

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1964

This Town . . . That World

Why not look up on a day such as this? Even the worm is working its way up toward the sunshine.

WARNING
After writing the foregoing, I would give odds, if I were an odd-sifter, that, even though the sun is doing its bright bit wondrously, tomorrow will be as drear as today is nice. I am not a rainmaker or a storm-brewer, but the wise will dig out their raincoats or see if the door to the storm cellar is in good condition, any time I take a fishing trip or wax enthusiastic in print about the great weather we're having.

WANTED—ONE LICENSE
Days such as these we've been having this week are calculated, some say, to bring on a premature touch of spring fever. Fishing fever may be the more common malady. Already, the boys at our house are going over some old rods which need new guides, and one here at the office has been dabbling at making some lures of his own and painting them in gaudy colors. He's the guy who keeps reminding me to get my fishing license. And maybe I should. I recall a certain afternoon, several years back, when the sun tempted us to make a few casts into the Big Sandy, just to get the feel of things, and a certain guy walked up behind me to inquire if I, perchance, had acquired such a thing as a license. The confession comes late, but I lied like a dog . . . If it doesn't rain tomorrow, I will forestall a repetition of that situation by getting the papers I need or hope to need.

BUT NONE WAS TAKEN
Remember the picture of Paul Dean Wells, Paul Hager and Kenneth DeRossett with their bag limit of 12 grouse in last week's Times? Wish I had a picture of this trio on their return last Wednesday, last day of the season.

THE AMAZON
A picture we missed is one of County Clerk Ollie Robinson after last week's "Womanless Wedding." The "old gal" paraded around, confusing the "opposite" sex, loudly demanding at the county jail that "her" husband be released and embarrassing a certain young man no end as she (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

Ex-Governor Combs Honored at Banquet

Former Governor Bert T. Combs of Kentucky was one of six men honored at the annual awards banquet of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Foundation, telecast Wednesday night.
The dinner featured awards to six men from all over the world for their work in fighting mental retardation.
Combs was given the award for his efforts while Governor "to interest and enlist the support of the citizenry."
Jack Benny was emcee of the program, which pre-empted, fittingly enough, "The Eleventh Hour."
In addition to the awards, there was music by Count Basie and his band, and Nat King Cole as vocalist.

UK ASSISTANT DEAN TELLS COLLEGE PLAN

THREE-PART STUDY PLAN IS OUTLINED

Standards of College Here To Meet U. of K.'s, Hager Tells Teachers

C. H. Hager, assistant dean, University of Kentucky, told Floyd county school principals, guidance counsellors and others Monday evening in a meeting at Martin high school of U. K.'s plans for the Prestonsburg Community College.

The college hopes to open next September with an enrollment of 300 students, he told the group. He emphasized the point that the college here will be looking for students who are "college material," not those who have failed at other schools or who are not capable of doing college work. This type of student is sought, he explained, because the Prestonsburg Community College will maintain the same standards as those of the University. He said the school plant, as presently constructed, will accommodate a maximum of 500 students.

Three types of educational programs will be offered, Hager said:
1. The regular two-year college course, with standards such as are at U. K.
2. A terminal program for those who seek only two years' work.
3. A cultural program for those who desire specific classes without consideration of degree. (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

$100 PAID AS REWARD

By Education Board; Additional Teachers Employed Saturday

Featuring the Floyd County Board of Education meeting Saturday evening was the approval for payment to Dingus Bradley of a $100 reward for information that led to the arrest and conviction of two juveniles who broke into and robbed the Betsy Layne school lunchroom.

Four additional teachers were employed upon the recommendation of Superintendent Charles F. Clark. These are Milford Wells, Prestonsburg high school, Roger Lee Tackett, Martin high, Goldie May Lykins, John M. Stumbo Elementary school, and Wayne Wendell Ratliff, driver-training instructor for Martin and Maytown high schools.

Anna Lee Rice was restored to the active list of teachers at Wayland elementary school and the following emergency substitute teachers were named: Ernie Francis, Sandra Fraley, Norah Lee Sammons, Arnold Johnson and Allen Turner. Two qualified substitute teachers, Elsie Patrick and Joyce T. Sherman, were named. Resignations were accepted by the Board from Jack Hutchinson, Martin high school, Beulah Brown, Prestonsburg high, and Joseph Elliott, Stumbo elementary. Linville Jones was hired as bus driver to replace Bennie Jones, who resigned, and Flem Blanton was named as a substitute bus driver for the Prestonsburg area.

Other actions of the Board were:
1. Agreed to buy six new school buses through the Department of Education's cooperative buying plan. The buses will be four 66-passenger and two 54-passenger.
2. Approved the leasing of one of the abandoned Sizemore school buildings for Sunday School use. Accepted the high bid of Clara Hicks Johnson of $302.99 for the lower Sizemore school building.
3. Authorized Superintendent Clark to advertise for bids on the furnishing of six-inch cast iron pipe to be used in piping water from the Prestonsburg municipal system to the Middle Creek school building now nearing completion. The advertising will be contingent on an agreement between the water system and the Board.

SINGING CONVENTION
The Floyd County Singing Convention will be held Saturday night at 7:30 at the Martin Free Will Baptist Church. The pastor, the Rev. J. A. Dickerson, invites all singers. The public also is invited to attend.

Fire Badly Damages Strahan Residence Here Late Friday

The First avenue home of Val F. Strahan was severely damaged by fire late Friday afternoon. Cause of the blaze, which originated in the room of his son, Val, Jr., has not been determined.

Firemen fought the blaze at considerable risk as perhaps 100 rounds of rifle ammunition exploded in the heat inside the building. (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

THREE CASES DISMISSED

Stumbo Regrets Move, Notes Officer Failed To Sign Search Paper

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo last week moved the dismissal of illegal whiskey charges against three defendants and in doing so made it plain that he had no other course to take because of faulty action in the earlier processes of the cases.

Moving to dismiss whiskey possession charges against Della Crum, Stumbo noted: "This motion is made on the grounds that the officer who requested the search warrant from the judge failed to sign the affidavit. This failure to sign the affidavit made the affidavit defective, and a defective affidavit will not support a legal search warrant. In addition, the contents of the affidavit were not sufficient to issue a search warrant."
Commenting on dismissals of selling charges against Shorty Hall and Wade Holbrook, Stumbo wrote:

"This motion is made on the grounds that Claude Perkins, Jr., the prosecuting witness who indicted the defendants before the September grand jury, stated in open court that he had not seen the defendants sell any whiskey but that he had heard they were bootleggers. It is a well-established principle of law that hearsay evidence is not admissible . . ."
Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ordered Perkins remanded to jail after he had made his statement in court. He was released after spending about two hours there.

Stumbo added in his motion to dismiss the Hall and Holbrook cases:

"It will be the policy of this Commonwealth's Attorney not to harass people with invalid charges but to prosecute with vigor indictments that have the evidence supporting them which will obtain a conviction."
Other court action had these results:
Fred McCoy, storehouse-breaking, plea of guilty after an earlier decision to stand trial, two-year term; Heston Mayo, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, plea of guilty, two (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

IMPROVEMENT PLANS PROJECTED TO 1986

Five of six projects given top priority last year for the period, 1963-1968, in a community facility plan and public improvements program for Prestonsburg are already under construction, have been completed or are ready for work.

