SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1967

This Town . . . That World

I doubt that I have ever looked forward to spring with keener anticipation. And today's sharp breeze whets it the keener.

ANTI-LITTER—HAH!

What might have been the most astounding news of the week would have come to me via a Frankfort news release, had I stopped at the end of the lead sentence. It read, "Lassie is anti-litter," and I was ready to take pen in hand and indite a philippic against this trollop and her lack of maternal instinct that would have taken the hair off. Then I read farther and learned that the old gal is against littering the land and will be doing her bit via t.v. next Sunday toward a cleaner America.

SACRED OR SCARED?

At hand is one of these "prose" pieces which, of all things, salutes a printing office. I'll not bore you with it all, only the last few lines:

From this place words may fly abroad,
Not to perish on waves of sound,
Not to vary with the writer's hand
But fixed in time, having been verified in proof,
Friend, you stand on sacred ground—
This is a Printing Office.

I was expected, I suppose, to hang this on a nail in the wall. But a joker hereabouts discouraged that idea when he hee-heed and declared there was a transposition of letters in that word, "sacred." Said the "c" belonged before the "a."

PARK WORK GIVEN OKEH

Commission Approves $703,500 for Cottages Pool, Other Projects

The State Property and Building Commission, at the request of Governor Edward T. Breathitt, has approved by unanimous vote $6,082,500 in revenue bonds to supplement other funds needed to finance an $18.8 million package of state park construction projects.

The Parks Department's construction program covers the period from last July to June 30, 1968. Included is $703,500 for development at Jenny Wiley State Park. Projects being planned, and almost ready for contract awarding, include 10 vacation cottages, a community-type swimming pool and bath-house, a sandwich shop at May Lodge, new trails, an incinerator, employee housing and recreation facilities development.

Breathitt said he was hopeful that many of the planned projects would be completed, or at least started, before he leaves office next December.

Financing, other than revenue bonds, will come from $7,370,250 in previously approved federal grants, $4.5 million from the 1965 state general obligation bond issue, $950,000 from the state road fund and other sources.

Governor Breathitt pointed out that the building program could exceed $18.8 million if the federal government approved several other grant applications for parks which are still pending.

Applications for grants are still pending for the following state parks: Carter Caves, Buckhorn Lake, Kingdom Come, Lake Cumberland, Pine Mountain and Rough River Dam.

LBJ NAMES BERT COMBS TO US BENCH

Ex-Governor Nominated To U.S. Ct. of Appeals; Leaders Praise Choice

Bert T. Combs, the former Prestonsburg lawyer who became Governor of Kentucky, was nominated last Friday by President Johnson for a judgeship on the Sixth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Thus was ended more than a year of speculation about the possibility of Combs' being appointed to fill the vacancy on the federal bench which was created by the retirement of Judge Shackelford Miller, Jr., of Louisville, who died three weeks after retiring in November, 1965.

The names of Combs and 11 others nominated by the President to fill vacant federal benches will go to the Senate for confirmation.

Supporters of Henry Ward, highway commissioner under Governors Combs and Breathitt, are hopeful confirmation of Combs will not be made until late in May. For, the moment his nomination is confirmed, Combs' work as chairman of the Ward Campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor will end.

The federal judgeship pays an annual salary of $33,000, with full pay continuing for life after retirement.

Leaders of both political parties expressed satisfaction with the appointment and commended Combs. But former Governor A. B. Chandler, who has been a political foe and critic of Combs since the 1955 primary, did not follow this trend. "I have no comment," he was quoted as saying. "Only time will tell the political effects it will have."

Ted Hardwick, Republican State Central Committee chairman, said, "I'm glad he got it. I know he'll make a good judge. It should take him out of Kentucky politics, which will intensify factionalism in the Democratic party . . . and that would be to our advantage."

Other comment: Governor Breathitt: "I'm very happy for him. I think he'll make an outstanding judge."

Lieutenant Governor Waterfield, Combs' political foe: "I'm delighted that a Kentuckian received this appointment. I believe Gov. Combs is a fine jurist and that he" (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

CA DIRECTOR IS RETAINED

Board Votes, 9 to 0, To Keep Morrison In Floyd Program

Douglas H. Morrison will be retained as Floyd county director of the Community Action program, it was decided Monday evening by the board of directors of the Area Redevelopment Association at Paintsville.

Glenn S. Anderson, chairman of the committee of inquiry which heard charges brought against Morrison by certain members of the board of directors of the Floyd County Improvement Association, introduced a resolution to the effect that Mr. Morrison be retained at his post but that he be reprimanded and placed under probation for a 90-day period.

