Democrats' Margin With New Voters Nearly 5 to 1

New voter registration in the county this year is pro-Democratic by a near 5-to-1 margin, County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson said Monday.

Of the 314 new registrants, 250 were listed as Democrats, 57 as Republicans and 7 as Independents.

In addition to those who are brand-new on the voting lists, 205 others transferred their registration to new precincts and 34 changed their party affiliation.

Mr. Robinson said the new list of all registered voters will be available by October 1.

RETURNS FROM ITALY

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Combs and son, William Spencer, met their daughter, Angela Mariani, at JFK Airport, August 28. Angela spent the summer with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dottore Carlo Bianchi, in Rome and Perugia. She also spent some time at Casa Mariani, the birthplace of her grandmother in Sassoferato.

WED IN SEPT. 4 CEREMONY

A double-ring ceremony solemnized Sept. 4 in the First United Methodist Church, Andrews, Ind., united in marriage Miss Donna Jean Schults, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schults, Andrews, Ind., and Mr. Dale Clayton Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Howell, also of Andrews, formerly of Hunter, Ky.

The Rev. Mike Wilson was the officiating minister. A reception at the church followed the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Milford Howell, son and daughter, Jeff and Kristy, Columbus, O., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Osborne, Mrs. Audrey Salisbury and Leonard Skeens, Jr., all of Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Elliott, Detroit, Mich., and Ballard Osborne, Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell will reside in Andrews, where both are employed.

You don't see too many pictures like this because we really never pictured ourselves this way.

For the past 23 years, while just about every other car company has been feeling the pulse of the nation and changing the looks of their cars accordingly, we've been fixing the inside of our little car just so you wouldn't have to have it fixed so often.

The result is that today, there's not one single part on a '71 Volkswagen that hasn't been improved at least once.

Recently, a top level executive from a big automotive firm summed up our position on the subject for us:

(And we quote.)

"Consumers today are more interested in quality, low cost of operation and durability, and less interested in styling, power and performance."

That's new top level thinking?

Our top level thinkers have been thinking that way since 1949.

Coal Technology Training Program Is Offered by Pikeville College

A college-level training program leading to an associate degree in mining technology, with emphasis directed to the coal industry, has been launched at Pikeville College, Dr. Robert S. Cope, president of the college, announced this week.

The program, believed to be the first of its kind offered by a college in this county, is being presented through the cooperation of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, the Appalachian Regional Commission, Coal Operators and Associates, Inc., a national coal industry group based at Pikeville, and individual companies in the coal mining industry.

A two-year associate degree in mining technology, emphasizing coal production, health, reclamation and safety geared to the new federal mining laws is being offered in courses of study initiated at the college.

Government and industry authorities will be involved directly in the classroom, along with college faculty members.

The course is aimed primarily at training para-professionals to fill a pressing need in the coal industry.

The program offers comprehensive courses in science and related subjects with emphasis on coal, and in addition presents courses dealing directly with mine operations.

An important feature of the curriculum is a summer internship in area mines. All facets of mining operations, from entering the mine to extraction of coal, will be included.

Dr. Bailey said 39 men have enrolled in the program which is limited to 50 during the first year.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

FRANKFORT, KY.—Come the cooler, crisper yet foggy mornings of September and the nimrod gets in a dither about the upcoming hunting seasons. By then many have already sampled the dove and squirrel hunting, but many more prefer to wait for the quail or the waterfowl and the rabbit or deer.

The very anticipation of these upcoming seasons will cause the hunter to frantically start getting things in readiness. He'll make sure his gun is in readiness by cleaning it spic and span. He'll sight it and repair it if necessary, and test shoot it to be sure all is well.

Having satisfied himself he may then turn to his dogs. He will probably intensify his training routine after having them checked by a veterinarian. Their feed will be gauged to be sure they have enough to eat, but not enough to put on weight. If he has his dogs farmed out, he'll be sure that his trainer is on schedule and that his dogs will be ready when the time comes.

Just when he thinks everything is in readiness he'll remember that he has not cleared with the owner of his prospective hunting area. There was a time when he could go into a certain section of the country and hunt almost at will. But now more and more farmers are posting their land, not only for their own protection but for the protection of the hunters themselves and for wildlife in general.

But, the hunter knows too that most owners will grant the privilege of hunting to those who will respect property and rights and who will seek permission before going onto the land.

Having gained his right to hunt, he then can go about scouting the area, so on opening day he won't be the "lost hunter" without a plan of action. If he knows the area which his game has used he will know they are pretty apt to be back in that section during the hunting season. So, he can go directly to this choice area without wandering over the whole area when the time comes.

This being accomplished, he can rest. Or can he?
He cannot.

He has overlooked one of the most important facets of hunting—his own health, his own condition.

He has taken care of the gun, the dog and the terrain. He has not given his physical condition one bit of thought and this might easily result in an end to his hunting.

