

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1964

This Town . . . That World

No wonder Father Time is so decrepit that he can barely carry his scythe as he moves out at the end of the year. The guy's just gone through Christmas.

A well-known Floyd county political figure was asked, the other day, if he was a candidate. "Looks like I am," he replied. "Before I left the house this morning for work, I shook hands with my wife."

Santa Claus used to play a return engagement at our house on Twelfth Night, or what we called Old Christmas. It was one such occasion that shook my faith in the old gent. Heavy rains had fallen, all the preceding day, creeks were at flood and travel was almost impossible. So it happened that my Dad informed me that conditions were so bad that Santa might have trouble getting me anything more than a quarter this year. Then, when that exact amount turned up in the stocking, I began wondering just how close these two parties, Santa and my father, were.

The federal government is becoming more efficient by the day. Somebody got so energetic that most of us received our new income tax forms, the day after Christmas. Treating a suffering taxpayer like that at a time like that is much like tossing a drowning man an anvil.

SEARCH SNAG VOIDS CASE

Appellate Court Rules Seizures Are Illegal Without Search Order

Convictions of illegal liquor transporters gained on the basis of search made on a minor traffic violation and without a search warrant are on their way out, it was said here this week.

Voiding of court judgments against such defendants is a result, it is pointed out, of the recent Court of Appeals decision in the Layne case originating in Boyd county.

The first such case to be dismissed here was that of Herb Ousley, who was convicted October 15 on a liquor transporting charge, fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term. He filed motion and grounds for a new trial. An appeal to the Appellate Court was the next step.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo moved last week that the case be dismissed, on these grounds:

1. Evidence was obtained without a search warrant.

2. Since the trial was held the Court of Appeals has held that search of the trunk of a car without a search warrant and because of a minor traffic regulation, as in the Ousley case, is illegal.

The Appellate Court's interpretation of the search and seizure law has dealt attempts at liquor law enforcement a severe blow, officials are unanimously agreed.

WEEKSBURY NEEDY GET LOCAL AID

But No Windfall Of Presents Results From Yule TV Show

In contrast to the tons of food-stuffs and clothing sent to destitute Whitesburg area families as a result of a recent CBS television program, families in the Weeksbury area of this county received only minor assistance, it was learned this week.

Weeksbury families featured on the broadcast received approximately 75 packages of used clothing and 250 letters.

A committee, headed by A. B. Meade, Prestonsburg, and Bryan Johnson, of Melvin, collected $100 with which they purchased food at Hall's Market at Melvin for destitute families, a few days prior to Christmas.

Mrs. Inez Owens, principal of the Weeksbury grade school, in commenting on the destitute condition of many of her pupils, said that two children had been unable to attend school for the entire year because they had no shoes. Three other children were out of school this week because of lack of shoes.

Mrs. Owens and Wayne Ratliff, assistant superintendent of schools, both commended Richmond Stone for his efforts in behalf of the Weeksbury school-children. Ratliff noted that Stone has been shopping for shoes for months. Mrs. Owens said that at least 12 pupils attending school now need shoes badly.

Forty-two children are fed free lunches daily at the Weeksbury lunchroom and this is an unusually high percentage for a small grade school such as Weeksbury's. The lunchroom has been "in the red" for years, and school authorities say that an increase in free lunches would force the lunchroom to close.

An appeal by the Weeksbury Parent-Teacher Association for money for shoes was made this week. Contributions for this purpose may be sent to Haskell Hall, P.O.A., president, at Melvin, Kentucky.

CONSERVATION ESSAY WINNERS ARE TOLD

Winnie A. Little, of Wheelwright high school, and Caralita Watson, Garrett consolidated school, were adjudged first and second place winners this week in the Soil Conservation Essay Contest. Both essays have been entered in the state competition at Louisville.

Gerald Hart, of the Floyd County Soil Conservation district, said that 4,075 students participated in the local contest. Both winners received $25 Savings Bonds and in addition Miss Little was presented a trophy by the Floyd County Fish & Game Club.

