SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

This Town . . . That World

This (see cut) shows the best-known member of our family in perhaps his saddest moment.

A rabbit which he had chased in vain for perhaps the last four or five years was under the weather, the other day, and sought the comfort of a level spot in our backyard. There the ferocious Dalmatian spotted his quarry, crouched, trembling, edged forward while the poor rabbit was engrossed with his miseries.

We like to believe it was unprovoked, but the pooch took a swipe at the rabbit. And that was it.

The drawing heading this story of the crime eloquently bespeaks the killer's remorse. ("The youngest son did the cartoon; his father has trouble doing triangles.")

Anyhow, the dog was so cut up by this unhappy incident in his life that he went inside the house, repaired to the couch and could not be dislodged therefrom until he had slept it off.

BY WAY OF PREFACE

An acquaintance prefaced our conversation over a cup of coffee this week with this statement:

"You understand, whatever I say has no political implications. And on matters about which I know nothing I stand ready to deliver an unbiased opinion."

SUGGESTION

The strawberry plant closed last Saturday—too early to take advantage of what appears to be a bumper crop of blackberries which folks who have the industry to do so could pick at a profit. (For that suggestion we ask no more than the chigger location concession.)

OF NAMES

They call his wife Lady Bird and his daughter Lynda Bird. And before next November's election some will be calling him a Dirty Bird.

BLISSFUL IGNORANCE

A correspondent writes to inform me that that item about the untimely appearance on the political scene of the Rockefeller baby wasn't up to my usual standard—in fact, was quite shameful. By which I am not at all shaken—you see, I am so dumb I can't figure out what was so objectionable.

You may have heard of the woman who walked into the psychiatrist's office leading a duck by a chain. "What can I do for you, Madam?" the psychiatrist inquired. "Oh, it's not me," said the woman. "It's my husband—he thinks he's a duck."

PERSONNEL CHANGES EFFECTED BY BOARD

NEW POST UNDER CLARK IS CREATED

Salisbury Is Named
Transportation Head;
Dingus Goes To Martin

A complete complement of board employees and most of the teachers needed for the 1964-'65 school year were hired by the Floyd County Board of Education Saturday on recommendation of County Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark.

A new post to be known as director of instruction was created, and Clem Martin was employed to fill it as year-round worker who is directly responsible to Superintendent Clark for the direction of the entire program of instruction. His salary was set at $7,200 a year, subject to such increases or decreases as may come to other certified employees under the new salary schedule to be completed by October 1.

Saturday's session was one of the board's busiest as it also awarded a contract for construction of an elementary school to serve Wheelwright and nearby communities. (See separate story.)

The number of assistant superintendents was cut to one, with Wayne Radliff continuing to serve in that capacity.

Other non-teaching personnel employed include:

Herbert Prater, director of pupil personnel; Claude May and Richmond Stone, assistant directors, and Mrs. Mildred Kendrick as a visiting teacher to work with the attendance department. Their salaries are to equal last year's.

Blanche E. Dingus and Anna Sue Stumbo, supervisors, each to be paid a monthly salary of $551.66, and Lawrence B. Price, supervisor, at a monthly salary of $74.18—all subject to the coming new salary schedule.

James W. Salisbury, veteran principal of Martin high school, named director of transportation and supervisor of adult education at $7,200 a year, his duties to begin two weeks prior to the opening of the new school year. (Phillip Dingus was named principal at Martin. Superintendent Clark recommended that employment of Mr. Salisbury as principal at Martin and Lewis Campbell as director of transportation (their present jobs) be extended until two weeks prior to the school year opening, and their salaries to stand unchanged till that date. Mr. Campbell will be principal of the Allen elementary school.)

David B. Leslie, materials supervisor at a salary of $450 a month; Maude Sloan employed on a month-to-month basis as this assistant at $150 a month. Her work includes service as custodian of the central office here.

Lucille Herndon, central office secretary, $230 per month; Margaret Spradlin, head bookkeeper, $360; Rebecca Rasmick and Wanda Hamilton, assistant bookkeepers, $263 each; Opal Fitzpatrick (duties to be assigned by superintendent), $230; Betty A. Phillips, duties to be assigned, $263; Janice Warrick, $230, and Anna Jean Tackett, $325, their duties also to be assigned.

An order of the board provided that the starting salary for non-certified personnel at the central office will be $185 a month, subject to a six-month probation period. If their work is found to be satisfactory at the end of that time, they will be eligible for raises upon recommendation of the superintendent. They also will be allowed $1.25 per month for each college hour earned subsequent to this date in courses approved by Superintendent Clark.

