SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1965

This Town ... That World

WE SUGGEST A NEW 'PROJECT'

I despise British films. Cawn't understand the chappies, you know. In fact, I have no affinity for any form of speech "as she is spoke" in America or elsewhere outside the Border and Southern states.

The old ears simply aren't tuned to the wave-length and tempo used by these other Americans. I am the guy who can't mumble a hymn and keep pace with some of these choir directors who step it up; I admit a fellow is in a pretty sad fix when he draws while mumbling, but that's my plight.

I can understand and follow you if you will say, for instance, "He lives ferminst the house of that cluver man, two whoops and aholler up that thar cove"—if you say it like a-body should. But if you go Yankee on me and rattle off a simple, "Whatchagon-nadotoday&" I'll cup my ear and call for a retake or yell for the nearest interpreter.

So, that being the case with me, and suspecting that there are many others in the same condition, I suggest that the Office of Economic Opportunity hasten to set up a program which will set the people of this depressed area to work teaching these machine-gun-fast spielers of the so-called English language to slow down so that we who mosey along in our manner of speaking can understand them. Perhaps, then, the unemployed from out East could be given work teaching us who speak "Appalachian" to rev our tongues up a notch and modify our articulation till it approaches, from a distance, the Easterner's mode of speech—all this to the end that we at least get no farther apart in this matter than we already are.

The result, of course, will be a babel of confused tongues, and that will mean the employment (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

COAL GROUPS PICK STAFFS

Brashear, Sturgill Head Associations For Coming Year

The Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators' Association, Pikeville, held its annual meeting at Lexington, June 17-18. Leaders of the industry reported that coal has a bright future, since the demand for coal is increasing steadily. Other industry experts reported that air pollution and water pollution are being attacked vigorously by the coal industry and others interested in solving these problems.

L. B. Brashear, president of the Stephens Elkhorn Fuel Corporation, Manton, was re-elected president of the Association. Other officers re-elected were: George E. Evans, Jr., president; Evans Elkhorn Coal Company, Inc., Wayland, vice-president; Walter B. Crickmer, general manager, Kentland Elkhorn Coal Corporation, Pikeville, treasurer; Harry C. Campbell, Pikeville, executive secretary.

William B. Sturgill, of Hazard, formerly of Prestonsburg, was re-elected president of the Kentucky Coal Association at its annual meeting last Friday in Lexington. Other officers re-elected were: George E. Evans, Jr., Wayland, vice-chairman; P. C. Thomas, Stearns, secretary; James R. Love, Knoxville, Tennessee, treasurer; Fred Bullard, Hazard, executive secretary.

C. OF C. SCHEDULES TV-PRO PERFORMERS

CELEBRATION SET JULY 3 FOR P'BURG

Palace Theater Act Among Performers Stated by Chamber

Entertainment on a scale and in such quality as never before attempted here has been contracted by the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce for Prestonsburg's Independence Day celebration this year, it was announced this week by Curtis Clark, the Chamber's executive secretary.

For the celebration, which will be held on Saturday, July 3, these artists have been contracted to do two shows during the day:

Cousin Jody and his group from the Grand Ole Opry, Nashville, Tennessee; the Three Goetches, a sensational unicycle act recently seen on television's Palace Theater; De Mille, tight wire artist; Miss Ruby's Canine Revue; Florine Oler and her organ, and Vickie Lynn, trapeze artist. Performances will be at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. on the site of the old courthouse here. In the event of rain, the shows will be staged at the Prestonsburg high school field house.

All are free. In addition, a parade is planned at 10 a.m., with clowns adding to the color and fun. Fireworks will conclude the day's festivities, Saturday night.

Clark said Prestonsburg merchants plan a three-day sales event next week.

He pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce, staging its first July 4 celebration, has planned and worked to bring something new and worthwhile to Prestonsburg for the enjoyment of people of all ages from Floyd and neighboring counties. The plan being followed is to get away from the old, overdone sack races, greasy pig contests and the like and to replace them with professional acts which feature high-salaried stars.

DRAMA ASS'N SERIES TOLD

Amphitheatre Programs Beginning July 2 To Run Till Labor Day, Plan

A series of upcoming week-end programs to be staged in the amphitheatre at Jenny Wiley State Park has been announced by Chalmers Frazier, president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association.

He listed these dates and events already set: July 24—"South Pacific," by the Prestonsburg-Paintsville Drama Club; July 9-10—"Come Blow Your Horn," by Studio Players of Lexington; July 18—"Much Ado About Nothing," by the Carriage House Players of Louisville; July 25—"Shakespeare's Othello," also by the Carriage House Players.

"We plan to have something scheduled every week-end through Labor Day," Frazier said. "We have several tentative programs which we hope to sign contracts for soon."

Starting time for all performances will be 8 p.m.

The 800-seat amphitheatre was used for the first time last year. Five programs already have been presented there this season, including the Louisville Thoroughbred Chorus, Louisville Symphony Orchestra, the "Miss Floyd County" pageant to select the area contestant for "Miss Kentucky" honors; "Imaginary Invalid," by Pikeville College students; and the U. S. Army Jubilaires from the Second Army Headquarters, Fort Meade, Maryland.

PRATER WINS SETTLEMENT

Floyd County Native Gets $80,000 Award For Accident Hurts

A Fayette court order recently directed that a former Prestonsburg man, Earl Prater, be paid $80,000 in an out-of-court settlement for injuries suffered in a freak accident. The order authorized Attorney Julian Knippenberg, committee for the 45-year-old Prater, to accept payment from the K. & M. Transportation Co., Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. and Alvin Sullivan as full payment of Mr. Prater's claims.

Prater, who has been adjudged incompetent to handle his affairs (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

Grayson Firm, Low On Ky. 404 Surfacing

A contract for bituminous concrete surfacing on the Prestonsburg-David (Ky. 404) road has been awarded by the Highway Department.

The project will begin at Ky. 114, 3.3 miles southwest of Prestonsburg and extend to David, a distance of 6.914 miles.

East Kentucky Paving Corporation, Grayson, submitted the low bid of $69,372.15.

ALLEN SITE IS CHOSEN

For UMWA Celebration Of Labor Day; Boyle Invited As Speaker

District 30, United Mine Workers of America, will sponsor one of the largest Labor Day rallies in its history at the old race track at Allen, according to Joe Davis, chairman of the committee planning the rally.

Davis said that International President W. A. "Tony" Boyle has been invited to address the rally, and that other speakers will include District 30 President C. E. Beane and Secretary-Treasurer Matt Combs.

There will be professional entertainment, including country music, clowns and many other acts. There will also be prizes, including a 1965 Plymouth, and a beauty contest.

District 30's Labor Day rallies have become a tradition in Eastern Kentucky. Only the mass meeting held annually at Cadillac Square, Detroit, has attracted larger crowds. In the middle 50's District 30's rallies annually drew gatherings of 50,000 to 60,000 persons.

A committee of 62, representing all local unions in District 30, is currently working to make this rally one that all coal miners and their friends will remember for a long time.

MANUFACTURING FIRM TO OPEN AT AUXIER

The town of Auxier will soon have its first major industry since the Northeast Coal Company left there 19 years ago.

By July 12, the Princess Manufacturing Company, a newly-formed concern, expects to be in business manufacturing a complete line of sportswear and outer wear.

According to general manager, Joe Addison, the new company has already signed contracts with several New York firms, and materials are now being shipped to the firm's Auxier plant.

Remodeling is under way at Auxier of the former Mallory Stores building, unoccupied for several years. The two-story structure, which also has a full basement, was purchased by Princess for an undisclosed amount.

The main floor will be used for cutting and shipping rooms, and the top floor will be used as a sewing room. Together, the two floors have 15,000 square feet of floor space.

Addison said that the company also plans the construction of an adjoining building to provide an additional 5,000 square feet of space, early next year.

The company has purchased 50 sewing machines and six specialty machines, plus auxiliary equipment, Addison said. Initial employment is expected to total 20 to 25 persons by mid-July, with some 60 to 70 employees required when the sewing operation is in full swing.

Applications for employment will be taken, beginning this week-end, the manager said. Investment at this point is reportedly in excess of $40,000, including around $24,000 in equipment and $18,000 in building, land and remodeling.

The new concern is a private venture, Addison said, with no outside financing. Mrs. Addison is expected to join the company in July as plant manager.

Among participants in the new firm are W. L. Wells and Paul Dean Wells, of Auxier.

143 ENROLL FOR SESSION

At Community College; Enrollment Next Fall Expected To Pass 500

Prestonsburg Community College upon completion of summer session registration June 14 had a total of 143 students—80 girls and 63 boys—enrolled.

Of those registering for the summer session, 59 were students who were enrolled during the 1964-65 academic year and 84 were new students. Of the new students, 48 were freshmen who entered college for the first time and 33 were transfers from other institutions.

The average student load is 5.755 semester hours. The college has 10 instructors on the staff during the summer semester and is offering a total of 13 classes.

It was also announced that as of June 14, 70 students are enrolled in the Work-Study Program, working from 5 to 40 hours a week. These students, by being enrolled in this program, are able to earn enough money to pay costs of their tuition, books and fees.

More than 400 students have indicated that they will enroll in the college next fall as beginning freshmen, it was said this week. While the college does not expect this many freshmen, it was predicted that 325 freshmen will enter in the fall, that 50 students will transfer from other institutions, and that 125 of the 1964-65 freshmen will return as sophomores. This means that the college is predicting a fall enrollment of 500-plus.

It was never anticipated that the enrollment of the college would reach this figure. Prior to the fall semester of 1964-65, it was predicted that 175 to 200 students would enroll. The college officials predicted 300-plus. For the summer session, University officials predicted 75 to 100. College officials predicted 125-plus. Enrollment for these past

SOLDIER DIES IN GERMANY

Funeral of Shepherd Held on Middle Creek With Military Honors

Funeral of Specialist Four Ralph Wheeler Shepherd, 27, who was found dead June 11 at Bad Tolz, Germany, was conducted Tuesday at the home of his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Ashland Shepherd, on the Left Fork of Middle Creek.

Cause of the soldier's death was given, following an autopsy, as a heart attack. He died in the barracks of the Seventh Army N.C.O. Academy at Bad Tolz where he was receiving technical schooling.

The body was accompanied here by Sgt. Yadlosky, and the widow and her three children were escorted from Germany to the home on Middle Creek by Sgt. Walker.

