Lady Is Free Of Rheumatic Pain

One lady told us she had rheumatic pain so bad she had to walk with a cane most of the time. The joints of her knees and ankles were stiff and sore. Recently she got RUGON and says the pains began to go within a few hours, and now after one week the pain is gone entirely.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW Liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON AT W. A. Rose Drug Store.

Hall-McLaughlin Vows Said

Miss Irene Jonell Hall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Russell L. Hall, of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, became the bride of Mr. Harold E. McLaughlin, May 15, in a ceremony solemnized in the High-lawn Baptist Church, Huntington, West Virginia.

The Reverend T. R. Sisk performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of fern and vases of gladioli and snapdragons. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white imported satin brocade with a jewel neckline, long, tapered sleeves and full skirt gathered only at the hipline. Her tiered veil was fastened to a single silk organdy rose headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and baby breath. Her only jewelry was a pearl and diamond necklace given to her by the groom and tiny pearl earrings belonging to her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Patton and sons, Herbie and Bobby, of Eau Gallie, Florida, were guests of his mother, Mrs. Harvey Patton, this week. They left for home Monday.

The Day Homemakers Club met June 10 at the home of Gladys Hughes. Mrs. Vertner Clark acted as president in the absence of Mrs. Frances Rose. The devotional was given by Mrs. Fredia Dorton; the treasurer's report, by Peg Hewlett. Vertner Clark gave a report on landscaping.

The Woman's Society of the First Methodist Church met in the educational building Monday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer by Geneva Carter. The president, Eleanor Horn, presided.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(June 14, 1935)

Isaac Centers, 75, and Susan Holt Newsom, 30, of Prestonsburg, were killed in the wreck of a truck Friday at the mouth of Coon Creek in Pike county. Injured were Mrs. Fred Caudill and two sons, Elmer and John, and Hilda, infant daughter of Mrs. Newsom. Bill Cook, Floyd county merchant, was killed Friday by a shot fired from ambush on the head of Right Beaver Creek, in Knott county. Three men were wounded Sunday in a gunfight between Garrett residents and employees of a street carnival which had been showing there. The wounded are Lacey Triplett, 35, of this county, and Stanley Western and "Whitey" Davis, of the Golden Valley Shows. Fifteen members of the carnival troupe were jailed here. Ernest Wright was shot and killed Sunday afternoon on the Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, within 50 yards of the spot where his father, Henry Wright, was killed two years ago. There died: Clint Herald, 73, June 8 at West Prestonsburg.

Twenty Years Ago

(June 17, 1945)

Development of coal holdings of the Turner-Elkhorn Coal Company on Frasure's Creek, near McDowell, will begin around July 1. Three tunnels are under construction. The past week was the first such period in many months when no war casualties were reported. Contract on surfacing of the Left Beaver highway from Gearheart to Wheelwright Junction was awarded Monday to the R. B. Tyler Co., Louisville, on its low bid of $48,125. There died: Mrs. Cynthia Fitzpatrick Holbrook, 87, last Thursday on Middle Creek; Mrs. Harriet Horn Hopson, 92, Tuesday at a Paintsville hospital of injuries suffered in a fall here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bill Blackburn; the Rev. James Buchanan Goble, 85, Wednesday at Edgar of injuries sustained in a fall, the preceding Thursday.

No Need To Press 'Panic Button'

The decision of the Court of Appeals ordering that property be assessed at its fair cash value could be the greatest thing that has happened to Kentucky in a long while.

Besides being a step toward eradication of the glaring inequities in taxation, it could involve almost every taxpayer personally in the fiscal matters of government, local and state. The taxpayer will be more likely to insist on sound handling of tax monies and upon realistic budgeting of funds so that the total of taxes needed will not be so great that the tax rate cannot be lowered.

And if the tax rate is lowered, higher assessments will not necessarily mean that all will pay more taxes (paying taxes on a $20,000 assessment at a rate of 50 cents per $100 will cost no more than a $10,000 assessment taxed at a rate of $1 per $100).

Officials and citizens will need to work together, to determine how much in taxes is needed—and no more—and to hold the tax rate by simple mathematical formula to a figure that will raise the amount of money actually needed.

We need not panic because of the Appellate Court decision. We will need to know more about how much the manifold operations of government are costing, and why, to insist that these costs be held to a total as low as is compatible with sound, progressive government—and then to demand that tax rates on these higher assessments be lowered to meet only the needs represented by that budgeted total.

