

Delay Seen For ROPES Operations

State School Head To Ask Month Wait After Monday Meet

During a two-hour session with a Paintsville delegation at Frankfort Monday Dr. Lyman Ginger, superintendent of public instruction, announced that he will recommend a delay of a month in the operational phase of the Regional Organization for the Promotion of Educational Services (ROPES) and that in the interim he will meet at Paintsville in an effort to clear the atmosphere which is at this time far from clear.

The Paintsville delegation met with the State Board of Education to protest what is considered there as a move by the ROPES group to "take over" vocational education and strip Mayo Vocational School at Paintsville of its present supervision of extension vocational schools.

Dr. Ginger said, in announcing his intention to ask a delay in implementation of the program's operation, that he hopes to explain at Paintsville that ROPES will have no adverse effect on vocational education.

He admitted, however, the branch vocational schools such as the one at Hite in this county will be directly under the control of the State Department of Education.

The Frankfort meeting had its heated moments but it was agreed that some of the trouble arose from a plain lack of communication.

"We didn't object to the regional program for education," Allen Perry, editor of The Paintsville Herald, and a member of the group conferring with the state board, said. "But we do object to any detrimental effects on vocational education."

Others meeting with the state board included Escorn Chandler, chairman of the Regional Vocational Education Council, O. T. Dorton and Bill Gibson, president of the Paintsville Chamber of Commerce.

Three homes on Town Branch, across the river from Prestonsburg, have burned recently—two within the last week—and residents there are on edge.

Reported threats and harassing telephone calls have added to the tension. "It's not a good place to go prowling around at night," Prestonsburg Policeman Tom Woods, who accompanied State Police troopers to the community after a fire last Friday night, said. "You could get yourself shot...quick."

The first blaze, the night of Oct. 28, cost Mrs. Virgie Nelson her home and all its contents. The same story was recorded last Friday night in the burning of the residence of Mrs. Velma Mae Collins. An unoccupied residence, the property of Marvin Wilson, of Hurley, Va., burned last Thursday night.

One report says a boy was seen leaving the rooftop of a house, in the vicinity of the Velva Collins home, last Friday midnight. This report says he fled into the nearby woods.

New Court Term Has 138 Cases Set for Trial

When the criminal term of the Floyd circuit court convenes here Nov. 13 it will face a docket of 138 cases, including the trial of two on murder charges.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo said this week that all persons interested in the prosecution of cases on the docket should contact him at his office in the courthouse as early as possible and before the date of the court-opening.

The murder cases listed for trial are those of Mont Robinette, set for Nov. 27, and of Adrian Burchett, the following day.

Included in the cases docketed are two for shooting and wounding, six for rape, 16 for grand larceny, robbery and breaking and entering, 15 on liquor counts and four for the possession or sale of drugs.

No grand jury will be empanelled at the November term.

Blaze Results In Wells Death

The fire which damaged his home at Auxier last Wednesday afternoon is believed also to have claimed the life of 59-year-old Palmer Wells, retired miner.

Mr. Wells was found inside the living room of his home, near the front door, after a fire had broken out in the kitchen. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General Hospital and is believed to have been suffocated by smoke.

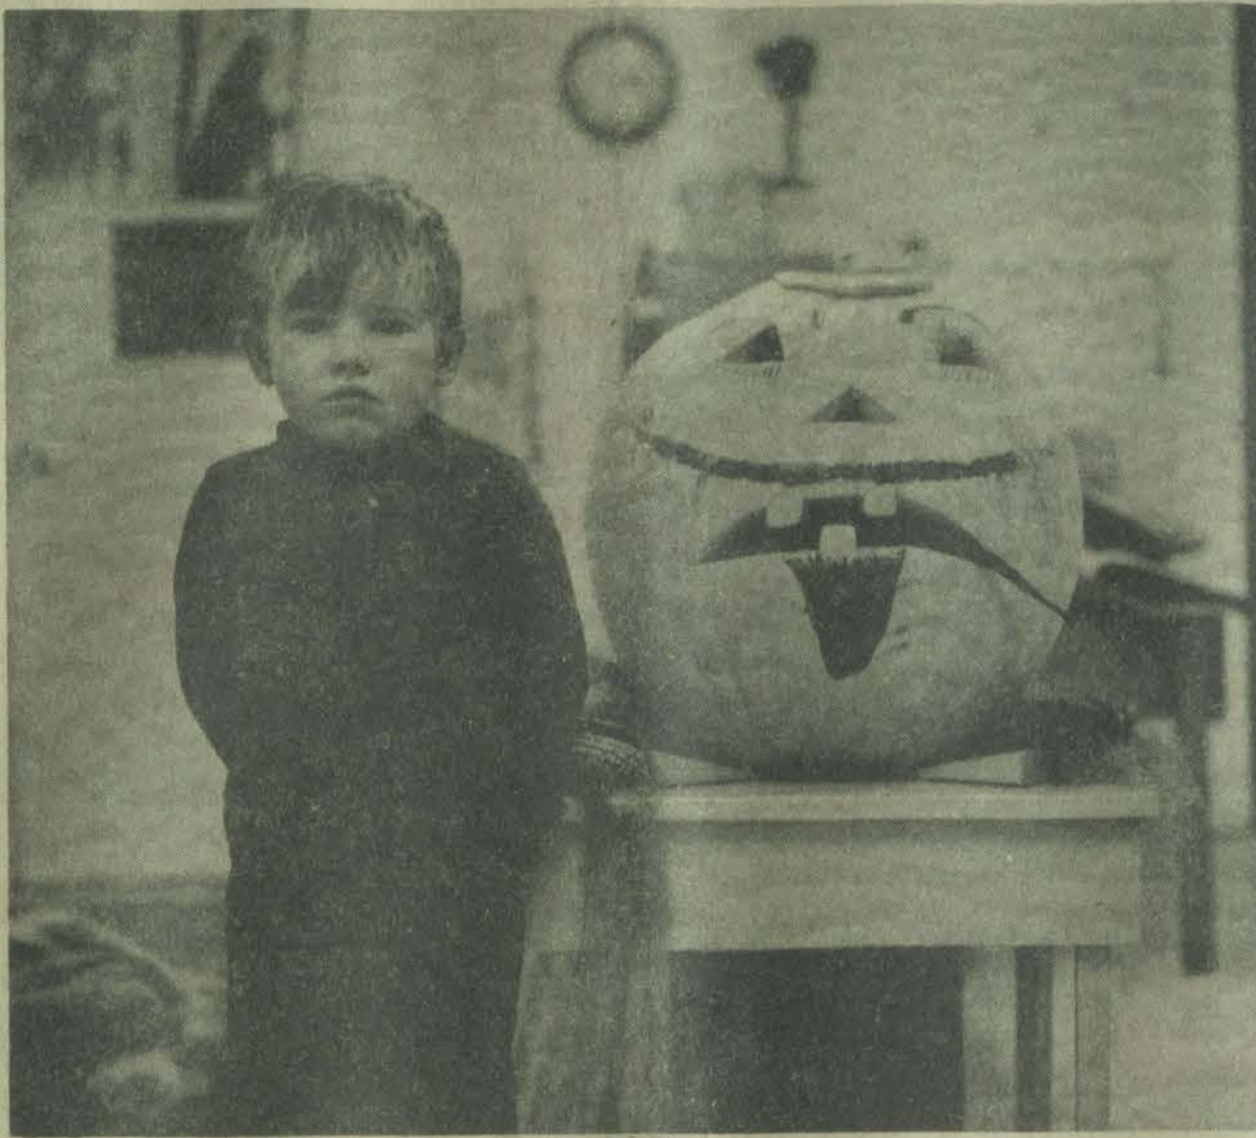

Cause of the blaze has not been definitely established. The fire was confined mainly to the kitchen. A Prestonsburg fireman said the kitchen appliances were electrical but that gas could be smelled when he and other members of the fire department arrived around 1:45 p.m.

Earlier in the day, a five-room house owned by Orville Stephens burned at Dwale with all its contents. Prestonsburg firemen joined the Allen Fire Department at the scene, but the roof of the building was falling in when they arrived and nothing could be saved.

Mr. Wells was a son of the late Bosier H. and Bessie Burchett Wells. He was a veteran of World War II and was formerly employed by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at David. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Clark Wells, and three sisters, Mrs. Eddie Nichols, Piketon, O., Mrs. Jake Hollifield and Mrs. Harold Lloyd Patton, both of Auxier.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Friday from the Auxier United Methodist Church, the Revs. Floyd Tackett and Alex Patton officiating. Burial was made in the

$30,000 in State-Aid Funds Marked for 7 Floyd Towns

Governor Wendell H. Ford and Highway Commissioner Charles Pryor, Jr. last Friday announced a distribution of state-aid funds to the cities and urban areas of Kentucky. In Floyd county approximately $30,000 was distributed to seven towns, as follows:

Allen, $3,275.39; Burton, $655.99; Lackey, $1,330.07; Martin, $3,555.89; Prestonsburg, $15,481.19; Wayland, $1,737.23; Wheelwright, $3,587.55.

Each allocation provides funds for the community's street and road maintenance and improvement program. The new program, styled the Municipal Aid Program by the Department of Highways, becomes operative July 1, next for the fiscal year 1973-'74 which begins on that date. The program is based on one-half cent of the Commonwealth's motor fuel tax.

Distribution is being announced at this time to allow local authorities to begin planning the first of their annual programs, it was explained.

Arson and Theft Clues Are Found After David Fire

Arson and theft are suspected in the destruction by fire Monday afternoon of the electric power substation at the No. 2 mine of the Patsy Development Company, near David.

Harmon Tussey, Patsy superintendent, said no electric current was connected with the substation at the time of the blaze. He pointed out the copper wiring had been cut at the transformers and taken away.

No clue to the identity of persons implicated in the fire has been found, it was said. The damage will run into several thousands of dollars but there was no official estimate available.

The Prestonsburg Fire Department succeeded in saving six transformers which were outside the building.

Patsy Development Company owned the substation. The building in which it was housed was owned by David L. Francis.

Equipment used by Patsy Development in the operation of the David mines, now closed, is being sold to the Fairchild Equipment Co., Beckley, W. Va., it was said this week. The No. 1 tippie there is being used for the loading of coal being mined in surface operations on Bull Creek, Licking River, by Fon Johnson. The operation is employing about 30 men, most of whom are from the Patsy labor panel.

Baby Is Killed Beneath Truck

Bill Jack Darby, of Cow Creek, was involved in the accidental death in Martin county last Friday of a 16-month-old child who was crushed beneath the wheels of a truck which he was driving.

The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spence, who operate a store at Tomahawk. Mr. Darby had parked his Purty bread truck at the roadside, some distance from the store and after calling on the merchant returned to the truck to drive away.

As the truck moved, he said, he felt a jar, and the thought occurred to him that he had struck one of Mr. Spence's dogs. He quickly stopped and backed the truck with the intention of going back to the store and telling the merchant what had happened. It was then that he saw the baby's body.

No charge was lodged against Darby as the parents and authorities considered the child's death an unavoidable accident.

Governor Ford said, "I have long been concerned by the mounting needs of Kentucky's urban areas and the severe limitations on their means of meeting them. As a candidate I promised to find some way to help our cities deal with their problems thru state aid. As Governor I recommended this program to the 1972 General Assembly and saw appropriate legislation passed."

Responsibility for managing the program has been given to the Department of Highways. Commissioner Pryor said the Department plans to develop and implement Municipal Aid Programs for the various communities with personnel now supervising the County Road Aid and Rural Secondary Programs. Deputy Commissioner Otto Ingram will have specific responsibility.

The amount allotted each place is determined by its population as shown by the 1970 federal census. All incorporated cities are eligible to share as well as unincorporated areas which the census found to be urban in character. Programs for unincorporated urban areas having no name have their allocations in the name of their county.

Rescue Group Works Six Hours To Free Body of Truckdriver

Members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad worked six hours Monday night near Wayland before freeing from the wreckage of his truck the body of Shelvie Gene Lemaster, 32, of Flat Gap, Johnson county.

Lemaster, driver of an Adams Construction Company truck, was showered by 350-degree-hot asphalt which he was hauling when his tractor-trailer dropped over an embankment on KY 7, a short distance outside the southern city limits of Wayland.

A spokesman for the construction company said that, although there was no eyewitness to the tragedy, it appeared that Lemaster lost control of the tractor-trailer on a sharp curve and went over the hill, the trailer with its load of asphalt breaking free of the trailer, then bursting and showering its load over the truck.

The wreck occurred at 12:10 Monday morning. The body was recovered at 6 a.m.

Surviving the victim are his widow, Mrs. Sally Belcher Lemaster; three sons and one

New Hospital Dedication Set

The $5 million-plus Highlands Regional Hospital, now nearing completion near Auxier, will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 26, it was announced this week by Dr. George P. Archer.

Plans for the dedicatory program have not been completed, but Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who was instrumental in winning federal assistance in financing the venture, has confirmed his intention to be present. Invitations have been sent to EDA officials in Washington, Governor Ford, the Commissioner of Health, the deans of the state's two medical schools and others.

Dr. Archer said that it is hoped the new 150-bed facility will be opened by Dec. 15 but that this will depend upon how well the work of interior finishing, equipment installation and cleaning up progresses.

"In any event," he said, "we will be open by Christmas."

Heavy Vote Seen For Next Tuesday

This Town . . . That World

Hold your hats, peg down the tents and keep the door to the storm cellar open. I have a fishing trip to mind.

IT'S AHEAD-WE HOPE

Now that the leaves are calling it quits and taking a lot of the beauty with them, we look next to Indian Summer. The old legend says the haze that prevails at that time of year rises from the ghostly campfires of departed warriors camping along the spirit-trail. You wouldn't think they'd skip us this year, would you?

Correct me if I'm wrong, but I believe that of all God's creatures man is the only one who, facing the light, will look backward to see his shadow.

COULD SAVE STEPS

Only a few weeks separate my birthday from that of my former associate, "Buck" Scalf, and neither of us is boasting. The other day Buck emphasized the fact that we are growing old, Maggie by telling the story of the two oldtimers who attended a funeral and made it up to the cemetery together for the burial. The last rites over, Bill turned to his companion and said, "How old are you, Jim?"

