SALISBURY RETURNED TO FLOYD FOR TRIAL

COURT TERM HAS HEAVY TRIAL LOAD

Two Murder Trials Listed, Two Others Possible at Session

Roy Salisbury, who early last month won in the Court of Appeals a reversal of the death sentence imposed on him for the slaying of Mallie Turner Demney, was returned Wednesday from Eddyville prison to the Floyd county jail to await a second trial.

The new circuit court docket lists him for trial Sept. 7, but it is almost certain a change of venue or a jury from another county will be asked, and that will leave the actual date of trial to be determined later. He was convicted in circuit court here by a jury of Pike countians.

The Court of Appeals reversed the death sentence for the 1964 slaying on the grounds that hearsay evidence was improperly used against him at his trial.

Salisbury was returned here by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, who earlier in the day had taken Edward Kidd, of Harold, to Central State hospital, Louisville, for possible psychiatric examination and treatment. Kidd, who is accused of the armed robbery of Cobert Hall, elderly deaf mute, of $900, was committed to the Louisville institution after his behavior (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

This Town... That World

Among the marital (marital?) tragedies reported is the case of the husband who regularly told sweet, young things his wife didn't understand him and who wound up getting shot by his wife when she finally did understand him.

POPULATION EXPLODED

You know, this racial business has got so touchy, a-body doesn't dare print an innocent sort of joke. I am one of these lowbrows who enjoys certain brands of slapstick, and I doubt if I'll ever find a TV program as amusing to me as Amos 'n' Andy and, particularly, the late and lamented Kingfish. But now the color line tightens matters till even creativity is hamstringing.

The anecdote I started to relate, back there, several lines ago, and then shied away from, is the one about the Negro who reminded the Indian that his race had outgrown the Red Man in America.

"Why, you were here when the white man came, and we didn't come to America till a long time later, and look, we've got you outnumbered, bad, man. How come?"

The Indian cracked his face with a grin and replied, "I'll tell you, mister—well, let's put it this way: If you fellows ever get to playin' this game of Cow-boys and Niggers, you'll get as scarce as we are."

Reynolds Plant Unionizing Move Is Before NLRB

An employee of the Reynolds Body Shop at Allen said this week that the issue of unionization of the plant is in the hands of the National Labor Relations Board.

The initial move toward organizing the plant, which employs about 60 persons, was reported to have been made by the AFL-CIO, but District 50, UMW, also is reported to be seeking the role of employees' representative.

Asked about the report that an effort is being made to organize the business, Jerry Archer, plant manager, admitted, "It's a possibility." He had no further comment.

ASCS TELLS POLL PLANS

Farmers To Elect Committee Members In Five Communities

Elder Goble, manager of the Floyd county ASCS office here, announced last week that the election of community committee members will be held next month in the five ASCS communities of the county.

Ballots will be mailed to eligible voters (owners of farms) on or about Sept. 7. The voted ballots must be mailed or returned in person to the office here by September 20.

The communities which will elect committee members are Right Beaver Creek, Left Beaver Creek, Mud Creek, Middle Creek and Cow Creek.

A slate of nominees will be selected by the present community committee. The county committee may add names of nominees to this list. Others may be added by petition. Petition must be limited to one nominee each, signed by at least six eligible voters in the community and received at the county ASCS office by August 25.

Francis Is Elected To National Office With Bar Examiners

Fred G. Francis, of the Prestonsburg law firm of Howard, Francis & Howard, was elected vice-chairman of the National Conference of Bar Examiners during the annual meeting in Honolulu.

Judge Robert E. Seiler, of Joplin, Mo., a member of the Supreme Court of Missouri, was elected chairman.

The National Conference has conducted its annual meeting in conjunction with meetings of the American Bar Association and its section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar. The program has included symposia on objective testing, the need of law schools to consider inadequate pre-law training and how to improve grading practices.

Other officers elected are: Paul E. Raymond, Daytona (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

SUIT SAYS WOMAN CLOSED MINE ROUTE

In a suit filed here last Friday two coal operators ask an injunction against a woman-landowner to restrain her from closing a road over her land which afforded their coal an outlet to market.

The plaintiffs, Hargis Hall and Ashland Compton, alleged that Viola Bailey "has wrongfully, forcibly and maliciously" stopped plaintiffs from using the road over her land "and is guilty of implied threats, belligerent attitude and conduct as have prevented plaintiffs from using said road."