The same probation period was ordered for new maintenance employees who will be eligible, if their work and conduct are satisfactory, to a $25 raise upon recommendation of the Superintendent. New employees in this department begin at $200 a month. The board's order provided that workers are subject to removal by the superintendent and/or the supervisor of maintenance.

TURNER DIES IN ACCIDENT

Funeral Home Head
Victim At Versailles;
Funeral Held Tuesday

John Roger Turner, 44, part-owner and manager of the Floyd Funeral Home here, died in the wreck of his auto at 5 p.m., Sunday, six miles out of Versailles, on the road to Frankfort.

The auto, in which he and Virgil James, of Pikeville, were driving to Louisville to attend a funeral directors' meeting, dropped over an embankment of about 15 feet. Turner's neck was broken, it was said. James suffered a broken nose and lesser injuries.

The victim was the last of the family of the late A. L. "Nig" Turner and Polly Hayes Turner. He was widely related in the county and was well-known as a funeral director. Mr. Turner received his early education in the Maytown schools and was a graduate of the Kentucky School of Embalming, Louisville. He formerly was a part-owner of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home at Martin and had for the last three years resided here while directing the affairs of the Floyd Funeral Home.

Mr. Turner was an overseas Army veteran of World War II, a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Shrine.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Thelma Cassidy Turner, and one daughter, Miss Teresa Turner, both of Prestonsburg.

Masonic rites were conducted Tuesday evening at the Floyd Funeral Home chapel, and the body was taken Wednesday to the Maytown Methodist Church where it lay in state from noon till 1 p.m., time of the funeral. The officiating minister was the Rev. W. D. Jagers, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here. Burial was made here in the Richmond cemetery under direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

FOUR FLOYD FIRMS SPONSOR RESEARCH

Four owners of Floyd industrial plants Tuesday announced formation of an organization to develop products especially suitable for production in Eastern Kentucky.

The four plants represented by the group are:

The Hayes Metal Products Company at Hi Hat and Hazard; the Reynolds Metal Products Company and the Porter Electric Company, both of Allen, and the May Sign Company, Prestonsburg.

Hayes and Reynolds are in the same field, both producing truck beds and equipment used mainly in the coal mining industry. Porter is one of the area's largest makers of mining equipment such as transformers, and May produces advertising materials in his plant here which is used by firms over a wide part of the country.

Arle E. Hayes, head of Hayes Metal Products, said the Coal Bit Company of Prestonsburg is interested in joining the development venture.

STRIKES HIT FUEL FIRMS

Contract Negotiations
Collapse At Maytown;
David Mines Are Idled

Approximately 375 workers were idled this week by strikes at two operations in the Floyd county fuel industry.

After their demands for a new contract including a wage increase were not met at Sunday midnight members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union struck at 12:01 a.m., Monday, shutting down operation of from the plant to chemical company's multi-million-dollar plant, near Langley. Twenty-eight workers who are members of the union are on strike, and a number of supervisory and clerical employees also are idle there.

Both the No. 1 and No. 2 mines of the Princess Elkhorn Division at David of Princess Coals, Inc. were strikebound Wednesday after a company foreman reportedly had transferred a younger employee to another job. The seniority clause of the contract is involved in the dispute, it was said. A union meeting was being held at David Wednesday afternoon.

Idled by the strike are about 285 union workers, plus 50 or more non-union employees.

Contract negotiations at Kentucky Hydrocarbon began April 21. A union spokesman said workers are asking a 10-cents-per-hour wage increase. Negotiations broke down completely last week, and the union set Sunday night as the deadline for an agreement.

The plant extracts components, such as propane and methane, from natural gas. These are piped from the plant to chemical complexes.

DEATH PROBE TO CONTINUE

Hearing To Be Resumed
Saturday for Teenager

A juvenile hearing began last Friday for 15-year-old Lynda Sue Reynolds, Betsy Layne high school student who has admitted fatally wounding her father, Riley Reynolds, at Amba, April 26, will be resumed here Saturday.

Commonwealth testimony was heard at the first session. Witnesses called to testify included the girl's mother, Mrs. Roxie King Reynolds, and her brother and sister, Ronald Gene and Glenda.

Defense testimony will be heard Saturday.

All witnesses heard last Friday said Reynolds, a merchant, was drinking. Ronald Gene said he told his father that if he struck his mother again he would shoot him, and that in the several minutes that followed a shoe was thrown at Ronald Gene, another at Mrs. Reynolds and that Reynolds brandished a large pipe-die.

