

THURSDAY

This Town... That World

Looking for a subject to argue? Try this one on your vocal cords: Is the success of the State Fair, the Floyd County Fair or any other fair dependent upon "street carnivals" and games of chance?

Got worries? Take them fishing with you.

GLAD IT'S OBSOLETE

Old friend "Mumpsimus" turns up again to write me a note expounding on the origin of a word, to-wit: "Idiot." Says he, interestingly enough:

In the early Greek democratic communities every man had his public duties to perform, sometimes as politician, sometimes as soldier. To those who evaded these duties the word, "idiot," was applied, meaning, literally, "a private person, one not holding public office." A similar meaning for the word was once used in English but is now obsolete.

HELP WANTED

Remember the "flying cat" story published, we believe, in this newspaper and attested to by any number of Floyd countians? Well, a soldier, Millard Parsons, (we've lost his address) wants some confirmation of this yarn. He writes:

"I've been telling my buddies about the flying cat that was captured on Beaver Creek several years ago, and they won't believe me. So I'd appreciate it very much if you could send me any kind of information concerning the cat, so I can prove that we Kentuckians aren't as big liars as they think."

GOOD HABIT

Tom James and Neil Allen have brought me so many pears and tomatoes, it's getting to be a habit with them.

HOUSING JOB END IS NEAR

Occupancy of 40 Units Seen by End of Month; Average Rental Is $39

First of the 40 low-rent public housing units now being completed here will be occupied, the last week of this month, it was said Tuesday after water and gas connections had been made at the housing project.

Families accepted will be moving in, in groups, since all 40 units will not be ready at the same time. It was said, however, that all the facilities are expected to be occupied by October 10.

G. H. Hunter, contractor on the project, has completed sidewalk and street construction, lawns have been seeded, and the work of cleaning up the premises and preparing the dwelling units, inside and out, for occupants is being pushed.

The Municipal Housing Commission is continuing to accept applications from prospective tenants. A backlog of applications is desirable, so that when a unit is vacated a new tenant will be immediately available.

The housing project is being completed at a cost of $600,000. The average monthly rental charge to tenants is $39.

BOARD DEFERS ACTION ON PRAYER, BIBLE USE

BOARD ORDERS ALL TEACHERS SENT OPINION

Breckinridge's Opinion Based On Court Decision; Superintendent Comments

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last week declined to take any action to prohibit prayer and the reading of the Bible in the schoolrooms of the county.

The decision to withhold action came after a long and serious discussion of the Supreme Court decisions prohibiting the time-honored Bible reading and prayer and the more recent opinion given Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell Butler by Attorney General John B. Breckinridge.

Yet every teacher in the county will have a copy of the attorney general's opinion. "We felt," County Superintendent Charles F. Clark said later, "that each teacher in the county should be mailed a letter containing the attorney general's opinion, assuming that no school people would want to fight the U. S. Supreme Court or the Kentucky Attorney General."

Breckinridge's opinion was based on the Supreme Court decisions. It answered a series of questions:

- 1. Do these decisions nullify KRS 158.170 relative to Bible reading in the common schools of Kentucky?
2. Do these decisions prohibit a teacher, on a voluntary basis, from requiring daily prayer in the presence of children in the common schools of Kentucky?
3. Do these decisions prohibit children, on a voluntary basis, from daily Bible reading in the presence of other children in these schools?
4. Do these decisions prohibit children, on a voluntary basis, from daily prayer in the presence of other children in the schools?
5. Do these decisions prohibit a local school board from adopting a policy requiring daily Bible reading, or prayer in the presence of children in every classroom or session room of the school district?

BULLETS HIT TRAILER HOME

Investigating Officers Fail To Unearth Clues; 3 Taken in Ram Raids

Officers investigating the firing of two bullets into the trailer-home of Epple Laferty here last Friday night have failed to learn who fired the shots.

One of the bullets penetrated the interior of the trailer and struck a couch. A plate-glass window of the home also was smashed but not by a bullet.

Mr. Laferty said he could not understand the motive back of the shooting, since he has no known enemies. The copper-jacketed bullets were apparently fired from a .25-caliber pistol. The family was at home when the shots were fired but Laferty said he was not immediately aware that the trailer had been hit.

Della Crum was booked at the county jail last Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald and Sam Hale on a charge of possessing whiskey, both moonshine and red. Hale said he located the liquor cache at the Arkansas home by probing the earth with a steel bar.

Fifty-five cases of beer and four cases of whiskey and gin were confiscated on Labor Day by State Police and Letcher county Deputy Sheriff Charles Hall from an auto driven by Earnal Moore, of this county. The arrest was made at a roadblock set up by state troopers at Isom, Letcher county. Moore was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was fined $100. Sheriff Lewis Hall, of Letcher county, was quoted as saying the whiskey was en route from Perry to Floyd county.

Each Bookmobile will receive 50 new titles from the most recent shipment. The books, covering a wide range of subject matter, are already catalogued, bound in plastic jackets and ready for Bookmobile patrons.

Garrett Firm Awarded Breathitt Road Job

A contract for grade, drain and traffic-bound surfacing on the Marcum Gap Road in Breathitt county was awarded by the Highway Department on August 29, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward announced recently.

The project will begin at Ky. 397 near Cane Creek and extend 1.5 miles to Ky. 1110 north of Saldee. M. Johnson Construction Co., of Garrett, submitted the low bid of $128,045.14.

PARK HERE IS SECOND IN STATE POPULARITY

With its lodge and golf course in their first full season and the park itself prepared for the reception and entertainment of vacation families for the first time, Jenny Wiley State Park ranked second only to Kentucky Dam Village in total attendance for the month of July, figures released by the Department of Parks show.

The department reported that during that month 247,438 persons visited at Jenny Wiley—double the attendance at Lake Cumberland, General Butler, Cumberland Falls, Carter Caves and Pennyrite, and almost twice the attendance at Levi Jackson and Rough River.

Leader in the matter of attendance was Kentucky Dam Village with 304,691, and Kentucky Lake drew an additional 101,919.

Until Labor Day was past cottages at Jenny Wiley State Park were booked, and rooms in the lodge itself were seldom available to those who had not made reservations.

Guests at May Lodge and at the cottages nearby have represented most states of the Union.

BUY HOSPITAL NEAR LACKEY

Former Stumbo Memorial Sold To Johnson Couple; Rest Home Plans Made

The Stumbo Memorial hospital at Lackey will open its doors soon for public service for the first time since it was closed with the opening of miners' memorial hospitals in the area.

It will open as a rest home. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Grim, operators of the Castle Fork Rest Home at Lowmansville, Johnson county, have acquired the building for the purpose of operating one of the largest rest homes in Kentucky, it was announced by W. Howes Meade, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Grim.

Haines Bruce of the Department of Economic Security, Licensing Division, visited the hospital with Mr. and Mrs. Grim and Mr. Meade, and pronounced the building to be ideal for a large rest home. He gave them a license to operate a home with a 90-bed capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Grim have had many years experience in successful operation of the Castle Fork Rest Home.

