

Johnson May Get Big Rehab Center

Hopes of Floyd and Pike counties that they might be selected as the site for the proposed $3 million comprehensive rehabilitation center slated for construction in this section were dashed last week when it was announced from Frankfort that first and second choices for the center are in the vicinity of Paintsville.

Third choice is the Hobart McGuire property, which is located across the highway from the state-owned lot between Prestonsburg and Auxier where the Highlands Hospital Corporation hopes to build its new hospital center. But this location is given the barest chance.

The State Board of Education last Thursday authorized acquisition of a site near Paintsville for the center. First choice is a 30-acre site three miles east of Paintsville, just off KY 1107 at Thelma. Second choice is a 30-acre tract, the Richmond bottom, near the Paintsville Country Club.

The state board's choice is contingent upon the price asked for the land and the providing of utilities and access road.

Ben F. Coffman, assistant superintendent for rehabilitation services within the State Department of Education, told

WATER DIST. ASKS SIGNUP

Need of Applications For Beaver Project Urgent, Says Wells

If the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District is to take advantage of approximately $2 million in federal funds and provide modern water service to a large part of Floyd county, residents of the area intended to be served must act at once.

So said J. C. Wells, of Wayland, water district chairman, this week as the total number of applications received still was below the 600 minimum required.

Communities in both Beaver Creeks are being canvassed to determine the wishes of the people. Fearing that some may be missed, Mr. Wells had published in The Floyd County Times this week an application form (see ad on inside page) which may be clipped, signed and mailed to him at Wayland.

The application provides that the applicant agrees to pay a deposit of $75, but a note may be signed by the applicant instead of making a payment in cash. And, it was explained, the deposit, if paid, is refunded when the applicant makes connection with the water system, and that would mean that any note executed would be canceled.

Residents of the Wayland area who already are being served are not required to sign for water services, Mr. Wells explained.

EVIDENCE OF TRAGEDY. Photo shows smashed auto in which Mrs. Elder Wright and her two daughters were fatally injured near here last Thursday night.

Mrs. Wright, 2 Daughters Succumb to Wreck Injuries

THREE SHOT, 1 SERIOUSLY

Family Row Ends In Gunfire Monday Near Wheelwright

One man was seriously shot and two other persons, one of whom was a woman, suffered lesser wounds in a family row on Golf Course Hollow, near Wheelwright, shortly after noon Monday.

Reported as wounded five times, with at least one bullet penetrating his abdomen, was Gordon Hall, 33, Art Isaacs, 53, a neighbor, and by his own admission the man who shot Hall, was struck in the forehead by shotgun pellets, and Isaacs' daughter, Mrs. Marie Wells, was shot in her elbow.

The trouble apparently began Sunday with children and women quarrelling and fighting. Next day, the differences were renewed.

Sixteen-year-old Tommy Isaacs, son of Howell Isaacs, told County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill he fired three shots from a .12-gauge shotgun at his uncle, Art, after the latter had shot young Isaacs' brother-in-law, Gordon Hall, with a .38-calibre revolver. He claimed his aunt, Mazie Hall, and Mrs. Wells, daughter of Art Isaacs, had fought with his sister, Wilma Hall, wife of Gordon, and that Art drove up in his car and began firing on Hall. Young Isaacs added that after he had fired the shotgun blasts Mazie Hall fired several shots from a .22-calibre revolver at him.

Art Isaacs told The Times he was working on his house when he received a telephone call, asking him to come, get his daughter who had been beaten by the other women. He claimed that as he was en route home with his daughter the boy or a girl, or both, began shooting at him. "I think," he said, "the boy shot me, and the girl shot my daughter."

He said as he "bailed out" of his car when the car was fired on, Gordon Hall ran into view, ripped off two shirt buttons and was apparently reaching for a pistol when he fired in self-defense. He agrees that he was not struck by the shotgun pellets until after he had shot Hall.

DAM SLOWED IN MAGOFFIN

Senate Committee Fails To OK Work; House Yet May Act

The $35 million dam proposed for the upper Licking River valley in Magoffin county hit a snag Friday when the Senate Public Works Committee failed to give the project its approval.

Staff aides to the committee said the project was not approved because the Secretary of the Army and the Bureau of the Budget had not formally forwarded the proposal to Congress. They said there still is a chance it will be added by the House Public Works Committee.

The dam is proposed for construction, a short distance upstream from Royalton. The overall plan calls for a pilot project which would involve construction of other smaller dams on river tributaries for flood control, also development of the area for recreation and industry.

The Senate committee approved construction of a $151 million hydroelectric dam and reservoir on the Big South Fork of the Cumberland River in McCreary county.

Cast in Final Rehearsal For New Play, 'Boy Friend'

The Bearcats band takes the downbeat, and uproarious sound of the 1920's fills the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre in Prestonsburg as the musical hit, THE BOY FRIEND, is in final rehearsal. The Broadway musical will be performed Thursday through Saturday, July 11-13 and July 18-20, at 8:30 p.m.

THE BOY FRIEND is what the French call a "pastiche"—a spoof or a parody. But it is a gentle pastiche, one devoid of bitterness. Its target for humor is the roaring 1920's and the show has all the dazzle and sparkle of that fabulous era. There is the Charleston, the bathing beauties, and the music, which, while we may not recognize the songs, gives us the distinct feeling that we have heard it all before.

The play concerns itself with young Polly Brown, daughter of the millionaire industrialist, Percival Brown, and with Tony Brockhurst, the

3 Manslaughter Counts Face Howard; Says He Was Death Car Driver

A Greenup county man was named here Monday morning in three warrants charging him with manslaughter in the deaths of a mother and her two daughters as the result of an auto wreck near here last Thursday night.

The accused man, Larry Howard, 27, Greenup construction worker, admitted he was the driver of the auto which crashed into the side of a car driven by Miss Peggy Wright, on new US 23, near the Plantation Motel.

Dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General hospital were Mrs. Maggie Flanery Wright, 54, of Water Gap, wife of Elder Wright, Prestonsburg barber-shop owner, and her daughter, Mrs. Brenda Crum, 25, wife of Randall Crum, of Prestonsburg.

The third victim of the tragedy was 16-year-old Teresa Wright, who died, early Sunday evening, at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington.

Miss Peggy Wright, 21, driver of the car in which she, her mother and two sisters were returning from Paintsville, suffered lacerations and severe bruises but is recovering.

John Wilburn, Lynn, Ky., owner of the 1959 Pontiac which rammed the Wright auto, was

NEW-BUDGET BELOW LAST

Biggest Cut Made On Floyd Road Fund In New Fiscal Year

Floyd county's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is about $75,000 below that of the preceding year.

