Raids Take Heavy Toll Last Week

Officers Say Here Intoxicants Valued At $6,120 in Haul

State Police and ABC Agent Arvel Nelson estimated after they had arrested nine men, a woman and a juvenile on liquor charges following a wholesale sweep of bootleg liquor outlets over the week-end that they had confiscated $6,120 worth of illegal intoxicants.

The raids involved a number of state troopers, including Troopers Tucker, Williamson, Rose, Stansberry and Scott from this immediate area, who were assisted by troopers from South Williamson. The number of officers engaged permitted almost simultaneous staging of raids in scattered parts of the Eight of the raids were made Saturday. Two others were made the following day, and a juvenile allegedly connected with one of the places raided Saturday was arrested at that time.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Frank Leslie and two of his deputies were in raids on Left Beaver Creek, Toler Creek and Little Mud Creek. Deputy Sheriff Victor Tackett confiscated 14 cases of beer from a car at Bevinsville Saturday night, and a John Doe warrant was later issued for the arrest of the driver who was not captured at the time. Sheriff Leslie and Deputy Sheriff Dester Hamilton confiscated 30 cans of beer, a "fifth" of champagne and three half-pints of whiskey from the property of Merv McKinney. Nothing was found in a search made by the same officers on the Morgan Fork of Little

The ABC-State Police roundup included

James "Red" Slone, on US 23, three miles south of here, 16 cans of beer and 14 half-pints of whiskey; Cora Slone, in the same vicinity, 11 cans of ale, two half-pints of vodka and 12 bottles of wine; Randolph (See Story 1, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Picnic for Patients At Archer Park Set For Next Wednesday

A picnic for Floyd countians who are patients or out-patients of Eastern State Mospital will be held at the Fairgrounds in Archer Park here July 26 at 10 a.m.

This is the second such annual outing. It is being sponsored by the Floyd County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Association, in cooperation with Mountain Mental Health Services, Region 11.

Between 150 and 200 persons are expected for the picnic. Patients in the hospital will be brought to Prestonsburg by bus, to be met by local friends and relatives.

Many out-patients of the hospital who are living in foster care homes, or with relatives here, will also attend.

Last year's picnic was the first event of its kind for residents of Kentucky's state mental hospitals. For many of the Floyd county patients, it was the first trip home in several years.

2 Communities In This County Share Honors

Weeksbury and Auxier shared in the honors at the annual Awards Night held Saturday at Ashland by the Northeastern Kentucky Rural Community Development Association, but top awards were Johnson and Morgan county communities.

Weeksbury, a previous first-place winner, won third place in the rural non-farm category, and Auxier, competing for honors this year for the second time, received a red ribbon in the village category.

Weeksbury also received an award for helping organize the Hi Hat community developemnt group this year, and Peggy Bradford, Weeksbury leader, won the University of Kentucky Award for outstanding service in the Area Development Association. Tim Bostic, editor of The Salyersville Independent, received the same award.

First-place rural non-farm winner was White House, in Johnson county. In the farm category the River Club, also in Johnson, won first place, and West Liberty was the winner in the village competition. In June, judges spent several days traveling to the various locations, viewing improvements and chosing this year's

White House was cited by judges for its ambitious membership. Unification was achieved there by organizing a greenhouse for work, pleasure and profit. The community was also praised for its efforts toward creating recreation areas and its strides for beautification. Young people figured prominently in the River Club, according to the judges' report, which noted repair of a swinging bridge, purchase of playground equipment, and community projects in family living and beautification.

Floyd Girl Wins at Talk Meet

Top winners in the 10-year-old division of the state 4-H Talk Meet, held July 7 at the University of Kentucky, were Reed White, Rt. 1, Clay (Union county) and Yvette Martin (center), Eastern (Floyd county), separate devisions were held for boys and girls). Congratulating them is Walter May (right), president and general manager of WPKE Radio, Pikeville, who is president of the Kentucky Broadcasters Association, donor of awards in the 4-H Talk program. Yvette's award-winning speech was entitled "How America Can Remain Great" while Reed's subject was "Make Way for Youth". With these speeches, each had earlier won county and area 4-H Talk Meets to become eligible for state competition.

The Floyd county winner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Martin, of Eastern, is a member of the Maytown 4-H Club and will be a sixth-grade pupil at the Maytown elementary school this fall.

Pike Mystery Solved, Detective Sees Floyd Cases Less Difficult

wanting an arrest made now, and that some are saying we aren't doing anything, but we are working and this case looks much better than one we've had in Pike county, and we have four indictments in that one."

This statement was made by State Detective Chester D. Potter, of Prestonsburg, in a discussion of the murder mystery surrounding the slayings of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley at Garrett and Conley, near Wayland.

Potter, who declines to discuss details of the investigation he and others are making of the twin slayings, insists progress is being made, although the illness of Commonwealth's Attoreny Harold J. Stumbo, who has been working with him, Sheriff Frank Leslie, County Detective Sam Hale and others on the Beaver Creek cases, has temporarily slowed the probe.

The Pike county case to which he referred was the slaying on July 12, 1971, near Zebulon, of Gladys Blanche Deskins. Detective Potter and other officers worked on that case almost a full year. Two weeks ago, the Pike county grand jury indicted four men, one of whom is Boone Deskins, 62, estranged husband of the victim, charging them with conspiracy to commit murder. The others indicted are Willard

Harris Is Victim, 2 Others Injured In Head-on Crash

A former Prestonsburg man was killed and two youths from this county were injured, one seriously, last Friday in the head-on collision of an automobile and a moved to Magoffin county. A letter from pickup truck in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Ronald Kelson (Ronnie) Harris, 25, of Ypsilanti, Mich., died Friday night in an Ann Arbor hospital.

