

Candidates In 3 Races Unopposed Filing Deadline Here Develops Unusual Political Picture

When the deadline for candidates to file for office at the May 29 primary election passed last Wednesday, a situation unique in the history of Floyd county politics had developed.

The situation that hitherto was unknown to Democratic politics in this heavily Democratic county found candidates for three major county offices without primary opposition, and two of the three will have no opposition from the Republican party.

Unopposed in the primary are veteran County Judge Henry Stumbo, County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson and County Attorney James R. Allen. The latter is unopposed for his first full four-year term in the office. He was appointed to the office to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Barkley J. Sturgill, then last year was elected for the remainder of the term.

Judge Stumbo, who is ending this year his sixth four-year term as county judge, will be opposed in the November general election by Russell Clark, Grethel Republican. Robinson, who is now in his third term as county clerk, will have no November opponent.

In all, 88 Floyd countians are seeking nomination to office. But the greater portion of these are candidates for magistrate and constable in the county's four districts. Time was when 20 or more would vie for the jailer's office, but only four are candidates this year, and all are Democratic.

The list of candidates:

Democrats
For Representative, 94th district—Lee Roberts, Pikeville; John M. Phillips, Pikeville; 95th district—James "Jitter" Allen, Martin; W. J. "Bill" Reynolds, incumbent, Allen.

County Judge—Henry Stumbo, Prestonsburg.

Sheriff—Lester Hall, Prestonsburg; Bobby Watson, Prestonsburg; Jimmy "Gabe" Turner, Drift; Henry C. Hale, Blue River; Joe W. Lewis, Stanville; Allen Taylor, Wheelwright.

Property Valuation Administrator (Tax Commissioner)—Harry Gordon Allen, Hippo; Lovel Hall, Grethel.

Jailer—Fred Bishop, Martin; Lawrence Hale, incumbent, Prestonsburg; Foster Meade, Harold; George Slone, Prestonsburg.

A TRAVELING ART EXHIBIT representing the talents of Community College students went on display at Prestonsburg Community College last Saturday and will remain there through this week. Dr. Stanley Wall, vice-president of UK and head of the state's community colleges, views the art as Miss Rena Bartlett, secretary, prepares it for its tour of the 13 community colleges. The public is invited to view the exhibit.

Court Approves School Request, Supports Center

Approved by the Floyd fiscal court last Wednesday was a resolution submitted by School Superintendent Charles Clark to permit heavy trucks to haul fill material on a county road at Betsy Layne high school to develop a future building site.

Superintendent Clark said the Greer Brothers & Young Construction Company has offered to transport and dump some 150,000 yards of fill material from its construction on new U. S. 23 into a lowlying area of the Betsy Layne school grounds.

Clark projected the construction of a new high school there in six to eight years but said that without the fill, "we don't have the space now to build."

Clark justified the request by pointing out that the cost of having to fill the area later would run the board of education from $40,000 to $50,000.

In other action, it was voted to budget $2,569 during the next fiscal year to help staff a used clothing center for the underprivileged.

An employee of the State Child Welfare Department office, Victor Goble, requested the money. Besides his own organization, Goble represented a number of social welfare agencies and church groups.

The Inter-Agency Clothing Center at Drift, which in the past six months has served more than 4,000 needy Floyd countians, lost its single employee recently as a result of cutbacks in funding for the federal Mainstream Program which paid the worker's salary.

Marijuana Users' Equipment

This exhibit of "pot"-smokers' paraphernalia was displayed by the Prestonsburg police department to the grand jury here last week. Most of the items in the exhibit were found, it was said, in the home here of Mike Boggs who left Prestonsburg before a police raid, a few weeks ago. The longer pipe is "hippy" style, with beads, complete. Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, said this week: "The drug situation is out of hand—way out of hand." But he said the picture here is shared by almost every community of any size in the country.

School Board Buys Allen Central Tract

Purchase of acreage for an athletic field at Allen Central high school and a move to change the site of proposed Phase II construction there were approved by the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting here Saturday.

The 5.36-acre tract of land to serve as an athletic field and for other school activities will be purchased from Artie Gayheart. The change of site for Phase II construction (a gymnasium-auditorium building) was made necessary when tests revealed that the sub-soil at the original location is not strong enough for the foundation. Richard E. Martin, engineer, was employed to do contour mapping of a substitute site bordering on KY 80 and a street off that route. Forrest

McCloskey Associates will switch planning to the new site.

Because of the loss of pupil enrollment, Supt. Charles Clark was authorized to notify all non-tenure teachers that they may not be re-employed, next school year. The enrollment dropped in the first six months of this school term 320 pupils from the same period of the previous term. Ten fewer teachers will be needed. State law requires that such teachers be notified of possible loss of employment by May 15 of each year.

The board agreed to act as fiscal agent for Region 11, ROPES, in applying for a Minimum Foundation unit for supervision of special education under Title I. It also renewed its contract with Mountain Mental Health for psychological evaluation of trainable and educable pupils in the special education classification.

An agreement with Greer Brothers & Young, US 23 contractors, to place waste material from construction in the "Bowl," a lowlying area in the southern part of the Betsy Layne school campus, was approved. Supt. Clark said the site may be used for future construction.

The board authorized the superintendent to negotiate with Tom O. McGuire, Prestonsburg contractor, to pour a concrete curb around the parking lot at the rear of the superintendent's office. This is intended to restrict use of the lot to only school system use.

The Prater Creek Baptist Church was granted permission to connect with the Prater school's water service and sewage system. This was granted, it was

Crum Draws Fine On Idle Pay Claim

Jacob Crum, Rt. 2, Martin, was fined $36 in the Floyd county court March 23 on a charge of receiving unemployment insurance benefits while working at his regular job in violation of KRS-341.990. In addition to the fine he is to pay back $312.00 that he allegedly received illegally.

Two Deputies, Shepherd Swap Court Charges

A Mud Creek man who was named in a warrant procured Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff's Dester Hamilton and Ralph Howell, charging him with shooting and wounding with intent to kill, retaliated later by swearing out warrants for the officers' arrest, accusing them of shooting into his trailer-home and into his auto.

Deputy Sheriff Dester Hamilton alleged that he was struck by shotgun pellets fired Monday night by Henry Shepherd at him and Deputy Sheriff Howell.

Shepherd, in turn, accused the officers of opening fire without provocation. He said his trailer, occupied by his wife at the time of the shooting, was hit several times by revolver bullets and that his car in which he was sitting also was hit.

Shepherd told county officials the officers had threatened him earlier and claimed the shooting stemmed from the fact that Shepherd is a witness against them in circuit court cases involving bootlegging.

Plant Building Lease Agreement Effected

A ready-made plant in Prestonsburg became available Friday when Irvin Industries, Inc. opened to sub-lease the long-vacant building in West Prestonsburg which formerly housed Kentucky Appalachian Industries.

