FUND DRIVE BEGUN TO BUY PLANT SITE

$18,500 GOAL OF 3-WEEK CAMPAIGN

Only $5,000 Pledged To Date; Three Acres Added to Plant Site

A finance drive begun here last Saturday morning to raise $18,500 to assure the location in this vicinity of the plant of the U.S. Shoe Company was less than one-third the way to its goal Wednesday night—and it is a drive with a definite deadline.

The goal must be reached within three weeks, for the shoe company wants to break ground for the plant by November 1.

The amount needed was originally $14,000, the price of the tract of land under option from Bud Gearheart, near the mouth of Bear Creek. But an additional three acres are needed, company officials decided, and this will cost the extra $4,500.

The finance drive began with a "kick-off" breakfast called last Friday morning by the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce at the Wise Restaurant. Money-raising this week has been in the nature of "freewill offerings," but a second breakfast has been called for the same place next Saturday morning at 7, and then the drive will begin as an organized, concerted effort.

This Town . . . That World

The poet was not a liar. October does have bright, blue weather.

The flowers have had their inning. Now, it's the leaves' turn to bloom.

CAN WE BEAR IT?

I have just been informed that Pappas, the pitcher Bill DeWitt got for Frank Robinson in that memorable trade with Baltimore, will retire. And all Reds' fans surely will go into sackcloth and ashes.

WHY?

Comes word that one of the boys from Frankfort was perturbed, even disturbed, the other day when he saw Dewey Lake making like a mudhole. He was quoted as saying he saw no danger from the coal-mining and coal-dust in the headwaters of Johns Creek but that all this mud was bad. If coal-dust is no threat to the lake, why have they been persecuting these coal companies, all these years, and indicting them for polluting the Big Sandy with the same by-product? Answer me that, somebody.

AN OLD RADIO

This ancient radio, the kind with a large cabinet, was playing lustily, next door, and when I first saw it I for a moment would have sworn it was the same "deluxe model" I invested in, some twenty years ago. It was a dead ringer for that sensation that drew in the neighbors, but the resemblance was purely coincidental.

Board Races Assure Heavy Vote in Two Sections of County

Roughly half of Floyd county will produce a heavy vote at the November election, even though the Senatorial and Congressional campaigns apparently are failing to work up to a full head of steam.

This was assured recently when a race developed for school board member in each of the two educational divisions where board elections are being held this year.

In Educational Division No. 1 Ray Howard, incumbent member of the Floyd County Board of Education, is opposed by Woodrow Branham. A three-cornered race developed in Educational Division 2 when Leo Music and Earl Hall announced in opposition to Dr. J. H. Allen, present board member there.

Ross Cooley, John M. Stumbo and Bill Blair are the other members of the five-man board.

MARTIN FUND DRAWS OKEH

Committee Approves $60,000 for Planning Of Flood Control Job

U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper announced Tuesday that the Senate Public Works Appropriation committee had voted to include $60,000 for a flood protection project at Martin.

Later, the Huntington district office, U.S. Corps of Army Engineers, said the $60,000 approved by the Senate and yet to be voted by the House is to cover planning costs for the Martin work. The total project, which has been planned to involve dredging and straightening of the stream from a point upstream from the town of Martin to near Allen, will involve the expenditure of approximately $3 million.

If the full appropriation is later made, actual work on the job, one of the largest stream protection projects planned in this section, is not expected to be started before 1968, the Corps of Engineers indicated.

County Judge Henry Stumbo was told Wednesday by the Corps of Engineers that funds for the snagging and clearing operation on Left Beaver Creek from Hunter to a point upstream from McDowell have been received and that the Floyd fiscal court will soon be asked to procure easements from landowners as a prelude to the beginning of work. Estimated cost of the Left Beaver work is in excess of $60,000.

Both Senator Cooper and Congressman Carl D. Perkins have led the move in Senate and House for appropriations for the Martin project and others in the area.

BOARD VOTES BUDGET OK

Accounting System For Larger Schools Adopted After Study

Internal account budgets submitted by the various consolidated schools of the county were approved by the Floyd County Board of Education at its Saturday meeting.

The internal accounting system, new to the schools of the county, was established this year after its development through a four-year study of means to maintain strict accounting of all school income and expenditures. Individual school budgets show anticipated income, proposed disbursements and the purposes for which disbursements are to be made. Cash receipts are represented by numbered tickets, as in the case of athletic events, and all records are so maintained that detailed audits may be made of the internal financial affairs of each school.

The Buck's Branch school was officially closed and its teacher, Georgia Layne, transferred to the McDowell elementary school.

The Board voted payment of rental of $40 a month to Grace Chapel, near Martin, for use of its annex as a classroom for trainable children in that area. The rental includes cost of utilities. Sick leaves for all 12-month, non-certified employees were granted.

The low bid of Henry Setser to supply galvanized roofing material was accepted. His bid was $2,018.25.

High bids, on the contrary, were sought on used school buses (See Story No. 6, Page 2)

FLOYD TEACHER GROUP BACKS CHARTER REVISION

The Executive committee of the Floyd County Education Association, meeting in its regular monthly session September 26, formally endorsed the proposed revision of the Kentucky Constitution which voters will be asked to approve at the general election on November 8.

Meeting at Betsy Layne high school, the group called the constitutional revision "the most far-reaching decision the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky will be called upon to make during this century." At the same time, it was pointed out that the revised document is "in agreement with the basic principles of our American form of democratic government, as well as in accord with the needs of our modern society."

YOUTH SUES FOR $127,500

Alleges Negligence Cost Use of His Arm Following Snakebite

A youth who says he was bitten by a poisonous snake on October 5, last year, this week filed suit seeking to recover from the Prestonsburg General Hospital, Inc., where he was treated, and from Dr. James A. Holbrook, listed as his attending physician, a total of $127,500.

The plaintiff, Clarence D. Stephens, claims that as a result of the gross negligence of defendants he has suffered the permanent loss of the use of his right arm. For this he asks $100,000. For physical suffering and mental anguish he asks an additional $25,000. The remaining $2,500 is asked to cover hospital, medical and allied expenses.

In an earlier damage suit Juanita Ousley asks $50,000 damages and $1,200 for medical and other bills incurred when an auto in which she was a passenger was struck by a car driven by R. L. Johnson. She alleges negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendant.

SON OF FAY TURNER BURNS EARNS FIRST MORGAN GRANT

A University of Kentucky student from Frankfort has been named winner of UK's first Thomas Hunt Morgan memorial scholarship.

He is John Owen Eaves, son of Mrs. Fay Burns, 114 Valley View Drive, Frankfort. Mrs. Burns is the former Fay Turner, of Huesville.

The scholarship award, valued at $500 a year and renewable for four years, is named for Thomas H. Morgan, a UK graduate whose pioneering work in the field of genetics earned him a Nobel Prize in 1933.

The University established a scholarship in his memory this year. In an address in Lexington before an audience of leading scientists from throughout the

JEAN RITCHIE, FAMED SINGER OF FOLK MUSIC, TO APPEAR AT COLLEGE HERE, OCT. 12

The Community Concert Series sponsored by Prestonsburg Community College will open its 1967-68 series next Wednesday with a concert by Jean Ritchie, noted Kentucky folksinger. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Commons Room at the College.