The comprehensive program was prepared last year by the Prestonsburg City Planning Commission with the assistance of the Northeast Kentucky Area Office, Division of Planning and Zoning, Kentucky Department of Commerce.
Needs of the community are studied as far ahead as the year 1996, and improvements are suggested in the order of priority over four separate periods, 1963-'68, 1969-'74, 1975-'80 and 1981-'86.
Listed for action during the first period were sanitary sewers, urban renewal, a new courthouse, a new library, public housing and a college. All except urban renewal has been, or is being, realized, and progress is being made toward that.
After these six projects come five recommended for 1969-1974: fire system improvement, gas distribution system improvement,

Dr. Karl S. Klicka (right), executive director of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., announced at Lexington Monday the appointment of Dr. O. J. Wilson, of Bowling Green, as assistant executive director in charge of development and education for the hospitals in the Appalachian network.
Dr. Wilson is a former president of Findlay (Ohio) College and is a native of Leslie county, Kentucky. He also will direct a $4,255,000 fund-raising campaign in behalf of the Appalachian Regional Hospitals' educational program for training physicians and supporting hospital personnel.

GRAND JURY NOTES APATHY OF CITIZENS

Discussing Floyd county crime, particularly crime in which whiskey is involved, the grand jury in its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last week noted that there is "a great deal of apathy" on the part of citizens, adding that "the good citizens of this county must speak out, without fear, before the local option laws can be enforced to any satisfactory degree."

MUD CR. MAN FOUND DEAD

Coroner Carter Rules Exposure Death Cause; Rites Conducted Today

Jack Parsons, 54, of Honaker, was found dead Monday morning on the porch of the Arnold Hunter store at Honaker.

Coroner James Carter examined the body at Hall Brothers Funeral Home and found no wounds. He stated that it was his opinion the victim succumbed to exposure.
Mr. Parsons was a son of the late Freeman and Lizzie Stanford Parsons. He was a former miner. Names of his former wife and of his children were unavailable. Surviving brothers and sisters are Noah Parsons, of Printer, Denny Parsons, Green Springs, Ohio, Fred Parsons, New London, Ohio, Mrs. Nanny Spears, of Honaker, and Mrs. Fanny Tackett, Logan, West Virginia.

Funeral services were conducted today (Thursday), at 10 a.m., from the Honaker Church of Christ, ministers of that church officiating. Burial was made in the Lawson cemetery at Honaker under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

The report, signed by C. J. McNally, foreman, pointed out that most crimes committed in this county are a direct result of whiskey, and the jury included even child desertion cases as whiskey-caused, referring to drinking fathers.

State police and ABC representatives were commended "for their cooperation, their giving of testimony to the grand jury and their efforts to enforce the whiskey laws in this county."

Pointing out that its investigations had shown that most of those who are indicted for crimes are uneducated or unemployed, the jury specifically recommended that persons convicted of the crime of breaking and entering, an offense frequenting past and present court dockets, be required to serve the prison term prescribed by law.

The jury commended the County Judge, the County Attorney and members of the fiscal court for their work in getting construction of a new courthouse underway. "It will be a memorial to Floyd county," the final report commented, adding a recommendation that larger quarters for the jailer should be provided in the new structure. The jury suggested that teachers be invited to bring their pupils here to see and tour the new courthouse when it is completed.

Of its inspection of the present courthouse and jail, the jury said it found both in "deplorable condition" but commended Jailer Lawrence Hale for trying to keep the buildings clean and decent, despite a lack of facilities. The jury reported that it interviewed one prisoner and that it was told that the food supplied prisoners was "good and well-prepared."

The report concluded: "We have reached a decision that the basic foundation of our American law is the selection and the service of good citizens . . . for the juries. We further believe that it is the duty and the responsibility of every good citizen to serve on the jury without complaint. Finally, we say to (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

MARTIN JOB IS DEFERRED

Corps Lacks Authority To Spend $3,000,000 Without Congress OK

The proposal to enlarge and straighten four miles of Beaver Creek near Martin will have to gain Congressional approval in the Big Sandy Survey Report now being prepared, according to a letter from Senator John Sherman Cooper to Lawrence Keathley, of Martin. The sum of $3 million envisioned as necessary to complete the project is more than can be expended under the continuing authorizations to the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Cooper learned of the status of the project after he inquired of Col. Harrington W. Cochran, district engineer, Huntington, West Virginia.

"The Big Sandy Survey Report will present detailed plans and economics of this project to permit the Congress to determine whether the project should be authorized for construction," Col. Cochran advised Senator Cooper. Cooper, in his letter to Keathley, detailed the steps he had taken to promote several Eastern Kentucky stream projects. He noted that he had specifically recommended the Martin project to President Kennedy, as it was in line with the late President's crash program in Eastern Kentucky.

Senator Cooper said the Big Sandy Survey Report would probably reach the Congress before the end of the fiscal year, June 30. The project will be in the Omnibus Public Works bill for 1964, he added.

RAIDS NET INTOXICANTS

Bloodhounds Trail Two To Prater Cr.; Radio, Other Loot Recovered

Liquor raids staged Monday and Tuesday by county and state officers resulted in the arrest of two men and a woman and netted 109 pints of whiskey and an assortment of gin, wine and beer.

William Riley Wells, Jr. again was raided Monday afternoon by State Troopers Larry Hatton and Don Goble and Deputy Sheriffs Sam Hale, James Hall and Denver Conn. From his premises on the Auxier road, near here, were taken 49 half-pints of whiskey, 18 half-pints of vodka, three half-pints of gin and one can of beer.
Tuesday's raid resulted in the arrest of Afton Martin at Lackey and Mrs. Buddy Hall at Bevinsville by ABC Agent Claude Flanery, Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale and State Troopers Elmo Allen and Larry Hatton. From Martin's place 48 half-pints of whiskey, 214 cans of beer and 35 half-pints of wine were taken. Search of Mrs. Hall's premises uncovered 225 cans of beer and 12 half-pints of whiskey.

Warrants charging the three with selling whiskey in dry territory were issued by County Judge Henry Stumbo, and their trials have been set for next Monday.

The bloodhound which Sheriff Henry Hale bought in Tennessee last fall was put to work, shortly before noon last Saturday at Tram, and the dog worked so effectively that, approximately four hours later and three mountains farther on, Sheriff Hale, Deputy (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

SPECIAL GRAND JURY SCHEDULED BY JUDGE

Beaver Child Succumbs To Tragic Home Mishap

Gloria Jean Ray, five-year-old daughter of Victor and Mary Alice Reynolds Ray, of Beaver, died Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital from burns suffered January 5 at home. It is said the child caught fire at an open fireplace. Besides the parents, six sisters and three brothers survive.