The agreement to sub-lease the 30,000-square-foot building was made at a meeting here Friday of A. H. Jackson, Irvin Industries vice-president and comptroller, with Mayor George P. Archer and other representatives of the Prestonsburg Development Corporation.

Mr. Jackson said his company is willing to sub-lease the former KAI building for a period of not less than two years. "If," he said in a letter to Blaine R. Hall, president of the development corporation, "the prospective tenant desires a longer time, we will be more than happy to consult with you on a mutually agreed basis."

The building has not been in use for more than two years. It was built by the Prestonsburg Development Corporation to attract industry and supply employment for Floyd residents but is held by Irvin Industries on a lease-purchase contract.

The development corporation has run into a "chicken and egg" situation in its hopes of developing a site near Cliff; state and federal approval of road construction to the site hangs fire until an industrial plant is located on the site, and industrialists want adequate highway access to the site before they will commit themselves to locate there.

Dr. Archer said the availability of the KAI building could cure this situation. It can be made available to an industry for use for two years, say, which would give the development corporation time to build on the Cliff site the type of structure the industry would require as a permanent facility and thus win highway construction approval.

Murder, Drug Bills Reported by Jury

This Town . . . That World

They're beautiful in a sad sort of way, these azaleas sprinkled with snow.

In my time, man and boy, I've heard just about every salty comment on the weather and the cantankerousness of black bass that disappointed fisherfolk could conceive. But the one that sticks in my memory is what an old fellow said, returning from the lake empty-handed and pretty well iced up. Said he: "Wish I had that gal that run between me and the bank last summer and cut my line. Like to put a bekieene on 'er and make her water-ski, clear to the dam in this weather."

PURELY FOR FUN

Up in Ohio, some distance removed from what is still home, E. R. Crisp amuses himself and his nieces and nephews with little poems. He has sent me one of these which, he is careful to explain, is not intended to poke fun but which is purely for fun. "After reading of your concern for the cat that slept in the coal bank till it might have black lung, I thought you might get a grin out of this," he writes.

This is what he wrote for the youngsters:

Dear Younguns,

When we wuz little younguns, Tony's dog et out of a rusty can and cut his mouth and died. They said he had the black tongue. I reckon he died, 'cause they buried him...he better of died... If he wuz still alive he would be 39 years old, and would probably be the world's oldest living buried dog. I never heard tell of a dog that old before. Anyway, when they

Red Cross Drive Halfway to Goal

The Floyd County Red Cross Chapter was barely halfway to its 1973 goal Tuesday morning, Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary, said.

She added, however, that only three communities—Auxier, Emma and Allen—have reported. Miss White said that volunteer workers in all other communities should complete their canvasses and turn in their final reports at once.

Jury Describes Drug Situation "Most Serious"

One of the 31 indictments reported by the grand jury at the conclusion of last week's session named a Mud Creek man on a murder charge in connection with the slaying of his brother, and four others accused as many men of drug violations.

The murder charge was lodged against Johnnie Watson for the gunshot slaying on Mud Creek of his brother, Dennis. Watson has been in jail here since the death of his brother last February, and because he has been unable to execute bond Judge Hollie Conley asked immediate grand jury action and, hopefully, a speedy trial for the defendant.

Those indicted in an investigation of the drug situation, which was described by the grand jury in its final report to Judge Conley as "most serious," are:

Mike Boggs and Tony Bradley, both charged with possessing and selling narcotics; James Hopson and Mark Howard, both of whom were accused of possession of dangerous drugs.

The jury's final report, signed by Bill Osborne, foreman, told of the investigation of what it termed "the dangerous drug situation." But in its assessment of crime as a whole the jury held that "most of the crimes committed within the county are caused by alcoholic beverages."

"All future grand juries should concentrate upon and investigate the dangerous drug and whiskey problem," the grand jury suggested.

One of the indictments voted listed the Kentucky Coal Co., Potters & Walters Coal Co., on a charge of polluting a public stream. Witnesses against the company are residents of the Martin vicinity.

In an effort to probe into the strip-mining situation the jury called the reclamation official assigned to this area for questioning but made no indictments. The jury reported that the official "has assured the grand jury that he and his fellow officers will investigate any complaint made by a citizen of this county."

Meals Wheeled To His Door Solve Elderly Man's Problem

J. H. Estep at his Indian Hills apartment here after Meals on Wheels had delivered his daily hot lunch. Mrs. Grace Burke and Mrs. Helen Chitti, volunteer workers, are at left.

At 85, J. H. Estep, of Indian Hills here, finds it difficult to prepare filling and nutritious meals, especially since his wife died some two months ago and he lives alone. But now, for a small weekly charge, the Floyd County Meals on Wheels program has solved at least two-thirds of his cooking problems. It delivers an appetizing hot lunch and a cold supper daily to his door.

"Don't know what I'd have done if this lady hadn't come along," Mr. Estep said last Friday, referring to one of the group's volunteers. He said that for the past six months he had been unable to cook for himself and added that since Meals on Wheels started serving in the Prestonsburg area nine weeks ago, "they've done wonderful...really something nice."

Meals on Wheels is currently preparing meals for four other individuals who for various reasons are unable to provide adequate nutrition for themselves. Since early February when the volunteer group began its goodwill mission, some 500 meals have been prepared and delivered. Plans are being made now to extend the meal service to other sections of the county.

The meals are prepared in the kitchen of the First Presbyterian Church here. Mrs. Parcella Collins serves as the cook. The dishes vary from day to day and include generous helpings of meat, vegetables, bread and dessert. Both meals are delivered at 11:30 a.m. daily and recipients customarily eat the hot lunch right away and save the cold meal for supper.

Mr. Estep said, "They've really got a good cook."

Kitchen conditions are scrupulously clean and no one but the cook and properly dressed helpers are allowed into the cooking area. The food is placed into aluminum foil-type dishes and a paper lid is secured. The dishes are then put into large insulated containers where they are kept hot and moist until they can be left at the assigned residences. In addition, each plate has the date of delivery stamped on it to inform the recipient exactly when the food was cooked in the event that the meal is not eaten immediately.

Aside from the project's cook who receives a regular salary, all other workers are strictly on a volunteer basis. (See Story 1, Back Page, Sec. 1)

'73 Floyd County Spelling Bee Has Two 'Repeaters' As Winners

"Consistency" wasn't one of the words spelled at the annual Floyd county spelling bee held at the Floyd County Library last Saturday, but the bee demonstrated it.

The consistency demonstration lay in the fact that the winner, 10-year-old Jackie Jarrell, of Dana, was the spelling champion last year, and the runnerup, Valerie Ratliff, 12, of Prestonsburg, was also the runnerup in 1972.

Marcus Owens, director of the spelling bee, said ability to spell "apparently runs in the Jarrell family." Jackie's older sister was a winner before him.