Miss Ritchie, a native of Viper, Perry county, is one of the best-known traditional folksingers in America. She has appeared on television and radio programs and has given numerous recitals and regular concerts throughout the United States and England. She has sung at New York's Town Hall, Chicago's Orchestra Hall, and folk festivals at Harvard and Columbia Universities, the University of California and the Newport Folk Festival. Her television show credits include the Today Show, Camera 3, Wide World, and an NBC Special.

Miss Ritchie, who accompanies herself on the dulcimer, now lives in Port Washington, New York. She has recorded many traditional folksongs for the Library of Congress and the British Broadcasting Corporation archives.

She has written three books about folk music. One of these books, "The Singing Family of the Cumberland," is a history of her family's life in the mountains and is considered an American classic in its field. Miss Ritchie was born into a family whose singing tastes and abilities have brought many folk music collectors to their doors. She is part of the living tradition of American folk music.

3 ARRESTED, 2 FOR ARSON

Salisbury Statement Says He and Tackett Hired To Burn Store

Three men were arrested last Friday, a day after the store of Janie McKinney at the mouth of Toler Creek had been burned. Jack Raymond Salisbury and Donnie Tackett were accused of arson. Sam Roberts, store-owner in the Toler vicinity, was accused of aiding and abetting the crime. Salisbury and Roberts executed bond. Tackett was jailed.

Salisbury came here voluntarily and told his version of the store-burning. Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said. He claimed that Roberts gave him and Tackett $50 each to burn the McKinney store.

Loss in the blaze will range from $6,000 to $8,000, it was estimated. There was no insurance.

GRAND JURY TELLS NEED FOR PROBE

Crimes of Violence Hit New Floyd Low, Indictments Indicate

The grand jury which adjourned last Friday, day before the September court term called it quits, reported to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley that witnesses had supplied information relating to disorderly houses in Prestonsburg and recommended that "every available means" be taken to close these places and to convict all persons connected with them.

The grand jury found little of a sensational nature to investigate. Only one indictment involving violent assault upon a person was voted, and this named a woman in a cutting and wounding charge.

Only one liquor indictment was made, and the grand jury in its final report commented that the sale of intoxicating beverages has been curtailed. It commended the courts and all enforcement officers in their efforts and recommended that they "continue to work to strengthen the local option law."

Of the 42 true bills voted by the grand jury, 18 accused defendants of child desertion. This offense, said the jury's final report, "is a major problem." Enforcement of the law against thefts, particularly the common offense of stealing copper wire from mining operations, was urged.

The grand jury report, which was signed by Shirley Lewis, foreman, termed the stray dog situation a nuisance, suggesting the construction of a dog pound and efforts to enforce the dog law.

GARAGE JOB UNDER WAY

Completion Date Set For Highway Facility Near Emma, Nov. 25th

Completion of construction by the Kentucky Department of Highways of a maintenance garage to serve Floyd county is scheduled for November 25, it was said Wednesday at the office of Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward.

The new structure, which will be located on US 23, near Emma, will supplant the old garage at Allen. It will front 120 feet on US 23 and extend back 60 feet. The front will be of brick masonry; the remainder of the building, of metal.

Contract for the garage construction was awarded to Brieland, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, on its low bid of $56,600.

The November schedule for completion is expected to be met, barring unusual weather conditions or untoward circumstance, Ward's office said.

PRESTONSBURG GETS FIRST U-KATS GRANT

U-KATS, Inc., a new statewide athletic development group, announced today (Thursday) that its first grant was a $200 payment toward the purchase of football equipment for a junior-high-school program in Prestonsburg.

U-KATS executive secretary-treasurer Bill Baxter, Lexington, announced the grant and said "U-KATS expected it to be a 'first step toward eventual development of outstanding schoolboy athletics in Kentucky.'"

Baxter said the Prestonsburg chapter of U-KATS had already raised $400 toward the completion of the junior-high project. Contract for the garage construction was awarded to Brieland, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, on its low bid of $56,600.

The November schedule for completion is expected to be met, barring unusual weather conditions or untoward circumstance, Ward's office said.

The Prestonsburg U-KATS chapter has purchased uniforms for 40 Little League football players at a cost of $860. Three teams have been organized in the Prestonsburg elementary school and another at the Clark elementary school.

THIS IS A SOUND INVESTMENT

A contribution to the fund with which the site for the U. S. Shoe Company plant will be purchased is one of the soundest investments we may have the opportunity of making.

It is not an investment which will yield monetary dividends at regular, stated intervals, but it will earn the tangible rewards of new income and increased activity in various other businesses, plus those indirect benefits which come from a community affording work to its own people instead of having them move to other states and from a community whose possibilities continue to develop and present themselves to other industries.

The shoe manufacturing plant is here—if we do our part. That part is represented by $18,400 which we must raise within the next few days for the purchase of the plant site. Once it is in operation, this plant, with those others now in production, will give Floyd county a wider variety of industry at a time when new industry is becoming a very real need.

The coal industry remains at the top of the list among those businesses which contribute to the economy of Floyd county. But the number of large coal-producing centers grows fewer, by the year. Once Princess Coals leaves neighboring David, no new coal development within a distance of twenty miles of Prestonsburg is expected. Mine payrolls will become more and more diffused over broad areas rather than centered in one or more communities. The natural gas business has already passed the exploration and development stage in Floyd county; its heyday is past.

Floyd county fortunately retains a strong business in both coal and natural gas, and we are thankful for this situation, but the time is here when new industry must be considered for the future. When one big payroll goes, another must be found if we are to hold our ground, not to mention the desired matter of making some headway.

These are among the reasons which should prompt us all to cooperate to the limit of our ability toward the establishing of this new plant here, of maintaining a high interest in those already among us and of continuing to look for other new industries which will give the county and region a more stable economy through employment in diversified industries.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D. VANISHING VOCABULARIES

Recently one of my friends asked me whether I had ever heard the simile "Hot as a depot stove." Yes, I have heard it often and have many memories of the stoves that used to adorn, if that is the right word, the plain, uncomfortable waiting rooms of depots. For many years of my life as a teacher I had to depend on the railroad and the steamboat to get me to where I was going. Apparently no two railroads liked to cooperate on train schedules; consequently, there was always a long wait when you had to change from one line to another. In summer or spring or fall you might get out of the depot and walk around a bit, to kill a little time. In winter, and it now seems that most of my waiting was in winter, you were likely to stick to the depot, with its very uncomfortable seats, where a fellow could sit upright but could not stretch out and nap while the train was on its way to pick you up.

Depot stoves seem as far away from most of the younger generations as the highly-advertised saloons on the old-fashioned steamboats. Don't get the notion, younger readers, that a saloon on a steamboat was a place where you could get a drink and that only. You might get a drink, it is true, but the saloon was the grand central room that was sitting room, dining room, dance hall, and what have you. Mirrors were often found in these elaborate palace halls, mirrors so big that you could see your whole self and not merely your head and face. Everybody used to tell how he, personally, was walking down the long saloon when he saw a man approaching. He politely stepped aside to let the man pass; the man did the same, except that he stepped the wrong way and was still right in front of the greenhorn. Again the fellow who told the tale on himself gave the stranger a way to go by, only to find the contrary fellow still in front of him. Only after several such awkward trials and errors did the yokel realize that he was seeing himself in a full-length mirror.

