Oswald said, has gone for other purposes — the Medical Center and others. "When the Ag farm was acquired, it was said then that this land is not needed and never will be," he recalled.

Turning to the responsibilities of the University, Dr. Oswald considered how UK is to meet demands made upon it and yet not grow too big. His answer, he said, is the community college system. At this time, he said, approximately one-fourth the freshmen and sophomore college students in the United States are in colleges such as the Prestonsburg Community College, and some predict that in years ahead the community colleges will have 75 percent of the students for these first two years.

Dr. Oswald told the gas company employees of his pleasure in having had a part in Kentucky's community college system. He recalled that he arrived in Lexington on a Saturday to assume his duties as president of the University on the following Monday. "On Sunday night Gov. Combs called me to go to Prestonsburg on Monday to break ground for the community college here. So I recall with pleasure that on that very first day as president of the University I had the opportunity, here in Prestonsburg, to express my interest in community colleges."

He commended Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of Prestonsburg Community College, for his leadership and spoke of plans for Building No. 2 on the campus here.

Dr. Oswald was introduced by Robert Burchett, Foremen's Club program chairman. Bill Music, outgoing president of the club, presided at the election of officers.

The new officers of the Foremen's Club are Bob Meade, president; James Patton, vice-president; John Dale, Jr., secretary, and Joe Arnett, treasurer.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Homer Bevins has been admitted to the Prestonsburg General hospital for examination.

The new 40-bed Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin which was dedicated recently. The hospital opened, July 21.

CARD OF THANKS

We gratefully acknowledge every kindness extended to us during the illness and upon the death of our mother, Mrs. Ann Dixon. We would especially thank the Rev. Moses Kitchen for his comforting words, the special singers, the members of the Prestonsburg high school football team and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its efficient services.

THE FAMILY

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the wonderful people for the many kindnesses shown up upon the passing of John Thomas Varble. We would like to thank the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Martin, Ky. for its efficient service, and to express our most heartfelt thanks to the minister, Bennie Blankenship, for his kind and consoling words.

THE FAMILY

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to thank the Rev. Virgil Knipp, Jr., the members of the Allen Methodist Church, and all of those who by their presence, flowers, cards or acts of kindness have shown so much thoughtfulness and sympathy to us in the passing of our loved one, Rex V. Hays; also, our deep appreciation to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

ALLEN

George W. Snodgrass attended the Past Masters' meeting of Poage Lodge at Ashland recently. Mr. Snodgrass has the distinction of being the oldest living past master of the lodge. He was accompanied by his son, John W. Snodgrass, who also visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snodgrass, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Snodgrass, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Heyl, all of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Allen had as their guest last week Mrs. Pearl Williams, of California. Before returning home, Mrs. Williams will visit relatives in Flatwoods, Ky., Columbus, Ohio, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Mrs. David Leuder, of Winchester, spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Frazier.

NEW BOAT SLIPS

A covered boat dock with slips for 40 craft is being built at Barren River Reservoir State Park near Glasgow. The dock, costing $87,000, will have fresh water and electricity at each slip. Fifty open boat slips are in use at the park, a new recreation facility being developed by the State Department of Parks.

PIKE SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS ON STRIKE FOR HIGHER PAY

Pike county's school troubles have snowballed. First, the county's 600 teachers went on strike, Sept. 15. Then the school-bus drivers took a walk.

The teachers have been promised pay increases averaging $400. They demand from $50 to $100 more.

The bus drivers demand across-the-board pay raises of $40 a month. Their spokesman, Hobert Campbell, said regular drivers are paid $160 a month and that the maximum pay set for any contract driver on a bid basis is $225 a month.

The Pike county Board of Education was reported considering both striking groups and their demands at Wednesday's board meeting.

Over the week-end, the teachers reported their resolve not to return to the classroom until "the situation has cleared up." And they were getting support from the National Education Association (NEA) which announced that $50,000 in interest-free loans would be available to the teachers.

$4,145,204, split 50-50 by the state and federal government.

By 1969, the Kentucky program is expected to total 342 projects on federal-aid highways at a cost of $5,307,000.

Administrator Bridwell paid tribute to Kentucky for the work it has done on its own in this field: "The Kentucky Department of Highways has completed many projects aimed at improving the safety of its roads with 100 percent state funds, and is to be commended for its traffic safety efforts."

"Some of these spot improvements," he explained, "are comparatively small jobs, not involving huge sums of money, but they bring almost immediate results."

As an example of an improvement which produced dramatic results, he cited a project financed entirely by state funds on U.S. 60 south of West Liberty in Morgan county where a stretch of two-lane narrow pavement with steep grades and sharp curves across what is locally known as Index Hill was the scene of numerous accidents. Pavement and shoulders were widened, curves and grades reduced, and a third lane was added where needed at a cost of $658,207. Due to the corrections, the number of accidents dropped from 17 during two years prior to the improvement to two during a similar period after the work was finished—a reduction of 88 percent. The number of injuries fell from nine to one—a reduction of 89 percent.

HILL HEADS ASC GROUP

Community Committees Chosen in Balloting By Floyd-Co. Farmers

Farmers of Floyd county, voting by mail, elected a Community Committee of three members from each of Floyd county's five communities.

Approximately 1,500 ballots were cast.

Tabulation of votes showed that the following were elected as community committeemen and delegates:

COMMUNITY A, Right Beaver Creek — Wayne Cox, chairman; John R. Baldrige, vice-chairman; Will Boggs, regular member.

COMMUNITY B, Left Beaver Creek — Joe C. Moore, chairman; Rex Gearheart, vice-chairman; Jake Bates, regular member.

COMMUNITY C, Mud Creek — Bill Hall, chairman; Add Scott, vice-chairman; Joe Sturgill, regular member.

COMMUNITY D, Middle Creek — Joe Ed Slone, chairman; Woodrow Fitzpatrick, vice-chairman; Henry M. Conley, regular member.

COMMUNITY E, Cow Creek — W. V. Woods, chairman; Graham Burchett, vice-chairman; T. P. Walters, regular member.

These delegates, or their alternates, met at the ASCS office here last Wednesday to elect one member of the county committee, and Harry T. Hill was reelected for a three-year term on the county committee.

The delegates also elected these to positions on the committee:

Harry T. Hill, chairman; Roe Cox, regular member; W. V. Turner, vice-chairman; Melvin Woods, first alternate, and Columbus Wright, second alternate.

These new committeemen took office October 1.

There was no change in office personnel. Elder Gobie remains as office manager and Virginia C. Howard as program clerk.

PAINTSVILLE'S MAYOR WELLS RESIGNS AT COUNCIL MEET, BLASTS POLICE AND COURT

Paintsville's five-term mayor, J. B. Wells, resigned his office Tuesday night and walked out of the City Council meeting then in progress.

And now the question arises: Does Paintsville have a mayor or is the office vacant?

To complicate the matter, the City Council soon afterward voted, 3-2, not to accept the resignation. Besides, it has been pointed out, Kentucky statutes provide that if a resignation from office is to be effective, it must be made in writing. Wells' resignation was oral.

The mayor gave as his main reason for quitting the office "lack of cooperation" on the part of the City Council, the Board of Health, the Police Department and the Police Court.

During the remarks which accompanied his resignation Wells referred to the city's "Mickey Mouse police department and Mickey Mouse police court."

More concentrated, how-to sessions will be set up for teachers later in the year, Press said. "Right now we just want to spread general word about what educators—and parents—can expect from us when we go on the air next fall."

How television is used in the classroom, in-service teacher training, course selection and curriculum planning, the readying of schools for television reception and sources of funds for local ETV equipment will be among topics discussed at the Big Sandy meeting.

Mrs. Peggy George, New Chapter Matron

Mrs. Peggy George was installed as worthy matron of Adah Chapter, No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, Sept. 25 at Masonic Hall here. Mrs. Alice Kawaja, Jr., past deputy grand matron, was the installing officer. Halem Kawaja, deputy grand patron of District 5, was the installing worthy patron; Thelma Jones, installing marshal; Betty Jo Sayers, installing chaplain; Nelle Cary, installing warder; Pety Thompson, installing sentinel; Lack Roberts, organist; Patsy Evans, soloist, who sang the favorite songs of the new worthy matron and worthy patron.

The chapter room and dining room were decorated with the Star Point colors. The outgoing matron, Betty Jo Sayers, expressed her appreciation to all who assisted her during her year and presented each with a gift. Mrs. Nelle Carey presented her with her Past Matron's Pin, after which she expressed her thanks for the kindness and helpful assistance her officers gave her. In her retiring address, Mrs. Sayers gave a detailed report on her year in the East. A motion was made to enter the report in the minutes of the Chapter.

Mr. Kawaja, the deputy grand patron of District 5, was introduced and given a special welcome by the worthy matron. Other visiting worthy matrons and patrons, as well as members from other chapters, were introduced and welcomed. The following officers, in addition to the worthy matron, were installed for 1967-'68: Douglas George, worthy patron; Lois A. Evans, associate patron; Nancy May, associate matron; John D. Hill Howard, secretary; Burista Gearheart, treasurer; Stella Laferty, conductress; Ruby Clark, associate conductress; Joyce Allen, chaplain; Leatha Joy, marshal; Lack Roberts, organist; Gladys Powell, Adah; Nancy Stanley, Ruth; Sue Reynolds, Esther; Lillie Mae Price, Martha; Mable Jean Lemaster, Electra; Clara Warrix, warder; Robert Wallace, sentinel.

Following her address, the new worthy matron presented the installing officers with gifts of appreciation and expressed her gratitude to those who were present from visiting chapters. Refreshments were served in the dining room by the retiring matron, Mrs. Sayers. The meetings, beginning next month, will be at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m., on the second and fourth Mondays.

ALICE LLOYD COLLEGE SETS LEADERSHIP DAYS ENDING FOUNDER'S YEAR

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Alice Lloyd College will close its 50th anniversary Founder's Year observance with a special program, Oct. 15 and 16, recognizing outstanding contributions to leadership by several state and national figures.

