

Jury Report Hits Pollution, Clutter

Indictment List Lowest As 18 Named

Major Crimes Listed During Session Few; Jury Concludes Work

The Floyd circuit court's grand jury adjourned last Friday after voting perhaps the lowest number of indictments to be returned by a Floyd jury in modern times. Eighteen indictments were reported, and few of these involved major crimes.

In its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley the jury called on all governmental agencies to investigate and take necessary action to eliminate stream pollution, the accumulations of sewage, garbage and other waste materials on and adjacent to highways, and the junk cars parked along highways.

The report, signed by Rudolph Spencer, foreman, also called for better law enforcement around school dances and other social functions, and pointed out that Floyd business places should install burglar alarm systems as a step toward solving the problem of breaking and entering. The jury suggested a system similar to that devised near here by Lon Neeley. (Neeley's alarm warned him of the presence of thieves, with the result that three were wounded at his premises by shotgun fire.)

The grand jury also suggested that names of all peace officers should be published in The Floyd County Times and listed in the telephone directory so that persons needing their help may more easily locate them.

Ernest Clevenger, of Pikeville, one of the three who were wounded during the break into the Neeley premises near here, was named in two indictments voted last week. One charged him with breaking and entering; the other, with robbery while using or displaying a deadly weapon. His two companions are juveniles.

Michael G. Hamilton, of East McDowell, was indicted on an involuntary manslaughter count (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

This Town... That World

When, alas! you get to comparing symptoms, counting stitches and comparing surgical hemwork, behaving all the while as if you expected somebody to step up and ask for your autograph, as if you had hit a base-loaded homerun or run the ball back on kickoff for a touchdown, no less—my friend, when that happens to you, you're getting old.

So I am careful to avoid any such enjoyment of bad health. I am just going to let others tell about their harrowing experiences with Asian flu and Hong Kong flu, and sit back till the time is right—then declare to all and sundry that I have had a brand-new variety. I call it King Kong.

WORK LOOMS AFTER THAW

Deep-Freeze Effect On County Highways To Create Problems

Beneath the deceptive smoothness of roads now in their seasonal deep-freeze lies trouble that will erupt only when a general thaw comes.

Present troubles are as nothing, compared to what they will be later, County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week. Many rural roads still are icy, and ice has piled up at creek crossings till graders have been put to cutting them clear.

But, said Judge Stumbo, "When it really thaws, we expect the bottom to drop out. Most roads will be in bad shape, and everybody will naturally want his road fixed, first."

Until the thaw does come (See Story No. 9, Page 5)

Mrs. Wyskiver Dies Here Sunday Morning; Rites Held Wednesday

Mrs. Julia Ann Wyskiver, 65, of Kite, died Sunday morning at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Born Jan. 23, 1903, she was a daughter of the late S. R. and Nan Vowen Hall, and a sister of Dr. Russell Hall, of Prestonsburg.

Others survivors include her husband, William (Bill) Wyskiver; a son, Frank Wyskiver, of Kite; two daughters, Mrs. Ollena Cox, of Santa Anna, Calif.; Mrs. Anna Lou Hall, of Kite; two other brothers, Willie and Alex Hall, both of Kite; a sister, Mrs. Lula Little, of Robinson Creek; nine grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the Joppa Regular Baptist church at Melvin, of which Mrs. Wyskiver was a member. Burial was made in the Bill D. Branch cemetery at Kite under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

PIKE-CO. MAN GETS 2 YRS.

Clevenger Enters Plea Of Guilty to 2 Counts; Was One of 3 Wounded

Ernest Clevenger, the Pike county man who was indicted last week on breaking and entering and robbery charges in connection with the looting near here recently of Lonnie Neeley's place of business, entered a plea of guilty Tuesday in circuit court and was given a two-year pen term.

Clevenger was one of three who were wounded by shotgun fire while on the Neeley premises. The other two are juveniles. Two others who entered guilty pleas were later granted probation. One of these, George Lawson, was given a 30-day jail term for assault and battery. The other, Homer Stanley, was given a 12-month jail term for destroying property owned by Dolly Johnson. Lawson's probation requires him to pay $50 for damages to personal property of the man he assaulted.

Few trials of major interest are docketed for the term. The murder trial of Ballard Cable is (See Story No. 8, Page 5)

William McCoy, 65, Dies Last Thursday At Martin Hospital

William Rufus McCoy, 65, died Thursday, January 9, at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, following an extended illness. A resident of Allen, he was a son of the late Jacob and Lucy Smith. Mr. McCoy was a veteran and a member of the Church of God.

Surviving him are his widow Mrs. Lizzie McCoy; four sons, Jack McCoy, of Sycamore, O., William McCoy, of Clyde, Ohio, John and Paul McCoy, both at home; eight daughters, Mrs. Lucy Spencer, Mrs. Bennie Rebecka, Mrs. Lula May Spencer, all of Clyde; Mrs. Daisy Frazier, of Allen, Mrs. Doris Fitzpatrick, of Paintsville, Mrs. Mary Hicks, of Shiloh, Ohio; Anna Joy and Evelyn Mae McCoy, both at home; four brothers, Lum McCoy, of Summers, Mich.; Ed McCoy, of Willard, Ohio; Sammy McCoy, of Orville, California; Lucien McCoy, of Printer; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Longfellow, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Mary Clark, of Peoria, Wash.; and Cynthia McCoy, of Orville.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Floyd Funeral Home, the Rev. Wayne Blanton officiating. Burial was made in the Jones cemetery at Allen.

Mrs. Christian Victim At Kenova, Saturday

Mrs. Marie Bingham Christian, former resident of Prestonsburg, died Saturday morning at her home in Kenova, W. Va. Although she had been in failing health for the past two years, her death was unexpected. She was a daughter of the late Sam and Hattie Moore Bingham, and a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Homer Christian; a son, Dr. Samuel T. Christian, of Lexington; two brothers, Jeff and Jack Bingham, both of Kenova, and two grandchildren.

Funeral rites were held Monday at the Rollins Funeral Home in Kenova.

Flu 'Bug' Not Identified, But Its Effect Apparent

Hong Kong flu got you down. Not necessarily, say most informed sources. It could be any one of 15 other varieties of the bug, and not one of the 310 cases reported in this county last week has been definitely diagnosed as Hong Kong. Although spokesmen of the three hospitals in the county generally agree that the number of flu cases is no greater than normal for this time of year generally, one said that respiratory ailments—bronchitis, bronchial pneumonia, tonsillitis, etc.—seemed to be running above the average.