Surviving, besides his parents, are his widow, Mrs. Rose Ann Medina Shepherd, one daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and two sons, Ralph Edward and Paul David; three brothers and two sisters, Paul E. Shepherd, Warsaw, Ind., Russell and Lowell Shepherd, Mrs. Grace Clark and Miss Sally Lou Shepherd, all of David.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Robert Martin, and military honors were accorded by a color guard from Ft. Knox. Burial in the family cemetery was under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

FIRE CLOSES RESTAURANT

Building Damage Set At $5,000; Two Other Structures Levelled

A kitchen blaze in the Mountain Boy Restaurant here June 13 caused an estimated damage to the building of $5,000, plus severe loss of equipment.

Cause of the fire has not been determined, it was said this week. The restaurant property is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wise but was operated under lease by Bill Newton, Huntington, West Virginia.

Date of the reopening of the business was not known this week.

Two other damaging fires also have occurred in the county recently. The store building of Al-len Stone at Blue River was destroyed with all its contents at an estimated loss of $39,000, only $15,000 of which was insured.

Cause of this blaze also has not been determined. The store was destroyed, less than a week after the death of Mr. Stone's wife.

The other structure lost to fire was the Shamrock, on the Dewey Lake road. The place of business was owned by Bennie Branham, of Prestonsburg. Motel units under construction nearby were untouched.

TWO FLOYD MEN DIE IN PIKE-CO. BLAST

Couple En Route Here Hurt in Auto Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goodman, of Dayton, Ohio, were able last week to leave the Prestonsburg General hospital where they had been treated for injuries suffered when his auto was struck by another reportedly driven by Hinton McCoy, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, June 12 on the Auxier road, near here. McCoy and his mother also were hospitalized.

It was said that the collision resulted when McCoy passed another vehicle. Mr. Goodman and family were en route here to visit his father, G. L. Goodman, and other relatives when the wreck took place.

JUDGE SAYS CUT CERTAIN

Governor Asks Officials For Tax Rate Reductions To Offset Assessments

"Certainly the tax rate will be reduced . . . I will not be a party to any injustice to the taxpayers."

So said County Judge Henry Stumbo this week in a discussion of the Court of Appeals decision directing the assessment of property at its fair cash value as provided by the state Constitution.

At the same time Governor Edward T. Breathitt said:

"The Court of Appeals decision won't bring any abrupt skyrocketing of taxes in Floyd county as long as I am governor."

Breathitt urged local officials to reduce tax rates to offset higher assessments.

Judge Stumbo pointed out that there is nothing the fiscal court can do until the new assessment is made. "When that is done we will take the new assessment, compare it with the one now in effect, study the whole matter closely, take our time. And then we will cut the rate. We will be fair with the taxpayers."

"It would be totally unfair not to reduce the tax rates," Governor Breathitt said. "It could rim-wreck many good Kentuckians in modest circumstances."

In personal letters to local officials Breathitt said taxpayers deserve to be told promptly and clearly that property tax rates will be reduced.

He said he is planning to ask the 1966 State Legislature to reduce state tax rates in keeping with his campaign pledge of a balanced budget with no new taxes.

BODY OF ONE YET MISSING HOURS LATER

White, Sevier Victims On Railway Relocation Job by Ford Company

Two employees of the Winston Ford Company, Prestonsburg, were killed, shortly after 4 p.m. Wednesday by an explosion in the Coon Creek area of Pike county where railroad relocation work is being done by the firm.

The dead are Billy Joe White, age about 34, of Allen, and Johnny Sevier, 28, of Lancer.

White was removed from the rock and rubble in which he was partially buried after the blast but was dead on arrival at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

Sevier's body had not been found at 9:45 Wednesday night. A power shovel was placed in operation in an attempt to move away the tons of debris caused by the blast, and the Pike County Emergency & Rescue Squad was assisting in the effort to recover the body.

Walter May, of Radio Station WPKE, Pikeville, who talked from the tragedy scene with The Times, said it had not been established at that time how the two were caught by the explosion. He said he was told the two, who operated a rotary drill in drilling for shots being made in a deep cut, were standing atop a hill, apparently directly over the charge.

Winston Ford, Jr., of Prestonsburg, was in direct charge of the operation in Pike county and was within two weeks of completion of the job, it was said. The railroad relocation is being made to clear the Fishtrap reservoir of its rail line and to run the railway, instead, into the new territory in the headwaters of Johns Creek, Pike county.

Two Hurt Sunday In Lake Road Wreck

Lucien Laferty, Jr. and Ronald Harris were hospitalized here Sunday night following the wreck of their auto on the Dewey Lake road. Fifteen stitches were required to close a laceration on young Laferty's head. His companion was bruised but escaped being cut.

No Lake Drive Parking

All Lake Drive (U.S. 23) parking meters were removed Wednesday, and with their passing ended all parking along the highway except for trucks to load and unload.

FLOYD HALL OF FAME NAMES DR. CAMPBELL, MR. LATTA

MR. PACE

DR. CAMPBELL

MR. LATTA

Two new members—Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the Prestonsburg Community College, and Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney—were added to the Floyd County Hall of Fame at the annual meeting Saturday evening of the organization.

Dr. Harold W. Dorsey, of Danville, former pastor of the First Methodist Church here and himself a member of the Hall of Fame, was the principal speaker. The meeting, which was held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, drew one of the largest gatherings of members and guests to assemble for the annual function.

Pointing to the roadblocks man encounters in life, Dr. Dorsey pointed out that the paths men follow are not simply a matter of choice but that heredity and environment play their part in determining the road the individual takes. There is not much, he said, that the individual can do about heredity, but he can select, or even improve, his environment, with the result that he will be helped to thread his way through the maze of paths that are open.

Chalmers H. Frazier, president of the Hall of Fame, presided at the meeting.

Dr. Campbell, one of the two men honored, is a native of Kosmos, Washington, but spent his youth in the coal fields of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, graduating from Wheelwright high school in this county. After service with the 87th Infantry Division, Europe during World War II, he received the B.A. degree in mathematics and physical education from the University of Kentucky, the M.A. and Educational Specialist degrees from New Mexico State University, and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Texas, with his major field of study being education administration. He first taught at Buckeye high school, Lancaster, Kentuck-ky, later holding posts on the faculties of Cumberland and Benham high schools in Kentucky and Alamogordo high school, in New Mexico. Between 1957 and 1963 he was director of Alamogordo Community College and was president of Crowder College, Neosho, Missouri, prior to coming here as director of Prestonsburg Community College in June of last year.

Dr. Campbell has published a number of articles in professional publications. He is a member of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, the National Education Association, the Kentucky Educational Association, the Southwestern New Mexico Education Association, the Academy of Science, Phi Delta Kappa and the New Mexico chapter of the Red, Red Rose. He is married to the former Nancy Elizabeth Belew and has three daughters.

Mr. Latta received his early education in the public schools of (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

CONGRESS TO CONSIDER RESERVOIR WORK FUNDS

It was announced Tuesday by Congressman Carl D. Perkins that the United States House of Representatives will consider this week legislation to appropriate $12,150,000 for the continuation of construction of four major flood control reservoirs in the Eastern Kentucky area.

The measure also contains $3,093,000 for the construction of the John Flannagan and the North Fork of Pound Reservoirs in the upper reaches of the Big Sandy basin and $24,500 to continue investigation for the development of new reservoirs in the upper Kentucky River basin. These funds are contained in the Public Works Appropriation bill providing funds for the fiscal year beginning this June 30.

Other legislative activity of importance related by Representative Perkins involved House Education and Labor Committee consideration of legislation that he had sponsored to provide disaster assistance to public school districts in providing funds for operating schools over a five-year period where such schools had been affected by a major disaster declared by the President.

A faculty representative from the University of Kentucky's College of Dentistry has scheduled a meeting here today (Thursday) to discuss the dental laboratory technology program that is to be offered by the University for the first time next fall.

Dr. Judson C. Hickey will be at the Prestonsburg Community College at 2 p.m., and the meeting is open to any person interested in a dental laboratory technology career.

The program, the first of its kind in the nation, will provide "generalist" training over two academic years and will lead to an associate degree in dental technology. The program, to be limited to a class of ten, will be open to anyone who has completed high school and can pass the dental aptitude test.

For the present the program will be offered only on the University's Lexington campus, where instruction can be supervised by the College of Dentistry. The program may eventually be extended to one or more of the University's nine community colleges, as the demand justifies.

The coordinator of this program, Dr. W. Ross Stromberg, of the University of Kentucky College of Dentistry, said any graduate of an accredited high school, man or woman, may apply for admission. Transfer students also are eligible. Deadline for application for admission to the initial class, to be enrolled in September, is July 15. Applications should be submitted to Director, Technical Institute, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

SOIL CONSERVATION BY GERALD N. HART Soil Conservationist A soil survey report for 14 East Kentucky counties is now available, according to an announcement made this week by H. A. Taff, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. The report covers 3,627,000 acres. The report gives a detailed description of the 36 different soil series of the area and contains individual county maps showing the location of the major soil patterns. The report provides valuable information for people working in area-wide development, Taff said, as well as specific information of individual soils. Taff pointed out that the suitability is given for each soil for the production of wood crops, agronomic crops and wildlife. The engineering properties of the soils are also classified. For a given soil the woodland section recommends the tree species to plant in an existing woodland and species to be planted in open fields. For each woodland soil the reports tells which trees will best produce and thus should be favored in management. In the horticultural section it is shown that Allegheny soils are suited for the production of apples, peaches, grapes, certain small fruits, vegetables and nut trees. Tyler silt loam is not recommended for any of these crops. Huntington silt loam is not suited for apples, peaches and grapes, but is well suited for vegetables and nut trees. The agronomic section places each soil in its capability class and limitations are identified. Soils suitable for use in row crops, pasture and hay, and their required treatment and management are described. The survey was made by the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies of the report may be obtained from either of these offices at Lexington, Kentucky. The survey report covers Floyd, Lawrence, Breathitt, Bell, Clay, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Pike and Perry counties.

The drainage systems are being installed for Joe E. Slone, of Blue River; K. H. Martin and Lula Allen, of Eastern; Bennie Shepherd, of David; Melvin Stephens, of Osborn; J. C. Moore, of McDowell; G. S. Martin, of Turkey Creek; Claude May, of Langley; John K. Buckley, of Spurlock Creek; Clyde Osborn, Amos Akers and James Saunders, of Grethel. Total length of these systems is more than 14,000 feet. According to the Conservation Needs Inventory, Floyd county has 3,012 acres that need tile drainage which not only increases the value of the land but provides the landowner with a better opportunity to procure a greater income per acre and allows the landowner to grow a larger variety of crops. The Federal government, through the cost-sharing plan at the A.S.C.S. office in Prestonsburg will pay 80% of the cost of labor and materials used in the drainage. COX NAMED 'EMISSARY'

Trucker's Depositions Disclosed at Nashville; Combs Makes Statement

Depositions filed for public inspection at Nashville, Tennessee, Tuesday named Frankfort attorney Louis Cox as the emissary who allegedly took $130,000 from the trucking industry in 1959 in return for legislative favors from the administration of former Gov. Bert Combs.

