

Lodge Meet Is Arranged By Perkins

New Work Program Set for Discussion In Seminar, Aug. 24

Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced this week that he has planned a meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Aug. 24, for federal and state officials to take part in a day-long seminar designed to clarify provisions of the new Emergency Employment Act, housing and community facilities and environmental control.

The Emergency Employment Act, which was recently signed by President Nixon, authorizes a two-year $2.25-billion program of jobs during time of high unemployment to fill unmet needs for public services in such fields as environmental quality, health care, housing and neighborhood improvements, recreation, education, public safety, maintenance of streets, parks and other public facilities, rural development, transportation, beautification, conservation, crime prevention and control, prison rehabilitation and other areas of human betterment and public improvement.

Congressman Perkins said a formal budget request of $1 billion has been submitted. He said he expects both House and Senate to act on the request promptly.

Congressman Perkins also announced a public meeting at Belfry high school gymnasium, at 12:30 p.m. Aug. 15, for a discussion of black lung legislation.

The Congressman is sponsor of current proposals to improve the black lung benefits section of the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969. His bill, H. R. 9212, recently cleared the House Committee on Education and Labor, of which he is chairman. He expects to take it to the floor of the House of Representatives for a vote within the next few weeks.

Perkins has long been critical of the narrow interpretation placed upon the black lung benefits law by the Federal Social Security Administration.

The Perkins bill would require that an applicant for black lung benefits not be turned down on the basis of X-ray examination alone. Numerous cases have

Reynolds, Campaign Co-Chairman

State Representative W. J. "Bill" Reynolds of Allen, who was active in the primary campaign of former Gov. Bert T. Combs, has been appointed co-chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, it was announced Saturday.

In announcing the appointment, Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston, campaign chairman for the Democratic nominees headed by gubernatorial candidate Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, said:

"I know Bill as a man who has been an effective legislator and a leader of our party. We feel quite fortunate to have a man of his knowledgeable ability and stature to aid in leading a campaign organization which we feel will bring victor to the entire ticket on Nov. 2."

Reynolds is a four-term member of the Kentucky House of Representatives and has served as Democratic caucus chairman, the past two terms.

"I believe Kentuckians have had enough of the heavy-handed tactics of the Republicans. They are tired of reading and listening to news reports of how state employes are being made political pawns and of how state government itself no longer serves Kentucky, but has been made to serve the Republican Party," Reynolds said.

Reynolds is a member of the Church of Christ at Martin and is a World War II veteran. He attended the University of Kentucky and Morehead State University. He is active in civic affairs and has been elected to the Floyd County Hall of Fame for his promotion of the Prestonsburg Community College. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Floyd County PTA Council, and Masonic Lodge.

Campbell County Judge A. J. Jolly and former State Senator Richard L. Frymire, of Madisonville, will serve as co-chairmen with Reynolds.

Would Drop 3,000 From Voting List

The Floyd County Registration and Purgation Board has listed for purgation the names of approximately 3,000 voters, W. B. Boyd, chairman, said last week.

Included in those recommended for purgation are the dead, those who have moved to other voting precincts and women who have not changed their registration after marriage. The list of those proposed for purgation is being published in The Times this week, and any voter who may wish to protest such action may appear before the board, Monday through Friday, next week.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Judy S. Clark and Joe Helton.

Reed Quits Post At Martin; Now Richmond Chief

A. J. Reed, veteran chief of police at Martin, became the new police chief at Richmond, Ky., effective last Thursday.

Hershel Lester, a former Martin police chief, was sworn in as Reed's successor at Martin, Saturday. Mr. Lester has been residing in Dayton, O. in recent years.

Reed's resignation followed 13 years' service as head of the Martin police department. Asked why he left Martin, Mr. Reed told The Times he resigned because city government there was giving him no cooperation, had refused to buy new equipment which he considered needed and that verbal sniping "behind my back" was going on, almost continuously.

He said his relationship with the city administration had deteriorated since his support of his assistant, Bob Hackworth, when the Council attempted to fire Hackworth last year.

At Richmond Reed heads a 27-man police force. The department, in addition to the chief, includes 22 policemen and four dispatchers. Mrs. Reed will join him at Richmond after July 26 when her resignation as a nurse at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, becomes effective.

State Troopers Make 5 Arrests After Rum Raids

Five arrests were made in this county Sunday by state troopers on warrants of arrest and search warrants for intoxicating beverages.

Sgt. Flora and Trooper Bailey arrested Betty Lykins on a warrant alleging illegal sale of intoxicants, and Joe Lykins on a possession count.

Meanwhile, Troopers Rose and Bevins were taking into custody James K. Hall on charges of transporting and possession, and Joe Hopkins on a possession count. They reported to County Judge Henry Stumbo's office that 2,729 cans of beer were confiscated in the arrest of hall. Hopkins, they said, had 103 cans of beer.

The haul taken in the arrest of Lykins was not reported, but troopers estimated the total taken from Lykins, Hopkins and Hall was the equivalent of 175 cases of beer. All four arrested reside in the Harold-Mud Creek section.

The fifth arrest Sunday was that of Cleo Johnson from whose trailer near Buckingham Trooper Rose confiscated 311 cans of beer and 33 half-pints of whiskey.

Bradley Huntley, David Jack Whitaker and Douglas K. Whitaker were jailed here during the week-end by State Troopers Conley and Rose on the charge of breaking

Asks Meet On Program This Month

Details of the proposal for "Decentralized Comprehensive Health Services" for Floyd county which has been submitted by the Eastern Kentucky Welfare Rights Organization (EKWRO) to Dr. Leon Cooper, director of Comprehensive Health Services, Washington, D. C., were supplied The Times this week by Mrs. Eula Hall, head of EKWRO's health committee.

Dr. Cooper has been asked to meet in Lexington this month with potential members of an interim board of directors and with consumers.

The proposal describes the decentralized program as, essentially, a network of decentralized health clinics controlled by an administrative staff—all responsible to a board of directors, and each clinic staff directly responsible to a consumer board of directors for each clinic.

It envisions a program to conform with OEO guidelines.

For the first year, a "blue ribbon" group would act as an interim board of directors, this board to receive both planning funds and the initial grant. At the end of the first year, the interim board would surrender its "grant recipient responsibility" to the new Floyd County Comprehensive Health board of directors, the interim board assuming an "advisory" and "watchdog" role in the continuing program.

The interim board, it is proposed, would be composed of professional and lay people from outside the county, plus six consumers. Then, when the permanent board is established, two-thirds of its membership would be composed of eligible consumers selected from each outpost consumer board. The remaining one-third of the membership would be representatives of social services agencies, health professionals and interested citizens whose participation would not create conflict of interest. Yet the consumer portion of the board would confirm by vote the appointment of any non-consumer to the board.

At first, only two clinics would be operated. One of these would be in the Mud

MEANS OF SUPPORT

When I saw Troy Morgan, back home from Leesburg, Fla., Tuesday morning and noted that he was carrying a cane, and asked him how come, he looked me over, apparently reached some sort of decision as to my need of support, and said, "I brought it to you."

This cane, of Mr. Morgan's own manufacture from a cabbage palm, is still drying out. I am drying up. And it—shudder!—could be that by the time the cane is ready I'll be ready.

OF GOLF—ROUGHLY SPEAKING

Mainly for the record, I report here that my son-in-law, John Heinze, shot a hole-in-one on No. 3 at the Jenny Wiley golf course last Sunday.

The news came as no great surprise to me. I knew, all along, that when he came into the golfing Allen family he would achieve some sort of distinction at the sport.

Long ago distinguished myself on, as they said in those days, the links.

I'm the guy who proved, back in the days when TIME magazine was claiming a baseball doesn't curve, that a smaller ball did, and thus established the hypothesis that if a small ball would describe fancy dippydoodles a larger sphere would also.

Although, as I say, I wasn't surprised by Mr. Heinze's hole-in-one, I am one who recognizes the excellence of such a shot.

22 Acres Added To Site, Second Building Planned

The Floyd County Board of Education has completed its purchase of an additional 22 acres at the site of the Eastern school now under construction, and its architect, George Lee Shannon, has been directed to prepare plans at once for the combination gym-auditorium-music building on the campus there.

