

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1965

This Town . . . That World

The showers come, the sun shines, there's leaf and flower and singing bird—and suddenly it's sprung.

All this rain reminds us that the Spring must be leaking.

The late Alexander Woolcott once remarked, "I do most of my work sitting down—that's where I shine." And when we rise we just stand and glaze.

WE'RE GRATEFUL

This is news! The Wall Street Journal this week published a page advertisement which featured the Prestonsburg Community College and the community of Prestonsburg.

What makes it news to us is this: Never in our memory has a New York newspaper published anything heretofore about Floyd county without reference to the darker side of the picture. There wasn't a log cabin in sight!

But credit the American Electric Power System and its affiliates, including the Kentucky Power Company, for this happy turn in the long, long road. They wrote the copy and they shelled out good, hard cash for the ad. We are not ashamed of the log cabin itself—one of the greatest Americans who ever lived was born in one. We cherish our oddities of mountain dialect, because most of it is straight out of Chaucer and because it comes so natural to us.

But everybody has got into the act, letting the world know about these matters. So it is particularly refreshing to see and read in a metropolitan publication of the miracles of progress that have been taking place here in the last five years.

A mixture of modern derring-do and progress with the quaintness of our speech and customs which distinguishes us from the common herd is just about what this doctor would order.

But I ramble. What I started out to write here was an expression of sincere thanks to American Electric, Kentucky Power and all concerned.

HE'S BACK ON THE JOB

Must get the family cartoonist to show our dog consulting the thermometer before deciding whether he should stay home or come to the office. When the temperature drops around 60, he occupies a desk; above that, he goes on vacation.

And Not a Log Cabin in Sight . . .

WALL ST. JOURNAL AD FEATURES P'BURG

A full-page advertisement in Monday's edition of the Wall Street Journal featured Prestonsburg and its $900,000 Community College.

The plant site advertisement, sponsored by the Kentucky Power Company and the American Electric Power System, used as its theme, "There's A New Look in Smaller Cities and Towns."

In the picture of the college, six students were shown in the foreground: Beverly Allen, Loretta Blanton, Carol Castle, Andrea Crum, Peggy Lewis and Kaye Milligan.

In reference to Prestonsburg, the promotion advertisement said:

"Terminus of the Mountain Parkway, this modern community is dedicated to continued self-improvement as exemplified by the new Prestonsburg Community College, a new airport, a new sewage treatment plant and a modern street lighting system."

"Other new projects are the Floyd County Library, the courthouse, and a parking project with a new city park now under construction."

LONG QUEST SEEN FOR MURDER JURY

NOTIFY 400 TO APPEAR FOR TRIAL

Regular Jury Panel Is Exhausted Monday; Hyden Wins Acquittal

Court officials here braced themselves Tuesday for what may be a long and demanding undertaking as they seek a jury which would be willing, if justified by the evidence, to vote the death penalty for Headmon May, accused slayer of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hobson.

The feeling that the empanelling of a jury may be a lengthy and tedious task grew after the regular jury panel had been exhausted Tuesday morning without any semblance of success.

Wednesday morning, 211 tallesemen whose names had been drawn from the jury drum for possible service in the trial of May were slated to arrive here, to be questioned for possible qualification. Another 220 names have been drawn, and these are being summoned for examination later in the week.

Preparation for trial of the case went ahead, despite a move made last Thursday by counsel for the defense to delay the hearing. The motion asked a delay until the issue of the defendant's sanity was determined, and in support of the motion the report of Dr. Champ Ligon was filed.

The Hobsons were shot to death at their home at Harold, last December, and their daughter, Mrs. Ruth May, wife of the accused man, was wounded.

Joe Wheeler Hyden was cleared Monday of a charge of murder which had been lodged against him in connection with the death of James Estill Marcum. The Commonwealth failed to prove that Hyden had inflicted any injury upon the other except to slap him. Both Hyden and Ronald Gene Wells, the only witnesses to events preceding Marcum's death, told of Hyden slapping Marcum but both said the latter talked with them before (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

Junior Chamber Picks Five-Member Committee To Name Top Athlete

A five-member committee has been named by the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce to select a Prestonsburg high school athlete to receive the 1965 Reatherford-Salyers Award. The top 10 athletes in the school have already been named, and from these the winner of the award will be selected. Ted Hicks, Jaycees' president, said.

The Reatherford-Salyers Award was initiated in 1955 by the Junior Chamber in memory of two Prestonsburg high school athletes, Donald Gene Reatherford and Woodrow Salyers, who lost their lives here in a locker-room tragedy. Those nominated for the award are considered on the basis of leadership, ability, cooperation, honesty, church work, student government participation, conduct, citizenship and character.

The award will be made during Commencement.

SQUAD SEEKS TOT'S BODY

3-Year-Old Child Falls into Stream At Hunter Monday

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad and others began their second night of searching Tuesday for the body of a three-year-old tot who was swept to her death in Left Beaver Creek at Hunter Monday afternoon.

The victim is Anna Yates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Yates, of Hunter. She fell from a low-water bridge across the stream, shortly after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, while she, her five-year-old brother and other children were playing.

Rescue squad members returned here, late Monday, and took to the scene portable floodlights to continue the search into the night. Friends and neighbors of the family continued their efforts through the night. The Rescue Squad threw a net across the stream, half a mile below the scene of the drowning, but this as well as the continued search had been unsuccessful at dusk Tuesday.

Surviving, besides the parents, are 11 brothers and sisters.

AID GRANT MADE FLOYD

Assistance Is Given To Develop Programs Of Community Action

Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced last week that the Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a federal grant of $14,460 to help develop community action programs and serve through medical social workers in this county.

Four Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) are to be assigned to the Floyd County Planning and Development Association, it was said.

One VISTA worker, who apparently is not included in these four, began work this week in the Left Toler Creek community (see separate story).

HALL CHILD IS KILLED

Wheelwright Tragedy Held Unavoidable; Funeral Held Today

Eight-year-old Georgia Ann Hall was instantly killed at Wheelwright Monday afternoon when she toppled from a bicycle into the path of an oncoming truck.

The tragedy was the second in this county during the afternoon. At Hunter, several miles farther downstream, a three-year-old child was drowned.

It was said that the child was riding a bicycle along a sidewalk and that she was having difficulty controlling the bike because it was too large for her. She suddenly pitched from the walk into the street.

Officers said the tragedy was unavoidable. Driver of the truck, James Branham, 46, Peebles, Ohio, formerly of Wheelwright, was not held.

The victim was in the third grade at the Wheelwright consolidated school. She was a daughter of Phineas and Norma Bolan Hall and was born at McDowell. Her father was in a Pikeville hospital at the time of her death.

Surviving, in addition to the parents, are a brother, Kenney, and two sisters, Cherita Lynn and Mizzi Lou. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hall, of Hall, Kentucky, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bee Bolan, reside at Garrett.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 1 p.m. today (Thursday) from the First Baptist Church at Wheelwright, the Rev. Edmond Bolan officiating. Burial will be made in the Wilburn Hall cemetery at Hall under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

The VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) program began this week in a Floyd county community, with a young native of South Africa working in the hope of opening up new vistas to those who live there.