Biggest single cut in spending, according to the new budget which was submitted by the budget commission and approved June 25 by D. M. Magill, state local finance officer, Department of Revenue, is on roads. The budget for highway spending last year was $119,461. For the new fiscal year only $45,800 was earmarked for that purpose.

Reductions from the preceding year's budget are: Court stenographer, from $4,200 to $1,800; soil conservation, from $1,000 to $500; circuit clerk's miscellaneous expenses, from $1,500 to $1,200; grand jury reporting, from $775 to $600.

Increases included these: Commonwealth's attorney miscellaneous expense, from $1,800 to $2,400; purgation board, from $540 to $1,000.

Hall Pact Review Set by Hazelrigg

Equipment rental contracts totaling $91,600 made with a former Floyd man were under review last week by Highway Commissioner W. B. Hazelrigg.

The personal service contracts are with Gilford B. Hall, whose wife, former Representative Ann B. Hall, is an aide in Hazelrigg's office.

The Courier-Journal reported: A Highway Department spokesman said all the equipment rental contracts in the latest list released by the Finance Department are routine. Mrs. Hall declined comment on her husband's contracts.

But Hazelrigg said he was taking a "fresh look" at the situation. "The contract was routinely approved," he said. "But in light of new evidence called to my attention we are reviewing the contract." He did not elaborate.

Mrs. Hall was named to the Kentucky Tax Commission during the term of former Gov. Bert Combs, then ousted in 1963 when she declared her support of Combs' Democratic factional enemy, former Gov. A. B. Chandler, for governor.

During Combs' tenure, Hall reportedly obtained some highway department contracts on bridgework and painting. These were awarded on a bid basis.

Rental equipment contracts, like other personal service agreements, are not handled by bids.

The records list the equipment to be lent, number of estimated man-hours required and the rental fee per hour.

An $82,500 contract with Hall indicates he is to supply two bulldozers at $15 per hour for up to 2,000 hours; one scraper at $6 per hour for up to 1,000 hours and a 12-blade motor grader at $11 per hour for up to 1,500 hours.

A separate $9,100 contract provides for a bulldozer for 200 hours, scraper for 150 hours and motor grader for 200 hours at the same rates.

The Highway Department spokesman said the rates are unchanged from those which prevailed during the recent Democratic administration.

Hall handles heavy equipment, maintaining it for other road builders. He is also a mechanic and welder.

Altogether, the Highway Department has 14 new equipment rental contracts totaling $285,000.

Some went to Republicans, some to Democrats, some to fiscal courts and a few are extensions of contracts in force during the Democratic administration.

SHANK-HIGH AND DOWN IN THE DUMPS

I have insisted, all along, that things could be a lot worse and that we all should not abandon hope. But I don't know, now, I'm plumb upset and leaning just a bit to the theory that we've gone to the bow-wows. Why the sombre outlook, the miseries of spirit and si-gog-gin' view of things in general? Simply this: I've just finished reading this fashion note from London telling of these shank-length trousers they're proposing to put on men, exposing calves that the lovin'est cow in the lot would disavow.

Kenwood Site Sale Approval Is Asked

Stockholders of Kenwood Products, Inc., have been asked to meet July 9 and approve the sale of a portion of the Kenwood industrial site to a major manufacturer.

The firm's board of directors last Wednesday voted to sell approximately 55 acres of the Kenwood site for $2,500 an acre. That action needs approval of the stockholders.

It was reliably reported here that the Hobart Manufacturing Company is interested in locating a plant there. The plant, it was said, would provide more than 400 jobs. It would also be the first manufacturing firm in

BELL TAKES NEW NAME

First Southern Bell Exchanges Were Here, Paintsville, Pikeville

You probably didn't know it, but if you are a resident of Prestonsburg, you took part Monday in the birth of the largest single corporation ever newly formed.

That was the day Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company became South Central Bell Telephone Company in this area. Southern Bell had grown so much in recent years that it became necessary to split its operations into two parts—one to serve the south-central states; the other, to serve the Southeastern Seaboard.

With the change, Southern Bell subscribers and telephone users became subscribers and users of South Central Bell. Employees of Southern Bell became employees of South Central Bell.

The new company was formed in December by Southern Bell to take over its business and operations in Kentucky, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee effective July 1. Southern Bell will continue to operate in the area which would require male workers. Conceived as a wood utilization complex, Kenwood admittedly reached "the end of the row," financially, and now, the directors explain to stockholders, "our next step is to recoup as much of the investment as possible and return it to the stockholders."

Sale of the 55-acre section of Kenwood's holdings would require a $69,000 first mortgage held by the Citizens National Bank, Paintsville, and leave about $70,000 cash, plus 50 acres or more of the original real estate holdings of Kenwood.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Jewell Hackworth and Mrs. Lucy Green, both of Warsaw, and a brother, Theodore Music, of East Point.

Funeral rites were held at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Free Will Baptist Church at Bonanza, Ky., the Revs. Charley Lemaster and Bruce Spencer officiating. Burial was made in the Music cemetery at Bonanza under the direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

40-Year-Old Dance No Problem for Her

Eileen Barnett Bittman, of Prestonsburg, who appears in THE BOY FRIEND, July 11-13, 18-20 at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, was born 40 years too late.

Inevitably in the musical comedy parodying the roaring 1920's there is a Charleston number. In the 20's any girl with the slightest pretensions to being able to dance in a show could throw off a Charleston at the slightest provocation — or upon no provocation at all. But for Ronda Neswitz, who is staging the dances of the musical, teaching her dancers to Charleston is almost like teaching them something foreign like a Chinese folk dance. Mrs. Bittman, however, seems to have no trouble in adjusting to the dances in this neatly nostalgic musical bent on all-out mockery of the flapper decade.

THE AGING DOGS

Jack Hyden and I rambled around in a sidewalk conversation, the other day, till the talk ran to dogs. His dog had only recently died, and we spoke feelingly, perhaps a bit deprecatingly, of the lengths a fellow will go to for his so-called "best friend." This dog of Jack's had been dog-napped and he had hunted him down. He had had him treated for a variety of ailments, and that set me off recounting the miseries for which my elderly Dalmatian had needed the attention of a vet: a crushed hip, infection, suspected hepatitis, eczema, mange, fleas, sundry injuries from a car and a severe chewing by dogs, and so on.

We agreed dogs have about all the ailments to which man is heir, and Jack added: "We had our dog to the vet for prostate trouble."

REVIEW

This fellow who went to the amphitheatre, the other night, wasn't a bit enthused about the prospects. He's one who likes his drama or comedy, straight — none of this musical stuff. He stubbornly wore his hat where every other male in the crowd was bareheaded. He kept his hands in his pockets, despite urgings to swing out, be care-free.

Fact is, he started out, sitting on his hands. But he soon caught himself joining the applause.

Good show. Professional job. Splendid cast. You oughta see it.

