This Town ... That World

NON-POLITICAL

There is no relationship between the impending political campaign and these elephant jokes Joe Burke may tell you. Examples:

Q. What would you do to kill a blue elephant?

A. Shoot him with a blue elephant gun.

Then, if that one isn't deep enough for you, try this one:

Q. What would you do to kill a white elephant?

Never mind the brow-wrinkling—the answer is quite simple: Shoot him till he's blue, then shoot him with a blue elephant gun.

POLITICAL

And that gets us around to Lenna Moore and how he strings us along. He hadn't shown up around this office for a week or more, and we were beginning to wonder if he was sick—physically sick, or just sick of us. And we asked him to account for his whereabouts when he showed up, last Friday morning.

"I've been working awfully hard," he confided, and we snorted our disbelief. "Yeah, I've been having quite a time with my garden."

My scorn of such a liar was super but my self-control was super (check, "superber"), and I managed to hold my tongue well in check and also in check. Then he casually remarked that the Johnson grass was choking out his beans and cucumbers, but that he had got the best of the stuff.

At that juncture I rushed in, wide-eyed and wondering—well, as wide-eyed as one of my years can be. "You have not!" I yelled. "I've got that Johnson grass in my yard, and they tell me the only way to kill it is dig to the very end of the roots, then yank it out and run to the nearest rock before it starts growing in your hand."

"Yeah, I know," he wearily (See Story No. 2, Page 3)

INADEQUATE SERVICE OF BUS BARS TRADE

Why do people in the upper end of Floyd county traditionally trade at Pikeville?

The answer was told a member of The Times staff after two trips to the Big Mud Creek area for the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce.

Most people say that inadequate transportation service to Prestonsburg is the reason.

Typical comments follow:

Beaver merchant and coal operator: "I do trade at Prestonsburg a lot but sometimes I think this area is not in Floyd county."

Beaver merchant and farmer: "You just can't get out of here and back to Prestonsburg without difficulty unless you have a second car and this is not a two-car family country."

Galveston state employee: "One of the things a man around here doesn't want to happen to him if he doesn't own a car is to get summoned on the jury. He has no means of getting to Prestonsburg except by catching a ride and when he returns he usually gets home after dark."

Teaberry minister: "I like Prestonsburg but my son drives

APPLICANT NUMBER RISING AT COLLEGE

EXPECT 300 TO REGISTER BY SEPT. 1st

Special Night Classes, Extension Program Add To Enrollment Potential

Student applications to the Prestonsburg Community College which will open its doors for classwork September 1 stood Tuesday morning at 244, and college officials expressed confidence that the enrollment of full-time students will reach 300 by opening date.

Added to these will be special students at night classes and extension classes for juniors, seniors and graduate students.

"The college is trying to make available classes to meet the needs of all students," Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the new college, said.

Walter Frasure, teacher-counselor, said at least 25 classes at the sophomore level are expected to be offered each week, meeting from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

He added that class schedules will be completed by the end of this week.

Sixteen scholarships have been made possible through the contributions of area individuals and firms, mostly from Floyd county. Dr. Campbell said he understood that individuals in adjoining counties have expressed interest in organizing scholarship committees for the purpose of soliciting and accepting scholarship awards for the young people of their respective counties. Welfare Group Holds Dinner Meet At Inez

The Kentucky Welfare Association, District 18, held a dinner at Inez, July 17, it is announced. Glenn Anderson, manager Prestonsburg office Kentucky Department of Economic Security, conducted a question and answer period on "Opportunities Available To Eastern Kentuckians."

The dinner was held at the high school building. Mrs. Valeria R. Ryan is District 18 president.

CHURCH SALE SEEN HERE

Presbyterians Consider Sale of Local Church; New Structure Planned

A congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday to consider a bid received from the Roman Catholic Church on the Presbyterian property on Westminster and South Third streets here. The meeting will be held immediately after the Sunday morning church service.

The Presbyterian Church plans construction of a church and educational building on property purchased from Rainey White, on new U. S. 23, in the vicinity of the new Prestonsburg Community College. The site purchased there is approximately 300 by 450 feet, fronting on the highway, and construction is expected to begin this fall.

The Catholic Church is now worshipping in a small building on Friend street. Church leaders have been seeking another location for several months. If the bid is accepted, possession of the church building would be taken by the new owners in the early fall, and the manse by January 1.

The Presbyterian structure was completed in 1903 and was first used as a combination church and mission school. The school was discontinued after a city school system was organized but the second floor of the structure continued for a time to be used by the city for high school classwork.

Eastern Ky. Farmers Harvest Some 300 Acres Of Cucumbers, Worth $400 To $500 Per Acre

Lexington, Ky.—Some 300 acres of cucumbers are now being marketed in the four-county area of Lee, Wolfe, Estill and Owsley, and farm families in that section are getting a good idea of what "pickle-producing" can mean in the way of supplementing farm income.

Growing cucumbers for the commercial pickle market is a new thing for many Eastern Kentucky farmers, although "pickles" have been produced commercially in several south-central Kentucky counties for some years. The acreage in Eastern Kentucky this year is a sort of pilot project, with a group of farm families in the four counties contracted to grow cucumbers for Paramount Foods of Louisville. This company agreed to set up grading and receiving stations at central locations and pay certain set prices for different grades or sizes of cucumbers.

Harvest of the cucumbers started there the first of July and will continue about two more weeks. At this point, the growers seem well satisfied with the arrangement and generally well pleased with the amount of money received. In fact, some growers who are doing a good job growing cucumbers have expressed surprise at how profitable their small patches are turning out to be.

And doing a good job of cucumber patch management is the key to success, according to Hubert Davis, UK Extension horticulture specialist. Growing cucumbers commercially requires a procedure somewhat different than producing them for home use. To insure greatest profits, commercial cucumbers should be harvested every other day and vines must be rowed. Rowing the vines, instead of allowing them to range willy-nilly as they do in home gardens, cuts down labor and is very important if the grower is to realize a good profit on his crop.

BUS SERVICE AUTHORIZED

City Council Approves Transportation Move; College Need Cited

The Prestonsburg City Council voted Monday evening to authorize the proposed Prestonsburg City Bus Lines being sponsored by the recently-organized Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce. The bus service would operate between Prestonsburg, Auxier, David, and south to Harold if the necessary permission is granted by the Department of Motor Transportation.

The Pikeville City Bus Line now operates as far as Allen and Prestonsburg businessmen complain that people in the southern end of the county trade at Pikeville instead of Prestonsburg because of the inadequate bus service.

Service to the new Prestonsburg Community College can best be offered by a city bus line, it is said.

One of the promoters of the service suggests that the bus drive north on its first trip of the day to the college and return in the afternoon after classes are out. This wouldn't be the only round trip of the day, however. Three, possibly four, trips are envisioned.

Mrs. Roshia Cox, 80, Of Garrett, Victim At McDowell Hospital

Mrs. Roshia Cox, 80, of Garrett, died Thursday of last week at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital following an illness of several years. She was the wife of Melvin Cox.

Mrs. Cox was a daughter of Elcana and Elizabeth Webb Martin. She was a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a son and two daughters: Wayne Cox, and Mrs. Madge Boggs, both of Garrett, and Mrs. Garnet Moore, of Martin. A brother and two sisters survive: John Martin, Huesville, Mrs. Catherine Gearheart, of Garrett, and Mrs. Nora Hayes, of Lackey.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church at Garrett, the Rev. Burton Howard and others officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Eastern under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

PROCK HAYES IS CLAIMED

Former Jailer Victim At Home, Sunday Night; Funeral Held Wednesday

Former Jailer Prock Hayes, 79, died Sunday night at his home near Langley of an illness which had its inception about three years ago.

Although in failing health for some time, Mr. Hayes' condition had become serious only during recent weeks.

A Democrat, he served two terms as Floyd county jailer, from 1954 to 1962. Prior to that, he was a farmer and carpenter. His last employment was with the Division of State Parks.

A son of Hezekiah (Carr) and Jemima Salisbury Hayes, he was a native of this county where he spent almost his entire life. He was a member of the Regular Baptist Church 40 years. His first marriage was to Amanda Turner, and after her death he was married to Daisy Justice, who survives. Other survivors include three sons, V. A. Hayes, Morehead, Earrit Hayes, of Martin, and Earnest Hayes, of Langley; three brothers and three sisters, Kendall Hayes, of Langley, Marion (Bud) and Roscoe Hayes, both of Martin, Mrs. Girdle Wallen, of Hindman, Mrs. Emma Turner, of Wayland, and Mrs. Haley Webb, of Langley.

Funeral rites were conducted from the residence at 10 a.m. Wednesday, ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Inez under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

HIPPO GIRL IS VICTIM

Mine Mouth Accident Kills Pauline Bailey; Rites Held Wednesday

Pauline Bailey, 10-year-old daughter of George and Geraldine Prater Bailey, of Hippo, was killed Sunday at a mine opening where she and two other children were playing with a shuttle car.

Coroner James J. Carter, who investigated the accident, said that the tragedy occurred at the No. 41 mine opening of the Export Coal Company where the father was employed. The child was caught under the car as it began to move and she was dragged a few feet before it stopped. Her playmates talked to her for a short time while she was pinned under the car but when she ceased speaking they ran for help. Carter was of the opinion that, despite multiple abrasions, the child died of suffocation due to the pressure of the car on her chest.

Surviving, besides the parents, are four brothers and a sister: James Luther Bailey, Paul Philip Bailey, Wiley Jonathan Bailey, George Bailey, Jr., and Veronica Bailey, all at home.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 10 a.m. from the home of Chester Hicks, and burial was made in the Tom Martin cemetery at Garrett under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Porch Falls With Wedding Group; Allen Pastor Seriously Injured, Several Others Are Hospitalized

A wedding at Boldman, Pike county, was marred by tragedy Saturday when a porch collapsed beneath the weight of the wedding party and guests, hospitalizing a dozen or more persons.

Most seriously hurt was the officiating minister, the Rev. Cohen Campbell, pastor of the Allen Baptist Church, who suffered a fractured lumbar vertebra and sprained ankles.

The vows of Miss Faye Leedy, of Betsy Layne, and Bennie Roy Meade, were said at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crate Meade. Principals in the wedding and members of the two families stood on the porch, guests witnessing the ceremony from the lawn. The ceremony over, guests moved onto the porch to congratulate the bride and groom.

Approximately 25 were on the high porch when it suddenly pulled from the main part of the building, plunging its occupants seven or eight feet downward.

Mrs. Zeila Robarts, a cousin of Mrs. Cohen Campbell, and a resident of Jacksonville, Florida, sustained a broken leg, and Mrs. Campbell's mother suffered a leg laceration. Both newlyweds escaped injury, as did about 10 children who fell with the porch.

The Rev. Campbell is at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, and his condition is regarded as favorable.

DISCHARGE MOVE FAILS

DeRossett Makes Motion To Fire Hopkins; Funds Allocated for Agent

A move to fire Blaine Hopkins, Floyd county road foreman, failed Tuesday when a motion to that effect failed of attaining a majority in fiscal court.