To be a good hunter one must be healthy. He must be in condition for his forays, the same as a baseball or football player must train rigorously for his pastime.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

Mrs. John E. Smallman entertained the Baptist Missionary Society at her home on the Middle Creek road, September 7. Mrs. Olga M. Latta presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Joe Buchanan. Mrs. W. W. Burchett presented the program, "The Light of the Glorious Gospel." Assisting in the program presentation were Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Robert Regan, Mrs. Betty Dale and Miss Ella Faye Hayes. Following the business session, refreshments were served to Mesdames. W. A. Dingus, Gorman Collins, Robert Regan, Ernest Jenkins, John E. Smallman, John Evans, W. D. Jagers, Bill Pettrey, Olga May Latta, Lucy Ransdall, Betty Dale, Rebecca Rasnick, Nelle Lawson, W. W. Burchett, Helen B. Clark, Esther Evans, Miss Ella Faye Hayes.

SUFFERS BROKEN HIP

J. B. Clark suffered a broken hip in a fall last week at his home. He later underwent surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, where his condition was said this week to be favorable. Mr. Clark has been in failing health for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Horne and Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Wells and Charles Britton have returned from Barkley Lake lodge at Cadiz, Ky. They reported some nice fishing.

In Pikeville Thursday for the candy-making lesson at the Kentucky Power Co. auditorium were the following from the Day Home Makers Club: Dorothea Harris, Eleanor Horn, Otelia Smiley, Gertrude Bradbury and Frances Pitts, home demonstration agent.

Royal leaders of modern jazz, Count Basie and Duke Ellington, meet for a recording session. Basie and his band will open the East Kentucky Concert Series at Prestonsburg high school gymnasium, Tuesday evening, September 21. Last year's opening performance was by Ellington and his band. The Count and the Duke are internationally known as leading exponents of jazz and blues music.

Two P'burg Students In Marching Maroon Band

Richmond, Ky.—The Eastern Kentucky University Marching Maroon Band made its 1971-72 debut here Sept. 11 at halftime of the Colonel's season-opening football game with Southeastern Louisiana University. Performing with this year's EKVU marching band are Pam Goble and Kay Scutchfield, both of Prestonsburg.

IN APPRECIATION

The family of Bill Hubbard is most grateful to their many friends who contributed, flowers, food and cars to us in our hour of sorrow. We are most grateful for any kindness extended to us. Especially do we want to express our thanks to the hospital staff, the nursing home and doctors and nurses for their untiring services, and to Rev. Jagers for his comforting words, to Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Evans for their beautiful music. The efficient service of the Carter Funeral Home is greatly appreciated.

Endorse Democratic Ticket

We, the following public officials, unqualifiedly endorse and support the candidacy of Wendell H. Ford for Governor of Kentucky and the entire Democratic ticket for other state offices.

We feel that these men of the Democratic party can and will serve Kentucky and its people best in a period when the need for sound, capable men in state government was never more needed. So it is that we invite the people of Floyd county, in the interest of this county and of Kentucky as a whole, to join us in electing the Democratic ticket to office at the November election.

"VEE" Vaccination May Be Compulsory

Vaccination of Kentucky horses against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) may become compulsory if the voluntary program does not cover the state thoroughly.

Voluntary vaccination began Sept. 7 and state officials hope to reach 90 per cent of Kentucky's horses.

"If we don't get 90 per cent coverage, we'll quarantine all unvaccinated horses to their premises until they are vaccinated," said state veterinarian L. G. Northington.

He said any lesser protection would leave the state in danger of a VEE outbreak.

Local veterinarians will perform the vaccinations with the U. S. Department of Agriculture paying all costs.

"All indications are that the disease will get here (to Kentucky) if we don't stop it," Northington said.

Tea Honors Poets, Writers

A traditional function of the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival is the tea honoring poets and writers of the history of the Kentucky mountains, and it was continued at the recent sixth annual folk festival held at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The tea, held at May Lodge, was hosted by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. Blaine Hall, Prestonsburg businessman-poet, was in charge of Poets' Corner, and he presented Rose Wiley Chandler, president of the Kentucky Poetry Society, who presided during the program. Poems were read by Elizabeth Leete Stephens, Goldia Swain, Rose Chandler, Lee Pennington, secretary of the Kentucky Poetry Society, and Lillie Chaffin, author of several volumes of verse. Dr. Leonard Roberts, writer and storyteller, told one of his mountain stories.

Mrs. Joyce Short Allen, president of the club, and Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, presided at the tea table, serving more than 50 guests.

Police Training Unit To Be Here Sept. 20 For Five-Day Course

The Mobile Police Training Unit of the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council will be here September 20 for a five-day course in Police Investigations.

The training is cost-free and open to all law enforcement personnel and others in the criminal justice system. Instruction will be given by professional instructors of the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council staff and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The completely equipped mobile unit will probably be located in the city parking lot, opposite the courthouse.

Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) enrollees are serving as helpers in day care program in an one-year-experimental project sponsored by the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. If the project works, it will mean that the expanding day care program across the country will have an additional source of needed manpower and NYC youth will be exposed to career opportunities in the day care field.

Grants To Students Are Given Increase

By PATSY JUDD

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky Department of Economic Security's higher education program recently received a financial boost from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) to continue providing educational grants and counseling services to "otherwise ineligible" students.