(VISTA, a program initiated under the Economic Opportunity Act, is sometimes referred to as the Domestic Peace Corps.)

The VISTA worker, 22-year-old Pete Banghart, arrived Sunday in the Left Fork of Toler Creek community. He is one of the several program representatives applied for by the Council of Southern Mountains. Seven others are expected to be assigned to the

Two Jailed Here As Drunk Drivers

Two men have been jailed here within the week on drunk driving charges. They are:

Silas Muncy, who also was booked for reckless driving by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson, and Jake Baker, who was also jailed by State Trooper Ray on a charge of driving without an operator's license. Kenner Lee Griffith was jailed Saturday by State Trooper Harmon on a breaking and entering count.

The similarity of names continues to cause embarrassment to innocent persons as the list of those jailed is published. The Ronald Wells mentioned in last week's Times is not the son of Carrie Wells, of Auxier, and the Donald Horne who was listed is said to be a resident of Breathitt county.

PARK BOARD HOLDS MEET

H. B. Ranier Elected President of Board; Site Grading Talked

The recently constituted Prestonsburg Park Board met Monday evening at the Municipal building in an organizational and planning session, with plans for work to be done at the new city park this summer claiming attention.

H. B. Ranier was elected president of the board; Ed Muncie, vice-president; Mrs. J. D. Adams, secretary; Mrs. Mary Jane Harkins, treasurer; Harris S. Howard, legal adviser, and E. B. May, Jr., coordinator.

Plans were discussed for the grading of the first area which is to be developed in the 22-acre tract of land acquired by the city as a park and recreation area. The area scheduled for grading will contain two tennis courts, to be completed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce; a playground for small children, ages 1 to 6, and its equipping, to be financed by the Junior Woman's Club, and two outdoor basketball courts.

Also discussed was the trailer park, picnic and parking areas, a project of the Kiwanis Club, and the possibility of a playground for older children which the Senior Woman's Club is considering.

Two buildings already are under construction in the park area, which borders on Middle Creek, at the upper limits of West Prestonsburg.

EASTERN KY. DAMS GAIN APPROVAL

Martin Stream Control May Cost $3,346,000, Is Engineers' Estimate

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors recommended last week that a channel improvement job on Beaver Creek to protect the town of Martin from flood be done at an estimated cost of $3,346,000.

U. S. Senators Cooper and Morton wired Lawrence Keathley, Martin businessman, that they are working for final approval of the project this year. The recommendation will next go before the Senate Public Works Committee, and Senator Cooper is the ranking Republican on that committee.

This was only one of a series of flood-control projects which the board recommended for approval. The group will cost an estimated $50 million.

The other Big Sandy projects are:

A $20,000 dam and reservoir on Blaine Creek, near Yatesville, Lawrence county, and a $16,970,000 dam and reservoir on Paint Creek, near Paintsville, with the resulting lake to spread over an area in Johnson and Morgan counties.

But the question of communities near the projects being required to pay a share of the construction cost because they share in recreational and other benefits remains to be resolved. That barrier was raised during the last session of Congress. It was lowered somewhat in the new bill, but remains an insurmountable obstacle, residents of the counties in which the dams are to be located say.

Local interests would have to pay $4,068,500 under the new bill, considerably less than the $7 (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

ARREST TWO ESTILL MEN

Intoxicants Seized By Officers; Trials Set In Justice Court

A Sunday morning raid by state officers on premises operated at Estill by Cluett Messer resulted in a heavy haul of intoxicants and the arrest of Messer and Gene Allen, both of Estill.

ABC Agent Claude Flanery, State Troopers Don Goble and James Harmon and State Police Sgt. Jack Roberts reported that they confiscated 2,075 cans of beer, 338 half-pints of whiskey, vodka and gin and 244 pints of wine which they loaded into two state police cruisers and a Scout pickup. Most of the haul was taken from what was once known as the Estill Stock Market building, but the officers said 10 cases of beer and about a fourth of a case of whiskey were found in Messer's nearby restaurant.

Allen was placed under bond, charged with selling intoxicants; Messer, with possession. Both are slated for trial May 8 in Magistrate Zeb Ousley's court from which the search warrant originated.

Bert Combs Schedules State Clean-Up Talk; Kentucky Wins Awards

Former Governor Bert T. Combs, Lexington, will address the introductory luncheon May 19 of the Kentucky Clean-Up and Beautification Conference.

The meeting, first of its kind in the state, will take place May 19-20 at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, and will be divided into work-discussion panels, formal talks by prominent speakers, and recognition awards ceremonies.

It was Combs who, shortly after becoming governor, inaugurated the "Make Kentucky a Cleaner, Greener Land" campaign, which introduced intensive community drives across the state to attract new industry and an increased tourist trade.

"As a result of Governor Combs' pioneering efforts," Mrs. Connie Quinn, Natural Resources director for beautification, pointed out, "Kentucky won national recognition in 1962 in the form of two prominent awards—the keep America Beautiful Award and the Bronze Seal Award."

The latter award recognized the unique floral clock and other significant improvements on the Frankfort capitol grounds.

A for Absentee; B for Buyer

A law, which is tailor-made for election fraud and scandal, will in all probability be put to the fullest possible effect at the May primary in this county.

This is the revised absentee voting legislation which from its conception was not intended to serve the purpose of honesty in elections. Here's how it may work:

First of all, it makes the absentee ballot available to any qualified voter who applies for a ballot by mail, stating under oath that he or she "expects" to be out of the county on election day. That sets the stage. Now, consider a hypothetical case in the matter of vote-buying:

Voter A (for absentee) goes to Candidate B (for buyer), or vice versa, and the arrangements begin. The application is made for a ballot on the simple grounds that A "expects" to be out of the county on election day. A receives his ballot; B pays him for his vote and is assured that his investment gets results, because the voter marks the ballot in his presence, and B, or his representative, then mails the voted ballot to the County Clerk.

It has been predicted that as many as 1,500 voters may "expect" to be out of the county, May 25. Some of these will be good, honest electors, but the chances are most of them will be getting more out of the election than the mere privilege of casting a ballot as a free American citizen. If enough candidates become concerned about what may happen to them, and if all—many acting defensively—get into the act, the total of absentee ballots could run far in excess of the predicted 1,500.

And while vote-sellers and vote-buyers twist the law and wring from it every drop of the fraud and corruption it contains, an aged voter, confined to his or her home by illness or the ravages of time, will be ineligible to vote—simply because he or she cannot "expect" to be out of the county.

It is too late now for anything to be done to remedy the situation in this present political campaign, but the Governor and the General Assembly can do something about it, next January.

This law, as it now stands, is a statutory disgrace. A return to the law which was in effect prior to 1964—the law which restricted absentee voting to students in residence in colleges, to members of the armed forces and federal government employees—is a necessity which the next Legislature surely will not overlook.

