SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1966

This Town . . . That World

Can you remember 'way back when they called it Franksgriv-ing?

Presidents used to issue solemn and wordy Thanksgiving proclamations. I've kept watching for one from LBJ, but have finally decided he's still studying those election results.

WHOOPI!—MAKE WAY!

One side, Santa Claus! You think you are the last of the big spenders and the guy who spreads largess all around? Make way for us beside whom you are, verily, a piker. You deal only with the litt'uns. We have them all, the little, the big and the in-between. We get Junior something, and Junior goes out and buys us something and something for everybody else in the family, to boot. And then everybody else in the family gets him something. We buy Sissy a gift. Sissy repeats the procedure, and so do the rest. So it goes on the old Christmas merry-go-round. At times such as these I shake out about the only Latin I know and mumble in my beard: "Ad infinitum, ad absurdum."

I'VE BEEN LIBELED!

First there was this bit on TV. Then came a card from a clipping service in Michigan: "Your name appeared in a Michigan newspaper. Ninety cents (no stamps, please), and we will send you a clipping of the item. Satisfaction guaranteed, etc."

Then A. B. Osborne, Jr., writes from Troy, New York, sending a clipping (I didn't send the 90 cents), and congratulating me on this bit of flimsy evidence that there was life in the old hide yet.

Now it's all clear. The Associated Press got hold of a joke I printed in this column, twitting the youngsters about their crazy dances, and recalling the fellow who was trying to get across a dance floor, pivoting away from a twisting, whirling dervish, stepping one who shook from the hips up and threatened to fly to bits—when this gal steps up and thanks him for the dance, and he replies, "I wasn't dancing—I was just trying to get to the water-cooler."

Or something to that effect. But look what the highly respected AP made of it!—Prestonsburg, Ky. — Norman Allen may have come up with a new dance style. He was writhing his way across a crowded floor when a girl stepped up and thanked him for the dance. (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

AGENCIES OK FUND TO TRAIN WORKERS

Congressman Carl D. Perkins last week notified Mayor George P. Archer and others that the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education & Welfare had approved a project involving the training of 75 persons for future employment by the U. S. Shoe Company at its plant here.

Total cost of the training project was set at $129,037—$38,037 by HEW and $91,000 by the Department of Labor.

Such training programs in this area are conducted under auspices of the Mayo Vocational School, but in this instance the shoe company will provide instructors. Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the Kentucky Employment Service office here, said he expects the project to be funded and in operation soon after December 1.

KY. W. VA. WORKERS GET NEW CONTRACT

PACT RAISES SUIT ECHOES LEAGUE CASE PAY 41 CTS. OVER 3 YRS.

The membership of Local Union 3-510, Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers, Saturday night approved the agreement reached Friday between union and Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company representatives on a new three-year labor contract.

The contract culminated weeks of parleying. During this time one strike deadline was reached, but talks continued as both workers and the company sought an amicable settlement of differences. Approximately 300 employees are covered by the new pact.

Terms of the new contract provide for hourly wage increases, as follow:
First year, 17 cents; second year, 13 cents; third year, 11 cents.

An improved vacation schedule also was included. The contract provides for five weeks' vacation in the second year for employees with 30 years' service, and in the third year for employees of 25 years.

Still apparently far from settlement is the contract dispute between United Fuel Gas Company and its union workers. It was said last week that new renewal of negotiations has been scheduled.

ALPINE TOUCH SEEN FOR LAKE PROJECT

A picturesque Alpine touch will be added to the Dewey Lake shoreline in coming months as three Prestonsburg men develop mountain-side property overlooking the lake for vacation-time living.

Dewey Lake View, Inc., a corporation owned by Blaine R. Hall, George Lee Shannon and Burl Spurlock, all of Prestonsburg, has acquired the property formerly owned by Bonnie Brantman, near Hager Gap, and they propose the construction of chalets which will be offered for sale to families interested in summer homes in the lake region. They have approximately 115 acres, and the French-type chalets will be built on the forested, hillside portion of that acreage.

First of all, they plan the construction of three chalets, each of different type, by next spring. Another part of the development will be road construction to the approximately 75 sites that are available.

Also considered is the construction of a motel on level land of the tract. This may depend upon the owners receiving permission from the U. S. Corps of Engineers and the Kentucky Department of Parks to excavate

EKEA NAMES FLOYD MAN

Nelson Allen, principal of the Russell elementary school, and a native of Floyd county, was nominated without opposition last Thursday as president-elect of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association at the delegate assembly.

He will assume the presidency in November, 1967, at the expiration of the term of Oran Teater, superintendent of the Paintsville school system. Mr. Teater took office Friday at the close of the two-day annual meeting of the organization.

Also nominated without opposition were Philip Dingus, principal of Martin high school, vice-president; Frank Stewart, of Morgan county, member of the Kentucky Education Association planning board, and James Salisbury, a principal in the Boyd county system, member of the nominating committee for the Teacher Retirement System.

Delegates will cast ballots Friday morning in a board of directors' race and for delegates to the National Education Association convention.

Nominees for two seats on the board of directors are Miss Lexie Allen, of Eastern, National Youth Corps; Webb Young, principal of Fairview high school, and Eugene Davis, a Pike county classroom teacher.

Nominees for delegates to the NEA convention, two to be elected, are Mr. Teater, Mr. Allen and William A. Cheek, superintendent of Lawrence county schools.

Monroe Wicker, EKEA secretary-treasurer, reported a balance of approximately $6,500 in the association treasury and $2,686.22 in a savings account.

He urged a greater membership in KEA, which now stands at 67 percent of the educators in the EKEA district.

FIRE SEQUEL TO DYNAMITE

Floyd Deputy Suffers Second Loss in Blaze; Investigation Continues

Deputy Sheriff Milt Hunt said this week that Saturday night's blaze in an untenanted dwelling which he owns at Betsy Layne was as malicious in origin as the dynamiting of his auto and residence a week earlier.

He said the fire burned out the floor of a bathroom and estimated the damage at $500.

The earlier dynamiting caused damage placed at $2,500 — $1,000 from the total loss of a car and $1,500 damage to the officer's residence. Damage to the Hunt home consisted mainly of shattered windows, eaves and cornice ripped away and some damage to the roof.

Investigation of both dynamiting and fire continues. Officers said they were encouraged by their findings but that they still lacked conclusive evidence.

ACCIDENTS CLAIM TWO

Miners Are Killed In County Mishaps During Last Week

Two coal miners were killed this week in separate mine accidents within the county.

Ira Hamilton, 34, of Risner, was fatally injured Saturday inside a mine at Teaberry. According to reports, Hamilton was riding a scoop, which had a defective motor and was being hauled outside for repair work. As it was towed, a wheel of the machine dropped onto the end of a heavy board lying on the mine floor. The board flew up, jamming into Hamilton's abdomen. He lived only a few minutes.

In a second accident, Orville Gene Adkins, 46-year-old Wheelwright miner, was instantly killed Tuesday in a mine of the Island Creek Coal Co. at Wheelwright. The accident occurred when Adkins, riding a mine car, rounded a curve and, leaning out to dodge an outcropping of coal, was caught between a mine rib and the car.

Hamilton was the son of Steve and Sarah Thornsbury Hamilton and was married to Charlene Hammonds, all of whom survive. Also surviving are one son, Bobby Dean, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Adah Ousley, and Mrs. Ocie Ousley, both of Risner.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Risner under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Adkins, a native of Pikeville, was a son of Jim W. and Gracie Dove Stephens Adkins, who survive. He had been a resident of Wheelwright for several years and was a member of the UMWA local union there, serving it as president of the Ambulance and Burial fund.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Omadel Spears Adkins, three sons, Larry Lee Adkins, of Berea, Gary Gene and Barry Benny Adkins, both of Wheelwright; a daughter, Mrs. Annette Moore, Price; two brothers, Myrle Adkins, of Franklin, Indiana, Irving Adkins, Dearborn, Michigan, and one sister, Mrs. Peggy Ann Scott, of Pikeville.

His funeral will be held Friday at 11 a.m. at the Primitive Baptist Church at Owsley, in Pike county, ministers of that church officiating. Burial in the Adkins cemetery at Owsley will be directed by the Merion Funeral Chapel.

FARLEY SAYS NOT TO QUIT

Argues That Contract Not To Expire Till '69; Opposition Elects Two

C. H. Farley, the former Floyd county high school principal who has held longer than any other the office of Pike county superintendent of schools, said last week he has no intention of resigning, although he lost two board members in the November 8 election and, beginning January 1, will have three of the five members of the board against him.

"I intend to fulfill my contract with the children of Pike county," he said. (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

UNLUCKY NUMBER—FOR SOMEBODY. Thirteen gallon jugs of moonshine whiskey taken in a Middle Creek raid were lined up on a desk of Sheriff Joe W. Lewis' office, Tuesday morning, with the "worm" of the still which filled them leading to one of the containers. Sheriff Lewis (center) chats with a caller, John Shepherd. ABC Agent Claude Flanery is at right.

Second Try By Raiders Nets Moonshine, Three Prisoners

A raid on a moonshine still Monday afternoon on the Jim Stone Branch of Left Middle Creek by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, ABC Agent Claude Flanery and a federal tax unit agent failed. The run had been made, the whiskey hidden and the operators were nowhere to be found.