Rickey Goble, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Goble, of Dwale, was seriously hurt, and Terry Jewel, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Jewel, also of Dwale and a cousin of young Goble, was injured.

The victim was a son of Ervin Harris, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Margaret Case Baldridge, of Virginia Beach, Virginia.

It was said that Goble and Jewel were passengers in the auto driven by Harris and that the collision took place when the latter Rudolph Ousley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. attempted to pass another vehicle on an Ann Arbor street.

Surviving the victim, in addition to his intent to kill. parents, are one son, Ronald Ervin Harris, Sexton, of Prestonsburg; one brother, half-brother, Steven Todd Harris, of Prestonsburg.

The funeral was conducted at 2 p.m. had desired examining trial Tuesday from the Community Methodist Church here, the pastor, the Rev. Earl Pennington, officiating. Burial was made in the Joe Harris cemetery, near Lancer.

"We are aware that people are impatient, Orson Christian, Eugene Thompson and Robert Sites.

(Incidentally, Potter said Deskins has not been arrested. He said the defendant was seen at his trailer-home, the morning the grand jury returned a sealed indictment against the four, but that Deskins disappeared soon afterward and has not since been seen.)

Mrs. Deskins lived alone. She and her husband had had a divorce case and property settlement pending for seven or eight years. She had threatened to take receipts and other records to Pikeville on the morning she was killed and divulge Deskins' source of income.

The elderly woman was found dead at her home, stabbed 11 times and her head partially blown away by a shotgun blast. (See Story 2, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Johnson County Man in Protest Of Floyd Co. Ban

John B. Preston, former Johnson county man, last week filed suit in U. S. district court at Pikeville seeking to stop the state parole board from barring him from his home county and any of 10 other counties, including Floyd.

Preston is a parolee from the Kentucky state penitentiary where he served from 1965 till last year a life sentence for armed robbery. His parole in 1971 stipulated that he is not to return to Johnson or adjoining counties and that he live with a sister in California.

Since then, however, the sister has Patrick Hurley, administrator of the In-(See Story 3, Back Page, Sec. 1)

Suits Filed Here Seek To Recover $429,208 Total

Two suits filed in circuit court here within the week seek to recover a total of $429,208.

Damages of $355,300 are asked by Denver Ousley in his suit filed Friday against the C. & O. Railway Company. Ousley, who says he was employed as a cook for a railway track crew, claims he was permanently injured because of company negligence.

In the second action the Bebe Coal Corporation sued to collect a total of $73,908 which it claims a coal buyer owes it for coal delivered at a guaranteed price.

Emmitt Conn, president of the Harold firm, claims that a verbal agreement was made by Walter C. Childers, executive officer of both the Colonial Coal Company and the Colonial Coal Processing Company, Betsy Layne, to buy his company's mine product at a guaranteed price of $7.85 a ton. He alleges that Colonial failed to pay $3,410.84 of the $93,410.84 due for his company's coal delivered during April, all of the $47,846.93 delivered in May and

ARC Grant To Provide New Shop

Announcement by Congressman Carl D. Perkins that the Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a grant of $264,000 for enlargement of the Garth Vocational School and expansion of its services was hailed Friday by Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark as "just what we've been hoping for." Supt. Clark added that, in anticipation of ARC help, the Floyd County Board of Education had already set George Lee His father flew to Los Angeles, soon after Shannon, its architect, to work on preliminary plans for the addition to the Congressman Perkins said the $264,000 grant will provide for construction and equipping of the vocational school addition and will afford training opportunities for an additional 240 high school students.

Clark said the application for ARC funds was based on plans for an addition of 11,635 square feet of floor space which would be used to add three shops to the school.

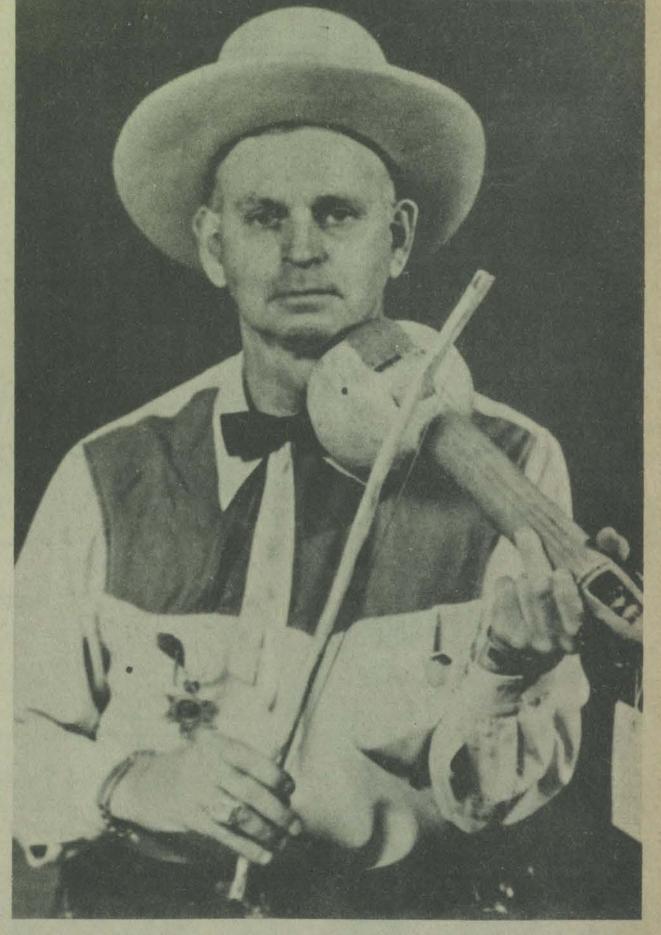

One of the three new departments will offer training for girl-students at the school for the first time, and a second will be for the training of both boys and girls. The allgirl department will be for training in office-practices. The department which will be open to both sexes will be for training in health-related skills. The third will be a welding shop for boys.