The depositions, taken in a civil suit between Ryder System, Inc., Miami, and Hoover Motor Express, Inc., first came to light recently during the income tax evasion trial of E. H. Hoover.

Hoover, former president of Hoover Motor Express Co., pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court to three counts of income-tax evasion and is awaiting sentence.

During that trial, U. S. District Attorney James Neal told the trial court jury that the depositions revealed political payoffs in Kentucky and Tennessee. But copies were not available, and the only information was Neal's comment and comments from attorneys.

Tuesday, Jack Norman, Sr., lawyer who defended Hoover in the Ryder-Hoover suit, filed the depositions with Chancery Court in Nashville.

They quote Hoover as saying the southeastern trucking industry turned over $130,000 to an emissary of the administration of former Governor Combs shortly before Combs took office, in return for legislation authorizing tandem trailers on Kentucky highways.

The only mention of a Tennessee payoff was a previously reported $3,500 campaign contribution to an unnamed Tennessee official.

Former Governor Combs, commenting on earlier reports of Hoover's testimony, said he does not know Hoover and that he welcomes any investigation of the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Wood, of Hazard, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Julie Elizabeth Wood, to Mr. Palmer Keith Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, of Langley, Kentucky. Miss Wood, a 1962 graduate of Hazard high school, is presently employed as a legal secretary to I. A. Bowles, Hazard attorney. Mr. Lowe, a graduate of Maytown high school and the University of Kentucky, is a science teacher at Hazard high school. The wedding will take place August 7 at the Community Presbyterian Church, Lothair, Kentucky.

Health Officer Says 550 Dogs Immunized

Sunday was the last day of the annual Rabies Clinic sponsored by the Floyd County Health Department. Dr. R. L. Hall, health officer, announced a total of 550 animals had been vaccinated against rabies in the community clinics held in the county.

This figure does not sound very large, as compared to the total number of dogs in the county, but it must be remembered that there were clinics held in 1963 and 1964, it was pointed out. Dogs vaccinated in 1963 will be due their "booster" next year because of the three-year warranty vaccine now being used.

"It is quite evident," said Dr. Hall, "that people are becoming increasingly aware of the potential danger of rabies and are taking advantage of these clinics to protect their pets and members of the community against this disease."

If for any reason some were not able to have their animals vaccinated at the clinics, the Health Department has made arrangements with Dr. William G. Holbrook, veterinarian at the Ivel Stock Sales, to vaccinate any animal brought there on Thursday of each week from 1 to 3 p.m. The charge will be $1.50 per animal, the same as the clinic price, until September 1, when the regular price of $3 will go into effect.

COOK AN ICE CREAM PIE

Here's a novel dessert from USDA—an ice cream pie that's actually put in the oven during preparation. Start with a 9-inch layer of sponge cake or a plain cake layer split to 1/2 inch. Fit the cake into a 9-inch pie pan. Spread it with slightly softened vanilla ice cream and place it in the freezer until the ice cream is frozen hard, about 30 minutes. Then add another layer of slightly softened ice cream or ice milk; this time choose a favorite fruity, nutty or other flavor. Return the pie to the freezer until the ice cream is hard. Next, spread the pie with an egg-white meringue, tightly sealing any air leaks to the ice cream. Brown the meringue under the oven broiler; then place the pie in the freezer until serving time. Serve in wedges.

Martin-Caudill Marriage Solemnized on June 12

Miss Linda Frances Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McClellan Martin, became the bride of Mr. James Howard Caudill, Attica, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Caudill, of Allen, in a double-ring ceremony performed in the Milton Methodist Church at 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, June 12. The marriage rites were conducted by Rev. John P. Carr, West Liberty, assisted by Rev. H. Russell Jones, Bedford.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. William Neal, pianist, and Miss Elaine Willis, soloist. Miss Willis sang, "One Hand, One Heart," "The Wedding Prayer," "I Love Thee" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white, declustered bridal satin. The dress was fashioned with a wide panel of lace extending down the front of the skirt, elbow-length sleeves banded with the lace, and a brush train. She wore a shoulder-length veil of illusion fastened to a satin petal half-hat and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. James Martin, Madison, Indiana, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Bonnie Sue Caudill, sister of the groom, and Miss Cathy Jean Johnson, Martin. All three wore floor-length gowns of jade green silk shantung, made with bell-shaped skirt, scooped neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A circlet of tulle was fastened to their matching petal half-hats, and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. James Martin, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Dr. Melvin Knight Stewart, Louisville, and Mr. Ronald Neil Stricklin, Springdale, Ohio.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Martin chose a street-length dress of mint green embroidered linen, with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Caudill, mother of the groom, wore a light blue, street-length ensemble with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Serving at the bride's table were Miss Marilyn Ann Brown, Shelbyville, Indiana, and Mrs. Fairis Johnson, Martin, Miss Susan Cutshaw registered the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Caudill are residing for the summer at A-312 Shawneetown, Lexington, where both are enrolled for the summer semesters at the University of Kentucky.

Pirates of Penzance Auditions Scheduled

The Jenny Wiley Drama Association will hold auditions for parts in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" at the Prestonsburg Community College, Saturday, June 26 at 1 p.m. This well-known musical will be presented at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre on August 6 and 7. All persons, high school, college or adult age, in the Big Sandy area who are interested in the performing arts are invited to participate in this community project.

WHY FOOD COSTS MORE

The cost of food keeps edging up because housewives demand more frills, variety, processing and packaging—the farmer does not benefit from the increased prices, USDA points out. The average spent for food per U. S. citizen was $312 in 1950, of which the farmer got $132; the average spent in 1964 was $417, but the farmer got only $133 of it. The average farm operator gets less money than the average trucking, railroad, grain mill, dairy plant, bakery, and wholesale grocery worker.

Blackburn Vows Said at Church of God

The Church of God, North Lake Drive, was the scene at 8 p.m., June 15, of a double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Dianna Sue Fraley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fraley, and Mr. Thomas Blackburn, son of Mrs. Lloyd Wells and the late Vernon Blackburn. The pastor, the Rev. Coy Rigney, was the officiating minister. Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Jerry Meeks. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace two-piece suit with collared jacket and long sleeves. A halo hat of white satin, with shoulder-length veil, completed her attire. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and satin ribbon streamers.

Her maid of honor, Miss Sandy Branham, wore a pink dress, a tiny, pink hat and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. James Goble served Mr. Blackburn as best man.

The ceremony was spoken before an altar flanked with branched cathedral candelabra. Ushers were Marvin Sturgill and Jim Dingus.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Coy Rigney. Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn are graduates of Prestonsburg high school. She was graduated from Ashland School of Cosmetology and is employed at the Mary Lou Beauty Shop in Paintsville. He will graduate in December from Mayo Vocational School.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

HOME-MADE PLAYTHINGS
If you are sophisticated (but imagine a sophisticated person with this column open before him), be wise and choose some other bit of reading. My column today is for the unsophisticated older people who were once children and are not ashamed to recall with pleasure the simple playthings we used to have. In spite of our having few store-bought toys and such, we had an abundance of playthings, many of which we made for ourselves.

Acorn Cups—When we played house, we found that acorn cups were handy for all sorts of dishes; some of the big burr-oak acorn cups were big enough for play-like plates; smaller acorn cups were cups and other necessary dishes in our imaginary meals.

Balls—I was almost grown before I ever saw a baseball, and had taught some schools before I saw a football or a basketball. But we had home-made yarn balls, often using some worn portion of the sock for a center. When the ball was big enough, we or our more-skilled mothers would sew the ball, over and over, with a darning needle and some of the yarn. My, what a ball that made.

Peach-seed baskets—We ten-thumbed children rarely made peach-seed baskets, but some skilled older person, like the hired man, would carefully carve out real works of art, which became treasured possessions in our play-like world.

Corn-ear Babies—When a nubbin (our folks were a bit too Scotch) to allow us to use a real ear of corn is in full silk, carefully remove the shuck and do not disturb the silks. There you have a delicate, tender little baby, especially if you make it a cap of some sort to make its head a little more real.

Corn-stalk Fiddles—Not to have made or played a cornstalk fiddle should disqualify any old-timer from bragging about being a regular fellow. I have heard better and worse music made by renowned fiddlers than the squeaky sounds we could evoke with a little practice.

Poppins—Whether you use a joint of cane or a section of elder stalk, a good gun can be made by even the clumsiest user of a Russell Barlow. For ammunition, paper wads are around in all seasons. But the foreordained bullets for cane poppins are dog-worm berries.

Cornstake Horses—A good horse can be made from dry cornstalks by cutting around the hard shell and gently pulling the pith loose, so that you have a ready-made tail for the animal. With some pith you can make a neck and ears; with some of the tough outer-ering of the stalk you can add legs. There is your horse, prancing or just standing still. And you can add a mane if you like.

Hog-bladder rattles—If you will save a bladder at hog-killing time, blow it up, and then let it dry, you will have a good noisemaker. Before blowing it up, put some peas or small pebbles inside, to furnish the noise.

Bark whistles—Papaw or hickory will furnish the raw materials; your Barlow knife can do the rest. Don't be silly and try to remove the bark backwards, that is, by trying to pull it over the big end.

Bark Whips—When the sap comes up, you can make a bark whip, too, using tough hickory switches for your material.

Bean-shooters—A forked dog-wood or other tough limb, a pocket knife, and a bit of rubber band will soon result in a bean-shooter that can raise bumps on the fellows that get shot.

Spools—Many a plaything can be made from spools, small or large. A big spool split lengthwise and with two ends tacked or glued on makes a perfect pig trough. A small spool seemed designed for bubble-blowing. And a half of a big spool is just itching to become a top.

WHAT HAPPENED TO CARROT TOPS?
Did you ever wonder where carrot tops went? Nowhere—they are probably still in the field, say packaging experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Carrots you buy at your grocery now are harvested and packaged at the point of production. Because you get them without their tops, they are cheaper—it costs less to ship them.