Appraisers, George E. Branham and G. Mack Ward, estimated the cost of replacement of this structure at $288,000. (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

NOTICE MADE TO LAND CO.

Plan, Zoning Commission Says Legal Requirements For Lot Sale Are Needed

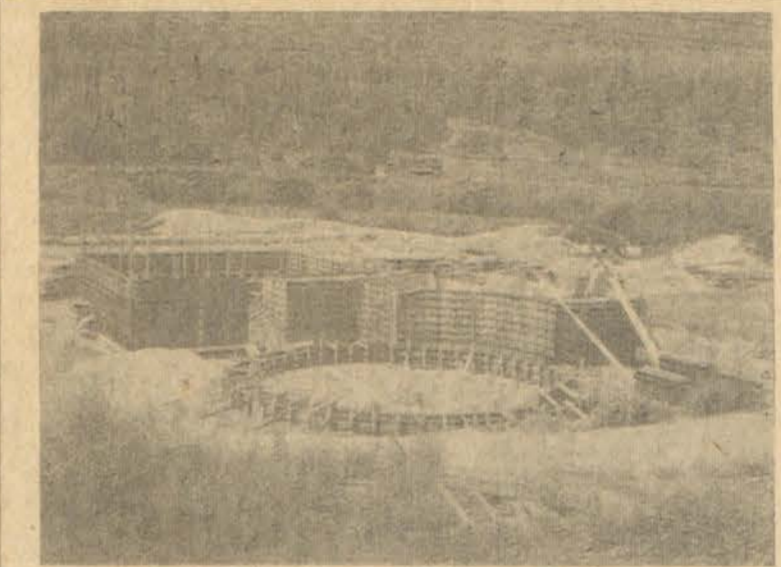

The Hindman Land Auction Company, the landowner, Frank Music, and County Clerk C. Ollie Robinson have been served written notice by the Prestonsburg Municipal Planning & Zoning Commission as to legal requirements for the sale of lots Saturday, as proposed, on Stratton Branch, near Dewey Lake.

The Commission acted under authority of KRS 190.720-8 and a city ordinance adopted here which gives it jurisdiction for a distance of five miles of the Prestonsburg corporate limits over lot sales and subdivisions. It was explained that the legal authority controls division of land and construction of buildings so as to prevent damage to the present and future residential and industrial aspects of the community.

The ordinance requires lots to have frontage of 75 feet and a minimum area of 9,000 square feet. It also provides for a 36-foot street and that buildings be erected 18 feet from the street right-of-way.

County Clerk Robinson said he was notified because the law requires conformance with zoning and planning regulations before deeds to subdivided property may legally be entered of record.

The Hindman Land Auction Company also is selling for Mr. Music property which he owns below Dewey Dam, including a new home and 20 lots.

PLANT ONE-HALF COMPLETED... The new sewage treatment plant, now under construction by Acton Company, passed the half-way mark this week, according to Dick Nelson, superintendent. Forms, shown now being erected, will be below ground level. Only the top story of the three-story building will be visible after completion of ground work. It is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

HEAVY FINE METED CASE

Duncan Pleads Guilty To Break, Enter Charge, Given Two-Year Sentence

The heaviest fine ever levied on a defendant in the Floyd circuit court for drunk driving was imposed by a jury here this week on Bert Case. Given trial in absentia, Case was fined $500.

Amos Lee Duncan entered a plea of guilty to a breaking and entering charge and was given a two-year pen term. Trial of Denver Coburn, who was named with Duncan in the indictment, was set for Friday of this week.

Clara Allen pleaded law and facts, which is tantamount to a guilty plea, to a charge of possessing intoxicating beverages for the purpose of sale, but when she was fined $109 and given a 30-day jail term she asked for a new trial. Denied this, she asked an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Ella Chulsen, who was charged with shooting and wounding with intent to kill, pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless use of a deadly weapon and was held guilty by the jury of a misdemeanor. She was fined $50 and costs.

Morse Bryant who was given a two-year pen term on his plea of guilty has filed a motion for probation.

Utility Coals, Inc., pleaded law and facts to a stream pollution charge and was fined $100 and costs. (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

TWO AREA MEN KILLED AT R'WAY CROSSINGS

Two men from this section were killed instantly in Ohio and Indiana Sunday and Tuesday in collisions with trains at railway crossings. Both were on their way to work in industrial plants.

Alex Patton, 29, former Langley man, was killed instantly Tuesday of last week when the car he was driving collided with a train at Ash-Tabula, Ohio. A passenger, Donald G. Westbrook, 21, of Conneaut, Ohio, in the Patton car, was also killed.

Mr. Patton had been to lunch and was returning to work when the tragedy occurred. The automobile was dragged for one and a half miles. His chest was crushed and the left arm was severed from the body.

He was a son of Joe and Tony Patton, of Langley. Two children, Judith Ann Patton and Carolyn Sue Patton, both at home, survive. Surviving brothers and sisters are James Patton, Henry Patton, Joe Patton, Jr., and Harry Patton, all of Langley, Mrs. Jacqueline Tackett, of Drift, Frank Patton, Ash-Tabula, Mrs. Flora Thornsbury and Mrs. Becky Murphy, both of LaGrange, O.

CALHOUN DIES OF GUNSHOT

Coroner Holds Shot Was Self-Inflicted; Neighbors Find Body

Charles Clayton Calhoun, 61, was found dead early Wednesday morning at his home at Water Gap by a neighbor who was bringing him food.

An inquest held by Coroner James Carter found that he died from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head. He was living alone at the time.

Millard Pennington and son had visited the victim, who had been in ill health for years, the evening before and arranged to bring him food the next morning. Knocking on the door, the elder Pennington received no answer. Going around the house and looking through a window, he saw the body lying across a bed. The .22-caliber sawed-off rifle was still in his hand.

Mr. Calhoun was a Past Master of Zebulon Lodge, F. & A. M., and had retired from mining, a few years ago. During World War II he served in the U. S. Civil Service.

He was a son of Hite and Belle Rothwell Calhoun. His wife, Ella Hunt Calhoun, survives. Surviving sons and a daughter are Bradis Calhoun, West Prestonsburg, Charles Calhoun and Mrs. Ruby Calhoun, both of Warsaw, Indiana, Chester Calhoun, Lexington, and Troy Calhoun, Prestonsburg.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, it was said at Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

Jimmy Wayne Martin, 17, of Allen, died en route to a Pikeville hospital Saturday afternoon, approximately 45 minutes after suffering injuries in a motorcycle accident near Hite.

The youth, a Martin high school senior, was a passenger on a motorcycle operated by David Mosley. The driver lost control of the vehicle, it is said, on a curve on Ky. 122, west of Hite. BELL, UNION TERMS OKHED

New Contract Negotiated Affects 51,000 Workers; Pay Increases Are Seen

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Communications Workers of America have reached an agreement on a new contract affecting more than 51,000 of the firm's employees in nine southern states, it was announced this week by A. Guy Hisle, local telephone manager.