Construction of the school building, Phase I of the development there, is expected to be completed by next August, and the building is scheduled for occupancy with the beginning of the 1972-'73 school year. Work on the second structure is planned to start with the completion of this initial project.

The second building will be located to the rear of the school itself and not between the school and KY 80, as originally planned, Supt. Charles Clark said.

Dr. George P. Archer, Prestonsburg mayor, left, and former Governor Bert Combs view portraits at Sunday afternoon opening of art exhibit here.

Combs, Archer Honored at Exhibit

The works of two of Floyd county's most talented artists and the music of some of its most gifted musicians were joined at the Floyd County Library Sunday afternoon in honoring two of the county's outstanding men in a prelude to the opening of an art exhibit featuring the paintings of Mrs. Audrey Mae Cairns, now of Jacksonville, Fla., formerly of Langley, and Russell May, of Prestonsburg.

Honored were Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs and Dr. George P. Archer, major of Prestonsburg. Portraits of the two, painted by Mrs. Cairns, were unveiled during the pre-exhibit program.

One of Russell May's landscape studies was presented to the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here and its patients.

Ex-Governor Combs and Mayor Archer appeared at the function, each unaware that he was to be honored. Combs spoke as a prelude to the unveiling of the portrait of Dr. Archer, and the mayor confessed he had been caught off base, thinking the purpose of his being there was to speak at the unveiling of the Combs portrait.

State Senator Clifford B. Latta, who emceed the program, commented that he and Governor Combs had two things in common: Both have served Prestonsburg as city attorney, and both were defeated at the recent election. Combs added a third common ground for the two: "We both love Prestonsburg and Floyd county," he said.

Speaking of his hopes for the future of the county and for the need of everybody "to leave a few tracks" when they've completed their journey, the former governor paid tribute to the energy, talent and accomplishments of Dr. Archer. "He has done a tremendous amount of good for Prestonsburg, Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky," he said of Mayor Archer.

Quoting the Chinese proverb, which runs, "It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness," he added, "This man has lighted a candle."

Described by Senator Latta in his introduction as "the ramrod here," Dr. Archer expressed pleasure at the large number of young people in the gathering which packed the main library—because, he said, "Bert Combs is a living inspiration to the young people of Eastern Kentucky." He told of the former governor's struggle for an education and his surmounting of all obstacles after schooldays to serve in various capacities, city, federal and state, with distinction.

"He has lit his own candle," Archer said of Combs. "He was a like a Moses for us—he led Eastern Kentucky out of bondage."

The large gathering was welcomed to the library by Mrs. Emma W. May, chairman of the library board. Responding to his introduction, Russell May, who first learned of paint and color as a sign-painter, (See Story No. 2, Page 12)

Health Board To Get Hearing — But Where?

Melvin Goldstein, of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D. C., told County Judge Henry Stumbo Monday in a telephone conversation that the hearing requested by the board of directors of the Floyd County Comprehensive Health Services Program will be granted but expressed doubt that it would be held in Floyd county as requested.

The hearing was asked in an effort to stay the OEO-initiated move to terminate the health program.

Mr. Goldstein told Judge Stumbo that the Floyd group is entitled to a hearing but expressed curiosity about its being held after July 31, the expiration date of the program. Stumbo reminded him that the Office of Health Affairs had only specified that a request for a hearing be made by July 15 and that deadline had been met.

Goldstein said the hearing will probably be held in Washington, since most of the records are there, but Stumbo reminded him it would be difficult to bring to Washington consumers to testify.

He said the directors want to get consumers at the hearing to show that many have benefitted from the health program as operated by the board of directors. Stumbo added that the board wants to know the specific charges Health Affairs has to make against it.

Crusade Start, Good Despite Bad Weather

THE PATRIOTS—Sammy Bodine, Tony Royalty, Terry and Jerry Lester—, who will join the Big Sandy Valley Crusade for Christ during its last three days here, have been singing together since grade-school days at Willisburg, Ky., and have appeared in the Ford Philpot TV feature, "The Story." Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Lester, parents of Terry and Jerry, have written many of the songs in The Patriots' repertoire.

The Big Sandy Valley Crusade for Christ opened here Sunday night to the accompaniment of rolling thunder, and, despite the threat of a storm which broke soon after the beginning of the 7:30 p.m. service, on estimated 1,500 persons attended.

The Crusade will continue through Sunday night, with Dr. Ford Philpot, internationally known evangelist, preaching. The continued threat of rain has resulted in the decision to hold all services in the Prestonsburg high school fieldhouse. The original plan was to use the high school football stadium.

The Crusade is perhaps the most unusual evangelistic effort ever undertaken in this section of Kentucky, particularly so because more than 30 churches have joined in sponsoring the effort.

In addition to the preaching of Dr. Philpot, the music program presented at each meeting has been of unusual quality. A choir of some 300 voices from various churches in the valley, Winston Pike, Jim Smith and the Rainbows, Lexington vocal trio, have featured this phase of the services.

The Patriots Quartet, Willisburg, Ky. students who have appeared in the color TV series, "The Story," and have made many appearances on crusades with Ford Philpot, will participate in the music program the last three days of the Crusade.

Saturday will be Youth Night, with a steak dinner for young people at the football field at 5:30 and music by Jim Smith, Winston Pike and the Patriots. Sam Davis, pilot for the Ford Philpot Evangelistic Association, will be the speaker. The regular service will be at 7:30 p.m., as usual.

The closing Crusade service will be held Sunday evening.

SAMMONS-HAGANS

Arnett-Hatcher Reunion
Slated at Archer Park

The annual reunion of the Arnett-Hatcher families will be held at Archer Park here Sunday, July 25, it is announced. All members of the families and friends are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Halbert, Jr., of Langley, Ky., announce the engagement of Miss Deborah Kay Sammons, daughter of Mrs. Halbert and the late Archie Sammons, to Mr. Paul Donald Hagans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hagans, of Martin, Ky.

Miss Sammons, a graduate of Matyown high school, was graduated with high distinction from Morehead State University, where she was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education society, Cardinal Key, national honor sorority, and president of the Morehead State University Latin Club. Miss Sammons is employed by the Department of Economic Security.

Mr. Hagans, also a graduate of Matyown high school, attended school at Guyan Valley in Branchland, W. Va., and was graduated from Mayo State Vocational School. He served two years with the U. S. Army, with one year of overseas duty in Germany, and attained the rank of Sgt. E-5. He is employed by Elkhorn Industrial Products Corporation.

The gracious custom of open church will be observed when the wedding takes place, August 28, at 7 p.m., at the May Memorial United Methodist Church of Langley. A reception will follow the ceremony in the recreation room of the church.

Judge Retirement Fund Low on Money

The Kentucky judicial retirement system is seriously underfinanced, according to a legislative audit report, and would be in trouble if too many judges died or retired in a short period.

The report was submitted to the Legislative Research Commission recently, and was referred to an interim judiciary committee.

The audit survey indicated that the retirement system needs another $200,000 a year from the state, on top of the $500,000 it already gets annually, to make sure it is solvent for the reasonable future.

The report said the deficit was caused by two pay boosts enacted for circuit and Court of Appeals judges in recent years. Retirement benefits are keyed to salaries.

The General Assembly has guaranteed in its statutes not to reduce benefits, and if there was a strain on the existing fund, the assembly would have to make up the deficit.

Actuarial cost of the judges' benefits is estimated at $940,000 a year and income to the fund from all sources at $750,000.

Goble Honored As Service Ends

Sp-6 Elder V. Goble (right), son of the Rev. and Mrs. Elder K. Goble, of Prestonsburg, was honored by the U. S. Army Engineer Reactors Group, Fort Belvoir, Va., at a ceremony prior to his release from the Army after nearly eight years of service. He is shown here with Lieutenant Colonel Max E. Satchell, deputy director of the USAERG, who presented him with a Certificate of Achievement for his services as an instructor in the electrical training section during the period from July, 1969, to June, 1971.

The citation stated, in part: His outstanding performance is indicated by the many compliments he received from the students and the ease with which the students assimilated the information presented. He was instrumental in fabrication and modification of many of the training aids currently in use in the electrical training section."