To the People of Magisterial Dist. No. 2

As you all know, the election is drawing near, and the power and privilege is in your hands to choose who will be your next Magistrate.

I am a Democratic candidate for re-election, and I have tried very hard to make your tax money do as much good as possible. We have built several new roads and bridges, and I am sure that if you will just think back you will say all of the roads in our district have been improved. Yet I say that they are not good enough.

If re-elected, I will continue to do all I can for you — for better roads, peace and goodwill and a sober and honest conduct of the office of Magistrate.

I will appreciate your support at the primary election May 25. Your friend,
ZEB OUSLEY

Wayland Holds First Driver Refresher Course

After a delay of several weeks, the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club driver refresher course got underway last Monday evening with an organizational meeting at the clubhouse conducted by State Trooper Jerry Combs. Trooper Combs passed out literature on the financial responsibility law, the revised point system and Kentucky's action program for traffic safety, explaining each briefly. He also spoke briefly on the "Rules of the Road," and outlined what the future meetings would cover.

"A community is just what the people who live in it make of it," stressed Trooper Combs, and urged that all interested persons in the Wayland vicinity attend these meetings each Monday evening in order to be better drivers and help to make the highways safer for all.

The "Buck for a Boy" project being currently sponsored by the Kentucky State Police was explained by Trooper Combs. The project is to raise $150,000 by public donations to build a boys' summer camp on Trooper Island, Dale Hollow Lake, on the Kentucky-Tennessee line in Clinton county. The camp will be for underprivileged boys of 10 to 14 years, who are regular school attendants, but who do not normally have the opportunity to attend a summer camp. The basic purpose of the camp is to foster constructive relationships between the law enforcement officials and the youth of the state.

Trooper Combs advised that any interested parties wishing to contribute may send contributions to Kentucky State Police, Boys' Camp, Inc., Frankfort, Kentucky.

Prior to Trooper Combs' arrival, a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. C. Wells, in which announcement was made of the club's installation breakfast to be held May 15, at which time the Seventh District Governor will be present to install the officers for the coming club year. Mrs. Wells also announced the dates for the State Convention, to be held May 25, 26, 27 and 28 at the Brown hotel in Louisville. She read an invitation from the Commissioner of Natural Resources to Kentucky's Clean-Up and Beautification Conference, May 19 and 20, at the Phoenix hotel, Lexington.

A discussion was held of the State President's project to build a home for delinquent girls and it was decided to help with this project, the amount of pledge to be stipulated later.

Mrs. Wells distributed lists of library books and films of special interest to clubwomen and available through the new Floyd County Library.

The first full session of the Driver Refresher Course will begin Monday, May 3, at 7:00 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Bowling Group Plans Annual Tournament To Be Held At Pikeville

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, Maj. Gen. John M. Palmer, military governor of Kentucky, issued an order, which said that "the power of arrest will hereafter be sparingly exercised, and directed against real offenders. There is no dignity or justice in pursuing foolish words. The bands now prowling through the country are simply guerrillas and robbers, and are to be treated as such; they will be allowed to surrender for trial."

It was true that within the borders of the Commonwealth, which marked the extent of Palmer's jurisdiction, any armed bands that his Union Army soldiers might encounter would be guerrillas or robbers, for there was no longer any organized Confederate Army resistance in Kentucky. However, there were Confederate soldiers from Kentucky who were still under arms in three theaters. There were some in the Carolinas, including the survivors of Morgan's Cavalry. There were others under Lt. Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest and Lt. Gen. Richard Taylor (a son of President Zachary Taylor) in the Confederate Army's Department of Alabama, Mississippi and East Louisiana, which Taylor commanded. Still other Kentuckians were with Gen. Edmund Kirby Smith in the Trans-Mississippi Department. Since the fall of Vicksburg in July of 1863, the country west of the Mississippi had been cut off from Richmond and had become a separate command, jokingly called "Kirby Smithdom." Another full month would pass before Kirby Smith surrendered.

During the week under review, Gen. Joseph E. Johnston surrendered to Sherman at Durham Station, N. C. The terms were similar to those which Grant had given Lee. However, Johnston's surrender did not mean an end to the war for Kentucky Confederate soldiers at Charlotte, N. C. President Jefferson Davis and members of his cabinet had arrived at Charlotte, escorted by a division of cavalry which included a brigade commanded by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge of Lexington. Already at Charlotte were the Kentucky cavalry brigades of Duke and Vaughan, which had marched there from Virginia after Lee's surrender. Jefferson Davis, who was still hopeful of continuing the war, impatiently awaited the arrival of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, Confederate Secretary of War, who had been with Gen. Johnston at Greensboro, N. C.

Shortly after Breckinridge reached Charlotte, news of Johnston's surrender was received by telegraph. Davis decided to take "all the troops willing to follow him" and join Gens. Taylor and Forrest in Alabama. "Then there was another stir and commotion among the refugees," Basil Duke wrote. "The greater part chose to remain at Charlotte and accept the terms granted Gen. Johnston's army." The five brigades of cavalry commanded by Duke, Vaughan, W. C. P. Breckinridge, Ferguson and Debrill made up the escort, the whole force under command of Gen. John C. Breckinridge. Duke had found his horses at Unionville, and his men no longer had to ride mules.

ONLY SERVICE COUNTS

I make this statement in reference to my opponent's suggestion for a debate.

No sound reason exists for a debate. The statutes set out very clearly the duties of a County Judge. The people know me as an official and as a common citizen, and they also know my record.

Glibly spoken promises and fancy words, expressed in debate or elsewhere, mean little to the people. They need good, sound, honest government. Action, not words, is what counts.

Your friend,

HENRY STUMBO

(Pol. adv.)

Beware of false statements and rumors. There has been a whispering campaign going on in this county in the Sheriff's race. They are using tactics that are a disgrace to an educated, human society.

Four years ago, I lost the Sheriff's race by 43 votes. As everybody knows, four years ago it was too late to lock the barn door after the horse was gone. I am in this race to win.

In next week's Floyd County Times I will have my platform.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Big walleyes like a lure practically placed in their mouths, so a special technique is called for.

Fishing a river is difficult, because when you use artificial lures many of them get snagged on the bottom when you try to hold them where the walleyes are schooling.

Here's a rig that works well, snags infrequently and covers the bottom like a dredge: Put a wire leader at the end of your line to prevent the walleye's sharp teeth from cutting it in two. Snap on a fast-wiggling, floating plug that runs shallow. About six inches above this, attach a keel sinker just heavy enough to sink the lure in the current you are fishing.

From a position, either wading or in an anchored boat, in the middle of a riffle or rapids just before it breaks into a deep hole, let the current pull the lure into the deep water, nudging bottom all the way.

Sweep it from one side of the hole to the other, then let out three more feet of line and repeat this side-to-side combing of the bottom.

The keel sinker rides on the bottom, and the buoyant plug swims above and behind it, free of snags. You can work this slowly and hold it right in front of Mister Walleye's jaws, a hard-to-resist temptation because he's usually hungry.