But the matter didn't end there. Inquiry located the hidden whiskey. That night, Sheriff Lewis "stole" four of the 13 gallon jars of moonshine, hid them again—and he and his party sat back to watch.

When the four gallons were found missing, two of three men allegedly involved in the operation went hunting for the third. Finally, they decided to move what they had left.

That was when the officers moved in. Guy Bates was arrested. A warrant is to issue for another. The moonshine was confiscated. So was what was left of their still. Three barrels of mash were poured out.

Because he was not caught at the still, Bates escaped a federal charge. He was booked in court here for possession.

NEW BUILDING IS D & D PLAN

80x142-Ft. Structure May Make Store Here Largest in This Area

Construction is scheduled to begin Monday on an 80 by 142-foot steel building which may make of the D. & D. Food Market here the largest of its kind south of Ashland. Completion is expected by Feb. 15.

The new structure will be erected on a site at the rear of the present D. & D., and will have a floor area of 11,360 square feet, approximately twice that of the present store. Upon completion of the building, the present store will be razed, the lot it occupies and the area presently used for parking to afford space for 75 vehicles at one time.

Donald Ray Pelphrey, owner of the business, said the construction work will be done by Zelman Younce & Son. Pouring of the concrete floor will be the first work, pending arrival of pre-cut steel from Dixie Steel, Atlanta, Georgia.

Except for 60 feet of glass front, the proposed structure will be all-steel, including the roof. Central heating and air-conditioning will be a part of the building program.

ROAD SURVEY STARTS HERE

Future Work Would Erase Danger Spots; US 23 Survey Begins

With bids scheduled to be received December 2 on the highway construction designed to eliminate the hazardous Ball Alley curve here, engineering work being done this week promised early action on another danger spot in Prestonsburg, which is known locally as "the Pure Oil corner."

This will be a project of possibly only two blocks in distance, and it will also eliminate a second curve. Survey work has begun in the vicinity of the United Fuel Gas Company office and is extending to a point near the Big Sandy Dental Laboratory.

Although survey lines are not final, the new route will apparently take the Pure Oil Station, the Curtis Clark home, pass at the rear of the Floyd Funeral Home building and possibly require the purchase of three or four more structures.

The present survey does not concern itself with improvement of the entire highway from Prestonsburg to the junction with the Dewey Lake road, although this has been a project promised for state construction.

While the survey work here was under way, Tecon Engineers were working on the proposed four-lane route which will be the new U.S. 23, going via Katy Friend Branch of Middle Creek via Bull Creek to Allen.

3,000 ENROLLMENT SEEN IN 14 YEARS

Draft Board Orders Three for Induction, 35 for Examination

Three registrants of Draft Board 166 have been ordered to report for induction December 1. They are Paul Wesley Hoffman, Ralph Keens and Thomas Ray Ousley.

Thirty-five registrants have been ordered to report for physical examination, December 12: Tommy Joe Boyd, Jerry Lee Patton, Victor Tyrone Robinson, Randall Stanley, Eugene Skeens, Milburn Lewis Campbell, Earnie Clark, James Collins, Carl Howell, Vernon Kelly Stone, Clinnon Eugene Hall, Lewis Edward Hall, Daniel Howell, Donnie Dale Little, Raymond Parsons, Conley Eugene Tackett, Kenneth Eugene Hall, Frank Everett Johnson, Jr., John David Akers, Roger Dale Martin, Scottie Gene Howell, Monty Steven Stone. Wayland Homecoming Scheduled Saturday; Miss Hall Is Queen

Wayland high school's homecoming game will be with Wheelwright, Saturday night, November 26. The second team game will begin at 6 o'clock. The crowning of Charlene Hall, a senior, as the Homecoming Queen, will follow this game. Her attendants are: Marilyn Webb, Linda Patton, Libby Gray and Carolyn Fraley.

Following the first-team game, a dance will be given from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. Music will be by The Mystics.

MARTIN HAS NEW MAYOR

McGarey Appointed As Roberts Resigns; Kiser Is Also Named

Ex-Mayor John Roberts, of Martin, said here this week that he resigned his office, November 5, only on one condition, and that was that Lloyd McGarey be named his successor.

Mr. McGarey took the oath of office as mayor at the same meeting at which Roberts resigned. Before resigning, Mayor Roberts inducted to office Luther Kiser as a member of the city council. He succeeded Milton Ryan, whose office was declared vacant because of his alleged failure to attend meetings.

Announcing his resignation, Mayor Roberts told the council that he did so because he felt his usefulness as mayor had ended. "You were elected by the people, and I feel you should have matters in your hands," he added.

The council and mayor have been at loggerheads since the election of new councilmen, a year ago.

During Mayor Roberts' term of office a 42-unit low-rent housing complex was completed at a cost of $630,000; a sewer system and sewage disposal plant costing $400,000 were installed, and preliminary work has been done toward getting a second low-rent housing construction program started. This complex would be of 32 units, 20 of which would be especially adapted to occupancy by the aged.

and Mrs. Herman Harmon, of Hueysville; McDowell—Marietta Stumbo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stumbo; Wheelwright—Marsha Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Benedict.

Bands from Prestonsburg, McDowell and Wayland will be parading, adding color to the parade. The baton classes of Mrs. Marguerite Fannin, of Prestonsburg, will also be marching.

Civic organizations sponsoring floats in the parade are: Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club—Santa Claus and Elves; Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce—Queen's Float.

Miss Jan Collins, who is both Miss Snow Queen of 1965 and Miss Floyd County 1966, will be an addition to the parade. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins, of Prestonsburg.

The parade will begin at the grade school and continue through the business district, with Santa Claus greeting the children along the way.

Saturday Afternoon Parade, Miss Snow Queen Coronation To Usher In Yule Season

The Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club will sponsor the annual Christmas Parade, Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and this event will officially open the yule season.

Principal feature of the parade will be the crowning of Miss Snow Queen for 1966. Bands, floats and automobiles will assemble at the Prestonsburg grade school at 1 p.m. for the Snow Queen selection and coronation. Nominees from the various high schools in the county will be competing for the title, and selection of the queen will be at the grade school auditorium prior to the parade.

Nominees and the high school each will represent in the pageant are:

Prestonsburg—Janie Goodman, daughter of Mrs. Garnet Goodman; Martin—Tish Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark; Garrett—Kathy Prater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Feely Prater; Hueysville; Wayland—Janet Harmon, daughter of Mr.

COUNTY NYC ESCAPES CUT

$231,700 for County OK'd Before Shriver's Report Made on Slash

Possible effects of the slash in funds for Community Action programs announced Tuesday by Sargent Shriver were not immediately assessable here, but Douglas H. Morrison, head of the Floyd County Community Action Program office, predicted it will mean no new programs and the funding only of those already under way.

This, Mr. Morrison said, has been known for months, but not till Tuesday did Shriver make the situation public knowledge. Cities have suffered a 30% cut in funds, and the reduction is expected to be no less in rural areas.

Violinist to Give Recital At College, November 29

Edwin Grzesnikowski, resident artist at the University of Kentucky, will present a violin recital next Tuesday in the Commons Room at Prestonsburg Community College. The concert, part of the 1966-67 Community Concert Series, will begin at 8 p.m. and is open to the public without charge. Mr. Grzesnikowski will be accompanied by Ann Huddleston.

The program will consist of selections by Tartini, Grieg, Saint-Saens, Piston, Sarate, and Szymanowski.

A pupil of Jean Bedetti and Eugene Dubois at the University of Miami and William Kroll at Peabody Conservatory, and Oscar Schumsky in New York, Mr. Grzesnikowski was violin soloist of the Air Force Symphony in Washington, D. C. for eight years. He held the post of concertmaster of the National Ballet Orchestra of Washington prior to joining the University of Kentucky faculty in the fall of 1965. He has been active as a soloist and with chamber groups.

Ann Huddleston received both the bachelor of music and master of music degrees from the University of Kentucky, and studied in New York City with Franz Proschowski.

IN PIKEVILLE Mrs. Jessie Housh went to Pikeville, Monday for examination at the clinic. She returned home the same day. Her son, Marshall Davidson, accompanied her there.

Are Kentucky Schools Hiring Top Graduates?—Study Shows They Are

Louisville, Ky. — Kentucky school systems are better able to compete these days for teachers being graduated from the state's public institutions of higher learning, but are they also recruiting the graduates with the top academic records? The answer appears to be yes, according to a survey made by the state's five universities and one college for the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) Committee for the Study of the Foundation Program.

Based on incomplete data relating to the June, 1966, graduating class, the survey showed that for five institutions (no figures were available for Eastern Kentucky University) a greater number of teacher-graduates with point standings in the higher brackets took teaching positions in Kentucky than outside.

ANNUAL TOUR OF HOMES HERE SCHEDULED DEC. 3-4

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club will conduct its second annual Christmas Tour of Homes, December 3 (2-5 p.m.; 7-9 p.m.) and December 4 (2-5 p.m.).

The following homes are on the tour: Garfield Place. Of pre-Civil War construction, this house is filled with antiques. It will be decorated like an old-fashioned Christmas.

Absher home (formerly the Spanish custom, befitting the Harkins Place); decorated in new furnishings of that style. Tea will be served in a dining room that has wrought-iron gates which came from a monastery in Spain.