The defendant in the case told authorities here, earlier, that she closed her eyes and pulled the trigger as long as the revolver would fire. Mrs. Reynolds said she recalls hearing only two shots and that she crouched on the floor, thinking her husband was shooting at her.

Overparking Violations Prosecution Is Planned

Overparking violations in Prestonsburg will be strictly enforced, "beginning as of now," a city official warned motorists this week.

Hereafter, warrants will be issued for those who ignore overtime parking tickets issued by the traffic officer, Police Judge Watt Hale said. The city has abandoned its practice of warning violators by letter, leaving a warrant of arrest to serve.

The fine for overtime parking, if paid promptly at a fine meter, is 50 cents. If a warrant is issued, the fine is $5.

ENROLLMENT NEARING 200

Schedule of Classes
At Community College
Available Next Month

The schedule of classes of the Prestonsburg Community College will be available between July 5 and July 10, it was announced this week. Since there is no deadline on making application to enter the institution, prospective students will know in time to enroll for just what the college offers.

It is said by Dr. Edsel Godbey, acting director here, that the college will offer anything obtainable in the freshman and sophomore years at the University of Kentucky.

One hundred-fifty students had completed applications by last week-end but many more have been received since then. It is said that approximately 200 students have applied for admission. Many students have applied from the adjoining counties of Johnson, Magoffin and Breathitt.

Robert J. Wallace, college librarian, said this week that $100,000 worth of books will be housed at the college. Approximately $30,000 worth were being ordered this week. Science equipment was being installed in the college this week by the contracting firm of Meade & Kendrick.

A few of the college instructors have been in town recently looking for homes, and some of the students are making plans to board here.

Temporary headquarters for the college is in the room formerly occupied by the Clyde Burchett Jewelry Store on Court Street. Dr. Godbey, assisted by Wallace, is in charge. The telephone number is 886-2653.

$200 REWARD IS OFFERED

New College Building
Victim of Vandalism;
Skylights Are Broken

Meade & Kendrick, contractors on the Prestonsburg Community College, offered a $200 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who vandalized the building on the week-end.

Extent of the damage has not yet been estimated, according to Astor Meade, one of the partners in the construction firm. The roofing contractor has been notified, and until his estimate is made the damages are unspecified.

Several skylights were broken and "enough ceramic tile and accessory fixtures for a bathroom" were stolen, it was said. A quantity of sand was put in the motor of a high lift, making its overhauling necessary. Added to this were various vandal acts inside the structure.

Footprints on the roof showed that the vandals were wearing tennis shoes, Meade said. It was at first thought that the damage had been the work of juveniles, but the possibility is not overlooked that adults may have participated.

US PROGRAM WORKS WELL

Conference At Park
Attended by Leaders;
Progress Commended

Federal aid programs are working well wherever instituted and particularly satisfying is the program which provides employment of fathers of school-age dependent children.

So said state and federal workers in the programs after a meeting held Tuesday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

County and city officials and others have also been impressed with the work done by fathers employed under the new program on streets, roads, cemeteries and other public projects.

Attending the May Lodge conference were:

Arvid E. Dopson, Atlanta, Georgia, head of the food-stamp program for the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Aaron Paul, Frankfort, director of the state Department of Public Assistance; Carl R. Horn, Prestonsburg, food-stamp project supervisor for Floyd, Knott and Perry counties; Mrs. Nell Howell, Ralph Wells and Sarah Lee Hom, social service supervisors, respectively, for Floyd, Perry and Knott counties, and Ben Adams, senior worker in Knott county.

STUMBO ASKS COMMITMENT

Attorney Enters Motion
To Have Roy Salisbury
Observed At Hospital

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo filed a motion in circuit court Monday to commit Roy Salisbury, accused slayer of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Denney and Thomas S. Combs, near Drift April 23, to Central State Hospital for observation.

It was the second such motion filed by Stumbo in the Salisbury case. The first was dropped when the prosecutor was not certain if such an action would be considered prejudicial to the prisoner's constitutional rights. He later sought a legal opinion from the Attorney General before acting to place Salisbury under observation.

Central State was selected as the place of study of Salisbury's mental condition because strictest security precautions are possible there.

Claude Edmonds returned here Monday from Pike county to begin serving in the county jail the 30-day jail term which went with the fine imposed on him when he pleaded guilty in circuit court to a liquor charge. He had been at liberty under bond while attending to personal business and returned on the day set for him to begin his jail term.