When you catch your first walleye, you should count the turns of the reel handle it takes to land your fish—though this takes good presence of mind because of the excitement of the moment.

Then you can count this same number of turns as you pay out your line and return your lure to the same area. Where one walleye is caught, there are usually others.

"Fish other types of lures below the fast water of dams, next to the big eddies and just ahead of the riffles," suggests Homer Circle, Special Features Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. As for the most productive lures in any locality, talk to the natives and let them know you are a visitor. Rarely will you find them anything but extremely helpful.

MOORE-HUNT VOWS SAID

Comelia Gwen Moore, daughter of Mrs. Artie Moore, exchanged wedding vows with Kenneth C. Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Staten Hunt, of Garden City, Mich., Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in the First Congregational Church in Wayne, Michigan.

The couple spoke their double-ring vows before the Rev. A. W. Thomas and the Rev. Wm. Wilson. The church was decorated with Easter lilies which lined the altar.

The organist, Mrs. Orpha Hutty, gave a recital which included "Cantilena," "Lord, Jesus Christ, Be Present Now," "Awake, Thou Wint'ry Earth," "Pastorale on Forest Green," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." Prior to the ceremony, the couple sang, "Lord, Who at Cana's Wedding Feast," "Oh, Bless the House Whate'er Befall," and "The Wedding Song."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Ron Moore. The bride's gown was fashioned of nylon organza over taffeta, along princess lines. A scroll pattern of Alencon lace paneled the front of the gown from the scalloped sabrina neckline to the floor. A cathedral train featuring Alencon lace fell from organza rosettes at the waistline. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by petals of organza and lace encrusted with crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of amazon lilies which was centered with an orchid corsage.

Miss Janice Moore attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of chiana crepe in deep aqua, featuring a stand-up scoop neckline. A wateau drape fell from crepe rosettes at the back. The veil was loops of organza interspersed with stamens of pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white with yellow centered daisies.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Glennetta Root, Ypsilanti, Mrs. Glenda Chrecek, Harrow, Ontario, Canada, sisters of the bride, Miss Rose Marie Clark, of Wayne, and Miss Ann Chrecek, of Harrow, Ontario, Canada. Attire of the attendants was similar to that of the maid of honor. They wore Degas blue gowns and carried yellow daisies.

Mr. James Simmons served as best man and seating the guests were Mr. Dennis Hunt, brother of the groom, Mr. Charles Simmons and Mr. Dave Simmons.

Michael Bruce Root, of Ypsilanti, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer. Danity Denise Hunt, niece of the groom, was flower-girl.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moore selected a maitelasse crepe suit in candy pink, with pink accessories. She wore an orchid shoulder corsage. The groom's mother wore a white and aqua dress with matching accessories.

Following the reception, the couple left for a ten-day honeymoon in the Pocono hills in Pennsylvania. For the trip the new Mrs. Hunt selected a light aqua ensemble with matching accessories.

Mrs. Hunt is a graduate of McDowell high school and has a B. S. degree from Berea College, Berea, Ky., and is presently teaching homemaking at the Ben Franklin junior high school, Wayne, Michigan.

Mr. Hunt was graduated from Harrisburg high school, Arkansas, and is presently employed at the Willow Run Corvair Plant.

The couple will reside in their new home in Washington Square, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

Approximately 300 guests were in attendance and arrived from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Ohio, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Toronto, Leamington, Kingsville, Harrow, Ontario, Canada. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sam Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stumbo, aunt and uncle of the bride, arrived from Kentucky for the occasion.

Revenue Service Plans Compliance Study Here; Required by U. S. Code

The U. S. Internal Revenue Service will begin a "Compliance Survey" of many Prestonsburg business firms on May 17 thru 24 to determine if taxpayers are aware of and complying with federal tax laws requiring the filing of tax returns.

Revenue officers will conduct the survey which is expected to take several days to complete, according to G. C. Hooks, Louisville district director of Internal Revenue.

The Revenue officers will check on filing of business income tax, employer's Social Security, withholding tax, and estate tax returns.

District Director Hooks emphasized that the survey is not designed to audit returns but only to ascertain the awareness and extent of compliance with tax return filing requirements of the Internal Revenue laws.

"Compliance Surveys" are required by the Internal Revenue Code, Mr. Hooks added, and are a continuous part of the regular tax enforcement program in keeping with the high standards of fairness the Service maintains in its dealing with taxpayers.

Internal Revenue recognizes that most of the delinquents which will be brought to light will be the result of honest misunderstandings or oversight. Mr. Hooks indicated, however, that the rare instances of flagrant abuse which may be discovered will be dealt with according to the law.

War On Poverty Means Is Conference Theme; Breathitt Is Speaker

Frankfort — How to wage war on poverty at the community level was the theme of a two-day conference in Louisville recently which attracted some 1,200 persons from every corner of Kentucky.

At the conference, sponsored by the Kentucky Commission on Children and Youth, Governor Edward T. Breathitt declared that the Federal Economic Opportunity Act "places in our hands a key to release our energies, our vision and our aspirations... what we get out of it depends largely on what we ourselves put into it."

Breathitt said 36 anti-poverty projects in Kentucky have been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity (O. E. O.) in Washington and most of these involve services in children, job training for youth, and "help to strengthen families."

Theodore M. Berry, community action director at the O. E. O., and a native of Maysville, said the anti-poverty legislation gives high priority to services for children and youth. Of the estimated 30 million impoverished persons in the nation, he said, more than a third are under 18 years of age. While these young people can not be blamed for their economic and cultural poverty, he added, they offer the greater hope to overthrow the legacy of despair and dependency.

Berry underlined the necessity of across-the-board cooperation by every community organization with a social purpose—government, school boards, trade unions, welfare agencies and others.

"No one agency is capable of doing it alone," he said. Berry said Kentucky is "far in advance" of Tennessee and Virginia in the anti-poverty aid it has received because Kentucky "was there first with the most."

Fourteen other Federal anti-poverty officials were on the conference program, explaining the possibilities of the program from completing application forms to follow-up on approved projects.

Shad Hoffman, a representative of the American Public Welfare Association, said "there is danger of waging war against the poor instead of against poverty" unless the poor themselves have a hand in designing and implementing anti-poverty programs.

James L. Peel, Frankfort, coordinator of the poverty war in Kentucky, said the state's program has mobilized to the extent that 100,000 underprivileged children will participate in Operation Head-Start in Kentucky this summer. The project is designed to give underprivileged preschool children educational experiences during the summer months, in preparation for regular classroom studies.

Other state government speakers on the program included Dr. Harry Sparks, superintendent of public instruction; Don C. Bale, assistant superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Margaret Limer, medical director of the Kentucky Commission for Handicapped Children; and Richard J. Clendenen, child welfare commissioner.

million the old bill would have required.

The report said the engineers are aware that the projects are in Appalachia, where the economy is weak, and they have figured in "the expected favorable effects of the projects on the local economy."