They claim they own the coal on her land, together with all privileges granted by a deed executed in 1910 by a previous owner of the land to the Gibson Coal & Coke Company.

ages of $750 and ask that they recover from defendant $150 a day for each day the alleged interference has existed or will exist.

Two other suits filed in circuit court last week bring to three the number of legal actions against the Kentucky Power Company as a result of a woodland fire on Little Paint Creek in March, 1966 when power company equipment was struck by lightning. Tom and Elsie Leake are plaintiffs in one of the complaints; Claude and Eleanor Robinson, in the other. They allege they claim the fire was negligently caused by power company employees. The Leakes seek to recover $6,000 damages; the Robinsons, $8,000.

The first suit, filed by Cassie J. Allen, resulted in a judgment for the plaintiff.

COLLEGE JOB DELAY SEEN

Temporary Buildings Not To Be Complete For Opening of Term

Construction of three prefabricated steel buildings on the Prestonsburg Community College campus is getting a late start and will not be completed in time for the opening of the term, Aug. 31, it was said this week.

Arrival of materials is belated, and some of the blacktop surfacing done on the campus by the State Highway Department recently must be dug up because footers for the new structures are to be poured in the surfaced area.

The college will probably use some off-campus buildings until the new temporary structures are ready for occupancy.

The Wholesale Appliance Service, Prestonsburg, will do the building job here as a sub-contractor. The overall contract for construction of temporary office-classroom buildings at the college here and four other community colleges was awarded the U. S. Steel Homes Division, U. S. Steel Corp., New Albany, Ind., on its bid of $340,997.

FLOYD MEN PLAN RESORT

Hall and Allen Buy Tract for Developing Near Carter Caves

A multi-million-dollar resort development on a 227-acre tract adjoining Carter Caves State Park is planned by two Floyd county men, it was announced at Grayson, Ky., last week-end.

Smoky Valley Resort, Inc., announced that 183 lots are now available to purchasers and that 500 more in the Carter county tract will be offered for sale later.

Wade Hall, of Lexington, formerly of McDowell and Prestonsburg, is president of the corporation, and John Allen, Sr., Prestonsburg, is secretary-treasurer. Sale of the lots will be handled through the Wheeler Nickel Co., Ashland realty firm.

The tract which Hall and Allen have acquired is above the bluff overlooking the state park's Smoky Lake and is in view of the swimming area and Cavendish Lodge, across the lake.

'SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY' SET FOR PARK SHOWING

The Workshop Theatre of Pikeville will present a special production of "Spoon River Anthology" at the Jenny Wiley amphitheatre Aug. 22 at 8:30 p.m., it was announced this week.

The drama, composed of selections from Edgar Lemaster's book and featuring original and familiar folktales, will be directed by Jenny Cox.

Members of the cast and staff include Pikeville College students and faculty members and community players and will feature Holly Bowling, Rita Barton, Carol May, Freddie Matney, Benjie Rife, Glenn Kinder, Sue Ratliff, Marlene Roberts, Jay Carey, James Craft, John Stephens, Christina Goodman, and Sylvia Auxier. Spotlighted in gypsy-dark costumes, they will bring to life again such well-known Spoon River citizens as Lucinda Matlock, Dr. Myers, Ann Rutledge, Indignation Jones, Eugene Carmen, Mrs. Charles Bliss, Lydia Puckett and Varney Hainsfeather.

SEDITION HEARING SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Adams Low Bidder On Toler Cr. Job

A contract for bituminous surfacing on the Toler Creek road has been awarded by the Highway Department, Gov. Edward T. Breathitt and Highway Commissioner Mitchell W. Tindler announced.

Adams Construction Corp., Pikeville, submitted the low bid of $43,944.75.

The project will begin at the Pike county line and extend northwesterly to 2.3 miles south-southwest of KY 979, a distance of 4.4 miles.

CELEBRATION SITE PICKED

Elkhorn City Park Selected by UMWA For Labor Day Fete

The baseball park at Elkhorn City has been selected as the site of the 1967 Labor Day celebration for District 30, United Mine Workers, it was announced this week.

A beauty contest, music by bands from various local unions, "homespun" entertainment and addresses will feature the day. Joe Davis, chairman of the Labor Day Celebration committee, said.

Following the reports of C. E. Beane, District 30 president, and Matt Combs, secretary-treasurer, James W. Ridings, International Executive Board member, will deliver the principal address. Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be the other featured speaker.

Davis said all coal miners in Eastern Kentucky and their families are being urged to attend the celebration. A special invitation, he said, is being issued to all pensioners. A $50 prize will be awarded to a lucky pensioner at the celebration. Other prizes to be awarded are: a 1967 four-door Valiant, an electric dryer and a "Sweet Sixteen" shotgun.

