

School Board OK's Redistricting Plan

ORDER ENDS PCT. DIVISION FOR COUNTY

Registration Disparity Held Below Minimum; One Member Dissents

Redistricting effected Saturday by the Floyd County Board of Education of the county's five educational divisions eliminates the splitting of precincts and holds the disparity in voter registration between the largest and the smallest divisions well below the permissible 15 percent, County Supt. of Schools Charles F. Clark said this week.

The action followed the filing with the State Board of Education of a petition by a group of voters from Jim Banks precinct, seeking redistricting, and a subsequent U. S. district court suit calling for enforcement of the one-man, one-vote rule.

The redistricting work, which had required a study of weeks, resulted in these changes: Moved all of John Possum precinct, including Stephens Branch, from District 2 (Dr. Allen) to District 5 (Mr. Cooley). Heretofore, the precinct was split, only Stephens Branch voting in District 5.

Moved Head of Mud precinct (No. 42) from District 4 (Mr. ...)

50 Students Walk Out As School Heat Fails

Approximately 50 Prestonsburg high school students staged a walkout, Wednesday morning, claiming the school's heating system was inadequate.

Woodrow Allen, principal of the school, later said the coal-fired furnace at the school is not functioning properly but pointed out that all other students remained for the day's classwork.

The school custodian said the flame in the furnace was as high as ever but that the desired heat was lacking. Temperatures were low this week but still were well above those of last winter when heating facilities of the school were adequate.

County Supt. of Schools Charles Clark said one of the

Joseph and Robinson, Wounded in Vietnam, Believed Recovering

Pfc. Hershell Joseph, who was reported last week in critical condition after suffering burns when an enemy rocket struck a vehicle occupied by him and other U. S. soldiers, was able Wednesday night to talk to his mother, Mrs. Corbin Joseph, via telephone.

He is in a Fort Worth, Texas Army hospital. Mrs. Joseph said one of her son's requests was that she mail him The Floyd County Times. His father, his wife and a brother, Sgt. Burl Joseph, flew to Fort Worth after learning that Pfc. Joseph was being taken there.

Similarity of Names Causes Embarrassment

The similarity in names continues to cause embarrassment in this county. For instance: Mrs. Betty Jo Salyers, of Dwale and Allen, has been victimized by the similarity of her name to that of another person who allegedly issued a "cold" check.

Mrs. Salyers has asked The Times to help her assure the public that she is not the person who is wanted for this or other illegal act.

Fireworks Shipment Captured Near Here Held by Magistrate

Cargo of a Tennessee truck hauling fireworks valued at several thousand dollars was confiscated near here this week by state police, and the owner may face court action.

At least a portion of the fireworks are in the possession of Magistrate Bill Wells in whose court the case will probably be heard.

Clifford B. Latta, counsel for the defendant, the Eden Company, contends the fireworks are being illegally held. He argues there is no Kentucky law prohibiting the transport of fireworks by a wholesale firm. The law, he claims, prohibits retail sale of fireworks unless the retailer is licensed.

A part of the shipment confiscated was consigned to an East Point dealer. Magistrate Wells could not be contacted Wednesday but it was said the truck was carrying about 200 cases of fireworks.

This Town ... That World

Yes, Virginia, I am not Santa Claus.

NO FISHING, PLEASE

One of my good friends and readers wrote me recently to say she enjoys this column pretty consistently till I take off on one of my fishing bits. She apparently is too sympathetic and lets my frustrations reach her. Or it may be she is not overfond of the gentle art of lying at which some fisherfolk have been accused of being adept.

Be all that as it may, I am ceasing and desisting from recounting herein my woes and tribulations at this lake and that, at least till the weather takes a turn for the better.

A FAIR QUESTION

The dog may be getting to be hackneyed stuff for some of our readers, too. I began to suspect as much this week when I told Scott Collins that a dog gradually takes over till he seems like one of the family, and he quipped, "Which one?"

JOB APPLICATION

I see by the public prints that Milt Pappas, the fellow who used to throw 'em and duck for the Cincinnati Reds, is available for the job of Baseball Commissioner. So am I. And why not?

I have been connected with this game a long while now, dating back before the aforesaid Reds won their World Series over the White Sox and when you got your baseball news from the newspapers or by sitting in the stands. I have played ball, all the way from One Old Cat to dishing up a roundhouse curve to a better. And that's a lot more experience than General Eckert ever had.

Milt Pappas may have traveled in faster company than yours truly, but I claim to have been one of the first farsighted baseball men in the country to write Mr. Pappas off as a dead loss (See Story No. 6, Page 5)

PARTY PICKS PCT. HEADS

Mud Creek Fight Develops; Election Of Chairman, Next

Floyd county precinct committeemen elected at last Saturday's precinct caucuses will meet Saturday morning to elect two legislative district chairmen who that afternoon will name the party's county chairman.

Generally speaking, the precinct elections developed few contests, but in the Mud Creek section intra-party scrapping broke out as opposition to election of Magistrate Dewey Roberts as chairman of the 96th legislative district was organized. In one precinct the opposition won, and the sentiment in that district is not expected to be unanimous when the precinct chairmen vote in that district.

Scattered "rump" sessions were reported—among them, one at Cliff precinct and another at Martin—but the election of Bill Fitzpatrick, of West Prestonsburg, as chairman of Legislative District 95 is expected without serious contention.

In each of the county's precincts last Saturday a "youth" chairman (a person not more than 35 years of age) was elected for the first time in accordance with a new party rule.

RED CROSS HALT NEAR

If Fund Search Fails, Chapter Here To Close After Years of Service

Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, was near closing this week. And unless financial support from local sources is found it will be closed.

Ela Noel White, executive secretary of the chapter, said a Red Cross official had recommended its immediate closing. The chapter is without funds. Miss White has not been paid her salary for three months.

But she is unwilling to quit. Business and industrial leaders were being contacted Wednesday in a last-stand effort to keep the chapter going.

Miss White, a veteran at the job, said one of several reasons she seeks to avoid closing is the fact that this would end a service to servicemen and their families. She said official figures show that 777 Floyd countians are known to be in the armed services. Besides these, there is an unknown number of Floyd men who have enlisted or been inducted to the armed forces from other counties of Kentucky and other states.

"There always is the possibility we can be of service to them," she said. "And there is no assurance that the county will escape flood next spring or some other disaster."

The Red Cross has spent more than a million dollars in Floyd county flood relief since 1957.

Whisman Sees No Ill Effects on A.V.

John Whisman, states' representative on the Appalachian Regional Commission, expressed doubt at the five-county technical assistance seminar held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, last Thursday and Friday that the coming change in national administrations will have any adverse effect on the Appalachian program.

Whisman, who has played a key role in the Appalachian concept of regional development and improvement, believes the program has been successful enough to warrant its being copied nationally. "Any time you can get Nelson Rockefeller and George Wallace to agree on anything, it must be a good thing," he said.

The speaker, who first worked in the area of development while on the staff of Gov. Bert Combs, expressed high optimism about the future. He predicted that if present trends continue unemployment within a few years will no longer exist and that the federal government will accumulate an operating surplus.

Represented at the seminar, which was financed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, were Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Martin and Magoffin counties. Sponsors of the meet were the Kentucky Development Program office and the Big Sandy Development district.

Mayors of Prestonsburg, Paintsville and Pikeville joined at Thursday's opening session in telling how cooperation has resulted in development of their communities through federal and state aid.

Mayor George P. Archer, of Prestonsburg, cited an instance of such cooperation when he and mayors of neighboring towns got together for an interview of an industrial prospect for the area and discarded the ancient rivalries that have beset the area.

"One town can't grow by itself," he said. "We must grow together or not grow at all."

"Discussing the workable programs available to small communities, Mayor J. E. Wells, of Paintsville, pointed out that the requirements established by federal agencies demand only what should have been provided such communities long ago. (See Story No. 8, Page 5)

School Dropout at 16, She's Now a Teacher

If you're a high school dropout and think that you'll never have the chance to pursue an exciting career because, so far, every door of opportunity has been slammed in your face, and because you're afraid to go back to school, think about this:

Mrs. Loretta Blackburn, a high school drop-out at 16, is teaching first grade at Prestonsburg elementary school.

At 16 Mrs. Blackburn was married, and a few years later she had four daughters who demanded all of her time and energies. This is not to say that she resented her children. She loved them and she knew that her responsibility to them had to keep her at home. She never thought she would be able to return to school for her diploma, and the thought of college didn't seem even a remote possibility. Four years ago, Prestonsburg Community College made a program of adult education classes available to the people of the Big Sandy region. It was designed to prepare its participants for the G.E.D. (General Education Development) test. A passing grade on this exam is equivalent to a high school diploma.

Mrs. Blackburn enrolled in the program, took her exam, passed with flying colors and registered as a freshman at Prestonsburg Community College in the spring of 1965. She chose education as her major, and found that someone she knew quite well was one of her classmates. It was Laddona Blackburn Miller, her eldest daughter. (See Story No. 1, Page 5)

Allen Area Views Sewer Dist. Plan

Formation of a sewer district for the town of Allen and vicinity was planned at a "town hall" meeting of residents of New and Old Allen and the board of trustees of the town this week.

The original town of Allen is incorporated. New Allen is not. The two sections of the community have not always seen, eye to eye, on fiscal matters.

But there was a spirit of agreement at this week's meeting. John T. Hill, Prestonsburg engineer who had been retained to make a study of the water and sewage needs there gave his report.

He told them that, although the existing water plant has already been declared inadequate and that it will not be long before it is obsolete, the community can expect no federal aid toward improvement of the water system because it is in litigation. He said water lines in the old part of Allen are 20 to 30 years old and that those in New Allen, though relatively new, are galvanized and will not last long. The water system has one new storage tank. Another is new but too small and a third needs to be replaced.

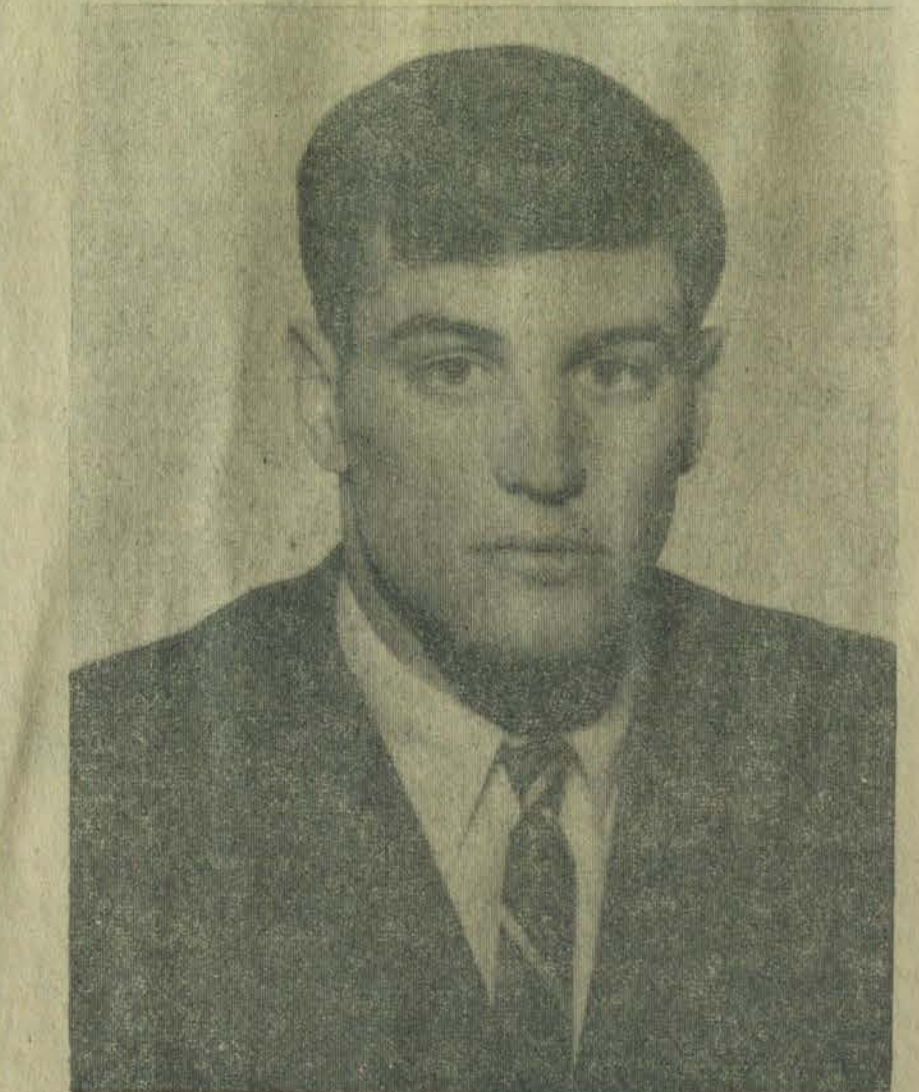

Hill told the gathering that the community could buy water, wholesale, from a system such as Prestonsburg's and avoid heavy bond debt. He estimated replacement of lines would cost about $300,000, 70 percent of which could be financed by federal grant, leaving the community to issue $90,000 in bonds. On the other hand, Hill said, replacement of the present plant and lines and planned extensions would cost about $750,000, with the community left owing about $210,000.