An agreement signed by Economic Security Commissioner Merritt S. Deitz Jr. and John W. Barr III, KHEAA chairman, gives the department's Vocational Opportunity Program $42,300 and the Higher Education Program $100,000 for the 1971-72 fiscal year. The authority gave the department $90,000 for its continuing education programs last year.

This is the first year KHEAAA has provided funds for students participating in the Vocational Opportunity Program (VOP). Previously, "otherwise ineligible" VOP students were included as a part of a demonstration project.

Students that can receive KHEAAA funds, "otherwise ineligible" students, are those who would be eligible as aid recipients except that they are married, they are 21, or their families are discontinued.

VOP students receive a $75 monthly grant, and Higher Education Program (HEP) students receive a $50 monthly grant.

Estimates indicate that VOP will have 700 regular participants and 50 "otherwise ineligible" students this year.

The HEP Program is expected to include 650 regular students and 200 "otherwise ineligible" students.

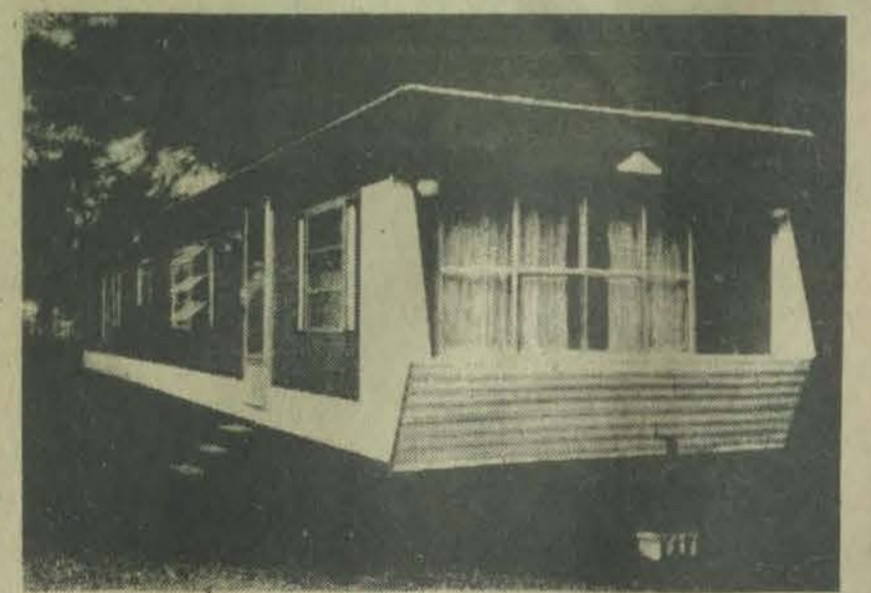

According to the agreement, the Department of Economic Security will select and qualify all undergraduate student members.

DES also will supervise and provide counseling and guidance services to students enrolled in the program. Periodically, a report is to be sent to KHEAA containing current program information and achievements of enrolled students.

YOU AND THE DRAFT

Colonel Taylor L. Davidson

FRANKFORT, KY.—Our established policy in writing the weekly "You and the Draft" articles has been to build each story step by step to conclusion or climax.

This week, we wish to reverse this pattern and state the result first.

It is: Milton (Milt) was rejected by the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station (AFEES) because of confirmed history of asthma and an old injury to the femur sustained while a member of the high school wrestling team.

If our readers have some knowledge of the state's high physical rejection rate, it is reasonable to assume their attitude to the preceding statement will be one of indifference. It is hoped by relating some case background that unconcern, especially among young men vulnerable to the "draft" will be changed.

Milt was born Aug. 24, 1948. He enrolled in college in the fall of 1966. His first "draft" classification was II-S (student deferment). Milt continued to meet all requirements for Class II-S for the school years 1967-68, 1968-69 and 1969-70. From the "lottery" of 1969, his Random Sequence Number (RSN) was 036.

An anonymous caller to the local board reported having overheard Milt on more than one occasion say he would flee the country rather than be drafted. Obviously a "tip" from a nameless caller does not negate current documentation in the registrant's file.

In February 1970, Milt was married. Following the marriage, he requested reclassification to III-A (Dependency). A II-S classification subsequent to June 30, 1967, precluded a reclassification to III-A.

Milt graduated magna cum laude in June 1970. Therefore, he was no longer eligible for Class II-S. Following review of his classification by the local board, he was reclassified I-A. When ordered for a physical examination, Milt failed to report. The local board reordered and again he ignored the order.

As Milt willfully ignored two orders to report for a physical and his RSN (036) had been reached, the local board legally could process him for an immediate induction as a violator. Such action was initiated by the board.

Upon receipt of the induction order, Milt made good on the earlier boast to flee the country to escape the "draft". With his wife, he headed north to Canada. Before crossing the border, Milt, for reasons known only to himself, had second thoughts and decided to return home. Upon his return, he sought the advice of a "draft" counselor.

Although the interview with the counselor is not a matter of selective service record, we would guess that Milt was told he was in deep trouble and to avoid prosecutive action, he should obey the induction order.

The counselor must have further suggested that Milt obtain doctors' statements to confirm the history of asthma and the femur injury. Such statements are now in his file and it is reasonable to conclude that AFEES gave weight to them in determining Milt was not acceptable under current standards prescribed by the Department of Defense.