Proclaimed by Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt as "Two Days for Leadership," the program will feature visits by

W. M. (Bill) Hall, 79, Passes Away Sept. 21 At Pikeville Hospital

W. M. (Bill) Hall, 79-year-old Harold farmer, died at 10:10 a.m., Sept. 21, at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

A native of Floyd county, Mr. Hall was a son of Tipton and Polly Jane Tackett Hall. His wife, Mrs. Mary B. Frazier Hall, survives.

Survivors, other than his widow, are eight sons, Willie Hall and James Howard Allen, both of Harold, Burt and Bill Hall, Jr., both of Peebles, Ohio, Gene Hall, of Berkeley, Texas, Cecil Hall, of Belleville, Mich., O. C. Hall, of Akron, Ohio, and Deanie C. Hall, of the U. S. Army; four daughters, Mrs. Frances Thacker, of Pikeville, Mrs. Goldie Parsons, of Akron, Ohio, Mrs. Ruth Collins, of Urbana, Ohio, and Mrs. Janice Lou Brown, of Amherst, Va.; two brothers, Butler and Joe Hall, both of Harold; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Tackett, of Hurricane Creek, and Mrs. Lilly Martin, of Harold.

He also leaves 28 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday, Sept. 24, the Revs. Luther Conn, Milford Adams and others officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

guests to elementary and secondary schools in Eastern Kentucky. Guests will be given the opportunity to speak with public school officials and students, thus learning first hand the problems of education in the mountains, and the progress being made in upgrading mountain educational systems.

"The college hopes," said President William S. Hayes, "that this event will help broaden state and national leaders' understanding of Appalachia. Also, we hope that the recognition of present leaders will help influence mountain youth to similar lives of leadership and service."

The two-day event will also include a banquet at which the honored guests will be presented citations for leadership achievement.

BLACKBURN-BAYER

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Blackburn, of Prestonsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rhea Lynn Blackburn, to Mr. William David Bayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ernest Bayer, also of Prestonsburg.

The wedding vows were exchanged in a double-ring ceremony Sept. 10, at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church in Prestonsburg, with the Rev. William D. Jagers officiating.

For the 5:30 candlelight ceremony, the church was decorated, using white tapers, satin roses, white grapes and English ivy. Floor candelabra in cathedral arrangement backed the white peau de sole and lace covered altar table which held an arrangement of white roses, Fuji mums, pittisporum and English ivy in a silver urn with matching five-branch silver candelabra of Old English design on either side. Identical floral arrangements of Fuji mums, white roses, English ivy and pittisporum with white taper centers in silver bowls were used atop the piano and organ.

Appropriate musical selections were furnished by organist, Mrs. Joe Buchanan, and soloist, Miss Jan Collins.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of white silk peau de sole, fashioned with empire bodice, detailed with re-embroidered Alencon lace, portrait neckline and long sleeves tapering to callia points over her wrists. The slim skirt, with lace motifs, was completed with wateau chapel train. A petal lace headpiece, with tiny pearls and crystal, secured her bouffant veil of English silk illusion. The bride carried a cascade of white roses, white pearlized grapes, dracaena and ivy atop a white satin Bible.

Miss Suzanne Blackburn, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore an empire-styled formal gown of petal pink silk saki with circle neckline and A-line skirt. The elbow-length sleeves were banded with velvet and Venice lace. The bridesmaids wore Misses Peggy Blackburn, Gayle Hunt, Betty Jo Greer, Charlotte Arnett, all of Prestonsburg, Miss Deann Bayer, sister of the groom, of Miami, Florida, and serving as junior bridesmaid was Miss Debra Jean Lafferty, of Prestonsburg. These attendants wore Paris pink creations identical in style to that of the maid of honor. All the attendants wore headpieces of ivy and pink pearlized grapes with tufts of silk illusion. Their cascading hand bouquets were of pink roses, grapes and English ivy. Miss Sandra Kay Lafferty, of Prestonsburg, served as flower girl.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise ensemble of Alaskan silk with matching accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the groom was attired in a dress of cognac brown silk and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white cymbidium orchids.

Dr. Charles Field, of Chicago, Ill., served as best man. The taper-lighters were Mr. Dexter Patton, Prestonsburg, and Mr. Charles Herron, Holden, W. Va. The ushers included Mr. Herbert Stapleton, Jr., Mr. Bill Tom Fannin, both of Prestonsburg, Mr. Gary Bailey, of Langley, Ky., and serving as junior usher was Master Kevin Reed Banister, of Delbarton, W. Va. The ring-bearer was Master Tommy Robinson, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The wedding reception was held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Those assisting at the reception were Mrs. Shannon Greer, Mrs. Fred Goble, Mrs. Donald Hunt, Mrs. John Allen, Jr., and Mrs. Adrian Lafferty.

The former Miss Blackburn is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and attended Prestonsburg Community College.

Mr. Bayer is a graduate of Logan high school, Logan, West Virginia, and attended the University of Miami, Miami, Florida. He has served two years in the armed services, including a tour of duty in Vietnam with the 4th Infantry Division. Mr. Bayer is now attending Tri-State Engineering College in Angola, Ind.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Bayer will reside at Silver Lake Trailer Court, Route 1, Angola, Indiana.

HONOREE AT SHOWER

Mrs. Anna Wilson Bianchi was honored with a baby shower Sept. 25 at the home of Mrs. Thurman Clark in Hampton, Va. The home was decorated in pink and blue, and a large stork hung from the ceiling. Mrs. Bianchi was given pink carnations, and she received many gifts from friends. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson, of David.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to all of our friends, neighbors and relatives who in any way expressed their sympathy upon the passing of Jessie Castle; special thanks to the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

Aquilla Harmon, 58, Brother of P'burg Man, Claimed at Paintsville

Aquilla (Quill) Harmon, 58, of Paintsville, native of Floyd county, died Tuesday in a Paintsville hospital.

A retired custodian of the Citizens National Bank at Paintsville, Mr. Harmon was a son of the late William and Lucy Garrett Harmon.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Aretta Stapleton Harmon; three sons, Aquilla Richard Harmon, of Urbana, Ohio, Thomas D. and Charles L. Harmon, both of Paintsville; five daughters, Mrs. Gene Thompson, of Ironton, Ohio, Mrs. James Skiles, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Higgy Paul Burchett, Mrs. Tollie Bayes and Mrs. Wayne Griffith, all of Paintsville; five brothers, Lee Harmon, of Prestonsburg, Carl Harmon, of Tampa, Fla., Arthur, Bill and Fred Harmon, all of Paintsville, and a sister, Mrs. Southie McKenzie, of Paintsville.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist Church at Paintsville, of which he was a member, the Revs. J. H. Burton and Bob L. Jones officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery at Paintsville, the Jones & Preston Funeral Home directing.

Dr. Maiden Employed As Consultant Here For Health Program

Dr. Joanna Maiden, of Meadowview, Va., has been employed as medical consultant for the new Floyd County Comprehensive Health Services Program.

Dr. Maiden received her M.D. degree from Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa., and interned at Baptist Memorial in Memphis, Tenn., and at City Memorial in Winston-Salem, N. C. Last year, she received a master's degree in public health from Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.

Since 1957, except for sabbatical leave for additional study, Dr. Maiden has practiced medicine in Nigeria. While there, she was superintendent of a 40-bed general hospital in a remote area. Her work also involved outbreak preventive medical work.

"We are very fortunate to obtain a doctor of her caliber," Dr. R. L. Hall, head of the Floyd County Health Department, said. While in Prestonsburg, Dr. Maiden and her mother will reside on Dickerson Avenue in the Porter Addition.

Mrs. Lona Belle Jones, 67 years old, died suddenly Wednesday at her home at Grethel.

Mrs. Jones was a daughter of John and Mary Hamilton Hall and was the widow of J. M. Jones.

Survivors include six sons, Burnis Jones, of Beaver, Delmar and Shelby Jones, both of Columbus, Ohio, Carl and Bennie Jones, both of Grethel, and Dennis Jones, of Ligon; five daughters, Mrs. Postella Mitchell, of Beaver, Mrs. Jeanette Trott, Mrs. Clara Woods and Mrs. Roxana Bentley, all of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Daugherty, of Grethel; two sisters, Mrs. Nan Roberts, of Ironton, Ohio, and Mrs. Frances Hall, of Grethel.

She also leaves 32 grandchildren, one of whom, Miss Debra Hall, was raised by Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence Saturday at 11 a.m. Burial will be in the Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Shown in photo are the first gifts to the Prestonsburg Community College Early American Traditional English Commons Area donated by the family of Mrs. Edith James. There is a zither, an early mountain instrument; a dulcimer, made in Knott county; a coverlet, made in Floyd county; a spinning wheel and an English scene representing our Kentucky heritage. Also shown are the drawings for the Commons Area by G. L. Shannon, architect.

MINE-RESCUE TEAMS VIE IN 'WORLD SERIES'

By ANNE MOORE
(In The Courier-Journal)

Five miners huddled over an outstretched form. Softly, intensely, the tallest told what had happened:

"A truck driver backed his dump truck over the edge of a mine refuse bank into a pool. He was pinned at the waist by the top of the cab and his head was beneath the surface of the water. He was found lying face down, unconscious and apparently not breathing."

Minutes later, the mine-rescue team from Jenkins, Ky., had given the victim artificial respiration and treated him for shock. Deft fingers had applied tourniquets, splints and bandages to eight wounds and fractures.

The men from Beth-Elkhorn Corp. Mine 26 worked fast and intently.

"Cover him, baby, cover him!" team captain Claude Brown called. Within seconds, the man had been deposited gently on a stretcher.

A whistle blew. A voice announced over a microphone, "Time is up. Count is beginning for the first overtime period." Judges peered down at the victim, checking knots, testing padding. Then they stood back.

The man on the stretcher sat up, and another exercise in the 22nd National First Aid and Mine Safety Contest at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center was over.

The two-day biennial "World Series of Safety," which ended yesterday, brought together men who have seen death—and saved life—in widely separated mining areas.

They tell of riding 90 miles in the middle of the night, holding a pressure point on a patient's leg until the man could be gotten to a doctor. They tell of rescuing a 65-year-old man after a 95-foot fall at a strip-mining site. They tell of an entire mountain's falling in, of legs twisted incredibly in the "squeeze"—and of those legs walking again.