Supt. Clark said, "We have gone too long in Floyd county, neglecting vocational training for girls. I insisted that we change that situation."

Prior to making a decision on the new departments to be instituted if the grant were made, a survey was made to ascertain the preferences of all high school students in the county. The preferences expressed by the majority were followed.

Vocational training at Garth has been restricted to high school juniors and seniors 16 years of age or older, in accordance with State Department of Education regulations. Supt. Clark said this restriction was made because of limited facilities.

And Kentucky Stood Firm

The Times congratulates Governor Ford, and those who followed him, for refusing to yield to the temptation to crawl aboard the bandwagon at Miami last week when it became obvious that Senator McGovern had the Democratic nomination for President, whether they supported his nomination or opposed it.

We are aware that, as a usual thing, it requires little effort for many politicians to swallow their convictions and embrace the strongest contender-lest the tail-gate not continue to be down, as they say-but in this happy instance the leader of the Kentucky delegation and most of its members, including Floyd county's own W. J. Reynolds, refused to give the lie to all their earlier objections to McGovern and decided to fight it out along the lines they had earlier defined.

They had a worthy candidate in Senator Jackson, and they went for him. It may have been something of a quixotic action, since the die was cast, but they voted their sentiments and nobody can point the accusing finger at them later and say, "Look what you foisted on us!"

Some may say the Governor by his stand weakened the position of Kentucky if McGovern is elected President. But we doubt if Wendell Ford is losing much sleep over this possibility. We have an idea that he still thinks George McGovern isn't going to be elected.

MEMORY FAILED HIM

This story was told me because of my church affiliation, but I accept the challenge and retell it here. It pertains to the colored brother who appeared at the Pearly Gates and during the interview with St. Peter proudly pointed out that he was a man of great distinction.

"I," he is quoted as saying, "am the only black man ever to be a member of the First Baptist Church of"

The one whom he called "the Boss-Man" was interested, and he urged the newcomer to tell his story, how-come, and so on. "Well, it was this way," the new arrival related. "I went up and i'ined the church and tol' them I wanted to be baptized. They said that was fine and set the time two Sundays away, and I showed up, and they dressed me in a long, white robe, and led me out into the water-and, Boss-Man, I don't seem to remember anything after

The same kinship prevented Trial Commissioner Yvonne McCormick from hearing the case. Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg attorney, agreed to accept designation as special judge but later questioned the legality of his being appointed by Judge Stumbo to serve.

Now, County Attorney James Allen said, the Attorney General will be asked for an opinion pointing out who can designate a special judge.

McGarey was at the park with his wife, Sharon, when he was accosted by the three, authorities were told.

At least that's the word from three Eastern Kentucky educators, Floyd County Assistant School Superintendent Wayne Ratliff, Morgan County Superintendent Walton Jones and Rondal Hart, director of the Breckinridge school, who attended the conference.

"The Southern States Work Conference was one of the finest I have attended in a long time," Ratliff said. "Not only was it made up of outstanding educational leadership from the south, but many valuable educational programs were also seen and displayed." Ratliff added that both the administrators and EKEDC's computer project and demonstration were well received.

EKEDC's winning computer program is a basic combination of two programs: computer assisted instruction, a drill and practice program in reading and math; and educational management programs, school services programs in grade reporting, student scheduling and payroll.

Other educators representing EKEDC at the conference were Superintendent Oran C. Teater, Paintsville independent schools; Superintendent William Cheek, Lawrence county; Sister Mary Frances and Sister Emerita, Holy Family; and from EKEDC, Director Edwin R. Jones, Instructional Supervisor Keith Powell and Communications Specialist Jesse McLaurin.

THE BISCUIT EATER

Division of Maternal and Child Health (MCH) is expanding its services for children through 125 new clinics during the next 12 months, division director Jorge Deju, M. D., announced last week.

The clinics are designed to help children suffering from mental retardation, learning disorders, epilepsy, speech, hearing and vision problems and cerebral palsy.

Traveling clinic teams from the University of Kentucky Medical Center, the University of Louisville Child Development Center and private physicians will conduct the MCH-sponsored pediatric and neurology clinics in eastern and western Kentucky.

New clinics are also being added to serve more children in Fayette and Jefferson counties and surrounding areas.

The first traveling clinic, held Thursday, July 12, in Pike county, is "an example of the clinic pattern the other clinics will follow," Dr. Deju said. Robert J. Barmann, M. D., University of Kentucky neurologist, and his staff conducted the clinic at the Pike County Health Department with additional staff from MCH, the local health department and the Region 11 Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center.

"This cooperation among state and local agencies, private physicians and other health professionals enables us to provide a complete range of child health services, and follow-up care, not only on clinic days, but in the weeks between scheduled clinics," Dr. Deju said.

Baumann's team travels to Harlan July 27 and will conduct a total of 24 neurology clinics, serving some 480 patients, during the next year. For some time, a traveling team of University of Kentucky pediatricians has held 27 clinics a year in eastern Kentucky, Dr. Deju said. These will continue. In addition, the pediatric team will hold seven new clinics in Lexington to serve Fayette and neighboring counties. The team consists of Doane Fischer, M. D., Robert A. Beargie, M. D., and Vernon L. James, M.