A graduate of Prestonsburg high school, Goble entered the Army in 1963 and had served 15 months in Korea and 19 months in Vietnam prior to assignment to the USAERG in 1968. The USAERG operates the SM-1 nuclear power plant and provides training for Army, Navy and Air Force personnel in the operation and maintenance of such plants. During his assignment with the USAERG, Goble resided with his wife, Ella, and son, Jerry, in quarters at Fort Belvoir.

One such pastor was ultimately asked to give up his regular church: his congregation felt that he was degrading the whole church and its people.

A very few grocery stores now have delivery service. There was a time when everything was sent to our houses by the delivery wagons and later by automobiles. Much of the food consumed in those days was ordered by telephone or was read off to the delivery boy, who came around to ask what we needed for that day from his store. You see, carrying bags of groceries was regarded as plebeian in those times. Just think, you might run into some higher-up person and get caught with a paper sack of food in your arms! Horrors, etc.!

A few elderly men still bring vegetables and fruits from the country and sell them on the streets, but this institution is largely of the past. It has been ages since I heard the street cries—some of them worthy of being kept as records of an earlier time and every bit as distinctive as the street cries made a part of PORGY AND BESS. One old fellow I knew in a big town could make his cries about apples make you want his kind of fruit long before you could even see him.

These people and their occupations seem to have left us, along with such distinctive things as the watering trough down by the Central Park; the blind beggar who sang, after a fashion, and had a handy tin cup for whatever you wished to give him; and the queer fellow who sold pencils in dry or wet or hot or cold weather, until he became a symbol of the poor man who still tried to earn a living.

COMPLETES MISSILE COURSE

FT. BLISS, TEX. (AHTNC) JUNE 29—Army Private Curtis Goble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Goble, Star Route, Prestonsburg, recently completed an eight-week Hawk missile crewman course at Ft. Bliss, Texas.

He learned all phases of the firing and tracking systems of The Hawk, which is an intermediate-altitude missile designed to intercept supersonic aircraft at tree-top level.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

"SOME TOWN CHANGES"

Though most of the more than 1800 articles written for this column have been about rural customs and beliefs, I have to confess that it has now been sixty years since I lived in even a small village and longer still since I lived on the farm. But, I suspect, many of the readers of TIDBITS have had the same experience. Certainly a whole new world has grown up since I followed my mule across the field. However, it is quite obvious that conditions have changed, even in good-sized towns and cities. Suppose we look at a few things that have gone or are going.

Where is the ice man? Some day the card we used to put out to tell the ice man whether we wanted 25 or 50 or 100 pounds will be a museum piece. And it may be that, in some good museum will appear a genuine icebox of the older vintage, the kind that we city people knew so well. I just cannot recall when I last saw an ice wagon and its driver, who could call "Ice!" so musically. He would seem as much out of place on the streets now as an ox wagon and its sleepy driver.

I have not seen a house-to-house beggar or tramp in years. Since my simple house used to be the last one in town on our street, we must have had samples of the wandering Willies of that time. They were not all contemptible, either, for some were actually on their way somewhere and stopped just to get a drink of water. We have often offered food to some weary-looking fellow who said he was not begging but merely thirsty or so tired he wished he could just sit down on the porch floor and rest a few minutes. And we felt little or no fear of such a fellow then, but I am afraid that we would be afraid now.

Street preachers used to be known everywhere, in small or large towns. Our own Central Park often had several each season. Sometimes the preacher would be alone; sometimes he would have a song-leader attendant. And casual visitors to town would stop long enough to hear some or even all of a given program, if that is what it should be called. The inevitable hat was passed around, and I rarely saw it return completely empty. Just what the organization was to which the preachers belonged I rarely knew; most of them were mighty condemners of sin, especially in people who lived in fine houses and drove

The Kentucky Department of Child Welfare is seeking to place 100 delinquent children in foster homes. Federal and state funds will be used to pay the foster parents $5.50 a day per child. The children range in age from 11 to 18.

The Kentucky judicial retirement system is seriously underfinanced, according to a legislative report, and needs $200,000—in addition to $500,000 already received—from the state to maintain its solvency for the reasonable future.

Obituaries

Mrs. Juda Hall

Mrs. Juda Hall, 75, of Prestonsburg, died last Wednesday at Prestonsburg General hospital of an apparent heart attack.

Born April 20, 1896, she was a daughter of the late Kenis and Mary Frasure Clark and was the widow of O. C. Hall, Sr. who was at one time Commonwealth's Attorney of the 31st judicial district.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Minnie Spencer, of New London, O., and a niece, Laura Jean Stratton, of Ivel.

Funeral services were conducted at Hall Brothers Funeral chapel. Burial was made in the Lucy Hall cemetery at McDowell.

Forest Halbert

Funeral services for Forrest Halbert, 54, of Toppensh, Wash., who died July 11 in Toppensh, were conducted July 14 at 2 p.m. at Colonial Funeral Chapel, Toppensh under auspices of Toppensh Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Halbert was born July 4, 1917, at Printer and had been a resident of the Yakima Valley for a number of years. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, No. 3 of Detroit, Mich.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Kathleen Halbert, of Toppensh; two daughters, Mrs. Pamela Saunder of Leaburg, Ore., and Miss Teresa Halbert of Toppensh; one son, Forrest D. Halbert, of Toppensh; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Halbert, of Martin; one brother, Denzil Halbert, of Martin, three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Hamilton, of Craynor, Mrs. Esther Reitz and Miss Loretta Halbert, both of Martin.

Kentucky's First Ladies in Miniature

Lexington, July 15 — Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs president, Mrs. Joseph C. Evans, Lexington, has announced that a KFWC Kentucky Heritage Project entitled "Kentucky's First Ladies in Miniature," will be officially presented to the state, September, at Spindletop Hall, Lexington.

Forty-seven dolls depicting the wife or official hostess of Governors of Kentucky from 1792 to the present make up the collection. Each First Lady is dressed in a period gown, designed and made by skilled and interested women throughout the Commonwealth.

Presentation of KFWC project will be part of a cooperative reception, by various federated state organizations of women recognizing Mrs. Louie B. Nunn, wife of the present governor, for her interest on behalf of all Kentuckians in preserving the state's historic heritage.

On September 2, the "Kentucky's First Ladies in Miniature" display will be moved to Frankfort and permanently placed in an area adjoining the State Capitol rotunda.

More than 1,400 servicemen will receive training as cement masons and plasterers at 12 Army Bases in the U. S. under a 16-month, $456,000 Labor Department contract with the Portland Cement Association. The training will lead to 2 and 3-year apprenticeships when the men leave the Army.

Income guides used by the Labor Department to determine eligibility for manpower programs for the poor have been raised by about $200. Now, a family of four, living in the city, qualifies if it has an annual income of less than $3,800. The same size family living on a farm qualifies if its yearly income is less than $3,200.

Working wives constitute the biggest increase in the U. S. work force each year, the Bureau of Labor statistics reports. Some 775,000 wives were among the 1.8 million workers added to the labor force in the latest statistical period, studied, March 1968 to March 1969.

The Secretary of Labor is authorized by the new Occupational Safety and Health Act to require covered employers to record and submit reports on work-related deaths, injuries and illnesses other than those requiring first aid. These records will be used for developing information on the causes and prevention of occupational injuries and illnesses.

Joseph Nelson Miller

Joseph Nelson (Sugar Joe) Miller, 84, of West Prestonsburg, died last Monday at Methodist hospital at Pikeville.

Born May 4, 1887, he was a son of Brack and Lidia Rose Miller. His first wife, Rebecca Bolin Miller, died in 1952.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Gracie Watkins Miller; three sons, John M. Miller, of Mount Sterling, William E. Miller, of Findlay, O., and Chester Miller, of Adrian, Mich.; four step-sons, Nero Watkins, of Mentone, Ind., and George Watkins, of Silver Lake, Ind.; Ashford Conley, of Fritz, Ky., and Claude Frazier, of Warsaw, Ind.; a daughter, Mrs. Cora Miller, of Adrian, Mich.; five step-daughters, Maudie Watkins, of David, Mrs. Ludie Prater, of West Prestonsburg, Mrs. Viola Shepherd, of Dansville, Mich., Mrs. Daisy Bradford and Mrs. Aggie Dotson, both of Silver Lake, Ind.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m., Thursday at Carter Funeral Home by the Rev. William Pope. Burial was made in the West Prestonsburg cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Charles Kratzer, James Linden, Ed, Donald and Kenneth Miller, and Benny Rose.

