This Town... That World

COUNTERPART ON THE WING

Time was when a fellow named Pearson published at Moravian Falls, North Carolina, THE FOOL-KILLER, THE HORNET and THE YELLOW JACKET, the latter two being national election-year jobs designed to tickle the fancies or raise the blood pressures of readers, depending upon their politics and upon which paper they happened to read. THE HORNET, as we recall, was devoted to the Democratic cause, and the YELLOW JACKET to the Republican. Both were stingers, and to hear two avid readers of each get together and start quoting was something to behold—sometimes, something to behold.

Both journals have, I suspect without regret, passed on. And now, this election year, the yellow jacket appears in the flesh—or, should we say, on the wing?—in swarms. Spare us the hornets!

LONG, HOT SUMMER

Clarence (Chigger) Lewis, of Banner, who has been engaged in clearing right-of-way for gas companies, says he believes he has survived both yellow jackets and copperheads on the company line between Daniels Creek and Maytown. The weather is getting too cool for both.

Lewis says he has no idea of the number of yellow jacket nests he has fought but he has an accurate record on the copperheads. He killed 19, and still wasn't up to his usual form. He let 12 escape.

BY YIMINY!

Consider the case of the fellow who applied for a job and explained he had been out of work for four years. Asked where he had been all that time, he replied, "Yale."

"Great!" said the personnel director. "We need college men. By the way, what's your name?"

"Yimminy Johnson."

RADIO WPRT UPS POWER

Station Application For Increased Wattage Wins Approval of FCC

Radio Station WPRT, which has been operating here since December, 1952, on 1,000 watts, will go to 5,000-watt coverage in a few days. Announcement of the approval of the station's application for the increased coverage was made Monday by the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D. C.

Exact date of the changeover is conditioned upon the installation of a transmitter, according to David Stephens, Jr., manager of the station. This should be accomplished within approximately 10 days, he said. All of the necessary equipment has arrived at the station.

It will be necessary for a consulting engineer to check out the new equipment and he is expected here last of the week. Upon his approval he will notify the FCC that the station is beginning broadcasting at the new coverage.

Stephens, manager of the station, owned and operated by the Kentucky Broadcasting Company, said that it was not necessary to make any major changes in order to go to the increased coverage.

The station made its initial broadcast December 5, 1952.

Johnson Running Mate Slates Sept. 26 Speech At Prestonsburg Meet

U. S. Senator Hubert Humphrey, running-mate of President Lyndon B. Johnson, will speak here at 2 p.m. Saturday, September 26, at a Seventh Congressional district Democratic rally, it was announced Monday by Representative W. J. Reynolds, Jr. and Circuit Clerk Frank DeRossett, co-chairmen of the Democratic campaign in this county.

The Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency will come here from Louisville, where he will speak earlier in the day. He will be introduced at the Prestonsburg rally by Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs.

Floyd county Democrats organized for the November election campaign last Friday night at a meeting held in the county courtroom of the new courthouse. Former Governor Combs addressed the gathering. Others who spoke briefly included Dr. George P. Archer, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley and practically all county officials.

Representative Reynolds and Circuit Clerk DeRossett were elected by unanimous vote of the gathering, which filled the courtroom. Also elected were co-chairmen, Miss Charlotte Mullins and Mrs. Yvonne Stumbo Jones.

Clem S. Anderson, Jr. was named campaign chairman of the Young Democratic organization. Two district chairmen also were named—Burl Wells Spurlock, of Prestonsburg, for Magisterial District 1, and Wally Cook, of Drift, for District 3. Chairmen for Districts 2 and 4 remain to be selected.

Schoolboy Injured Tuesday on Mud Cr. While Leaving Bus

A 13-year-old pupil at the John M. Stumbo elementary school at Grethel narrowly escaped death Tuesday afternoon when he was hit by a car as he and other pupils were leaving a school bus, near the mouth of the Will Hamilton Branch on Mud Creek.

The youth, Sherman Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Rogers, was hit by a jeep driven by Otis Hall, of Branham's Creek. Witnesses said he was knocked several feet into the air and that his head struck a sharp object when he hit the ground. The boy underwent surgery Tuesday night at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital and is expected to be able to return home this week.

It was claimed that Hall's brakes failed. He was cited to appear here Saturday before County Judge Henry Stumbo. The bus was driven by Clifford Hamilton, James W. Salisbury, supervisor of pupil transportation, said. The accident was investigated by State Trooper Elmo Allen.

FOUR METED PEN TERMS

Coal Run Residents Given 15 Years Each For Huffman Slaying

The four Pike countians charged in the slaying of Ervin Eugene Huffman, 28, near Paintsville, August 30, were each meted 15-year sentences in Johnson circuit court last Wednesday. The jury deliberated 12 minutes.

Convicted of stabbing Huffman to death were Rosetta Scott, 46, James Ratliff, 47, and his wife, Graphy, 31, and Willis Gene Holloway, 21, all of Coal Run, Fred Holloway, 68, father of Willis Gene, was not charged and was presented as a material witness. Mrs. Scott is the mother of Mrs. Ratliff. The elder Holloway formerly resided on Mare Creek.

Huffman's body was discovered in the rear seat of an automobile which had been halted at 5:30 p.m. on August 30 by Paintsville police. He had been stabbed through the heart. The victim was a student at Mayo Vocational School.

None of the Pike group admitted stabbing Huffman or seeing him stabbed. The Commonwealth presented no eyewitnesses. The group had traveled around the county in a car in Pike, Floyd and Johnson counties, on Saturday night and Sunday preceding the tragedy. State Police reported that an investigation disclosed the stabbing occurred on U. S. 460 west of Paintsville.

The work of procuring the jury began Monday and was completed Tuesday afternoon. Judge W. D. Sparks, who was presiding, found it necessary Monday afternoon to summon a new panel of veniremen after the first had been exhausted.

The four are in the Johnson county jail, pending appeal.

Two Floyd Countians Pass Bar Examination, Are Newest Attorneys

Albert Archer Burchett and Burl Wells Spurlock are Floyd county's newest attorneys after passing the recent state bar examination.

Mr. Spurlock is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Spurlock, of Prestonsburg. Mr. Burchett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler Burchett, reside at Sugar Loaf.

Both of the young attorneys are graduates of the University of Kentucky.

NEW JAIL OCCUPIED FIRST TIME SUNDAY

At least one person doesn't prefer the conveniences of the new courthouse to the old.

He is a prisoner, one of 26 who were moved, last Sunday noon, from the old jail to the new on the third floor of the new building.

"Don't like this place a ---- bit," he commented when asked about it. "We don't have near the liberty we had over at the old jail."

Jailer Lawrence Hale said that he is able to turn off the lights of the new jail at bedtime, interrupting the prisoners' poker game. "Over at the old jail, I was afraid to

Allen, "Run Over" by Train, Suffers No Serious Injuries

Edward "Papoose" Allen was "run over" by a train at Maytown last Thursday night, and crewmen and those who knew of the accident shuddered to think what would be found when the ambulance arrived. Two diesel engines and six cars had passed over Allen.

The engineer had seen a man ahead on the tracks, but could not stop the train in time to avert what he foresaw as certain tragedy. When Estill Newsome, ambulance driver for the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, arrived at the scene, near the trestle above the railway crossing at Maytown, he wondered if he should send for the "disaster bag."