STATE TREES OF KENTUCKY
The tulip poplar, liriiodendron tulipifera, is the official state tree of Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana. This tall and stately tree always blooms in our region about the middle of May. The large tulip blossoms almost cover the new-leaved branches and give the tree its botanical as well as its common name.

The virgin tulip poplars attained a great height, up to almost 200 feet, and a diameter up to ten feet, and rose straight as a Grecian column. These great trees produced the famous "yellow poplar" lumber and the tree is still known to lumbermen as yellow poplar. In the days when the tulip poplar was plentiful and in its prime, many lumber companies called themselves the Yellow Poplar Lumber Company, and specialized in the manufacture of this high-grade lumber. The wood of yellow poplar is light and easily worked and is much used for outside finish. The wood is also used for veneer and other purposes where high grade lumber is required.

Many pioneer homes of Kentucky and Tennessee were built of hewn poplar logs, flattened on two sides with a broad axe, and some of these old log houses are still standing, with the yellow poplar wood apparently as sound and yellow in color after 100 years as it was at first. The wood is also used to make paper pulp, canoes, boats; the bark is used for making medicine for treatment of heart ailments. During times of famine, the Indians peeled off the inner bark of yellow poplar and boiled it to make a broth to drink.

Both the leaves and blossoms of yellow poplar are unusual and of deep interest. The leaves are big, broad, square, about five inches long, with long, slender petioles, which cause them to sway and dance in every light summer wind. Each leaf has four lobes (sometimes six), with two side lobes rising from the leaf base, and two lobes at the end of the leaf. Between the two end lobes, there is a shallow indentation in the leaf, giving it a look as of having been neatly snipped off with scissors.

The birth of a baby tulip poplar leaf is one of the most interesting processes of nature and is unmatched by any other tree. Two leaflike stipules enfold the unborn leaf like a womb, and then as the womb opens, the leaf stem unfolds, pulls itself up straight, and lifts the baby leaf up to the light of a new day. As soon as the leaf spreads and grows and becomes able to live on its own, the two stipules which formed its womb dry up and fall off. Then another pair of stipules form a new womb for the next leaf to be born. Soon we have a twig with many new-born tulip tree leaves. They are dark green in summer and turn to a bright, glistening gold before autumn comes. Some say the first sign of coming autumn is to see the gold leaves coming out on the tulip poplar.

The big blossoms are creations of sheer beauty, with six light yellow, ovate petals, which are heavily splashed with orange deep in the throat of the corolla. There are three sepals, always reflexed, subtending the corolla. There are dozens of the tall, light yellow stamens, standing up like boat paddles around the pistil. The large anthers of the stamens open on the outside to discharge the pollen. The fertilized pistil forms an upright cone which stands up like a candle and produces many one-winged seeds. The seed cones sit the tree branches far into the winter and then open up to let the seeds fly away in the winter winds; they are often seen whirling around like a spinning top on their one wing. Many animals, chipmunks, field mice, grouse and wild turkeys eat the seeds. They also form a good winter diet for cardinals, chickadees, tufted titmice and downy woodpeckers. But hogs get the winged seeds lodged in their throat and often are strangled to death by sucking them into their windpipe.

One large tulip tree will produce enough seeds, if all should find a home, to reforest a thousand acres. When one of these highly prolific tulip poplars stands near an old clearing, it will soon have it populated with a thick stand of lusty young tulip trees.

The big blossoms are rich in nectar, so rich the nectar often drips from the blossoms; the bees work them steadily. For some unknown reason, gray squirrels will cut off the big blossoms and let them fall to the ground. It is common to find a forest to see the ground littered with the large blossoms dropped by squirrels. Just why they do this no one seems to know. It seems to be a life habit of the squirrel, which likes to cut things with its sharp teeth.

Tulip trees are as beautiful in the gray winter gloom as in summer green. To see a grove of tall tulips rising high and straight into a limb for the first 100 feet, is an inspiring winter scene. The tulip trees are members of the large magnolia family.

PERSPECTIVE
BY ROBERT J. HASTINGS

THINKING AND BREATHING
As a boy I remember my father frequently saying, "I think I'll step outside for a breath of fresh air." And in our small town there was an abundance of clean, fresh air that gave vigor and pep to living. But with a bigger population, more cars spewing their exhausts into the air, and the growth of large cities, a breath of fresh air is not as easy to come by as it once was.

In fact, it is estimated that air pollution costs our nation about $11 billion a year. These costs are due to absenteeism by employees made ill by air contaminants, soiled clothing and household furnishings requiring more cleaning, smoke-blackened buildings requiring expensive sandblasting, and withered crops and timber destroyed by air-borne irritants.

Fortunately, steps are underway to clean up the air around our big cities. But while we are clearing the air, let's note another form of pollution affecting our nation, both rural and urban. And that is the tainting of minds of boys and girls, men and women by some of the magazines they read, the movies they see, and the television programs they watch. We are not as sensitive to the blackening of a child's mind by ideas as we are to the smudging of his clothing by soot. But the pollution of a man's mind is far worse than the blackening of a man's lungs. Why? Because the way a man thinks governs his entire way of life. The breathing of dirt is bad enough. But to "think" dirt is far worse. The cost can not be measured in dollars—only in lives.

If we did not suffer too many attacks of stomach ache, cramp colic, and kindred illnesses, we kept on growing. Then we branched out and endangered our lives by adventuring. I climbed trees, just as you did. And I played with the farm animals and ran a good chance of getting butted or hooked or bitten; but here I am, still in one piece. And I waded through whole bottom fields of poison ivy and collected enough chiggers and ticks to start a menagerie. Maybe the poisonous kinds saw me coming and hid out, for, as I said before, here I am.

And then there were medicines that all the folks in those days took, especially for chills and fevers and for stomach troubles. Some were flavored, some were raw (I can still taste raw cod-liver oil in memory), some were no better than branch water. But we survived, tough customers that we were.

STRIP-MINING PROTESTS, MATLICK REPORT COLLIDE

While Knott county landowners were registering strong protests against strip-mining operations, asking the circuit court to stop one operation and planning a motorcycle Tuesday to urge on Governor Breathitt stricter enforcement of the strip-mining laws, J. O. Matlick, commissioner of state natural resources, was maintaining that the law has been "rigidly but fairly enforced" during its first 12 months.

Whitesburg attorney Harry M. Caudill filed the action for landowners of the Clear Creek section, the center of a movement aimed at barring or drastically curtailing all strip mining in the Kentucky mountains.

The motion for a permanent injunction against Kentucky Oak Mining Co. was made in a petition in which Caudill also asked the court to dissolve a restraining order against 19 landowners.

A temporary order restrains the 19 from interfering with the mining company's operations.

Perry Circuit Judge Don Ward, named by the Court of Appeals to hear the case, now will decide whether to dissolve or make permanent the restraining order. He will also rule whether the company—a major supplier of coal to the Tennessee Valley Authority—should be stopped from mining on Hardburn Mountain.

Past court decisions have favored the operators on the ground that broad-form deeds, drawn many years ago, give rights to recover the minerals without restrictions as to the means of recovery.

Caudill's petition denies that the deed in question, dated October 27, 1905, authorized strip mining. It charges that the mining operation, near the top of Hardburn Mountain near the head of Clear Creek, has loosened hundreds of thousands of tons of dirt and shattered stone, broken trees and caused other spoil and waste. Heavy rainfall is causing the debris to wash in large quantities into Clear Creek and onto the valley land, the petition charges.

If the operation is continued, the petition says, "these defendants and all others similarly situated in said community will lose their entire respective investments."

Commissioner Matlick's statement was made in a report submitted June 16, two days in advance of the first anniversary of the day the laws went into effect. The Natural Resources Department is charged with carrying out the provisions of the law and advising the Attorney General on any legal action needed.

"Action has been brought against 'one-bulldozer' type operator as well as the largest mining company in the state," Matlick said, "(but) in most instances the cooperation from the industry has been excellent."

Fifteen notices of non-compliance have so far been issued in the past year, he observed, with 14 operators fined for operating without permits and one lawsuit is pending in Franklin circuit court. The 14 operators who were fined settled out of court, ceased their violations and paid penalties amounting to nearly $5,000.

In all, 197 surface mining permits have been issued, the commissioner said. Minimum performance bonds were increased from $100 to $250 per acre in five instances, due to critical reclamation problems. However, the minimum bond required for any total mining operation—even if below 20 acres—remains $2,000.

In a public statement accompanying his report to the Governor, Commissioner Matlick noted that, as a result of the law, "we in the Department of Natural Resources revamped our strip mine control forces. We hired a select group of dedicated conservationists who really know the field and what it takes."

"If anyone knows of any violations of the law anywhere, let him come forward," Matlick asked in his statement. "We will take action at once and punish any offenders, big or small. . . . This administration is determined to enforce the strip mine law, but we can only do it to the extent of the authority granted us by the legislature."

Total strip mine reclamation during the first year of operation is to be handled in a special, separate report at a later date, the commissioner advised.

Sixty-Eight Named To Pikeville College Dean's List for Term

Sixty-eight Pikeville College students made the Dean's List for the spring term and three of these compiled a perfect 4.00 standing. Redford Damron, academic dean, announced last week. Freshmen must achieve a point standing of 3.00; sophomores, 3.15; juniors, 3.30; and seniors, 3.45 out of a possible 4.00 to appear on this list.

Students making a perfect 4.00 standing were: Mrs. Margarette Ann Morris, Huddy, Kentucky, a junior majoring in elementary education; Mrs. Lois Perry, Jenkins, Kentucky, a senior majoring in elementary education; and Miss Shirley Roberts, Haysi, Virginia, a senior majoring in elementary education.

Others making the list were: Freshmen—Deed Adams, Billy Caudill, Janet Combs, Margaret Dalton, Brenda Davis, Ernestine Gillespie, Joan Hall, Anita Hawkins, Joseph Hudson, Alice Johnson, Connie Keene, Grace McGuire, Della Martin, Doris Osborne, Mahala Reynolds, Mayuree Saebay, Rodney Salver, Shirley Sexton and Brenda Smith. Sophomores—Andy Anderson, Peggy Fain, Judy Goff, Margery Hamilton, Everett Johnson, Doris McDaniel, Nancy Marshall, Patsy Stepp and Timothy Swanson. Juniors—Carol Adams, Toni Bales, Gipsy Bevins, Ruby Bilitier, Emma Jane Blevins, Wayne Bowling, Hillard Clevenger, Fred Davis, Bonnie Deel, Charlene Hall, Edith Jones, Mary Kendrick, Michael McMillan, Ida Parsons, Dwight Roberts, Sherill Stone and Patricia Wilson. Seniors—Don Absirne, Faith Armstrong, George Cantrell, Jerry Childers, Kathleen Childers, Billie Sue Davis, David Hinchman, Gary Bruce Johnson, Tanya Kidd, Barbara Lowe, Barbara McCoy, Judith G. McCoy, Lowell Mullins, Betty Reynolds, Sue Ann Sexton, Betty Smith, Darlene Spears, Tana Staton, Florene Stiltner, Truman Thompson.