Nor do their rescue tales deal only with mine disasters. Unpaid, sometimes unchanked, they use their skills on the nation's highways, ball parks and in neighbors' homes.

Not that the miners boast of the lives they have saved. They don't keep count.

Warnie Flat, Jr., member of the Beth-Elkhorn Mine No. 25 team, has been doing rescue work since he first learned it as a Boy Scout in 1936 in Jenkins, Ky. Anthony Ippoliti and Charles Panuska have been on the Hannah Coal Co. Franklin No. 25 team, of Cadiz, Ohio, since 1942.

Howard Fox, new member of the Imperial Smokeless Coal Co. Imperial No. 2 team, Quinwood, W. Va., said, "It's learning, and it's experience. You get to know that you can be a part of this and help save men's lives. . . . When you see families standing around when there's a disaster, you know that you want to help."

Many did not even try to explain. "It's a way of life," one said simply.

In the biennial first-aid and mine-rescue contests, winners were:

1. International Harvester Co.'s Wisconsin Steel Coal Mines team, from Benham, Ky., captained by Kenneth Dixon, took the Congressional Medallion Trophy in the mine-rescue contest. It outdistanced two U. S. Steel Corp. teams, one from Lynch, Ky.

2. U. S. Steel's first-aid team from the Maple Creek Mine, near Monongahela, Pa., led by Ronald O. Hartzel, won the Congressional Medallion Trophy in the first-aid contest with a 99.36 percent average in five tests.

3. In the combination first-aid and mine-rescue competition, Island Creek Coal Co.'s Holden Division team, from Holden, W. Va., was winner of a Congressional Medallion Trophy.

4. A Canadian team representing Crow's Nest Industries, Ltd., of Fernie, British Columbia, topped 136 mine-rescue teams in national competition in Canada to win the right to compete in the U. S. World Series of Safety.

Medical Association Elects Dr. Brockman

Dr. George F. Brockman, a specialist in internal medicine from Greenville, Ky., became president of the Kentucky Medical Association at an installation ceremony held last Wednesday during the three-day annual meeting in Louisville which ended Thursday. Elected by the Association's policy-making body, the House of Delegates, Dr. Brockman succeeds Dr. Robert W. Pennington, London, who presided at the 1967 meeting.

A native of Louisville, Dr. Brockman previously served KMA as speaker and vice-speaker of the House of Delegates. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Louisville School of Medicine in 1935 and his M.S. degree from the University of Kentucky in 1939.

Thacker asks $100,000 for pain and suffering, $100,000 for impairment of his earning power and $10,000 for past and future medical and hospital bills.

Two days earlier, Ralph Ramey sued Mountain Investment on his own behalf and as administrator of the estate of his daughter, Sonja Sue, who was killed in the explosion. His action asks $100,000 for the estate; and for himself $25,000 for pain and suffering, $25,000 for impairment of his earning power and $1,000 for medical and hospital expenses.

Edward C. Stewart, administrator of the estate of Christopher Hayes Stewart, filed suit last Thursday, asking a total of $205,000 of Otis Cooley, of Prestonsburg, driver of the car which struck and fatally injured young Stewart, July 22, on KY 89, near Allen. He alleges gross negligence and recklessness on the part of the defendant in the operation of his auto.

Stewart asks $150,000 compensatory damages, $50,000 punitive damages and $5,000 funeral expenses.

Life will go on without you.

Not all traffic fatalities are caused from drinking while driving or speeding. But too many of them are. Even if you don't have an accident, you could be arrested . . . heavily fined . . . lose your license (and maybe your job?). You know all of the arguments against speeding or drinking while driving. If you still want to do it . . . remember: life will go on without you.

CONGRATULATIONS

A large number of business firms and others have used liberal advertising space in this week's Times to congratulate our neighbors, the Ray Howard Furniture Stores, on their opening in their fine, new building. We had thought to do likewise, but we'll put it here, on Page 1, in smaller space:

Congratulations, friends, on your handsome, new quarters. Wish you were here—and I there.

THE MYSTERY SOLVED

I am not one to stir up trouble, especially trouble between fishermen, but must get it into the record that I may have discovered why the fish aren't striking for me, over at the lake. L. J. Music says Red Osborne and Neil Allen have hooked and lost so many, they all have sore mouths.

INTEGRATION

A touch of frost and escape from tree-stripping rain and wind, and these hills will be the grandest example of color integration ever seen between one October and the next.

Fodder, it says here, is when corn is in a state of shock.

THAT'S WHY

Then there was the case of the little four-year-old who was lost in this big, old department store, and the floorwalker chided him, "Why didn't you hang on to your mother's skirt?"

"I couldn't reach it!" the toddler wailed.

This winds up the exercise in how not to peck out a column. I haven't, as Don Marquis might have said, "dug a weekly grave" —I've made it, I fear, a rather shallow excavation.

During the hearing statements were taken from seven citizens, and the consensus of their opinion was that a fair trial of the case cannot be had here.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo announced that he will file with the Court of Appeals an appeal from Judge Conley's order when it is made. He explained that he is doing so to protect against a possible appeal by the defense after another trial has been held.

Defense attorney Burnis Martin lodged objections to a venue change.

Judge Conley in his review of the case prior to the hearing pointed out that the Commonwealth had asked a change of venue, prior to the November, 1964 trial of the case, on the grounds that a fair trial could not be had in Floyd or adjacent counties. After that, an unsuccessful attempt to empanel a Floyd jury, qualified to inflict the death penalty if the evidence warranted it, was made. An unsuccessful attempt was made to get a jury from Martin county, and a jury from Pike county was qualified only after about 900 veniremen were summoned.

At his first trial Salisbury received the death penalty, but the jury verdict was reversed by the Court of Appeals on the ground that "hearsay" evidence had been admitted to the jury.

VENOMOUS BROWN SPIDER IDENTIFIED IN 12 COUNTIES

Lexington, Ky.—Positive identification of a venomous spider, known as the brown recluse, was confirmed this week in 12 Kentucky counties.

Dr. Lee Townsend and Dr. Rudy Scheibner, University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station entomologists, say the brown recluse — potentially more dangerous to humans than the well-known black widow spider — has been found in Carlisle, Ballard, Calloway, Fulton, McCracken, Graves and Marshall counties, all in the Purchase area, and in Butler, Logan, Allen, Warren and Simpson counties, further east along the Tennessee border.

So far, two or three bites of humans are reported.

The brown recluse is sometimes called "the fiddler," sometimes "Brownie." He's a quarter-inch to a half-inch long (total body and leg-spread) has eight legs, and ranges in color from tan to a chocolate brown color. On his back is a dark brown or black mark the shape of a violin; hence, the name "fiddler."

His dangerous factor is in the nature of the bite. Originally no worse than a bee-sting, the bite may give the victim cramps and aching muscles and joints in a few hours.

But the real trouble is in the bite area itself. For some unknown reason, the bite will blister; then the flesh may break down and a type of gangrene set in. Sometimes, an area three to four inches through the bite may break down, and have to be removed surgically.

Entomologist believe the spider's venom is strong enough, in some cases, to kill a small child or a baby.

But, says Dr. Townsend, don't hit the panic button. "There aren't millions of brown recluses lurking in dark places for a chance to bite a human. This spider is very shy of light, and likes to keep out of sight. That's why it is called the brown recluse. Your chances of getting bitten are slight unless you go poking about dark corners under rafters, sills, crevices, or in dark, dry places like attics or closets."

But, admits Dr. Townsend, state entomologist and head of the entomology department, there always is a problem.

"One thing that concerns us is that Brownie looks a lot like a couple of other 'house' or 'barn' spiders which, however, are relatively harmless. (All spiders have a certain amount of venom in their bites, but few are as dangerous as the black widow or the brown recluse.) The brown recluse might be mistaken for one of these and this spider will come into residences."

And the entomologists are concerned that Brownie has suddenly shown up here in measurable quantity. "For many years, this spider was known in Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and the south, like Alabama and North Carolina. But he was not identified in Kentucky. Why he's suddenly turned up we don't know. Since he likes dark places, he might have gotten here in bundles of clothing or bedding carried by campers or visitors from other areas. There is a chance he came in on what we call "parachute" threads, strands of spider web Brownie rode on the wind from far distance."

Household insecticides — Lindane is a good one — will kill Brownie quickly. Problem is to get the sprays where Brownie lurks — dark corners in basements or attics, cracks, crevices, secluded spots in milk houses, barns, equipment sheds. But it can be done.

Hamilton Receives Commendation Medal

Wrightstown, N. J.—First Lieutenant Kenneth E. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hamilton, of Virgie, Ky., has received the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at McGuire AFB, New Jersey.

Lieutenant Hamilton was decorated for meritorious service as an administrative officer for the 432nd Military Airlift Wing at McGuire. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, ability and performance of duty.

The lieutenant, a graduate of Virgie high school, received his B.S. degree in 1963 from Morehead (Ky.) State University. He was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Texas. His wife, Claudena, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, of Langley, Kentucky.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

THE BIG DRAGON FLIES

I used to wonder why the big dragonflies had such large compound eyes, which look much like big ball bearings stuck on the sides of the head. Each of the eyes contains 30,000 small eyes or lens. Undoubtedly nature has furnished dragonflies with the best vision of any other creature. One of these can see up, down, back, forward, sideways — in all directions at the same time, and can turn the head 90 degrees to left or right.

After I watched dragonflies zip, whirl and dart about ponds and swamps, chasing down insects which I couldn't even see with a magnifying glass, I could then understand why nature gave these insects so many eyes. No insect can escape their vision or get away from them in flight—the big ones have been clocked at 60 miles per hour.

If we had plenty of dragonflies around ponds and streams, we'd soon have the mosquito problem licked, and what a boon that would be to fishermen. They devour these pests wholesale and eat them so greedily their jaws get clogged up. Their legs are short and strong and are used like a basket to catch and hold flying insects. Two or three of the big ten-spots, or the green darners, can eat as many mosquitoes as a purple martin can, and this bird will devour 2,000 mosquitoes in a day. A large dragonfly can eat 40 house flies in two hours.