Mrs. Pauline Sparks, of the Floyd County Health Department, said Wednesday that the number of flu cases reported to her the week ending January 3, to 310 reported for the week ending January 10. This represents an increase of 102 cases.

Dr. George P. Archer, of the Prestonsburg General hospital, said this Wednesday that the number of influenza patients in his practice may be a little above average but that there is certainly no epidemic here. Dr. Archer went on to point out that Hong Kong flu is just one of 16 known types and that the difference lies in that people in this country have not previously been exposed to it and therefore have built up no immunity. This lack of immunity is where the danger of epidemic comes in. "The Hong Kong flu vaccine is available... with it an immunity is built up in 10 days," Dr. Archer added.

Another member of the local hospital said that approximately 12 to 15 patients are now hospitalized with flu or its complications. He added that the danger of spreading the virus would be decreased if visiting these patients is held to a minimum.

McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital reported 10 cases of flu from January 10 to 14. This, it was said, is a drop from the previous two weeks.

One death from flu or its complications has been reported in the county.

Garrett Girl Wins '68 Essay Contest

Julia Fern Pratt, 17-year-old Garrett high school senior, is winner of the 1968 Floyd county soil conservation essay contest, it was announced this week.

With full cooperation of the county's schools, a total of 4,263 essays were entered. This may have led the county again to have the highest number of essays in the state.

Trophies were provided by the Floyd County Fish & Game Club, The Bank Josephine, First National Bank, Wright's Jewelry and the Floyd County Farm Bureau. Cash awards were made by the Floyd county Soil Conservation District.

Second prize was won by Patrick Lee Tallent, of Maytown high. Other winners this year, first, second and third places listed in order:

Twelfth grade—Sharon K. Combs, McDowell; Archie Burruss, Prestonsburg high; Cecelia L. Hall, Wheelwright.

Eleventh grade—Rachel Preater, Garrett; Steve Patton, Prestonsburg high; Denise Mead, Wheelwright.

Tenth grade—Patrick Lee Tallent, Maytown; Patricia Reynolds, Martin; Ronda Hays, Garrett.

Ninth grade—Steven Preflatish, Martin; Terrie Ann Harris, Maytown; Shelly Berger, Wheelwright.

Eighth grade—Thibbe Elsie Burchett, Home Branch; Jeffrey Newsome, Melvin; Danny Compton, Weeksbury, and 4th place, Steven Ray Brackett, All.

Seventh grade—Demetra Slone, Clark elementary; Joe D. Jarvis, Home Branch; Robin Darlene Tackett, Drift, and fourth place, Thomas Flannery, Maytown.

Sixth grade—Sherry Music, Prestonsburg elementary; Paul Dale Manuel, Clark elementary; Sandra K. Newsome, John M. Stumbo.

Fifth grade—Robin Lee Little, Melvin; Laura Frances Brackett, Allen; Teresa Reed, Osborne.

Fourth grade—Cinda Chullen, Melvin; Dexter Newman, John M. Stumbo; Timothy Patrick, Martin.

Third grade—Gregory Couch, Osborne, Benita Haywood, Clark elementary; Ronald Newsom, John M. Stumbo elementary.

Second grade—John R. Bradford, Weeksbury; Henry Clark, Clark elementary; Sandra K. Osborne, Melvin.

First grade—Linda Bradley, Connie Delong, Anita Slone, all of Clark elementary.

School winners were: Weeksbury, Robin Adkins; Drift elementary, Sandy Blackburn; Garrett, Julia Fern (See Story No. 7, Page 5)

GROUP TAKES LAND OPTION

Harold Organization Prepares for Possible Industrial Development

The Citizens Development Corporation, headed by Paul Gearheart, of Harold, has procured an option on a 50-acre tract of land as a potential industrial plant and is having options prepared on at least one other site of about 35 acres.

The land upon which the option to purchase has been procured is on Mare Creek, 1.6 miles from U. S. 23. A newly-laid blacktop road passes through the property. It is owned by Miss Dimple J. Scalf, of Jackson, Michigan.

The Harold corporation, a non-profit organization, was organized more than a year ago to attempt industrial development in the three communities of Betsy Layne, Harold and Stanville.

The University of Kentucky Extension Service through its community development division is active in the three communities. Clubs have been organized at Harold and Betsy Layne. The Betsy Layne group, under the name of Betsy Layne-Stanville Progress Club, completed organization Monday evening. Darvinn Conn was named president; John Henry Scalf, vice-president; James Adkins, treasurer, and Mrs. Thelma Spears, secretary.

The Mare Creek property was recently inspected by Prof. Oliver W. Garde, College of Engineering, University of Kentucky, David Victor, business management specialist of the same institution, Gene Ball, Floyd County Extension Service, and others. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Development Council Meeting Next Monday To Get Service Story

Services available to the people of the area from the University of Kentucky's College of Business and Economics will be outlined as a part of the monthly meeting next Monday evening of the Big Sandy Area Development Council at the Paintsville Country Club.

The report on these services will be made by David Victor, deputy director for programming for the UK college.

The Big Sandy Development Council's board of directors will meet at 5:30 p.m.; the Development Council, at 6:30 p.m., and the Big Sandy Community Action Program directors, at 8 p.m.

The Development Council also will hear a report from Joe McCauley, Council staff director, and from Harry Eastburn, director of the Big Sandy Community Action Program.

Floyd County Native, W. J. Newman, 78, Dies In Florida, January 7

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at St. Cloud, Florida for William J. Newman, 78, native Floyd man who died January 7 at Holopaw, Florida, after a brief illness.

Mr. Newman was a son of the late W. H. (Uncle Bud) Newman and Hester Brown Newman and was a native of Hi Hat. In this county he was successful in the development of natural gas properties. Before moving to (See Story No. 10, Page 5)

CAP Gets Grant To Continue Work

Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Senator John Sherman Cooper announced Monday that the Office of Economic Opportunity had approved a grant of more than $400,000 to the Big Sandy Community Action Program for a continuance of its services to Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin, Martin and Lawrence counties.