The reprimand was for intemperate remarks allegedly made by Morrison at community meetings in the county. Before the Area Redevelopment directors could vote on the motion, Cecil Sturgill, of Harold, chairman of the Floyd Improvement Association directors, protested the resolution. "I don't know how the committee could come to this conclusion," he remarked, suggesting that Morrison be kept out of the county.

Nine of the area directors voted to adopt the resolution retaining Morrison, three abstained.

Three staff members of the Big Sandy Community Action program were appointed by Harry Eastburn, area director, to assist Mr. Morrison in the Floyd county work.

Burchett Arrested In Wednesday Raid

Banner Burchett was arrested Wednesday afternoon at his place of business at Knotley Hollow when officers found three pints of whiskey in a search of his premises. He was brought here but later executed bond.

The raid was made by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, ABC Agents Claude Flanery and Henry Goley, State Trooper Herron, Deputy Sheriffs Silas DeRossett and Tommy Engle.

5 CONVICTED DURING WEEK

Three Fined, Jailed For Rum Violations; Woman Wins Delay

Five convictions, three of which were for liquor law violations, have resulted from circuit court action within the week. Trial of the third whiskey case Wednesday ended the court session for the week, with the term to reconvene Monday.

The trial of Mrs. Maude Fitzpatrick, charged with counseling and assisting another in committing a felony, was continued upon the statement of a Tennessee doctor who said she is unable at this time to stand trial. The case was continued till the April court term but Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo has requested permission for another doctor to examine the defendant. She is residing in Tennessee after leaving the hospital here where she was treated for a broken hip suffered when she was either hit or thrown from a car or truck near David.

The trial of Russell Jarrell, charged with the slaying of Darwin Music on Slick Rock fork of Cow Creek, is docketed for next Thursday. A murder indictment will be returned by the grand jury when it returns here Jan. 30 against Noah Howell, alleged slayer of Noah Shannon, it was said this week.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo said that several cases have been dismissed when it appeared the defendants could not be found. He said Monday that any case will be reinstated if the complaining witnesses will report the whereabouts of defendants so that they can be brought before the court.

The liquor convictions this week:

Leon Moore, Albert Lewis and Lon Neeley, each fined $50 and sentenced to jail 30 days. Moore and Lewis entered pleas of guilty. Neeley stood trial. All three convictions were for possession of alcoholic beverages. The selling charge against Lewis was filed away, subject to redocket. The same action was taken on the selling charge against Mrs. Leon Moore.

Ike Spears was fined $50 for reckless use of a deadly weapon; Roy Turner, 30 days in jail on his plea of guilty to a charge of destroying private property. His sentence was later probated for a period of one year.

Cases dismissed: William Deskins, child desertion; Daniel Robinson, child desertion, on agreement of the parties and defendant's agreement to pay his wife $175 a month. (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

PSC ORDERS CUT IN RATE

Lackey Gas Users To Be Given Refunds; Old Rate To Prevail

The Public Service Commission has ordered United Utilities of Kentucky to refund to customers at Lackey the difference between the gas rates which it has charged since September, 1964 and the old rates charged by the Lackey Gas Company.

The order also directed that the company return to the old Lackey Gas Company rate in future billings.

The PSC order was made on the basis of a letter of complaint filed April 26, 1965 by County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill and others. This was followed by hearings, March 28 and May 2, last year. The complaint alleged that several customers of the Lackey Gas Company were switched to the Floyd County Water and Gas District which was operated by United Utilities and that the rates for gas had been increased.

The commission held that it had authorized no increase in rates. (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

SCENE OF FIRE AT WEST PRESTONSBURG. Two-story building at left was gutted, as was smaller building behind it. Debris-strewn area is site of levelled Wright Super-Market.

JENNY WILEY PARK 1-2 IN POPULARITY

Jenny Wiley State Park is one of the two most popular parks in Kentucky—and here's proof:

It and Cumberland Lake State Park are the only two in the state whose vacation cottage facilities are already completely booked for the months of June, July and August—and reservations for cottages began pouring into the business office at Jenny Wiley at two minutes past Jan. 1 midnight.

Park Superintendent Lowell Baker said that from that time until far into the next day two employees were kept busy at the switchboard and reservations desk taking calls.

WE&T FUNDS ARE CUT 30%

U.S. Officials Would Keep Floyd Program Intact, Cut Others

Eastern Kentucky's Work Experience and Training Program (variously known as the Unemployed Fathers and Happy Pappies) will get 30% less this year from the federal government, and how and where the program will be continued is being argued between federal and state officials.

The cut amounts to $5 million, which means that the number of these employed under the program will be reduced or wage rate will be in for deep cuts.

Officials of the Health, Education and Welfare Department at Washington want Kentucky to retain the original nine counties which began the project three years ago and cut adrift the 10 counties added since. (Floyd county is among these nine.)