Dragonflies are ancient insects and flourished during the Great Coal Age, ranging widely over the vast, steaming swamps and jungles where the horsetails, ferns and club mosses grew as large as trees and helped to form the vast coal beds of today. A dragonfly in those days was a whopper. One of these would be a terrifying sight now. They had a wing spread of two feet and bodies a foot long. They hunted over the swamps for gigantic insects such as the big cockroaches and mosquitoes that were larger than the crane flies of today.

The high-flying dragonflies are veritable silver ships of the air and are called, "devil's darning needles" and "snake doctors." The name, darning needles, was given to this insect because of its long, many-segmented abdomen which looks like a "stinger," or a slender darning needle. There is a strong belief down south that these big, green darners will sew up the ears of a schoolboy found playing "hokey." Some persons have a terror of them. They are dangerous—but only to insects like gnats, flies and mosquitoes. They are also often seen hovering or circling about the head of a sunning water snake, as if ministering to the snake. What they are really up to is playing "valet" to the snake, not doctoring it. They are capturing the flies, gnats and other insects pestering the reptile.

It is a fine sight to see one of the big female dragonflies laying her eggs in a running brook. I once watched one of these perform this ritual. She held her body in a vertical position and flew straight up and down with the speed and rhythm of a pile driver. Each time she rammed her ovipositor in the water, she laid a batch of eggs, which the running water washed off and scattered about in the bed of the brook.

The eggs laid in the brook hatch out the most ungainly looking creatures one might see around a brook. They are the nymphs and they can take care of themselves during the two years or more they live in the water, breathing through a gill in the lower bowel. They have a long, jointed lower lip which they can shoot out like a frog using its tongue to snare an insect. When not in use, the lip is folded back over the head and face as a sort of mask. The nymph shoots through the water by means of jet propulsion and moults several times. If it escapes being eaten by herons or fish, it will eventually crawl out on a weed stem, split its hull down the back and out will come the adult dragonfly. As soon as the gauzy wings are dry enough to spread out, it sails away over ponds to capture insects, leaving the abandoned hull clinging ghostlike to a weed stem.

We have two leading families of dragonflies in our region: The Aeshnids, which include the big green darners (Anax junius), and the Libellulids, which include the ten-spots (Libellula pulchella). The ten-spot dragonfly has brownish spots on the wings and a white body covered with a mealy bloom.

We should never kill a dragonfly. We need more of them to help control the exploding mosquito population.

Educational TV Will Not Replace Classroom Teacher

"The classroom teacher will be the most important person in Kentucky's new educational television network when it goes into operation next year," Charles Klasek, the network's new program director, said at Morehead State University last week.

Klasek stressed that instructional TV will never replace the teacher. "However, it will be a significant tool that can be used by the teacher to bring meaningful information to the students," he said, adding that "probably no more than 10 percent of classroom time will be devoted to TV in a given grade."

With television, it was pointed out, it will be possible to bring such figures as English Historian Arnold Toynbee before the children, or to teach a child to play a clarinet or to demonstrate the latest uses of a laser beam. And this can all be done for no more than the cost of one textbook per student per year.

It was suggested that school superintendents begin now, while preparing their budgets, to provide for the cost of installing TV sets in their classrooms. Average costs are expected to be about $1,600 per school. A portion of this cost may be obtained from federal money.

The main role of the statewide system will be for classroom instruction, but it also will be used for training of teachers, business seminars, adult education and cultural enrichment during out-of-school hours. Educational TV from stations outside the state has been used to combat illiteracy effectively. This way, an illiterate person at an advanced age can sit in the privacy of his home and learn how to read and write without having to undergo what might be to him the embarrassment of sitting in a classroom with small children.

The Kentucky Department of Education has selected 24 courses to be used during the first year of network telecasting, starting next fall. The list of courses includes, for example, math for the first grade and American history for high school seniors. Wilbur Smith, of the Education Department, is already working up the programs. His task is to make the TV programs fit the textbooks now being used.

WHY ARE ACTIVE FAMILIES INSTALLING ALL-ELECTRIC LAUNDRIES?

FASTER

The all-electric laundry is a real wire-saver! The electric washer does the dirty work while Mom prepares supper. After the meal, she loads the clean clothes into the electric dryer. Safe for synthetic fabrics and permanent press clothes. Do the family's wash anytime—any hour—rain or shine. Small wonder that flameless all-electric laundries are the modern homemaker's most wanted appliances!

THE T-V's FREE

Members of this cooperative can get a FREE Admiral Portable T-V (13" diagonal picture tube) by installing an electric water heater, automatic washer and electric clothes dryer. This is a regular $89.95 value! Or, install any two of the three and pay only $19.95 for the TV—or pay only $39.95 if you install one of the three appliances. This limited offer expires December 31, 1967. Contact our Power Use Department or your favorite appliance dealer for free information.

HEAD START BEFOULED

Head Start, which joins the adult education program at the top of the "War on Poverty" effort, now has been befouled by an OEO directive forbidding the display in the classroom of pictures of a religious nature. The God-is-verbotten order presently has been applied to a Kansas City class but it may become national policy.

OEO explains that it merely is following in the legal footsteps of the Supreme Court.

One wonders what the Supreme Court would do, were pictures of Stalin, Mao, Khrushchev, Castro and their ilk hung in Head Start classrooms. Our guess is this: The freedom of the teacher to portray world figures for the education of the young would be upheld.

Not long ago, in Colorado, one news report said, a Head Start group of pupils was forbidden to repeat the Pledge of Allegiance. In explanation of this strange order it was at first said that the lone word, "God," made the Pledge unacceptable. Later, perhaps after some reflection, the explanation was that the children taking the Pledge of Allegiance were too young to comprehend its meaning, anyhow.

And this, they say, is Christian America. The land of the free—where men are free to teach, and captive classroom audiences are forced to hear, the doctrine of atheism; free to teach of the creation but not of the Creator, of figures in history but not of the One from whose birth history is dated.

Where will it all end? Shall the youngsters be forbidden to sing the National Anthem, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and almost all hymns because these refer to God?

The Times is pleased to report that not yet have Head Start classes in Floyd county been subjected to these materialistic whims which run counter to those principles on which this country was founded. Somebody in authority needs to take a stand. We hope that stand is taken in Floyd county when, and if, the directives which have afflicted Kansas City and Colorado classes reach here.

STATE PARKS PLAN EVENTS TO MAKE MORE ENJOYABLE KENTUCKY AUTUMN VISITS

Autumn in Kentucky is one of the world's most delightful seasons and Kentucky's state parks go all out to help visitors enjoy this benign time. Five separate week-end programs have been set up in the luxurious park lodges to give hobbyists a golden opportunity to tap the brains and the know-how of experts in a variety of fields and at the same time enjoy the incomparable beauty of Kentucky's fall coat of many colors.

In the first, held last week-end at Jenny Wiley State Park, Ray Harm, Kentucky's outstanding naturalist and wildlife artist, and Sam Sarkisian, staff artist for the American Greeting Card Corp., gave lectures and painting instruction to serious hobbyists.

During a Photo-Scenic Week-end in Pine Mountain State Park at Pineville, Oct. 20-22, Billy Davis, director of photography for the Louisville Courier-Journal, and Bill Strode, the Courier's staff photographer, will give tips and demonstrations to visiting photographers.

Do you want to be a good chairman? — The Parliamentary Law Workshop at Cumberland Falls State Park near Corbin, Oct. 27-29, could be just what you need. Mrs. Frances Pennington, an authority on the subject, will preside.

There's a Fishing Unlimited package week-end at Lake Cumberland State Park, near Jamestown, Nov. 10-12, and there'll be another, Dec. 1-3. Besides competing for prizes under ideal

STRIPMINERS FORM GROUP

Accuse News Media Of Distorting Truth; Breathitt Is Blamed

Stripmine operators of this area last week organized a surface-mining division of the National Independent Coal Operators Association for the purpose of putting together a "plan for the survival of the surface industry."

They said they will attempt to present "the truth about surface mining to the general public."

They accused news media, particularly The Courier-Journal of spreading "half-truths" about the stripmining industry in Eastern Kentucky.

Thirty-five operators representing 22 companies joined the new group.

Robert Holcomb, president of the NICOA, said his organization agreed to form the new division partly as a defense mechanism.

"We know that if some of these groups succeed in abolishing strip mining—and that's what they're trying to do—the next target they will go after is us (the independent coal operators)," Holcombs said.

"We feel the general public has been given a distorted picture about the strip-mining industry and we want to rectify it."

He said independent mine operators, including stripminers, have revitalized the coal industry and have vastly improved the economy in Eastern Kentucky.

The meeting, called by Jack Trimble, a Floyd-Pike county landowner, was called a "survival meeting."

Fon Johnson, the stripmine operator who was driven away from land owned by Jink Ray in Pike county this summer, said that federally supported anti-poverty workers have set out to destroy strip mining in Eastern Kentucky. He said he was run off Ray's land by "Ned Breathitt, outsiders and communists."

Johnson urged the miners not to support Henry Ward, Breathitt's choice for governor.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all the friends and neighbors for all their kindness upon the passing of our dear husband and father, Kitt Stumbo; especially those who donated blood, the doctors and nurses of the McDowell hospital, and those who sent food and the many beautiful flowers; the Hall Brothers for their kind and efficient service, and the United Baptist ministers for their consoling words. May God bless each and every one.

Sam Beichler Award Displayed at Office Of Forestry Division

The Kentucky Division of Forestry has won the Sam Beichler Award for 1966 because Kentucky during the year showed the greatest reduction in the number of forest fires and in acres burned over in the 13 Southeastern states which comprise Region 3. It was the first time Kentucky had won the award. The award is now on display at the Forestry district office at Lanes and will remain there for public inspection till October 16.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3500. This is two of them!

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars. Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.) The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses. All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas. But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer: one Volkswagen for half the price of two.

UNDEFEATED CATS PLAY BELFRY, FRIDAY NIGHT

Undefeated Prestonsburg high school will be host to once-beaten Belfry Friday night, and if they can successfully negotiate this hurdle the Cats could well be on their way to a perfect season.