Hootenanny Scheduled Friday Evening Here; Jaycees Are Sponsors

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will present all-star Hootenanny here Friday evening at the Field House. The show will open at 8 p.m., it is announced.
Prestonsburg merchants and businessmen are sponsoring the show and a portion of the proceeds will go to the Jaycees for use in their civic projects.

The Portland Four, a TV, night club and radio group, will entertain with folk and spiritual songs and Ronnie Erwin and his Dixielanders will play everything from "Basin Street Blues" to Strauss waltzes.

Other stars of the hootenanny will be Roy Sandro, an outstanding comedian; "Big Foot" Keaton, fast fiddle player. (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

FEDERAL FUND GRANT 66% OF STREET COST

Almost two-thirds the cost of Prestonsburg's street improvement program will be paid by an outright grant of federal funds, it was learned last Friday.

Originally, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, acting under the Accelerated Public Works Program, had apparently approved a grant of only 58% of the total cost. But a telegram received from Congressman Carl D. Perkins later said that of the total cost of $751,000, $496,000, or 64.7%, is being made available from Accelerated Public Works funds.

The total cost of the project was reduced from $814,227 to $751,000. It was explained that the reduction was effected through removal of unessential items of construction. The local contribution, as a result of the increased percentage of grant, will be cut to $265,000 instead of the $341,976 originally reported.

The project is to be begun within 120 days and will provide 566 man-months of labor.
Deadline for acceptance of the federal offer was January 31, the documents to be signed were in

JURY PROBE OF LIQUOR IS PLANNED

Cooperation Is Asked Of Citizens; Contact Of Officials Is Urged

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley announced Tuesday that he will call a special session of the grand jury to make an intensive probe into the liquor traffic in Floyd county.

He indicated that the jury will not be empaneled till late this month or during March. He explained that the regular panel, which adjourned last week, did not have time to go into the whiskey racket in the county in the full detail required and that he was calling a special investigation to do the job.

"I want everybody who is interested in stopping this business to appear before the grand jury. Anybody who has information should contact either Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo or County Attorney Barkley Sturgill."

"The special grand jury," Judge Conley continued, "will do no good unless the people who know about this liquor business will come in and help."

"I also will ask the grand jury," he added, "to check on these so-called clubs in this county which are nothing more than bootleg joints."

Judge Conley earlier said he will direct the Commonwealth's and County Attorneys to take action to confiscate and sell property used for illegal whiskey purposes upon conviction of occupants of such property.

GEORGE DIES OF GUNSHOT

Heinze flew to Atlanta to act as courier in delivering the documents here, where they were signed, several hours ahead of the January 31 midnight deadline.

Resurfacing of many streets, construction of new ones, drainage, curbs and gutters are included in the street program.

Bootlegging Not Restricted To Floyd County

Recent developments in the news would indicate that Floyd county is not the only Eastern Kentucky county which is sorely infested with bootleggers. Pike county was the scene recently of a raid conducted on even a larger scale than was the Floyd county sweep. Twenty places where bootlegging allegedly was conducted were hit by officers, including state police, ABC agents and Sheriff's deputies.

Only last week, The Morehead News gave prominence to a news-story in which officials were quoted as admitting that Rowan county is "wide-open" and that consumption of alcoholic beverages on the 3,300-student Morehead State College campus is alarming and is one of the institution's biggest problems.

We do not cite the plight of Pike and Rowan counties to excuse Floyd, nor do we rejoice that others have their problems. We review the situation simply to point out that the bootlegging problem is wide and serious and confined to no one county.

It is unfortunate that the Floyd county "bootlegging mess" was used during the recent gubernatorial election to hit at then-Governor Combs while that section of the press (specifically, The Lexington Leader) which did this was ignoring similar situations, or worse, in other counties of the state.

Bootlegging in Floyd county is a matter, or should be a matter, of continuing concern to every person who believes in decent government. Aside from scattered violations of the law, there is the greater danger of the big build-up of those forces which scoff at the law as long as the scoffing will fill their pockets. The danger of organized bootlegging and developing gansterism is as great now in February, 1964, as it was in the fall of 1963.

We have been encouraged by plans outlined by new officials as they study means of dealing with the situation. But the ordinary citizen still owes a responsibility to take a stand and to work with those officials who would work with them in common cause.

Thirty Years Ago

(February 2, 1934)

The business section of Allen was almost wiped out by fire Wednesday at an estimated loss of $30,000. The town of Weeksburg is all agog because of the operations of a "knocking spirit" at the home there of Bill Glaspay. The Price Construction Co., Huntington, West Virginia, will begin paving the Allen-Lackey highway, May 15, the county re-employment office here has been notified. Leander Handsobe, 24, was killed Monday on Salt Lick, a few miles from Basco, by an axe blow. A clash between striking coal miners and sympathizers with Pike county deputy sheriffs January 29 resulted in the death of Berry Atkins, 45, the wounding of Beverly Hill, 24, and the arrest of 15 men. Two Prestonsburg stores have moved to new locations—Kroger's into the Morell building on First avenue and Paul B. Francis into the Patton building vacated by Kroger. Married: Miss Ona Lee Clarke, of Auxier, and Mr. Kelly Stratton, of Ivel, January 29 at Banner. There died: the nine-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Gibson here Monday.

Twenty Years Ago

(February 3, 1944)

The draft last week accepted 63 men for service from this county, again hitting Prestonsburg's official family as Councilman Thomas Hereford and City Attorney Walter Scott Harkins were accepted. Sgt. Virgil Reynolds, crew member on a B-17 bomber, and Euhian C. Wills, bomber tail gunner, both from Wayland, are reported missing after flights over Europe. Norman Bailey, of Handsobe, and Leo Baldridge, of this county, are reported killed in action on the Italian front. Lieut. Townsel Marshall, recently reported missing after his plane crashed, is reported safe at his base in India. Irene Coie Memorial Baptist Church has purchased from W. W. Burchett a lot on North Second street in the Garfield Addition on which it may build a church structure to supplant the church which was destroyed by fire here two years ago. The Hi Hat Elkhorn Coal Company is rebuilding the tippie destroyed by fire recently. Ten Years Ago

(February 4, 1954)

Prestonsburg is well on the way toward raising $150,000 for the purchase of a plant site and the construction of a factory building, hoping to induce new industry to locate here. At present the community is under consideration as a site by the Dura Electric Lamp Bulb Manufacturing Company. U. S. Department of Commerce officials will visit Prestonsburg and other towns of this section in a survey next week of Eastern Kentucky's industrial facilities and development needs. Injured early this morning (Thursday) when a Kentucky highway department truck skidded into another truck at Emma, were Graydon Howard, of Pyramid; Bill Stumbo and Frank Stephens, both of West Prestonsburg, and Jimmy Goble, of Allen. The Floyd County Board of Education was concerned mainly at its Monday meeting with filling vacancies created by teacher-resignations. Saturday, March 6, was designated this week by County Judge Henry Stumbo as the date for the special local option election to sound the wet-and-dry sentiments of the town of Martin. B. F. Reed, of Drift, was sworn in as a new member of the Morehead State College board of regents at a meeting of the group this week. The accounting firm of Ray Allen and Nat H. Hager was employed by the fiscal court Monday as county auditors. Married: Miss Nedra Akers, of Dwayne, and Lieut. Norval Davis, of Columbus, Ohio, at Colorado Springs, Colorado, September 30. COMMUNITY COLLEGE PLAN AUGURS WELL FOR STATE

BY CHARLES WHALEY
(In The Courier-Journal)

California's model community-college system is being transplanted to Kentucky on a smaller scale. The 1962 General Assembly created a state network of the public two-year institutions to be operated by the University of Kentucky. A major difference is that the Kentucky schools will not be tuition-free.