The State Economic Security Department favors keeping all 19 counties and effecting economies by other methods. Above all, it wants the entire program continued through this winter.

"The cuts will be serious," Commissioner Les Dawson said. "But if the federal people will follow our recommendations, they will not be as serious as if we have to go back to the original nine counties."

The setup, known officially as the Work Experience and Training Program, pays jobless fathers up to $250 a month. The aim is to teach them skills and enable them to obtain gainful employment eventually.

About 5,600 men take part in 19 counties. The federal government, which finances everything, spent $17.5 million in Kentucky last year. But as part of a cutback in all anti-poverty projects, the state will receive only $12.5 million this year.

Dawson said the state assumed at first it had a free hand in deciding how and where to reduce benefits. Washington had other ideas.

The federal plan is simple: keep the program going at full steam in Bell, Breathitt, Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Perry and Pike counties. (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

Board Begins Work Of Purging Vote Lists Of Illegal Registrants

The Floyd County Registration and Purgation Board began a new attempt this week at correcting the county's voting lists.

Importance of proper registration has been emphasized by the local option contest suit filed by Wet forces, since the trial judge has held that a number of voters cast illegal votes.

W. B. Boyd, chairman of the purgation board, pointed out that:

1. Names of women who have married and have not registered, using their married names, or who have registered, using their husbands' names preceded by Mrs., will be purged from the registration lists.

2. The hundreds who are registered in precincts where they do not reside must register in their new precincts or have their names dropped from the list of legal voters.

Boyd, Henry P. Scalf and Tom James comprise the board.

ASKS FUNDS FOR PROJECT

Floyd County Second In State To Request Day-Care Continuance

Floyd county has become the second Kentucky county to vote for continuation of its rural day-care project.

The Floyd County Planning and Development Association asked that the one-year-old project, begun in May, 1966, be continued under the operation of the Kentucky Child Welfare Research Foundation, Inc.

Funds for continuing the project will be requested from the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity, State Child Welfare Commission Maurice A. Harmon, foundation executive director, asid.

CHICAGO GROUP BUYS PAINTSVILLE PLANT

Announcement was made Tuesday that Paintsville Outerware, Inc., a firm which is associated with the H. L. Friedlen Company, Chicago, has purchased the Paintsville Manufacturing Company from J. B. Wells.

The H. L. Friedlen Company has been a manufacturer of base garments since 1901.

Announcement of the transaction was made jointly by Joseph Cohen, president of Paintsville Outerware, and Mr. Wells. Amount involved was not told. Associated with Cohen in the Paintsville enterprise are Louis J. Horwich, president of the H. L. Friedlen Company, and Stewart A. Horwich.

Cohen said plant operations will continue from the Main street location used by Wells' firm and that a second building is being leased to house cutting operations. Enlargement of the plant will be made as conditions require, it was said.

The Paintsville development is one of a series which is bringing a variety of industry and employment opportunity to the Big Sandy region. Kentucky Appalachian Industries at West Prestonsburg recently occupied its new addition which provides an additional 10,000 square feet of floor space, and already company officials are talking of another annex of the same size.

Filling of the site for the U. S. Shoe Company plant scheduled for completion next spring across the Big Sandy from Lancer continues. The plant will ultimately employ 400, it is said. In preparation for opening of the plant 46 persons are in training at Archer City Park here.

Two or three other plants are interested in the area, City Manager Curtis Clark said this week.

The Princess Manufacturing Company at Auxier and the Betsy Layne Manufacturing Company are busy with contracts, and management of the former has been reported as considering operation of a plant at Salyersville.

One of the county's plants, in operation long before the influx of new industry, is the Reynolds Body Company, at Allen, which, it was said this week, is operating at capacity.

WEST P'BURG BLAZE LOSS OVER $50,000

Six Jailed Here On Liquor Charges, One for Transporting

Six men have been jailed here within the week on liquor charges.

Norman (Bob) Hall, who was arrested by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff John D. Martin, was booked on charges of transporting and possessing moonshine whiskey. Okie Hall was charged by the same officers with possessing moonshine.

The possession charge against Albert Salyers was only one of three lodged against him by Constable Kenneth Roberts who also accused him of drunk driving and driving without an operator's license. Roberts also jailed Kenneth Chaffins on a possession charge. Joe May was booked by Deputy Sheriff Silas DeRossett on a possession count.

Others booked at the jail: Craig Crisp, reckless driving and destroying private property. (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

YOUTH DIES OF INJURIES

Billy Ray Ousley, 19, Crushed Beneath Car At Pyramid, Wednesday

Nineteen-year-old Billy Ray Ousley was fatally crushed beneath an automobile on which he was working at his home at Pyramid Wednesday afternoon and was dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

A neighbor said young Ousley had driven the car onto a bank, used a timber as a rear-wheel scotch and had crawled beneath the vehicle to make a repair. The car rolled backward, crushing his chest.