W.S.C.S. MEETS
Mrs. Virgil Goble was hostess to Circle 2, Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church, at her home on North Lake Drive, November 17. Mrs. Goble, the chairman, presided. The devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Oakie Dorton. Mrs. Lillian Pelphrey gave the treasurer's report. The date chosen for the spiritual retreat, "Day Apart," will be November 29 at West Catlettsburg Methodist Church. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Mrs. Adrian J. Roberts, program chairman, read the 29th Chapter of Matthew. The program which she presented was taken from the November study of Methodist Women with the topic, "Affluence and Poverty—A Christian Dilemma." The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Arnold Compton. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Oakie Dorton, Thomas Hereford, Arnold Workman, Carl Horn, Lillian Pelphrey, Arnold Compton, Virgil Goble, Adrian J. Roberts.

VISIT HERE
Mr. and Mrs. James Spurlock, of Virgie, visited her father, Bill Compton, here last Sunday. Mr. Compton's condition shows some improvement this week.

Thanksgiving . . . and Confessional

WE ARE THANKFUL . . .

For Health and for Life Itself— But we scorn those God-given laws for the preservation of our well-being; eat unwisely, drink ourselves into insensibility and to physical and moral breakdown; drive recklessly, unheeding of the value of our lives and those of others. We care so little for this thing we hold so precious that the mere buckling of a seat-belt is too much for us. And so often we commit these lives for which we say we are so thankful to the trivial and those selfish ends which eliminate the lives of others from the sphere of our concern.

For the Air We Breathe, All Nature About Us, the Forests, Lakes and Streams— Although we befool the air with fumes and atomic fallout; rape the forest, pollute through erosion and industrial wastes the waters that were given us as pure as the Giver is pure.

For Our Material Blessings— Blessings which we seize for our very own and cherish until they become a curse to ourselves and our children, with the basic family unit split and scattered in hot pursuit of all these benefits and their enjoyment.

For Liberty and a Free Land— And yet we make of the great ideal a fetish as we hold it as our own but not for others; as White Supremacy and Black Power battle for privilege to the exclusion of freedom, refusing to recognize that responsibility must go, hand-in-hand, with true liberty.

We are thankful for forgiveness that is great—our sins are so many and great.

“...and may all of them drive home safely.”

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR, The Times: Regarding a supposed news item, written by one who is not yet certified as a member of the Board of Directors regarding the transportation of students to Prestonsburg Community College: Those who are carrying students from this office are doing so on their own time and at the expense of personal mileage allowances due to the failure of OEO to fund transportation for these students already enrolled in the Work-Study Program. This office, as residents of Floyd county know, is always open, and the staff has never failed to act on any community problem or to work with any group who contacts the office or meets with the local or county group to make suggestions. I would appreciate your printing this letter and suggest that those who have complaints voice them to responsible parties at this office and they will be acted upon. DOUGLAS H. MORRISON Asst. Director, Consultant Big Sandy Area Community Action Program

HISTORICAL NOTES By Henry P. Scalf

(Correspondence with this columnist should be addressed to Box 421, Prestonsburg, Ky.) HOPKINS FAMILY Mrs. John W. Woodruff, 10826 Wilkins Ave., Los Angeles, California, 90024, writes about her Hopkins ancestors in Eastern Kentucky. "I notice an article in THE EAST KENTUCKIAN by Mrs. Dayton Royse, 1633 Queenstown Road, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73116. She and I have been working on the family history. She is descended from Hannah Hopkins who married Thomas Lewis and I am descended from her brother, William Hopkins, Sr.,

who married either first or second, a woman whose first name was Peace. Her parents' names are unknown. "Peace signed a deed with her husband, William Hopkins, Sr. in 1812 in Morgan county, Kentucky and I have found no further record of her. He married Elizabeth Brinton in 1815 and had more children. He died in Nicholas county, Kentucky and his will was probated at the spring term of court in 1824. "Some of the family went to Texas, some to Indiana, and elsewhere. The William Hopkins, Jr. in Morgan county died in Davis county, Iowa in 1856 and his wife, Sally, in 1854." JOHNS FAMILY

Jay David Johns. "Jay David Johns, born February 23, 1855, Belvedere, Tennessee, died Blair, Nebraska, March 2, 1935. He married Ida Carrie Peak, June 18, 1881, Blair, Nebraska (my grandfather)." SALYERS FAMILY A letter from Mrs. Henry Brinkdopke, 2749 Norwood Ave., Norwood, Ohio 45212, seeks information on the Salyers (Salzer) family and particularly on Benjamin Salyer. She writes: "I had presumed that Benjamin Salyer and Isabelle Salzer were married in Claiborne county, Tennessee, since their daughter Catherine, my gr. gr. grandmother, was born there but after reading the 1850 Claiborne county census only Catherine and three younger children were born in Tennessee. Benjamin Salyers was born in Kentucky, his wife Iraba ? or Ibbly as she was called, was born in Virginia and three earlier children were born in Kentucky. Benjamin would have been born about 1804 and I know there were many Benjamin Salyers born in Eastern Kentucky. Their oldest child listed on the census was Daniel, 18, although there may have been older children already married so I would presume that Benjamin would have married between 1825 and 1830 in Kentucky."

(Continued from Page 1) from the hub formed by the present building. It was said that the original building, now used for all college purposes, may be converted to library and administration uses. Speaking briefly at the luncheon, Dr. John W. Oswald, president of the University of Kentucky, said the next facility will be ready for occupancy at the fall semester, 1968. The structure will be a science building, with an auditorium. Dr. Oswald told the luncheon gathering that the college here will have to find temporary classrooms and office facilities by next September, and that prefabricated structures will probably be used. "The way enrollments are growing," he commented, "we must take temporary measures while permanent improvements are being made." Dr. Ralph Angelucci, Lexington, chairman of the UK trustees' executive committee, spoke briefly, and other UK representatives were introduced. R. V. May, chairman of the Prestonsburg Community College advisory board, presided at the luncheon. At the executive committee meeting it was announced that the college advisory board here has appointed a subcommittee on technology curricula which will assist in implementing an associate degree program in mining technology and also to help plan a cooperative program in mining engineering.

The subcommittee has one representative from each of the Island Creek Coal Company, the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, Republic Steel and Bethlehem Steel, Island Creek has contributed scholarships valued at $1,400 for students enrolling in the program here. The mining technology program, which also is being initiated at Southeast Community College and Madisonville Community College, is for two years. Dr. Campbell told the committee in his report that the college here has a freshman enrollment of 438, an increase of 16% in the last year, and that sophomores total 168, which represents a one-year increase of 19 per cent. The UK executive committee meeting here was a continuation of the practice of holding such meetings at places represented by community colleges. A major action of the meeting was the naming of Dr. Joseph V. Swintosky as dean of the UK College of Pharmacy. The action, made at the recommendation of Dr. Oswald, ended a two-year search for a dean to replace Dr. Earl P. Slone, who has been associated for much of that time with the University's technical assistance program in Indonesia. The UK representatives and the community college advisory board met first, Thursday morning, at the college here.

"I am particularly interested in additional information about Robert Johns as well as his ancestors of which I have no data except a family story that three Johns brothers came to America together and that one was drowned when the ship they were on ran aground. His given name was supposedly an unusual one. "The following is a little information re the Johns family which possibly may be of interest: "Robert Johns, died 1778. Married Mary Johns. Children were Thomas Johns, born 1742, married Mary Mehone, April 6, 1779; Judith married William Boothe; Mary married John Richardson; Robert married Elizabeth Lyon, April 6, 1779; William died 1777; Jesse; Elizabeth married Nathaniel Booth; Martha; Frances married James McCabe, October 19, 1794; John (my ancestor) marriedONEY Dillard, June 19, 1790, in Amherst county, Virginia, daughter of William Dillard; Nancy married Nathaniel Guthry (Guttry), February 7, 1790; Sally married Duncan Fleming, October 17, 1795; Bartlett. "John Alexander Johns, born 1769, marriedONEY Dillard Johns, born 1772. Children were James D., Lewis H.; Nancy D. married Charles Tyler, December 2, 1813; John Samuel Johns; unknown son. "John Samuel Johns, born May, 1801, Amherst county, died 1858, Tracy City, Tennessee. Married Caroline Matilda Tinsley, December 22, 1824, born 1810, Amherst county, died 1886, Craig, Nebraska. Cummings; unknown infant son.