"Ninety-eight," his friend quavered.

"How old are you?"

"Ninety-seven."

Bill chewed a dead grass-stem thoughtfully for a moment, then said, "Don't look like there's much use you and me goin' home, does it?"

In the days when I was on the farm I could never see much future in milking cows. But after learning that Bob DeRossett paid that man who milked the cow in the Red, White and Blue Day parade $35 for the chore, I've changed my mind. Even if it is a bit late.

THE EXPLANATION

Thought I might needle Lenna Moore a bit about not going to Ashland to hear President Nixon speak last week, but he had a ready explanation.

"The Security people wouldn't let me," he explained. "They knew that the minute the President saw me out there in the crowd he'd come bustin' through to shake hands with me, and that would expose him to too much danger."

School Board Races To Spur Ballot Turnout

A heavy vote is in prospect for Floyd county next Tuesday, but it will not be either Richard M. Nixon or George McGovern who will bring the voters out.

A school election (the naming of members of the Floyd County Board of Education) in three of the county's five educational divisions will be responsible for the interest shown at most voting-places.

In precincts which do not have candidates for board member the ballot will bear the names of these candidates:

For President and Vice-President—George McGovern and R. Sargent Shriver (Democrats) and Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew (Republicans); John G. Schmitz and Thomas J. Anderson (American Party); Linda Jenness and Andrew Pulley (Socialists Workers Party); Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner (Communist); Dr. Benjamin Spock and Julius Hobson (People's Party).

For U. S. Senator—Walter "Dee" Huddleston (Democrat); Louie B. Nunn (Republican); Helen Breeden (American Party); William E. Bartley, Jr. (People's Party).

For Representative in Congress, Seventh district—Carl D. Perkins (Democrat), Robert Holcomb (Republican).

For Judge of the Court of Appeals (Judicial Ballot)—James B. Stephenson, Don A. Ward.

For County Attorney (unopposed)—James R. Allen.

In precincts where the school election is at issue these candidates' names will be added:

Educational Division No. 3—John M. Stumbo, Thomas J. Spears; Educational Division No. 4—Manis Crawford, J. B. (Buck) Rogers, Dr. Mary Hall; Educational Division No. 5—James Arville Duff, Ernest (Ed) Ousley.

Hall Held After His Son-in-Law Seriously Shot

Marlie Hall, of Bryant's Branch, Left Beaver Creek, was jailed here Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Dester Hamilton and charged with shooting and wounding his son-in-law, David Newman, 21, with a shotgun blast.

The arresting officer said he was told the shooting resulted from a family quarrel. Shot in his face and chest by a shotgun charge fired at a range of 40 to 50 feet, Newman was taken to the McDowell Regional Hospital in serious condition. He later received a blood transfusion but is expected to recover.

Gary R. Newsome and James D. Tackett, who were booked at the county jail Oct. 23 on a liquor transporting charge, were not in Magistrate Eddie Caudill's court, as was reported last week but were booked to County Judge Henry Stumbo. Judge Stumbo's office later issued orders for the impoundment of the cars operated by the two men. The impoundment orders listed Tackett's cargo as 40 cases of beer and 48 half-pints of whiskey; Newsome's, as 30 cases of beer and 48 half-pints of whiskey.

Among those arrested within the week was Elhanon Smith, accused of grand larceny after two tires and two wheels owned by John Hancock were reported missing. He was arrested by State Trooper E. B. Allen. Others booked at the jail within the week:

Mental Caseload Up in September To Total of 1873

Mountain Mental Health Service announced this week that at the end of September its caseload throughout the five-county region was 1873, 15 greater than for the month of August.

This figure represents all cases from the four major categories of mental health, mental retardation, alcohol and drug abuse remaining on the active caseload list at the end of the month. The region-wide monthly average caseload for the first quarter of fiscal 1972-'73 was 1846, according to Richard Stai, executive director of Mountain Mental Health.

Team II (Pike county) had the highest end-of-month caseload figure with 761, followed by Team I (Floyd county) with 579. Team III (Johnson, Martin and Magoffin) was close behind with 533 cases.

Stai pointed out that the end-of-month caseload figures do not represent the actual number of cases handled by the Comprehensive Care Center staffs in the course of the month, but those retained within each mental health service unit at the end of the month. Stai also observed that while the Mountain Mental Health Service caseload is increasing "many people in our region are still not being served by mental health services because they or their families are even yet unaware of the range of services we offer. For this reason we are increasing our public education and information efforts throughout the region and working closely with education, government and other social service agencies."

Alice Lloyd College Slates Homecoming For Next Sunday

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Alumni homecoming will be held at Alice Lloyd College Sunday, November 5, and it will feature presentations by a mental health expert, a Connecticut architect, and a play about Barbara Allen.

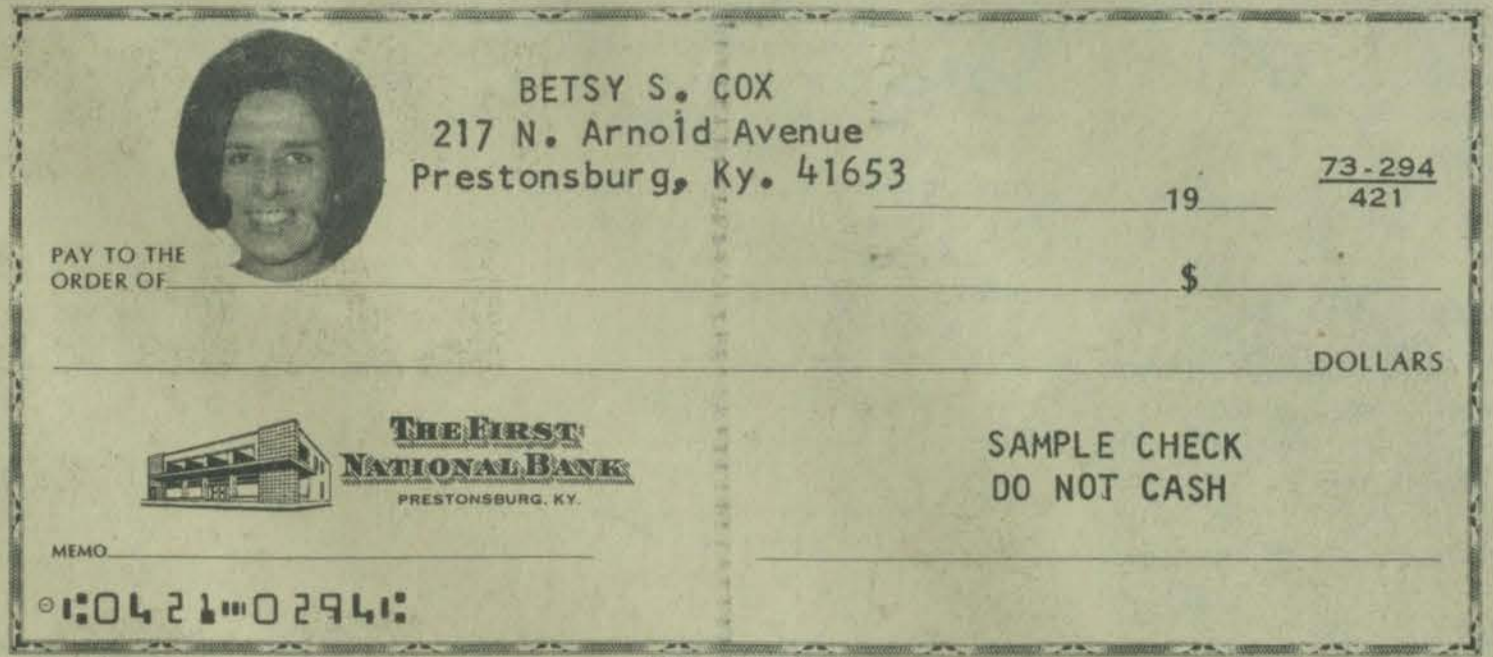

Beginning with a business meeting at 10:30 a.m., the Alice Lloyd Alumni Association will inaugurate its new president, Dr. Lowell Martin, of Martin, and elect other officers for the year. At 11:15 a.m., Victor Christ-Janer, award-winning architect from New Canaan, Conn., will make a presentation of the new buildings scheduled for construction at the college.

During a luncheon on "the meadow," ALC basketball coach Jim Rose will talk about the season ahead when several new all-state players will join the squad. Dr. Edgar Moles, of the Kentucky Mental Health Department, will address the alumni at 1:30 p.m. Following Dr. Moles, Alice Lloyd students will entertain with a talent show, and the day will conclude with a play, "Dark of the Moon," about Barbara Allen. Homecoming visitors may also visit standing exhibits of art, photography, and crafts which will be set up on campus.

The Unpleasant Facts

Most of us, we learn at this late date, are in our support of Boy Scouting much like those who discuss the weather. Apparently, we talk a lot about it but do nothing.

As the Lonesome Pine Boy Scout Council prepares to launch its annual fund-raising drive, Nov. 11, we are told that between $3,000 and $4,000 is needed from Prestonsburg alone.

That is not a shocking figure, but here is a shocker: In the last four years Prestonsburg has never contributed its fair share of the financial load. As a consequence, for the Council to continue its work, for the Council even to exist, other towns have been taking up the slack.

The quota for the Council is $105,000. If the drive fails, the situation will be precarious. The Council, in that event, would be forced to borrow money, or even to merge with another Council. And merger could be disastrous. It could mean the elimination of Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake as a Council camping center, the loss of a district Scout executive—in short, it could mean operation of Scouting from a distance, with interest in local needs far less than they now are. Is Scouting worth supporting? We talk much about Americanism. Through Scouting, youngsters, in their formative years, get acquainted with and learn to honor the highest ideals. Young bodies are developed, minds and loyalties are strengthened. In Scouting lies the foundation-work of good citizenship.

These higher benefits to the youngsters are mentioned instead of the financial benefits accruing to this community from salaries, supplies purchased and the like. Because they are really what matter most.

We can do better this year than we have in the past. The truth is, we must.

LETTERS To the Editor

Asks Conservative Books For County Library

I have long admired, and bragged often on, our public library. For such a small county to have such an excellent library and courteous, efficient staff is rare.

A few faults—of course. But someone has erased one fault—or, rather, started the erasure; that is the lack of strong, conservative magazines and books. I was simply delighted to see "American Opinion" on the table, my last visit. Before Nov. 7th issue; especially the article on Churches and Christians, by Tom Anderson.

To whoever is the Big Boss: How about the book, "The Washington Pay-Off" by Winter-Berger being numbered among the many excellent books in our library, the library kept up by the taxes of conservatives as well as the taxes of liberals?

SAYS WATERGATE A COMMUNIST HUNT

Editor, The Times:

I am really getting bored. Everytime I pick up a newspaper or turn on the T. V. I keep getting claptrap about the watergate incident. As everyone knows, the Democratic headquarters were bugged for the same reason that Robert Kennedy bugged Martin Luther King; he was looking for Communist.

It is a well-documented fact that there are certain people in this country whose avowed purpose is to disrupt our present way of life, thus creating disorder and destruction in which only a well-organized Communist organization may thrive.

These people were responsible for the disruptive racial rites. This happened in the middle and late '60's, which Muskie got involved and eventually the Democratic convention.

Our law-enforcement people who are charged with the safety and security of our country must keep these disruptive forces under constance surveillance, as was done in the recent Washington march. So I'm sure that as soon as President Nixon is ready the whole truth can be told.

Club Federation Sponsors Talks

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, Seventh district, sponsored a consumer seminar Oct. 18 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, with attention being focused on the latest state consumer protection laws.

Speakers at the meeting included Robert Bullock, a staff member of the Kentucky attorney general's office whose topic dealt with legislation. Edward Hessel, executive vice-president of the Louisville Better Business Bureau, gave views on trade practices, and Dr. Lyman Ginger, superintendent of public instruction, spoke briefly on education.

Mrs. Oscar Sowards, of Pikeville, member of the Consumer Advisory Council to the President Moderated a panel. Mrs. Sowards pointed out that "if people know about laws they can protect themselves. The new laws are a protection to legitimate businesses. If a person is protected from fraudulent practices, then he will have the money to purchase the goods he needs from the legitimate businessman."

Also included in the presentation was a discussion of the recently passed Consumer Fraud Law which gives the attorney general's office the authority to prosecute fraudulent businessmen when they take advantage of the public and the new three-day, "cooling off" period which allows three days in which to cancel a contract.

This law was enacted by the 1972 General Assembly because of a large number of complaints against fraudulent roofing and house-siding companies.

Approximately 300 persons attended the meeting which including representatives from the Woman's Club of Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville, Drift, Maytown, Lackey, Garrett, Wayland and Elkhorn City. Junior Women's Clubs of Prestonsburg and Pikeville were represented. Also attending were teachers and students from the Prestonsburg, Allen Central, Betsy Layne, Martin County, Pikeville and Elkhorn City high schools.

Other organizations represented included members from Floyd County Extension Office, Pike County Extension Office, Kentucky Rural Child Care, and Floyd County Board of Education.

Bryan Station, Preseason Choice; Head Start Funds Win HEW Approval

Lexington Bryan Station is the preseason choice of "Inside Kentucky Sports" magazine as the state's best high school basketball team and Betsy Layne's Danny Hall as one of Kentucky's top five players.

The magazine found the Bryan Station team to be the choice of the state's high school coaches in a poll which appears in the publication's November issue which goes on sale soon.

Wesley Cox, 6-5 senior forward from Louisville Male high school, is the choice as the state's best player.

The magazine's 76-page high school basketball preview issue contains full listings of the top 25 teams and selects its own pre-season all-state teams.

According to the magazine, Louisville Male is the top challenger to Bryan Station, with Owensboro Senior, Union County and Campbellsville rounding out the top five.

Preseason selections for the first team All-State squad consists of, in addition to Cox, Kenny Higgs (6-0 junior) from Owensboro; Ted Hundley (6-8 senior) from Lexington Bryan Station; Robby Mayhall (6-8 senior) from Middlesboro, and Danny Hall (6-9 junior) from Betsy Layne.

