SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

This Town... That World

A special Be Kind to Animals Day has been designated for November. It's election day, when both the donkey and the elephant will be needing friends.

Bill Crawford was in town last week from Florida. Bill's not living the life of Riley down there—just the life of Crawford. Which, to our way of thinking, is a good life: taking each day as it comes, satisfied with things as they are, worrying not about what they might be, and in his easy-going way making new friends while retaining all the old.

WE QUIT—MAYBE

Police Judge Walt Hale came in this week to relate a story a man had told him. Said this story was that was needed to convince him of the error of his ways and lead him to a momentous decision—namely, to stop telling the yarns that have been his stock-in-trade for so long.

The story involves a certain tom cat which, according to the fellow who told the story, was one of the finest mousers around. His owner was plagued by rats, and Tom had a field day with the varmints, but wasn't making headway enough to suit his owner, so he invests in a steel trap, just to help old Tom out. But Tom doesn't understand the arrangement and shows up, next morning, minus a good portion of his right foreleg. His owner is cut up considerably by this turn of events, and he nurses the cat back to health, then goes to a nearby pawpaw bush, cuts him a forked limb and fashions from that light wood a peg-leg for the injured Tom. And it works splendidly.

A few nights later, the guy hears all pandemonium being raised in the attic, and he hastens up to see what goes. And there, he swears, is the biggest rat in the county down on the floor, old Tom holding the rat with his good paw and flailing the life out of it with his peg-leg.

As I said, Judge Hale opined that this story had driven him to decide to cease and desist story-telling, but before he left he sang his swansong. Talk of youngsters in the old days, the lack of conveniences and such matters drove him to it, we explain in his defense. Anyway, (See Story No. 2, Page 3)

RUNYON CASE SLATED HERE

Floyd Circuit Court To Try Pike Man On False Claims Charge

The case of Woodrow Runyon, Sr., veteran Pike county Board of Education employee, who has been named in 32 indictments alleging that he submitted false claims for payment, has been transferred to the Floyd circuit court for trial.

It was said this week that the trial may be held during the November criminal term of court, and that Circuit Judge Hollie Conley will preside at the hearing.

The Runyon case was transferred to this county after earlier efforts for trial in Pike county had failed. A Floyd county jury was twice asked, and on one of these occasions the jury was disqualified because it was not summoned by the Pike county sheriff.

Pike County Superintendent of Schools Claude H. Farley also is under indictment, and the Court of Appeals recently held that Circuit Judge Lowe, of the Pike circuit court, is disqualified as trial judge in that case. It is not known if a new site for Farley's trial will be selected or if trial will be held at Pikeville with a special judge presiding.

MARRIAGE LICENSES NONE

NAB EIGHT FOR LIQUOR VIOLATIONS

Wide-Raiding Officers Confiscate Intoxicants; Judge Issues Warrants

Four women and as many men were arrested Saturday in simultaneous liquor raids staged over a wide section of the county by state police and ABC agents.

The raids extended from a roadside place at the former mining camp of Winchester, between Prestonsburg and Allen, to Mud Creek and on to Clear Creek on Left Beaver Creek.

Those arrested: Mrs. Errel Tackett, of Big Mud Creek, on a warrant charging her with selling intoxicants to State Trooper Clyde Thomas; Mrs. Tom Hall, of Mud Creek, selling 49 cans of beer and 5 1/2 half-pints of whiskey confiscated; Orville Hall, arrested on a liquor possession warrant growing out of the same raid; James Calvin Reynolds, possession of 28 half-pints of whiskey and gin were taken in a raid on Reynolds Grocery Store at Clear Creek; Paul Vincel Newsome, of Mud Creek, selling, after 95 cans of beer and nine half-pints of whiskey were taken; James Stone, possession, with 31 half-pints of whiskey, gin and vodka seized at his place at Winchester; Mrs. James Stone, selling; Mrs. Cecil Hamilton, Mud Creek, selling and possession, eight half-pints of whiskey and 132 cans of beer seized.

The only county officer involved in the raids was Constable Gillis Conn, of District 4. Leading the series of raids were State Troopers Oliver E. Combs, D. L. Sword and Elmo Allen, State Detective Chester D. Potter and ABC Agents C. A. Flanery, Randolph Stamper and Fred Combs.

HALL ACTION IS DEFENDED

Health Doctor Explains Statutory Requirement Of Physician Registry

"Nothing could be further from the truth," declared Dr. Russell L. Hall, Floyd county health doctor and secretary of the County Board of Health, this week, commenting on accusations made by Dr. Beard, chief of staff at the McDowell Appalachian Regional force of law to instigate legal action taken against three doctors there was "little" and "harassed" the doctors.

Warrants issued for the three, Drs. Spence Johnson, Romeo Berardi and Luiz E. G. Mineiro, allege violation of KRS 311.585 which requires practitioners of medicine or osteopathy under state license to be registered at the office of the County Court Clerk. Trial of the cases has been set in quarterly court for October 29 at 9 a.m.

"The county health department," said Dr. Hall, "is required under several statutes and also under regulations having the force of law to instigate legal procedures in many areas. Specifically, this action against the three doctors was required under KRS 311.695 (4) which reads, in part: 'County Board of Health shall also report to the Board and to the County or Commonwealth's Attorneys... all violations of KRS 311.550 to 311.620 and shall assist in the enforcement thereof.'"

Dr. Hall insisted that KRS 311.585 "is a valuable and good law," since it provides a registry of physicians in the County Clerk's office, the register showing the facts of school attended, degree attained and other information, plus an affidavit by each physician registered that he is the person mentioned on the license.

Music Car Recovered In Virginia; St. Paul Man Jailed At Bristol

Tom Ed Music, of the Abbott road, whose Chevrolet automobile was stolen on Lake Drive here September 24, was notified last week-end by Bristol, Virginia, police that they had recovered his car. Music and his father, Worth Music, went to Bristol, Friday, and drove the car home.

An FBI agent was walking along State street in Bristol, Thursday last week, when he saw a car being driven in a suspicious manner. He ordered the driver to pull over but instead of doing that the driver jumped out of the car and fled. The officer pursued him across town and into a thicket where he was arrested.

Paul Elam, of St. Paul, Virginia, is in the Bristol jail awaiting trial. A companion of Elam's was not charged.

Schoolboy Wounded In Hunting Mishap

Tivis Newman, Hi Hat schoolboy, was shot and seriously wounded last Wednesday while he and two other youths were hunting on Bryant Branch, near Hi Hat. The shooting was termed an accident. Eddie Akers, McDowell high school sophomore, firing at what he thought was a squirrel.

Young Newman was shot in the face and chest, and was transferred from the McDowell hospital to the Harlan Appalachian Regional hospital for treatment. He is expected to recover.

FLOYD FIRM PENALIZED

Drift Mine Operator Assessed $500 Penalty For Permit Violation

A Floyd county strip-mine firm, Elkhorn Industrial Products Corporation, of Drift, was fined $500 this week for violation of the Kentucky strip-mine law. It was said the Drift firm, with a mine near Orkney, had violated the permit regulation.

Six other Eastern Kentucky mining firms were assessed fines for the same offense. One Harlan county firm was fined $1,000, a Bell county company, $600 and another Harlan operation in an operation in Pike county was assessed with a tentative settlement of $250. Two firms, one in Letcher county and the other in Whitley county, were fined $100 each.

The violations involved never having a permit, allowing an existing permit to expire, or extending mining to adjacent land outside the permit area, according to George Rabe, assistant Kentucky Attorney-General. All seven operators now have permits, Rabe said.