NEW OWNERS BEGIN OPERATION OF TOWN

Operation of the town of Wheelwright under its new ownership began last Tuesday, the 15th day of the month, which was a natural transfer date for the sale of buildings for rentals, utilities and other services. The story of the financing of the purchase of the entire town, one of the nation's finest mining communities, is told in a feature written by Kyle Vance and published in The Courier-Journal. It follows: Foresight more than finances was used by four men to gain ownership of this model coal mining community, a property appraised at a minimum of $2.2 million. The true value might be double the minimum or even more, depending on the success of selling the town back to the people who live in it. Burl Spurlock, John Allen and Joe Weddington, of Prestonsburg, and J. C. Wells, of Wayland, decline to talk about details of their personal investment, but one informed source said a total of $500 was used initially for organization of Mountain Investment, Inc., the company they formed. The four reportedly claim that additional funds were expended in the process of closing the purchase deal with Island Creek Coal Company. The major task, however, was to find an investor willing to put up $375,000, the down payment in the $1.3 million transaction. This was done with seeming ease. A financial syndicate headed by Frank Arnall and Gordon Brown, Jacksonville, Fla., took a look at Wheelwright, liked what it saw, and advanced the money. Arnall, a brother of former Gov. Ellis Arnall, of Georgia, confirmed in Jacksonville that his organization willingly applied the entire $375,000 after an appraisal showed the town and its buildings to be worth at least $2,200,000. Arnall said he and his partners became convinced that Island Creek's $1.3 million asking price for the town was fair, promising a reasonable profit to the investors through the sale of business and residential buildings to occupants. The four local owners of Wheelwright will be able to cash in on their investment only after certain other conditions are met. The $1.3 million selling price of Island Creek actually is a minimum. The coal company will also receive 35% of the return above $1.5 million. This amount, whatever the total, will be added to the true buying price paid by Mountain Investment and the Florida investors. The investors will be repaid their $375,000 after the 1.3 million minimum buying price is paid. Profits will be determined on the basis of the excess over $1.3 million, plus 35% of all over $1.5 million. The investors will receive 35% of the excess, leaving the corporation — the four men who reportedly started with $500 — to share as they see fit 65% of the profits. Not even those closely connected with the arrangement feel that they can project the eventual profits. All feel that the return will be substantial. How the four were able to buy a town of 1,500 with 408 residential buildings, a modern, brick-built downtown section, including stores, hotel, laundry, city hall and all the trimmings, these including gas, water and electric systems, and recreational facilities, is another story. It can not be fully told here, only that the four became intrigued at the prospect. Island Creek was advertising the property for sale and possible buyers came in from many places. George E. Evans, Jr., president of the Evans-Elkhorn division of Island Creek, said the prospects came from New York to Florida and other points, most of them reputable investors with reasonable offers. Evans said he was swayed by the interest of an organization which was strictly local, one which he felt would not come in for a quick profit and sudden exit. He knew personally, he said, the men with whom he was dealing. Wells is a neighbor in Wayland. Now that the deal has been completed, the new owners of Wheelwright possess not only a real, functioning town, but also a bundle of problems dealing with continued functioning until it can be put on a basis of independent operation, like that of any other town.

Their objective is to liquidate entirely the property, giving the town itself a chance to buy, through issuance of revenue bonds, the utilities and recreation facilities. Occupants of the homes will be given opportunities to buy either their own home or another of their choosing. Rentals will be continued for all who do not want to buy immediately. Eventually, however, all will be required to buy if they stay. "No pressure will be brought against anybody," Spurlock said. "However, if the occupant of one house wants to buy the home occupied by somebody else, he can do so if the other occupant doesn't want to buy." It is hoped, Spurlock said, that all residents will recognize the advantage of owning instead of renting. In almost all cases, the occupant will be able to pay for his home as cheaply as he is renting, he said. He pointed to other company-owned towns in the coal country where the companies have permitted occupants to buy their homes with the result that "good towns have become better" through the "pride of ownership." The people of Wheelwright are mixed in their feelings about buying, mostly because the proposition is new and they haven't had time to think out the prospects. Mrs. Otis Mullins, the wife of an Island Creek employe, summed up the thinking of most. "I don't believe the women are too much for buying right now," she said. "We talked about it at a club meeting the other night." "I don't know about the men. My husband says we have to live where we work. If it comes down to buying or getting out, we will buy." The Mullins house rents for $46 a month. Others in the vicinity rent for a little more or a little less, depending on a number of circumstances.

(Continued from Page 1) On Jan. 22, 1964 judgment was entered pursuant to a Court of Appeals mandate directing that $11,079.25 be recovered. This amount was divided among the four defendants, as follows: Dewey Roberts, $1,169; Henry Stumbo, $3,046; Mrs. Tribby May, widow of John May, $3,289.25; Glenn Burchett, $3,595. Each paid the judgment against him, except for the May estate, the suit alleges. On Jan. 6 last year, the Floyd circuit court entered judgment against Huff. The plaintiffs in the new suit claim that on Oct. 10, 1963 John D. and Lillie Mae Huff executed a deed conveying their Wilson Creek property to Ellis Ratliff. They claim this was done for the purpose of hindering and delaying collection of the judgment against Huff. Then, the suit adds, on Nov. 15, 1965 Ratliff and his wife Virgie executed to the Huffs, husband and wife, and the other members of the family a deed to the same real estate. The suit asks that both deeds be set aside, that a judgment issue for $3,289.25, plus interest, and that a lien be granted against the Huffs' land to secure payment, this subject to a prior mortgage held by Floyd Federal. In another suit of the week Bette Swindall, of Louisville, seeks to recover from Ed Music $10,000 damages for injuries she claims she suffered at the Sky Lift at Jenny Wiley State Park this year.

(Continued from Page 1) Farley contends his contract with the Pike County Board of Education is for four years and that it will not expire until June 30, 1969. His opponents, however, cite the ruling in the Heman McGuire case in Carter county in which a court decision held that McGuire could not be given a contract running beyond the terms of board members who hired him. This would place expiration of his contract in two years. Farley argues that his contract with the board is inviolable and that validity of such pacts has been upheld in all 50 of the states. There remains the possibility that the board will attempt to fire him or "buy up" his contract. "They can't fire me without cause, and there is none," the superintendent declares. Commenting on the possibility of the board buying his contract, he commented, "I have no intention of bartering my services . . ." Subscribe for The Times. MARTIN — The Kiwanis Club of Martin bought American flags for the entire business section of Martin and every national holiday they are displayed the length of Main street. The Boy Scouts of Martin and their leaders help with the display of flags and help put them up and also help take care of them. We wish to take this means to salute the Kiwanis Club and the Boy Scouts for their community spirit.

Shawn Woodward Combs, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Combs, of Langley, was baptized Sunday, Nov. 20, at St. Juliana Church by the pastor, Rev. Leo Frankrone, and the entire group of people at Mass joined in. In the afternoon the people were invited to drop by the Combs home for tea in celebration of the occasion. Friends who called were the Rev. Leo Frankrone, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Crowley, of Prestonsburg, Sophia Cahill and daughter, Rita Lee, of Drift, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brashear, of Manton, Mrs. Harry Preatish and children, Sharon Gayle, Teresa Louise, Susan Elaine, Dr. John J. Sherman, Dr. Frances R. Sherman, Betty Preatish and Mary Elizabeth Preatish.

All the children present received a special blessing of the church bestowed upon them by their pastor, Rev. Frankrone. Sister Frances Grace and Sister Loretta Joseph, teachers of the Combs and the Preatish children, also attended the tea.

W. F. Clark, Age 79, Dies Last Thursday, After Long Illness

W. F. Clark, 79 years old, well-known Harold man, died last Thursday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, following a long illness.

Mr. Clark was active in county politics. A Republican, he was twice a candidate for county office—first for jailer, and later for county court clerk.

The son of the late Kenis and Mary Frasure Clark, he was the husband of Mrs. Lillie Martin Clark, who survives.

Survivors, other than his widow, are two sons, Willie F. Clark, Jr., of Prestonsburg, Orville Clark, of Louisville; two daughters, Mrs. Burnis Martin, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Earl P. Martin, of Martin; two sisters, Mrs. Judy Hall, Prestonsburg, Mrs. Minnie Spencer, New London, Ohio.

He also leaves 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at 11 a.m. from the Sammy Clark Branch Church, the Rev. Carl Senters officiating. Burial was made in the Clark cemetery at Honaker, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

CARD OF THANKS

The Coleman family wishes to thank all the neighbors and friends for their sympathy, flowers, food and kindness, also Hall Brothers Funeral Home, in the death of Phillip R. Coleman.

THE COLEMAN FAMILY

Benton Smith, of Dwale, Dies at Hospital Here; Funeral Is Held Today

Benton Smith, 89 years old, of Dwale, passed away Monday at the Prestonsburg General hospital. He had been in failing health for some time.

A native of Knott county and a former resident of the Abbott Creek section of this county, he was the son of the late Jordan and Mary Combs Smith. His wife, Mrs. Lizzie Conley, also preceded him in death.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Dora Nelson, of Dwale, and Mrs. Bessie Cooley, of Estill; two step-daughters, Rosie Skeans, of Hunter, Ruyie Day, Independence, Mo.; two step-sons, Cicie Conley, Columbus, O., and Ernest Conley, of Bonanza, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Francis, Mrs. Barbara Combs and Mrs. Mitilda Mullins, all of Vicco, Kentucky.

Funeral services were conducted today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. from the chapel of the Floyd Funeral Home, the Rev. Howard Church officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery here.

"I wasn't dancing with you," he explained, "I was just trying to get past you to the soft-drink machine."

Me dance? I call on my left foot to bear witness—it can never recall the time when it knew what my right was doing or even about to do. The stately minuet, which was more my speed, went out before I arrived, and the twist, which seems to require no more rhythm than I and my two left feet are endowed with, came along after the old back began to fold merely under the strain of watching this topsychorean hula-baloov via television.

I sadly and truthfully report that in this matter of tripping the light fantastic I am much in the same fix the fellow was in who couldn't go swimming with the gang because he had a hole in the knee of his bathing suit.

ANOTHER DOG STORY

Remember the story printed here about the mixup "Dootney" Horn and Frank DeRossett had about ownership of a certain dog? This story has a familiar ring.

When he answered the door-bell, the man was greeted by an old friend who was accompanied by a rather large dog. "Come in! Come in!" he said.