But when Newsome and Miles

McGarey crawled beneath the train Allen roused and inquired, "Where am I?" Told that he was beneath a train, he commented, "Somebody put me here."

He had suffered an injury at the back of his head, other minor scratches and abrasions, and part of his clothing had been torn off. The ambulance took him to the Beaver Valley hospital, where he remained this week. His condition is described as "good."

The ambulance driver perhaps should not have expected the worst. Two years ago, at almost the same spot on the tracks, two diesel engines and four cars passed over a youth named Brown—and he had only a scratched elbow.

GRAND JURY URGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

Although expressing the pride of grand jury members in the fact that they were the first to serve in the new courthouse here, the jury's special report, filed with Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last Friday, contained suggestions for improvements.

One suggestion was that the stairway from the first floor to the second, at the front of the building, have some type of covering. The other was to ask that all seating facilities now located in the hallways of the courthouse be removed as soon as possible.

The stairway covering was suggested, according to the jury report, as a "safety measure," but women-employees at the courthouse said the improvement is desired to guard against possible "peeping Toms." Removal of hallway benches was urged by the jury, and earlier by some officials, to prevent loafing and hallway congestion.

The jury's final report, signed by Nelson Baldrige, foreman, recommended that the new building be kept clean and asked a fine for any person caught littering or defacing it. The report also suggested that the local court budget funds to insure keeping the building clean and recommended that the jailer employ a woman to assist the present employee in this work.

The consumption of intoxicating liquors, the jury said, is the underlying cause of most criminal violations, and it urged that all law-enforcement officers wage a more vigorous campaign against those who sell intoxicants. "We have come to the conclusion," the report said, "that there are persons who have avoided telling the truth" when questioned. The jurors suggested strict enforcement of the law against falseness.

Johnny Thornsbury, who was not at home when his premises at Melvin were raided and 36 cans of beer were confiscated, came here Monday afternoon and executed the same bond as required of the others.

Each of the men was charged with selling alcoholic beverages and with possessing for the purpose of sale.

State troopers from Troop E, Pikeville, headed by Lt. Bill Lykins, led the raid and were assisted by ABC Agents Claude Flanery and Henry Goley.

Prestonsburg Policemen Ray Ciek and Woodrow Salyers arrested Loral Knutson here Saturday night and booked him on a drunk driving charge. The same charge was lodged against Ade Newsome and Woodrow Fitzpatrick, who were arrested by State Trooper Larry Hatton.

Surviving sons and daughters are Dennis Baldrige, Ernest Baldrige, and Kenneth Baldrige, all of Ligon, Mike Baldrige, in North Carolina, William Baldrige, and Mrs. Ginny Tackett, both of Columbus, Ohio, Opal Jean Baldrige, at home, Mrs. Nina Booth, Detroit, Michigan, and Mrs. Thelma Horne, Sunbury, Ohio. Brothers and sisters surviving are Raymond Baldrige, Kansas City, Missouri, Ernest Baldrige, in Michigan, Mrs. Dorothy Hall and Mrs. Audrey Setser, both of Auxier, and Mrs. Alice Waugh, Warsaw, Indiana.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church. (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

NEW JAIL OCCUPIED FIRST TIME SUNDAY

At least one person doesn't prefer the conveniences of the new courthouse to the old.

He is a prisoner, one of 26 who were moved, last Sunday noon, from the old jail to the new on the third floor of the new building.

"Don't like this place a ---- bit," he commented when asked about it. "We don't have near the liberty we had over at the old jail."

Jailer Lawrence Hale said that he is able to turn off the lights of the new jail at bedtime, interrupting the prisoners' poker game. "Over at the old jail, I was afraid to turn off the lights for fear I couldn't get them back on again."

With the assistance of Prestonsburg police and two deputy sheriffs, Gervin Waddle and Jay Salyers, the old jail was evacuated without incident. Roy Salisbury, who is under three murder indictments, was the first to be taken to the new jail. The other 25 joined him, shortly afterward.

Prisoners are taken by elevator from the first floor of the new courthouse to the third.

LOCALS ASK 4 PENALIZED

Wheelwright Member In Quartet Accused At UMW Convention

Lansell Thornsbury, a local safety committeeman at Wheelwright, is one of four United Mine Workers whose suspension from the UMWA was proposed to the union's convention in Miami Beach, Fla., last week.

Resolutions asked that Thornsbury, Steve Kochis, William S. Howard and Karl Kafton be barred from membership for a year and from holding union office for five years. The resolutions were submitted by locals at Ponde, Gray's Knob, Field and High Splint, Ky., and Morley, Tennessee.

Local 6074 at High Splint claimed the four men instigated wildcat strikes last spring in Kentucky and three other states by giving false information to miners and in violation of contracts, "causing embarrassment to our union and hardship to many of our members."

Kochis, one of the men accused, campaigned for the office of UMW president during the convention against the present holder of the office, W. A. "Tony" Boyle. Kochis is from Bobtown, Pennsylvania.

"There's Nothing Permanent Except Change" will be the theme of the fall conference of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, meeting to be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, September 21, 22 and 23—the first state meeting in Eastern Kentucky in 23 years.

Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, will welcome the clubwomen Tuesday morning, September 22.

Mrs. W. Ed Hamilton, Bardstonsville, president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, who will preside over the three-day meeting, announces the Ade About My Things, will feature Dr. B. H. Jarman, Pikeville, president of Pikeville College, and Dr. Clyde Sparks, Ashland surgeon. Besides his duties as president of Pikeville College, Dr. Jarman is a regular guest professor at Pennsylvania State University and St. Louis University. A former president of the Kentucky State Medical Association, Dr. Sparks now serves as chairman of the Technical Advisory Committee on Indigent Medical Care.

Dr. William Carse, associate professor of counseling and guidance at the University of Kentucky, will be the speaker on the morning of the last day.

MAY SLAYING TRIAL OPENS

Shelbyville Jurist Presides At Fourth Trial of 2 Deputies

The work of empanelling a jury to sit in the trial of Deputy Sheriffs Troy Mullins and Marion Martin, who are charged with the slaying of Ex-Magistrate John May, was begun in circuit court here Wednesday morning. It is the fourth trial for the two men.

Seventy-three of 75 veniremen whose names were drawn from the jury drum last week were summoned to appear here for possible jury service. Judge Coleman Wright, of Shelbyville, is presiding as special judge during the trial.

Trial of Roy Salisbury, who was indicted last week in the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denney and Thomas S. Combs near Drift, April 23, may be begun September 23, it was indicated by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley this week. Salisbury was brought into court last Thursday for arraignment but this was postponed till today (Thursday) on objection by Burnis Martin, who had been appointed by the court to represent the defendant.

Four men were given pen terms Tuesday when they entered pleas of guilty to charges against them. Noah Adkins was given a two-year term on a child desertion charge; Bobby Williams, breaking and entering, two years, and two years for grand larceny, the terms to run concurrently; Junior Hall, indecent practices with a female child under the age of 15, one year; Gordon Ray Clouse, breaking and entering, one year, with a grand larceny indictment against him dismissed.

NEW SCHOOL JOB STARTS

Groundbreaking Held Saturday Afternoon For Grade Building

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Riley's Branch elementary school, were held Saturday afternoon. Former Governor Bert T. Combs and Congressman Carl D. Perkins were featured speakers.