Schools winning trophies were Prestonsburg grade, Wheelwright high, Wheelwright grade, Drift elementary, Weeksbury grade, Maytown high, Martin high, Palmer-Dunbar elementary and Home Branch rural school.

Trophies for participation were given the schools by Inland Steel Company, The First National Bank, The Bank Josephine, First Guaranty Bank and the Floyd County Soil Conservation district. The contest is sponsored state-wide by the Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times, Radio Station WHAS, and WHAS-TV, Louisville.

Grade winners as announced by Hart are: Ninth grade, Rosalyn Boggs, first, Garrett; Jackie Martin, second, Wayland; Fred die Hall, third, McDowell. SCHOLARSHIP AID FUND . . . Floyd County Superintendent Charles F. Clark is shown receiving a check for $1,000 from Isaac Vanderpool, representative of the Council of Southern Mountains, of Berea. The money, provided from a Ford Foundation grant, is to be used in a scholarship aid program in this county. Eva Allen Horn, Floyd county Council representative, whose interest initiated the contribution, looks on.

APPLICATIONS MADE FOR MARTIN HOUSES

Applications for occupancy of the new low-rent public housing units at Martin are being received at the office in Martin of R. R. Allen, executive director of the Martin Municipal Housing Commission, in advance of their completion which is scheduled for early February.

Mr. Allen said two main factors govern eligibility for admission to the new homes. First, he said, the family's annual income must not exceed the admission limits set by the Martin Municipal Housing Authority. Second, the family must be living in a substantial house at the time the application is filed, unless the head of the family or spouse is an elderly person or a veteran or serviceman. For these categories, the substantial housing requirement is waived. However, the income still must be within the admission limits.

Once a family has been admitted as a tenant, the family may remain in the project until the family income reaches or exceeds the limits that have been established for continued occupancy. The continued occupancy limits are usually about 25% higher than the admission limit. Dwellings in the project range in size from one-bedroom to 5-bedroom units. Rents are based on family income rather than the size unit occupied. Each family in low-rent housing is required by state law to pay a rent rate which is at least one-fifth of the net family income minus an exemption of $100 for each minor other than the head or his spouse. Rental rates are established accordingly. The receipts from rents must be sufficient to pay all expenses incurred in operating the housing project.

The Martin project was financed in its entirety by loans from the U. S. Government through the Public Housing Administration, to the Martin Municipal Housing Authority. The housing units were built without cost to the city and no financial liability is assumed by the city. Upon completion of the project the Martin Municipal Housing Authority will issue bonds for refinancing of the projects. The bonds, which are tax free, will be sold on competitive bids to private investors, such as banks and insurance companies. When the bonds have been sold, the loans from the Public Housing Administration will be repaid in full with interest. The bonds extend for a period of 40 years and are not a lien against the city.

Applications for occupancy of the new low-rent public housing units at Martin are being received at the office in Martin of R. R. Allen, executive director of the Martin Municipal Housing Commission, in advance of their completion which is scheduled for early February.

REED'S SHOT HITS COLLINS

Joe Collins, 32, Martin truck driver, was shot through the leg, the night before Christmas, by Chief of Police A. J. Reed, of Martin, after Collins allegedly had wounded his brother and had assaulted the officer.

The wounded man is at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital, where he is expected to recover. A single bullet from the officer's revolver passed through the bone of Collins leg, below the knee. Reed called the State Police barracks at Pikeville, soon after he had arranged for Collins' hospital treatment, and Trooper Harmon was sent to Martin. A detailed investigation of the case is being made by State Police Detective Chester D. Potter, of Prestonsburg.

Reed said Collins was drunk. He quoted "Chuck" Collins, of New Jersey, a brother of the wounded man, as saying that when he, his wife and child arrived at the Joe Collins home on Buck's Branch, near Martin, his brother became abusive toward the child and his wife. Later, when the three visitors attempted to leave, the officer said he was told, Joe Collins opened his fire, shooting his brother through the hand, shattering the windshield of Chuck Collins' car and firing a bullet into a tire of the car.