MUSIC IN OUTDOOR DRAMA CAST

Denver Music, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Music, of Prestonsburg, is pictured during rehearsals for the rugged outdoor drama, HOME IS THE HUNTER. Music, who is known to Kentucky theatre fans for his performance last summer in Oklahoma, will be seen acting, singing and dancing in this season's production of HOME IS THE HUNTER. He is understudying the role of George Rogers Clark and will be seen performing that role during the season.

Pictured with him is Susan James, of Knoxville, Tennessee, who is the female soloist for HOME IS THE HUNTER. She is a student at the University of Tennessee where she was the recipient of the Grace Moore voice scholarship.

Eases State Hunting Seasons

Liberalized seasons on a number of species of wildlife were granted Kentucky hunters at a meeting of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission this week in the offices of Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark.

The nine commissioners voted an additional 16 days to the squirrel hunters with a split season, but with the seasons applying to the state as a whole; a split season also was set for the deer archery hunters, adding 14 days more than were allowed last year; the gun deer hunters were given a choice of hunting for either sex deer in 28 counties, but in 30 other counties, most in Eastern Kentucky, only antlered deer with antlers at least three inches long may be harvested;

A split season, extended by 16 days over last year, statewide, for squirrel was set with the opening date of the first phase being on August 14 and continuing through October 31. The second season, also statewide, will begin on December 1 and continue through December 31. The bag limit is again six with 12 in possession after two or more days of hunting.

A season beginning on Thursday, November 18, was set for rabbit and quail but no ending date has been designated. The bag and possession limits for rabbits are unchanged at eight and 16 and for quail at 10 and 20. Special seasons and bag limits have been set for several wildlife management areas.

The Commission cited the success of the extended grouse season last year and again set the dates for hunting this mountain bird at December 1 through February 28 with the bag and possession limits being four and eight.

Two spring turkey gobbler seasons were set for the same 12 county areas in which the hunts were held last year. No fall hunt, in which both sexes were harvested last year, was set. The spring dates in the particular area will be April 22 through April 24 and April 29 through May 1. The limit is one gobbler per year per hunter.

A primitive weapons season in a specified area of Bath and Menifee counties was decreed again, which will be open to all species during their regular hunting seasons statewide but with only primitive weapons — crossbows, longbows, muzzleloading rifles and muzzleloading shotguns — permitted.

But, whatever the rate is now, Breathitt said, it must be reduced to compensate for the increase in assessed value.

PLANS MADE FOR BUILDING

Hatton To Construct Two-Story Apartment Structure Here Soon

Plans for a 12-unit, two-story apartment building in Briarwood, the Prestonsburg subdivision which he now has under development, were announced this week by C. R. (Bud) Hatton.

Estimated cost of the 96 by 36-foot brick structure is $95,000. Its front, facing on the homesites in the development will be of Colonial design, and each of the 12 apartment will be luxury-type units. Each unit will have 576 square feet of floor space and will include a living room, bedroom, dining area and a completely furnished kitchen. The entire structure will be all-electric, with central air-conditioning, laundry and storage facilities will be in the basement of the building.

The new addition will be known as Briarwood Manor Apartments. The building will be located at the entrance to the subdivision from U.S. 23 and it is being designed not only to aid to the attractiveness of the development but also to serve as a buffer between the residential area and the highway. Parking for tenants will be at the rear of the building.

Four homes have been completed in Briarwood, another is nearing completion, and three of those completed are now occupied.

Rev. Albert Dixon, Emma Minister, Dies Here Last Wednesday

An illness attendant upon advanced age claimed the Rev. Albert Dixon, of Emma, Wednesday last week at the Prestonsburg General hospital. He was 88 years old.

Born at Emma, he had spent almost his entire life in that vicinity. He was the son of George and Dacy Wright Dixon and for years had been a minister of the Baptist Fellowship Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Nannie Rice Dixon, and the following step-children: Denville and Willie Garrett, both of Ypsilanti, Michigan, Edmund Garrett and Mrs. Mary L. Thornsbury, both of Emma, and Mrs. Sammie Goble, Jackson, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday from the Calf Creek Baptist Church, the Revs. Laven Burchett and Abe Vanderpool officiating. Burial was made in the John Lee Garrett cemetery, the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home directing.

Receives Degree

Danville, Ky., June 7 (Spl.) — Daryl Gale Luxmore, of Martin, received the bachelor of arts degree from Centre College of Kentucky at the school's 142nd commencement exercises here Sunday night.

Luxmore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luxmore, Route 2, Martin. He was graduated in 1961 from Martin high school where he was president of the Beta Club, captain of the basketball team, and class valedictorian. At Centre he played varsity basketball and was a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity.

1-H CONFERENCE
Three Floyd county 4-H Club members attended the annual 4-H conference last week on the campus of the University of Kentucky. Attendance from the county was curtailed due to school still being in session.

The three delegates were Bonnie Crisp, Debra Sammons, and Kenneth Gayheart. Paul DeClue, district talent champion, sang in the state talent show, Tuesday night.

Debbie Sammons, county style revue champion, represented the county in the state style revue. She modeled her Mix-and-Match outfit and received a blue ribbon.

4-H LEADERSHIP CAMP
Irene Newman and Carolyn Baldrige are attending the 4-H leadership camp being held this week at the J. M. Feltner Camp in Johnson county. They will join other senior 4-H members from Eastern Kentucky counties in studying leadership and citizenship.

JUNIOR 4-H CAMP
The Junior 4-H club camp for Floyd county will be held June 21-25. The camp fee is $10 which includes transportation, insurance, handicraft and food. Any junior club member who plans to attend camp and has not filled out an application should contact the county extension office at Prestonsburg. The P. O. box number is 111 and the phone number is 886-2668.

BIG SANDY DISTRICT 4-H RALLY
The Big Sandy District 4-H Rally Day will be held Saturday, June 19, at Louisa. County champions in speech and demonstrations from Pike, Floyd, Morgan, Menifee, Elliott, Magoffin, Johnson, Lawrence, and Martin counties will be competing for district championships.

Representing Floyd county in these contests will be: Leona Hunt, Joan Bailey, Ethel Branham, Glenna Moore, Irene Newman, Glenna Hall, Paul Stilton, Don McGarey, Dovie Sammons, Alva Lynch, Sonny Davis, Elmer McKenize, Ida Fraley, Neil Bailey, Paul DeClue, Jeff Stewart, Charles Marshall, Jackie Dillon, Deannie Hall, Pat Tallent, Bonnie Crisp, Ada Branham, Kenneth Gayheart, Bobby Branham, Randy Blankenship, Glenda Hale, Dennis Hunter, James Newman Fozzo Akers, Marvin Bush, Glenna Jarrell, Rhonda Hall, Glenna Akers, Linda Spradlin, Danise Conley, Carol Stambaugh, Patricia Reynolds.

This year, for the first time, a junior district style show will be held in conjunction with the district rally. This is for the county unit championships under the age of 14. Modeling from Floyd county will be Mary Ann Hamilton, Annice Lee Stratton, Donisha Reynolds and Sheila Cecil.

ROADS DEPT. LOSES SUITS

Court Upholds Ruling In Floyd Highway Case; State Wins in Magoffin

The State Highway Department lost three of four land condemnation cases last week in the Court of Appeals.

It upheld the Floyd circuit court which gave $3,000 to Malcolm D. Shepherd and others for property along Ky. 114, the Prestonsburg-Salyersville road.

Also affirmed was another Floyd award of $6,000 to Troy Brown and others for some farm acreage along the same highway.

But the high court held excessive a $7,000 award by Magoffin circuit court to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holbrook for 11 acres of overflow bottom land front on Ky. 114.

The Highway Department was one day late in filing suit to recover damages from a bridge accident, the Court of Appeals ruled.

On February 25, 1958 a truck owned by Ralph Boots Ratliff struck a bridge in Pike county. Five years and one day later the state filed suit to recover the cost of repairs. Pike circuit court threw it out on grounds there is a five-year statute of limitations on such matters.

The Highway Department contended the limitation for negligence damage to real estate actually is 10 years.

"To make a long story short, we do not agree," Appellate Judge John Palmore said.

ASK PERMIT RISE
Frankfort—The Kentucky Circuit Court Clerks' Association is urging the legislature to double the cost of driver's licenses, from $2 to $4 and set aside $1.25 of the increase for expanding the state police force. The remaining 75 cents would go to the clerks, raising their portion of the fee to $1.50. A license must be renewed every two years.

Sixteen Floyd 4-H Members Win District Championship At Louisa Rally, Saturday

Sixteen Floyd county 4-H Club members won district demonstration championships at the Big Sandy district 4-H rally held at Louisa last Saturday.

Outstanding club members from nine Eastern Kentucky counties competed for championships. Other counties participating were Pike, Johnson, Martin, Lawrence, Magoffin, Morgan, Menifee, Elliott.

Floyd county district champs: Randy Blankenship, senior agriculture economics; Jim Newman, senior poultry; Fozzo Akers, senior forestry; Rhonda Hall, junior dairy foods; Patricia Reynolds, junior social science; Joann Bailey, junior foods; Glenda Moore, junior home management; Irene Newman, senior home furnishings; Don McGarey, junior horticulture; Floyd Davis, Jr., senior electric; Charles

Eight other club members from the county were second-place winners. They are Linda Spradlin, Carol Stambaugh, Ethel Branham, Paul Stilton, Elmer McKenzie, Carla Robinson, Jackie Dillon, Paul DeClue.

Other blue ribbon winners were Dennis Hunter, Marvin Bush, Bonnie Crisp.

Club members receiving red ribbons were Gienna Jarrell, Jeff Stewart, Betty Cline, Carol Spears, Pat Tallent, Ada Branham.

The senior champions will represent the district in the state contests at the State Fair.

Illinois Firm Gets Bridge-Painting Work

A contract for painting bridges in Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence and Pike counties has been awarded by the Highway Department, Ward announced today.