CHARLES E. WAKELAND

Charles E. Wakeland, 52, of Chicago, Ill., formerly of Virgie, died last Tuesday at Veterans hospital at Hines, Ill.

A native of Pike county, he was a son of the late John and Dulcinea Roberts Wakeland. He was a veteran of World War II and was employed as a steel mill worker.

Surviving him is his widow, Mrs. Ruby Robinson Wakeland; two sons and four daughters. Among the other survivors is a brother, Earl V. Wakeland, of Dana.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m., Saturday, at the Free Will Baptist church in Pikeville. Burial was made in Johnson Memorial Park there.

INFANT IS VICTIM

The day-old infant son of Joe and Joan Kidd Inis, of Honaker, died Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital. Besides the parents, three brothers also survive. Graveside services were conducted at the Kidd cemetery where burial was made under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

One Way Toward a Solution

(Excerpted from an article by Martha Wright for the American Wildlife Federation)

As America muddles deeper into the environmental decade it is becoming clear that technology will not solve all our environmental problems. Many solutions will require changes in philosophies, attitudes and life styles.

But there are other problems, difficult ones too, which technology can solve if applied with the fervor the problems demand. To illustrate, consider the automobile.

The automobile with its internal combustion engine is responsible for at least 60 percent of air pollution in the United States. In some urban areas it causes up to 90 percent of the air pollution. That air pollution is killing people. The internal combustion engine fed on fossil fuel burns an irreplaceable natural resource which the petroleum industry predicts will be exhausted within the next century.

None of this is news. But what is American technology doing about it?

In May, auto industry representatives told Environmental Protection Agency Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus that they doubted they could clean up their cars enough to meet 1975 standards set last year by Congress. But while they were making their gloomy forecasts in Washington, in Hollywood, Florida, an engineer-inventor named Morris Klein was putting the finishing touches on plans for a new fuel system. Klein's system, which he already has installed in his own Chevrolet stationwagon and Ford van, emits no pollution. Absolutely no poisons come out the tailpipes of his cars. The gas coming out is water vapor—H₂O, because Klein has modified Detroit's internal combustion engines to run on hydrogen gas.

Why hydrogen? Why not, says Klein. It's plentiful (two-thirds of the earth is water and two-thirds of water is hydrogen) and cheap and not nearly so dangerous as gasoline. Hydrogen has an octane rating of 120 plus, Klein says it's lots cheaper than gasoline. Engines that use it can be simpler and the engine and muffler will last longer.

Klein says any gasoline-burning internal combustion engine can be modified to burn hydrogen at a cost of about $300. It would be simpler, he says, to manufacture the engines on an assembly line. Since you don't need a carburetor, fuel pump or manifold, Klein points out, the engine itself could be cheaper, although he notes that the Detroit manufacturers could produce his car and "their margin of profit would be protected."

The chemical warfare waged on the American people by their very own automobiles helps make air pollution the most serious of the environmental disasters threatening the nation. So many people are dying, in fact, that the statisticians are calling the people who would be alive if the air were clean "excess deaths."

The principle air pollutants causing illness, death and property damage are sulphur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, particulates, hydrocarbons, and photo-chemical oxidants. Of these the automobile is responsible for large portions of hydrocarbons nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide and particulates. Other dangerous materials such as lead find their way into the atmosphere and lungs via the automobile.

These compounds are dangerous. Carbon monoxide combines with hemoglobin in blood cells and kills outright when inhaled in quantity. Long term exposure to lower levels results in blood thickening and faster heart beat, both put additional strain on the heart. One study found mortality rates from arteriosclerotic heart disease and cerebrovascular disease to be 79 percent higher in polluted areas than in those with relatively clean air.

Nitrogen oxides in smog cause and aggravate emphysema which is now the fastest growing cause of death in the United States. Hydrocarbons are considered a major factor in the astonishing rise in lung cancer in urban areas during the past half century.

For those who like to convert lives saved and illnesses averted into dollars and cents, two scientists concluded in 1970 that 50 percent reduction in air pollution levels in major urban areas would save $2080 million annually in terms of decreased morbidity and mortality.

Those same scientists, Lester B. Lave and Eugene P. Seskin, also concluded that "approximately 25 percent of the mortality from lung cancer can be saved by a 50 percent reduction in air pollution...25 percent of morbidity and mortality due to respiratory disease could be saved...over 20 percent of cardiovascular morbidity and about 20 percent of cardiovascular mortality could be saved...Finally there is a good deal of evidence connecting all mortality from cancer with air pollution."

But the automobile isn't necessarily the real culprit. Some, like Morris Klein, wouldn't even say it's the internal combustion engine. Klein says it's the fuel. Petroleum is an impure fuel to begin with, he says, so you can't help getting poisons when you burn it.

The average, uncontrolled gasoline-burning automobile emits 900 parts per million (ppm) hydrocarbons, 1500 ppm nitrogen oxides, and 2.5 percent carbon monoxide. The hydrogen auto emits none.

Hydrogen is produced by electrolysis—a method of separating oxygen and hydrogen in water with a charge of electricity. One hydrogen manufacturer says it sells electrolysis-produced hydrogen for 55-60 cents per 100 cubic feet. Hydrogen is also a by-product of petroleum refining (the flame always burning at petroleum refineries is hydrogen). When purchased as a petroleum by-product the cost drops to 30 to 35 cents per 100 cubic feet. Klein says enough hydrogen to drive 100 miles costs him about 40 cents.

Current producers of hydrogen say they could step up production to meet a national demand if large numbers of automobiles began running on hydrogen. And service stations that now sell gasoline could be converted to sell hydrogen.

The oil industry is warning the nation that insatiable demands for oil will exhaust known reserves within the next century. To prevent a national emergency, the oil companies say they must drill offshore around the nation, pipe oil across the Alaska wilderness and ship it in from abroad. The dangers of oil pollution on the seas is wellknown and the potential dangers of an oil pipeline across Alaska are just beginning to be recognized. Off-shore drilling presents its own special problems as the people of Santa Barbara can testify.

The industry is on notice from EPA Administrator Ruckelshaus that if any of the manufacturers can meet the standards, he will not grant to any others the one year extension of the deadline provided for in the law. He has also warned the industry that not only technical feasibility will be considered in granting an extension. It also must be shown that the attempt to meet the standards was made in good faith.

The auto industry, which has predicted failure in its attempts to clean up its engines by 90 percent in 1975, is also saying that its only hope of doing so are add-on devices that require unleaded gasoline in order to run properly.

Meanwhile, outside Detroit, several "unconventional" vehicles are being driven or developed. Morris Klein's hydrogen car is the cleanest as most of the others run on some form of petroleum. All the others, however, meet the 1975 standards. And they meet them today.

In Ambler, Pennsylvania, the Williams brothers have perfected a Rankine Cycle engine, or steam car. The Williams' external combustion engine, which they have brought to Washington to show it can be done, has been running with very low emission levels for 10 years. The Williams brothers' auto burns kerosene.

In Florida, inventor Wallace Minto is building prototypes of a freeon-powered engine for Nissan, the Japanese auto firm that manufactures Datsuns. Minto's car, too, burns kerosene in an external combustion engine. Minto sold his invention to Nissan after the Detroit manufacturers told him they weren't interested.

In Silver Spring, Maryland, scientists with government money are experimenting with a car that runs on a fly-wheel principle. Although it is called the "wind-up" car by some, flywheels powered busses in Switzerland during the 1930's. The flywheel is wound by electricity when the car is parked. Then the flywheel is reversed and unwinds to power the car.

Inventor William Lear of Learjet fame has invested millions in developing gas turbines that might be useful in autos and

Youngsters Zero-In on Ringtops

All the ringtops from cans, soft-drink and otherwise, haven't been cleared from the vicinity of May Lodge at Jenny Wiley State Park, but there are 6,400 fewer now than when a cleanup contest was staged there over a period of four days recently.

Miss Jacqueline Turner, recreation leader at the park (shown in photo with the week's accumulation of ring-tops), offered youngsters 12 years of age and under a daily prize for the most rings brought to her. Only 10 children participated, but the hunting was good.