The magazine lists the top 25 teams in this order:

1. Lexington Bryan Station, 2. Louisville Male, 3. Owensboro Senior, 4. Union

Dear Fellow American: Vote Your Choice . . .

With good reason, good, sound judgement with appreciation, in sincere consideration of ALL reasons why you should vote for Mr. Richard Nixon to run your government for four more years. If you give it good, HONEST, sincere thought, you will think of the following reasons why you should choose him to work for you for four more years.

We all know this man has worked hard for America and has done some wonderful things for our country. He did as we all know step into a job that was a monumental task. He stepped into office when our country was fighting a most despised, useless and unwanted war. Our nation was torn by riots and havoc, our cities were burning, crime was at an all time high, our country was in desperation, dissension and despair. We had well over half million men in Vietnam. Two hundred and fifty to five hundred Americans were dying every week and many thousands were being wounded, some severely, some disabled for life. In the face of all this Mr. Nixon went to work. He did not run from the war, he did not back off from the mountain of problems. He tackled his job courageously, he did not run like a coward, as many wanted him to do.

He immediately began to build up South Vietnam into a fighting force, and at the same time begin trimming down our forces and bringing our boys home at an average rate of almost twelve thousand per month. And the loss of lives fell from two hundred and fifty to five hundred per week to near zero. He has offered North Vietnam a peace offer so very honest and simple, that for them to refuse, would be sheer stupidity.

IN CONSIDERATION AND APPRECIATION of what he has done in bringing back over half million of our boys, and has brought peace close at hand, so as to get our prisoners back from their gruelling stay in captivity for so long, so far away from home. I can not see how a mother or father, sister or brother, aunt or uncle, or even close friends of families who have had a son in this gruesome fight, COULD HAVE THE HEART TO PULL THE LEVER AGAINST THIS MAN.

On top of all this, he has broken up dissension in our country. He has cooled the riots, our cities are calm again. He has lowered the crime rate, it is safer to walk on the streets again. He has stabilized our economic position. He has created far greater relationships with nations around the world, with a friendly climate of peaceful coexistence, especially with China and Russia. He has opened up trade with the two giant nations of the world, which will consequently be a stabilizing force to our economic position in post war times of Vietnam, if trade relations get along well with China and Russia, it could lead to a post war boom. And we all know a peace time boom is far, far, far ahead of war time boom. GOOD TIMES IN PEACE TIME, EVERY BODY'S HAPPY. War time booms, are sad and gloomy, which only the heartless greedy guts enjoy.

We do have INFLATION, which is the BABY OF WAR AND BIG SPENDING. The big lay outs for war spending, a colossal welfare system, space exploration and of course the huge appetites of business and labor. Every body wanting to be a millionaire, but only wants to pay a nickle for a loaf of bread. We must all cool it and it will all calm down. Mr. Nixon is working very hard to bring every thing into balance and in line and down to earth, live let live, level.

Lets give the man our vote of APPRECIATION, for what he has done for our country. Lets give him our vote so that he may complete the programs he has started and for the new ideas he has charted, for the good of our country.

As Mr. John Connally of Texas, stated in his recent televised message to the people, I would hate to see a new man set down to the bargaining table to carry out trade agreements, or other agreements or programs Mr. Nixon has started or initiated. It could all turn to shambles, we could be set back to the state of despair, losing all we have gained.

Don't be like the dog crossing the creek with a bone in his mouth seeing the shadow of the bone in the water, he jumps for the shadow and loses it all.

So hang onto what you have. VOTE RICHARD M. NIXON FOR FOUR MORE YEARS. AND VOTE IN MR. NUNN FOR SENATOR AND MR. HOLCOMB FOR CONGRESS, THAT THESE MEN MAY HELP MR. NIXON CARRY OUT HIS PROGRAMS AND PLANS FOR THE NEXT FOUR YEARS. VOTE FOR FOUR YEARS OF PEACE AND PLENTY, SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS. VOTE FOR THE TEAM THAT WILL BRING YOU THIS. VOTE RICHARD M. NIXON, FOR THE GOOD OF THE NATION. VOTE LOUIE NUNN, FOR A GREATER KENTUCKY AND THE NATION. VOTE BOB HOLCOMB, FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY, ESPECIALLY THE COAL MINER AND THE COAL INDUSTRY.

BEST WISHES TO YOU ALL.

CHARLES M. McCOY

Think About This

Regardless of what Mr. Perkins may say about the good that he claims he has done for Eastern Kentucky, he has left an appalling cloud over whatever good he has done With The Bad He Has Done.

What is the bad he has done? He has robbed a lot of our citizens of the most precious possession or asset they will ever have.

What is the precious possession they lost? They lost, ambition, dignity, pride and independence, the will to be somebody, the will to work and make a living for themselves. They have been cast down into the rut of despair, into a state of mere existence, and, worst of all, their children are growing up in the same state of affairs, which is poison to our society. We cannot blame the poor. We have to blame the politicians that have brought them to this state of existence.

If money will give them a hand-out, money will provide them with a job and let them independently earn a living for themselves and their families. If Mr. Perkins is as good as he claims he is, he could have had jobs, good jobs for every able-bodied person that is on welfare. He's had 24 years to do it in. Instead, he says, "I'll Give You." Well, he doesn't give you anything, he just merely takes the taxpayers' dollars and gives them to you, in low-rated welfare gimmick programs.

As dumb as I am, if I would have had the opportunity that Carl Perkins has had to help his people, I would have had a nice paycheck coming into every family that had or has an able-bodied worker, and nobody would be looking down on them, calling them welfare beggars or parasites on the government. Like Mr. Jay Rockefeller of West Virginia says (and incidentally he is running for Governor of that state), I would give them training most suitable to them, and at the end of the training have a job waiting for them—not a promise, but a job. Because, if money will give them welfare or training, money will guarantee them some kind of job, state or government, until there is a job found for them in private enterprise. If Mr. Rockefeller can do it, Mr. Perkins can do it. And if you don't think he can, let's vote him out and put in one that will.

Give Mr. Holcomb a chance. And if he doesn't do it, kick him out and put in one that will.

Vote for a change, vote for pride, ambition and dignity for Eastern Kentucky. Let's get out of the Welfare State to one of an independent, happy state. Let's try in every way possible to upgrade our people so that we are not looked down on as the welfare state.

Let's find a man who believes in a better Kentucky, not a welfare Kentucky. GIVE MORE TO THE OLD AGED AND THE DISABLED. GIVE A JOB TO THE ABLE-BODIED. LET'S UP-GRADE, KENTUCKY. VOTE IN A MAN THAT WILL DO IT, AS MR. PERKINS HAS FAILED.

In Memoriam

In memory of Ronnie Dean Dotson on his 22nd birthday, Nov. 2:

Your gentle face and patient smile With sadness we recall, You had a kindly word for each And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart That loved one well and true, Ah, bitter was the trial to part From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one, Now will you ever be, As long as life and memory last We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore, As time goes by we miss you more, Your loving smile, your gentle face, No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by his parents, MR. and MRS. GREELY DOTSON and FAMILY

CORRIDOR PUBLIC HEARING

A Highway Corridor Public Hearing is scheduled on Thursday, December 7, 1972 at 7:00 P.M., prevailing local time, in the County Court Room of the Floyd County Courthouse in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to afford all interested persons and those affected by the proposed construction of a bridge and approaches over the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River at Banner an opportunity to become fully informed about the proposed project. Said persons are invited, and encouraged, to attend and express their views on the Highway Corridor including social, economic, environmental and other effects of the proposed project. This project begins at the Junction of New US 23 at Banner, spans the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River, and ends 0.7 mile south of beginning, near the old Banner School.

Exhibits and other pertinent information developed by the Department of Highways, and written views received from local, state and federal agencies and other public officials will be reviewed and discussed by the Department representatives at the Public Hearing, and will be available for inspection and copying at the District Office at Pikeville. The procedure and tentative schedule for acquiring right of way and the Relocation Assistance Program will also be discussed during the Public Hearing.

Written statements and other exhibits will be accepted at the Public Hearing and made a part of the Hearing record. Additional statements may be submitted to the District Office of the Department of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, within ten days after the Public Hearing.

The Public Hearing is being conducted pursuant to the Federal Aid Highway Act U.S.C., its revisions and as required by the U.S. Department of Transportation's Policy and Procedure Memorandum 20-8 dated January 14, 1969.

G. B. Mullins District Engineer Department of Highways Pikeville, Kentucky

Project exhibits will be on display for public review at the District Highway Office in Pikeville, Kentucky, and at the Floyd County Courthouse in Prestonsburg, from now until the day of the Hearing. In order for specific questions to be answered concerning the proposed project, Highway Department personnel will be at the Courthouse in Prestonsburg from 2:00 P.M. to 4:00 P.M. on Thursday, November 30, 1972.

The Draft Environmental Statement will be available for reviewing and copying in the District Office at Pikeville, Kentucky from this day forward.

EAGLE CO-CAPTAINS—Guard Howard Wallen (10) and forward Leonard Coulter (35) have been elected co-captains of the 1972-73 basketball squad at Morehead State University. Both are juniors and were All-Ohio Valley Conference performers on MSU's championship team last year. Coulter was picked on two All-America teams after leading the OVC in rebounding (14.2) and finishing second in scoring (24.1). Wallen, a son of Wendell Wallen, and a former Meade Memorial high school star, broke the MSU record for assists and averaged 16 points. MSU opens the season Nov. 27 at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Floyd Man Manages League Champs

The Finneytown Royals, managed by David Webb, a former Maytown high school athlete, were champions in Class D Little League baseball at Cincinnati last summer with a record of 9 wins and 3 losses. They were sponsored by the Cincinnati Redlegs. Team members are: Standing, Manager Webb, back row from left, Johnny Holzmacher, Bobby Scheidler, Matt Brown, Martin Dooley, Kelly McMahan, Jimmy Carroll, David Brandt and Bobby Jacobsen; kneeling, Dennis Rosenaker, Barry Wacksman, Timmy Flugeman, Davey Webb, Herman Gibbermeyer, Tommy Hess. (Not in picture, Brian Vesprani.) Davey Webb, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webb of Langley and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dermont, of Martin, was third in batting average with a .635 average and led in double, runs batted in and runs scored.

Pikeville Having Five Floyd Students Double Trouble Enroll at Transy

Pikeville was having more trouble last week than any city of its size in Kentucky. As a starter, one of its commissioners, Frank Justice, quit in a huff, charging that Mayor W. C. Hambley and two fellow-commissioners are incompetent and that he does not want to be a part of "such bad government."

At the same time it was reported that Lee Keene, Methodist Hospital administrator, and others at the hospital had received warning notes, signed "KKK." James R. Venable, of Tucker, Ga., Imperial Wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said the warnings were not from the Klan but apparently from somebody using its name.

That was followed last Wednesday by 40 of the 45 workers on the city payroll walking off their jobs in protest against city garbage collection at the strike-ridden Methodist Hospital. And that could stop all garbage collection, as well as other city services.

But, said Mayor Hambley, "...city will have to do what it must," and that would include steps to keep things going.

Since 1969, about 20,000 workers have received approximately $42 million in trade readjustment allowance payments through the Department of Labor.

Five students from Floyd county have enrolled for the fall quarter at Transylvania University, Lexington. They are Marilyn Ann Rose, Thomas John Burchett, Herbert G. Salisbury, III, and Malissa Allen Francis, all of Prestonsburg, and Tony G. Samons, Minnie.

Miss Rose is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Rose, 107 W. Graham St., and is a sophomore theater student. Burchett, a sophomore pre-med major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burchett, 334 North Arnold Ave. Salisbury is also a sophomore pre-med student, and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Salisbury, 403 Central Ave. Miss Francis is a Spanish student and a member of the senior class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Francis. Samons is a member of the new freshman class at Transylvania and plans to major in pre-med. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Samons.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

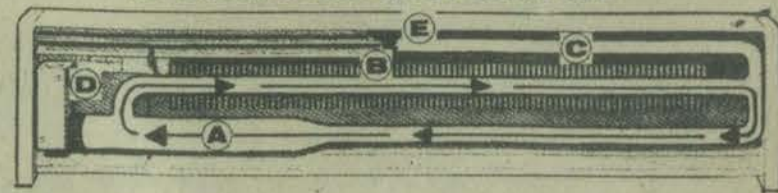

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Porter, of Stanville, wish to announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Oct. 26 at the Methodist hospital in Pikeville. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Porter, all of Prestonsburg.

Campbell-Goodman

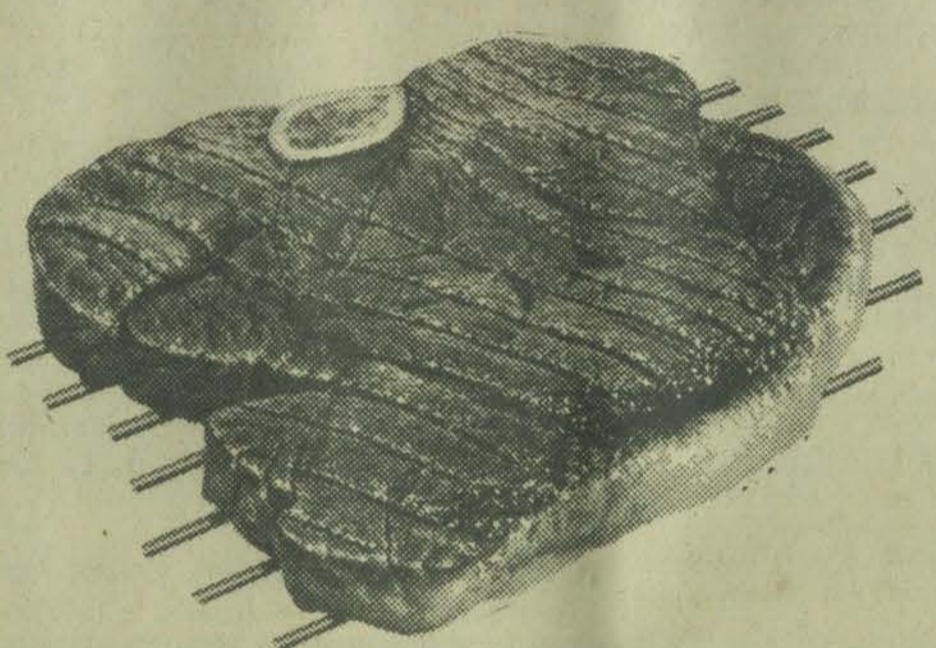

The marriage of Miss Gail Ann Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Allen, Ky., and Mr. Danny Lee Goodman, of the U. S. Air force, San Antonio, Texas, and a son of Willie Goodman, Martin, Ky., was solemnized Saturday afternoon, Oct. 14, at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Martin.