The school, of 22 classrooms and several auxiliary rooms, is being built by Akers and Akers, contractors, at a cost of $538,000. It will replace the Wheelwright elementary school, two Jack's Creek schools, the Buckingham schools and possibly others. It is expected to serve 700 pupils.

Boone Hall, principal of the Wheelwright high school, acted as master of ceremonies at the groundbreaking event. The Wheelwright high school band provided music.

Besides Combs and Perkins, other speaking briefly were County Superintendent Charles F. Clark, Wayne Ratliff, Bill Blair and George Lee Shannon, architect. Most county officials were present and were introduced.

The contractors assured Superintendent Clark that the building will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the next school term.

The building is being constructed on the same basic lines as the Clark elementary school building on Middle Creek except for a wing rearrangement due to the terrain.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jones, who sold the board of education the grounds, were hosts to a dinner for a major portion of the group attending the ceremonies.

Rev. Charlie Jones and others conducted the devotionals during the groundbreaking ceremony.

750 PERSONS HEAR COMBS AND PERKINS

Former Gov. Lauded By Congressman; Area Improvements Cited

Floyd county last Saturday officially dedicated its first courthouse in 73 years.

Citizens representing all sections of the county, an estimated 750 of them, stood under threatening skies during the dedication ceremony and toured the brand-new three-story structure, calling on officials and inspecting the modern features of this first courthouse to be built in the county since 1891.

Principal addresses were made by Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs. Congressman Perkins spoke of the progress made by Floyd county and optimistically peered into its future. He recalled that when he was Commonwealth's Attorney, serving Floyd and Knott counties in 1939, there were 11 murder cases docketed for trial at one court term in this county. "But we have made progress. We are ridding ourselves of isolationism, getting new and modern roads. If I had to mark priority on any one improvement made in this area outside the Mountain Parkway, I would place that priority on your Community College which was made possible by Governor Combs."

Citing educational progress, he told of the extension of vocational education through the Manpower Training Program. One of the first projects to get action, if the Appalachian Bill is enacted, he predicted, will be the modernization of U. S. 23. Flood control by means of dams now completed or under construction and others still in the planning stage was mentioned as another evidence of regional progress.

Commending Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, and all of the county's officials, Perkins described Archer as "the most progressive mayor in the United States."

Introduced by County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill, master of ceremonies, as "the greatest living Kentuckian," Ex-Governor Combs drily recounted bits of conversation heard among the crowd prior to the dedicatory exercises. "Nice to have Congressman Perkins with us," he quoted one as saying, and another: "Glad to see all our county officials today," and another: "Glad to see Bert Combs here," and, finally, "Glad to see 'em all, but a good rain would do a darn sight more good."

He described the new courthouse as more than a thing of (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

Youth PP & K Program Registration Now Open

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition will be sponsored here for the second time. It is announced. Registration began September 1 and will continue through October 9.

All grade and junior high school boys eight through 13 years are eligible but the parent must countersign the registration form, it was said by Jack Walters, manager of Jack Walters Ford which is sponsoring the program. It was jointly sponsored last year by the Prestonsburg Lions Club and the auto agency.

The local competition in the national program will be held October 10 at the Prestonsburg athletic field but if necessary alternate dates may be set. Names of local winners will be submitted to national PP&K headquarters October 12. Local awards will be made October 15, Walters said.

"Few programs of this kind have captured the interest and enthusiasm of so many people in such a short time," Walters said. "In just three years, PP&K has become the largest youth program of its kind."

There is nothing to buy to enter the program, it is pointed out. All equipment is furnished. In the competition, boys are divided into age groups so each boy competes only with boys of his own age. Entrants will punt, pass and kick a football on a specially marked field 150 feet long and 60 feet wide. Distance and accuracy are important. Rules may be procured from the sponsor.

District competition is scheduled October 31 and area competition November 15, 22 and 29. National competition is slated December 30 to be followed by a tour of the champions.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the presence of the families by the Rev. J. I. Meyer, pastor of the church, before an altar banked with palms and centered with an arch-shaped, brass candelabrum flanked on either side by single brass candelabra, and extending to the front. At this point on either side were tall, circular brass candelabra and arrangements of white snapdragons and carnations in brass vases. Seven-branched brass candelabra at floor level on either side of the kneeling bench and candles in each window completed the setting for the wedding.

A program of nuptial music was presented prior to the wedding by Mrs. William O. Allen at the piano and Mr. South Whit, soloist. Mr. Whitt sang "One Hand, One Heart" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of candlelight peau de soie fashioned with a bolero-effect bodice and scoop neckline. Re-embroidered alencon lace encircled the waist and highlighted the elbow sleeves with V-insets and self-bows. The domed skirt was styled with open pleats. Her tiered ivory illusion veil was held by a shell of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy, cascading from her white Bible.

Mrs. Howard Lockhart, of Pikeville, was matron of honor. # DEVELOPMENT GROUP SETS MEETING AT PAINTSVILLE

A two-team task force of Kentucky volunteer, professional and government agency personnel is seeking to bolster local and regional community development programs across the state.

Important discussion topics include the Economic Opportunity Act and the Appalachian Regional Development bill.

John D. Whisman, administrator of the state's Area Program office, said meetings of regional development councils are to be held in 21 towns between September 15-23. Each council has multi-county representation, Whisman said, thus insuring meetings will reach every county in the state.

In this area, the meeting will be held at the Paintsville County Club, September 21, 6 to 10 p.m.

The meetings are sponsored by the Kentucky Development Committee, volunteer implementing force of the Kentucky Development Program, in cooperation with the Area Program office. The Area Program office was recently designated by Governor Edward T. Breathitt to act as liaison between local groups and the federal government in the implementation of the federal Economic Opportunity Act.

Whisman described the meetings as "a concentrated effort to put local groups in a state of readiness" for new programs and resources affecting community improvement. One four-man team will tour the Western and Northern sections of the state; the other will travel through Eastern Kentucky.

Whisman said benefits of both the Economic Opportunity Act, passed last month by Congress, and the Appalachian Regional Development bill, now being debated in the House, will be aired at the council meetings.

(Continued from Page One) bricks and stone and mortar, as "a symbol of our hopes of the future and also a symbol of the hopes and aspirations of the early settlers of the county." Alluding to his statement quoted in a national magazine to the effect that he wanted to "leave some tracks" after he left the office of Governor, Combs said, "We're all going to leave some kind of tracks. Some of them will be little. But the big question is, Are we going to leave tracks such as those made by a man wandering, lost, in the desert, or will our tracks follow a straight, purposeful course?" Commending the county officials and all who cooperated in making the new structure possible, he said, "I suppose Carl Perkins did more than any living man." Introduced by Mr. Sturgill as "the dean of us all, the man who has held office longer than any man in the history of Floyd county," County Judge Henry Stumbo welcomed the gathering, described the new building as "a monument to Floyd county" and gave full credit to "our neighbor in Frankfort, our neighbor in Washington and our friends, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, in Washington." He presented county officials and others who occupied the speakers' stand, and introduced Congressman Perkins. Mayor Archer, welcoming the crowd on behalf of the city of Prestonsburg said, "It's a pleasure to welcome you to the most progressive county-seat and the greatest county in the state of Kentucky." He described the new building as symbolic of what can be done through cooperation and singled out Congressman Perkins for credit. "This man covers a lot of ground," he added. Former Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill spoke briefly, suggesting that "we dedicate this courthouse to the administering of justice," and in so doing echoed a part of the invocation said by the Rev. Robert Martin. Seated on the speakers' stand and introduced were these, in addition to the scheduled speakers and county and district officials: D. M. Magill, Frankfort, local state finance officer; County Judge Caudill of Letcher county; County Judge Jordan of Lawrence county; B. F. Reed, of Drift; Burl Spurlock, George Lee Shannon and H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., all of Prestonsburg; U. S. Marshall Archie Craft, and the contractors, Ervin and Allen Akers. Boy Scouts raised the American and state flags, and the benediction was said by the Rev. W. D. Jagers.