The engineers recommended that under the federal water project recreation act, Yatesville interests be required to pay $2,600,000, and that Paintsville interests be required to pay $965,000 as the local share of recreational benefits.

But the engineers are aware that these sums are out of the reach of the depressed Appalachian regions involved, and it is possible they will be revised. They said in the report that the payment requirement could be "modified" if the Appalachian Regional Commission finds it can help with the costs, under the Appalachian Development Act.

The report points out that the projects "would, both in project construction and operation, employ a part of the labor force which would otherwise be on direct relief in the region."

This factor helped bring the cost-benefit ratio in favor of benefits, a needed element in getting project approved. Cooper and Congressman Carl D. Perkins said they are going to try to have any local sharing requirements removed.

they left him in the vicinity of the railway tracks, across the river from here, and that he declined their invitation to accompany them, saying he would come home later.

Engineer of the train which, the defense claimed, caused Marcum's death testified that he saw Marcum lying with his head approximately a foot from the rails and that the distance was so short that he had no time in which to stop the train.

Two more liquor convictions were handed down by juries last week. William Riley Wells was fined $100 and given a 30-day jail term for possessing alcoholic beverages, and John Rice drew the same fine and a 60-day term for the same offense. They as well as others convicted on liquor charges were required to execute $1,000 peace bond for the period of a year.

Three other defendants won dismissals. The charges of transporting which had been made against Sanford Allen Rue was dismissed for lack of evidence. The possession charge against Paul D. Newsome and Billy Jean Reynolds was dismissed on the grounds that the charge arose from an illegal search.

James Richard Diles pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a storehouse and was given a three-year pen term. Chester Neely was acquitted of a false-swearing charge on a directed verdict, and these cases were dismissed: Red Morris, Larry and Burton Bailey, petit larceny, dismissal order marked, "for lack of prosecution;" Johnny Crisp, rape, and J. J. Crum, Ray Conn and Johnny Crisp, charged with detaining a woman against her will, dismissed for lack of evidence.

BILL COOLEY

COOLEY SPEAKS

It has come to my attention that some of my opponents are directly or indirectly circulating rumors and false items in regard to my candidacy for Sheriff. Some are too ridiculous to even dignify with a rebuttal. However, I am willing to meet any, or all, of my opponents, face to face, on Courthouse Square or any public location of their choice and denounce these untruths. It is my belief that the good, intelligent people of our County will not be deceived by these last minute, desperate attempts of a few desperate individuals.

It has always been my conviction that mud slung is ground wasted. I am, as I have always in the past, conducting an honorable campaign. I take great pride in the fact that I can offer myself for your approval on the basis of past performances. I served as your Circuit Court Clerk for 18 years. During those 18 years I conducted the Clerk's office, and myself, in such manner that I do not hesitate to present myself, for the voters approval, again; and to say that I shall render the same type of honest, efficient, and dedicated service as your Sheriff. I shall, also, pledge myself to SAFE, dignified, and impartial LAW ENFORCEMENT.

I feel that I can justifiably measure up to the following Candidate Yardsticks:

- KNOW A MAN BY HIS PEOPLE.
- KNOW A MAN BY THE COMPANY HE KEEPS.
- KNOW A MAN BY HIS DEEDS AND PAST PERFORMANCES.
- KNOW A MAN BY HIS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY.
- KNOW A MAN BY HIS SENSE OF LEVEL HEADNESS, DUTY AND RESPONSIBILITY.

Be not deceived by FALSEHOODS. Be informed and cast your vote intelligently. Vote for your welfare and your children's SAFETY.

STAINS IN ENAMELED PANS. Chlorine bleach is good for removing stains and discolorations in enameled pots and pans, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Use 1/4 cup bleach and let it stand in the pan until the stain disappears. Then wash the pan well with warm sudsy water and rinse.

USING TEFLON. For best results, Teflon-coated cookware and bakeware should be washed when new in detergent or soap, rinsed and dried, and then "seasoned" by applying a thin film of salad oil over the surface with a paper towel, recommends Mrs. Ella Anderson, UK Extension specialist in home management.

TWEED WAS TWILL. The cloth you know as tweed was originally called "tweel," the Scottish spelling of twill, says Mrs. Rachel Wallace, UK Extension clothing specialist. But a London merchant, misreading an invoice back in 1840, apparently thought the fabric was named after the River Tweed—and it's been called tweed ever since.

Telephone Talk

By
ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

DID YOU KNOW THE TELEPHONE HOUR WILL SOON CELEBRATE ITS 25th ANNIVERSARY AND IT'S STILL GOING STRONG! Of course, there are lots of reasons for the success of the Telephone Hour. Good music. High quality performance. Top guest stars. But on a program like this, much depends on its musical director, Donald Voorhees.

Mr. Voorhees has directed the program since its beginning on radio in 1940. When the program switched to TV in 1959, he continued as conductor and director. Mr. Voorhees knows as much about handling a chorus as he does about directing an orchestra. What's more, when he can't find a piece of music to fit a special occasion, he sits down and writes one! One of his best-known compositions is the "Bell Waltz," theme of the Telephone Hour. Eileen Farrell, the great American soprano says this about Mr. Voorhees, "The man's uncanny. He knows what I'm going to do before I know myself."

Knowing what to do when there's an emergency during a broadcast is part of a conductor's life, too. Like the time a string on a great violinist's instrument snapped during a performance. Or the time somebody knocked a music stand over with a resounding crash. Mr. Voorhees has his orchestra trained to go on as if nothing has happened. And this isn't easy when you know a few million people are watching every move you make.

Listen to what he has to say about his life's work. "Music is a creative activity that is found almost everywhere in the world. It is the working out of a drive for expression. Therefore, I think that good music is music that has enduring meaning."

Mr. Voorhees knows what he's talking about. He has been bringing good music to America for a long time now. Like millions of other viewers, we look forward to many more years of good music with Mr. Voorhees and the Telephone Hour!

PRESTONSBURG POLICE COURT

W. M. HALE, POLICE JUDGE

P. O. Box 133

W. PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

April 19, 1965

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

It is not my purpose to become personally involved in any of the races for County offices. However, a question has been raised by friends of the County Attorney of this County which affects the caliber of the judicial administration of this City.

I have been Police Judge of the City of Prestonsburg for over three years. During this time I have served with two City Attorneys. Mr. Fred Francis served in this capacity until approximately six months ago when Mr. Clifford B. Latta was appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Francis.

Through the effective efforts of the City Police Department, bootlegging has been held to a minimum, and during the tenure of Mr. Latta as City Attorney it has only been necessary for me to call on his services in the prosecution of one liquor case.

In that instance the defendant was fined $100.00 plus costs, the maximum penalty permitted by law, and not $20.00 as reported by the statement in the Floyd County Times. The jail sentence was suspended due to serious illness in the family of the defendant. This action was taken by me independently of the City Attorney who had recommended that the jail sentence be imposed.