The following bridges will be painted: bridge over US 23 and Levisa Fork of Big Sandy River at Betsy Layne on the Betsy Layne spur road; bridge over Levisa Fork of Big Sandy River on the Paintsville-Van Lear Road in Johnson county; bridge over Rockcastle Creek, 9.921 miles south of Louisa toll bridge on the Louisa-Inez road, (Ky. 3) in Lawrence county; and bridge over Levisa Fork, 4.4 miles from Ky. 194 on the Fed's Creek road, (Ky. 866) in Pike county.

Neumann Company Contractors, Inc., Oak Lawn, Illinois, submitted the low bid of $17,250.

FATHER'S DAY TRIBUTE

In memory of our beloved father, Ellis V. Moore, of Wayland, Kentucky, who died June 22, 1961—age 59:

We often sit and think of you, and think of how you died, to think we could not say goodbye before you closed your eyes.

No one knows our longing and no one sees us weep, We shed our tears from an aching heart while others are asleep.

A kinder person in this world no one has ever known, We're proud, glad and happy you were our very own.

May the perpetual light shine upon him and may he rest in peace.

Sadly missed by his children, daughters, Phyllis, Gloria and Judy, and son, Greenville

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank everyone who helped us in any way upon the death of our daughter and sister, Brenda Kaye Holbrook, who died June 15. We are appreciative of the flowers, food and assistance so kindly and generously offered; for the consoling words of the minister, Rev. John W. Conley; also to the choir for its beautiful songs. We also sincerely appreciate the assistance and efficient services of the Floyd Funeral Home.

Red River Gorge—Area Of Scenic Grandeur

Sprawled across the eastern part of Kentucky from the Tennessee border almost to the Ohio River is spectacular Cumberland National Forest. In this 400,000-acre area some of the most exciting and photographic geological features to be found anywhere in the world.

They include waterfalls tumbling into forested gorges, colorful and eroded cliffs, caves and more than 30 natural rock arches and bridges. Many of these sights are visible from the roads through the forest, or accessible by hiking trails. A wonderful exploring vacation may be spent by making Natural Bridge State Park headquarters. Its modern, deluxe facilities are in the Red River Gorge in northern half of the national preserve.

Natural Bridge is only one of twelve great natural rock arches in this area, and there are many other compelling points of scenic interest. Sky Bridge, the Angel Windows, Rock Bridge, the Narrows and Lookout Tower are some.

For the vigorous there are over 32 miles of well developed trails over which the national forest service conducts nature hikes guided by professional naturalists. Other activities in the state resort park include a 55 acre lake for fishing and boating, riding stables, swimming pool and air-conditioned relaxation. Its modern Hemlock Lodge has two double beds to each unit, a private patio, year round individual climate control and every imaginable facility for comfort. Rates are $9 single, $14 double. The 200-seat dining room commands miles of gorgeous mountain scenery.

Also available are smart housekeeping cottages and sites for tent and trailer camping. The Red River Gorge and Natural Bridge State Park are readily accessible via the four-lane Mountain Parkway. Its Slade intersection is two and one-half miles from the Hemlock Lodge.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

Two of Kentucky's leading golfing events will be staged at the Paintsville country club during July.

The 24th annual Paintsville pro-amateur tournament is set for July 9-11, and the Kentucky state open is carded for July 22-25.

In size, this is the biggest golfing event in Eastern Kentucky. Through the years the field has numbered from a low of 255 to a record number of 301 golfers last year.

A record field is expected to be on hand this year as the majority of Kentucky pros will use the invitationals as a warm-up for the Kentucky Open, two weeks later.

Contestants for all flights except the championship flight may qualify any time between July 4 and July 8. Scores will be accepted by mail or by phoning club pro Glenn Walke.

All contestants for the championship flight must qualify on Friday, July 9. Sixteen players will make up the flight, which will be match play. All other flights will be eight players. All flights

NATIONAL FLOWERS

Many nations have selected flowers as their emblems, but some seem to have been more down-to-earth than others. The national flower of El Salvador, for example, is the white flower of the coffee tree — logical enough for a leading coffee-growing country.

THIS IS THE CULPRIT—the tiny beetle, magnified many times in this photo by J. Richard Cummings, of Prestonsburg, which is destroying the leaves of poplars in this and other Eastern Kentucky counties. Foresters here say the infested trees are not expected to die, since similar infestations in other areas in the past have not killed any noticeable number of trees. But, they add, if the insects should return for several consecutive years the trees would become weaker and more damage would be expected. Sassafras and one species of magnolia also are under attack from the insect, which is making, or has made, appearances from New England east to Michigan and south to Florida.

Beetle Plague Killing Region's Tulip Poplars, Nature Writer Reports

BY RUFUS M. REED

For the first time known, swarms of the tiny, black snout beetles are attacking the tulip poplars throughout this region and doing heavy damage. Some of the large tulip poplars now show more than half their leaves killed.

The snout beetles are about one-fourth inch long, but four or five of them can soon eat enough of the leaf to kill it. They feed on the underside of the leaf, much in the manner of the Mexican bean beetle, and when about half of the leaf is eaten, it turns brown and dies as if it had been scalded by fire.

The beetles show the same habits as the Mexican bean beetle. When a leaf is touched on which they are eating, they let loose and drop, in this way escaping birds and other enemies.

The wholesale destruction of the leaves of the fine tulip poplars by this pest is reminiscent of the destruction of the chestnut trees several years ago by a parasitic fungus that killed them all. The small snout beetles have a corrugated, glossy wing cover and are voracious feeders. They are believed to be one of the most serious forest pests, as they feed upon one of our most valuable trees and completely kill its leaves in a short time. Tulip poplars in many places are now beginning to look like the pear trees used to look when they were attacked and killed by the pear blight.

It looks as if we don't get more birds to police our forests, we are going to lose out to the insect pests.

Photo by J. Richard Cummings shows destructive beetle in egg and larva stage. These and other photos were snapped on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek where poplars, as elsewhere, are turning brown, their leaves eaten and tunneled by the weevils.

Hoffer Appointed Dewey Lake Ranger, Murray Announces

Prater, was injured December 6, 1962, in a freak accident on Interstate 71, at Columbus, Ohio. Accounts of the accident reveal that Prater was pulling a house trailer on the interstate highway when his vehicle ran out of gas.

He pulled off the road and later a city snowplow stopped behind him to give assistance. While Prater was standing between the vehicles, a tractor trailer crashed into the snowplow and the Floyd man was pinned between the snowplow and his trailer.

The Fayette county court order authorized Prater's committee to reimburse the Veterans Administration for treatment received since the accident.

The injured man is a son of the late Seymour Prater, of Hueysville, and was formerly employed here at Pettrey's Service Station.

of thousands of others to try to straighten the whole mess out. Think of the possibilities!

Don't write me about this. Draw it into the nearest ear that will listen and has the time to wait for you to get the story told.

ERRATUM

Week in and week out, we get at least one letter from the Veterans Administration. We've looked at the VA envelopes all these months and kept silent, but now we can't resist the temptation to tell somebody about their mistake and wonder if VA has discovered it. Every one of these envelopes received in recent months has the name of the sender printed in the left-hand corner like this:

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Doin' a little worse than tol-able? These lines, indited by an unknown versifier, are dedicated to all who are old and a-puny'n' and might be inclined to complain:

I'M FINE

There's nothing whatever the matter with me. I'm just as healthy as I can be. I have arthritis in both my knees And when I talk I speak with a wheeze.

My pulse is weak and my blood is thin; But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

I have a terrible pain in the middle of my back. Most everything seems to be out of whack.

And the way I stagger sure is a crime. But all things considered, I'm feeling fine.

Arch supports I have for both my feet. Or I wouldn't be able to walk down the street.

Memory's falling; Head's in a spin. I'm practically living on aspirin; But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

But the moral is as this tale I unfold. That for you and for me who are growing old It's better to say, "I'm fine" with a grin Than to tell everyone the shape that we're in.

ACCOUNTANT SENTENCED

New York—An accountant drew a five-year federal prison sentence yesterday for bribing Internal Revenue Service employees who audited the tax returns of his clients. The accountant, Sol Myers, 45, of Flushing, Queens, was convicted of giving about $1,000 in bribes and tips to the auditors.

Steps To Comply With State Screening Law

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced this week that 63 percent of Kentucky's junkyards are screened and 93 percent of the owners have taken steps toward compliance with the state screening law.

Ward said the Highway Department issued 46 permits during May, which increased to 479 the total number of permits issued since the Department began enforcing the screening law on July 1, 1964. Permits are issued only after suitable screens have been erected.

Out of a total of 758 junkyards in Kentucky at the end of May, 703 had submitted applications for permits.

Since the state has stopped taking complaints through the county courts and is now going directly to the grand jury, the total number of complaints filed in the county courts stands at 144. Sixty-one have been dismissed because of compliance and 58 have been held over to the grand jury.

Of these 58, 11 have been dismissed because of compliance either before or after being indicted. Of the remaining 47, 27 have been indicted and 20 are awaiting action of the grand jury.

The screening law enacted by the 1962 Kentucky General Assembly requires junkyard dealers to build suitable screens around their yards if they are within 2,000 feet of the highway centerline. Dealers have the option of moving their business if they do not wish to build screens.

RESERVATIONS STILL OPEN AT SOME STATE PARKS

Frankfort — The Kentucky Department of Parks, through its Central Reservation Service, is making a determined effort to find accommodations for late-shopping park vacationers.

Robert D. Bell, state parks commissioner, said that a check of the 12 resort-type parks shows many accommodations still available at five.

They are Cumberland Falls near Corbin; Pine Mountain near Pineville; Lake Buckhorn, in Perry county; Penny-rille Forest, near Dawson Springs, and Carter Caves, near Olive Hill.

Cumberland Falls — noted for its nightly square-dance program, many miles of scenic mountain trails, and famous moonbow — has two types of cottages available, efficiency housekeeping units and lodge cottages.

The lodge cottages, which do not have housekeeping facilities, are located near the resort-type swimming pool and are within easy walking distance of the lodge and dining room. Many rooms also are available in DuPont Lodge, Bell said.

At Pine Mountain, home of the world-famous outdoor drama, "The Book of Job," vacationers may still reserve rooms in scenic Herndon Evans Lodge, perched atop the mountain's peak. Efficiency cottages are also available. While many guests are content to enjoy the picturesque scenery of the mountain area, an organized recreation program for all ages is also available. And, there are fishing, swimming, horseback riding and many other activities.

Buckhorn Lake, another vacation park nestled in the Eastern Kentucky mountains, offers the newest lodge in the state park system. Rooms are available now throughout the summer.