These young people are the sons and daughters of employees of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company. They have made TV appearances in Cincinnati, Columbus and Chicago. "The clubwoman of the Twentieth Century is no longer pictured as the fuzzy-minded tea-sipping lady of leisure but is the hardest working woman in her community," says Mrs. Hamilton. The modern-day clubwoman, she added, is interested in giving scholarships, teaching adults to read and write, keeping drop-outs in school, securing cultural advantages, improving their communities by mending recreational centers, libraries, clinics, knowing that the welfare of others is uppermost in her mind, at the same time concentrating on building better individuals. One hundred counties in Kentucky claim these clubwomen. The KFWC Conference Committee from Prestonsburg and Pikeville are preparing for more than 300 officers and club members.

DAFFYNITION MOTHER-IN-LAW: A referee with an interest in one of the fighters.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT The Kentucky Department of Highways propounds a question which might cause some of us to stop and think if we had anything to think with. It goes like this: If you had a choice of driving your car at 35 miles per hour into a large tree or running it off the top of a four-story building, which would you do? The Oregon Highway Department says one is about as bad as the other. In a study of speed versus energy, the Department elaborated on the destructiveness of collisions by pointing out that if a car struck a solid object at 60 miles an hour while carrying four persons, the destructive power would be equal to setting off a cup and a half of nitroglycerin in the car. In the same vein, if a person were to strike an immovable object head-on at 70 miles per hour, he would have about the same chance of surviving as he would if he fell from a 16th-story window.

SOLVING THE TAX PROBLEM To all those who want the taxpayers of the community to underwrite the cost of a special interest private school, I respectfully submit the following solution. Let's return public school taxes to all parents who send their children to parochial schools. Also, let's return these same taxes to those having no children in school. Then we'll return tax money used for national defense to all people whose religious convictions do not permit armed conflict. Next, refund Social Security payments to those people of means who will never receive their benefits. In addition, let's reimburse all tax money used for public swimming pools to those owning private pools and return all tax money used for road construction to those not having an automobile. How about the thousands of people who own large farms and never use the public parks? We'll return their tax payments too. After all taxes have been returned, we'll return the country to the Indians and all jump in the lake. —Buffalo Evening News

NEW YORK MAN NAMED TO Alice Lloyd College Educational Position Pippa Passes, Ky. — Director William S. Hayes, of Alice Lloyd College has announced that Dr. Anthony J. Salatino, of Buffalo, New York, has been appointed academic dean by the Education committee of the board of trustees. Salatino will fill the newly-created position at the Eastern Kentucky school this fall. He received his doctorate of education from Columbia University and was professor of Junior College Education and assistant to the director of summer sessions at the State University of New York at Buffalo. Director Hayes said of the appointment, "The office of academic dean and the board's approval of Dr. Salatino is in line with the development of the college in the past two years. Our long-range plans for the future must start with a long-range academic program to meet the needs of mountain youth." "Alice Lloyd College," Hayes continued, "has grown in enrollment from 164 to 256 in two years and in faculty from 14 to 29. The individual faculty salary has doubled in two years. Instructional supplies tripled. Our operational budget has increased from $154,000 to $300,000 in two years. We are still selecting youth of the mountain area who are most promising for leadership education—so that, through them, we may provide the Appalachians with its own responsibility in a new era."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT The Kentucky Department of Highways propounds a question which might cause some of us to stop and think if we had anything to think with. It goes like this: If you had a choice of driving your car at 35 miles per hour into a large tree or running it off the top of a four-story building, which would you do? The Oregon Highway Department says one is about as bad as the other. In a study of speed versus energy, the Department elaborated on the destructiveness of collisions by pointing out that if a car struck a solid object at 60 miles an hour while carrying four persons, the destructive power would be equal to setting off a cup and a half of nitroglycerin in the car. In the same vein, if a person were to strike an immovable object head-on at 70 miles per hour, he would have about the same chance of surviving as he would if he fell from a 16th-story window.

SOLVING THE TAX PROBLEM To all those who want the taxpayers of the community to underwrite the cost of a special interest private school, I respectfully submit the following solution. Let's return public school taxes to all parents who send their children to parochial schools. Also, let's return these same taxes to those having no children in school. Then we'll return tax money used for national defense to all people whose religious convictions do not permit armed conflict. Next, refund Social Security payments to those people of means who will never receive their benefits. In addition, let's reimburse all tax money used for public swimming pools to those owning private pools and return all tax money used for road construction to those not having an automobile. How about the thousands of people who own large farms and never use the public parks? We'll return their tax payments too. Six extra classes were added to the schedule in order to take care of the 18 percent increase, most of which came in the freshman class. At the end of the third day, all students attended the president's reception given at President Jarman's home and a dance held in the college gymnasium. States represented in the enrollment are Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, and three foreign countries, Columbia, South America, Iran and Thailand. ### RECORD STUDENT NUMBER ENROLLING IN SCHOOLS

Frankfort, Ky.—A record total of over 672,000 students are enrolling in public elementary and high schools throughout Kentucky for the school year now opening.

Biggest increase this year, Dr. Sparks noted, will be on the high school level, where 191,298 are expected in comparison to the 175,464 of last year. Elementary enrollment estimated at 480,745 is less than 3,000 above the 477,954 registered for 1963-1964.

Particularly significant are the anticipated increases of more than 8,300 in high school seniors and more than 5,900 in high school juniors.

"The big jumps in these two classes," according to Dr. Sparks, "result from the 'baby boom' of 1946 and 1947. These 17 and 18-year-olds are reaching the end of their public school years."

The smaller totals expected in the third, fifth and sixth grades are continuing a trend that began two years ago, Dr. Sparks added.

Public school kindergartens this year also expect fewer pupils than last year, another trend caused by some school districts discontinuing these classes.

The 672,043 total anticipated for the current school year does not include the 4,231 high-schoolers nor the 1,400 elementary children expected to attend classes for "exceptional instruction," Dr. Sparks pointed out. These are the mentally retarded or physically disabled requiring home instruction.

Public school enrollment in Kentucky this year will be over 40,000 more than the total five years ago, over 86,000 more than 10 years ago, and more than 139,000 over that of 20 years ago.

New REA Power Station At Burnside To Burn Huge Volume of Coal

Three hundred thousand tons of Eastern Kentucky coal will be burned annually in the new John Sherman Cooper Station at Burnside, and the area surrounding the plant will feel an economic boost when generating of electricity begins in October, East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Manager H. L. Spurlock announced recently.

The station will be dedicated September 23.

"The entire area should benefit in several ways as a result of Cooper Station," Spurlock stated. "But the coal fields of Eastern Kentucky will be among the largest businesses to profit."