Hopkins said he was told Monday by Magistrate Bryant DeRossett to cease operation of machinery with which he was working on Bull Creek. Late in the fiscal court meeting Tuesday, DeRossett's motion to discharge Hopkins was seconded by Magistrate Edward Caudill. Magistrate Zeb Ousley and Fred Conn stiffled the motion, however, with their votes to retain the services of Mr. Hopkins.

By unanimous action the court acted earlier in the meeting to retain the assistant county agent whose services might have been lost because of a lack of funds. The amount of $2,400 was transferred to meet the emergency, subject to approval of the local state finance officer.

Ray R. Allen, of Martin, was employed as accountant on courthouse construction finances.

Drinking Companion Brings Body Of Man To Pike-Co. Courthouse

Ras Wallace, native of this county, but a resident of West Virginia for several years, is in the Pike county jail on two charges of drunkenness arising out of a visit in this county of several days during which a companion, said to be Charles Adkins, died.

Pike County Judge Irvin Pruitt said that he had been out town a few days and when he returned he had Wallace brought into court to explain the circumstances of Adkins' death. Wallace told Pruitt that he and his companion had been drinking and he first thought he had fallen asleep. Discovering Adkins was dead, Wallace brought the body to the courthouse, Saturday. No charges were filed against Wallace in the death.

Wallace was charged with being drunk by officers Saturday and upon being released by Pruitt on bond Monday was again com-

COURT ORDERS LOCK ON SHAMROCK CLUB

West P'burg Residence Guttled by Fire Monday; Three Buildings Saved

The West Prestonsburg residence occupied by Mrs. Lora Allen, widow of Melvin Allen, was gutted by fire Monday afternoon and practically all its contents were lost.

The blaze, which is believed to have started with electric wiring in the bathroom, was fought by the Prestonsburg Fire Department in mid-90's weather. Three other structures, only a few feet removed from the burning building, were saved.

It was said that Mrs. Allen was unaware of the fire till it had spread throughout the house. The building was owned by G. R. Fannin.

Sam Music is acting fire chief during the illness of Fire Chief Henry Gray.

INTOXICANTS ARE SEIZED BY AGENTS

Johnson County Man, Named As Operator, Booked On 3 Charges

The Dewey Lake establishment commonly known as the Shamrock Club was raided Sunday night, a small quantity of liquor and beer was confiscated, the man listed as its operator was placed under arrest, and two days later the club was closed as a nuisance by circuit court order.

The raid was made by ABC Agent Claude Flanery, State Police Sgt. Doug Sword, State Trooper Larry Hatton and Martin Chief of Police A. J. Reed.

Burnette Music, of Hager Hill, was arrested as operator of the club and was booked at the county jail here on three counts, illegal possession of alcoholic beverages, operating without a permit and permitting drinking on the premises.

Although the quantity of intoxicants confiscated was relatively small, State Trooper Hatton snapped pictures of empty beer cans and liquor bottles inside the building which, Flanery estimated, would have filled "the largest truck you could find," and of five men seated at a booth drinking what the officer said was beer.

Officers said Music told them he on occasion served as a Johnson county deputy sheriff.

Tuesday morning, Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill started the action on behalf of the Commonwealth which later in the day resulted in Circuit Judge Hollie Conley's order closing the Shamrock under a temporary restraining order. The order set August 13 as the time when the Commonwealth may ask Judge Conley for a permanent injunction.

The Shamrock was raided earlier, and this case is pending in circuit court. A conviction there will result in action to confiscate and sell the property, it was said.

The complaint filed to procure the restraining order named as defendants the Shamrock Club and/or AMVETS Club, Post No. 49, and Burnette Music. It contended that the club had been raided previously, alcoholic beverages seized there and that at this time the place is charged in circuit court with violation of the local option laws; that intoxicants were found in the July 26 raid; that the Commonwealth has information leading to the belief that the building was used by the AMVETS Club and operated by Music on the date of the latest raid and that the club is a nuisance under provisions of Kentucky Revised Statute 242.310.

The Shamrock is the second sizeable building to be closed by court order within the last few weeks. The Sea Cafe and Barnett's Recreation Center at Martin were closed by the same court procedure, July 15, a week after a raid led by ABC Agent Flanery and State Trooper Elmo Allen had

JENNY WILEY PARK LEADS IN INCREASE

Kentucky State Park receipts for the first six months of 1964 are $165,314 more than for the same period last year—and leading all the 30 state installations in increased receipts is Floyd county's Jenny Wiley State Park.

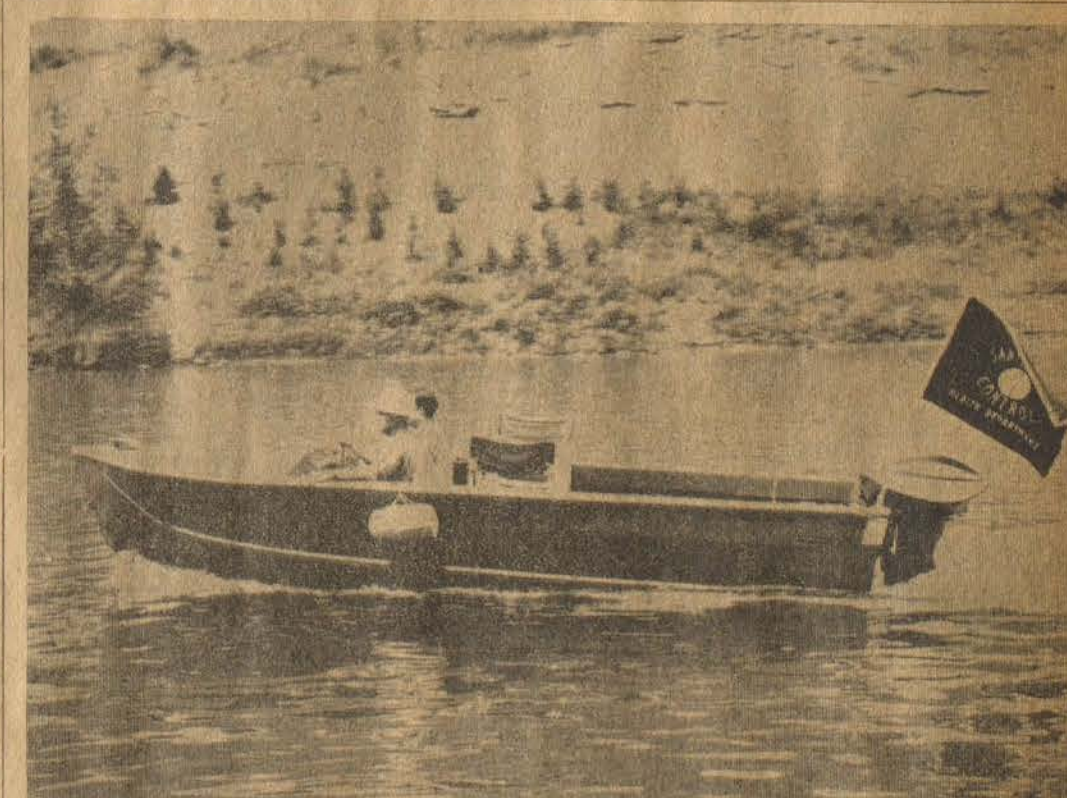

The income at Jenny Wiley State Park for the six-month period ending June 30 was $42,025 above that of the same period in 1963. That park's lodge and cottage facilities are booked solid till Labor Day, and would-be guests are turned away almost daily because of a lack of rooms and cottages.

(State Parks Commissioner Bell indicated here recently that construction of additional vacation cottages is a possibility.)

Of the overall increase, $124,452 was from operations during June, the first big vacation month. The only major facility not open last year, the new Natural Bridge Lodge, contributed a $22,324 increase at that park in June.

Receipts were lower at five parks—Audubon, Cumberland Falls, General Butler, Kentucky Lake, and Cherokee. Operations of all five were closed or curtailed by Bell for about four months early this year.

Total six-month receipts were $1,343,520. Bell said a meaningful comparison with budget estimates cannot be made until June 30 park inventories are tallied.

BUYS MICROFILM COPIES OF FAMOUS DOCUMENTS

Frankfort, Ky., July 30 — The Kentucky Historical Society has acquired microfilmed copies of "The Draper Papers"—one of the most complete collections of early Kentucky history. . . . Society Director George M. Chinn said the papers include journals, diaries, and letters of early pioneers, newspaper clippings and records of conversations with such frontiersmen as Daniel Boone and George Rogers Clark. There is enough material on the 150 reels of film to fill 1,000 volumes, Chinn said. . . . The collection was assembled by Lyman Copeland Draper, who came to Kentucky in the early 1800's. He traveled all over the state collecting bits and pieces of history and interviewing old-timers on what they remembered of the state's early days. . . . Draper is being accused by some Kentuckians of being "the man who stole our documents and carried them off to Wisconsin." The original collection is housed at the Wisconsin Historical Society. . . . Draper did borrow many papers, particularly those of George Rogers Clark, from the Kentucky Historical Society, then located in Louisville. It appears, however, Chinn said, that Draper actually saved the records from loss. . . . The Society was at that time in a state of decline, following the death of its president and secretary, and the records were beginning to be scattered, Draper gathered them up, added much more of his own, and eventually, in 1851, took them all to Wisconsin, where he was secretary of that state's society for the next 40 years. . . . Draper's biographer, William B. Hasseltine, points out that Draper "carefully noted in his will the items he had borrowed from the 'Kentucky' society." . . . Draper's travels and collections covered the entire region, from the Great Lakes to Tennessee, Chinn said. The Historical Society, however, purchased only the films of the Kentucky collection. . . . At least two other microfilm copies of the papers are in Kentucky—at the Pilson Club in Louisville and the University of Kentucky, Lexington. . . . The Historical Society's microfilm is available for viewing in the library at the Old State House, Chinn said. The library is open seven days a week from 3 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. . . . The Society also has six viewing machines and a complete index of the papers. In addition, Chinn said, a machine just purchased by the Society makes exact copies of any portion of the film.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