Immediate action is centering on the sewer situation, which is not affected by current litigation and on which 70 percent federal aid can be procured. Marshall Davidson, Allen city attorney, was instructed to prepare a petition asking a sewer district. Three residents of each community were named to serve as coordinators of the project, draw up boundaries of the district and get petitions circulated for residents' signatures. Those named are Boone Hall, Lewis Campbell and I. W. McCormick, of New Allen; Walter Frasure, Willard Kinzer and Obie Crisp, of Old Allen.

Twenty-five percent of the landowners in the area to be served must sign the petition before it can be submitted to the fiscal court for approval and formal organization.

UK Football Star Lyons To Be Grid Fete Speaker

The annual Prestonsburg Black Cat football banquet, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Jaycees, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria.

Awards will be presented and letters will be distributed to the members of the squad for achievements of the past season, which saw the Black Cats post a 9-2 winning record.

Guest-speaker for the evening will be Kentucky's versatile Dicky Lyons, who ranks 10th in the nation in scoring. Along with Mr. Lyons will be several of his teammates: Mike Boulware, junior tackle; Bob Freibert, senior tackle; Dick Palmer, junior end; Tom Anderson, offensive end. They are former

P'burg To Enforce State Closing Law

Immunization Clinics Scheduled Next Week At Bypro and Amba

The Floyd County Health Department and the Floyd County Comprehensive Health Services Program will jointly sponsor immunization clinics at Bypro next week.

The clinic will be held Monday at Bypro (Osborne's store), and Tuesday the clinic will be at Amba (Riley Reynolds' store building). Each clinic will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

A nurse from the Health Department will give shots to babies or children who have not started or completed their immunization, and to adults for tetanus or smallpox. Children under 12 years of age can receive free measles shots at either clinic.

SCHOOL BIDS SET JAN. 10

Phase I of Center At Eastern To Cost Estimated $900,000

The Floyd County Board of Education at its Saturday meeting here set January 10 as the date for asking bids for construction of Phase I of the Right Beaver high school at Eastern.

This part of the big building program, which will consolidate all high schools on Right Beaver Creek, includes classrooms, lunchroom and library. Its estimated cost is $900,000.

An additional $100,000 in Title I funds became available for this project, with the approval last week by the Title I committee of the use of that amount on Floyd school construction. With other Title I funds already available, federal aid will total $300,000, leaving $600,000 to be financed through the sale of bonds.

The board authorized Superintendent Clark and James Salisbury, transportation supervisor, to negotiate a contract with Operation Talent Search for the use of county school buses in transporting Floyd youngsters to (See Story No. 2, Page 5)

ORDER SAYS NO OPENING ON SUNDAY

Impartial Enforcement Need Cited by Mayor; Some Places Exempt

Owners of Prestonsburg places of business have been notified that enforcement of the state Sunday closing law will begin with next Sunday.

The action followed last Thursday's meeting of the City Council at which representatives of a dozen or more business places called for enforcement. Business places open last Sunday were warned by police that further violation may be subject to prosecution.

Mayor George P. Archer said this week that the law has been violated here for years without protest and that any effort on the part of the city to enforce it now will be without partially.

State law excludes work of necessity or charity or work necessary to the maintenance or operation of a public service or public utility plant or system. It also does not penalize amateur sports, athletic games, operation of moving picture shows and service stations.

The same law that provides a penalty for Sunday work prohibits hunting on Sunday.

Mayor Archer said that enforcement of the law cannot be effected here unless similar enforcement is made, countywide. County Judge Henry Stumbo said Tuesday he had not been consulted about the situation.

In Pike county County Judge Bill Paulsen and Pikeville Mayor W. C. Hambley responded to a request of the Merchants Committee of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce by saying strict enforcement of the law will be in effect there. They expressed the hope that merchants and other businessmen could work out details for providing to the public such necessities as groceries and drug prescriptions.

The city of Paintsville already has clamped down on violators of the closing law.

The city of Bowling Green has attempted to enforce the law. One ordinance attempting to define "a work of necessity" was held unconstitutional. Now, an amended ordinance allowing the sale of drugs and food on Sunday has been attacked as discriminatory.

The penalty for violation of the law ranges from $2 to $100, depending upon the type of business kept open, and each person employed in the operation of a business on Sunday represents a separate offense, the Kentucky statutes point out.

Paul King, Age 7, Dies Last Thursday

Paul Bernard King, seven-year-old son of John Paul and Lois Stewart King, of Louisa, formerly of Amba, died last Thursday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington, following a month's illness.

Surviving, besides the parents, is a sister, Donna King, at home. He was a grandson of Elder Johnny and Clara King, of Amba, and of Mrs. Annie Stewart, of Honaker, and the late Bee Stewart.

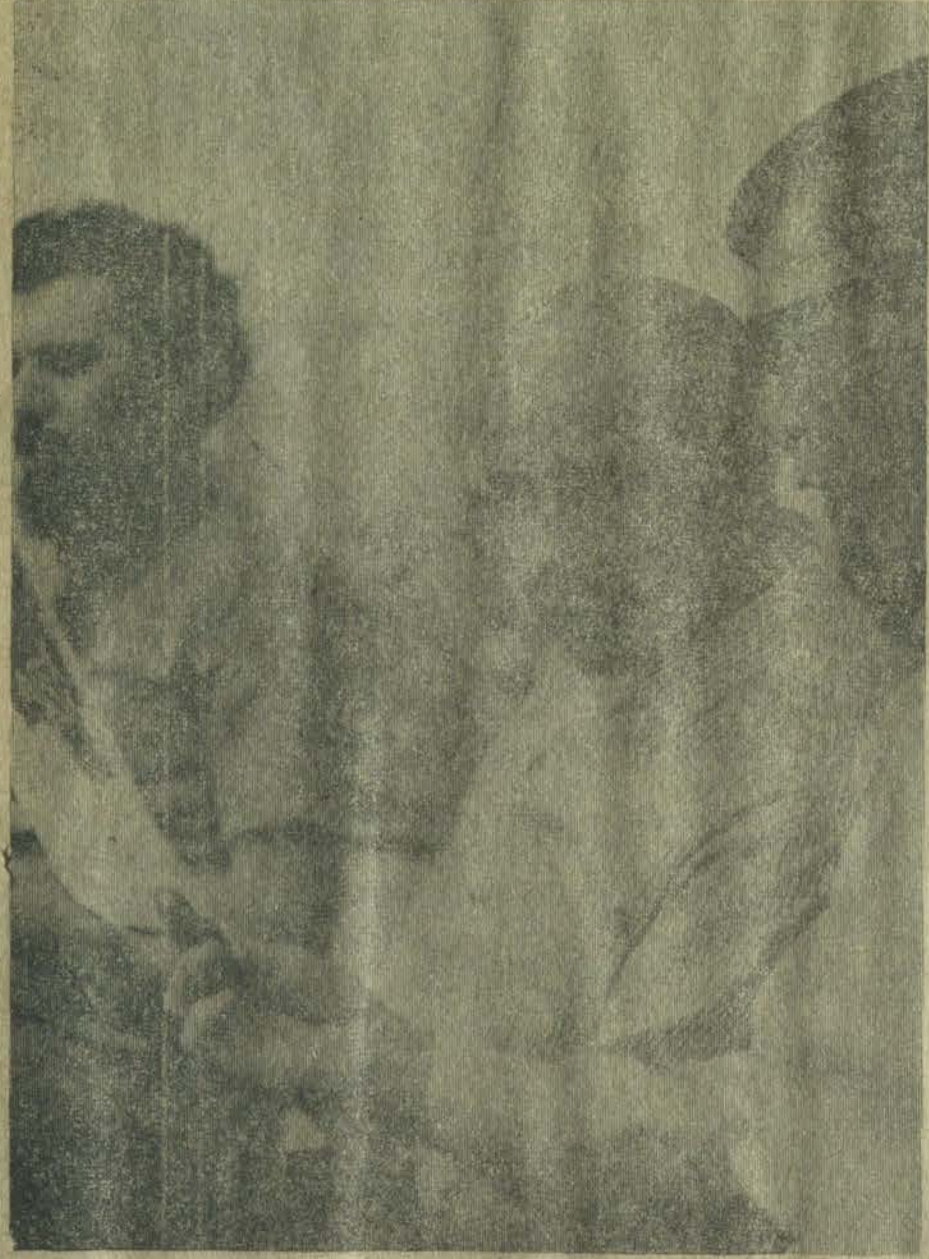

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Banner United Baptist Church, ministers of that church officiating. Burial was made in the Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

ENSEMBLE TO FEATURE MUSIC OF RENAISSANCE

The Choral Arts Ensemble, a small musical group of 13 voices, will present a program of Christmas music of the Renaissance period at Prestonsburg Community College, next Monday at 8 p.m.

The debut of the Choral Arts Ensemble last spring was attended by an audience that filled the concert hall to capacity, and because of its success the group has organized once again and has prepared a Christmas concert of some of the loveliest music of the Renaissance period. (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

WSCS MEETS

The W. S. C. S. of the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church held its regular meeting in the home of Aileen Wallen on December 5, with the following members present: Kathryn Blackburn, Mary Lykins, Mildred Davis Clara Allen, Elizabeth Bailey, Hettie Johnston, Edith Mae Stanley, Kelsa Elliott, Sue Knipp, Billie Jean Osborne and Aileen Wallen.

After the business meeting, the program chairman, Mary Lykins, presented a Christmas program. "The Story of the Birth of Jesus" was read by Edith Mae Stanley. Thoughts for meditation on why we celebrate the birth of Jesus were given by Mary Lykins.

There was group singing of Christmas carols, and the story of each carol was presented by Kelsa Elliott, also a solo entitled, "What Child is This?" was sung by Billie Jean Osborne.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mary Lykins on January 2, with Kelsa Elliott as program chairman.