Approximately $14-million annually will be paid to two companies holding long-term contracts and several smaller operators on purchase order basis. All of this coal will come only from the Eastern section of Kentucky surrounding the Burnside plant. In the multi-acre coal yard behind Cooper Station, a stockpile of 125,000 tons will be retained for emergency use.

Cooper Station is an $18 million structure on a bank overlooking Lake Cumberland. It presently employs 37 men working three shifts, and if electrical growth continues, several more employees will be added in the near future.

USDA Announces Disqualification Of Perry Store

Atlanta, Ga. — The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced last week that it has disqualified a Perry county, Kentucky, food store from participating in its food stamp program because of program violations. The disqualified retailer is Lonnie Grimes, doing business as Grimes' Grocery at Scuddy, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. In a letter to Grimes, the Agricultural Marketing Service requested that he surrender his authorization card, all posters, forms and other official materials which identified Grimes' Grocery as a participant in the food stamp program. The letter was signed by Russell H. James, southeast area director of the Agricultural Marketing Service's Food Distribution Division of Atlanta, Georgia.

The USDA complaint alleged that Grimes accepted food stamp coupons for ineligible items, accepted loose $2 coupons, gave cash in exchange for food coupons, and gave cash as change, all violations of program regulations. The Agricultural Marketing Service says the disqualification is for a six-month period. After the six-month period of disqualification, Grimes may apply for reinstatement. If approved, he will be issued a new authorization card and number. Officials of the Agricultural Marketing Service pointed out that the disqualification does not preclude further action to collect claims under food stamp regulations or possible prosecution under any criminal or other applicable statute. The Agricultural Marketing Service continually reviews program activities in all food stamp program areas. Investigations are made periodically to insure compliance with the program regulations.

MONEY BILL IS APPROVED

Appropriations Provide Funds for Water Jobs; State Gets $54 Million

President Lyndon B. Johnson has affixed his signature to a $4.4 billion appropriations bill for water projects that provides more than $54.8 million to Kentucky projects.

The bill covers funds for the current fiscal year which began July 1. State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick said the bill provides money for every project requested by Kentucky except planning funds for the Falmouth and Mound City dams.

"We are extremely pleased to receive these appropriations enabling us to carry on planning, studies and construction of locks and dams, flood control work and reservoirs," Matlick said.

"Most important, perhaps is the fact that the greatest part of the money—$53.8 million—was appropriated for construction," he added. "Of the remainder, $630,000 is for planning and $336,000 is for making surveys determining future needs."

Funds in the bill for construction include these projects:

Barkley Dam—$15,400,000 for continuing work on this project on the Lower Cumberland River. Funds allotted jointly to Kentucky and Tennessee.

Meldahl Locks and Dam—$6,365,000 allotted jointly to Kentucky and Ohio for completing navigational dam on the Ohio River.

Carr's Fork Reservoir—$630,000 for dam above Hazard on the Kentucky River.

Cave Run Reservoir—$1,300,000 for dam on Upper Licking River near Morehead. Cumberland Local Protection—$490,000 for flood control project on the Upper Cumberland, including channel improvement and drainage for protection of town of Cumberland.

Fish Trap Reservoir—$18,000,000 for dam on Big Sandy River above Pikeville.

Grayson Reservoir—$4,200,000 for dam on Little Sandy River above Grayson.

Green River Reservoir—$4,000,000 for dam on Green River above Campbellsville.

BIG SANDY PLANT HAS HIGH RATING

Kentucky Power Company's Big Sandy Plant ranked sixth among the "Top 20" of the nation's most efficient generating stations in 1963. The American Electric Power System, of which Kentucky Power is a part, placed five plants in the "Top 20."

F. M. Baker, vice-president and general manager who made the announcement, said:

"We are naturally pleased that our Big Sandy Plant made such a fine showing among all the plants of the nation. This achievement emphasizes the importance of design, construction and operation. The plant's record bears witness to our continuing search for the most efficient way of doing business, to the customer's advantage in the form of low-cost power with greatest dependability."

The power plant, which began operating with a capacity of 265,000 kilowatts in 1962 on the Big Sandy river, about six miles from Louisa, uses approximately 750,000 tons of coal a year to make electricity. Big Sandy features a giant cooling tower which is the only one of its kind in the Western Hemisphere.

Most efficient on the AEP System and second best for the nation with a heat rate of 3,393 British thermal units per kilowatt hour of net generation was Indiana & Michigan Electric Company's Breed Plant. The only power station with a better thermal efficiency last year was Philadelphia Electric Company's Eddystone Plant, with a heat rate of 3,174 btu per kw-hr. (The higher the efficiency, the lower the heat rate.) Kentucky Power's Big Sandy Plant placed sixth with a heat rate of 3,939 btu. Appalachian Power Company's Clinch River and Kanawha River Plants were 12th and 13th, with respective heat rates of 9,102 and 9,123 btu's. In 17th position was the Philip Sporn Plant, jointly owned by Appalachian and Ohio Power Company, also members of the AEP System.

REPTILES AND THEIR ORDERS

The great body of reptiles is divided into four orders: the turtles, with hard, bony shells, four legs and short tails;

The lizards, four-legged reptiles covered with horny, or beaded scales, with five toes and claws; most lizards lay eggs and can run swiftly.

The snakes, which are slender and legless; they have loose-hinged jaws for opening wider to swallow live prey; snakes have no ears, but catch sound vibrations by darting out their tongues.

The Alligators and Crocodiles; these are large reptiles, lizard-like, with jaws forming a long snout; they live in warm waters of tropical or semi-tropical regions, have scaly bodies and lay eggs to produce offspring.

Snakes are divided into two classes as regards methods of reproduction. Most snakes lay eggs to produce young, and are called "oviparous;" a great many other snakes bear live young and are called "viviparous."

All the pit vipers are "viviparous"—they produce their young alive. The pit vipers include the copperhead, the cottonmouth moccasin and the rattler; the copperhead bears from six to nine live young. This snake is totally immune to the poison of other snakes; so is the non-poisonous king snake, which kills and eats rattlers.

The rattlesnake bears from nine to 12 live young at the time; the cottonmouth moccasin bears from eight to 12.

The garter snakes produce their young alive and are highly prolific, often bearing as many as 50 young at the same birth. Water snakes, cousins of the garter snake, also produce live young, and often break the record by bearing as many as 60 live young.

Recently, a young man who was studying snakes, found a female water snake heavy with young, and he captured her and brought her to his study. In a day or so, he was surprised to see 37 young snakes wriggling about their mother. He sent for a wildlife photographer and had their pictures taken, then he turned them all back to the water.

The king snakes, the indigo snakes, and the blacksnakes lay eggs. In our region, we have two species of blacksnakes. One is the large-size Pilot blacksnake, or black rat snake, which can swallow a grown rat, a bird, young rabbit, or ground squirrel. This snake usually lays from 24 to 30 eggs, which are carefully hidden in soft, moist warm earth until they hatch.

The other black snake, called "the black racer," or "blue racer," is smaller, more slender than the pilot blacksnake, and is swifter in escaping enemies. This snake devours great quantities of mice, young rats and young birds—its worst fault. The female racer lays up to 24 eggs, usually in soft sandy soil in open fields or along sunny roads. Skunks can smell the eggs when they are incubating and will dig them up to eat. It is a common sight to see pieces of the rubbery shells of the eggs lying where the skunks have devoured the eggs.

