000 jobs a week. Workers who are having the greatest difficulty finding new jobs are youth under 20 who did not complete high school, workers over 45 who haven't kept up with technological changes, workers without a modern skill, and workers in areas that have few alternative jobs available.

From 1945 to 1970, there will be 34 million youth reaching 18 years of age, in contrast with 2.8 million in 1940. With greater competition for jobs, education will become a more important screening device for entering a new employment. Workers with less than 12 grades of school now have twice the unemployment rate than those with 12 or more grades of schooling.

The following trends are expected from 1960 to 1970. Professional and technical jobs will increase about 40 percent by 1970. Other classes of workers, such as proprietors, clerical and sales personnel, skilled and semi-skilled workers, will increase about 20 percent. Jobs for unskilled workers will be about the same in 1970 as in 1960 and the number of farm jobs will decrease.

Jobs will be won by young workers who have good education and training, as well as intellect and willingness, because the occupations that stress this kind of background will expand the fastest through 1970.

VEGETABLE VARIETIES

Vegetable varieties to be recommended this year for Kentucky home and commercial gardeners were named this week by Dean Knaevel, U. K. Ag Experiment Station horticulturist.

The list, tested last year by Knaevel for various factors:

Snapbeans: Wade still the recommended variety. Other useful varieties are Extender, Harvester, Slender White and Burpees' Stringless.

Pole beans: Kentucky Wonder is recommended. Other recommended varieties are white-seeded Kentucky Wonder and Stringless Blue Lake No. 231.

Early sweet corn (yellow): Northern Belle is the recommended variety; also Spring Gold and Golden Cup.

Late sweet corn (yellow): Merit is highly recommended. Royal Gold also is highly recommended and Golden Security.

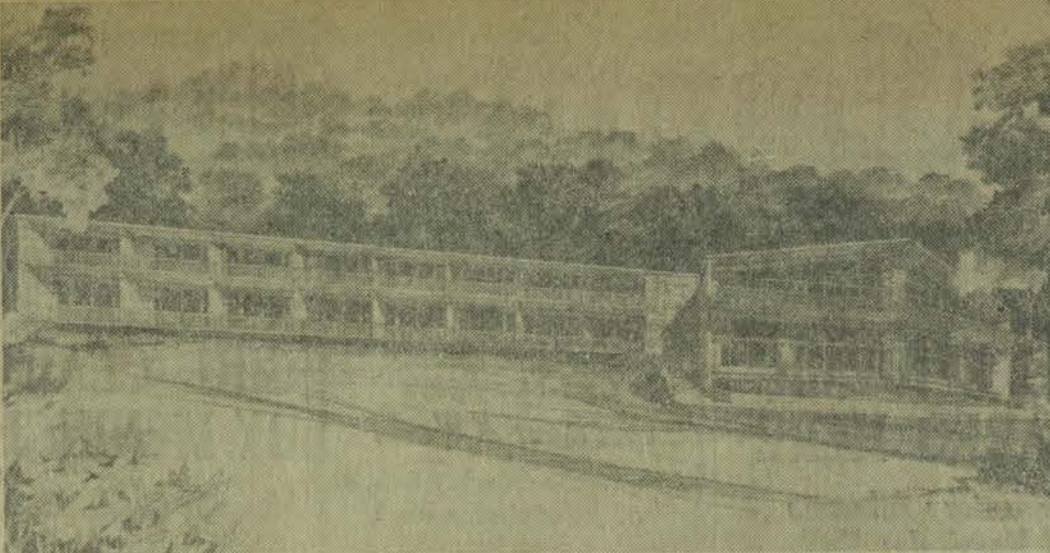

White sweet corn: Silvercross-16 is recommended.

Potatoes: Early reds recommended are Red Pontiac and Red Beauty. Yellow-skinned varieties are Houma and Katahdin.

Tomatoes: Early Field and Morton hybrid recommended. Medium early, recommended are Heinz, Burpee's hybrid and Cardinal hybrid. Late field, Rutgers.

Greenhouse tomatoes: Michigan-Ohio hybrid is the recommended variety. Pickling Cucumbers: MER17 is the recommended variety, with 362 bushels an acre in 1962. Pickle variety will be recommended also; it did 281 bushels an acre last year. Pixie is a dark green variety and is more disease resistant.

Sweet potatoes: Nancy Hall, and Early Triumph.

NINTH LODGE CONTRACT AWARDED

Contract for construction of the new lodge at Buckhorn Lake State Park, near Hazard, has been awarded to W. D. Johnson, general contractor, Ashland, on a low bid of $666,000. The 24-room tri-level structure will become the ninth new lodge in the state parks system to go under construction in less than two years as part of an $18 million parks expansion program. Under terms of the contract, the lodge is to be finished in 365 calendar days. Gillig-Christman and Miller, associated architects from Lexington, designed the lodge, which will be in contemporary style and will incorporate native stone and wood in construction. Lodge facilities will include a dining room with 200-seat capacity.

"SHE'S BEEN ABOUT"

Today, in talking to my successor about one of his new teachers, I remarked that she had "been about." Another new teacher looked puzzled and had to have the new expressions explained. Of course, I gladly obliged, for I have known a great many people who have been about and a great many more who would like to have others think so.

When small Fidelitys were the words that most people knew, someone who was familiar with the Flatwoods or who had often visited away up the creek, four miles or so, was what the Old English language would have called a far-traveler.

Even in the earliest days that I can remember, we always knew someone who had penetrated foreign lands, such as adjoining counties and across the state line, just a few miles away. One of our neighbors, who was field man for a big tobacco factory that was located in our adjoining neighborhood, had even been to southern Illinois and did not hesitate to let the rest of us untraveled ones know it. Up the creek a man and his wife had been to the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893; their boys saw to it that all of us knew that, too.

In 1894, my older sister, wandered away off down into eastern Tennessee, visited hosts of relatives whom I still haven't seen, and spent a day or two at the Tennessee Centennial, in the beautiful park that is still preserved. Believe me, we younger children lost no time in telling the other brats about what a great honor had come to our family by having such a world traveler as one of its members. The rest of us had to be content with a trip or two each year to Murray, less than twelve miles away, but Ulysses, on his famous voyages on his way home from the Trojan War, did not have any more to talk about than we did, especially to less fortunate ones who had not recently braved the dangers of a buggy ride to Murray.

Traveling miles from one's home place was not the only way in which someone could be spoken of as one who had been about. Even remote Fidelity knew there was a thing called society, but it was supposed to be something far off and maybe wicked.

Some people, though, felt that it was a great honor to have visited in Paducah or Mayfield and to have attended parties there. Mars or the Moon could not possibly seem farther away now than these two big towns did then. Why, you had to go by train to reach them, one train to Paducah and two to Mayfield. And there were theaters of one, at least, at Paducah and an opera house at Mayfield. Older people felt that these were open doors to the Bad Place, though they had never seen such places and could hardly be competent judges. If the far-traveler returned and then "said us a visit, we quizzed him infinitely, until we almost knew by heart the vaudeville acts he had seen and liked so well. We told the other boys and girls about the great plays and stuff that our visitor had seen, unconsciously hinting that some of the far-traveler's knowledge and social graces might have rubbed off on us.

In some ways the greatest far-travelers we ever had were the ex-Confederates, who casually spoke of far-away places much as we moderns might mention someone who lives in the next street. We would get out our geography books and find the places where Uncle Carpee had camped and fought and get captured and then spent months as a prisoner eating, we supposed, only the rats he caught in prison. But, to most of us, these famous places were just spots on a map and vague memories of our aging uncle. Certainly, our uncle had been about and had seen great places and great men.

MRS. KENTUCKY FERRELL

This biography of Mrs. Ferrell and the others following were taken from Kniffen, Ferrin and Battle's History of Kentucky.