The gracious custom of open church was observed.

Prior to his appointment by President Woodrow Wilson as the first Secretary of Labor, William B. Wilson was the Congressman from Pennsylvania who sponsored the legislation which created the Federal Department of Labor. Wilson, a burly, friendly Scotch immigrant and former officer of the National Union of Miners, was appointed on March 6, 1913 and served to March 4, 1921.

Consumers Name Hall To Board Of Health Care

Alex Hall, of Galveston, was chosen to serve as an at-large consumer representative on the board of Comprehensive Health Care, Inc., in an election conducted Saturday night at seven different locations in this county.

He defeated Buck Rogers, of Weeksbury, and Homer Robinson, of Prestonsburg. All three candidates were nominated at community meetings held October 5.

Other consumer representatives already serving on the board are the Rev. Milford Adams, of Grethel, Frank Smith, of Weeksbury, Estill Cole, of Melvin, and Merlin Crum, of Martin. Dr. William McElwain, state commissioner of the Department of Health, is chairman of the 10-member board.

The election was required to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Joe Ratliff, of Hueysville.

The purpose of Comprehensive Health Care is to develop and operate an Office of Economic Opportunity-funded comprehensive health program for disadvantaged residents of Floyd county.

The election was supervised by personnel from the Kentucky Program Development Office, Division of Economic Opportunity, Joseph E. Smith, director.

Gas Users Told Deadline Near For Applications

Michael Barna, Jr., manager of Columbia Gas of Kentucky, Inc., has alerted would-be residential users of natural gas that the deadline for accepting applications for new service is rapidly approaching.

He said that because of an existing gas shortage the company had found it necessary to request the Kentucky Public Service Commission to authorize the refusal of new residential service. Following the request, the public generally was notified and the Commission conducted hearings lasting several days.

Mr. Barna said that the order entered October 6 by the Commission requires that new residential customers must apply for service to the Gas Company by October 21 and be ready for service by January 1, 1973. He added that such applications must be in writing on forms available at company offices. Since October 21 is on Saturday and Monday, October 23, is a holiday, Mr. Barna said the company will accept applications until 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 24.

The company also was ordered by the Commission to prepare a detailed proposal for processing applications on hand of all classes of customers to assure that applications are uniformly handled and will be available for future consideration in the event gas supply shortages are relieved.

The order directed the company to refuse to continue service to all existing and new outside ornamental flare fixtures and new outside gas lights.

The company was told to initiate immediately an educational campaign to promote the conservation of natural gas by all classes of customers and to submit details of its program within 30 days.

Service to existing gas customers is not affected by the approaching deadline for new customers seeking gas service, nor anyone moving into a residence where gas service already exists.

The commission also directed the company not to add any new commercial and industrial customers and to refuse requests for increased requirements of its present commercial and industrial customers.

The company's service Eastern Kentucky area includes Ashland, Catlettsburg, Lancer, Betsy Layne, Harold, Drift, Hindman and field lines. In Central Kentucky it serves Lexington, Cynthiana, Frankfort, Georgetown, Paris, Mt. Sterling and Winchester, and in Northern Kentucky Maysville.

Miss Wiley Named To Represent PCC At UK Homecoming

A girl named Wiley represented Prestonsburg Community College—the school in "Jenny Wiley Country"—at the University of Kentucky's homecoming last Saturday.

Selected by the PCC student body to represent the college here at the UK homecoming festivities in Lexington was Miss Judy Wiley, a graduate of Paintsville high school, and a descendant of the legendary pioneer heroine, Jenny Wiley.

Miss Linda Rasnick, graduate of Pikeville high, was named first runnerup. Other candidates and the high schools from which they were graduated were:

Pam Anderson, Johnson Central; Sherri Music, Johnson Central; Dianne Nichols, Johnson Central; Sharon Calhoun, Prestonsburg; Carolyn Wells, Prestonsburg.

Dr. William N. Rueff, a native of Paducah, has been appointed director of the Kentucky Mental Health Department's new Institute for Developmental Disabilities. The institute will supervise services for children and adults with such disturbances as mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy and other neurological handicaps. Dr. Rueff comes to the department from the University of Southern California.

IT'S STILL "AGAINST THE LAW"

By SUE WELLER

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Time has a way of outdating things including the laws of the Commonwealth.

Some laws that were needed a century ago no longer serve any useful purpose, but many of these outmoded Kentucky statutes remain on the books. Although these laws serve no practical purpose, they do bring about an amusing smile to the reader.

For instance, one Kentucky law reads, "Any person who appears on any highway, or upon the street of any city that has no police protection, when clothed only in ordinary bathing garb, shall be fined no less than five dollars nor more than $25."

Those persons who don't mind sharing the same drinking cup had better take a look at the Kentucky law that states, "No person shall use a common drinking cup in any railroad train, railroad station, public hotel, boarding house, restaurant, steamer, or other frequented public place." Failure to comply with this law results in a fine of not less than one dollar nor more than $10.

Laws concerning the state Capitol include one that states, "Any person grazing livestock on the capitol grounds shall be fined not less than $25 or more than $100."

If you feel a bit drowsy, the capitol is definitely not the place to take a nap. Kentucky law reads, "No person shall play any game, engage in any sport, lie drunk or asleep in or about the capitol." If caught you could be fined or imprisoned.

Still included in the state constitution is the oath for officers and attorneys, is the statement that they "have not fought in a duel with deadly weapons within this state nor out of it, nor have I sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons."

She'll never understand "better late than never."

BEWARE! — BEWARE!

Floyd County has had its share of power-hungry individuals who hoped to gain power by capturing the school system with its 700 employees. These people have been of both major political parties and often have been defeated office seekers. Sometimes they have been professional people who hoped to use their professional popularity as a springboard to power.

The present power grab is the brainchild of a young medical man. He, it is rumored, has persuaded or directed the actions of his team of three candidates with promises of financial support in their races. At least one candidate has been promised help in defeating one or all of the present Floyd County officials during next county elections. This young man is a fine doctor who serves hundreds of patients, some of whom may have been neglected recently because of his pre-occupation with his power play. The more power some people get, the more they become obsessed with it to the point where it becomes a sickness with them. They often need help in getting over this sickness. People in educational districts 3, 4, and 5 owe it to this young doctor and his patients to defeat his candidates so that he can devote all his time to curing the sick.

Our schools, though the best in the Sandy Valley, are not perfect because of old buildings and grounds. This situation cannot be improved by turning them over to the power-hungry. Over 200 new classrooms have been provided at an unprecedented rate by the present administration and others are planned for construction soon. Their promise to take schools out of politics means only that if they get control ONE MAN, who is hungry for political power, will direct all our schools and lives and he will require us all to bow in his direction twice daily. His brand of politics will be imposed on all of us.

Voters can insure continued progress November 7, and can keep the young doctor devoting his entire time to the sick by voting for and electing:

Cats Down One Paintsville Team, To Tackle Second Friday Night

The Prestonsburg Blackcoats achieved their second shutout of the year last Friday night as the defense did a spectacular job in handling the offense of the Johnson Central Golden Eagles.

The Cats' offense turned in an excellent performance as they ran up a 39-0 score against the Eagles in their last district game of the season and their next to last game of the year. The Cats finished district play with a record of four wins and two losses and now have an overall record of seven wins and three losses.

One of Prestonsburg's most exciting running backs, Earl Stephens, turned in his finest performance of the season as he totaled 18 points. He scored all of the Cats' points in the first quarter with punt return that covered 87 yards. He also tallied first in the second quarter as he ran end for a 25-yard touchdown. Danny Wells gathered in a pass from Jim Blackburn for a 21-yard touchdown play that completed the cats' scoring in the first half at 19-0.

Stephens scored first again for the Cats in the third quarter as he romped 51 yards with his last touchdown of the evening. Quarterback Jim Blackburn went over from the eight-yard line for the last Prestonsburg score of the third quarter. The last touchdown of the game came when Danny Wells carried the ball over from the three-yard line. Ronnie Burke tallied the last two points on the completed conversion. The only other successful conversion attempt of the game came when Robert Tackett booted one through following the game's second TD.

Friday, the Cats travel to meet arch-rival Paintsville in the last game of the season for both teams.

