

Area Study Of Streams Under Way

State Is Updating Water Information; Lake Not Included

The Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources has begun a comprehensive water quality study of the Big Sandy River and its tributaries as a part of a statewide program designed to make a current assessment of the condition of all Kentucky streams.

The survey, which is under direction of Charles Bowers, director of the department's Division of Fisheries, is expected to be completed this year. A report on its findings may not be available, however, till 1973, Mr. Bowers told The Times this week. The study involves sedimentation, acidity, ability of streams to support aquatic life and sources of pollution. Mr. Bowers said Lee Evenhuis, biologist, is in charge of the Big Sandy study.

The survey team in its work goes to the headwaters of a watershed and works its way downstream, classifying the various attributes of the water. On smaller streams only representative water samples are taken but sampling on larger water courses is frequent.

The study does not include Dewey Lake. Mr. Bowers said his division has not made a sedimentation study there but that last water samplings showed water in the lake to be neutral as to acidity.

Stream study work has been completed on the Licking, Kentucky and Cumberland rivers. Barren River is being studied concurrently with that begun on the Big Sandy.

State Trooper Nabs Big Haul; Two Arrested

Working alone, State Trooper Gary Rose last Thursday morning confiscated one of the heaviest loads of intoxicants to be overtaken on their way to Floyd consumers when he arrested two men and captured 450 cases of beer and seven cases of whiskey on KY 122, at Minnie.

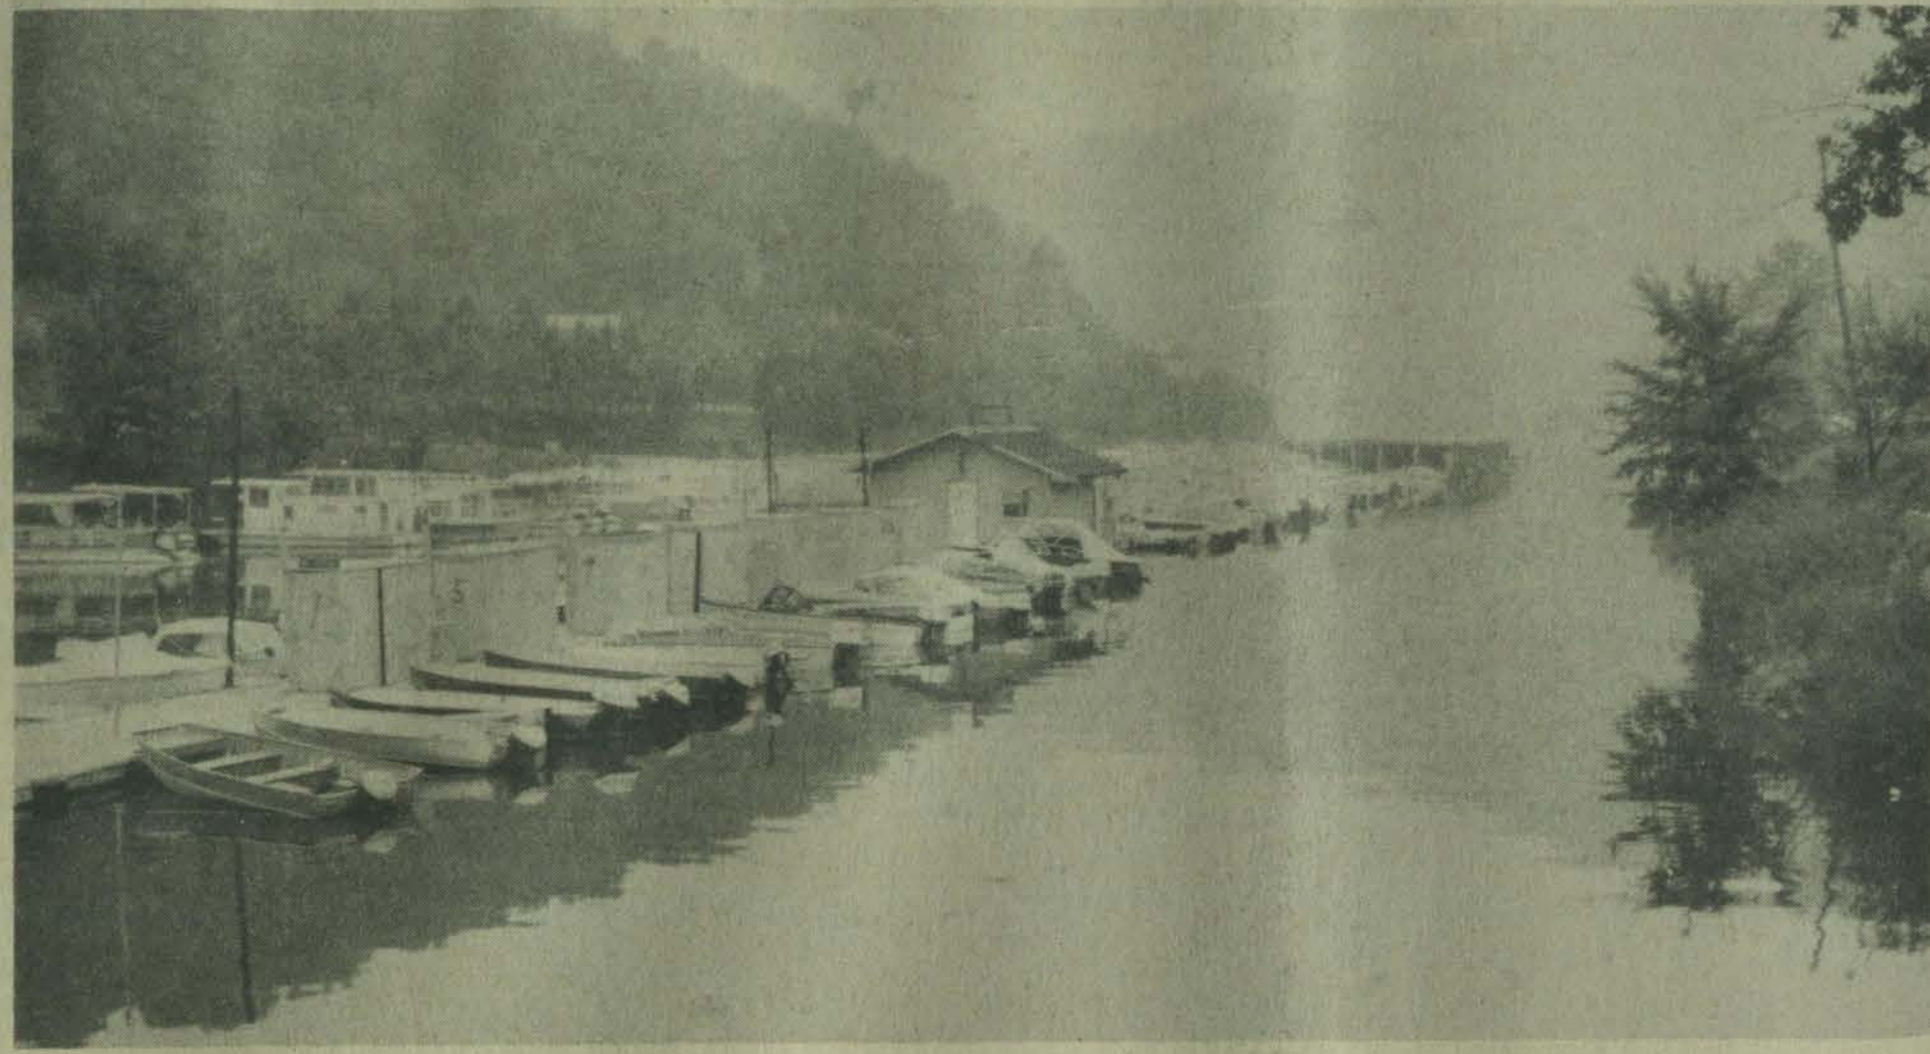

The trooper arrested Arnold Ray Johnson and Percy Dean Johnson, both of the Melvin area, and booked them at the county jail on transporting charges. The Johnsons were operating a 1½-ton truck at the time of their arrest.