Carter Caves and Penny-rille Forest, located in opposite ends of the commonwealth, offer complete resort facilities. These include a modern lodge, housekeeping cottages, resort-type swimming pool, beach, golf course, horseback riding and organized recreation for all ages.

At both Carter Caves and Penny-rille Forest lodge rooms and efficiency cottages are available throughout most of the summer.

A few rooms and efficiency cottages can still be looked at three other state parks — General Butler, near Carrollton; Kenlake, near Hardin, and Natural Bridge, near Slade.

Rooms only are available week days at Rough River State Park, between Leitchfield and Hardinsburg in Grayson and Breckinridge counties.

Because of cancellations, lodge rooms are available for a few scattered dates at three other state parks — Jenny Wiley, near Prestonsburg; Lake Cumberland near Jamestown, and Kentucky Dam Village, near Gilbertsville.

Complete information and reservation service concerning any of the 12 resort-type parks can be obtained from the Central Reservation Service, Frankfort, Bell reminded. Free lines to the Frankfort office are offered from Louisville (583-9796), Lexington (252-4913), and the Covington-Cincinnati area (261-2643). Those not able to use this service can telephone the Frankfort office at 223-2326.

Parks reservations may also be made through state tourist information centers at Pineville and Shepherdsville, Bell said.

Telephone Talk

By ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

THE BIGGEST PRIVATE TELEPHONE NETWORK IN THE WORLD just recently went into operation! It's called the Federal Telecommunications System and it provides desk-to-desk dialing between 750,000 telephones in 8,000 government offices in 400 communities throughout the United States. Before the new system was installed, people in government offices who wanted to call government agencies in other cities had to place their calls through regular switchboards. Now, all they do is dial a code number, and the regular phone number. Naturally, this saves a lot of time and red tape. And what's more, it saves the taxpayers dollars, because under the new system, calls are made at bulk telephone rates.

EVER HEARD A MACHINE RECITE SHAKESPEARE? Believe it or not, there is such a thing. As part of research into the nature of speech and hearing, telephone scientists are experimenting with a talking machine. This strange monster is fed punched cards representing 32 speech sounds. The cards are then fed into the machine in proper sentence order. The computer processes the cards according to the rules of English grammar, and from them, it produces human-sounding speech! However, we humans don't have to be afraid we're going to be replaced by machines, because this machine has to be told what to say, and can't just rattle on all by itself. Also, this machine is more than just a curiosity or a gimmick. It could eventually result in a special keyboard on which a typist would tap out a message which would be spoken by another machine thousands of miles away! This sort of research may also lead to new techniques that will result in more efficient and versatile service for all of us!

HOW FAMILIAR ARE YOU WITH THE FRONT PAGES OF YOUR PHONE BOOK? Just before the regular listings of names and phone numbers, there's all sorts of valuable information to help you make better use of your phone, and make telephoning easier. For instance, there's a list of Area Codes for cities all over the country. The front pages also show emergency numbers for police and fire departments, information on how to place Long Distance calls, and how to make conference calls. Sounds like it might be a good idea to get better-acquainted with the front of the phone book!

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Seward (Butch) Martin would like to express their thanks and most sincere appreciation to everyone, both near and far, who were so kind to us in the time of our deepest grief caused by the passing away of our much-loved father and husband. The years may come and go, but his life in our memory will always be strong with us, as will the memory of all his kind friends in our time of greatest loss.

We can never truly say with words the deep appreciation we have for all our friends and neighbors who extended to us their help and their comforting words, and for all those who sent the beautiful flowers to adorn his final rest and brought food into our grief-stricken home.

We would like to thank all the Masons, especially those of the Thomas C. Cecil Lodge, of Pikeville, the doctors and nurses of the Methodist hospital, and personnel of the Justice Funeral Home for the great comfort and help they gave to his family during the illness and upon the death of our beloved one.

Our most sincere thanks.

HONOR PASTOR, FAMILY

The Maytown Methodist Church, with representatives from Martin and Salisbury Methodist Churches as guests, gave a covered dish fellowship supper honoring Rev. Logan Whalen and family, who are being transferred to Stone Methodist Church. The main course of the supper was fish caught by Rev. Whalen in Florida, and fried by some of the best cooks in Maytown. Many other food items were brought by women from all three churches. Immediately following the meal, Rev. and Mrs. Whalen were presented gifts. The Maytown church presented them a silver serving tray and a cash gift. Martin presented a three-piece lawn furniture set and a Fostoria crystal-footed cakestand. Salisbury church presented a gift of cash and the M.Y.F. presented a tie rack. These were graciously accepted.

Rev. Whalen then showed an interesting film on missionary work.

Those contributing to the donations for gift or sending food but were unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bouch; Mrs. Thomas Patrick and sister, Mrs. Brown, and Anna Mae Patton.

Those present at the supper were: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Compton, Susan and Bonita, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Crisp and Bonnie, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. How Old Are You?—
 Can You Prove It?

Many people in Floyd county have difficulty getting their social security check started because they cannot prove they have reached retirement age.
 This is a problem that will be with us for quite a while because most births were not recorded in this county until 1911, says Thomas L. Reed, social security district manager at Pikeville. A birth certificate recorded at birth is the best proof of age available. Since most people now reaching retirement age will not have this document, the Social Security Administration will accept other proofs. Older records are preferred to recently established documents.

The following is a list of some proofs which are acceptable to the Social Security Administration. (They are in order of preference):

1. Birth certificate (recorded soon after birth);
2. baptismal certificate;
3. signed statement by physician who was in attendance at birth;
4. military record;
5. passport;
6. school record;
7. insurance policy which shows age or date of birth;
8. marriage record showing age or date of birth;
9. age of parent on child's birth certificate;
10. census record;
11. statement of other person.

Those nearing retirement age should consider getting one or more of these proofs to bring to the social security office when application is filed, Reed said.

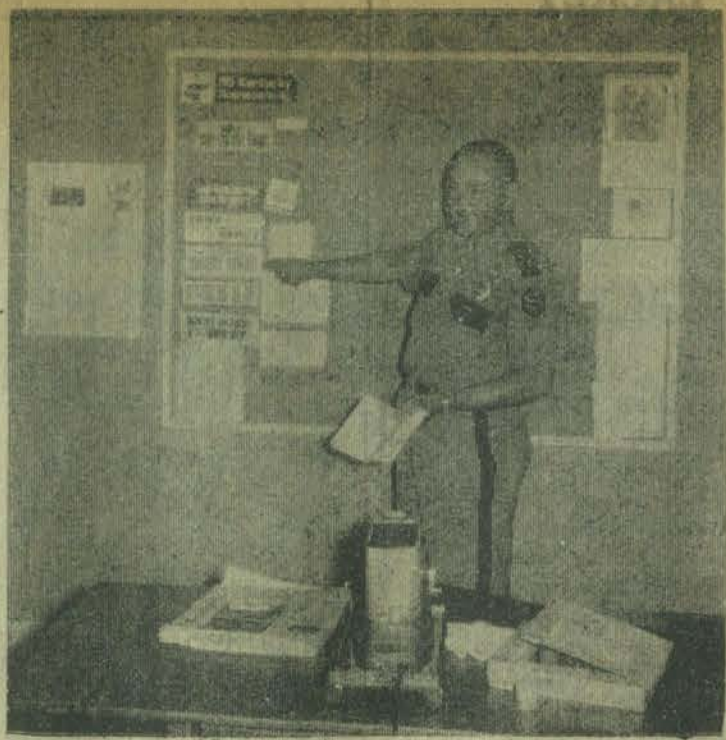

A representative from the district office in Pikeville is in Prestonsburg at the Employment Office from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. every Tuesday.

Groundbreaking For Plant,
 Dedication Of Airport Held At West Liberty, Saturday

West Liberty, Ky. — The first major manufacturing industry to locate in West Liberty and Morgan county was given a big welcome Saturday when ground was broken for the $500,000 plant of Lymcoming Shoe Company.

The program for "New Industry Appreciation Day" in this small Eastern Kentucky community of 1,200 residents, also featured the formal opening and dedication of a new airport adjoining the plant site one mile southeast of West Liberty near U. S. 460. An air show and a horse show also were on the program.

Company officials said that plans call for the West Liberty plant to be completed and in operation by late fall.

Construction cost of the building will be met by a $350,000 industrial revenue bond issue by the City of West Liberty. The Morgan County Development Association purchased the 9.2 acre factory site and raised $50,000 for the project.

Lymcoming Shoe Company manufactures children's shoes at Williamsport, Pennsylvania. Plans call for the new plant to have an estimated 50,000 square feet of floor space and employ up to 300 persons.

Joe Haney, president of the Morgan County Development Association, presided at the groundbreaking ceremony, with former Governor Bert T. Combs, Lexington, as the principal speaker.

Other guest speakers on the program included U.S. Representative Carl D. Perkins, Hindman; Kentucky Commissioner of Commerce Katherine Peden, Frankfort; and John D. Whisman, Frankfort, Kentucky, Representative on the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Paul G. Williams, Portsmouth, Ohio, chairman of the board, and Henry K. Bader, president of Lymcoming Shoe, headed a delegation of company officials from Ohio and Pennsylvania that attended the groundbreaking.

A fly-over by jet planes of the Kentucky Air National Guard followed the formal opening of the airport.

Music for the groundbreaking and airport dedication ceremonies was furnished by the Morgan County High School Band.

The New Industry Day festivities closed with a horse show at 2 p.m., sponsored by the West Liberty Kiwanis Club at the Morgan County high school athletic field.

Summer's Heat Next To Cold of Winter
 As Hazard to Heart

Summer's heat runs a close second to winter's chill as a hazard to heart patients.

So watch out for that first severe heat wave, warns the Kentucky Heart Association. Why? Because the heart works harder under conditions of high heat and humidity to maintain body temperature at normal levels.

It does this by pumping a greater volume of blood at a faster rate, actually measurable in controlled experiments. The normal heart has enough reserve power to overcome the stress imposed by heat and humidity. The demands placed on a damaged heart, however, may add up to dangerous strain — as much as or even more than the burdens imposed by exercise or other exertion.

What's the answer? According to the Heart Association, the wise thing to do is: take it easy, and try to keep cool. In addition, the usual hot weather tips are good advice for the cardiac as well as for healthy people of all ages. These include eating and dressing lightly, taking frequent baths, staying out of the sun, and avoiding too much exertion.

Summer heat has another built-in hazard that especially applies to the person who has poor or defective blood circulation. It takes badly needed salt out of the body.

Most people perspire heavily in summer, losing large amounts of salt and fluid in the process. You should replace them by drinking more water than you normally do and by taking extra salt, usually at mealtimes.