KIWANIS CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS, HUTSINPILLER KIWANIAN OF THE YEAR

Members of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club and their wives were present for dinner and the annual installation of officers meeting held December 2. Dr. William D. Blair, of Paintsville, newly elected lieutenant-governor of Division 8 of the Kentucky-Tennessee district, conducted the installation of the new officers and directors who will lead the club in 1969.

Marvin Music, past governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee district, installed Dr. Blair as lieutenant-governor of Division 8. Dr. Blair, in turn, awarded a plaque to Mr. Music recognizing his election as a life member of the Kiwanis International Foundation. This organization is comprised of 150 Kiwanians who have joined together for the purpose of providing scholarships for needy young people seeking an education.

Another outstanding event of the evening was the recognition of C. L. Hutsinpiller as "Kiwian of the Year." This award, in the form of a plaque, was also made by Marvin Music. Mr. Hutsinpiller was presented the plaque in his hospital room in Lexington where he is recuperating from an injury suffered in an accident. This award is for outstanding service to the community by a Kiwanian and in this case the recipient was also recognized for 27 continuous years of perfect attendance at Kiwanis meetings.

Christmas Contest In Three Categories; Many in Homes Tour

The annual Christmas decorating cash awards to be given by the Woman's Club this year will be made in three categories: Outdoor lighting, door design and religious theme. The contest area will include Lancer. In snow and freezing cold, Saturday and Sunday, several hundred visitors called at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kalos, Mrs. Walter Scott Harkins, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bolling and Mrs. C. P. Stephens, to enjoy the hospitality of the hosts, assisted by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club which sponsored the Christmas tour of these four homes. A bazaar was held at the Kalos home. A tea was enjoyed at the Bolling home. Garfield Place was enjoyed for its historic attraction.

The Woman's Club dinner meeting today (Thursday) will be held at May Lodge. A program of music will be rendered by the Prestonsburg Community College Choral Arts Ensemble. Mrs. Fred Francis is chairman of arrangements.

Washington, D. C. — George Washington University basketball fans are hoping that 1968-69 will begin the Colonials' return to prominence in the collegiate basketball ranks.

If the first winning season since 1960 materializes as expected it will come as no surprise to Kentucky basketball fans as two of the top candidates for the GW varsity are the talented Tallent brothers from Langley.

A/C Bill Cook Leads Team in England

Chick sands AFB, England, November 29 — The fighting Chicks basketball team, the defending United Kingdom Conference basketball champions, have a good chance to bring home the cup for two years in succession. Having already played six conference games to date, the Chicks sport a respectable 5 and 1 record. This places them in second place in the conference, trailing only undefeated Upper Heyford.

After six league games, Bill Cook, 6-3 forward, from Wheelwright, Ky., is the team's leading player with the highest totals in all statistics. To date Airman Cook has 64 rebounds, is 29 for 32 at the free-throw line (90.6 percent), shooting 68 for 113 from the floor (60.1 percent), and is averaging 27.5 points per game for 165 total points.

When the Colonials began preparations for their November 30 opener with the Citadel, Bob Tallent was the only player on the squad virtually assured of a starting role. His younger brother Mike is given a good chance to open the season in the backcourt with him, despite the fact that both starting guards from last year return.

Bob, a former starter for Coach Adolph Rupp at Kentucky, coached the GW freshmen

Student Representatives Of Community Colleges In Lexington Meeting

Student representatives of University of Kentucky community colleges, meeting in Lexington recently to discuss administrative matters relating to the system, had some suggestions for the system's administrators. The Inter-Community College Student Council (ICCCS), an advisory group to the community college deans and the UK president, asked for representation on all standing committees in the system. ICCSC members presently serve on committees at their respective colleges.

It was expected that their request would meet with little opposition, since the administration has actively encouraged student participation in decision making.

The ICCSC's executive committee and its student affairs committee met at the Phoenix Hotel for discussion and a luncheon. They were guests of Dean Ellis F. Hartford of the Community College System at a luncheon at Spindletop Hall.

ICCCS members and the college each represented: Condit Stile, Ashland; Leslie Combs, Hazard; Paul Hennessey, Jr., Henderson; John Pyle, Hopkinsville; Roger Pinotti, Jefferson; Wanda Acree, Lexington Technical Institute; Larry Hesler, Maysville; David Schwarte, Northern; Howard Atkinson, Paducah; Cheryl Ralston, Prestonsburg; Robert Williams, Quicksand (Wood Utilization Center); Ron Stricklin, Somerset; (ICCCS coordinator); and Susan Clark, Southeast.

'Personalities of South' Includes Alice Lloyd's Music Department Head

RALEIGH, N. C. — Abner H. Greider, director of Alice Lloyd College's "Voices From Appalachia" capella choir, has been selected to appear in the 1969 edition of "Personalities of the South," its editorial board announced here today. He was selected on the basis of his contribution to music of the mountains since coming to the coeducational campus at Pippa Passes, Kentucky, in 1962.

Greider, a native of Wisconsin and a graduate of St. Olaf College at Northfield, Minn., has become a recognized authority on the music of the Southern Highlands as head of the music department at Alice Lloyd College and director of its nationally acclaimed choir. He is credited with the arrangement of some two dozen age-old hymns and spirituals never before committed to written form.

and his brother to a 17-2 record last year while establishing a year of residency after transferring from Kentucky.

Mike led the Colonial freshmen in scoring with a 29-point-per-game average and his 550 points were the most ever scored by a GW freshman. He scored more than 30 points in nine games and over 20 in 17 of the 19 games.

His 42 points against Richmond was tops for the season as he hit 16 of 33 shots from the floor and 10 free throws. His best game from the free throw line came against the Midshipmen of Navy at Annapolis as he hit 12 of 13 attempts.

Although Bob has never played a game at GW, he will take over the leadership of the squad on the court and along with Mike or Junior Bob Dennis give the Colonials their best outside scoring in many years.

PHONES 'CHASING' PEOPLE BACK INTO WILDERNESS?

(From The Courier-Journal)

Stanton, Ky. — "People are running from telephones. That's the psychology behind selling places like this," said B. E. Billings and pointed to a small clearing in a heavily wooded area several miles from the main road.

Billings said he realized about four years ago that "my dream of a retreat in the mountains is the dream of about 95 percent of all people today."

Real-estate agents throughout Kentucky report a land rush with people looking for land both for investment purposes and for second homes.

In unprecedented numbers, land-hungry Kentuckians (and residents from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois) are buying lots around the state's lakes and rivers, cabin sites in Eastern Kentucky, productive land, deserted farms and stretches of undeveloped land.

Among these potential landowners is a new group. They are individuals seeking their own private wilderness estate. They are tantalized by the prospect of stretches of rough terrain accessible only by foot or by a narrow (often dirt) road, out of sight of other people and other houses, and out of sound of automobiles.

Though wilderness land is quickly disappearing from the scene in Kentucky, there is a growing market for what remains.

Realizing the potential market, Billings, in his spare time, searches Powell and surrounding counties for old mountain farms and secluded areas which would appeal to wilderness seekers.

Born and raised in Stanton, Billings, 39, has an insurance agency here, manages some politticking on the side and was elected to a term in the legislature during the Breathitt administration. But he is happiest tramping through the hills. He buys land, often for friends, makes improvements and then sells it.

According to him, it is almost predictable what people want who are looking for unimproved land — 20 to 80 acres with a small clearing, some natural attraction such as cliffs, a scenic overlook or caves.

"But above all they want seclusion," Billings said. "I look for the roughest, cheapest land around like this."

One such isolated tract he owns is seven miles down a narrow county road heading straight into the mountains, then about four more miles along a one-lane dirt road that winds up as a path cleared by a bulldozer. Hidden there on the end of a ridge are wilderness treasures: a rushing creek, caves, at least four small, lush meadows, and farther on, an excellent view of the valley and neighboring foothills.

Realtor J. O. Briggs here goes so far as to describe some land he has as "accessible only by helicopter." Needless to say, conveniences (i.e., running water and electricity) are not always available.

Areas such as Owenton, Beattyville, Stanton and Frenenburg are attractive spots where Central Kentuckians and residents of southern Ohio like to retreat. Undeveloped land is available within a two- or three-hour drive.

A Corbin realtor forseees more requests for rough land and mountain farms in that part of the state with the completion of Interstate 75 between Mount Vernon and Corbin. The four-lane superhighway will then put Southeastern Kentucky within a few hours drive of metropolitan Lexington and Cincinnati.

Both Briggs and Billings credit the Mountain Parkway and facilities at Natural Bridge State Park with arousing interest in the tri-county area of Wolfe, Powell and Menifee counties. Many Lexington residents say, however, they first heard of Irvine, Slade and Frenenburg through the Red River dam controversy.

"Whether they build that dam or not doesn't matter to me," Billings said. "People were buying land before that uproar started. This is just a good place for hideaways."

Rough terrain in the tri-county area is still well under $100 an acre though Briggs says values have gone up 30 percent in the last 18 months.

The government bought 80 percent of the land where the proposed Red River dam will be located for $4 an acre in the 1940's, according to Billings.

"When you even have a chance to get land in that vicinity today, it is sky high," he said.

UNDEFEATED MAYTOWN FIVE WINS SECOND TOURNAMENT; HOLDS REGION TOP SPOT

LANGLEY, Ky.—Maytown high school's Wildcats, the winningest team (10-0) in the 15th Region proved their top rating again by trouncing a tall Prestonsburg five, 77-63, in the Floyd County Preseason Tournament at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse Saturday night. The Wildcats defeated the same Prestonsburg team the previous Saturday, to take top honors in the Jenny Wiley classic which was held in the same arena.

Accuracy and speed, plus balanced team play by the small (tallest player 6'-2") Wildcat team accounts for the early showing by these boys. In both of the past tournaments the team had better than a 50% shooting average for six games.

Randy Click, 6-foot senior forward and Maytown's greatest offensive threat averaged 22 points for the two tournaments; Tom Stewart, 6-foot senior playmaker and strong defensive guard, averaged 14 points and 9 assists for the six tournament games; David Gibson, 6-foot senior guard, averaged 12 points; sophomore guard, Pat Tallent, averaged 11 points, and Senior center, Keith Hicks, 6-1, averaged 9 points and 9 rebounds.

Other players seeing action were senior forward, Jackie Halbert, and junior center, Rodney Hicks, both 6 ft., who give the Wildcats strong

Otis Jarrell, 49, Resident of Cliff, Is Victim Saturday

James Odie Jarrell, 49 years old, of Cliff, died Saturday at the Paintsville hospital after an extended illness.

Mr. Jarrell worked as a miner for Princess Coals, Inc., at David, prior to the company's shutdown of operations there.

A veteran of World War II, he was born October 4, 1919 at Woods, a son of the late Charley Washington and Eva Spears Jarrell.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty Collins Jarrell; three sons, Michael Odie, Charles Albert and John Martin Jarrell, all at home; four sisters, Mrs. Elsie Smiley and Mrs. Laura Goble, both of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Albie Birchfield, of Fairborn, O., and Miss Ellen Jarrell, of Emma; two brothers, William Virgil Jarrell, of Enon, Ohio, and Flem Thomas Jarrell, of Emma, and a half-brother, James C. Cline, of Jamestown, Ohio.

Funeral rites were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Horn Methodist Chapel on Auxier road, the Revs. Henry Crider and Floyd Tackett officiating. Burial in the Collins family cemetery on Auxier road was directed by the Carter Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Pete McKenzie, Ralph Mullett, Lincoln Daniels, Bob Wireman, Russell Wells, Palmer Wells, Albert Burchett, Dow Webb and Mort Shepherd.