"I am probationing nobody in the liquor business," Judge Conley told him.

Earl Caudill, who was charged with breaking and entering a service station, pleaded guilty Monday in circuit court and was given a one-year pen term. The jail escape charge against Darrell Stratton was dismissed last week, Stratton now being a prisoner in the state reformatory.

AKERS BID ON PROJECT IS LOWEST

Bond Sale To Finance
Wheelwright Building;
Early Start Is Seen

The Dana contracting firm of Akers & Akers was declared the low bidder Saturday by the Floyd County Board of Education on the 22-classroom elementary school planned to serve Wheelwright and vicinity.

The Akers bid, based on Alternative No. 1 which provides for heating by natural gas rather than by electricity, was $538,000. Although the bid was approximately $40,000 higher than anticipated, it was accepted by the board and approved by the State Department of Education.

One other bid was offered, and that by W. D. Johnson, Johnson's base bid was $9,400 lower than the $532,900 asked by Akers. But on the alternate Johnson added $4,500 for gas heat while Akers deducted $14,900, leaving the Floyd firm low by $10,000.

The successful bidder, now completing Floyd county's new courthouse, will move onto the Wheelwright job within a few weeks.

Financing of the big, new school is being effected through the sale of bonds, with the Floyd fiscal court acting for the board of education in a "holding company" role as fiscal agent.

The school will have the basic design of the Charles Clark elementary school now nearing completion on Middle Creek, wings flaring, spoke-like, from a central area which forms the hub of the structure. The Middle Creek school, designed by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect, who serves in the same capacity on the Wheelwright project, has evoked favorable comment from educators and education officials who have seen it.

The Wheelwright school will be built at the mouth of Riley's Branch and will supplant the old frame grade school at Wheelwright, housing all its pupils as well as those of two one-room schools on Jacks Creek, one at Buckingham and possibly others.

"This," said Superintendent Charles Clark, "is the third modern elementary school started in this county within the last four years. We had 81 one-room buildings four years ago. This coming year, we expect that fewer than 30 of these old, unsafe buildings will be used."

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK
The Civil War in Kentucky
By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan's last raid into Kentucky, which had been launched with an audacity and confidence reminding of his early exploits, was broken up by a disastrous defeat at Cynthiana. It was with much difficulty that the Confederate cavalry chieftain collected the remnants of his shattered command and began a weary and dangerous march back to his base in Virginia.

The Rebels on June 8 had captured Mt. Sterling, taking 380 prisoners. Morgan left some of his men there to outfit themselves with captured horses and Federal military stores and rode on with his best brigade to Lexington, which he took June 10. There he found enough horses to complete the mounting of those of his troopers who had walked all the way from Virginia.

Meantime, however, the large Union Army force which Morgan had eluded in Eastern Kentucky had headed for the Bluegrass Region in search of him. Mounted infantry—two regiments and part of a third—led the pursuit. It made an astonishingly rapid march, the last 90 miles of it in 40 consecutive hours, and fell upon the sleeping Confederates at Mt. Sterling at 3 a.m. on June 9. The Morgan men rallied, stood off the first attack, and finally fought their way out, but 40 Confederate officers and 40 men were killed, 80 were wounded too badly to be moved, 100 were captured, and more than 100 cut off and dispersed. It was a heavy blow to a force which had numbered only 2,400 at the beginning of the raid.

Morgan and the main body, marching from Lexington through Georgetown, arrived at Cynthiana June 11 and attacked the garrison of 400 Union soldiers there. During this fight, another Union force of 1,500 men under Brig. Gen. E. H. Hobson arrived at the outskirts of Cynthiana. As soon as the garrison inside the town surrendered, Morgan personally led a battalion which gained Hobson's rear, forcing him

"Curing all of Eastern Kentucky's economic ailments is not our objective," according to Mr. Hayes, who heads the organization. "We know we couldn't do that. We do know, however, that the region must help itself if it is to expect help from others."
"Eastern Kentucky's greatest need, we all know, is more productivity. You have to have something desirable to sell before you can create that productivity."
Hayes said the group naturally will strive first to develop products that can be manufactured in their own plants.
"But we are not going to be selfish about it," he added. "If we come upon a product which we ourselves cannot turn out, we will take the idea to industrialists elsewhere, hoping that they will establish factories in our region. Jobs for the jobless is the main aim."

Clark said completion of the Left Beaver Creek school will reduce even further the number of one-room schools and their old, inadequate buildings. "I hope," he added, "that in the not-too-distant future each child in Floyd county will be able to go to school in modern, sanitary, safe classrooms, with a teacher who is devoted, energetic and well-qualified."