There will be no gate charge.

ROAD BIDS SET, AUG. 25

Spurlock-to-Martin Route Being Readied For 1968 Completion

Bids for bituminous surfacing on the Spurlock-Buck's Branch road will be received Aug. 25 by the Kentucky Highway Department, it was announced last week by Gov. Breathitt and Highway Commissioner Mitchell W. Tindler.

Surfacing will begin at the end of the existing blacktop, two miles west of KY 80 at Martin, and extend a distance of 3.5 miles to a point near the mouth of Hollybush on the Spurlock side of the mountain.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said Tuesday he is hopeful of having a surfaced highway, all the way from the Mountain Parkway at the mouth of Spurlock to Martin, by the end of next year.

The road has been a joint state-county project. State highway workers completed the grade and drain work on the Bucks Branch side to the top of the mountain, county workers doing the grade and drain work on the Spurlock side to the existing blacktop.

Now, the county road department is rebuilding the old and narrow surfaced portion of the road from the Mountain Parkway up Spurlock. Judge Stumbo said completion of this work is expected in October.

GROUP PLANS AN ADDITION

Development Begun On 85-Acre Tract For Building Sites

Development of an 85-acre tract of land adjacent to Old US 23, near the top of Abbott Mountain, was begun this week by its owners, C. R. Hatton, Henry M. Conley and Clyde VanHoose.

TRIO JAILED AT PIKEVILLE AFTER RAID

Representative of AV, 2 with SCEF Accused; Literature, Films Taken

Examining trial for a husband and wife, staff workers of the Southern Conference Education Fund (SCEF), who were arrested at midnight last Friday in Pike county and charged with sedition, has been set at Pikeville tomorrow (Friday). The third person arrested, Joseph Malloy, held representative for the Appalachian Volunteers, is free under $5,000 bond.

The two yet in jail are Al McSurley and his wife, Margaret. Mrs. McSurley was offered her liberty under $2,000 bond but she chose to remain in jail when her husband declined to execute, or could not execute, the $5,000 bond asked of him.

Their attorney, Dan Jack Combs, of Pikeville, announced Tuesday he would seek a federal court order for their release. Circuit Judge J. B. Stephenson had earlier refused their liberation on a habeas corpus proceeding.

Commonwealth's Atty. Thomas Ratliff said a "truckload of seditious material" was taken from the McSurley home, including "Communist literature and films."

"Similar material" was taken from Mulloy's residence, it was said.

Among the material confiscated was what was described as a "white paper" outlining how to "take over" Pike county from the "power structure" and give the "poor a greater voice in its government."

Ratliff also said the couple was working closely with members of federal poverty programs in Pike county—specifically the Appalachian Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) and the Peace Corps.

Complaints that Communists were working among the poverty program people have been circulating in Pikeville for some time, Ratliff said.

He said, "We found names and addresses of people all over the country and various white papers on how best to indoctrinate the mountain people, how they intended to take power in this country, how to exploit the strip mine issue, how to infiltrate labor unions."

Ratliff added, "I think that the Johnson administration has allowed OEO funds to be used directly or indirectly to instigate trouble and unrest in Eastern Kentucky and the cities of this country."

The executive director of the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF), Carl Braden, was contacted at headquarters in Louisville. He was quick to come (See Story No. 3, Page 5)

HAROLD BRIDGE OPEN BUT USE FOR SCHOOL BUSES DOUBTFUL

Although open since last Wednesday afternoon, the future of the damaged bridge spanning the Big Sandy at Harold remains doubtful as a service medium.

Officially, one lane is open to light traffic. Actually, heavy trucks are using it.

But its future use, especially for school buses, is doubtful, and the feeling prevails that a new bridge is needed to replace the damaged 37-year-old span.

County Judge Henry Stumbo expressed the hope here this week that Appalachian funds may become available for new construction. Highway Department engineers were at the site, but no definite plans had been disclosed.

Highway Department workmen repaired the end of the bridge floor which collapsed last week by installing two heavy I-beams and laying cross-ties across them, providing a 12-foot roadway. The bridge was marked for pickup trucks and automobiles, but heavily laden trucks transporting logs from the Johns Creek section to a Mud Creek sawmill were crossing it.

Opposition to use of the bridge by school buses has quickly developed, since the school opening date is next Monday. A number of students are transported from the west side of the river, which includes the old section of Harold and Mud Creek, to the Harold elementary school and Betsy Layne high school.