This week, the contest involves collecting candy wrappers. A different contest is being planned each week by Miss Turner, and each will have cleanup as its aim. Commenting on the litter that accumulates at various parts of the park, wherever people gather, Miss Turner said, "It's pathetic. You couldn't employ enough people to clean it all up. But what we're doing helps."

You don't see too many pictures like this because we really never pictured ourselves this way.

For the past 23 years, while just about every other car company has been feeling the pulse of the nation and changing the looks of their cars accordingly, we've been fixing the inside of our little car just so you wouldn't have to have it fixed so often.

The result is that today, there's not one single part on a '71 Volkswagen that hasn't been improved at least once.

Recently, a top level executive from a big automotive firm summed up our position on the subject for us: (And we quote.)

"Consumers today are more interested in quality, low cost of operation and durability, and less interested in styling, power and performance."

That's new top level thinking?

Our top level thinkers have been thinking that way since 1949.

WED IN JUNE 20 CEREMONY

Miss Diana Hackworth and Randall E. Hunsucker spoke their marriage vows in a 2 p.m. ceremony on June 20.

The Rev. Garland Bland officiated at the exchange of vows. A prelude of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, organist, and Richard Allen, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hackworth, of Rt. 4, Prestonsburg. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Hunsucker of 604 Copeland Drive, High Point, N. C., and the late G. C. Hunsucker.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie styled with a crescent waistline, high neckline and full bishop sleeves. Chantilly lace highlighted the bodice and formed the cuffs for her long sleeves. Appliques were repeated on the softly gathered skirt which extended to chapel length. She added a petal headpiece of lace and seed pearls holding a waist-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white beauty roses and stephanotis.

Honor attendant was Mrs. Nancy Hackworth.

Bridesmaids included Alice Ann Hackworth, Carol Mace and Janet Johnson. They wore gowns of lavender dotted swiss with white daisy accents. They added white garden hats highlighted with lavender ribbon streamers and they carried baskets of daisies, bachelor buttons and gypsophila.

The bridegroom's brother, Phil Hunsucker, was best man.

Ushers were Jerry Sprague, Mac White and Forrest Hackworth.

The bride was graduated from Morehead State University. She taught last year in the High Point, N. C. school system and will teach next fall in the Goldsboro, N. C. city schools.

The bridegroom is serving with the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Seymour Johnson AFB. He plans to enter aeronautical school after completing his tour of duty.

The newlyweds will reside in Goldsboro, N. C.

most certainly would be useful in trucks. Lear is complaining that he offered his expertise to the Federal Government and no one would listen to him.

The Japanese firm Mitsubishi is also developing hydrogen-powered vehicles. A representative of that firm visited Morris Klein after he applied for a Japanese patent on his system and told him they were "surprised" any American was so far along with hydrogen technology. He intimated that Mitsubishi was nearly ready to market such a vehicle.

The Japanese, who bought Wallace Minto's freon engine design and are working out their own hydrogen system, are showing a great innovative spirit in the field of vehicle propulsion. And if the Japanese perfect their devices and get them on the American market before 1975, the United Auto Workers may wish very much the American auto industry had been more enthusiastic and imaginative about the development of home-grown pollution control devices.

So what is the U. S. waiting for? For the largest industry in the world to alter its assembly-line to produce an auto that would run on hydrogen maybe? Cleaning up the auto is a difficult task that will require the full commitment of the automobile industry. But the auto industry is used to meeting difficult challenges as it has demonstrated often, and most notably 30 years ago when it retooled for war production in the face of a national emergency. Air pollution in America is also a national emergency and is taking lives as surely as any war.

How embarrassing if another country were to beat the greatest nation in the world in mass producing a non-polluting automobile. How embarrassing if that technology had been sitting right here under our very noses all along.

And how embarrassing for government officials, in the face of citizen demands for clean air, to close their eyes to innovations going on all over the country and acceding to the auto industry's apparent inertia and gloomy defense of the petroleum-powered internal combustion engine.

LETTERS To The Editor

APOLOGY

The Maytown Homecoming Association apologizes because the date of the 1971 Homecoming conflicts with the Philpot Crusade, but the Homecoming dates were set Oct. 1, 1968. Hundreds of invitations to it were mailed every Maytownite on file in both Jan. 1970 and again in 1971, so no change could be made.

As an example, both rehearsals of the Homecoming Pageant come on Crusade nights because the pageant director had to go on vacation this past week. Such things are unavoidable but deeply regretted, nevertheless.

We likewise express regret that the Cairns-May Art Exhibit dates conflict but that, too, was planned over two years ago. Mr. Hall, regional librarian, promised use of the Emma May Cultural Center eighteen months before it was completed. Of course, the Art Exhibit is a daytime function, but various leaders in these events could and would have been more active in the Crusade, had they known in advance of it.

Mandatory pre-school registration of children at the age of three is one of the ideas now being considered by the Kentucky Task Force on Exceptional Children. Such early screening would allow a school system to plan three years in advance what special facilities would be needed for exceptional children, a task force spokesman said.

Reynolds To Head Education Program For Cancer Society

James Reynolds, of Harrodsburg, arrived here last week to assume his duties as area representative of the American Cancer Society.

He will conduct an educational program in this county, working through the Floyd County Board of Education, churches, civic clubs and other groups.

One of his first public appearances locally was at last Thursday's meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, and the club adopted a resolution pledging its support in every way possible to the educational program that has been planned. Mr. Reynolds said he will supply films, speakers and literature to any group requesting information through such sources.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have moved to the Hyden motor court, near Branham Village. Mrs. Reynolds is a surgical technician.

CHICAGO HOMICIDE RATE FLUCTUATES UP AND DOWN

CHICAGO (AP)—Homicides went up 6 per cent to 56 during March, the Chicago police department reports, but the three-month period since Jan. 1 shows decrease of .9 per cent.

Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. said burglary was up 15.6 per cent and robbery was up 1.8 per cent.

On Leaving "It" Out Of The Paper

By John L. Crawford (In the Corbin Tribune)

Newspaper work, for the most part, is pleasant. It offers an opportunity for service to your community, and a means of livelihood if you work hard enough. It challenges you anew each day, because each edition of the paper is a fresh chapter in the running history of mankind. It is both creative and factual. It requires craftsmanship of the highest order from every member of the staff from both front office and back shop. At the end of the day you can feel a sense of satisfaction and accomplishment in the knowledge that you have been a part of the force that has created a living story from cold type and a sheet of paper.

But there is one phase of newspaper work that is a never-ending source of worry to me: The news story that somebody wants us to hold out of the paper. It may be a story about a drunken driver who may lose his job, a married man who has been caught in an unfavorable situation with somebody else's woman, a respected citizen who has let his greed trap him into dishonest action, or any one of a hundred sins that are common to frail mankind. Over and over again, we have requests to leave this or that story "out of the paper." The good Lord knows we'd rather leave these stories out than print them. We'd like to print nothing but "Good news" every day of the year.

But what kind of a newspaper would that be? And how true a mirror of the life of the community would it be? Because, as you know, people are going to commit crimes as long as they let the devil influence their lives. If these crimes are not recorded fairly and accurately, their impact upon the people will be even more alarming, because they will become inflated out of proportion and rumors will run wild. Too, the mere fact that reports of crime will be published tends to discourage the act itself. Many an individual has been kept from committing a crime because he did not want to be branded as a criminal. The human heart is a mysterious thing. It harbors thoughts that could make criminals of most of us, if left without discipline.

You remember, too, that the best job of reporting that the world has ever known is to be found in the Bible. It gives facts and calls names. It has no "sacred cows" within its pages. Its great characters are praised for their good deeds and condemned for their sins. It is a perfect example of factual reporting. Any individual desiring to be a newspaperman could study with profit this angle of the Holy Writ... So we come back to the problem of deciding what to publish and what not to publish, in a newspaper. Our creed at the Times-Tribune is a simple one: If it is a court record, the people are entitled to know it. We do not publish rumors, gossip, petty items. We do not strive for sensationalism. We do not crusade. We merely publish the news as accurately and fairly as we can, human frailties and errors considered; and leave the judging to the courts.