"Mrs. Kentucky Ferrell was born April 21, 1843, about seven miles above the town of Pikeville. Her father, Capt. Lewis Sowards, still lives on the same farm; he is a farmer and was elected as an old line Whig to the Legislature from the counties of Pike, Letcher and Perry in 1852 and 1853 and has held other offices of trust in the county.

"Kentucky, his daughter, was reared to work on the farm. She married William M. Scott on the 11th day of September, 1860; he was a merchant and farmer, living on John's Creek in the Leslie settlement, where at once they went to housekeeping, and on the 19th day of November, 1861, she gave birth to a son, whom they called Jonnie. The war had then broken out and W. M. Scott joined the Union army under Capt. Lewis Sowards, his father-in-law, who belonged to the Thirty-Ninth Kentucky Volunteers, and Mrs. Scott was compelled to abandon her home on John's Creek and move to Louisville, Lawrence county, Kentucky, where she stayed most of the time until 1864, at which time her husband, W. M. Scott, had lost his health, and was discharged from the army. He then, in partnership with his cousin, J. M. Scott, bought a storeboat at Louisville and commenced mercantile business.

"On the 19th day of May, 1865, little Jonnie Scott died, and in October, 1865, Mr. and Mrs. Scott moved back to Pikeville, Kentucky, bought a house and lot, and again went to the mercantile business. Soon afterward they bought a farm of A. J. Hatcher adjoining the town of Pikeville and in 1874 built a large brick store house. July 17, 1875, W. M. Scott died, leaving his entire estate to his wife, Kentucky. She then in a short time sold to A. J. Hatcher one-half interest in the store; they continued the business while she ran the farm until the 18th day of May, 1876, when she was married to R. M. Ferrell, her present husband, who was clerk of the Pike circuit court, since which time they have conducted the store and farm. In August, 1883, James Hatcher became a partner in the store under the firm name of Ferrell & Hatcher. Mrs. Kentucky Ferrell's mother, Oly Morgan Sowards, died on the 14th day of June, 1884."

"Hiram H. Fitzpatrick, a native of Floyd county, Kentucky, was born July 25, 1851, and is a son of Henry C. and Minerva Hamilton Fitzpatrick, also natives of Floyd county. Grandfather Jonathan Fitzpatrick came from Virginia and was of Irish descent; the maternal grandfather was Stephen Hamilton. Hiram H. Fitzpatrick has always resided in Floyd county and in 1874 was elected county and circuit clerk, and is still filling the latter office, being in politics a Democrat. In 1877 he married Miss Mary S. Davidson, daughter of Joseph M. Davidson, of Floyd county."

"Robert S. Friend is a native of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, was born March 1, 1840, and is a son of John and Rachel Brown Friend, natives of Monroe county, Virginia. John Friend was born in 1791, came to Madison county, Kentucky, in 1820, and in 1821 removed to Prestonsburg where he kept the Washington and Jackson Hotel, which was burned in 1848. He was one of the magistrates under the old Constitution, became sheriff of the county, and was jailer for twenty years. He was a soldier of the War of 1812 and received a land warrant for 100 acres as bounty. His death occurred in 1878, but his wife, who was born in 1800, died in 1882.

"Robert S. Friend was educated at Prestonsburg and at Mt. Sterling Academy. In 1861 he volunteered in the Tenth Kentucky Cavalry, Confederate army, served about four years and on his return to Prestonsburg was licensed to practice law in 1866, having read under Thomas R. Worsham. In 1870 he was elected county attorney and held the office until 1874, when he was elected police judge. He is now Commissioner of the United States Circuit Court and chairman of the board of school directors. In 1865 he married Miss Rhoda Parsons, of Virginia, who died June 1, 1874, leaving three children.

"His second marriage was September 1, 1878, to Miss Araminta Auxier, of Johnson county, daughter of Nathaniel Auxier (deceased), and to this union has been born one child, Mr. Friend is a Democrat and a Prohibitionist, and as United States Commissioner has an immense amount of work to perform, his jurisdiction extending to the territory of the "moonshiners" in the adjacent hills."

ACCOUNT NUMBERS
Lexington, Ky.—Account numbers will be required on individual income tax returns from now on, says S. Q. Allen, U. K. Ag Extension economist. For most persons, he says, this will be the individual's social security number. If a wife has $600 or more reportable income, she will also require a social security number.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, the House of Representatives of the Kentucky legislature voted down, 40 to 36, a motion that it adjourn on the 17th until the 19th, to permit the Democratic Party state convention to use the chamber on the 18th. According to Collins' "History of Kentucky," it was the first time in the history of the state that use of the hall had been denied one of the major political parties.

On the appointed day, when 200 Democratic delegates from 40 counties (out of 110 then existing) assembled at Frankfort to nominate candidates for governor and other state officers, they convened in Metropolitan Hall. As soon as the meeting had been called to order by Capt. John W. Leather, of Kenton county, and before it could proceed to organize, it was interrupted by Col. E. A. Gilbert of the 44th Ohio Infantry, commander of Union Army forces at Frankfort. He read what he called "General Order No. 3" forbidding the democrats to hold a convention.

The Union commander, whose troops were lined up in the street outside the hall with bayonets fixed, announced that any further business of the convention was "arrested." Col. Gilbert told the Democratic delegates that if they nominated candidates, the candidates would be arrested, and if elected, they would not be permitted to hold offices. His adjutant made a list of those present. Gilbert said those who were not Frankfort residents, members of the legislature or officers of the state government must return to their homes and refrain from "seditious and noisy conversation."

The next day in the House of Representatives, Dr. A. B. Chambers, of Gallatin county, moved to dispense with the rules to permit him to present a petition setting forth the happenings at Metropolitan Hall and seeking legislation to conserve the constitutional right of citizens peaceably to assemble and the rights of suffrage and free speech. The motion lost on a tie vote, 40 to 40.

Col. Roy S. Cluke, of the Eighth Kentucky (Confederate) Cavalry, with 750 of Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan's troopers, during the week under review crossed the Cumberland River on a raid into the Blue Grass region.

This is the secret of how Nature builds soil; it takes Nature about 3,600 years to build six inches of good topsoil, such as the rich, black humus one finds on the forest floor.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

THE ECOLOGY OF A FALLEN LOG

Nature decrees that everything that falls in the forest shall be broken down, decomposed and turned back to the soil. In every tree that falls, there is locked up valuable minerals—phosphates, oxygen, nitrogen, carbon and other minerals that must be broken down, freed and decayed, to be added to the humus, to help build soil and nourish the future life of the forest.

Nature has at her command thousands of resources to return all dead matter back to earth again, that it may be used by all the living things of the future. So life in a forest goes on in never-ending cycles—all life matures, lives, and dies to live again in other life forms.

The ecology of a fallen log is a most fascinating study. Shortly after a tree falls, it is attacked by the boring beetles, which make tunnels into the wood leaving piles of sawdust on or beside the log. As soon as the openings into the wood are made, this paves the way for the bacteria, which enter the log; also rain-water, which soon becomes laden with organic matter to support microscopic life of many kinds. Into the opening made by the boring beetles also enter the spores of many kinds of fungi, to feed upon the wood and help to decompose it and break down its chemicals for use. The bark of the log is soon loosened by weathering, by freezing and thawing, and under the bark many small animals find lodging to help in the process of decomposing the log; one may lift up the loose bark and find fungus gnats, snails, slugs and various species of beetle larvae, all tunneling into the wood, and feeding upon it.