Trooper Rose found in the truck a .22-caliber revolver which State Police said had been reported stolen at Charlotte, N. C.

The location of the trailer-home of a Brush Creek man resulted last Thursday in his being sent to jail on a contempt charge. The prisoner, Linzie Shepherd, had been jailed earlier for placing his mobile home on land owned by the Richmond estate on Brush Creek. He later was released from jail, to be given a chance to move, and was held in contempt when he moved the trailer across the creek but yet onto Richmond land.

Others booked at the jail, charges against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Emma Span Site Location Made, Is Report Here

Mrs. Flo Weddington Adams, who has spearheaded the drive for a bridge across the Big Sandy at Emma to connect the town with US 23, announced recently that the Department of Highways has made a location for the span and has scheduled final plans and core-drilling.

The new bridge, she said, will be built approximately 1,200 feet upstream from the present bridge site. Its location on the Lula Bevins property is such, it was said, that construction of the bridge will not interfere with existing buildings. The upstream location, too, will reduce the cost by about $30,000.

The proposed span will replace a 40-year-old suspension-type bridge which has been declared unsafe.

Rural Highway Commissioner Otto Ingram said recently that completion of design and plans will, hopefully, be completed by Jan. 1 and that construction is expected to begin soon thereafter.

The bridge may cost $500,000, Judge Ingram indicated. He said the state has $300,000 earmarked for the bridge. Half of that amount will be from the 1971-'72 apportionment to Floyd county, and the remainder from the emergency fund.

Prestonsburg Driver, Winner Of Speedway 500 Third Time

Bobby Watson, who repairs automobiles here during working hours and races them for sport, cash and fame, last Saturday took over second place in the 1972 Automobile Racing Club of America standings with his victory at the Fairgrounds Motor Speedway's 500-mile event at Louisville.

Watson won Saturday his third International 500 late-model stock car race of the season, despite an attack of dizziness which slowed him to a crawl the last 20 laps of the one-third-mile oval.

Saturday's win was the fifth of the season for Watson and the third time he has won the Louisville 500. He won there first in 1964

END OF STORY...PERIOD

I am in receipt of a communication from one of my more skeptical acquaintances who doubts—can you imagine!—the authenticity of last week's yarn about the boy who was called Damit Jones. This Doubting Thomas wants to know how in tunket anybody would inflict such a name on a young'un.

Since he didn't believe the story, in the first place, I doubt that my friend will believe the explanation, in the second, but here it is (and no further questions asked, please!):

Before this youngster was born his old man had his heart fixed upon a girl. The elder Mr. Jones even had a name chosen for her. He had selected the name, Damita, for the baby.

Then, when this boy-baby arrived, Old Man Jones was almost in sackcloth and ashes. But this young'un had to be named, and he had an inspiration. "We'll jest knock that last letter off the gal's name, and that'll be good enough for him," he grimly stated, and there was none to dispute him.

Asked how to pronounce the name, he rejoined:

"The same way I say it when I miss the nail with my hammer and hit my thumb!" (See Story 5, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Barker Succeeds Combs at Park; New Work Seen

George D. Barker became manager of Jenny Wiley State Park last Wednesday, succeeding John Combs who had held the post since early days of the Ford administration.

Mr. Combs resigned to assume charge of the Pikeville Motel which he recently purchased.

Mr. Barker comes to Jenny Wiley from Buckhorn State Park where he has been superintendent for the last 18 months. Before going to Buckhorn he was superintendent of Kentucky Dam Village for almost two years. Barker became associated with the Department of Parks after ill health required his retirement from a banking career after 23 years as a banker in Danville and elsewhere in Boyle county.

Renovation work at the park began soon after the arrival of Mr. Barker. Some new lodge furniture has been installed, and work to expand and improve the facilities of the Jenny Wiley boat dock has been started. In addition to renovation of the dock office, live bait will be made available, gasoline pumps will be relocated for the convenience of boaters, a fish-dressing facility provided, and a "cradle" for lifting of boats to be washed will be installed. The number of lockers also will be materially increased.

Michael Fitzpatrick, of Garrett, is the new dock manager there, succeeding Steve Collins, of Prestonsburg, who resigned to operate the Collins Construction Company which he recently founded.

County Woman Crash Victim

A Floyd county woman was killed Sunday afternoon in an auto-truck collision while visiting relatives in Lewisburg, Ohio and two others were injured.

Mrs. Bertha Thornsby, 54, of Melvin, died almost instantly when the auto driven by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roosevelt Thornsby, of Lewisburg, plunged over an embankment after having been hit by a truck. A wheel of the truck dropped off, causing the collision, it was said.

The driver of the car and the victim's step-daughter, Miss Margie Thornsby, of Melvin, were hurt but not seriously.

Mrs. Thornsby was a native of Pike county, the daughter of the late Will and Martha Music Tackett. She was a member of Joppa Regular Baptist Church. She was first married to Otis Little, after whose (See Story 6, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Accused Slayer Of Wife Freed, Reported Sane

Mont Robinette, 72, who is accused of the revolver slaying last June 10 of his wife, 58-year-old Laura Spradlin Robinette, was returned here last Thursday from Central State Hospital where he was taken for observation.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said no written statement was supplied him to show the mental condition of the prisoner and that he telephoned the hospital before taking action on a motion for Robinette's release under bond. This call, he said, elicited the information that Robinette was considered to be sane.

Judge Stumbo then released the prisoner under $10,000 bond in the slaying and $1,000 bond for shooting at without wounding Policeman Darrel J. Conley. The case will go to the grand jury next month.

Sheriff Frank Leslie said questioning of those arrested in the theft of materials from the Prestonsburg Community College has continued since last week but that no further admissions have been made by the three men who were charged. The college, which is doing a complete inventory, has discovered that a carton of watchbands valued at $76.50 is missing.

Held under bond in the theft, which involved more than $1,500 worth of items, are Jesse Dale Baldrige, custodian at the college, Ronnie Little, a work-study student, and Ronnie Stone, of Oil Springs. Hearing in quarterly court for Baldrige has been set for tomorrow (Thursday), and for Little and Stone, Aug. 24.

Sizemore Span Joint Venture

Otto Ingram, deputy commissioner for rural roads, announced last Friday an addition to the 1972-'73 county road aid program for Floyd county.

Acting for Highway Commissioner Charles Pryor, Jr., Mr. Ingram said this addition provides for a joint venture between the Department of Highways and Floyd County in constructing a bridge over Beaver Creek northeast of KY 122 on the Sizemore Mine road.

The county road aid program is supported by the General Assembly's appropriation of $13 million for the 1972-'73 fiscal year. Its purpose is to help the counties of the state meet their responsibilities for local roads.

Dare To Be Great Ban Is Temporary

An injunction issued last Thursday by Fayette Circuit Judge L. T. Grant prohibits Dare To Be Great, a Florida-based self-improvement program, from further activities in Kentucky till a full hearing of the case filed against it by the Attorney General's office can be heard Aug. 31.

Dare To Be Great attorneys agreed to Judge Grant's temporary restraining order last Thursday, a short time before a scheduled hearing was to begin.

Individuals in this county connected with the program indignantly protest allegations made against it and predict that Dare To Be Great will win in the Fayette court, as it has in other courts.

Judge Grant's order not only prohibits further promotional meetings till the final hearing Aug. 31 but also forbids the transporting of persons out of the state to take part in such meetings and any promotional campaign that might lead prospective customers to believe they will reap considerable financial profits.

The restraining order was granted on the basis of a suit filed against Dare To Be Great, a subsidiary of the Glen W. Turner Enterprises, Inc., of Orlando, Fla., asking that the program be permanently enjoined from operating in Kentucky, that fines be assessed and that money received from customers be returned. The action filed by the attorney general's office asks that the purchase price be refunded to any person who returns the self-improvement course material and that Glen W. Turner Enterprises and its owner be fined $2,000 for each violation of the new Kentucky consumer fraud law. It also seeks a $5,000 civil penalty for each violation of the law forbidding referral selling.