Of this total, $183,000 is earmarked for emergency food and medical services—and, said Harry Eastburn, Big Sandy CAP director, that came too late and in amount too small to prevent a cruel Christmas for some families and to head off hungry days for others. There had been only about $6,000 remaining since last October 31 for such emergency aid and when the new grant did not come through the help was of necessity restricted only to "dire" emergencies.

Congressman Perkins placed the federal grant at $409,157. Senator Cooper said it was $430,499. Whatever the exact amount of the grant, it will, in addition to funding the emergency food and medical services for a seven-month period, finance for 12 months administration of the program, Community Action planning, community organization, adult education and general services.

Perkins said the services thus funded will benefit some 90,000 low-income persons in the six counties served by Big Sandy CAP.

Mr. Eastburn's comment on the emergency food and medical services grant delay follows, in part:

Most of the emergency fund is used in connection with the federal food stamp program (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Dana Firm's Bid Lowest At $893,330

Contract Expected To Be Awarded Soon On Eastern Project

Contractors' bids on construction of the proposed Right Beaver high school at Eastern were opened Friday afternoon and a low bidder determined by the Floyd County Board of Education and the Floyd Fiscal Court, despite a legal move filed earlier in the day in an attempt to halt the proceedings.

The $893,330 bid of Akers & Akers, Dana contractors, was lowest of three offered, and the board of education recommended acceptance of the bid by the fiscal court, which acts as fiscal agent for the board in major construction projects. Approval of the Akers bid has been made by George Lee Shannon, architect, and only the same action from the Division of Buildings and Grounds, State Department of Education, is needed to make the awarding of the contract final.

(The legal move on the part of citizens of Martin in an effort to restrain both the board and fiscal court from opening the bids or awarding a contract for the new school is described in a separate news-story on this page.)

Other bids offered on the construction project were: Boggs Construction Co., $934,900; Breeding Construction Co., $938,000.

The bids were on Phase I of the overall construction program at the new Right Beaver site.

The structure on which bids were offered is designed to be one of the finest in Eastern Kentucky, with a floor area of 47,400 square feet. It will be composed of eight hexagons, each separated by corridors, with windowless classrooms, all air-conditioned and the entire building heated electrically. Each room will have individual temperature controls.

The school structure will include 18 classrooms, a library which will include a conference room, workroom and audio-visual storage space, one business machines room, a typing room, two home economics rooms, two laboratories for biology and general science and physics, administrative offices, a teachers' lounge, two rooms for guidance counseling, a clinic, kitchen and lunchroom, and a large lobby with seating areas.

Suit To Bar New School To Be Heard Here Monday

Only the failure of plaintiffs to execute the required $200,000 bond presented at least a temporary disruption of plans of the Floyd County Board of Education to open bids last Friday on construction of the Right Beaver Creek school at Eastern.

Suit asking a temporary injunction against both the board and its fiscal agent, the Floyd Fiscal Court, was filed Friday morning. Opening of bids was set for that afternoon. Circuit Judge Hollie Conley set the $200,000 bond as a requisite before granting a temporary injunction. He explained that that amount was necessary to indemnify the board of education against loss of Title I federal funds earmarked for the building but not to be available if the project is delayed beyond a predetermined date.

When the bond was not executed the temporary injunction was denied. But a hearing was set for next Monday on the motion for a permanent injunction. Judge Conley has disqualified for this hearing and has asked the Court of Appeals to designate a special judge for trial of the case.

(The bond could have been $300,000 instead of the $200,000 asked, it was later pointed out, since the Title I funds available for the building total $300,000.)

The injunction suit was filed by Jake Layne, Bill Wells, Eddie Taylor, F. D. Salisbury and Clynard Jones, all of Martin, naming as defendants, County Superintendent Charles Clark, the Floyd County Board of Education and its members and the Floyd Fiscal Court and its individual members. It asked that defendants be enjoined from:

1. Constructing a high school or other school building on the new Eastern site.

2. Accepting any bid or bids or awarding any contract for such construction.

3. Discontinuing or removing the present high school or any of the grades from the school at Martin.

Filing of the action by the Martin group followed a series of meetings held there in opposition to abandoning of the high school at Martin and consolidation of that school with all other high schools on Right Beaver Creek into one school at Eastern. The proposed new school also will eliminate Wayland, Garrett and Maytown high schools.

PCC To Offer Classes Thru Extension Program

The University of Kentucky Extension Class Program will offer two classes at the Prestonsburg Community College during the spring semester.

Registration for the courses, each offering three hours' credit, will be at the college at 7 p.m., Jan. 16. Fees are $14 per semester hour for undergraduate credit and $17 per semester hour for graduate credit, plus a $2 service fee.

The courses are: Education 550: "The Role of the Teacher and Principal in Guidance," taught by Walter Frasure from 7-9:30 p.m. Mondays, beginning Jan. 20. The class is a first course for non-specialists, explaining basic principles and practical approaches to guidance for prospective teachers and principals in service.

Education 679: "Adult Farmer Schools," taught by Floyd Cox, with the first meeting on Thursday, Jan. 16, following registration. All other classes will be held on Friday nights and Saturday mornings, on alternating weekends.

The latter class includes preparation for teaching adult farmers, organization of adult-farmer schools, curriculum content, method of teaching and follow-up work.

Classes with insufficient enrollment will be cancelled on the date of registration.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Floyd County Fiscal Court will receive sealed bids for the sale of a non-exclusive franchise to operate a CATV system pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Floyd County Fiscal Court on December 30, 1968, which said resolution is stated at length herein.

RESOLUTION FLOYD CO. FISCAL COURT

A Resolution of the Floyd County, Kentucky, Fiscal Court providing for the sale of a Franchise for operating a Community Antenna Television system to provide service to the residents of Harold, Betsy Layne, Stanville, Tram, Ivel, Boldman and Amba, and vicinity, to construct, operate and maintain Television facilities, including but not limited to, Television poles, lines, boosters, anchors, and other facilities over, across, along and under the public ways of Floyd County, Kentucky.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE FISCAL COURT OF FLOYD COUNTY, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

1. There is hereby created a non-exclusive franchise for the construction, operation and maintenance of a community antenna television system, including but not limited to, the necessary poles, wires, anchors, and other necessary facilities along, under, across, and over the public ways of Floyd County, Kentucky.