VISIT RELATIVES

Wayland, Ky.—Tom R. Martin, of Williamsburg, O., was in Prestonsburg Friday on business while he and his daughter, Kathryn, were visiting his sister, Mrs. Opal Burchett, and family, at Emma. Earl Martin, of Middletown, O., visited his sister, Mrs. James Flanery, of Allen, last week and was the Sunday dinner guest of his niece, Mrs. Opal Burchett. The family spent Sunday afternoon at the old home place at Wayland, visiting Mrs. Kathryn Martin.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our gratitude to our neighbors, friends and relatives who expressed their sympathy in so many ways at the passing of our beloved daughter and sister, Elsie Little King; to all the people who sent flowers and food and helped in so many ways; the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its service and kindness, and the Old Regular Baptist ministers who forgot their own needs and drove many miles to comfort us. Many thanks.

Mountain Parkway Revenues Increase During Fiscal Year

The Mountain Parkway, Winchester to Campton, and its extension showed increases in revenues during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

Only the Bluegrass Parkway and the Western Kentucky Parkway extension were down in revenues from the preceding year.

The fiscal year earnings for the Mountain Parkway were $1,261,792, up 6 per cent over the preceding year. The Mountain Parkway extension earned $496,835 for a 5 per cent increase.

Altogether, Kentucky's tollroad system grossed $15,586,942 for the year.

Holds National Post

Dr. Z. S. Dickerson, Jr., native Prestonsburg man, was elected vice-president of the National Business Education Association at the NBEA convention in Chicago recently. Dr. Dickerson, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. S. Dickerson, Sr., of Prestonsburg, was graduated from Prestonsburg high school in 1938, and is now a member of the faculty of Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia. After graduating from Eastern Kentucky State University, Richmond, he did a tour of Army duty, then resumed study at the University of Kentucky, where he earned his Ph. D.

He is a past vice-president of the Southern Business Education Association. His present national office places him in line to the presidency of the NBEA. Before going to Madison College, he was at Florence, Ala., where he taught business education.

Slaying of Woman In Pike Unsolved

State Detective Chester D. Potter, of Prestonsburg, who has been involved in the investigation of the slaying July 12 at Meta, Pike county, of 60-year-old Gladys Blanche Deskins, said Tuesday no solution of the mystery-slaying has been reached.

Asked if any clues have been uncovered, he said, "Let's say, we have made no arrest."

Mrs. Deskins was shot in the head and had been stabbed 11 times in her back. Her body was discovered after she had failed to appear in court in a divorce case.

Creek section—serving an estimated 8,000 persons. Location of the second was not specified.

Preventive medicine by means of mass community education, home visits and social services; rehabilitative therapy for disabled miners and others; diagnostic workups for those applying for black lung and other benefits; operation of ambulance services; employment of two doctors, a dentist and a dental hygienist at each of the two clinics, and the establishing of a pharmacy and laboratory—these are among the plans outlined.

Two hospitals in the county—Our Lady of the Way at Martin and McDowell Appalachian Regional—have agreed to serve as backup facilities for the program, Mrs. Hall told Dr. Cooper.

A "model" health clinic is proposed for the Mud Creek section.

The proposal estimates that the cost of operating two fully equipped and staffed clinics would be $1,849,500 a year but that 20 per cent of this amount would be reimbursed through third-party payments such as Miners' Welfare, Blue Cross, Medicaid and others.

Costliest single items in the tentative budget would be $200,000 for drugs and medical supplies and $100,000 for X-ray and laboratories.

The staff for one clinic would cost an estimated $186,000 a year. This is broken down, as follows:

Medical director, $25,000; administrative assistant, $10,000 two doctors, $22,000 each, or three nurse practitioners; dentist, $22,000; dental hygienist, $7,000; three nurses at $9,500 each; physical therapist, $12,000; social service coordinator, $9,500; two social workers, $8,500 each; education director, $9,000.

The salary of the program director was placed at $12,000 a year, with an assistant at $9,000.

said of his work: "I paint places and scenes where I would like to be where I think you would want to be—places that are clean, beautiful, unpolluted..."

Mrs. Cairns was introduced by Rondal E. Hayes, of Hueysville, her classmate at Maytown high school, and he paid tribute not only to her ability but also to her tenacity of purpose.

Both artists mentioned the work of Mrs. Wilma G. May, of Langley, who spearheaded the preparations for the exhibit. The function here was co-sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club and the Maytown Homecoming Association. The latter has been busy, meanwhile, with its preparations for Maytown's homecoming this week-end.

The music program included numbers by alumni of the Prestonsburg high school chorus, the Baptist youth choir, the Jenny Wiley Chanters and the Betsy Layne instrumental ensemble.

The invocation was spoken by the Rev. William Pope, pastor of the First United Methodist Church here.

The fact is, on the few occasions when I hit a green in one and didn't bounce off into the nearest sand trap or brush pile, I bought drinks (of the soft variety) all around.

This reminds me that the main difference between Lee Trevino and me is this: Super Mex fishes a rubber snake out of his pocket and hoists it on his club. I deal in the real, live variety out there in the tall and uncut where that slice of mine so often takes me.

Did you hear of the blacksnake that had a nervous breakdown when he found that those eggs he had been swallowing were golf balls?

BOND ON THE ATTACK

This fellow J. D. Bond, who has wandered away from home all the way to Derwood, Md., hangs on tenaciously to the old, Mountain tenacity. He isn't one to give up, you might say.

Last year, he nominated yours truly to the honorable, if not ancient, office of National Poke Warden, and got me embroiled, momentarily, in a spirited campaign. But my candidacy must have been born on Salt River. It never got off the ground. They either let the old warden stay on, or eliminated the office, or elected a new warden without announcing the vote. Anyway, I am not Poke Warden, am resigned to my fate and willing to let the Eastern Establishment, headed by Mr. Phillip H. Love, of the Washington (D. C.) Evening Star, have it, and good riddance, and so on.

But not this man Bond. He has started a letter-writing campaign, and the one letter he has succeeded in inditing, to date, is addressed to Mr. Love. With all the indignation expressed by the boys who called on General Gage after his troops had torn up their skating place on Boston Commons, he asks:

"Pray, what is to become of practical politics in the communes of Pokesalleteering if such statesmanship as ours is denied its just dues? Might justice be served by a Pokeberry-juice-signed petition for a recount of the vote (s, if plural) that put another in that honored position?"

This is the man for whom I had reserved that special spot in my cabinet if elected Poke Warden. I tabbed him for the position—and I stand by my guns, or my choice—of Pokemaster General.

BOATING ACCIDENTS DECLINING

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Boating accidents in the United States continue to decline, reports the U. S. Coast Guard.

Boating accidents in 1970 totaled 3,803. In 1969 the total was 4,067 while in 1966 the figure was 4,350.

However, fatal accidents were on the rise. There were 1,132 boating deaths in 1970 as compared to 1,058 in 1969.

The above is a likeness of the plaque bearing the names of Floyd county's war dead as it will appear on the Floyd County War Memorial at Archer Park. Family members or relatives are asked to check the names for possible mistakes. The plaque will be cast within four weeks, so it is imperative that errors, if any, be reported as soon as possible in order that necessary corrections may be made.

WON'T YOU PLEASE CONTRIBUTE TO THE MEMORIAL FUND?

Our Goal — $30,000.00
Raised To Date — $10,476.83
Yet To Raise — $19,523.17

Money for the War Memorial must be raised by private subscription, as no federal funds are available for this type of project. Below are the names of individuals and firms that have thus far contributed to the Memorial fund . . .

All Contributions Are Tax Deductible.

FLOYD COUNTY WAR MEMORIAL: ARCHER PARK, PRESTONSBURG, KY.

Contributions may be mailed to: Floyd County War Memorial, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653

Special Recognition for War Dead Possible . . .

Special plaques to be attached to individual flagpoles are available for recognition of War Dead. Any person interested in according this honor to a loved one may do so at a cost of $115. Only one plaque may be attached to each flagpole.

Work on the Memorial is going smoothly, at present. The wall which will bear the plaque has already been constructed; the 50 flagpoles have been erected, and the fountain has been purchased and paid for and is in the process of being installed. Help us see that work does not falter, that the project is carried through to completion. A contribution in any amount will be greatly appreciated.

Floyd County Registration and Purgation Board

The following have been recommended for purgation from the voting lists in the precinct under which their names appear. The Registration and Purgation Board will be in session at the courthouse in Prestonsburg, Ky., July 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30, 1971, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., and any voter who may wish to protest purgation of his or her name from the voting lists should appear before said Board during that period.