"You and the Draft" hopes other young men will not take the "draft" route Milt traveled when the induction authority is restored.

Notice of Rate Adjustment

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kindness and helpfulness during the illness and upon the passing of our loved one, Goldie Stephens. We especially wish to thank the ministers, the Revs. Rush Sloane, W. D. Jagers, and Wartie Craft, the singers who participated in the evening services and the soloists and organists, Miss Betty Phillips, Mrs. Patsy Evans, and Mrs. Alice Buchanan. A special thanks is also extended to those who sent flowers and cards and to the Carter Funeral Home for its efficiency and kindness during the time of our bereavement.

Free with every new Volkswagen.

When you buy a new VW, you get a series of 4 free check-ups where we use special diagnostic equipment to check out just about everything that can affect your VW's health.

The plan: Medi-car. Our special equipment can see things no human eyes can. So during each VW-diagnosis, it can actually spot problems before they can become real problems.

Take the unit above. It's similar to the electrocardiograph which doctors use to test the electrical activity of the human heart.

We use it to do the same with your car's heart: the engine.

In seconds, it can tell us if the dwell angle of your contact points is too large, or if the resistance in your spark plug wiring is too high.

Unchecked, either of these could cut gas mileage and engine life.

But the main point is: While our Medi-car equipment would spot these problems before any damage is done, during a normal check-up no mechanic alive could.

Volkswagen Medi-car. It's a whole new way of life.

Kentucky's Total of State Employees Passes 30,000 Despite 'Cutback'

Frankfort, Ky.—The total number of state employees in Kentucky has climbed past the 30,000 mark again, about 300 more than when Gov. Louie B. Nunn ordered a freeze and cutback in jobs two years ago. As of the quarter ending June 30, Personnel Department records show 26,455 permanent, full-time workers and 2,085 others, for a total of 30,737. The "other" category covers temporary, emergency and part-time—both permanent and seasonal employees.

For comparison, the figures for June, 1969—shortly before Nunn ordered his freeze and cutback—were 25,599 permanent, 3,208 seasonal and 1,588 other, for a total of 30,395.

And when compared with four years ago—during the final year of former Democratic Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's term—the latest figures show a 2,738 increase in total number of employees. Broken down by category, the 1971 figures show 2,836 more permanent employees than in 1967, 785 fewer seasonal workers and 687 more other employees.

That comparison is pertinent because of quadrennial charges that the incumbent governor is handing out jobs as favors to drum up support for the candidacy of the man that governor would like to succeed him.

The total number of state employees now as compared to four years ago reflect an average increase of only 2.5 per cent a year but the boost over last year's total of 28,774 represents a 6 per cent jump.

The seasonal and other jobs are those most often mentioned as being handed out for political gain since the control over them is not so strict as over permanent fulltime jobs under the merit system.

But the 4,272 employees now in such jobs actually number 100 fewer than was the case four years ago.

The high point in employees in those two categories was 4,796 in 1969, when the only statewide political race was for auditor. In that contest, Democrat Mary Loise Foust defeated James Thompson, the Republican.

Patriotic Parade Scheduled Oct. 23

Saturday, Oct. 23 has been set as the date for the second annual patriotic parade here, it was announced Friday by Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Langley, director of the event.

The parade, held in connection with the observance of Veterans Day, drew an estimated 10,000 persons here, and Mrs. Bailey said it is hoped the attendance this year will be even greater.

Committees remain to be named, but this is expected to be done shortly so that planning and preparing for the parade may be begun at once.

The parade will stress love of country and exhibit costumes and life customs in keeping with the theme of patriotism.

Wage-Price Compliance in Southeast First Three Weeks Considered Good

After three weeks of the wage-price freeze, voluntary compliance appears to be succeeding in the Southeast, according to the regional offices of the Office of Emergency Preparedness and the Internal Revenue Service.

"The fact that only 300 complaints of alleged violations have been made is an indication that very few violations are occurring," William H. Holloway, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, Region 4, Service and Compliance Center, said. He added that acceptance of the President's Economic Stabilization Program by business, industry and the general public in the Southeastern states is outstanding.

F. W. Rogers, freeze coordinator of the IRS Regional Office, estimates complaints of alleged violations are proving to be invalid in that they are only misunderstandings of the law or regulations. In the other half, he said, violators are complying at IRS request or have already complied by the time IRS checks with them.

The IRS has 61 local offices designated as Local Service and Compliance Centers in the eight states of OEP Region 4: Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida. In addition, inquiries but not complaints may be made to 719 county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, usually located at the county seats.

Rogers said that when the IRS receives complaints about alleged violations, and it is believed that follow-up is required, the individual making the complaint is asked for the specifics in writing. IRS reviews the written complaint to determine if a violation exists. If appropriate, IRS sends a representative to discuss the complaint with the alleged violator.

After the investigation, and after all reasonable efforts by IRS to obtain voluntary compliance are exhausted, the IRS will refer the investigation report to the OEP Regional Office for review and that office will again seek voluntary compliance.

If necessary, the OEP will recommend to the Cost of Living Council that the U.S. Department of Justice seek an injunction in the appropriate U. S. District Court against the violator. If the violator refuses to obey the court order, he may be prosecuted for contempt of court.