Both the winner and the runnerup will go to Huntington, W. Va., April 28 for the Tri-State finals and a chance at the regional spelling championship and a trip to Washington for the national spelling bee.

The two-time spelling titlist won when the runnerup stumbled on "horizon." He spelled that word and the next, "freezing," to win. He is a fifth-grade pupil at the Prater Creek school and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Dwayne Jarrell. The runnerup is a seventh-grade pupil at the Prestonsburg elementary school and is a daughter of Mrs. Lois Ratliff.

Other spellers in the county bee and words on which they were eliminated: Jimmie Burchett, Dwayne, "together;" Jamie Dooley, Lackey, "auditorium;" Mack Watkins, Wayland, "tramp;" Steve Whitt, Allen, "invited;" Gregory Lykens, Harold, "roll;" Genevieve Morrison, Auxier, "traveling;" Perlanda Reed, Home Branch, "coasting;" Susie Kim, McDowell, "witch;" Patricia Blair, Betsy Layne, "won;" Vickie Lynn

Ousley, Bonanza, "whose;" Shirley Fugate, Drift, "awhile;" Jennifer Newsome, Stumbo, "general;" David Hall, Osborne, "disease;" Debra Smith, Weeksbury, "characters;" Darcus Howard, Garrett, "subtract;" Debbie Johns, Maytown, "American;" Teresa Allen, Clark, "superintendent;" Clara Ousley, Martin, "financial."

Anna Sue Stumbo was co-director of the bee. Mrs. Inez Owens served as pronouncer, and judges were June Allen, Paula Sumner, Johnny Ray Turner, Lois Ratliff, Nadine Howard, Dora Johns and Belinda Jarrell.

To Present Opera Here, Tuesday Night

The Turnau Opera Players, one of the most active professional opera companies in the United States, will appear at Prestonsburg Elementary school next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The company will present Verdi's "La Traviata" in English. This will be the concluding program of this season's East Kentucky Concert Series.

Many people are initiated into the world of opera by the Turnau Opera Players and find to their surprise that opera in English, prepared with infinite attention to dramatic and musical interpretation, is a rich and compelling experience.

The New York Times has commented that "Turnau Opera performances are non-stereotyped, intelligible, and models of opera in English."

Small Communities Need Sewer Grants, Not Loans

In the interest of economy the President has vetoed a bill which would have required the spending of about $120 million in rural water and sewage grants.

Mr. Nixon argued that the 1974 budget already provides $345 million in rural development loan funds and that the Environmental Protection Agency will be providing $5 billion in grants for waste disposal systems.

Whether this $5 billion will be available to rural communities and will make a dent in the critical sewage disposal situation which exists in thousands of communities across the land, we have no way of knowing. But it is discouraging to hear Mr. Nixon speaking of "services that should be locally financed" and of "the flood of inflation" that such legislation threatens.

How many communities such as Emma, or Garrett, or Drift, or Harold, to name a few in this county alone, can by their own efforts finance the sewers and sewage disposal systems, including sewage treatment, that are necessary if stream pollution is to end as scheduled? It would be great if small communities and countryside could do this work with the help of government loans, but they cannot repay these loans.

The situation grows more grave with the building of every home or business, with every addition to a family, every purchase of a mobile home. And every new water system opened in a rural community, resulting in indoor plumbing and the use of the nearest stream as a sewer, magnifies the problem almost beyond comprehension. Even septic tanks fail to relieve the burdened earth of its disease-carrying load of human excretion.

Two fine water systems which have been completed in recent years are now carrying water and indoor facilities to hundreds of homes in the southern section of this county. Soon, a similar system will be taking pure water into hundreds more in the Right and Left Beaver sections of the county. And a certain percentage of this water will return to the streams of this county in the form of raw, untreated sewage.

Small towns cannot perform a "bootstrap operation," laudable and inspiring as such efforts are, in providing the sewage disposal and treatment that must serve the small communities if the same systems in larger communities are really to accomplish anything toward the national cleanup everybody is talking about but doing so little about.

We, somehow, have an idea that Knott county has two clinics, at Mallie and near Lackey, which are doing the people more good than all the highly publicized operations such as comprehensive health programs have ever done. And those two aren't costing the federal government or the taxpayers a penny. As far as can be determined from this distance, these privately operated clinics are simply reaching people with medical services and forgetting the bureaucratic folderol.

Thirty Years Ago

(April 8, 1943)

The Howard Motor Company, Ford dealer here, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. Johnson county authorities Tuesday expressed the belief that Cpl. Ennis Spradlin, 30, of Spradlin Branch, near here, whose body was found late Friday night beneath a railway trestle at Paintsville, died as the result of a fall. All temporary gasoline rations were discontinued as of March 31. Of the $13,000,000,000-goal for the Second War Loan which will be conducted throughout the nation, Floyd county's quota is $463,000. Willie Hicks, 21-year-old soldier, of Middle Creek, has been reported missing in action after the first big push on the Tunisian front. The fiscal court at its special session Tuesday added the services of a home demonstration agent to the county's farm-and-home program. Funeral rites for Miss Irma Mae Vanderpool, 19, of West Prestonsburg, who was a murder victim at Bisbee, Arizona, March 27, were conducted Sunday afternoon at West Prestonsburg. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Billie Mayo, of Hite, a daughter; to Mr. and Mrs. Will Little, of Weeksbury, a son.

Twenty Years Ago

(April 9, 1953)

Faced with the need of doing something about a variety of city problems, among them sewage disposal, an expanded water system and street repairs, the Prestonsburg City Council voted unanimously Monday night to authorize a bond issue of $1,000,000. With no more than $400,000 available for the work to be done, and the lowest bids offered totalling $475,430.66, the Floyd fiscal court and Floyd County Board of Education in joint session Tuesday were forced to delay awarding of contracts on the proposed 23-classroom county high school building here. John E. Manies, 47 years old, of Detroit, Michigan, and a native of Neon, Letcher county, drowned in Dewey Lake early Wednesday morning when his auto dropped from the road leading to the Brandy Keg dock into approximately eight feet of water. Ashland Nelson, 21-year-old Blue River man, was accidentally killed Thursday by a blast from his shotgun while hunting on Buckeye Fork of Middle Creek. The Floyd circuit court got under way slowly this week as only 13 of 36 petit jurors summoned had reported for duty as of Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Bessie Greer Mullins, 37, of Printer, was fatally injured Tuesday morning when struck by a hit-run driver, on the highway at Printer. Lloyd Dean Hoover, 4, of Garrett, succumbed Friday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of burns received when he fell into a tub of boiling water at his home, April 2. Married: Miss Beatrice James, of Endicott, and Mr. L. T. Hunt, of Woods, April 1, at the home of Rev. Isaac Stratton at Banner; Miss Gloria Sue Osborne, of Eastern, and Mr. Bradis Lafferty. There died: Dr. Gideon D. Ison, 72, of Bonita Springs, Florida, formerly of Blackey, Sunday at an Atlanta, Georgia, hospital; W. I. Myers, 57, of Detroit, Michigan, formerly of Drift, Monday at Detroit; Mrs. Mary Campbell, 91, of Prestonsburg, at the home of a step-daughter at Lancer, April 2; Mrs. Kate Wallen Hammonds, 39, of Water Gap, last Thursday, at a Paintsville hospital.