Unlike the British, we did not keep our stagecoach vocabulary for our trains; we generally adapted steamboat jargon. Our fireman on a train is enshrined today in the French word for the same thing, chauffeur. The English train is in charge of a driver, not an engineer. Our stagecoach words seem to have faded away like old soldiers. But in their heyday, everybody who was anybody could use the jargon of the stagecoach, just as later words connected with the canals, especially in the East, got into the language of many people who had never ridden on a canal boat. When I was a boy, I lived where dark tobacco was the money crop. I grew up using words that seemed universal, largely because I had not been more than fifteen miles from home before I was eighteen. When I went away to teach school in Hickman county, only 60 miles or so, airline, from Fidelity, I found myself speaking, so far as tobacco was concerned, a strange language. I was probably asked more naive questions about the growing of tobacco than about all the other things that were different at Fidelity. I still laugh about a young fellow's asking me whether tobacco was raked up like hay and cut into plugs with a cornknife.

At nineteen I came into the limestone area and had to learn a whole new vocabulary about caves, sinkholes, and such. Frankly, an age later, I still marvel at a land where most of the water is underground. When I was much younger—and slenderer—I crawled around in caves like another and older Floyd Collins; I still shudder when I think how many dangerous places I squeezed through. But, even if a fellow stays put right where he has always been, he loses touch with younger generations unless he keeps adding new words to his vocabulary. Just think, when I moved to my house in 1918, the world was barely digesting the vocabulary of World War I, and think how long we have come since then. And, I was a new father in 1918; for two years now I have been a great-grandfather! I tried to teach 36,000 students; my, what I learned from them! And, I fear, I am a little behind in my vocabulary right now; where do we go from here?

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago (October 2, 1936)

Jason D. Smiley, 35 years old, general mine foreman of the Pike-Floyd Coal Company at Betsy Layne, was killed Sunday when he was run over by a motor from which he had fallen. Out of 160 Floyd county boys that filed applications for membership in the forestry service here at the WPA office this week, there will be 112 selected after examination at Pikeville. The criminal term of circuit court, in session here for 24 days and several nights in handling a heavy docket, will adjourn Saturday. The Kentucky West Virginia Power Company this week announced to the consumers of the Eastern Kentucky district a new and voluntary reduction in rates. Dingus street in Prestonsburg was completed to Central avenue on Monday, this week. Last week saw the completion of paving in West Prestonsburg. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson, of Prestonsburg, a son—Thomas Burton, Jr.—last week at the Paintsville hospital. There died: Lee Preston, 78, of Martin, Sunday; Dr. W. R. Callahan, 61, at his home here Friday; Merle Agnes Compton, 6, of Dwale, Friday.

Twenty Years Ago (October 3, 1946)

For the first time since the repeal of national Prohibition, 13 years ago, Floyd county Monday became known as Dry territory. A total of 10,973 votes resulted in a Dry victory over the Wets by a margin of 1,635 votes. Floyd Post, American Legion, and Walter K. Bowling Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, working with county officials, have within the week launched a movement which has as its aim the construction of a building as a memorial to those of this county who have served their country. An estimated 4,500 persons attended the Floyd County Fish & Game Club fish fry Sunday on the Allen golf course. Eight prisoners in the county jail this week are under penitentiary sentence and four of the eight have been given life terms for murder. Married: Miss Maggie Cornett and Mr. Harold Wright, of West Prestonsburg, September 18; Miss Mary Rollins and Mr. Walter Martin, Jr., of Wayland, September 16. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Osborne, of Prestonsburg, a daughter—Carolyn Jane—September 28 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Goble, of Prestonsburg, a daughter—Katherine Lynn—Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kinzer, of Allen, a son—Terry Gene—September 21 at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin. There died: Grover Cleveland Baisden 61, formerly of Drift, Saturday at Detroit, Michigan; the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wallen, at home at David, Tuesday.

Bowles, destroying public property and willfully damaging a public building at Jenny Wiley State Park; Roy Turner, destroying private property owned by Graydon Howard and sister; Willie "Bear" Little, second of excessive possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale; Blanche Fugate, cutting and wounding Oneda Prater; Earl Justice, deserting a pregnant wife; James Coleman, carnal knowledge of a female under promise of marriage; Dennis Keller and William Howard Dreener, breaking and entering the storehouse of Lon Neeley; Preston Smith and Charles E. Stewart, burglary of the dwelling of Oliver Goble, Jr.; Harry D. Auxier, removing mortgaged property from the state; Estill Tibbs, same offense; Russell Jarrell, fraudulently selling a mortgaged house; William Gardner, Knoxville, Tennessee, procuring for Pearl Barnett $690 under pretense of representing a company which had in stock a certain hearing aid; Joe Hopkins, threatening use of a deadly weapon and destroying the property of Cora Adkins; Ike Spears, reckless use of a deadly weapon; James Luther Wright, reckless use of a deadly weapon; Russell Hackworth, two counts, cold check to Cooley Grocery; William L. Hackworth, cold check to Cooley Grocery; and the following charged with child desertion: Larry Bentley, Billie Blanton, William Deskins, Alger Gibson, Woodrow Gilliam, Emory Hall, Kennis Hall, Ronald Talmadge Hall, Glenn Hayes, Glenn Alden Hyden, Chris Johnson, Jr., Lealand McClellan, Bill Marsillett, Smittie Joe Mitchell, Claude Napier, James Poston, Vernon Sammons, Ashland Walters, two counts.

The civil term of court convened Monday. One case heard this week, in which McKinley Hopkins asked $35,000 damages of State Trooper Larry Hatton on a charge of illegal or false arrest, was dismissed by Judge Conley.

Generally, each of 16 Extension Service areas in the state is composed of counties with the same type geography or soils, of farming systems, and population. An area director supervises work of the various specialists in the area's counties. There also is an area staff, composed principally of program leaders for that area.

An example, Mr. Wheeler points out, is Gene Ball, formerly called the Floyd County Agent, and Mrs. Frances H. Pitts, Floyd County Home Demonstration Agent. Mr. Ball has been assigned the responsibility of Program Leader in Resource Development for the Big Sandy area, and Mrs. Pitts is Program Leader in Resource Development for the Big Sandy area, and Mrs. Pitts is Program Leader for Home Economics Programs. Two other program leaders have been named. Mason Morrison, of Pikeville, will serve as the Program Leader in Agricultural Programs and James Reed, of Inez, Program Leader in 4-H and youth organization.

Each county will continue to maintain a County Cooperative Extension Service office as in the past according to Mr. Wheeler. Specializing agents will assist in county and area programs, whichever is more applicable. All requests for specialists will be directed through local county extension offices to the area director.

All Extension Agents in the Big Sandy Area have been designated as Area Extension Agents or Area Specialists.

The agents in the Big Sandy Area will receive special training as follows for their area-wide responsibilities: James Reed, Martin county, Poultry; Carroll Bailey, Johnson county, Livestock; Edward Sowards, Johnson county, 4-H; Prichard King, Magoffin county, Agronomy; Mason Morrison, Pike county, Forestry; Janice Tomes, Pike county, Foods and Nutrition; Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd county, Housing and Home Management; Gene Ball and Alvin Webb, Floyd county, Resource Development, and Glenn Hall, Pike county, 4-H.

All agents have additional responsibilities to their local county program. As an example, all agents will work with 4-H members who have projects in their field as well as area-wide youth programs including 4-H organization, leadership training etc.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

SOME BIRDS ON VERGE OF EXTINCTION

I shall tell about some of our finest birds that are about to become extinct, or are already gone. When any species of wild life disappears from the scene it can never come back. And this is a sobering thought!