Six of the penalties were paid after Rabe filed complaints in the Franklin Circuit Court and the seventh was paid before suit was filed. Two Harlan county firms have been issued notices of non-compliance and penalties are being negotiated. The Division of Strip-Mining and Reclamation initiated a program of tree planting last spring on spoil banks in Eastern Kentucky counties. Fall programs are planned in Harlan, Bell and Perry counties.

Ottis Spurlock Named To Study Curriculum

Ottis D. Spurlock, formerly of this county, has been appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Michigan to serve as a member of the Michigan Cooperative Curriculum Committee to study and make revisions of the school curriculum.

He will serve on the Language Arts sub-committee and will be concerned with reading, writing, speaking and listening skills. The work will begin with a two-day workshop at Boyne Mountain Falls Lodge and continue with monthly meetings held in various places in the state.

Mr. Spurlock formerly was principal of Prestonsburg high school and a supervisor of instruction of Floyd county schools. (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

Local Board Members Awarded Certificates

Six members of Selective Service Board No. 166, Prestonsburg, were awarded five-year appreciation certificates by Colonel Everett S. Stephenson, state director of selective service, Friday, October 2, in the office of the local board.

The six were appointed when the local board was originated in 1959. Colonel Stephenson stated that it was the first time he had had the honor of presenting five-year certificates to six uncompensated members of the same local board. Receiving their certificates were Marshall Davidson, Prestonsburg, appeal agent; Clive Akers, of Drift; Harry T. Hill, Prestonsburg, chairman of the board; O. C. Howell, of Allen. Not present at the presentation were Mike Little, of Melvin, and John Crit Wells, of Wayland.

NOCTURNAL VANDALS HIT CARS AND FIRMS

The identity of nocturnal prowlers who have damaged automobiles and business houses in at least three Floyd county communities was sought by peace officers this week.

Worst of the depredations came last Friday night when a dozen autos were damaged here, most of them with windshields or windows smashed, and plate glass fronts of two business buildings were broken.

The same night, glass fronts of four businesses at Allen were smashed. These are Laven's Garage (for the second time), Conley's Furniture Store, Stewart's 10c Store and the Johnson Motor Company. At Emma, midway between Prestonsburg and Allen, the same damage was inflicted to the store building of James B. Goble.

RULES DEATH BY SUICIDE

Coroner's Jury Finds Garrett Man's Death Was Self-Inflicted

Death of Earl Wallen, 46, mine machine operator, who died of a bullet wound at his Garrett home, early Saturday morning, was declared a suicide by a jury empaneled by Coroner James J. Carter, shortly after the shooting.

Wallen was shot through his head, the bullet passing from the right side to the left, behind the forehead. Coroner Carter said that when he, Sheriff Henry C. Hale and others arrived at the home, Wallen sat, sprawled on a living-room couch, the .22-calibre revolver from which the bullet was fired lying across his legs. Powder burns marked the point where the bullet entered his head.

Because of charges made here, several weeks ago, by Wallen's daughters against their father, authorities investigated the death. Fingerprint prints of the man were taken by State Detective Chester D. Potter, and these will be checked against prints on the revolver. The charges against Wallen were subsequently filed away.

Mrs. Wallen said she was in the kitchen when the shot was fired, around 5:30 a.m. Authorities quoted her as saying other members of the family were in bed, asleep.

The victim was an employee of the Johnson Mining Company, of Garrett, and was a son of Lee and Elizabeth Radliff Wallen, of Garrett. Survivors, in addition to his widow, Mrs. Rhoda Frasure Wallen, include 12 sons and daughters: Glidden, Carlos Ray and Harlos Wallen, all of Garrett; Mrs. Deloris Smith, of Mousie; Mrs. Birdie Howard, of Drusilla; Jean Wilma Joyce, Janice, Marcella Gay, Thelma Faye, Zelma Gay and Wanda Louise, all of Garrett. He also leaves four brothers and five sisters: Beveridge Wallen, Kendallville, Indiana; Lawrence Wallen, Garrett; Russell Wallen, Estill; Eugene Wallen, Minth, Michigan; Mrs. Girdie Vanderpool, Wayland; Mrs. Artie Patrick, Minth, Michigan; Mrs. Virgie Shepherd, Mrs. Bertha Wright and Mrs. Audrey Hicks, all of Garrett.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m. Monday by the Rev. Bert Howard and others, and burial was made in the Wallen cemetery at Garrett under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

MAYO DIES AT HOSPITAL

Heart Attack Claims Retired Civil Engineer; Rites Held Wednesday

Henry Lewis Mayo, Sr., 77, retired Prestonsburg civil engineer, died Sunday at 11:50 p.m. at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Death was due to a heart attack with which he was stricken several days earlier.

Mr. Mayo was a veteran of World War I and served as county surveyor for several terms. He was a member of the Methodist church.

He received the A.B. degree from East Texas Normal College, Commerce, Texas, and after graduating from Valparaiso (Ind.) University in 1915 with a degree in pharmacy he for a time owned and operated a drugstore here. Mr. Mayo was a faculty member of Floyd county's first high school and taught the first year Latin class in Eastern Kentucky.

A son of John D. and Anna Porter Mayo, he was married to Maude Salisbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Salisbury.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two sons and a daughter: James Mayo, Russell Springs, Ky.; Henry Lewis Mayo, Jr., Paintsville, and Mrs. Ruth Goebel, Prestonsburg; four sisters, Mrs. G. W. Curmutte Ashland, Mrs. Anna Allen, Lexington, Mrs. Lucille Herndon and Mrs. Homer Salisbury, both of Prestonsburg, and Miss Maurine Mayo, Washington, D. C.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the First Methodist church, the Revs. Adrian J. Roberts and W. D. Jagers officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery at Lancer under direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

3 PRECINCTS ARE CREATED

Robinson Announces New Registrant Total; 200 Ask Absentee Vote

With the creation of three new precincts, Floyd county's voters will cast their November election ballots at 41 precincts, County Clerk C. Ollie Robinson said this week.

The new precincts are Prater Creek No. 39, which includes all of Prater Creek and Rice Branch to the Big Sandy River; Branham's Creek No. 40, covering all of Branham's Creek and Beech Grove No. 42, which includes Eastern Goose Creek and Brush Creek from the Miles Gibson farm to the Ky. 80 bridge at Midas.

Robinson said 611 persons have registered to vote since the registration books were opened in June. To date, fewer than 200 have applied for absentee ballots. The deadline for filing application for absentee ballot is midnight, Oct. 15, he said. Applications may be picked up at the County Clerk's office.

Robert Ranier, of Prestonsburg, Dewey Lake water patrolman for the Division of Boating, and Mrs. Elsie Holbrook, of Middle Creek, suffered head injuries when the Ranier car and an auto driven by Byrd Poe, of Brainard, collided last Wednesday at the Dairy Queen here. Both automobiles were badly damaged.

Rickey, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis, was slightly injured Tuesday afternoon when hit by an auto driven by Mrs. Lucille Whitaker, of the Middle Creek road, near the Court and Lake Drive traffic light. Three minor auto collisions occurred here during the day.

ASC HEADS ARE NAMED

Harry Hill Reelected Chairman of Committee To Administer Program

Harry T. Hill, West Prestonsburg, Roe Turner, of Drift, and Add Scott, of Amba, were named members of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee Saturday, Sept. 25 at a convention of delegates held here. Mr. Hill was reelected chairman.