The officer said Chuck Collins, his wife and baby drove into Martin, that Joe Collins later followed and was arrested but tore free, jumped into his car and sped away. It was when he appeared again that the shooting took place in the vicinity of the city hall at Martin. Reed said that Collins stopped his car in front of the city building and came walking back toward him, accusing him of hitting his wife. Collins struck him, Reed said, cursed the officer and told him he had a .32-calibre pistol and intended to kill him.

It was then, Reed said, that he fired. The shooting took place around 1 a.m., Christmas day. The officer said Collins apparently had three revolvers—two of .22-calibre and one .32. He said Collins' brother apparently was shot with one of the smaller weapons. He added that when he first arrested Collins he commanded a .22-calibre gun, that Chuck Collins gave a second .22 to Trooper Harmon and that the wounded man's wife gave the trooper the .32-calibre weapon.

Reed said he took the Chuck Collins family to Our Lady of the Way hospital prior to his second encounter with Joe Collins. He added that he arranged for Hall Brothers Funeral Home to take Joe Collins to the McDowell hospital. No formal charge has been lodged against the officer.

NEW ORDER IS SOUGHT

Campsite Removal Asked by Engineers; Jan. 4 Date Extended

Owners of semi-permanent and permanent camps in the Dewey Lake area have been seeking a modification of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers order directing that such campsites be moved from the area by January 4.

The January 4 date has been indefinitely extended, mainly because the drawdown of the lake to the stream channel has made it night impossible to reach the campsites, but gates of the dam are scheduled to be closed Friday to resume impoundment of the water to the wintertime conservation level.

A meeting of Pike county campowners with Commissioner of Parks Bell and a U. S. Corps of Engineers representative was held in Frankfort recently, but no definite reassurance was gained. They said they plan a further appeal to Col. Harrington Cochran, chief of the Corps' Huntington district office, seeking a solution that will be acceptable to the federal government and still not require complete removal of the camps from the lake area.

Rites for Mrs. Rogers Held on Christmas

Funeral rites for Mrs. Cleo Hudson Rogers, 78 widow of E. T. Rogers, who died December 23 at Greensburg, Kentucky, were conducted Christmas Day from the Greensburg Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Rogers, who was the mother of Mrs. Ray R. Allen, of Martin, was the victim of a heart attack. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church there and was well-known in Prestonsburg and Martin where she had often visited her daughter and family. She leaves three other daughters and two sons.

Railway Worker Dies At Home At Dinwood

William Harry Gregory, 49, former C. & O. Railway Company employee, died Sunday night at his home at Dinwood, near Martin, of a heart attack which followed a nine-year illness of heart disease.

Mr. Gregory was a rail employee 19 years and when illness forced his retirement was a conductor. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and was a son of the late Elbert and Artie Dings Gregory. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Wanda Rudder Gregory, three sons, Bill, Dave and Ronnie, and one daughter, Linda Mae, all of Martin.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 1 p.m. today (Thursday) from Martin high school auditorium, the Rev. Teddy Shannon officiating. Burial will be made in the Dings cemetery at Dinwood under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

MARTIN ASKS FLOYD JURY

Extensive Relationship Of Parties Are Cited; Trial Is Redocketed

Martin county, on which the Floyd circuit court called for murder trial jurors last fall, made a return call recently when Circuit Judge W. D. Sparks asked Floyd Hollie Conley, of the Floyd circuit court, to draw names of 100 prospective jurors for the December 17 trial at Inez of Charles Moore on two shooting and wounding counts.

The jurors were summoned by a special bailiff but the case was continued. Moore is accused of shooting and wounding two Martin county deputy sheriffs, it was said.

An attempt was made earlier to empanel a Martin county jury for the Moore trial but only 10 veniremen had been seated after 212 persons had been examined, and the defense had not exercised any of its challenges. So Judge Sparks turned to this county.

Extensive relationship of the defendant and of the principal witnesses against him, the Martin county sheriff and his chief deputy, and their families was the principal reason given for turning to another county for a trial jury.