His friend entered—so did the dog. While the old friends sat talking, the dog sent a cat scating for cover, knocked over a lamp and a couple of vases during the chase, and finally made himself comfortable in the best chair in the room.

When the visitor arose to leave, his host said, with just a slight touch of sarcasm in his voice, "Aren't you forgetting your nice dog?"

"Dog? I don't have a dog. I thought he was yours."

structural steel will be utilized.

"The plant's coal handling facilities will be expanded because of the tremendous increase in the use of coal," Mr. Baker said. He pointed out that the present unit (No. 1) uses over 4-million tons of coal per year and that Unit 2 will use over 2 million tons annually, all from Eastern Kentucky.

Preliminary railroad track work is under way by the contractor, Deppen, Inc. The former fly ash area is being covered with dirt and will serve as a storage area for construction material, prior to its eventual use as the new coal storage area. Fly ash from Unit 1 is being stored in a new ash disposal area located across U.S. 23 from the plant site.

Foster Wheeler Corporation will furnish and erect the unit's boiler, which will be as high as a 20-story building and capable of delivering over 5-million pounds of high pressure steam per hour to spin the unit's turbine. The turbine generator will be manufactured and installed by General Electric Company.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank Rev. James Burge, the members of the Wayland Methodist Church choir, Brother L. B. Price, Mark Rice, and all those who by their presence, flowers, cards, or acts of kindness have shown so much thoughtfulness and sympathy to me in the passing of my mother, Mrs. Blanche C. Thomas. I also wish to express my appreciation to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Oscar J. Webb, 81, Succumbs Wednesday At Pikeville Hospital

An illness of less than a day claimed the life Wednesday morning at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, of Oscar J. Webb, well-known Hueysville man. He was stricken ill at his home, late Tuesday afternoon.

One of the 12 children of the late S. B. and Arminia Allen Webb, he operated a farm near Hueysville, and until his retirement a few years ago had been a merchant at Hueysville and Lackey for more than 50 years. Mr. Webb was a member of the Methodist Church and of J. W. Alley Masonic Lodge at Wayland. His death followed by little more than two weeks that of a sister, Mrs. Virginia Webb Allen, also of Hueysville.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Sallie Gearheart Webb; two daughters, Mrs. Herman Harmon, of Hueysville, and Mrs. Church Nunley, of Frankfort; a brother, Jack Webb, of Lexington, and five sisters, Mrs. Pearl Wicker, of Estill, Mrs. Mary Martin, of Wayland, Mrs. Marie Smith, of Hindman, Mrs. Jo Webb Martin and Mrs. Byrd Wicker, both of Lackey.

Funeral arrangements were not complete Wednesday morning, it was said at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

500 CHILDREN GUESTS

Charles Curry, principal of the John M. Stumbo elementary school, announced Wednesday that the pupils of his school were guests that day—all 550 of them—to a turkey dinner served at the school.

William Terry, 82, Is Claimed Monday At Martin Hospital

William Terry, 82 years old, retired Lackey merchant, succumbed Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, to an extended illness.

A lifelong resident of the Lackey area, Mr. Terry operated the first grocery business in that section. He was a member of the Caney Fork Regular Baptist Church at Raven.

He was born at Raven, the son of the late Isaac and Mellie Martin Terry. His wife, Mrs. Minnie Turner Terry, survives.

Surviving, besides his widow, are four sons, Kermit Terry, of Ashland, William Terry, Jr., Granville, Ohio, James Terry, Dayton, Ohio, and Thomas E. Terry, of San Antonio, Texas.

The funeral was held Wednesday at the Caney Fork Regular Baptist Church, the Revs. Burton Howard, Troy Nickles and Coy Combs officiating. Burial was made in the Turner cemetery at Dema, the Merion Funeral Chapel directing.

AIR FORCE SERGEANT CITED—Master Sergeant Martin B. Burchett, Non-commissioned Officer in Charge of the NOTS Air Force Liaison Office with duties in the Free Fall Weapons Program, was recently awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal by Maj. Ronald E. Jensen, AF Liaison Officer. The citation was awarded for his tenure as NCOIC of a munitions storage area in Thailand. The citation read in part: "Through very close coordination with local Royal Thai Air Force Officials, Sergeant Burchett obtained partial use of an already constructed storage area. Prior to this time there was no area available for USAF purposes and, through his outstanding knowledge of munitions and unrelenting leadership, was able to establish a safe, efficient, and commendable storage area with the minimum of delay." He was credited with operating the safest storage activity in South-East Asia. Sgt. Burchett resides on the Station with his wife and son. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Belvard Burchett, of Emma.

Alice Lloyd College Receives Sears Grant

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Alice Lloyd College has been named the recipient of a $500 grant from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation of Chicago, Illinois. The gift was announced November 7 by Ray Roe, store manager for Sears' store at Ashland.

The grant is part of a total of $1 million being distributed by the foundation this month to more than 600 colleges and universities from coast to coast.

Alice Lloyd officials said the grant was unrestricted and would be applied against the college 1966-'67 budget of $619,000.

Forest Fire Laws BY OLIVER HALL Kentucky Division of Forestry

From October 1 until December 15 and from March 1 until May 15 it is illegal to burn any open fires within 150 feet of any woodland. If burning is done more than 150 feet from the woodland but is capable of spreading to the woodland through grass or other flammable material, it is still a violation of the Kentucky forest fire laws. If burning must be done, it is permissible between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and 12:00 midnight, providing all reasonable precautions are taken. Reasonable precautions shall consist of cutting and piling flammable material and clearing around the flammable material to prevent spread of fire to the woodland. The fire must be extinguished at 12 midnight.

Setting of fires to capture any wildlife is prohibited by law. This statute includes the smoking of squirrels or other animals out of hollow trees, hollow stumps, or holes in the ground.

Violators, when convicted, are subject to both fines and imprisonment. Violators are also responsible for the cost of putting out the fire.

Division of Forestry employees will be patrolling the area to apprehend violators. Citations will be issued to individuals violating the forest fire laws.

For any further information, contact the Division of Forestry District Office at Prestonsburg.

Kentucky Department of Public Safety

CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at the office of the Mayor, at the Municipal Building in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, until 7:30 p.m., Thursday, December 1, 1966, at which time, in the Council Meeting Room at such Municipal Building, bids will be publicly opened and read aloud, for furnishing labor and materials and performing all work, as set forth by this advertisement for bids.

The equipment to be furnished is as follows:

1. Hydraulic refuse packer of 18-cubic yard capacity rear or side loader.

2. 1967 model heavy-duty chassis for such packer body, adequate in strength, G.V.W. 19,500 pounds.

The bids must comply with specifications approved by the City Council, copies of which specifications may be obtained from the office of the City Clerk, in the Municipal Building at Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

All persons or companies bidding shall bid separately on the refuse packer and chassis, and may also bid on same as a complete unit. Bids received after the scheduled closing time for reception of bids will be returned unopened to the bidder. Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond payable to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky in an amount not less than 5% of the base bid. In event an award is made and the successful bidder fails to execute a contract for performance of the work under the award, then the bid bond shall be forfeited as liquidated damages for such failure.

Bids and bid bonds shall be in a sealed envelope bearing the bidder's identification, addressed to the City of Prestonsburg, labeled in the lower left-hand corner:

"Proposal. 1. Hydraulic refuse packer body. 2. 1967 model heavy-duty chassis for refuse packer body."

The City of Prestonsburg reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which bids shall not be withdrawn for 45 days subsequent to the opening of bids, without consent of the City of Prestonsburg.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Magic, External Remedies, Internal Remedies

Folk remedies are easily divided into three main types: magic, something to swallow, or something to rub on. There are a good many remedies that employ two or all three of these. The very practical people of the Mammoth Cave region, whom I have studied so long and with such pleasure, had remedies that were largely practical, though a few bits of magic were known. In SOUTHERN FOLKLORE QUARTERLY for June, 1966, I have an article about the relatively few magic practices that I have found in my study area. Most of these, I must confess, were given as bits of fun, so that I am not sure how seriously any of them were taken, especially by people now under fifty.

Magic: carrying in the pocket a buckeye, which is almost world-wide in its use; carrying an acorn to prevent rheumatism; wishing a sty on the next fellow to come by, especially at a crossroad; rubbing a stolen dishrag on a wart then burying the dishrag where it won't be dug up (formerly the best place was an ashhopper); cutting a notch on a growing twig for each wart, with the assurance that the warts will disappear when the bark has again grown over the notched places. These are mere samples, practically all of them found all over our cultural area, that is, places settled by people from Virginia and the Carolinas.

"Swallow it." — A great many remedies took the form of tea, or bitters, or cordials. Practically every plant was endowed by nature with curative powers, provided you used good horse sense in gathering it at the right time and processing it according to the folk tradition. Bark, for example, must be peeled down or up according to its planned use; that is, for a medicine made from bark to be effective, it must be peeled down when the medicine is to be used to prevent or cure diseases in the lower part of the body; and it must be peeled up when it is to do well for diseases of the chest, neck, and head. Peachtree bark, slippery elm bark, sassafras bark—why name the whole woods plants. You name it, and I can tell you what virtues each one has. And the reason I know is that more than 100 different people have told me one or many remedies. But there are other things to swallow besides teas and other liquids derived from plants; take soda, for example, and coal-oil, and salt, and pure white sand (for stomach troubles). And don't forget buckshot, the best possible remedy for boils; one each day for nine days.