WRONG DIAGNOSIS

Woodrow Burchett sometimes tells the story of the guy who got drunk and remembered enough about it, next day, to review the experience with an acquaintance.

"I was driving home," he recalled, "when my car began going thump, thump, bump, thump, and I pulled off to the side of the road. Know what was wrong?"

"Sounds like you had a flat tire and had to fix it."

"Right. I crawled back in the old car, started her up, and there she goes again — thump, thump, thump. Know what was wrong?"

"You had another flat."

"Wrong," said the ex-drunk. "I fixed the wrong tire."

Homecoming Notes

Langley, Ky.—The Homecoming Art Committee has announced final plans for the art exhibit which will be held at the school during Homecoming. It is hoped that Maytownites throughout the county will feel free to loan the committee a few pieces of their paintings, prints, sculptures, children's art or crafts, so that the other visitors may enjoy viewing them. A few simple rules are necessary:

1. All pieces to be exhibited must be in our hands by Monday, July 22.
2. All two-dimensional work must be suitably matted or framed for hanging and carded (name of work, name of artist, price, if any, date and medium). This to be on a 2x2 card on back of work.
3. Limit of four pieces to each exhibitor inclusive to all phases of show.
4. Any special instructions should be simple and clear as to construction and method of exhibition preferred.
5. It should be understood that all possible protection and care will be given your work but in case of damage, breakage or loss, the Association can not be held responsible.
6. Address all questions and intentions to: Mrs. Paul Spencer, Box 98, Langley, Ky., 41645; and they will be channeled to the proper person.

Many other plans are nearing their final. Mrs. Thomas Flanery, chairman of the Class Reunion Breakfast, has her list complete and it will appear in next week's issue of The Times. Watch for your class so that you may join them for breakfast in some classmate's home.

Some Maytownites (present or former residents, teachers, alumni or students, or their descendants) have been concerned because they have not received an invitation to Homecoming. ALL Maytownites are cordially invited—in fact, are urged—to attend. There were not and will not be any invitations mailed to those living in Floyd county through The Floyd County

Shepherd To Play Fiddle in National Folklife Festival

"Fiddlin' Dewey" Shepherd, of Middle Creek, left for Washington, D. C. today (Thursday) by plane to play and sing at the Festival of American Folklife being held this week at the Smithsonian Institution.

But he will not take with him, as requested by Ralph Rinzler, festival director, the gourd fiddle which he played at the Newport (R. I.) festival. "I got it broke," Shepherd said.

He was looking for long-necked gourds this week. The festival director has asked him to demonstrate at a workshop during the festival how gourd fiddles are made.

The trip to and from Washington is all expense paid, and the Floyd county man will receive a $50 honorarium for his festival and workshop appearances.

SAYS MIDDLE CR. PROJECT ONE OF BEST IN REGION

"We have one of the best projects in the Appalachian area," H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., member of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District supervisory board, said last week when informed that the $27,000 allocation for this year had been obligated in the Middle Creek Project.

Ten new plans were developed by land owners with the assistance of USDA Soil Conservation Service technicians this year. USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service provides cost-sharing in this effort.

Six plans were modified with landowners whose work started in 1966 or 1967. A modification is a change in acreage or practices under contract.

Trapshoot Slated At Country Club

A trapshoot scheduled at 7 p.m. Friday at the Paintsville Country Club is designed to serve two purposes; it was said here this week:

1. To qualify seven marksmen to represent the area in the state trapshoot at Berea, July 14; and, 2. To stimulate interest in trapshooting as a sport.

Sandy Hook—Wiley Wedington, 67, Little Sandy, died Sunday. Funeral was held Wednesday at Sandy Hook Methodist Church.

The money added this year brings the total obligated for Middle Creek in three years to more than $92,000 for the 1,200-acre area west of Prestonsburg. Fifty-eight landowners are actively participating in this project.

She also leaves 35 grandchildren, 90 great-grandchildren and 13 great-great-grandchildren.

kept in the hospital here, under city police guard, till Sunday when he was transferred to the Floyd county jail. He suffered severe facial injuries. His companion, Howard, who was immediately jailed, escaped with minor hurts.

Two manslaughter warrants in the deaths of Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Crum were sworn out for Wilburn last Friday. Examining trial for the two men will be held here at 9 a.m. Friday.

State Trooper Delmer Ison, who investigated the crash, said the Greenup county car, travelling toward Paintsville, was on the wrong side of the highway. Miss Wright told authorities that as the other car bore down on her she cut to the left in an attempt to avoid a collision and that the other car plowed into the side of the car she was driving. The Wright auto, a convertible, was struck, midway the right side.

Howard and Wilburn signed statements, each naming the other as the driver of the death car. But, reminded Monday morning by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and County Attorney Barkley Sturgill, that Wilburn had sworn he was the driver, Howard quietly replied, "I was driving it."

He was previously apprised of his rights to be represented by an attorney and was warned that his statement might be used against him. Later, Stumbo reminded him that his admission meant three manslaughter warrants. But Howard stuck to his story that he, not Wilburn, was the driver.

Both men agreed to undergo polygraph (lie detector) tests. Howard denied that anybody had urged him to assume the blame for reward or for promise of help.

His admission that he was driving confirmed a statement made earlier by Dallas Sammons, one of the first to reach the wreck scene.

Howard said he and Wilburn, who is a brother of the head of the Wilburn Construction Company, contractor on an Inez water project, got together at Inez and that they drank about a pint of whiskey there or in that vicinity. He said that they were accompanied by his wife as far as Paintsville, where they left her with Wilburn's wife. On the trip here, he said, Wilburn drove. He added that when he began driving Wilburn was asleep. He could not identify the place where he took the wheel, recalled only that it was where there had been a cut made for the highway and that it was apparently off the main road.

When the collision occurred, Howard said, he climbed over the front seat and left by a rear door of the car. He said he left Wilburn lying in the front seat.

Mrs. Wright was a daughter of A. B. Flanery, of Martin, former Floyd county magistrate, and the late Mary Mayo Flanery. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church. Surviving, besides her husband and father, are two sons, Gary and Ronald Wright, both of Water Gap, and five daughters, Mrs. Coleen Griffith, of Allen, Miss Peggy Wright, an employee of the County Clerk's office here, Mrs. Sue Watson, San Francisco, Calif., Misses Sharon and Mary Wright, both of Water Gap; two brothers, Claude A. and Hollie Flanery, both of Martin, and two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Rowe, Calvert City, Ky., and Mrs. Ruth Greer, of Illinois.

Her daughter, Mrs. Crum, was born at Water Gap, Sept. 8, 1942. Mrs. Crum leaves her husband and two daughters, Ramona and Deborah, besides her father, brothers and sisters.