FOR SHERIFF

I am hereby publicly announcing myself for Sheriff of Floyd county. I feel as a candidate for this office I should let it be known publicly how I stand, and what I stand for. I am presently a Sergeant First Class in the Army. I have served the citizens of the United States honorably for approximately thirteen years. Now I am asking the people of Floyd county to let me serve them for another four years, but at home in the Sheriff's office.

If I am elected I will be available to serve you as your Sheriff. As you already know in the past, if a teenager broke the law he gets treated as a grown-up or an adult. What I mean by this is a cut up the side of his head with a billy or blackjack. Citizens, this is not my way of discipline at all! I will apprehend anyone breaking the law, but with a child or teenager, you as parents do not have to worry about getting your child back with a busted head or a few cracked ribs. I also believe in veterans having their private clubs back. This is something the Federal Government started, and my belief is that no public official should have the right to deny them this privilege. They have earned this, so let's give it back to them.

I make no promises as your sheriff that I will not fulfill. All your support toward me for this office will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you
A Candidate for Sheriff
Sgt. M. (Burl) JOSEPH

The concert will include vocal numbers in Latin and in English, augmented by unusual instrumental accompaniment combining guitar, bassoon and recorders.

Members of the group are college, high school and elementary teachers from Floyd, Johnson, Pike and Magoffin counties, Prestonsburg Community College students and residents of Prestonsburg.

The director, John Mochnick, has been at Prestonsburg Community College for two years as a music instructor. Originally from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he received his B.M. in voice from the Heidelberg Conservatory of Music in Ohio and his M.M. in choral conducting from Indiana University at Bloomington. Mr. Mochnick is pleased with the group's progress this semester and is looking forward to next semester's concert, which he has tentatively planned to be composed of music from the Elizabethan period.

There will be no admission charge to Monday's concert.

LAWRENCE-SCUTCHFIELD

The marriage of Miss Margaret Hanger Lawrence, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Kane Cobb Lawrence, Lexington, Ky., and Mr. Scott Beecher Scutchfield, son of Dr. and Mrs. Beecher Layne Scutchfield, also of Lexington and formerly of Martin, was solemnized at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, November 30 from Christ Episcopal Church, Lexington.

The officiating ministers were the Rev. Multrie McIntosh and the bride's grandfather, the Rt. Rev. William Appleton Lawrence.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a modified princess silhouette gown of silk satin with slim trumpet effect train and scooped neckline. A venetian lace border curved down under the fitted bodice and center of the skirt, and the same lace edged the flared sleeves. Her headpiece was of venetian lace with a flowing silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white bridal roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Mada Barnes, of Lexington, wore chiffon velvet with lace bodice and long, lace sleeves. Her headpiece was a velvet bow with sheer silk illusion veil. Her flowers were a cascade of chrysanthemums.

Costumes and flowers of the bridesmaids, Miss Florence Atkinson, Miss Robbin Schoff and Miss Sharlee Shonke, all of Lexington, were identical to those of the maid of honor. The bride's sister, Miss Susanna Hart Lawrence, was flower girl.

Dr. Frank Douglas Scutchfield, Atlanta, Ga., served his brother as best man. Ushers were Charles Lawrence, Lexington, brother of the bride, Larry Frazier, Martin, Carl Tackett, Lexington, Lloyd Douglas McGarey, Dayton, Ohio, and Dr. Edwin Dale, Atlanta, Georgia.

Following a reception at the Idle Hour Country Club, Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Scutchfield left to spend their honeymoon in the Virgin Islands, after which they will be at home in Lexington.

The bride was graduated from Stuart Hall, Staunton, Virginia, and attended the University of Kentucky and the Fugazzi Business School, Lexington. Mr. Scutchfield was graduated from the Berea Foundation School and attended Eastern Kentucky University, the University of Kentucky and Western Kentucky University where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He presently is associated with the IBM Corp., Lexington, as a chemist.

Redistricting was adopted by a 4-1 vote of the board. O. R. Howard, District 1 board member, cast the dissenting vote. He explained his vote in this way: "I did not oppose redistricting, I felt it was needed, but voted against the motion simply because Jim Banks precinct on Bull Creek was not included in my district. I realize the job of redistricting was a difficult one and accept the statement that the best job possible was done within the limited time they had, but I feel this section should have been in the district I represent. The other changes made in District 1, the additions of Spurlock and Porter precinct, were, of course, welcome to me."

Sam Alexander, executive assistant to State Supt. Wendell P. Butler, and Ray Corns, director of legal services, State Department of Education, attended the board meeting. County Supt. Clark explained they were present, mainly because "they were the people we dealt with when the redistricting suit was filed."

The board's action will now go to the State Board of Education for its approval. Action at the Frankfort end is expected next month. A copy of the redistricting order also will be forwarded to the U. S. district court at Lexington.

Regina Kay Bryant, infant daughter of Norman R. and Olive Rose Dawson Bryant, of Martin, was dead at birth Saturday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. Survivors, other than the parents, are three brothers and a sister, Ricky, Ronnie, William Lewis and Connie Sue Bryant, all at home. The paternal grandfather is Milford Bryant, of Martin, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Dawson, of Hi Hat. Graveside services were held Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Boyd cemetery at Hi Hat. Burial was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Pointing to the necessity for communities to get ready for industry before inviting it in, Mr. Thompson cited the Thelma industrial site in Johnson county as an example of community preparedness. Acquired 11 years ago, it is now the site of what will be a $3 million rehabilitation center.

PRESIDENT'S "E" AWARD TO GO TO ISLAND CREEK

Island Creek Coal Company has been designated by Secretary of Commerce C. R. Smith to receive President Johnson's Export "E" Award for success in boosting sales of U. S. products abroad, the U. S. Department of Commerce announced this week.

William Bellano, president of Island Creek, will be presented the "E" award by Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. in his office at the state Capitol in Richmond, Virginia, at 10:30 a.m., December 18, according to C. B. Stebbins, director of the Commerce Department's Cleveland Field Office. The award consists of a citation signed in the name of President Johnson by Secretary Smith and an "E" flag and "E" label buttons.

Island Creek took its first big step toward developing overseas markets in 1964 with the opening of a special mine to supply foreign steel producers with high-grade metallurgical coal. Two other mines devoted mainly to overseas sales have since been opened, and a fourth will begin operation in 1970. Island Creek's 1967 exports of metallurgical coal were more than 50 percent above 1965, and on the basis of contracts already in hand, 1972 export sales will be at least triple those of 1967.

Japan is Island Creek's best overseas market. Important sales outlets also exist in Europe and South America.

Blair) to District 3 (Mr. Stumbo). The change puts all of Mud Creek in District 3.

Moved the Buffalo section of Cow Creek, precinct from District 3 to District 2. This previously was a precinct split between the two districts.

Moved Porter precinct from District 3 to District 1 (Mr. Howard's). This precinct, within the corporate limits of Prestonsburg where Mr. Howard resides, is the only precinct moved in its entirety.

Moved Spurlock fork of Middle Creek from District 5 to District 1. This was a part of Depot precinct No. 3 in District 1.

Moved David from District 1 to vote with the remainder of Jack Allen precinct in District 5.

Moved Beech Grove precinct, including Brush Creek, from District 2 to District 5. Only the Brush Creek portion of the precinct was in No. 5 until this change was made.

Moved Dwale from District 2 to District 5. Dwale, a part of Jim Banks precinct formerly voted in District 2. Now, all of Jim Banks precinct will vote in District 5.

Moved Sizemore Creek from District 5 to District 2 to place all of Drift precinct in one district.

These changes made, the educational districts have these registered voters:

District 1 (Mr. Howard), 5,247; District 2 (Dr. Allen), 4,986; District 3 (Mr. Stumbo), 4,834; District 4 (Mr. Blair), 5,180; District 5 (Mr. Cooley), 5,298.

The disparity in the number of registered voters between the smallest district, No. 3, and the largest, No. 5, is now 462.

Before redistricting was done, the number of voters per district was:

District 1, 4,591; District 2, 5,282; District 3, 5,386; District 4, 5,517; District 5, 4,767.

The vote disparity at that time between the largest district, No. 4, and the smallest, No. 1, was 928 votes.

Redistricting was adopted by a 4-1 vote of the board. O. R. Howard, District 1 board member, cast the dissenting vote. He explained his vote in this way: "I did not oppose redistricting, I felt it was needed, but voted against the motion simply because Jim Banks precinct on Bull Creek was not included in my district. Worcester, Mass.—One potentially deadly novelty pin has been returned to a millinery shop, leaving as many as six persons in this area. The proprietress of the store said she had received 48 of the pins from a distributor and had returned 41 when he asked for them. The Food and Drug Administration in Washington said several firms throughout the country had received shipments of the pins from Japan. Some of the pins were decorated with a shiny orange bean called the jequirity bean, which could kill if swallowed.

A SILK PURSE FROM A SOW'S EAR—The proverbial impossibility is being accomplished at the Millstone Sewing Center, an OEO funded community action project in Letcher County. Mrs. Maxie Wright, Thornton, concentrates on converting a discarded work shirt into a Sunday go-to-meeting dress for some lucky little girl.

MIRACLES AT MILLSTONE

Performing miracles is a past-time humans seldom engage in, but the Millstone Sewing Center in Letcher county has turned it into a fulltime occupation.

The miracles are simple ones—transforming Salvation Army rags and scrap materials from an upholstery shop into inexpensive, stylish clothing for mountain families—but they take time and talent.

The rewards are simple, too. Seamstresses can take money home to their families for the first time. Widows can support themselves. A little mountain girl wears a dress fit for a princess.

The overall impact of the Sewing Center is far from simple, however. Funded in 1966 by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), to provide women in the area a chance to employ their sewing talents for money, the center has now expanded to include a kitchen, library, meeting room and a roving seamstress who teaches sewing throughout the county.

The road to expansion has not been paved with federal coin alone. The Sewing Center supports other Millstone Community Action projects through the sale of its remade clothing and other activities. OEO funds provide hourly salaries for the 10 seamstresses and three other personnel employed, but it's the pie suppers and the empty bottle collections that allow the center to expand and renovate.

Liberal use is made of Neighborhood Youth Corps' talents throughout the center. NYC girls work in the kitchen, learning how to prepare and freeze foods which are later sold for a profit. NYC boys develop skills at wiring and paneling as they renovate the two-story rambling building.

The community is learning through the center too. A roving seamstress is on call throughout the county to teach clothing renovation and sewing. A training center is being set up at Cowan to teach local women the sewing skills necessary to attract garment industries to the mountains.

Even the physical terrain of Letcher county has been influenced by the Millstone Center. Litter bags have been made and passed out to neighboring service stations to promote area beautification.

The Center hopes to eventually support itself through its sewing projects, by developing markets for hand-made clothing and quilts outside Letcher county.

In the meantime however, the seamstresses will settle for their daily dose of miracles, changing old clothes to new, for their neighbors.

PCC Band and Chorus To Present Concert Here Next Sunday

The University Choristers and the Band of Prestonsburg Community College will present their annual Christmas concert in the Commons Room at the college at 4 p.m. Sunday, December 15.

The band, directed by Gus Kalos, will play the following numbers: "Psalm 18," by Marcello; a Christmas Suite of familiar carols; "Panis Angelicus," by Cesar Franck; "Air and Bourree," by George Handel; "Arioso," by Clifton Williams, and Polyphonic Suite, by Charles Carter.

The University Choristers, directed by John Mochnick, will sing "Lirum, Lirum," by Thomas Morley; "Cantate Domino," by Giuseppe Pitoni; "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates," by Henrich Schultz (in this number the choristers will be assisted by the Salyersville high school brass ensemble); "O Joyful Day," by Michael Haydn; "The Blessed Son of God," by R. Vaughn Williams; "Mary Had a Baby," a spiritual arranged by William Dawson, and "Song of Praise," by Carl Sitton.