Narcotics Cases Increase Number Of 1971 Arrests

Total crime in Floyd county rose last year above the number of offenses recorded in 1970, as did Kentucky as a whole, the uniform crime reports contained in the Department of Public Safety's recently released "Crime in Kentucky" shows. This county had 311 reported crimes last year. In 1970 the total was 290.

Included in the report filed by Commissioner William O. Newman, Department of Public Safety, with Governor Ford are not only the reported cases and arrests but also charts showing the ages of persons involved in crime, months and days when crime was at its highest, and the figures on a new phase of crime which is represented by the use and sale of narcotics.

The drug traffic contributed heavily to the total number of crimes committed in the state last year. In most counties where no such offenses were recorded in 1970, arrests were reported last year.

In Floyd county, for instance, there were six arrests on narcotics counts (five of them were for marijuana) in 1971, while in 1970 no such cases were recorded. Johnson county last year had 16 such cases, Pike 2 and Martin 2, while Knott and Magoffin had none. No drug cases were recorded in any of these counties during the preceding year.

So ran the drug report in practically every county of the state which does not have a metropolitan center, and in most of these cities the incidence of drug arrest was higher.

Floyd county had six murders last year, as compared to five in 1970. Two man-slaughters were reported for each year.

Tenant's Action To Bar Eviction Filed Thursday

Bessie Burke, 72, filed in circuit court here last Thursday a petition for a temporary and permanent injunction to restrain Judith D. Archer, the Housing Authority of Prestonsburg and the Prestonsburg Housing Commission from evicting her from Indian Hills, municipal housing development here in which she is a tenant.

Her petition said her eviction had been slated for the day on which her motion for injunction was filed. She claims the intended eviction was proposed without hearing and justifiable reason. Mrs. Burke's petition says her income is from Social Security and Black Lung benefits and that she does not have funds sufficient to rent comparable housing on a competitive market.

Mills and Wife, Bullet Victims; Rites Held Here

Joint funeral rites were held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the chapel of the Floyd Funeral Home here for a Middletown, O. couple who were found dead the morning of Aug. 8 of bullet wounds.

The victims were Oscar Mills, 59, formerly of Auxier, and his wife, 56-year-old Jewel Reid Mills.

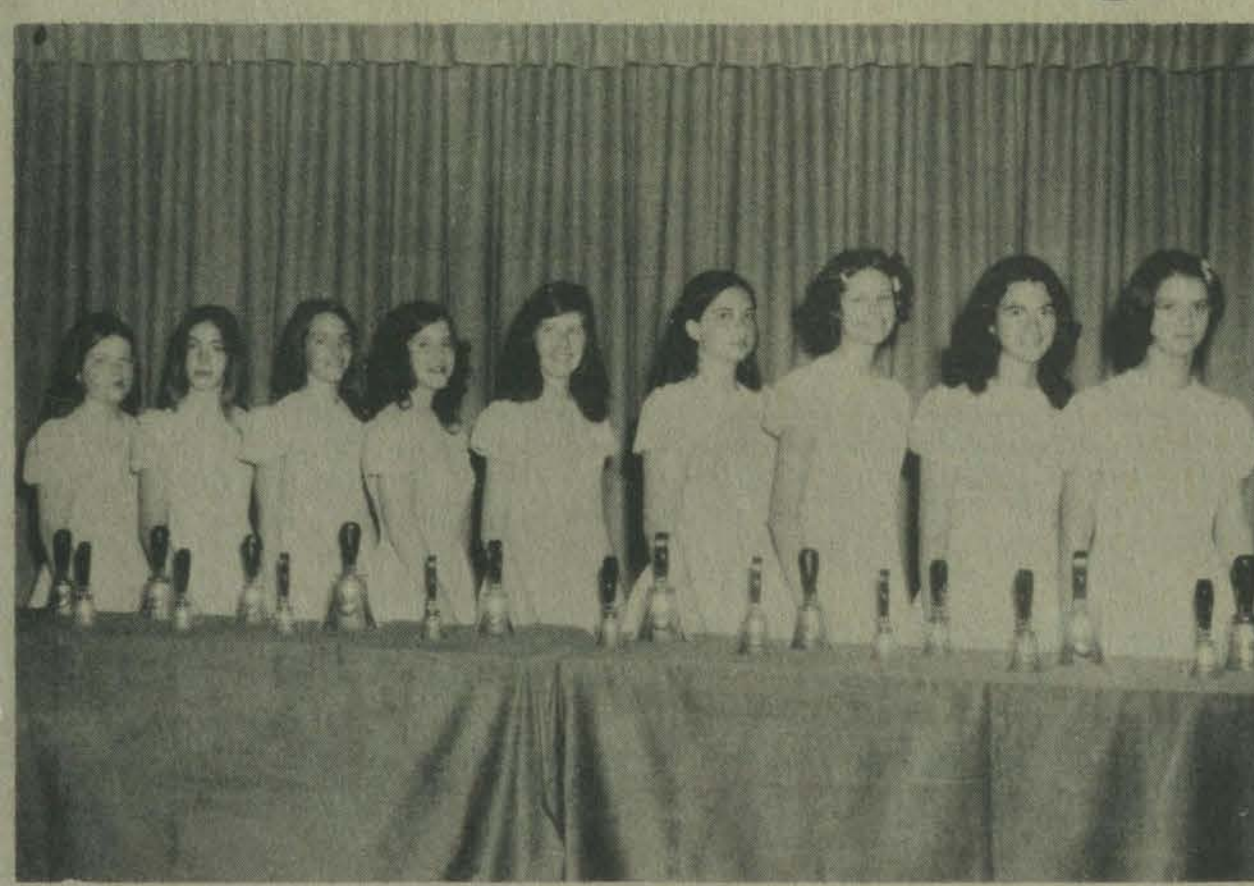

Dr. Ralph Young, of Lebanon, O., coroner of Warren county, held that Mills had shot his wife and then had turned the gun on himself. Both were shot in the head.

The husband and wife operated the Blue Bell Market at Middletown. A son who had attended the 19-inning baseball game that night at Riverfront Stadium, Cincinnati, stopped at the store to see his parents, sometime around 1:30 a.m., and found the bodies. Mr. and Mrs. Mills had been dead perhaps 30 minutes when found, the coroner said.

Mr. Mills was a son of William H. and Ollie Boyd Mills and was a native of Patrick, Ky. His wife was a daughter of the late Miles and Birdie Machon Reid and was born at Cleveland, Alabama. They are survived by three sons and two daughters, Oscar E. Mills, Kansas City, Mo., Jimmy Mills, East St. Louis, Ill., Bob Mills, Marion, O., Mrs. Delores Simmons, Rockford, Ill., and Mrs. Billie Sue Castle, Columbus, Ohio. They also leave 11 grandchildren. Mrs. Mills is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Rufus and Eugene Reid, both of Springfield, O., Mrs. Inez Music, of Auxier, and Mrs. Darlene Lewis, of Leesburg, Florida. Mr. Mills is survived by his parents.

The funeral service here was conducted by the Rev. Willie Duty. Burial of Mr. and Mrs. Mills was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Festival To Feature Bellringers

Music of the bellringers will be a part of the varied program at the seventh annual Highlands Folk Festival at Jenny Wiley State Park with the appearance Sunday afternoon, Sept. 3, of the Youth Handbell Choir of the First Baptist Church, Ashland. The church group, directed by Charles F. Tidd, has toured a number of states and is widely known for its presentation of religious music, both vocally and by the tonal consonance of bells. Among the numbers which they are expected to offer as a part of the Sunday closing program of the three-day festival are "Trumpet Tune," "Fairest Lord Jesus" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd".