The boring beetles are the pioneers that open the way for successive communities of nature; they have softened up the wood and made it available for the use of the larvae of click beetles, carpenter ants, bessybugs, centipedes and many others. Small pools of water may form in holes in the log, and these soon become filled with many kinds of microorganisms: the protozoan flagellates enter the small water holes to feed upon the bacteria; then there come the ciliates like Colpoda, amoebas, rotifers, gastrotrichs, nematode worms and sometimes the wrigglers of culicid mosquitoes. All these have a part in helping to decompose the log. The yeasts and molds, the fungi and other kinds of spores all take part in the process of reducing the log back to its original elements; the yeasts and molds often take the small organisms that die in the log and convert them into nitrogen compounds to be used by plants of the future.

Also you may often notice on a fallen log the large white bracket fungi, shelving on its surface. These are the scavengers of nature that help to eat the wood and turn it into dust suitable for adding to the soil. After a time, the bark has all been devoured, then molds and bacteria begin to reduce the pulpy mass of the wood to a mound of moldy, soft, broken-down tissue, called "Rot." Into this soft mass of rotted wood, come the ground beetles, the earthworms, the millipedes and centipedes, and other small animals, called "nature's mixers," and they turn and move and mix the rotten wood with the forest humus, and finally the log has been completely dissolved and added to the material of the forest floor, available for the use of other plants.

It may take several years, but the log will be broken down eventually and turned into humus. So the silent, unseen processes of nature go on unceasingly, completing their eternal cycles; life comes forth, lives, grows, matures, grows old and falls; nature's processes then begin their work to reduce it back to substance to feed other life, because it is nature's stern decree that all things on this earth, including man, must go back to the dust from whence it came.

This is the secret of how Nature builds soil; it takes Nature about 3,600 years to build six inches of good topsoil, such as the rich, black humus one finds on the forest floor.

YOUTH CORPS LAW SOUGHT

Orville Freeman Urges Perkins Bill Support; Udall Testifies Monday

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20 (Spl.)—Passage of a bill introduced by Congressman Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky.) to establish a Youth Conservation Corps and public employment for out-of-school and unemployed young people between the ages of 16 and 22 years of age was urged today by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Secretary Freeman told Perkins' Education subcommittee, which is holding hearings on the legislation, that a Youth Conservation Corps was urgently needed to perform conservation and recreational development work in national forests.

Freeman was the third member of the President's cabinet to appear before the Perkins subcommittee endorsing Perkins' bill, which is known as the Youth Employment Act. The hearings were begun Monday by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Tuesday of this week. Attorney General Robert Kennedy asked quick action on the legislation because of the contribution the program would make toward eliminating sources of juvenile delinquency.

Udall testified as to the need of the program in connection with the full development of the nation's parks and natural resources. Also on Monday representatives of the nation's leading conservation organizations urged passage of the bill including the Wildlife Management Institute, the National Wildlife Federation, the Isaac Walton League, the Committee on Natural Resources and the Wilderness Society.

Today (Thursday), Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze is scheduled to appear before the Perkins subcommittee. Perkins said the hearings would be concluded next Monday with the testimony of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Perkins announced the hope that the subcommittee and the full committee could act promptly on the legislation so as to enable full membership of the House to act on the measure early in the session. Similar legislation advocated by Congressman Perkins in the last session was pending before the House Rules committee, which must schedule all legislation for action by the full House membership when the 87th Congress adjourns.

The Perkins bill would establish the Youth Conservation Corps with an enrollment limit of 15,000 young people the first year and 20,000 for each of the succeeding four years. In addition, Title II of the bill would create public service employment for young people in state and local government and private public-time nonprofit enterprises for about 50,000 young people a year.

One-third of the Corps' enrollment strength could be reserved for use by states or state parks and conservation projects and the remainder of the Corps would be used by the Department of the Interior and the U. S. Department of Agriculture on Federal forests and public lands to perform deferred recreational conservation maintenance and construction work. In addition to compensation Corps members would receive clothing, shelter, meals, medical care and supplementary education in a camp-like atmosphere.

KBA Names Ag Chairman For Floyd County, Said; Farm Promotion Planned

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 14 (Spl.)—John G. Heinze, manager of The Bank Josephine Branch Bank at Allen, Kentucky, has been named Agricultural chairman of Floyd county by the president of the Kentucky Bankers Association.

As county agricultural chairman Mr. Heinze will be the official representative of the Kentucky Bankers Association in activities designed to increase farm income and improve the welfare of rural communities. Such activities include the encouragement of new and improved farm practices, the support of youth leadership training in 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters, and cooperation with farm leaders and agencies in holding educational tours, field days and achievement meetings.

EXTENSION MEATS SPECIALIST
Lexington, Ky.—Dr. York Varney, associate professor of animal science who joined the staff of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in 1954, assumed a new post Friday, February 1. He became Agricultural Extension Service specialist in meat utilization, says Dr. G. W. Schneider, associate director of the service.

United Fuel Gas Sued For $39,490 As Result Of Shelbiana Explosion

The United Fuel Gas Company was sued in the Pike circuit court recently for $34,490 as a result of an explosion and fire at Red Creek late last month.

The suit was filed by W. E. Justice, owner of property which Justice claims was damaged by the explosion and fire.

Kentucky State Police reported that one man, Ernest A. Lemm, Sr., 74, was fatally injured and another, John Scalf, of Shelbiana, formerly of the Mare Creek section of this county, was hospitalized as a result of injuries suffered in the mishap.

Justice claims that one house belonging to him was destroyed and that two other rental houses and a vehicle belonging to him were damaged by the mishap.

The plaintiff alleged that United Fuel is the owner of a gas line which broke or ruptured, allowing great quantities of natural gas to escape underground under high pressure and seep through the ground into one of his buildings where the gas became ignited and caused an explosion and fire.

ORDINANCE

An Ordinance of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, authorizing the Acquisition of Certain Properties for Construction Sites and Right-of-Way Or Easements for the Construction and Maintenance of the Sanitary Sewer System of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, by Negotiations or Condemnation Proceedings.
WHEREAS, the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, has heretofore entered into "Loan Agreement" with Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States (HHFA), identified as Project No. FFL-KY-432, contract No. H-302-1017, for the purpose of constructing a sanitary sewer system for the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and
WHEREAS, it is necessary and convenient for the construction of the said sewer system that the City of Prestonsburg acquire sites for a disposal plant, lift stations, out-fall lines, gathering lines and appurtenant facilities all of which are shown in the plans and specifications of the project filed with the Clerk of the City of Prestonsburg with offices in the Municipal building Prestonsburg, Kentucky.
NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION 1. That Harris S. Howard and Barkley Sturgill or other agents of the City as designated by the Mayor are authorized to negotiate with the various property owners herein for the purchase of the necessary lift station sites, out-fall line easements, gathering line easements, plant sites, and appurtenant facilities in order to procure the necessary conveyance from the owners to the City.
SECTION 2. In the event that any of the properties mentioned herein as shown by the plans and specifications herein before mentioned cannot be procured by the City by negotiations, then Harris S. Howard and Barkley Sturgill, Attorneys, are authorized to institute condemnation proceedings on behalf of the City against said property owners for the purpose of acquiring the necessary title or titles as called for by the plans and specifications herein.
Adopted by the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at a meeting held on the 19th day of February, 1963.
APPROVED:

Garrett High School Freshman Asks Andy, Wins Encyclopedia

Mickey Fouts is a source of both minor embarrassment and tremendous pride to his mother, Mrs. Arnold Fouts, a teacher at Garrett high school.

Mickey, 15, won a set of The World Book Encyclopedia from the Ask Andy feature in the Courier-Journal, an achievement which pleases his mother no end.

"But I know that any question he submitted to Ask Andy dealt with science or mathematics," Mrs. Fouts said.

"That's all he ever thinks about," she added, explaining that while her son has a talent for science and math he doesn't take a shine to the subject she teaches, English.

"My English, he hates!"