Floyd Group Wins Area Club Act Division

Accuracy Stressed In Certifying 1973 Feed Grain Acreage

"Certification is the last step for Floyd county farmers participating in the 1973 Feed Grain Programs before he is paid. Since certification is the final action, he must be careful to make no mistakes. Once he has certified, he cannot adjust the acreage he has certified." So explains Harry T. Hill, chairman of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

When a producer certifies, he reports exactly what acreage he has in program crops, what acreage he has in set-aside, that he is maintaining the farm's conserving base, and that he has complied with all program regulations and will continue to comply throughout the year.

Payment will be made, beginning July 1, to all producers who have certified program compliance. A producer may come in to the ASCS Office and certify as soon as his program crops are planted and he knows he is in compliance with the programs he has signed up for.

The club presented a variety act, "Riverboat 'Round the Bend," and as area champions will represent the Northeast Area in the State 4-H Talent Show at the Kentucky State Fair.

The leader of the club is Raymond Ratcliff, of Prestonsburg.

TO AID BLIND

Gov. Wendell Ford has authorized a $100,000 grant from the Capital Construction Fund to construct a permanent facility for the Kentucky Unit of Recording for the Blind. The unit, which tapes textbooks on request for blind students, has operated from temporary facilities in Louisville for the past 21 years. The new office will be built on the campus of the Kentucky School for the Blind, in Louisville.

State Health Dept. Certifies Emergency Medical Technicians

Eleven Floyd countians have been certified as emergency medical technicians by the State Department of Health.

They successfully completed a 12 1/2-week course here, March 5. The EMT course is part of a federally-funded project co-sponsored by the State Departments of Health and Public Safety. It covers all aspects of emergency medical care and transportation of the sick and injured.

Those who were certified are: Thomas A. Blackburn, Mrs. Betty M. Branham, Mrs. Leatrice J. McCormick, Ashland Joseph, Charles R. Joseph, Herman Joseph, Opal Joseph, Paul E. Joseph, Mrs. Martha A. White, Frank Vaughan, Jr., all of Prestonsburg; Mrs. Betty L. Perry, West Prestonsburg.

To qualify for certification, students must attend 25 lessons which include 71 hours of classroom training and 10 hours of in-hospital observation. More than 20 hours of subject material are presented on videotape prepared by physicians from the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

This is the second year for the EMT training project. Last year more than 400 ambulance drivers and attendants, fireman, policeman, nurses, rescue squad members and others responsible for emergency care of the public were certified.

Under the "Good Samaritan Law" passed last spring by the General Assembly, EMT's are exempt from liability in civil damages for administering emergency care or treatment when pay for such services is neither expected nor given.

Jenny Wiley Council Display Attracts Many

The Jenny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association was well represented at the second annual Southeastern Regional Conference of the IRA held in Louisville, February 15-17. The three-day conference, which was attended by approximately 5,000 persons from the southeastern part of the United States, featured leading educators in the field of reading.

Council members attending were Bertha Ratliff, current president of the council, Marie Stumbo, president-elect; Nadine Hicks, Elsie Stephens, John K. Pitts, Woodrow Allen, Ray Holbrook, and Lillian Arrowood.

Eighteen Kentucky local councils had prepared a display portraying their individual group activities. The Jenny Wiley Council representatives reported: "We were very proud of the Jenny Wiley display which included the following: scrapbooks for the 1971-72 and 1972-73 years; yearbooks, book-marks, guest book from the Floyd County Fair, bumper stickers for the purpose of promoting the Right to Read program at the Clark elementary school, bound books constructed at one of our mini-workshops, posters promoting the reading program, and our Jenny Wiley Council banner which is usually kept in the Title I office. We had many visitors stop at our display table, and we felt extremely proud of our Council."

ELLIOTT SCHOOL TAX ADDED

A circuit court judge has forced the Elliott county fiscal court to increase the tax levy from 47.1 cents to 56.7 cents per $100, as requested by the Elliott County Board of Education. The school board has asked for the legal increase rate (permitted due to losses incurred by passage of the Homestead Exemption Amendment), but the request had been termed excessive by the fiscal court and had not been acted on. The circuit court decision will allow collection of 1972 tax revenue and permit the board to meet its financial obligations.

Revenge of the Red Man

The American Indians wrecked by the white man are having the last laugh in the Great Beyond.

Tobacco is the Indian revenge. Before Columbus, tobacco was unknown to the white man. But explorers soon saw that Indians smoked the leaf in a Y-shaped pipe called a "tobacco." Each end of the double-forked pipe was inserted into a nostril. In some places, though, Indians smoked tobacco leaves rolled with husks of corn. The white man sampled the stuff, liked it, and thereby put a curse on coming generations.

The Indians smoked for ceremonial purposes and as a symbol of goodwill. They also believed that tobacco had medicinal values. It was, in fact, primarily for this reason that explorers carried the weed back to Europe. The brainwash took so well that by the middle of the seventeenth century, a London doctor wrote a whole book on "The Wonderful Virtues of Tobacco." The overzealous physician recommended a drop of tobacco juice in each ear to cure deafness, a green tobacco leaf flat on the head to cure headache, and a tobacco leaf tied over a tooth to cure toothache. For a cough, he advised boiling tobacco leaves, shaking the syrup, and putting the mixture on the stomach.

Doctors have learned a lot more about the effects of tobacco over the last three centuries. Now they know that smoking is a leading cause of emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer, coronary heart disease, and other diseases. But in the intervening centuries, smoking has spread around the world. And there are still 45 million Americans who smoke cigarettes.

To avoid going early to the Great Beyond, find out ways to kick the habit from your Kentucky TB & RD Association, P. O. Box 8405, Louisville, Kentucky 40208.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to all the friends, neighbors, and relatives who were so kind and sympathetic to us in our time of bereavement. The many beautiful flowers and expressions of sympathy are truly appreciated. We would also like to thank all our neighbors and friends for the food, and also one of our fine neighbors, Mrs. Glen Brickley for her service in our home to wait on the many friends and loved ones. We also thank the ministers, Rev. W. D. Jagers and Rev. William Coop for the wonderful word of God and the great kindness given to our family upon the passing of our loved one, Lillie C. Miller. Thanks are also extended to the Floyd Funeral Home for its courteous and efficient service.

REV. JONAS MILLER and FAMILY

This is called a Volkswagen Karmann Ghia. Just in case you're a sports car mechanic and you've never seen one before.