The agreement provides for a 38-month contract with two wage reopeners—the first to be 14 months from the effective date of the contract (September 5, 1963); the second, 12 months after the last.

In addition, improvements were made in the hospitalization, benefit and pension plans, covering all employees, including retired employees. These provisions are for the 38-month period and are not subject to the reopening clause.

Bargaining has been in progress in Atlanta since July 29. The agreement is subject to ratification by the Communication Workers of America members.

The new contract provides for basic wage increases ranging from $2 to $5 per week, depending upon the job and town classification of the employee. It also provides for some upgrading of exchanges.

REPORT SAYS ACTION TAKEN HERE PROPER

46 Indictments Voted, Seven in Liquor Cases; Grand Jury Session Ends

"We feel that the state government, as well as the local officials, are taking the proper action in trying to put a stop to this liquor traffic, and say further that we request that the agents working on this problem continue their work."

So wrote the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court in its final report upon adjournment Wednesday.

The brief report, signed by Fred Gearheart, foreman, devoted itself mainly to a discussion of the bootlegging situation. This portion of the report reads, in part:

"We have heard and examined numerous witnesses relating to different crimes and in particular the whiskey traffic. . . . We have endeavored to investigate and interrogate each and every witness about the liquor traffic. . . . In this county, and we have arrived at the conclusion that the people who buy will not give sufficient information upon which indictments can be made."

Of the 46 indictments made by the grand jury, seven charged defendants with liquor law violations.

The report noted that crime in general is less in the county, with fewer child desertion cases presented to the grand jury and with grand larceny and breaking and entering offenses apparently decreasing. The jail was found in sanitary condition, considering the condition of the building, the report added.

Among the 46 indictments was one naming Clifford Jones on a wilful manslaughter charge in the slaying at Ligon of James Arnold Clay. It was the only slaying case up for investigation.

Those accused of liquor law violations:

Walker Newsome, Riley Wells, Jr., Junior Edwards, Shorty Hall and Wade Holbrook, each accused of selling; Della Crum, possession of untaxed whiskey and possession of whiskey; Ann Babino, transporting and selling.

NUNN REFUSES 'INVITATION'

To Talk To Floyd Jury; Candidate Writes Conley, Cites Duties of Officials

Louie B. Nunn, Republican candidate for Governor, will not appear before the Floyd county grand jury in response to the invitation of Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Coley.

Judge Nunn pointed out in a letter to Mr. Conley, September 4, that his information "is based upon reports given by others and information obtained from newspapers" and that, consequently, any information he might have "would be hearsay and would not be admissible evidence."

Write Nunn, in part: "The bootleg activity in Floyd county is all public information available to you and also available to Mr. A. B. Meade, member of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board from Floyd county. In fact, when the federal whiskey tax stamps are sold by the federal government, a copy of the sales information is forwarded to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board in Frankfort. They have been receiving this information for many years. . . . 'It is your duty and that of the grand jury to investigate. If your grand jury has the interest of the citizens of your county at heart, they will be able to obtain all of the information that is available to me.'"

The candidate took occasion to criticize Governor Combs, saying that, since Floyd is Combs' home county, "it is difficult to understand why he has not given you some assistance during the three and one-half years he has been in office."

Nunn told Conley that when he is sworn in as Governor he will immediately order the state law enforcement agencies to "begin work with the good citizens of Floyd county and clean up the criminal element."

He added that a "Committee of 500" has begun a crusade to clean up the county. "I am sure they will cooperate with you in any sincere and honest war on crime," he wrote.

FORESTRY SCHOOL ACTIVATED AT UK'S ROBINSON FOREST

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
Noble, Ky.—In the annals of institutional education, a school which opened here Tuesday in the University of Kentucky's Robinson Forest may be unique. For as far as can be determined, it is the only school of its kind in the United States.

This is a forestry management and wood utilization school and while there are two others—one in Florida, one in New York—which teach some of the same subjects, neither goes as far in instruction in utilization as the one just established here and both charge tuition. Originated under the Manpower Training Act, the school here is free.

A joint venture of the University, the Breathitt County Board of Education, the State Department of Education, and the Department of Economic Security, this school will turn out forester technicians who, after they successfully complete a nine-month course of instruction, will be qualified for positions in state and national forests. Graduates will also be prepared for jobs in wood-processing and manufacturing operations run by private firms.

The idea of the school which will make much use of the New wood-utilization center at Quickstand, was originally advanced by forestry consultant Gilbert E. Brown and others of the University. Then with the Breathitt County Board of Education acting as sponsoring agency, and with the cooperation of the Department of Economic Security that selected trainees and instructors, the Department of Education that passed on the training courses, the school was established. The University is also furnishing facilities and equipment.

The school opened with its limit of 40 young men coming from 16 Eastern and Central Kentucky counties. Under faculty members John E. Ford, superintendent of the school, Charles Little, Joe G. Burns, Milton Noble, and two others yet to be hired, these students will receive instruction in such subjects as basic forestry, timber estimating, logging, sawmilling, lumber grading, fire prevention, wood preservation, kiln drying, and training in the use of road building, sawmill, and wood-fabricating machinery.

Instruction will be for eight hours daily, Monday through Friday of each week during the 9-month term. Part of this instruction will be in classrooms, part in the field which includes the 15,000-acre timberland tract making up the Robinson Forest.

Supt. Ford said this Forest and Wood Technician School could not guarantee jobs for graduates, but because of the great emphasis now being put on the conservation and utilization of not only the state's timber resources, but those of the whole of the nation,

One-Half Arson Cases Are Revenge, Noted

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 28—Revenge accounts for 50 percent of all arson cases in Kentucky, the State Firemen's Association was told Wednesday.

James L. Smith, assistant fire marshal of the Lexington Fire Department, said at least 300 of the more than 600 arson cases reported in Kentucky each year are a result of someone seeking revenge.

He also noted that about 25 percent are started by persons attempting fraud and 20 percent by juvenile vandalism. Pyromania and arson to cover another crime accounts for about 5 percent of the cases, he told the 350 delegates attending the association's convention.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Floyd County Board of Education will accept bids on the following properties until 12 noon, October 5, 1963:

1. Corn Fork one-room school building and grounds, to be bid separately and/or together.
2. Hunter two-room school building and grounds, to be bid separately and/or together.

Here is a chance to buy a building for removal, a desirable site for a home or grounds and a building that can easily be converted into a house.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Whose "Lack of Interest"?

Plain lack of interest is the No. 1 cause of school dropouts, an initial study of this perplexing problem in Kentucky shows.

Youthful marriages ranked next in causing students to quit school, lack of scholastic success was third and parental indifference held fourth place. But more than one-third of the 15,196 dropouts tabulated left the classroom and education behind because of lack of interest.