Mickey's question is answered by Andy in Monday's Courier-Journal. The youth is a freshman at Garrett high school and plans to become an engineer or scientist. His parents hope to send him to the University of Kentucky. They plan on his taking his first two years of college at the proposed Prestonsburg extension center.

Mickey's interest in science goes beyond the classroom. He has his own small laboratory in a second home his parents own here, and subscribes to a mail-order science club that provides its members with experiments.

"It's a little safer having his lab in a different house," said Mrs. Fouts. She pointed out a stain on a rug at the family residence where one experiment failed.

He has built a rocket he intends to launch when his father, a Federal Reserve Bank guard, returns from his job in Ohio.

Grigsby-Reynolds Vows Spoken at Lexington

The marriage of Miss Margaret Lynn Grigsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Grigsby, of Lexington, Ky., formerly of Martin, to Mr. Ronald Reynolds, son of Mrs. Anna M. Frye, of Lexington, was solemnized on Sunday, Feb. 17, at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is a student at Hager Beauty Academy, and Mr. Reynolds is an architectural student at Lafayette Vocational School, Lexington.

Southern Bell Announces Lower Nighttime Rates; Effective Dates Named

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 18 (Spl.) — Lower rates on nighttime station-to-station calls in Kentucky are on tap for Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. subscribers, the Public Service Commission has announced.

P. S. C. Chairman J. David Francis said the new rates will mean a maximum charge of 65 cents for a four-minute call made anywhere in Kentucky between 9 p.m. and 4:30 a.m. each day.

Francis said the rate cut will go into effect about April 1, when a similar decrease is expected on all interstate station-to-station calls made over the Bell System after 9 p.m. New rate schedules must be prepared before the decrease is put into operation within Kentucky, he said.

Last month the Commission announced reductions on charges for in-Kentucky person-to-person calls made at night and on Sundays. These changes went into effect January 19.

Y-Teens Club Groups From Area Towns Meet At Paintsville School

Y-Teens Club delegations from Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Lewis County and Paintsville high schools met at the Paintsville grade school auditorium, Sunday, for the annual District 11 pre-legislative meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to elect candidates to run for various offices at the 1963 Kentucky Youth Assembly to be held at Frankfort, March 28, 29, 30.

Eddie Worland, Jr. of Prestonsburg high school, was selected to run for the office of Governor. Elizabeth Lynne Frazier, also from Prestonsburg, was nominated assistant sergeant-at-arms.

District 11's candidate for Speaker of the House is Brenda Lewis from Leslie county. Lynn Salisbury, Prestonsburg, will serve as Speaker of the House for the upcoming session of KYA.

Other candidates are Kenny Dotson, Pikeville high school, Lieutenant-Governor; Jamie Cooper, Paintsville, Secretary of State, and Carolyn Scagg, Paintsville, floor leader of the Senate.

Barbara Safriet, of Paintsville, was elected District 11's campaign manager. Mary Lynn Hall, Prestonsburg, will serve as assistant campaign manager. Joyce Ann Hall, Prestonsburg high school, was elected director of publicity.

Mignon Hall Opening Scheduled At Morehead; Named for Prexy's Wife

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 19 (Spl.) — The formal opening of Mignon Hall on the Morehead State College campus will be held Sunday, February 24, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Students, alumni and friends are invited to attend the opening of the magnificent six-story women's residence hall named for Mignon Doran, wife of Morehead President Adron Doran.

The semi-circular building, which is the tallest structure on the Morehead campus, will house 300 coeds in suites for four. Each of the suites has a study-living room, a private bath and a bedroom and is luxuriously furnished.

Each suite has an outside entrance and all suites command a splendid view of the campus from the hillside location of the unusual residence hall.

The structure has a glass and natural wood enclosed lobby, a three-room director's apartment, a storage room, linen room, elevator, laundry room, sun deck and native stone patio.

The $1,166,495 structure, designed by McLoney, Tune & Clark, Architects, was constructed by the Pickens & Bond Construction Co.

a special effort in 1963 to carry through on area beautification programs. He urged residents to clean up the highways and public facilities.

B. F. Reed, speaking on behalf of operators, added his praise of the Department's record, and said that he found gratification in the work Mr. Mandt has done, since Mandt was urged by him to accept the post of commissioner. He promised his personal cooperation with the department and its inspectors.

Department personnel, coal industry representatives and guests attending the luncheon numbered about 100. Frank Walker, Lexington, director of the Division of Oil & Gas; Henry Hamblin, of Evarts, principal inspector, and these senior mine inspectors: Noah Johnson, Manchester; Everett Brown, Pikeville; Everett Bartlett, Hazard; Willard Stanley, Martin. One district, Madisonville, was not represented.

Each of the senior inspectors introduced inspectors working under his supervision. Mr. Stanley recognized these:

Walter Williams, Paintsville; James Sammons, Wayland; Arnold Turner, McDowell; Clabe Mosley, Wayland; Ed Hall, Bevinsville; Glenn Pack, Minnie, and Elihu Coyer, Paintsville.

Wives of the inspectors were recognized with their husbands.

FEBRUARY IS APPROPRIATE NATIONAL CHERRY MONTH

By FRANCES H. PITTS
Home Demonstration Agent
February is known as National Cherry Month and it is a most appropriate time. The red tart cherry crop was record large this past year and processed supplies now on hand for Washington's birthday, Valentine's Day and Abe Lincoln's birthday are in heavy supply. Canned supplies are especially large from which pies are usually made. And there are a host of frozen products which includes not only frozen unsweetened and sweetened cherries, but bakery products such as rolls, turnovers, crisps, pies, cake and other desserts. Cherry muffins and cherry kuchen are other desserts which are easily made from the canned pie filling. Cherry sauce slices is a wonderful addition to meats and poultry in flavor as well as consistency and color.

Cherry Soup—an interesting soup which may be served hot or cold with a garnish of sour cream and a sprinkling of grated orange peel. For 12 servings, allow 3 cups drained red tart, water-packed cherries, reserving the liquid. Chop cherries fine or put through a blender, combine two-thirds cup sugar, one-fourth cup corn starch, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon cinnamon in a saucepan. Stir in one cup cherry liquid, chopped cherries and one cup orange juice. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil; boil one-half minute. Serve hot or cold. This makes a wonderful and unusual appetizer.

UNSAFE MINES ARE CLOSED BY ORDER OF A. H. MANDT

(Special to The Times)
Frankfort, Feb. 14—“Dear Sir: You have been working in a DEATH TRAP.”

So opens a letter which A. H. Mandt, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, sends to each coal miner found working in a dangerous area of a mine which State inspectors have temporarily closed for safety reasons.

The letter continues: “The last inspection report shows that you failed to maintain your working place in a safe condition. FORTY-THREE Kentucky coal miners were killed in 1961 by slate falls. Will you be the next VICTIM?”

Although the letter is designed to shock the recipient, Mandt considers it the most direct way of selling mine safety to the men who do the work.

“In fact,” Mandt said, “this practice deserves a good part of the credit for 1962 having the lowest number of coal mine fatalities in Kentucky in the past 40 years.”

Last year fatalities from roof falls—the Number One killer in Kentucky coal mines—were reduced from 43 to 19. Forty-one miners were killed last year in all accidents as opposed to 55 in 1961, he said.

Mandt credits direct appeals such as the letter quoted above, more stringent inspection procedures and free accident prevention and first-aid courses as the main factors contributing to last year's safety record.

The Department of Mines and Minerals employs 31 mine inspectors to supervise safety operations in the state's more than 2,500 coal mines and 60 clay mines spread over 52 counties. In 1962 they made almost 11,000 inspections.

Each mine is inspected every three months. If a particular mine shows repeated violations, it is inspected every 30 days until the situation is corrected.

Since roof falls present the greatest danger, four special timbering inspectors are assigned full-time to checking timbers that support the roof at the working faces of the mines where the coal is being dug.