The little house wren, which many call the jenny wren, is one of these. We still have plenty of the larger, redder Carolina wrens but the house wrens seem to have disappeared completely. I have not seen one of these dainty, little wrens in several years and others have reported the same. The house wren is noted for being migratory, while the Carolina wrens winter in the region. The Carolinas have a long, white stripe reaching from base of bill to base of neck; its back is rusty red.

The little house wren is grayish-brown on top and has no facial stripes. This small wren is noted for building its nest in the oddest places—old tin cans left on the back porch, the pocket of a scarecrow, in old straw hats and gloves lying around. It likes to stay around old orchards or in weedy tangles along brooks. Its loud, cheerful song is a bubbling melody as natural as the gurgle of a brook. It is to be regretted such a fine little bird has become so scarce and may be headed for extinction.

Another near extinction is the turkey buzzard. These large vultures are undoubtedly becoming extinct. I used to see great flocks of them sailing lazily overhead, rocking and tilting in the wind. This past summer I have seen only four. A changing environment, the decline in number of larger animals whose dead bodies furnished the buzzards sustenance; fewer animals on the farms—these are factors in the buzzard's decline. People used to haul their dead stock far out in the woods and leave them for the buzzards to clean up, but there are few on the farm to die and be hauled off.

THE CALIFORNIA CONDORS. These stately ships of the air are almost gone. Only forty of them are leading a precarious existence on a preserve in California. There used to be multiplied thousands of them soaring high over the western plains, with a wing-spread of 11 feet, looking for dead or sick elk, bear, coyotes, wolves, buffalo and others. They kept these big bodies cleaned up. But changing conditions have almost wiped them out.

THE IVORY-BILLED WOODPECKERS. These great woodpeckers are now completely extinct. There used to be multiplied thousands of them in the virgin forests of the south. Their loud toots like a steamboat whistle could be heard for miles as they ranged over the forests in search of dead trees to cut to pieces with their powerful bills to get the grubs and larvae. The large forests of the south have been gradually removed and these birds could no longer survive.

THE PILEATED WOODPECKERS. These are now the largest living woodpeckers but they have become so scarce they seem in danger of going the way of the ivory-billed. The pileated is the only living woodpecker which has the distinguished poppy-red crest. This woodpecker also requires large timber to furnish its food and nesting places and will not stay in a cut-over forest. I have watched carefully for pileated woodpeckers the past five years but have not seen more than half a dozen during that time. They used to enliven the woods with their ringing "cuk-cuk-cuk" cries.

THE BLUEBIRDS. These beautiful members of the Thrush Family have become very scarce. I have not seen more than four or five bluebirds this past summer. They are also victims of a changing environment. They used to build in old fence posts of chestnut, but chestnuts have been gone a long time now. They also liked to nest in old hollow stumps and snags around clearings and deadenings but these are about all gone too.

Bluebirds have a gentle disposition and cannot stand up to the more aggressive birds such as starlings and English sparrows. They have been chased away in some regions by these foreigners and their nesting places taken. To save the bluebirds we need to put up more boxes for them. Some people make the mistake of putting bluebirds, boxes too high. They prefer a box not more than six feet from the ground, about the height of a fence post.

THE ESKIMO CURLEWS. These fine game birds used to migrate from the Arctic and Canada tundras down along the Atlantic coast in flocks of millions. It is said their flights once darkened the sky. But they were ruthlessly slaughtered and are now extinct.

THE PRAIRIE CHICKENS. These birds have been wiped out over most of their range, which once included northwestern Ohio, Western Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Texas and the Great Plains. They, too, are victims of a changing world—the destruction of their nesting places and the loss of good cover to hide from enemies. The plowing and cultivation of the land wiped out sources of food, like prairie roses, wild sunflowers, golden-rods and prairie grasses, also the briars that furnished them a place to hide. Today the prairie chickens are in grave danger of extinction. It's a pity, too, for these fine game birds have tender, juicy flesh, even better than the grouse of the mountains.

Ex-Magistrate Grover Holbrook (standing) and Gerald Hart, work unit conservationist, inspect part of the 16 acres Mr. Holbrook has planted to milo, buckwheat, lespechea and millet in the development of a wildlife food plot on his Middle Creek farm.

By GERALD HART
Work Unit Conservationist

Fifty-one acres of wildlife food plots are planned on 13 farms in the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District. Landowners who have established food plots are: G. C. Holbrook, Middle Creek; Miles Whitaker, Middle Creek; Sam Hale, Middle Creek; Thomas Lemaster, Abbott Creek; Fred Francis, Abbott Creek; and Dewey Shepherd, Middle Creek.

These plots vary in size from one acre on some farms to 16 acres on the G. C. Holbrook farm. Plants being sown on these farms are milo, buckwheat, Korean lespechea, sericea lespechea, German millet, orchard grass, soybeans and wheat. Landowners received federal cost-sharing assistance on establishment of the plots through the Floyd County ASCS office. Any individual interested in establishing wildlife habitat development work should contact the Floyd County Soil Conservation Service office.

But I felt right friendly toward the old box, for I know that in its heyday there came sounds I'd like to hear again: Amos 'n' Andy, for instance, and Lum 'n' Abner, Kate Smith when she could really sing and Bing, and Lowell Thomas and all the rest of a great gang.
Boy, am I old!

GUS FINLEY'S POEM
Rebecca Ellis found the lines that follow while rummaging among the effects here of her late father, Tom Ellis. The yellowed, time-brittled piece of paper bore this note:
"Written by Gus Vance Finley before he was hanged in Prestonsburg, Kentucky."

Gus Finley is the only man ever legally executed in this county, and oldtimers recalled that he made the prediction from the scaffold that he would be the last to hang here. His dirgelike lines follow:
Bright shines the sun on
Clanches hills,
So soft the West wind blows.
The hills are covered with blossoms still
And perfumed with a wild rose.

But Vance no more on Sandy will go,
Or drink of her crystal ways.
The bear so live in the laurel grove
But the hunter has found his grave.
Lewis Hall and Daniel lies
Against me swore
For reasons God only knows.
Perhaps when I am in
Abraham's bosom
They will roll in the gulf below.

Soon at the gallows I must stand
And they will take my life,
But death is only a dream
And everyone must pay the price.

I am the first and I'll be the last,
Such a horrible sight to see,
But never again on Sandy's banks
Shall this ever be.

But I and they shall meet again
When Emanuel's trumpet shall blow.
But when I am with my Saviour
Their face I'll see no more.

PRE-TRIAL INFO
Since I've broken my rule forbidding verse a place in this column (or just about any other column), here's another which I thought so clever you'd enjoy it. It slaps at the crackdown on newspapers and other media for their coverage of murders and murder trials. Bob Shaw, manager of the Minnesota Newspaper Association, indited these lines on pre-trial information and he takes for his subject a gal who swung an axe with the full abandon and effect of a Paul Bunyan. Here 'tis:
Lizzy Borden took an axe
And gave her mother forty whacks
And when she saw what she had done
She gave her father forty-one.
(Then as the same story would be written in the present style of crime reporting)

The Borden's, Emily and Max, were found dead Tuesday, slain by axe.
Police say eighty blows were sledged.
Their daughter did it, it's alleged.
(And FINALLY, as it would read, were the press under the extreme rule of no pre-trial publicity)
A terrible thing has come to pass
At the Borden home in Fall River, Mass.
Involved are father, mother, child...
FOR FURTHER DETAILS, ATTEND THE TRIAL!