What augurs well for the future of Kentucky's community colleges is the first-hand experience of the California operation that Dr. John W. Oswald, U. K.'s new president, can draw upon. Oswald was the University of California's vice-president for administration before he took U.K.'s top post last year.

He has said he will work hard to make the community colleges "a very important force in the state." And he has predicted that U. K.'s major growth over the next few years will be in the areas of community-college development and on-campus graduate programs.

U. K. now operates five community colleges. Within the next two years it will open four more. "At that time perhaps one half of all the University's freshmen and sophomores should then be at the community colleges," Oswald recently told U. K. trustees.

There are now community colleges at Covington, Ashland, Fort Knox, Henderson and Cumberland. These existed as U. K. "Centers" at the time the Legislature created the community-college system.

The five off-campus branches were brought into the college system, but the Legislature stipulated that their names could not be changed except upon the recommendation of local advisory boards appointed by the Governor. None as yet has an advisory board, so each is still officially designated a "Center" rather than a community college.

A community college at Elizabethtown will open in September in a recently completed building in which extension classes already are meeting. A college under construction at Prestonsburg (the only one that has an advisory board) also will open in September.

Colleges at Somerset and Hopkinsville are in the planning stage; both will open in September, 1965. The Legislature also stipulated establishment of a college in the Blackey-Hazard area, but plans for it have been shelved temporarily. Studies have been made of the area but no site has been chosen and no timetable set.

As for future community-college sites, a policy statement adopted by U. K. trustees said: "A thorough survey is being conducted of each city in Kentucky with a population even approaching that necessary to sustain a community college."

No new community colleges should be established until the present study by the University of Kentucky on future needs is completed.

Oswald said he hopes the study can be completed within six months. It has been begun by the staff of Dr. R. D. Johnson, executive dean of extended programs. But since community colleges are to be taken out of the extended-programs unit and given a separate administrator, the study will be completed by the still-unnamed administrator's staff.

U. K. trustee Sam Ezelle has said in the past that Louisville, as the state's largest population center, has the greatest need for a public community college with low tuition. There have been rumors that some arrangement for a community-college operation at the University of Louisville might be worked out between U. of L. and U. K., but so far these are only rumors.

Asked if Louisville is one of the cities being studied as possible sites for future community colleges, Oswald said he does not know, but he assures it is.

The survey, plus the experience gained in starting four new community colleges within the next two years, will determine future expansion, Oswald said.

In the policy statement prepared for the trustees, Oswald said, "A very sizeable proportion of the University of Kentucky's total enrollment is now at the community colleges."

Total enrollment of credit students for the fall of 1963 was 11,794. The community colleges enrolled 1,140 credit students—626 at Covington, 377 at Ashland, 284 at Henderson, 260 at Fort Knox and 193 at Cumberland.

Comparable figures for the fall of 1962 showed 602 at Covington, 306 at Ashland, 180 at Henderson, 371 at Fort Knox, and 161 at Cumberland.

Tuition at the community colleges is the same as on the main campus at Lexington—$110 a semester.

(California has 71 junior colleges, all tuition-free, with more than 352,000 students.)

U. K. will operate its community colleges as a separate, locally oriented system apart from the parent institution at Lexington, according to the trustees' policy statement.

The role of the colleges will be to provide the first two years of college work for students who want to transfer later to U. K. or other institutions, train technical and semi-professional people in two-year terminal courses, and offer an adult-education and service program oriented to the community the college serves.

Not all is rosy agreement on the community-college system in Kentucky. Dr. Robert R. Martin, president of Eastern Kentucky State College at Richmond, has said he and his fellow state-college presidents have no argument with the community-college idea but are unhappy with some of the locations chosen.

"The great tragedy is we've misinterpreted the junior-college movement," Martin told the Council on Public Higher Education last year. "It was calculated to ease pressure on the senior colleges. But it has appealed more to local pride—the desire to get a mental factory or a shirt factory—than on whether there's a real need."

Meanwhile, Oswald has publicly backed Centre College President Thomas Spragen's call for a new study of the state's system of public higher education by out-of-state consultants.

Spragen has asserted the state is "far short" of having a fully planned system of higher education that assigns different types of roles to different types of institutions.

Such a plan would put U. K. at the apex, according to Spragen. Next would come the four-year state colleges providing "solid liberal learning." At the base would be the community colleges.

Martin does not object to a new study, but he contends the Spragen-Oswald "roles-by-type" idea would set up a kind of higher education track system with the three different kinds of institutions being three different tracks.

PINSON AND LYCAN

A letter from H. E. Bumgardner, 6360 West 14th St., Indianapolis, Indiana, offers valuable information on the Pinson family.

Mr. Bumgardner writes: "I have been gathering family data for several years. Our family had been very clammy until the last thirty years. I claim no talent for the job but felt someone should gather the facts, stories and yarns that make a family history interesting, while they were still available."

"Aaron Pinson and his wife, Sally Lycan Pinson, who were living in Floyd county, Kentucky, left that area and went to Edgar county, Illinois, about the year 1823. Aaron, born 1771, was the son of Thomas Pinson of North Carolina or lower Virginia. Sarah Lycan seems to have been born in 1785, in Surry county, North Carolina. It is said the year of their marriage was 1804, the place unknown."

"Their children: Thomas, born 1810 married Mary (Polly) Ward in Vigo county, Indiana; Allen, born April 4, 1813, Floyd county, Kentucky, married Margaret Noblet; Jeremiah, born 1818, married Martha Noblet; also Aaron, James, Andrew, David, Polly Anna, Patsy, Della, Sally, Martha, Henry and Mary."

"The story is told in the family that the children were all girls and Aaron pleaded with his wife, Sally, to bear him some boys lest he die a poor man. Sally told Aaron to never fear for she would bear him ten sons which she did."

"Thomas Pinson (Aaron's brother or cousin), came to Edgar county, Illinois, January, 1829. Aaron bought land there November, 1829. Tobias Lycan bought land here November, 1830. This Thomas Pinson was born between 1790 and 1800. Tobias Lycan was born in Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1810."

"The following Lycans were in Edgar county, Illinois, in 1850: Jeremiah Lycan, born 1780, Wilkes county, North Carolina; Andrew Lycan, born 1807 in Floyd county, Kentucky; David Lycan, born 1814, Morgan county (then Floyd); J. V. Lycan, born 1820, Morgan county, Kentucky."