When an inspector finds a serious safety hazard he “dangers off” the area and closes down operations at that part of the mine until repairs are made.

This gives Commissioner Mandt another chance to plug mine safety when the operators call his office to have their mines re-inspected. “In most cases it's not a question of being outright negligent,” Mandt said. “A great many of the operators aren't fully aware of the dangers inherent in underground mining; our job is to educate them to these dangers.”

Another giant step in the process of making the miners and the operators more safety conscious is the program of accident prevention and first-aid courses given without charge by the department.

The program was begun on a limited scale in 1961 and received such enthusiastic support from the miners and the operators that it was stepped up in 1962 and a full-time safety director was added to the staff.

The classes are conducted by state inspectors and last approximately 10 weeks, meeting once a week in the evening for about two hours. In the past year, eight Small Mine Accident Prevention courses have been given to approximately 450 miners.

Special first-aid courses were held last year to prepare 160 miners for statewide mine rescue competition.

The teams are sponsored by the coal companies and the men operate as rescue teams in their own areas in the event of an accident.

The Department of Mines and Minerals also periodically conducts courses for mine foremen, reviewing the elements of practical mining and safety practices.

Training Program Begun For Wright Girl Scouts

Wheelwright—The monthly meeting of the Wheelwright Girl Scout Neighborhood was held in the Girl Scout room at 7:30 p.m., February 5.

A training program for leaders is being conducted by Mrs. Shirley Hughes, executive director of the Sandy Valley Girl Scout Council. Instruction to leaders of Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts has been given recently. Training for leaders of Cadet and Senior Girl Scouts has been scheduled for February 15 and February 22, respectively, in the Woman's Club room at 6 p.m. Anyone who is interested in learning about the new Girl Scout program which is scheduled to go into effect in the fall is invited to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Kathryn Leatherman was named local Cookie chairman. March 16 was designated as Cookie Sale Day for Wheelwright.

Plans were made to have a public program on Sunday afternoon, March 10, in which the Girl Scouts will participate.

It was decided that the Neighborhood would purchase church bulletins to be used on March 10, the beginning of Girl Scout Week.

Mrs. Hughes discussed opportunities in 1963 for the older girls in Scouting and told of camps with special fields of interest.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Sarah McQueen, Geraldine Fields, Jewell Childers, Virginia Benedict, Catherine Allen, Eleanor Grimm, Alice Jean Gibson, Kathryn Leatherman, Helen Pace, Miss Ernestine Hood, and guest, Mrs. Shirley Hughes, Prestonsburg.

The next regular neighborhood meeting will be Tuesday, March 5, in the Girl Scout room.

BY JUDY WOODS

"An opportunity to see old acquaintances, meet new friends and share the fun of college life" is the way a Floyd county student described a recent meeting of Eastern Kentucky State College's Floyd County Club.

This statement reflects the sentiments of other Floyd county students who have participated in the club since its organization in the fall semester of 1961. Thirty-eight students form the nucleus of the club.

Early in the fall club members began planning a float to enter in Eastern's annual homecoming parade. "A Chinese Garden" was chosen as the theme for the float. Miss Pat McCormick represented the club as a candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Participation in homecoming activities was made possible by helpful hands of students who put in many hours to make the float, and by Floyd county merchants and other Floyd citizens who gave financial aid.

The Floyd County Club extends its gratitude to the following businesses and individuals who donated money for the float: Ray Howard Furniture Stores, Music-Colvin Chevrolet-Buick Sales, Lake Bowling Lanes, Crown Bowling Lanes, N. M. "Bud" White, B. F. Casual Shop, Hughes Motor, Rose Drug Store, Francis Store, Thomas Hereford Company, Carter & Callihan Funeral Home, Prestonsburg Dry Cleaners, and Frank Derosssett.

Campus dances, picnics, coke parties and a banquet and dance at May Lodge are some of the interesting activities that the club has planned for this year.

Club members will also visit Floyd county high schools and describe some of the many benefits that can be obtained by a student attending Eastern.

Club officers for this year are Bill Francis, president; Steve Dotson, vice-president; Judy Howard, secretary; Sandra Click, treasurer, and Shirley Harmon, publicity chairman.

The group wishes to thank two former Floyd countians, Dr. Henry Martin, dean of students and Dick Allen, head librarian for the fine contributions they have made to the club.

Mr. Carl N. Woods is sponsor of this organization.

In addition to those shown in the photograph, the following Floyd countians are enrolled at Eastern: Everett Akers, Martin; Fernin E. Akers, Lancer; Glypie V. Akers, Wayland; Lottie Akers, Martin; Polly Bentley, Hueysville; Barbara Ann Boien, Garrett; and William Braddock, Martin.

NED BREATHITT as GOVERNOR Will Complete The Mountain Parkway EASTERN KENTUCKY'S ROAD OF OPPORTUNITY

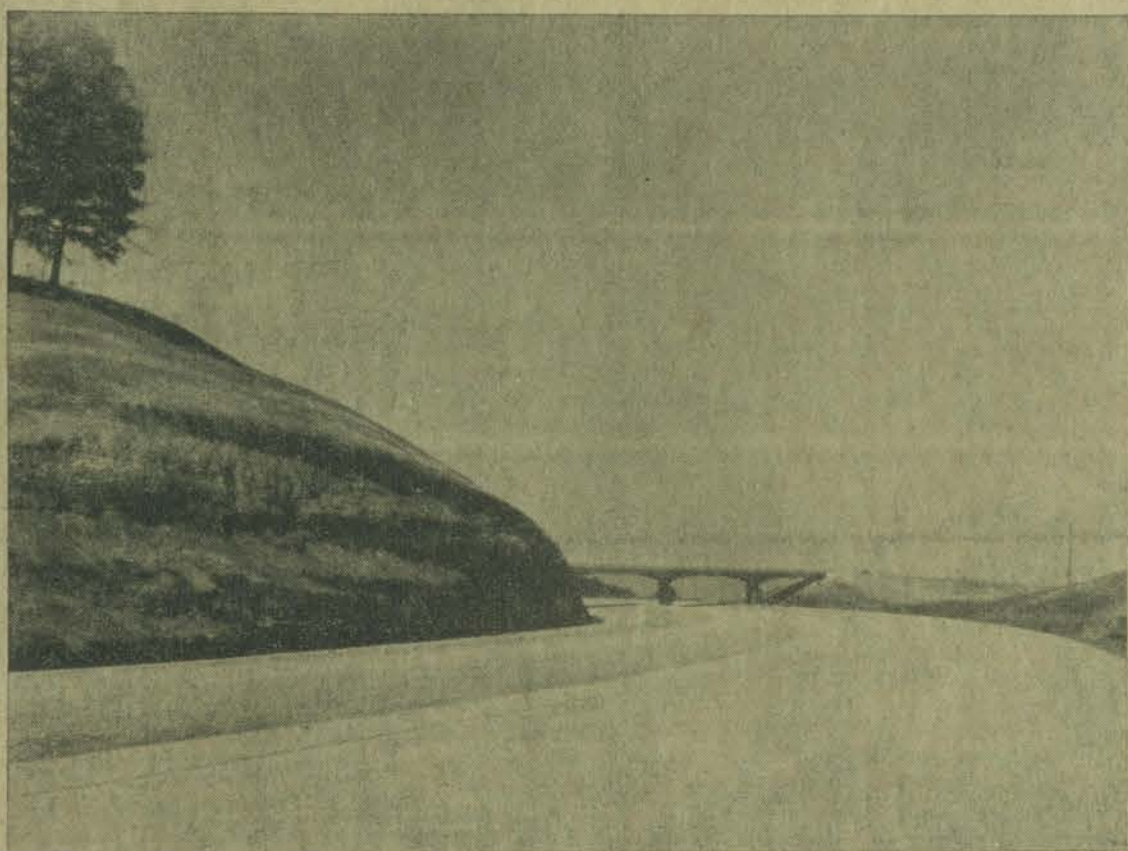

Ned Breathitt says: "The Mountain Parkway will serve a growing industrial and recreation area."