TALK ABOUT HOT NEWS...

(An editorial in The Painsville Herald)

We received a bit of information from an out-of-town subscriber this past week-end with mixed emotions.

Our good friend was "home" for Thanksgiving, and dropped by the office to renew his long-standing subscription.

Sometimes, however, we can find no reason for a subscriber not to have received his paper, and are at a loss for an explanation.

It just so happens that our out-of-town visitor checked with his postoffice, and they in turn checked with their regional center.

We have no reason to doubt the veracity of this story. The visitor was not the type to fabricate such a report.

What irritates us the most is not the action so much as the attitude. Since zip coding was initiated, our work and our cost of mailing has roughly tripled, and we seldom get by more than three weeks without receiving some change in procedure.

We also seldom make it through three weeks without a written reprimand from a faceless postal official who says we should be mailing certain zip codes in different groups, putting them in different bags, going through a sectional center or doing some other insane function to theoretically speed the mailing of our publication.

Exactly why we should help speed it to a bonfire is uncertain.

Some of the regulations make about as much sense as the mail circuit to Salyersville. Anything we mail to our neighboring city, some 15 miles to the west, goes first to Louisa, Ashland, Lexington and only then to Salyersville, in case you didn't know.

Like everyone else, we now are paying more to send our mail. It is unfortunate that such an important service seems to become more unwieldy as its size and costs grow.

We are pleased to learn that a lapse in mailing to at least one subscriber was apparently not our fault, but we were less than happy to hear about the apparent cause. It seems that increased mailing rates are not a solution to postal problems, and perhaps, as has been recommended, that function should be taken over by a non-government corporation.

Preferably one with no matches.

THE "OLD HOUSE" HOLDS HOUSE FULL OF DREAMS

By HELEN PRICE STACY (In the Herald-Dispatch, Huntington, W. Va.)

You might not notice the house from the Mountain Parkway, but it is there almost within yelling distance of Salyersville.

If you see the house you will not forget it, and opening an old-fashioned gate you step inside to history. A yard neatly kept, boxwood trimmed to fashionable roundness and leaves tumbling around you try to keep you within the present decade, but a magnet draws you back to the long-ago.

The immense salt box, its weatherboarding the color of old silver, its bubbled window panes sparkling and glinting in the sun, the windows topped with Royal English Tudor arches, and the huge mud-chinked stone chimney and you withdraw to another era.

Archibald Prater, trying to forget the hard days when he was with the Virginia Militia, struck out across the mountains.

Reaching a beautiful valley near what now is Salyersville in Magoffin county, he placed his long rifle against a tree to rest and to make up his mind that here was where he would build his house, clear his land, rear his family.

The "Whing!" of arrows did not frighten the soldier and he fought off the Indian attack and made his way back to Virginia. In 1804 he returned to the valley and built a rough cabin, then with crude tools carved from the wilderness a settlement known as Burning Fork.

You are brought back to the present when Miss Alma Prater, great-great granddaughter of the soldier of the Revolution, joins you and takes you on a tour of the grounds.

"Here is a souvenir you can take with you," smiles Miss Prater. "It will remind you of your visit." She points to two huge squared stones, one atop the other. Proving what this generation should know, that their pioneering ancestors were "sharp as a withe," the top stone had been neatly hollowed and a hole cut in the bottom and through the side. With a plug in the bottom, the wash basin held water; when the water was used, the plug was removed and the water ran out the side.

Near the stone basin is a wash house. "Built before my time," says Miss Prater, "and I'm on the sunny side of a hundred." Roofed with hand-rived shakes, the small house holds stone jars, glass jars, "an oaken well bucket my father made," and ancient tools including a wagon-wheel measurer, and to further prove the ingenuity of these pioneers, a clothes reel on which to hang the family laundry.

You do not go inside the main house; in fact, you and Miss Alma keep a wary eye and take watchful steps as you tour outside.

"The country is not like it used to be," remarked the small, spry woman, "and some folks'd try to break in if they thought they could." But a copperhead coils on a chimney rock and it is better than a watchdog! When the Praters moved out a few years ago to live in modern convenience, the copperheads moved in.

Miss Alma and her sister Miss Fanny live in a neat white house across the highway from the Old House. They are daughters of Thomas Prater and Sarah Holderby Prater.

Thomas Prater's parents were John and Jemimah Auxier Prater, she of Floyd county. John Prater's parents were John and Mary Benton Prater, of Virginia, and the elder John's parents were Archibald and Sarah Fugate Prater who came to Virginia from England, he to fight in the Revolution.

In the home of the Misses Prater, a dish cabinet 200 years old holds ironstone and china from across the sea, a small sewing cabinet, and an iron candle mold that came across the mountains with Archibald.

It is enough to know that in this house and the Old House are objects and furnishings more than 200 years old, but it is nicer to know that these things are valued and cherished as years of dreams of many generations of Praters.

In the Old House hang a Kentucky rifle and hunting pouch from walls paneled in hand-hewn beaded poplar. On a cobbler's bench rest wooden pegs, wooden shoe lasts and old hand-made shoes with cathide shoestrings. From the yawning opening of the fireplace cranes hold kettles black from smoke of many years; firedogs, still blacker, are flanked by an iron candle mold and a 10-inch bear trap.

There are spinning wheels, a loom, McGuffey readers, clocks and saddlebags, lamps and pictures. . . and there are many dreams.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

We should appreciate it very much if you would mention the annual patients' Christmas party to be held at the state Tuberculosis Hospital, Ashland, Kentucky, on Thursday, December 19, at 7 p.m.

We are trying to obtain gifts for the patients and such help must be enlisted from individuals and groups. Those interested should call Area Code 606 324-3131, c/o State TB Hospital, Ashland, Kentucky, or write to Christmas Party, State TB Hospital, Ashland, Kentucky 4101. SOCIAL SERVICE DEPT. State TB Hospital Ashland, Kentucky.

BEHIND IT ALL...

There is a cause for all things, and there is a Supreme Power above the lesser power. To deny the existence of a Greater Power above all earthly power is to deny the existence of reality. The billions of other suns in the vastness of the galaxies could not just have been made unless there was a maker. Some say they were formed by cosmic dust — but what made cosmic dust?

Those who disclaim or disdain their true spiritual heritage are to be pitied. To say there is no Divine Power and intelligence above all other power is the ultimate in abysmal ignorance!

A REMINDER TO MANY

One gladly notes that Hollie Faye Wicker, of Eastern, was included in the OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA. The recognition is for her dedication to trainable retarded children in special education. She has gone far beyond the call of duty, is busy now with a bake sale to provide them with extra gifts at Christmas. While some pupils come from elite homes, many do not, and all of the handicapped little ones need to find that everyone loves them.

With the Yuletide season near no individual, church or other group could find greater joy than that derived through remembering these unfortunate little folks, who — regardless of age — must remain children always. There are at present four classes in the county, all worthy of attention and gifts, and — like patients in the rest homes — many of them will be neglected unless Christians such as Hollie Faye and others make a special effort in their behalf.

A famous writer said that every civilization is judged by what it does for its least fortunate members. It is sad but true that the average citizen does not know these children exist. We are too busy to take time for them, yet we are the most pleasure-loving, amusement-seeking and spending generation on record, often forgetting that the greatest joy possible comes through helping others. Our viewpoints might change radically if each of us spent a day, or even one hour, visiting these classes.

SPECIAL CHILDREN—SPECIAL EDUCATION

By RICHARD D. HOWARD Director, Special Education, Pikeville College

In this week's column I think, instead of talking at you, I will simply suggest you read the two items below and then read them a second, third, and fourth time, giving some thought to each sentence. Every line is loaded with implications for adults who have the responsibility of children. Remember that children are not born good or bad. Good or bad children are made by the adult society.

IF A CHILD...

- If a child lives with criticism he learns to condemn. If a child lives with hostility he learns to fight. If a child lives with fear he learns to be apprehensive. If a child lives with pity he learns to feel sorry for himself. If a child lives with jealousy he learns to hate. If a child lives with encouragement he learns to be confident. If a child lives with praise he learns to be appreciative. If a child lives with acceptance he learns to love. If a child lives with approval he learns to like himself. If a child lives with recognition he learns to have a goal. If a child lives with fairness he learns justice. If a child lives with honesty he learns what truth is. If a child lives with friendliness he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live.

HOW TO RAISE A JUVENILE DELINQUENT

- 1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living. 2. When he picks up "bad" words or "dirty" words, laugh at him. That will make him think he is "cute." He will run off and pick up some other words that will blow your top off.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Every fall, the coming of cool weather brings on an unusual condition in lakes—their semi-annual "overturn." While this is usually good for fishing, the term confuses a lot of fishermen, who don't exactly understand what it means.

When a lake turns over, the temperature of the water from top to bottom is nearly the same. This occurs twice a year, in spring and fall. During the summer, the water temperature of a typical lake could be 80 degrees at the surface and, depending on the lake's depth, as low as 45 degrees on the bottom. Shallow lakes, obviously, won't vary that much.

As the fall brings cold rains, cool nights and chilly winds, the temperature of surface waters will gradually drop, and when it reaches 39.2 degrees the water is at its maximum density.

This density, abetted by the mixing action of the wind, will cause the lake to "overturn"—or have a fairly uniform temperature from top to bottom. This normally is good for fishing because fish that have been shunning warm surface waters and lying low in cool, hard-to-reach depths now move in toward shore, where they can be reached.

Logically, one would think they should eat like crazy in order to store up fat for the long winter ahead. But unfortunately for us anglers, nature doesn't plan it that way.

When water temperatures drop into the high to middle 40's and 30's, the metabolism of a fish sinks to a low level of activity. Because of this, it needs little or nothing to sustain its body weight throughout the winter season. So while some great catches of fish are made in late fall and early winter periods, success depends upon many factors.

In weedy lakes, it takes several early frosts to kill off surplus weeds in which fish have been hiding; then a long period of balmy weather can bring on a bonanza that will fill nearly every fisherman's stringer.

But if the frosts come late and are followed by sustained cold weather, fishing can be colder than a well digger's ankle. This is especially true with the warm water species such as the basses (white, yellow, largemouth, smallmouth, spotted and rock), the crappies and the various sunfishes.

What's the answer? According to Homer Circle, Angling Editor of Sports Afield, one is to try a number of lakes at this time of year, not confine your attention to just one. Your favorite lake may be in a "down" condition—when the fish are just not up to par in population or responsiveness.

As you try various lakes, especially the deeper ones, seek those that promise to be in an "up" condition, with evidence of many fish on the feed. Especially try fishing the mouths of streams that pour nutrients into a lake. And fish the streams themselves—particularly if they harbor migratory fish such as trout, salmon, walleyes, whitefish and so on.

Tidbits

Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Juliet, in Shakespeare's tragedy, asks, "What's in a name?" She has discovered that Romeo, her lover, belongs to an enemy clan, and this is her comment, supplemented by: "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

In my years of collecting and studying folklore, especially regional words, I have often asked myself this same question. But I was not seeking to justify myself in any such fashion as did Juliet. I often knew what the original word meant, where it had come from, and many of its associations. The chief concern to me was how it remained in the speech through generations, how it accumulated all sorts of overtones or undertones, how it often placed the user in a certain stratum of society, how it often brought a flavor that a whole handful of synonyms could not bring.