Mrs. Edith F. James, director of the festival, said the number of performers and the variety of their offerings is expected to be greater this year than at any of the festivals yet held. The festival will begin Friday, Sept. 1, and continue through Sunday.

The same picture that hung above the pulpit when we were all growing up, is still hanging there. It's the one, you know, with this inscription:

"I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; Now I'm going home."
(I have forgotten whose picture this is, and if any of you remember whose it is, I wish you'd write and tell me.)

A large picture of "The Lord's Supper" has been hung alongside the one bearing the inscription.

The home-made seats that used to be in this church house (and in the one before it), have been replaced by what we all used to call "brought-on" seats.

As in days of yore, the women sat on one side of the church, and the men sat on the other.

I think the regular preacher's name is Reverend LeMaster, and that he lives somewhere above Prestonsburg. He reminded me a little of the late Reverend Hargie Conley.

Just as it's always been, anybody who wanted to preach, preached; anyone who wanted to lead off with a song, led off with a song; and if people felt like shouting, they shouted.

It was when the preaching began that I thought of Pa, and it was when the singing started that I thought of Mommie, and I'd like to tell you all why I thought of them especially at these times:

Pa dearly loved the United Baptist Church, and there was nothing in this world that he enjoyed more than preaching there, but he also liked to worship with other churches, every now and then, and it was on some of these occasions that he'd join right in with the members of those congregations, and sing such songs as:

"Bringing in the Sheaves," or perhaps, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," but not once, in all the years of Mommie's life did I ever hear her sing, or even hum, a tune unless it could be found within the covers of the United Baptists' one and only song book, "The Sweet Songster."

Mommie sang songs like: "Yes, We'll Lay Down the Bibles and Go Home," or "Amazing Grace," or she just simply didn't sing "at all"... and although I've always leaned a little toward Pa's belief in this matter, I shall cherish as long as I live, Mommie's loyalty to that "Sweet Songster" book.

It was from the Sweet Songster that the congregation at this year's meeting sang so many long-familiar, hymns. "A Twelfth More Hath Rolled Around" was sung in preparation for the partaking of the bread and wine by the United Baptist members... All of our faith and order." And this song continued into the washing of one another's feet.

(I noticed that most of the people who partook in the washing of feet had towels wrapped around their waists. Sister Julia and I discussed this on the way home, and we thought we remembered a Biblical passage something like this:

"And then they girded themselves with towels, and washed one another's feet."
(Is there a Biblical passage like that? If there is, can any of you tell me where it may be found?)

After the towels had been girded around the members' waists, the actual footwashing took place. And of this I am certain:

I have never, in all the days of my life, seen more genuine love and fellowship than was manifested during that time. No wonder that everyone who has ever lived in or near Bonanza tries to get back for the footwashin' meeting each year, for, aside from all the precious memories that great day brings back to us, there are these blessed assurances to be gleaned from these meetings:

1. Regardless of the trials and tribulations encountered in this world, people still have love in their hearts toward one another;

2. Although many of our loved ones have gone on to a better world, it's just a matter of time, until we'll all be together again...and forever.

Let's all try to get "back home" on the Sunday following the third Saturday in July next year.

Tragedy Hits Hollow-Dwellers Second Time

By Helen Price Stacy

Some people move to the secluded hollows of Eastern Kentucky because of the scenery, fresh air and a love of nature; others live there by choice and a feeling that here is where their heart is.

For George White, his modest four-room house, at the head of one of Martin county's narrow, hill-locked valleys, was his second most dearest possession. His family came first.

His father had lived in Long Branch Hollow, and White, his wife Bonnie, and their three children were happy, surrounded by the mountains. There were no city conveniences, but there was a garden in back and a new chicken house, for as White said later, "I was aiming to sell eggs. There was a good market for them."

A fire destroyed their first home in 1966, and took the lives of two younger children. As if latching onto memories would help ease her heartache, Mrs. White had kept two toys saved from the fire.

White is a miner at Wolf Creek Collieries, and every payday had put aside a few dollars marked for a new house "some day." The family worked hard and lived frugally.

In July, when miners' vacations came around, the father loaded his family in the car and set out for Columbus, Ohio.

The White children had long been used to rabbits, squirrels and possums—all the small feathered and furred creatures that lived along Long Branch Hollow, but when they went to the zoo in Columbus it was exciting there, too.

"They still talk about it," said Mrs. White. "We all really enjoyed ourselves. We were with relatives, and had lots of catching up to do with others in the family."

Their visit over, and their hearts set on the Kentucky mountains, they started homeward, picking out familiar landmarks as they reached Martin county and Inez.

"The closer we got, the more anxious we got," Mrs. White said. "We began to look around for changes, hoping not to find any. All the way up the hollow, I knew something was wrong." The mother explained that every time they rounded a curve she became more apprehensive.

When they reached home, the parents sat down and cried. The house was gone, burned to the ground. Left was a wood-burning cook stove and the chicken house. The toy keepsakes were gone.

There was nothing to do but move into the tiny chicken house, which has been their home since July 6.

Mrs. White and Joyce cook outside on the stove. They still have their outdoor "bathroom" facility, and still carry water from a spring.

At the time of the first fire, the loss of the "two babies" almost finished her husband, explained Mrs. White.

"George met the coroner coming out the hollow as he was coming in from work that evening. The coroner told him, 'I've got your babies in the back.' He just never did get over it."

The second fire held a double tragedy also.

White had saved every dollar he could for the day when he could start building a new house for "Bonnie and the kids. By living right, I had saved all of $13,000 to use on the house."

Boyd Court Dismisses Teacher's $65,000 Suit

An order dismissing a $65,000 suit brought by a teacher in the Boyd county school system against the county board of education was entered Friday in Boyd circuit court by Judge J. G. M. Robinson.

The suit was filed in September, 1970, by Mrs. Helena Dorr, a teacher at Summit elementary school, after the school board terminated her teaching contract in May of the same year.

Mrs. Dorr sought reinstatement in her teaching position, damages totaling $65,000 for harm to her reputation, and wages due since her unemployment.

Barker Says Squirrel Supply Adequate; Season Begins Aug. 19

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources announced last week that the first part of Kentucky's squirrel hunting season will open Saturday (Aug. 19) and continue through October 31. The squirrel season will reopen on November 16 and run through December 31.

The daily bag limit is six squirrels per day, and 12 in possession after two or more days of hunting. Hunters are not permitted to hold a possession limit of squirrels in the field, however.

Squirrel hunting should be exceptionally good this year, according to Harold Barber, chief forest game biologist in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Barber bases his predictions on last year's abundant food supply which brought the squirrels through the winter in good shape. The biologist adds that the bushy-tails appear to have had a good reproductive season this year.

Barber notes that squirrel populations are heavily dependent on mast production. Mast is the principal item in the squirrel's diet and includes such tree products as acorns, hickory nuts and tree seeds. Throughout much of the state the upcoming squirrel season should be at least as good as last year, and some parts of the state will be noticeably better, he predicted.

As a tip to hunters, the game biologist points out that in late August squirrels will be feeding on black gum fruits, yellow poplar seeds and Virginia pine cone seeds. Later on the bushy-tails will switch their diet to hickory nuts and walnuts, with acorns and beechnuts providing forage in the late fall months.

Squirrel hunters may use all types of muzzle-loading firearms for their quarry. Also permitted are breech-loading rifles smaller than .240 caliber. Shotguns with slugs or buckshot are prohibited for squirrel hunting.

Hunters must have a valid hunting license in their possession when in the field. Resident hunting licenses are $5 and non-resident annual licenses cost $27.50. Juvenile hunting licenses for residents under 16 years of age are $3.50. This year, non-resident hunters may obtain for the first time a new three-day small game license for a fee of $10.00.

Hunting hours are from daylight to dark.

Firm Here Has Part In 1 Million Sale

Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet-Buick, of Prestonsburg, played a supporting role in helping make automotive marketing history recently—the sale of one million Chevrolet cars and trucks within a 100-day period.