Beautiful, isn't it? Just like a lot of those sleek two-seaters that spend so much time in your shop. Okay. Now take a closer look. At the initials on the hub-cap. Depressing, isn't it? After all, if something ever goes wrong with the Karmann Ghia, there are 1203 better places to take it than your place. They're called Volkswagen dealers.

And if that car ever needs a spare part or two, they'll come from exotic places like Atlanta or Altoona. Not Paris or Palermo. You see, even though the body was designed by the Ghia Studios, and assembled by the Karmann Coachworks, it's just an uncomplicated, utterly reliable Volkswagen underneath. So, nobody's going to get poor driving it. And, sad to say, nobody's going to get rich fixing it.

LOSING HAIR? National's Hair Consultant In Pikeville Monday WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE

Before Treatment
George Swoyers shows results by National Home Treatment.

SAVE YOUR HAIR

FREE CONSULTATION MEN AND WOMEN just take a few minutes of your time on MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1973 and go to the LAND-MARK MOTEL between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the desk clerk for F. W. DANGLER'S room number, or call for appointment.

There is no charge or obligation . . . all consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way. Learn how you can treat yourself right in the privacy of your own home.

If you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss. Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. If you still have hair on the top of your head, don't put it off until it's all off. It doesn't make sense for a man to let himself go bald, certainly not without seeing a National Hair and Scalp Consultant to see if we can help you.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. National's Hair consultant cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from beginning to end.

Auxier To End Term of Office As Head of KEA

Michael T. Auxier, of Emma, will end his term as president of the Kentucky Education Association with next Friday's session of KEA in Louisville.

Mrs. Catharine Barrett, president of the National Education Association (NEA) will be the principal speaker at the 101st annual convention of KEA. Mrs. Barrett will address the convention's sole general session at 9 a.m. Friday, April 13 at the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center's Coliseum. She is on leave from duties as a sixth-grade teacher in Syracuse, N. Y., to serve as president this year of the nearly 1.2 million-member NEA.

KEA's annual three-day meeting, expected to draw about 10,000 educators to Louisville, will open today (Wednesday) at the Kentucky State Fairgrounds.

Two meetings of the KEA Delegate Assembly, the organization's policy-making body of more than 600 members, have been scheduled at 8 p.m. April 11 in Rooms B and C of the Fair & Exposition Center and at 2 p.m. April 12 in the Coliseum. Other delegate sessions will be scheduled April 12 and 13 if business is not completed at the regular meetings.

A report by Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, will be heard at the first Delegate Assembly session. Action on KEA resolutions and various committee reports will come at the second such session.

KEA President Auxier, who is mathematics teacher at Betsy Layne high school, will speak at the April 13 general session that features Mrs. Barrett.

At the close of the session Auxier will be succeeded as KEA president by Mrs. Louisa Hite of Middlesboro, currently KEA president-elect. Mrs. Hite, a second-grade teacher at Middlesboro's West End elementary school, is a former president of the KEA Association of Classroom Teachers and the Middlesboro Education Association and a former member of the KEA Commission on Professional Negotiation.

Also at the April 13 general session the 90-piece All-State Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Casimer B. Kriebbaum, will play. Kriebbaum is supervisor of music for North Olmsted, Ohio, public schools.

Voting by delegates only will take place from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, April 12 in the foyer outside rooms B and C of the fair & Exposition Center. These candidates have announced:

President-elect, Mrs. Martha Baker, of Paducah, and John Basham, of Owensboro; vice-president, Ms. Dolores Cheek, of Lexington, and Dan Yelton, of Florence; NEA director (who also serves on KEA board of directors), Joe Pessarelli, of Waddy, and Mrs. Ruth Reeves, of Ashland. They are seeking the seat now held by John Basham.

Other nominations for offices may be made from the floor.

In addition to the KEA sessions there will be meetings of numerous other groups affiliated with the state's largest professional association.

Second Hepatitis Outbreak Occurs In Mud Cr. Area

The second outbreak of hepatitis this year was reported last week in the Grethel vicinity and the Stumbo school after two new cases had developed. The earlier cases were reported in the Mud Creek community last January.

James B. Goble, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, said that 21 hepatitis cases have been reported in the Mud Creek area since last July 1, but these were scattered at different places in the valley.

Mr. Goble said it is difficult to pinpoint the source of the disease, but admitted that the first cases at Grethel could have stemmed from broken lines in the lateral field established for the septic tank sewage disposal system at the school. Soon thereafter, the Floyd County Board of Education spent approximately $15,000 for the installation of a sewage treatment plant at the school. Contaminated soil was buried to a depth of two feet.

Hepatitis is a disease which usually is conveyed by body wastes.

The widespread use of mobile homes and failure of many of these to comply with sanitation standards pose a threat in practically every section of the county, it was said.

The Mud Creek section has a water system but no sewage disposal system.

IGA Stores Slate Contest for Boys

Upwards of 3,000 boys from 10 thru 14 years of age will be taking "dream trips" to California in an unusual annual contest now going on in area IGA stores, according to an announcement this week by Paul Thompson, owner of Thompson's IGA Foodliner here.

The lucky boys are going to win all-expense-paid trips just by having their friends, neighbors and relatives vote for them each time they visit a participating store. Special ballot boxes have been set up in all supermarkets and customers are being asked to vote for their "favorite" boy. The "dream trip" winners will be those who receive the most votes.

Terry Grissom, vice-president of sales and marketing for Sistrunk & Co., supplier to IGA stores, said that the winning boys will travel by jet to Los Angeles for five full days. Their "dream trip" includes a red-carpet visit to movie studios, major league baseball games, Disneyland, Marineland of the Pacific, as well as to many other glamor points.

"Unlike most elections, this is one case where it is quite in order to vote often," said Grissom. "In fact, we encourage it—friends and neighbors of the boys can vote every time they come in to a participating market. Naturally, many of the winners will be from the Kentucky-Ohio area."

The winning boys will leave for Los Angeles on June 17 and return June 21.

Drugs and Attack On Pupil, Subject Of Discussion Here

A delegation from the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club conferred Monday with Floyd Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark, expressing their concern about the drug situation, student aggressiveness and an incident in which a child was injured at the elementary school recently.

The pupil was found suspended from a basketball goal inside the multi-purpose room at the school and was hospitalized. Thomas J. Tackett, school principal, later suspended the boy who was held responsible. The injured boy was suspended from the goal by a rope tied around his body.

"We're constantly in need of police protection," Supt. Clark told clubmembers. He said the school is troubled especially by non-school people and that vandalism is "terrible."

Generally speaking, Clark told The Times, damage to school property is greater here than elsewhere in the county.

Lease by Official Held a Violation

A Lawrence county justice of the peace violated state law when he leased property for a city-county landfill in return for building a bridge and road there the attorney general's office says.

The violation occurred, Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan said, because the justice of the peace was a member of the fiscal court which executed the contract that would benefit him. That was true even though the justice abstained in the voting, Runyan added.