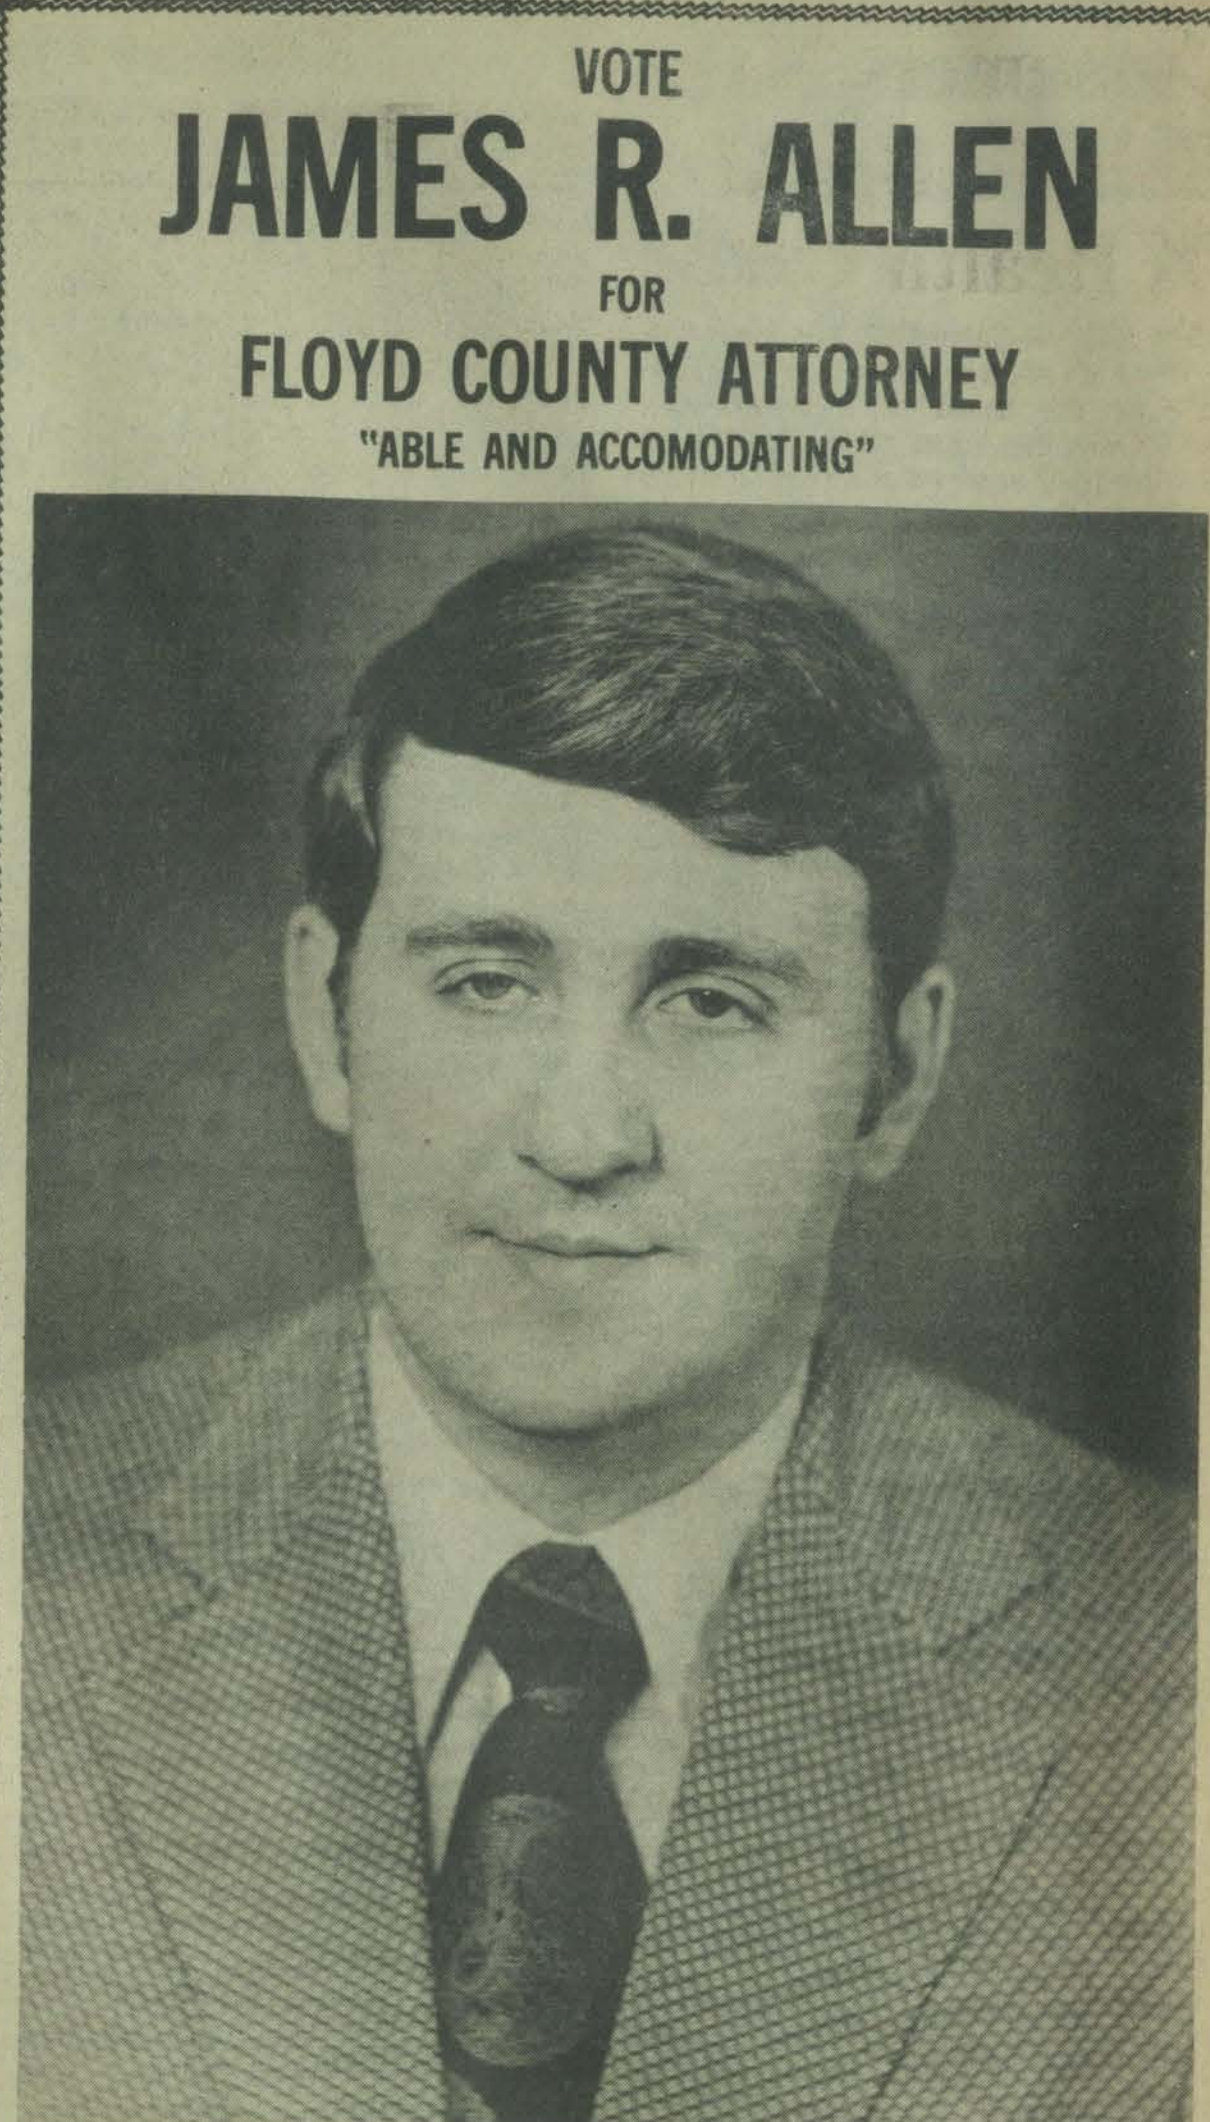

McDowell To Open Against Knott Co. In Season-Opener

McDowell, Ky.—The McDowell Daredevils take on the Knott County Cardinals at the McDowell gym, Friday night in the season-opener for both teams.

The Daredevils will be opening their 12th season under the coaching of Pete Grigsby, Jr., who will be seeking his 291st win at the Left Beaver school. Last year, the Daredevils were 24-10 and they're hoping to improve on this record in spite of a tough schedule which includes such teams as Louisville Shawnee, Breckinridge University, Martin County, Pikeville and Russell.

Coach Grigsby has four starters back from last year's five with several good prospects up from last year's "B" team. Although smaller in size, the Daredevils will be faster than in the past and will rely on team speed and good shooting to offset their lack of size.

Also reported was an overheard conversation between two or three persons. They were quoted as saying they would never stop till every house on Town Branch burned.

Utility services had been discontinued at the Wilson building. The nearby home of Mrs. Maude Stone was threatened by the blaze.

Two incidents in Prestonsburg, neither having any apparent connection with the Town Branch fires, have been reported. One of these, which occurred several days ago, involved the breaking of windows and damage to a door at the new home of Larry Greer on the hillside overlooking Prestonsburg, the breaking of windows of an antique automobile and the pouring of sand into the crankcase of its motor. And while Prestonsburg Water Commission employees were preparing to lay a water line to the Greer home last Wednesday, sugar and salt were poured into the crankcase of a backhoe and lime and earth into the fuel tank of an air-compressor. This vandalism was committed while the workers temporarily left the machinery unguarded. The equipment at the time was located on the Harkins property at the mouth of Trimble Branch. Two days' use of the machinery was lost while it was being dismantled and cleaned.

A. B. COLVIN

A. B. Colvin, of Louisville, superintendent of the Direct Missions Department of the Kentucky Baptist Convention since 1965, will occupy the pulpit of the Eastern-Maytown Baptist Chapel, Sunday, Nov. 5, at 9:30 a.m. Rev. Earl Waugh, pastor of First Baptist Church of Allen, sponsor of the chapel, will introduce the speaker, who is a graduate of U. K. and Southern Baptist Theological Baptist Seminary in Louisville, and has held several pastorates in the state, in addition to serving as Superintendent of Missions and Evangelism for Kentucky Baptists from 1958-1965. He was instrumental in launching the Maytown mission which started last June. Accompanying him will be Mrs. Colvin, who presented the little folks' furniture to the chapel nursery several months ago. The public is invited to both services.

School Boards Hear Services Cited at Meet

"All of us need to give serious thought to ways of better serving our students and communities, and do it in the most efficient manner. We must provide the best possible services at the least possible cost. That's what our taxpayers expect, and that's our goal—without hurting our children."

So said Scott C. Detrick, president of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA), in an address before a gathering of school board members and administrators from the school districts of Floyd, Johnson and Pike counties, and the independent school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville at the annual meeting of KSBA's Eastern Kentucky Region, South, last Wednesday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

KSBA Vice-President Robert E. Allen, a member of the Newport School Board, spoke to the group on the School Management Team Concept. "The management team concept has worked for business and industry, and there is no good reason why an adapted approach cannot work in the management of our schools," Allen said. He emphasized an understanding of the plan, a commitment to the plan and open communications among all members of the team as being key factors in making the management team approach work.

Maurice D. Bement, executive director of the state School Boards Association, challenged school board members and administrators to actively participate in the current study of the Kentucky Foundation Program for Education. Bement said two questions must be answered by the thousands of lay citizens and educators taking part in the study: What kind of education program do the people of Kentucky want for their children, and how do they propose to finance the desired program?

"The study to improve the education program for our children could prove to be one of the most comprehensive and significant projects ever to be conducted by the citizens of this commonwealth," Bement said. He encouraged school board members, administrators and lay citizens to study the state's Foundation Program together, and to offer recommendations for improving school programs for all of the children and youth of the state.

J. T. Clifton, KSBA Legislative Agent, commended Governor Ford and the 1972 Legislature for the enactment of legislation to better finance local school districts and for the legislation passed to improve public education.

Clifton told his audience that it is becoming increasingly difficult to operate a good school program, even when all are working together; he predicted that it might become impossible without a good, close working relationship between and among citizens, the legislature and local boards of education. He called for cooperation and a spirit of togetherness in the best interest of our children.

Woodford Estep, a member of the Johnson County Board of Education, was elected chairman of the Eastern Kentucky Region for 1973. He succeeds John Ward, a member of the Pike County School Board, who has served as chairman for the past two years.

Wendell R. Knight, of the Paintsville Board of Education, was elected vice-chairman of the region to succeed Estep, who was elected to the top post. Virgil Porter, superintendent of the Johnson county school district, was named secretary of the region. He succeeds Tilden Deskins, superintendent of the Pike county district.

KSBA is the statewide association of the 190 local boards of education in the commonwealth, with an objective of improving education offerings for the children and youth of the state.

ALLEN-CASE

Bob Grant, assistant basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, will be the speaker. Grant will discuss the Wildcats' basketball program for the coming season with Joe Hall at the helm as the new head coach.

Grant played basketball for Colorado State University and was named to the All-Skyline Conference team his junior and senior years. He remained at Colorado State after graduation as assistant basketball coach for 10 years before joining Coach Hall's staff at U. K. last summer.

The National Management Association is dedicated to development and recognition of management as a profession and promotion of the free enterprise system.

Dental Education Offered in Course At Park Last Week

"Immediate, Intermediate and Overdentures" was the topic of a continuing dental education course held at Jenny Wiley State Park last Wednesday.

Sponsored by the University of Kentucky's College of Dentistry at the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, the course dealt with selected procedures necessary in patient treatment with immediate, intermediate and overdentures.

Specifically, participants discussed impressions, esthetics, patient education, indications and contraindications for each type of treatment.

Individual segments of the course also focused on procedures that may be performed by auxiliary personnel under the supervision of the dentist.

Faculty for the course included Dr. John Gattozzi and Dr. James Woodward, of the UK College of Dentistry's department of prosthodontics.

Dinner Theatre To Open Friday

ADRIENNE DOUCETTE

The May Lodge Dinner Theatre will have its grand opening Friday evening when it will present "The Owl and The Pussycat," a comedy by Bill Manhoff, in conjunction with the Jenny Wiley Repertory Company, the area's resident professional acting company.

"The Owl and The Pussycat" is a fast-moving adult comedy about a San Franciscan book clerk named Felix Sherman whose life is interrupted one evening by a knock on the door. Portraying the characters are Miss Adrienne Doucette and Jack Wicker, both of whom are well-known for their performances at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre.

Performances of "The Owl and The Pussycat" will begin at 8:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday, with the buffet from 6:30 until 7:45. The Sunday buffet will open at noon, with the matinee performance at 3:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling the May Lodge, 886-2711.

Motivate Reading, Englebright Tells Council Members

Never ask a student to read something without giving him a purpose, members of the Jenny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association were told in a meeting at the McDowell school, October 10.

Dr. Curtis L. Englebright, president of the Kentucky IRA, told Council members that the best way to provide for students' individual differences is to "create" a way. A teacher cannot find in a book or be told how to provide for his particular students' needs, he pointed-out. There are many principles and examples to be found but it is the teacher's responsibility and duty to find the way.

"The best single method in meeting individual needs," said Dr. Englebright, "is the use of differentiated assignments. Give each child something which he is capable of doing on his own level."

Discussing "More R for the Dollar," Dr. Englebright cited five basic types of problems: (1) children reading significantly below their potential; (2) children reading at their potential but significantly below grade level; (3) children reading at potential and grade level but lacking specific skills; (4) children reading at potential and above grade level but needing instruction in sophisticated reading skills; and (5) children who can read but do not.

"There are ways of dealing with these basic problems," said Dr. Englebright, "and the teacher must learn to teach children even if they are non-readers—perhaps through the use of tape recorders and other audio-visual materials. But it can be done."

The state IRA president commented upon the progress of Kentucky's youngest council and expressed his approval of the efforts and accomplishments of the Jenny Wiley Council.

Council members are requested to continue their efforts to invite more parents, classroom teachers, principals, and other education personnel to the Council meetings which are not restricted to Reading teachers. Most of the guest-speakers have directed their remarks mainly to classroom situations and rendered valuable and practical suggestions as to both method and materials.

Refreshments were served by the McDowell teachers.

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1968 established as national policy the elimination of arbitrary age discrimination in employment.

Dr. Hall Stresses Need for TB Tests

"The treatment for TB is a lot different today than it was 25 years ago," says Dr. Russell L. Hall, health officer of the Floyd County Health Department.

During the last 25 years, he points out, drug therapy for TB patients has greatly shortened the hospitalization period. But here's one catch: the TB patient has to be found, if he's to receive the treatment he needs. The tuberculin skin test is now used throughout Kentucky to find those people who have been infected with TB.

"But being infected with TB does not necessarily mean being sick with TB," Dr. Hall emphasizes. Most people have enough resistance to bring TB germs under control and so they do not have the disease. But the "tuberculin reactor," the person who has a "positive" skin test, may develop active tuberculosis if his body's defenses are weakened by another disease, poor nutrition, alcoholism or from some other cause.

Dr. Hall reminds Floyd county residents that they can get tuberculin tests through the health department every day but Thursday from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

'Mail Early,' Urges U. S. Postal Service

The U. S. Postal Service is urging people to plan to shop and mail early now for gifts going to military personnel overseas. By using PAL or SAM parcels, gifts may be sent to servicemen anywhere in the world at reasonable cost.

A PAL package of 15 pounds, for example, will usually cost only about $4 from east coast to Indonesia.

The SAM parcels cost even less, although they are limited in weight up to 15 pounds. To avoid heavy charges on parcels to servicemen requiring straight airmail rates, customers are asked to take note of the mailing deadlines.

For SAM packages to the Far East, the deadline is Nov. 20; for PAL packages it is Nov. 27.

Two at Energy Crisis Study Criticise 'Environmentalists'

(Delayed from Last Week)

Fred Luigart, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, and Frank Conneighton, coordinator of fuel oil sales for the Ashland Oil Co., were critical in addresses made at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park last Thursday of environmentalists and the effect environmental controls are having on the coal and oil industries.

They spoke at a meeting of the Kentucky Development Commission.

Luigart termed environmentalists and strip-mine opponents as "shortsighted." He claimed that the public and government must agree on "tradeoffs" between man and nature, which he described as inevitable.

Conneighton alleged that environmentalists have made it difficult for new domestic oil refineries to be developed. He said the oil industry has occupied the role of underdog, competing with gas, "the clean-burning good guy in the white hat, and coal, the work-horse of industry."

The Development Commission meeting began concurrently with the hearing called at the courthouse here by the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission and adjourned Friday.

Luigart charged that for too long both government and public have considered coal a dead industry.

The coal official said the Atomic Energy Commission sold the public a "bill of goods" when they supported nuclear energy as the answer to fuel shortages in the 1940's and 50's.