Joint funeral services for Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Crum were conducted Sunday afternoon from Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here. Capacity of the church was taxed by the large funeral gathering. Officiating ministers were the Revs. Jack DeRossett and Wallace Calhoun. Burial was made in the Wright family cemetery at Water Gap.

News that the condition of Teresa Wright had worsened came as the funeral of her mother and sister ended at the church, and members of the family were called to Lexington. She died, about six hours later. Her funeral was conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday from the same church. Revs. W. D. Jagers and Jack DeRossett officiating. Her burial also was made in the family cemetery.

The Hall Funeral Home directed the funerals of the three victims.

A son of the late Owen and Elizabeth Wheeler, he was born Sept. 15, 1900 at Whitehouse, Johnson county. He was twice married — first to Mae Seseo, and following her death, to Ruth Kazee, who also preceded him in death.

Mr. Ramey is survived by two sons, Dan Ramey, of Price, and Charles Ramey, of Houston, Texas; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Hamilton, Price, Mrs. Della Mae Lambert, Mrs. Ruth Swisher and Mrs. Shelby Jean Henry, all of Columbus, Ohio; three brothers, Link Ramey, of Paintsville, and Owen Ramey and Ervin Ramey, both of Whitehouse, and three sisters, Mrs. Goldie Stapleton, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Emmie May, of Paintsville, and Mrs. Lillie Butcher, of Williamsport. Also surviving are 22 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Graveside services were held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Gambell cemetery near Whitehouse. Burial was made under the direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Allie Marcum Dies In 81st Year; Funeral Held Sunday

Mrs. Allie Marcum, 80 years old, of Pikeville, mother of two Floyd county residents, died last Wednesday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

Born in Carter county, Mrs. Marcum was the daughter of William and Almire Mosley Curtnutte, and was the widow of Ben Marcum. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving are a son, Shalus Marcum, of Harold; two daughters, Mrs. Betty Compton, of Betsy Layne, and Mrs. Garnett Lynch, of Pikeville; eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted from the residence at 2 p.m. Sunday, with Bennie Blankenship officiating minister. Burial was made in the Ratliff cemetery at Coal Run under the direction of the J. W. Call & Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Malissa Spears, Harold Resident, Dies At Pikeville Hospital

Mrs. Malissa Jane Spears, 85, of Harold, widow of Floyd Spears, died early Tuesday morning at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, following an extended illness.

Born Dec. 11, 1882, at Harold, she was the daughter of Sammy and Lizzie Elkins Clark. She is survived by a son, George Spears, of New London, Ohio, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at the New Salem Old Regular Baptist Church at Harold, of which she was a member, the Revs. John Hall, Luther Conn and Walter Akers officiating. Burial will be in the Tanyard cemetery at Harold under the direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

The Ashland district annual meeting of the Kentucky Conference of the United Methodist Church of the Women's Society of Christian Service met June 25 at the First United Methodist Church, Prestonsburg, using the theme, "And Testify to All Mankind." White; chairman of Program Materials, Mrs. Arthur F. Steelhorst, Jr.; chairman of Nominations, Mrs. Herbert Sullivan; area chairman of Floyd county as a member of the nominating committee, Mrs. Carl Horn.

Dr. Steadman Bagby, Ashland district superintendent, gave the closing prayer of consecration and benediction.

stops the action, and occasionally he philosophizes directly to the audience. When he needs help, he snaps those magic fingers once more and from deep inside an old steamer-trunk emerge Henry and Mortimer, two old actors down on their luck, looking for their next job. El Gallo most willingly obliges.

Musical highlights from the show are familiar to those who have never even heard the name THE FANTASTICKS. "Try to Remember" has become a hit in its own right. The father's soft shoe routines "Never Say No" and "Plant a Radish" are guaranteed show stoppers, to say nothing of the highly melodic "Soon It's Gonna Rain" and "They Were You".

THE FANTASTICKS is directed by Sam Bittman with Costumes designed by Kristin Elin Ohberg and set design by John Kasarda. Musical director is Paul Cox and Joan Gilson is accompanist.

Coffman said there is $600,000 for the center in Gov. Louie B. Nunn's budget and another $480,000 is being held for the center by the Appalachian Regional Commission. He expressed confidence that this money would generate another $2 million in federal grants under federal matching programs that provide money for vocational facilities.

The three sites were chosen by a committee of out-of-state rehabilitation consultants. Coffman said Paintsville was chosen because of its central location in Eastern Kentucky and because of its nearness to medical facilities, Prestonsburg Community College, the Mayo State Vocational School at Paintsville, and recreational facilities at Jenny Wiley State Park, near Prestonsburg.

The water district would extend up Left Beaver Creek to and including Clear Creek and on Right Beaver to the Knott county line, above Wayland.

"Whatever is done must be done now," Wells said. "If the people do nothing, it's a decision against having water service."

Paintsville — Elisha Jackson, Jr., 39, Paintsville, died Monday.

"This week we're a new company—"

South Central Bell!"

"What is it, a new railroad?"

"No, a new telephone company—we used to be Southern Bell."

"What's so great about that?"

"Well, we're the largest single corporation ever newly formed!"

"Big deal."

"We're the seventh largest Bell company in terms of telephones served!"

"So what does all that mean to me?"

"Maybe nothing, but we are determined to give you the best possible telephone service and personal attention anyone has ever received. How does that grab you?"

"What was the name of that company again?"

"South Central Bell."

Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. The two companies will be about the same in size.

Bill Gibson, manager of the telephone company here, said that the Southern Bell name on letterheads, bills, trucks, advertisements, and buildings will be replaced with the South Central Bell name.

Since 1906 the Southern Bell name has been a part of Prestonsburg. In the early 1900's John C. C. Mayo, of Paintsville, owner and developer of vast coal properties in the Big Sandy valley, petitioned the National Bell Company for telephone service. In response to this request telephone lines were built from Huntington, W. Va. to Louisa, Paintsville and Prestonsburg, and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company of Kentucky was born. These three towns were the first in Kentucky to have Southern Bell exchanges.

The Kentucky company was owned by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, which at that time provided telephone service in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

In 1912, Southern Bell's holdings in Virginia and West Virginia, including Southern Bell of Kentucky, were sold to the Chesapeake and Potomac Company. In 1916, Southern Bell of Kentucky was sold to the Cumberland Telephone Company. In 1926, the Cumberland Company, having been under combined management with Southern Bell since 1913, changed its name to Southern Bell. Thus little Southern Bell of Kentucky was reunited with its first parent company.

Monday, South Central Bell began its life in Prestonsburg, 62 years after Southern Bell of Kentucky began its operation.

Art Isaacs was released under $5,000 bond to answer to a shooting and wounding charge. Tommy and Floriss Isaacs were charged with shooting and wounding and held to $2,000 bond. A warrant charging Mazie Hall with shooting at another was issued.

Hall's condition was described Tuesday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital as favorable.