"We are more interested in seeking voluntary cooperation by business and industry than in seeking to prosecute," Mr. Holloway said, "and we are pleased that voluntary control appears to be succeeding."

Mr. Rogers said a bank which had raised rates on safety deposit boxes had already lowered them when IRS investigated the complaint. In another case, customers complained that a supermarket had increased prices on steak from $1.29 to $1.39 per pound. The market proved from records that the lower price represented a special sales price during the 30-day base period before the freeze.

In the most widely-publicized case of compliance, Georgia railroads withdrew a 6 percent intrastate freight rate increase at the request of Mr. Holloway after a ruling by the Cost of Living Council. The Atlanta Freight Bureau had complained directly to President Nixon about the boost. The Georgia Public Service Commission on August 4 had approved the boost to become effective August 16, just a few hours after President Nixon announced the freeze. Mr. Holloway congratulated the Southern Freight Bureau, which represents the railroads involved, on the agreement to comply with the intent of the President's Executive Order, No. 11615. He also said it was good to hear that the railroads will make appropriate refunds where shippers have paid the higher rates on commodities moved since the freeze, August 15, 1971.

Effective freeze dates are 12:01 a.m., August 16, to midnight November 13. The nationwide taxpayer assistance system of the IRS is being used to administer the freeze program within each state while the Regional Offices of OEP are the coordinating arm of the program. The IRS reports to the 10 Regional Offices of the OEP when action beyond the state or local level is needed. Policies are set by the Cost of Living Council which was appointed by the President. General George A. Lincoln, director of Office of Living Council, is responsible for administration of the freeze on wages, salaries, prices and rents.

Speaking of Israel, the prophet Hosea said: "They have sown to the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind."
 There came a time when their crops produced no stalk to bear fruit; the buds dried up, yielding no meal or flour for bread. It was all because Israel had sown the wind by making gods of gold and had worshipped these as idols.
 In Galatians the Apostle Paul says: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."
 Like Israel of old, we Americans today are sowing to the wind and we shall reap the whirlwinds of disaster. Through greed we worship the god of gold and destroy earth's ecological balance to get the gold. We are sowing the "winds of pollution," but we still remain complacent about it. But think of this: In any large city like New York or Los Angeles, on days when the air is heavy and smog hangs low, each person breathes as much poisonous chemicals as one would breathe by inhaling two packs of cigarettes! Life Magazine recently predicted: "In a decade, city dwellers will have to wear gas masks to survive the pollution of the air."
 What are you or I or our next-door neighbor doing to cut down on air pollution? Do we fully realize that we cannot exist on this planet without air and water? Yet many of us let the motors of our cars idle a long time when there is no need for it. We drive our cars many times when it would be better for our health to walk. Often we pollute the air without thinking of the danger to our fellow beings. Recently I saw a great cloud of black smoke boiling up above the mountains and at first I thought some large building was on fire. When I drew nearer I saw the black smoke was caused from the burning of hundreds of discarded auto tires, which the dealer had apparently collected for years; instead of burying them, he was having one big bonfire, with the black smoke boiling up to the clouds and polluting the air in all directions for miles. Perhaps many of us are guilty of just such thoughtless acts; we sow to the wind but we will have to reap the whirlwind of disaster.
 It also seems to me as I travel about the country that stream pollution has got completely out of hand, and I often ask myself, what has happened to the pride and self-respect of the American—a sad loss that causes them to dump garbage and filth into the streams? On the banks of the streams of rural America today there are literally millions of tons of all kinds of junk and garbage which will gradually work its way into the water. This filthy junk poisons the streams and makes them unfit for human consumption.
 It would take tens of thousands of dedicated workers a year just to clean up the streams of our fair land of America. In some sections the people have launched a crusade to clean up the streams of their region, but this is "too little and too late." We need this done on a national scale instead of local. The worst pollution I have seen recently is on back-country roads, along streams and roads; there people have hauled junk and garbage and dumped this into the brooks and creeks until it is a shame to behold!
 Are we working hard enough to get laws passed with teeth in them to prevent the ruination of the streams of our beloved America? I think not. We need stricter laws to stop pollution of our streams. But one big trouble is, the little man in the back country region takes this attitude: "If the big man can pollute the streams and get by with it, I guess I can too." He sees factories polluting the streams; he sees the mud and silt running thick in the streams after rains and knows this has been washed down from stripmined areas of the mountains. "If they can get by, why can't I?" he thinks.
 Pollution of the streams is related directly to our oxygen supply; so the two evils work together. Polluted streams soon pollute the oceans and help to reduce or destroy the microscopic plants that build the oxygen supply of the earth. The oceans and the trees of our land are two of our greatest sources of oxygen supply; so by polluting the oceans we gradually reduce the oxygen supply of the earth and one day it may become a dead planet.
 One might well ask, Have we Americans enjoyed too much freedom without exercising responsibility that goes with it? The time has come when all of us must commit ourselves to the Great Cause of cleaning up our environment; the time has come for each of us to bear the full responsibility for our acts. When we are guilty of pollution, we are doing injury to others as well as ourselves. The Creator made man to be a free moral agent. He has the power to choose between good and evil, and this is an awesome responsibility. In the past many of us have chosen the wrong ways and have been killers of innocent creatures and destroyers of wild life. We hear much complaint these days about pests of all kinds; they destroy our crops and cause us much annoyance. But who is to blame?