The victim, a son of Fred and Susanne Conley Ousley, of Pyramid, completed Maytown high school at the end of the first semester. He is survived by one brother and three sisters, Adis Ousley, Marie Ousley and Mrs. Cora Medlock, all of Pyramid, and Mrs. Angeline McClawun, of Warner Robbins, Georgia.

The body is at the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning.

One fireman admitted that water pressure "was not up to standard."

Destroyed along with the supermarket itself was a poolroom which Wright had only recently opened.

Firemen finally subdued the flames and left the scene, around 2 a.m. Monday, but they were back again at 7 a.m. Mattresses stored in the two-story structure had smoldered through the night and had finally burst into flame. (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

3 BUILDINGS HIT BY FIRE, STORE RAZED

Explosion Inside Store Scatters Flames, Bars Chance To Halt Fire

A fire which was not brought under control till after five hours of firefighting destroyed Wright's Super-Market at West Prestonsburg Sunday night and left two nearby structures gutted and useless.

Jesse B. Wright, manager of the super-market, estimated his loss at $50,000. This figure included the damage to a small dwelling-house owned by him. The loss was only partially insured.

The blaze started in the small house owned by Wright and occupied by Frank Gibson. The rear of this building was adjacent to the store. Also badly damaged was a two-story building owned by G. R. Fannin.

Firemen succeeded in preventing spread of the fire to the home of Mrs. Jane Harris which adjoins the structure where the fire started, but an explosion of kerosene inside the store scattered the flames throughout its length and made impossible attempts to save it.

One fireman admitted that water pressure "was not up to standard."

Destroyed along with the supermarket itself was a poolroom which Wright had only recently opened.

Firemen finally subdued the flames and left the scene, around 2 a.m. Monday, but they were back again at 7 a.m. Mattresses stored in the two-story structure had smoldered through the night and had finally burst into flame. (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

We Think Dawson Is Right

The Times agrees with Commissioner Dawson, of the state Department of Economic Security, in his argument with Washington about how to handle Kentucky's caseload of "unemployed fathers" in the face of a 30 percent reduction of funds.

Washington argues that the program should continue unabated in Floyd and eight other Eastern Kentucky counties, on the grounds that they are "charter members of the club," so to speak; and that the other 10 counties, comparative newcomers to the relief program, should be dropped entirely.

Commissioner Dawson counters with a plan which would hold down the cost of the program to the limits established by the $5 million fund reduction. This could be achieved, he claims, by dropping all fathers who have been in the program more than two years. This plan, he explains, would continue the full program till the end of next month, with the worst of the winter weather past, and would keep in the program those fathers who are enrolled in vocational training and those who are finishing work in high school equivalency classes.

Dawson also would reduce the current pay ceiling from $250 to $230, or lower.

Why, indeed, should the program serve only the original nine counties? A cut in federal funds doesn't decrease the need in those other counties. If it does, cut out all the funds, and we're all home free.

And the elimination from the payroll of those who have been program beneficiaries two years and who are not in vocational or high school training might result in a beneficial work of screening. This program was designed not merely to elevate the standard of living of poverty-stricken families by paying fathers to get relief jobs and draw their pay for an indefinite period. Its aim, instead, is to train fathers, academically and vocationally, to hold jobs with private employers, become wage-earners and productive citizens.

Those who are content to remain on the public relief rolls through all their productive years and refuse the help that could make them responsible fathers, responsive to the needs of those who look to them for food, clothing, shelter, education and the normal care a parent owes his own — these should be given a "vacation" while others are given a chance.

Programs which deal with widespread human need come near to defying perfect, or even efficient, administration. Now, when funds are not as plentiful as they once were, might be the moment when those in charge should take a long, hard look at the entire situation.

We Congratulate Bert Combs

Bert Combs and his great capacity for service may be lost to Kentucky government, now that he has been nominated to the U. S. Court of Appeals bench, but his abilities are not lost to the country.

Thousands of his supporters had hoped he would be a candidate for Governor this year. Many saw the need of his hand in Frankfort; these remembered his history-making term in office which ended almost four years ago.

Perhaps our own thinking is influenced by personal regard for the man and his family. At any rate, we are not among those who are not glad that he chose the federal post instead of the rough-and-tumble of Kentucky politics. We are glad that he can cast anchor in the quiet waters of a federal judgeship and be spared the treachery of all the cross-currents of Kentucky political life.

Bert Combs is that rare individual who combines the judicial mind with executive ability. He belongs on the bench where his talents may be fully used and not publicly abused.