The 1,000,000-unit mark was topped with the aid of the more than 6,000 Chevrolet dealers across the country in the 100-day period of April 21 through July 31. It marked the first time any automotive manufacturer has sold that many cars and trucks in any 100-day period.

By comparison, Edward Music, of the Prestonsburg firm, said, it took Chevrolet nearly 11 years (1912 to 1923) to sell its first million cars and trucks.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Jim Manuel who passed away Aug. 14, 1970:
Gone but not forgotten.
They told me, Pa.
They told me you were dead.
They brought me bitter news to hear
And bitter tears we shed.
I cry as I remember
How often you and I watched the sunset
while talking
And sent it down the sky to rest.
And now that you are sleeping,
My dear old dad, you see,
That death can take us all away,
But memories never cease.

Sadly missed by his children but most by Margie and Evelyn England.
It.

Defense, Big Problem With 1972 Blackcats

The mood of the Prestonsburg high school football team is optimistic as the season-opener against Wheelwright on Aug. 25 nears, although the team last week lost a mainstay, Co-Capt. Gary Yates, who may be out for the season.

"I think our season depends upon how the defense develops," Coach Ed Radjunas, who is in his second year here, said last week. "We have to rebuild it, and that is one of the toughest jobs any team has to do. When you lose 7 of 11 starters, you have to go with a lot of young people and inexperience, and it's the defensive unit that wins games."

Radjunas began preparing for the coming grid campaign July 24, and 64 youngsters turned out for practice. After four days of conditioning, he and his lone assistant, John Wayne Shepherd, began twice-a-day work-outs. A scrimmage game with Raceland high was scheduled for Tuesday evening, this week.

The Cats have 18 lettermen returning from last year's 6-3-2 team. Radjunas expects little trouble with his offense adjusting, with experiences players for almost every position and with considerable new talent in the wings, just waiting for a chance to take over starting roles.

The offense will be spearheaded by Co-Capt. Danny Wells, 205-pound fullback who was the leading scorer and ground-gainer on the 1971 team. Wells rushed last year for 758 yards, scored 12 touchdowns and caught 15 passes for 282 yards.

"We changed our offensive look in the spring and were highly pleased," Radjunas said this week. "We discovered that we're going to have more depth and speed than last year and a better running game. With the loss of Yates, the running game will be in the hands of Robert Tackett, Earl Stephens, Johnny Heinze, Ren Burke, Danny Layne, and Steve Campbell.

Quarterback, Coach Radjunas said, is no problem. Jim Blackburn is back after a sensational sophomore year, but the slender signal-caller will be pushed by sophomore Dell Jagers. Both boys worked well with the new offense last spring and in recent practice sessions have looked great. Freshman Bob Copeland thus far shows a lot of promise, his coach said.

The offensive line is in good shape. The only losses from last year's team were Randy Leslie, end, and George Hale, tackle. Both positions are open and strong contenders are Paul Pelphrey, Randy Wells, Steve Boyd and Gene Calhoun. Jim Calhoun, a guard last year, has been moved to fill one tackle slot. Tony Griffith holds down the other. Tom Howell and Tim Collins are the guards, and Lowell Branham is at center.

Said Radjunas: "Our kids are going to want to work this year, because, I think, they were not satisfied with last season. I know that, right now, I'm more confident than I was last year. But there still remains a little, dark cloud hanging over that defense—we know we can score but we wonder how much our opponents will be scoring."

Fisherman's Discovery at Lake Poses Another Unsolved Mystery

US Shoe Initiates Worker Participation

The United States Shoe Corporation plant recently inaugurated an employee participation program. All non-supervisory people are eligible to submit their ideas and suggestions on how to do things better. Suggestions will be encouraged whether they pertain to the employee's own job or that of another, or whether it applies to a process or method in the plant.

Employees whose suggestions are accepted and put into use will receive 10 percent of the first year's net savings payment—a minimum of $10 and up to a maximum of $500.

A company spokesman said, "Despite our free and open communication program that we have maintained with our employees over the years, often good cost-saving ideas are not mentioned or suggested without stimulation. It is the company's hope, therefore, that this new program with financial compensation will provide the stimulus for new ideas."

A quiet investigation was undertaken last week at Dewey Lake by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and state agencies to determine if an unreported drowning has occurred there, or if the lake holds a victim of foul play.

The probe began with a report made Sunday, Aug. 6, by a fisherman, George Meade, of Printer, that the artificial lure which he was casting had snagged on some object at the bottom of the lake in the wide expanse of water between the riding stables and the Goble Branch picnic area and that when he succeeded in retrieving his hook it held what he believed to be hair.

Tests made at the State Police laboratories in Frankfort verified the belief that the substance was human hair. One strand recovered was from 12 to 15 inches long, but it was not determined if it was from a male or female body.

A Corps of Engineers diver from Marietta, O. for a part of two days covered the lake bottom in the area pointed out by Meade, but nothing was found. The lake was not dragged—possibly, because authorities sought to avoid excitement and the gathering of a crowd along the lakeshore.

Investigators do not doubt the authenticity of Mead's report. "If," said one, "he is manufacturing this story, he should be on the stage, for in that case he is a great actor."

If the fisherman's hook did dredge up human hair, questions begin to sprout:

1. If a body is in the lake, could the case be anything but murder, since no accidental drowning was reported?

2. If there has been tragedy there, why could not the diver find a body?

3. If a body is there, why has it failed to rise to the surface, or could it be weighted?

Although no official statement could be elicited, The Times learned that, in addition to the Corps of Engineers, park rangers, State Police and the Division of Water Safety were involved in the search.

Next month Kentucky will begin registering able-bodied welfare recipients for jobs, state Economic Security Commissioner Gail S. Huecker says.

City and County Waste Disposal System Readied

Louisa and Lawrence county will begin operation Sept. 1 of the first city-county solid waste disposal system in the Big Sandy valley, it was said last week by Louisa Mayor Howard Queen.

Announcement of the city-county program there came while plans are yet being developed for a comprehensive collection-disposal program for Floyd and Pike counties. This project has involved a study by Spindletop researchers but its implementation apparently is months distant.

In Lawrence county the Louisa city council bought a used bulldozer from a Louisville firm for $33,000 for use when the landfill at Fallsburg is opened Sept. 1. The landfill will serve the city only for the first six months, during which time County Judge J. J. Jordan and the fiscal court arrange for countywide service.

It was said 30-yard-wide Dempster Dumpsters will be located at strategic points over the county and that these will be emptied into trucks and hauled to the landfill regularly.

Planning Starts For Oct. Event

Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Eastern, founder of the annual Floyd county Red, White and Blue Day, announced this week that a meeting of interested persons will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at the Information Center here to plan the third staging of the event Saturday, Oct. 21.

In its first two years Red, White and Blue Day, which observes Veterans Day with a patriotic parade and in costumes, crafts, music and speeches emphasizes the concept on which America was founded, drew the largest crowds ever to gather here. This year, Mrs. Bailey said, 35,000 are expected to jam Prestonsburg for the event.

Mrs. Bailey said the assistance and encouragement of business firms, the county school system, churches and civic organizations as well as individual citizens are sought as plans are made for the celebration.

Mrs. Archer, who is executive director for the Housing Commission, said Monday she had not been notified of the tenant's action. She said a writ of forcible entry and detainer will be filed this week for the tenant's eviction. Mrs. Archer explained that Mrs. Burke occupies a one-bedroom unit for the elderly at Indian Hills and that the tenant has, contrary to terms of her lease, kept her grandchildren and others in the small quarters. The director added that Mrs. Burke was notified last month to move within 10 days and later was granted permission to remain till end of the month. She added that she has on file a number of complaints from neighbors of Mrs. Burke.

In another circuit court suit filed earlier last week Charles B. and S. F. Bradley, Dewey and Sola Roberts seek to recover a total of $9,800 from the Greer-Ellison Coal Company or its successor, the Diamond Coal Co., for loss of gas and damages which they claim has been done to their gas well on Prater Creek as a result of strip-mining.