Whose lack of interest? is a question which deserves more than passing consideration. Johnny himself naturally comes to mind when one thinks of a boy quitting school for this reason. But is the blame all his? What of his parents' interest?

Parental indifference belongs farther up the list, perhaps crowding the top of that sorry array of causes which result in young people forfeiting their futures for the mess of pottage that is liberty from school work and the present prospect of a "good time."

We ask you: How many of you who read this would have continued through all your years of grade school work and continued with what sometimes seemed the grind of high school for four years longer, not to mention college, had there not been back of you a father or mother, or both, to encourage, wheedle, cajole, persuade, and sometimes oblige you to go to school? It is a small percentage of humans that has such a God-given curiosity to learn that they will continue school work when their elders are uncaring and sometimes are outright sources of discouragement.

It should be remembered that this study here under discussion shows that only 2.1 per cent of the dropouts earned that name because of the cost of going to school.

But there are fathers who will sport a good car, own a television set and enjoy most of the superficial entertainments of the age—and yet will give up on their children's education as an impossibility because, they say, "We can't afford it."

Underscore that item, "Parental Indifference." It speaks of a dull mind or an uncaring one; of a parent who has forgotten the meaning of loving sacrifice for the young lives which are his responsibility; of an adult who needs education, and that education to include a look into parental responsibilities, a long look into the deeper needs of his children and the fact that he and his children jointly share an obligation to their country.

Blame the schools, the teachers, the curriculum, the weather, the administration in power—blame whatever and whomever you like. But the real blame lies with only two persons, perhaps three—the student and his parents. And we, being one, strongly suspect the latter.

What Is a Girl?

(Publish a newspaper as long as we have, and you may repeat yourself on certain features which go the rounds. The Times has heretofore appeared in these pages, forgive us and set it down to a faulty memory.—Editor.)

Little girls are the nicest things that happen to people. They are born with a little bit of angel-shine about them and though it wears thin sometimes, there always is enough left to lasso your heart—even when they are sitting in the mud, or crying temperamental tears, or parading up the street in mother's best clothes.

A little girl can be sweeter (and badder) oftener than anyone else in the world. She can jitter around, and stomp, and make funny noises and frazzle your nerves, yet just when you open your mouth, she stands there demure with that special look in her eyes. A girl is innocence playing in the mud, Beauty standing on its head, and Motherhood dragging a doll by the foot.

God borrows from many creatures to make a little girl. He uses the song of a bird, the squeal of a pig, the stubbornness of a mule, the antics of a monkey, the spryness of a grasshopper, the curiosity of a cat, the slyness of a fox, the softness of a kitten. And to top it off, He adds the mysterious mind of a woman.

A little girl likes new shoes, party dresses, small animals, dolls, make-believe, ice cream, make-up, going visiting, tea parties, and one boy. She doesn't care so much for visitors, boys in general, large dogs, hand-me-downs, straight chairs, vegetables, snow suits or staying in the front yard.

She is loudest when you are thinking, prettiest when she has provoked you, busiest at bedtime, quietest when you want to show her off, and most flirtatious when she absolutely must not get the best of you again.

She can muss up your home, your hair and your dignity—spend your money, your time and your temper—then just when your patience is ready to crack, her sunshine peeks through and you've lost again.

Yes, she is a nerve-racking nuisance, just a noisy bundle of mischief. But when your dreams tumble down and the world is a mess, when it seems you are pretty much of a fool after all, she can make you a king when she climbs on your knee and whispers, "I love you best of all!"

U. S. WON'T PERMIT TRAVEL TO HAVANA

Washington, Sept. 11—The State Department said Tuesday it will not validate passports of United States citizens who might wish to attend a congress of the International Union of Architects in Havana from September 29 to October 3.

The American Institute of Architects has advised members not to attend the meetings.

Surviving, besides the parents, are three brothers and a sister. Funeral rites were conducted Monday, the Rev. Joe Reynolds officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at East McDowell, Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

NATURE TRAILS

BIRDS USE ANTS AS PARASITE REPELLANTS

Many species of birds, when infested with mites or other parasites, pick up ants in their bills and rub their bodies under their wing-leathers and over their bodies, to saturate their feathers with the formic acid ants secrete. This strong acid acts as a repellent against mites and parasites; if this remedy fails, birds will fly to an ant hill and let the ants crawl all over their bodies, to pick off the lice and other mites. Ants are continually secreting formic acid, as they use it to scent their trails, which they follow by the sense of smell, like a hound tracking after an animal. I have observed long lines of ants traveling several hundred yards through leaves, brush and over logs and rocks, all carrying their cocoons to a nursery, and all following the trail by the sense of smell, created by the formic acid deposited to mark the trail.

Birds have also been seen taking a dust bath around an ant hill, as the dust is strongly saturated with formic acid, which repels the mites. Sometimes birds get a little tipsy, or drunk, from eating ants, as the formic acid seems to have an intoxicating effect on some species of birds.

STRANGE WAYS OF ANTS

Ants are the most highly intelligent and perhaps the most affectionate and emotional of all the insects. Take the large colonies of army ants, which travel in great armies by the sense of smell, as they search for their food; when colonies of army ants are confined in a glass enclosure, they become much excited and begin to go around and around in an endless circle, and nothing can stop them until they all die from thirst and exhaustion.

SOME SPECIES OF ANTS HAVE "PASSWORDS"

Species of ants, closely related to the carpenter ants, build their nests or colonies in the pith of ash tree limbs; the queen ant first bores a small hole about the size of a lead pencil point, into the pith of the ash limb; then she lays eggs inside and starts a new colony. This small opening is the only "door" or entrance to the colony. As soon as the soldier ants are large enough to serve as guards, the queen selects one to be the door guard; the guards have developed heads shaped like plugs, or bottle stoppers, which fill up the doorway, and nothing can go out or come in unless the ant guard permits it to pass. To enter the colony, an ant has to give the "password," some sort of a secret code the ants have for admission. When the worker ants go out to feed and come back, they always find the door blocked by the plug-like head of the guard. They tap three times with their antennae, or sometimes communicate the password by putting their heads to the ear of the guard, as if whispering something. If the password is correct, the guard crawls aside and permits entrance.

One species of ants that keep a guarded door to their colony is known as the Colobopsis ant. The queen is a devoted mother; as soon as the eggs hatch into tiny white grubs, she begins to fondle and nurse them, hicking them much as the mothers of the mammals lick their newborn babies. She nurses them on "ant milk" for a time, and then feeds them ant food carried in by the workers.

Those ants which have the stopper-shaped plug heads belong to the "guard caste." The workers do not have such heads and belong to the "worker caste"; the other caste is the "Royal caste," which have winged queens. After flying out and mating in the air, the queens tear off their wings and begin to seek a suitable place for a colony, usually the inside pith of an ash limb.

The yellowhammer, or flicker, often locates these ant colonies inside tree limbs, drills a hole into the colony and devours them; they can locate the ants inside by their keen sense of hearing. They devour all the "queen caste" first and throw down their wings. Then they devour the cocoons and the rest of the colony. A fully grown yellowhammer can consume about 4,000 ants in one day.