"Today, the picture is anything but bright," he said, "but the coal industry is not confronted with whether they have sufficient reserves to meet the demand." He said the total coal reserves in this country can last 100 to 500 years.

Blasting the environmentalists and antistrip mine advocates as being shortsighted, Luigart said the public and government must recognize accept that trade-offs between man and nature are inevitable.

"One-third of our country's recoverable coal reserves has a sulphur content too high to meet pollution control standards," he said.

Technology must come to the rescue, he said, and the public must be made aware of the effects of the energy crisis.

Kentucky could become the energy center of the country, said the coal officials, if people would realize the potential of the coal industry.

It's not a shortage of fuels, the panel agreed, but a shortage of action that is hindering the solution of the nation's energy crisis.

"Gas and oil reserves in this nation have plateaued," Conneighton said, "but aggressive exploration can solve this problem."

Oil must play an important part, if not the most important part in providing a short-range solution to the energy crisis, he added.

Charging that the environmentalists have made it difficult for new domestic refineries to be developed, Conneighton predicted that by 1985, this country will be importing 15 million barrels of oil—a ten-fold increase in a 13-year period.

Energy conservation is the key to the short range solution, he said, with other panel members agreeing.

If industry could develop more efficient combustion processes, better heat generating equipment, building insulation and automobiles, enough oil could be conserved to amass 7.6 million barrels of reserve crude oil by 1985.

During this 13-year span, the oil industry could be hard at work developing programs now in the planning stages to solve the energy crisis.

Burt Bradford, of the Columbia Gas Co., Charleston, W. Va., offered a program of positive action to solve the energy crisis, after lamenting that the gas industry, currently suffering a shortage, has seen the shortage coming, "but even as we deny service to our customers, the public does not see the critical situation."

"The American oil fields are being depleted and the foreign markets are providing more and more of our gas supply, while the stringent pollution controls are holding up progress in reaching reasonable solutions to the shortage, he charged.

The energy crisis should be our nation's number one priority, but some ill-advised senators and congressmen persist in charging that the industry is "crying wolf" and creating a conspiracy to force the prices up, Bradford said.

In the year ended June 30, 1972, the Department of Labor furnished $956 million to States and localities to create jobs under the Public Employment Program (PEP) for more than 160,000 formerly unemployed and underemployed persons.

Electricycling

A smashing success.

THE CAR YOU OWN IS HEADED FOR THE JUNK HEAP. Maybe in 5 years. Maybe 10. Eventually they all wind up there, a visual cancer on the landscape. Or they did, until recycling came along.

We are a throwaway society, to the tune of 360 billion tons a year in paper, garbage, glass, cans and other wastes. We used to bury it, burn it, dump it into rivers, lakes, oceans, until the earth wouldn't hold it and rivers and lakes rebelled at such abuse. There's only one solution to such a huge disposal problem. Recycling. Reclaiming and reusing waste again and again to make new products.

IT SHOULD BE CALLED "Electricycling." Almost every recycling operation depends on electricity... as do virtually all other forms of pollution control. Electricity cleans smokestacks with electrostatic air filters, runs the machines to treat industrial wastes and operate sewage disposal systems. Without electricity, every major river and lake in America would be filthy.

AN IMPROVED ENVIRONMENT IS TIED TO MORE ELECTRIC POWER. Yet, some special interest groups see only the pollution caused by electricity production, overlooking the fact that its use is the only hope we all have to achieve a net improvement in our environment. In opposing more electric power production, they defeat the purpose of their own cause. And yours. And ours. We're environmentalists, too, and we're working hard at reducing or eliminating pollution caused by power generation. We want an improved environment for the same reasons you do. Because we also live here.

The Mountain Parkway— A Jeweled Chain

By HELEN PRICE STACY
West Liberty, Ky.—These are the days when a football is shuttled back and forth under an autumn sky studded with sheep-wool clouds, when a bit of fire and warm hearthstone beckon travelers homeward, and when every bush and tree seems spattered with color from a crayon box.

In Eastern Kentucky, nature had created a gleaming gold and silver chain that stretches along the Mountain Parkway all the way from the Bluegrass to the mountain country. Making a double loop with the parkway is Interstate 64, a few miles to the north.

Motorists can travel the loop, using the two highways, and, if they choose, stop at Carter Caves, Greenbo, Natural Bridge or Jenny Wiley State Resort Parks that are like pendant gems attached to the chain.

If they should venture off into country lanes and sideroads, autumn tourists might even find a diamond on an Elliott county hillside, or gather garnets washed into nearby Hamilton Branch.

Nothing is more thrilling to a highlander, on his way home from what oldtimers called the low country, than a point on the Mountain Parkway in Clark county where one gets his first glimpse of the hills.

To hill-born folks, this view engenders something akin to patriotism—the feeling of pride Kentuckians get when driving up Capitol Avenue in Frankfort and seeing the Capitol ahead, or when hearing a band strike up "My Old Kentucky Home."

Kentucky's rapid transit highways provide a quick way to see the commonwealth, but they are designed with numerous exits that lead into smaller towns along the way, where the tempo is slower and where history is part of today.

Travelers can follow the smaller roads into Fleming county, organized in 1798 from a part of Mason county.

A stop at Owingsville is rewarded by a view of the historic Bath county courthouse, gleaming white in the midday sun and turning copper in the late evening.

Southeast of Owingsville, you discover Olympia, where, in past decades tourists came from many states to drink the health giving water and participate and enjoy the then popular Olympian Springs Spa.

An exit off I-64 in Rowan county will lead you to Morehead, a city with heavy traffic, bustling downtown and beautiful Morehead State University.

Here, travelers will do well to stop for a moment to see the Rowan county courthouse and read its historical markers. Soon the historic old edifice will be razed and a new county-city structure will be built.

Following Kentucky Route 32, across country from Morehead, motorists can enjoy the spectacular mountain vistas of the Daniel Boone National Forest. They can visit Sandy Hook, county seat of Elliott county, and continue on to Louisa and Lawrence county with its Big Sandy River.

Tourists can follow Kentucky Route Seven into Morgan county where the county's sesquicentennial is being celebrated, and, in West Liberty, change to U. S. 460 leading to Index. They can take Kentucky 191 up Caney Valley to Cannel City and onto the Mountain Parkway again.

This great loop drive can be an all-day or an afternoon event. It is a trip through country, country filled with pioneer history and endowed by nature with magnificence and grandeur. In autumn, it is as if a giant hand had waved over the land, spilling molten color flecked with gold from a gleaming silver pail.

No Re-Registration In The Polls, Says State Board of Elections

By SAM HENSLEY

Statewide re-registration will begin on Nov. 7, the day of the 1972 general election, and the coincidence of these two events has led many to think re-registration can actually be accomplished in the polling places.

That, according to the state Board of Elections, is not the case.

According to Raymond F. Bossmeyer, member of the state board, "The basic responsibility of the state Board of Elections is to see that the election is held without hindrance." He added that, "In no event can re-registration be allowed to interfere with the election."

The three-member board is chaired by Secretary of State Thelma L. Stovall. The two other members, Bossmeyer and Earl R. Searcy, are appointed by the governor and represent the two parties.

"We have two problems," said Bossmeyer. "One law says you can re-register at or following the election, and at the same time, another law says that nothing can interfere with the election. The election must be held, and people must be voting. Therefore we want to make sure that what we're doing doesn't interfere with that primary right of the people to vote on election day."

At a recent news conference members of the board said they had sent a memorandum to all county court clerks to clarify the re-registration procedure.

The memorandum states that the re-registration forms, and envelopes to mail them in, will be made available at the polls. But, it says, there will be no registration in the polls, or within 50 feet of them, on election day.

Election officials at the polls will not re-register any voter, nor allow anyone else to do so, within 50 feet of the polls. No election official at the polls can accept a completed registration form on election day.

Voters will be able to re-register on election day, but not at the polls. "If any time were taken away from the actual voting to re-register people," said Bossmeyer, "that would be interfering with the election."

The members of the board are hoping that voters will simply pick up the forms at the polls and take them to the office of their county clerk, or mail them in the envelope provided. There are instructions on the back of the forms for filling them out, and the board hopes voters will follow them rather than ask questions of the clerks at the polls.

According to Searcy, neither the forms themselves nor the envelopes should be folded. They are intended for use with the new computerized registration system, and a folded form would be useless. The forms should not be duplicated; only the official forms and envelopes can be used.

Asked whether any provisions might be made for re-registration outside the 50 feet from the polls, Searcy said, "There have not been any provisions made by the state board for this; it would be up to the discretion of the individual county clerks."

According to the board, re-registration means just what it implies; only those who are qualified to vote in the Nov. 7 election can re-register in the five days immediately following the election. Those who have not been registered for this election must wait till the registration books are re-opened.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Upstairs Neighbors

Madge had always been a restless sleeper. But matters went from bad to worse when a young couple with a baby moved into the apartment upstairs.

It seems the baby was teething. To keep her quiet at night, the parents would trundle her around their apartment in a baby carriage, causing sounds that were plainly audible to the wakeful Madge.

Finally she went to court for an injunction. But at the hearing, the baby's father said there was no other way to keep the child from crying. Besides, he pointed out, their carriage had rubber wheels and their floor was carpeted.

The court thereupon tossed out Madge's complaint, saying that a moderate amount of noise must be accepted by those who choose to live in apartments.

"Where people indulge their inclination to be gregarious," said the judge, "they must not expect the quiet that belongs to solitude."

Courts generally take this hands-off attitude in disputes between apartment dwellers. Nevertheless, a court may well intervene if the noise gets out of hand.

In another case, an upstairs tenant—a do-it-yourself enthusiast—decided to install new parquet flooring. This time, when the tormented people downstairs went to court, the judge ordered the man to work on weekdays only, from nine to five, and to keep the noise and vibration to a minimum.

What role does the landlord play in these conflicts? Must he take action if the downstairs tenant asks for his help?

In most cases, the answer is no. Take this example:

A downstairs tenant, disturbed by relentless piano playing from the apartment upstairs, asked the landlord to enforce a house rule against such conduct.

But the landlord refused to mix in—and his refusal was upheld in a court hearing. The judge said the rules in a lease are put in primarily for the landlord's benefit, to be enforced or not according to his discretion.

"The Harpes of Hell"

(First of a three-part series) By BETTY B. ELLISON

Micajah and Wiley, those "Horrible Harpes," cut bloody trails across Kentucky in the late 1700's. While frontiersmen were carving communities out of the wilderness, the Harpes were making a good effort at slaughtering the meager population. Historians credit them with 35 to 50 murders during their short lives—Micajah was shot and beheaded at 31 in 1799, and Wiley was hanged and beheaded five years later at 34.

When pioneers discovered that Cumberland Gap held the key to the western exploration of America, they came in swarms over the mountains. Fortunately for Kentucky and the West, most of these were hardy, honest, hard-working people looking for new homes and new lands, but—as with any cross-section of people—there were some bent on living from the toils of others.

This is not to say the Harpe brothers were typical of the pioneer outlaw. Far from it; they were probably unequaled, even today, in their crimes.

Born in North Carolina, Micajah in 1768 and Wiley in 1770, the Harpes were loyal to the Tories during the Revolutionary War. Their father fought with British Major Patrick Ferguson at the Battle of King's Mountain. After the war, the Harpe family—like many another—were subjected to persecution by their neighbors, most of whom were colonists. The Harpes themselves, and later authorities on their lives, have cited this atmosphere of hatred that they grew up with as one of the reasons for their sanguinary careers.

The Harpes came through Cumberland Gap, just south of Middlesboro, but their trail of carnage crossed the state several times—up and down the Wilderness Road, along the Green River, through the Barrens, into Logan county, up to Henderson and west to Cave-In-Rock on the Ohio River, a favorite lair not only of the Harpes but of other badmen of their time.

The tales, most of them probably true, of the Harpes and their "Highways of Horror" create a story that exceeds the bounds of legend.

In December, 1798, after terrorizing Tennessee for three years, the Harpe entourage began their first trek along the Wilderness Road. Their band included both of the Harpe men and three women. The Roberts sisters belonged to "Big" Harpe (Micajah), Susan supposedly as his wife and her sister Betsy as the "auxiliary wife." "Little" Harpe was said to have married Sally Rice, a minister's daughter, in Tennessee.

A portion of that same Wilderness Road the Harpes and others traveled can be found today in Cumberland Gap National Historical Park near Middlesboro. The Harpes stuck rather close to the road, leaving it only when they needed to detour for some dubious reason.

The victim of their first-known Kentucky murder was a peddler named Peyton whom they killed on the trail near Barbourville, where a state park would later be named for another early Kentucky traveler, Dr. Thomas Walker. Details of this killing are as vague as the mist that hangs over those eastern Kentucky mountains on a cloudy day, but the Harpes are credited with taking Peyton's life, his horse and some of his goods.

Still following the Wilderness Road, the Harpes crossed Boone's Trace in what is now Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park, at London. Crab Orchard, a gathering place for travelers along the Wilderness Road, was Harpes' destination. William Whitley had already built the first brick house in Kentucky near there, a house which is now a state shrine bearing his name.

From Crab Orchard, roads spread out to Louisville, to Cincinnati, to Maysville and toward Tennessee, making the village a hub of the trail. It is easy to see why the Harpes focused their attention on Crab Orchard—there was gold for their taking.

Two Marylanders fell prey to the Harpes' shot and hatchet before the outlaws arrived at Crab Orchard. After picking the bodies clean of money and valuables, they headed for John Farris's Tavern near the town.

A well-heeled Virginian, Stephen Langford, had spent the previous night at the tavern. While breakfast preparations were under way, the Harpes came into the tavern room. One historian describes them: "squalid and miserable, they seemed objects of pity rather than fear, and their ferocious glances were attributed more to hunger than to guilty passion." This appearance and anger had already become their trademark of terror. Upon hearing them refuse the morning meal because of lack of money, Langford paid for their breakfast.

Since he was traveling alone, Langford asked the Harpes if they would join him on the trail, judging from the three pregnant women that they were a family out to settle in Kentucky.