Plaintiffs claim that the mining operation caused a large accumulation of soil, rock and debris above and adjacent to their well, caused slides which completely covered the well, breaking and damaging the casing head connections and causing water, soil and rocks to fill the well between the five-inch casing and the tubing to the Big Lime formation. They claim, also, that water, soil and smaller particles of debris have filled the well between casing and tubing to the shale formation.

Claiming that the natural flow of gas from the well was permitted by the coal company to escape for more than 90 days and that the well was not restored to production for more than 12 months, the plaintiffs allege they expended $3,000 to clear water from the well and in doing other work.

For permanent damages claimed they ask $3,800. They ask $3,000 for profits lost.

FOR THE RECORD
 Somewhere along the Texas-Mexico border there's a customs officer who is, as they say, considerably to my liking. When my youngest son asked the man, a few days ago, at this border town if many Kentuckians crossed the border there, he said, "Only two or three a year."

Then this Texan paid us a compliment which I hastily set down in print for posterity. Said he:

"I figure you Kentuckians don't travel much because you feel like you're already there."

And to think that there was a time when I, a Kentuckian who hasn't travelled, thought every Texan was fashioned after the pattern of Senator Claghorn! I finally got as far as Austin for a few days, and I've never met more delightfully friendly people.

When Jesse Elliott died, the other day, many of us lost a good friend. Floyd county was the loser, too—when Jesse Elliott left us, it lost a lot of plain, unadulterated goodness.

MAIL MAGIC

The Postal Service would have you think this Zip Code is absolutely essential if you want your mail to get there. I submit the following as proof that neither Zip Code nor even the name of the state is necessary. This is the address on a letter mailed from West Union, Ohio, August 2:

And Mr. Baldrige got the letter without delay.

'Magic Carpet Ride,' Is Theme Of Pageant Here, September 2

"A Magic Carpet Ride" will be the colorful theme of the ninth annual "Miss Floyd County Pageant" to be staged the evening of Sept. 2, at Prestonsburg high school.

The look of Arabia will be reflected in stage settings. Contestants will open the program with a dance to the tune of "A Magic Carpet Ride," a composition by Steppenwolf.

The magic words, "arbra ca dabra," will release 11 lovely geni from their make-believe lamps, and they will dance in oriental costumes.

The 11 young ladies have met four times already to rehearse their talents and many more practice sessions are planned. The audience will be entertained by singing, dancing, piano music, comedy, dramatic readings and an artist who will draw a picture on stage.

Mrs. Sharon Stai and Mrs. Rita Allen, pageant general co-chairmen for the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, sponsors of the annual scholarship event, said the show this year will be the most ambitious production planned since the start of the annual program in Prestonsburg.

They said it will be a show designed to depict the poise, grace and beauty of the contestants who are seeking the Miss Floyd County title.

Mrs. Janice Allen, judges chairman, has announced that two prominent men from the field of education will serve on the panel of judges. They are Gene Deaton, of Morehead, professor of music at Morehead State University, and director of the University's stage band, and Dr. Charles Wethington, of Lexington, assistant vice-president of community colleges for the University of Kentucky, and former director of Maysville Community College.

The third judge is Betty Butler, of Lexington, who headed the Miss Lexington Pageant last year.

Tickets for the production will be sold at the high school, the night of the performance.

Floyd County Has Two Chances To Produce Miss Kentucky RECC

Two Floyd county girls—Sharon O'Quinn, of Garrett, who is Miss Big Sandy RECC for 1972, and Miki Jane Little, of Melvin, this year's Miss Licking Valley RECC—will compete Aug. 23 with 19 other Kentucky girls for the Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperatives' crown and title of Miss Kentucky Rural Electric.

Miss Little, although a resident of this county, was eligible to compete for the Miss Licking Valley title because her father, Mike Little, owns and operates a television cable system at Royalton, Magoffin county, and is an electric power customer of the Licking Valley co-op.

The winner of the title will receive a $300 scholarship to the school of her choice and an expense-paid trip to Dallas, Texas, next February to compete in the national Miss Rural Electrification Beauty Pageant. In addition, she will receive an expense-paid trip to Washington, D. C., next summer to participate in the annual Rural Electric Washington Youth Program. The first runnerup will receive a $200 scholarship and the second runner-up a $100 scholarship.

This is the 23rd consecutive year that the Miss Kentucky Rural Electric Beauty Pageant has been held, which makes it the oldest continuously held beauty contest in the state.

Each contestant earned the right to participate in the state pageant by winning a local beauty contest conducted by her rural electric cooperative. Contestants in the local rural electric contests were girls between the ages of 16 and 22 whose parents or guardians are members of the sponsoring rural electric. These local contests are held each year during the month of July. They are featured on the programs of the rural electric cooperatives' annual membership meetings. The winners at these contests then represent their cooperatives in the State Pageant.

Last year's winner of the State Pageant, Miss Becky Bartley who represented Farmers Rural Electric of Glasgow, will participate in the crowning ceremonies when the new Miss Kentucky Rural Electric is named. The coronation will take place on the stadium stage at the Kentucky

State Fair and Exposition Center on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 23. This will be one of the features of the Rural Electric—Farm Bureau Day at the Kentucky State Fair.

Mrs. Louise Cecil, professional model, will direct the Pageant again for the sixth year. She will also provide professional counsel and coaching for the contestants. The first official and public appearance of the contestants will be during a banquet on the evening of August 22. The girls will make two appearances during the banquet session. One appearance will be in swim suits and one in street clothes. Each girl will be interviewed and the judges will make their preliminary evaluations.

The final appearance for the girls will be on the stadium stage at the State Fair on the following afternoon. Here, they will appear in swim suits and evening dresses and be interviewed again by Master of Ceremonies Bob Miller, manager of promotional services for the Kentucky Association of Rural Electrics. The judges will then select the winner and two runners-up.

In addition to the winners selected by the judges, the contestants themselves select one of their number to receive the "Miss Cordiality" award.

Our teachers are in a class by themselves

The most important investment our community can make is in our young people. And as any good banker can tell you, an important investment needs responsible management. And that's where our teachers earn a high grade.

Managing a roomful of active young minds takes a special talent. As you can tell, we think the job our teachers are doing with the community's favorite investment is first class.

Loans Up to $50,000 Available to Veterans

Vietnam Era veterans—anyone who has served in the armed forces since August 5, 1964—may now be eligible for a business loan up to $50,000. A program announced in Washington August 1 by the Veterans Administration and the Small Business Administration will allow loans up to that amount for veterans of this war period.

Already the recipients of more government benefits than any other group of veterans from any war, the Vietnam veterans will find the new assistance will make it easier for them to start and maintain businesses.

The new program was instituted by the SBA at the request of President Nixon for all government agencies to accept a renewed commitment toward the men and women who have served in the armed forces anywhere in the world during the Vietnam period. An estimated 5.8 million such veterans have returned to civilian life to date.

Under the new program which was announced jointly by Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson and SBA Administrator Thomas S. Kleppe, these veterans are now eligible for business loans, federal government contracts and management assistance in the SBA program. Previously, SBA restricted such loans to socially or economically disadvantaged persons.

The VA will not be directly involved in the program, but veterans benefit officials at the VA will counsel veterans on the program and offer advice and other help. Administrator Johnson termed the SBA action as "providing additional opportunity for young veterans to participate in the economic life of their communities and to reach the level of success we all wish for them."

Under the expanded program, honorably discharged veterans of the Vietnam era are now eligible for economic opportunity loans (EOL) up to $50,000 for 15 years at a low interest rate (under title IV of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964).

Criteria for such loans are more liberal than in other SBA lending programs, although the veteran will be required to satisfy certain credit and character requirements, and to furnish reasonable assurance that the loan will be repaid. Such loans are available to veterans who wish to expand an existing business or to establish a new business. As with all SBA loans, the veteran must show that he cannot secure financing from his bank or normal lending channels at reasonable terms or cannot obtain funds under SBA's regular business loan program. Such a loan also assumes that the veteran does not have sufficient personal financial resources and is in a low income status.