Clean-Up Message Seen Throughout State

KENTUCKY'S DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION is helping remind Kentuckians to keep Kentucky clean by arranging with billboard advertising firms to have these signs placed throughout the state. In the last two years approximately 250 of these have been placed. The advertising firms provide the space free as a public service. The Department buys the signs to place on the billboards. The billboard agencies agree to leave each advertisement up at least 30 days.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO COMBAT DELINQUENCY

EDITOR, The Times: David Lawrence, syndicated newspaper writer, states in his column (September 6) that crimes by youth are growing fast. He cites statistics to prove his statement, but he does not give any solution to combat the criminal tendency. He lists Washington, D. C. as the No. 1 offender in assault cases, and Chicago heads the list in robberies. An American lady who returned recently from a month's stay in Moscow said she felt 10 times safer walking the streets of that city after dark than she did in Washington. Not only in Washington, all over the nation there is teach-age terrorism.

It might help some, should the courts curb their leniency, but the greatest help of all could come from the schools and the homes of this nation. Parents are neglecting to use the rod enough; the schools are too loosely disciplined. Students are seldom reprimanded for misconduct, and in the homes they are given too much leeway by their parents.

To combat delinquency further, local laws could invoke early curfew. This would keep teens in their homes, doing their homework "twists" and out of mischief. I take note of this relative to the graded school athletic field. Almost nightly, and till very late into the night, a bunch of youths are assembled here, talking loud, sometimes cursing and fighting, and altogether making much disturbance. This lot is dark and it has no inspection by "park police." Were it well lighted and a real city park, the police might cruise around.

What I think about the whole situation is this: I think people are turning away from God and leaning toward the Devil!

THE BIBLE OR MARX?

EDITOR, The Times: My personal view and to the best of my mind leads me to believe that our judges on the Supreme Court bench are determined to replace the Holy Bible with Karl Marx's doctrine. I have reasons to believe that this same atheistic court will stop the Gideons from placing the Bible in motels and hotels; and, in time, since the government is taking over the schools, the children will read only what is laid down by this court.

Some of us remember the old Hapsburg dynasty of Austro-Hungary. Washington reminds me of it, every day.

RED CHINA REPORTED SENDING BLIND OUT

Hong Kong, Sept. 5—Red China is sending hundreds of blind people to the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao, the Hong Kong Tiger Standard reported Wednesday.

The English-language newspaper said the blind people branded by the Chinese Communists as "unproductive mouths," are given one-way exit permits and not allowed to return to China.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

PLOWING A STRAIGHT ROW

There was a time when plowing a straight row was a sort of measure of a man. Lowell has his Hosea Biglow say of "Governor B.:" He draws his furrer ez straight ez he can." All farmer boys of that time, considerably more than a hundred years ago, knew exactly what that meant. Two whole generations later, when I was following my mule across the fields near Fidelity, that same conception was still very much alive. Drawing a straight furrow was looked upon as a sign that a man was full-grown and could take care of himself. It was about equal with another wise saw about heaving to the line and letting the chips fall where they may. Carrying out that standard of excellence made thousands of gullies on our hillsides, for no one would have dared to use some horse sense if it interfered with wise sayings. Somehow it was likely that the straight rows of corn or tobacco ran so that they were visible from the road; as you came along, on foot or riding your nag, you could glance down row after row to see whether the farmer had followed a straight line or whether he was slipshod and made crooked rows. I have heard many a person talk as if a crooked row meant a crooked farmer.

When my brother and I were planting a small patch of ground down by a crooked little stream, we dared public opinion and laid off our rows by the creek bends; fortunately, this field was away down the creek from the Big Road, and we kept mum about our naughty deed. Little creek bend, we would have had dozens of them; as it was, some dozen took care of all the arable space and did not require so many turns as we plowed. I was grown and had long been away from Fidelity before I learned that crooked rows, fitting into the general lay of the land were just the thing in scientific farming. Now, around Fidelity, as well as in other places, the corn rows wander around, designed to conserve moisture and to prevent erosion. And lots of the old fields where straight rows used to be are still full of gullies that show, shamelessly, how the old rows of corn used to run. Some of these old fields have been invaded by bulldozers and made over into modern farm land; some are now growing up in native timber or are being planted in pines. But enough gullies are left to remind anyone who can see how an old custom often hastened the ruin of fields that had required months of back-breaking work to bring into cultivation.

A great many folk sayings are as harmless as water on the proverbial duck's back. They are just something to remember or quote. Some, however, seem to delight in flying in the face of observation and perpetuate some old, old superstition or prejudice. "It takes all sorts of people to make up the world" was used in my little world to excuse the well-to-do and the accepted leaders from doing anything about disgusting or even criminal conditions. We had no government dote in those days, but we actually encouraged laziness and thriftlessness by showing that defenseless women and children would not suffer, no matter how aimless and reckless the "provider of the family" may have been. The doctor wore himself out taking care of just such people, the local merchants ran up many unpaid bills because they just could not be too true to the helpless, and the better-fixed neighbors saw to it that some unobtrusive charity kept a food supply for the ones who could not make a living for themselves. And, strange as it may seem, I know of a good many people today, not in Fidelity but in places that would scorn any comparison with our remote little area, who are just as ardent in their defense of Grandpa's saying that it takes all sorts of people to make up the world. That makes this folk saying something more than a mere quotable or funny bit of imagined wisdom.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN FISH & WILDLIFE

By MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

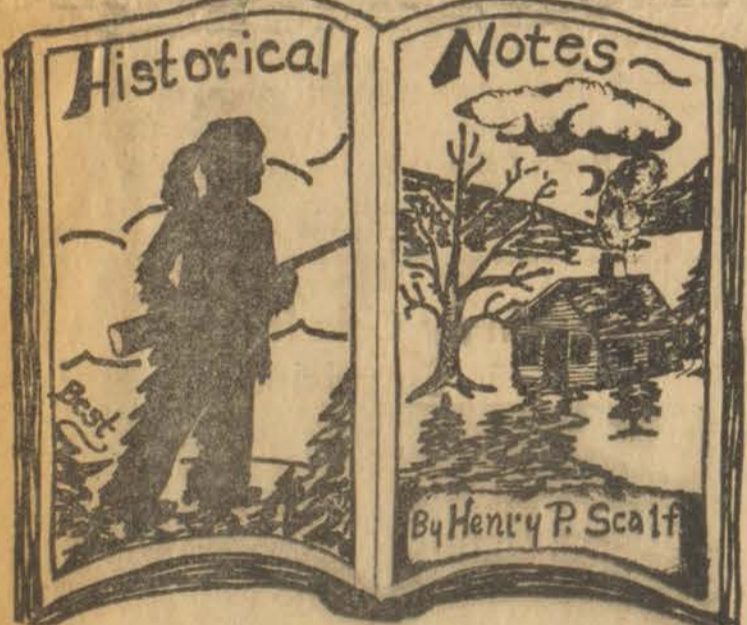

It may seem a bit incongruous at this time of the year to be writing about fishing, when the hunting seasons have just gotten underway. And this is not meant to discourage anyone from hunting, for the squirrel hunters and dove hunters report good seasons and indications are that there'll be plenty of rabbits and quail and deer and the waterfowl population also is up. But there are some fellows who just do not like to hunt, yet are fishermen of the first water. To them, then we'd like to say, get busy.