2. This franchise shall continue from the time it is to take effect for a period of 20 years.

3. The person, firm or corporation which shall be the purchaser of this franchise or any successor or assigns of said purchaser shall for the sake of brevity be referred to as the Company.

4. The Company shall have the right, privilege, permission, authority and franchise, subject to the provisions hereof and to all powers reserved to said County, to construct, maintain, and operate all necessary facilities, including but not limited to, poles, wires, lines, boosters, and anchors in order to provide television service to the residents of Harold, Betsy Layne, Stanville, Tram, Ivel, Boldman, and Amba, and vicinity as more specifically delineated on the map appended hereto and designated exhibit No. 1.

5. In the event it becomes necessary for pavements or other structures to be taken up or excavations made in any of the public ways of said County, the same shall be made only after written notice to the County.

6. All pavements, structures and excavations shall be replaced and restored by and at the expense of said company to their former condition. Should the Company fail or refuse to restore said pavements, structures, or excavations within a reasonable time, the same may be replaced by the County at the cost and expense of the Company.

7. The Company shall well and truly perform and discharge all obligations imposed upon it by this ordinance and by the franchise and it shall save the County harmless from all losses and damage which may be done to its public ways or other property or the person or property of individuals by the conduct of company's business or arising out of the uses of privileges herein granted and the Company shall defend all suits and pay all judgments against Floyd County and hold the County free from all liability arising out of the construction, maintenance or operation of the Company's poles, wires, anchors, and other facilities in or along the public ways of Floyd County, Kentucky.

8. The Clerk of the Fiscal Court is hereby directed to post this resolution in at least three (3) public places within the County of Floyd, and to advertise same in the Floyd County Times, and to sell the franchise or privilege herein set out to the highest and best bidder at a time and place to be fixed by said Clerk. The highest bid made by each bidder shall be transmitted to the Fiscal Court at its next meeting following said sale for acceptance by the Fiscal Court.

9. Nothing in the franchise shall be construed as being exclusive or as preventing the County of Floyd from granting a franchise or privilege to other parties for the same or similar purposes.

This resolution shall take effect on and after its passage and posting.

Wright's Limited Band Entertains Patients At VA Hospital

The Wright's Limited Band, composed of Rosald Wright, piano, Gary Wright, organ, Troy Calhoun, guitar, and Glenn Arnett, drums, presented a musical program to 100 patients at the VA hospital, Lexington, Sunday, January 12. Sponsors of this were VFW Post 5839 and M.O.C. Pup Tent 16, Prestonsburg, as part of their attempt to bring some cheer and happiness to those who are now suffering mental and physical disabilities suffered in defense of our country. The ward chosen for entertainment is composed of men who have been hospitalized for years and there seems to be little hope that they will ever be well enough to be released.

The veterans' gratitude and enjoyment of selections played were a source of gladness to the entertainers that they could have the privilege of relieving the routine of hospital confinement, and in their own way let veterans know that there are those who still care.

Assisting in this beneficial work were Miss Faith Taylor, vocalist, and approximately 30 members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Lexington VFW and M.O.C. posts who served refreshments to all.

Accompanying the band were Mrs. Marcia Wright, Mrs. Dorothy Wright, Mrs. Sandra Arnett, Mrs. Shirley Setser, Mrs. Martha Goble, Mrs. Ann Brashers, Cooley Brashers, and these members of VFW Post 5839 and M.O.C. Pup Tent 16: Fred Goble, Henry Lewis Setser, Eddie Akers, Earl P. Martin and Carl T. Horn.

Wayland Man Victim Enroute to Hospital; Funeral Held Today

Lee Graham Ring, 42, of Wayland, was dead on arrival at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital, where he was taken after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home early Tuesday morning. He was a veteran of World War II, and was employed by the Kentucky Department of Highways. He was a son of the late James and Helen Elizabeth Kennedy Ring and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Becky Wolfe Ring.

Other survivors include a son, Donald Paul Ring, of Wayland, a step-son, Wilford Stone, Jr., at home, and a brother, A. B. Ring, of Garrett.

Funeral rites will be held today (Thursday) at the Hall Brothers Chapel. Burial will be made in the Williams cemetery at Williamsport, Kentucky.

War On Whose Poverty?

The War on Poverty is in trouble. Like the war in Vietnam, it is proving to be both costly and difficult to win.

Take Knox county, Kentucky, for instance. The anti-poverty program in Knox county has a staff of 75. It runs 14 community centers and a variety of family services. Its budget is something over $500,000 per year.

These figures have emerged as a result of a three-year study conducted by a team from the University of Kentucky. More interesting than the figures is the team's conclusion: Anti-poverty efforts in Knox county have been expensive and not too successful. After four years and $2.8 million spent, the study team adds poetically, "no solution to the tragic puzzle of poverty has been found."

The study was financed with a $424,000 grant from the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

And at this point it no longer seems necessary to make clucking noises over the shortcomings of the War on Poverty in Knox county. All such noises are muted by this gentle reminder that it cost the taxpayer nearly a half million dollars to study the War on Poverty in Knox county.

No wonder it's expensive and unsuccessful. The money is being spent on studies instead of on poor people. Let's hope the OEO doesn't appropriate a half million dollars for similar studies in each of Kentucky's 120 counties.

And as for the success of the program. If enough study grants are made, it will rescue the sagging economy of the colleges while it fails to find the solution to "the tragic puzzle of poverty." After all, the colleges could use more dollars and fewer rioters these days.

One thing comes clearly to light in these studies. It is possible to spend about as much money conducting studies of what we are doing as we are doing. And with approximately the same results: No solution to the problem.

CHRISTMAS VIGNETTE

This was the scene on Christmas Day, in a home not far from here. An old woman was alone. She had her little Tree, there in the corner of the room. And what was beneath it? Sure, she had been remembered with presents, but there was none beneath the Tree. Only the wrappings of remembered gifts from other Christmases were there. And on the Tree itself was none of the tinsel and shiny bells and stars and the usual decorations. The old woman had decorated her Tree with things more precious to her. From the branches she had with uncertain fingers hung pictures of each of her children.

This one, whose sense of values had deepened over the years, was not an object of pity. She had come to realize that Christmas, really, isn't an abundance of mere things. Come to think of it, I'm not sure that she wasn't having a happier holiday than many who had so many blessings that they had lost count—if ever they paused to count.

She had all the children there, before her, at home for Christmas.