Notice of Sale of Bonds

The City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, will, until the 16th day of June, 1964, at the hour of 7:30 p.m., EST, receive in the office of its City Clerk, in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, sealed bids for the purchase at not less than par of any or all of the hereinafter designated blocks of the City's $265,000 "Improvement Assessment Bonds-Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964," being negotiable, bearer, coupon Bonds, registrable as to principal only, dated May 1, 1964, maturing, serially, May 1 of the years 1966 to 1984, inclusive, bearing interest at such rate or rates as may be established on the basis of competition, averaging not greater than 3-3/4% per annum. Interest from May 1, 1964, will be represented by coupons maturing May 1 and November 1 in each year, beginning November 1, 1964. The maturity and redemption provisions, places of payment, and other details are set forth in the Statement of Terms and Conditions of Bond Sale.

The Bonds are special obligations of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, payable solely from and secured by a lien on and pledge of the gross revenues derived from annual improvement benefit assessments to be levied solely against identified properties to be benefited by said City's "Street and Sidewalk Project of 1964," pursuant to authority of Chapter 107 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, and according to the "assessed value method," as therein provided.

Bids may be submitted for the following blocks of Bonds, subject in each instance to the maximum net interest cost as indicated above:

- (1) All maturities in 1966 through 1974
- (2) All maturities in 1975 through 1979
- (3) All maturities in 1980 through 1984
- (4) The entire issue.

Subject to the foregoing maximum net interest cost, bidders shall stipulate the interest rate or rates for each block of Bonds, or for the entire issue, in multiples of 1/4 of 1%, none to exceed 6%, only one coupon rate per maturity, and no proposal that interest becoming due on any Bond at any interest payment date be represented by more than one coupon. Bids for the entire Bond issue will be accorded preference over bids for individual blocks, except where the sum of the bids for all of the individual blocks results in a lower net interest cost for the entire Bond issue. For the purpose of determining the lowest bidder or bidders, calculations of net interest cost will exclude the bid of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, hereinafter described.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency has entered into a Loan Agreement with the City pursuant to which it will submit a bid at par and accrued interest at a single interest rate of 3-3/4% per annum, providing bids are not received from other purchasers for the entire issue, or the above designated blocks, on the terms hereinabove indicated. The successful bidder or bidders will be furnished, without cost, the approving legal opinion of Grafton, Ferguson & Fleischer, of Louisville, Kentucky, and customary closing documents including No-Litigation Certificate.

No official Bid Form is prescribed or required. The Statement of Terms and Conditions, and other information, may be obtained from the City Clerk.

PLANT PLANS ARE DENIED

Utility Firm Manager Says Report Erroneous; Wood Use Plant Is Seen

The Kentucky Power Company, contrary to published reports, has no plans to construct a major power producing complex in Eastern Kentucky, according to F. M. Baker, vice-president and general manager of the utility firm. Baker's denial was made after a Courier-Journal staff reporter stated that such plans were being made.

The newspaper account of plans said the power company favored the Kentucky River area as the site.

"Our firm has been investigating potential power plant sites in its service area and will continue to do so," Baker said. "However, I deny that we have any plans for a power plant in our service area at this time."

News Tuesday that Eastern Kentucky may be on the receiving end of an industrial plant seems to have more substance than the power plant story. State Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden said this week that prospects are "red hot" for locating a furniture plant in the eastern section of the state.

Miss Peden declined to say what company is involved and what sites are under consideration. She said only that if the negotiations succeed the plant will be built "in the heart of Appalachia."

As now envisioned, she said, the plant would employ about 250. "But the beauty of it," she added, "is that the plant also would create an additional 400 jobs for people in the number business."

Miss Peden, who heads Governor Edward T. Breathitt's program to attract industry, also told guild members of state plans to develop arts-and-crafts training centers throughout Kentucky.

BABE DIES
Kathy Lynn Goble, three-day-old daughter of Chester and Edna May Burchett Goble, of Lancer, died Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Besides the parents, four brothers and one sister survives. Surviving also are the grandmothers, Mrs. Mary Goble, of Lancer, and Mrs. Anna Burchett, of Auxier. Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at the home, the Rev. Harold Dieks officiating. Burial was made in the Harris cemetery on Brandy Keg Creek under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

ROBERTSON AND ELLEDGE FAMILIES

Mrs. Charles Cummings, 2537 Las Vegas Blvd., No. 56, N. Las Vegas, Nevada, writes for information on the Robertson and Elledge families.