The cottonmouth moccasin is the most vicious of all the pit vipers and will strike out savagely at the slightest provocation. All the pit vipers have a small cavity in the side of the head, close to the eye; this pit is a device for capturing the scent of warm-blooded prey, which these snakes must have in order to survive.

We have 13 species of rattlers in North America; in our mountains we have the large-size timber rattler, CROTALUS HORRIDUS, in two color phases, "black-pied," and "yellow-pied." These rattlers are valuable as predators—their main reason for being in nature's wildlife scheme. They devour chipmunks, rats, mice, rabbits, squirrels and other small mammals. Most rattlers go on a hunger strike when placed in captivity and die of starvation.

The diamond-back rattler is the largest and most ferocious of all the rattlers, and often attains a length of seven feet. The Eastern Diamond Back, common in Florida, is the largest poisonous snake of the United States, and may attain a length up to nine feet. The designs on their sides resemble cut diamonds—hence the name, "diamond back."

GINSENG COMES INTO ITS OWN AS A MEDICINE—TOO LATE!

American doctors have long regarded as superstition the belief of the Chinese and Koreans in the potency of ginseng as a medicine to promote long life and youthful vigor. There are over four hundred million Chinese and Koreans who place a high value on ginseng as a remedy for many human ills and these use it daily. The genus name, "Panax," for ginseng means "all-healing." American drug manufacturers are now using ginseng roots to make a medicine for the aged, with proaine and other drugs, and they call it "H-3" tablets to cure the aches and pains of the old. So ginseng has come into its own as a medicine much too late, for its supply is now so depleted in our forests it isn't profitable for the root digger to follow his trade, although sang now sells for over $22.00 per pound and it is impossible to supply the demand.

The roots of ginseng resemble the human body, with two forks for legs and a neck, called the "querl" by old sang diggers. The root has a sweet, aromatic odor and a taste like licorice root.

Ginseng heads a large family of plants called "The Ginseng Family" (Araliaceae), which includes shrubs like the "devil's walking stick," the bristly sarsaparilla.

WARD SETS RECORD AS HIGHWAYS HEAD

An important notation can be made this week in Henry Ward's public service achievement book. September 10, Henry Ward had served continuously as Commissioner of Highways longer than any other person.

And he is the only person in the 52-year history of Kentucky road building to be appointed Highway Commissioner by successive state administrations.

J. Stephen Watkins, now head of a Lexington consulting engineering firm, was highway commissioner for four years and two days. This was from 1943 to 1947 inclusive under the state's last Republican Governor, Simeon S. Willis.

Kentucky's first highway chief was Robert C. Terrell. His title was Commissioner of Public Works and he was appointed to head the new agency by Governor James B. McCreary on June 12, 1912, according to the first biennial report published by the agency. Terrell held the post until July 1, 1916—a total of four years and ten days.

By the end of the week, then, Commissioner Ward will have eclipsed Terrell's tenure, thus becoming Kentucky's longest serving highway boss in one stretch.

"Maybe the correct term would be 'lonest-suffering' highway commissioner," Ward said when told of his impending record.

But he was smiling when he said it. Because for Ward, who has been in the public eye for 30 years since being elected a state representative from McCracken county in 1934, the highway job has been his most challenging.

And a challenge to Ward is like catnip to a cat—he just can't resist it. If there is suffering involved, it is suffering with impatience to get on with the job that he knows must be accomplished if Kentucky is to continue to meet the economic competition from other states.

Only by meeting and exceeding the competition in highway building and gathering into Kentucky the economic benefits that will accrue can Kentucky attain and retain its place in the sun, is Henry Ward's philosophy.

And he practices what he preaches. Under Ward's management during the administrations of Governors Bert Combs and Edward T. Breathitt, the Kentucky highway program has made its longest strides. The state had some catching up to do on its interstate building program. This it has done, with some 235 miles of the 733 allotted miles completed and open to traffic. Another 81 miles are under construction. Most of the rest is in some stage of engineering. All remaining mileage will be under construction by 1969 and opened by 1972—target date for completion of the nationwide system of 41,000 miles.

Kentucky knew it had to supplement areas of the state not served by the Interstate with other modern highways. This it has done quickly with turnpikes in Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky. The two will be linked by a Central Kentucky facility to be finished by late 1965. In all there will be 275 miles of these roads.

Rural road work has been noticeably stepped up with each county now getting its fair share from available money equitably credited. Ward developed the "fair share" formula that was enacted into law by the 1964 Legislature.

The road boss continually attempts to streamline for greater efficiency the Highway Department, largest of all state agencies.

Root crops (turnips, beets, carrots, radishes, etc.) should be stored where it is quite damp. Remove the tops of these vegetables and place them in crates or ventilated boxes or in small piles along the wall of the storage room.

Irish potatoes that are to be used within a month or six weeks may be stored where the temperature is from 50 to 60 degrees. When stored for a longer period, put them in a dark place where the temperature is about 40 degrees.

HENRY WARD

"I realize it's hard to streamline an elephant," Ward reasons, "but by continual prodding you can at least keep the animal from lying down."

Ward, as an elephant trainer, not only has kept the Highway Department from lying down, he has kept it jogging at a respectable pace. And in the race toward progress he is out front of his charge—pulling, coaxing, reasoning, arguing for what he believes is right—in short, doing with gusto what he is paid to do.

Administrator with sweeping results what is considered to many the hardest agency in state government to administer. There's little time to look backward in a job such as this.

"Besides, it's a little hard to see behind you when you're dragging an elephant by the trunk or running to stay ahead of it," reasoned Ward.

September 10 will probably go unnoticed by Henry Ward as any sort of red-letter day for personal achievement; he will be too busy building roads and looking ahead, planning benefits for all Kentuckians.

Onions must be mature and thoroughly dry before storage. Store them in bags, crates or baskets with good ventilation. A dry, well-ventilated attic or unheated room is a good storage place. Onions that have thick necks or that have been injured will not keep.

VISIT IN COUNTY
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kirby, of Columbia, South Carolina, were visiting friends and relatives in this county and in Pikeville last week. They were en route to Louisville to attend the National Promenade of the 40 and 8 which was held at the Kentucky hotel, Wednesday through Saturday. Mr. Kirby is an officer in the 40 and 8 from South Carolina.

Kentucky supplied more than 75,000 soldiers to the U. S. Army during World War I.

LONGEST FOOTBALL GAME?

Four local football officials, Johnny Ellis, Adrian Blackburn, Paul Philip Hughes and Donald Willis, were faced with a critical decision last Friday night, along with school officials from both Pikeville and Wheelwright high schools.

With one half of the annual football rivalry completed on the football field and the Wheelwright band about to take the field for Homecoming ceremonies, the lights went off, beyond repair, according to Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, assistant principal at Wheelwright.

At the time, Pikeville was leading 13-6, with 24 minutes of playing time remaining with no lights. Amidst the discussion of what to do, someone came forth with the suggestion: move 37 miles to Pikeville to finish the game, which was agreed on.

Some 700 football fans of both schools drove the 37 miles to Pikeville and the game was continued with the home-standing Panthers posting a 47-6 win. Thus the 8 p.m. encounter ended at 11:43 p.m., for possibly one of the longest high school football games ever played.

The classification of Class AAA, Class AA and Class A for the 1964 football play-off system is this:

1. Class AAA includes the schools, both city and county, in Jefferson county except Louisville Country Day and Kentucky Military Institute.
2. Class AA includes the schools with enrollments of 327 or more in grades 10-12.
3. Class A includes the schools with enrollments of less than 327 in grades 10-12.