BABE DIES

Leno Isaac, Jr., three-month-old son of Leno and Billy Joyce Hamilton, Albion, Michigan, and formerly of Teaberry, this county, died Sunday at the Prestonsburg General hospital. He was an only child. The parents survive. Funeral services were held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. from the home of Willie Hamilton, at Teaberry, the Revs. Millard Adams, Green Hall, Hershell Hamilton and Noah Newsum officiating. Burial was made in the Joe Reynolds cemetery at Beaver under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

WOUNDED MAN GIVES SHOOTING VERSION

Togie Salisbury, 62, who was shot November 16 last at his trailer-home near Northern, last Sunday told County Judge Henry Stumbo, Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and State Detective Chester D. Potter that he believed shots were fired at him from three different guns and that he did not know who shot him.

Immediately after the shooting, his wife, Mary, said she fired the shots which struck and seriously wounded him. She claimed she fired in self-defense when her husband threatened her life.

Salisbury, whose condition still remains serious, told his Sunday visitors that on the night of the shooting he and his wife had gone to bed and that he arose before dawn upon hearing a noise outside the trailer. Mrs. Salisbury was missing from bed, he said.

He added that he went outside, decided nothing was wrong and called to his wife, telling her to return to bed, that there was nothing to be alarmed about.

It was then, he said, that shots rang out from the darkness. He said he did not see his wife or any other person at the time of the shooting. Salisbury's version of the shooting was made in a signed statement.

The wounded man, who was first treated at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, is residing in his trailer on Stone Coal Creek, near Garrett, across the mountain from the shooting scene. A daughter cares for him. He was described by a doctor to whom he has been taken for further treatment as "in pretty bad shape."

The shooting will be probed by the grand jury when it convenes here next week.

Pippa Passes, Ky. — Several thousand children in three Appalachian states enjoyed a brighter Christmas last week, thanks to Alice Lloyd College and its traditional "Christmas in the Mountains" program.

The children were recipients of 20,000 "Christmas pretty" gifts distributed through nearly 400 teachers in 250 schools in Eastern Kentucky, West Virginia and Western Virginia.

Mrs. Will Hayes, wife of Alice Lloyd College's chief administrator, and 20 students began working on the annual activity in early October. Using lists of children supplied by teachers,

FIRST-DAY JURY PROBE IS PLANNED

Twin Hobson Slayings Set for Investigation; Pike Veniremen Slated

When the grand jury is empanelled here next Monday, the first case slated for investigation will be that of Headmon May, who is in jail here, accused of the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hobson at Harold and of shooting and wounding their daughter, his wife, Mrs. Ruth May.

First week of the term will be devoted to trial of civil cases. First criminal hearings docketed are four liquor law violation cases set for Tuesday, January 12.

In all, 11 liquor cases are slated for trial during the month. No cases have been docketed after January 25, date set for work to begin on empanelling a jury for the trial of Roy Salisbury, who is under three indictments charging willful murder. Six hundred veniremen from Pike county will be summoned here, and an effort will be made to qualify a jury willing to administer the death penalty if the evidence warrants it.

Christmas Party Enjoyed By County Officials

Floyd county officials, members of their families and staff members enjoyed a buffet dinner, Tuesday night, December 15, in the circuit courtroom of the new courthouse. After dinner, gifts were exchanged by the approximately 50 persons present.

many of whom are Alice Lloyd alumni, the group selected presents for each child from a gigantic stockpile provided by 6,000 Alice Lloyd friends in every corner of the nation. Prior to Christmas, each teacher submitting student names received a package containing Christmas presents for every child. The gifts were further personalized by individual name tags.

An interesting sidelight to the program occurred on the C.B.S. television program, "Christmas in Appalachia," on December 21 when Mrs. Virgie Sumpter, a teacher at Pert Creek school in Letcher county and an Alice Lloyd alumna, described the bleak Christmas facing her students. The only Christmas brightness enjoyed by Mrs. Sumpter's class were the presents they received from the Alice Lloyd College "Christmas in the Mountains" program. The project was started 45 years ago by Mrs. Alice G. Lloyd as an activity of her Caney Creek Community Center. Mrs. Hayes and her committee are already encouraging teachers all over Appalachia to circle the month of September, 1965, on their school calendars as a reminder to send their class lists to the college so that no child in need will go without gifts at Christmas.