In spite of our American mixture of many dialects of English, because the whole of Great Britain is represented in our language strains, some areas of our country have held on to ancient words, while others, in every way similar, have lost the old, old words, and adopted newer ones. Here I am not talking especially about our standardized words, which have often replaced whole series of others; I am referring to words that have survived for centuries without any assistance from accepted good literature or any place in spelling books and dictionaries except such huge and technical ones that the average user of the ancient words could never have seen or known them.

One of the most persistent bits of old grammar is hit, which was, in the earliest days of English, the neuter singular pronoun, just as he was the masculine singular. Hundreds of years ago the word was disappearing from the language of the educated and the elite. But "hit" (or "hit") has been very much alive down into our own times, not in books but in daily speech. With a few hours of driving I could take you to see some dozens of people who use it just as naturally right now as their ancestors did when they came from the Old Country and as other ancestors have used it for not even the scholars can guess how long.

In going over some tests on regional speech lately to present to a linguistic summer school at Western, I have been amazed at how many variations in simple terms there are. Let's take a small pile of hay out in the field, to be taken up later and stored in a barn or outside. For our big cultural area it is a shock or a pile, or if in an elongated form, a windrow. Only in books do people here know about haystacks, and nobody seems to have heard of tumblers or doodles for these same small piles of hay.

And a simple thing like cottage cheese, now so commonly seen in every eating place, practically places you in some region by the term you apply. If you are old-fashioned and have come from North Carolina and Virginia, ultimately, you call it clabber cheese. If you or your ancestors had some German blood or heard the term from German neighbors, it is smearcase or even Dutch cheese. The only time any of us in this area ever heard of curds, another term for cottage cheese, was in "Little Miss Muffet," of nursery-rhyme lore.

Our word squash seems to be of Indian origin and certainly has a wide usage. Older people called the kind that is eaten when small and young a summer squash and further classified it as pattypan or crookneck. One neighborhood that I know calls the small, flat squashes ten-toed-squash, a very poetic name to me. But our British cousins call the squash a gourd. Somehow that word does not sound like anything good to eat; we are not as tolerant as Juliet and feel that gourd destroys any idea of something good to eat. Similarly, in Keats' "The Eve of St. Agnes," candied gourd is mentioned as a delicacy — imagine that! It is often hard to accept the other fellow's word, especially if it brings up unpleasant suggestions. That may be one reason we shiver sometimes at bywords and ordinary chatter from other parts of the English-speaking world; and I know that our English-speaking friends across the seas have similar shivers when they hear some of our innocent words that with them are associated with distasteful ideas.

Va., Ralph Moore and Earnie Moore, of Price, Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Tex Martin and Donald Moore, of Lexington, have returned from a three-week big game hunting trip in upper Green River, Wyoming. The hunting party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Moore, of Green River, and Arnold Moore, of Clayville, Wyoming. Their successful hunt consisted of five elk, one moose, two bear and two deer. They also caught several pounds of rainbow trout.

'Whatsoever Things'

By DONALD E. WILDMON

Cancer is a dreaded disease. Millions of dollars are being spent in research trying to find a cure for cancer. Much progress has been made, but there is still a long way to go before it is conquered. But in their research, scientists have turned up some vital information.

One of the things that has been established by the researchers is that there is a definite relation between smoking and lung cancer. The relationship is so alarming that all packs of cigarettes now bear a warning note and many organizations are spending a lot of money trying to persuade people not to smoke or to quit if they do.

One of the most famous people involved in this battle to curb the growing death rate is a fellow by the name of William Talman. I doubt if you know him by that name, however. You probably know him better as Hamilton Burger. He was the prosecutor who always lost on the Perry Mason show on television. Despite all his trying he could never slip a case by Perry Mason (Raymond Burr).

William Talman has a spot now on television on which he urges people to refrain from smoking. In the spot Talman introduces his wife and three children. After introducing them he goes on to say that he didn't really mind losing all those battles to Perry Mason. Then he says that he is in a battle which he wants to win, which he does not want to lose. He says that if he loses it, it will mean losing "my wife and those kids you've just met."

The battle Talman is speaking of was his battle with lung cancer. For Talman smoked three packs of cigarettes a day throughout his adult life. He goes on to give some advice on smoking. "Take my advice about smoking and losing from someone who's been doing both for years. If you haven't smoked, don't start. If you do smoke, quit. Don't be a loser."

I can remember when I started smoking. I did it because it made me "big." I can still remember how sick I was when I finished puffing my way through that first smoke. But I did it because I wanted to be big.

Smoking never did do anything for me except cost me money. I started when I was 18. I quit when I was 23. It was about the third time to quit, but I stayed quit that time. The reason I had not stayed quit before was that I didn't have the willpower to do so. That's the real reason any person doesn't quit. They haven't got the willpower. Or, if you wish to state it another way, they haven't got the intestinal fortitude.

William Talman? He lost his battle. At the age of 53 he died of lung cancer. Light them up, smokers. The graveyard isn't full, yet.

Radiant Rays

They looked unto Him and were radiant.—Psalms 34:5

In a little book of devotions, written by Frances Ridley Havergal, I found these meaningful, beautiful words. I do not know whether they originated with her or not.

Made for Thyself, O God! Made for thy love, thy service, thy delight;

Made to show forth thy wisdom, grace and might; Made for thy praise, whom veiled archangels land. Oh, strange and glorious thought, that we may be a joy to Thee!

Yet the heart turns away From this grand destiny of bliss . . .

Isn't it a thrilling thought that I, a despicable loathsome person can bring joy to the One who hung the stars in the sky? We are told often that we can and do grieve the Holy Spirit. Then it stands to reason that if we can grieve Him we can please Him.

If we could carry the image of a chuckling, beaming father as he watches his children, perhaps we would do more to keep Him beaming. Have you not thrilled at seeing some one enjoy the fruits of your labor? I can recall my Mother happily baking and cooking in a steam-jacketed kitchen. She was thinking of the company that was coming and how much they would enjoy the food.

I say again, if we could carry an image of Our Heavenly Father, beaming with joy over the outcome of our labors, we would perform them with greater pleasure. He watches the pharmacist, as he painstakingly mixes the prescription, and a smile flits across His face for He knows the fever or pain of one of His creation is going to be relieved.

He notices with pleasure the typesetter as he prepares for the next edition, knowing that His children want to be informed. The coal miner, far underground, may be totally unconscious of the Father as He watches him dig that coal. The engineer, commanding that great train hauling the coal, may be unaware of His watchful eye. But the Father knows there is going to be a lot of orphans, hospitals, asylums, a lot of widows' homes that will be warmed by that coal.

Yes, He smiles, and says to Himself, "Well done." Knowing this, let's swing that pick, drive that nail, type that letter, teach that lesson, edit that paper, drive that bus, pilot that plane, serve as a deputy sheriff, magistrate or judge, wash those clothes, perform that surgery, move meticulously, with more vim, more enthusiasm than ever before.

"Thatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," and "do it as unto the Lord."

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of Our Only Son and Brother, James (J. B.) Hamilton.

Deep in our hearts lies a memory, More precious than any one will ever know, It is a memory of our sweet son and brother

We lost a year ago; If all the world were ours to give, We would give it, yes, and more, To see the face of the one we love

And have him back once more, You are not forgotten loved one, Nor will you ever be; As long as life and memory last.

We will remember thee; Now our hearts are sore, As time goes by we miss you more; Your loving smile, your gentle face, No one can ever fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by mother and daddy, Celia and Butler Hamilton, and Sisters.

COMMISSION UPHOLDS SUSPENSION OF PHIPPS

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 8 (Spl.)—The Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission today upheld the suspension of Law Enforcement Director Frank Phipps on a charge of shooting doves over a baited field by confirming the action of a former commission which ruled in 1962 that such suspension is automatic when an employee is cited for violating a game and fish law.

The hearing was requested by Phipps who was suspended without pay by Commissioner Minor Clark shortly after the citation of Phipps last September. Also heard today were Conservation Officer Lewis Baker, of Scott county, and Hugh Crump, Third district director, who made the arrest in Scott county on September 4. A hearing was asked by Phipps in Scott circuit court which was held on October 25. This resulted in a hung jury. A new trial has been scheduled for February in the same court.

In other action the Commission approved a 15-inch minimum size limit for walleye taken from state waters; opened a small section of the North and South Fork of the Kentucky River above Lock No. 14 to commercial fishing; approved a proposal whereby only students of the fifth and sixth grades engaged in the conservation education program may attend summer camps, but ruled that students in the seventh and eighth grades may participate in the lessons in the schools; granted the Madison County Sportsman's Club the right to install additional trap houses at the Central Kentucky Wildlife Area near Richmond, cost of which is to be borne by the sportsman's club or the Kentucky Trapshooters Association; decided to the Grant county fiscal court a tract of 59 acres of the Lloyd Area which is separated from the main part of the estate by a highway; eliminated a previous ruling that a manager for a wildlife area must be a qualified biologist, permitting such positions to be open to both employees of the Department and other persons; approved a plan to remodel two houses on the Camp Breckinridge tract to be used by the manager and the assistant manager of the tract; ended a program whereby the Department would rear quail at the Game Farm to be sold at cost to farmers and others for stocking purposes; declared a closed season for raccoons for all types of hunting from March 1 through August 31; approved a training season from Sept. 1 through October 19; a shakeout season from October 20 until the third Thursday in November, and a regular taking season from the third Thursday in November through January 31 and then a running season for the month of February; extended the skiing season on Lake Malone from the third Thursday in May through October 31 from 10 a.m. until sunset; leased an area around Shanty Hollow Lake for use as a recreational area and approved the repair of the dam at McNeeley Lake, near Louisville, at a cost estimated at a minimum of $50,000.

Wayland High Sets What Could Be Last Homecoming for School

Wayland, Ky.—What could be the last homecoming for Wayland high school is scheduled for two days, December 20 and December 21.

The school will be consolidated within the next two years, and for this reason all former students are being urged to join in this year's homecoming event.

The two-day homecoming program, which is being sponsored by the senior class will include a junior varsity game at 6:30 p.m. Friday, with the Wayland-Wheelwright game played at 8 p.m. Coronation of the homecoming queen is scheduled at the between-game intermission. A luncheon will be served from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, with the homecoming dance to begin at 8 o'clock that evening.

College, Hi School Basketball on Bill Here Friday Night

Both college and high school basketball will be on the fare here Friday night as the East Tennessee freshman team, of Johnson City, Tenn., plays the Pikeville College junior varsity, with McDowell high school meeting Betsy Layne high in the second game.

The Tennessee State frosh have Tommy Martin, former McDowell net star, in its lineup.

MEADE IS MENTIONED FOR WASHINGTON POST

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky's Personnel Commissioner W. Howes Meade may take a post in Washington with the administration of President-elect Richard Nixon.

If so, he probably will be succeeded by Russell Mobley of Lexington, a Republican who ran unsuccessfully against 6th District Congressman John Watts last month. Mobley is replacing Pat N. Miller as deputy commissioner at a salary of $13,860 a year.

The change in deputies was confirmed Friday by Meade, who also indicated he would find it difficult to turn down

Maytown Homecoming Scheduled Dec. 20th; To Host Lex. Catholic

The Maytown high school homecoming, sponsored by the Woman's Club, will be held Friday, December 20. The class of 1967 will be honored this year.

The homecoming queen will be crowned during the basketball game featuring Maytown vs. Lexington Catholic. A reception will be held in the Maytown lunchroom preceding the game. The homecoming dance will be held after the ball game and will feature the invaders.