Mrs. Dan Knauz, operator of the Harold Fuel Co., whose home is located at the west end of the bridge, said a group of parents has asked her to lead opposition to use of the bridge by school buses and also to spearhead a campaign for a new span.

Magistrate Dewey Roberts said the fiscal court has requested a new bridge from the Department of Highways. "We've been trying to get a new bridge for six months—or however long it's been since the bridge gave 'way in another place. They (the department of highways) placed a six and a half ton load limit on the bridge as long ago as last year because it was getting bad," he said.

Roberts said he believes the bridge is safe for auto and pickup truck use, but didn't comment on school bus use.

Mrs. Knauz said, "Some of the school children's mothers are strongly urging formation of a mothers' group to get something done about this bridge. They asked me about heading the movement."

"This bridge was so bad that a few years ago school buses had to stop at one end of the bridge and let the children walk to the other side to board other buses to go on to school," she said.

The damaged end of the bridge is on the railroad side of the river. The end next to US 23 appears the worse for wear, too.

REGISTRATION DATES FOR COLLEGE SET

Final registration dates at Prestonsburg Community College were announced this week by Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director.

All sophomores who preregistered will have their final registration and payment of fees on Thursday, Aug. 24, at 9 a.m. (EST). All freshmen who preregistered will have their final registration period on Friday, Aug. 25. Freshmen A through L will have final registration at 9 a.m. and freshmen M through Z, at 1 p.m. that day.

All sophomores and transfer students who failed to preregister will register for the fall semester on Monday, Aug. 28, at 9 a.m. Freshmen who failed to preregister will register Monday, Aug. 28, at 1 p.m.

Registration for evening classes will be held Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 28-29 at 7 p.m.

Classes will begin at the college on Wednesday, August 30. Dr. Campbell also announced the appointment of an additional staff member, Miss Sallie Lou Allen, who will be an instructor in nutrition. Miss Allen was graduated from Berea College and received her M.A. degree from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. She has had extensive work in home economics and public health. In addition to her work at the college, Miss Allen will serve as a consulting dietitian to Prestonsburg General Hospital and the Mountain Manor Nursing Home.

The addition of Miss Allen to the staff will enable the college to implement a two-year degree program in general homemaking and begin work in the nutritional fields.

Work on the new temporary buildings at the college has been delayed and will not be completed until the latter part of September. As a result some classes will be meeting in other facilities off the campus. Dr. Campbell said, "This delay in construction will, of course, result in some inconveniences. However, it is a sign of growth and with growth this is always progress."

Prestonsburg Community College this year will have a fulltime staff equivalent of 30 and is expecting a student enrollment of 550 for the fall semester.

In its fourth year of operation, the college has expanded its curriculum in order to begin implementation of new terminal two-year degree programs in the Allied Health Fields, Mining Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Journalism and General Homemaking.

GOLF COURSE GETS LIGHTS

Jenny Wiley Course First in Park System Open for Night Play

The Jenny Wiley State Park golf course became the first Kentucky park course to offer play at night Tuesday evening when Ralph Brewer, park superintendent, turned on the new lighting system at the course.

The nine-hole course will be open to play, seven nights a week, with the last tee-off time set at 9 p.m.

Visibility is good, a Big Sandy RECC spokesman said, but a final adjustment of the lighting will be made next Thursday after players have had time to make suggestions.

The Big Sandy REA cooperative installed the lighting system at a cost approaching $14,000. It includes 158 quartz lights on 29 poles placed to afford maximum lighting. Electric wires across fairways were placed underground to avoid interference with play.

SAY SCIENCE NOT BEYOND BEGINNERS

Are first-graders too young to grasp and retain such fundamental principles of science as those involved in making weight comparisons, using balances, recognizing and using angles, determining direction and distance and measuring forces with spring balances?

Absolutely not, unanimously agree 45 Eastern Kentucky elementary teachers and principals who are completing an eight-week special project in Pre-College Science Education this week at Morehead State University. (Thirty-nine of the 45 school personnel in the project are Floyd countyans.)

The project, the first of its kind ever conducted in the United States, involves teacher preparation in a brand-new, highly advanced method of teaching science in the elementary school.

The revolutionary new process, centered around the child and the use of his head and his hands, was developed by the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the National Science Foundation. It represents a major leap from the almost complete lack of modern science found in present-day school systems to one of the most exciting and stimulating approaches to teaching ever produced by educators in the scientific field.

"This is the greatest thing that has happened to education in years," says Mrs. Pauline Hicks, one of five teachers participating in the training from the Clark elementary school at West Prestonsburg.