Telephone Talk

By ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

DID YOU KNOW THE AVERAGE LONG DISTANCE CALL CAN REACH ANY OF THE 84 MILLION PHONES IN THIS COUNTRY IN ABOUT 30 SECONDS? Which brings to mind an item we read the other day about a race that recently took place in Yugoslavia between a car, a Long Distance phone call, four carrier pigeons and a telegram. All of them started at the same time going from one city to another 80 miles away. The car arrived one hour and 32 minutes later. The telegram took two hours and 50 minutes to make the trip. Two of the pigeons made it in two hours and 49 minutes; the other two were never heard from again. The phone call took two hours and 15 minutes! The moral of this story must be that they don't have Direct Distance Dialing in Yugoslavia. Aren't you glad we do!

A STORE HAVING A SALE PRINTED THIS AD IN A LOCAL PAPER: "Further information on prices and merchandise may be obtained by telephone. A special lion has been installed for this purpose."

RECENTLY WE HEARD ABOUT A TELEPHONE REPAIRMAN who had been up a pole doing some work on a telephone line. When he started to climb down the pole he saw a large ferocious dog waiting for him on the ground. The man didn't panic. Just climbed back up, hooked onto a line and called the police on his test set. An officer came, pulled the menacing Rover away, and the phone man climbed down in safety. This is just another example of how people get help quickly, easily with their telephone!

HOW OBSERVANT ARE YOU? Try to draw a telephone dial from memory, including all the finger holes, numbers and letters. Probably can't do it on the first try; most people can't. Fortunately, we don't have to trust to memory when it comes to making phone calls. The phone book is a great source, not just of phone numbers, but of all sorts of valuable information like area codes, details on how to make special kinds of calls and, of course, those wonderful Yellow Pages! Why not take time now to get familiar with your telephone's best friend?

MARTIN NOW 18-1

The Martin Purple Flash ended the first half of the 1964-'65 high school basketball season with the best mark of any of the 15th region's 31 teams.

Denzil Wallen's unit has rolled to an 18-1 won-lost record. Included in the string of victories is the championship of three tournaments — Jenny Wiley, the Boyd county pre-season and Wheelwright. Their latest triumph came over the Wheelwright Trojans, 74-64, last Saturday night on the Wheelwright floor.

It is no secret that the Martin club is interested in a bid to the annual Louisville invitational tournament in Freedom Hall, January 21-23. In a preliminary meeting last week, the eight host Louisville schools listed Martin on the possible list of the four outside schools to be invited. The final decision will not come until the second week in January.

Saturday night, Martin returns to action with Wayland as its guest.

Jack Wells' vastly-improved Black Cats open the second half of the season Saturday night in the local fieldhouse against the Van Lear Bank Mules. In the last two outings, the Cats nipped McDowell, 91-90, as all-around ace Freddie Setser flipped in 45 points, and a night later bounced Warfield, 84-67.

The next area tournament in the long list of pre-district affairs is the eight-team Paintsville invitational which opens January 13 and runs through January 16. Martin will be Floyd county's lone entrant in the event.

McDowell's Dare Devils are anxiously awaiting Friday, January 8, when the Martin Purple Flash plays for the fourth time. Pete Grigsby's club has been the lone conqueror of Martin and that was on the Martin floor by an 82-73 count. However, Martin has turned the tables twice since then in tournament meetings, by 67-65 and 74-59.

Agents Say Moonshine Activities Diminished In State by Operations

Frankfort, Ky. — Field agents of the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control dimmed moonshine activities in Kentucky during the last year with destruction of 72 stills and arrest of 88 persons involved in their operation.

This information comes from a departmental report by A. B. C. Commissioner Harold Moberly to Governor Edward T. Breathitt for the period from December 10, 1963, to November 15, 1964.

The 28 agents of the field division arrested 219 persons in 200 bootlegging cases.

Approximately 7,000 licenses to sell alcoholic beverages were issued by the board during the 11-month period for fees totalling $815,285.

The board heard 132 cases, 51 of them on appeal. It issued a total of 837 days in license suspensions and revoked four beer and one liquor license.