In Hazard, monthly clinics for about 150 children are "almost a certainty," Dr. Deju said. Details of the clinics, to be handled by Gregory Culley, M. D., pediatrician with the Appalachian Regional Hospital, are worked out. "All that remains is the signing of the contract," Deju added.

All the physicians involved in the traveling clinics are availabel for consuitation with health officers, physicians, nurses and others concerned with the follow-up care of the children - daily consultation, if necessary, Dr. Deju said.

Growth and Expansion Are Seen For Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky.-Commerce Com- In a televised interview Harrison inmissioner Damon Harrison said Monday it dicated that percentage wise the Bowling would be "absolutely ruinous" for Ken- Green area, Central Kentucky and tucky to adopt a policy of slowing down Hopkinsville would experience the most industrial growth.

The cold hard facts are that this state is short more than 200,000 jobs compared with others in the nation," he said.

"We're still trying to lure industry despite what's going on elsewhere." Many states have decided that because of pollution and population problems they should re-emphasize the traditional search for new plants which merely would compound those problems.

But Harrison said Kentucky is one of the leaders nationally in pollution control, is not crowded with people and has a plentiful supply of labor for factories.

He predicted the creation of up to 350,000 new nonagricultural jobs in the next decade, with 100,000 persons in manufac-

This would be a substantially higher proportionate gain than during the 1960's Harrison said, but added Kentucky also has much farther to go "because it has been a catchup postion for so long."

Where will the greatest economic growth occur in the next 10 years?

I'm From Missouri

By Wilmay

People often say it makes no difference to which church one belongs. It matters what we eat, wear; where we live, vacation, or go to school; which profession or vocation we choose. Still, many think the church one joins is unimportant, though few decisions in life are more significant; particularly now, since sects multiply rapidly, with Churches of Satan, the Demons, Homosexuals etc. Prevalence of these may be attributed in part to the fact that for decades laymen and ministers of evangelical faiths have neglected to teach doctrines. Millions know nothing of their church beliefs. Some are shocked when scriptural analysis discloses that their doctrines are unbiblical. In one sense, doctrines are the foundation of a church. A revival of doctrinal teaching is an urgent need of Christendom.

Every faith has some strong points. One church stresses an educated ministry; another, holiness and sanctification; another, salvation by faith. One might continue indefinitely. Churches or denominations should and do unite on some issues and in certain projects. The one true church is the born-again believers of all faiths. A spirit of unity prevails among Christians. Spiritual unity is possible without organizational union. Likewise, union in organization never guarantees spiritual solidarity.

Instead of losing the distinctives of the great denominations, we may need to examine them and profit thereby. To say any church is okay just because everyone wants to go to the same heaven, is a dangerous philosophy that can doom millions. The blind often lead the blind. Mt. 15:14. More persons are studying-not just reading-the Bible than ever before. Church doctrines are under closer scrutiny than at any time in history. This is a good sign. Recently an unsaved friend who is reading the Bible daily seeking the truth, remarked that every person should compare what he hears in pulpits with scripture, for utterly false statements are sometimes made.

One should select his church carefully and prayerfully, be familiar with its covenant, doctrines, then search the scripture for them. A good old adage says, "I'm from Missouri. Show me!" Church doctrines originate in the Bible, not in some book written by ordinary men who were not divinely inspired. Three-fourths of church members have almost no conception of what their own church teaches. Still fewer can locate the passages on which their church relies. Many are non-existent! This may help explain why two of the largest denominations classify over fifty per cent of their enrollment as unsaved, and why there are numerous wolves in sheep's clothes (Mt. 7:15). Unfortunatley, some resemble those in Acts 20:29. Too many converts never check God's Word. Like the Pharisees they say, "I was taught that way." Tradition is not a safe guide. Rooted in Holy Writ, church doctrines should be as narrow as the scripture. Knowledge about one's car, home, family, community, and country is extensive. How about our knowledge of the church, the Bible, and heaven? Some churches are highly permissive, thereby dooming many by false teachings. Others try to stick close to the Word, and some are in absolute defiance of it, so never think that it matters little to which church you and your loved ones belong. Some of the established faiths are rapidly becoming so ultra liberal in theology, teachings, and doctrines that it behooves every child of God to study constantly and adhere to the Word, remembering that Christ was the Word made flesh, and that he is the only door to eternal life. Salvation comes solely thru His blood, yet today some modern Bibles are omitting the blood. Without it there can be no savior. It was His blood that atoned for the sins of all mankind. He paid our sin debt

HERE FOR A WEEK

BEAR MARKET SALE

In this sale we go 'way, 'way back to pioneer days. And in this sale there hangs a tale—a bear's tail, if you will pardon the pun. More than a hundred years ago, the great-great grandfather of the present I. Richmond Store manager, operated a general store here in Prestonsburg. He owned a bear which he kept chained to a tree on the property where the store was located. It was his custom in those days to invite home with him for lunch all customers who happened to be in the store at the noon hour. The invitation was usually accepted, and store and bear were left unattended. On one such occasion they returned to the store to find the bear had broken his chain and was inside the building. Since he kept sugar in a barrel, the whereabouts of the bear was no mystery. They found the barrel overturned and the bear helping himself to its contents. And as a result of this incident, he staged Prestonsburg's first sale—A sale of the sugar from the barrel, at bargain prices. And now, a century later, Richmond's go 'way back to the bear and his bit of history to tilt over for our customers barrels and barrels of bargains in for now or Fall, you will find that a visit to Richmond's will save you money. So come in, today, to the I. Richmond Company

Department Store in Prestonsburg, serving Kentucky since

Markdowns are in every department. If you want clothing

Magoffin Co. Youth Sought in Kidnapping Arrested Saturday

A Magoffin county youth charged with kidnapping a Morgan county woman June 26 was arrested Saturday afternoon and placed in the Morgan county jail to await

The juvenile, a 17-year-old from the Middle Fork section of Magoffin county, was arrested by Kentucky State Police Trooper Babe Howard. The boy had been sought for nearly three weeks in connection with the kidnapping of Mrs. Janis Sheets, 35, of Index, near West Liberty.