Happy Chandler says the Eastern Kentucky road leads "uphill to nowhere" and into an area where half the people are on relief and most don't pay taxes.

Will You Go Forward With Breathitt or Backwards With Chandler?

Many said Eastern Kentucky would never have a modern, safe major highway—that the mountains would be "locked forever." The Mountain Parkway being built proves they're wrong again.

EASTERN KENTUCKY IS AT THE CROSSROADS...

"Like a dream road"—that's the way travelers who have contended with other roads in the area describe the new Mountain Parkway.

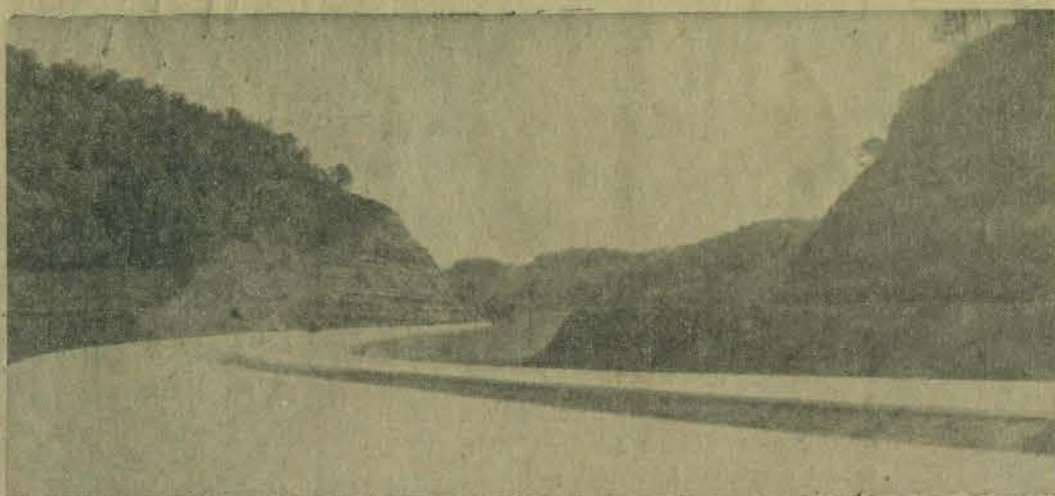

The Mountain Parkway, Eastern Kentucky's first top-quality major highway, opens the door for better living for all Eastern Kentuckians.

A writer once said, "For lack of a through highway, the mountain folk are largely fenced in and their potential visitors fenced out." Now the Mountain Parkway opens the gates to opportunity. Commerce and industrial products will be able to move on its broad, easy lanes, tourists will be able to find us, and local residents can at last travel easily and safely.

The Mountain Parkway, other new roads, major park developments and the new handicrafts marketing program are important new assets that will help Eastern Kentuckians make a better living. The Mountain Parkway will bring tourists with money to spend, and Eastern Kentucky will extend its best hospitality to them.

When completed, the 202-mile Mountain Parkway, which is already in use from Winchester to Campton, will divide at Campton. One arm will extend through Salyersville and Prestonsburg to Pikeville. The other arm will reach on to Hazard and Whitesburg. From Winchester to Salyersville (76 miles) will be toll road. The rest of the 202 miles of the Mountain Parkway will be freeway (no tolls).

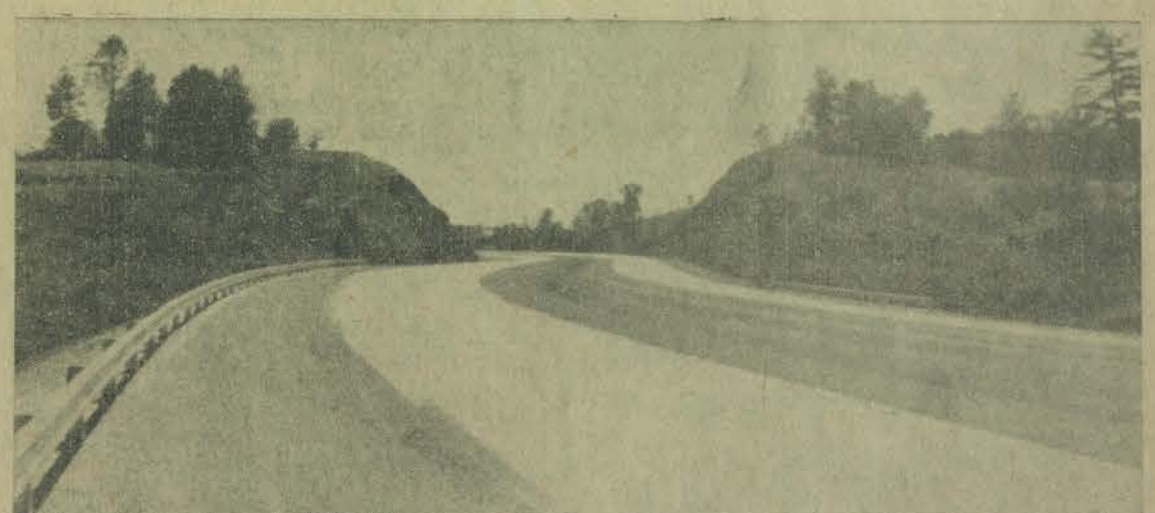

As much as possible of the 202 miles will be built during the Combs administration. EASTERN KENTUCKY MUST MAKE SURE THAT THE NEXT GOVERNOR IS SYMPATHETIC TO THE MOUNTAIN PARKWAY AND WILL COMPLETE IT. Ned Breathitt for Governor praises the Mountain Parkway and pledges its completion as planned.

Forty-three miles of the new Mountain Parkway—from Winchester to Campton—opened in January. Its smooth lanes cut an hour from driving time and seven miles from the trip. The 80c (Chandler said the toll would be over $4) toll is offset by what the motorist saves on his gas and oil and on tires and car repair. Safety, time saved and ease of travel are a bonus. For those who would complain about the toll, the much improved freeway over this route is still available.

Building the Winchester-to-Campton section of the Mountain Parkway was no easy job; many said it couldn't be done. More equipment, machinery and manpower were concentrated on its construction than on any road project in state history. Curves are broad and gentle. No grade is steeper than seven per cent. Giant cuts—up to 260 feet in depth—permit the easy slopes.

This picture, made just before the Winchester-Campton section of the Parkway opened, shows inviting travel ahead for Eastern Kentuckians and for the visitors and tourists who will come to see us.

EASTERN KENTUCKY IS GRATEFUL FOR THE PROGRESS THAT HAS BEEN MADE ON THE MOUNTAIN PARKWAY. OUR PRESERVATION AND PROGRESS DEPEND UPON THE COMPLETION OF THIS HIGHWAY. NED BREATHITT HAS PRAISED THIS WHILE CHANDLER HAS CRITICISED THIS ROAD.

State Law Requires All Counties To Buy Vote Machines By May

(Special To The Times) Frankfort, Feb. 14—With all Kentucky counties required by law to have voting machines in use by the May 28 primary elections, the state Department of Finance has requested price quotations from all recognized manufacturers of voting machines. Prices quoted would be in force for the next 12 months.

Finance Commissioner David H. Pritchett said the law allows the county to select the type of voting machine its officials consider best. The price quotations are being requested, he said, to fix the maximum rate which may be charged the counties by the manufacturer.

Pritchett explained that the counties may obtain their voting machines under a long-term lease agreement with the State Property and Buildings Commission, or may purchase the machines directly from voting machine suppliers.