 We have sown to the wind by destroying our hawks and owls and our song birds, which were made by nature to keep the proper checks and balances of all kinds of pests and rodents. Thoughtlessly, sometimes deliberately, we sow to the wind and create a vicious circle in nature. A doting father buys his son an air rifle and the young boy goes out to shoot birds, as these are handy targets. He sees a robin gathering worms on the lawn to feed her young; he shoots her down and in her nest there are five baby birds crying for food. No food will be brought to them now and they keep on crying to be fed. Their cries grow weaker and weaker until death comes from starvation. The young teenager has thus destroyed six lives—birds that are badly needed to control the pests. With not enough birds to keep down the pests, man desperately fights them with pesticides. He destroys the good things along with the bad. He kills the soil bacteria that helps to build the soil and give it vigor; he destroys the angleworms, which are nature's greatest makers of soil. Thus a vicious circle is created, which throws nature out of balance.

AKERS-FISHER VOWS SAID

Miss Terry Jean Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Akers, of Louisville, formerly of Martin, and Lawrence Michael Fisher, son of Mrs. Paul Smith, of Somerset, and the late Lawrence G. Fisher, were married at 2 p.m. August 14 at the Gardenside Baptist Church in Lexington. The Rev. Dan Heintzelman, of Martin, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white organza and peau d'ange lace applied with seed pearls. Her veil was edged with lace and was held by tiered bows. She carried a bouquet of white poms centered with Royal Orchids.

Miss Marsha Justice, of Pikeville, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of hot pink saki and Venise lace with a pale satin ribbon sash with streamers in back, also a picture hat of hot pink with pale satin ribbons. She carried a wicker basket of pink marguerites and babies-breath.

The bridesmaids, in costumes of pale pink trimmed with hot pink, were Miss Venita Smith, sister of the groom, of Somerset, Mary Beth Gibson, of Louisville, Janice Seidelman, of Lexington, Linda Lawson, Cincinnati, Ohio and Loni Algier, Richmond. They carried flowers identical to those of the honor attendant.

Mr. Smith served his stepson as best man. The ushers were Ronald Burchfield, of Somerset, Bill McAlpine, John Basham, Lloyd Neikirk and Gene Lankford, all of Lexington.

The reception was held in the social room of the church. Assisting were Miss Ruby Akers, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Thresa Prater, sister of the bride, Miss Debbie Long, Mrs. Joyce Akers and Mrs. Jon Johnson.

After a wedding trip to the Smokies, the couple is living in Locustwood Estates, Lexington.

The bride is a graduate of Lafayette high school and is attending Eastern Kentucky University where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Somerset high school and is a student at the University of Kentucky. He is employed by the Kentucky Department of Highways.

University Women Start Drive Here To Form Chapter

A membership drive is now under way to organize a local chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Any graduate of an accredited college or university (and most such institutions are) is eligible for membership in the group whose next meeting will be at the Floyd County Regional Library here at 7:30, Thursday evening, October 14.

The chief aim of the AAUW is that of encouraging women to continue their learning and education after graduation. Study courses in four broad fields—world affairs, cultural interests, education, and community problems—are available to local chapters according to their interests.

Anyone in the area who is interested in joining the local chapter is invited to attend the October meeting. If there are questions concerning eligibility, dues or on other points, individuals may call Mrs. E. D. Roberts, Mrs. Rex. Ankrom or Mrs. Helen B. Wells.

Attending the meeting here Thursday were Mrs. J. D. Adams, Mrs. Robert Rennie, Mrs. Stanley Combs, Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, Mrs. E. D. Roberts, Mrs. Ronald Hatfield, Mrs. Rex Ankrom, Mrs. John G. Heinze, Mrs. Helen B. Wells, all of Prestonsburg, Mrs. John P. Sammons, of Martin, Mrs. Alvin Reed, of Drift, and Miss Ella Faye Hayes, of Allen.

The gray bullet, the migratory mourning dove, swiftest and most erratic flyer among our upland targets, has long headed the list of all U. S. game birds in numbers taken and in hunters participating.—SPORTS AFIELD

ATTEND WEDDING

Combs calls for victory

He said he came "because I wanted to." He drew heavy applause when he pledged "to do my part in seeing that this superior Democratic ticket is elected on November 2." From the time Bert Combs and Wendell Ford stepped out of the car in which they were riding until the oratory began in the Breathitt County High Coliseum, the two were swamped with well-wishers, smiling campaign supporters and others of all ages who shouted themes of total unity and accord. This was the scene Saturday afternoon, August 21 in Jackson. "Every man listens to the sound of his own drummer," former Governor and Federal Judge Combs advised. "I hear the sound of my drummer saying that I ought to be for the Democratic ticket this November, and that I ought to work to elect that ticket." "I hope this starts a precedent," he said. "After the primary, those who lost will join those who won. Together, we can then go on to win a victory for the entire state of Kentucky." Combs called the Ford-Carroll slate, "a superior ticket," stressing the importance of having men and women in government who can accomplish the many jobs necessary to guarantee the best representation possible. He told his fellow Eastern Kentuckians that this gubernatorial race has national implications.