STRIP-MINING FIGHT LAUNCHED IN KNOTT

BY KYLE VANCE
(In The Courier-Journal)

Hindman, Ky.—Anger and determination mark the faces of some 100 men and women who have set out to outlaw the strip-mining of mountain ridges for coal. The group organized itself into a fighting force last week and declared itself ready to resist strip miners by any means—in the courts if possible; with arms if necessary.

Unlike the ordinary opposition to strip mining, this group is not too concerned with the preservation of mountain beauty. They are landowners who, in their words, are "tired of having dirt pushed down our shirt collars." They are valley dwellers from the Clear Creek section of Knott county and the Lott's Creek section of Perry county.

Their chief enemy at present is the Kentucky Oak Mining Co., which is stripping Hardburly Mountain between the two creeks in a large-scale mining operation. A public meeting in Hazard Tuesday resulted in a round of angry denunciations and in organization of the Appalachian Group to Save the Land and the People.

Leroy Martin, a Knott county school teacher, was elected chairman to lead a fight that will be taken to the Supreme Court if sufficient funds can be collected to finance it.

Tentatively chosen as the subject of a test case was the experience of Homer Ritchie, who was forced to abandon his home to escape an avalanche of dirt and stone pushed down the slopes from above.

"My wife and my two children had to run for their lives when big boulders started rolling down the mountain," Ritchie said. "We didn't have time to get the furniture out."

The Ritchie home, at the head of Clear Creek, is surrounded today by dirt, stones and uprooted trees. Some of the trees lay across the roof.

William B. Sturgill, president of the mining company, said the company is willing to pay for damages as soon as a question about ownership of the house can be cleared up.

Ritchie said there is no question about ownership of his furniture. He said his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lina Cook, owns the house.

Burley Combs, Jr. moved his wife and four children from their home up another hollow in the same section the past week. They feared that tons of loose dirt and rock on the slope above might push their house into the ravine below in the event of a heavy rain. Some debris already had entered their yard.

Dan Gibson, a leader of the fight, said a three-inch rain would wash tons of dirt off the slopes, fill the streams and force countless other families to abandon their homes.

Many of the homes in the valley bear no resemblance to the cabin image of rural mountain homes. They are built to modern standards and are kept painted and neat.

Another outspoken leader is Morris N. Shepherd, a student at Eastern Kentucky State College who has helped to stir up organized opposition by use of a roving sound truck.

When the "Little Red Schoolhouse" becomes...

Total-Electric ... Everybody benefits

Low-cost electricity is the ambition of every progressive electric utility company. As customers use more electricity new advanced more efficient power producing facilities can be built—and such facilities help make possible lower electric rates. It is this cycle of low rates that leads to greater use, to greater efficiency and to still lower rates.

We have just announced another series of rate reductions of more than $216,700. Such reductions over the past three years have meant savings to our customers of over $497,200.

TOTAL-ELECTRIC SCHOOLS ARE THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN ANY COMMUNITY'S EDUCATIONAL BUDGET

Of special significance in our latest rate reductions is one cent per kilowatt-hour electricity for Total-Electric public and parochial schools. We are especially proud of this low rate because it helps offset the increasing costs faced by schools today. School administrators are now finding that Total-Electric schools cost less to build, to finance, to maintain, to expand and to operate. These advantages mean that those who foot the educational bills—including all taxpayers—get more for their money.

OUR POLICY IS TO REDUCE RATES WHENEVER POSSIBLE

We believe our policy of reducing rates—and of holding the line on costs—has a strong economic impact on the area we serve. It stimulates growth, helps provide jobs for people and contributes to raising the standard of living. We are dedicated to the objective of providing superior electric service at the lowest possible cost. This dedication has made the American Electric Power System, of which Kentucky Power Company is a part, the largest investor-owned electric power producer in the United States.

Former Floyd Woman Succumbs Last Friday At Kingston, Michigan

Mrs. Alice Johnson, 66, former resident of Wheelwright, died at 12:10 a.m. last Friday at her home in Kingston, Mich., after a long illness.

Mrs. Johnson was a native of Pike county and was a daughter of the late Will and Charity Bentley Johnson. She spent most of her life in the Wheelwright area and had resided at Kingston only since last October.

Surviving are her husband, Tom Johnson, of Kingston; four sons and five daughters, Everett, Norris and Arthur Johnson, all of Detroit, Frank Johnson, Wheeling, W. Va., Mrs. Opal Erdman and Mrs. Mildred Johnson, both of Kingston, Mrs. Oggie Johnson and Mrs. Mary Thornsbury, both of Detroit, and Mrs. Dorothy Caudill, Dearborn Heights, Michigan. One sister, Mrs. Eliza Hall, of Pikeville, also survives.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday from the Johnson family's former home at Wheelwright by the Rev. Green Boyd. Burial in the Joe Jones cemetery at Melvin was directed by the Merion Funeral Chapel.