The Harpes not only joined Langford, they soon disjoined him from his life, and a few days later his battered remains were found behind a log by cattle drovers. Langford's body was taken back to Farris's Tavern and identified. Because of the Harpes' earlier actions at the tavern, they immediately became suspect.

Capt. Joseph Ballenger, a prominent Stanford merchant, organized the 'ever-willing' posse and soon discovered the Harpes resting on a log near what is now Hustonville, west of Stanford. The cold, January confrontation was so abrupt that it was hard to determine who was the more startled, the posse or the Harpes, but the prisoners—Harpes and their women—were returned to Stanford.

All five of the Harpes were taken to the Danville jail under armed guard. John Biegler, Danville District jailer, recorded purchases of two horse locks to hold Big and Little Harpe, three pounds of nails to strengthen the building and a new lock for the front door. But, when March came and winter was over, the two miscreants took their leave straight through the jail wall, leaving their expectant doxies behind.

Not only was the jailer out the cost of repairing the building, now he was running a maternity ward. There were additional expenses for hyson tea, midwives and whiskey—especially whiskey—for the pregnant women. Nor were the women willing to cooperate with the poor jailer: Betsy delivered in February, Susan in March and Sally in April. Biegler must have wondered about the reason of justice, for he soon resigned.

Justice took an even stranger turn during the trial of the three women, whom the Harpes had left to face the murder charge alone. The Danville trial resulted in Sally's being acquitted, Betsy's being found not guilty and Susan's being found guilty—all on the same evidence. Later, the court found Susan to be not guilty, also.

Replicas of the jail, other early buildings and the courthouse where the trials occurred can be seen today in Constitution Square State Shrine of Danville's Main Street.

Motherhood gained the sympathy of Danville for the three women, and they were given clothes, money and an old mare to take them back to Tennessee. They were guided by the law back toward Crab Orchard but soon changed their course, headed for the Green River, traded the mare for a canoe and joined Big and Little Harpe in more foraging across Kentucky.

Martin Veterinarian Adds to PCC Library

What does a professor in biology do with his large collection of books when, after teaching at the University of Kentucky and at Ashland Community College, he comes back home to Floyd county to be veterinarian at Martin?

Dr. Beecher L. Scutchfield has already answered that one. He recently gave 55 books, mostly works on biology and microbiology, to Prestonsburg Community College. Robert Wallace, PCC librarian, said the books should be especially useful with the large classes in biology and the new nursing program at the college.

A Deserved REWARD Becomes A PUNISHMENT

... For a Dedicated Teacher

My wife, Jo Allyn Howell, has been teaching in Floyd County Schools for 30 years. Until six years ago her salary was increased when other teachers received raises. For the past six years she has not had an increase in salary, although the teachers that taught with her received raises practically every year when the Legislature provided money for that purpose.

I don't know why the Superintendent of Schools, Charles Clark, refused to raise my wife's salary when other teachers were raised. I would like for Superintendent Clark to tell us, the taxpayers, how much his salary has been raised in the past six years? Could it be because I have not contributed and have refused to be controlled by Superintendent Clark for the past six years? If the above is true, then I think it is time for a complete change of the top echelon in the Superintendent's office. The only way that can be done is to elect a new Board of Education and hope that they will be more subservient to the interest of the children of Floyd County instead of Politicians.

Other employees of the Board of Education should consider this matter seriously. COULD IT HAPPEN TO YOU?

Hayden Howell

They Propose:

- ★ To remove political pressure from all school employees.
- ★ To consider the teacher as a professional and treat him accordingly.
- ★ To redistrict educational divisions to allow citizens to vote for a board member representing the district where their children attend school.
- ★ To increase the opportunity for students interested in vocational education by the construction of such institutions in each educational division.
- ★ To encourage teacher, principal and parent representation at all board meetings and, particularly, the budget planning meeting.
- ★ To have our high schools approved by the Southern Association of Secondary Schools.
- ★ To hire younger teachers on merit, rather than the number of votes they have.
- ★ To have a maintenance force in each school rather than one that travels around the county all day.
- ★ To include equipment for normal school activities in the budget and alleviate the many ridiculous problems facing our PTA's.
- ★ To improve bussing by increasing salaries of our drivers so they can support their families without having to have secondary jobs.
- ★ To renovate our neighborhood schools to meet the standards of the State Department of Building and Grounds. Let's keep our small children in a small school where they can have the teacher-pupil contact so necessary for education.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D

While I was gathering the 1200 folk remedies in my Mammoth Cave collection, I had many chances to talk with young and old about the former attitudes toward being sick. In the main, everybody expected to be sick at some time and somewhat humbly accepted that fact. Colds, chills and fever, stumped toes, tummy-ache—these were very likely to be commonplace. There was nothing disgraceful or hush-hush about them. A little more silence was used about summer complaint, as diarrhea was often called, but even that was so common that it was taken somewhat philosophically. Overeating, too many helpings of rich foods, lack of refrigeration—these brought their own punishment; and all of us of former times suffered from our lack of restraint or our lack of proper sanitation.

But there were several types of human illnesses that were not topics for general conversation, and some of them even yet just aren't mentioned except by daring people. Bed-wetting, for instance, was looked upon by many mature people as downright disgraceful, to the poor child so afflicted and to his whole family or clan. Many a poor child was punished severely for what is now regarded as a case requiring patient and professional treatment. Soap and water were rather common, but were, in many instances, not common enough. As a result itch often appeared, always regarded as something to be kept secret, even if good old sulphur and grease had been applied and gave away the secret when the patient got too near a stove or hot fireplace. Fine combs were known and used but sometimes a bit too negligently; telltale crawlers then appeared, frequently rather obvious but not to be talked about. At Fidelity we called the little fellows by all sorts of mild names, any one of which will set my scalp to itching, after all the intervening decades. One certain family seemed especially to the liking of these small insects; we got to associating the name of that family with the troublesome insects and this avoided being the naughty word. Somehow bedbugs also bore a bad name, though I have never seen one. They were said to be signs of exceedingly unsanitary conditions. Just why they did not appear more often is still a mystery, for even in dear old Fidelity, the Dreamland of Long Ago, bodily cleanliness was not too common. The weekly bath on Saturday night, somewhat expected of all decent people, was occasionally not enough to discourage parasites like Pediculus humanus capitis, the high-sounding name for what is universally known as a traveler.

Cancer and tuberculosis were the hush-hush diseases, almost as much so as venereal diseases. Every imaginable round-about way was used to avoid saying either cancer or consumption. Both flourished at Fidelity, especially consumption. Our mosquito-infested marshes probably paved the way for tuberculosis by keeping us worn down with malaria; and sanitary conditions were not especially conducive to keeping down the spread of tuberculosis or any other disease. Many articles in magazines seem to suggest that tuberculosis is always associated with extreme poverty; such may be the case now, but it was not so in my old community. The disease was no respecter of persons; some of the most pitiful cases I ever knew—and I knew all of them, since my father was a physician—were in the most substantial homes of the area. Why, three of the nine teachers whom I had at Fidelity died ultimately of tuberculosis, one of them within a year after I had her as my first teacher! "Jenny's cough" was about as ugly a word as we heard then. The word "sore" was not forbidden, and it therefore covered a multitude of illnesses, including cancer. Nearly every area which I knew had, within my eighteen years at Fidelity, a pitiful case of cancer. Again I know, for I was there and saw the victims coming up from the Big Road to get whatever relief my father, the county doctor, could offer. Some mighty quackery was always being practiced, too, with everything from magical rituals to strong caustics. Life often took on a rather dark-brown color after we had witnessed the progression of this disease.

Child Management Discussions Slated

A discussion group on Child Management Techniques will be offered at the First Presbyterian Church here, beginning November 6. Designed to include both mothers and fathers, the course will stress a few basic techniques that have been effective in dealing with normal child rearing problems.

There will be five sessions from 7 until 9 on Monday evenings, November 6, 13, 20 and 27, and December 4.

There will be no fee, but there will be a small deposit required for printed materials. The deposit will be refunded when the materials are returned. Free babysitting services will be provided at the church.

Persons interested in participating should register by calling Mrs. Sylvia Atkinson at the Rural Child Care Project, Phone 886-6871 or 886-6872.

And something very easy, too. You just make regular weekly deposits — any sum you choose — and collect a nice check next November. Then. You can play Santa in a relaxed sort of way. Make sense? You just bet it does.

NOTICE OF SALE

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the October 13, 1972 term in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 10th day of November, 1972 at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

TRACT I

The homelace or land above the road, described in the following Deeds:

1. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on October 4, 1921, by Lewis Marshall and Mousie Marshall, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 60, page 383, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at a locust post at the county road (now state highway) thence a straight line to chestnut tree on the point; thence a straight line to a beech tree standing by a drain; thence running a straight line to a sassafras and black oak tree on the upper bench; thence continuing a straight line to Leck Martin's line; to a pine tree on top of ridge to a chestnut oak with the said Martin's line; thence turning down the hill to a white oak tree; thence a straight line to a sugar tree on the point; thence a straight line down the hill to a telephone pole at county road; thence with the county road to the beginning."

2. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on February 19, 1953, by James Osborn and Bertha Osborn, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 153, page 14, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at a post at county road and running up the hill to a large tree; thence a straight line to top of ridge to Leck Martin's line; thence up the ridge to a chestnut oak tree; thence down the hill with Charlie Compton's line to a buckeye tree on the bench; thence down the hill to a chestnut tree; thence down the county road; back to the beginning."

TRACT II

Bottom land described in the following deeds:

1. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on May 5, 1927, by Perry Osborn and Mary Osborn, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 74, page 476, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at a stake at the county road at corner of Lora Preston's line and running with said line across the bottom to a sycamore at beaver creek; thence up the creek to James Osborn's line; thence with said Osborn's line to the county road; thence down the road to the beginning."

2. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on August 10, 1926, by Maryland Osborn and Allie Osborn, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 74, page 476, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at the lower side of county road at corner of Lora Preston's land and running with the said Preston's line to Beaver Creek; thence down the creek 50 feet; thence turning to the right and running a straight line to a stake at edge of county road 50 feet from the beginning; thence with the road 50 feet to the beginning."

3. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on August 6, 1952, by James Osborn and Bertha Osborn, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 151, page 386, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at an elm near a post and running a straight line to the center of beaver creek; thence running with the center of beaver creek to John Compton's line; thence running with John Compton's line to the right-of-way of Highway 122, thence running with Highway right-of-way to the beginning."

4. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on February 11, 1928, by Mrs. O. H. Preston, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 79, page 213, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at lower side of the county road at corner of John Compton's line near Compton's house and running with said Compton's line across the bottom to beaver creek; thence down the creek 10 feet; thence turning to the right and running a straight line to the county road; thence with the county road 30 feet to the beginning." This lot is 30 feet at front and 10 feet at the back.

5. A certain tract or parcel of land conveyed to John Compton on February 11, 1928, by Maryland Osborn and Allie Osborn, his wife, by deed which is recorded in Deed Book 79, page 215, Floyd County Court Clerk's office, which is bounded and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at lower side of county road, at corner of Mrs. O. H. Preston's lot near James Osborn's house; thence running with said Mrs. O. H. Preston's line across the bottom to beaver creek; thence sixteen (16) feet across the back; thence running a straight line to the county road; thence with the county road thirty (30) feet to the beginning." This lot is thirty (30) feet at the front and sixteen (16) feet at back.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of John Compton, deceased.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Nature Trails By Rufus M. Reed

When I was a boy in my mid-teens, I had a tragic experience which changed my whole attitude toward killing any of the wildlife of fields and woods. I had been taught by my father how to handle a gun and I was an expert marksman. I'd often shot squirrels out of tall trees and seldom missed one.

On a fine, summer day, my father sent me to the cornfield in a rich cove of our mountain land, with strict orders to take my faithful old breech-loader and shoot the groundhogs that were stealing our precious corn. It was in mid-August and the corn-blades glistened and danced in the bright sun. Out corn was in the "roasting-ear" stage; it was the main crop, and we depended on it for bread for the family and feed for the livestock.

A family of groundhogs had made their home nearby our cornfield. They had dug a burrow under a huge, upstanding stone and they often crawled on top of it to bask in the warm sun. They were now feasting their hungry bellies on our tender, juicy corn. With his sharp front teeth, a groundhog can quickly cut down a stalk of corn. Then he proceeds to rip off the shuck and gnaw the juicy ears. Give him and his family a field of corn in roasting-ear and they will soon get seal fat and the corn will be lying flat as if blown down by a hurricane!

Father's orders were: "Rufe, you slip to then den under the big rock and hide in the weeds nearby; when you spot a groundhog cutting down a stalk, fill his ornery hide with the hot lead!"

How proudly I carried the old breech-loader to the field! I slipped through the tall corn and caught the old he-groundhog cutting down a tall stalk. He saw me about the instant I spotted him and streaked like lightning for the safety of his den, defying me with a shrill, explosive whistle. He's run so fast I hadn't time to load and shoot, but I knew the ways of a groundhog. I knew he was an animal with a big bump of curiosity. So I hunkered down in the weeds near the den and sat dead still. I knew that old groundhog would soon ease out to the mouth of his den to see if the coast was clear.

In less than five minutes the groundhog crawled out to the mouth of his den and reared up to look for me. Now was my big chance! I drew a careful bead at his head and let her go. The explosion reverberated across the silent hills like thunder and rocked me back on my haunches. The old breech-loader could "kick" like a bucking bronco.

The groundhog slumped over and I leaped up and ran to survey my kill. Blood and brains were oozing out of the gaping hole in the side of his head. I picked up the bloody animal by the hind leg and ran toward home to show my father how I had killed the ringleader of the thieves.

As I carried that bloody groundhog down through the corn, I began somehow to feel conscience-smitten. My early childhood teaching of my saintly nurse, Aunt Sarah Reddiford, to love all things on this earth came back and hit me where it hurt the most. Once she told me: "Babe, the cries of the dumb beasts will rise up in judgment against the ones who are cruel killers."