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said called to McDowell after Tommy Isaacs had gone to the home of Deputy Sheriff Lee Stumbo to surrender. He brought here others involved in the fray.

Lewis said the weekend broke the quiet that has generally prevailed in the county for some time. Upwards of 30 persons were booked at the jail here. Sheriff Lewis said he booked Belvard Shepherd, of State Road Fork on a drunkenness and assault and battery charge after Shepherd had allegedly beaten and otherwise mistreated his 70-year-old mother-in-law. The woman was hospitalized here. Later the same night, he said, he was called to the head of Branham's Creek where he arrested Lee Hall on assault and battery and drunk charges, plus a peace warrant. Hall, he said, was accused of beating his daughter.

Lonesome Pine Council Selects New Executive

George C. Wells, of Pikeville, president of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced last week the selection of F. Marvin Barber, a member of the National Rural Relationships Service Staff, Boy Scouts of America, as Scout executive of the Lonesome Pine Council, effective July 1.

Mr. Barber was reared on a farm in Palo Alto county, Iowa where he was a boy Scout. He majored in social science at the State College of Iowa.

In 1962 Mr. Barber received the Fellowship Degree, highest honor in the professional training program of the Boy Scouts of America. He assumed his first professional post in 1943 as a field Scout executive at Council Bluffs, Iowa, serving six rural counties in southwest Iowa. In 1949 he became a field

Scout executive and later was promoted to the post of assistant Scout executive at Wichita, Kansas. In the latter position he was director of field service and gave leadership in rural finance and membership extension.

Barber was selected to become Scout executive at Grand Island, Nebraska in 1954. He assumed his present post with the National Council in 1963.

Mr. Barber does not come as a stranger to the Lonesome Pine Council. In his present capacity he has spent many weeks in this council helping to recruit and train volunteer leadership, organize new Scouting units, and secure financial backing for the program.

He, his wife, and their junior high school daughter will soon be moving to Pikeville.

TIDITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

WHEN TO DO WHAT

Every year, even on the first day of the year, I begin to think of how many times and seasons are just around the corner. And for each there are many folk sayings and often rhymes, for it just would not be right to let some season slip up on the blind side of us. Here we are on January 1, let us say, ready to face the seasons and the many folk associations with each.

New Year's Day breaks right squarely into the prophecy for the coming year, for the twelve days from Dec. 26 to Jan. 6 prophesy weather conditions for the following 12 months, a day for each upcoming month. And, before you know it, here comes Groundhog Day, whether you celebrate it on Feb. 2 or 14, that is, Candlemas Day or St. Valentine's Day; and every school child, even, can tell how on that day, whenever it is, the groundhog comes out of his burrow, sees his shadow or doesn't, and stays outside or returns to his winter home for six more weeks of winter. And Feb. 14, for a very long time, has been regarded as the day for birds to choose their mates for the year. I suppose the hawks and owls are exempted, since several species have their families well on the way before St. Valentine's Day. But prejudice against these groups of birds would easily dispose of this violation of a sacred folk law, for most people hardly regard hawks and owls as birds anyway.

By and by, after several attempts to break out of winter, some warm days come, and birds begin to sing spring songs. From early days in America there has been a belief that it is time to plant corn when a dove begins to sing; unfortunately, some doves forget this and sing right on through the winter, even when snow is falling. Whip-poor-wills are better guides to planting time, for they do not get here until April. But in 1963 they turned on their calls too early, and a very hard freeze came in early May. Maybe the calendar-makers got their wires crossed and meant late May instead of earlier. Oak leaves tell when it is time to plant corn, too. But they must be as big as a mouse's ears. Just what kind of mouse is not specified, but, again, some more specific measurements of time or leaves might have prevented the slaughter of oak leaves, again in 1963.

Everybody knows that Good Friday, cold or hot or wet or dry, is bean-planting time. Many old-timers planted or sowed turnips, both for use as greens and the roots, on July 26, again wet or dry.

Plan right now to remain healthy next summer, for Dog Days will get you if you don't watch out. Do not go swimming in the creek then, for you will likely get sores and other infections. And do not gather sage then, for it will be tasteless and unusable. In general, Dog Days are unlucky days; watch your step then, or bad luck will result.

Probably the best-known sign of times to come is the call of the first katydid. Remember that it will be exactly 90 days from that first call until the first frost. And, when that period approaches, be sure to let the cocklebur tell you what is to come. If its seeds are matured, look for frost, no matter when that time may be. If it still has green leaves, have no fear; cocklebur leaves are never bitten by frost.

No matter how hungry you may get, don't eat any oysters or game animals in months that do not have an r in their names. The eating will be poor and unlucky, too. Stifle your hunger pangs until some lucky month comes around.

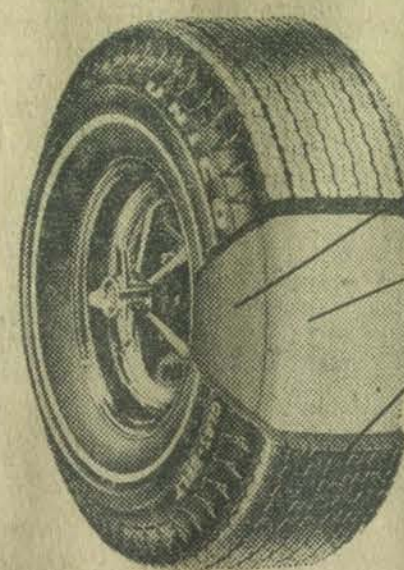

Besides the scolding your parents may give you for working on Sunday, you may have all sorts of bad luck if you whistle then, or fish, or cut your nails, or sew with a thimble, or burn brush, or turn a grindstone. Some of my oldest friends have told me that they got severe scoldings when they were young for singing harmless love songs on Sunday; only church hymns were permitted and certainly no religious person would whistle a church hymn. If something just must be sewed, do the best you can without a thimble; there's the rub.

REMOTENESS OF STREAM IS REMOVED BY ROADS

Swift's Camp Creek in Wolfe county was little known and its wilder reaches seldom seen until more recent years when trails were marked and roads built near the stream flowing through Daniel Boone National Forest.

Actually, some of the most remote stretches of this swift-running water were frequented in the years before the Civil War by mountain folk on foot or horseback who were taking their "luck" of wool to Drake's Carding Factory.

In those years of the mid-1800's, James Drake discovered at the foot of the rapids of Swift's Camp Creek what seemed to him to be an ideal location for a water mill. He built his dam and a large house for the burr to grind corn and wheat, and installed a machine for carding wool.

One of Eastern Kentucky's old-timers, the late James Monroe Gevedon, said he never learned the date of construction of Drake's Carding Factory and mill, "but it must have been in operation before the Civil War, for on my first trip there when I was young, the old mill had fallen into decay."