TEXTBOOKS FOR 'SQUARES'?

One of my better recent purchases was when I became the owner of two of the old McGuffey's Readers—the Second and the Third. Since then I've enjoyed them, especially the old, near-forgotten poems and the quaintly wholesome illustrations that stir memories of a one-room school and rough benches and squeaky slates and a bunch of barefoot boys and girls who keep fading in and out of the picture. These were books fit for a child to read. Every story and bit of verse had its moral lesson. Why, McGuffey dared teach that "home" and "mother" and "God" were words that meant the finest and the best and needed to be part and parcel of the young life.

Those poems, in particular—if you're 65 or over, you may recall some of their lines... "Twinkle, twinkle, little star" ... "Nine pearl teeth had little kitty" ... "Sisters and brothers, little maid/How many may you be?" ... "Little Guest Eva sits in the sun" ... And—horror! — McGuffey's Third Reader even included The Lord's Prayer. I still say, the youngsters of this "enlightened" age have missed a lot that just came by and fell into the laps and ken of old fogies such as I.

Native Knott Woman Believed Area's Oldest

A cake with 103 burning candles marked the birthday Jan. 8 of "Aunt" Ellen Mosley, native Knott county woman who may be the oldest living resident of the area.

Aunt Ellen resides with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hayes, 942 Belmont St., Ashland. She rose at her usual hour on the 103rd anniversary of her birth—around 6 a.m.—and during the day happily received greetings from relatives and friends. Last year, President Johnson remembered her. This year, she found greetings from her other two daughters, Mrs. Grace Conley, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Rebecca Senters, of Allen, as valued as LBJ's.

At the age of 16 she became the bride of Andrew Jackson Mosley, who died about 18 years ago at the age of 91. They were married at the home of her parents, John and Rebecca Wicker, on Four Mile Creek in Knott county. Now, 85 years later, her hearing and eyesight are failing, but she continues to enjoy people and the life about her. She refuses glasses and hearing-aid ... "they bother." Most of all she misses the great enjoyment of years, attending church. Flu and weather keep her indoors, these days. She for many years has been a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

On her 103rd birthday Aunt Ellen had no recipe for longevity but she did offer one bit of advice: "Be as good as you can ... everybody."
 Mrs. Hays, Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Senters are the only survivors of her 14 children. But, at last count, she had more than 150 grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Katherine Allen Is Victim at Age 54; Funeral Held Wednesday

Mrs. Katherine Allen, 54, wife of Dr. Claude L. Allen, of Langley, died Monday night in the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

A daughter of the late Lawrence and Bessie Jordan McKinney, she was born May 20, 1914 in Covington, Va. She was a graduate of Concord College in West Virginia and completed training in medical technology at Mt. Sinai hospital, Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Allen was a member of the Maytown Woman's club and took an active part in community work.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Teddy Pence, of Altamont Springs, Fla., Mrs. Elizabeth Conley, of Martin, a sister, Mrs. Shirley Harding, of Wicomico Church, Va., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the Maytown Methodist church Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. Leonard Sumner officiating. Burial was made in the May cemetery at Langley under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

The Martin plaintiffs claims that the new Eastern site was bought at a price which was twice its reasonable value, that it is not favorably situated, has no water, sewer or police protection. It claims that the nearest such facilities, as well as doctors and hospitals, are at Martin.

The petition traces the history of the Martin school from 1923, cites bond issues voted and tax levies made to retire bonds. It also claims the tax monies collected on such levies have been "commingled" with general school funds and used for purposes other than for the purpose for which they were collected.

One point on which plaintiffs heavily rely is the Floyd circuit court opinion entered when Town Hall was superintendent of Floyd schools. This opinion, the suit points out, directed the Floyd County Board of Education, Supt. Hall and their successors to maintain the 12-grade school "now located within the town of Martin and within said Martin Consolidated School District . . . and they are perpetually enjoined from abandoning, discontinuing or suspending the teaching of any of the 12 grades . . . said school now located in the town of Martin and within the Martin Consolidated District as long as there is a sufficient number of pupil children residing within said district to meet the legal requirements for maintaining a 12-grade school, and from requiring the pupil children in said district . . . to attend any school located outside of said district . . ."

The Martin suit, prepared by Atty. Joe Hobson, claims this order has not been rescinded. W. W. Burchett, counsel for the school board, says it has. The two argued points at issue prior to the opening of bids, and fiscal court members, acting jointly with the school board in the bid-opening, pointed out that its part in the proceedings was in compliance with state law as fiscal agent for the school board and that it had no alternative but to proceed with the opening of bids.

Commenting on the opposition to the new school, County Superintendent Charles Clark said, in a prepared statement:

"There has certainly been no effort on the part of the Floyd County Board of Education or the Superintendent to keep the plans for the new consolidated high school at Eastern a secret. In fact, every step made to realize this facility has been well publicized and, indeed, I have served as speaker to the Martin Kiwanis twice, talking about the proposed new high school, and Wayne Ratliff, the assistant superintendent, has talked to the same organization on the same subject.

"The fact is, construction of the new Right Beaver facility was prompted by the realization that if present population trends continue, all four of the present secondary schools could become emergency high schools within the next five or six years. As high schools become smaller and smaller, academic courses offered must be limited to the point where credit for young people taken in the smaller schools does not really prepare young people for college. The fact is, too, that three out of four of the present high school buildings in Right Beaver had been flooded repeatedly over the years, and they are not adequate in many other respects for a top high school program, which is necessary for successful college work.

"Our idea was and is to find a location in the center of the area to be served, which is above all known flood levels, where we could construct a new facility second to none in the mountains, where we could adequately prepare our deserving young people for college, or for the vocations."

Theatrical Arts School Begins Today

The spring semester classes for the New School of Theatrical Arts began today (Thursday), at 3:30 p.m. at the Archer Park gymnasium. The above picture shows some of the students in rehearsal for last semester's production, which was a great success. Children, from the ages of 7 to 13, who enroll in the school, will be given a two-hour weekly session of singing and acting. At the end of the semester they will all take part in a production which will include scenes from "Peter Pan," "Cinderella," and "Pinnocchio," to name just a few. Those unable to register this week may do so next Thursday at 3:30. For any additional information call Eileen Bittman at 836-3849.