"Rub it on."—Liniments and teas and just plain leaves, properly bruised or gathered in the right time of the moon, are even more efficacious than internal treatments, I am told. Jimson, plantain, snakeroot, yarrow—and just start with a and run to z with your remedies—plants, animal tissues, and minerals. If you have mutton tallow as a base, you can combine with that almost anything and have a salve that will do its stuff regularly and unfailingly. If you have some corn whiskey, add all sorts of stuff and have at your disposal a never-failing source of health, especially skin health. My favorite rub-on remedy is stump water, a time-honored cure for skin troubles: pimples, freckles, chapping, sunburn, and all the rest. For gentlemen I would recommend grape sap for beard, a good, long, glossy beard; for both sexes this same possum-grape sap will give you a fine head of hair. And May dew or rain-water will insure pretty hair and also keep down any insects that might take refuge on your head. Poultices of many kinds were formerly used, ranging from the very strong Spanish blister plaster to heated meal or cooked onions. Evidently these remedies had some good qualities, for the number of people past seventy who have told me about them seem still strong and able to meet life.

11 COUNTIES IN PROGRAM

Department To Match Number of Seedlings Bought by Farmers

Frankfort, Ky.—A "matching-seedling" program to accelerate planting of pine trees in 11 Eastern Kentucky counties has been initiated by the Natural Resources Department.

The program gives landowners an equal number of free seedlings for those they purchase, says Commissioner J. O. Matlick.

The program is sponsored by the Department's forestry division, the Agricultural Stabilization Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the University of Kentucky Extension Service and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Participating counties are Bath, Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Lawrence, Fleming, Greenup, Lewis, Menifee, Morgan and Rowan. Matlick said additional counties may be added to the program. The paper company will pay for the free seedlings.

"We're trying to enable landowners to plant pine seedlings on idle farmland, cutover woodland or existing forest property at a very small cost," Matlick said.

State Forestry Director Gene L. Butcher said landowners will be allowed to substitute hardwood seedlings for pine seedlings in cases where the land is more suitable for hardwoods.

State Police Head Cites Major Errors By Winter Drivers

Frankfort, Ky.—The director of Kentucky State Police, Colonel James E. Bassett, says failure to adjust to winter, impatience and lack of foresight are the major driver-errors causing accidents and traffic tie-ups during bad weather.

He offers these tips to help drivers sharpen winter driving skills:

Check weather reports. When a storm is brewing, give yourself more time to reach destination. Slow down on slippery streets.

Allow considerably more distance between cars in traffic on slick roads.

Plan every maneuver on snow or ice well in advance. Accelerate, steer, and stop smoothly. Pump brakes when stopping to maintain both steering and stopping control.

Get the feel of the road. Know just how slippery that surface really is.

Equip your car with snow tires and use reinforced tire chains for severe conditions.

Keep all windows clear—inside and out.

If you haven't given your car that winter tune-up, or if defects in equipment gave you trouble during the last snow storm, correct them immediately.

ATTEND FAMILY LIFE SEMINAR

An area family life workshop was held at the Community Methodist Church October 13. Among those attending from this county were Miss Alice Harris, Robert Allen, Hugo Miller, Mrs. Margaret Ackerman, Rev. and Mrs. Barclay Walker, Mrs. Sonja Allen, Mrs. H. D. Hewlett, Mrs. Carl R. Horn, Mrs. Isabell Reed, Mrs. Joe Arnett, Roberta Crum, Mrs. Dorothy Crum, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Daley, Mrs. Grace Derossett, Virginia Hopkins and Frances Pitts. These people represented churches, homemakers, the school system, hospital and community action groups. Plans are being made for another meeting next year.

The Full Facts About Savings

There has been so much talk about Savings, Certificates of Deposit, Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates and Investment Certificates . . . that the general public appears to be somewhat confused. This advertisement, published in the public interest, states the full facts about savings in the hope that it will answer any questions which may have existed in your mind.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone should have a bank savings account. Savings are essential to meet emergencies and to provide individuals and families with immediate funds when they are wanted. It is more convenient to keep your savings where you can also have your checking account, obtain all kinds of loans and have available the wide range of facilities of a full service bank. It is easier to save by making regular deposits or by having a certain amount automatically transferred from your checking to your savings account. The deposits of each customer of an insured bank are protected up to $15,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. This amount can be increased, however, by maintaining multiple accounts. Thus, a husband and wife can insure up to $45,000 and a husband, wife and child, up to $105,000.

A bank savings account is there when you need it and offers maximum flexibility with a fair return of interest. How do these accounts work in various banks?

Rate of Interest: Banks are permitted by regulation to pay a maximum interest rate of 4% per annum. Some banks pay 2½%; some, 3%; some, 3½%; some 4%. The Bank Josephine pays 4%.

Method of Computation: Some banks pay interest on the lowest balance during the interest period. (You do not get interest on funds deposited all during the interest period, and any withdrawal eliminates all interest for the period on those funds withdrawn.) Some banks pay interest from day of deposit if the funds stay in your account until the end of that period or in some cases the following period. (Any withdrawals made eliminates all interest for the period on those funds withdrawn.)

Interest is computed by The Bank Josephine for each month on the highest continuous balance. Withdrawals from your account eliminates interest only for the month on those funds withdrawn. The Bank Josephine's Automatic Savings service enables customers to transfer funds regularly from their checking accounts . . . and they get interest on their savings from date of transfer.

Grace Period: Under banking regulations a grace period of 10 days or less is permitted at the beginning of the interest period during which deposits made draw interest from the first of that month. All deposits made to your Bank Josephine savings account on or before the 10th of the month earn interest from the 1st . . . this month and every month.

Interval of Payment: Some banks pay interest semi-annually, some quarterly, some monthly. The Bank Josephine pays interest semi-annually, and is automatically credited to your account on June 1 and December 1. If you need your interest for living expenses, you can go to the bank and get it. If you want to close your account, you don't have to wait 6 months or 3 months but can close it at the end of any month without losing any interest you are due.

Compounding: Normally interest is compounded at the same interval at which it is paid. This means that you start getting interest on the interest that has been paid to date. Thus, your Bank Josephine savings account earns interest at 4% compounded semi-annually.

Bank Josephine Savings Account: Our accounts earn interest at a 4% rate, the highest rate allowed by law, and is automatically credited on June 1 and December 1. We sincerely believe The Bank Josephine's is as good as any savings account plan offered by any bank anywhere. We invite comparison. If you have any questions on your Bank Josephine account or your savings program at any other institution, stop in at The Bank Josephine's main office in Prestonsburg or our branch in Allen and let us discuss your savings needs.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT

Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates, Investment Certificates . . . no matter what a bank calls them . . . are for all practical purposes Certificates of Deposit, or C-D's, as they are commonly called. They are deposits and, therefore, each depositor is insured up to $15,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Despite the fact that at times C-D's earn a higher rate of interest than savings accounts, unless you have sizeable funds to invest or unless you are certain that you won't need to withdraw your funds for a fixed period of time, you have more flexibility and, therefore, are better off with a bank savings account. How do C-D's work and what is offered by various banks?

Time Period: The customer purchasing C-D's agrees to leave his funds on deposit . . . not less than 30 days, more often 90 days or more. By regulation, C-D's can be cashed prior to maturity only in the event of real emergency. In such event, all accrued interest for up to 90 days must be forfeited. It is a violation of Federal Regulations by the bank and the customer if C-D's are redeemed prior to maturity without true emergency. Unless C-D's are automatically renewable, interest stops accruing at maturity and the customer has 10 days to renew his C-D without loss of interest.

Rate of Interest: Under regulations, a maximum rate of interest of 5½% is permissible on C-D's. However, the first responsibility of a bank is to be sound by providing safety and liquidity to protect its depositors; in determining the interest rate which a bank can afford to pay, soundness must be controlling as well as regulations. Rates on C-D's are usually negotiated between the bank and the customer and as a general rule the longer the customer agrees to leave his money on deposit the higher the rate of interest.

C-D Rate Fluctuation: C-D interest rates are subject to more frequent fluctuation than those of savings accounts. Of necessity, C-D rates fluctuate with the economy. In addition, one bank may have a greater demand for loans from time to time than another; therefore, the interest rates which they are able to pay on C-D's vary rather frequently between banks themselves.

Various Plans Offered: Banks in the nation, including some of those in Kentucky, offer C-D's calling them Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates, Investment Certificates. Various rates are specified . . . 4%, 4.25%, 4.50, 4.75, 4.80, 5%. Some of these guarantee a rate if held a year or more, with no interest if cashed earlier. Some can be cashed at the end of each 90-day period without loss of interest. Some require 90-day written notice by the customer to the bank. Some have definite maturity. Some are automatically renewable. Some of these plans are excellent although any pre-planned package has limitations and does not necessarily fit every investment situation. The only way to make certain that a C-D fits your particular investment needs is to examine the C-D instrument itself and to determine its features and its drawbacks. Any Bank Josephine officer will be pleased to review and explain any C-D you hold or any plan you are considering.