BANKERS RETURN TO SCHOOL—Three employees of Kentucky banks who received certificates Friday attending to their attendance at a week-long Kentucky School of Banking at the University of Kentucky review the week's work. They are from left, Franklin Cleaver, First Security National Bank and Trust Company, Lexington; Mrs. Louberta Hunt, The Bank Josephine, Prestonsburg, and Samuel T. Smith, Farmers Bank and Capital Trust Company, Frankfort. More than 80 bank employees attended the 19th annual session of the school at UK.

HOSPITALS WIN AID; HEALTH PLAN TOLD

Appalachian Hospitals, Inc. last week received from the Office of Economic Opportunity a $1.2 million check which was needed in order to keep the 10 hospitals open and at the same time learned that a $100 million health program may be built around them.

In making the $1.2 million grant, Sargent Shriver, director of the war on poverty, said it was just "the first step in development of a $100 million network of regional health programs throughout Appalachia as a model for other undeveloped areas in America and other nations."

Shriver said "these hospitals, and other multi-county demonstration health centers to be brought into being by the efforts of public and private agencies in the area, would be the core of programs to devise and demonstrate new ways to bring health services in these remote areas."

Shriver then described how the Appalachian Regional Commission and the OEO meshed in the health care field.

"The Appalachian Regional Commission was authorized by Congress to finance the construction and operation of demonstration multi-health facilities," he said. "OEO is empowered to assist programs designed to provide medical services to the poor. For the first time, this demonstration project joins the efforts of these two agencies to support a unique health undertaking."

The next step involves a request for $500,000 from OEO by the Appalachian Regional Commission. This is planning money for the health program.

It would be used in the 49 Eastern Kentucky counties that are considered poverty areas.

This is "an ideal location for the demonstration-planning project . . . because it contains more concentrated rural poverty than

Park Commission Acknowledges Help Given on New Park

The Prestonsburg Park Commission this week acknowledged the help and continued interest in the new City Park here evidenced by the following firms:

Kentucky Power Company, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., United Fuel Gas Co., City Service Co., Ranier Construction Co., Adams Construction Co., Winston Ford Construction Co., Gulf Oil Co., Music-Colvin Motors, Harris Brothers Construction Co., C. & O. Railroad Co., Jenny Wiley Riding Academy, The Floyd County Times.

At the same time the commission asked any person or firm having yard furniture or playground equipment which they would donate to the park to call the City Clerk's office. These items do not necessarily have to be in A-1 condition, only repairable, it was said.

Young people are wanted to give of their spare time from school this summer in whitewashing trees, painting equipment and rendering other services.

TOURING THE SOUTHWEST — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, of the Middle Creek Road left Tuesday for a three-week tour of the Southwest. They will visit relatives in various parts of Oklahoma.

Advising and encouraging the group is Harry M. Caudill, Whitesburg attorney, and author. He told the Hazard meeting that Eastern Kentucky has reached a point where it "must vote for life or vote for death."

By that, he said, he meant that the opposition movement must be strengthened to a point that a court fight can be carried to the Supreme Court in quest of an opinion that the old broad-form deeds do not give miners rights to deface mountains and destroy homes. Lower courts have held that the deeds to mineral rights, given by landowners many years ago, place no limits on the mode of recovering coal.

"The people who invented the auger hadn't even been brought into this world when the deeds were drawn," Caudill said. "Yet the courts say they (mine operators) can turn every acre upside down and there is no protection for the innocent. There is not a place you can flee to, not a place in Eastern Kentucky you can call safe."

"The government has turned you over to a bunch of industrialists who have no more compunction against your destruction than you have against killing a cockroach."

Caudill expressed an opinion that the Supreme Court might rule for the landowners. He said that nine-tenths of all mining activities violate the intent of laws that are on the books at present, but that a "rich lobby" prevents enforcement.

The Hazard meeting resulted in 45 car owners saying they would drive in a motorcade to Frankfort to demonstrate their feelings against strip mining and to seek tighter laws to regulate the strip miners.

The plan had been to appear in Frankfort during a special legislative session that has since been called off.

"We will still go to Frankfort," Shepherd said. "We will just pick another time, a time when the governor will see us and talk with us about our problem."