Normally a third grade teacher, Mrs. Hicks will be teaching the new method at her school, one of seven in the county "to be saturated" with the new method through the first four grades this fall.

"I think the children will love it," she said, "because they will be involved in it. In my 11 years of teaching, I have never seen anything which captures the involvement of the early graders so quickly. It is amazing how quickly the children grasp the science principles presented at these early ages, and how contrary this is to the old belief that we had to wait until the child reached junior high or high school age before they would be ready for science."

Mrs. Ethel Ratliff, who teaches at the Prestonsburg elementary school, admits the new method will require considerable teacher preparation, but says, "The extra work will be more than justified, however, by the child's acceptance and the progress made."

"The first and second grades are the very place to start teaching the fundamentals of science because children are so quick to learn at this age and are so curious about everything around them."

The new approach demonstrated at Morehead has been pioneered in a few selected metropolitan areas, but this is the first time it has been introduced into a rural educational program.

Among those participating in the preparatory work at Morehead State University are 37 teachers and two principals from Floyd county where the new method will be taught to pupils in the first four grades in 20 elementary schools this fall. In 1968, grades five and six will be added.

These schools and the number of pupils to be involved at each and totaling more than 1,440 are as follows: Clark, 240; Prestonsburg, 300; Martin, 120; Maytown, 120; Wayland, 120; Osborne, 240; and McDowell, 300.

Frank Stewart, Floyd science consultant who works with some 12,000 youngsters in 40 consolidated schools and 40 rural schools, thinks the new approach is "a tremendous educational advancement."

"I am convinced," he says, "that the teachers who have taken this training will find it will improve their instructional abilities, not only in the teaching of science but in all of their teaching areas."

"There are many times when the teacher takes for granted that a student gets the point of the lesson simply from a demonstration which she herself puts on, but, in reality, there are always a few who do not understand, even with the most simple experiments, what is involved and what is being done," he said.

"I also believe," he went on, "that this new approach is going to be a contagious one. Those who will not have the benefit of it are going to demand it once they see how enthusiastic their schoolmates are about it. This is one reason we plan to use it on all levels."

Wilburn Goble, principal of the Inez elementary school, in Martin county, feels the new method will catch on quickly and spread rapidly once it is introduced into the school system in his county.

"This new approach to teaching will have far-reaching effects," he believes, "and could change the teaching techniques in other areas. The teacher who has been trained in this method and who uses its techniques will never go back to the old lecture method."

The program also can be instrumental in solving other educational problems in the Eastern Kentucky poverty areas, Paul Luxmere, a teacher at the McDowell elementary school, feels, because "it is just as effective for the child from a poverty-stricken home as it is for a child from a home of means."

"Many attempts have been made in the past to teach science, but this approach produces more of the desired results than any method previously tried to my knowledge," he went on. "It is a child-centered program, and the actual participation of the child in the establishment of the principles involved in the key to rapid learning."

Miss Shirley Bradley, who has been teaching for seven years in the Maytown school, believes her pupils "will go wild over it, because they don't have to do a lot of reading and because they will be using their heads and hands together."

"They will be finding out things for themselves rather than having them told to them," she added. "Their thinking is stimulated as they enthusiastically search for answers. I am so excited about this new method of teaching, I can hardly wait to get home and get started with it."

In charge of the project at Morehead University this summer has been Dr. Crayton T. Jackson, of the School of Science and Mathematics at the University. Dr. Edgar McCullough, professor of geology at the University of Arizona, Tucson, is the head teacher and co-director.

Three outstanding and experienced instructors also were brought to Morehead to lead the discussions. They are: Mrs. Alice Moses, supervising teacher at the University of Chicago; Mrs. Joyce Switzer, of the Monmouth, Ill., public schools, and Morgan Tartt, of the Tucson public schools.

All are expected to return to the Morehead campus in the summer of 1968 for the second eight-week training workshop involving the new science teaching techniques. A similar workshop already has been approved by the National Science Foundation for the summer of 1968 at Morehead State University with the training beamed at the type of science instruction applicable to the 4th, 5th and 6th-grade levels.

"Conservatively, this program is 10 to 20 years ahead of anything in use today," Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead University, has said, "and it can well be one of the most significant forward steps ever taken in science education in Kentucky's school system."