ORDINANCE NO. 8-68

An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Amending An Ordinance Dated October 3, 1968, No. 7-68, With Respect To Authorizing and Instructing the City Attorney To Take Steps To Annex As A Part of the City of Prestonsburg A Tract of Land Immediately Adjacent To the Most Eastern Limits of the City Limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1 OF ORDINANCE NO. 7-68, DATED OCTOBER 3, 1968, IS AMENDED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the City Attorney institute an action and file a petition in the Floyd Circuit Court, within thirty (30) days after the adoption and required publication and advertisement to law, to annex as a part of the City of Prestonsburg a tract of land immediately adjacent to the most eastern limits of the city limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the most Eastern boundary of the City Limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, said point being the most Eastern corner of Lot 1-A, BLOCK D, Goble-Roberts Subdivision to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky; thence along the Western right-of-way of a street approximately 1,550 feet to the Eastern end of Main Street in the Roberts Subdivision to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Thence N 82-03 W, 86.00 feet; thence S 73-26 W, 181.39 feet to the Eastern right-of-way of the C. & O. R. R.; thence along the East right-of-way of the C. & O. R. R. 1,215 feet; thence leaving the railroad right-of-way S 73-15 E, 125.00 feet to the center of the Big Sandy River; thence in a Northern direction with the center of the Big Sandy River approximately 1,425 feet; thence leaving the Big Sandy River S 73-04 W, 125.00 feet; thence S 45-48 W, 78.59 feet to the End of Main Street in the Roberts Subdivision to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky; thence along the Eastern right-of-way of the Street in a Northern direction approximately 1,575 feet to a point in the City Limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, said point being the most Southwestern corner of Lot 1-A, BLOCK C, Goble-Roberts Subdivision to the city of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

For more particular reference to the tract of land described, a map of said territory is filed with Richard Earl Martin, Civil Engineer, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Chullen Is Elected Cooper Hall Prexy; Hubbard on Council

Morehead, Ky., Dec. 6—John Chullen, of Bypro, has been elected president of Cooper Hall, and Paul Hubbard, of Lancer, has been elected to the dormitory council of Mays Butler Hall at Morehead State University for the 1968-'69 school year.

Morehead has seven women's and seven men's residence halls housing over 3,900 students.

Dormitory presidents are members of the student council. Thus the students living in residence halls may have a voice in the government of the campus.

Dormitory council meetings are held regularly at which time any representative may present dormitory or campus problems to the council for consideration.

Missing Girl's Parents Offer Reward of $5,000

Redlands, Calif. — Monday, March 18, 1968 began as an ordinary day for Elizabeth Lurene Ernstein when she left home for classes at Moore Junior high school in Redlands, Calif. But this Monday on the 18th of March was not to be an ordinary day.

Elizabeth's school day passed without incident. She attended her last class, then left school at 3:40 p.m. to walk home, a two-mile route through blossoming orange groves. She never arrived home. Somewhere along the lonely street, Elizabeth Ernstein vanished.

There are no clues to her whereabouts, or even to what happened to the 14-year-old girl, other than a report from a Redlands businessman who was driving through the area. He thought he saw a girl resembling Elizabeth walking toward the corner of the street on which she lived.

To her parents, Norman and Ruth Ernstein, the months of uncertainty and anxiety over their missing daughter "are the deepest anguish a person can go through. It is a shock so deep you become wooden," the mother explained.

The Ernsteins are appealing for help in locating their daughter. Ernstein, a chemical engineer at Lockheed in Redlands, and his wife, a psychiatric social worker, have posted a $5,000 reward for information that will solve the mystery of their daughter's disappearance. They have vowed: "We will not rest until we know."

Neither parent has rested since that first long night when their young daughter failed to come home. They have tracked miles through orange groves, fields, foothills, and canyons in and around the Redlands area. They have followed every lead, no matter how slight, in the search for Elizabeth.

"I can face the daytime better than the night," the distraught mother said. "At night I find myself saying: 'Is she safe? Is she warm? Is she fed?' and finally... is she alive?"

When Elizabeth, nicknamed "Liz" by her friends, left for school that March morning, she had only 25¢ with her. She was dressed in a blue dress with white flowers, tennis shoes and a dark-olive corduroy coat. Around her neck she wore a small gold chain with a pendant gold and blue star. Enroute home, she carried a red algebra book and a blue looseleaf notebook. Neither has been found.

Elizabeth is five feet, five-inches tall, weighs 105 pounds and had brown hair and brown eyes. She is one of five Ernstein children. The family lost one of these, a son, to polio in 1952.

"This, the second tragedy in our lives, is even greater because of the uncertainty," the desperate father said in his appeal to end the nightmare. "I can accept anything, even the worst, which I'm resigned to, but I must know."

Any information concerning young Liz Ernstein should be reported promptly to this newspaper or to Capt. Charles Callahan, San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office, San Bernardino, California, phone (714) 889-0111.

Among the favorite foods of the University of Kentucky family on the Lexington campus are beans, pears and Coca Cola syrup, according to James King director of auxiliary services.

UK Semester To End Before Yule Season

The University of Kentucky expects approximately 14,500 students to enroll for the spring semester, January 13-14, on the Lexington campus. Keller J. Dunn, associate dean of admissions, said UK enrolled 15,400 for the fall semester, but that the spring semester enrollment usually falls below the fall semester figure. Friday, December 13, marks the final day for new students to submit applications and documents for the spring semester. Classwork for the current semester will end on Saturday, December 14, and final examinations will be given throughout the week of December 16. Faculty members are required to report all final grades to the UK Registrar's Office by 4 p.m., Tuesday, December 24. Classes for the spring semester will begin on Wednesday, January 15.

The University of Kentucky's educational television production facility is headed by Dr. Paul Owen, director of Media Services on the Lexington campus.

They Cost the Same, So Seal Envelopes, Postmasters Advise

Sealed or unsealed, Christmas cards will require six cents in postage this year. Last year, unsealed cards were mailed for four cents and sealed ones for five cents. Congress eliminated these bargains in legislation that went into effect last January. Since there is now no difference in price, it is suggested that everyone seal his cards. They will go through the postoffice mechanical equipment much easier and faster and without danger of tearing. Postmasters say the postal Christmas rush would be eased if people would separate local cards from out-of-town ones and secure them in bundles, mail cards early in the day when the postoffice is not so busy, insure all parcels against loss or damage, use special or airmail, or both, if packages are mailed late, and include zip codes in both the address and return address. These are the deadlines for Christmas mailings: December 2 for gift parcels sent to distant states; December 10 for greeting cards sent to distant states; December 14 for parcels and cards mailed to local addresses.

Food and housing on the University of Kentucky Lexington campus is a $7 million-a-year business—an amount designed only to meet the expenditures of the operation. The state ETV network can begin receiving educational television programs from the University of Kentucky when production begins at UK in early 1969.

Betsy Layne High School's concert band will present its Christmas Concert Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 3 p.m. in the grade school auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne, band director. The public is invited.

New Theatrical Arts School To Present Revue Next Thursday

The New School of Theatrical Arts will present an original revue, entitled, "The New School of Theatrical Arts Presents..." on Thursday, December 19, at 8 p.m. at the gymnasium-theatre in Archer Park.

The revue depicts scenes of what actually happens in class, and is highlighted with songs like "Do, Re, Mi," "Getting To Know You," and "Swing in' on a Star." There will also be a witch scene and an excerpt from Romeo and Juliet.

The New School of Theatrical Arts is the first of its kind in the area. Each week, children from the ages of 7 to 13 meet for a two-hour session of singing and acting classes. They are taught diction, how to use their voices properly both in singing and in speaking, how to use their bodies gracefully on and off stage, and how to project various emotions across the footlights. A primary function of the school, which is directed by Mrs. Eileen Bittman, is not necessarily to make professional performers of these children (although they are trained in that direction), but to give them poise, grace and an ability to stand up in front of an audience with self assurance and composure.

There are presently 15 children enrolled in the class and Mrs. Bittman is quite pleased with their progress. Registration for next semester will be held before and after the performance on December 19. Admission is free for the performance, and the public is invited to attend.

EDUCATIONAL TV One area in which the University of Kentucky's educational television will be used is to provide instructional materials in classrooms on all University campuses. This has been done for several years on the Lexington campus.

The University of Kentucky purchased 645,372 pounds of beef carcasses last year to feed students and other members of the University family on the Lexington campus.

In 1967-'68, the University of Kentucky prepared 146,747 pounds of ground beef, 75,777 pounds of roast, 25,608 pounds of cube steak, and 31,310 pounds of stewed beef for UK's cafeterias and grills.

Area Home Economists In Meeting Wednesday; Represent Five Counties

The Northeast Area Extension Home Economics Association met last Wednesday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Mrs. Frances Pitts reported on the meeting of the Dean's Committee at the University of Kentucky, during which new agents' training was discussed.

Monthly schedule for meetings for 1969 was discussed, with a tour of Cincinnati, Ohio heading the discussion.

Plans for the agents' annual Christmas party were completed.

This group includes: Beth Burr, area extension specialist in home furnishings, Pike county; Edna D. Taylor, area agent in 4-H youth, Pike county; Carol Lee Bailey, area agent in foods and nutrition, Pike county; Frances Pitts, area agent in housing, Floyd county; Patricia Peck, area agent in food and nutrition, Carter county; Jewnetta Darnell, area specialist in management, Boyd county; and Donna Ross, area agent in clothing, Greenup county.

These agents are located in the county seat of each county and meet monthly as a professional group to discuss matters pertinent to the Extension Service.

ONE: From Joel Hamilton and Polly Hamilton to Will Collins, recorded in Deed Book 66, Page 135, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; BEGINNING at a black oak marked with Kelse Gearheart line, thence a straight line to a locust, thence a straight line to a marked chestnut, thence a straight line to a marked sassafras, thence an east course straight line to a locust, thence a straight line same course to a chestnut, same line to a locust; straight line to a hickory, thence on same line to a white oak, thence straight line to a locust, thence straight line to a dogwood same line to a black oak, thence straight line to a sassafras, thence straight line to a hickory, straight line to a black oak and road, thence with road and Kelse Gearheart line to a chestnut oak to Kelse Gearheart line, thence up the ridge with Kelse Gearheart line to the top of the ridge to Jim Martin line, thence with Jim Martin line to Kelse Gearheart line, thence on down the ridge with Kelse Gearheart line to the beginning.

TRACT NO. TWO: From Pen Gearheart and wife to Will Collins and Rattie Collins by deed dated October 24, 1932, and recorded in Deed Book 94, Page 137, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; BEGINNING on a hickory corner of Susie Collins' line; thence running up the ridge with Libburn Williams line to a marked stone; thence up the branch as the branch runs to a marked stone; thence running as the road runs to a marked elm; thence a straight line to the top of the hill to a marked black oak to Jim Martin's line; thence down the ridge with said line to Susie Collins line; thence with said line to the beginning.

TRACT NO. THREE: Deed dated July 5, 1930, and recorded in Deed Book 85, Page 622, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; BEGINNING at a marked chestnut oak a corner of Penn Gayheart; thence running up the ridge with Libburn Williams line to Will Collins' line; thence with said Collins' line to the Jim Martin (line); thence down the ridge with said Martin's line to Penn Gayheart's line to a marked black oak; thence with Penn Gayheart's line to the beginning.

TRACT NO. FOUR: Deed dated April 6, 1927, from Susie Collins, etc., to Will Collins and Rattie Collins and recorded in Deed Book 75, Page 153, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office; BEGINNING on a chinkey pin oak, thence running up the hill with George Akers line to the top to Libburn Williams line; thence up the ridge with said line to a marked hickory; thence running down the hill to a marked sourwood; thence on down the hill to the mouth of a dreen to a marked stone, thence at the branch, thence up the branch about 100 feet to another marked stone; thence running up the hill to a marked hickory; thence on up the hill to a marked stone on top of the ridge; thence down the ridge with Jim Martin's line to a marked hickory; thence down the point with the Rattie Collins line to a marked dogwood; thence down to a marked walnut; thence to a marked stone at the branch; thence down the branch from said stone a straight line to the beginning.