The Commission estimates that as many as 200 voting machines may be required to eliminate all remaining paper ballot voting precincts in the state.

Kentucky law provides that the commission can lease the voting machines and make them available on sub-lease to the counties. This procedure is designed to aid counties which may not have sufficient funds to purchase funds to purchase voting machines on a cash basis.

The voting machine law provides that counties failing to obtain voting machines by the primary election date will not qualify for repayment for the state's portion of their election expenses.

Under the lease-option agreement the county makes its first payment for voting machines within 90 days. If the county elects to continue the agreement through the 12 annual payments which are due, title to the voting machines is then transferred from the Property and Buildings Commission to the county.

The last set of price quotations to the state on voting machines of various types ranged from $1,665 to $1,742 with interest rates under the lease-option of from four to five per cent.

Counties switching from paper ballots to voting machines usually redistrict voting precincts so as to consolidate about two precincts using paper ballots into one new machine precinct. Voting machine manufacturers recommend that each new machine precinct should not include more than 500 registered voters.

CHAFFINS AT FT. KNOX
Ft. Knox, Ky.—Army Pvt. William J. Chaffins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Chaffins, of Garrett, Kentucky, completed eight weeks of reconnaissance training at The Armor, Center, Ft. Knox, Kentucky, February 1.

Chaffins was instructed in scouting, patrolling and collecting information on enemy troop movements. The 26-year-old soldier entered the Army last September and completed basic training at the fort. Before entering the Army he was employed by Silver Star Boat Company, at Wolcottville, Indiana.

More than 32% of Kentucky's 189 vocational agriculture departments have two or more teachers. Broken down there are 117 one-teacher departments, 64 with two teachers, seven with three, and one with four teachers.

Stately Old Capitol

Dominating downtown Frankfort is the Old State House, erected in 1805. It is now the home of the Kentucky Historical Society. It was Gideon Shryock who designed this outstanding example of the Greek Revival style of architecture and the famous circular marble staircase inside. It is said that the staircase is so perfectly balanced that if the keystone supporting it were moved a fraction of an inch, the entire center section of the building would collapse. In front of the building is a fountain which had been dry for some 30 years, until last year when it bubbled anew as part of a face-lifting effort for the old landmark. The Old State House, including the Historical Society's museum and library, is open every day of the year and is free to the public.

Old "If," Groaning Under Load Drops Porch Down Mountainside

Pippa Passes, Ky.—"If" is the weathered building on the campus of Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes, Kentucky, which houses the registrar's office. It was built in 1918, the second building in Alice Lloyd's Caney Creek Community Center. As more space was needed two extra rooms were attached to "If," this little shack of rough-sawn green lumber which was named for Kipling's poem of the same name. And a couple of porches were cloaked to the sides of "If." Even these porches had to serve as storage space. Piles of books were stacked as high as the windows, then higher, to keep them under roof. "If" bore up bravely under the load of learning. Then there came the talk of an Alice Lloyd College Building to replace this sagging shack, and the dining room, and all the unsteady offices. Such a project seemed to take a long time. "If" could not wait. A week or two ago, old "If" gave a groan and let a porch slide down the mountain side—books, dinner bell, and all! Not mere idle words were those in the Newsletter, June 1962, which stated, "The Shack of 'If' is about to tumble down."

Someone has suggested that learning should be dispersed, not hoarded. That is exactly what Alice Lloyd College wants to do. These textbooks are available free to grade and high school teachers who will come to get them for supplementary material for reading or clipping. Interested teachers please note: Come and help yourself to these books and haul them away in your cars or trucks as soon as time and weather permit.

DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

The annual 58th district (Floyd county) basketball tournament will open play in Prestonsburg next Wednesday at 7 p.m., with two games scheduled for four consecutive nights.

In the first game of the annual affair, Betsy Layne will tangle with Prestonsburg, and in the second game of the top bracket, Garrett will meet Maytown.

Thursday's first round has Martin meeting Wayland in the 7 p.m. opener, with Wheelwright facing McDowell in the final game of the first round.

The semi-finals are scheduled for 7 and 8:45 p.m., Friday, and the consolation game and the finals are slated for the same time Saturday night.

In the consolation game no seniors will be permitted to play. Four officials will officiate the tournament and they have been assigned to these games:

Sid Meade and Doug Butcher will work the Betsy Layne-Prestonsburg game; Birchell Duff and Clarence Black, the Maytown-Garrett game; Sid Meade and Birchell Duff, the Martin-Wayland tussle; Doug Butcher and Clarence Black, the Wheelwright-McDowell fray. Meade and Black have the upper-bracket semi-finals, and Duff and Butcher have the lower bracket semi-finals.

The two competing coaches in the final game will select the officials.

Frank Heinze and Johnny Ellis, both of Prestonsburg, will serve as timekeeper and scorekeeper, respectively.

Only one price, $1.00, will prevail at the door; however, students may purchase tickets at their respective schools for 50c each.

Maytown's injured Bob Tallent returned to line-up last weekend after missing four games and promptly returned to his high-scoring role. Despite the fact that his team lost close encounters to Elkhorn City and Wayland, Tallent poured in 38 against Elkhorn City and 32 against Wayland.

Tigers Clip Wasps In Scrapy Tussle

Matewan, W. Va. — Matewan's twice-beaten Tigers captured their 14th victory of the season here Friday night, turning back scrappy Wayland high, 70-55, in an erratic basketball game.

Matewan jumped off to a 19-9 first quarter lead and seemed on its way to a romp. But the Wasps took a 20-10 advantage in the second quarter for a 29-29 halftime tie. In the third quarter the visitors went ahead 48-45 but Matewan rallied with a 25-7 margin in the final quarter to hand the Wasps their eighth beating in 18 games.

Terry Epling sparked the triumph for Matewan with 24 points and Johnny Brown and Bill Bolen added 15 and 10, respectively. Phil Coleman, of Wayland, had 20 and Dan Stanford 14 for the losers.

New Registration Decals For Boat Owners Mailed; Regulations Are Changed

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 18 (Sp.) — The first 1963-1964 Kentucky boat registration decals have been mailed from the Kentucky Department of Public Safety's Division of Boating.

Approximately 300 boat owners registered their craft during January following a change in registration regulations permitting registration renewal or new registration any time after January 1.

Previously registrations could not be renewed until April 1. All current registrations will be valid until May 1, 1964.

Boating Division Director E. C. "Bud" Calman said the regulation was changed to permit the state's boat owners an opportunity to renew their registrations before the boating season opens. A total of 49,000 boats were registered in the state last year, he said.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE
by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Knowing full well the idiosyncracies of fishes, nevertheless we're ready to predict that the black bass fishing in Lake Cumberland this spring will be "out of this world." This prediction is not merely pulled out of the air for the sake of something to write about but is based on certain facts, and, to be sure, some "ifs."

A few years ago the threadfin shad was introduced into Lake Cumberland. This fellow who, when full grown, still is of small size and can be gobbled up by a hungry bass, last year and the year before almost outdid himself in production. As a result, the small bass of last spring (and there were plenty of them in Cumberland) had an ample pantry throughout the past summer with the result that they grew rapidly and last fall were in the 12 to 14 inch category.

Probably more of this size fish were harvested from this lake last fall than in any other given period and still there are plenty left. They had ample food of the threadfin variety right on through the colder months and undoubtedly have even grown some during the winter months.

The presence of this threadfin and the resultant excellent food have made the bass in Cumberland extremely healthy and chances are that none succumbed to the vagaries of fish life during this past winter.

It's pretty safe to say that all those present last fall (that were not caught by the fishermen) are in the lake right now, frisky and ready to hit. They'll be ready to take the lure when the weather permits.