A trip to the mill in the old days was a tortuous and perilous journey via the Old State Road below Hazel Green where the traveler had two miles of wagon road to Clark's Ford of Red River. Traveling up Clark's Branch and out a long ridge before dipping into the breaks of Stillwater Creek, the traveler crossed Tut's Ford, a swift and difficult crossing, then scaled the cliffs to Little Callaboose Creek. Leaving behind a long, narrow ridge, he descended through the gaps and benches of Swift's Camp Creek canyon where he crossed the famous Rock Bridge and reached the end of his journey.

Today's travelers who wish to see the site of Drake's Mill can travel in comfort over the Mountain Parkway and stop at any tourist information center on the Parkway for scenic highway exits to Rock Bridge.

FORMER P'BURG ATTORNEY TO BE HONORED IN 1969 AT ELLIOTT CENTENNIAL

By HELEN PRICE STACY
It won't be the Forty-Niners in Elliott county in 1969, but the Sixty-Niners as the county, named for John M. Elliott, becomes eligible for a centennial.

Officials in the county seat of Sandy Hook (Martinsburg, in the early days) say plans for a gala observance of the county's 100th birthday still "are in the talk stage" but soon will get under way with the appointment of a centennial committee.

The county has a meaningful connection with at least one of the Forty-Niners, John Boykin, who in 1849 left Maine for California to prospect for gold, traveled to Cripple Creek, Colo., where he heard from an Indian youth a story of a fabulous silver mine in Elliott county.

On a summer's afternoon in 1889, the old prospector left the train at Morehead and traveled overland to Elliott county where he found, not silver, but what he believed were diamonds and other gems. When the years passed and things got rough for Boykin, he existed for some time by trading his gems from the Elliott county diamond mine.

He finally disappeared to remain lost forever, but the lore of the diamond mines became a fact when years later at different times companies were formed to mine the diamonds found in dikes created 275 million years ago by volcanic action.

A major part of the diamond-mine area is now under lease to Kentanna Minerals, Inc., a firm headed by Iley B. Browning, Jr., of Henderson, Ky., who in 1965 announced the discovery of a major platinum field in the area and later built a crude gravity separation plant at the explosion pit or crater formed during the Paleozoic Era of the Pennsylvania Age.

Elliott county is rich in Indian legend and Civil War history. It was during the Civil War plans were drawn for organizing the county. John M. Elliott, who grew up at Stark, was educated at Emory and Henry College in Virginia, studied law under David Trimble in Greenup and in 1841 established a law partnership in Prestonsburg with Henry C. Harris.

He was elected to the Legislature at age 27, and in 1851 entered into a law partnership with John M. Burns, also in Prestonsburg. Elliott's sympathies being with the South, he declined another campaign for U. S. Congress and was elected to the Kentucky General Assembly.

After a long and brilliant political career and the end of the war he set up law practice in Bath county and was elected circuit judge. It was during his judgeship Elliott county was admitted into the Commonwealth. The judge later practiced law in Catlettsburg where in 1876 he was elected to the Kentucky Court of Appeals. On March 29, 1879, he was assassinated on the sidewalk beside the Capitol Hotel in Frankfort. Elliott is buried in Frankfort.

A marker on the courthouse lawn in Sandy Hook gives a brief history of Judge John Elliott, but when the county celebrates the one-hundredth year of its founding in 1869 a special tribute will be given its distinguished statesman who grew up on a farm in the area now bearing his name.

Mrs. Hale Graduates At Eastern Michigan

Mrs. Janalyn Hale, wife of Larry A. Hale and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James George, of Betsy Layne, was one of several hundred participating in the commencement exercises of Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Mich., June 8.

Mrs. Hale is a graduate of Betsy Layne high school, attended Pikeville College and is completing requirements for her B.S. degree at Eastern Michigan the present summer term. She, her husband and son, Jim, now reside in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Hale's mother attended the commencement along with two friends, Mrs. Charles Scholer, of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Wanda Hicks Boyd, formerly of Tram, now a resident of Ypsilanti.

Social Security Act Violation Results In Suspended Term

"Violations of the Social Security Act will be vigorously prosecuted," Daryl E. Ratliff, District Manager warned today. Mr. Ratliff said he had just learned Ben Webb, of Pikeville, and his wife Mandy, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court to furnishing false information to the Social Security Administration and converting another person's benefit to their own use.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb each received a one year suspended sentence and were placed on five years' probation. The Webbs had listed a grandchild as their natural legitimate child for social security purposes and received erroneous payments. The payments made in error were then converted to their own personal use.

"The conviction of Ben and Mandy Webb for violations involving false information and converting another person's benefits to their own use should serve as a warning to all persons," Ratliff pointed out. When intending to cause social security payments to be made where none are authorized, a conviction of each violation can mean as much as a $1,000 fine or imprisonment of one year, or both. Full restitution of the payments also will be required.

Any suspected irregularities of this manner are quickly and fully investigated by the Social Security Administration and referred to the Justice Department.

Girl Scout Council Merger Announced

Girl scouting in a large area of Kentucky will take on a new look this fall with the merger of two Girl Scout councils in September.

The Ken-O Valley Girl Scout Council with its office at Ashland will merge with the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council, headquartered at Lexington. The enlarged council will continue with the Wilderness Road name and continue to have its main headquarters in Lexington with a service center in Ashland. To the 50 Kentucky counties already served by the Wilderness Road Council will be added five Kentucky counties formerly in the Ken-O Valley Council, plus Lawrence county, Ohio.

The enlarged council will serve well over 10,000 girls and 2,000 adults who are already Girl Scouts and expects to make Scouting available to even more girls through the expanded services. With the addition of the former Ken-O Valley Council's Camp Cardinal near Carter Cave State Park, the council will own a total of six camp properties in Central and Eastern Kentucky providing varied types of out-of-door program for girls of all ages.

The enlarged council will provide an adult educational program for the adults who work with girls and who serve in many administrative capacities. A professional staff of 10 people will give guidance and support to the 2,000 volunteers. Mrs. Evans McGraw, of Lexington, will continue as the executive director of the enlarged council. Appointment of a field staff member to be based in the Ashland area is expected to be made soon.

Financial support for the council is provided by 13 United Funds and Community Chests in the area, by Girl Scout campaigns in communities not having chests, by gifts from friends of Scouting, proceeds of the annual cookie sale and by camp fees paid by children who attend camps.

Mrs. R. B. Isenhour, of Lexington, president of the Wilderness Road Council, announced the appointment this week of Mrs. William Potter, of Russell, to the council's board of directors. Additional Ashland area people will be nominees for board membership when elections are held in the fall. Mrs. Isenhour pointed out that while there is a board of directors that centrally administers council affairs, one of the strengths of Girl Scouting lies in the adult associations in every community where decisions affecting the girls of that community are made.