The Prestonsburg Black Cat football team will begin a three-game home-stand Friday night as they are host to the Jenkins Cavaliers, then meet Pikeville and Louisa on the following week-ends. Wheelwright travels to Paintsville Friday night in the Tigers' first home game of the season.

Hazard whipped crosstown rival M. C. Napier, 33-0, last week-end for its third consecutive win without a loss. Prior to that victory, the Bulldogs were ranked tenth in the state, but after winning, fell to 28th spot in the statewide ratings this week. Elkhorn City remained in eighth place.

The Francis Store Player-of-the-Week Award for the Elkhorn City game was presented to Hershell Joseph.

Local golfers, more commonly known as "duffers" if they play like I do, have the opportunity to participate in the annual Paintsville Country Club championship, this week-end. All qualifying rounds must be completed by Friday evening so that pairings may be made Friday night. This year's affair will be medal play.

The grouse season has been extended by 30 days this year. The season will open on December 1 and continues through February 28, with a daily limit of four and a possession limit of eight. This applies to the Dewey Lake refuge also. The gun deer season for the Dewey Lake area, as well as other designated areas in the state, will begin on November 25 and continue through November 29. One deer of either sex may be killed.

Randall Burchett, senior end, won the weekly "Black Cat Player-of-the-Week" award in the Black Cats' loss to Hazard recently. He was on the receiving end of three passes and did a good job on defense. He is also a member of the Black Cats' track team.

Elkhorn City Defeats Black Cat Team, 28-0

Wingback Derek Potter sparked a crushing ground attack with three touchdown runs Friday night to lead unbeaten Elkhorn City to its third straight victory, a 28-0 triumph over Prestonsburg.

Potter scored all his touchdowns in the first half on runs of 15, 38 and 12 yards and gained 116 yards in all on eight carries.

The Cougars gained 271 yards on the ground and had 11 first downs to Prestonsburg's six.

Norman Powell scored the fourth touchdown on a five-yard run that sent the Black Cats down to their second loss in three games.

THREE CONSECUTIVE WINS NOTCHED BY BIG THREE

The "Big Three" of Eastern Kentucky high school football—Pikeville, Hazard and Elkhorn City—romped to their third consecutive victories without a setback while Belfry and Jenkins added second wins.

Pikeville's surprising Panthers whipped neighboring Wheelwright, 47-6, despite the fact that the game was played on two fields. The first half was played at Wheelwright, but the field's lighting system went out, and teams, officials and fans drove 37 miles to Pikeville to finish the game.

Senior halfback Derek Potter scored three touchdowns in sparking Jack Hall's Elkhorn City Cougars over Prestonsburg, 28-0. Potter scored all his touchdowns in the first half on runs of 15, 38 and 12 yards. He also gained 116 yards in all on eight carries. Norman Powell scored the fourth touchdown on a five-yard run that sent the Black Cats down to their second loss in three games.

Hazard whipped crosstown rival M. C. Napier, 33-0, Saturday night. The Bulldogs jumped to a 14-0 first period lead on a one-yard plunge by Jerry Combs and a 22-yard pass interception by Keith Reynolds. Gary Robinson added a second quarter TD on a five-yard run, while a 80-yard pass from Bill Morgan to end Freddy Hogg and a 74-yard run by David Baker accounted for the final two tallies.

The Belfry Pirates upped their season record to 2-1 after falling behind Man, West Virginia, 7-0, in the first quarter. Al Vipperman's club scored three touchdowns in each of the three remaining periods for a 19-7 win. Charles Gyton plunged across from one yard out for the first score for the winners while halfback Dave Smith galloped 54 yards and quarterback Richard Small ran over from the 40-yard line for the second and third scores.

Jenkins rolled over nearby Fleming-Neon, 40-0, for its second triumph against an opening loss to Elkhorn City. Ernie England's four-yard run and Jerry Conley's successful extra point gave the Cavaliers a 7-0 command in the first five minutes. Midway the first frame, halfback Thurman Hall returned a blocked punt for a six-pointer.

In the final period quarterback Jerry Conley climaxed a 80-yard drive with a one-yard run and he also added the point after. Fleming's loss was its third in as many starts.

Paintsville and Louisa fought to a 6-0 deadlock after each team muffed a scoring opportunity. Paintsville drove to the four-yard line in the second quarter and Louisa went to the five in the third period before surrendering the ball on downs.

AT SUMMER HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mays, of Price, are spending a two-week vacation at their summer place at Tranquil Harbor, Long Beach, North Carolina. They also plan to spend a few days at nearby Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

Burkesville was an important steamboat town on the Cumberland River for 100 years. On file in the county clerk's office there are two bonds, dated 1802 and 1804, made by Thomas Lincoln when he served as constable. Deed books record two deeds of Thomas Lincoln for lands on the river and on Marrowbone Creek.

(Continued from Page 2) saporilla and spikenard (spig-net), also much in demand on the herb market. Ginseng will always be just "sang" to the old-time root diggers, who now lament its scarcity and recalls fondly the days when he could go to the woods and dig over a pound in one day. Sang has been of more value to the pioneers of the Appalachian region than any other wild herb of the woods. It has helped many a poor family through a barren period, furnishing food, clothing, household items, as well as school supplies for the kids. In the early 1900's, stores often bought as much as two thousand dollars worth of sang roots in one season. Many men, called "sang-buyers," rode through the region, calling at every house: "Got any sang to sell?" But those good old days are gone and "sanging" as a way of making a living has passed into oblivion. "Sang" has red berries, which ripen in late summer, and these produce the first year's crop called "three leaves," by the diggers, who always spared these.

CARD OF THANKS

Not being able to see all the people personally who so kindly assisted us in our long period of waiting for the arrival of our late niece from Denver, Colorado, and for all the kind deeds done us during that time and through the funeral of Larkie Williamson Cline, we take this means of saying, "Thank you all." We thank our friends and neighbors for the floral offerings and the abundance of food they brought us during the entire week; the Rev. S. C. Honeycutt and T. A. Patton for their consoling words and prayers, the mixed Methodist and Baptist choir for the lovely music at the church. Being alone and unable to attend the duties at the cemetery, I wish to especially thank Cecil Robinson and Pete McKenzie for voluntarily taking this burden off me, and do thank all who helped them in any way. Last but not least, we thank the Boy Scouts and their leader for so much help in all things, even as flower-bearers, and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its efficient and courteous service.

POVERTY OF REGION DEPICTED BY WRITER

(The following, written by Larry Caudill and first published in The Mountain Eagle, Whitesburg, is dedicated to all who profess to believe that poverty does not exist in Eastern Kentucky, or who hold that if it does exist the whole situation is created by no-good loafers and parasitical citizens. Larry Caudill is one beset by poverty through no fault of his own. He was a reporter, and a good one, for The Atlanta Constitution over a period of several years, but a serious heart condition forced his retirement from work and made it necessary for him to return to his native Letcher county. There, today, in an isolated hollow near Blackey, he is an extreme hardship case, living in a two-room cabin and existing with the aid of a small Social Security check.)