The early fall weather has put the lakes in good condition, temperature-wise, for fishing and the effects of the bountiful spring rains and the continued good season through the summer have combined to leave the water in an excellent condition for real early fall fishing.

Already reports of greatly increased activity in the white bass, crappie and black bass families have been reported whereas in other years these species did not dare move about too much in early September but waited until October to begin their antics.

Small streams are producing unusually good catches of fish for this time of year and in the larger streams, below the locks and dams, good catches of a variety of fish have been reported. The black bass and the farm pond go together pretty well at this time of year and this early fall is no exception. Good bass are being taken along with a sprinkling of bluegill.

So, if you want to go hunting, go to it, but if you are inclined along fisherman's avenue, then don't wait any longer. The fish are ready earlier this year than usual.

TODD, FLEETWOOD.

A letter from Mrs. Myron M. Brown, 116 Old Vallonia Road, Brownstown, Ind., asks questions that perhaps some of the readers may answer. She writes: "I would like some information about an Elizabeth Todd, widow, who is in the 1820-1830 censuses of Lawrence county, Indiana. She had five children. Cathy Todd married Thomas Fleetwood in Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1818. Nancy married Denison Rogers in Lawrence county, Indiana, in 1826. Fanny married Solomon Fleetwood in Lawrence county in 1826. The two others were James and David.

"I believe she was a widow of James Todd, of Bertie county, North Carolina. Cathy was born in North Carolina in 1797. Nancy and Fanny were born in Kentucky about 1800-1810. Thomas and Solomon Fleetwood were brothers. Thomas was born in North Carolina about 1796. Solomon was born in Virginia in 1805.

"Elizabeth Todd, widow, was given a land grant but I cannot locate where it was. I believe she was the Elizabeth Meazel who married James Todd in Bertie county, North Carolina, in 1792. I also believe James was a Revolutionary soldier. My grandfather always told me his mother, Fanny Fleetwood, was born in Morgan county, Kentucky.

"I would like to know something about Isaac Fleetwood's wife, name unknown, who probably married about 1791 in North Carolina. He lived in Virginia and Kentucky and died in Lawrence county, Indiana, in 1832. He was a Revolutionary War pensioner. He made pension application from Pike county, then again from Clay county, Kentucky. He had four sons and a daughter in Floyd county before 1819.

who was in the War of 1812 from East Tennessee. Name of wife is unknown. He died at age of about 68 years in 1832 in Jackson county, Indiana. He had a land grant in Indiana. His son John C. Levy, died in 1842 in Indiana. He was married to Martha Eaton (pronounced Acton) in Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1832.

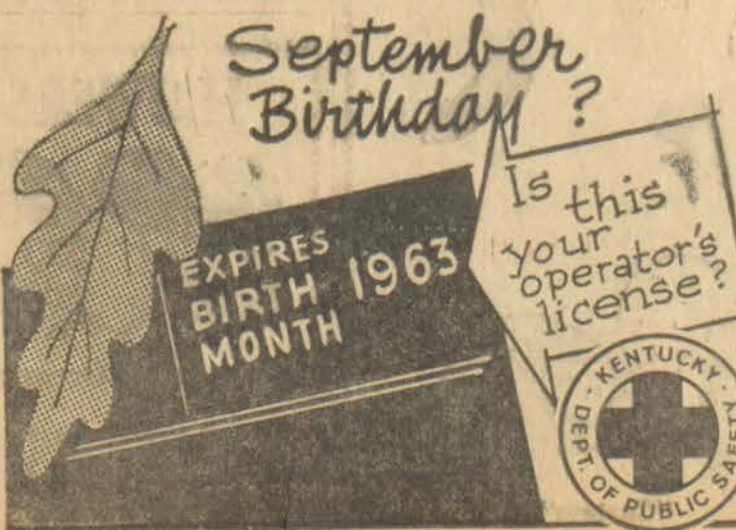

"I would also like to know who Martha Eaton was. I believe she may have been related to a James S. Acton, Sr., perhaps a daughter. James S. Acton, Sr., had a son James S. Acton, Jr.; John Acton married Hannah in Kentucky; Steven Acton married Mary Davis in Clark county, Indiana. James S. Acton had a land grant from the War of 1812 in Indiana. I believe the Levy and Acton families were friends and neighbors because of the intermarriage in families. The death records of the children of John C. Levy, Jr., gives Pennsylvania or Virginia as place of birth."

COURTNEY FAMILY

Many times in the past people have asked this columnist about the Courtney family which resided on Mare Creek at the turn of the century but moved away around 1908.

Samuel Courtney, of Buchanan, Lawrence county, Kentucky, advises that his father, William Courtney, who married Susan Stratton, daughter of H. W. and Phoebe Selards Stratton, was a native of Wise county, Virginia. William and Susan built a large home on Mare Creek about the turn of the century but moved west, stayed a short while and returned to Kentucky, buying a farm at Buchanan. Both William and Susan Courtney lie buried in the Buchanan Chapel Church grounds near their home.

William Courtney's father was Samuel Courtney and he died on Mare Creek at the home of his son William. He lies buried in the Stratton-Scaife cemetery.

Carolina Firm Bids Low On Pound Construction; Engineer Estimate Higher

Blythe Bros. Company, Charlotte, N. C., submitted the apparent low bid of $2,380,000 last week to construct a rock-fill dam, spillway, and other facilities on the north fork of the Pound River in Wise county, Virginia.

This will provide flood-control facilities that will help alleviate high-water conditions on the Big Sandy River in Eastern Kentucky.

The Army Corps of Engineers had estimated cost at $2,500,000. The project calls for a dam 130 feet high a mile upstream from Pound, Va. It will have a base width of 700 feet and crest length of 600 feet.

Record Park Attendance Expected In Kentucky; Fox Releases Figures

Attendance at Kentucky's 33 state parks and shrines this year is expected to top the record of more than eight million last year, according to Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox.

"Figures so far are running ahead of the 1962 statistics," Fox said. He pointed out that attendance through July had totaled 4,907,935, as compared to 4,201,347 at the same time last year.

The 1962 record was nearly two million above the 1961 figure of 6,329,325. The 1960 total was 5,939,350.

Joining the nation's No. 1 parks system for its first full season this year was Rough River State Park at Falls of Rough.

UP FROM THE GRAVEL PIT
After teaming up with the aforesaid Allen on a night's camping at Dewey Lake last week, I'm lamenting a bit more than usual the fact that the only scouting done in my early days was by those on the lookout for somebody. What I mean is, they should have told me these things—about camping, for instance.