Playing without starting quarterback Mark Miller last Friday night, the Cats defeated Leslie County at Hyden, 28-7, for their sixth win in a row. In doing so they used all their reserves and were not scored upon till the last play of the game when Leslie County's Wayne Reed picked up a fumble and ran 85 yards for his team's score. Phillip Haywood filled in for Miller at quarterback in great style, himself scoring on a 15-yard run for a touchdown and throwing three touchdown passes — one for 30 yards to Terry DeRossett and 10 yards to the Leslie brothers, Steve and Darrell. Fisherman Fined, Hunter Arrested

Buford E. Cool, of Pinson Fork, Pike county, who was arrested recently by Conservation Officer Dalton Ray Conley on a charge of possessing undersized bass, was fined by County Judge Henry Stumbo.

Joe Lykens, of Honaker, was arrested by Conley and Conservation Officer Don Meade when it was found that he was the only member of a party of 10 without a hunting license while foxhunting.

Conservation officers explain that a license is required for all types of hunting. Some hunters, they said, apparently have not been aware that licenses are required.

Weeksbury Winner In Softball Meet

Weeksbury, Ky. — Weeksbury won the Sandy Valley Softball League tournament recently, two games to one.

Wayland won the first game, 4-1, but Weeksbury settled down to win the second contest easily behind the pitching of Hobert Mollett. Then Truman Tackett, who was the losing hurler in the first contest, returned to pitch Weeksbury to its second straight victory, 4-3.

WHEELWRIGHT TROJANS NOW 3-2 FOR SEASON

Wheelwright, Ky. — Coach Cecil "Gomer" Thornsby for the second t.d. Count's attempt for extra point failed.

At the beginning of the second quarter, Wheelwright retained possession of the football. On first down Deaton threw an 82-yard pass to Merrill Little for the third marker. Deaton again ran the extra point. Just before the half ended, halfback Gary Taylor raced off tackle for a 65-yard pass to score. Deaton ran the extra point.

The next time the Trojans got the ball, on second down Deaton connected with a 64-yard pass to

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT MANY MISSED EDITOR, The Times:

We wish to say that individuals who missed seeing the Maytown Flower Show have no idea of what they do miss. In the words of Jane Combs, of Prestonsburg, "It is absolutely fabulous." No one would expect a small town to put on the sophisticated show that this has become, thanks to the Maytown Woman's Club, and particularly in more recent years to the guidance and inspiration of Shirley Stewart who is major domo of the event. These girls work "to a man," from the president, Nancy Lois Blevins, on down the line.

In addition to spending hours getting the gym in readiness, they stay up late, nights, arranging their own flowers and other entries. Their husbands can vouch for being pulled out of bed by 5 a.m. to go over the county, collecting flowers from friends. You should hear them compare notes, as the fever takes hold, and the men cook the meals and see to the kids for two days. But they, too, agree that it is worth it to see so much beauty in one day, and more men attend each year.

We feel truly sorry for persons who have never seen this spectacular display of arts, crafts, memorabilia and flowers. Remember the date next year and make a point to come, feast your heart and soul on the colorful exhibit.

THE LONE FIGHTER

EDITOR, The Times:

Must FORD stand alone to fight the rising tide of inflation? We all should join him, he's on our side, it's our only salvation. Let's wait for FORD products before we buy. And let those who have shirked the fight wait as we pass them by. All they seem to care for is the dollar, to heck with the rest of the nation.

Mr. Reuther sits in his swivel chair and beams out his inflationary demands for few to gain and many to suffer throughout the land. Is this the kind of business or life we need, a lopsided economy?

We'd be, and will be better off, much better off, to buy FORD and vote for Nixon, Reagan or Romney.

P.T.A. MEETS

The Allen P.T.A. met Thursday, Sept. 14, at the grade school auditorium with Ralph Leslie presiding. The devotion was given by Ralph Elkins, Mrs. Sonia Martin read the minutes and Mrs. Bonita Porter gave the treasurer's report. Room count was won by Miss Glenda Amburgey's seventh grade, with Mrs. Virginia Goble's second grade being a close runner-up. The P.T.A. voted to sponsor the Allen kindergarten which is held each morning at the Allen Baptist Church. It was announced that the P.T.A. will be selling cockbooks by Thanksgiving. The membership drive has started and will end Oct. 12. Ten dollars will be donated to the room having the largest P.T.A. enrollment.

Bill Ratliff was elected vice-president and Mrs. Mary Ann Hall was elected historian. Committees elected for the 1967-'68 school year are: Membership: Chairman, Mrs. Martha J. Crisp, Mrs. Carol Wallen, Mrs. Bonita Porter, Mrs. Elsie Hicks and Mrs. Josephine Robinson; Program: Chairman, Mrs. Sarah Lavens, Mrs. Bobby Phillips, Mrs. Mary Dania, Mrs. Shelby Willis, and Mrs. Kelsie Elliott; Publicity: Chairman, Mrs. Frances P. Brackett, Earl Waugh, Mrs. Dorothy Harris, and Mrs. Laura Ratliff. Hospitality: Chairman, Mrs. Minnie Alice Hall, Miss Glenda Amburgey, Mrs. Marlene Reynolds, Mrs. Wollie B. Blanton, Mrs. Janice Westfall and Mrs. Patsy Little. Safety: Chairman, Bob Martin, Richard Reynolds, Warren Blanton and Gene Davis.

The next P.T.A. meeting will be Oct. 12 at 7 p.m., at the Allen school. All parents and friends are invited to attend.

Twelve Junior Girl Scouts of Allen pledged the Girl Scout Promise, were pinned with the Girl Scout pin and the World Association pin by Scout Leader, Mrs. Edgar Hall, and Assistant Scout Leader, Mrs. Glenn Smith, at an investiture ceremony at Allen Methodist Church, Oct. 2, in a candlelight ceremony. The scouts are Diana Clifton, Carol Music, Melissa Lafferty, Laneva Conley, Billie Jo May, Patricia May, Bernetta Hall, Kathy Combs, Glenna Marcum, Rita Hall, Suz Anne Harris, Lynn Warrick.

Four Brownie Girl Scouts were received into the Junior Girl Scouts in a "fly-up" ceremony. They are Elizabeth Hall, Laura Brackett, Kenna D. Daniels and Betty Jean Gray. Refreshments were served after the ceremony by the scouts to the following parents and guests: Mrs. Dorothy Harris, Mrs. Billy May, Mrs. Ray Brackett, Mrs. R. Harris and Mrs. Harry Hale.

The Girl Scouts meet every Monday at the Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

LOCALIZING FOLKLORE

In the days of my innocence, as some pious people used to call their childhood, I believed what I heard, just as I heard it. Was not my Uncle Carroll a true-blue Southern soldier, and didn't he tell some pretty unbelievable stories that Mother said were true? Therefore any story told by any ex-Confederate soldier just had to be true, for imagine doubting the word of these heroes. Uncle Clark Bailey (no relation of ours but "uncled" by all of us younger people) could tell dozens of yarns that made Uncle Carroll seem tame. Usually Uncle Carroll would laugh when he told some seeming whopper, but Uncle Clark looked downright pious when he told his best ones. It would have taken some accumulation of bad manners to express doubt of such a serious narration. But Father, who respectfully listened to Uncle Clark got wound up. Father used to tell Mother that she encouraged the old man to lie; but Mother would only smile at Uncle Clark or "Oh" and "Ah" at the right places. This gave the yarn-spinner all the encouragement he wanted, and on he went until I want to kick myself for not setting down some dozens of his great stories, in which he was always the hero. In this column I have told two or three, the only ones I now remember as having first heard from Uncle Clark.

And that is what started me to thinking about some of my disillusionments as I went away from Fidelity and found the same stories localized elsewhere. Why, I would think silently, I did not know that Uncle Clark could have ever been here; I thought he spent his whole life, except for the four years of the Civil War, over on Panther Creek. Slowly I had to admit that the great deeds of Uncle Clark were folklore, though I did not know that term then. And lots of other true stories that I knew and began to spin when I went away to teach school or to attend Western were met with: "Why, that happened in my home neighborhood." And the student or other fellow would give places and dates and all the other necessary details to prove that I had my yarn all wrong. It took me years to get over my disappointment that these traditional yarns had not been actual happenings in the general area of Fidelity.

And then another funny thing happened. I learned to preface my yarns by saying, "There is an old folk yarn that runs thus and so." Then some elderly woman or man would call my hand and remind me, just as my room-mate or some other student, that I was laughing at history, for my folk yarn was an actual event, something that happened to a good old truthful man now long dead. I just couldn't win, whether I told my yarn as a fact or as a folk yarn. And it is funny that I still run into embarrassing moments when I am lecturing to some club and plan to get a little laugh at some traditional story; I get reminded gently but firmly that I am laughing at what happened to Uncle George, bless his truthful old soul.

This very verisimilitude about folk narratives is one of the best features about them. As far back as time can be dated fairly well, some of our best localized yarns were being told, with careful details to prove them accurate history. That is one of my chief joys in Chaucer, whose tales I taught for a generation. His yarns, sometimes slightly dry-cleaned, would enthral an audience now. He was like his very learned hen in the Nun's Priest's Tale, for he knew hundreds of anecdotes, some of which he merely hinted at and a goodly number of which he told as only Chaucer could tell them. I wish Uncle Clark could have known Chaucer; if he could have lived long enough for me to slip him out by ourselves and fish a while on Blood River, I could have made him famous, for I could have told him the yarn and let Uncle Clark pin it on some well-known Fidelity fellow.

Stephen Midkiff In Top 2% Taking Qualifying Tests

In the top two percent of the 40,000 high school students who took the 1967 National Merit Scholarship qualifying test is Hal Stephen Midkiff, senior at Prestonsburg high school and son of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Midkiff, of Prestonsburg.

Young Midkiff was in the group of students commended for their scholarship, Woodrow Allen, principal of the school here, said in announcing his high national rating. These "commended" students ranked just below the 14,000 semi-finalists in the test.

Henry Clay was once a professor of law at Transylvania College at Lexington, and Jefferson Davis was a student there.