Moberly concluded his report by saying: "Since our department is a law enforcement and licensing agency, we plan no new program but a continuation of good enforcement and service."

Kentucky Highways Win National Recognition In Magazine Contest

Frankfort, Ky. — For the third straight year Kentucky interstate highways have won special recognition in a nationwide contest sponsored by a Sunday magazine supplement, State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced today.

A section of Interstate 75 near Lexington, between the Athens-Boonesboro Road and the Kentucky River, was named one of the nation's top five highways opened to traffic this year.

A section of New York State Route 17, between Hales Eddy and McClure, was declared the winner.

The awards were made by a panel of judges who choose the routes as the highways which "embody the highest principles of land use, planning, construction, and design." In a letter of congratulations to Ward the judges commended the department for the imaginative excellence with which the highway was designed and built.

Winning selections were made from more than 300 entries in nearly every state seeking the magazine's annual "Scenic Highway Award".

Recognition came last year from two sections of interstates—the twin bridge part of I-64 near Frankfort and I-75 near Georgetown. In 1962 the portion of I-64 between Frankfort and Middletown placed in the top 15 routes in the nation.

Ward said this recognition is further proof that Kentucky is building a highway system on a par with other states and every bit as good as any in the nation.

Recently-Enacted Law Gives Clergymen Right To Elect S. S. Coverage

"Clergymen now have a new opportunity to choose social security coverage," Thomas L. Read, district manager of the Pikeville Social Security office, announced this week.

President Lyndon B. Johnson signed recent legislation granting clergymen whose time for electing social security coverage had expired another chance to obtain this protection for themselves and their families, Mr. Read said.

"The period such clergymen have in which to take action is brief, however," Mr. Read warned. "Clergymen whose time for choosing social security protection had previously expired must elect coverage by April 15, 1965."

Those who do not will be permanently barred from obtaining social security coverage of their earnings from the ministry," Mr. Read added. "The only major exceptions to this deadline are those clergymen recently ordained or who have had net income of less than $400 a year from the ministry since their ordination."

Delegates returning from the three-day convention in Johnson City heard Bruce E. Griffin, Watchtower representative, answer the question, "Our Divided World, Is It Here To Stay?" He added, "The only remedy for the many divisions that split mankind is for the Kingdom of God to rule the earth in true righteousness." Burnis Jones, of Beaver, one of the returning delegates, said more than the expected number were present Saturday evening to view the all-color film, "Proclaiming 'Everlasting Good News' Around the World."

He added, "The convention was very successful, and a total of 13 new Jehovah's Witnesses symbolized their dedication by water baptism."

KENTUCKY HIGHWAY WORK TOLD BY COMMISSIONER

Kentucky constructed or improved 1,866 miles of roads in 1964. Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward said in a year-end review this week.

"By using state money only, we constructed or improved 1,529 miles last year; the major portion of this work was done on rural highways and roads," Ward said. "In addition, the Kentucky Highway Department finished 32 miles of interstates; 57 miles of primary roads and 43 miles of secondary roads."

Ward listed these sections of Interstate Highways recently opened to traffic:
 In Jefferson county 6.3 miles of I-64 from the Jefferson Freeway to the Watterson Expressway; 10 miles of I-64 in Boyd county from the Big Sandy river to the Carter county line; 13 miles of I-64 and I-75 in Fayette county around the Lexington area; 2.5 miles of I-75 near Richmond in Madison county.

"These interstate projects as well as other major projects were completed last year by awarding an estimated $111 million in construction contracts, fifth highest in the history of the Highway Department," Ward said.

A check of Highway Department records shows major improvements included:
 U. S. 31-W for 2.4 miles in Hardin county from Ky. 447 to one mile north of Radcliff.

Two sections of U. S. 68 in Logan county—the first, a 1.3-mile segment beginning 0.3 mile east of Ky. 103 and extending to 1.6 miles east of Ky. 103 in Auburn; and 4.8 miles from Ky. 109 near Russellville to near Dennis.

U. S. 68 for two miles in Campbellsville, Taylor county. Newtown Pike for 2.5 miles in Lexington beginning at Hickory street and Charles avenue and extending to the southwest interchange of I-64.