Oneida Institute Has $100,000 Fire
Oneida, Ky. — Fire that destroyed the 62-year-old main building at Oneida Institute here is expected to result in revision and enlargement of a new building planned for the campus.
Dean Harold Holderman said Friday's fire forced the school to move its student center, offices, campus store, school shop and storage facilities to other buildings.
The 4:30 a.m. blaze, he said, caused damage estimated at $100,000. Damage to the building is covered, at least in part, by a blanket insurance policy on all buildings. However, there was no insurance on its contents.
The institute is a boarding high school that serves 210 students of this Eastern Kentucky mountain area.
The burned building, Marvin Hall, was built in 1904 as a gift of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Marvin, of Louisville.
The Manchester Fire Department was credited by Dean Holderman with saving other buildings on the campus.
The institute is supported by the Kentucky Baptist Convention.

Pikeville, Ky. — An enrollment of 1,100 to 1,200 students by 1970 is the projected goal of Pikeville College as it prepares for its Founder's Day Program on October 13 to commemorate its 77th anniversary.
The school's enrollment this fall is 771 fulltime students, a new record for the college which in 1961 had an enrollment of 485.
Founder's Day this year is an unofficial commemoration of another anniversary also.
The Presbyterian Church connected school added the fourth year to its program in the fall of 1956 and its first baccalaureate degrees were awarded in May, 1957.
The Rev. John T. Galloway, author, lecturer, minister, educator and pastor of the Wayne Presbyterian Church, Wayne, Pennsylvania, since 1948, will be principal speaker during the Founder's Day program which the public is invited to attend.
There is no other four-year college within 120 miles of Pikeville.
Within a 50-mile radius of Pikeville there is an estimated half million Americans in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia who are not served by another four-year college.
Approximately 76 percent of the college's students come from within that 50-mile radius.
Pikeville College is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and is a member of that group and other educational organizations. Its graduates are accepted in the best graduate schools of the nation.
The college, founded in 1889 with one teacher and a one-building preparatory school, has grown in its 77 years to a fully accredited four-year college with a four million dollar plant and about 70 staff members or employees, including 39 faculty members.
The plant includes seven major buildings and a 1,000 acre farm on nearby Johns Creek which provides food for the college cafeteria and recreation for the faculty and students.
The school, supported by the Presbytery, had its beginning as the Pikeville Collegiate Institute in the fall of 1889.

JOHN DESKINS
The names of hundreds of the pioneer settlers are almost forgotten now, the names of many lost and the names of others existing only on a few musty records. One, whose antecedents and many of his children are unknown, is John Deskins, early Pike county settler of the upper Johns Creek area.
Mrs. Winnie P. Murray, Meta, Kentucky, a relative of the Deskins family, writes about John Deskins. He married Rebecca Holt in 1819, she says.
"The 1830 census shows him to have one female in his home, age 15-20. That couldn't be Rebecca's daughter. John Bevins, Sr. had a daughter, Patty, born 1815, who married a John Deskins."
John Bevins, Sr. was a pioneer settler himself but of him genealogists have learned much. Deskins, however, recedes into history and only competent genealogists and historians will be able to piece together his life and family from the tangled skein of the past.

McGUIRE FAMILY
Mrs. Dayton Royse, 1633 Queenstown Road, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, writes about the early McGuire of Floyd county. The five individuals of the family that she selects for discussion are Cornelius, William, John, James and Samuel.
Her contribution to the family follows:

CORNELIUS McGUIRE, born ca 1766-67, married by bond of 29 December, 1767, Esther Stratton, Montgomery county, Virginia, and came to East Kentucky about 1795 with a group from the Tazewell county, Virginia area. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace 21 December, 1799, when Floyd county was created, was a Methodist minister, died probably ca 1811. His widow, Esther McGuire, was listed in Floyd county in 1820 and 1830. Tazewell county deeds list an 1805 land transfer from Cornelius McGuire and wife Esther of Floyd county, Kentucky to William George. In 1810 the home of Cornelius McGuire consisted of one male, 26-45, two males, 16-26, one male, 10-16, two males under 10, one female, 26-45, two females 10-16, one female under 10.

WILLIAM McGUIRE, born 1757 or 1758 according to his pension application, came from Tazewell county, Virginia to Floyd county, Kentucky by 1808, and probably returned to Tazewell county about 1811, where he was pensioned in 1833, died 5 March, 1837. He was a resident of Greenbrier at the time of his first enlistment, September, 1776; was recommended in Montgomery county, Virginia, 1 September, 1778, as Second Lieutenant in Capt. James Moore's company of militia (which consisted of residents of present Tazewell county area, including Solomon "Struton" as sergeant and a John McGuire, private). In 1808 William McGuire of Floyd county, deeded land in Tazewell county to Thomas Cartmill. In 1810 his household consisted of one male, 45 or over, two males 16-26, two males 10-16, one female, 45 or over, two females 26-45, three females under 10. (Was he the William McGuire who married Betsy Adams in 1779, in Botetourt county, Virginia?)

JOHN McGUIRE, born 22 April, 1756, Ireland, according to his pension application and died 10 April, 1837, Morgan county, Kentucky; his wife was Nancy.....? He applied for pension in Morgan county in 1832, stating that "he entered service 20 July, 1780, under Capt. Keller, Col. Benjamin Logan, when a resident of Mercer county in the then state of Virginia; again enrolled 1 September, 1780 at Gordon's Station, Mercer county, under Capt. Gordon who was killed at the Battle of Blue Licks." (If he referred to Mercer county, Kentucky he was probably the John McGuire who was granted land on Dix River, 1782 and 1783, and taxed in Mercer county, 1789; he was in Clark county, Kentucky by January, 1794, when he and wife Nancy consented to marriage of Jone McGuire and Abraham Keeton; sold his land on Slate Creek, 1808; and probably the John and Nancy McGuire received by letter in Old South Fork Baptist Church at Malone, Kentucky in 1809). In 1810 his household consisted of one male, 45 or over, one male, 16-26, one female 45 or over. (Who was the male, 16 to 26?)

JAMES McGUIRE, born about 1780, Kentucky, died between 1867 and 1870, Morgan county, Kentucky, was son of above John. He is said to have married first Sarah Coffee; his wife in 1850 was Nancy..... who appears to have died before 1860. In 1810 the household consisted of one male 26-45, three males under 10, one female 26-45, one female under 10.

SAMUEL McGUIRE, born 14 April, 1791, Kentucky, died 20 September, 1872, Sweet Springs, Missouri, son of above John, married 1 June, 1809, Floyd county, Jane Ferguson, born 17 August, 1787, Virginia, died 31 June, 1865, Sweet Springs, Mo. Household in 1810: one male, 16-26, one female 26-45, one female under 10.

THE POTTERS
Visitors to Breaks Interstate Park, the "Grand Canyon of the South," will find near one of the shelter houses the grave of Richard Potter. It has a simple headstone, that states he was born February 14, 1792, died December 29, 1882. This would have made him 90 years old when he died.

The Potters came to "The Breaks" section of Russell Fork River following the turn of the Nineteenth Century, the exact date unknown. However, the date Richard Potter left his North Carolina home and came to the high plateau overlooking the Russell Fork River was probably 1821 for in that year Daniel Ramey, father-in-law of Richard, obtained a patent to 100 acres of land in the area.