Candidates Slated To Speak August 5 At KEA Conference

Candidates for governor and state superintendent of public instruction will speak August 5 at the opening session of the annual leadership conference of the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) at Eastern Kentucky State University, Richmond.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. at Donovan Laboratory School, with KEA president Claude Purvis, of Louisville, presiding. About 300 educators are expected to attend.

Also scheduled for the opening day of the three-day meeting is a discussion of the National Education Association (NEA) report, "Education in Kentucky: A Legacy of Unkept Promise."

Paul Haubner, hearing examiner for the NEA committee that conducted the investigation on which the report is based, will summarize the document. Haubner, of Washington, D. C., is senior staff associate of the NEA Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities (PR&R), which published the report in late May.

Seminars on 10 topics are scheduled for August 6 and 7. The subjects will cover membership, local association management, human relations, instruction, public relations, special services, theory and application of group processes, political involvement, governance and accountability, and negotiation, teacher rights, and grievances.

Ken Melley, who heads the UniServ program whereby NEA, local associations, and state associations jointly finance field services to locals, will speak at 8:15 p.m., August 6.

Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, will speak August 7 at the closing luncheon.

Invitation to Bid

The Floyd County Board of Education will offer for sale to the highest bidder, until August 7, 1971, 12 noon, the following property:

Left Fork of Beaver, Skull School grounds, Weeksbury, Ky., containing three acres, more or less, recorded in Deed Book 112 at Page 458.

Bid should be sealed and clearly marked on outside, "Bid Skull School Grounds."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

NIGHTTIME IS QUIET—AND RIGHT—TIME FOR SUMMERTIME FISHING

It is the consensus among novice fishermen that this is not the time of year to catch black bass in either large size or numbers. The water is too hot and clear, boating activities are at their peak, bass are less active in feeding and the sun too hot, they say, for good black bass fishing.

It's obviously true that all those conditions do exist now, but there are a few fishermen catching limit strings of bass, and big ones at that.

Why is the majority not having the luck that the lesser group is experiencing? It's very simple. The boys "in the know" are resting during the day, relaxing in air-conditioned motel and resort rooms, awaiting nightfall when the lake waters are once again quiet. So quiet in fact, many times one may fish all night and hear only the distant drone of an outboard motor as another night fisherman heads for his favorite cove or point.

Most bass fishermen who apply their skills to night fishing use deep-running, bottom bouncing lures. Many are of the lead head variety with hair bucktails, garnished with a pork rind eel. Others have similar lures except that large spinning blades have been added. Still others employ artificial nightcrawlers on the bottom, crawling them along to tease a bass in to striking.

For the most part black bass are found in two main areas during the quiet and restful period of night.

Many anglers choose to fish the points. There they try casting both directions—not only to the bank but into the deeper water as well. At times point casters will spend close to an hour before giving up on one point and moving to another.

Bass also are found on those deep banks where dropoffs and stump beds are found. There, too, much time is spent just locating the feeding bass.

It isn't too uncommon, once a school of bass is located, for several bass or even a limit to be taken from one point, stump bed or dropoff.

Bass fishermen who have discovered the advantages of night fishing this time of year, fishing those bottom bouncers slow and easy, are reaping good results for their efforts.

One who has not experienced such an outing should get with one of the "pros" and learn the tricks before venturing out alone.

Too, there are licensed guides available in many areas who are able to get a fisherman into some of this night bass fishing—possibly the best that the novice has ever experienced.

The state Department of Finance has closed a deal for purchase of the Mary Todd Lincoln Home in Lexington for $12,000. The structure, built in 1818, will be dismantled, brick by brick, and reconstructed at Waveland, near Lexington, as a state shrine.

If our bug is too small and our box is too big, how about something in-between?

The Volkswagen Squareback. It's as economical to run as our little bug. And just about as easy to park. Because outside, it's about the same size as our bug. But inside, it's more like our box. It can seat 4. Plus hold just about 50% more luggage than the biggest domestic sedan. (Over twice as much if you fold down its back seat.) The Volkswagen Squareback: Not too small, not too big. Revival Date Changed

The Rev. Lee Caudill, of Louisville, announces the change in date for the revival in the home of the missionaries at Eastern from August 8 to August 1, to accommodate the evangelistic singer, Rev. Bob Blake, of Rising Sun, Indiana. The evangelist says the meeting will start Sunday, August 1.

The Rev. Caudill, native of Maytown and alumnus of Maytown high school, finished school at Baylor University and holds the Master of Theology degree from Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, where he is now studying for the Master's degree in Religious Education. He is the son of Mrs. Minnie Howell of Maytown, and formerly pastored the Baptist Church, Versailles, Indiana.

The public is invited to all services. The same team conducted a successful revival at Eastern last summer. Rev. Caudill is in the Naval Reserve as a chaplain.

Patient (back to camera) arriving by bus to attend the Jenny Wiley State Park mental health picnic is being greeted by Mrs. Garnet Fairchild, Floyd County Mental Health Association member (facing patient), Richard Stai, Region 20 mental health director, and Mrs. Marilyn Blount (right), the Kentucky Department of Mental Health.

Picnic, a 'First' for Kentucky

The picnic held July 13 at the former Girl Scout camp in Jenny Wiley State Park for mental health patients was the first of its kind in Kentucky, it was said here by representatives of the sponsoring agencies, the Floyd County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Association and Eastern State Hospital.

Patients were transported by bus back to their home county from Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, for the occasion. In all, 125 persons attended the picnic. Among these were 21 patients, 51 members of patients' families and 33 staff members of the sponsoring agencies.

Many of the patients who came to the park for the event had not been in the county in years. Association members and professional mental health workers expressed the belief that the outing contributed much to the care and treatment of patients. It was indicated that similar outings will be sponsored elsewhere in the state.

THIRD REUNION HELD

The third annual Williams family reunion was held Sunday, July 11, at the home of Mrs. Millie Hackworth, of West Prestonsburg, with 52 attending. After a picnic lunch on the lawn, prizes were given to the oldest, Mr. Albert Prater, 81; the youngest, Mathew Ramey 2 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramey; the family coming the greatest distance to attend, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Wright; the largest family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramey, 8 children.

Miss Ann Williams, of Prestonsburg, went home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Williams, of Alger, Ohio, to spend her vacation.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Edwina Ousley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ousley, of the Middle Creek road, has returned home from Children's Hospital, Cincinnati, where she underwent surgery recently. She wishes to thank everyone who sent her cards, flowers and other gifts which she appreciated.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Condition of Henry Music, who was taken last Tuesday to a Lexington hospital for treatment after he had been stricken ill suddenly at his home here, is improved and he is expected to return home this week.

Phillie Jim Bunning pitched his first major league game 16 years ago for the Detroit Tigers and lost to Baltimore 6-3.

Summer—Time for a Drink Of Wildflower Beauty

WEST LIBERTY, Ky.—I complained because of the weeds, then one morning the weeds had blooms—exquisite flowers that had color nuances of palest lavender to brightest blue. Clay county chicory seemed bluest—a bright ultramarine or electric blue—until the same color showed up in Rowan county flowers.

Chicory blue will tint the Kentucky landscape from now until late autumn. It is an abundant flower, edging roadsides for mile after mile. Because of its abundance, I stopped one morning in Johnson county to gather a bouquet, but almost immediately the blooms began to close and the bright circles of blue disappeared.

A great part of Kentucky's beauty and glow is in her wildflowers, and being something of a novice in identifying these bits of color that sometimes spread to make great patches of blue or yellow or pink on hillside and meadow I find the book, "A Guide to the Wildflowers and Ferns of Kentucky," invaluable.

Most people who love the hills as I do already know much about wildflowers. Their knowledge is that of experience and living and working close to earth, rather than that gained from books, classes and field trips.

But for those who are more or less bound to a typewriter, office, home or car, a book is a must. Not everyone can live next door to Nevyle Shackelford, Roger Barbour or Mary Wharton, but everyone can read their books and articles on flowers and things of nature. Miss Wharton, professor and chairman of the department of biology at Georgetown College, and Mr. Barbour, professor of zoology at the University of Kentucky, collaborated on the guide to wildflowers and ferns which was published this year by The University Press.