U. S. 68 and 27 in Fayette county from I-64 interchange to the Lexington Circle Road.

U. S. 27 for 1.75 miles in McCreary county from the Pulaski county line south to near Greenwood.

Maple street in Winchester for 1.1 miles from U. S. 60 to U. S. 227.

U. S. 150 for 8.7 miles from U. S. 63 in Perryville to Ky. 34 in Danville.

Ky. 77 (Natural Bridge State Park Road) in Wolfe and Powell counties for 4.9 miles from the Powell county line to Ky. 11, east of Zachariah.

"But these are by no means all of the improvements made to our expanding highway network last year," the Highway Commissioner said.

Ward called attention to these improvements: the Glasgow bypass; a portion of U. S. 27, north of Lancaster; a section of U. S. 227 between Paris and Winchester; the Eastern College bypass in Richmond; the bridge and approaches on U. S. 45 (Mayfield bypass); a segment of U. S. 25 between Paintsville and Prestonsburg; Breckinridge street in Owensboro; the Red Bird Road in Clay county; the bridge and approaches over Clarks River on Ky. 131 (the Reidland-Mayfield Road) in McCracken county; Taylors Mill Road (Ky. 16) in Kenton county; U. S. 63 bridge over the Cumberland River in Trigg county and the Newport-Cincinnati Central Bridge over

Soil Conservation
 BY GERALD N. HART
 Soil Conservationist

Despite the inroads made on the habitat of some kinds of wildlife by such necessary space-consuming activities as highway construction, urban expansion, and industrial development, the progress made by Kentucky's 121 soil conservation districts in providing hunting opportunities for the state's sportsmen is encouraging. This observation was made in a statement released this week by Homer A. Taff, state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, at Lexington.

The conservation official said that because of the districts' support of the concept of wildlife as an agricultural crop, farmers are more readily including measures for the benefit of wildlife in their conservation plans.

"Recognizing that wildlife populations may fluctuate from year to year because of conditions over which man has no control," said Taff, "our biologists are confident that the farmer's acceptance of practices with benefit to wildlife can result in a more abundant game population, and thus greater hunting opportunities, this year and in the years ahead. These increases will come from the continual strengthening and broadening of the base upon which abundant wildlife populations are built as farmers give more attention to wildlife in their farming operations."

The most common measures farmers are applying are food and cover plantings that support doves, quail, rabbits, deer and ruffed grouse. Trees, shrubs, grasses and legumes that are known to have value to wildlife are being planted where they will be of most benefit.

"Farmers," said Taff, "are gradually realizing that their wildlife crop has economic value and that by producing and marketing it just as they do their other crops they are strengthening the rural economy throughout the state. And hunters are accepting this new approach as they come to appreciate its advantage to all concerned."

Wayland Club Hears Rev. James Stratton

"Is Jesus Christ relevant for our day?" questioned the Reverend James C. Stratton, pastor of the Allen Methodist Church, speaking recently to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club on the subject, "Religion in a Changing World."

"At one time Christ's very existence was denied, but no student today can deny He existed, for it has been recorded in history books, it has been stated by one who did not even believe in Christ that He was the most outstanding man in history. He never erred as others. There was never man to compare with Him, and none other like Him ever lived. He did marvelous things in the past. What of this new age?"

"We must accept Christ for what He says He is or call Him a maniac," the minister declared. "Society is trying to get along without Christ. Can it be done?" "If we cast Jesus Christ out of society, we cast our souls out with Him," he said. "If we follow doctor's orders to get well physically, so must we follow the teachings of Jesus Christ if we want to be well spiritually," concluded the speaker.

Before introduction of the speaker by Mrs. Florence Pack, who was in charge of the program, a piano prelude was played by Miss Ruth Karen Francis, Garrett. The invocation was given by the Rev. Rush Sloan, pastor of the Garrett Baptist Church. A special song, "What A Day That Will Be," was sung by Charles Hornsby. Following the speaker, the group sang "America the Beautiful," and Rev. Stratton pronounced the benediction.