COMPLETES 'BOOT' TRAINING

Geat Lakes, Ill., July 21 — Seaman Recruit Jerry W. Robinette, 18, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Robinette, of Banner, Ky., was graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. His training was highlighted by participating in mid-America's "Salute to the Flag" ceremonies held at Soldier Field in Chicago. He was one of the more than 10,000 Navy men who formed a human "Living Flag" in honor of all men and women who are, or have been, in the U. S. Armed Forces.

'Startling Increase' Of Rabies in Animals Told by Epidemiologist

A "startling increase" in animal rabies occurred in Kentucky during the first six months of the year, according to Dr. J. W. Skaggs, assistant director of epidemiology, State Department of Health.

Last year, 125 laboratory-confirmed cases of rabies occurred in Kentucky, as compared with 135 cases in the first six months of 1967, Dr. Skaggs reported. This year's cases were reported from 34 counties in the Gave region and in scattered counties in East and Southeast Kentucky.

Dr. Skaggs said Kentucky has had no human rabies since 1961, when two persons in Eastern Kentucky died after having been bitten by rabid foxes. The state may face another rabies outbreak this fall because of the large number of cases already reported and the difficulty of controlling all wild and stray animals, he added.

Mrs. Mattie Hall, Resident of Dema, Is Victim Tuesday

Mrs. Mattie Polly Hall, 71, of Dema, died Tuesday night at the Whitesburg Appalachian Regional hospital following an illness of several years.

Born at Mayking, in Leitcher county, she was a daughter of John Henry and Lettie Craft Polly. She was the wife of Townsel Hall.

She leaves a son, Fred Hall, of Wayland; a daughter, Mrs. Larnar Sturgill, of Dema, and a sister, Mrs. Minerva Caudill, of Waynesburg, Ky. Also surviving are 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiated at the funeral held Friday at 10 a.m., at the home of the victim's daughter. Burial was made in the White Martin cemetery at Dema under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Peace Corps volunteers undergo training at the University of Kentucky Center for Developmental Change, with part of their training under simulated conditions that will exist in the country to which they will be assigned.

Long Illness Claims Mrs. Lida S. Nelson, Resident of Dwale

Mrs. Lida Shepherd Nelson, 58, of Dwale, died Friday in the Prestonsburg General hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Nelson was born at Water Gap, a daughter of Mrs. Lyle Wallen Shepherd, of Dwale, and the late W. M. Shepherd.

Surviving, besides her mother, are her husband, Denver Nelson; two sons, Bill Nelson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Ralph Nelson, of Dwale; a brother, Andy Shepherd, of Cincinnati, and three sisters, Mrs. Josie Nelson, of Dwale, Mrs. Anna Brown, Cincinnati, and Mrs. Goldie Shepherd, of Portsmouth, Ohio.

The funeral was held Monday at 10 a.m. at the Dwale Baptist Church, the Revs. Wallace Calhoun and Buell Ferguson officiating. Burial was made in the Shepherd cemetery at Dwale, the Floyd Funeral Home directing.

20 Students Attain College Dean's List, 8 with 4.0 Standing

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director, has announced that 20 students have been named to the Dean's List for the Summer Session at Prestonsburg Community College.

The Dean's List is composed of students who in carrying at least six semester hours of class work earn a 3.5 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Eight of the students named achieved a perfect 4.0 standing.

Students achieving a 4.0 standing were Betty Francis Childers, Lucy Culbertson, Shirley Ann Goble, Diana Hackworth, Deborah Jane Howes, Gerald Ray Pratt, Deborah Kay Sammons, and Jackie Sue Stone.

Other students named to the Dean's List were Brenda Rice Roberts, Sara Judith Smiley, David Michael Craft, Jo Anne Gearheart, Drema Kaye Howard, Jeanne Burke Moore, Johnny Redford, Boneva R. Stapleton, Joan Carolyn Stumbo, Norma L. Teisterman, Stephanie Marie Turner and Frank Allen Wells, Jr.

Being named to the Dean's List is the highest academic honor that can be achieved at the college.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking all who helped us upon the passing of our loved one, Archie Beverly. We especially thank those who sent flowers, food, or did anything to help; the Rev. James Burge for his comforting words, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its fine service.

OUR ERROR

The Times last week, in a news-story pertaining to the fertilization project at Dewey Lake, inadvertently listed Robert Burchett as president of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club. As most readers know, we should have stated he is president of the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club.

The Department of Microbiology, as a unit of the School of Biological Sciences at the University of Kentucky, is concerned with an understanding of the principles, structure, and function of living organisms.