Exterior of the school will be of brick. Interior features will include acoustical ceiling, carpeted corridors, library, cafeteria and lobby; terrazzo or asbestos vinyl floors in the general classroom areas.

The contractor will have 365 working days after issuance of a work order for completion of the building.

Phase II construction, for which bids are to be asked later, will add to the school plant a gymnasium of 2,000 seating capacity; an auditorium of 275-seat capacity, and space for the school's music department.

Jerry Richardson Succumbs at Age 85; Funeral Held Tuesday

Jerry Richardson, 85, of East Point, died Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital following an illness of two weeks. A son of the late Steve and Amanda Holbrook Richardson, he was born December 12, 1883. He was preceded in death by his wife, Dora Music Richardson.

Surviving him are two sons, Curtis and Garnet Richardson, both of East Point; one sister, Amanda Richardson, of West Prestonsburg, two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday afternoon at the Little Paint Church of God, of which Mr. Richardson was a member. The Revs. Moses Kitchen and T. W. Farmer were the officiating ministers. Burial was made in the family cemetery at East Point under direction of Carter Funeral Home.

in the auto death of Billy Brian Adkins. Other indictments included these:

Roger Tussey, breaking and entering a service station; Alvin Randall Frasure, resisting arrest and carrying a concealed deadly weapon; Charles Jenkins, D. Case, Darrell Martin and Corbett Stone, each accused of auto theft; Bobbie Johnson, cold check; Edgie Click and Alvis Randall Frazier, destroying public property; Ralph Reynolds, detaining a woman against her will; and these, named separately on child desertion counts: Charles Douglas Branham, Dawson Deal, Hoover Hall, Wilven Bascom Harris, Leonard Little, Kelly Maynard, Carl E. Rowe, William Paul Stone.

The fund is also used to pay medical expenses of persons who have no money themselves and are not enrolled in Social Security, Medicare or public assistance programs that take care of such problems, he said.

And, Eastburn added, the medical and the food problems are often related.

"Some of these people who don't eat enough food or the right kind of food are weakened, so they are a prey to any kind of disease that comes along," he said.

Last year's money is gone now, and it will probably be a couple of weeks before the new grant filters down from Washington to Paintsville. But, since he knows it is coming, Eastburn can probably make arrangements for emergency aid until it gets there, he said.

But the reason for the delay remains at the center of that familiar Gordian knot of red tape. Eastburn wasn't blaming anybody, just a thing—the familiar "system." First, his agency is in the midst of converting to a new fiscal program year. Then, there was another two-week delay because of "a new form and a new bookkeeping system" that required him to resubmit his fund request, he said.

Finally, the day after New Year's, Eastburn asked Congressman Perkins to intercede. Five days later, he was notified that the grant was on its way.

Even when the money arrives, Eastburn is convinced that it won't solve the problems of malnutrition and emergency medical needs in his six counties.

That would take about $1.5 million a year, he said, and that is what he asked for—knowing in advance that he couldn't possibly get anything like that figure.

little, if anything can be done. For only then will the damage become apparent. When it does, "red dog" will be used to make roads passable, ditches will be "pulled" as rapidly as possible.
"We'll do the best we can," Judge Stumbo said. "And that, of course, won't be enough."
The rural road contract with the state has not been effected for the year, and as of last week no date for a meeting of the fiscal court with Department of Highways representatives had been set.
Stumbo said the last shipment of gravel supplied by the state amounted to little more than dust and was of practically no value to roads to which it was applied. He said the county was charged for this material and added that if future shipments are of no better quality he will not recommend their use.

Floyd Man Wins Plaque In Forestry Contest

Al H. Meyer, Route 1, Greenwood, Ind., is the 1968 winner of the $500 grand prize in the Tom Wallace Farm Forestry Awards contest.

The contest, which annually honors the top farm foresters in Kentucky and Southern Indiana, is sponsored by The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and WHAS, Inc.

Squire Hamilton was Floyd county's merit award plaque winner.

Other 1968 top winners in the contest are:

Second grand prize — Lloyd Price, of Somerset, Ky., who has owned his woodland since 1946. In one three-year period, Price planted over 140,000 short-leaf pine seedlings. This phenomenal effort was made possible by the fact that Price developed a seedling planter capable of spacing between the plantings in the rows. His prize is $200.

First improvement prize—William M. Churchill, of Depauw, Ind., his wife and two sons, have only been full-fledged farmers for nine years. Churchill began his forestry program on 250 acres to help pay for his son's education. When his second son was born, he added 100 more acres. This year, he harvested over 27,000 board feet of mature timber, while doing extensive timber stand improvement on 40 acres of woodland.

Second improvement prize — John E. Scott, of Murray, Ky., whose woodland is on hilly soil near Kentucky Lake. The local Division of Forestry assisted him in developing his forestry management plan, and Scott has done extensive planting in loblolly pine to curb erosion. Scott is married, and has two children. His prize is $100.

The four top winners and their families will be guests of honor at the annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville, Feb. 15, where they will receive their awards.

'Whatsoever Things'

By DONALD E. WILDMON

Thomas Carlyle lived from 1795 until 1881. He was a Scot essayist and historian. During his lifetime he became one of the world's greatest writers. But he was a human and humans make mistakes.

On October 17, 1826, Carlyle married his secretary Jane Welsh. She was an intelligent, attractive and somewhat temperamental daughter of a well-to-do doctor. They had their quarrels and misunderstandings, but still loved each other dearly. After their marriage, Jane continued to serve as his secretary. After several years of marriage, Jane became ill. Being a hard worker, Carlyle became so absorbed in his writings that he let Jane continue working for several weeks after she became ill. She had cancer, and it was one of the slow growing kind. Finally, she became confined to her bed. Although Carlyle loved her dearly, he very seldom found time to stay with her long. He was busy with his work.

When Jane died they carried her to the cemetery for the service. The day was a miserable day. It was raining hard and the mud was deep. Following the funeral Carlyle went back to his home. He was taking it pretty hard. He went up the stairs to Jane's room and sat down in the chair next to her bed. He sat there thinking about how little time he had spent with her and wishing so much he had a chance to do it differently. Noticing her diary on a table beside the bed, he picked it up and began to read in it.

Suddenly he seemed shocked. He saw it. There, on one page, she had written a single line. "Yesterday he spent an hour with me and it was like being in heaven; I love him so." Something dawned on him that he had not noticed before. He had been too busy to notice that he meant so much to her. He thought of all the times he had gone about his work without thinking about and noticing her.