"Other Pinsons found in Edgar county, Illinois, in 1850, may be related but now is not known. Allen L. Pinson, born 1827, in Pike county, Kentucky, and Cornelius Pinson, born 1818, Pike county, Kentucky, are listed."

"My line runs from Aaron Pinson, born 1771, through Allen Pinson. Daughter Sarah Pinson married Isaac Bumgardner, Luray, Virginia."

"I would like information on any of these lines and will be glad to share the information I have with interested parties." HARLAN HATCHER'S BOOK

Mrs. Carrie A. Allen, maps division, Department of Commerce, Frankfort, writes she has just finished reading PATTERNS OF WOLFPEN, by Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan. Hatcher is a Leslie and Stratton descendant. The Pat- terns were Leslies and Wolfpen was Johns Creek as portrayed in the fictionalized version of the family history.

Mrs. Allen, who wrote on Election Day, comments: "I love the tranquil life portrayed in the book until progress reared its ugly head."

"To which, of course, we agree. Progress brings, among its many benefits, smoke, grime, a dollar-a-race, discord, and confusion. The old patriarchal home life of mountain families disappear and everybody goes modern with an auto on 36 payments, refrigeration to pay out in 24 months, house payments on 20 years, and a race with exhaustion to make enough to pay a multitude of bills. To paraphrase the Queen of France, as she laid her head on the block for the executioner, "Ah, Progress, how many falsehoods have been told in thy name."

Johns Creek, though, is much as it was decades ago except for a good road down the valley to where William Robert Leslie pioneered the place in 1790. The old hewed, log houses are gone and people reside in nice modern homes. They still bring a living from mother earth and at evenings around the firesides recall the ancient stories of the folk past. Progress has come to them but they have succeeded in warding off many of its adverse effects.

It is, indeed, a good place to live for life is tranquil and unburied. PICTURES WANTED

The Times would like to borrow your old photographs, particularly of school groups, deceased ministers and teachers and other prominent Eastern Kentuckians. Logging, mining and construction pictures, if they are old enough to be of historical value, are needed.

The pictures will be returned within a few days. And they will be appreciated. JORDAN, TURMAN FAMILIES

A letter from Mrs. M. A. S. Sekulich, 252 Kameo Avenue, Long Beach 3, California, is an inquiry relative to her Eastern Kentucky ancestors.

"I am interested in the Turman and Jordan families. My great-great-grandfather, John Jay Jordan, was born in 1822 in Lawrence county, Kentucky, and married Martha Ann Turman, born about 1824. John Jay Jordan was county judge of Lawrence county, Kentucky."

"I would like information on any of these lines and will be glad to share the information I have with interested parties." HARLAN HATCHER'S BOOK to provide adequate fire flow and pressure to various parts of Pres-tonsburg.

3. Replacement of old gas lines which are in poor condition after service ranging from 22 to 43 years and causing a line loss of approximately 16%. Within 10 years, it was estimated, 48,000 feet of line and 1,500 meters should be replaced.

A new city hall, new fire stations, new police station and a vocational school are suggested for the 1975-1990 period. If the plan submitted were followed, the new city hall would be located in the vicinity of the courthouse, and the central fire station would be in conjunction with it. Because of the length of Pres-tonsburg it was suggested that sub-stations be constructed, one in the Porter Addition, the other in the Lancer area.

The plan for the last period, from 1981 through 1986, concerns itself with improvement of the elementary and high schools.

It also was suggested that the possibility of acquiring land to provide for more city park and recreational area be investigated.
An area suggested for consideration is the low land along Middle Creek.

Those working to develop these plans said that fixing the priority of projects was more difficult than deciding upon needs to be met.

The faculty will be composed of from 12 to 14 members, plus a director yet to be named. Mr.
Hager pointed out that the University is not interested in employing local instructors, even those who do have the required minimum of a master's degree with varied experience, because it does not want to weaken existing schools by taking from their teaching staffs such qualified instructors. One faculty member will serve as part-time teacher and as guidance counselor.

Some music courses will be given at the new college. There will be no athletic program and no physical education at first.
The college library will open with between 8,000 and 12,000 volumes and is expected to grow to 20,000 volumes, the speaker said.
In the absence of a cafeteria, vending machines will be used at the school.

Tuition will be $110 a semester,
as at the University of Kentucky,
the group was told.

Favored with fair weather, the firm of Meade & Kendrick, contractors for construction of the college building here, is making appreciable headway and is confident of completion in time for the University to open classes with the beginning of the term, next fall.

The only known move toward providing housing of faculty members is the plan of a local group to erect an apartment building on Trimble street here.

Judge Conley directed that Mayo's revolver be confiscated and sold by the Circuit Clerk.

Because he as Commonwealth's Attorney prosecuted Herbert Ous-ley on a charge of illegally transporting alcoholic beverages, Judge Conley was objected to as trial
judge in the Ousley case.

The case was certified to the Court of Appeals for a special judge. James B. Stephenson, of Pikeville, has been designated special judge in several other cases in which Judge Conley disqualified.

The $500 bond of H. S. Bean, cases, was forfeited, and the two-year pen term of Lee Atkins, convicted of child desertion, was pro-bated.

Sheriff James Hall and State Detective Chester D. Potter found Jack Caldwell and John E. Osborn, who had been sought several days. Three residences in the Tram and Boldman vicinities had been burglarized and a man had been sprinkled with shotgun pellets allegedly fired by Osborn.

Sheriff Hale said the dog trailed the pair across three hills and down a ridge at the head of Prater Creek. A radio, a large assortment of keys and several knives were recovered. Caldwell had been indicted during the week on a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property, and Osborn had been charged with shooting with intent to kill Pete Burchett at Tram. He claimed he fired only after Burchett had first fired at him.

Others booked at the county jail within the week:

Billie Crum, investigation, booked by Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald; Virgil Bray, forgery, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Martion Martin; William Henry Jones, driving while under the influence;
Junior Younce, drunk driving, by Constable Enoch Hatfield; Hubert Kingslie, grand larceny, by Deputy Sheriffs James Hall and Harold Johnson; Melvin Moore, drunk driving, no operator's license, by Trooper Larry Hatton; Richard Hatton, probation violation, by Deputy Sheriff Lon-

Willie Harris was jailed last week on the allegation of Vinson Adkins, Yellow Cab driver, that Harris owed him fare of $31.95.
He told officers he drove Harris from Huntington to Middle Creek where his passenger left the cab and fled without paying his bill.

WHAT IS PRAYER?

What is prayer? "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, Unuttered or unexpressed, The motion of a hidden fire That trembles in the breath. "Prayer is the breath of God in man, Returning whence it came— Love is the sacred fire within And prayer the rising FLAME."

Is prayer now held to be "Pre-eminently" important as of yore? Christ said, "Men ought always to pray and not to faint (Lk. 18:1). The great Apostle Paul said, "Pray without ceasing" (I Thess. 5:17). Moreover he exhorted Timothy, "my own son in the faith," that "First of all supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks be made for all men" (I Tim. 1:2, 2:1).