7th District Demos unite for November

Seventh District Democrats let it be known they are ready to start the march to victory. Pouring into Jackson for an afternoon rally August 21, they applauded frequently to speeches by Carl Perkins, Bert Combs, Julian Carroll and Wendell Ford. They heard the current Lt. Governor chide his opposition for bragging about a "record" 3,000 miles of blacktopping during the past 36 months. "That's a record low," Ford quipped, "for Bert Combs and other Democratic governors blacktopped more than 5,000 miles of roads every year." Illustrating the difference between Democrats and Republicans, Ford held up two license plates. "This one is a Democrat plate," he explained. "it cost you $5. This one is a Republican plate . . . it cost you $12.50." Ford, speaking of an economy totally mismanaged by the Republicans, said after three years of telling people everything is going to be just fine, the Republicans have now changed their tune and are admitting failure. "Carl Perkins has been saying the economy, that unemployment rates have been unacceptable for months. Has it become unacceptable to Nixon, Nunn and Emberton just now because it's an election year?" Ford asked. The Owensboro Democrat said his administration would be strictly for the people. "we know we must have Democrats in Frankfort and Washington if each Kentuckian—each American—is to regain the right to live in human dignity and prosperity."

Guess who Syd and Gladys ran into the other day?

Your best chance to head off a "head-on" is to think negatively. Assume that behind every oncoming truck or car there's a good guy about to make a bad mistake. And, be prepared to get out of his way if he does.

Whenever, wherever you drive . . . drive defensively. Watch out for the other guy. It's the best way there is to watch out for you.

WEST LIBERTY, KY.—You stand and drool at the sight of sweet sauce bubbling around an apple dumpling, warm and spicy, and try to decide if there is room for just one.

You already have indulged in a small fried apple pie, a thick piece of dried apple stack cake, an apple milkshake and two glasses of apple cider.

But you can't resist those soft dumpling mounds, so you take a chance on a stomach ache. After all, the Johnson County Apple Festival just happens every October.

A Morgan County woman who sets the first week-end in October (this year it's Oct. 1-2) aside for the festival in Paintsville said recently that this year she would eat apple dumplings first because last year there wasn't any space left by the time she got to the dumpling booth.

Elmon Davis, chairman of the event since its inception eight years ago, was over-whelmed by last year's crowd and is looking for nothing less this year when thousands of visitors converge on the Johnson County seat.

Also it's been a good year for apples and at least 50,000 bushels of the fruit will be for sale.

At the apple festival you can also buy a quart or more of apple butter, and enough pies and cakes and other apple goodies for plenty of delicious eating and memories of fun and fellowship. Many Johnson County families and families in nearby counties make the week-end festival a time for reunions.

Downtown Paintsville will be roped off from the usual traffic so visitors can roam the thoroughfares at will. Favorite stopping places include the many food booths, the Paintsville Garden Club display where women stir apple butter in a giant copper kettle, the antique and fruit displays in store and shop windows and an old-time cane mill.

For further information contact Elmon Davis, Apple Festival Chairman, Paintsville, Ky. or the Paintsville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Oct. 1-3 also is the time for the autumn outing of the National Campers Assn. at Celestial Valley near Grayson.

The outing in Carter County will include member families from Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. The association includes 65,000 families who make up more than 2000 chartered chapters in the U. S. plus 260 teenage chapters.

Called the harvest campout, this year's get-together will feature an arts and crafts show Saturday afternoon (Oct. 2). Mrs. Daniel Senters of Ashland, Route 1, says the arts and crafts show may become a regular part of future outings. Mrs. Boyd Boair, of West Liberty, widely known for her work in crafts, will judge the crafts division of the show.

According to Mrs. Senters purposes of the camper's association are outdoor education, enhancement of social culture and recreation and exchanging ideas to promote conservation of natural resources. It is the oldest association of its kind in North America.

HOGSED-TURNER VOWS SAID

The marriage of Miss Linda Diane Hogsed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hogsed, of Martin, to Mr. Johnny Ray Turner, son of Mr. Ray Turner, of Drift, and the late Amy Lee Turner, was solemnized at 4:30 p.m., Sunday, August 8, in a candlelight ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Martin, Kentucky.

The bridegroom is a graduate of McDowell high school and is also attending Morehead State University with a major in physical education. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The Rev. James E. Clark officiated at the double-ring ceremony which was performed before an altar decorated with gladioli and greenery flanked by brass spiral candelabra holding lighted white tapers. White bows with clusters of stephanotis lined the bridal aisle.

For a wedding trip to the Smokies and Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the bride wore a beige knit ensemble with brown accessories. Upon returning from their wedding trip, the couple will reside at Morehead where they will continue their studies at the University this fall.