"On the face of it," Runyan commented, "the justice seems to have executed the lease primarily to accommodate the landfill program."

"However, technically the lease contract could involve some benefit to the justice," he continued, "and he is furnishing right of way for the road and bridge."

"Unfortunately, mere good faith on the part of a public officer becoming involved in such a transaction is of no significance," Runyan said. "The statute is really framed around considerations of public policy and conflict of interest philosophy."

The opinion was requested by Lawrence County Atty. Gene Wilson.

Slated for Use This Summer

The medical clinic here from which eventually a dozen doctors are scheduled to render their services is well under construction and is expected to be ready for occupancy this summer. The $500,000 structure will take the place of the old Prestonsburg General Hospital which continues to serve physicians for clinical work. Already on the clinic staff are Dr. George P. Archer, Dr. Charles Hieronymous and Dr. Dan Spurlock, general practitioners; Dr. William B. Cook, surgeon; Dr. Ernest C. Holbrook, urologist, and Dr. David White, radiologist. Other physicians are to be added to the staff later.

Care Center To Help Operate Halfway House for Alcoholics

A long-awaited component of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's alcohol abuse and alcoholism treatment and education program will soon be a reality, Richard Stai, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, said last week.

Stai said the Big Sandy regional mental health agency entered into an affiliate agreement March 8 with Volunteers of America to operate a Half-Way House for alcoholics. The Half-Way House, an intermediate care facility, will be located in Pikeville at 221 College Street. It will be the seventh Half-Way House in the state operated by the Volunteers of America and the first in the Big Sandy region.

Under the affiliation agreement, the Volunteers of America will operate the facility, develop residency rules and administer the program. Mountain Comprehensive Care Center will provide consultation and education services, diagnostic, evaluation and treatment services for the residents of the Half-Way House.

Any person with a demonstrable alcohol problem may be admitted to residence at the Half-Way House and, according to Stai, it is expected that the Pikeville facility will house eight to ten persons. Bobby Wicker has been chosen by the Volunteers of America to be the manager of the Half-Way House.

Half-Way Houses lean heavily on Alcoholics Anonymous to help the residents. Attendance at one AA meeting per week is required of all residents. Meanwhile residents are encouraged and assisted to find full or part time employment. In addition to AA and occupational therapy, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center will offer individual, group and family therapy programs for the residents.

Stai observed that the Volunteers of America have been very successful in their work with alcoholics. Their Half-Way Houses are operated on three simple rules: Any sober man who has an admitted problem with alcohol can be admitted; any man who drinks or becomes drunk will be discharged from the House; and any alcoholic may stay as long as he remains sober.

A target date for the opening of the Pikeville facility was not announced.

The jury report also suggested that all law-enforcement officials should devote more time toward arresting persons who throw trash from cars and garbage into public waters.

Marvin Neeley and Arthur Hughes were named in an indictment charging them with the rape of a Hueysville woman. They also were accused of petit larceny and of destroying private property owned by Ralph and Mary Searl, of Hueysville.

Breaking and entering indictments were voted against seven defendants. Marion Hurd, Jr., Scottie Garrett and Carl E. Smith were charged with breaking and entering the residence, and knowingly receiving stolen property, of Hubert Ray Reynolds, and they were also charged with the same offenses in a break into the home of Walter Hall. Robie Johnson was charged with breaking into the trailer of Beecher Hardwick; Johnnie Kazee, for breaking and entering and knowingly receiving stolen property in the theft of meats from Pelphrey's Grocery here and a record player and shotgun from Polly Prater and Martha Green. The same offenses were charged to Timothy Miller and Phillip Goodman in a break into Goebel's Discount Store here.

Others named in indictment (addresses given if shown on indictment):

Donald Ray Tackett and John Lee Tackett, grand larceny, theft of 600 pounds of copper wire from Island Creek Coal Co.; Johnny Mullins, shooting at Tandy Martin without wounding; Kenneth Prater, seduction under promise of marriage; Lawrence Amburgey, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; Neshia Crum McCoy, $85 cold check; Ray Frazier, McDowell, concealing mortgaged property; Howell Isaacs and Junior Jones, each charged with selling mortgaged property; Glenn Douglas Collins, $317.10 cold check to Wright Brothers, Jewelers; Anderson Newsome, forgery of name of Curt Stumbo of $30 check.

Child desertion indictments named William Lee Kinsley, Abingdon, Va.; Charles Jack Allen, Chicago, Ill.; Randall Davinson and Raymond Kenneth Weddington.

As a result of this situation the fiscal court agreed to pay nine months of the employee's salary while a Department of Economic Security program will pay the other three months of the year.

At present, clothing can be left at the Child Welfare office, Goble said, but negotiations with city officials may soon establish a pick-up location for the Prestonsburg area.

Wednesday's session also saw a petition presented to the court signed by 184 residents of Arkansas Creek, asking that load limits be set on the Arkansas Creek Road.

Besides asking the court to "stop haulage of overweight trucks which have destroyed this road," the petition also requested the court to file action in circuit court against coal operators working in the area; also to ask the State Highway Department to repair the road and seek a restraining order against truck owners.

Also requested by the group was the removal of a tank car now being used as a culvert, which was installed by Turner Elkhorn Coal Company. The petitioners claimed that the main creek has been obstructed and diverted over the road by the drain. They said that, as a result, damage to private as well as public property has been sustained.

The specific coal companies operating in the area were not named and there was some question as to whether the road is maintained by the state or county.

No action has been taken by the court on the request of an oil products firm for the load limit on the Daniels Creek road to be increased so that it could make a fill for a future bulk plant site near the mouth of the creek. The load limit on the road was set after residents had protected road damage from heavy trucks.

buried him he was probably dead...like that dog named Rover, and when he died he died all over.

Well, I heard so much of black lung this here poem kept a jumpin' around in my head until finally it jumped out, and here 'tis...

I may look real tall and stately
But I been feelin' poorly lately;
Guess I druther be shot or hung,
But I believe I've got black tongue.

I've been takin' fits and howlin',
Chasin' cars from here to Allen,
Chewed the ladder, rung by rung—
You guess I've got black tongue?

Feller on Beaver got his due,
Widder women got hers, too...
Some that's getting it ort to be hung—
You reckon I'll get by black tongue?

Eat from a can and drink in the creek,
Run a car and go like a streak,
Whipped the dog the neighbors brung,
Reckon now I've got black tongue.

Lawyer said he bet his neck
That right away I'd get my check,
Said before this song is sung
I'd be gettin my black tongue.

Willin' to wait for ninety days,
Willin' to take all my X-rays;
Willin' to be snake bit and stung—
If I can get my black tongue...