Applicants may be sole proprietorships, partnerships or corporations. Where there are two or more principals, the veteran must own at least 50 per cent of the business. Federal government contract and counseling in management and technical fields are also available. This training may be required by SBA in some instances.

Veterans interested in taking advantage of any SBA program may apply in person, by telephone or write to their nearest SBA office. There are 85 such offices in the principal cities of all 50 states. Kentucky veterans who wish information or advice on the program may contact the regional office of the Veterans Administration at 600 Federal Plaza, Louisville.

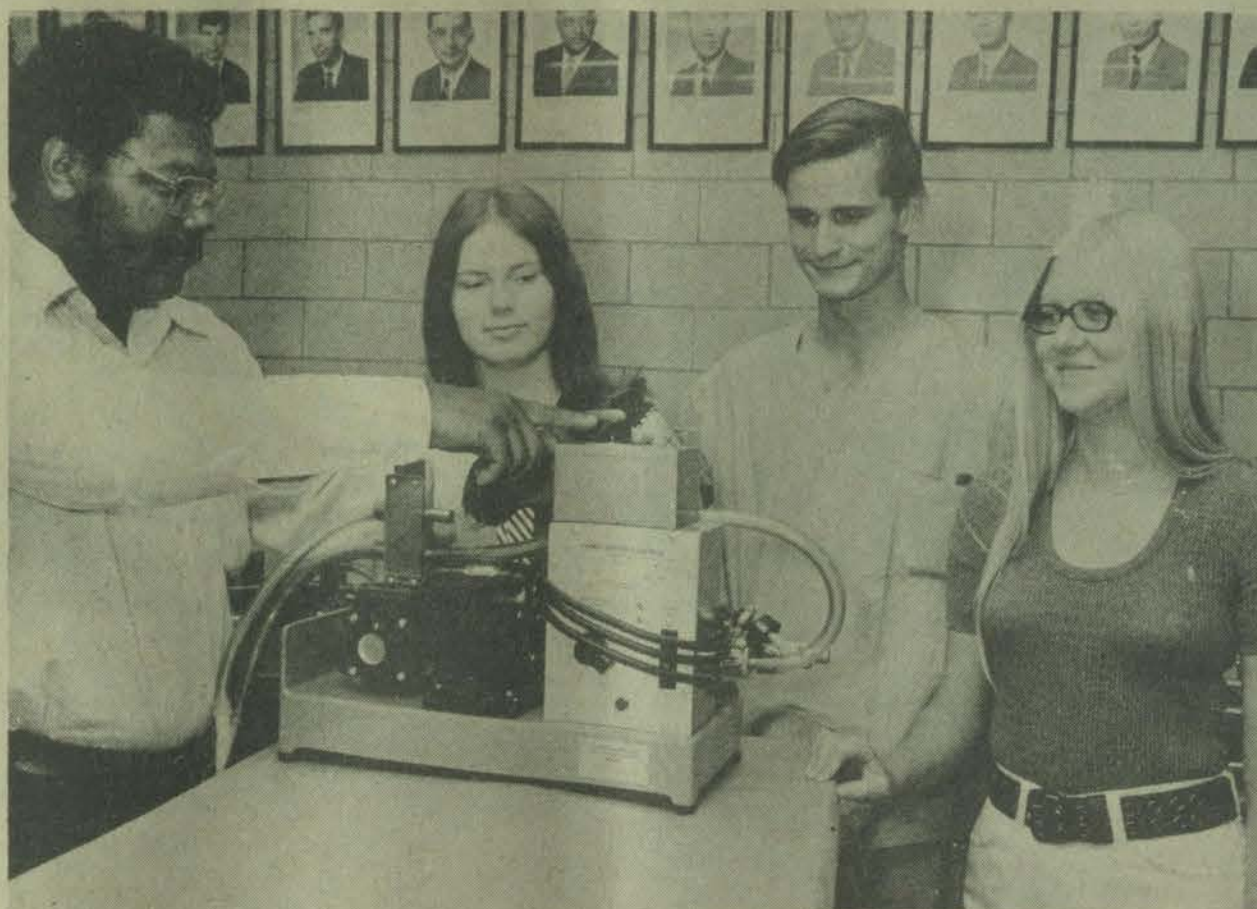

EAST POINT NEWS

The East Point Area Development Club met in regular session at the Masonic Temple, Monday evening, August 2. The special guest, Mrs. Eula Preston, of the Paintsville Garden Club, spoke to the club concerning the Johnson county Apple Festival, and invited the club to co-sponsor the making and selling of apple butter at the festival.

Items discussed were the playground, road signs, and tickets being sold on a beef and a hand-crocheted afghan.

The meeting adjourned after the auctioning of many items not sold at the pie social held in July. A special session will be held Monday, August 21, at 7:30 p.m. to complete plans for the Apple Festival.

Learn About Health Work

Eugene Franklin (left), assistant director of the "Summer in Medical Sciences" program of the Student American Medical Association at the University of Kentucky's Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, explains laboratory equipment to Lee county residents Peggy Sue Newman (left), Terry Horton (right) and Floyd county resident Vernon Hall (center). Franklin, a former medical careers program participant, is a second-year medical student at UK.

A Floyd county youth and two young people from Lee county are spending a summer working and learning about the health professions at the University of Kentucky's Albert B. Chandler Medical Center. They are participating in a "Summer in Medical Sciences" program sponsored by the Lexington chapter of the Student American Medical Association (SAMA).

Vernon Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Hall, of Grethel, Terry J. Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony M. Newman, of Heidelberg, are being exposed to the many varied aspects of health careers.

Designed to provide students with an opportunity to learn as they work, the eight-week project introduces the youths to audiology, pharmacy, respiratory therapy, medicine, dentistry and nursing.

Planning to pursue a career as a physician, Vernon Hall says this SAMA project has given him new experience in hospital work.

This year's SAMA summer program is being funded by the Office of the Vice President for the Medical Center, the United Negro College Fund, several county programs of the Neighborhood Youth Corps of the U. S. Department of Labor and the College Work Study programs of Berea College, Kentucky State College, Morehead State University and the University of Kentucky.

SUES ROWAN COUNTY BOARD

A teacher in the Rowan county school system for the past three years, who was not re-employed, has filed a civil suit in federal court, asking $300,000 damages against the superintendent and four of the five members of the Board of Education. The suit charges violation of the teacher's civil rights under the 1st and 14th amendments of the U. S. Constitution. The Morehead News reports that the Morehead-based UniServ director states that KEA is supporting and financing the federal suit.

During 1971, the number of minority youths registered in Labor Department apprentice programs rose 13 percent, or 2,337, reaching an all-time high of 20,482.

Scout Handbook, a Bestseller, To Appear in "Revised Version"

One of the nation's alltime best sellers is being published this fall in a new edition. Effective September 1, the more than 6½ million youth and adult members of the Boy Scouts of America will have a new handbook, used by all Scouts as a manual for advancement and reference, according to F. Marvin Barber, Scout executive, of the Lonesome Pine Council.

Since its first edition back in 1911, the Scout Handbook has sold over 16 million copies, which guarantees it a place in publishing history alongside the Bible and other best sellers. Over 50 million Americans have been enrolled in Scouting since 1910.

The new edition reprints none of the material in the old handbook. It's a complete overhaul, designed to introduce the changes in Scouting that go into effect on September 1. For the past 4 years, individuals and national committees have been planning changes to make Scouting more responsive to the needs of today's youth. Surveys and field studies told BSA what was needed and the new program was built around survey input from boys themselves. They'll get more leadership training, greater voice in planning and decision making, alternate routes to higher rank, team spirit, and relaxed uniform options.