Delegates from the five Floyd county communities of Right Beaver Creek, Left Beaver Creek, Mud Creek, Middle Creek and Cow Creek, were elected Sept. 21 by the farmers in the conservation program. The three-man committee named by them at the convention will administer the ASC program for the ensuing year. They assumed office Oct. 1.

Named by the farmers at the five polling places were: (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

NEW SCHOOL HOURS SET

Board of Education Employs Substitutes, Gives Bridge Contract

The Floyd County Board of Education, at its regular monthly meeting Saturday, took action to alleviate possible hardship to teachers and pupils due to inclement weather by setting the school day back one-half an hour. School will open 30 minutes later than usual and dismiss that much later. It was a move that had been under consideration for some time.

Seven substitute teachers were employed on the recommendation of Superintendent Charles F. Clark. These are Mary Lee Shockley, Pet Salisbury, Henry Wright, Alex Patton, Jr., Judith Hackworth, Garnet Moore and Gladys Stepp. Roger Keathley was employed as regular bus driver.

Clark was authorized by the board to advertise for the purchase of a two-ton panel truck to be used in food distribution to the various school lunchrooms. Two old used buses were sold by the board on bids. Purchasers were Owens Texaco station and Glenn Holbrook. Purchase prices were $252.50 and $295 respectively.

A contract to construct a bridge over Middle Creek at the Charles F. Clark elementary school was awarded to Porter Construction Company, of Allen. The low bid submitted was $13,950.

W. W. Burchett, board attorney, was authorized to sue in the board's name to recover damages from J. D. Browning Roofing Company, of Harlan. It is said that a roof installed by the firm on the Prestonsburg high school classroom addition was defective.

KIWANIS CLUB SETS DATE FOR GILT SHOW

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club has set Saturday, October 24, as the date when the results of a new club project will be viewed here and when an old undertaking will be renewed to raise funds with which to continue further work.

The date will mark the first 4-H Club gilt show, and at the same time the annual Aunt Jemima Pancake Day will be held. The gilt show, at which 29 4-H Club boys and girls will be exhibiting their Yorkshire gilts which they received this year in a pig-chain project, will be held on the Prestonsburg grade school grounds. Pancake Day, an annual Kiwanis Club fund-raising event, will be held in the lunchroom of the school.

The pigs were given the 4-Hers by the Kiwanians, with the understanding that one pig from each litter farrowed would be returned to the club, those pigs in turn to go to other 4-H Club members and thus establish a growing chain of purebred pigs in the county. The club has been assisted in this work by Assistant County Agent Jack Friar. The club advertises its Pancake Day as the time when $1 will get you all the pancakes with syrup, sausage, eggs, orange juice, coffee or milk you can eat. K. J. Bowles, who himself is a one-time county agent, is heading the pig-chain project for the club.

STATE FAILS TO EMPANEL MURDER JURY

Martin County Jury To Be Summoned Here In Roy Salisbury Case

The Commonwealth gave up last Wednesday night on its efforts to empanel a Floyd county jury for the trial of Roy Salisbury, accused slayer of three, and Circuit Judge Hollie Conley set the case for trial here Nov. 9, with a Martin county jury to decide Salisbury's fate.

It was directed that 150 residents of Martin county be summoned for possible jury service in the trial of the case. (The procedure followed in procuring the jury for the trial is this: Circuit Judge Hollie Conley will make demand on the judge of the Martin Circuit court and the latter will draw 150 names from the Martin county jury drum, after which they will be summoned by Floyd Sheriff Henry C. Hale.)

The reluctant admission that a jury could not be qualified from this county was made after a night session Wednesday. In all, 763 had been summoned to appear here for possible jury service, and of these 370, plus the regular jury panel, had been examined. Willingness to vote the death penalty, if the evidence justified it, was a main point demanded by the Commonwealth for qualification of jurors. This point, the matter of a fixed opinion in the case having been reached by veniremen and the question of kinship to the defendant and the victims rendered difficult, if not impossible, the empanelling of a jury of Floyd countians.

Salisbury was on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Roy R. Denney.

Those examined for jury service were paid $5 when they applied at the Circuit Clerk's office for payment with the exception of some who reside within the corporate limits of Prestonsburg. The Attorney General's office held that unless they actually did jury service residents of Prestonsburg were not entitled to compensation.

Art Leach Is Named To Forestry Position

State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlock announced last week the creation of two new positions in the State Forestry Division, in an effort to "streamline" Kentucky's forest management program.

Named area management foresters are two former district foresters, Art Leach, of Prestonsburg, and Ray Swatzyna, Mayfield.

"These new positions provide us with supervisory level between the Forestry Division's central staff here and the eight district foresters, and will help provide closer co-ordination of the management services to Kentucky's landowners," Matlock said.

Matlock said the state has been divided into western and eastern management areas, with each of the new men responsible for one area. Each area comprises four forestry districts.

Leach will supervise the eastern area which will be headquartered in the present district office at Prestonsburg. Named to replace him in that office is Charles Foster, now a service forester at Murray in the western district and a graduate of the University of Syracuse, New York.

State Forestry Director Gene L. Butcher said the two area foresters will "aid in an expanded training program for service foresters and in providing better services in technical guidance and recommendations of the best-known forestry practices to Kentucky's landowners."

APPLE FRITTERS

Apples top the list of plentiful foods for October. Here's a suggestion for serving them, given by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists. Add diced apples to a basic sweet fritter batter; then drop the mixture by teaspoonfuls into hot fat. Fry about four minutes, or until fritters are golden brown. Drain, roll in powdered sugar or a cinnamon-sugar mixture, and serve.

CLASH FRIDAY

Paintsville and Pikeville sent their football teams into action at Pikeville Friday night, and to the winner will probably go the Class A, Third region, district 2 crown. The Panthers pace the playoff race with three wins without a loss and have won six games overall. Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers have won both starts in regional play and have yet to have their goal line crossed. They have a 0-0 tie with Louisa marring an otherwise perfect record.

Larry Wells, 17-year-old senior end, was acclaimed "Black Cat Player-of-the-Week" in the Black Cats' 20-0 romp over Louisa last Friday. Wells grabbed a touchdown pass and was on the receiving end of three others. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Wells, and a nephew of Black Cat basketball coach, Jack P. Wells.

The Paintsville Country Club has scheduled a "Lefty-Righty" golf tournament for Sunday, October 25. Handicaps must be certified by home course pro and presented to Paintsville pro Glenn Walke by 10 a.m., October 25. Each left-handed player will play with a righthander.

This season's Morehead State College football team is acclaimed the school's best since the great 1946 team. The ease with which the Eagles maulled Tennessee Tech last Saturday afternoon makes Guy Penny's charges the leading favorite for the Ohio Valley Conference crown.

The new 10,000 seat Breathitt Sports Center is second in the state only to McLean Stadium on Stoll Field at the University of Kentucky, and it is expected to be filled to capacity October 17, when dedication ceremonies will take place and the Eagles meet the Auisin Peay Governors at 2:30 p.m.

The Prestonsburg high school homecoming activities will center around the Black Cat M. C. Napier football game on Friday, October 23. The homecoming dance will be in the fieldhouse on the following night.

EAST. KY. GRID POWERS FACE "WEEK OF DECISION"

This is the "Week of Decision" for three Eastern Kentucky high school football teams as regional races in the area should be decided.

Pikeville's unbeaten Panthers pace the Third region, District 2 standings in the Class A playoff race, now that they eliminated Fleming-Neon by an 18-6 count last week-end.

Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers jumped into second place in the same district by thumping Morgan County, 32-0, last Friday.

Turning to the Class AA, Fourth region, District 2 battle, Hazard and Jenkins will settle their gridiron differences in the Perry county seat, Friday night.

Hazard has won the regional playoffs every year, except last year when they were forced to forfeit three games which cost them the title. By virtue of one of these games, Jenkins became regional champ but lost to Corbin in the first game of the playoffs.

Hazard, who conquered Lexington Lafayette in its last outing, paces the district with a 4-0 mark as compared with the Cavaliers' 2-0 slate. These are the only unbeaten district teams.

In other action over the past week-end of play, Prestonsburg belted Louisa, 20-0; Wheelwright bowed to London, 33-0; Belfry downed M. C. Napier, 28-8; Whitesburg and Jenkins fought to a scoreless deadlock in a sea of mud, and Jack Hall's Elkhorn City Cougars whipped Leslie County, 34-7, for their fifth triumph against a lone one-point setback to Fleming-Neon.

Junior quarterback Steve Clark had a hand in all the Prestonsburg scoring as the Black Cats won their second game of the season. The agile youngster whipped a 20-yard scoring aerial to end Larry Wells in the first period, then in the second sped 60 yards in three inches of mud for the second six-pointer of the game. In the final quarter he moved into the end zone from six yards out. Senior halfback Gary Geble tallied the two extra points.

Paintsville had little difficulty with Morgan County in posting its third successive triumph without relinquishing a point. The Tigers raced to a 13-0 halftime margin on a 42-yard punt return and a Marty Tackas pass to end James Tackett that covered 25 yards. Mike Crace kicked the point after touchdown. Halfback Paul Paok added another in the third period on a five-yard run and in the fourth Tackas whipped a 14-yard scoring aerial to Charles Mullins. Substitute quarterback Lefe Daniels connected with Rex Sublett for the final td.

Thus Pikeville and Paintsville will enter their Friday night fray with unblemished records.

Alice Lloyd Is Victor In Federal Court Case

The Caney Creek Community Center and Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes emerged the victors last week from the trial in federal court at Pikeville of cases filed against them by two former instructors.

Directed verdicts were given the defendants in all actions against the college except those in which the teachers sought to recover salaries lost when they were dismissed. One of the suits thus disposed of was the $100,000 slander complaint filed against the college by the two former teachers, George J. Loeser and Raymond Packer. The jury disagreed in the slander suit filed against William Hayes, director of the college.

The suits were filed in December, 1961 after a student strike had interrupted normal work at the famed Knott county institution. Loeser and Packer claimed Hayes and the college had made damaging statements about them in connecting them with the trouble with the students.

Joe Hobson and Paul E. Hayes, Prestonsburg attorneys, represented Mr. Hayes and the college.

A fitted jacket, also of brocade satin, had long sleeves pointed at the hands. Her veil of illusion was fastened to a jeweled tiara. She carried a white Bible with white orchid and satin streamers attached.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Carl Day. She wore a short, light-blue brocade skirt, with jacket, and carried a basket of white carnations. Maids were Miss Linda Hale and Miss Delores Derossett. Miss Hale and Miss Derossett wore dresses of pink and green chiffon with very full skirts, street-length, and head bands of the same material with colored veils attached, and carried baskets of white carnations.

Mr. John Rodebaugh, brother of the bride, served Mr. Setser as best man. The ushers were Thomas Derossett and Eugene Price.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Westminster street. he told of the boy who went barefoot till almost Christmas-time, only to weaken at last and agree to put on a pair of socks and shoes. Well, it seems to have been a mistake to do this, for pretty soon the boy developed a limp. His mother watched him with concern and suggested a doctor. Finally the youngster, after favoring the leg for a month, made his decision. "Maw," he said, "I'm gonna pull off my shoe and sock and take a look."

He did—and learned the truth about his malady. He had been walking on an English walnut since the day he quit going barefoot.

He pointed out that requests for management services from landowners has grown to the point where nearly 5,000 requests were handled by the division during the past 12 months.

Forest management services include such activities as marking timber for cutting, providing assistance in tree planting on idle lands in cooperation with the U. S. Agricultural Conservation Program, and examining forest property and recommending improvements through good management practices.

Butcher said the area foresters will be under the direct supervision of Associate Forestry Director Harry Nadler, who is in charge of the forest management program.

He pointed out that the new positions are similar to the division's two area fire control supervisor positions established about five years ago.

"The success of those positions in coordinating fire control activities of the eight forestry districts with the central office prompts us to believe that the area management program will provide most satisfactory results," he said.

Leach, who will be in charge of the Eastern area, received the Bachelor's degree from the University of New Hampshire. He was with the U. S. Forest Service for five years, serving as junior forester and later as ranger. He joined the Kentucky Forestry Division in 1958 and was named district forester at Prestonsburg in 1960. He is married to the former Caroline Forristall.

Fall Foliage Fantasy, Slated October 13-15

Kentucky's autumn mountain beauty will be featured in the next special package program offered by the State Parks Department.

State Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell said the Fall Foliage Fantasy, October 13-15 at Natural Bridge State Park, near Slade, will be filled with nature and photography.

Guided by the park's naturalist, the guests will tour the Land of Natural Bridges by car. There also will be a hike for those who enjoy walking in the crisp autumn air.

Color movies and other special programs will be presented both Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Bell said.

A photo contest also is planned, and guests are urged to bring their best pictures. Guests also are reminded to bring their cameras for photos of all the colors of autumn in the Cumberlands.

Bell said the $25 per person rate includes (double occupancy) for Tuesday and Wednesday nights, six meals, and all the planned activities.

Throughout October, horse vacationers are being offered at Pennyryle Forest State Park, near Dawson Springs, and at Pine Mountain State Park, near Pineville. Overnight guests can stall for free their own horses at either park. Park facilities will be available to the owners at the regular lodge prices, $8 single and $12 double, plus meals.

EXPANDED STAMP PROGRAM ENVISIONED BY GOVERNOR

Kentucky is making application to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for expansion of the federal-state food stamp program in an additional 17 counties, Governor Edward T. Breathitt announced last week.

Breathitt said the necessary requests for inclusion of counties in the food-stamp program have been received and have been recommended to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the following order:

Owsley, Breathitt, Magoffin, Martin, Knox, Leslie, Menifee, Bell, Elliott, Johnson, Morgan, Edmonson, Letcher, Pike, Carter, Harlan and Rowan.

All of the counties except Edmonson, the last to apply, are located in Eastern Kentucky.

The Governor said he has pledged the necessary amount of money from his contingency fund to augment funds available from the counties for meeting the administrative costs of the program. Breathitt also said a proposal will be made to the next session of the Kentucky General Assembly to establish a regular source of funds for the new counties.

At present, Floyd, Knott and Perry counties are operating a food-stamp program which is administered for the Department of Agriculture by the Kentucky Department of Economic Security's public assistance offices.

Breathitt said the current state budget carries funds to continue the program in the three counties which now have established food-stamp programs.

The initial use of food-stamps in Kentucky came in Floyd county in 1961 under a pilot project spurred by the late President John F. Kennedy. Knott and Perry counties applied for the program in 1962 and were approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at a time of a slight general expansion in the program.

The main advantage between the food-stamp program and the distribution of surplus foods is the change it brings by adding fresh produce to the diets of the families concerned, Breathitt declared. An important side effect, Breathitt pointed out, is the economic help which it provides for the local community in adding to the amount of money spent in local stores.