It is gratifying to this newspaper to follow the fortunes of one who has earned for himself high honors and who has thus honored his own Eastern Kentucky.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(January 8, 1937)

The Prestonsburg city council, at its first meeting of the new year, faced a literally dark prospect: a power company representative informed the council that unless the city pays its overdue power bill the city's street lights would be shut off. Grand jury action this week saw a total return of 70 true bills, with three murder indictments included. The Floyd county grand jury this week heard testimony to the effect that a group of Magoffin county men, as a part of an organized band known as the "Black Leg Legion," crossed the county line on Middle Creek, April 2, and severely beat Miles Barnett, 40-year-old Floyd farmer. Dan Thacker, of Jones Fork, was struck and killed by a hit-and-run auto Saturday night on the Lackey-Hindman road near the Stumbo Memorial hospital. Ellis Hale, 28, principal of the Bonanza high school, is in critical condition in the Paintsville hospital as a result of scald burns received Monday evening when a boiler exploded at a saw-mill at Bonanza. Seven others were seriously injured in the explosion. Reports, this week, from the local relief offices, state that approximately 1,076 men and women, at present, are employed by WPA projects in the county. Married: Miss Helen Darnell, of Frankfort, and Mr. Ed Osborne, of Catlettsburg, here Dec. 31. There died: Patrick Harmon, of Bonanza, Wednesday.

Twenty Years Ago

(January 16, 1947)

Floyd county's Dry vote of Sept. 30 stands, Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill ruled this morning (Thursday) in dismissing the contest action of Bill Hall, Prestonsburg liquor store owner. Arthur Hall, 33-year-old miner, was shot and instantly killed at a roadhouse near Boldman, shortly after midnight Saturday. Tentative recapitulation by Tax Commissioner Clive Akers of the 1946 tax assessment for Floyd county shows a total property evaluation of more than $15,000,000—an increase of around $4,000,000 over the previous year's assessment. Luther Osborne, 20 years old, was instantly killed at 8:30 p.m. last Thursday when struck by a coal train near his home at Bevinville. Burns suffered last Wednesday when her clothing ignited from an open grate at the home of her parents, resulted in the death on the following day of two-year-old Eugondi Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Watson, of Dana. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reynolds, Jr., of Martin, a son, Jan. 7; to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds, of Martin, a son, Jan. 7; to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rice, of Martin, a daughter—Brenda; to Mr. and Mrs. Mann Preston, of David, a daughter, Sunday. There died: Mrs. Mary Newsome, 36, of Teaberry, Monday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, following the birth of her eighth child; James Stidham, 76, Saturday at the home at Wayland of his step-son, W. R. Middleton; Mrs. Albert Childers, 63, at home at West Prestonsburg, last Thursday morning; Rondall Shepherd, six months old, last Wednesday at the home at Hueysville of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd.

The semi-finals will be played at 7 and 8:30, Jan. 27, with the finals on Saturday, Jan. 28, at 8:30 p.m.

Cook-Johnson Vows Said at Wheelwright

The wedding of Miss Donna Faye Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Cook, Sr., of Price, and Mr. James Rodney Johnson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Harve Johnson, of Ligon, took place at 8 p.m. Dec. 23 at the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright.

The Rev. James E. Casey, Jr. was the officiating clergyman. The double-ring vows were exchanged under an arch covered with pink carnations.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of bridal satin with the bodice accented by a small bow and having a bateau neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Her veil was caught at the crown of chintilly lace covered with pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and green leaves tied with white satin streamers to a bridal Bible.

Miss Lydia Jane Oaks was the bride's only attendant. Mr. Gary Parsons served as best man. Ushers were the groom's brother, Gary Johnson and the bride's brother, Bill Cook.

The reception after the ceremony was held in the church social hall. The bride's table was centered with a five-tier white wedding cake covered with pink roses.

Mrs. Johnson is a senior at Wheelwright high school. Mr. Johnson is a junior at the University of Kentucky. The couple will move to Lexington this summer.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of the late Zella Layne "Tootsie" Blackburn, wish to express our deep gratitude to everyone who in any way helped us at a time when friends were so needed. All contributions of food, linens, flowers and many other needs were so helpful to us. To the hospitals, doctors, nurses and special friends we express our special thanks. Their services were more than others could offer. Many thanks to the ministers, Revs. Scott Castle, Bennie Blankenship and Jack DeRossett, who conducted the funeral service and the church and choir who gave their service. We can never forget our friends and especially the Floyd Funeral Home for its services.

Community Chorus Reorganizes for '67; Rehearses for 'Elijah'

The Prestonsburg Community College Chorus is re-organizing for the 1967 season.