"A friend in Indiana, knowing of the Floyd County Times, and your HISTORICAL NOTES column, suggested that I write you for help.

"Joseph Robertson, married Agnes Spurgeon. Their son, Jephtha, is my great-grandfather and was born September 2, 1835. I have found these families in early Kentucky tax lists but so far no trace of individuals.

"The records are a little more complete on Isaac Elledge and wife, Martha Ann Miller. Most of the information I have comes from the Elledge family Bible. Isaac Elledge was born November 29, 1802, in Kentucky, and his wife, Martha Ann Miller, born December 20, 1814 in Kentucky. She was a daughter of a Mr. Munsey Elswick. Their children were Richard, Meriba, Lydia, Anna and Joseph. I have been unable to locate Elswicks, Munseys, or Ratliffs in the Virginia Census.

"My great-grandfather Lewis' elopement in 1842, marriage in Malden, West Virginia, was followed by both families from Kentucky and presumably from Virginia of the Whites (William, Elswick (Meriba's brothers). No listing of parents in the Census referred to previously.

"I do not know if William was living with the Ratliff family in Kentucky or had bought land in Pike or Floyd county or was the land in Virginia adjacent to Gates (sic) county. My great-grandfather stated that he was born on Johns Creek. No marriage is recorded for either he or Louvina in Pike or Floyd county, according to the county clerks. The question is: Did he ever live in Kentucky? If he did land or tax record should show it.

"Louvina and William would have been married sometime between 1813 and 1822, depending on the correct dates of birth which are smudged on the Virginia Census. Lewis was born in 1824."

Would some of the readers, if they have information of value to Colonel White, write him?

either in 1801 or 1808, according to the 1850 Census of Kanawha county, West Virginia. He was born in Virginia. His children, listed in the Kanawha county Census, were Preston White, age 14, David White, age 21, Elizabeth White, age 19, and Virginia White, age 15.

"Two other children were married at this time, Lewis Jackson White, my great-grandfather, and Nancy White, who married an Anderson, and Jemima, who married a Lucas. William White's wife was supposed to have been Louvina Ratliff; age, date of marriage and place of birth unknown. She was not listed in the Kanawha county Census.

"Lewis J. White, William's son, eloped with Meriba Katherine or Karally Elswick in 1842 from Kentucky to West Virginia, both age 18 years. Her birth is listed on the 1850 Census of the Lewis White family. Her parents were Bradley Elswick and Anna Munsey Elswick. Their children were Richard, Meriba, Lydia, Anna and Joseph. I have been unable to locate Elswicks, Munseys, or Ratliffs in the Virginia Census.

"I do not know if William was living with the Ratliff family in Kentucky or had bought land in Pike or Floyd county or was the land in Virginia adjacent to Gates (sic) county. COX FAMILY

She writes: "My great-great-grandmother, Nancy H. Cox, born 1793, died 1898, widow of James Cox, came to Texas about 1858 with part of her children. The oldest, James Madison Cox, born January 12, 1820, in Scott county, Virginia, became a doctor. Dr. George Washington Cox, born November 20, 1825, was my great-grandfather. He married first Salina Ewins, after her death Rachel Fugate Robinson, of Lee county, Virginia. She was born December 23, 1839. Other children were Isaac William, Louisa C., John W. Cox, Malinda A., Ivey N. (who became a Methodist minister), Harvey, Reuben M., and Benjamin F.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Josie Hamilton Wheeler; four sons, Sherman, Bill and Alonzo Wheeler, all of Pikeville, and James Wheeler, of Columbus, Ohio; a stepson, George Cavins, of Pikeville, a daughter, Mrs. Anna Belle Mohr, of Pikeville, and a brother, Lundy Wheeler, of Delbarton, West Virginia.

LEAD POISONING

Lead poisoning is a very serious illness, affecting both children and adults. Children from one to four years most often are the victims. Many young children like to chew on things, such as woodwork, stair railings and window sills, especially when they are cutting teeth. Peeling, flaking or blistered paint should be removed and replaced with paint that contains less than one percent lead content. Discarded storage-battery casings always contain lead, and should never be used for fuel, fencing or paving, or in any way.

Henry Ward Envisions Savings On Purchasing Of Road Rights-of-Way

Frankfort, Ky., June 8 (Spl.)—Thousands of dollars may be saved in purchasing land for future highways, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward said today.

He based his statement on recent findings by expert land appraisers and buyers who have done follow-up studies on value of land taken for construction of Interstate 64 in Central Kentucky and I-65 in Simpson and Warren counties.