RETURN FROM WESTERN TRIP

Harold, Ky. — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sturgill and daughter Rose Anne have returned from Salt Lake City, Utah, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ireland Dye, Mrs. Grace Watson and Geraldine, formerly of Auxier, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Smith, Preston, Idaho, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, Montpelier, Idaho. They also toured Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming and Quake Lake in Montana. On their return trip home they visited Bryce and Grand Canyon.

HISTORIC SETTLEMENT

Daniel Boone and James Harrod surveyed the site and laid out the town of Harrodsburg, Kentucky's first permanent white settlement, two years before the Declaration of Independence.

COOPER AMENDMENTS ASK TIGHT CONTROL OVER AV'S

The Senate last Thursday adopted two amendments to the anti-poverty bill offered by Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R.-Ky.) requiring tighter control over federally sponsored work by such organizations as the Appalachian Volunteers.

The amendments, which Cooper said were aimed at avoiding such situations as the recent controversy over the Volunteers' activities in Eastern Kentucky, would:

- 1. Require the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) to conduct more thorough personnel screening of semi-independent organizations doing anti-poverty work.
- 2. Give governors more power to discontinue such programs if they are dissatisfied with them.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has strongly opposed continuance of the Appalachian Volunteers' program in Kentucky, saying the Volunteers have been at odds with other anti-poverty activities, and have engaged in organizing opposition to the "power structure" in Eastern Kentucky.

Cooper said he learned from OEO officials that, while such groups as the VISTA volunteers, who work directly for the government, are given thorough screening, such organizations as the Appalachian Volunteers handle their own personnel.

Cooper's amendment will require the OEO in the future to prescribe personnel screening, including checks on character and subversive activity, if that seems warranted.

The senator said the OEO informed him that Alan McSurely, a figure in the recent controversy over sedition charges in Pike county, had been dismissed from the poverty program in Washington before he was employed by the Appalachian Volunteers.

Cooper said his second amendment was designed to clear up vagueness in the present law concerning a governor's power over such programs as those conducted by the Volunteers and VISTA.

The law, he noted, gives a governor veto power over such projects before they start, but doesn't indicate clearly whether he can stop them later.

In the recent controversy, Breathitt first announced that OEO director Sargent Shriver had agreed to his request that the Appalachian Volunteer program in Kentucky be discontinued immediately, but later it was acknowledged that the program, because of contractual arrangements, would continue into next year.

Cooper added two other amendments to the anti-poverty bill without controversy. One change, similar to an administration proposal which had been dropped in committee, would require all local community action boards to include local elected officials unless the elected officials themselves chose not to serve.

Another Cooper amendment would require that OEO submit its proposed legal services programs to local and state bar associations for "comments and recommendations" before they could be started.

Ministers' Wives Meet At Paintsville Church

The Ashland District Methodist Ministers Wives met Sept. 25 at the Mayo Methodist Church, Paintsville, with Mrs. Leslie Rogers and Mrs. Jeff Burton serving luncheon as hostesses. Mrs. Eugene Cooper presided over the business meeting. The secretary, Mrs. Bill Garnett, read a note of appreciation from Mrs. Steadman Bagby and also the minutes of the preceding meeting. Mrs. Bagby introduced Mrs. Roy H. Short as a guest who spoke to the group concerning her recent trip abroad and closed the meeting with prayer. The previous officers were Mrs. Eugene Cooper, president; Mrs. Adrian Roberts, vice-president; and Mrs. Bill Garnett, secretary-treasurer. The new officers are Mrs. William Pope, president; Mrs. Richard Chamberlin, vice-president; and Mrs. Paul Gillispie, secretary-treasurer. The May meeting will be at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Steadman Bagby.

Those attending were: Mrs. Jeff Burton, Paintsville First; Mrs. Leslie Rogers, Mayo; Mrs. Robert Meece, Vogel-Day; Mrs. Harry Wulfcamp, Louisa; Mrs. Paul Stoneking, Pollard; Mrs. C. D. What's Infectious Hepatitis?

(By The Floyd County Health Department)

Infectious hepatitis is one of the common diseases. Hepatitis means inflammation of the liver. The early symptoms of infectious hepatitis resemble those of many other diseases that are infectious in nature. There may or may not be the yellow color to the whites of the eyes known as jaundice. Since there are other diseases, both communicable and non-communicable, which may cause jaundice, jaundice alone does not necessarily mean that a person has infectious hepatitis.

Infectious hepatitis is caused by a virus. The virus is hardy. It will withstand heat at 133 degrees F. for an hour and freezing for years.

Most commonly, infectious hepatitis spreads from person to person by close contact. The disease can also be transmitted through water, milk or food that has become contaminated by bowel discharges from patients or people who have the disease.

Early symptoms resemble those of the flu. There may be runny nose, sore throat, headache, muscle pains, and fever. These may be followed by nausea and vomiting. Loss of appetite is common. The person complains of weakness and seems tired, "as though it's an effort to move. Jaundice may not be present.

Everyone can get the disease. The severity of symptoms is dependent upon age. In infants and young children the disease is very mild. In older people and pregnant women the symptoms become more severe and the disease lasts longer.

Rest and proper diet are essential in infectious hepatitis. The patient should rest in bed until his doctor says he may get up. Starting to work too soon may cause a "back-set."

At this time there are no general immunization methods available for the prevention of the disease. Once cases have been diagnosed, prevention of further spread can be accomplished to a good degree by maintaining a high standard of cleanliness, both by the person sick and by the persons in contact with him. In certain instances gamma globulin may be used to control the spread of the disease among household contacts of the persons having the disease.

Mitchell Graduates From Marquette U.

More than 100 students completed requirements for a bachelor's degree from Marquette University this summer. Marquette, a Roman Catholic University conducted by the Society of Jesus, is one of 23 Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. Nearly 2,000 students received degrees from Marquette in the last year.

Among these was Victor Eugene Mitchell, of Allen, who was awarded a bachelor of arts degree from the College of Liberal Arts.

Auto Crash Fatal To Royalton Man; Two Are Injured

One Magoffin county man was killed and two seriously injured Sept. 24 when the car in which they were riding crashed into a bridge on KY 7 about 22 miles from Salyersville.

Mitchell Lovely, 21, of Royalton, driver of the car, was dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Injured were Larry Wireman, 23, and Lowell Williams, 27, also of Royalton. One of the two injured men was reportedly transferred Sunday night to the Cabell-Huntington hospital at Huntington, W. Va., and the other to a Lexington hospital.

The accident occurred at about 6:30 p.m. at the bridge over Howard Branch, near the Hendricks, Ky., postoffice.

ORDINANCE No. 4-67

An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Authorizing and instructing the City Attorney To Take Steps To Annex As A Part of the City of Prestonsburg Four Separate Territories, Each Lying Immediately Adjacent To the City Limits of Said City.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the City Attorney institute an action and file a petition in the Floyd Circuit Court, within thirty (30) days after the adoption and required publication and advertisement of this ordinance, according to law, to annex as a part of the City of Prestonsburg four separate territories, described as follows:

TRACT NO. 1
A certain tract of land lying immediately adjacent to the Northern city limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, on the West side of U.S. Highway 23, being referred to as the sewer plant property, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Big Sandy River and new U. S. Highway 23 right-of-way; thence down the river 500 feet; thence leaving the river and up the hill in a southeasterly direction 1400 feet to a stake on top of point; thence along the center of point in a southwestern direction 2650 feet to the northwest corner of the May cemetery; thence with the northwest cemetery line and in a southwestern direction 500 feet to the corner of May cemetery; thence continuing in a southwestern direction 300 feet to a stake on the northeastern right-of-way of road in May's Branch and city boundary limits; thence along May's Branch road to U.S. Highway 23; thence along the existing city limits line to the point of beginning.

TRACT NO. 2
A certain tract of land lying immediately adjacent to the Western City Limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, adjacent to the Big Sandy River and being known as the H. L. Mayo Radio Station property, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake on the edge of Big Sandy River and being a corner to Prestonsburg Water Company and Lewis Mayo property; thence leaving the river N 35° 23' E 538 feet to a stake; thence N 54° 32' W 359.50 feet to a stake on bank of Mayo Branch, property line of Dick Mayo heirs; thence down the north-west bank of Mayo Branch S 45° 05' W 80.50 feet to a stake; thence with said bank S 46° 35' W 115.00 feet to a stake; thence S 56° 25' W 67.00 feet; thence N 67° 30' W 43.00 feet; thence N 25° 35' W 63.00 feet; thence S 87° 10' W 47.00 feet; thence S 36° 25' W 167.00 feet to the edge of Big Sandy River; thence with river bank in a southeasterly direction to the point of beginning.

TRACT NO. 3

A certain tract of land lying immediately adjacent to the Southern City limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, on the Western side of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River, being known as the U. S. Shoe Plant property, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the center of the Big Sandy River at the mouth of Bull Creek; thence up Bull Creek to the Southern right-of-way of the C. & O. Railway; thence with the C. & O. right-of-way in a Northeastern direction to the corner of Russell Kendrick and county road; thence with county road and leaving the right-of-way of the C. & O. Railway S 14° 14' 30" W 39.55 feet to a stake; thence S 19° 23' W 135.90 feet to a stake and northern right-of-way boundary of county road to Bull Creek and county road to Big Branch; thence leaving the Bull Creek road and with right-of-way of Big Branch road N 86° 20' E 311.50 feet, corner to property of U. SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING
Sportsmen who fish where they can catch a good number of our larger fresh-water species very often release undersize fish to grow and spawn.

This practice is highly desirable for the preservation of good fishing—but only if we can be pretty sure that most of the fish released will survive; if they won't, it would be much better to take them home and eat them, or feed them to the cat.

One question has been whether a fish should be released with wet or dry hands. Good sportsmen, for years, on the advice of biologists, had been carefully wetting their hands before touching any trout that they meant to release. Biologists had even described a fungus, in the plain shape of fingers, on the sides of trout that they'd found dead. Dry hands, they explained, removed a thin film of slime that was the trout's only natural protection from this fungus disease.

Then, however, New Mexico state fish biologists put this advice to a thorough test. The results: The fish that had by far the greatest mortality were those that had been released with wet hands. As a result, these biologists promptly began advising anglers not to wet their hands—indeed, to dry them well if they were wet—before releasing trout.