Breathitt also said the food-stamp program gives the families more pride and initiative in being able to select their own foods at retail stores of their own choosing.

The Governor pointed to a set of seven economic indicators which have been used in giving the U. S. Agriculture Department the ranking of the 17 additional counties recommended.

He said these were: percentage of public assistance recipients as compared with total population; percentage of persons certified for Agriculture Department surplus foods; percent of families with less than $3,000 annual income; ratio of personal income which is based upon such programs as federal social security benefits (transfer payments); the 1963 average monthly rate of unemployment in the county; and the percentage of out-migration from the county between 1950 and 1960.

Breathitt said the Agriculture Department will decide which counties will be included in the expansion of the food-stamp program, made possible by passage of the Food Stamp Act of 1964 this month. He pointed to the fact that while reliable statistical factors were used in ranking the counties on the basis of need, the Agriculture Department may also consider other factors.

The Governor said the food-stamp program offers needy families a means of expanding their buying power. Families will be certified on the basis of needs tests which are consistent with the state public assistance program.

Pikeville College Sets
Founders Day Program;
Pageant Is Scheduled

Founder's Day at Pikeville College is being observed today (Thursday), a date which also is being celebrated as the Diamond Jubilee of the college.

Beginning with an address by Kenneth G. Neigh, general secretary of the Board of National Missions, United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., at 11 a.m., in Faith Chapel, the day will be marked by open house in the dormitories and in the new buildings until three in the afternoon.

Highlighting the day's activities will be the dedication of the Mary I. Spillman Building at 1:30 in the afternoon. The dedicatory exercises will be led by Dr. James W. Angell, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

A reception for visitors and students will be held at the home of President and Mrs. B. H. Jarman beginning at 3 p.m.

A pageant depicting scenes from the 75 years of college history will be presented in Faith Chapel at 8 p.m. The Peach Orchard Players, under the direction of Mrs. Christine Goodman and Dean Howard Hoover, will narrate the history and enact the scenes.

Immediately following the pageant, a reception will be held by the Pikeville College Alumni Association for faculty, students and guests.

Former Lackey Man
Makes Musical Debut
In "The Music Man"

Jackie Wicker, a former resident of Lackey, made his musical debut September 30 in the American Light Opera Company's production of "The Music Man" at the Trinity Theatre in Washington, D. C.

This marked Jack's twelfth appearance on the Washington stage in the past year. He regards as his greatest personal and professional triumph his portrayal of Captain Joseph Connors, an American G. I. turned traitor in Korea, in the Andrews Players' production of "Time Limit."

Wicker is completely self-taught in all phases of the theatre, singing and many techniques of the dance, including ballet. He recently played the lead role, that of the "Stage Manager," in "Our Town" at Washington's outdoor Sylvan Theatre before nightly crowds of 5,000.

In "Music Man" Wicker holds the distinction of being the only cast member picked both for the chorus and as a dancer, having been selected over approximately 90 other dancers.

A FOLK DRUGSTORE

In many of the restorations of older types of stores just about everything has been attempted. But I want to suggest something that I have not seen tried as yet, a folk drugstore. I do not mean just a reconstruction of an old-fashioned apothecary shop, as older people would have called it, folksy as that would have been. My type of store would include some of the items of such a store but also many other things that even these quaint establishments did not have.

Suppose we start out with bottled stuff. There would be a bottle of burdock bitters, another one of wild-cherry bark bitters, another of sulphur and molasses, and on and on, not forgetting pokeberry wine and pokeberry bitters (one pokeberry to a quart of whiskey. But there would also be a bottle of stump water, with elaborate directions of how to apply it to freckles, pimples, and other blemishes on the skin. And there would be a good-sized bottle of branch water, so that visitors could see just how weak said branch water was and is. A bottle or jar of home-made soap would be on hand, to show how common and ugly it is and what the simile means when used about it. Since I do not know just how to arrange a display of home-made sin, also used in a simile. I do not know whether to put it among the bottles or elsewhere. Judging by the simile, I must think it pretty ugly. Maybe I'd have to have a photograph of someone who was just that ugly.

Among the dried specimens would be some mullein leaves, used for smokes and for the treatment of nasal troubles. And good old rabbit tobacco would be on hand, too, with its ever-present attack on catarrh. A package of the dried inside linings of chicken gizzards would assure tiny babies of a remedy for bad digestion, and even older people could find in this package a relief from their dyspepsia. Some Indian turnip roots, properly dried and ready to be grated, would suggest treatment for cramp colic.

It would be necessary to have some growing things, too, so that this folk drugstore would have to have, in a back garden, a sort of thriving herbarium rather than a dried one. There would be milkweed, with its astringent juice to put on warts; and Osage orange to furnish sap for the same remedy. Some healthy elder stalks could supply leaves to put into your hat to prevent sunstroke and some berries for elderberry tea, useful in the treatment of many diseases. Of course, some slippery elm trees would be necessary, to supply that sticky inner bark that cures just about everything. And it would be necessary for me, or some other Doctor of Folk Medicine, to be on hand to see that slippery elm and other barks are peeled downward if they are to relieve troubles of the abdomen and upward if they are to bring comfort to a patient suffering from lung or other troubles that affect the chest and throat. Imagine the tragedy of having some ignoramus peeling the bark the wrong way; he ought to be sued for malpractice. This same arborvitae should have some peach-trees, for the bark of those trees and the gum exuding from them work wonders and near miracles. In a sort of kitchen garden you could have tansy, and ground ivy, and parsley, and horseradish, and plenty of onions (for poultices). If you were a heathen, you could erect a small monument or bust to some Greek god of health, who saw to it that poor human beings had, right in the woods and gardens, remedies that assure health and long life.

Inside the drugstore there would be cans and jars and packages of other standbys: sulphur, lard, mutton tallow, cornsilk, red-oak bark, white walnut bark, poke roots (shredded), dock seeds, turpentine, beeswax, salt, pepper (red and black), snuff, tobacco (to be chewed and placed on insect bites), and dozens more of the remedies that our ancestors practiced and had complete faith in. I am afraid that my suggested drugstore has grown so big by now that I will have to solicit the financial aid of some philanthropic millionaire to help me make it a reality. Anyway, wouldn't you like to see just such a store?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

VOTE AMERICAN

It has come the time and age and era for all Americans to Vote American. It is high time to get off the old horse we have been riding, such as "My Ma and Pa are Democrats or Republicans and so am I." We must vote in a way which will force the politicians to quit their corrupt games of graft, greed and shenanigans, and make them think about the real welfare of our country. There's no use of the taxpayers working their heads off just to make a new crop of politicians rich every four years. The politician should be qualified and earn what he gets.

There are some real sound things that need to be done for America, and some very unsound things that need to be undone. Or we are heading for chaos on a one-way street. Can we always take and never give? We must work for a living. We must give to nature and assist nature, and nature will reward us well in return. Even the Holy Bible tells us we must work for our living. The following is a plan that could be used by our elected officials.

Statistics say we have approximately seventy million people working in the United States today. Many employers are being taxed four percent to the dollar on each wage dollar they pay out to support unemployment insurance. Now if all labor paid would be taxed four percent paid by the employer and four percent paid by the employee, the following could be done: Seventy million employees earn an average of $15 per day, or one billion and fifty million dollars per day, then eight percent of this would be eighty-four million dollars per day, the eight percent coming from the employer and employee. The five million statistics says that our unemployed could be put to work at eight dollars per day, one dollar per hour which would be forty million dollars. The other forty million could be used in materials to work with and management. These workers could do improvement jobs on nature, cleaning streams, irrigation, forest service (fire fighting, setting out new trees, building fire lanes and roads), by improving the forests we conserve and purifying our water supply. We could improve parks and rural roads. We could do land reclamation from swamps, deserts, old lake beds, we could seed flooded or eroded terrain to save the soil from washing away. Many things we could do with this plan. And fifty-two weeks at five days equal two hundred and sixty days times 84 million equal $21,840,000,000 going into the economy, which would be a rousing stimulation.