Who are we to give prayer second place of importance in our worship? No human tongue can recite the efficacy of prayer. We speak not of the prayer which is cold, and feeble, and devoid of energy; we speak of that which is the child of a contrite spirit, the offering of a soul converted, born in a blaze of unutterable enthusiasm and winged as lightning from the skies. There is nothing of more potency than prayer which ascends from the recesses of the heart. Prayer is a haven to the shipwrecked mariner, an anchor unto them that are sinking in the waves, a staff to the limbs that totter; a mine of pearls to the poor, a security to the rich, a healer of disease and a guardian of health. Prayer at once secures the continuance of our blessings and dissipates the clouds of our calamities.

Do temptations assail us? Oh, how easily are they repelled! If we are afflicted by the loss of fortune, or by any other of those evils which are written in the dark catalogue of human sufferings, do we not rise superior to them all? O, prayer, blessed prayer! Thou camest down from Heaven to be nurtured on earth, and then to ascend again—how shall I portray thee? Thou art the unwearied conqueror of human woes, the firm foundation of human happiness, the source of everlasting joy, the mother of philosophy! The potency of prayer hath subdued the strength of fire; it hath bridled the rage of lions, hushed anarchy to rest, extinguished wars, appeased the elements, expelled demons, repelled frauds, rescued cities from destruction; it hath stayed the sun in its course and arrested the progress of the thunderbolt; in a word, it hath destroyed whatever is an enemy to man.

We again repeat that we speak not of the prayer engendered by the lips, but of that which ascends from the recesses of the heart. For as the tree whose roots are buried in the earth, though assaulted by a thousand tempests, knows not to be rent asunder and defies the storm, so, likewise, the prayer implanted in the soul, and from thence arising spreads wide its luxuriant foliage and elevates its aspiring head, and laughs unhurt at the impotent assailer.

Assuredly there is nothing of more potency than prayer, yea, there is nothing comparable to it. A monarch vested in gorgeous habiliments is far less illustrious than a kneeling suppliant, ennobled and adorned by communion with God. Consider how august a privilege it is, when angels are present and archangels throng around, and cherubim and seraphim encircle with their blaze the throne, that a mortal man approach with unrestrained confidence and converse with heaven's Sovereign! What honors like this were ever conferred? The man who can pray truly, though languishing in the extremest indigence, is richer than all beside; whilst the wretch who never bowed the knee and heart, though proudly seated as the monarch of the nations is of all men most destitute.

Prayer is an all-sufficient panoply, a treasure undiminished, a mine which is never exhausted, a sky unobscured by clouds, a haven unruffled by storms; it is the foot, the fountain and the mother of a thousand, thousand blessings. It transcends the monarch's power.

Often, when a king has been a victim of disease, when the fever has scorched his blood, when he has writhed on the bed of anguish, the physicians have been at hand; his lifeguards, his generals, his attendants have flocked around; and neither the wisdom of the physicians nor the potency of medicine, nor the presence of his friends, nor the assiduity of his servants, nor the multitude of his riches, nor anything that was human could charm away his pain. But when a man hath entered, beloved of Heaven and familiar with the graces of the Spirit, though he but touch his body and offer up a prayer, he hath expelled the malady. And that which no wealth could have effected, no multitude of domestics, no skill of the physicians, no pomp of royalty—that hath an individual achieved, perhaps the lowest of the indigent.

We speak not of the prayer which is cold and feeble and devoid of energy! Let us pray.

Genealogical Record Published by Martin; Spans 200-Yr. History

A new genealogical work, representing a study spanning 50 years, has been published by W. S. (Hoosh) Martin, of Eastern. It lists hundreds of descendants of William Martin, Beaver Creek pioneer, who settled in the area about 1806.

Mr. Martin says that he began taking notes from his father, Alemander Martin, about 1900. William Martin, the pioneer, was born 2760 in Virginia, so the record is rather detailed for approximately 200 years.

William Martin and his wife, Susannah Tudor Martin, settled at the mouth of the Patton Branch, then Floyd, now Knott county. They had eight children with them when they came to Beaver Creek. One son, John Martin, was born in Floyd county, after they carved their home and estate out of the wilderness.

The book is for sale by Mr. and Tax Commissioner Clive Akers.

Wheelwright Notches 19th Win, 68-57

Wheelwright, Ky.—Wheelwright had to stage a late rally to shake off the Wayland Wasps here Saturday night and chalk up a 68-57 victory.

It was the 19th victory of the season for the Trojans against only two losses.

Wheelwright led at the end of each quarter but a six-point edge 32-26, at halftime had melted to only three points as the final quarter got under way. However, the Trojans broke loose for a 25-17 spread to run their margin to 11 points.

Danny Ray Hall and Jim Rollins were the big point getters for Wheelwright, Hall netting 23 and Rollins 18. Phil Johnson had 17 for Wayland, Danny Stanford 16 and Bromley Williams 15.

Falcon proves it's America's toughest compact in the rugged Monte Carlo Rallye!

Four Falcons started from Oslo, four from Paris, on routes calculated to be equal in difficulty and length. Weather conditions varied from clear, bitter cold through freezing fog to blinding snow—and the time schedules made no provision for delays. Here a Falcon swirls through a sudden snow shower, testing traction in a practice run.

Falcon entered two classes in Europe's 2,700-mile winter ordeal—won them both and finished 2nd overall out of 299 cars. That's durability!

In the Rallye's five special Alpine sections, Falcon was first overall in four, tied for first in one. That's roadability!

In the Rallye's final test around the Monte Carlo racing course, Falcons were first and second. That's maneuverability!

MONTE CARLO—The 33rd Monte Carlo Rallye started with 299 cars. Some 2,700 miles and 3½ days later, only 163 were still in the rally when the field struggled into Monaco—but they included all eight of the specially equipped Falcons that originally started!

This eight-out-of-eight record was perhaps more remarkable than the fact that, despite a handicap formula that favored the smallest cars, a Falcon captured second place overall. One car can have luck . . . but eight have to have total performance. Because the Rallye samples every variety of weather and road conditions the continent can provide, and because it winds up on the most remote byways in the French Maritime Alps, it is a supreme test of all the car's abilities. Falcon steering had to be flawless on glare ice above a 1,000-foot drop. Those fabulous V-8's had to run like dynamo.

The final results in the Monte Carlo Rallye gave Falcon 2nd place overall, 1st in Class 8 of the Touring category, 1st and 2nd in Class 5 of the much tougher Grand Touring category, 1st and 2nd in the final three-lap test on the Monte Carlo circuit. The best finish by a Valiant was 88th overall. Falcon gained invaluable experience in how to build a car better, make it tougher, sharpen up its total performance. That's the real reason Ford is interested in open competition—and why Ford-built cars have got so much more to show drivers. Drive one and see; it won't have six lights, or a horn you can hear for four miles in stormy weather, or other special rally equipment—but it'll sure surprise you!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Floyd-Co. Natives Entertain Crippled Tots At Pasadena; Offer Clothing To This Area

Approximately 200 crippled children had ringside seats at the recent Tournament of Roses parade, Pasadena, California, all due to the generosity of two Floyd countians, Jack and Stella Younce Thomas, formerly of the Big Mud Creek section. The Thomases, who are naturally philanthropic, have been providing this entertainment for crippled children of the city for three years.