This tent, as erected by us, was swaybacked and spavined, and the thing was so much trouble getting to stand alone that we didn't risk moving it when, crawling inside it near midnight, we found that our bed was as nice a collection of gravels as ever old Johns Creek cast onto its banks. They say the Mountain Parkway is an engineer's nightmare and a geologist's dream. I didn't submit my right hip for geological inspection after those several hours of writhing around, but I'm convinced that, with a little careful probing, a geologist would have found that third strata something to start writing a professional paper about.

Grover David Powers, no operator's license and stolen car, arrested by Trooper Don Goble; Samuel Elbert Powell, delivering stolen car and no registration receipt, booked by Trooper Goble; Barney M. Blackburn, drunk driving, jailed by Trooper L. Hatton; Cecil Adams, no operator's license, Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson.

Officers this week were investigating a break into the Princess Elkhorn service station at David Saturday night when 150 cartons of cigarettes reportedly were stolen.

The trial of Herbert Ousley, charged with illegally transporting alcoholic beverages, resulted in a "hung" jury. The case was rescheduled for trial later. Dora Johnson was fined $25 upon her conviction on a charge of permitting livestock to run at large.

The probation order of January 30 granted Grace Burke, of West Prestonsburg, after her conviction on a charge of breaking and entering was revoked.

The court docket was lightened by the dismissal of 54 cases, many of which were for child desertion. Most of the dismissals were made because of lack of prosecution or for insufficient evidence.

The grand jury was slated to end its session Wednesday.

Miss Davis Appointed School Head Instructor

Miss Nora Davis, of Louisville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis, Abbott Road, Prestonsburg, became head instructor of the new Jefferson County School for Dental Assistants, which opened July 29 at Louisville Memorial hospital.

The school is under the direction of the Jefferson County Area Vocational school.

Miss Davis is a registered dental hygienist. She completed her two-year training in 1954 at the University of Louisville Dental School. For six years she was with the Kentucky Department of Health, traveling on health education programs in elementary schools. She worked for three years in Lexington dental offices. She is a niece of Dr. Joe T. Hyden, of Martin.

The dental assistants' school at Louisville is the first of its kind in Kentucky and the first in the country to be approved under the Manpower Development Training Act. It is intended to meet a rapidly growing demand for trained dental assistants.

Applicants must be 18 years old, high school graduates or the equivalent. A second class will begin in October.

The Urban Redevelopment Area designated as appropriate for the Urban Redevelopment Project is generally identified as follows:

Beginning on a line, between the Baptist Church and Richmond Heirs' Estate, where said line intersects First Avenue; thence north with First Avenue 75 feet, more or less, to a private alley, line of Richmond Heirs; thence east 294 feet, more or less, to Arnold Avenue; thence south 75 feet, more or less, to the line of Elizabeth Garriott; thence west 294 feet, more or less, with the line of the Baptist Church and Elizabeth Garriott to the point of beginning.

The purpose of such hearing is to consider a proposed urban redevelopment plan for the undertaking of the urban redevelopment project, under the Kentucky Urban Renewal and Redevelopment Law (Section 99 330, et seq., K.R.S.) with Federal financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949 (Public Law 171, 81st Congress) as amended. NO POLIO CASES REPORTED IN STATE IN AUGUST, SAID

No polio in Kentucky, so far this year!

That's the happy record through August, according to Dr. Russell E. Teague, commissioner of the State Department of Health.

"At least, none have been reported to us, and there are not even any suspect cases," he added.

J. Clifford Todd, state epidemiologist, said, "This is the latest in the season in my 12 years with the department that we haven't had a case. We had seven by this time last year."

The summer months are considered the polio season, but reports usually start coming in around March or April. The latest national report is 173 cases, compared with 389 through August last year.

The last two years had been marked by a tremendous drop in Kentucky cases. Only 28 were reported in 1961 and just 26 in 1962, compared to a 10-year average of 434 per year from 1951-1960, Todd pointed out.

"Paralytic cases still are high, proportionately," Todd said. "There were 19 in 1961 and 26 last year."

This compares with an average of 244 paralytic cases per year in the 434 average cases of the 1951-1960 decade.

No deaths have resulted from polio in the last two years, in comparison with the average of 26 fatalities per year from 1951-1960, Todd said.

The record polio year in Kentucky was 1952, when 1,762 cases were reported, 924 of these paralytic. The death total that year was 129, also a record.

Health officials attribute the decline of polio to the Salk and Sabin vaccines. The Sabin variety, a live virus, is used mostly in the state now, Dr. Teague said.

He added that some 60 per cent of Kentuckians have been immunized against the disease. Some counties reached 90 per cent in immunization. These clinics usually were sponsored by the local medical societies and volunteer organizations in cooperation with county health departments.

THEY'VE GOT THE JOBS-- AND WE'VE GOT NUNN!!

Mr. Breathitt and his administration says they have nothing for any Happy supporter. They take the attitude—we beat you in May and we can do it again in November. Mr. Waterfield now admits that he was only interested in himself in the primary. (We suspected that all the time.)

I was for Happy in the primary and I am proud of it; but, being a Republican, I couldn't vote for him then. I now urge every Happy supporter to join a new team determined to bring an end to graft and corruption. They have picked up every worn-out politician that local people have discarded and put them on the State payroll at fantastic salaries. But nothing for the little man who voted for Happy. Support a team that believes in sharing. Support NUNN and LAWRENCE and we will have a spring housecleaning in the middle of January.

GOV. COMBS PROCLAIMS STATE SEAT BELT MONTH

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 5 (Spl.) — Governor Bert Combs has proclaimed the month of September as Seat Belt Month in Kentucky, according to State Safety Commissioner Glen Lovern.

Lovern said that the action was prompted by the great interest in seat belts from several sources during September. The Kentucky Farm Bureau has been running a campaign to influence rural motorists to use the safety devices, and they will continue their promotion this month. Just beginning a program of this type for its employees is the Brown Williamson Tobacco Company.

The Commissioner said, "State employees were given the opportunity to purchase seat belts at a special offer during July. The response was excellent as hundreds of belts were installed in this brief time."

Curtis McNace, of a Kentucky seat belt firm, said that his company had received orders after the deadline in July and had filled them as far as their stock would allow. For this promotion, McNace said that they were now in process of producing hundreds of each of the five colors available for school teachers at the request of many local school authorities and state officials. Order blanks will be mailed to all state agencies this week.

Commissioner Lovern said, "With most of the auto manufacturers planning to install belts in their 1964 products as standard equipment, there is good indication that seat belts are going to be very popular in the immediate future. We hope that those who are eligible will give this promotion their serious consideration."

The State Safety Department has been actively promoting the use of seat belts for several years, Lovern said. Also supporting the use of seat belts are the U. S. Public Health Service, the Kentucky Medical Association, the Kentucky Federation of Business and Professional Clubs, and many other organizations.