A BROKEN RESOLUTION

And there went my firm resolve never to print poetry! Our no-poetry policy does not stem from any distaste we have for this, possibly the highest form of expression, but because every time we print a few lines of verse every Tom, Dick and Harry who can make "now" rhyme with "cow" thinks he's the Bard of Abon and inflicts his best, or worst, on me. I could print what I like and tell the writers of the rest that their stuff stinks, but I can have enough people sore at me at best without insulting a whole passel of howling geniuses. See what I mean?

said, in consideration of past courtesies extended by the church to the school, which used church facilities for graduation exercises and other activities without charge.

Temporary leave of absence was granted Tilden Jones, teacher at Wheelwright high school, and this resulted in the transfer of Dahlia Sue Jones from McDowell as his replacement and in the employment of Joan Caldwell to fill the vacancy at McDowell. Temporary leave was also granted Edna Keathley at Harold elementary, and Margaret Compton was employed as her replacement.

Volunteers help pack the meals and deliver them, using their own vehicles.

One of the main functions of volunteers, perhaps as important as the delivery of the meals itself, is to visit and "set a spell" with the project subscribers. In fact, Nancy Thomas, director of the project, said that more volunteers were needed just to serve in this capacity.

Interested persons may volunteer for any length of time they wish, although most join for a three-month work period, Mrs. Thomas commented.

Maximum weekly fees for meal delivery is $10 for those who can afford it, but a "sliding scale" plan is available whereby recipients are charged on the basis of their income, Mrs. Thomas said.

She stressed, however, that Meals on Wheels is in no way a poverty program. "The service is not just for low income people. Anyone who is having trouble shopping or preparing meals can take the service—even take it for a week at a time. It is also not just for the elderly—any income and any age is eligible," Mrs. Thomas said. One young woman had expressed the desire to subscribe to the project's services for a brief period before and immediately after the arrival of a baby, Mrs. Thomas reported.

Names of persons who may need the services of Meals on Wheels are supplied many times by physicians and other hospital personnel, as well as by "word of mouth." People who would like the delivery service also may call the project at 886-2214.

Mrs. Thomas, in referring to the meal service, said that many doctors "are excited about it." She explained that many health problems encountered by doctors in the area are due to insufficient nutrition. She cited one meal recipient whose trips to the hospital had been drastically reduced since taking this service.

The main problem encountered by Meals on Wheels is the refusal of many individuals who seemingly need the service to take advantage of it. "Many people," said Mrs. Thomas, "are either not aware of it, or are not sure what it is." Perhaps the main cause of this problem, according to Mrs. Thomas, was the mistaken identification of Meals on Wheels with some type of poverty program or charity group.

In answer to this, Mr. Estep said: "If these people knew what I know about the meals, they wouldn't hesitate to take it."

Meals on Wheels first originated in London, England in 1943 after Nazi rocket raids rendered thousands of British families destitute. The idea then spread to America and now similar programs exist all over the U. S. Ten such programs exist in Kentucky with five, including Floyd's, being located in Eastern Kentucky. These projects are not related through any organization and funds come from a variety of sources. Floyd County Meals on Wheels, unlike some projects elsewhere, receives no federal funds but depends wholly on local financing.

SUPREME COURT RULES ON RODRIGUEZ CASE

The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the property tax as a means of financing public education. In ruling on the Rodriguez case, initiated in Texas in 1968, the high court said the property tax system is constitutional and does not discriminate against the poor, but that "the need is apparent for reform" by state and local governments.

Communications Director Quits Because of Policy

By JIM BRANSCOME (In The Mountain Eagle, Whitesburg, Ky.)

The executive director of the Commission on Religion in Appalachian (CORA) has resigned his position in protest to what he calls "the agency's colonial perspectives that make one feel like he is working for the British in India."

The employee, Michael Clark, says that he was given a "false impression of CORA" through a film strip about the agency he saw while still a reporter for a Baltimore daily newspaper.

"I was of the impression that it was actively working with mountain people to help them gain control over their own lives, but found that it was a highly bureaucratic agency unrepresentative of mountain people," Clark said.

Of the six man staff, none are from the mountains. CORA is an ecumenical organization headquartered in Knoxville representing 17 church denominations and the Council of the Southern Mountains. It was founded in 1965 to be the regional funding and administrative arm of national church denominations.

Clark joined the staff in August as a volunteer receiving subsistence pay. His main job was writing articles about Appalachia for the national church press, and lately editing the CORA quarterly publication, "Vantage Point." While the publication has been issued only twice, it had begun to gain attention for some hard-hitting articles on strip mining, corporate neglect, foundations which make their profits in Appalachia and fund other regions, and other issues which affect the livelihood of mountain people.

Clark resigned when the staff insisted that they be allowed to review the articles before publication.

"Since I didn't feel the staff was representative of the mountains or appreciative of what was happening because of mountain people's efforts, I did not feel that they should run the paper," he said.

According to Clark, CORA is "out of joint with the times. It is the churches' Bureau of Appalachian Affairs. It's like an office plucked from an agency in Washington. The times call for representation of mountain people."

A particular sore point with Clark is the way CORA raises money for what it calls the Appalachian Development Fund.

CORA contracted with a professional fund raising firm in Washington to raise money for this foundation which in turn is supposed to fund community groups in Appalachia. The firm sent out packages of Forget-Me-Nots "on behalf of the forgotten men, women and children of Appalachia."

"The whole tone was paternalistic," Clark said.

"Thankfully, a lot of people sent their package back to the agency. Most of the money raised so far has gone to pay the cost of the mailing."

Clark, a member of the Brethren Church, believes that an organization which "uses the name of Jesus Christ and talks about meeting pressing human needs should do more than take the bureaucratic style of memo writing, organization structure, and the heavily loaded bureaucratized you find in government. It is hard for mountain people to have confidence in an organization like that. It doesn't make any sense to bring in high powered people from the outside when there are plenty of people in the mountains who know how to solve the region's problems."

According to Clark, CORA does not hire mountain natives to fill its staff slots with salaries ranging from $12,000 to $15,000 a year because "they know that mountain people wouldn't play the team game."

Clark believes that CORA has done some positive things through its system of collegiate staff, a group of church men assigned by their denominations to work for the agency part time. One of these staff members is coordinating mountain lobbying in Washington, D. C., against strip mining. Another has spoken out against the Pikeville hospital, owned by the Methodist Church, because it will not bargain collectively with its employees. Overall, however, Clark's feeling is that CORA must be taken over by mountain people and its funds spent by them before it can really be a significant force for change in the mountains. He is hopeful about that possibility.

After all, he said, mountain people did take over the 56-year old Council of the Southern Mountains.

"Once the national churches wake up and recognize the colonial character of CORA and how they fit into it, then I think they will come to their senses and realize that we can't go on treating mountain people like the British people treat India."

Advisory Committee Makes Suggestions

The Floyd County Education Association's president, Ralph G. O'Quinn, has reported to the FCEA executive board recommendations made by the Citizens' Advisory committee which would update and improve the states Minimum Foundation Program, the primary source of financing public schools.