ROMANTICIST OR REALIST

Not long ago when some friends and I were together in a great park, one of my friends got to lamenting the changes that had become necessary to accommodate the thousands of people who annually come to the park. He wished that things could have been kept as they were a generation ago, when there were only a few hundreds of tourists. I told him that I too, could not help wishing that I might protect some of the wildness that I used to know and keep nearly everybody out. But, I added, the other fellow is as much a part of the clientele of that park as I am and is entitled to come and go with ease. If that means a better and more modern road, then a road is necessary; if it means a sensible adaptation of the park's beauties to the people who will come to see them, then that must be faced. My friend said that I was a realist, but that he was a romanticist. Somehow I feel that we must get used to more and more people in public places, partly because there are so many more people to be found everywhere and partly because the outdoor idea is steadily growing. At some lookout, where a half dozen of us may have stood, twenty-five years ago, and marveled at the scenery, now five hundred may be expected to stand, camera in hand, to see "our" scenery. And what is wrong with that? . . . When I was a much younger man, I urged people to get out and see what is to be seen. If I stopped now, I fear I would be accused of being hypocritical. It is not the crowds that must worry us, but the vandalism, which is by no means new. Think of the trash and litter that used to accumulate around some of our picnic areas. Fortunately, a few winter months, when picnics were not in style, would largely clear the grounds for more litter. When some people have sighed because of the crowds, I have told, somewhat scornfully, how picnic areas used to be left smelly for days with rotting watermelon and cantaloupe rinds, not to mention discarded bottles, "dead soldiers." You see, living as I did so near to Sulphur Springs, a great picnic area, I knew what it was like to pass the place for days after Confederate Reunion Day or even Quarterly Meeting Day and see the trash. No one seemed to care how unattractive the area became because of the one or two big days. Hogs ran loose in those days and helped to clean up or scatter the garbage; but hogs are not fond of papers and tin cans. If picnics had been numerous at Sulphur Springs, say a big one every week in summer, the place would have been covered with litter. . . . Even if more and more people are coming to our parks and other public places, there is an effort being made to preserve some spots from mere footsteps or litter. The wilderness idea is growing fast. In spite of selfish interests that hate to see a tree left, a single stretch of clear stream visible, the nation and the various states are seeing to it that some quiet, fenced-off areas are kept. Just today a grumbling letter appeared in a large newspaper, the author being angry because a great national park, formerly inhabited by the writer and all the relatives, is now shut off, in spots, from just anybody. Gates, with Yale locks on them, to the writer of this letter, seemed insults to someone who would like to go back to his native dooryard. There is an element of sadness in that. I certainly can see, but do you run back to places you have sold to private individuals, merely because those areas once belonged to your family? If all gates were opened, how long would it take to destroy all the wild beauty of the secluded places in our national and state parks? Even small parks deserve some places which only the caretakers ever see, places where nature can go on in her undisturbed way. But, meanwhile, more and more places are open to everybody where great freedom is allowed, just so long as it does not become vandalism. If this point of view is realistic, then I am a realist; there is plenty of space still for romanticism, where the average tourist is not likely to go.

When we come to measure churches, we often apply these same materialistic standards. A pastor and his congregation are "successful" if they double their membership, increase their budget, and erect a new building. More and more, bigger and bigger—these are the criteria of success. . . . But is this true success in spiritual terms? It is possible that if some churches took a real stand for decency and integrity they might actually lose members? If our pulpits refused to compromise with flagrant evils, is it possible the offerings might decrease and some edifices go unbuilt? . . . Some critics are quick to explain that this is the fault of the ambitious pastors. But are they necessarily to blame when they know that most churches looking for a new minister ask first about his (statistical) record? Maybe the time has come for some of the churches in our communities to grow a little by losing some of their fringe members. Maybe the man on the street would take the churches a little more seriously if they showed as much interest in building Christian character as in erecting costly cathedrals.

Questions and Answers On Social Security

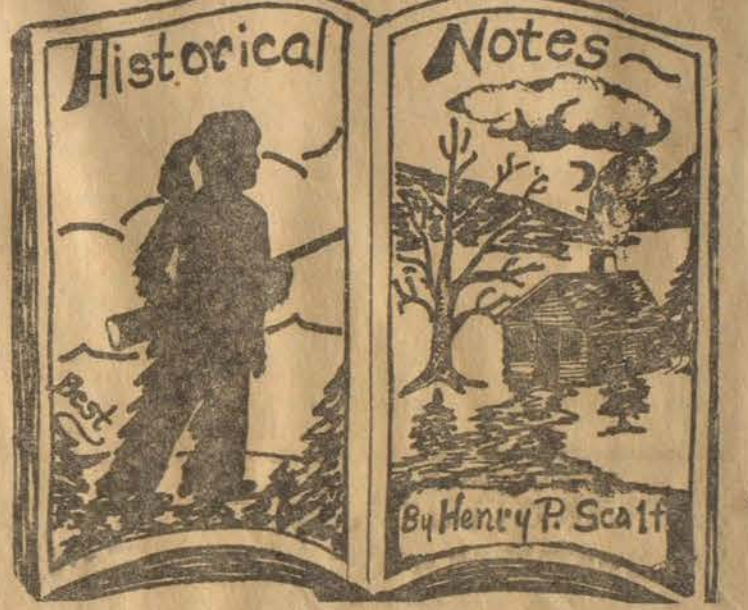

From Belfry, Kentucky, a woman asks:
Q. What type of record do I need to prove my age?
A. Usually any public record made a number of years ago, preferably one which shows your year, month, and day of birth. It need not be a birth certificate. Other records may be used: baptismal record, census record, voter's registration record, marriage record, a child's birth certificate which shows your age, or family Bible record. . . . A man from Hurley, Virginia inquired:
Q. Recently I got a statement of my social security record. Some of my wages for the past two years were not credited to my account. How can I straighten this out?
A. Visit the social security offices as soon as possible. Bring your withholding statements (Form W-2) for the wages not credited. If you do not have a Form W-2, bring any receipts or other evidence of wages. We'll be glad to help you get all your earnings on the record. . . . A man from West Van Lear wanted to know:
Q. I got a statement of my social security record and understand that I am "fully insured." Does this mean I'll collect the maximum payment when I retire?
A. No. Your retirement check will be based on your average earnings, not just the length of time you have worked. . . . From Prestonsburg writes a man:
Q. Just to settle an argument, could you tell me when social security first went into effect?
A. It depends on what you mean by going into effect. The original social security bill was signed into law on August 14, 1935. However, it was not until January 1, 1937, that earnings covered by the program were subject to the social security tax. Monthly benefit payments began in 1940. . . . A man from Oil Springs has asked:
Q. Were social security taxes raised this year?
A. No. The tax rate remains the same as it was in 1963—3% percent on the first $4,800 an employee earns each year. . . . The worker's employer must pay an equal amount. If you happen to be a self-employed person, the tax rate is 5.4 percent of your yearly earnings up to $4,800. . . . A woman from Pikeville writes:
Q. I had to quit work several months ago because of a severe disability and cannot leave my home. How can I see about getting disability benefits?
A. Just call or write the social security office nearest you and arrangements will be made to see you at your home. . . . If you have a question, the social security representative, located in the Employment Office in Prestonsburg, every Tuesday, will be glad to assist you. . . . FRALEY IN GERMANY
Murnau, Germany—Pvt. Philip E. Fraley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fraley, of Printer, Kentucky, completed a four-week wheeled vehicle maintenance course at the U. S. Army School, Europe, in Murnau, Germany, July 17. . . . During the course Fraley received instruction in maintenance procedures related to engines, power trains, chassis units, and fuel and electric systems. . . . The 20-year-old soldier, a mechanic in Company D, 82nd Engineer Battalion near Bamberg, entered the Army in December, 1963. He completed basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, was last stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, and arrived overseas in March, 1964. . . . Fraley attended Maytown high school, Langley.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week Brig. Gen. E. A. Paine of the Union Army assumed command at Paducah and began what Collins' "History of Kentucky" described as "a fifty-one days' reign of violence, terror, rapine, extortion, oppression, bribery, and military murders." . . . Hall Allen, of Paducah, in his excellent book, "Center of Conflict," says Paine's rule in Western Kentucky was in some respects "more corrupt, more stringent and generally more objectionable than the reign of General Ben (Beast) Butler in New Orleans. He immediately levied a tax of $100,000 on the Purchase area, claiming it was for the benefit of soldiers' families. Few, if any, received any of the money. . . . "He arrested many persons—banished many from Kentucky. He was known to have put to death five persons, and was suspected of killing at least forty during his mad reign. He seized the rents from property of suspected persons—and anyone who had property to rent was suspected in the eyes of the general. He ordered a search of all homes in Paducah and Mayfield, confiscated all money and valuables he found. Deciding that McCracken county was a hotbed of Southern sympathy, Paine assessed the citizens a total of $95,000 over and above the widows and orphans tax. When citizens could not pay, their property was confiscated." . . . No one could conduct any kind of business without a permit signed by Gen. Paine. There was no fixed fee for such a permit; he charged whatever the traffic would bear. There was a fee of 50 cents each on all bank checks, and on all letters, papers and parcels leaving Paducah. It soon became known that when Paine ordered private property confiscated, the order would be revoked if the owner gave Paine a sufficient sum. "There is no telling how much money General Paine pocketed in this manner," Hall Allen says. Paine was in command from July 19 to September 9. . . . During the week under review, two young men were removed from a military prison at Louisville and taken to Henderson and shot to death in retaliation for the shooting of James E. Rankin (Rankin recovered and refused to accept any part of $18,000 which had been forcibly collected from his neighbors to reimburse him for losses he had suffered at the hands of guerrillas.) . . . During this period, in preparation for an election set for August 1, some "Unconditional Union" (Republican) candidates supplied the military with the names of men they wanted arrested and held until after the election, so as to make it easier for the Unconditional Union candidates to win. Collins says the arrests were made. . . . A man named Robinson was killed by guerrillas at his home on Eagle Creek, in Scott county, near the Owen county line. Gen. Burbridge sent a detail of Federal soldiers there with a prisoner whom they killed in retaliation.