Then Carlyle turned the page in the diary. There he noticed written some words that broke his heart. "I have listened all day to hear his steps in the hall, but now it is late and I guess he won't come today." Carlyle read a little more in the book. Then he threw it down and ran out of the house. Some of his friends found him at the grave, his face buried in the mud. His eyes were red from weeping. Tears continued to roll down his cheeks. He kept repeating over and over again, "If I had only known, if I had only known." But it was too late for Carlyle. She was dead.

After Jane's death, Carlyle made little attempt to write again. The historian said he lived another 15 years, "weary, bored and a partial recluse."

I tell the story with the hope that you will not make the same mistake. While our loved ones must have the money we make to live, it is the love we have that they really want. Give it now before it is too late.

New Positions Open, EKCEP Announces

MISS TOWLER AND MR. FRAZIER
SAY WEDDING VOWS, DEC. 28

The marriage of Miss Janice Elaine Towler, of Maysville, Ky., to Mr. Gary Keith Frazier, of Martin, Ky., was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of Dec. 28 at the First Presbyterian Church, Maysville. The Rev. J. Otis Pruden officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Evans, of Broadway St., Maysville, and the late Mr. Robert Towler. Mr. Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Frazier, of Martin.

Miss Jo Anne Ray, of Cambridge, Ohio, rendered an organ program of nuptial music and was accompanist to the soloist, Miss Mary Sue Webb, of Hazard.

The bride was dressed in a floor-length empire gown of white satin fashioned with a caloped lace wedding ring collar and long tapering sleeves. Motifs of re-embroidered Alencon lace and sprays of pearls and sequins enhanced the front of the A-line gown and were sprinkled too on her flowing chapel train. Her veil of illusion cascaded from a forward cluster of re-embroidered Alencon lace, and she carried a round bouquet of white rosebuds intermingled with greenery.

Mrs. Sharon Towler Steo, of Morehead, served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids in the candlelight pageant were Miss Janet Lee Risner and Miss Linda Poynter, both of Maysville.

The bridal attendants wore gowns created with tapering sleeves which terminated in ruffles of white lace. Atop their heads were matching blue velvet Dior bows with bouffant face veils. Each carried a nosegay of red and white carnations with red velvet streamers.

Little Miss Debbie Kuehner was the flower girl. Her brother Mike carried the rings on a white satin pillow. They are cousins of the bride and children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kuehner, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The mother of the bride wore a ruby-red velvet dress with accessories to match and a corsage of pale pink rosebuds. The mother of the groom was in gold brocade with gold accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mr. Sherrill L. Frazier, of Martin, served his brother as best man. Ushering the guests were Mr. Robert Towler Jr., of Maysville, brother of the bride, Mr. Larry Natherton, of Morehead, Mr. Tom Osbourn, of Louisville, and Mr. Dennis Hancock, of Columbus, Ohio.

Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Evans. The bride's table was the focal point of the room and it was sheathed with white lace and held the wedding cake. A single long-stemmed red rose stood in a silver bud vase.

Those assisting with the hospitalities were Miss Jane B. Sewell, Miss Elizabeth Ewing, Miss Debbie King and Miss Doris Harney, while Miss Phyllis Coffee was at the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier left on their wedding trip to Miami, Florida. They will reside at 310 Lyons Ave., Morehead.

Mrs. Frazier is a 1966 graduate of Mason County high school and is a junior at Morehead State University where she has an area of concentration in vocal music. She is a member of Chamber Singers, Concert Choir, and Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity for women.

Mr. Frazier is a graduate of Martin high school and received his B.S. and Masters of Arts degrees in Sociology from Morehead State University. He has done work toward his Ph.D. degree at the University of Kentucky. Mr. Frazier is a past member of Blue Key and Phi Delta Kappa, honorary fraternities. He was chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and is now a member of the faculty of Morehead State University in the Department of Sociology.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Frazier were hosts at the rehearsal dinner held in the Florentine Room of Caproni's Restaurant, Maysville.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the November 25 term, 1968, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 20 day of January, 1969, at 10 o'clock, a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd County Court, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain parcel of land, a portion of which was conveyed Willis Conley by deeds recorded in Deed Book 193, Page 516; in Deed Book 193, Page 513; in Deed Book 195, Page 492; in Deed Book 193, Page 513; in Deed Book 195, Page 131; in Deed Book 193, Page 512; in Deed Book 195, Page 374; in Deed Book 193, Page 415; in Deed Book 193, Page 512; in Deed Book 195, Page 375; in Deed Book 195, Page 338; in Deed Book 195, Page 532; in Deed Book 195, Page 337; in Deed Book 193, Page 514. All recorded in the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, and being more particularly described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Floyd county, Kentucky, on Right Beaver Creek in the Martin Addition to the town of Estill, Kentucky.

Being Lots No. 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95 and 96 of the Martin Addition to the town of Estill, Floyd County, Kentucky. "Beginning at a stake joining the property of Buck Vanderpool and running in Eastern direction a distance of 225 feet to a stake; thence in a southern direction a distance of about 70 feet to the state highway; thence a western course a distance of 225 feet to a stake; thence a northern direction a distance of 70 feet to the beginning."

This land is being sold to settle the estate of M. C. Sexton and Susie Sexton.

This is the same land that was conveyed M. C. Sexton and Susie Sexton by deeds recorded in the Floyd County Court Clerk's office, in Deed Book 119, page 171; Deed Book 140, pages 456, 457, 496, 597; Deed Book 141, pages 447, 448; Deed Book 150, page 368; Deed Book 158, pages 384, 394; Deed Book 162, page 617.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 31 day of December, 1968.

THEY, TOO, FOUND IT GOOD ...

One of the three history-making astronauts spoke from the lonely vastness of space last week of the earth and called it "good." He looked back, not in the perspective of time but of distance—over the miles that separated him from his native habitat.

A cartoonist soon thereafter showed the Good Earth as a jumble of wrecked cars, shacks and grime.

But whose fault is it that our world is so abused, except ours? You and I who know better should do better.

BOOTLEGGING IN ROWAN MILLION-DOLLAR TRADE

Morehead, Ky.—According to a spokesman for the Kentucky State Police, an intensive and accurate investigation over a period of time shows that a million dollars worth of alcoholic beverages have been illegally sold in Rowan county in the past year.