The statement made by the Committee for Mr. Sturgill relative to the handling of liquor violations by the City Court is misleading and untrue. The most serious liquor problems facing the City come from business establishments located outside the city limits on either side of town.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Interest Exempt from Federal and Kentucky Income Taxation $200,000 CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS CORPORATION FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, SERIES A AND SERIES B (Observe that submission of separate bids is required)

Scaled bids will be received, opened and considered by City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Municipal Improvements Corporation (a non-profit, no-stock public and charitable corporation organized under Kentucky law and existing solely for the purpose of serving as an agency and instrumentality of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, in the financing of public and municipal improvements), at a meeting to be held in the office of the Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on the 14th day of May, 1965, at the hour of 7:30 p.m., EST., for the purchase of said Corporation's $200,000 "First Mortgage Bonds," dated June 1, 1965, consisting of $88,000 Series A (maturing serially June 1, 1967/85), and $107,000 Series B (maturing serially June 1, 1966/91), which Bonds, without regard for Series designation, are in all respects equal as to security and source of payment, and are subject to redemption on and after June 1, 1974. Purchase bids for each Series will be received separately (no combined bids to be considered), as follows:

(a) Bids for the "Series A Bonds" must be for the entire authorized $88,000 thereof, for cash, at not less than face amount thereof, with accrued interest to delivery, and must be submitted on the "Series A Official Bid Form." Bidders may stipulate one or more interest coupon rates of their own choosing, each in a multiple of 1/8 or 1/10 of 1%; none to exceed 6% per annum; and the average net interest cost to said Corporation not to exceed 5% per annum; each bid to be accompanied by a certified or bank cashier's check made payable to said Corporation in the sum of $1,800. Further terms and conditions are set forth in (c) below.

(b) Bids for the purchase of the "Series B Bonds" must be submitted for the entire $107,000 thereof, for any or all of the hereinafter designated blocks thereof, upon the "Series B Official Bid Form," (except in the case of a bid submitted by HHFA), at not less than face amount, with accrued interest to delivery; accompanied in each case (except in the case of a bid submitted by HHFA), by a certified or bank cashier's check payable to the order of said Corporation in a sum equal to 2% of the face amount of the Series B Bonds which are therein offered to be purchased. As to the Series B Bonds, bidders may stipulate interest coupon rates of their own choosing, in multiples of 1/8 or 1/10 of 1%; none to exceed 6% per annum, and the average net interest cost to said Corporation for the aggregate of the Series B Bonds which are offered to be purchased not to exceed 3-5/8% per annum. Subject to such net interest cost limitation, bids for the Series B Bonds, or for any one or more of the blocks thereof, may be submitted as follows:

(1) All Series B maturities in the years 1967 through 1975 (2) All Series B maturities in the years 1976 through 1980 (3) All Series B maturities in the years 1981 through 1985 (4) All Series B maturities in the years 1986 through 1990 (5) All Series B maturities in the year 1991 (6) The entire issue.

As to the Series B Bonds, bids for purchase of the entire Series will be accorded preference over bids for a lesser amount thereof; and bids for the purchase of more blocks will be accorded preference over bids for a fewer number of blocks, subject to the above interest rate limitation. For the purpose of determining the best bid, calculations of net interest cost will exclude the bid of Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) for the Series B Bonds, hereinafter described. HHFA has entered into a Loan Agreement pursuant to which it proposes to bid face amount and accrued interest for all of the Series B Bonds at a single interest rate of 3-5/8% per annum, subject to acceptance by said Corporation of purchase bids from others for the entire Series B Bonds, or the above designated blocks thereof, upon terms equal thereto.

(c) As applicable to the Bonds of both Series A and Series B, said Corporation will not give favorable consideration to any bid which proposes that interest becoming due on any Bond on any interest payment date be represented by more than one coupon; nor that interest on any Bond be represented by more than one interest rate from date to maturity. Each successful bidder will be furnished by said Corporation, without cost to the bidder, the prepared and executed Bonds, the customary closing documents, including No-Litigation Certificate, and the unqualified approving legal opinion of Grafton, Ferguson & Fleischer, Municipal Bond Attorneys of Louisville, Kentucky. The right to reject bids is expressly reserved.

The maturity schedules and redemption provisions, together with a description of the security and source of payment, are set forth in the "Prospectus;" and the same, together with copies of the respective applicable "Official Bid Forms" may be obtained from the Fiscal Agent and Financial Advisor, Charles A. Hirsch & Co., Inc., 1001 Fifth Third Bank Building, Cincinnati, Ohio. Further details with reference to the manner of submitting bids, and the determination of the best bid in the case of each Series, are set forth in the "Statement of Terms and Conditions of Bond Sale," also obtainable from said Fiscal Agent and Financial Advisor.

RESERVATION FACILITIES SLATED FOR EXPANSION

Frankfort, Ky.—Additional facilities for the Central Reservation Service of the Kentucky state parks system went into effect April 15.

Park Commissioner Robert D. Bell said the Tourist Information Center on the Kentucky Turnpike, near Shepherdsville, now offers reservation service. The attendant at the Information Center will place calls directly to the parks at the request of guests, who can then make their reservations.

Roy Lutz is in charge of the Shepherdsville Information Center.

The state's other Tourist Information Center, at Pineville, will join the Central Reservation Service May 15, Bell added. Mrs. Edith Asher is in charge there.

The Central Reservation Office in state parks headquarters at Frankfort was opened last year and is credited with helping to achieve the record attendance of 14,243,691 visitors to the 34 parks and shrines in 1964. Free local lines are available to the Frankfort office from Louisville (583-9796), Lexington (252-4913), and the Covington-Cincinnati area (261-2643). Those outside these areas can call the Frankfort office direct (223-2326), or call the park of their choice.

Reservations of some type still are available at many of the vacation parks, Bell pointed out.

He gave this run-down, by parks:

JENNY WILEY (near Prestonsburg): April and May—cottages and rooms available most dates, other than those taken by convention groups; June—some cottages and lodge rooms available early in the month; July and August—rooms booked on all week-ends, all cottages taken.

BUCKHORN LAKE (in Perry county, near Hazard)—plenty of lodge rooms available at all times except Memorial Day week-end; no cottages here.

PINE MOUNTAIN (near Pineville): May—plenty of lodge rooms and cottages other than for Mountain Laurel Festival week-end; June—rooms and all types of cottages available; July and August—rooms and efficiency cottages available.

CUMBERLAND FALLS (near Corbin): April—all types of accommodations available, including lodge cottages, lodge rooms, and cabins except April 23-24, when all accommodations filled; May—lodge booked May 6, 7, 8, 16, 17, 19, 20, 24, but cottages available; June—all types of cottages and rooms available; July and August—all accommodations available except two bedroom cottages.

LAKE CUMBERLAND (near Jamestown): April and May—all week-ends taken in all accommodations except Lure Lodge annex; June, July and August—no cottages available, few rooms available in New Lure Lodge, week days, rooms available on most dates in Lure Lodge Annex.