Richard Potter married Teensie Ramey and built a huge log house in the Flatwoods section. They had 10 children and one writer has said "The 10 children born to Richard and Teensie Potter in their Flatwoods home played childhood games on the canyon's dizzy precipice."

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Albert Bertram, 21, Garrison, Kentucky, and Aileen Ferrell, 23, Cliff; marriage solemnized here September 30 by the Rev. Coy Rigney, Jimmy Lee Moore, 25, Dayton, Ohio, and Jo Anna Davis, 19, Wheelwright, Elason Montgomery, 53, and Lo Verna Hall, 41, both of Prestonsburg; married here October 1 by the Rev. Paris Music, William Daniel Norris, 20, Dwale, and Sinda Sue Prater, 17, West Prestonsburg; married October 1 at West Prestonsburg, the Rev. L. P. Tussey officiating.

Potter was a farmer, distillery operator and herb doctor. He acquired thousands of acres of land in the rugged area and planted fine orchards, a few trees are still extant in the area, all seedling offsprings of the original Potter trees. He acquired a license to distill whiskey and his "apple jack" became locally famous. He always offered his guests a glass of peach brandy before breakfast.
Teensie Potter died sometime during the Civil War and Richard remarried to Polly Wallace. Richard's children grew to adulthood and married into the area families. One son settled on a picturesque plateau lower down the river from the original Potter homestead. Ever since the location has been known as Potter's Flats which can be seen from the Stateline Overlook.

TRAILER PARKS INCREASE POSES HEALTH PROBLEM

With more and more people discovering the advantages, accessibility and beauty of Jenny Wiley State Park, a problem of major importance has arisen, the Floyd County Health Department pointed out this week.

This problem has to do with the number of trailer coach parks which are beginning to appear all over the county. When two or more occupied trailers are placed on a lot, the lot becomes a trailer park.

In 1954 the General Assembly enacted the Trailer Coach Park Law, thus requiring all trailer coach parks in Kentucky to be licensed. The Kentucky State Department of Health was designated by the law as the licensing agency, with the Kentucky State Board of Health empowered to adopt reasonable regulations to carry out the intent of this law.

A trailer coach park must comply with the same sanitary regulations which govern other places of business in the county. The following is a brief review of some of the more important regulations:

1. Lots for each trailer will not be less than 1000 sq. feet and located not less than 15 feet from each other.
2. A sufficient supply of pure, potable drinking water will be provided for each trailer park. This may come from a municipal water supply or from properly constructed drilled or driven wells. Dug wells, cisterns, springs or other sources shall not be used unless approval has been obtained from the State Department of Health.
3. All sewage and waste material shall be disposed of into a municipal sewer system when available. If not available, disposal shall be made into a private system designed, constructed and operated in accordance with the regulations of the State Department of Health. This would be a septic tank and disposal field or any other approved system. The use of cesspools is not approved for use in trailer parks. Discharging from septic tanks will not be connected to any farm drain tile, open ditch, highway drain, stream or lake.

4. All plumbing installations shall be in accordance with the provisions of the State Plumbing Code. All plans for the construction of a trailer coach park in Floyd county shall be submitted to the Department of Environmental Sanitation, State Department of Health, Frankfort, Kentucky, and will be accompanied with a permit fee of $25.

5. The park shall provide flytight metal containers with tight-fitting covers to prevent littering the ground with rubbish and debris.
6. The issuance of a permit does not relieve the applicant from securing a building permit or from complying with a municipal or county zoning ordinance.
Before submission of plans for the construction of a trailer coach park, applicants should contact the Floyd County Health Department.

HAS HEART ATTACK
Alvin Taylor, Prestonsburg postoffice employee, suffered a heart attack Tuesday evening at his home on Town Branch. He is at the Prestonsburg General hospital and his condition was described as serious.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY!

Mrs. Katy Crisp, 50 years old, died Monday night while en route to the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital a short time after suffering a heart attack at her home at Dwale.

Mrs. Crisp was a member of the United Baptist Church.
A daughter of the late Tom and Sally Bentley Branham, she was the wife of Crit Crisp, who survives.

Also surviving are four sons, Jimmy Crisp, of Dwale, George Crisp, Ypsilanti, Michigan, Johnny and Curtis Crisp, both of Martin; five daughters, Mrs. Nova Jean Wright, Warsaw, Indiana, Mrs. Avonelle Porter, Bellville, Michigan, Mrs. Etta Marie Bowen, Ypsilanti, Michigan, Mrs. Elizabeth Flannery, of Martin, Miss Helen Rose Crisp, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Stella Caudill and Mrs. Opal Crisp, both of Allen, Mrs. Etta Henton, of Florida, and three brothers, George Branham, of Florida, Jess and Clay Branham, both of Ohio.

She also leaves a grandson, Charles Murdock Crisp.

Funeral rites were conducted from the residence today (Thursday) at 10 a.m., ministers of the United Baptist Church officiating. Burial in the family cemetery at Dwale was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

TO FRIENDS OF EDUCATION IN EDUCATION DIVISION NO. 1

Although I have been an announced candidate to succeed myself as a member of the county board of education for some weeks, I feel compelled to make the following statement regarding my candidacy.

I was first elected to the board almost eight years ago in opposition to the administration, as it existed at that time. Two years after my election to the board, a new superintendent was hired by the majority of the board, as it was made up at that time. We did have some stormy board meetings after the new superintendent was seated but during the stormy period we all learned a great deal about each other and about our responsibilities as board members and school officials. We discovered that what we all really wanted was the best school system possible for Floyd county's children and we had the same hope for creating a better Floyd county through greater opportunity for our youth.

Under the leadership of Superintendent Clark and his staff the Floyd county school system has made more progress during the last six years than during any other period in our history. I am happy to have been a part of that period of great progress. A school system has gained a reputation as one of the best and most progressive systems in all of the Appalachian Area. As evidence of progress made within the last six years I list below a few examples:

1. More than 80 new classrooms completed and in use (Contract let for 7 rooms at Prestonsburg Elementary sch.)
2. One of the first county systems to qualify for "Head Start."
3. Most complete lunchroom program in Eastern Kentucky.
4. Adult Education program which has been tied by school systems in Kentucky and West Virginia.
5. One of only thirty-two school systems in Kentucky operating a N.Y.C. program in Kentucky, whereby our young people have earned over 1/2 million dollars on workshops during past school year. We are assured of a similar program this school yr.
6. Summer school program for over 4,000 of educationally deprived young people.
7. A complete vocation school program at Ga which can be used by young people from all sections of Floyd county.
8. Clark Elementary School consolidating all the middle Creek section.

The above accomplishments, as well as many others have made all the board members very happy to have been a part of a school system. Greater things are planned for the future and I want to be a part of that future. For this reason I wish to solicit your support in order to insure harmony and to keep this school system moving forward. I have complete confidence in the leadership of Superintendent Clark and his staff and I want them to have a chance to continue their dynamic leadership.

Little League Football

(Season's opening games)

Prestonsburg's Little League opened play last Thursday night. In the first game, the "Big Red" Cardinals, coached by Adrian Blackburn, easily handled the 49'ers from Clark Elementary, 42-0, on the arm of quarterback Herbie Salisbury and the hard running of his big backs. The team as a whole looked good. The 49'ers lacked polish in their first game but look to be tough as the season goes on.