SOLOMON STRATTON
Solomon Stratton, soldier with Gen. George Rogers Clark on the Illinois Expedition in 1778, is honored with a historical highway marker at Stanville. The marker, titled The Stratton Settlement, is on U. S. 23 approximately 300 feet from his unmarked grave. . . . A letter from Hubert A. Lowman, 3332 North Corrida Drive, Covina, California, adds considerably to the record on Solomon Stratton, ancestor of thousands of Eastern Kentuckians. . . . He sends "A List of A Company of Militia In The County of Montgomery," recorded on Page 91, Revolutionary War Records Book, Montgomery and Fincastle counties, Virginia, 1775-1783. . . . The list of militiamen follow:
"James Moore, captain; George Peery, first lieutenant; William McGuyer, second lieutenant; Saml. Ferguson, insian; Sutherland Mayfield, sergeant; Solomon Struton, sergeant (spelling of record retained); Wm. Brown; Wm. Kidd; John Peery, not fit; John Simpson, not fit; John Howel Jones; James Cartmill, not fit; Thomas Poage; John Compton Junr.; Nathaniel Man; Thomas Wiley, deserter; Absolom Statorf; Wm Davidson, not fit; Jas. Shannon; John Compton, Senr., not fit; Jas. Mayfield; Wm. Peery; Lou Brown; Wm. Watter; Shered Atkins; Robt. Poage; Jno. English; Jno. Corder; John Lasley; John McGuyer; Uriah Stone. . . . "Under eighteen years of age, Henry Cartmill, under age; Robt. Lasley, under age; Joseph Davidson, under age, 27 to be drafted." . . . The list is signed by John Moore, captain. . . . Mr. Lowman, in an accompanying letter, wrote:
"It is my opinion that Solomon Stratton, sixth in the first column, refers in reality to Solomon Stratton, father of Esther Stratton McGuire, Henry Stratton and others. I am familiar with many of the families represented in this roster and all lived on or near Bluestone Creek, Tazewell county, Virginia, which was part of Montgomery county, Virginia, during the Revolution. Land records of the area show unquestionably that Solomon Stratton lived there also during the Revolution. . . . "Tazewell County Deed Book, page 255, shows that Cornelius McGuire and Esther, his wife, of Floyd county, Kentucky, sold 73 acres of land in 1806 which was part of a tract of land patented to Solomon Stratton of two hundred and forty-five acres, bearing date the 25th day of January, 1793, lying and being situated in the county of Tazewell on both sides of Bluestone Creek. . . . The description indicates the land bounded that of James Shannon, also on Capt. Moore's roster. To give an idea of the time lag before patents issued, I have in my possession copies from the Virginia State Library of two patents given to John Compton, Sr., in March, 1783, one piece which John had surveyed in 1783, one in 1784. Stratton doubtless had his land surveyed about the same time. . . . "By record the McGuires were on Bluestone well before the Revolution, and doubtless that's where Esther Stratton met Cornelius McGuire, their marriage being a matter of record in Montgomery county, Dec. 29, 1787. With a daughter old enough to marry in 1787, Solomon must have been over 30 years old, probably near 40 during the Revolution, the logical age to have been sergeant in Capt. Moore's company. Finally, it would seem just too much of a coincidence that there would be both a Solomon Stratton and Solomon Stratton the same age in the same neighborhood. . . . "Of course, in those days, a man settled on unclaimed land first, then made his improvements, had surveys made, etc. You'll note Capt. Moore's muster roll is not dated, but the company had to have to be formed by September 1, 1778, when the County Court petitioned the Governor to find George Peery and William McGuire 'proper persons' to serve as lieutenants in the company. . . . "You referred in your Floyd County Times article to the 'long life' of Cornelius McGuire and how he 'was worn and unable to travel' to minister to his pioneer flock in 1809. It ties in with all the records (though not proved by them) that Cornelius McGuire was born about or by 1740. He would have been in his late 30's during the Revolution, having been about 25 when Eleanor McGuire was born. He would have been in his late 40's when he married a second time in 1787 and about 70 when he died about 1810."

one grower said his one-half acre plot was bringing in about $50 every two days, which he said "wasn't bad at all."

At current prices, a grower can reasonably expect to receive about half as much from cucumbers as from tobacco on the same amount of land, judging from the experience of these farmers. This difference in income, of course, is offset by the fact that growing cucumbers requires less effort and expense than growing tobacco, Davis notes.

Another advantage to growing cucumbers is that the land isn't tied up for so long a period as with many other farm crops. According to Davis, it is only 12 weeks from seed to pickle—then the land can be used for some other crop. The cucumber market also comes at a slack season of the year, providing ready cash when harvest time for other cash crops is still several weeks or months away.

Kentucky now has a total of 1,670 acres of cucumbers, but the market could easily take care of 1,000 more acres without threatening current prices, Davis says. Prices now range from seven cents per pound downward, depending on size and quality. He also noted that, while the general Kentucky average in income from each acre is between $300 and $400, some growers receive as much as $1,000 per acre from cucumbers.

"We hope that this supplemental income from cucumbers in producing areas of the state will encourage additional production next year," Davis concludes.

Mabrey Hayes said this week that he is the owner of the Sea Cafe, that the liquor haul was not made from the Sea Cafe building and that it has not been rented since a raid was staged there in April of last year. He added that he had inspected his property to determine if it had been occupied without his knowledge and that there was no evidence of such occupancy.

A deed recorded in the County Clerk's office here shows that Hayes acquired the property August 25, 1952, from R. M. and Susie Barnett.

I insist on knowing what it is — I'm tempted to rush to the telephone and call the wife to inform her that all, after all, isn't lost. But I'm stopped, dead in my tracks, when he tells me the name of this wonder-chemical.

"They call it Goldwater," he said.

EXPERT OPINION

This isn't in the same vein, but it may have political overtones. It has to do with the gentleman of color who was found dead in a Deep South backwoods, his body punctured with exactly 43 bullets.

The victim was taken to the nearest funeral home, there prepared for early burial, and officiation was called into the case — the coroner, the judge and, finally, the sheriff. All had taken a peek at the evidences of disaster which the Negro had met, all except the sheriff. Then they took him in, lifted the sheet and the sheriff took a long look.

"What do you think of that? — shot 43 times!"

The sheriff nudged at his mustache, ran his thumb around his badge a time or so, then spoke his piece:

"Ah've been sheriff of this heah county 25 years, and Ah've seen lotsa men shot and killed. But, Ah tell ye, men, this is the worst case of suicide I ever saw!"

HIT DON'T

Friend of mine was delegated by a colleague to do a bit of writing, because, he admitted, "you turn a nice phrase."

"Yep," replied the other, "hit don't hurt none to know grammar."

Arthur Hughes Injured In Automobile Mishap

Arthur Hughes, Prestonsburg automobile dealer, was released Saturday from the Prestonsburg General hospital following treatment for injuries received in a collision with another car at the intersection of U. S. 23 with the park road. The accident occurred Thursday, last week.

Bill Greer, of East Point, driver of the other car was not seriously hurt, it is said.

Hughes suffered multiple cuts, chiefly on the head.

174 OIL LEASES FILED

A total of 174 oil and gas leases had been filed for record in the office of the Morgan county clerk up until Wednesday. A scramble for leases is underway prompted by rumors of a deep test well soon to be drilled somewhere nearby and by expectations that the Trempealeau sand may extend south into Kentucky.

Parks Increase Value Of Property In Area, Reader's Digest Notes

Land often has greater economic value as a park than as a building site and local efforts to preserve what remains of our natural landscape are worthwhile, writes James Nathan Miller in an August Reader's Digest article, "Conservation Is Everybody's Battle."

He cites the successful four-year fight of Ruth Rusch, nature writer and conservation chairman of the Ossining Women's Club, to preserve a tidal marsh called George's Island in the Hudson River, an hour's drive from New York City. The Westchester Park Commission bought the property at the last minute.

One of the principal arguments for despoiling nature is the "get-it-on-the-tax-rolls" plea.

The fact is, says Miller, is that many parks, by increasing the value of the "influenced" land around them, actually produce more total taxes than they wipe off the books. A century ago, when New York's Central Park was set aside, the value of the adjoining real estate multiplied eightfold in 15 years, while the rest of the land in the city merely doubled in worth.

In New Jersey's Union county, Warnanco Park paid for itself in five years by bringing in an additional $1.2 million taxes from the surrounding neighborhood — an amount equal to the cost of the park's acquisition and development.

"Thus," writes Miller, "a park may make economic sense on a cold cost-accounting basis, even before you figure in its real worth: as an island of green for recreation and the contemplation of nature."

United States Lagging In Cutting Mortality Of Infants, Says Doctor

With 25.3 of 1,000 babies dying in the first year of life, the United States infant-death rate is higher than that of 10 other countries and is "a national disgrace." So reports Dr. David D. Rutstein in an August Reader's Digest article, "Why Do We Let These Babies Die?"

Dr. Rutstein is head of the Harvard Medical School's Department of Preventive Medicine.

Figures for other countries are: Sweden and The Netherlands 15.3; Norway 17.9; Finland 19.2; Denmark 20.1; New Zealand 20.3; Australia 20.4; Switzerland 21.2; England and Wales 21.4; and Czechoslovakia 22.5.

One factor in the U. S. rate, Dr. Rutstein believes, is "too liberal use of anesthesia and drugs" to relieve pain. "If these are used unwisely," he says, "the infant comes into the world blue, nearly lifeless, sound asleep. In many cases there is never an awakening."

As a killer, prematurity ranks among the first. A Boston study reveals that poor diet predisposes to premature births. Of babies born to women on excellent diets, 94 percent were found to be in good or superior condition. For women on the poorest diets, the percentage of healthy babies was a shockingly low eight percent.

Dr. Rutstein believes the same kind of campaign that successfully reduced maternal deaths in the United States can cut the infant-death rate.

Nut-Growing Is Viewed As Profitable; Seeds In Demand by State

Frankfort, Ky., July 30—Kentucky needs more nuts, and the State Department of Natural Resources will be happy to pay for them.

The kind they're interested in grow on trees — black walnuts, acorns, pine cones or balls, yellow poplar pods, etc. The seeds are needed for planting in the Division of Forestry's three tree seedling nurseries which annually produce 16 million seedlings used in reforestation.

The Division of Forestry recently agreed to experiment with the propagation of chinquapin trees. Arthur Hughes, Prestonsburg store manager, has offered to supply the nuts for use at the Morgan county nursery of the division. Hughes has been engaged in the propagation and preservation of the rare tree for years.

A tree seed improvement program is now under way to provide high quality seeds and develop new hybrid varieties especially suited to Kentucky. But until the seed orchards reach full development the state will have to buy seeds locally to keep up with the demand in the nurseries. State district foresters should be contacted for information.

County Clerks Requested To Notify Mrs. Stovall Of Voting Form Needs

Frankfort, Ky., July 30—Secretary of State Thebma Stovall has asked Kentucky county clerks by letter to notify her how many application forms they need to carry out new provisions of the absentee voting law passed by the 1964 General Assembly.

Since 1932, absentee registration had been restricted to members of the United States Armed Services on active duty.

The new provision is that spouses and dependents living with them may also register, as well as members of assisting religious groups and welfare agencies, and federal civilian employees residing outside the continental United States, and spouses and dependents.

Persons who do register by mail required under the law to "re-register in person" on returning to their home counties.

The last General Assembly also broadened the base for absentee voting by allowing persons to vote absentee if they were going to be away from their counties on business on election day. This privilege for the last two years had been restricted to members of the armed services and students.

The deadline is September 5 to register to vote in this year's November 3 election.

Cockney flower sellers outside London's Covent Garden Opera House smile for the prospective customers. The girls are rehearsing for "My Fair Lady," the hit musical to be presented by the Southern Illinois University Summer Music Theater in Shryock Auditorium at 8 p.m. on July 31. August 1 and 2. Members of the cast include, from left to right, Mrs. Dolores Cohen, of Columbus, Ohio, teacher of music at Garrett (Ky.) high school; Alta McClerren, of Florissant, Missouri; Jena Bray, of Camden, Tennessee, and Carolyn Strauss, of Webster Groves, Missouri. (Mrs. Cohen's husband is on the faculty of Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes.)

Boys who have been contacted by Coach Dixon by letter should report at the time indicated in the letter.

Bituminous Surfacing Jobs Awarded In Floyd By Highway Department

Frankfort, Ky., July 30—A contract for a group of bituminous concrete surfacing projects in Floyd county has been awarded by the Highway Department, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward has announced.