At the conclusion of the program, which was held in the Wayland Methodist Church, the group moved next door to the clubhouse for refreshments, served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ellen Hornsby, Mrs. Charles Hornsby, Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., and Mrs. L. B. Price.

Preliminary engineering was advanced on Kentucky's Interstate 275 which will stretch 24 miles from a new Ohio River bridge at California, Ohio, through Campbell, Kenton and Boone counties to another new bridge near Lawrenceburg, Indiana.
Another Interstate route will be in the construction news in 1965.
Ten miles of Interstate 71 in Jefferson county will be placed under construction this fiscal year. Preliminary engineering or right-of-way acquisition is in progress on the remaining segments. When completed, I-71 will extend 77 miles from I-264 in Jefferson county to I-75 near Walton. From Walton north, this interstate highway will carry both I-75 and I-71 signs.
"Although the Kentucky Highway Department's 1964 road construction program was successful, we will do better in 1965," Ward said. "With the continued support of the people and adequate financing, additional miles of interstates, parkways, primary, secondary and rural roads will be opened to the public."

MEDICAL CARE CASES INCREASE FOR 1964

Frankfort—A big increase in the number of indigent Kentuckians provided medical care and other expansions in health facilities and programs during 1964 were reported to Governor Edward T. Breathitt,
by Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health commissioner.

In his year-end report he noted that the medical care program through the first eight calendar months of 1964 paid more than $3 million for 19,000 hospital admissions for eligible patients.

"This was a big increase in activities," Dr. Teague pointed out. "In addition to hospital care, the medical program provided payment for 273,600 physicians statements, 590,300 prescriptions, 18,300 dental statements, and 411,000 days of nursing home care."

Three new hospitals were completed and placed in operation at a total cost of $2,780,- 000 in federal and local funds, the health commissioner added. And contracts were awarded for two more new hospitals at an estimated cost of $1,005,000.

Plans are in the working stage for still four other new hospitals at an estimated cost of $4,765,000. All these projects are administered through the State Health Department.

Complete data is not yet available, Teague said, on a 10-county crash program on major health problems in the Appalachian area of Eastern Kentucky. The report shows, however, that in each of the counties—Floyd, Breathitt, Leslie, Knott, Lee, Owsley, Jackson, Clay, Perry and Letcher—hundreds of children and a smaller number of adults were referred to physicians and other local resources for further diagnostic tests and treatment.

A comprehensive maternal and infant-care project, for mothers, otherwise unable to obtain these services, was conducted in Harlan and Bell counties and later extended to Leslie county. Special pediatric clinics were conducted in Eastern Kentucky and now are being established in Western Kentucky, Dr. Teague said.

Programs to detect mental retardation and to limit brain damage if prevention is impossible, have been greatly expanded, he added. Nutrition programs this year reached 46,208 people, an increase of 28,168, or more than 100 per cent, over last year.

A "first" for the State Health Department during 1964, was establishment of Somerset of the first of six planned regional health centers. It will serve 20 Central Kentucky counties.

Seven county or city-county health centers were constructed this year at an expenditure of $814,452 in State, local and federal funds, according to Dr.
Teague.

Eighty-six counties now have increased local appropriations in the Kentucky Public Health Foundation Program for 1964-65.

Funds made available by the Federal Accelerated Public Works Program have helped local communities finance 64 waterworks projects, Teague reported. Grants for these projects, all to be completed by late 1965, provided more than $10 million of the total $17.5 million construction cost.

State cooperation with the
A. P. W. program also helped to start 81 sewer and sewage-treatment projects totaling $52.5 million. Grants for these amount to $22,250,000. Fifty-three of these projects are under construction, and the remainder either are completed or are awaiting construction start.

Kentucky also received national recognition this year for providing eight new 200-bed Civil Defense emergency hospitals in strategic locations throughout the state.
Four others are scheduled for installation before the end of the year. These hospitals, in addition to use in national emergencies, also are ready to help in local disasters.

Approval of the $176 million bond issue next year, Dr.
Teague said, would make available needed funds for construction of three regional health offices at a cost of $694,610 each.