This may pose a problem, however, for those heart and high blood pressure patients whose doctors are trying to decrease the amount of salt such patients consume, or are attempting to promote salt excretion or loss, through the use of certain drugs.

The Kentucky Heart Association advises these patients: Don't wait until the effects of hot weather have complicated your condition; see your doctor now, so that medicine you are taking can be checked and adjusted if necessary, before the full impact of the summer heat makes itself felt.

PERKINS, COOPER OPPOSE STAND OF BUDGET BUREAU

A Senate public works subcommittee was told recently that if the Bureau of the Budget won't budge from a position adversely affecting $50 million worth of Big Sandy flood control projects, then Congress should nudge it.

The request came from Rep. Carl D. Perkins, Hindman Democrat, who represents the Big Sandy area in Northeast Kentucky.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican and a member of the subcommittee, told fellow members that he, too, has been fighting the Budget Bureau position.

The policy causing the controversy is a requirement that nonfederal interests pay part of the costs of recreational benefits that would be included in the flood control projects.

A $20,000,000 dam and reservoir on Blaine Creek, near Yatesville in Lawrence county.

A $16,970,000 dam and reservoir on Paint Creek, near Paintsville in Johnson county.

An $11,050,000 dam and reservoir on Panther Creek, in McDowell county, West Virginia.

Another Big Sandy project is a $3,346,000 stream-clearing and channel-enlarging program on Beaver Creek, near Martin, Floyd county, but no recreation costs are involved.

On the three dams, however, the nonfederal share would be $2.6 million for the Yatesville project, $965,000 for the Paintsville project and $503,500 for the Panther Creek project.

"They (Budget Bureau) are going to destroy the effect of a flood control program for Eastern Kentucky if they let this cost-sharing stand," Perkins told the committee.

"With the knowledge you have of the problem that would be involved in raising that much money in the small mountain communities to be served by these projects, I am sure you will understand that such contributions would exceed the full responsibility of our people," Perkins said.

"The imposition of local cost-sharing therefore would fully prohibit the construction of these projects, and I cannot see any earthly reason why the government—desiring to give assistance to the Appalachian area—would take this means to destroy the most needed flood control program in America," he said.

Perkins asked the committee to report out a bill including the projects but "with the express understanding that the government will pay all construction costs."

He said, "Similar projects have been authorized in the past without the requirement of local cost participation."

Perkins told the committee that the fight appeared won several times.

When the Corps of Engineers issued its preliminary report on the Big Sandy program, cost-sharing was not required.

Perkins said the Budget Bureau, an administration agency, controls Corps of Engineers policies, and the Corps review board inserted the cost-sharing requirement.

"In several conversations with the Bureau of the Budget, I was led to believe on more than one occasion that this cost-sharing would not apply to the Big Sandy," Perkins said.

The issue is now before the Corps chief, but he too must be guided by Budget Bureau doctrine, Perkins said.

"When they have failed to review the policy, it is up to Congress to change the policy," he said. "If this thing goes down the drain it will be because of the Budget Bureau requirement of local cost-sharing," Cooper added.

"It's the wrong approach," he said.

fastest cow in the country!

She's set all kinds of track records. Fastest lap around the pasture. Widest jump into the farm pond. Highest leap over a fence.

She's also set some barn records. Lowest milk producer this summer. Most flareups of mastitis. Poorest conditioned cow. All because of a few pesky biting flies.

No excuse for it when one spray with Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate can keep hornflies and stable flies under control for almost a week. It contains Ciodrin*—a long-lasting fly killer that's safe to spray on dairy cows.

Ask us for Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate, and use it once a week. Your cows may not break any track records... may break some production records!

Local Woman Seeks Owner Of Lost World War Diary

Mrs. W. M. (Bill) May, of the Goble-Roberts Addition, Prestonsburg, has a one-sheet soldier's diary from the days of World War II which she thinks the writer, or his survivors, would like to have.

The now-yellowed piece of paper, written on both sides, was found about 15 years ago on the floor of an Inez dry-cleaning plant, was later placed in a scrapbook where it lay, forgotten, until a few months ago. Now, Mrs. May wants the "diary" returned to its rightful owner.

It begins with the soldier's departure from New York and briefly notes dates and places on the way to battle. Two entries are characteristic:

"July 18, 1944. Normandy, France—my first sight of war. La Cambre cemetery—thousands of white crosses and newly dug graves. Soldiers rolled in sheets by the rows. I just then realized I would soon be fighting... It had all been a joke till now."

"July 25th. Today I saw everything. I saw what planes had done. Never have I seen sights like this. Insigny, France—a pile of rubbish. The smell of dead bodies—why do people fight? It only means death and destruction. La Cambre cemetery again. I wish I had never seen this... All of us were new replacements. We didn't know what war was like. Now, for the first time, we realized that this was war... The sound of guns—artillery, night and day. The Battle for St. Lo. How soon will we be there?"

NOTICE

A petition was filed in the Floyd Circuit Court on the 11th day of June, 1965, to annex into the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, certain territory adjacent to the northern corporate limits of said City, as follows:

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

In Re: Petition for Annexation into the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, of Certain Territory Adjacent to the Northern City Limits of Said City, Lying and Being at the Mouth of What is Commonly Referred to As May's Branch, Bounded On the West By U. S. Highway 23, and On the East By the Property of Roger Spradlin, and Containing 19.09 Acres, More or Less.

Plaintiff, City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, states it is a duly incorporated city of the Fourth Class, in the State of Kentucky. It states that on April 15, 1965, at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, said Council duly adopted and passed an ordinance, being Ordinance No. 5-65, which Ordinance was published in the Floyd County Times, a weekly newspaper, on April 29, May 6 and May 13, 1965, as provided by law, directing that the City Attorney institute an action and file a petition in the Floyd Circuit Court within the time required by law to annex as a part of the City of Prestonsburg the following described territory:

A certain tract of land, lying near the Northern territorial limits of the City of Prestonsburg, in Floyd County, Kentucky, on the East side of U. S. Highway 23, being known as the May Property, and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at the intersection of the right-of-way of U. S. Highway 23 and May's Branch Road; thence along the northern right-of-way of May's Branch Road in a southeastern direction 1072 feet; thence leaving May's Branch Road S 11-20 W, 669.54 feet to a wild cherry tree; thence S 60-10-30 W, 233.92 feet to a concrete monument; thence N 26-48 W, 366.09 feet to a concrete monument; thence N 10-09 W, 98.61 feet to a concrete monument; thence N 35-53 W, 197.56 feet to a concrete monument; thence N 56-19 W, 205.12 feet to a concrete monument; thence N 75-55 W, 164.00 feet to a concrete monument; thence S 77-45 W, 300 feet to the right-of-way of U. S. Highway 23 and containing 19.09 acres, more or less.

Copy of the aforesaid Ordinance, as published in the Floyd County Times according to law, is attached hereto as a part hereof.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff, City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, prays that this Court enter judgment annexing the above described territory into the City of Prestonsburg, and further directs that said territory shall thereafter be treated and considered for all purposes as a legal part of said incorporated city. Plaintiff further prays for all proper relief.

Points to Law Setting Fees for Constables

I had a number of friends who ran in the May primary for Constable, none of whom were nominated. This is the first time I have in all my 70-odd years had anything published in a newspaper, and I do this now to cite the fees allowed by law to Constables and to show those who lost the election that they did not lose as much as they may have thought.

WILLIE JOHNSON

Constables may collect, for the following services the following fees (See KRS 64.190):

Making arrests for violations involving a motor vehicle on the public highways, 50c; serving a summons in any civil case, on each defendant, before a justice of the peace, 50c; serving a peace or search warrant, for each defendant, $1; levying an attachment, 50c; removing and taking care of any attached goods, livestock or other property taken under the attachment, a reasonable fee, to be allowed by court; summoning a garnishee, 50c; taking up a vagrant, 50c; summoning a witness, 20c; collecting money under execution or other legal process, taking a replevin or forthcoming bond, or for a stay of execution, the same commission that may be allowed a sheriff, and one percent more; collecting fee-bills, ten percent, to be deducted from the fee-bill; summoning and attending a jury, $1; serving a notice on each person, 25c; killing a mad dog, $1; killing and burying a distempered horse, ass or mule, $3; killing and burying any other cattle, per head, $2; altering a stud, jackass or bull, $1.

Any other services, the same fees allowed sheriffs for similar services.

Drift Woman's Club Founds George L. Moore Scholarship; Miss Knott Is First Recipient

The Drift Woman's Club has established a scholarship in honor of George L. Moore, veteran McDowell high school principal who recently retired.

This scholarship will be awarded annually to a resident of the McDowell school district, on the basis of need for financial assistance, the ability to do college work successfully and the probability of the student completing college. Factors to be considered in choosing the student for the scholarship will be family background, character, school grades, standard test scores and the ability of the student to get along with associates.

The scholarship will be for any standard accredited college that the student may select. The principal of the school, along with the high school faculty, will select students and present them to the education committee of the Drift Woman's Club. The committee will have the final word in passing on the scholarship.

The first George L. Moore Scholarship was presented at the McDowell commencement exercises, June 4, to Miss Linda Knott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Knott, of McDowell. Miss Knott will enter Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes. Mrs. Ward L. Reed, chairman of the Education Department of the Woman's Club, made the scholarship presentation.

Martin Spencer Dies Saturday at Garrett After 2-Year Illness

Martin Spencer, 85, died June 12 at his home at Garrett after an illness of two years.

A son of Preston and Nancy Turner Spencer, he was a native of this county. Before retirement he was a miner. He had been a member of the Regular Baptist Church 43 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Maudie Moore Spencer, and nine sons and daughters: Rush Spencer, of Minnie, Russell, Jay and Lee Spencer, all of Willard, Ohio. Malcolm Spencer, Wooster, Ohio. Archie Spencer, Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Maggie Sturgill, Ashville, Ohio. Mrs. Peachie Warrens, of Garrett, and Mrs. Ina Huffman, Mansfield, Ohio. Two brothers and three sisters also survive: Alex Spencer, of Eastern, Lee Spencer, of Harold, Mrs. Roshia Moore, of Garrett, Mrs. Emily Howell, of Drift, and Mrs. Quia Collins, Columbus, Ohio.

Funeral services were held June 14 from the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church, ministers of that church officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Drift under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

A study by the University of Kentucky indicates that Kentucky can reach a $1 billion farm income by 1970.

The Governor's Mansion at Frankfort was built in 1914 entirely of limestone from Bowling Green.