Mrs. Sheets, an employee of an automobile agency, had accompanied a youth to the Morgan county courthouse to help him with a transfer of registration for a car he had just purchased. But the trip eventually turned into a kidnapping when she was forced into the trunk of the car a mile outside of West Liberty.

For nearly an hour, as the car headed from Morgan into Magoffin county, Mrs. Sheets remained in the trunk, attempting to talk the youth into freeing her. Only two weeks before, Mrs. Sheets had lost her son in a drowning accident in a Carter county

The ride finally ended in the Middle Forks section when she was rescued by sheriff's deputies. But the boy fled into the woods and was not located.

Rufus Hamilton, James Perry Osborne and Lark Hunt were arrested on charges of both possessing and selling. All those arrested by ABC agents and State Police were booked to County Judge Henry Stumbo. The defendant in the raid on the Mery McKinney premises was booked to Magistrate Eddie Caudill.

Sheriff Leslie brought to jail here Monday from the Boyd county jail at Catlettsburg two juveniles accused of stealing the auto of Winchester Francis at Garrett Sunday night. The youths were picked up by Ashland police when the car ran out of gas, the sheriff was told.

Others booked within the week:

Leck Risner, drunk driving, by State Trooper Bevins; Lon C. Gibson, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, arrested by Prestonsburg Policemen Conley and Lawson; Henry Lewis, drunk driving, by State Trooper Williamson; Turner Lafferty, drunk driving, by Policeman Lawson; Walker Benton Layne, interfering with duties of a police officer, by Policemen Lawson and Conley.

terstate Parole Compact, added counties adjoining Magoffin to those from which Preston was barred.

That made the list of counties which Preston was forbidden to enter to include Johnson, Magoffin, Floyd, Martin, Lawrence, Elliott, Knott, Breathitt, Wolfe, Morgan and Menifee.

Meanwhile, Preston has been staying with a music group in Lee county, where, according to his suit, he has been unable to find either work or decent living quarters. He caims he could get work in Magoffin county and live there with his sister.

The court action filed by the Kentucky Civil Liberties Union, asks the federal court to bar the parole board from issuing such restrictions unless it can clearly show that their imposition is necessary for the rehabilitation of the parolee.

"I am firmly convinced that the reason the white bass didn't spawn the last couple of years is the high and muddy water occurring during their spawning runs. Generally, white bass live only two years. Some, of course, live longer and some have shorter lives, but the great majority...live about two years. Therefore, if they fail to spawn two or three years in succession, the total population remaining must be very

"You must remember," he adds, "that if we stock these fish and the spawning we will not be any better off then than we are now..."

At one time 60 or more stripmining operations were going in the Pike county headwaters of John Creek, which forms known locally. But new mines are at work. A special study of Eastern Kentucky impoundments was promised recently by federal authorities who threatened to invoke the might of the 1899 federal Refuse Act which forbids the pollution of any navigable stream or its tributaries. Sportsmen here have not heard of any such study at Dewey Lake.

They say they hear only from the state when some of its authorities grant new stripmine permits in the area.

Mr. Carter says he hopes to release 250 to 300 adult white bass spawners weighing from a pound and a half to two pounds in the lake next spring.

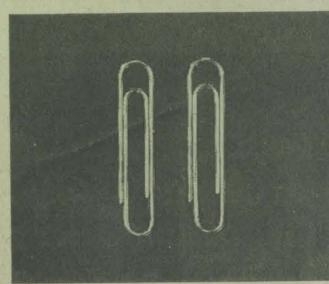

But he can't stop the trouble at its source.

2 from County Named To Posts At Alice Lloyd

Pippa Passes, Ky.-Deano Johnson, of Weeksbury, has assumed the newlycreated post of dean of co-curricular activities at Alice Lloyd College this summer, and Paul Luxmore, of Price, will replace him as director of the ALC Upward Bound

Mr. Luxmore attended Berea and Pikeville Colleges and Morehead University where he earned a master of science degree in education. He comes to ALC from Floyd county's Clark elementary school where he worked in the Experimental Science Program. He held a Science Process post in the American Association of Advanced Science and was a consultant for the National Science Foundation.

Mr. Johnson's new post will involve him in working with performance objectives for the college as well as cultural, modular credit, exchange and co-op programs. The most important efforts, he said, will be "to be of service to students as they develop greater participation in the decisionmaking about the directions their education will take. As we discover their needs," he said, "we must meet the needs while the students are here, including the requirements that help them benefit from the important values, rights and responsibilities they have as college students at Alice Lloyd today."

High School Group Compiles Eastern Kentucky Historical Data

"I've always felt that Eastern Kentucky was the neglected end of the state, and historians seem to think so too. It seems that according to them, everything east of Mt. Sterling is hillbilly country with moonshine and barefoot people and not worthy of mention. But I felt differently, and decided to do something about it."

The words are those of Edward Hazelett. president of the Johnson County Historical Society, past-secretary of the Big Sandy Valley Historical Society and teachersponsor of the Research Historians Club at Johnson Central high school, Paintsville.