It can be done, we need it, and by all means it should be done.

Business and labor would gain by the eight percent investment as this money would circulate back to them, which would create more private industry jobs. The government would be relieved of an unemployment burden, they could in time cut taxes, giving private enterprise and labor more take-home money. At the same time, nature is getting a great improvement and in time will reward our program by re-producing to us ten fold.

At the same time, we will have people with money, real money in their pockets, not food stamps and commodities, and, best of all, they can buy what they want, where they want it. This all beats the one-way road of a government feeding millions of people, making them useless, unproductive, meaningless, and at the same time doing nothing for the welfare of our country. And in the meantime, we continue to rob our country of its resources. We gut the land and we skin it, we suck it dry. What will we have in another fifty years at the rate we are going? No other power on earth would try to take our country, they wouldn't have an empty bag.

With the work plan, even more millions of people could get paid to go to school who could train for jobs to be good, efficient workers for private industry and when they qualify they could take higher paying jobs in industry and get off of the survival plan. This would be doing private industry great good as they could call upon the schools for skilled students of all trades to take over jobs, thereby alleviating private industry of the burden and expense of training them. The four percent paid each by employer and employee would be a wonderful investment for industry, labor and government and natural improvements which would make America a far more wonderful place to live in—strong, independent, lively and resourceful.

By all means we need a sound program like this to add to our economy. We can't keep on giving and giving and giving. We are heading for chaos or naught in the direction we have been traveling. We are robbing our natural resources and polluting or contaminating it. We are also robbing the initiative of the ones supporting this disgraceful dole-out system. Nature cannot keep on giving, neither can the few that are working and supporting this gimmick government. Working, industrious people are tired of making an income and have half of it taken and given to the drifters, schemers, lobbyists, bums and work-dodgers.

I say as Captain John Smith said, "Have a plan for every man, and if he will not work, he shall not eat."

MAYTOWN

An outstanding feature of the annual Fall Flower Show here September 20 was the participation by the Home Economics department of Maytown high school. Mrs. Joyce Stewart and her girls entered two classes, table settings and artistic arrangements, using artificial flowers. There were more than 50 entries in flowers and 12 different table settings.

Payla Mullins and Diana Salisbury both received blue ribbons in a special display class. Other arrangements were divided by colors and judged first, second and third by the regular flower show judges from the Rose Garden Club of West Liberty, who were impressed with this idea of giving beginning homemakers the opportunity to participate in this type of activity.

Purple—Dottie Pitts, Margaret Marshall and Lilly Brannan; Roses—Lorene Vanderpool, Mary Howell, Julia Ann Huff; red—Betty Risner, Pamela Marshall, Isania Moore; orange—Mary Patton, Patricia Hicks, Judy Salisbury; white—Linda Hayes, Isania Moore, Margaret Marshall; mixed white and orange—Judy Ratliff, Carol Sue Reed, Willa Dean Frasure; mixed—Willa Dean Jarrell, Bertha Adkins, Willa Dean Frasure.

A table setting for each month of the year was the theme used for this year's show. The tables were judged on individual merit by Margaret Borders and Sandra Hicks. Ribbons awarded were blue (first), red (second) and white (third):

January—New Year's dinner, Sharon Webb, red; February—Lincoln Day luncheon, Sue Bentley, Clara Sturgill, red; March—St. Patrick's Day dinner, Jennifer Martin, white; April Showers theme, Margaret Hoover, Mary Nutter, red; May—Mother's Day breakfast, Lorena Hall, Nyoka Bentley, red; June—Breakfast, Nyoka Bentley, red; August—Patio supper, Shirley Sisco, Veronica Sisco, red; September—Schoolyard lunch, Phyllis Martin, Linda Tyler, white; October—Hallowe'en party, Valedia Frasure, Deborah Frasure, white; November—Thanksgiving Day dinner, Jackie Stone, blue; December—Christmas dinner, Bonnie Prater, Lorena Hall, blue.

For her November table Jackie Sue Stone received the "Best in Show." Lorena Hall and Ruth Ann Burchett were awarded a blue ribbon for their entry, Graduation Reception, which was not part of the Home Economics class work.

Plans for next year are being considered with table settings from different countries being the theme most discussed.

KENTUCKY'S OLDEST MAN

Who was Kentucky's oldest person? There seems to be little doubt that it was either Moses Stepp, of Martin county, or John Gilbert, of Clay county. Both were Revolutionary War soldiers.

Joe Creason, Courier-Journal columnist, took two flings at the question in his column. His first article, follows.

"I've heard many a story in these parts about some person having lived to be 130 years or older. But, I wonder, has there really been any solid evidence to support the old claims for those modern-times Methuselahs? What is the longevity record for this state?"

"Specifically, can anybody, with proof, top the 112 years attained by John Gilbert, Sr., the first white man to settle on Red Bird River in what now is Clay county? Gilbert, a Revolutionary soldier, medical doctor and Baptist minister for 60 years, is buried near where he lived on Red Bird and the marker at his grave lists his birth as 1757, his death as 1869, making 112 years total."

Later, Creason ended the search by concluding that Moses Stepp must have been the oldest man. He wrote, May 24, 1964: "My inquiry as to whether or not there have been persons in Kentucky whose longevity surpassed the 112 years lived by John Gilbert, of Clay county, has produced more than 25 replies. The Gilbert record has been bettered several times, with the 120 years of Moses Stepp, who died in 1855 in Floyd county, standing in first place at present.

"Stepp, a native of South Carolina, was a soldier in the Revolution and was captured by Indians and nailed by his ears to a tree while they prepared to torture him to death. He tore loose and escaped and in later years his disfigured ears and the hair-raising tales he told made him a familiar figure in Eastern Kentucky."

There is a doubt that Stepp, who lived and died on the Pigeon Roost Fork of Wolf Creek, Martin county, lived to be 120 years old. His grave marker, erected in recent years, says he was born 1735, died 1855. His death date is correct as attested by Revolutionary War records on file in the National Archives, Washington, D. C., but his birth date is confused. In pension affidavits it is attested that he was of certain age which is contradictory to other affidavits.

HARGIS WILL The Hargis family has been one of the most difficult of all in Eastern Kentucky to assemble information on. The late R. Lee Stewart and this columnist spent years trying to piece together the family's history. Stewart even had correspondence with a member of the family that had moved to Norway.

James Hargis came to Pike county about the time of the founding of the town, married Elizabeth Weddington and moved to the new county of Breathitt where he helped lay out Jackson. Later he helped found the town of Morehead a short time after the creation of Rowan county.

The following item on the family was clipped from The Jackson (Ky.) Times, which was reprinted from the Beattyville (Ky.) Enterprise.

"One of the oldest legal instruments on record in the office of the Lee County Clerk is the last will and testament of the late Amanda Helen Hargis filed March 2, 1874. Simpson Kelly was clerk at that time. The interesting document is reprinted here for the interest of Enterprise readers.

"I, Amanda Helen Hargis, of the county of Lee and State of Kentucky, being perfect in mind, memory and understanding, do hereby make and establish this as my last will and testament, in the name of God, Amen.