Aiming at a late spring performance at the college, the chorus, under the direction of Gus Kalos, will spend much of its rehearsal time on Mendelssohn's 'Elijah.'

Mr. Kalos received his BA from the University of Kentucky, and his Masters from Indiana University. Originally from Lexington, Mr. Kalos has travelled extensively in Asia, spending most of his time in Korea and Japan. He has directed choruses throughout the state, and now makes his home in Prestonsburg, where he is not only director of the Community Chorus and the choir at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, but also the chairman of the Division of Fine Arts at Prestonsburg Community College.

Now at 60 voices, the chorus will expand to more than a 100.

'Surprise' Snowfall Closes Floyd Schools

A four-inch snowfall Wednesday night closed all schools in the county today (Thursday), including the Prestonsburg Community College.

The snow caught weather forecasters napping again. It appeared to be spotty and little appreciable precipitation was reported in Central Kentucky.

But Dawson maintains that the added counties—Menifee, Morgan, Elliott, Wolfe, Owsley, Jackson, Clay, Knox, Pike and Martin—are in most instances worse off economically than many of the original nine.

In essence this is his alternative proposal:

Retail all 19 counties but drop fathers who have been in the program more than two years. This would lower the rolls by more than 2,000.

Reduce the current $250 a month benefit ceiling to $230 or lower.

Do not remove from the lists any jobless fathers now enrolled in vocational or related training, work by contract under a private employer or finishing high school equivalency classes.

Continue the full program at least until the end of February, when the worst of winter presumably would be over.

Dawson said the most controversial aspect is his proposal to chop the maximum benefits. In effect, Washington has been paying grants on the basis of 100% of need and Kentucky wants it lowered to 86.5 per cent.

Dawson estimated more than 28,000 families in the 19-county area don't get public assistance or federal aid, yet earn below the $3,000 a year fixed as the poverty level.

From this situation stem complaints that the maximum benefit for jobless fathers often exceeds the salary of any employed fathers.

The commissioner said the most urgent need is for more vocational education and that it would be disheartening to interrupt the training of mountain folk when they are on the verge of "moving on to better things."

The next step in negotiations, he said, is for Kentucky to prove to Washington that it has no state money set aside for the Happy Pappy program. There won't be a new biennial state budget until next year and the current budget makes no such provision.

Dawson said all caseloads under the program have been frozen as of last month. Participation ranges from as low as 54 in Menifee county to as high as 557 in Perry county.

Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show up on other cars. Two years late. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year. When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers wouldn't turn a Pontiac loose with anything less than a standard 400 cubic inch V-8. Or a Tempest with anything less than our revolutionary Overhead Cam Six. (Not to mention all those new safety features like GM's energy absorbing steering column and a dual master cylinder brake system with warning lamp.) In short, our engineers seem to have done it again. They may even start asking for royalties on the copies.

KEA COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS FOUNDATION PROGRAM CHANGES

Special to The Times
Louisville, Ky. — Far-reaching changes to take Kentucky's Foundation Program for education from its present minimum level to one that meets the test of adequacy have been proposed by a Kentucky Education Association (KEA) committee after a two-year study.

"Beyond the Minimum . . . A New Dimension for Kentucky's Foundation Program for Education," published by the KEA Committee for the Study of the Foundation Program, urges that the 1963 General Assembly take major steps to transform the school-support program into a more dynamic vehicle for raising Kentucky's educational standing.

Among the recommended changes are these:

1. An incentive plan that would provide extra state funds to school districts making a local tax effort greater than a specified minimum rate. The incentive funds, which could be used for any school purpose, would add a layer of quality to the educational program. The plan, however, would be optional for local school districts.
2. Salary allotments approximating the national average for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees. (The 1965-'66 national figure was estimated at $4,925 compared with Kentucky's Foundation Program allotment of $4,500.) Allotments for the three experience categories within each of the three degree-teacher ranks should be in graduated steps that would allow a teacher to receive a maximum salary of twice the beginning salary after having earned a master's degree and acquired the maximum amount of experience as specified by the state salary allotment. (This would mean that a teacher with a master's degree would earn at least $10,000 a year after 10 years of experience.)
3. Significant increases in allotments for capital outlay and current operating expenses, which have had no Foundation Program adjustments since 1960 despite spiraling costs and demonstrated need for new classrooms, instructional materials, and supporting services. The committee recommended at least $1,400 per classroom unit for capital outlay compared with the present $600. For current operating expenses an allotment of at least $1,500 was recommended to replace the current $900 allotment.
4. A statewide bond issue or a more adequate local base for the issuance of bonds to erase a backlog of building needs that in 1965-'66 amounted to more than $213 million. This would be in addition to the recommended $1,400 allotment for capital outlay, which is needed just to maintain the status quo.