Back in the spring while spending a day at Robinson Forest in Breathitt County, immense patches of blue covered steep hillsides and edged outcroppings of cliffs and rocks. Wild blue phlox seemed to be competing with a blue sky to make Eastern Kentucky beautiful after a hard winter, and a forest fire that had blackened wide areas.

Seeing thick carpets of blue phlox on Troublesome and Buckhorn Creeks reminded me of a passage from Nevyle Shackelford's booklet, "Wildflowers of Kentucky," published by UK's Cooperative Extension Service. The Beattyville writer had described the swift-passing summer and its star-shaped rose pinks observed on

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Grethel Homemakers Club held a special meeting July 14 at the John M. Stumbo school. The president, Cosetta Newsome, presided, and the devotional was given by Miss Brenda Lee Hall. Mrs. Joyce Hall presided over the members with a game. Lesson for the month was "Making Wishing Wells", presented by Mrs. Avalia Hall. A new member this month is Lizzie Gillespie, of Grethel. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Oval Martin, Patricia Newsome and Glenna Evans.

Advertisement for Bids

Sealed proposals will be received by the Floyd County Board of Education, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, until 1 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, August 7, 1971, for the construction of a seven-room Elementary School at Martin, Floyd County, Kentucky.

Immediately following the scheduled closing time for reception of bids, all proposals which have been submitted in accordance with the Contract Documents will be publicly opened and read.

Plans, Specifications, and Contract Documents may be examined at the following places:

- (1) Floyd County Board of Education, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.
- (2) Office of George L. Shannon, Architect and Engineer, Fitzpatrick Building, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.
- (3) Builders Exchange, Louisville, Kentucky.
- (4) F. W. Dodge Offices at the following locations:
Lexington, Kentucky, Louisville, Kentucky, Charleston, West Virginia, Cincinnati, Ohio, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Plans and Specifications may be obtained from George L. Shannon, Architect and Engineer, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, in accordance with the following deposit and charge schedule:

General Contractors, Mechanical and Electrical Sub-Contractors:
A deposit check of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars for each set of Plans and Specifications. This check is refundable upon the return of Plans and Specifications within ten (10) days after bids are opened.
Miscellaneous Sub-Contractors, Material Suppliers, and Manufacturers Dealers:
A deposit check in the amount of fifteen ($15.00) dollars. This check is refundable upon return of Plans and Specifications, and a second check in the amount of ten ($10.00) dollars and this service charge shall not be refunded.

All bids must be accompanied by a Bid Bond or Certified Check, payable to the Floyd County Board of Education, in an amount equal to 5 per cent of the bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of forty-five (45) days from the date set for opening of the bids. Bids received after the scheduled opening time will be returned unopened to the bidder. The Floyd County Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and/or all bids, or to waive any informalities.

By CHARLES F. CLARK, Superintendent
Floyd County Board of Education

dry, sandy byways, then stated: "To come upon a roadbank covered with these gorgeous wildflowers is to share the experience of a naturalist who wanted to halt, sit down and drink his fill of their beauty."

The time has come when not just the poet but everyone can and must appreciate a blue sky with fluffy white clouds, tall trees casting cool shade, green grass and flowers. A poet may use a vivid imagination and see many things in a flower—a star, tiny people or even an entire world in miniature. But an everyday workman may look at the flower and see it for what it is, a flower, and however inadequate his vocabulary, derive the same pleasure from its beauty.

In Fayette county recently crown vetch made a soft pink cloud, a delicate tint that shaded to deeper rose as it grew and bloomed along highways, making a perfect foil for beautiful bluegrass. In Morgan, Magoffin, Johnson, Floyd, Pike and other counties making up the Cumberland Plateau, the orange daylily is a delight to travelers. Called tiger lily by some, this flower seems to grow best along a roadway where it can be seen and admired, rather than in some secluded hollow to be chanced upon by an occasional hiker.

I know farm women who can gather an armload of flowers from nearby fields, plop them into an old stone sealing jar or a half-gallon green glass jar and without so much as rearranging a stem or bloom have a bouquet fit for the houses of Williamsburg—or for that matter, fit for the houses in Lawrence, Owsley, Jackson, Martin and Boyd.

They pinch off about halfway down the stem if the flowers are purple ironweed, pink Joe-pye weed and Queen Anne's lace; almost to the ground if they are going to mix in yellow cone-flowers, goldenrod, black-eyed and brown-eyed daisies. Sometimes they mix in spangle-grass, tall clovers and life everlasting. A country bouquet has charm in every leaf and flower.

Now when I travel Mountain Parkway, other highways and byways of Kentucky I count my wildflower books as part of the passenger list. Here are some of the flowers I look for now, through August and even later: there are frightening names like snakeroot, rattlesnake plantain, bear's foot, tickseed and mad-dog skullcap; the funny flowers, lopseed, monkey flower, horse balm, cat-tail, pokeberry; the Indian plantains and arrowhead; rushes for chair caning and umbrella sedge that is not for a rainy day.

There are the rose mallows in Western Kentucky and the cool mints in the mountains. This summer wildflower beauty includes mist-flower, blazing star, jewelweed, aster, cardinal flower, thistle, butterfly weed, evening primrose, gentian, morning glory, bell-flowers, selfheal, catnip, pennyroyal.

From one of the books I learn that sneezeweed is a flower that sometimes is sniffed like snuff. The sneeze comes after the sniff rather than from pollen that floats through the air.

Travelers in Morgan county might be surprised to find two areas that go by the same name—Ditony and Ditony Ridge. Now I'm wondering if both neighborhoods were so named because of the abundance of the flower Dittany, a small purple-blue bloom on stems from 1 to 1½ feet high.

There are many surprises in wildflowers. Some flowers can be made into medicines, some can be eaten—and some can become that cup of balm that causes the traveler to "halt, sit down and drink his fill of their beauty."

Gene Wright Named School Principal

The Frankfort (Ohio) city school board recently named Gene C. Wright, Hamilton, Ohio, as principal of Frankfort high school.

Wright 34, will replace former principal, O. C. Leathers, who has been appointed assistant superintendent in charge of buildings, grounds and other duties for the city school system.

Wright, who will assume his new duties August 1, is a native of Prestonsburg. He was assistant principal and dean of boys at Middletown freshman high school, Middletown, Ohio, and served as teacher probation officer for the Middletown juvenile courts.

He has also taught in Chillicothe, Ohio; Rehoboth Beach Del., Toledo and Trenton, Ohio, and was guidance counselor at Trenton high school.

A 1959 graduate of Berea College, Wright received his M. A. degree in 1968 from Eastern Kentucky University. He is currently enrolled in the post graduate program in administration at Miami University, Oxford Ohio.

Wright and his wife, Jeanne, have two children.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Compton, of Hueysville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Yvonne, to Mr. Willis Porter, of Salyersville, Ky.

Miss Compton was graduated with the class of '71 from Garrett high school. Mr. Porter is the son of Mrs. Jessie Porter, of Salyersville.

A fall wedding is planned.

Handicapped workers may have employment opportunities broadened through a new project sponsored by the Labor Department, Project Volunteer-Power. The pilot project will investigate possibilities of involving volunteer women's organizations in aiding the handicapped. The women's groups will help by encouraging businessmen to establish policies for employing the handicapped, providing orientation on how to look for a job, transportation and other services.

Education Problems A Matter for Local Concern, Nunn Says

Governor Nunn believes Kentucky's educational problems can be met more effectively at the local, instead of state, level of government.

Kentucky must take a different approach toward its education system, the governor said in a recent interview, "for too long educational opportunity and the youth of this state have been sacrificed on the altar of political expediency."

"State government cannot continue to be held solely and wholly responsible for educational inadequacies," he added. The people on the local level "are better able to determine the needs of their community."

He said the true purpose of education should be "to prepare individual boys and girls to live with themselves and each other."

As parents, he continued, "We're going to have to assume part of the responsibility as to what we want for our children, rather than letting legislators and educational leaders make all the decisions."

"And you can't leave it up to the professional educators either—they become involved in administrative affairs, and sometimes become bogged down in physical needs," he said.

TO THANK YOU

We are indeed grateful to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who expressed their sympathy at the passing of our dear mother, Georgia Damron Taylor. We especially thank Bill Ford, of the Church of Christ, for his consoling words, and a special thanks to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home staff for their kind and efficient service.