DRIFT

BEGIN NEW CLUB YEAR

The Drift Woman's Club started the new club year with a membership drive meeting held at the Drift Presbyterian Church. Each member invited guests. Theme of the meeting was, "Birthday Tables," and a table for each month was decorated by the club members. The winners of the best decorated table were Mrs. I. E. Reed and Mrs. Ronald Turner for the month of April. Moving pictures and slides were shown of the past events of the club in order to acquaint the guests with the pleasures and duties of being a club member. Door prizes and favors were given by the committee. Guests present were Betty Meade, Emerald Lemaster, Lillian Radliff, Nellie Webb, Ella Mae Cook, Amy Lee Turner, Orpha Akers and Phyllis Reed. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Byron Beard.

The officers for the new club year are: President, Mrs. Bill Hoffman; first vice-president, Mrs. Nick Cooley; second vice-president, Mrs. Ben Martin; recording secretary, Mrs. Roger Castle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. J. Cahill; treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Turner.

Pikeville Woman, Floyd-Co. Native, Is Claimed Recently

Mrs. Rebecca Elliott Auxier, 3 years old, of Pikeville, died Sept. 24 while en route to the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, after a brief illness.
Born in Floyd county, Mrs. Auxier was a daughter of J. J. and Rheda Click Elliott. Her husband, W. M. Auxier, died in 1945.
Survivors include a son, William Edward Auxier, of Pikeville; two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude (Tommy) Johnson, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Hester Shull, of Shull Mills, North Carolina; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
The funeral was held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the chapel of the Baker Funeral Home, Pikeville, the Rev. J. I. Meyer officiating. Burial was made in the Auxier cemetery at Pikeville.

JACK'S CREEK MISSION To Distribute Clothing

Rev. Franklin P. Rowe, pastor of the Jack's Creek Mission of the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright, has set Saturday, Oct. 7, as clothing distribution day. All persons in need of used clothing are asked to be at the mission at 10 a.m. The distribution will last about two hours, according to local missionary, Rev. James E. Casey, Jr., who is in charge of the Southern Baptist mission work in the Upper Left Beaver Creek area of the county.

IDAHO SELECTED

Farragut State Park, Idaho, has been tentatively approved as the site for the 7th National Jamboree by the executive committee of the Boy Scouts of America. The event is scheduled for the summer of 1969.

SPORTS AFIELD

Another subject of uncertainty is whether a released fish will survive with a hook left inside it. When taken on the usual artificial lure—fly, spoon, spinner, plug—a fish is almost invariably hooked in a lip only. The angler retrieves his terminal tackle, and the fish swims off with only a cut lip as a souvenir. But what of a fish that is hooked internally with a natural bait or plastic worm? When you wish to liberate a fish hooked deeply, we often read, cut the line or leader and leave the hook in. It will soon be dissolved by body acids, and the fish will be none the worse for its experience.

There is evidence, however, to the contrary. Jack Sauchelli, a New Jersey fisherman, and Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, each recently caught and opened a bass to find a hook inside, with line or leader still attached, surrounded by a heavy mass of unnatural flesh. In the first fish the hook was still in mint condition; in the second the hook was rusted, and the fish was very near death when caught.

"The results of leaving a hook in," remarks Angling Editor Lucas, "no doubt depend on what spot it has penetrated and also on how strongly the hook has been pulled, thus causing internal bleeding, when the angler was playing the fish." But in the case of the second bass, "I knew all that a fisherman needed to know about the matter: The death of that bass had been caused by a hook left in him. Nor did it matter whether it had been left there purposely or accidentally."
So a moral might be to reserve natural baits for the times when you're fishing for the table, and use artificials when you're fishing for sport and plan to release your smaller fish.

New Co-ordinator Named for ALC Program

Pippa Passes, Ky.—C. Leland Smith, of the University of Kentucky's College of Education, has been named co-ordinator of the University's resources and consultants in a "Co-operating Institutions Program" with Alice Lloyd College.

Through Smith the University will make personnel and resources available to help the Eastern Kentucky two-year college strengthen its own educational program.

Last year Alice Lloyd was one of 32 colleges across the nation to participate in the "Co-operating Institutions Program." The U. S. Office of Education funded the program with an initial $21,000 grant and has awarded $100,000 for the second year.

Smith replaces Leslie L. Martin, who resigned from the University of Kentucky to accept the post of administrator of higher education in West Virginia.

Spradlins Visit Here
After 60-Year Absence

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spradlin, of Canute, Okla., returned to this county last week after an absence of 60 years. They, their daughter, Mrs. Marvin Cox, and Mr. Cox, of Tulsa, Okla., were guests here of their cousins, Misses Rebecca and Katherine Ellis and Mrs. Mary Ellis Branhams.

Mrs. Spradlin is the former May Music, daughter of Robert and Alice Tackett Music, who left here in 1902 by covered wagon for the Indian Territory. Five years later, Mr. Spradlin went to Oklahoma, remaining there for a brief period before going to Commerce, Texas to attend East Texas Normal College which was headed by another Floyd county native, Prof. Bee Mayo. Upon his return to Oklahoma, he and Miss May Music were married. Mr. Spradlin is a son of the Rev. Sam Spradlin, an early Methodist circuit rider.

They visited many relatives in the county, and upon returning to Oklahoma took with them black walnuts, pawpaws and other products of the farms in this county which were once home to their parents.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

The plant that killed Nancy Hanks, the mother of Abraham Lincoln, is now blooming in old fields, pastures, clearings and along the borders of woods. It begins to bloom in late July and keeps on until frost. It is a tall and stately plant, smooth and innocent looking, and it has large, ovate leaves with a row of coarse teeth around the margin. The common name of this plant is white snakeroot. Its leaves are broadly ovate and unusual in structure, as they have three main veins showing on the underside. They resemble the leaves of the nettles but do not have stinging hairs. The flowers of this plant are white and showy and add an array of white splendor to old fields, clearings and pastures in late summer. The plant grows to a height of four or five feet and puts out numerous branches. The flowers are formed in large clusters at the tips of the branches and there are from 10 to 20 flowers on each branching stem. The flowers are tipped with grayish-white bristles.

The range of the white snakeroot covers Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Eastern Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and south to northern Georgia. It is a member of the daisy family (composites) and is in the genus, Eupatorium. The members of this genus were once dedicated to Mithridates Eupator, who lived before the time of Christ and practiced herb medicine; it is said he used some of these plants in his medicines. The leaves of white snakeroot grow opposite on the stem and have long petioles; the flowers in bloom resemble those of boneset and thoroughwort and the plant is sometimes called, white boneset.

Both the stems and leaves of white snakeroot contain tremetol, which is a dangerous, poisonous alcohol. When cows browse on the foliage, it puts this deadly poison in the milk and in the butter made from the milk. Persons who drink the contaminated milk develop a disease that was called in Lincoln's time, "milk sickness." That's what history records as the cause of the death of Nancy Hanks. But in those days no one seemed to know the origin of the disease or what might have caused it. Many years later, the botanists and the chemists unravelled the mystery, when they studied the White Snakeroot carefully and found the poison, tremetol, in its foliage.

Persons who are stricken with "milk sickness" become deathly sick, take the "shakes," and often go into delirium. Throat muscles may become paralyzed, and the victim cannot swallow. Complete collapse and death may follow a severe case of the poisoning of "milk sickness."

The poison often kills the cows, too. They develop violent shakes, the joints become stiff, the animal falls and cannot get up, but lies and shakes and grinds its teeth. It develops rapid, labored breathing and may die unless treated promptly in the early stages of the poisoning.

When one looks at a large clump of the white snakeroot in bloom, glorifying the old fields of late summer, and looking so white and innocent, one would never suspect it was a deadly killer, one that brought a deep sorrow to the tender heart of Abe Lincoln when he was a boy of nine—a sorrow from which he never fully recovered.

WINTER RATES SET FOR FIVE KY. PARKS

Lower rates will go into effect at Jenny Wiley and five other state parks with overnight accommodations this winter.

Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox said winter lodge rates will be $7 for a single and $10 for a double, plus tax. Cottage rates will be reduced one-third for this period with a two-day minimum reservation. The winter rate schedule will be in effect, Dec. 1-March 31.

Offering the new rates will be these parks: Cumberland Falls, General Butler, Jenny Wiley, Kentucky Dam Village, Lake Cumberland, and Natural Bridge.

Two of the year-round parks, Lake Cumberland and Kentucky Dam Village, will offer both lodge and cottage accommodations. Cumberland Falls will have available lodge rooms and lodge cottages. The three remaining parks will feature lodge room accommodations only.

Fox said all State parks are open year-round, but some their overnight facilities during the winter. These are: John James Audubon, Oct. 30; Buckhorn Lake, Nov. 15; Carter Caves, Nov. 15; Pine Mountain, Nov. 15; Kenlake, Nov. 30, and Rough River Dam, Nov. 30.

"ODD COUPLE," OTHER PLAYS AT FLOYD COUNTY LIBRARY

What happens when two divorced men after exhausting their wives' patience set up house together? The result is confusion and uproarious comedy in the form of Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple." Any married person will recognize the familiar complaint of Oscar when he says to Felix: "You're always in my bathroom hanging up my towels. When I smoke you follow me around. Last night I found you washing the kitchen floor, shaking your head and moaning, 'Footprints, footprints!' After a successful run on Broadway, the play will soon be released as a movie but none of its hilarity is lost in written form. The Floyd County Library has a collection of this and other current plays, as well as those that have become standards by authors such as O'Neill and Shakespeare.

One of the more exciting dramas in the last few years is "A Delicate Balance," by Edward Albee. The author of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" has again probed the makeup of a family and his statement, though different from the kind of world that George and Martha inhabit, is just as powerful. Arthur Miller's "Incident at Vichy" explores the motives of the individuals who are exposed to the terror of the Nazis and complied. "After the Fall," by Miller, is a more personal play dealing with his life with his wife, Marilyn Monroe. Two new British playwrights who have received considerable attention in the past few years are Harold Pinter and John Osborne. Pinter's "The Homecoming" is the story of a young married couple who return home after many years' absence. "Inadmissible Evidence," Osborne's play, follows such successes as "Look Back in Anger" and "Luther" and in intensity lives up to the playwright's earlier successes. Other dramas available are "Blues for Mister Charlie," a play by James Baldwin, which makes a pungent comment upon the condition of the white man in the racial question, William Hanley's "Slow Dance on the Killing Ground" has a similar theme but takes place in the slums of New York.