The group includes: The Prestonsburg-David-Magoffin county line road, 1.2 miles; the Buck's Branch road, 1.5 miles; the Prestonsburg-Water Gap-Allen road, four miles; the Prestonsburg-Bonanza road, four miles; and the Toler Creek road, two miles.

Mrs. Horn Appointed County Representative By Southern Council

Mrs. Eva Allen Horn has been selected as Floyd county representative by the Council of the Southern Mountains, Inc.

James D. Templeton, director of public relations for the Council, said, "We are very happy that Mrs. Horn has accepted the position of county representative for she will bring the people of Floyd county in closer touch with their fellows in the 247 upland counties in nine states."

Mrs. Horn will not only carry the concerns of this county to the larger fellowship of mountain workers but she will also be the channel of valuable help and information which the Council offers to the people of the highlands.

The Council of the Southern Mountains has been serving the area and the nation for more than a half-century. It is a voluntary, non-governmental and non-denominational fellowship of individuals and organizations in the fields of education, health, publications, community development, recreation, welfare, religion and related concerns. It is supported entirely by memberships and personal or organizational donations.

It does not operate as a unit in any area of public or social need but rallies a variety of agencies already organized for such purposes. Clinics, nurses, teachers, political office holders, ministers, doctors, folk singers and dancers, writers, artists, handcraftsmen and many others give and receive aid and collaboration through the Council.

Governor Proclaims '65 Homecoming Year; State Pride Emphasized

Governor Edward T. Breathitt has proclaimed the year 1965 as Kentucky Homecoming Year. In his July 10 proclamation he asks that "... all citizens, officials and organization aspects of today's Kentuckians absent from the Commonwealth a warm invitation to return in 1965 to their Kentucky home for a visit."

The Governor says that many aspects of today's Kentucky will be a great source of pride and pleasure to Kentuckians who return after a considerable absence. He referred to "... Our vastly improved highways, our enormous system of man-made lakes and the finest state park system in America."

He urged the Commonwealth's mayors, judges and governing bodies in general to issue similar proclamations and he offered the facilities of state government to help communities with their individual homecoming plans.

There'll be a lot of Colonels tying their string ties and combing their white goatees as they head for the home stretch come 1965.

It can be dangerous to string your catch to a rope fastened to your belt when fishing off a beach in waist-deep water. Don't invite trouble. Sharks may be in the vicinity. —Sports Afield.

Letcher Grand Jury Names H. LaViers, Jr. On Wounding Charge

Harry LaViers, Jr., of Irvine, of the South-East Coal Company, was indicted last week by the Letcher county grand jury on a charge growing out of labor troubles which occurred two years ago.

LaViers was charged with malicious striking and wounding with intent to kill. The bill alleged that he drove his truck into Calvin King, July 24, 1962.

The incident from which the charge arose occurred at the Goose Creek mine of South-East when picketing members of the United Mine Workers of America blocked LaViers' truck as he attempted to leave the mine.

King and another picket, Tom Bishop, were injured in the affair. Both received outpatient treatment at the Whitesburg hospital.

Newspaper accounts at the time the incident occurred said that LaViers stopped his truck as he came to the picket line, and a picket jumped on the running board and smashed the windshield with a rock.

LaViers himself was struck on the head with a soft drink bottle, and a passenger, Raymond Smith, was hit in the eye by glass when the windshield was broken. LaViers said he escaped injury from the blow on the head because he was wearing a mining hat.

LaViers said he had not expected pickets to try to stop his truck because four state policemen were standing at the road. He said many pickets were armed with knives and he feared for his life. He said he started his truck up and drove through the pickets after he heard some pickets shout, "Get those two guys out of that cab."

Pickets said LaViers had shifted his truck into low gear but had not stopped it.

Louisa Library Opens As 13th Institution; Mrs. Greer Appointed

Kentucky's 13th library region is open for business with headquarters in Louisa, State Librarian Margaret Willis has reported. The name, Big Sandy Library Region, has been proposed, she said.

The surrounding counties of Martin, Carter, Elliott and Boyd may be added to the region as they apply and qualify. Miss Willis said.

Mrs. Pearl H. Greer, a former Louisa teacher who holds the bachelor's degree in library science from Peabody College under its five-year library science program, heads the new region as regional librarian.

Presently, the regional library is housed in the birthplace of the late chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court Fred M. Vinson, who was born in Louisa when his father was the county jailer. Books now circulate from the former jail, located below the family living quarters upstairs. The American Legion, which leases the property from Lawrence county, has restored it and made space available to the regional library until completion of a new building.

Miss Willis said that Lawrence County Judge J. J. Jordan has ordered preliminary sketches of the proposed new library building.

In this sale we go 'way, 'way back to Pioneer Days. And in this sale there hangs a tale—a bear's tail, if you will pardon the pun.

More than a hundred years ago, David Cooley, father-in-law of Isaac Richmond, operated a General Store here in Prestonsburg. He was the great-great-grandfather of the present I. Richmond Store manager.

In those early days of this, the oldest of Floyd county businesses, Mr. Cooley owned a bear which he kept chained to a tree on the property where the store was located on First Avenue here, a few doors away from the site of the present store. It was his custom in those days to invite home with him for lunch all customers who happened to be in the store at the noon hour. The invitation was usually accepted, and store and bear were left unattended.

On one such occasion Mr. Cooley and his friends returned to the store to find the bear had broken his chain and was inside the building. Since he kept sugar in a barrel, the whereabouts of the bear was no mystery. They found the barrel overturned and the bear helping himself to its contents.

As a result of this incident, Mr. Cooley staged Prestonsburg's first sale—a sale of the sugar from the barrel, at bargain prices.

And now, a century later, we go 'way back to the bear and his bit of history to tilt over for our customers and friends barrels and barrels of bargains in our Semi-Annual Sale.

RENOWNED UK PROFESSOR HEADED TWO DEPARTMENTS

One of the most distinguished and colorful professors ever to grace the University of Kentucky faculty was the late Dr. William S. Webb.

At his retirement from active teaching in 1952, Dr. Webb had been associated with the University, either as student or faculty member, for well over half of the institution's then 87 years. He had gained national renown both as a physicist and an archaeologist and was one of the few men in UK history ever to serve simultaneously as head of two of its academic departments.

Dr. Webb died last winter. In a tribute to him at the annual dinner of the UK College of Arts and Sciences, Dean Martin M. White told one of the stories that is frequently related whenever former students and colleagues of Dr. Webb gather. It aptly illustrates the tenacity and determination for which the longtime UK professor was noted.

Dr. Webb had served as an "Army" officer in World War I, and when the United States became involved in the Second World War he again offered his services. He was rejected on grounds that he was over age.

But the Army had not heard the last of William S. Webb. Never one to be lightly rebuffed, he took his case to Washington where a panel of generals was convened to hear his appeal. Dr. Webb pointed out that he had successfully passed a physical examination which had proved too exacting for countless men many years his junior. And after all, he argued, he was just two years over the age limit for active senior officers.

Finally, as Dean White tells it, one of the generals said to the stubborn Kentucky patriot: "Listen, old man, it isn't the two years that are keeping you out of the Army, but the sixty that went before."

KENTUCKY NEWS MEDIA REPRESENTATIVES MEET

BY EDWARD T. BREATHITT

Frankfort, Ky. — On July 19 some 200 representatives of Kentucky's news media gathered here for the first statewide news conference I have held.

Some of my predecessors, I have been told, were given a rough going-over by inquiring reporters at similar affairs. Maybe my guests were being lenient on a first-year man.

Whatever the reason, I am thankful.

It could have been because I told them at the very start with sincerity, that:

"I have a deep respect for the ladies and gentlemen who contribute weekly and daily to our newspapers, our radio stations, and our television stations. Their work to keep the public informed is an important public service."

That is why I held a statewide news conference and invited representatives of all our news media to attend. I wanted them to have the opportunity to state government operations directly to me and to the members of my cabinet. And, at the same time, I wanted to benefit from the thinking of Kentucky's newsmen because in a very real sense they are the representatives of the people and take a daily reading of the public pulse in every community in Kentucky.

While the news media were extremely generous, as usual, in their coverage of the conference, some might have neglected to include this gubernatorial observation:

"If I were to summarize the objectives of Kentucky's government during the next three years in a single phrase—I would say it is a better opportunity for every Kentuckian to realize his full potential."

Many phases of the conference were adequately covered, such as State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward's declaration that the main problem of his department was the need of more money to build more roads.

State Parks Commissioner Robert Bell made a point when he said the $4.5 million earmarked for parks in the proposed 1965 bond issue could be doubled with matching federal funds if Congress passes the Land and Water Conservation Bill now pending.

On the day of the news conference I issued a proclamation designating 1965 as "Kentucky's Homecoming Year."

Many thousands of Kentuckians are now residing in other states. Some of them have been away for several years, even decades. Kentucky has improved during their absence.

I asked, in my proclamation, that all mayors, judges and governing bodies join me in inviting these absent Kentuckians to come back for a visit next year.

I invited and urged all citizens and civic organizations to prepare community ceremonies throughout the Commonwealth to welcome appropriately those who return.

I would have them know that now, as always in Kentucky, the women are the most beautiful, the men the handsomest, the skies the fairest, the songbirds the sweetest, and the landscape the grandest.

Your health is your fortune. Protect it with a health checkup.

BETHANY CHILDREN'S HOME

Bethany, Wolfe County, Ky.

FOUNDED 1926

By Miss Marjorie Burt

In This Unused Log House

In the summer of 1926 the nucleus of Bethany Children's Home was a windowless log cabin. Today, through the faith of its founder and the service of its dedicated workers, it has grown to seventeen buildings and extends Christian care and service to needy children.

During the first eight years Miss Burt and her associates traveled by mule team over many miles of rocky mountain roads to bring a message of hope. The success of the home is, as its founder said, "a monument to a compassionate God who hears and answers prayers."

The First National Bank salutes the Bethany Children's Home for its Christian service.

PIKEVILLE NEWSPAPER

A Pikeville newspaper, dated October 10, 1900, was brought to this column by "Red" Thompson that poses a problem in identification for the name plate streamer was torn off. Does anyone know the name of the paper? Governor W. O. Bradley had just entered the gubernatorial race in Kentucky and the paper headlined, "W. O. Bradley Enters the Campaign." Incidentally, he was elected.

MEAD AND LYNCH FAMILIES

A letter from Mrs. Pricy M. Smith, 715 Franklin Avenue, Belpre, Ohio, contributes information on the Mead and Lynch families.

"I am enclosing a picture of my maternal grandmother and her two brothers, John and Thomas Mead, taken many years ago. (The picture was run recently in The Times).

"Grandmother Katherine Mead married William Lynch, my grandfather. They lived in the Rock House section. (Presumably Martin county). They raised a family there. In 1883 my father took my mother to see her parents and their family. My father and mother lived in Kanawha county, West Virginia, then.

"My mother was Sarah Ellen Lynch. Her sister was Bell Lynch (Scott). Andrew Scott was her husband. They had a son, Axton Scott, and a son, Mansford Scott, whom I remember seeing in 1838, I went to see Uncle Andrew in 1949. He was 94 years old. I lived with his son, Axton, at that time. Aunt Belle had passed away a year earlier.