Bank Josephine Certificate of Deposit: The Bank Josephine has many profitable plans from which to choose. We feel that the investment of sizeable funds by our customers is important enough for personal attention. Our emphasis is on investment needs of the individual and we can tailor Certificates of Deposit to meet these needs. Yes, The Bank Josephine offers C-D's from 30 days out to several months, and most provide an automatic renewal provision. Yes, they can provide monthly, quarterly or semi-annual income or be on a growth basis with interest deferred to maturity. Yes, The Bank Josephine is generally competitive with other banks. If you have funds to invest in C-D's, stop in at The Bank Josephine's main office in Prestonsburg or our branch in Allen and let us discuss your individual investment needs.

YOU have Good Neighbor banking friends at The Bank Josephine to give you straight facts and figures on all savings plans that might suit your needs—and there is no obligation!

STATE SCHOOLS TO GET $3 MILLION LESS, REPORT

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky schools are expected to receive $3 million less in federal aid for economically and educationally deprived children than they did last fiscal year.

The largest cut apparently will be in the Louisville and Jefferson county systems. State education officials estimate they may lose $260,000.

At least five school systems in Eastern Kentucky may get more federal aid under Title 1 than in 1965.

They include Breathitt, Knox, Magoffin, Owsley and Wolfe counties.

Hall Kinney, assistant coordinator of Title 1 funds, said the list could grow to as many as 10 when Congress makes a final allocation.

State schools received about $28.5 million from Washington last year for special educational purposes. Officials anticipate $25.8 million this year.

Title 1 of a federal act provides money according to a formula based on the number of children in a district who come from families with an income of less than $2,000 a year.

Money for economically deprived children is used for breakfasts and lunches and for medical and dental care.

Money for educationally deprived children has been used in Kentucky mainly for remedial and developmental reading classes.

Kinney said much of last year's aid was used to buy equipment. He said the federal government may feel fewer funds are needed because staff services now are the main expense for special education.

"There is no question that the Vietnam war has also had some effect in cutting aid," he said.

State school officials were advised months ago that there might be a 15 percent cut in Title 1 funds this year.

But Congress authorized expenditures equal to 1965 levels. Then in the closing days of the past session it approved a bill slicing the school aid money.

Kinney said the exact amounts each district will receive won't be known until Congress reconvenes in January and makes the appropriations.

The 190 or more districts which will lose some special aid will decide where to institute the cuts.

A reduction in special teachers or in summer remedial programs are the paths many districts may choose to stay within their tighter new budgets.

Travel on Kentucky's highway system increased 6.9 percent in July, 1966, over July, 1965, according to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION RE-ELECTS FLOYD COUNTIAN

During the Kentucky Library Association convention at Lexington, November 10-12, Homer Lee Hall was reelected chairman of the Public Library Section of the Association. Mr. Hall, a native of McDowell, is Eastern Regional Librarian, with his headquarters at the Floyd County Library here.

"Think of the public library as the People's University," advised Dr. Lawrence Allen, head of the University of Kentucky's Library Science School, in a convention address to public librarians and Friends of Kentucky Libraries.

Presiding at the three-day convention was Kentucky Library Association President Sherwood Kirk, a native of Catlettsburg, who is assistant state librarian of the Kentucky Department of Libraries. The overall theme for the meetings was "Library Services: The Total Program."

Highlights of the conference, attended by 740 special, college, school and public librarians from all over the state, included addresses by Billy C. Clark, Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, the address by Dr. Allen, and a panel discussion on the topic, "Evaluating the Power of the Library in Schools." Billy C. Clark, Kentucky author originally from Catlettsburg, discussed the evolution of his most recently published book, THE CHAMPION OF SOURWOOD MOUNTAIN. The novel, which was chosen as a Book of the Month Selection, will be the basis for a forthcoming movie produced by Walt Disney Enterprises.

Among those recognized for their services on behalf of public libraries in Kentucky were: Mrs. Frances Adams, of Louisville, treasurer of the Library Board, Lawrence county; John Breckinridge, former attorney-general, of Lexington, who headed the fund drive for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library recently opened in West Liberty; Gus (Jay) Legeay, of Paducah, long-time supporter of better public library service for the state and presently chairman of the Paducah Area Public Library Board; C. E. Rowe, chairman of the Meade County Library Board, who assisted the library in securing a $10,000 grant from the Olin Charitable Trust in developing the public library; G. Larry Tucker, chairman of the Cynthiana Library Board; Mayor Tom Wilson, of Paducah, for his efforts on behalf of the library; Leo T. Wolford, member of the Louisville

Free Public Library Board.

Awards to Librarians outstanding in the four fields of special, college, school and public librarianship were also announced during the convention.

Kentucky's college librarian of the year is Miss Elizabeth Gilbert. Miss Gilbert is currently the director of the Berea College Library.

Special librarian of the year in Kentucky is Miss Madge Davis, who is head of the American Standard Research Library in Louisville.

Miss Ruby Trower, supervisor of the Lexington City School Libraries, was named Kentucky's school librarian of the year.

New officers of Friends of Kentucky Libraries are:

President, Mrs. Garnett Bale, of Elizabethtown; first vice-president, Oldham Clark; second vice-president, Mrs. Gwen Davenport; secretary, Mrs. Russell Houston, Jr.; Miss Marjorie Smith, Publicity Secretary; Allen Gage, new member of the Executive committee, all of Louisville, and ex-officio member of Friends of Kentucky Libraries, Miss Regina Senter, of Murray, the incoming president of the Kentucky Library Association.

Kentucky Library Association Presidential citations were awarded by Mr. Kirk to Miss Ann Herron, head of the reference department of the Murray State University Library; Miss Jean Wiggins, head of the circulation division of the Murray University Library, and to Miss Marian C. Martin, school librarian at Manchester, Clay county.

Mrs. Martin was specifically lauded for her work in establishing the Kentucky Library Association quarterly bulletin. Miss Wiggins is the current editor of the publication.

At the conclusion of the three-day convention, out-going President Sherwood Kirk turned his gavel and duties over to Miss Regina Senter, new president of the Association. Miss Senter, head of Murray State University's Library Science Department, is a native and former school librarian of Pike county.

"AN INFINITE VARIETY . . ."

Kentucky weather and its changing seasons have been described as having an infinite variety which never suffers the pall of monotony. Spring, summer, autumn, winter—the procession marches past.

But this interesting variety of weather makes its demands. Strong, well-built homes, for instance. This is no land of perennial summer, or winter, or in-between. One's home must withstand the heat and cold, rain and snow and freeze as well as bask in springtime breeze and autumn sun.

Build well. Let us help you with the job.

Louisville Man Named Chairman in Kentucky Of '67 March of Dimes

Todd Brady, of Louisville, has been appointed Kentucky chairman of the 1967 March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the voluntary health organization, announced last week in New York.

Mr. Brady will direct the enlistment and the work of thousands of March of Dimes volunteers throughout the state during the traditional campaign in January to raise funds to combat birth defects and to further research in this area.

"It's time to get rid of the idea that birth defects strike only at 'other people' and other people's children," Brady said. "A birth defect can hit any family, rich or poor, any race, any nationality."

How To Understand The Church Today!

Many sincere people profess to be confused.

They've seen the traditional liturgy of the Mass substantially changed. They see the Catholic Church and other Christian bodies . . . long divided on doctrinal grounds . . . talking and working and praying together for spiritual unity. They see radical changes in the traditional garb of priests and nuns . . . and hear talk of a common Bible for Catholics and Protestants alike.

They fear that these, and other possible changes, mark a revolutionary departure from the original faith entrusted to the Church by our Lord Himself.

Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth. For no change proposed, contemplated or approved represents any deviation in the essentials of the Faith.

You can prove this by writing for a copy of our free pocket-size pamphlet entitled: "To Understanding The Church Today." It covers such topics as What Is An Ecumenical Council?, The Ecumenical Movement, The Role of the Lay Person in The Church, and The Catholic Liturgy.

will help you better to understand the discussions and decisions of the Vatican Council. It will explain the spirit of love and understanding which marks the ecumenical movement on the part of both Catholic and other Christian church bodies.

Even more important to your personal religious life, it will explain how your role as a disciple of our Lord is magnified and sanctified by increased participation in the work and worship of Christ's Church.

Changes in the liturgy of the Mass do indeed represent a marked departure in the form long familiar to Catholics of our time. But you will learn from this interesting pamphlet that the changes are only in form—not in essence—that the Mass may seem different in some ways as a ceremony, but not at all in its essential nature as a divine sacrifice.

Whether you are a Catholic or not, you will find real spiritual value in this clear-cut explanation of the Church as it is today. And like other Christians who are striving in good-will toward unity of faith, you too may find a way to help make the great Christian goal of ecumenism a reality.

Write today . . . ask for Pamphlet KC-23. We'll send it free and without obligation. And nobody will call on you.

South Carolina Group Studies State's Parks As One of Best in U.S.

Frankfort, Ky.—At the request of South Carolina Governor Robert E. McNair, a 17-member delegate from his state has been studying Kentucky's State Park system.

Following the Kentucky Governors Conference at Kentucky Dam Village, McNair was widely quoted as praising the system. The state, a Columbia, South Carolina newspaper, said McNair was "impressed" and added, "In developing one of the finest state park systems in the nation, Kentucky has successfully married public development and private enterprise."

"Kentucky State Parks seem to encourage private enterprise rather than compete with it," said Rep. Wilton Graves, a member of the South Carolina delegation.

McNair said, following the Governors Conference, that he marveled at the facilities that have built the Kentucky State Park system into the backbone of a swelling tourist industry.

The group noted that because of the development of Kentucky State Parks as complete vacation resorts, first class accommodations are being developed by private investors to provide for overflow crowds.