5. Kindergarten classes in all school districts to be financed through the Foundation Program, which now finances only grades one through 12.

6. Merger of school districts that have an enrollment of fewer than 1,500 students with the county district in which such districts are located.

7. Immediate addition of five more teaching days to the current required minimum school term of 190 days (of which 180 days are teaching days). Consideration should be given soon afterwards to adding another 10 days for approved in-service, pre-service, or post-service programs. This would bring the total school term to 200 days or 10 months.

8. A reduction in the pupil-teacher ratio for a basic classroom unit from the present 27-to-1 ratio to 25-to-1.

9. An adjustment allowing school districts to receive one ASIS (administrative and special instructional services) unit for every seven—instead of eight classroom units, as at present. ASIS units permit employment of superintendents, assistant superintendents, principals, finance officers, guidance counselors, and other special instructional personnel.

10. An increase in special-education units to take care of all physically and mentally handicapped children who should be enrolled in such classes.

11. Provisions for extended employment under the Foundation Program for all instructional personnel so that state aid can be given for summer school and other special summer programs.

12. Sabbatical-leave-with-pay for teachers, as is now permitted for faculty members of public institutions of higher education.

13. Foundation Program calculations based on previous-year figures rather than current-year figures so that boards of education can prepare their budgets well ahead of time and teachers can know their salaries before they sign contracts or agreements.

14. The granting of fiscal autonomy to elected local boards of education through removal of the statutory limitation on school-tax rates that may be set by such boards.

In making its recommendations the Committee, whose chairman was Trigg county Superintendent Roy McDonald, of Cadiz, paid tribute to the effectiveness of the present Minimum Foundation Program.

"Enactment of Kentucky's Foundation Program law in 1954 was a bold and forward-looking step that marked the state's commitment to equal educational opportunity for all its children," the report noted.

The wide-ranging improvements that have come to Kentucky's school program since then "could not have been possible without the springboard provided by the Foundation Program," the Committee asserted.

Listed among the improvements were better qualified teachers (94.3 percent with a bachelor's degree or higher compared with only 60 percent when the Foundation Program began), abandonment of 85 percent of the one-room, one-teacher schools, the growth of vocational and special education programs, a substantial cut in the dropout rate, and greater enrollments in colleges or schools that offer advanced training in career fields.

The KEA Delegate Assembly at a special session in December, 1964 directed that the study be made. The State Department of Education worked in close cooperation with the study committee. In addition to Chairman McDonald, a former KEA president and former state senator, the committee included these members:

Leaders To Confer On Roadside Dumping

Frankfort, Ky.—Dr. Russell E. Teague, Kentucky health commissioner, says open dumps and roadside dumping of solid wastes constitute one of Kentucky's most troublesome—yet ignored—health problems.

This is a problem that concerns mayors, county judges and health officials throughout Kentucky, and they have been invited to attend a meeting in Frankfort, Jan. 18, Teague says.

They will discuss solid waste storage, collection and disposal, as it applies to public health. The meeting is sponsored by the State Department of Health and the U. S. Public Health Service. It will begin at the Health Department Building at 8:30 a.m.

Current production nationally of solid wastes total more than 800 million pounds a year and estimates are that it will rise to three times that by 1980, Teague points out.

The American Public Works Association reports that the annual outlay for refuse collection of solid wastes total more than $1.5 billion, exceeded only by the cost of schools and roads.

Numm Says Governor Should Call Session On the Time Question

A Republican gubernatorial candidate said recently that Gov. Edward T. Breathitt should call a special session of the legislature to deal with the daylight saving time question and a Democratic state representative praised the governor for refusing to call one.

In Glasgow, Louie Numm, who lost by a slim margin of 13,000 votes to Breathitt in the 1963 governor's race, said in an interview, "I don't think the governor should arbitrarily decide not to call a session on the issue."

Numm is one of two announced candidates for the 1967 GOP nomination. The other is Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook. Meanwhile in Frankfort, state Rep. Henry Overman said in a letter to the governor that Breathitt's "policy to petition the federal Congress to delay the effective date of this federal time law . . . is . . . the only proper course to take in the interest of all citizens of Kentucky."

Breathitt has refused to call a special session, claiming the issue can be handled without legislation and citing the cost of a special session.

Overman, citing indications that five of Kentucky's nine neighboring states will accept daylight saving time under the 1966 law. Overman said a deviation by Kentucky "could cause a serious time confusion which would affect the free and efficient flow of commerce with these adjoining areas."

"Northern Kentucky . . . has a direct economic tie with the metropolitan area of Cincinnati," he asserted.