"I visited another sister, Onelle Mullen, at the same time. She was 84 years old. I lived with her son, Elax Mullen, in the Rock House section, also.

"Rhodes Lynch and Columbus Lynch, brothers of mine, lived in the Rock House section and reared their families there. Robert Lynch moved from that section to Wayne county, West Virginia and died there. I saw him in 1895. I was ten years old.

"I visited Columbus Lynch in 1948. R. M. Kidd, my half-brother, a sister, and my son and his wife toured a week, looking up relatives. I found a picture of my mother that I had always hoped to find. She died in 1892, left an 11-day-old daughter, Marinda Katherine, named for Grandmother Lynch, Grandmother Marinda Williamson Smith, daughter of Richard and Jane Williamson Smith, daughter of Richard and Jane Williamson, my paternal grandmother.

"Perhaps there are some people who can give me some information on the Lynch and Mead families."

BLACKWELL FAMILY

A letter from Mrs. R. E. Black, 5217 N. Hudson, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is a request for help in locating members of the Blackwell or Freeman family.

She writes: "Benjamin Blackwell and Eleanor ('Nellie') Freeman had six children. They were three girls and three boys. The boys were Joseph, William, and James. The names of the girls are unknown. "I would like to correspond with someone who can give me information on the family."

THE FLOYD FAMILY

William Ely, in his book, The Big Sandy Valley, stated that the founder of Warfield, Martin county, was Gov. John B. Boyd and brothers of Virginia. This column had always accepted that as true without research but when it was proposed to erect a historical highway marker to the memory of George Rogers Clark Floyd as the founder of Warfield I wrote Rufus Reed, Lovely, Kentucky, if some one could be in error.

It seems there is no error. Reed sent my letter to W. A. Wentworth, director of the highway marker program, who wrote this column:

"You quote from the book, The Big Sandy Valley, by William Ely in which, on page 27, he says that Warfield was started by Gov. John B. Floyd and brothers. It also indicates that Governor Floyd was a prime mover and lived in Warfield for a time. We saw this item but we relied on two other references for our conclusion that it was George Rogers Clark Floyd who was the prime mover with John Warfield in starting operations at the town of Warfield.

"These two references are The Dictionary of American Biography and Floyd Biographical Genealogies. Without quoting specifically, these two references indicate that John Buchanan Floyd, born 1806 or 1807, graduated in law in South Carolina and went to Arkansas to practice law and raise cotton. He lost all of his investments in Arkansas and returned to Abingdon, Virginia, in 1837, where he commenced the practice of law again.

"He had an indebtedness of $30,000 which he paid off, so that by 1848 he had paid everything except $1,200. He paid this last off within a year then slackened his strenuous practice of law and was elected to the state legislature. Before this term expired, he was elected Governor of Virginia in 1851. In 1855-1861 he was Secretary of War under President Buchanan and then entered the Confederate Army. It just does not seem possible that he had either the time or the finances to become involved in any substantial way, at least, in the Warfield operation.

"The local tradition has it that George Rogers Clark Floyd with John Warfield started operations in about 1850. This George Rogers Clark Floyd was a brother of John Buchanan Floyd, Governor, Secretary of War, and CSA general. He was a son of Gov. Floyd who was elected in 1830. The Floyd genealogy states that George Rogers Clark Floyd married and reared a family in the mountain region of Virginia, now West Virginia. George Rogers Clark Floyd and John Buchanan Floyd had five brothers but little seems to be known about the others.

"No doubt you are familiar with Floyd's Station which was established in what is now Jefferson county. Col. John Floyd associated with George Rogers Clark and was killed by the Indians in 1783. His widow returned to Virginia with their two sons, George Rogers Clark Floyd and John Floyd, the latter being the one elected governor of Virginia in 1830."

Kentucky Teenagers Win Bible Quiz, Announced; Defeat Toronto, Canada

Winona Lake, Ind.—Seven teenagers from Southeastern Kentucky have won the North American Bible-quiz championship at the 20th annual convention of Youth for Christ International.

Officials of the contest have long been accustomed to facing winners from such cities as Minneapolis, San Diego, and St. Louis, and it was a surprising switch to be confronted with champions from Beattyville, Booneville, Cow Creek and Lost Creek.

The Kentuckians coasted to the championship with a 210-to-30 victory over Toronto in the semifinals and a 150-to-130 victory over Seattle in the finals. They had entered the Winona Lake competition after working their way through the regional quiz contest at Toccoa Falls, Georgia.

Some 7,000 teenagers watched them win the championship. In accepting the trophy, the team's 18-year-old captain, Blanche Watts, of Lost Creek in Breathitt county, said:

"We're going to take this trophy back to Southeastern Kentucky and use it to the glory of the Lord. And, to celebrate this victory, I'm going to tie a blue ribbon around my cow's neck."

Others on the team were Becky Lewis, 16, Joe Brandenburg, 16, and John Brown, 16, all of Beattyville, Lee county; Edward Napier, 17, of Booneville, Owsley county; Joyce Moore, 17, of Cow Creek, Owsley county, and Wesley Frye, 15, of Lost Creek.

Their coach was Bill Lewis, of Beattyville.

For the young Kentuckians, it was a Cinderella story, but it was founded on hard work. Their approach to the contest bordered on the scientific.

In preparation for the quizzing, they attempted to master the contents of the Bible books of First Corinthians, Philemon, and Jonah, and the eight chapters of Genesis. Going further, they specialized in six chapters each and alphabetized many of the verses according to first words.

No doubt, some luck was involved in their answers to "finish-this-verse" questions, but their preparations obviously paid off.

Once, after the quiz master started a verse with the word "I . . ." Miss Watts correctly finished it: ". . . have planted, Apollon's water; but God gave the increase." Others finished verses after hearing only "And . . ." and "Yea . . ."

And the quizzers had 700 verses to choose from!

Highway Toll Revenue Highest Ever Collected

Frankfort, Ky., July 30—Revenue from Kentucky's highway-toll facilities totaled $636,716 during June, the Department of Highways reports.

The revenue, an increase of $37,173 over May and $259,694 over June of last year, was the highest ever collected in one month from the facilities.

The Western Kentucky Parkway, not open in June, 1963, accounted for $148,379 of the record-high revenue last month. In Jefferson county, $3,397 was collected at the northbound ramp on the Kentucky Turnpike at the Outer Loop, and $7,178 at the southbound ramp.

The Department reported these gross receipts for June of 1963 and 1964:

Shawneetown Bridge, $25,516 compared with $26,054 in June last year; Kentucky Turnpike, $352,794 compared with $278,373; Mountain Parkway, $30,024 compared with $42,594, and Western Kentucky Parkway, $148,379.

An Ordinance of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Amending Ordinance No. 11-64, Adopted and Approved On June 2, 1964, Solely for the Purpose of Correcting an Error in the Designation of the Bank To Serve As Paying Agent and Depository Bank for the City's "City of Prestonsburg Improvement Assessment Bonds - Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964." Dated May 1, 1964.

WHEREAS, on the 2nd day of June, 1964, the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, adopted, and the Mayor approved, Ordinance No. 11-64 of said City, which provided for the issuance of $265,000.00 principal amount of the City's "Improvement Assessment Bonds - Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964" dated May 1, 1964; and

WHEREAS, said Ordinance provided for the appointment of The Bank Josephine, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as Paying Agent and as Depository Bank for various funds established under the terms of said Bond Ordinance; and

WHEREAS, the City Council had, before the adoption of said Bond Ordinance, rescinded its earlier instructions that The Bank Josephine be so appointed, and had substituted the First National Bank of Prestonsburg, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, but, through inadvertence, bond counsel engaged in drafting the aforesaid Bond Ordinance had not been notified of the change; and

WHEREAS, it is now the desire of the City Council to change the designation of these banks in the Bond Ordinance, and it has been informed by the Regional Office of the Housing and Home Finance Administration in Atlanta, Georgia, that the said Housing and Home Finance Administration, as the purchaser of the Bonds already sold, will consider accepting a change in the designation of said banks;

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, DOES HEREBY ORDAIN, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That, for the reasons stated in the preamble hereto, Ordinance No. 11-64 of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, adopted on the 2nd day of June, 1964, and entitled as follows:

"An Ordinance of the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, Authorizing the Issuance of $265,000 "City of Prestonsburg Improvement Assessment Bonds - Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964" In Order To Provide the Costs (To the Extent Funds Are Not Provided from Other Sources) of Constructing and Installing Certain Street and Sidewalk Improvements in Said City; Such Bonds To Be Issued in the Manner and Pursuant To the Authority Set Forth in Chapter 107 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes and To Be Payable As To Principal and Interest Solely from Annual Improvement Benefit Assessments To Be Made in Each Year Solely Against the Benefited Properties, As the Same Were Identified With Particularity in Ordinance No. 8-64, As Amended by Ordinance No. 9-64, Both Published As Provided by Law, and Now in Full Force and Effect, To Which Reference Is Hereby Made for Particular Identification of Said Properties; Such Annual Improvement Benefit Assessments To Be Made According To The "Assessed Value Basis" As Described in Said Chapter 107 and To Be Apportioned in the Manner Set Forth in Ordinance No. 8-64, As Amended by Ordinance No. 9-64; And Providing for An Advertised Public Competitive Sale of Said Bonds."

is hereby amended in Section 9 and Section 10 to substitute the name The First National Bank of Prestonsburg in place of the name The Bank Josephine, so that as amended, said sections will read as follows:

"SECTION 9. There is hereby created a special fund (herein sometimes called the "Sinking Fund"), separate and apart from all other funds, accounts, and moneys of the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd county, Kentucky, designated as the "City of Prestonsburg Improvement Assessment Bond and Interest Redemption Fund - Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964," the same to be maintained and deposited from time to time in The First National Bank of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Depository Bank"). There shall be deposited in said Sinking Fund, as received from time to time accrued interest, the sum hereinabove provided to be set aside from Bond proceeds for payment of interest during construction, and all proceeds of the special improvement assessments levied by this Ordinance, and the said Fund shall at all times be maintained separate and apart from all other funds and revenues of the said City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and the same shall be applied (except in so far as payment of the reasonable expense of assessing properties not subject to City taxation may be made therefrom) solely to the payment of principal of and interest on all Bonds authorized by this Ordinance as the same shall mature and become payable from time to time. Moneys deposited from time to time in said special Sinking Fund or account (to the extent in excess of the amount insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation) shall be secured by a valid pledge of bonds or notes of the United States Government, or bonds or notes unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States Government; equal at all times in market value to the amount of the deposit. All sums received from said special assessments and so deposited (except as to the expense of assessing tax-exempt benefited properties, as above set forth) are hereby irrevocably pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds authorized by this Ordinance, and shall never be applied for any other purpose. Balances may be invested and reinvested upon order of the City Council in direct obligations of the United States Government maturing or subject to redemption at the option of the holder not later than the respective dates when moneys will be required for payment of maturing principal of and interest on the Bonds.