NATURAL BRIDGE (near Slade): April and May—rooms and cottages available; June, July and August—some rooms and cottages open at all times.

PENNYRILE FOREST (near Dawson Springs)—all accommodations available until June; efficiency cottages and lodge rooms available at all times.

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE (near Gilbertsville): April—cottages available at all times, rooms in Village Inn available during week only, rooms available at all times in Lake Lodge; May—limited number of cottages and rooms in Village Inn, Lake Lodge available at all times; June, July and August—accommodations available in Lake Lodge rooms and efficiency cottages.

KENLAKE (near Hardin): April—week-ends nearly booked in cottages and rooms by convention groups; May—week-ends heavily booked, cottages and rooms by convention groups; June—week-ends heavily booked.

cottages and rooms available during the week; June, July and August—large cottages booked to capacity for summer, efficiency cottages and lodge rooms available.

ROUGH RIVER (Falls of Rough): April and May—cottages and rooms available at all times except when conventions (two) booked; June, July and August—rooms available all times except Memorial Day and Fourth of July holiday periods, two-bedroom cottages available on few scattered dates.

GENERAL BUTLER (near Carrollton): April and May—rooms and cottages booked 85 percent on week-ends, week days open; June, July and August—all large cottages booked, plenty of efficiency cottages available at all times, rooms available but not many on week ends.

CARTER CAVES (near Olive Hill): plenty of rooms and efficiency cottages available for all months.

AUDUBON (near Henderson): cottages available all months.

Advance reservations, Bell said, are ahead of last year at this time, thanks to the Central Reservation Service which can refer callers to other parks with the same facilities, if their first choice is already booked full.

From March 15 when the service re-opened through the first full week in April, he added, 2,832 calls had been received at the Central Information Office.

A total of 1,894 reservations had been completed. In addition to these calls on which reservations had been made, 853 other calls had been made just for information about the state parks.

Last year, the Central Information Office opened on May 18. It received more than 10,000 calls and made a total of 4,388 reservations in the various parks before the office closed November 15 for the winter.

Some reservations still are open, Bell added, for the special Package Week-Ends—Wild Flower Magic, May 7-9, Cumberland Falls; Pennyrile Golf Tournament, May 21-23, Pennyrile Forest; Campers Conclave, May 14-16, Carter Caves; Spelunkers Week-End, April 30-May 2, also at Carter Caves; and Father and Sons Sports Week-End, May 7-9, Pine Mountain.

PERSPECTIVE

BY ROBERT J. HASTINGS

Much has been made of the statement by some of the early Russian astronauts who said they failed to find God in outer space.

This is a rather ridiculous statement to say the least, since God is not a localized person who lives either on earth, in space, or on some planet. "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

As our thoughts turn toward Easter and our steps point toward the church of our choice on that significant day, it is refreshing to read a statement of faith by Dr. Werner von Braun, noted German missile and rocket expert who has contributed so much to our own space efforts since World War II.

Unlike the Russians who said they found no God in space, Dr. von Braun testifies: "Belief in Christ and in immortality gives us the spiritual strength and the guidance we need for virtually every action in our daily lives."

In our modern world many people feel that science has somehow made such "religious ideas" untimely or old-fashioned.

But I think science has a real surprise for the skeptics. Science, for instance, tells us that nothing in nature, not even the tiniest particle, can disappear without a trace. Nature does not know extinction. All it knows is transformation!

Now, if God applies this fundamental principle to the most minute and insignificant parts of His universe, doesn't it make sense to assume that He applies it also to the masterpiece of His creation—the human soul? I think it does. And everything science has taught me—and continues to teach me—strengthens my belief in the continuity of our spiritual existence after death. Nothing disappears without a trace.

Fog, rain and snow were NOT major causes of highway accidents in 1964 that claimed 48,000 lives. About 90% of the crashes occurred in clear weather on dry roads.

To Scotch a Rumor . . .

JOE WHEELER LEWIS STATES PLAIN FACTS

Some of my opponents have undertaken to damage me in my race for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff by spreading the rumor that, if I am elected, I will put my brother, Mack Lewis, in as my chief deputy.

In reply to that rumor, let me put it as plainly as I can:

I promise the people of Floyd county that, if I am elected their Sheriff, NEITHER MACK LEWIS NOR ANY OTHER PERSON WHO HAS BEEN CONVICTED OF A FELONY WILL EVER BE A DEPUTY OF MINE.

I hold for my brother the brotherly love that is natural. But our mutual regard for each other does not lessen my duty to the people of this county. I would not have Mack as my deputy, and I am sure he would not have the job if it were offered to him.

I do not believe in personal attacks or mud-slinging. I am running my own race, leaving other races for the candidates who are seeking those other offices. Because other men are wanting the same office I seek is no reason for me to want to damage them in any way or to hold hard feelings against them. If any of the candidates for Sheriff in this primary want to travel around over the county with me, they are welcome to join me. I will furnish the car—it won't cost them a penny.

I am the father of 14 children. My oldest two have graduated from college, three are still in high school and four are in grade school. These children of mine and your children deserve a better county in which to grow up, live and do their life's work. To that end, and to the end that law and order may prevail in our county, I pledge my every effort when I am elected your Sheriff.

On no other basis would I presume to ask the people of this county to help elect me.

Sincerely,

JOE WHEELER LEWIS FOR SHERIFF

MANY INJURIES

CLEANING NATURAL FINISH WOOD

Before you use any cleaner on furniture that has a natural finish, be sure you know just what kind of finish it has, suggests Mrs. Ella Anderson, UK Extension specialist in home management. Some finishes are water-resistant and will not be harmed by soap or detergent and water. Those such as spar varnish, penetrating seals, and oil finish usually can be cleaned in this way. However, water may damage such finishes as shellac or regular varnish.

To the PEOPLE of FLOYD COUNTY:

Four years is a short time. I am now in the fourth year of my first term as your County Attorney. During this time Floyd county has made more progress than any period in its history.

As your County Attorney the last four years have been marked by positive leadership, progress and service to ALL our people. Let's look at the record.

A RECORD OF SERVICE TO THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY:

I have served as President of the Young Democrats of Kentucky; President of the Floyd County Young Democrats; National Committeeman from Kentucky; member of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee; Co-ordinator for John F. Kennedy in 1960; Speaker's Bureau for Breathitt for Governor in 1963; Committee for Kentucky for Johnson-Humphrey in 1964.

Because of this background in party affairs I have been able to help Floyd county get its fair share of all federal and state programs. My work for our Democratic Party qualifies me to act in close cooperation with state and federal officials. I know we have accomplished much in the last four years and much more can be done. I believe the people know I can help and be of greater service because I know the people in Frankfort and Washington. I have proved I can get things done for Floyd county.

RECORD OF PLANNED PROGRAMS OF PROGRESS:

As your County Attorney we have accomplished the following programs:

1. New Courthouse.
2. Clearing and snagging Right Beaver Creek.
3. Food Stamp Program.
4. Unemployed Parents Program.
5. Community College.
6. Anti-poverty Program, Advance Planning Money, $23,900.00. One of the first counties to qualify and the staff has been hired ready to move ahead.
7. Extensive Rural Road Program.