The Thomases are anxious to ship clothing to their native area but it is impossible for them to pay the freight on the tremendous potential volume. "If there are any organizations in Eastern Kentucky that could help us pay the freight on clothing and shoes, we could greatly increase our shipments," Jack said.

Many property owners along the tounrey parade route sell seats at premium prices but not the Thomases. They not only provide the free seats but serve donuts, chocolate and milk at considerable expense. For enjoyment measure, Jack, who was a former magician, entertains the children with tricks from his profession.

The Floyd county couple haven't forgotten their people in Eastern Kentucky, either. Last spring when the disastrous flood hit the section they gathered and shipped 7,000 pounds of clothing to the area and paid the freight. Gov. Bert Combs recognized their work by making both Kentucky Colonels. Now they have hundreds of pounds of good clothing donated by the cities of Hollywood, Beverly Hills, San Marino, Los Angeles and Pasadena. Any Eastern Kentucky group, willing to pay freight of $12 per hundred pounds, can procure a shipment by writing the Thomases at 293 North Sierra Madre Boulevard, Pasadena, California.

"Our Kentucky connections have become so well-known that each day we get offers of good clothing," Jack says. "There are two large department stores here that give us new clothing and shoes once a month also."

Jack was once a professional magician and entertained thousands with his magic tricks on the stage. His wife was the stage assistant and Jack sawed her in half twice nightly for 20 years.

COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY

January 30, 1964

Mr. Lawrence Keathley Martin Theatre Post Office Box Number 386 Martin, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Keathley:

Knowing of your interest in the provision of local flood protection for Martin, I recently asked the office of the Chief of Engineers to furnish me with a current report of the study that I asked be undertaken to determine the best means of protecting Martin from flood damages. I have just received a letter from the District Engineer at Huntington, West Virginia, Colonel Harrington W. Cochran, in which he furnishes the following information:

"A proposed flood protection project in Beaver Creek at Martin was found to cost more than the maximum amount of Federal funds which can be expended under any of the continuing authorities available to the Chief of Engineers. Consequently, the proposed project for Martin will be presented in the Big Sandy Survey Report now nearing completion. The current plan of improvement provides for enlarging and straightening four miles of Beaver Creek at a cost of about three million dollars. The Big Sandy Survey Report will present detailed plans and economics of this project to permit the Congress to determine whether the project should be authorized for construction."

Immediately following the March, 1963 floods, I introduced a resolution, calling for the Corps to restudy its reports of survey of the three river basins in Eastern Kentucky to determine if projects not previously approved could now be approved. Among the projects I specifically asked be restudied was the provision of local flood protection for the community of Martin. Following the introduction of my resolution, on April 3, 1963, I wrote to the President, urging that he revise his budget estimates for flood protection projects for Eastern Kentucky and I specifically mentioned the Martin project. Again, in my statements before the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, I asked that funds be provided for the Martin project; and, last fall, I met with our late President, John F. Kennedy, at the White House and I urged that the Martin project be among those undertaken in connection with his proposed crash program of aid for areas such as Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia.

The Big Sandy Survey Report will probably reach the Congress before the end of this fiscal year (June 30, 1964), and I assure you that if the Corps gives final approval to the project for Martin, I will do everything possible to secure its authorization by the Congress in the Omnibus Public Works bill for 1964. And, following Congressional authorization of the project, I will work to secure funds for its planning and execution.

I continue my interest in the Martin project and other projects for flood protection throughout Eastern Kentucky, and I will do my best to keep you advised about the Martin project.

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

JOHN SHERMAN COOPER

Our Historic Heritage. A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 269 in a Series)

Pikeville In 1905

This photograph of Pikeville, made in 1905, shows a typical, small Eastern Kentucky town set down in a rural area at the turn of the century. Standing as landmarks are the old courthouse and the Pikeville Collegiate Institute, now Pikeville College.

Pike county, Kentucky, was created by act of the General Assembly, signed by the governor Dec. 19, 1821. The first court was held at the home of Spencer Adkins, March 4, 1822, near the present Millard. The first site selected for the county seat was in the Peyton Justice Bottom, one and a half miles below the forks of the river at the present Garden Village. It was to be called Liberty. Dissatisfaction arose and pursuant to a new legislative act, passed Dec. 1, 1823, Thomas Johns, James S. Layne, Rhodes Mead and Harry Stratton, all of Floyd county, were appointed commissioners to pick a new site. They met Dec. 24, 1823, at the home of Adkins, and selected "the Peach Orchard Bottom nearly opposite the mouth of Lower Chloe Creek on land owned by Elijah Adkins." Adkins donated the land and James Honaker surveyed the site March 23, 1824. The first court was held at the new location in May, 1824.

The first postoffice was established August 5, 1825, and called Pike. William Smith was the first postmaster. The name was changed to Piketon, Sept. 14, 1829 and changed again to the present name, Jan. 3, 1881.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the regional past in recognition of our historic heritage.

YOUTH PILGRIMAGE TO UN SPONSORED BY I.O.O.F., SISTER ORGANIZATION

More than 1,000 teenage high school students from throughout the United States and Canada will take part in this year's 15th annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth, sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and its sister organizations, the Rebekahs.

Plans are already well advanced for the project, and Prestonsburg Odd Fellow Lodge No. 233, and Marlan Rebekah Lodge No. 31, of Prestonsburg, will participate. It was announced by Maman Leslie and John Snodgrass, noble grands of these lodges.

Bill H. Howard, John N. Burchett, Sam K. Hatcher and Milford Layne met Monday with the principals of Floyd county high schools at Martin high school, to make arrangements with the high schools for the selection, by competition, of a qualified student to take part in the Pilgrimage's week of observing the United Nations at work.

For students to be eligible for selection, they must have completed the sophomore or junior year (10th or 11th grade) by June, be 16 or 17 years of age at the time of the Pilgrimage, and be in good health. Scholarship, leadership, interest in community welfare, concern in world affairs, and general fitness to take part in the project will be taken into account in making the selection.

The Pilgrimage project has been on the approved list of the National Association for Secondary School Principals for the past eight years.

While at UN headquarters in New York, the delegates will study and observe the UN in action, tour the buildings, listen to behind-the-scenes explanations of various departments and agencies, hear business conducted in the five official languages, have meals in the UN Delegates' Dining Room, and interview representatives of member nations.

They will also visit International House where graduate students from more than 80 countries live under one roof. An added feature of the 1964 program will be a day at the New York World's Fair.

Smoking by Pupils Forbidden by Law

Pupils may not smoke on school premises the attorney general's office said this week.