I began to do some thinking. No doubt this groundhog had figured Nature had planted this field of corn for him and his family to eat. I looked down at the splotches of blood on my bare feet and began to shudder. I was a bloody killer! Never again would this big groundhog lie on top of the stone to enjoy a sun bath. Never again would he defy me with his shrill whistle. I was his killer!

I jerked to a halt. The green blowflies were trailing me down the hillside. "Shoo, flies!" I screamed at them. I couldn't carry that dead animal another step. I tossed his carcass over the weeds and watched the green blowflies swarm down on the bloody head. I knew then I was never meant to be a killer. I turned away from the gruesome sight of the flies laying their eggs on the dead groundhog; I made a firm resolve in my heart to protect all the creatures of the wild.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Ronnie Dean Dotson wished to thank the many people who sent flowers and brought food or helped in any way during the illness and death of our son and brother. We are grateful to those who gave blood when it was needed, to Dr. Ballard Wright and the staff of Prestonsburg General hospital and to the private nurses for their fine service. We also wish to express our thanks to the ministers, Rev. Lee Caudill and Rev. Ralph Dotson for their comforting words and the Carter Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

Governor Ford Announces Project To Reclaim Orphan Mined Land

Gov. Wendell Ford has launched the first project in his program to reclaim thousands of acres of Western Kentucky orphan strip-mined land.

At Ford's recommendation, the 1972 General Assembly created a revolving fund to match federal money in purchasing abandoned strip-mine sites and reclaiming them for later sale. Some $500,000 was put into the fund for the 1972-74 biennium.

The first such federal-state reclamation effort will involve approximately 670 acres in Muhlenberg and Hopkins counties. About 175 federal Job Corps trainees will participate in the project, a joint work-training exercise.

"Today, we begin restoring and returning land, rather than writing off this acreage as having fulfilled its usefulness," Governor Ford said, in announcing the project at the Breckinridge Job Corps Center, Morganfield.

The governor said his program was born of a concern for the acres of "seemingly useless land, and most certainly unsightly land" left in the wake of old strip-mining operations around Kentucky.

"But it doesn't have to be this way," he added. "The state can buy it, reclaim it, sell it...buy more, reclaim more and sell more. The ultimate result is apparent."

The U. S. Department of Labor has agreed to spend $1.7 million on the reclamation project, matching the state funds, and to supply trainees to do the work, in cooperation with state officials.

A satellite Job Corps Center will be built near Greenville to house the trainees. Plans call for three dormitories, a dining hall, a combination administration building-classroom, a warehouse, and a vehicle maintenance and training yard.

The satellite facility will be affiliated with the Breckinridge center.

Governor Ford pointed out that the project will do more than just reclaim stripped land.

"With Job Corps students actually performing the reclamation work, skills will be taught in heavy equipment operation, equipment repair, cooking, carpentry and electrical installation," he said. "This comes through the construction of the on-site facility, and the educational and training programs offered through the Graflex Division of the Singer Company, which has contracted with the Department of Labor."

Some 260 acres to be reclaimed by the project in Muhlenberg County were purchased from Peabody Coal Company, while the 410-acre Hopkins County site was purchased from Island Creek Coal Company.

Governor Ford said work would begin immediately to "restore this land to greater value and usefulness as quickly as possible."

The 1973 Volkswagen is still $1999.*

A bargain is a bargain.

While you can see the new 1973 Beetle is still at a nice low price, you really can't begin to see the value until you know what you're getting for your money.

A warranty, for instance, that's twice what you get with any other small car: 24 months or 24,000 miles.

But then, we wouldn't be offering it if it weren't for our incredibly finicky factory inspection: over 1100 inspectors poring over more than 5,000 parts. (It sounds compulsive, but it's the best way to reach perfection.)

And now, there's our new VW Computer Diagnosis system. Meaning literally what it says: a brand new computer that's been installed, or soon will be, in our service area ready to be hooked up to your car. The most advanced service system in the world, it checks vital service parts, via sensors and probes built into critical areas, and spells the results out in plain English. People should have it so good.

Consider also our legendary resale value. When you compare it with other cars after three years, it makes our $1999* sound absolutely amazing.†

Everything adding up to one important point: there's a big difference between being cheap, and being a bargain.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

*1973 Volkswagen Sedan III suggested retail price, P.O.E. Local taxes and other dealer charges, if any, additional.
If an owner maintains and services his vehicle in accordance with the Volkswagen maintenance schedule any factory part found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first (except normal wear and tear and service items) will be repaired or replaced by any U.S. or Canadian Volkswagen Dealer. And this will be done free of charge. See your dealer for details.

Wed at Columbus, Ohio

Miss Joetta Gallucci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Gallucci, of Columbus, Ohio, became the bride of Mr. John Lawrence Jacobsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jacobsen, of Washington, D. C., on September 30 in St. Joseph Cathedral, Columbus.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at 3:30 p.m. by the Rev. Peter Kurguz, of Mexico City, Mexico, before an altar setting of branched candelabra, white fusts and turquoise-blue carnations with accenting foliage.

Mr. Gregory Luckhaupt, organist, and Mr. Donald Frank, soloist, presented a program of music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she wore a gown especially designed by Pricilla of Boston, of white peau de soie in a princess design. The neckline was opened in a scalloped edge, the sleeves were long and fitted, the waist of fitted princess design and the skirt an A-line that extended into a full cathedral-length train. Alencon lace petals covered the bodice, sleeves and skirt. Small pearls and crystals were strewn over the lace. She wore a veil in layers of illusion to a full length in white silk that was held by a Juliet cap of pearls and crystals. Scattered pearls in clusters were strewn over the illusion. Her flowers were a flowing cascade of stephanotis, jack frost white sweetheart roses, trimmed with mixed foliage and ivy with soft touches of babies breath. A white rosary extended from the bouquet. She wore a single string of pearls which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Lauchie Scott.

Miss Julianne Gallucci was maid of honor for her sister. She carried a flowing cascade of mixed flowers including miniature ruby red carnations, sweetheart pink, lavender roses with accents of purple statice, blue bachelor buttons, pole lavender daisy chrysanthemums trimmed with babies breath and mixed foliage.

Bridesmaids were the bride's cousins, Mrs. Michael Norris, of Westland, Michigan, and Mrs. Michael Thompson, of Springfield, Ohio, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Mills Jacobsen, of Washington, D. C., Miss Sherri Levy, of Lyndhurst, Ohio, Mrs. Steven Welloughby, of Columbus, Ohio, and Miss Susan John, of Galloway, Ohio. Lori and Jill Lemby of Columbus, Ohio, were flower girls.

Lt. (j. g.) Nathaniel Martin, of Pensacola, Fla., was best man. Ushers were Steven Welloughby and Steven Soler, of Columbus, Ohio, Phillip Goffin and David Voracek, of Arlington Virginia, Mark Seiler, of Stevens Point, Wis., and Michael Thompson, of Springfield, Ohio.

The attendants and flower girls wore identical gowns in alura blue sculptured chiffon. The mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of phalaenopsis orchids trimmed with ivy leaves.

A dinner reception was held at Berwick Party House, with music provided by Paul Di Givina and his band.

The bride's grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Lauchie Scott. Her great-grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, of Garrett, and Mrs. Leo Wilbur, of Hite, Kentucky.

Mr. Jacobsen is the grandson of Mrs. Alan Mills, of Washington, D. C., and the late Mr. Mills.

tended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Risner, Forrester Risner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Norris, Dickie Scott, of Garden City, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Scott, Mr. Fred Williams Scott, of Sweetwater, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Draughn, Mr. Willis Draughn, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Williams, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. George Everidge, of Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott, of Ashland.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at Paradise Island, Nassau. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy. She attended Ohio State University and will continue her education at Georgetown University. The bridegroom received his B. A. degree from Wisconsin University and will attend law school at Georgetown University.

The newlyweds will reside in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Jacobsen is an information consultant for the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

TABLEWARE, CLUB SUBJECT At their regular meeting Oct. 16 at the clubhouse, the members of the Drift Woman's Club discussed the history of silverware, the art of setting a beautiful table and the craftsmanship inherent in all types of modern tableware.

The history and romance of silver was presented by Mrs. Demoris Martin, the program chairman. The chairman's talk traced the history of the spoon, knife and fork from early antiquity, and, through the cooperation of Oneida Silver-smiths.

Table settings were demonstrated by Mrs. Nick Cooley, Mrs. C. J. Cahill, and Mrs. Demoris Martin.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Ruby Akers was presented with an attendance prize, a handsome Paul Revere bowl donated by Oneida Silver-smiths.

GARRETT NEWS

Among family members who attended the funeral of Mrs. Cynthia Howard were Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Howard and children of Swanton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Garry G. Only Deer, Geese Open to Hunting, November 1 to 15

Frankfort, Ky., October 25—With two exceptions, all hunting has been prohibited in Kentucky during the first 15 days of November, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The ban on hunting from November 1 through November 15 applies to both the protected species of game animals as well as to some other types, such as crows, groundhogs, or other unprotected wildlife species which are not normally controlled by hunting seasons.

The exceptions to the 15-day closed season are: (1) The five-day gun deer season which opens November 11 and extends through November 15; (2) the statewide goose hunting season which opens November 12.

Also not affected by the hunting ban is the "shake-out" season on opossum and raccoon. That season, which opened October 22 and runs through November 15, permits the taking of opossum and raccoon by dog only, with hunters prohibited from carrying guns, slingshots or any other weapons.

Arnold Mitchell, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife, said the hunting ban—which is similar to one in force for several years past—is designed to aid in the control of violators during the period preceding the November 16 opening of the legal seasons for hunting rabbit, quail, squirrel and grouse.

The no hunting period prevents much of the illegal hunting, Mitchell explained, by preventing persons from posing as hunters of any unprotected species.

Mitchell noted that the ban on hunting from November 1-15 does not prohibit landowners from killing wildlife which is causing damage to his property or to persons on his property, providing Department approval has been granted.

Persimmon, Wild Fruit of Autumn

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

The native persimmon, Diospyros virginiana, which prefers open country and often grows in abandoned fields, impressed early explorers to the North America shores as a promising and valuable fruit. Soon after settling in Jamestown, Capt. John Smith wrote of finding "plumbs" and a fruit that the Indians called "Put-chamis."

The fruit," Captain Smith wrote, "is like a medlar; it is first green, then yellow and red when ripe; if it is not ripe it will drive a man's mouth awrie with much torment; but when it is ripe, it is as delicious as an apricot."

Unfortunately the persimmon did not live up to the early expectations, but it still remains one of autumn's most delicious wild bounties. People and many forms of wildlife feed on the fruit, but they must wait until after frost to gather most varieties if they would avoid the puckery "torment" Captain Smith described. However, some persimmon enthusiasts have had success with freezing the almost-mature fruit before frost, according to C. E. Chaplin, horticulturist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The wood of the persimmon is decay resistant, withstands weather, and does not warp easily, thus making fine flooring material, golf club heads, and spinning mill shuttles. The wood has another peculiar quality. The sapwood is nearly white, but the heartwood is nearly black, causing the persimmon to sometimes be known by another name—American Ebony.

Some other names for the persimmon are Winter Plum, Possum Wood, and Indian Raisin. This last name, perhaps, comes from the fact that, if not shaken off by the wind or gathered by persimmon lovers of one kind or another, the fruit will hang on the tree until late winter. The longer the fruit hangs on the tree, the sweeter and drier it gets, actually tasting like raisins.

Like so many other plants and shrubs, persimmons have been used in the practice of medicine. A pharmacopeia lists both the unripe fruit and the bark of the tree as valuable in the compounding of medicine.

Rich in tannin, pectin, malic acid, and sugar, a gruel made from unripe persimmons was once recommended for diarrhea and dysentery. A tea from the bark was also once widely employed as a gargle for sore throat.

The persimmon grows throughout Kentucky and several other surrounding states from Michigan to the Carolinas and westward to Kansas and Nebraska. Chaplin notes that only sporadic attempts have been made to improve it, probably because commercial handling of the soft fruit would not be very practical. However, trees bearing superior fruit have been selected from the wild and transplanted in orchards. During the 19th century, a few gardeners collected persimmon trees, among them the poet, William Cullen Bryant, who was an ardent persimmon enthusiast.

As most persimmon lovers will agree, there is little need for attempted improvement upon this delicacy of nature. These people are content with it as is and find no greater joy than to go out in late autumn, shake down the rich ripe fruit, and eat it out of hand, or take it home to be made into pudding, cake, or some other culinary delight.

Martin Among Students At Clemson University Selected for 'Who's Who'

Clemson, S. C.—Thirty Clemson University seniors have been selected for listing in the 1972-73 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Recipients of the honor are chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential for usefulness in the business world and society. The select group of students included Mabry E. Martin, of Wayland.

During fiscal 1972, almost 15 million persons applied to the State public Employment Services affiliated with the Manpower Administration of the Department of Labor for job-finding assistance.

We're as concerned as you are about higher food prices, but . . .

When meat costs go up, our price must go up

Food shoppers today are concerned about the rising price of meat — especially beef. We're concerned, too, and that's why we're using part of our advertising space to bring you some information that will help you understand what's behind the price of meat.

Meat prices are higher, because it costs more today to raise livestock, process it, and bring it to the supermarket.

Ranchers must pay more for their hired help and feed, and taxes on their land have gone up tremendously. These expenses add to the cost of raising beef. The feedlots that fatten steers for market must pay increased costs, too. And the packer, who buys live steers from the feedlot and processes them into quarters of beef, has higher costs, also. The supermarket buys its beef after all of these costs have been added on.

It may surprise you that very little profit is taken by any of the people who bring beef to market. Ranchers today make about what they made twenty years ago. Feedlots have traditionally operated with slim profit margins. And packers often actually sell beef for less than it cost them to buy and process the cattle — they make their money on the sale of by-products, like the hide.

And the supermarket, which trims away waste and cuts the meat into consumer-size pieces, make less than 1 percent profit on the sales dollar. If the supermarket gave you back its profit on a $2.00 steak, you'd save less than 2¢.

So, nearly all of the prices of beef is the actual, out-of-pocket expense of raising it and preparing it for the consumer. And when these costs increase, our prices must increase.