It is through this latter affiliation and with the help of dozens of students that Hazelett and his Research Historians have over the past nine years compiled 18 volumes and more than 6,000 pages of generous portion of MEAT FOR historical data mainly on Eastern Ken-

> "We actually started collecting historical material on Eastern Kentucky in 1963, back at the old Meade Memorial school," Hazelett said, "and to be honest with you, I don't know where it will end. We've got material from every source possiblemanuscripts, old clippings, books, newspapers and magazines, interviews with residents and, yes, even old newspapers that were used to paper the walls of old homes."

> "It's all due to the cooperation of many people-persons in Kentucky, West Virginia and southwest Virginia who contributed their materials and offered their help; students who spent hours doing personal interviews and delving into rare historical books; Johnson County School Superintendent Virgil Porter who has helped us obtain some supplies and even students from the Neighborhood Youth Corps who have helped to type, print and bind the material." Hazelett's publication, entitled "The Research History Collection" is unusual in several aspects.

"We've got a great set of cross references on all items," he said, "and we've got historical and biographical information that goes as far back as the 1880's from both books and newspapers of those times."

"In addition, we're strong on pioneer history of mining towns, families and the great timber lands and we're working on the history of religious development."

Also included in the 18 completed volumes, many of which were written by local residents and Johnson Central students, are such topics as Civil War history, Kentucky Confederate army records, research history essays on Eadtern Kentucky, Daniel Boone and Dr. Thomas Walker, the Hatfield-McCoy feud and their legends, and the history of coal mining, riverboats and the name of Ken-

"We've got more history by volume in our school library than any other subject," Hazelett said, "and if a student wants to study history, there's no better place than this. We've proved that by the number of college students who spend days here using our materials."

In addition, every Johnson Central high student who works on the history project must first do a family geneology on him-

"We find that the project really takes on interest and meaning and the students really become enthused when they find some connection to themselves, their family or the area," Hazelett said.

An interesting sideline to all this historical work was the discovery and renovation of an old log schoolhouse built in 1880. The old structure is now erected next to the new $2.5 million Johnson Central high school.

Yet, despite the importance and magnitude of the material Hazelett and his Research Historians have collected, it is doubtful if the material will ever be published. Why? The answer is simple, according to Hazelett.

"It's like an old collector told me once," Hazelett said. "He said that he wasn't using the old materials and didn't mind if we used it in our collection, only he didn't want it made available to everyone."

"He said that if it was made public, then he should have the first choice to decide on who gets it and how much profit he gets."

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Maude F. May wishes to express appreciation to one and all for their kindness upon the death of our loved one, also to Hall Brothers and their employes.

Hazelett added that the historical information has proved invaluable to scores of people, despite this slight drawback. "All the teachers and students can use it in their classes, and the senior students in a special two-year history class really appreciate it. "Besides, it's the least we can do to protect this material that is given to us; it would wind up as a commercial project if we didn't and that is by no means our intention,'

Later testimony by economic specialists Several cited instances of persons having generally concluded that the company, a subsidiary of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph complex, didn't warrant such a large increase because of its favored financial position as a monopoly

Several of the latter witnesses were presented by the attorney general's office, which has been the chief opponent of the rate increase.

Support for the increase came in testimony at an earlier hearing.

Cary Davenport, one of those who said she might have to give up her phone, told the commission, "I'm here to plead for mercy." She said for the last three months she had to borrow money to pay her bills since "everything," not just the telephone bill, "had gone up."

"Some of us just get one monthly check," said Mary Etta Downing. "We can't go to the man and say, 'Give us another dollar to pay our telephone bill.' "

She said, "two dollars (the amount of the recent increase in her phone bill) is a lot of bread off our table."

To Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Browning of Falmouth, Ky., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Connie Jo, to Mr. Claude Larry Bowling, son of Mrs. Rose Bowling, of Langley, Ky., and the late Elzie Bowling.

Miss Browning, a graduate of Bracken County high school, received her B. S. degree from Morehead State University in June and will enter the University of Kentucky this fall to work toward her master's degree.

Mr. Bowling is a graduate of Maytown high school and Mayo Vocational School and is presently self-employed as a craftsman. He will be employed after the wedding by Southern Supply Company in Lexington, where they will reside.

The wedding will take place at Oakland Christian Church, July 30, at 3:30 p.m. The reception will follow immediately in the basement of the church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Pvt. Benny Martin is now serving with the U. S. Army at Ft. Knox, Ky. for his basic training. His wife, Brigette, is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, for eight weeks until he completes his basic training.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Prater and children, Tammy and Pamela, of Crown Point, Ind., have been here visiting relatives and vacationing. Miss Lynn Webb, who had spent the summer visiting the Praters, returned home with them.

Bill May is here on a 30-day leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. May, and other relatives after completing a tour of duty with the U.S. Army in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hawkins and children, of Sidney, Ohio, spent a week here visiting Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Allen and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Gibson and children spent last week in the Great Smoky Mountains area of Tennessee and North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click were the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ramey and Tim in Alexandria, Ky. last week. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Glennis Ramey.

Friends here of Jake Thompson, of Kenova, W. Va., were sorry to learn of his sudden death last week. Mr. Thompson was a resident of Maytown for several years while employed by Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey, Mrs. Lula Click, Mrs. U. S. Allen and Mrs. Selton Gibson called to pay their respects at the funeral home in Kenova, last Wednesday.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mort Arnett wishes to extend thanks and appreciation to friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness shown before and after his passing. Our deepest appreciation goes to Rev. W. D. Jaggers, the staff of the Prestonsburg General Hospital, the Carter Funeral Home, Patsy Evans for her beautiful singing and Mrs. Joe Buchanan as organist, and Dr. Ira Potter for his services. Thanks to those who sent food and flowers or helped in any way.