Says Lease Bans Private Dump Use

The Rev. John Ousley, of Martin, explained this week that the lease he has executed to Floyd county for a garbage dump on Buck's Branch was made only for garbage to be dumped there from county trucks and not for use by private individuals. "My dump is still privately owned, and any one caught trespassing and dumping their garbage on my possessions without my permission will be liable for court action," he said, adding: "I thought it would be the right thing to do to let the people know just what the agreement is between me and the county so that there will be no misunderstanding."

EASTERN

HONOR MISS MARTIN

Miss Betty Lou Martin, daughter of Willie Martin, of Printer, was honored this week at a party given in her honor by her friends, Miss Barbara Wynsma and Miss Lois Holmquist, at their home at Eastern. Miss Martin was the recipient of many gifts. She will be leaving soon to begin nurse training in Lexington.

The refreshment table was decorated with pink candles and a centerpiece of lavender dahlias. Miss Sherry Skeans presided at the punch bowl. Those present were Mrs. Jack Stumbo, Miss Joan Stumbo, William Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. John Spurlock, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Warren, Miss Rose Gayheart, Miss Belinda Ellicott, Miss Marie Nuckles, Miss Anela Elliott, Miss Peggy Salisbury, Miss Sherry Skeans, Miss Nancy Clifton, Miss Vicki Martin, Miss Betty Martin and Sabrina, and the hostesses.

BREAKS AUTUMN SONG FEST
 SCHEDULED, SEPTEMBER 3rd
 AT SCENIC POTTER'S KNOLL

If you like good hymn-singing, outdoors beauty, and a day's companionship with pleasant folk, things are breaking your way at Breaks Interstate Park on the Kentucky-Virginia border.

There—at scenic Potter's Knoll, near Rhododendron Lodge—some 5,000 people will gather Sept. 3 for the annual Tri-State Singing Convention, sometimes called the Autumn Song Festival. Many visitors will bring Sunday lunches to spread on the ground, and from time to time they'll be asked to join in the singing with top vocal groups from Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia and other states.

The hymn-sing starts at 9 a.m. (EDT) and ends at 4 p.m., so there'll be time to enjoy the park's scenic treasures — especially the 1600-foot-deep gorge known as the "Grand Canyon of the South." The ageless flow of the Russell Fork of the Big Sandy carved the five-mile spectacle.

Campers and lovers of unspoiled nature find an ideal atmosphere at the park, seven miles from Elkhorn City, Ky. and eight miles from Haysi, Va., on Ky.-Va. 80. Visitors can hear the songs of native birds through a special sound system in the museum, see exhibits of Breaks flowers, animals and geology, walk through forest sections that look like they're still unexplored, discover unusual rock formations, caves, balanced rocks and hidden springs, or ride horseback along an extensive bridle path.

Ability to carry a tune in a picnic hamper is no requirement for enjoying the song festival. All it takes is a liking for old-fashioned music and a desire to see one of America's most scenic autumn showplaces.

To Sell Structures
 At Louisa Locksite

Col. William D. Falck, Huntington district engineer, Corps of Engineers, announced this week that bids for the purchase and removal of buildings located at the locksite reservation, Lock and Dam 1, Tug Fork, Big Sandy River, near Louisa, will be received in his office until 10 a.m. (EDST), Sept. 11, and then publicly opened.

Six structures will be sold: one two-story, nine-room frame dwelling; one one-story, two-room stucco office; one one-story, one-room frame coal house; one one-story, one-room frame shop; one one-story, two-room frame smoke house; and one one-story, two-room work house and privy.

The academic program of the College of Law at the University of Kentucky is conducted by 19 instructors and 11 library and secretarial personnel.

Preston Helps Repair Blasted Viet Bridge

Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam — When the Viet Cong blew out a bridge recently on Highway 1, the important supply route between Phan Rang and Cam Ranh Bay, the Army engineers were on the scene almost immediately.

Pvt. First Class Herbert Preston, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ishmal Preston, Drift, Ky., was one of the soldiers who participated in the fast construction project to get traffic flowing again.

It took only seven hours for Pvt. Preston and his comrades of Company B, 87th Engineer Battalion, to build a by-pass around the 80-foot bridge, using two bulldozers, a front loader and nine big dump trucks.

A carpenter in the company, Pvt. Lawson entered on active duty in October, 1966, and was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., before his arrival in Vietnam last April.

It's more than mere loyalty to place of birth that makes us proud to call Floyd county "home."

We naturally are proud of its scenic beauties, its friendly people and its great potential. But the mood of the place, the general quiet, the security we have in our homes, at play or at worship; the absence of those frightening things which beset other less fortunate places—these blessings of ours, standing out in such bold contrast to the senseless slaughter and destruction that afflicts others, make Floyd county "Home, Sweet Home," indeed.