"The City Council, acting as the governing body of said City, covenants and agrees that so long as any of the Bonds authorized by this Ordinance remain outstanding and unpaid, it will fully and completely comply and act in accordance with its Loan Agreement with Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States, identified as Project No. PEL-KY-648 (APW-KY-251GL), Contract No. H-302-2196, and will faithfully observe all of the terms and conditions of said Contract, including Special Conditions contained therein."

"SECTION 10. A separate and special account or fund of the City is hereby created in connection with the construction of the said "Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964," and the same shall be maintained in The First National Bank of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, separate and distinct from all other accounts and funds of the City, and the said account or fund is hereby designated the "City of Prestonsburg Street and Sidewalk Construction Fund of 1964," (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Construction Fund").

"When the Bonds authorized by this Ordinance have been delivered and paid for, the total accrued interest which may be received by the City from the purchaser or purchasers of the Bonds, together with the sum of $8,000, as noted in SECTION 8 hereof, shall be deposited immediately in the "City of Prestonsburg Improvement Assessment Bond and Interest Redemption Fund - Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964." All temporary financing obligations of the City to Housing and Home Finance Agency and/or to any bank or person, both principal and interest, shall next immediately be paid (principal to be paid from Bond proceeds, and interest, including previous interest payments heretofore defrayed from interim loans, to be paid from the "Sinking Fund"), and all evidences of such interim financing shall be cancelled forthwith.

"The entire balance of the proceeds of the Bonds shall be deposited in the Construction Fund to be maintained, as aforesaid, in the Depository Bank, and there shall further be deposited therein all grant moneys received from the United States Government for the "Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964." The aggregate of all of such moneys shall constitute a special fund to be applied, to the extent necessary, in paying the costs of acquiring, constructing, and installing the Project, and in paying reasonable expenses incurred in the issuance of the Bonds, including administrative and legal expenses. A true and accurate separate accounting shall be made of all deposits in and disbursements from said Construction Fund, and as aforesaid, at no time shall there be any commingling with other moneys of the said City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky. It is hereby recognized and acknowledged that the sum of $5,700.00 has been agreed upon as a proper charge for the Government's field expense in connection with the over-all "Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964," as set forth in the Loan Agreement with Housing and Home Finance Agency, hereinabove identified, and the City Treasurer is authorized to draw upon the Construction Fund to pay such sum therefrom. Thereafter, disbursements from the Construction Fund to be made by checks drawn by the City Treasurer, but only (except as to expenses incurred in the issuance of the Bonds) where such checks are accompanied by vouchers in such form and detail as the Treasurer may require, approved by the Regional Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States of America, or by such representative as he shall designate, (so long as said Agency may hold any of said Bonds), to the effect that the respective amounts of such checks represent sums duly earned by and payable to parties under the terms and provisions of a contract of the City for said Project or Bond issue. Pending expenditure such proceeds shall be deposited in the Depository Bank, as aforesaid, and each such deposit, to the extent it causes the aggregate deposits of the City therein to be in excess of the amount insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, shall be secured by a surety bond or bonds furnished by a surety company or companies qualified to do business in Kentucky and approved by the City Council, or obligations as to which the payment of principal and interest are guaranteed by the United States Government, having a market value equivalent to such deposit. If at any time there shall be on deposit in said Construction Fund moneys in excess of the estimated disbursements on account of the Project for the next ninety (90) days, the City Council reserves the right to direct that the Depository Bank invest such excess funds in direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by, the United States Government, which shall mature not later than eighteen (18) months after the date of such investment and which shall be subject to redemption at any time by the holder thereof. Earnings received from any such investments shall be deposited by the City in the Construction Fund.

"In the event that any unexpended balance shall remain in said Construction Fund after completion of the Project and payment of all of the costs thereof, as certified by the Consulting Engineers with the concurrence of the Regional Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States of America, or such person as such Administrator may designate, such unexpended balance shall be transferred and deposited in a special account in the Sinking Fund, hereinbefore created, and shall be used at the earliest practicable date, for the redemption of Bonds (or prepayment of principal of any Bond issued in Fully Registered Form), in accordance with the terms thereof, or by purchase at not to exceed the applicable redemption or prepayment price, plus accrued interest to the date of redemption. Any balance then remaining shall be deposited in the regular Sinking Fund. If Bonds are not legally redeemable (or principal payable in advance of maturity, in the event of a Fully Registered Bond), and same cannot be purchased or negotiated for retirement upon such terms, the entire amount of the unexpended balance shall be deposited in the regular Sinking Fund."

SECTION 2. The designation of The Bank Josephine, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as the Paying Agent for the Bonds authorized by the aforesaid Ordinance No. 11-64 is hereby rescinded, and The First National Bank of Prestonsburg, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, is hereby designated as Paying Agent for said Bonds, and the bond forms contained in the aforesaid Ordinance in substantial form, but subject to minor variation, are recognized to require alteration to effect the purposes of this Ordinance, and the Mayor and the City Clerk, and bond counsel acting for the City, are herewith specifically instructed to require the printer of the Bonds to substitute the name of The First National Bank of Prestonsburg for the name The Bank Josephine wherever the latter name appears in the bond form as set out in the aforesaid Ordinance as the substantial form of the Bonds.

SECTION 3. Inasmuch as the sale of the Bonds to the Housing and Home Finance Administration has resulted in a contract being made with said Administration in accordance with the said Ordinance No. 11-64, the appropriate City officials and bond counsel are authorized and directed to submit this Ordinance to the aforesaid Housing and Home Finance Administration for the purpose of securing the approval thereof to the change in the form of the contract, and if the aforesaid Housing and Home Finance Administration fails or refuses to permit this variation in the terms of its contract with the City of Prestonsburg, it is hereby recognized that the City of Prestonsburg is bound by the terms of its contract as advertised and this Ordinance shall be ineffective for any purpose.

SECTION 4. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from its adoption and publication as provided by law.

LITTLE SHEPHERD TRAIL END OF DREAM FOR MANY

Frankfort, Ky., July 30—Hikers, riders or motorists, wanting to "get away from it all" this summer, may find Kentucky's Little Shepherd Trail the spot they are searching for.

Meandering along the top of Pine Mountain in Eastern Kentucky, the trail winds for 38 miles through the scenic mountain countryside chosen as a setting by John Fox, Jr. for his novel, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." Near the trail a new state park takes the name of Kingdom Come.

Fox chose this area of the Cumberland Mountains to write some of his most descriptive passages about the "Little Shepherd's" journey from Black Mountain over to Pine Mountain and eventually down the hills to the Kentucky River and the Blue Grass and embroilment in the great conflict of the Civil War.

The unchanged mountain scenery of the area today looks so much as it did in the era Fox wrote about, that modern-day visitors to the section often feel plunged back a hundred years into history.

The Little Shepherd Trail, maintained by the State Department of Natural Resources' Forestry Division, begins in Harlan county, a few miles north of Harlan on U. S. 421. It skirts the upper border of the Kentonias

Heart Clinic Slated At Pikeville, Aug. 5

A one-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent children will be held at the Pike County Health Department, Pikeville, Wednesday, August 5. The clinic will serve patients from Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties.

Guest consultants at the clinic will be Dr. Jacqueline A. Noonan and Dr. Jack Reeves, both from the University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington. Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association and state and county Health Departments, the clinic will provide a diagnostic service for the patient, along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It also will offer an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinician, regarding his patient.

Only those patients who have been referred by a physician and have a written referral will be admitted to the clinic.

Lexington, Ky. — Cut-a-way models of basement fallout shelters are being distributed throughout Kentucky now by the UK Agricultural Extension Service. Kenneth Evans, rural civil defense specialist, said a model will be sent each county agent. Already about 40 have been sent; the remaining 80 will be shipped as soon as possible, he said.

The cost of tuberculosis to the American people is approximately $225,000,000 annually.

"Do Not Be Afraid; I Am the First and the Last"

(Apocalypse 1:17)

PARADISE FOUND

"Paradise was lost but found
By the Holy Child Jesus of Bethlehem.
Who fared desperately from there to Calvary.
And brought heaven down to you and to me.
"Oh, rugged cross, oh, bloody
tree,
Where with He wrought His works
in me;
A finished work that wove my dress
Of His imputed righteousness.
"Now I am holy and most free,
Through the red blood of Calvary;
No other hope have I but CHRIST.
My risen Lord and Sacrifice.
"Infinite wisdom; Covenant love,
Which gave me Christ, gave me
the Lord above,
Promised mercy, SURETY, and Grace,
That which gave my soul this Hiding-place.
"This Hiding-place for the children of men,
Weary of SELF and tired of sin;
For them a safe, and sweet retreat
It's heaven, it's a home, it's CHRIST most sweet.
"Within a Hiding-place so good,
I'll fear no storm, I'll dread no
flood;

But smiling at the winds and waves,
I'll bless HIS NAME who loves
and saves.
"I'll sing of His blood, and freely relate
The story of my King and Advocate;
I'll maintain His good work, but
prove by my CREED,
It's heaven, it's a home, it's
CHRIST we need.
"I'll hope in the mercy, sing of
the grace,
Of heaven, my hope, heaven my
Hiding-place;
And this Hiding-place is no other
one but CHRIST,
It's my heaven, and my home—
PARADISE.
"Soon shall the trials of life be O'er
When I shall walk by Faith no more;
Then shall I be what I hoped to be.
A happy creature in ETERNITY.
"To be with CHRIST in heaven
above,
Is the ULTIMATE Promised in the Scripture of love;
No other heaven need I but
CHRIST.
The GREATEST name in PARADISE.

REFRAIN

The shepherds heard the angels sing
Of peace on earth—good will to men.
Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unjust man his thoughts, and let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him, and to our God; for He is bountiful to forgive (Isa. 55:6, 7); but flee
the cravings of youth and pursue justice, FAITH, CHARITY and Peace with those who call on the Lord from a pure heart (2 Tim. 2:22).
"Come, my soul, cast off despair,
To Gethsemane repair;
Hear the suffering SURETY cry,
"Father, let this cup pass by."
"Wrath divine upon Him lay,—
All His followers fled away,— Hear Him utter with a groan,
"Father, let Thy will be done."
"This was love beyond degree,
Jesus agonized for me,
Bore my guilt—tremendous load!
Saved me with His precious blood.
"Yes, my SAVIOUR suffered
thus.
To redeem me from the curse;
He hath vanquished death and hell.
I shall ever with Him dwell.
"Thy sinful debts to Jesus bring,
His payment makes thee JUST.
And of thy Surety think and sing,
And only in Him TRUST."
"For by grace you have been saved through faith; and that NOT from yourselves, for it is the GIFT of God; NOT as the outcome of works, lest anyone may boast, For His workmanship

we are, created in CHRIST Jesus in good works, which God has made already beforehand that we may walk in Him" (Eph. 2:3, 10). Grace deserved ceases to be grace, and must take the name of JUSTICE, losing both its name
and nature. Grace on CONDI-TIONS is no grace at all.