TRACT NO. FIVE: Conveyed to Will Collins and Rattie Collins by Ted Akers and Mary Akers by deed bearing date July 19, 1939, which is recorded in Deed Book 111, Page 583, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, and which is more particularly bounded and described as follows: BEGINNING at a corner of Rattie Collins and Will Collins and Della Williams on top of a knob; thence down the ridge with Della Williams line to Sid Parsons line to a chestnut oak on a small knob; thence leaving ridge down the point towards Kelse Gearheart Branch to a chestnut oak on the right of the point; thence down the hill to a beech; thence on down the hill to a maple in the head of a drain; thence a straight line to a beech near the center of the point; thence a straight line going under the Kentucky West Virginia Power line near the branch to a hickory on the point; thence this point, being the smaller point, to the intersection of a larger point to a chestnut oak marked at the break of the branch; thence across the bench to the center of the main point, to a sourwood; thence up the center of the point to a stone marked; thence on up the center of the point to a chestnut oak on the ridge; thence with the ridge and the line of Dakota and Casey Newsome up the ridge to the line of John D. Clark and Rebecca Clark; thence with the said Clark line and following the ridge to the line of Rattie Collins; thence with said Rattie Collins line to Will Collins and Rattie Collins line, thence with said line to the beginning.

The oil, gas and mineral underlying said property are excluded from this sale.

This land is being sold to settle the estate of the late Will and Rattie Collins.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 3rd day of December, 1968.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON
Master Commissioner
Floyd Circuit Court
(Cost of adv. $75.) 12-5-31

Notice of Sale

By virtue of execution in Civil Action No. 5982, to me directed, which issued from the office of the Clerk of the Floyd Circuit Court, in favor of The First National Bank, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, against Jimmy Branham, et al, I will on the 16th day of December, 1968, at the Courthouse door in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, expose for public sale, to the highest bidder, the following described property:

1964 4-Door Chevrolet
Model No. 1869
Serial No. 41869F137971
Floyd County, Martin, Ky.

I will proceed to sell said property to raise an amount which will be necessary to satisfy said execution and the cost thereof, to the highest and best bidder on credit of three (3) months from the date of sale, the purchaser giving bond with approved surety to have the force and effect of a judgment on which execution may issue if the same is not paid at maturity, when and where due attendance will be given by me. The amount to be raised is the sum of five thousand, two hundred, five dollars and five cents ($5,205.05), with interest from April 20, 1967.

Given under my hand as Constable of Floyd county, Kentucky, this 2 day of December, 1968.

Wilkerson Resigns
Associational Post;
Assumes Pastorate

The Rev. Garland R. Wilkerson and family moved Monday to Dayton, Ohio, where he assumed the pastorate of Harmony Baptist Church this week.

The Rev. Wilkerson resigned, a month ago, the post of associational missionary in the counties which comprise Enterprise Association. He had served in this capacity, the last four and a half years. Prior to that, he rendered the same service on a part-time basis while serving as pastor of the Licking River Baptist Church at Royalton.

The congregation of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here gave a reception in the Wilkersons' honor at the church annex, Sunday evening.

LITTLE SHEPHERD TRAIL HELD TOURIST GATEWAY

Frankfort, Ky. — The Little Shepherd Trail, a winding mountain access road named for the hero of a romantic, pre-Civil War novel, John Fox, Jr.'s "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," has become the key to unlocking modern tourism development in the Cumberland area of south-eastern Kentucky.

Stretching for 38 unpaved miles along the 2,800-foot-high crest of Pine Mountain from Whitesburg to Harlan, the scenic Trail lies between Breaks Interstate Park to the east and Pine Mountain State Park to the west but, until now, has connected neither.

Recently, the Appalachian Regional Commission announced an $863,000 grant to extend the rugged trail to Pineville, opening another 26 miles of spectacular mountain scenery and providing a connection between Kingdom Come State Park near Cumberland and Pine Mountain State Park.

Local citizens and the Kentucky Program Development Office (KPDO), the state agency charged with coordinating state and federal programs, are now concentrating on the eastern portion of the Trail, from Whitesburg to Breaks Interstate Park, a distance of 38 miles.

KPDO is presently drawing together planning material for the first segment of this extension, a 14-mile section from Whitesburg designed to intersect US 23 near Jenkins.

The final extension will connect the Trail with Breaks Interstate Park, providing a new concept in recreation—the linear park—designed to lead tourists from one major recreation site, Breaks Interstate, to another, Pine Mountain State Park, by means of a third, the Little Shepherd Trail.

When plans are completed and the Trail developed, it will boast four parks, five reservoirs, a state forest, and four scenic mountain gaps along over 100 miles of unspoiled mountaintop trail.

It will serve to channel traffic from four major highways, US 23, the Mountain Parkway, US 119, and I-75, into the scenic Appalachian region, providing tourist trade, jobs and a springboard to financial development for the economically deprived area.

The development of tourism as a major economic factor in Appalachia has been under consideration by federal and state agencies for several years.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn recently announced an annual goal of $800 million for the tourism industry in Kentucky.

The Appalachian Highlands Planning Committee, composed of representatives of 10 Appalachian states, five federal agencies, and the Appalachian Regional Commission, recently recommended Breaks Interstate Park, Pine Mountain State Park and 21 other sites be developed as major recreation complexes.

The Kentucky Program Development Office then recommended the two parks be joined by the Little Shepherd Trail into one linear park.

The land is sparsely settled and the Trail, along the crest of the area, has no settlements at the highest mountain ridge in all. One must descend Pine Mountain, to Whitesburg, Harlan or Cumberland, to re-enter civilization. The Little Shepherd Trail provides complete escape from exhaust fumes and traffic jams.

It is ironic that this primitive yet passable trail might open the Cumberland to the modern world and economic development.

Can We Be Modern and CHRISTIAN, TOO?

To some people nowadays, the Christian way of life is naive, old-fashioned, "square."

As if the teachings of Jesus Christ had ceased to be pertinent to this sophisticated age.

A radio commentator, in fact, said recently that in another 50 years mankind will seek answers to man's questions of being from science rather than religion.

This may seem to make sense to an era plagued by war, dishonesty, social injustice, "hippies," LSD, divorce, pornography and an exaggerated preoccupation with matters of sex.

But—does it? Christ did not sacrifice His life for the salvation of one generation and not another. Nor did He promulgate a way of life that would be relevant to the needs of one period of time and not to others. His "blue print" for Christian living is founded on divine and enduring principles, not upon the changing mores and deviations of a particular time in history.

Living the Christian life in the modern world may be different than it was in earlier and less turbulent times. But the vital need of doing so has not diminished if we are to find meaning and purpose in this life and eternal salvation in the next.

If you feel truly concerned about these things, we invite you to send for our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled "Christian Life and The Modern World." It covers in easy-to-read style such topics as "What Is a Christian?" "The Modern World" . . . "The Christian's Involvement in The World" . . . "Christ and The Christian" . . . "The Christian—Old-Fashioned or Up to Date?" . . . "The Ecumenical Christian" . . . "The Christian and The Bible" and "The Christian Goes to Church."

Conn Retires

Okie Conn, of Dana, will retire from United Fuel Gas Company's transmission department here, November 1, after 20 years of service. He is taking advantage of the early retirement feature of the company's retirement plan, electing to leave before reaching the normal retirement age of 65.

Mr. Conn joined the gas company in 1948 as a utility man for a predecessor company in Prestonsburg. In 1957 he assumed his present position of pipeline for the central division of the transmission department. He is a member of the Little Salem Regular Baptist Church at Dana. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. Mr. Conn is the father of four children: Mrs. Ruth Slone, Herman and Denver Conn, of Dana, and Gillis Conn, of Stanville.

LT. GOV. FORD TO HEAD MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE

Lt. Gov. Wendell H. Ford has been appointed Kentucky state chairman of the 1969 March of Dimes, Basil O'Connor, president of the voluntary health organization, announced this week in New York.

The Lieutenant Governor will direct the enlistment and the work of thousands of March of Dimes volunteers throughout the state during the traditional campaign in January to raise funds to combat birth defects and to further research in this health area.

The chairman said that the March of Dimes, which won out over polio, attacks birth defects by financing research and supporting more than 100 birth defects centers at major medical institutions throughout the United States, two of which are in Kentucky—the University of Kentucky Treatment Center in Lexington, and the University of Louisville Child Evaluation Center, Louisville.

Ford said, "By providing these babies and youngsters with the most advanced medical facilities, we can alleviate much of the physical and mentally disabling aftermath of these tragedies. This kind of heart warming achievement is due entirely to the generosity of the people of Kentucky, just as throughout the nation people are supporting March of Dimes birth defects centers."

DR. CAMPBELL IS LISTED IN 'PERSONALITIES OF SOUTH'

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of Prestonsburg Community College, has been selected to appear in the 1969 edition of PERSONALITIES OF THE SOUTH.

Recipients of this honor include Governors, United States Senators and Congressmen of the various southern states.

The publication includes, educators, leading businessmen and women, members of state legislative bodies, civic and political leaders, elected leaders of various political subdivisions, farmers, ministers, officers and officials of trade organizations, leading sports figures, and many other individuals who, because of past achievements and service to their community and state are recognized as personalities of the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lafferty, of Middletown, Ohio, former residents of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lee, to Mr. James Donald Chalk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chalk, also of Middletown.

Miss Lafferty is presently employed as a secretary at the General Electric Company in Evendale, Ohio. Mr. Chalk attends Miami University's Middletown Branch.

Miss Lafferty is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Anne Adkins, of Wayland, and Mrs. Darcus Lafferty and the late John E. Lafferty, of Martin.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Radiant Rays

They looked unto Him and were radiant . . . Psalm 34:5

We had guests over Thanksgiving. They have a son, age 18 months. I asked the mother if she were working. "No," she replied. "When we decided to invite this little fellow to share this planet with us, we made some definite commitments."

We are told in the Bible, "Lo, children are a heritage of the Lord." Oh, that every prospective parent could see before him the gargantuan responsibilities of parenthood! So often children are conceived without the first thought of the life that is about to come into being. The only thought at the time may be, "We have a sensual desire that we want to satisfy."

Children are often conceived with less care than is given to the purchase of a TV set. Yet the product of that instant of pleasure may enter life deformed, blind, retarded or a genius. There may result years of heartache and terribly heavy burdens as a result of that instant of self-indulgence.

Life is sacred, emanating from God, and as such should not be brought forth with the nonchalance of rolling a cigarette or baking a cake. Because children are a heritage of the Lord, each of us will have to give an exact accounting of our relationship, not only to our own offspring but to all children in our sphere of influence.

Mother, have you taught your daughter the responsibilities of becoming a mother? Dad, have you taught your son that the life he emits will suffer or enjoy life to the extent he assumes the parent role? If the child is born defective, the parents may have a lifetime of caring for it. Only if they have considered this angle and have said, "Yes, we want children, we will accept as our responsibility any life God chooses to lend us" are they qualified to launch themselves as parents.

"HAVE A GOOD YEAR?"

How many times have you been asked that question, and how many times have you complained?

And why complain at all? Aren't they all—in varying degree, of course—good years?

It's that time again for looking backward and passing judgment on the past. Don't be too harsh—maybe all of us have fared better than we deserve.