Almost 20 years later, Preston saw his old engine being stripped down. That was just after diesel engines had replaced the coalburning locomotive. When he saw the old engine being dismantled, Preston wrote Walter J. Tuohy, C. & O. president, whom he has met a few years earlier, and asked for the old bell that had clanged through Big Sandy towns and crossroads the more than 20 years Preston had been at the throttle. It is claimed Preston told Tuohy he wanted the bell to put it in his church.

Anyway, Preston cleaned and polished the bell, and, he says, he really was planning to give it to a church. But came the report that the church was to be converted into an apartment building. So he stuck the cherished relic into an orange crate and left it in his yard.

That did it. A member of the church went before the grand jury and indicted Preston. The case later was dismissed and the bell was turned over to members of the church.

The next episode unfolded when the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) last year announced plans to tear down the church as a part of urban renewal action. Preston reclaimed

On Friday evening, June 30, at the Vogel-Day United Methodist Church of Harold, Miss Billie Joyce Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoge E. Clark, became the bride of Gerald Oliver White, son of Mr. and Mrs.

James O. White of Betsy Layne. Wedding vows were exchanged in a candlelight service under an archway at the altar, flanked by white gladioli and palms. The Rev. Everett Brown, of Shelbiana, performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne, organist and soloist, rendered wedding

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length A-line gown of imported white silk organza styled with a victorian neckline, empire bodice and bishop sleeves accented in chantilly lace. Panels of lace accented the front of the gown. The detachable bouffant chapel train flowed from the back waistline. Her chapel-length mantilla veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a lace-covered Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations. baby breath and centered with a white orchid. Her jewelry was a diamond necklace—a wedding gift of the groom.

Rosemary Clark, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of nile green dotted swiss with a low neckline and skirt softly gathered to high bodice waistline with daisy medallion trim.

The bridesmaids were Jackie Burchett, of Lexington, and Valerie Hall, of pleted eight weeks of basic training at the Pippa Passes, Ky.—A relaxed, attentive crowd of several hundred people sat in the shade of maple trees and applauded a variety of Appalachian musicians and story-tellers last Saturday at the all-day "Our Appalachia" festival sponsored by Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Ky.

While the musicians competed for prizes, local and out-of-state visitors cheered their favorites or visited an arts and crafts display by Charlie and Joyce Whitaker and viewed paintings by Cliff Johnson. Contest winners were Emma Smith, female vocalist; Roger Hall, modern banjo; Coy Morton, old style banjo; Aunt Josie Tackett, story-telling; Tommy Hall, harmonica; Estell Baker, guitar; Dewey Shepherd, fiddle; Slone Family & Country Wranglers, singing groups; Uncle Joe Hall, most unusual act; Sonny Houston, bass fiddle; Marion Martin, mandolin; Jerry Martin, modern fiddle. A highlight of the day featured Leslie County Judge George Wooton who reminisced about his own days on the Alice Lloyd campus 40 years ago and regaled the audience with tall tales and sober thoughts about life in the mountains.

The Appalachian Summer Theatre's TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE was performed for an enthusiastic audience enjoying a dinner of soup beans and watermelon provided by the college. Later, some joined in folk-dancing as a few musicians got together for an impromptu jam session.

FORMER FLOYD WOMAN PUBLISHING EARLY CENSUS OF THIS COUNTY

ping Ground, Ky., is publishing the 1850 Census of Floyd county, which was the fifth taken after the county was formed in 1799 from the counties of Fleming, Mason and Montgomery.

Mrs. Parrish, wife of H. T. Parrish and a former resident of this county, notes in her introduction to the work now being published that Edward Dobyns' list of taxable property for District 1 in Mason county is labelled "Floyd County, 1793" on the outside cover, thus indicating that several years passed during which the area was so designated before the General Assembly in 1799 legally made this district the county of Floyd.

That taxable property designation by Dobyns, the writer points out, was made only one year after Kentucky became a state (1792). "Its territory," she writes in her introduction, "was so extensive that from it have since been formed the whole of Pike county in 1821, parts of Clay in 1806, Harlan in 1819, Perry in 1820, Lawrence in 1821, Morgan in 1822, Breathitt in 1839, Letcher in 1842, Johnson in 1843, Rowan in 1856, Boyd, Magoffin and Wolfe in 1860, Elliott in 1869 and Lee in 1870..."

Mrs. Parrish adds in her introduction: "This Census Record was copied from microfilm records of the original population schedules on file at the National Archives, Washington, D. C. The Census was taken as of the 25th of July, 1850, by David Cooley, assistant Marshal. The 1850 Census was the first to record full names of all members of each family, their age, sex, occupation, if over 15 years of age, the value of real estate owned and the state or county of birth.

"These records were probably handled many times before being microfilmed, and many errors were made (often diliberately) by the person giving the in-

July 23—Concert at 7:30 p.m. worship service of First Baptist Church, Pikeville. The 40-voice choir will be conducted by Bruce Nehring, the organist and director of music at First Presbyterian Church. Nehring, who begins his sixth year at the church, has developed a full music program with six choirs.

The number of young people 16 to 24 years old working or looking for work rose by 6.4 million between October 1960 and October 1970, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. This increase reflected two major factors: a larger population due to the rise in births during the late 1940's and early 1950's and a greater proportion of people in the labor force during the middle and late 1960's because of an expanding economy.

CURTIS HAYWOOD DIES

Relatives here have learned of the death in Columbus, O., Tuesday morning, of Curtis Haywood, formerly of the Prestonsburg vicinity. Mr. Haywood was a victim of a heart attack.

The number of children under 18 whose mothers were in the work force increased from 16 to 26 million between 1960 and 1970, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. This rise occurred not only because there were more children under 18 (66.7 million in 1970 compared to 59.9 million in 1969), but also because a greater proportion of women

Lack of Funds May Close Jail In Magoffin County

Magoffin county may not be broke, but it's so financially embarrassed that its jail may close, any day now.