If your taste runs to comedy, Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park," a tale of the mad, comical life of a young married couple in New York, will be delightful reading. Other interesting comedies are Murray Schisgal's "Luv," "The Typists and the Tiger," Peter Schaffer's "The Private Ear," "Any Wednesday," by Muriel Resnik and "Poor Richard," by Jean Kerr. Sounds of New York's most sparkling musical comedies are available on record with the original Broadway cast. Some of these are "The Music Man," "Can-Can," "Mame," "Hello, Dolly," "The Sound of Music," and "Oklahoma."

Books are also available on more specialized areas of the theatre such as John Gassner's "Theatre at the Crossroads," "The Contemporary Theatre," by Audrey Williamson, and "A History of American Acting," by Garr Wilson.

Anthologies are also available for individuals who need a particular type of play to perform in church or school.

THE FAMILY

KNOW WHEN TO ASK HELP

(From the American Medical Association)

How does one know when he should consult a psychiatrist? Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, reports that most people who should consult a psychiatrist are likely to consider themselves as someone not needing his services.

Many shun the psychiatrist, the AMA says, because they have the distorted concept that people who are under psychiatric care are "crazy."

Psychiatrists are physicians with a special training through which they are able to help people with mental illness or emotional problems, even as other physicians are qualified to assist in physical illness. Often physical and mental ills are closely related.

Depression, or what we could call the blues, is frequently an early sign of what can become a disabling mental illness. Likewise, excitement and overactivity—although often completely normal—form an abnormal sign when they occur in the wrong place or for the wrong reason.

Other suggestive symptoms include tantrums and exaggerated expressions of anger, hysterical attacks, unfounded fear, and guilt feelings, which exist without an acceptable reason.

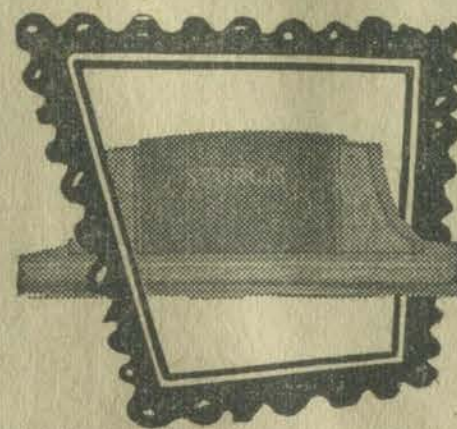

Any of these would justify discussing the need for psychiatric consultation with your physician.

SEE PRICE HIKES THREAT TO U.S. WORLD MARKETS

(Metal Market Bureau)

Detroit, Mich.—The price hikes for new cars come in the face of warnings from top-ranking economists that the general price upturn in the U. S. poses a threat to the nation's role in the world marketplace.

The trouble is that there is no corresponding price speedup taking place in the industrial countries that compete with the U. S. in international trade.

John Deaver, a vice-president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, is one who has sounded a warning. He said:

"Sharply rising prices in the U. S., when prices abroad are comparatively stable, could ultimately cause all sorts of problems."

Large Gap Seen

An analyst for the National Bureau of Economic Research in New York, said, "a continuation of the recent pattern could open up a disturbingly large gap between foreign and U. S. prices."

Over the years, the U. S. has piled up massive annual surpluses in foreign trade because of its competitive strength. In the last three years, America has sold over $15 billion more in goods to foreign countries than it has bought from them.

Despite the threatened effect on the nation's trade surpluses and the criticisms of labor, the auto industry feels justified in boosting prices. It builds a good case by simply pointing to profits of individual manufacturers—all down significantly from a year ago.

Chrysler Corp. pegs its price increase for '68 models, after revision this week, at 3.5 percent, or an average of $101 per car. The earlier increases announced by Chrysler were reported by the firm to average 4.6 percent, or $133 a car.

In its analysis of new-car prices, making adjustments for equipment changes based on a detailed comparison of the new models against the '67 models, Automotive News sets the Chrysler price increase prior to revision at 4.65 percent, or an average of $147.94 a car.

Ford Motor auto prices are up, on the same basis, 3.81 percent, or an average of $115.28 per car. General Motors prices are up 3.56 percent, or an average of $119.97 per car.

Examining its own prices, AMC said its increases amounted to an average of 3.8 percent, or $89 a car above the 1967 level.

PRICE INCREASES

The revised Automotive News estimate of aggregate price increases for the industry to be published next week is expected to be about 4.5 percent.

H.B. 258—THE "WIDOW COMBS" BILL

(This bill would limit the right to destroy a mountain.)

It was proposed when an aged and frail widow in Knott county risked her life in the path of a bulldozer to save her mountain home.

Our present Representative voted to kill this bill.

I have some very strong feelings here. If we forget the past, I believe we are destined to repeat it. The beauty of our mountains is an inheritance, not ours to destroy. The gooseneck hoe and the bull-tongue plow gave us a sad harvest in the thirties—let's not repeat it with a bulldozer in the seventies.

DARBY for Representative

I was never more proud to call a man my Governor than on this occasion. When others were conspicuous by their unconcern, when compassion gave way to greed, Gov. Breathitt stood alone to stay the hand that would destroy a fair countryside and rob a widow of her mite.

I beg the voters to stand with me here, else I too shall stand alone. I could never be a traitor to this heritage or a Benedict Arnold to these hills.

AUTUMN IN KENTUCKY means a festival of color across the state. Thousands of persons annually visit Kentucky State Parks to behold the fall foliage, and stroll the park trails, as this group is doing at Pine Mountain State Park near Pineville. Naturalists offer guided tours at this and many other parks in the system.

Many Kentuckians are looking forward to colorful fall vacations at Kentucky state parks now that the peak-use summer-season has ended.

The State Parks Department reports it is receiving a large number of requests for lodge and cottage accommodations at the state's 13 vacation parks. It reported, however, that there is an abundance of choice accommodations still available at almost all of these parks.

"Although Kentucky is the fastest growing summer playground in the nation, an increasing number of persons—mainly Kentuckians—are planning their vacations in the fall as it is a time of spectacular beauty in the state," according to Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox.

"Still others find winter an attractive holiday season and these persons will be able to enjoy leisure activities at six state parks which will offer overnight accommodations through the winter months," he stated.

Fox said these parks are Jenny Wiley, Cumberland Falls, General Butler, Kentucky Dam Village, Lake Cumberland and Natural Bridge.

Additionally, new winter rates will be in effect at the parks, Fox said, from Dec. 1 through March 31. Lodge rates will be $7 for a single and $10 for a double, plus tax. Cottage rates will be reduced one-third for this period with a two-day minimum reservation.

Two parks, Lake Cumberland and Kentucky Dam Village, will offer both lodge and cottage accommodations. Cumberland Falls will have available lodge rooms and lodge cottages. The remaining three parks will feature lodge room accommodations only.

To Teach Timber Owner How To Plant Seedlings

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky timberland owners are invited to learn how to plant tree seedlings at two meetings scheduled by the state and a paper company.

Partners in the venture to encourage the planting of pine seedlings are the State Department of Natural Resources' forestry division and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The firm is building an $90 million mill at Wickliffe and already purchases Eastern Kentucky timber for mills at Luke, Md., and Covington, Virginia.

Eastern Kentucky timberland owners are invited to a meeting October 5 at the forestry division's Morgan County Tree Nursery at Woodsbend. A similar meeting is scheduled October 11 at the Kentucky Forest Nursery, Gilbertsville.

Associate Forestry Director Harry Nadler said both meetings will feature field demonstrations of tree planting practices.

Fox emphasized that all state parks are open year-round, but some close their overnight accommodation facilities during the winter months. Closing dates for these parks are: John James Audubon, Oct. 30; Buckhorn Lake, Nov. 15; Carter Caves, Nov. 15; Pennyrite Forest, Nov. 15; Pine Mountain, Nov. 15; Kenlake, Nov. 30, and Rough River Dam, November 30.

DOLLARS AND SENSE TALK ABOUT ELECTRIC HEATING FROM FOLKS WHO NOW HAVE IT.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Hinkle of Walnut Street, Pauley Addition, Pikeville, Kentucky, bought a new 7-room home with electric ceiling cable heat. Their average monthly electric bill for heating and all other uses of electricity is just $25.01. Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle were asked the following questions about their heat:

Q: Does total electric living with flameless heating cost any more than you were paying in your previous home for both fuel and electricity?

A: No . . . we're paying less.

Q: How much less?

A: In our previous home, the gas bill alone was nearly as much as our total electric bill is now, and that didn't count the electric bill in our old home.

Q: Apart from cost, do you feel the change to electricity was worth it?

A: Yes, indeed. Now we have more even heat, with no drafts, and it is much cleaner. Even though we rented our old house, we painted it because it got so dirty.

Q: Do you think the builder of your new home was right in choosing ceiling cable heat over other types of electric heat?

A: Yes, it's completely out of sight and easy to control the temperature in each room.

Like the Hinkles, you can modernize your home with flameless heat. A Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer or Kentucky Power Company will help you select the type heating that best suits your home and your preference.

No Guesswork on costs

Your dealer or Kentucky Power will accurately figure your monthly electric cost in advance. Then, compare for yourself the cost of safe, cleaner, more comfortable electric living with what you are presently paying for fuel and electricity.

built by a committee.

It's an old joke. But the moral is as good today as it ever was. Henry Ward knows that the most inefficient way to get efficiency in state government would be to appoint another committee. Yet, that's what Henry Ward's opponent would like to do.

Therefore, if you want more efficient state government, you have a choice. You can vote for appointing a 50-man committee to study the matter again for a couple of years . . . or you can vote for Henry Ward who knows what needs to be done now, and has already done it wherever he has been in state government. His record proves it.