The delegation, composed of South Carolina park, forestry, natural resources and tourism officials and legislators spent three days studying the Kentucky parks.

Auto Insurance Rate Increase Hearing Set

Frankfort, Ky. — State Insurance Commissioner S. Roy Woodall, Jr., will hold a public hearing December 16 on the applications of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association for increases in automobile insurance rates.

They write 35 percent of the automobile insurance in Kentucky.

The rates requested amount to an average increase of 21.6 percent on automobile liability insurance and 6.4 percent on auto physical damage insurance.

While the request allows for differences in claim costs between various regions of the state, the filing limits the increase in any territory to a maximum of 25 percent. Territories having lower claim costs, either as a result of fewer accidents or smaller settlement costs, will receive only a minimal increase, the filing stated.

Subscribe for The Times. Subscription rates — $3.50 a year in Floyd county; $4 in other Kentucky counties; $5 a year outside Kentucky.

FLOYD TEAM AT NATIONAL POULTRY JUDGING CONTEST

More than 70 4-H Club members from 18 states will test their judging ability Saturday in the 1966 National 4-H Poultry Judging Contest in Chicago, and Kentucky will be represented by Floyd county's state championship team.

The young poultrymen will be asked to select pullets that are mature and free from defects for the laying house. They will also judge layers on egg production. Live and dressed fryers and fowl are to be graded for meat quality, as are dressed turkey hens. Both broken-out and shell eggs will be scored.

New Study of Law On Foundation Plan Asked by Committee

Frankfort, Ky. — An outside study of the Minimum Foundation Program — the system through which money is distributed to schools in the state — was called for yesterday by the Legislative Audit Committee.

Rep. Howard Hunt, D-Danville, chairman of the committee, suggested that funds for the study be sought from some foundation.

The suggestion resulted from the committee's expressed dissatisfaction with the complexity of the program. In particular, the committee was displeased that $24 million which the 1966 legislature thought it was appropriating directly for teacher salary increases actually was routed through the foundation.

The state law setting up the Minimum Foundation Program as a mechanism for distributing state funds to local school districts was passed in 1954 and has not been changed since.

The Legislative Audit Committee indicated yesterday that perhaps the reason the program has lain in peace so long was that the legislators didn't understand it.

"No bill is that perfect," said Sen. Lawrence Weatherby, D-Frankfort, who was governor when the bill in question was passed.

Hunt suggested that the Ford Foundation or some other such group be approached for funds to study the entire program.

Such a study would require too much money for the state to finance it, James T. Fleming, director of the Legislative Research Commission, said. A figure of $100,000 was mentioned.

In this year's session, legislators voted $24 million for teacher salary increases, apparently thinking the money would go directly to the teachers rather than through the Minimum Foundation.

However, the bill they approved did route the money through the foundation, which distributes funds to local districts on a formula based on attendance, need and local effort.

Miss Caudill Is Named To Student 'Who's Who' At Pikeville College

Five Pikeville College seniors — one from Floyd county — have been elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

All five of the students, Miss Barbara Jean Bailey, Stephen C. Brown, Miss Bonnie Sue Caudill, Howard Paul Hoover, and John Timothy Swanson will graduate next June 4. They were selected by a committee of nine composed of selected faculty, representatives of the students and members of the administrative staff.

Miss Caudill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Caudill, of Allen, and is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school. She has been active in Christian Fellowship, the Student Council, SNEA, Women's Dormitory Council, Forensic League, Appalachian Volunteers, and class secretary during her junior year. Miss Caudill is majoring in social studies and psychology and plans to teach upon graduation.

Says Tax Reports Due On Household Workers Paid $50 Per Quarter

If you pay a household worker $50 or more during a calendar quarter, a social security tax report is due within 30 days after the end of that three-month period, social security field representative John Willis reminded Floyd county residents this week.

Babysitters, maids, cooks, housekeepers, handymen, and other household employees are by law covered under social security, Willis said.

The employer is responsible for paying to the Internal Revenue Service both the 4.2 percent deducted from all earnings of the worker and the matching 4.2 percent paid by the employer. Tax reports on domestic employment are not optional.

Willis stressed the importance of filing complete and timely returns. The reports give the worker credit under social security which he must have to receive social security retirement benefits in old age or disability payments if he is disabled and unable to work. "And now with the new medicare program," Willis said, "filing is even more important."

Beginning in 1968, workers must have some coverage under social security to be eligible for hospital and medical insurance protection when they reach 65.

The tax is due on all cash payment including carfares and other expenses made to any employee who makes over $50 in a quarter. Mr. Willis said that a simple envelope form 942 is available at social security or Internal Revenue Service offices for reporting the earnings and reminded residents that they could be penalized for late reports.

HARD OF HEARING?

READ THIS

October 20, 1966
West Prestonsburg, Ky.

DEAR BELTONE HEARING AID CENTER—

After suffering with shingles for the past four years I have steadily been losing my hearing. Being saved 60 years ago I have lived a Christian life and placed my faith in the Lord. Recently, I have prayed to God for my hearing again—and the hearing aid was my answer. It is almost impossible for me to speak my heart and say what a blessing it has been. I now enjoy my church, my neighbors, my friends like I used to.

My advice to anyone having a hearing problem — don't put it off another day, enjoy your life while you can.

Community Action Office Is Preparing Calendar To Aid Planning Groups

The Community Action office in this county is preparing a calendar which will include organizations with their officers and meeting dates, to serve residents of the county and assist them in planning functions and activities.

Mrs. Virginia Hopkins, program aide, is gathering this information, in addition to assisting groups with planning and in working with groups in the county. Douglas H. Morrison, assistant director, Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, said Mrs. Hopkins, together with Dawson Bussey, gathered the information on water and sanitation needs which culminated in the emergency wells for Mud Creek and the organization of the proposed water district for which deposits are being solicited by the Area 979 Community Action Council.

Organizations wishing to be included are requested to contact Mrs. Hopkins at the Community Action Office at the courthouse here.

CASE SUPERVISORS EXPLAIN MUCH-DISCUSSED PROGRAM

By RUTH RATCLIFF and TILDEN HOWARD
Case Supervisors

In the past you have read some newspaper articles concerning the Work, Experience and Training program, commonly known in this area as the "Happy Pappy" program. (Most of the information given was written by persons obviously opposed to the program and usually uninformed as to its workable regulations, objectives, and operating procedures.) We are in a position to give you actual statistics and facts and will do so in this article.

Beginning in January, 1964, the program was financed by the federal government on a matching basis and was known as the Unemployed Parent Program. At this time, participants were assigned to work only.

Under the Economic Opportunity Act in January, 1965, the Unemployed Parent program was changed to the Work, Experience and Training program and was 100% financed by the federal government. Under this program the parent was required to work and attend basic adult education classes unless he had already successfully completed an eighth grade education. Some did better than that. They elected to continue their education through the high school level.

The primary purpose of this program is to help heads of households to become more employable and be in a position of becoming self-supporting with the termination of his work and training experiences.

The primary eligibility requirements for participants on the program are as follows:

The father must have been unemployed for a period of 90 days and not eligible for unemployment insurance. He must be a parent of a child or children under the age of 21, and all children of school age must be regularly attending school. A parent over the age of 65 cannot participate in the program.

In determining eligibility, it is necessary for complete clearance to be made of ownership of real and personal property and verification of all income received in the home.

After the parent becomes a participant, it is a requirement that he work regularly and attend classes regularly if he does not already possess an eighth grade certificate.

The participant is to be considered in a temporary work and training status and may not refuse any bona fide offer of employment.

An offer of employment may not be refused for the following reasons:

1. Because the standard wage is below the wage of another type of employment in which the parent was previously engaged;
2. Because the standard wage is below the amount of assistance the participant is receiving;
3. Because the applicant or participant does not choose to perform work of the particular type offered.

Any offer of work MAY be refused for one of the following reasons:

1. The job is beyond the mental and physical capacities of the applicant or participant;
2. The job requires skills or training he does not possess;
3. The employment is dangerous or hazardous;
4. The place is so far from his home that his family would receive little from his employment;
5. The wage offered is below the standard wage for like employment in the area.

At present, Floyd county is permitted to maintain a total caseload of 510 active participants, and an eligible family cannot be added to the program until a case has been discontinued for one reason or another.

A pending register is maintained in the local office of applications for the program and whenever there is, in fact, a vacancy, the applicant whose name appears at the top of the register is added to the program, provided that he meets all eligibility requirements.

(This is the first in a series of articles concerning the Work, Experience and Training program.)

Rev. Caudill Begins Westmoreland Work

The Rev. Ira Thomas Caudill, of Beaver Dam, Kentucky, has been called by the Westmoreland Baptist Church, Huntington, West Virginia, to be its pastor and assumed his duties there last Sunday. He succeeds the Rev. A. H. McEachern.

Pastor of the Beaver Dam Baptist Church for the past two years, Mr. Caudill is a native of Rowan county.

Rev. Caudill is a graduate of Pikeville high school, Pikeville College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville. He served pastorates at Sparta and Simpsonville, Kentucky, before going to Beaver Dam. He is vice-president of the Kentucky Baptist Convention and is serving on its church loans committee.

Mrs. Caudill is the former Eveleen Bolen, of Floyd county, who also is a graduate of Pikeville College. They have four children.