According to the National Safety Council, about 5,000 lives could be

Former Wayland Couple Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones, Newville, Penna., formerly of Wayland, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary recently with a family buffet dinner. The affair was held in the social hall of St. James Lutheran Church at Blaser, Pennsylvania. Thirty-eight members of their family attended.

The couple was married on June 17, 1913, in Whitesburg. The observance was postponed until August 3 so their youngest son, Jimmy, who is in the Air Force and was stationed in Germany, had returned so that all eight of their children could attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved to Blaser, Pa. 12 years ago when Mr. Jones retired as a miner.

The couple exchanged gifts. Mr. Jones presented Mrs. Jones a gold wrist watch. She presented him a gold wedding band. Their eight children presented them a hand-made wall plaque. Centered in the middle of the plaque was a gold plate in the shape of Kentucky with the names and birth dates of their eight children engraved in it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones have 19 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

BULL DOGS NIP CATS, 40 to 0

Only Three Elevens In Conference Have Unblemished Records

The Eastern Kentucky high school football season has been under way for only two weeks, and only three of the 12 teams remain undefeated.

Hazard, predominant Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference and regional power, won its opener over Prestonsburg in easy fashion, and non-conference Paintsville and Morgan County both won opening contests.

Jenkins fell before Corbin, 19-7, after leading 7-0 in the early stages, and Fleming-Neon upped its slate to 2-1 with a 12-0 conquest of Mt. Sterling.

The Letcher county rivals will tangle in Fleming-Neon, Saturday night, with the winner moving into a position to challenge Hazard for the league crown. Jenkins is 2-0 in league play and Fleming-Neon is 1-0.

In other week-end action, Jack Hall's Elkhorn City Cougars downed winless Wheelwright, 13-0. Belfry bested its county rival, Pikeville, 19-6. Morgan County nipped Leslie County, 14-7; Paintsville rolled over Rowan County, 33-0, and Old Kentucky Home bounced M. C. Napier, 47-0.

Halfback D. B. Kazez raced 33 yards in the first period to give Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers a 6-0 lead over visiting Rowan County. Quarterback Bobby Porter, Paul Pack, James Tackett and Leonard Meeks also tallied six-pointers for the winners.

Butch Green, 5-9 Bull Dog speedster, paced the Hazard eleven by Prestonsburg, as he raced for 40, 38 and 35-yard touchdowns in the 40-0 rout. Halfbacks Roger Cecil and Jack Robinson, along with end Chester Rose, scored the other six pointers. Prestonsburg made nine first downs but never seriously threatened to score. The Bull Dogs will meet crosstown rival M. C. Napier at home, Friday night.

Raymond Isaac's Fleming-Neon added some prestige to the Mountain loop by copying a 12-0 decision over Mt. Sterling. Halfback Randall Fleming and fullback Roger Hall scored on three and 14-yard runs. Mt. Sterling threatened in the third quarter but fumbled on the one-foot line.

The Prestonsburg Black Cats will open their home football season Friday night with a 1-1 mark. Elkhorn City's Cougars will furnish the opposition. Both clubs have identical won-lost records and both have beaten Wheelwright—the Black Cats by 6-0, and Elkhorn City by 13-0.

Elkhorn City won its first meeting in history over the locals by a 27-6 count last season. From that team Coach Jack Hall has five regulars, including halfback Benny McFall, fullback Derek Potter and quarterback Bobby Brooks.

Wheelwright, now 0-3, will be idle this week-end. Saturday night, Jenkins visits Fleming-Neon in the No. 1 game in the E.K.M.C. race. The winner will be in contention with Hazard for the crown.

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will again make available to fans attending all Black Cat home games free programs which will feature pictures of all the players and many other interesting facts about the team, coaches and school.

Morehead State College Eagles will open their 1963 football season Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Ashland's Putnam Stadium when they meet the Indiana state champs, Butler University. This season's edition of the Eagles is expected to be one of Guy Penny's best with senior Howard Murphy pacing the offense.

Coaches wishing their basketball schedules to appear in the new 15th regional and state yearbook are asked to send them to me as soon as possible. Also individual and team pictures will be welcomed.

Color Wildlife Film Release Is Scheduled

"The Happy Hunting Heritage," a new 23-minute color film produced by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, will be available for distribution by October 1. Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark has announced.

A formal premiere is scheduled for mid-September in Frankfort, Clark said, and prints will be available for showing through conservation district supervisors or by writing the Division of Public Relations, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort.

The movie covers Kentucky's rich harvest of wildlife resources and was filmed by Karl Maslowski Wildlife Productions of Cincinnati. A year of shooting time was required to capture Kentucky fish and game in their natural habitat. The film covers all major lakes and geographic areas of the state. Maslowski is the author of a naturalist column in the Cincinnati Enquirer and annually conducts a six-week lecture tour on wildlife subjects.

MOVING? If so, try to let us know your telephone requirements in advance. We have two important jobs to do when you move . . . disconnect the phone at the old address, connect one at your new address. And in your new home you may want extra telephone conveniences . . . extensions, color phones, perhaps a Bell Chime. Advance notice of your move will help us give you the kind of service you've come to expect from your Telephone Company—quick, efficient, dependable.

GOING TO THE 1964-65 NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR? If so, you'll find throughout the fair grounds over 1,700 specially designed telephone booths featuring push button telephones and maps of the fair that show the caller's location.

SCHOOL'S IN . . . and that means the children will be out by the dozens, walking to school, riding their bicycles, getting on and off school buses. So, it's time again for all of us to be extra careful with our driving . . . especially around schools, crossings, and bus stops. Watch for the signs, drive slowly, and STOP whenever required. Our children are our most precious assets, and it's up to all of us to protect them.

EVER HAD TO SCRAMBLE—with the rest of the family—to talk on a Long Distance call? A Speakerphone gives everyone a chance to participate in calls without huddling, crowding or waiting in line. And families will enjoy hearing both sides of the conversation. Call our Business Office to find out more about the Speakerphone.

THE WORLD'S FIRST TELEPHONE EXCHANGE celebrated its 85th birthday early this year. In 1878 the exchange, in New Haven, Connecticut, listed nearly 50 telephone subscribers. The switchboard itself was primitive to say the least. Among its fittings were teapot handles, and the whole thing was strung together with wiring from the frames of ladies' bustles!

Loggers Hewing Square Timber For Shipbuilders

One of the exploiters of Eastern Kentucky timberlands around the turn of the century was the buyer of huge white oaks for what was called square timber. Only the largest and straightest white oaks were used. It was hewed with a broadaxe to its greatest diameter and trees that would hew to between two and three feet were preferred. Most of the square timber here was shipped to the great shipbuilding yards on the Clyde River in England.

Shown here is a group of loggers at work for a Mr. LaLan, who bought timber for shipbuilders all over the Appalachians. At the extreme right is the late S. D. C. Adams, of Stanville.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our regional past in recognition of our historic heritage.