In the second game, the story was different. The Flying Eagles, coached by Hershel Joseph, won out over the Colts, coached by Homer Neeley, by a close score of 6-0. This game was marked by the line play of the Eagles; also the running of quarterback Allen Cline and fullback Tommy Burchett. Both clubs show promise and could give the Cardinals a run for the championship.

Be sure to attend all future games and support our Little Leaguers.

WRPT Gets License For FM Transmission

Radio Station WRPT announced this week that it hopes to add FM transmission for night-time operation within the next 60 days.

Granted license by the Federal Communications Commission recently to operate an FM station, WRPT has awarded a contract for construction of a tower on a high knob on the Town Branch road, overlooking Prestonsburg. A road to the tower also is being built.

WRPT-FM will be at 105.5 on the FM dial, and the location of the tower has been made to afford the maximum range for this channel.

Daytime AM operation of the station will be continued, as heretofore.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Wingo, of Quincy, Indiana, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pamela R. Wingo, to Army Pfc. Winfred D. Harless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Harless, of Emma.

All Are Welcome

THIS CIVIL WAR CANNON, one of the many historic relics of the Battle of Perryville which was fought Oct. 8, 1862, will be examined by thousands of Boy Scouts visiting Perryville Battlefield State Shrine this year on Oct. 8. Many of the Scouts will take part in the Sixth Annual Perryville Boy Scout Trek, retracing the steps of Confederate and Union soldiers at the scene of fighting 104 years ago. The museum (in the background) at the State Shrine, houses a diorama of the battlefield and battlefield relics.

NATURE TRAILS
By RUFUS M. REED

Of all the animals the birds are the most interesting to study and we learn something new about them almost daily. A bird is an animal with feathers, and if it doesn't have feathers it is not a bird. Birds also produce their young from eggs. In this respect they are different from the mammals, which bring their young alive.

While we have lost many fine species of birds due to a lack of conservation, there are still a lot of them. There is an average of 35 birds for each human being, or roughly about 100 billion birds, divided into 27 different orders.

Birds change their plumage as autumn comes. They begin to moult in late summer and grow new feathers to get ready for the long migration, or for living through the winter. Many birds change their color to such a degree they are not easily recognized in their fall and winter plumage. Birds in the far north turn white in winter to match the color of the snow. The starlings become speckled all over with white as winter comes; the little male goldfinch, so handsome with his golden breast, black cap and wings, takes off these gorgeous colors and turns a dull yellowish-olive in winter.

Before winter comes birds may do one of three things: The tough, hardy gray and brown birds which depend mainly on weed seeds for food, do not migrate but stay in the region where they were reared; so these are called non-migratory. These birds include the ones with stout, heavy bills for crushing and eating grain and seeds, such as the cardinals and sparrows.

Birds which live mostly on insects have to migrate, since there are no insects in this region to capture in winter.

Other birds hibernate like the groundhog and the bear. These find a warm cave or a hollow tree and stay in it through the coldest part of the winter. Among the birds that hibernate are the poorwills of the west, which sleep in caves during the winter. The turkey buzzard also hibernates. It usually crawls into a cave or a hollow log and stays there during the cold months; it may be seen flying out in the first warm days of spring. Some of the hawks hibernate, and sometimes even the catbird has been known to hibernate instead of flying south. A man once reported to me of seeing a catbird hiding in a brush heap right in the middle of winter. It seems very little is known about the hibernation of birds.

While the whippoorwill all seem to fly south before cold weather, now and then one of these stays here. An old man once reported to me of hearing a whippoorwill singing on a high mountain until the heavy frosts came. All the others had long since flown south but this one apparently decided to stay and brave the rigors of winter. Whether it hibernated and lived is not known. The old man called it, "The Lost Whippoorwill," as he seemed to think it may have become lost from the others and remained behind.

The migration of birds is one of the greatest mysteries and is not yet fully known to scientists. How do birds migrate? How can a wild goose fly from a certain lake in Canada and take a beeline to a certain lake in Florida, two or three thousand miles distant? "She flies by instinct," you might say. But that does not answer the question fully. If a wild goose migrated with only her instinct to guide her, why does the flock of wild geese have to have a leader? This leader is always an old, experienced goose or a gander which has been over the migration route several times before and

Folk-Art Festival Fall Season Feature At Cumberland College

About the time nature starts changing her green mantle for her autumn coat of many colors, folks in Southeastern Kentucky's Cumberland Mountains will be swapping things, too — stories, songs and ideas in arts and crafts.

This is the time of an annual mountain folk-art festival at Cumberland, Kentucky, with the poetic name, "Kingdom Come Swappin' Meetin'." The dates are October 14-16 for this year's Southeast Community College of festival. It's sponsored by the University of Kentucky. Most of the activities take place in the college auditorium; the Saturday evening folk dance will be held at Cumberland high school.

The three-day celebration involves arts and crafts exhibits, folk music concerts, story telling, dancing, hymn sings and drama.

Noted folk-musician Pete Seeger will sing authentic mountain ballads and other songs while accompanying himself on guitar or banjo during several of the concerts. Jean Ritchie will perform on the dulcimer.

Jesse Stuart, Kentucky's poet laureate and well-known author, will also take part in the festival, telling mountain tales and swapping stories at the Saturday afternoon "swappin' session."

The art work of Kentucky's artist-naturalist Ray Harm and the Louisville Courier-Journal's prize-winning cartoonist Hugh Haynie will be on display throughout the festival along with the works of Southeastern Kentucky artists.

Hotel and motel accommodations are available in Cumberland and in nearby Harlan and Whitesburg. Campers may enjoy primitive camping in the scenic, mountainous area of Kingdom Come State Park, only four miles from the college.

POLLS SHOW CHANGE EDGE

Many Yet Undecided On Charter Revision, Pollsters Tell ETB

Although polls show a majority of Kentuckians favor the revised state constitution proposed for adoption in the November 8 election, they also show large numbers of voters still undecided, Governor Edward T. Breathitt said this week.

Oliver Quayle, of New York, reports that a sampling of opinion taken by his firm shows a three-to-two preference for revision of the old document, but also reveals some 40 percent of the voters have not made up their minds.

A similar poll of some 400 persons taken in Louisville and Jefferson county by Raymond A. Kemper and Associates indicated that while 55 percent of the people supported revision and 29 percent opposed it, 16 percent were still undecided.

"This indecision on the part of these sizeable segments of voters is traceable, I feel sure, to the fact that they have not taken the opportunity to read the new charter and compare it with the old, or view the revision film, 'To Become Informed,'" Gov. Breathitt said.

The Governor added: "For the benefit of the undecided, in an effort to help them make up their minds—arrive at the right decision, as I see it—I offer for their consideration a streamlined list of improvements that will result from revision. This list includes:

"An upgraded, more independent legislature, with better tools to represent the people; fast and true justice in the courts, under more qualified judges, and stronger schools, free of partisan politics, with the Department of Education headed by a trained educator chosen on merit.

"Also, a reduction in the number of general elections to one every two years, instead of one each year, with consequential reduction in their cost; lower interest rates on local bond issues; relief for the farmer from excessive property taxation; better protection of injured workmen.

"An end to the musical chairs game of rotation in office for those who trade jobs at the taxpayers' expense; more home rule and less control from Frankfort for cities and counties, with local officials chosen locally, and the allowance of the state financial aid for local government, thus reducing the property tax burden.

"There are some other points of the proposed charter that I want to clarify at this time. One is that it will not in any way increase the powers I have as governor. Another is that my term expires in December, 1967, a few months after the new constitution would become effective, and, under it, I cannot succeed myself.