The committee that developed plans for the council merger included: Mrs. William Potter, of Russell; Mrs. John R. Gilpin, Jr., and Mrs. Bob H. Keatins, of Ashland; Mrs. Harry Harlacher, of Ironton, Ohio; Mrs. R. B. Isenhour and Mrs. Graydon Long, of Lexington; Mrs. Edward P. Hill, Frankfort, and Mrs. Neil R. Maxey, Mt. Sterling.

An additional aspect of the change in area served by the Wilderness Road Council is the fact that Mingo county, West Virginia, which has been a part of the council will be transferred to the Mountain Laurel Council based in Charleston, West Virginia.

Mrs. Isenhour pointed out that these changes in council jurisdiction are part of the continuing effort to keep Girl Scouting in tune with the times. By combining the financial resources and know-how of people from a large area, we are better able to administer a program designed for the special needs of today's girls to enable them to be tomorrow's adults able to assume the duties of responsible citizenship.

The trend is clear!

Few women would wear a dress designed in 1930 . . . but many are tolerating heating systems that are as outdated as a bustle. Because of misconceptions about the cost of electric heat, you may be cheating yourself out of a cleaner, more comfortable, flamelessly safe home. The difference in operating cost is so small it's insignificant. Millions of homeowners who heat electrically have discovered how much more it is worth. That's why owners of older homes are converting to electric heat in record-breaking numbers. Few things you can buy for your home add more to its value than electric heat because dollar-for-dollar it delivers so much more for your money. Virtually any home can be converted to electric heat quickly and economically. Let us prove it. Just mail this coupon.

Nature Trails By RUFUS M. REED

SNAKE'S, NATURE'S BEST PREDATORS

There is a pressing need for us to stop killing the harmless and beneficial snakes, which are nature's finest and best predators. If we rule out the rattlesnake and copperhead, the rest of the snakes are not only harmless to man but highly beneficial as eaters of rodents and other vermin. Snakes are far better mousers than cats, as their slender bodies enable them to probe into dens and holes to get their prey. They can search out places where cats can't go.

There seems to be a general scarcity of hawks and owls throughout our region, so we stand in dire need of saving the nonpoisonous snakes to help us control the rodents, which multiply by arithmetical progression. If it weren't for the snakes to help keep them in check, the rats and mice would soon overrun the earth.

We seem to have been born with an instinctive fear of snakes, which often causes us to kill almost every snake we run across. This is a very unwise thing to do. There is far too much superstition attached to snakes, and we need to learn more facts about them and to stop killing them on sight. Luckily for the snakes, nature has provided many of them with good camouflage, so that they can escape being seen. Among these are the little green snakes—two species—which spend most of their time in trees or shrubbery and are colored like leaves. No green snakes should be killed, as they devour caterpillars, insects of many kinds and other pests. They are good protectors of lawn shrubbery and shade trees. We have the smooth-scaled green snake and the larger, keeled green snake. Both species are highly beneficial to man.

A snake is a highly specialized animal and of much interest to study. It is a vital part of nature's plan of life and is designed to help maintain the checks and balances of nature. A snake's mouth is a chemical laboratory and its forked tongue is the collector of molecules for study and analysis. Some persons seem to believe a snake uses its tongue as a "stinger," but the tongue is soft and moist, smooth as silk, and a highly sensitive organ. It picks up the molecules given off from all kinds of animal bodies and transfers these to the "mouth laboratory," which is called "Jacobson's organ." This organ analyzes the molecules picked up by the tongue, tells the snake what kind of warm-blooded animal cast off the molecules.

Snakes have poor eyesight and lidless eyes, so they cannot close their eyes. They have no legs like the mammals do. A snake travels over the ground on its belly, propelling its body forward by using the overlapping scales on the belly. It cannot move backward, only forward. The scales seem to take the place of legs in mammals, as they enable the snake to climb trees and to slither rapidly over the ground.

The following snakes are highly beneficial to man and should be protected, never destroyed:

1. THE MILK SNAKE—two kinds. There is a belief that the milk snake visits the barn to suck milk from cows. But it is absolutely impossible for any kind of snake to suck milk from a cow's teat, due to the shape of its tongue. The milk snake goes to the barn to catch rats and mice for its good. There is the gray milk snake, which has black markings and is sometimes called "the milk adder," and "house snake." Then there is the red king snake, an eastern milk snake, with red splotches bordered by black; it is also a first-rate rat-catcher and grows to a length of about 30 inches. This snake should never be killed.

2. THE SMALL EASTERN RING-NECKED SNAKE. This is a handsome little snake, about 15 inches long, and usually lives under rocks and logs. It devours small insects and larvae. It is grayish on the back, has an orange-yellow belly and a yellow ring around the neck. It is a pretty, gentle snake, easily handled and should never be killed.

3. THE SMALL GREEN SNAKES, discussed above.

4. THE RED-BELLIED SNAKES. These snakes are smooth, graceful, handsome and very useful. They grow about a foot long and have a beautiful red belly and black spots at the back of the head. They are beneficial little snakes.

5. THE YELLOW-STRIPED RIBBON SNAKE. This is a pretty, little garter snake and looks much like a yellow-striped slender ribbon. It devours spiders, insects of many kinds and is a useful snake. Its long tail is about one-third the length of the body.

6. THE KING SNAKES. None of the king snakes should ever be killed. They devour all kinds of rodents and also kill and eat rattlesnakes and copperheads. Their prowess in conquering a large rattler and eating it has given them the name, "king snake." We have the eastern king snake in our region, a beautiful shiny black with yellow bands forming a chainlike pattern on the body. The scarlet king snake grows to a length of about 18 inches and is a handsome, little snake. Some persons have a mortal terror of this pretty snake, as it resembles the deadly coral snake of the south, which is never found in our region.

7. THE SMALL GROUND SNAKES. These little snakes live in the ground. Some are brownish with white bellies, some are greenish and all are beneficial as eaters of small insects, grubs and worms. They show great distress when exposed to air and sunlight and are almost blind.

Louisa Carpet Mills Get Loan of $247,000 For Plant Expansion

Approval of a $247,000 loan to help expand a carpet plant and create about 70 new jobs in Louisa, was announced last week by the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce. The business loan was requested by Louisa Carpet Mills to purchase additional machinery and equipment to expand the manufacture of tufted carpets.

The company began operations in 1966 with the aid of a $1,159,500 EDA loan. It presently employs 90 workers.

With the expansion, the company expects to add about 70 to the payroll.

The new jobs will help improve the economy of Lawrence county which has problems of high unemployment and low family income. In 1967, the unemployment rate for the county was 9.8 percent. The median family income in the last census was $2,088, compared with a national level of $5,660.