BY LARRY CAUDILL

Outlanders seem not to believe, and some of our own dislike to admit, that life is rough for many of us mountaineers. But did you ever try to cook a meal for yourself on a discarded old cookstove, using flattened-out tobacco tins to stop the holes in the top to create a "good draw?" You cook what is available, not what you'd like. You drop into the grate shavings whittled off pine slabs you toted on your shoulder a half-mile from a nearby sawmill. You scratch a match to the shavings. Add some small chunks of coal. You carried the coal in a poke on your back from the mine tippie where you work at cobbing jobs for $3 a day a couple or three days a week. The fire catches up. You put on the battered old enamel coffee pot with the aluminum top from another less durable pot. You add some water and a heaping tablespoonful of regular-grind coffee to the grounds of yesterday. It may not be the brew, but it'll do. Who needs cream and sugar? You rub some more rust out of the little old skillet, dip in a little lard and fry a couple of eggs. The oven door has to be propped shut with a stick of stove-wood, but the oven quickly toasts a couple of slices of bread. There is a ripe tomato from a good neighbor's garden. What body, even one rich in this world's goods, needs a better meal? You, dear fortunate reader, probably took it for granted and never paused to ponder the fundamental feeling of security from a roof over your head. This one leaks and in only one place and that's on the porch. You toss food scraps on the porch roof and several kinds of birds peck at it. Maybe the busy beak of a bold jaybird caused the leak. The house, knocked together long ago from used scrap lumber, has two rooms but there is no shutter in the door between. There is a grate, broken but usable, for heat when these fall days turn too cool. The iron three-quarter size bed is sturdy but the mattress is mustily ancient. There are two tattered old quilts. A piece in one of them is a remnant apparently of a woolen dress, still bearing decorative gilded metal dots in a butterfly-wing design. Under the bed are stored boxes and bags of clothes and rags. The better garments are hung on nails on the wall, encased in plastic covers against the inevitable flies. In the chimney-corner closet are worn tools—hoe, maddock, sledgehammer, pick, singletree, tracechain, clawhammer—relics of a hard life in field, forest and mine. The clawhammer was used in construction of a steel plant on the shore of Lake Michigan nearly half a century ago. No longer can this feeble old frame effectively use these tools. These tools and this body have passed their usefulness. An era ends and automation goes forward. Life is from hand to mouth and from day to day, awaiting the end of the brief mortal span. Of what meaning is it, in the infinite scheme of things? The September sun breaks through the heavy morning mist and it feels good on the aching old back resting on the porch. Might as well redd up the house a bit, sweep, and mop the patched, scabrous linoleum, with a rag tied around the stub of a worn-out broom. Wash the dishes—two platters, two cups, four spoons, two forks, a butcherknife, reminder of hog-killing days. Put tops on the water jars. Discourage the flies. Sit on the porch and scan the little world. The jagged rampart of green mountains lies against the cumulus-spotted blue sky. Even here in the head of the hollow it seems a bit crowded. There are six houses in sight down the cove. Traffic is rare on the creek-gravel road in front of the house. The fence around the yard might turn a mule but does not greatly inconvenience the dogs—except for the sections matted with honeysuckle vines. The weed-grown yard shows signs of once having care. There is a century plant, a clump of iris, a snowball, a cluster of purple heart, a rosebush shows a few tips from roses. In the back yard, the horse-weeds and stickights would hide a horse. Beside the front gate half a dozen anemic stalks of corn stand in brave array. But time has caught up with them. They will not fruit. Life for them appears to have been futile, even as yours.

ORIENTATION MEET HELD FOR FACULTY

Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Kentucky, held orientation sessions for members of its faculty at Jenny Wiley State Park's May Lodge, Tuesday and Wednesday. It was the first time faculty orientation had been on the college program.

Wayne Ratliff, assistant superintendent of Floyd county schools and one of the first graduates of the college, gave the principal discussion on the topic, "Standards and Challenges of Today's College Instructor." Mr. Ratliff was graduated in 1927 from what was then Caney Junior College, later receiving his A.B. degree from Morehead State College and the M.A. from the University of Kentucky.

Other speakers were William Hayes, director of the college; Anthony J. Salatino, academic dean; William Hughes, dean of students; Richard Rury, business manager; Quentin Bogart, director of development; Mrs. Ed Madden, librarian, and June Buchanan, director of the Caney Creek Community Center.

New faculty members attending the session included: Albert S. Stewart, visiting professor in English Literature, who for eight years has been a member of the Morehead State College faculty and director of its writers' workshop; Jack Ison, M.A., formerly assistant physical education instructor at the University of Indiana; Miss Lois Elaine Loken, modern languages, who received the master's degree from the University of Minnesota; Patrick Prosser, speech and drama, graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees from the University of Kansas where he was director of theatre arts; George O. Booth, economics and business administration, B.A. and M.A. from Columbia University.

The lesson for the evening was "The New Life" from the study book, "Be What You Are," by George L. Hunt.

A dessert course was served to Mrs. B. F. Reed, Mrs. Howard Stickler, Mrs. Dewey Stumbo, Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. Ward L. Reed, Mrs. McKinley Little, Mrs. Dan Reed, Mrs. Isabel Reed, Mrs. Archie Fugate and a guest, Miss Catherine Reed.

Shepherd Has Offers To Release Records; Returns from Newport

"Fiddlin'" Dewey Shepherd, of David, who participated in the National Folk Festival, Newport, Rhode Island, in July, has received several offers to record the tunes he presented there. Attorneys are preparing the recording and sales agreement and it is expected that the recordings will be on the market in the near future.

The festival was the largest since it was founded. More than 70,000 persons attended. The previous record was 46,000.

Robert Shelton, New York Times writer, pointed out the niche of Shepherd's music in the folk song field.

He wrote in The Times: "The workshop on singing styles was headed by Ralph Rinzler, the festival's talent and folklore coordinator. Rinzler, who scouted musicians on a 12,000 mile expedition, was one of those inspired teachers in his introduction lending understanding and dimension to the music."

It was Rinzler who discovered Shepherd and his son, O. C. Shepherd, and invited them to Newport on an all-expense paid trip.

Shelton continued in his article: "Rinzler showed, for example, how the vocal style and fiddle playing of Dewey Shepherd of Kentucky were actually extensions of each other. Mr. Shepherd justified the comparison by then singing and bowing in melancholy tenor."

Shepherd and many others from various parts of the nation were also presented in an effort to show aspects of Sunday worship in their sections.

Only 4 of 10 Starting In College To Attain Degrees, Is Prediction

Several hundred Floyd county boys and girls will be starting to college this month. This is probably the wisest decision they have made in their young lives. Now they will face the task of staying in college. On the average only four out of 10 that start this fall will acquire a college degree. This is a much too low average. The ideas listed will help your boys and girls be one that does get a degree.

Do everything according to the book. Attend all lectures, and don't be over confident.

Join a group that cares about grades. It is easy to become involved with a group that are more interested in having a "good time" than in studying and preparing themselves for the future. Stay clear of complainers and grumblers.

Opportunities for a college education are greater than ever before, and job opportunities for people with education are almost unlimited, but the student has to make his own decisions.

Owingsville was the birthplace and early home of Confederate General John B. Hood. About two miles from Owingsville was the Slate Run Iron Furnace, which produced cannon balls used by Andrew Jackson's troops during the War of 1812.

Americans are expected to eat more food per person in 1964 than in 1963. A one percent gain—the largest food consumption increase in five years—is indicated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Beef and poultry account for most of this gain.