"Therefore strong consideration should be given to any action on this subject of time change, so Northern Kentucky . . . will be on a compatible time with its economic region," he said.

Numm cited a poll by the Legislative Research Commission (LRC), which shows state legislators overwhelmingly in favor of the session.

"If the members of the legislature think it is an issue, they represent the sentiments of the people," Numm said.

SERVICE PATTERN CHANGE OF COUNTY AGENT TOLD

The county agent as Kentucky has known him is not disappearing.

But in the future the agent's office will involve all the professionals and work with business, as various area specialists from the University of Kentucky concern themselves with every kind of local and regional problem, delegates to the Kentucky Cooperative Conference were told in Lexington last week.

Dr. Lewis W. Cochran, UK provost and dean of the Graduate School, said the University already has area specialists and extension professors at work.

You get more for your money with Blue Cross-Blue Shield because overhead and operating expenses are lower.

There are many reasons why Blue Cross-Blue Shield are the favorite with Kentuckians. Normally, the hospital and doctor are paid direct, so you have no claims to file.

FEB. 4 TO MARK BEGINNING OF STATE COMMEMORATION OF ITS 175th ANNIVERSARY

Frankfort — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will open commemoration of the 175th anniversary of the Commonwealth at Louisville Feb. 4, the date in 1791 on which President George Washington signed the proclamation that resulted in Kentucky becoming a state the following year. The commemoration, to last throughout 1967, will open with a candle-light tea at Locust Grove, the last home of George Rogers Clark, whose winning of the West made possible Kentucky's statehood. Observance of the anniversary throughout the state will include:

Re-enactment of Kentucky's first Constitutional Convention at Danville, June 1; re-enactment of the first meeting of the Legislature at Lexington; Frankfort highlights in Kentucky history; emphasis by the Filson Club and groups from Locust Grove and Farmington on Clark and the pioneers who settled at the Falls of the Ohio; midsummer trek of Kentucky's flintlock rifle team, following the route of the pioneers from Cumberland Falls, with shooting matches along the way.

The Kentucky Historical Society will republish "Kentucky in Retrospect" (1942), updated and enlarged. The Society will also have struck a commemorative medal and reproduce an edition of rare old Kentucky maps.

The anniversary will be commemorated in schools and by religious and fraternal organizations.

The proclamation designating 1967 Kentucky's 175th anniversary and directing the Historical Society to commemorate it was signed last August by Breathitt.

Frank G. Rankin, Louisville, is chairman of the Commemoration Commission and Wallace J. Williamson III, Ashland, is coordinator. The Commission, now being formed, will be composed of historians and civic leaders.

A native of Illinois, William Munson, was the first graduate of the University of Kentucky. He moved to Texas and became a successful attorney and financier.

There are more students enrolled in the University of Kentucky's Community College system than are in the freshmen and sophomore classes at the campus in Lexington. Since the new academic plan became operative at the University of Kentucky, average grades of entering freshmen have moved upward.

MAYTOWN TEAM TAKING 15-1 SLATE INTO TOURNEY

Langley, Ky.—The L.I.T.-bound Maytown Wildcats will be going into the tournament with a 15-1 record. This is the first trip to the prestige-packed Louisville Invitational for Coach Gene Frasure or any Maytown team.

The bid has partially fulfilled the high hopes of a team that has been playing together since junior high. Seniors Mike Tallent, Rudy Thacker and Eddie Stewart, junior Jim Bailey, and sophomores Tom Stewart and Randy Click were on the Maytown grade team in 1962-'63.

Maytown will meet Louisville Flaget in Male high gymnasium at 8:45 p.m. Thursday (Jan. 19). From meager scouting reports the Wildcats have a good chance of winning the first round. If they do they will meet the winner of the Allen County-DeSals game in Freedom Hall, Friday evening. The semi-finals and the final game will also be played in Freedom Hall.

The Maytown team will be led by the double-barrel shooting duo, senior guard Rudy Thacker, averaging 25 points per game, and the agile dead-eye from inside, senior forward Mike Tallent, averaging 27 per game.

Providing rebound strength is 6-foot-7 junior center Jim Bailey. Giving added strength under the boards is the sharp shooting sophomore, Randy Click. The other starter is sophomore Tom Stewart.

Senior guard or forward Eddie Stewart is the sixth man and will see lots of action if necessary. A starter last year, he was sidelined with a broken foot until the second semester. Further bench will be provided from these reserves who also have a 12-1 record for the season: Senior Delbert Martin, sophomores Keith Hicks, David Gibson, Kenny Patton and Jackie Halbert, and freshman Rodney Hicks.

Maytown's 14th and 15th wins came on the road at West Liberty (Morgan County high), Jan. 10, and Georgetown (Scott County high), Jan. 14.