The EDA loan is to be repaid over a 13-year period at an interest rate of 4.75 percent. In addition to the EDA funds, $19,000 is being provided by the Greater Louisa Industrial Foundation and $114,000 is being invested by the applicant. The total project costs is $380,000.

Archer Park Offers Activities

The new "Fun for the Whole Family" policy adopted by the Archer Park management at the beginning of the summer season is still in effect, with several new programs proving successful and even newer ones in the planning stage.

Coaches Dana Jack Hicks and Diana Dill are to take the swim team to Ashland on July 12 for the A.A.U. competition. There are still places on the team for more girls.

The Elementary Activities program, designed for children age 5-12, is held each weekday morning. The children play active, organized games with an adult leader. They also enjoy periods of playground activity when they are free to do as they like. This setup enables the children to compete and cooperate with others and also to follow their own individual explorative desires.

The park management wishes to express its appreciation to the Floyd County Civil Defense for the use of "Resuscie Annie," a life-like plastic figure used to demonstrate the correct method of administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. One hundred sixty persons have witnessed these demonstrations at Archer Park.

A Slow-Pitch Softball League for women has been organized at the park. Practice games have been held weekly, and the regular season's play is to begin this week. The league includes three Prestonsburg teams, one team from Auxier, and possibly a team from Salyersville. Anyone in the area wishing to enter a team may do so by contacting Sandy Prater.

On July 4 at 1 p.m., a Prestonsburg team will meet a team from Pikeville for a tennis match on the Archer Park courts. There will be five singles matches and two doubles matches.

The park is pleased to announce the completion of its volleyball and badminton courts, as well as the shuffleboard surface. A women's volleyball league is planned to make use of one of the newly-finished facilities. Senior citizens are urged to come to the park to enjoy shuffleboard. Equipment is available at the park for checking out at the concession stand.

The Glasgow Baptist Church was the scene Saturday afternoon, June 1, for the marriage of Miss Jolene Sue Hume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wendell Hume, Jr., and Mr. Lloyd Michael Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Greer, Lexington, formerly of Floyd county.
The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. W. Morgan Patterson before an altar banked with palms and centered with a large all-white arrangement of chrysanthemums and gladioli flanked by branch candelabra holding lighted wedding tapers.
Proceeding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mr. J. Douglas Groce, organist.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional floor-length gown of misty white organza in an "A" line silhouette. The empire bodice, applied with re-embroidered Alencon lace encrusted with bridal pearls, was created with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and short lace sleeves.
Matching appliques, ornamented with pearls, were scattered on the slender skirt above an encircling border of jeweled lace drifting upward in graceful sprays. The chapel train was touched by lace motifs and ended in a deep overlay of lace embroidered with pearls. Her veil of gossamer silk illusion, designed and made especially for her, was bouffant and floated the full length of her train. It was held by a peu de soie bridal rosebud in a cluster of re-embroidered Alencon lace medallions encrusted with pearls and crystals. She carried a white Bible centered with a bouquet of white sweetheart roses with a removable corsage of white orchids. Her only jewelry was a single strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.
Miss Gayle Rigby was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Bonita Harris, Miss Virginia Ann Barton, Glasgow; Miss Barbara Rinehart, Louisville; and Miss Sherri Lynn Greer, sister of the groom, Lexington. WELCOME HOME!

It's vacation time, and those whose work, business or other interests have taken them away from home are coming back to Floyd county. Most of these return only for a mere visit, but we trust their too-brief stay at home will be pleasant.

Among these are some who will want to repair the old family home or build homes, here at home, for themselves. To them we suggest, as we do to our permanent residents—build well, using only those materials that will be of lasting service.

And as you look for these materials, why not visit us? You will find them here.

Firebugs Suspected By Forestry Dept. In Recent Blazes

Four forest fires which broke out, a few weeks ago, in May's Branch, Trimble Branch and the Ball Alley and Yellow Town sections here are believed to have been deliberately set, and foresters are seeking the identity of those guilty. Frank Parsons, ranger with the Kentucky Department of Forestry, said last week that any information available should be supplied the department.

Parsons said that between Jan. 1 and June 3 persons responsible for 26 woodland fires in the area he works paid suppression costs, one agreed to pay these costs and warrants are to issue for two others.

Investigation of nine fires, he said, failed to identify those responsible. The first conviction for burning before 4 p.m. resulted recently in a Floyd county man paying a $10 fine and costs and the same amount for permitting a fire to spread.

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky's Joint Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities, created by the 1968 General Assembly and appointed by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, is slated to hold its next meeting at the Capitol on July 12.

The Committee, consisting of 10 members, six Democrats and four Republicans, chose State Sen. Scott Miller, Jr., Louisville Republican, as its chairman and held its first formal meeting in Frankfort on June 21.

At this time it resolved to investigate and inquire into:

1. The adequacy of the present laws of the Commonwealth relating to crimes involved in riots, civil disorders and disruptions of domestic tranquility.

2. The adequacy of the present laws dealing with the powers and capabilities of law enforcement agencies and officers to control riots and civil disorders.

3. The causes of riots, civil disorders and disruptions of domestic tranquility, and the need for legislation to prevent such lawlessness in the future.

4. The adequacy of the present laws dealing with the sale and transfer of firearms.

It also was resolved that the Committee report its findings, with recommendations for possible legislation, if any, to the 1970 General Assembly, and to law enforcement agencies and commissions within the state for their information and consideration.

Members of the Committee besides Miller are State Senators Lawrence W. Weatherby, D-Frankfort, a former governor; Carl T. Hadden, Sr., D-Elkton; Clifford B. Latta, D-Prestonsburg, and Charles B. Upton, R-Williamsburg; State Representatives Fred H. Morgan, D-Paducah, House majority leader; Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo; George T. Massey, Jr., D-Bowling Green; Harold DeMarcum, R-Stanford, and Theron Kessinger, R-Cromwell.

Gov. Nunn pointed out, his involvement with the activities of the Committee is limited to the appointment of its members, but said he has "every confidence that their investigations will be deliberate, responsible and compassionate."

The governor urged members of the Committee "to fully explore the acts and the motives of those who would take the law into their own hands, and those who would exploit social unrest for their own political ends."

He also urged the Committee

If electric rates are lower than ever, how come your bill is higher?

Yeah, how come?

Easy... you're living better. It works this way: our rates for electricity have gone down over the years. But you're using more power all the time.

These days, you not only use electricity for light, but you can use it to heat, cook, wash and dry clothes, tell time, entertain you with radio, TV, tape and records, shave, dry your hair, keep your bed warm, make your coffee, heat water, open cans, sharpen knives, wash dishes, even carve your Sunday roast.

That's why your bill is higher. Think about that next time you hear us say...

Electricity is your best dollar value.

Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. plans to raise telephone rates this week to $5-$5.50 for individual business lines and $2.75-$3.00 for individual residences.