"First—I do hereby make and appoint James H. Hargis, my husband, my executor and that he shall not be required to give bond. "Second—I hereby authorize and direct him at his own will and pleasure to sell all land or other property that I now own and apply the proceeds in any way or manner he may see fit, after paying any just debts that I owe and leave all the lands and property that I now own at his disposal and give all rights and title to the same with full and complete power to make title to the same, which shall have force and effect and be binding as though I had done the same myself. I make this last will and testament and trust that he will maintain and educate my dear children, the writer believing it to be to their best interest.

"In witness whereof, I have set my hand and seal with request that I be buried according to the ways of the Christian Church and now admonish my husband, children, relatives and friends, and all that will serve God, always keep the Commandments and pray His blessings upon all. I assign my soul to Him in hopes of a bright and happy future when I can ascribe all honor and praise unto Him. Amen.

"October 29, 1873, ss: Amanda Helen Hargis. Witnesses: K. I. Hargis, David Price and N. M. Hill. Filed in Lee County Court at March Term, March 2, 1874."

FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH

This bit of history on the Free Will Baptist Church is from a tract now being distributed by Rev. John W. Conley, Allen minister and evangelist. The tract is titled "The Free Will Baptist Church In Your Community."

"The Free Will Baptist denomination is not a movement which has sprung up within the past few years. History accords a place for our movement as far back as the early seventeenth century.

"An entire church, consisting of pastor and congregation, came from Wales and settled on the Delaware River on what was known as the Welch Tract. From this group came several men who reacted strongly to the extreme Calvinistic doctrine of the day.

"One of these men, Paul Palmer, is credited with organizing the first Free Will Baptist Church in 1827 in Perquimans county, North Carolina. The work in the northeast was instituted under the leadership of Benjamin Randall, who organized the first Free Will Baptist Church in that area at Ned, Durham, New Hampshire, June 30, 1780. The General Conference of Free Will Baptists was organized in 1827."

WARD ASKS 1965 PLANS

Asks Recommendations By Jan. 1 To Get Work Begun in Early Spring

Frankfort, Ky.—With several weeks of good weather remaining for work on Kentucky's rural roads, the Department of Highways is already looking ahead to work in 1965.

The twelve district highway engineers in the state have been asked by Commissioner Henry Ward to make recommendations to him by January 1 on work to be done with state funds next year.

The Department will invite local officials to make recommendations for expenditure of state funds through the Rural Highway and Rural Secondary programs. Both programs are administered by the Highway Department, but recommendations of local officials are considered.

Ward wants the proposed county programs planned and submitted to him by the first of the year so that work may begin at the earliest possible time next spring. "In order to do this, we must begin planning these programs now," Ward said. "No plan exists in any county for either of these programs until finally approved by the Commissioner of Highways and I want plenty of time to review all recommendations before approving a program of work."

"We want the recommendations of the local officials and recommendations of all interested citizens as to the wisest expenditure of state tax funds," Ward explained, "but those improvements recommended do not necessarily represent an approved program."

Rural Secondary roads comprise a system to be improved and maintained with two cents of the seven cents state tax on each gallon of gasoline. Rural Highways make up a system of roads to be improved and maintained by the annual legislative appropriation of $10,000,000.

An equitable amount from each fund is credited each year to a program in each county. Each of the 12 highway districts in the state has a planning engineer with the responsibility of helping to recommend which roads on each of the systems most urgently need improving.

"We hope with this early planning start to accomplish a sound, professional improvement program on all our rural roads, next year and in the years to come," Ward said.

Let's Look It Over

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

Last week I dedicated a new lake—the Barren River Reservoir in Southern Kentucky on the Barren-Allen county line.

This is a U. S. Corps of Engineers project, costing about $24.5 million for the dam and reservoir. In seasonal pool the lake will cover some 10,000 acres. That's a lot of water for boaters, fishermen and others who will use this great lake for recreational purposes in the years to come. And this is just one of several new lakes finished or being constructed in Kentucky by the Corps or under our own "chain-of-lakes" program.

Kentucky has more miles of running water than any state except Alaska. There are presently several additional Corps of Engineers dams or reservoirs under construction and three in the planning stages. And there are 12 completed projects in the "chain-of-lakes" program with seven others in various construction and planning stages. These will add even more miles of water to Kentucky.

The importance of these lakes to our economy and to the conservation of Kentucky's many natural resources cannot be stressed too much. As I have already indicated, recreational use alone will bring many more tourists in the state, adding greatly to the business of those who deal with tourists—restaurant, motel and hotel operators, service station owners, and local merchants, and the employees of all of them.

Secondly, these new man-made lakes add to our industrial prospects. They offer new and replenishable sources of water to industries thinking about moving to Kentucky. Industry requires water just as much as it needs highways, railroads and mineral resources.

With the state seeking 75,000 new jobs, a close-knit system of these structures is of the utmost importance. Even construction on the dams alone adds new jobs for Kentuckians.

Most important, however, is the fact that one of the primary purposes of these new structures is flood-control. The need for flood-control is unquestionably the first criteria examined when any potential project is requested or investigated.

There is no doubt that Kentucky needs these flood-control projects. Last spring, rampaging waters caused damages estimated at $32 million. During the height of the floods, President Lyndon Johnson came to Kentucky to personally inspect the damage, and we flew, along with four other governors, over the ravaged Ohio River Valley. We saw the widespread destruction caused by floods, and later the President made federal funds available to Kentucky to help repair the public facilities that were damaged.

A great deal of this financial disaster and untold human misery could be avoided. The State Department of Natural Resources reported to me in May that if the current Corps of Engineers flood control proposals for Kentucky were authorized by Congress, financed and completed within 10 years, the state would escape major flooding in the future. This includes not only new dams and lakes, but various other projects such as floodwalls and stream channel improvement. Happily, President Johnson recently signed a bill authorizing funds for all but two projects we requested.

The proposed projects could be completed within 10 years, officials of the Natural Resources department told me, if they were pushed forward now. This would leave only a "polish-up" job to control minor flooding, much of which can be accomplished through our own "chain-of-lakes" program.

The structures already built have served the state well, and have proved their importance when we are besieged by high waters. Though the March floods caused $32 million in damages, the total would have been an estimated $56 million without the existing dams, floodwalls, and levees—including the 12 dams that have been completed under the "chain-of-lakes" program.

I hope Kentucky can build more lakes, where they are needed—whether they're the large Corps of Engineers projects or the smaller links in our own "chain." If the proposed $176 million bond issue that goes on the ballot in November, 1965, is approved by the people, I have asked that $1 million from it be set aside for small lakes development. With this we can build the still needed dams and reservoirs to supply enough water for towns, farmers, industry, tourists and sportsmen, and protect them from too much water.

4-H Clubs Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

The nation's 4-H Clubs celebrate a 50th birthday in 1964, says Jack Friar, Floyd county Extension 4-H agent. In 1914, when the Smith-Lever Act authorized the Cooperative Extension Service, the same federal legislation provided funds for 4-H Club work.

Although 4-H Clubs were originally for farm boys and girls, some two and a quarter million 4-H boys and girls from both urban and rural areas of the United States are celebrating National 4-H Club Week this week. In fact, only 47 percent of Kentucky's 83,159 4-H'ers in 1963 were farm boys and girls.

Organized club work for rural boys and girls was carried on for many years before the term "4-H" or the design of the four H's on the four-leaf clover came into use.