The wedding will take place at 2:30 in the afternoon on Saturday, Aug. 26, in the Grace Baptist Church at East Shelbyana with the Rev. John C. Hatfield officiating. The gracious custom of open church will be observed and a reception in the fellowship hall of the church will follow the ceremony.

Bids Being Sought On Topmost Postoffice Under Lease Contract

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien has announced that the Postoffice Department is seeking competitive bids to build and lease a new postoffice building at Topmost.

"The purpose of competitive bidding," Mr. O'Brien said, "is to encourage the most attractive and economical offer to the government in line with President Johnson's economy program to achieve the best possible postal service at the least possible cost."

Under the lease-construction program the successful bidder will construct the building according to departmental specifications and lease it to the Postoffice Department for a basic period of eight years, with option to renew the lease for an additional 20 years.

The Postoffice Department's capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

All persons interested in this project should contact Real Estate Officer J. E. Smith, P. O. Box 60, Lexington, Ky. 40501, who will furnish information relative to bidding, supply bid forms, building specifications and lease provisions. Bids must be submitted to the real estate officer by September 1.

CAN ELECTRIC HEAT
SAVE MONEY WHEN YOU RE-MODEL?

□ ECONOMICAL TO INSTALL

□ ROOM BY ROOM COMFORT

Electric Heat can save you a wad of money because it can be added without expensive central heating equipment or extensive duct work. This means less labor and lower equipment costs. You save again because Electric Heat costs less to operate than most old-fashion heating systems. Yet the big advantages are safety and comfort. It's flameless. And you select the best temperature for each room.

$75⁰⁰ BONUS

Install Electric Heat now and we'll help pay the bill! All cooperative members can earn a special $75.00 incentive if they install Electric Heat in existing home or in new construction. But hurry... this is a limited offer. Contact our Power Use Department soon.

NEW SEASON FOR HUNTERS

Opens August 12th For Squirrel-Hunting; Prospects Are Bright

Kentucky hunters initiated the 1967 season Saturday when the 112-day squirrel season opened in all 120 counties.

Squirrel-hunters again this year have a split season. The season will continue throughout the months of August, September and October without interruption. Then a second season, Dec. 1 through Dec. 31, will be open for those who like to hunt the squirrel when the tree leaves have disappeared.

Biologists of the Department have reported a bumper crop of squirrels again this year, following the unusually good hunting that was offered last season. Many hunters found the squirrel more plentiful in the 1966 season than for a number of years and with a good mast crop (nuts, berries, etc.) this season an unusually good crop of young squirrels was produced.

The bag limit again this year is six with a possession limit of 12 after two or more days of hunting. Squirrels may be hunted in daylight hours throughout the prescribed season. All breach-loading rifles of .243 caliber or larger or shotguns loaded with slugs or buckshot are prohibited for squirrel hunting. All types of muzzle-loading weapons may be used, according to Commissioner Clark.

Schroeder's Article In Nat'l Magazine Gains Recognition

National recognition has been awarded J. Phillip Schroeder, 4808 Auburn Ave., Bethesda, Md., a manager of the American General Life Insurance Company, through the publication of his article, "Don't Invite Objections, Avoid Them," which appears in the current issue of The Insurance Salesman, one of the nation's leading business journals and the largest paid-subscription journal in the life and health insurance industry.

Mr. Schroeder is a former resident of Prestonsburg.

Schroeder's article, describing how the salesman can avoid objections to the purchase of life insurance, developed as the result of an inquiry by the magazine's editorial staff to his company's home office in Houston, Texas, requesting company officials to designate a man to submit an article in this particular area. He was selected by his company to do the job.

Mr. Schroeder attended George Washington University and has been in the business eight years. He has been in management six years and is one of American General's outstanding managers. He is also a member of their Millionaire's Club for his personal production and has received his OLU designation.

Low-Cost House To Be Built Soon

A low cost house that could aid the Lexington housing market is expected to be constructed in the city soon.

Two groups, including Community Action, Lexington, and Fayette county, have purchased a lot where a local builder will erect at cost the house designed at the University of Kentucky.

Cost of the house, including the lot, is estimated at about $7,000 to $9,000, and will be one of the first houses to be built within that price range at Lexington.

Both CALF and the City-County Planning Commission said the price range is significant because many who now are forced to live in slum areas pay rents as high as the payments would be on a $9,000 house.