The studies show that adjoining land values around highway improvements increase greatly and that near proposed interchanges value increases by several hundred percent.

"We now have information that will serve as a reliable yardstick when obtaining land," Ward said. "By using this system, the property owner receives a fair, reasonable price and the state pays a fair price."

Owners who retain segments of land divided by interchanges usually sell or lease these remaining portions near the right-of-way to oil companies, restaurant or motel owners, the studies showed.

Study after study pointed out that farmers who lost land for highway construction were paid the difference between the land's appraised value before and after the land was taken for right-of-way. Then, they usually sold or leased part of the land to a company that wanted to put up a business. In most instances, the amount received from the company was two or three times the appraised value of the entire farm before the road was started.

"Due to the newness and nature of limited access highways, which are fenced, the Highway Department had no guideline to follow in purchasing land," Carl H. Bradley, director of the right-of-way division, said. "In some cases, the Department paid too much for damages. This will no longer be true," Bradley added.

Studies have been made in Clark, Franklin, Montgomery, Simpson and Warren counties and other studies are under way. The Department is continuing its research so that all data may be used to substantiate testimony in court cases. Recently, this information was admitted by a Boyd county court during a trial concerning land acquisition for Interstate 64.

"In acquiring right-of-way, the Department's only objective is to pay a fair share of the taxpayer's money to land owners so that we may continue building as economically as possible a modern network of roads throughout Kentucky," Ward said.

HIS THIRD CADILLAC... HIS FIRST NEW ONE

This man is enjoying his first brand-new Cadillac—after becoming acquainted with the car's unsurpassed value by twice buying used Cadillacs.

He learned that a late model used Cadillac gave him more standard equipment and engineering advancements than most new cars.

First of all, while Cadillac's styling was continually refined, it never lost the clean, dignified look that says Cadillac and Cadillac alone. The smooth, quiet performance and complete reliability of his used Cadillac was a constant source of enjoyment. Then, too, he and his family enjoyed luxury and comfort to a degree reserved exclusively for Cadillac owners.

The pride of ownership of so distinctive a car was a never-ending pleasure, for he had the satisfaction—always—of knowing he drove the finest.

When it came time to trade his previously owned Cadillac for a later model, he found its value had held remarkably high... and returned a substantial part of his original investment.

So what could be more natural—or wise—than to make the eventual move to a new Cadillac?

New or used, there is no finer motoring investment than a Cadillac. And new or used, your authorized dealer has one to fit any budget. There's never been a better time to invest in the finest of them all.

New Airport Projects Slated for Contracts; Three in East Region

Frankfort, Ky., June 11—Bids are being opened this month on five new airport projects in Kentucky that will cost more than $500,000. Aeronautics Commissioner Philip Swift announced today. He said the state is contributing $142,534 to the projects, representing allocations made during the past 12 months.

The projects include construction of new airports at West Liberty, Mt. Sterling and Whitesburg. A new pavement will be constructed at the Morehead airport and the Mayfield airstrip will be repaved. The three new airports will raise the total constructed with state help in the last four years to 23.

The state has now tentatively allocated $40,000 for airport construction at Russellville, which is now purchasing land, and $25,000 to Dawson Springs, depending upon efforts of local people to raise matching funds, Swift said.

The Jamestown-Russell Springs airport is nearing completion. Swift added. Local funds totaling $17,500 paid for the land, engineering and turfing. The same amount was contributed by the state for grading and draining.

KNOWN BUT TO GOD

The state is marking the grave of the Unknown Confederate Soldier buried on U. S. 80 near the Breaks Interstate Park. For one year short of a century the grave was cared for by residents. A rose, planted by an unknown person grew luxuriantly over it and offered protection from cars that parked near it. Several years ago certain interested persons erected a board sign that told the story of the soldier's assassination.

W. A. Wentworth, Frankfort, director of the highway marker program, wrote Mrs. Everett H. Sowards, Prestonsburg, recently that the maker was being authorized.

The suggested inscription, reads:

KNOWN BUT TO GOD
Here rests the body of a soldier of the Confederacy, struck down by an unknown assassin in May of 1863, apparently on his way home in the South. He was buried in a coffin made of boards rived from a great oak by four men of this community. After the turn of the century a rose bush marked this final resting place of a soldier who is "Known But To God."

The nutritional needs of older persons are much like those of any other age group.