"Free grace is every CHRIST-IAN'S guide,
Come let us sound its fame;
It pours contempt on HUMAN pride,
And honours Jesus' NAME.

"This sacred river's rolling tide,
Bears down free-will, self-love,
and Pride;
Produces fruitfulness when given,
And then flows back to heaven."
Paul, before his miraculous conversion on the Damascus road, was a rabid LAW-teacher, but when he was stricken down to the earth by and through grace —"irresistible" Grace—he rose up an HUMBLE, yet UNCOM-PROMISING GOSPEL-preacher.
"Sin, like a venomous disease,
Infects our vital blood;
The only balm is sovereign grace,
And the physician, God.
"Madness by nature reigns,
The passions burn and rage;
Till God's own Son, with skill
divine,
The inward fire assuage.
"We lick the dust, we grasp the wind,
And solid good despise;
Such is the folly of the mind,
Till Jesus makes us wise.
"We bow our heads before THEE
and laud,
And magnify Thy name, Almighty
God!
But man is Thy most awful instrument,
In working out a pure intent."

Here are just a few of the many passages of Holy Scripture which prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that Paul (after his conversion) sought to cut self-righteousness, the secret POISON of Christianity, and the chief root of all sin, to the nth degree: "He who is just lives by FAITH (Rom. 1:17); Where then is thy boasting? It is excluded.
By what law? Of works? No, but by the law of Faith. For by the works of the law no Human being shall be justified before Him.
For through LAW comes the recognition of sin (Rom. 3:20, 27, 28); For those who rely on the works of the LAW are under a curse. For it is written, CURSED IS EVERY ONE who does not hold to all things that are written in the book of the LAW, to perform them. But that by the LAW no man is justified before God is evident, because he who is just lives by FAITH (Gal. 3:10, 11); As regards ZEAL, a persecutor of the Church of God;
as regards the justice of the LAW, leading a blameless life.
But the things that were gain to me, those for the sake of Christ, I have counted loss. Nay more I count everything loss because of the excellent knowledge of Jesus Christ, my Lord. For His sake I have suffered the loss of all things, and I count them as DUNG, that I may win
CHRIST and be found in HIM
NOT having a justice of my own which is from the LAW, but that which is from FAITH in CHRIST and the justice from God based upon Faith (Phil. 3:6, 9); He has redeemed us and CALLED us with a Holy calling, NOT ACCORD-ING TO OUR WORKS, but according to His OWN PURPOSE and the GRACE which was granted to us in CHRIST JESUS BEFORE THE WORLD EX-ISTED. (2 Tim. 1:9); Then NOT by reason of good works that we did ourselves, but according to His mercy, He saved us through the bath of Regeneration and renewal by the Holy Spirit (Titus 3:5); Having been JUSTIFIED therefore by FAITH, let us have peace with God THROUGH our Lord Jesus CHRIST (Rom. 5:1).
FOR He says to Moses, I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will show pity to whom I will show pity. So then there is question NOT of him who wills nor of him who runs,
but of God showing mercy (Rom.
9:15, 16); And without faith it is IMPOSSIBLE TO PLEASE God. For he who comes to God must BELIEVE that God exists and is a rewarder of those who seek Him (Heb. 11:6); He came unto His own, and His own received Him not. But to as many as received Him He gave the power of becoming the sons of God; To those who Believe in His NAME: who were born NOT
OF BLOOD, NOR OF THE WILL
OF THE FLESH, NOR OF THE WILL OF MAN, but of God (Jn.
1:13, 14); Of His OWN WILL He has begotten us by the WORD of truth, that we might be, as it were, the first fruits of His creatures" (James 1:18); Now to cap the climax concerning the "teaching" of CHRIST (and His Apostles) listen to this:
"Amen, Amen, I say to you, he who enters NOT BY THE DOOR into the sheepfold, but climbs up ANOTHER WAY IS A THIEF
and a ROBBER" (Jn. 10:1).
CANDID reader, PONDER well
these passages of Holy Scripture.
They are taken from the Douay, or Roman Catholic version of the Holy Scriptures. (They are very, very much the same as the King James version.) Search the SCRIPTURES! SHUN NOT to declare the "whole COUN-SEL" of God (Acts 20:27);

Bloody and deceitful men shall not live out half their days (Ps. 55:2, 3). "I testify to everyone who hears the words of this book. If anyone shall ADD to them, God will ADD unto him
the plagues that are written in this book. And if anyone shall TAKE AWAY from the words of the book of this prophecy, God will TAKE AWAY his portion from the tree of life, and from the holy city, and from the things that are written in this book" (Revelation) Apocalypse (22:18, 19). PRAY WITHOUT CEASING (1 Thess. 5:17). AND
HE ALSO TOLD THEM A PAR-ABLE—THAT THEY MUST AL-WAYS PRAY AND NOT LOSE
HEART (Lk. 18:1). TRUTH NOW
SUFFERETH and great men bid CHRIST sit lower as if He takes too much room; hate and DIS-HONESTY reign; the sky is black with lies. All over the earth multitudes are seeking and crying for peace, yet very few who are searching for TRUTH, without which there can be no real PEACE. They seek it NOT by Faith, but by the WORKS OF THE LAW, leaving out CHRIST
in all their religious dealings,
except as a TASKMASTER.
"Till to Jesus' work you cling,
By a child-like faith,
DOING is a deadly thing,
DOING ends in death,
"NOTHING either great or small.
NOTHING, sinner, no,
Jesus did it, did it all,
Long, long ago.
"When you know that you are saved,
TRUSTING IN THE BLOOD,
You will live to Him who died,
Yielded up to God."

This is a very, very comforting and WONDERFUL passage of Scripture to a TRUSTER in CHRIST: "Now we KNOW that for those who love God ALL THINGS work together unto good, for those who, according to His PURPOSE, are saints through His CALL. For those whom He has foreknown He has Also Predestinated to become conformed to the image of His SON, that He would be the first-born among many brethren. And those whom He has predestinated, them He has Also CALLED; and those whom He has called, them
He has Also justified, and those whom He has justified, them He Also glorified. What then shall we say to these things? If God be for us, who is against us?
He who has NOT SPARED HIS own SON but has delivered Him for us all, how can He fail to grant us ALSO ALL THINGS
with HIM?" (Rom. 8:28, 32).
Dear CHRIST-ian friends, be not AFRAID, neither ASHAMED,
nor SHUN to declare this God-honoring and most comforting passage of SCRIPTURE.
There are many more parallel passages in the BOOK OF THE LORD too numerous to recite here. Beware of men (Matt.
19:17); Resist the devil and he will flee from you (James 4:7); EARNESTLY CONTEND FOR
THE FAITH once for all delivered to the saints (Jude 3);
WORSHIP GOD (Apoc. 19:10); 22:9); woe unto the Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites! because you devour the houses of WIDOWS, praying LONG prayers. For this you shall receive a greater damnation (Matt.
23:14); "Be ye not called Rabbi;
for one is your Master, and all you are brothers. And call no one on earth your father; for one is your Father, who is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters; for one only is your Master, the CHRIST. He who is nearest among you shall be your SERVANT. And whosoever EXALTS himself shall be humbled, and whoever humbles Himself shall be EXALTED" (Matt.
23:8, 12). Beware of men and "false prophets" (Matt. 7:15);
Beware of covetousness (Lk. 12:15);
Beware of dogs and evil workers (Phil. 3:2). Kind reader, the Bible needs to be re-read, not to be rewritten.

There are but two religions on earth—one based on the postulate of FREE WILL, the other on FREE Grace. The two naturally annihilate and replace one another. FOR if a man is saved in any way, either in whole, or in part, by the exercise of his own will, he is not saved ONLY by God's will; and if he is saved by God's will, i.e., of pure grace, he is not saved by his own. Kind reader, CHRIST IS SECOND TO NONE!!! We love Him, because He first loved us (1 Jn. 4:19).

"And we are all become as one unclean, and all our justices as the rag of a monstrous woman;
and we have all fallen as a leaf,
and our iniquities, like the WIND, have taken us away.
There is NONE that calleth upon Thy name; that riseth up, and taketh hold of Thee; thou has hid Thy face from us, and hast crushed us in the hand of our iniquity" (Isaiah 64:6, 7). Damnation is of man! (Eph. 2:1-5).
Salvation is of the LORD!
(Jonah 2:9).
"He did not wait for me to come
to Him,
But He loved me at my worst.
He need never have died at all,
If I could have loved Him
FIRST."
CHRIST is no half-mediator,
but a pure total Redeemer and Mediator. Fear not, little flock!
(Lk. 12:32). DO NOT BE AFRAID: I AM THE FIRST AND
THE LAST (Rev.) APOCALYPSE
1:17.
"And though this world, with devils filled

should threaten to undo us,
We will not fear, for God has willed,
His truth to TRIUMPH
THROUGH US."
Up! Up! worldly wise man from Sinai to Golgoth. Have faith in God! (Mk. 11:22).
"Without cessation pray:
Your prayers will not prove vain;
Our JOSEPH turns aside to weep.
But cannot long refrain.
"In vain we ask God's righteous law
To justify us now;
Since to convince and to condemn
Is all the LAW can do.

Pace College Appoints Owens To New Position

(Special To The Times)

New York—The appointment of Prof. Curtis Owens, former principal of the Garrett consolidated school, Garrett, Ky., as director of Pace College's new midday session was announced last week by Dr. Edward J. Mortola, president of the downtown Manhattan college.

The midday session at Pace was instituted last fall to help reduce the number of college dropouts. Students who are most likely to encounter difficulty in college—based on high school records, admissions tests and individual interviews—are placed in this special afternoon session.

After one or two years of successful work, students may, with the approval of Professor Owens and the dean of student personnel, transfer to regular day or evening sessions of the college to complete requirements for a bachelor's degree without loss of time.

Professor Owens, who came to Pace College in 1949, is now in his fourth year as president of the Metropolitan New York Conference of the American Association of University Professors. He has also served as chairman of the Faculty Council of the college. He now holds the rank of associate professor of English.

Owens attended the Caney Creek Community Center, later earned his bachelor of arts degree at Tusculum College and his master of arts at the University of Kentucky.

Pace College is located at the gateway to the Wall Street financial district of New York.

Grocery Store Denied Stamp Participation

Atlanta, Ga.—The United States Department of Agriculture has disqualified an Eastern Kentucky food store from participating in its food-stamp program.

It said the disqualified retailer is Ballard Hicks, doing business as B. L. Hicks Grocery at Dema, Kentucky.

The U.S.D.A. alleged that Hicks accepted food-stamp coupons for ineligible items, accepted loose $2 food-stamp coupons, exchanged coupons for cash, gave cash as change instead of a due bill, and short-changed a food-coupon customer.

The disqualification is for 90 days. Nearly 500 Kentucky grocers are authorized to accept food-stamp coupons in Floyd, Knott, and Perry counties.