As a result of the investigation officers are cracking down on bootlegging in Rowan. The spokesman said the war on bootleggers would continue until bootlegging is stopped or run underground so as to be operative only on a small scale.

The police previously reported that Rowan had been the "most wide open" of any local option county in Kentucky with liquor and beer openly sold through drive around windows at bootleg places.

This was the first time the State Police have issued a statement as to the dollar-and-cents estimate of the illegal traffic. Plain-clothes officers have been investigating in Rowan county for several weeks and made "buys" at alleged illegal establishments.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Sol Crisp gratefully acknowledges the many kindnesses of relatives, friends and neighbors shown them during the illness and upon the death of their brother. We especially thank Dr. James D. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. William Prater and the staff at Mountain Manor Nursing Home, for the care given our loved one; also, Brother Foyle and his sisters, Rev. Robert Martin and Rev. Estill E. Hall for their consoling words, and those who sent flowers and food and assisted in any way. We also appreciate the excellent service of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dorton, of Georgetown, Kentucky, formerly of Floyd county, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lynn, to Mr. Stephen Virgil Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil A. Webb, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Dorton is a graduate of McDowell high school and is a junior at the University of Kentucky. Mr. Webb is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and is a senior at the University of Kentucky.

A spring wedding is planned.

$75 MILLION PAY RAISE FOR TEACHERS IS STUDIED

(In The Courier-Journal)

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) will decide this week-end what to shop for in the 1970 Kentucky Legislature—and $75 million in teachers' raises seems likely to head the list.

The salary proposal would increase state allotments for teacher salaries nearly 20 percent over the levels approved for this school year and next by the 1968 legislature.

It has the endorsement of both the new KEA Legislative Commission and of the older Finance Education and Salary Scheduling Commission, whose advice on money matters have been regularly accepted in the past by KEA delegates.

Approval is again considered likely when the salary proposal is voted on by the KEA Delegate Assembly in a special session Friday night and Saturday in Louisville.

If approved by the KEA delegates and then by the state legislature in 1970, the salary proposal would mean bigger paychecks for all certified teachers in Kentucky. By far the biggest increases would go to teachers with more experience or advanced degrees, or both.

The education lobby believes in drawing up its shopping list early—in plenty of time to use its considerable political leverage to extract commitments before the May primaries and the November election. Half the Kentucky Senate and an entire new House will be on the upcoming ballots. The legislative program developed by the KEA this week-end can be added to or modified in another delegate assembly scheduled for April.

The pay proposal is aimed at salary allotments paid by the state to local school districts, rather than the salaries paid by the local districts to the teachers. Therefore, although there is a direct relationship, it is impossible to give exact figures as to what teachers would earn.

If the proposal were implemented, however, local districts would be getting anywhere from $600 to $2,300 more in allotments per teacher from the state by 1970-71 than they are now, and $700 to $3,000 more by 1971-72 than now. The smaller allotments would be for teachers with only a bachelor's degree and little or no experience, while the larger ones would be paid for teachers with maximum education and experience.

The teachers themselves would pocket all or most of the difference, although individual teachers at the extremes of their district's salary schedule might get somewhat less than the $800-$700 or more than the $2,300-$3,000 since these figures are averages.

TIDITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Why Folk Language?

As a teacher of the English language for more than a half century, I have often wondered at folk language. Sometimes, in my early days, I often thought that the substandard words and expressions that I heard were signs of plain ignorance and probably often said so. A little more maturity plus a lot of reading about language have convinced me that this was a hasty judgment. All of us, in varying degrees, are folkish in our speech, most of all in sentence structure. And rarely do you find a person who does not, accidentally or "a purpose" use effectively some folk word to add flavor to his speech. Somehow, though, most people who want to be regarded as educated feel that it is necessary to offer some sort of apology when they do not "talk like a book."

Language is a very conservative thing. Before we ever learned to use a single sentence of our own language, we had heard thousands of sentences, most of them uniterary but not necessarily bad. Localisms, family queerness of pronunciation, neighborhood standards of speech, and, always in the background, the schools—all these gave us a huge vocabulary that we knew even before we could use a hundred words. We had acquired what the Germans call Sprachgefühl, a sort of "speech-feeling." And, regardless of how many other contacts we may have in long lives, this basic speech and its use will stay with us. Even if we do not use it, we will find ourselves thinking in its patterns and even in its words. Years ago I found out that many fluent people whom I know do not stammer because of fright or nervousness or any other common trouble; they are merely trying to find the right word, often having to start with the substandard one they might have known always and then go through various stages of usage to be sure that the word will fit the idea. I confess to this very disease, and I have had it ever since I learned, in a one-roomed country school, that there are some ways to speak that are better than others.

A second reason for folk speech as a living, persistent thing is the folk's aversion to what seems to be "put-on" or "showing off." Visitors often had words that differed from the ordinary, but, except for fun, the folk rarely use any such words. In fact, it takes a good deal of nerve for a member of the folk to use any language that is very far removed from what he had been used to; he himself is the first obstacle to overcome; his listeners come next. Even the old-fashioned schools, with their very formal English, did little permanent good in language. School-book language was largely a matter of inside-the-schoolroom programs and a sort of unnatural-sounding speech when special company came into the home.

As a teacher of English I must assume some of the long delay in standardizing the speech. I am sure that I, especially in my early days of teaching, spoke a language that was a little too un-folkish. Fortunately, for me, at least, I was entirely away from where I had grown up and was already strange anyway. It has taken me most of my eight decades to learn how to speak easily and correctly, how to keep all the rules of grammar and still sound as if I had not thought it all out in advance. Lots of fun has been poked at the English teacher, with his big words and his elegant style. Some of this is a just criticism, for in the days of elocution we all got caught with language just a little too good for ordinary uses. And the left-over oratory of a century ago appealed to us and gave us high-falutin ways of saying things that would have been much better if said in the plain language with which we had grown up. Frankly, much of my own teaching has been twofold in purpose: 1. to break up undesirable language habits, those that smack too much of illiteracy, and 2. to keep my students' language from becoming pompous and bookish. A great change has come over most of us as the years have gone by; we now wish to hear the simpler, more natural speech, in the ordinary, conversational tones.