Many rural youth clubs were established in the last part of the last century and in the first few years of the 20th century, Friar said. These went under various names, such as boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, boys' corn clubs, girls' home culture clubs, and many others. In the period after 1902, the number of these clubs increased rapidly.

The present 4-H cloverleaf design was officially adopted at a meeting of leaders in 1911. In February, 1912, the National leaders of club work issued definite instructions for the use of this newly-a-d-o-p-t-e-d emblem. However, it was several years before this affected the names of the existing clubs.

Actually, the name "4-H Club" did not come into national use until around 1925, Friar points out. The names of the existing clubs were often long, and there was a feeling that a more uniform name was needed to identify these rural boys' and girls' clubs.

Last year Floyd county had 1,406 4-H members in 50 clubs. 4-H Clubs are located in practically every section of the county.

Vitamin Supplement To Diet of Children Of Indigents Assured

Berea, Ky., Oct. 8—Mountain school children whose parents cannot afford either a balanced diet or supplemental vitamins will receive immediate and direct aid through a donation of a leading pharmaceutical firm to the Council of the Southern Mountains, it is announced. Six million vitamin tablets are en route to the mountain workers for distribution through recognized agencies.

School teachers and superintendents, settlement officers, nurses and physicians, ministers, social workers, welfare and health officers and similar community workers will be given the vitamins upon application to the Council's Health Educator, William Suters, Jr.

This donation is in addition to the plan announced recently whereby the same company and the Council of the Southern Mountains will undertake a study of the effect of regular vitamin supplement on undernourished school children.

Driver Education Held Answer To Reducing Accidents Among Youth

The yearly toll of 5.7 million auto accidents involving youths could be reduced greatly by driver education in all high schools, according to the October Reader's Digest.

In an article, "Why Driver Education Is A Must" Paul W. Kearney estimates that if such mishaps could be cut by even 10 percent, the nation would save almost $400 million and "we could do far better than ten percent if driver education were universal."

The article warns, however, that driver education is meeting widespread opposition and has been abandoned in some communities. Such programs are under severe criticism on the grounds that they interfere with academics and are too costly.

The facts are, according to the article, that students are enthusiastic about after-school driving courses. Moreover, the expense is insignificant in comparison with the cost of accidents.

Driver education, Kearney declares, is the only proven method of reducing accidents involving youngsters. Thirty-six percent of all American youths who die between the ages of 15 and 24 are killed by car crashes, he reports.

The article is condensed from Parents' Magazine.

Kentucky Press Head Finds Classes Closed; Plans European Tour

Once upon a time the man facing retirement pictured himself as being "led into the pasture" to bide his time. This picture has changed considerably. The senior citizens in today's accelerated world are too busy to "retire."

The University of Kentucky, aware of this change, is attempting to provide for these citizens by offering free courses to all persons over 65 who wish to resume their studies.

Victor R. Portmann and his wife, Catherine, are examples of the senior citizens who are making plans to take advantage of the courses. Mr. Portmann is secretary-manager of the Kentucky Press Association and journalism professor emeritus at the University.

Because of their love for the arts, including literature, music, drama, and painting, the Portmanns applied this fall for a course in drawing and painting only to find it closed. The room for the course provides space for only a certain number of students. The Portmanns were two too many.

Quite an active man, Mr. Portmann owns nearly 2,000 books, belongs to three book clubs and a record club, and attends Lexington theatrical productions and the concert-lecture series when time permits. His wife has never attempted drawing, but hopes to learn next semester. She is a member of the UK Book Club and is active in church work.

Mr. Portmann long has been interested in sketching and painting. He claims to have started his daughter, Georgia Neeley, in her art career which has gained notable recognition.

The Portmanns are, perhaps, grateful that they are not in school this semester because during November they plan to tour Europe and visit their son, First Lt. Joslyn Portmann, 309th Infantry, in Berlin.

Mr. Portmann intends to take his camera to Europe. Having shot nearly 3,000 colored pictures in all parts of the U.S.A., he admits that taking color slides is his "real" hobby. This will be his first trip to Europe since 1918 when he was stationed in Paris during WW I. His camera will record the changes.

Completely optimistic, Victor and Catherine have decided to try for classes again next semester. They also plan to continue taking one or two courses each semester in whatever interests them at the moment.

Lexington, Ky.—Fire has been described as one of the greatest boons to man. Uncontrolled, however, it is a deadly enemy. Look at these figures: In a recent year, some 11,800 Americans were killed in fires. More than half these deaths were in home fires.

Lexington, Ky.—With the biggest apple crop since 1937—16 percent larger than last year's crop—predicted for this fall, apples head the list of foods plentiful in October, according to Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension marketing specialist.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, Brig. Gen. Basil W. Duke, who had been promoted to that rank eleven days after the death of his brother-in-law and commanding officer, Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan, was at Jonesboro, Tennessee, in command of a small group of Confederate cavalrymen, mostly Kentuckians, who made up what was left of Morgan's old division of approximately 2,500 officers and men.

In Duke's "History of Morgan's Cavalry," he says: "Immediately upon learning of General Morgan's death, General (John) Echols, then commanding the department, ordered me to take command of the brigade composed of the old soldiers—the remnant of his old division. I found this brigade reduced to 273 effective men, and armed in a manner that made it a matter of wonder how they could fight at all. There were scarcely fifty serviceable guns in the brigade, and the variety of calibers rendered it almost a matter of impossibility to keep on hand a supply of available ammunition."

"Every effort was at once instituted to collect and procure guns, and to provide suitable equipment. Daily drills and inspections soon brought the brigade into a high state of efficiency and the men longed to return to the debatable ground and try conclusions fairly with the enemy which had boasted of recent triumphs at their expense."

Other Confederate soldiers from Kentucky were in East Tennessee at the time, but were separated from Duke's command by Federal troops holding a strong position at Bull's Gap. Somewhere between Knoxville and Bull's Gap were three brigades commanded by Brig. Gen. John S. ("Cerro Gordo") Williams of Bourbon county. They had been cut off from the main body of an eight-brigade cavalry force with which Maj. Gen. Joseph Wheeler had invaded Tennessee from the south, destroying railway tracks in an attempt to keep supplies from reaching Sherman at Atlanta. They were attempting to join up with Duke's and other Confederate forces encamped near Jonesboro. One of the three brigades under Williams was commanded by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Lexington; it included his old regiment, the Ninth Kentucky cavalry, once part of Morgan's command.

Col. Breckinridge was a son of the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge, strong Unionist, who that week made a speech at Lexington, endorsing wholesale arrests being made all over Kentucky. Some said loyal persons were being taken on false charges, but the minister replied: "When Simon de Montfort was slaughtering the Protestants in the south of France, he was appealed to by certain persons declaring that his men were mistaken, that they were killing many who were good Catholics. To which he replied, 'Kill them all; God knows His own.' And this is the way we should deal with these fellows; treat them all alike, and if there are any among them who are not Rebels at heart, God will take care of them and save them at least."

NEW RESTRICTIONS

Lexington, Ky.—The U. S. Department of Agriculture said this week it is proposing new restrictions on household application of the material thallium sulfate. This chemical compound is used in baits for controlling roaches, ants and rodents. The control restrictions, the USDA says, are to give the public additional protection against possible harm from misuse of the pesticide.

Woven wire or heavy poultry netting, reinforced with boards stapled to it, can form an enclosure for the compost pile. A piece of wire three feet high and 23 feet long will hold the leaves from a five-yard capacity dump truck. One five feet high and 30 feet long will hold double that amount.