"Furthermore, the new charter will not centralize power in Frankfort, as some have mistakenly or willfully claimed. Under the 75-year-old document, cities and counties must go to Frankfort to get permission from the legislature to deal with local problems. The new constitution provides for more home rule.

"Local communities, under the revision, will have the right to choose their own form of government. They also will have the right to determine what officials they want to govern their communities and how these officials shall be chosen—at home by the people who live there and not in Frankfort by the governor or anyone else."

CARD OF THANKS

We would express our appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who in any way expressed their sympathy upon the passing of our loved one, Sara Jane Ousley. We thank all those who brought food and sent floral offerings and especially the Baptist ministers and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their services.

LBJ, VEEP, GOVERNOR INVITED TO HOMECOMING SLATED AT WHEELWRIGHT

The Wheelwright Community and Community Methodist Church are to observe the Golden Anniversary homecoming, October 16-23, in Wheelwright.

Invitations have been extended to President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and to Vice-President and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey to attend the anniversary. Governor Edward T. Breathitt also has been invited and to proclaim the week of October 16-23 as "Golden Anniversary Homecoming Week."

The church hopes to raise $10,000 as a "Golden Anniversary Memorial Fund" to help meet economic needs and to help the church to face a bright future. Former members and friends are asked to help with their donations.

The following are activity dates:

Sunday, October 16, 11 a.m., Dr. Steadman Bagby, district superintendent, Ashland district, will hold the first quarterly conference; at 7:30 p.m., a music festival with singing of old-fashioned gospel songs.

Monday, October 17, 7:30 p.m., Youth Night, with a special program.

Wednesday, October 19, 7:30 p.m., Ladies' Night with special program.

Friday, October 21, 7:30 p.m., Memorial service: "The Church's and Community's Past, Present and Future."

Saturday, October 22, 6 p.m., Community fellowship supper followed by greetings from federal, state and local officials, churches and civic organizations,

Former Melvin Woman Victim Last Thursday At Ypsilanti, Michigan

Miss Beatrice Tackett, 38 years old, of Ypsilanti, Michigan, former resident of Melvin, this county, died last Thursday at Ypsilanti, following an illness of 12 years.

A daughter of the late Kemis and Minnie Jones Tackett, she was a member of the Joppa Regular Baptist Church.

Surviving are one brother and one sister, Sam Tackett and Mrs. Dixie Mae Bryant, both of Ypsilanti.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. at the Joppa Regular Baptist Church, ministers of that church officiating. Burial was made in the Burton cemetery at Ligon under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO...world's finest personal car

SEDAN deVILLE...another dramatic Cadillac surprise!

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece... with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control.

And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time... with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other achievements...the most luxurious interiors in history...a new generously padded instrument panel...a more responsive Cadillac engine... improved variable ratio power steering... and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover Cadillac for 1967 for yourself... at your authorized dealer's. Once you have personally seen and driven these exceptional new automobiles, you'll agree that never before has anything on the highway said new so beautifully...or Cadillac so well!

James Ratliff, Age 87,
Passes Away Friday
At Hospital Here

James Ratliff, retired Hueysville miner and farmer, passed away Friday at the Prestonsburg General hospital at the age of 87. He had been in failing health for the past three years.

Mr. Ratliff was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church.

He was the son of the late Ellen Ratliff and was married to Polly Sutton, who survives.

Survivors, other than his widow, are three sons, Sanford and William Ratliff, both of Albion, Michigan, Worley and Joseph Ratliff, both of Hueysville; seven daughters, Mrs. Pearl Shepherd, Mrs. Carrie Porter and Mrs. Dottie Neeley, all of Hueysville, Mrs. Mandy Gayheart, Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Mildred Refett, MacArthur, Ohio, Mrs. Cora Stone, of Allen, and Mrs. Maudie Hoover, of Hippo.

He also leaves 81 grandchildren, 130 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the Salt Lick Community Church, the Revs. James Johnson, Bill Strings and others officiating. Burial in the Gayheart cemetery at Hueysville was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

JACK STONE HEADS DRIVE

*Former Southern Bell
Manager in This Area
Is Red Cross Chairman*

Jack G. Stone, of Winchester, Southern Bell district manager, formerly of Paintsville, will head 1967 fund campaigns of the Red Cross in Kentucky, and will appoint vice-chairmen to help local chapter leaders plan for annual campaigns next March. He also was state chairman last year.

In Atlanta recently, Mr. Stone discussed the organization's fund needs with national fund co-chairman Dan C. Williams, of Dallas, Texas, national fund director Robert L. Harry, of Washington, D. C., and Southeastern Area officials. The 1967 campaign slogan will be "Help Us Help."

"The American Red Cross is heavily committed in Viet Nam," said Stone, "and also has been critically drained of disaster funds by such major catastrophes as last fall's $17 million Hurricane Betsy operation."

He said chapters not affiliated with United Funds will conduct campaigns next March. In some instances, supplementary campaigns will be held in UF-affiliated chapters.

In Viet Nam, he said, approximately 200 American Red Cross staff are assigned to fighting forces in the field, to hospitals, recreation centers and clubmobiles to provide welfare, recreation, and personal services.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Sidney Suthphin, Sr., take this means to express our appreciation to our friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown in any way upon the passing of our husband and father. We especially thank those who sent the beautiful floral offerings and the food; the Rev. Adrian J. Roberts for the consoling words; the organist for the beautiful music, and Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. To all of you, your help shall never be forgotten.

DEWEY LAKE REFUGE CLOSED
FOR NOV. 9-13 DEER SEASON;
REMAINDER OF COUNTY OPEN

Floyd county will be among the 74 Kentucky counties which will be open for the gun deer season opening November 9 and continuing through November 13. Six of these counties, however, which are open for the first time this year, will have only a one-day season, November 12.

The Dewey Lake game refuge will not be open to deer-hunters. The limit is again one deer per season, either by gun or bow and arrow, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Again this year hunting for both sexes will be permitted in some counties, while in others antlered deer only, with antlers at least three inches long, will be harvested.

The antlered season occurs in the eastern tier of counties. Counties open to this type hunting are: Lewis, Greenup, Fleming, Rowan, Carter, Elliott, Bath, Menifee, Morgan, Johnson, Magoffin, Powell, Wolfe, Estill, Lee, Breathitt, Floyd, Knott, Letcher, Rockcastle, Jackson, Owsley, Perry, Pulaski, Laurel, Clay, Leslie, Wayne, McCreary, Whitely, Bell and Harlan for the full five days and Knox county for one day, November 12.

Counties open for either sex are: Livingston, Lyon, Trigg, Crittenden, Caldwell, Christian, Union, Webster, Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Todd, Logan, Daviess, McLean, Ohio, Butler, Warren, Hancock, Grayson, Edmonson, Barren, Monroe, Meade, Breckinridge, Hardin, Hart, Metcalfe, Cumberland, Bullitt, Nelson, Larrue, Marion, Taylor, Green, Casey and Adair, for the full five days, and the new counties, Boyle, Russell, Henderson, Clinton and Allen for one day, November 12.

Guns which may be used in deer hunting are: Shotguns, 10-gauge maximum, 20-gauge minimum; shells with single slug. Centerfire rifles of not less than .243 caliber. Muzzle-loading rifles of .38-caliber, fired from the shoulder. Any size primitive weapon may be used on the Primitive Weapons Area only.