In fact, the county jail was closed to prisoners for four hours last Wednesday night and was reopened only when two murder suspects were arrested. With no other place to lodge them, Circuit Judge Ben Mann stood good personally for the jailer's grocery bill on a temporary basis. Mrs. Mae Minix, Magoffin county jailer.

says she owes a $4,000 grocery bill which she can't pay because the county apparently can't pay the $5,687 which it owes But she is not alone in her financial 7-19-2t. suffering. No county official has been paid his or her salary since May and October, when new revenue is expected, is the earliest date they expect to collect.

Judge Mann said his personal financing 7-22-3t. of food for prisoners will probably end August 1. After that...

"I have advised Mrs. Minnix that she cannot refuse to accept a prisoner, because it might get her in trouble," Judge Mann said. "He might run off and kill somebody. But I also advised her she can't hold a prisoner past supper time if she has nothing

The normal jail diet is bacon, eggs, hot biscuits and gravy for breakfast, three vegetables at noon, and some kind of meat with the night meal, Mrs. Minnix said. But recently, the meals haven't been materializing. The judge said a prisoner was permitted to appear before him recently.

"The fellow told me he was hungry," Mann said. "He said his only food had been sandwiches brought to him every day or two by his family. I just told him to go on home and that I may or may not call for him to come back when we had a place to put him."

The judge said Magoffin county's financial problems probably are "not a great deal worse" than some other counties, partly because all share the state's frozen tax rates and the growing cost of government. County property tax rates were frozen by the legislature in 1965 after the Court of Appeals held that all property must be assessed at 100 per cent of fair cash

"Even so," Judge Mann continued, "there is no reason why Magoffin county should be a beggar county. The budget was $51,000 last year, just about what four or five families would spend. But the county over-anticipated. It collected just $40,000.

"Something is wrong. If the county got washed away, or there was another disaster of some kind, the federal government might find damages in the millions of dollars."

He said the county's answer might be a special levy of some kind. "As things are now, though, I don't see what we can do about the jail," he said. "I don't know what my power is, but I wish the jailer or somebody would come into court and demand a ruling. We would try to find some answers through the judicial process. "I summoned the members of fiscal court to appear before me a few days ago-June 30, I think—and told them they can't escape their obligations. They had to pay the jailer. They told me they had no money, and I advised them they would have to find a way to get money.'

County Atty. Marcus Mann said a part of the jail problem may have resulted form his and County Judge Wardie Cecil Patrick's policy of requiring bootleggers to serve time in jail.

"Some other counties will fine a bootlegger $250 and furn him loose," he said. "It's just like a license to bootleg. The bootlegger will make his $250 back on a

He said he saw as an only alternative if the jail is closed the postponing of sentences "until we have a place to put those convicted."

The county attorney said many factors enter into Magoffin county's financial problems. The depletion of oil wells that formerly produced substantial tax revenue is one, he said. The Homestead Act, which exempts part of the value of property of older persons from taxation, is costing the county $2,900 to $3,000 a year, he said.

A place to put prisoners is one problem but the county nearly encountered another one just as big in the May primary.

"The elevator was broken and we couldn't get the voting machines out of the basement, and we didn't have $250 to pay a repairman to come down from Louisville," he said. "One of our good citizens took $250 out of his pocket to pay the repairman. It almost turned out we were too poor to hold an election."

Play That 'Made' Carol Burnett Opens at Jenny Wiley Theatre

comedy that brought Carol Burnett to fame, will open at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre to run Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, July 20 through August 5.

Based on the fairy tale, "The Princess and the Pea", the musical is set in a kingdom peopled with knights, wizards, and ladies-in-waiting. No one can wed until Prince Dauntless has a wife. While King Sextimius chases the ladies of the court and Queen Aggravain gets rid of princesses, Sir Harry goes to the swamp where he finds Winnifred the Woebegone. Winnie's arrival at court is uproarious as the Queen devises a test to fail—one pea to be felt by Winnie although it is under twenty mattresses.

The score by Mary Rodgers includes "Shy," "Happily Ever After," and "Very Soft Shoes." Nicole Marie heads the cast as Winnie. The production is directed by Randolph Umberger.

Also playing at the theatre is "Jenny Wiley!" the musical based on the life of the Cherokee Indian captive on Wednesdays,

"Once Upon a Mattress", the musical Fridays, and Sundays and THE GRASS HARP on Sundays at 2:00 p.m.

All performances of "Once Upon a Mattress" and "Jenny Wiley!" are at 8:30 p.m. at the amphitheatre in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. For reservations call (606) 886-6647.

U.S. Water Pollution Program

Washington, D. C.—The Justice Department has asked a federal appeals court to reconsider a decision that has the nation's main program against water pollution tied up in knots.

A spokesman here said department statute," they wrote. agents petitioned the 3rd Circuit Court of its decision of last May 30.

victed the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corp. (PICC) of violating an 1899 law, revived last year as a major weapon against pollution, which prohibits any waste discharge into a navigable waterway without a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers.

The company admitteldy had no such permit, but then neither has virtually every industry in the nation, for the Corps has issued only half a dozen permits and prosecuted only a similar number of companies for failure to have one in the 73year life of that law.

In December 1970, President Nixon ordered the Corps to establish a formal permit program.

On June 29, 1971, only two days before the Corps' first deadline for receipt of preliminary applications, the Pittsburgh federal court convicted Pennsylvania Industrial (PICC) of pollution violations allegedly committed in August 1970. Last May 30, the appeals court ruled that