This threadfin is largely responsible for the healthy condition of these bass. As said before, he is a small fellow, available for food throughout his life and does not take up too much space in the lake as does his distant cousin, the gizzard shad. But, the threadfin is by nature a southerner and he is almost off limits in Lake Cumberland because of the cold water in the winter months. Some have died in the past few weeks but biologists are relatively sure there'll be enough for reproduction next spring. If the weather should have cleaned them out this past winter, they'll be stocked again because they have been found to be the best bet yet on the menu of Lake Cumberland bass. Yes, we believe there'll be good fishing in Lake Cumberland, but it is a prediction based on proper water conditions as dictated by the weatherman.

Elkhorn City Cougars Whip Stubborn Maytown
Elkhorn City, Ky.—The Cougars of Elkhorn City spurted in an overtime for 31 points, after blowing a 56-53 third quarter lead, and whipped a stubborn Maytown five here Friday night, 91-82.

Sonny Shepherd with four points in the overtime, and Steve Deskins with three sealed the victory for the Elkhorn quintet, which posted its tenth victory against six losses.

McDowell Edges Garrett In Narrow 63-62 Win
Garrett, Ky.—McDowell, paced by four double-figure scorers, outscored Garrett 23-21 in the first quarter and then fought the host Black Devils tooth and nail before pulling out a narrow 63-62 victory here Saturday night.

Shawn Howell paced the Dare Devils' 23rd win of the season with 17 points. David Turner and Keith Howell added 15 each and Ronnie Moore 10 for the victors. McDowell, has lost five games.

Garrett, which has captured 14 of 22 games this season, was led by the game's top point getter, Keith Lawson, with 23 points. Jimmy Cox had 17 and Don Bolen 15.

McDowell held a 34-32 advantage at halftime and was outscored by one point, 30-29, in the final two quarters.

Children's Hospital At Louisville Releases Statistics of Floyd Aid

For the 71st year in a row Children's Hospital in Louisville has in 1962 broken all previous records.

The hospital announced its patient statistics this week. They showed that Floyd county compiled a total of 138 days. The total patient days from Floyd county is only a small percentage of the total help given to every county in the state.

Some 1962 statistics compared to the 1961 figures showed Children's Hospital cared for 30,116 patients in 1962, compared with 20,832 in 1961. The breakdown of this total showed 7,548 admitted. Patients from counties in Kentucky other than Jefferson chalked up a grand total of 18,063 patient days in the Louisville hospital.

TWO REGIONAL CHURCHES RECOGNIZED FOR SERVICE

Certificates of merit for outstanding community service programs were given Tuesday to 14 rural churches of Kentucky at a special awards session of the 51st annual Farm and Home Weeks held at Lexington.

Two of the churches are First Baptist Church, of Mousie, the Rev. Floyd Titsworth, pastor, and the Elkhorn City Methodist Church, Rev. William Garnett, pastor. Dr. W. A. Seay, dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics made the presentation.

It is the 17th year the University and the Kentucky Council of Churches have given such citations. Dean Seay pointed out that all the churches are in "open country" or villages, have small but active memberships (usually 100 persons) and have shown membership increases despite declining rural populations.

The other churches, locations and ministers, receiving certificates, are: Buck Grove Baptist Church, Ekron, Meade county, the Rev. Donald Dameron, Burkin Christian Church, Mercer county, the Rev. Thomas Logston, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, St. Vincent, Union county, the Rev. John Higgins, Hazel Green Christian Church, Wolfe county, the Rev. Oliver Mason, Owingsville Methodist Church, Bath county, the Rev. Walter Hensley, Pewee Valley Presbyterian Church, Oldham county, the Rev. Earl Caldwell, Cadiz Methodist Church, Trigg county, the Rev. Gilbert Schroerlucke, Mill Creek Evangelical United Brethren Church, Clay county, the Rev. George Surface, Moorefield Christian Church, Nicholas county, the Rev. Larry Miracle, Beech Creek Evangelical United Brethren Church, Clay county, the Rev. Merritt Penner, Watton Christian Church, Boone county, the Rev. William Moore, and First Methodist Church, Camp-

Ramsey said it was worth noting that many of the churches had prepared "careful budgets, devised plans of work and prepared annual reports of accomplishments. New church buildings, remodeling of existing structures and new parsonages were also indications of a growing church and its importance in the community."

Lions Club Installs Officers At LaDale; Hazard Club, Sponsor

The Prestonsburg Lions Club formally installed its officers for the ensuing year at its regular bi-monthly meeting at the LaDale restaurant Thursday evening of last week. R. Chalmers Lindon, international counselor, Hazard, was installation officer. The Hazard group is sponsoring the Prestonsburg club.

"Whether you grow or not depends upon what you put in your club," Lindon said. "If you get busy you'll grow. If you just come here and eat you can't grow. If you give your community service you are worthwhile and your organization will be worthwhile."

Frederick A. James, president, presided at the meeting and in a brief talk reviewed the purposes of the town's newest service club and added:

"The thought behind the organization was and is to build a better town. You and I, all of us, by mutual dedication to our purpose can contribute to that."

Russell May reported on what other clubs and organizations in the city are doing and discussed area development.

Installed as officers were James, president, Richard Harmon, vice-president; Vance Mitter, second vice-president; Henry P. Scalf, third vice-president; Hardin Short, tall twister; David du Pont, lion tamer; Frank Harmon, E. V. Craft, Jody Fannin and Russell May, as directors.

Charter Night will be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, March 11 at 7 p.m., it was announced. A dance will follow the dinner.

David du Pont, chairman of the Charter Night program, appointed William Darby and Hardin Short to help on his committee. President James announced that he would appoint additional committee chairmen in the near future.

Attending the installation meeting were Ben Lutes, Hazard, and others of the Hazard club.

Regular meetings of the organization are scheduled on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month at 6:15 at the LaDale restaurant.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our thanks and appreciation to everyone who in any way helped upon the death of our beloved daughter, Laura Evelyn Marsillett. We are grateful to the many friends and relatives who sent food and flowers or in any way helped us, and to the Rev. W. D. Jagers and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home. Mr. and Mrs. Earvin Marsillett

Scholarship Program Explained to Kiwanians

Thirty-three members and one guest attended the regular meeting of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club Monday evening, February 11, in the Inland clubhouse dining room. The club's guest of the evening was Key Club member, Pete Hayes.

After a preliminary poetry duel between Joe Perrino and Raymond Gibson, the program of the evening was presented by George Leatherman for the Education and Fellowship committee. Mr. Leatherman presented a clear explanation of the Inland Steel scholarship program, its objectives and achievements. A discussion period followed his presentation.

This school year finds a record number of students, 13,724, enrolled in high school classes across Kentucky. This number represents an increase of 595 over the previous year's enrollment.

DeROSSETT

For CIRCUIT CLERK

This is my first time to ask the good people of Floyd county to entrust to me one of the highest offices in Floyd county, but I assure you that my background, qualifications and Christian training will be an asset in discharging the duties of Circuit Clerk.

In addition to the normal duties, I will promote a driver training program in every Floyd county high school. One reason so many young people are killed on our highways is a lack of proper driver training.

As an extra service of my office I will send all drivers a 30-day notice that their licenses are about to expire.

I invite you to enquire of me. Ask my friends, my neighbors, my business associates, any one who knows me well.

If I win it will be on my merits, not shortcomings of any of my opponents.

Trusting your judgment, I am,

FRANK DEROSSETT

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars like these to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price (has lots of new lower upkeep features, too, like a flush-and-dry rocker panel ventilating system that helps remove rust-causing salt and slush); the new low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking, fun-loving car that would send any family packing; another perennial family favorite, the sporty Corvair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure driving adventure, America's only homegrown sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. Chances are you've already picked your favorite. The next thing is to take a turn at the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. If that doesn't have you thinking of places to go, you'd probably rather spend what's left of winter just having a ball around town!