BREATHITT SOLICITS INDUSTRY FOR STATE

Frankfort, Ky., June 11—“We want business.” Kentucky's Governor Edward T. Breathitt stood on that three-word platform as he whirled through New York City's financial and industrial circles last week in a three-day campaign to bring more industry to the Bluegrass State.

Breathitt combined his hunt for industry with a trip to the World's Fair for its celebration of Kentucky Day.

Then, armed with facts about the advantages and opportunities Kentucky offers industry, the Governor became a salesman for the Bluegrass State in luncheon speeches and private conferences with more than 150 of New York's top bankers and industrial leaders.

Included were directors of the First National City Bank of New York whom he addressed Tuesday, and some 35 bankers and foreign trade industrialists whom he addressed Thursday at the Chase Manhattan Bank, the world's largest international trade bank.

Harold Helm, formerly of Bowling Green, Kentucky, board chairman of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company was host to Breathitt and some 75 bankers and industrialists at a Wednesday luncheon at the bank.

“Kentucky—once a border state between the industrial north and the agricultural south—is today a land of economic opportunities that have no boundaries,” Breathitt said at the National Bank luncheon.

“Geographically, Kentucky is an ideal site for industry, with over half the continental population of the nation living within 400 miles. It lies within one day's rail and motor freight service of 27 percent of the national consumer market.

Breathitt told the bankers that nearly 100 industrial firms announced plans either to build or expand manufacturing plants in Kentucky between January 1 and May 15 of this year, representing an investment of more than $32 million. And the personal income of Kentuckians, he said, is rising more rapidly than the national average.

This progress in Kentucky, the Governor said, is based on sound planning for the future, and on programs to develop Kentucky's great wealth of natural resources and raw materials, and to train a large pool of skilled workers needed by industry and business.

Study of Feasibility Of Purchase Highway Asked by Breathitt

Frankfort, Ky., June 11—Governor Edward T. Breathitt has called for a study of the feasibility of constructing a turnpike through the heart of the Jackson Purchase from near the present terminus of the Western Kentucky Parkway to the Tennessee line.

The proposed toll highway would extend from the Calvert City-Gilbertsville area near Kentucky Dam to the Fulton area, a distance of about 45 miles. It would serve the cities of Benton, Mayfield, Murray, Clinton and Fulton, and would provide a direct route through the Purchase for traffic from Memphis and other Tennessee cities.

Breathitt has directed the Kentucky Turnpike Commission and the Department of Highways to conduct the study to determine if traffic justifies such a highway and if it is economically feasible to sell and retire bonds necessary for the road.

Breathitt predicted that development around Kentucky Lake and the new Barkley Lake would make a high-speed, four-lane highway through the Purchase necessary within a short time and that he wants the state to be prepared to move when the time comes.

“This link in our highway system appears to me to be logical and desirable for several reasons,” Breathitt said. “It would extend the Western Kentucky Parkway to the southwest corner of Kentucky and thus give turnpike driving from this end of the state to extreme Eastern Kentucky, using the rest of our parkway system.

“The super-highway would help provide a direct route across Kentucky for traffic from Cincinnati to Memphis and thus help the Western Parkway and the Central Kentucky Parkway pay for themselves. It would facilitate travel from Louisville to Memphis and to all parts of the Purchase.

“With the construction of a new bridge across the Mississippi now being planned just south of the Kentucky line as part of the Interstate highway system, traffic between the Southwest and the Northeast would logically flow across Kentucky from one end of the state to the other.”

The Governor said that the proposed turnpike would be connected to the present Western Kentucky Parkway either by an extension of the Parkway or by Interstate 24.

The Parkway presently ends at Princeton but Breathitt said plans are to continue it to Paducah either as a toll facility or as a part of the Interstate system, depending on the location of I-24.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

Not all leaders are born some are made

The rather handsome car above is what you might call a two-time winner. Dodge led the nation in percentage sales increase last year and continues to set and smash these lofty sales marks in 1964.

It's also called a 1964 Dodge. Or the low-priced car that doesn't look like one or feel like one. People who have bought one, and who, incidentally, are trading in all kinds of other cars in record numbers, say they like: 1. The looks. 2. The roomy and rather posh interiors. 3. The extra savings of its famous Slant Six.

4. The lively V8 that goes on regular gas. 5. The self-adjusting brakes and 32,000-mile interval between major grease jobs. 6. The solid way it's put together—with a fully unitized, rust-protected body. 7. The price (right with Ford and Chevy).

If these seem like pretty good reasons for buying a car, join the swinging trend-setters who are changing the look and feel of the low-price field. You'll find them at your Dependable Dodge Dealer's.