A program of wedding music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Dennis Mayo, organist, and Mrs. Gary Frazier, of Morehead, vocalist. Selections included an aria from "Sampson and Delilah", "I Love Thee", and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of peau de soie adorned with lace motifs accented with seed pearls. The A-line gown was styled with a Victorian neckline enhanced with satin-covered buttons down the back, and long, bishop sleeves with French cuffs which were fastened with tiny satin buttons. Reembroidered Alencon lace appliques detailed the neckline, bodice, hemline, and edged the removable wateau train which fell to chapel-length. A petal lace headpiece, with dainty pearl detail, secured her three-tier bouffant veil of English silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, shasta daisies, and purple violets accented with ivy and streamers.

Mrs. David Mosley, of Winchester, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Constance Gay Hogsed, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. They wore princess-styled gowns of orchid silk shantung with Victorian necklines and orchid picture hats highlighted with matching streamers. They carried colonial bouquets of purple violets, miniature white daisies and ferns with purple streamers.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Steven Hall, McDowell, Miss Pam Runyon, Williamson, Va., Mrs. Arthur Dingus, Martin, and Mrs. Archie Horn, Martin. Their costumes were identical to those of the honor attendants.

Miss Myra Lee McCoy, Lyndon, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress of orchid silk shantung was fashioned like those of the other attendants. She wore an orchid picture hat and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Mr. Michael Turner served his brother as best man. Ushers were Danny Lyons, Johns Creek, Raymond Griffith, Martin, Arthur Dingus, Martin, Tommy Martin, McDowell, and Byron Beard, McDowell. Jeff T. Hall, brother of the groom, and Andy Elliott, cousin of the groom, served as taper lighters.

Master Lawrence Maggard, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hogsed wore a pink crepe ensemble with white accessories. A white gardenia corsage complemented her ensemble.

The reception was held at Frazier's Restaurant following the ceremony. The bridal table, with an overlay of white embroidered linen over orchid, was centered with a bride and groom on a three-tiered wedding cake, encircled with stephanotis and greenery, and flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Dillard Howard, Mrs. Olin Elliott, Mrs. Violet Hall, Mrs. Bobby Hall, and Mrs. Bobby Turner.

The bride is a graduate of Martin high school, and is attending Morehead State University with a major in physical education. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Whatever Things By DONALD E. WILDMON

ROBBING THE CHURCH SAFE

Two stories of two deeds of a contrasting nature turned up in the papers, some time back. The first article told of two burglars who broke into the Northminister Baptist Church in Richmond, Virginia. The two partners-in-crime were attempting to rob the church's 3000-pound safe.

Some people think the way to get ahead in life is to take what you want. Get what you want, regardless of any hurt to anyone else. The burglars believed this. They decided to help themselves. And they figured the church was a sitting duck for some quick cash.

The second article came from Bergen, New Jersey. Park Ranger Ted Kobylarz was patrolling a park in Bergen when he found a small purse lost by Mrs. Pat Dittmar. The purse contained $800, money which Mrs. Dittmar was planning to use to make a down payment on a new house.

As the two burglars were attempting to tilt the safe, it slipped and fell on one of the burglars, crushing his head. The man died under the weight of the safe when his partner fled from the scene.

Ranger Kobylarz returned the $800 to Mrs. Dittmar and she made that payment. And look at all the people who benefitted from it. Ranger Kobylarz, refusing a reward offered to him, received a raise and a commendation from the park commission. In addition, the bank got interest on the loan, the mortgage company got payments from Mrs. Dittmar, the former owner sold a house, and the real estate agent received a commission.

Like we said earlier—you can't steal from God. Not permanently.

There are some truths which immediately surface from these two stories. The first truth is this—one cannot steal permanently from God. The thieves who broke into the Northminister Baptist Church didn't manage to crack the safe. But they would have eventually had to pay it back, even if they had. They entered this world owning nothing except a soul, and they will leave it in like manner.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
Martin, Ky.—Mrs. Janet Horn, nee, Janet Flanery, was honored with a miscellaneous shower, September 4, at Frazier's Restaurant. The color scheme of lavender and white was carried out in table decorations. Gift tables displayed silver, china, linens, electrical appliances, and miscellaneous items. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen tablecloth and was centered with a floral arrangement of deep lavender mums. Punch, iced cakes, and sandwiches were served by the hostesses.

The other truth is that everyone benefits from honesty. Indeed, it is when we do what we should do, what our Maker wants us to do, that we are fulfilling our best role in helping ourselves and others. Look at all who would have lost if Ranger Kobylarz had decided to keep that money. He would have lost more than the others—for something would have been hurt in his character and integrity. And all the others would have lost from the failure to have the money.

Branham Convalescing From Mishap Injuries

Lowell Dean Branham is convalescing at his home on Abbott Creek from serious injuries sustained recently in a traffic accident at Kincheloe Air Force Base, Mich. At the time of the accident Mr. Branham had just returned from Vietnam. After his recovery he will return for two more years of Air Force service. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Branham.

The world is set up to operate on certain laws. They are as much a part of the laws of the universe as two plus two equal four. One law says the best way to help yourself is to help others. That is a truth taught by the Man of Galilee. When one gives, he gets. When he loves, he is loved. When he helps, he is helped.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced the Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority provided some 1455 new jobs last year through its loan and advisory services.