Gone from the handbook are such outdated skills as tracking, stalking, and signaling. Instead, Scouts will have to become more skilled in personal communications, learn about drug abuse, indoor cooking, and other more relevant personal skills. They'll still have the old standbys, such as hiking and camping, but greater emphasis is being placed on ecological and environmental factors. Tree, shrub, and animal identification in each environment are included in the new book. A city boy will no longer be mystified by a requirement to identify rattlesnakes and condors; now he will learn about cockroaches and pigeons.

First-aid requirements haven't varied much in the new book, but the illustrations are more relevant. Treating snakebites is still there, but urban Scouts can zero in on a more relevant problem—rat bites.

One of the new skill awards is in the area of Community Living. Scouts are taught all about public utilities, ethnic groups, government taxes, volunteer service, and other facts of life in rural and urban America.

FELTNER FAMILY REUNION

Members of all branches of the Feltner family will gather at the J. M. Feltner Memorial 4-H Camp near London Sunday, August 27, for the first Feltner Family Reunion to be held in Kentucky.

Child Care Expense Tax Break Is Told

Employed taxpayers with child care expenses may get a bigger tax break in 1972, the Internal Revenue Service said last week. The Revenue Act of 1971 has greatly liberalized the deduction for the care of children, disabled dependents and disabled spouses. Beginning in 1972, taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of $18,000 or less may be able to deduct up to $400 per month for household and dependent care expenses.

The deduction is reduced 50 cents for each dollar of income over $18,000. For example, a taxpayer with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 would be limited to $3,800 (The maximum annual deduction of $4,800 less one-half of $2,000). To qualify, a taxpayer must be employed and provide over one-half the cost of maintaining a household for a dependent child under 15, a disabled dependent of any age, or a disabled spouse.

For the first time household expenses incurred to permit the taxpayer to be gainfully employed may also be deducted. For example, amounts paid for the services of a maid, cook or other domestic help can qualify. Expenses incurred outside the home for the care of a child under 15 (as, for example, in a day care center) may also qualify. However, expenses outside the home are limited to $200 per month for one child, $300 for two children or $400 for three or more children. However these expenses shall not include educational expenses incurred for a child in the first or higher grade.

If a deduction is claimed for the care of a disabled dependent, the deduction must be reduced by the amount by which the total of the dependent's adjusted gross income and any non-taxable disability payments he receives exceeds $750. In the case of a disabled spouse, the expenses must be reduced by non-taxable disability payments. As under the old law, a deduction may not be taken for payments to anyone who could be your dependent.

Taxpayers must itemize deductions in order to claim child care expenses. As with all itemized deductions, good records must be kept and expenses documented.

Publication No. 553, "Highlights of 1971 Changes in the Tax Law," which includes information on child care expenses is now available free at most IRS offices.

In June, the nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5.5 percent—a decline of 0.4 percent over the May figure and the lowest level in over a year and a half.

Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock says the state Education Department can shift funds from other areas to finance an unexpectedly large number of special education units this year. Under a 1972 law, local school districts are seeking state funds for 236 more special education units than are provided in the education budget for this fiscal year.

Proof of Mine Work Required in Claims For Black Lung Pay

When filing a claim for Black Lung benefits, miners or their survivors must prove that the miner worked in one or more coal mines. This announcement comes from Daryl E. Ratliff, manager of the Pikeville Social Security office. Preferred proofs of such mine employment are withholding statements (Form W-2's), pay stubs, pension certificates, employer statements, or union records. It is the claimant's responsibility to submit the proof. If a man worked 15 years or more in the underground coal mines, a presumption is applied which makes it easier for him to receive benefits. This provision was included in the 1972 amendments to the Black Lung law. However, before this presumption can be applied, the miner or his survivors must prove he worked 15 years or more. "Persons planning to file a Black Lung claim should phone the local Social Security office for further details," Ratliff said.

The bi-annual meeting of the Tenth Infantry Regiment Association will be held Saturday, August 19, in Charleston, West Virginia, according to Woodrow W. Stratton, coordinator. Mr. Stratton indicated that the meeting, to be held at the Holiday Inn No. 1, will be attended by several Floyd county residents who are association members and veterans of World War II.

Two mountains in the Holy Land are revered as the Mount of Transfiguration. Like many other sites of the Holy Land, one has to decide which site he prefers as being authentic—if, indeed, either is.

Since the fourth century Mt. Tabor has been accepted by many as the Mount of Transfiguration. Mt. Tabor is about five miles east of Nazareth and twelve miles west of the southern tip of the Sea of Galilee. Although the mount is only 1,843 feet in altitude, one can see a far distance from its summit.

Atop Mt. Tabor you can see Mt. Carmel, about 25 miles to the west on the edge of the Mediterranean Sea. You can also see Mt. Hermon, nearly 50 miles to the north. To the south and west of Mt. Tabor is the Plain of Esdraelon, also known as the plain of Jezreel.

The other spot which some consider to be the Mount of Transfiguration is Mt. Hermon. It is about 30 miles north of the Sea of Galilee. The highest point of this snow-capped mountain is 9,101 feet above sea level. Just south of Mt. Hermon is Caesarea Philippi. The fact that Jesus was mentioned as being in this area just prior to the transfiguration experience is accepted by some as evidence of Mt. Hermon being the Mount of Transfiguration.

The truth is that we don't know where the Mount of Transfiguration is. And it doesn't really matter. Because it was not the location which was important but the event. Jesus took Peter, James and John and led them up a high mountain. Then something mysterious and exciting happened. As the disciples looked on, the face of Jesus became exceedingly bright. His clothes became as white as light.

Then the three disciples recognized two men with Jesus—Moses and Elijah. Moses represented the old law through which God had sought to save man from his sinfulness. Elijah represented the prophets whom God had sent to lead the people into His kingdom. And Jesus, of course, was God's final and most perfect method of winning men to His Way.

Suddenly, a shining cloud came over the group and a Voice was heard speaking from the cloud: "This is my own dear Son, with whom I am well pleased—listen to Him!" It was such a terrifying experience for the disciples that they fell on their faces.

During the experience Peter, in his excitement, wanted to build three buildings of worship on the mountain. One was to be for Jesus, one for Moses, and one for Elijah. Peter had tasted a mountain-top spiritual experience.

But Jesus would not let Peter build the houses of worship. No, Jesus took His disciples and went back down into the valley where the suffering of life was. There was a young boy, suffering from epilepsy, waiting for Him upon His return.

Emergency Medical Technician Training Begins Second Year

A federally-funded project to train Kentuckians in emergency medical care of the public will begin its second year this fall in 17 Kentucky cities. More than 400 emergency medical technicians were trained in the project's first year.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Departments of Health and Public Safety, the training program is made possible by a grant from the U. S. Department of Transportation to the Department of Health's Comprehensive Medical Emergency Service Project.

Classes are limited to 30 students each. There is no tuition fee.

In each of the training sites, the program will be conducted by a local course instructor, a local physician, nurse or other emergency medical care expert. In Prestonsburg, classes will begin Nov. 27 at Prestonsburg Community College under the direction of James Newman.

Thomas A. Thompson, project training director, said invitations to participate in this series of courses have been sent to approximately 2,000 ambulance drivers and attendants in Kentucky, plus firemen, policemen, nurses, rescue squad members and others responsible for emergency care of the public.

The 12½-week course covers all aspects of emergency medical care and transportation of the sick and injured. The 25 lessons involve 71 hours of classroom training plus 10 hours of in-hospital observation. Over 20 hours of subject material are presented on videotape prepared by physicians from the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Upon successful completion of the course, the Department of Health certifies students as EMT's. The written and practical exam for the National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians is offered to the students immediately following the completion of each course.

EMT's certified by the Kentucky Department of Health, as well as licensed physicians, and registered and practical nurses, are covered by the "Good Samaritan" law passed by the General Assembly last spring. The law exempts these people from liability in civil damages for administering emergency care or treatment when pay for such services is neither expected nor given.

Additional information and advance registration forms may be obtained from Thomas A. Thompson, training director, Emergency Health Services, State Department of Health, 275 East Main Street, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.