Every home in Floyd county has benefitted by these programs. It is just the beginning. If we continue to cooperate with all officials we can get more. During the last four years Floyd county has a record of getting the most first—We must continue on this road of planned progress.

RECORD OF LAW AND ORDER:

I am against organized crime and bootlegging. During my term as County Attorney the forces of organized crime have failed in their attempt to take over in Floyd county. My firm stand on the prosecution of bootlegging and all crimes has kept the crime organization from taking over. I will continue this fight! —I will continue to cooperate with the Governor's office, State Police, ABC Agents, your Sheriff and all interested law enforcement agencies to curb organized crime and especially bootlegging. Let me say again I appreciate the help and cooperation of the ministers, churches, P-T.A. groups and citizens in helping in this fight. I ask you to stay with me in this fight for law and order.

A RECORD OF KNOWING THE PEOPLE AND THEIR PROBLEMS:

It is necessary for a man to know the people he serves and understand their problems. The people must know their County Attorney. Does he know them? Is he a man who can understand and give friendly, efficient service to ALL the people? I have had experience in the County Attorney's office. I have worked hard and given leadership and service to ALL our people. I believe the people know me. Ask yourself, Do you know the other candidate for office? How will he do? Should we change?

I was born and raised in Floyd county. I attended the schools of Floyd county. I grew up and played ball with your children. I know the people and have a great desire to render great public service to all our people.

I ask your vote and support for County Attorney, so we can look forward to four more years of continued progress and service.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

The Great Creator of Life has filled this world with many wonderful and beautiful things for our enjoyment—trees, wild flowers, fascinating scenery, wonderful animals and song birds. But we have to use our eyes and look around and learn to know and appreciate these great blessings. Take the song birds now—wouldn't this be a dreary world without any birds to make music? There are multiplied thousands of birds singing somewhere, every moment of the day, bringing joy to the world. As the poet Riley wrote:

"There's ever a song somewhere, my dear,
There's ever something a-singing always."

HOW TO MAKE BIRDS MORE MEANINGFUL

1. Watch for the return of the song birds and learn to recognize them by their songs and calls.

2. Keep a notebook on birds and jot down the date the song bird came back on its spring migration; or the date you first heard it singing.

3. Get a good Field Guide and go out this spring to study the birds and learn their songs. The months of April, May and June are best for the study of birds, as they are busy singing and nesting then. When you learn a new bird, jot down the date you identified it and keep a record.

4. List all the birds nesting in trees or shrubbery about your home or the premises; learn their songs and calls and see what foods they eat. See how well they do the job of protecting your garden against harmful pests; the purplemartins save the lives of many people by destroying the mosquitoes which infect people with the dread disease, sleeping sickness.

Bird study is one of the best diversions one can have; it takes the mind off the petty problems and worries of the day and leads one out where the beauties of nature abound, where the green trees beckon and nod and the wild flowers call. Bird study is a tonic for body, mind and soul and brings joy to the heart.

On April 11, I heard the song of the brown thrasher for the first time of the season, then on April 14 I heard the songs of three fine birds: the wood thrush, the ovenbird and the prairie warbler. As early as April 8, I heard the lively, joyous song of the yellow warbler, the only solid-yellow bird you will see out in the field.

After I heard the song of the brown thrasher on April 11, I wrote the following in my Nature Notebook:

"I heard the brown thrasher's spring medley pouring out in a torrent from a tree in the backyard and I stood gripped by the wild, free ecstasy of the bird. Its whole body was a quiver as it sang and its fine feathers were all loosely falling apart and its head was held straight up as it poured out its song as if storming some stronghold of musicians above."

"The brown thrasher's song is one of the finest musical offerings of the bird world; it has none of the harsher notes of the catbird's song, and it is rendered in pairs of syllables, some of which have been rendered as: 'Time to . . . plant corn . . . Plant it . . . Hoe it . . . Hoe it . . . thresh it . . . thresh it . . . Hide it . . . Hide it . . . do, do . . . do, do.'"

This is one bird that puts its whole heart into the song; it is a member of that famous trio of mockers, Mimidae, or mimic thrushes, the mockingbird and the catbird being the other two, and it ranks next to the famous mocking-bird as a musical genius!

The brown thrasher has yellow eyes, a reddish-brown back, a heavily streaked breast and two white conspicuous wing bars, a long, slender tail, which the bird often thrashes up and down like the old-time flail used for thrashing grain—hence the name, "thrasher." It is about 11 inches long, has a slender body, is sleek and handsome.

Young drivers, those under 25 years of age, continue to have the worst driving record. In 1964 they were involved in 29% of the accidents that resulted in 48,000 traffic deaths while accounting for only 15% of the driving population.

A study by an insurance company shows that excessive speed continues to be the Number One killer on American highways. Speed was involved in about 35% of the accidents which killed 48,000 persons in 1964.

ELECT A WOMAN FOR YOUR NEXT COUNTY COURT CLERK

Women have stood for high standards in all their endeavors, so won't you now honor one for this important office NOW?

I am the daughter of Joe Crum and Esta "Cooch" Burchett Crum. My father is a retired miner, having worked more than 20 years in the coal mines on Left and Right Beaver Creek. Hardships and needs are not unfamiliar to me along with many other good people of our county. You can be assured that I will always lend all assistance at my command to make the "load" a little lighter and our county a better place in which to live.

I attended Prestonsburg high school, graduating with the class of 1955, then attended Morehead State College and Mayo Vocational School, majoring in administrative and clerical duties.

I became a member of the Allen Baptist Church at the age of nine, and have always been active in church affairs and have taught Sunday School.

You wonder why I want to be your next County Court Clerk? I served four years under a former Clerk, became interested in the work and know I can perform the duties.

Did you know that Kentucky now has 62 women serving as elected County Court Clerks, that there are six women employed by your present Clerk, including his wife; so, percentagewise, women are now performing 85% of the Clerk's duties. Then why not make it 100% at the coming May primary?

Your County Court Clerk's office is an important office. It has your records of property ownership and thousands of various contractual and judicial records. It has more people daily doing business than any other county office.

If elected, I pledge the following:

(1) To conduct the office in an efficient and businesslike manner, and to promptly pay over all collections of delinquent taxes and fees due the state and county, as required by law.

(2) To employ personnel in whom the public will have faith and confidence, who are honest, trustworthy and of good moral character and reputation.

(3) To employ personnel who will be friendly, courteous and who will always be attentive to the needs of the business public, and persons having business to transact.

(4) To cooperate with all the members of the Bar, the Court and County officials at all times.

I appeal for your vote and influence and will consider it a vote of confidence in me and my ideals, and if honored by you and the good people of Floyd county, I assure you that I will uphold good, Christian morals and high ideals of womanhood.

My every act and deed during my term of office will be made, fully conscious of these principles.

I hope to visit you and personally ask for your help and support.