Assistant Attorney General Ray Corns sent the advice to Mrs. Grace Sutherland, Prestonsburg high school teacher.

He said two statutes forbid any person under 18 to smoke and a more inclusive statute applies to schools.

"It is the opinion of this office that not only are pupils forbidden to smoke on school premises, regardless of age, but also no other person may smoke in school buildings or on school premises while children are assembled there," Corns said.

CLASSES BEGIN

Civil Defense classes, sponsored in the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club got under way last Monday evening at 6:30 at the clubhouse, Wayland.

Curtis Moore and Adrian Bentley, Garrett teachers and certified civil defense instructors, are conducting these classes to be held each Monday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 for the next three weeks as a part of the federal government's 12-hour course being currently announced on radio and television. These classes are open to the public from 16 years of age upward.

A number of mimeographed sheets and booklets were passed out, giving valuable information on civil defense, after which Mr. Moore explained the pertinent terms. Interesting films were shown, explaining nuclear explosions and illustrating the proper types of bomb shelters. An actual film of a nuclear explosion was shown and its effects on homes constructed of various building materials.

It is hoped that more townpeople in the Lackey-Garrett-Estill-Wayland area will attend these vitally important classes, which are entirely free.

I have made many personal calls on hundreds of families throughout this part of the country.

Many of the Martins listed in this book were born in Kentucky and Virginia. This book also lists hundreds of Martins who were born in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Oregon, Ohio, Idaho and Kansas. Here are some of the family names in this area who are related to the Martins:

Hall Sparks Trojans Past McDowell, 78-73

McDowell, Ky.—Wheelwright's fast-breaking Trojans built a 12-point lead early in the fourth quarter and withstood a gallant McDowell comeback to post a 78-73 victory over the Dare Devils Tuesday night.

Danny Ray Hall was the key player in Wheelwright's surge in the third quarter and early minutes of the fourth period. He tallied 11 of his 35 points in the third when the Trojans took a 53-46 lead.

Then early in the fourth the Trojans grabbed a 12-point advantage, but McDowell fought back to within four with two minutes remaining before Wheelwright pulled out the win.

The victory upped Wheelwright's record to 13-2 and dropped McDowell's to 15-8.

Sowards, who has a 15-points-per-game average, scored 18 of his points in the fourth quarter, eight on field goals and 10 on 12 free throws. Dorton broke away from the losers, 34-21, for their winning margin in that quarter.

Jackie Maggard added 23 points for Dorton and Andy Anderson scored 16. Only one other Maytown player was in double figures, Lowe with 25 points.

Although the 6-0 Tallent netted 43 points, he was held one point below his average for the season.

DISTRICT TOURNAMENT SITES

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association has released all district and regional tournament sites. District tournament sites are chosen by a vote of the school principals, and regional sites are determined solely by the commissioner.

Schools in the 15th region that will serve as district tournament hosts are Garrett in the 58th, Dorton in the 57th, Blaine in the 59th and Morgan County in the 60th. This means that the principals of these respective schools are the tournament managers, but virtually every district has a gentlemen's agreement that the tournament will be staged in the district's biggest gym in order that more fans may see the affairs and that, in turn, each school in the district will receive a share of bigger gate receipts.

In Floyd county, the 58th district, Prestonsburg has been the site of the tournament every year since the new fieldhouse was erected and will be until a larger one is built in Floyd county. The county schools use the rotation plan in serving as host school. Last year, Maytown was host school.

Paintsville will probably be the site in the 59th district; however, many of the district schools have an ill feeling against the school and may try to wench on a previous agreement to hold the tournament every year in the Johnson county seat. The same holds true for Pike county, the 57th, which has switched from Pikeville College to Johns Creek, back to Pikeville high. Last year's Pike county tournament in the Pike high gym grossed the most money of any tournament ever held in the area and it is highly doubtful if the school principals will agree for a move from Pike high.

Morgan County is usually the site of the five-team 60th district.

Maytown's Bob Tallent and Prestonsburg's Freddie Setser are one-two in the individual scoring column in the county, although Tallent is ahead by a wide margin.

Tallent now has 577 points in 14 games for a nifty 41.2 per game mark and Setser, a 5-11 junior, has 409 points in 15 games for a 27.3 slate. Seven other players in the county have a 20-plus-per-game scoring average.

Ashland high is under contract to meet the Prestonsburg Black Cats on Tuesday, February 18, in the second half of a double-header here and Martin is slated to go against Breathitt County in the first game at 7 p.m. However, Ashland has been under investigation by the K.H.S.A.A. Commissioner's office for several days, and, pending the outcome of a future hearing, may be forced to cancel several games.

A public hearing on the case is in the making. Meanwhile, Ashland continues to play, and only three weeks are left in regular season play.

Saturday, Martin and Paintsville tangle for the second time this season in the first half of a doubleheader in the local fieldhouse at 7 p.m. In the second game, the Black Cats are matched against Meade Memorial. Larry Hall, who sprained an ankle two weeks ago on the same floor, is expected to return to the Purple Flash line-up.

Tuesday's state-wide ratings have Garrett's Black Devils tabbed as the seventh best school-boy basketball team. Don Wallen's Wheelwright Trojans are in the 16th position, and Paintsville is in 23th place.

The Courier-Journal carried the following comments from McDowell mentor Pete Grigsby, after his Dare Devils whipped Camargo 127-117 in one of the highest scoring high school games ever played in Kentucky.

'GREATEST OFFENSIVE GAME'

Two hundred and forty points in one high school game? Unbelievable!

"It was the greatest offensive game I've ever seen," said coach Pete Grigsby, whose McDowell team outscored the state's last unbeaten team, Camargo, 123-117 at Camargo Saturday night.

"You just never expect to see anything like it," said Grigsby. "It was score, score, score."

Must have been some shooting contest, huh?

"You never saw such bull's-eye shooting. Everybody was hitting 'em from 39 feet. Why, it took two hours to play the game. The officials had to stop the game at least a dozen times to pull the net down after it had gotten caught on the rim."

Perhaps, you think it's ironic that Camargo—after winning 20 straight games—would go over the 100-point mark for the first time and lose.

It's true coach Julian Cunningham's Indians had been in the 90's on four occasions—but it was McDowell's fourth game over the century mark.

Grigsby had two other things on his mind:

(1) His team's star, Shawn Howell, who scored 39 points against Camargo, "is the second best boy in the mountains," said Pete.

The best up there? Bob Tallent, of Maytown.

"Tallent is the best boy to play around here since Johnny Cox (Hazard) and Kelly Coleman (Wayland). He's fast, can shoot and is aggressive," said Grigsby of Tallent, who is one of the top players on U. K.'s recruiting list.

(2) "In your Sunday column, you mentioned the best sophomores you've seen," said Grigsby. "I have a good one, too, in Ricky Hall. He's the son of Adrian Hall, the former Wheelwright coach." Young Hall, who is 6 feet, 3 inches tall, is averaging 12 rebounds and 12 points a game.