According to Mr. O'Quinn, the Floyd council made the following recommendations.

- 1. Statewide equalization of expenditures.
2. Statewide equalization of education among children.
3. An extended school year.
4. Upgraded staffing and salaries.
5. Expansion in financing transportation, capital outlay, and current expenditures.
6. Financing a full statewide kindergarten program.
7. Increased special education classes.
8. Explaining the possibility of vocational education in the elementary schools.
9. Find ways to distribute the tax burden fairly.
10. Find ways to assure educational accountability.

Similar studies have been made by other committees throughout Kentucky. The State Department of Education will utilize the aggregate results in an effort to improve the Minimum Foundation Program.

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK
(Attorney General of Kentucky)

Each year many consumers experience a disease which they mistake for the twenty-four hour virus. This disease is called salmonellosis. According to statistics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, some 2,000,000 (or one out of every 100 consumers) suffer from this disease each year. Salmonellosis is an infection of the stomach and intestines that is caused by salmonella germs which are sometimes present in such foods as fresh poultry, meat and fish. Transmission of the disease is not limited to foods, it can also be transmitted from pets such as turtles. This disease, which normally lasts from one to five days, is not usually fatal. Still, it can be dangerous to the very young, the very old and people already weakened by illness. Following certain precautions can help to curb the possible spread of salmonellosis germs in your home. Assume that some uncooked poultry meat and seafood may contain salmonella germs. Since thorough cooking kills these germs, we recommend cooking foods in the home at 155 degrees F. Obviously, avoid eating raw fish, meat, poultry or eggs. Although cooking kills salmonella germs, using the same platters and utensils before and after cooking can recontaminate the food with salmonella. To safeguard against "cross contamination," wash your hands, the kitchen counter space, utensils, dishes and cutting boards after contact with raw meat. Concerning cutting boards, it is recommended that one board be used only for preparing meat and another be used for cutting vegetables, cheese and other foods. When defrosting meat in the refrigerator, keep it away from all other food and preferably in the meat keeper. Blood from raw poultry and meat can be contaminated with salmonella and can, in turn, contaminate any foods with which it comes in contact.

After cooking, do not allow meat or poultry to stand at room temperature. Bacteria grow well under these conditions, and can recontaminate the food. Be on guard for the symptoms of salmonella infection in pets. If a pet is having stomach problems, keep its feeding dishes, toys, bedding and other similar items away from sources in contact with the family's food, such as the kitchen sink, drain board and food service utensils. Hands should always be washed after handling a sick pet. Children should be kept away from certain pets which are recognized by health authorities as notorious salmonella carriers. These pets include turtles, baby chicks, and ducklings. Symptoms which may indicate salmonellosis are headache, fever, stomach cramps, diarrhea and vomiting. If you have a consumer complaint or problem, you are invited to contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on the toll-free consumer hotline at 1-800-372-2960.

Lexington Exhibit Features Paintings Of May and Others

The Kentucky Heritage Art Exhibit, a showing of 197 original paintings by 18 of Kentucky's most distinguished artists, was on display this week, beginning last Sunday, at the Kentucky Central Life Insurance building (the former Lafayette Hotel), Lexington. Among the featured artists is Russell May, of Prestonsburg, whose landscapes have attracted wide attention. The Lexington exhibit is being sponsored by Kentucky Central Life, in cooperation with Appalachian Regional Hospitals. Mr. May is spending the week in Lexington, and he has invited all readers of The Times to visit the exhibit which is open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Saturday. "The Kentucky Heritage collection gives the viewer a graphic picture of Kentucky's beauty and heritage through the paintings of the state's most renowned artists," said Garvice D. Kincaid, Kentucky Central president. The exhibit was first presented in Washington late last year by Senator and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper in cooperation with Appalachian Regional Hospitals.

1973 Highway Construction May Total $225 Millions

Frankfort, Ky.—Highway construction awards for 1973 may reach $225 million, Highway Commission James E. Gray said last week. About $150 million of this sum is expected to be devoted to the Interstate and Appalachian programs. The remainder will include all other federal-aid programs and those supported wholly by the Commonwealth's own funds, particularly the rural and municipal road programs. The substantial figure projected for the whole year is based on the expectation of federal aid to be provided by highway legislation now pending in Congress, Transportation Secretary Elijah M. Hogge explained. Federal support for interstate highway construction is in the ratio of nine-to-one. Most other federal aid must be matched 50-50 by the Commonwealth except some Appalachian projects which have 70 percent federal support. Failure of Congress to pass a highway bill in 1972 risked delay of important interstate construction projects in Kentucky, but Governor Wendell H. Ford in January authorized highway officials to go ahead with projects on I-64 and I-275 since former Federal Transportation Secretary John Volpe had given assurance that the states could recover later any sums expended in pre-financing Interstate construction. This action of the Governor, has insured that the 1973 construction season would not be lost for these projects. Bids have been invited April 5 on the I-64 project in Carter county and the Kenton county projects on I-275. The Ninth Street Interchange on I-64 in Louisville will be included in the April 26 letting. Lettings in April alone will probably total $28 million.

Says Only School Boards May Impose Dress Code

The office of the Kentucky Attorney General has issued an opinion stating, "Only a school board can make a regulation concerning hair style or type of clothing to be worn by its pupils." The opinion said reasonable hair and dress codes adopted by boards of education are legally acceptable in the federal courts of the judicial district in which Kentucky is located. "Rules, regulations and policies can only be enacted by the school board and an individual teachers or coach has no authority to impose his own taste in such matters on the pupils," Asst. Attorney General Carl Miller said.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Fishing for rainbow trout in Kentucky has been growing in popularity by leaps and bounds. In fact, some 16,000 bona fide trout anglers attest to the excellent fishing opportunities in the stocked creeks, lakes and tailwaters in the Commonwealth. Two of the hot spots for rainbows and Rock Creek in McCreary County and the tailwaters of Lake Cumberland in Russell, Clinton and Cumberland Counties.

program, conducted by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and by the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, is on a "put-and-take" basis, monster rainbows are harvested annually. The best area for big rainbows is the Cumberland tailwater which provides trophy trout angling from Wolf Creek Dam to Burkesville and even farther downstream. All state record rainbows have been harvested from this area. The present record tipped the scales at 14 pounds and 6 ounces. The proud fisherman who caught this fine trophy is Jim Mattingly, Somerset, Kentucky.

Trout fishing, to many, is simply using whole kernel corn, flavored cheeses or worms. However, trout fishing is also for the pros who use fly rods or spinning rigs and artificial lures. 1972 was a banner year for trout stocking, with some 375,000 rainbows being placed in 37 streams, seven tailwaters and five lakes. This year, 400,000 trout will be distributed to the same areas. The total number of rainbows to be stocked in selected areas by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources this year is 330,000 (an increase of 10,000 over 1972), while the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has allotted 55,000 adult rainbows and 17,000 sub-adults to the streams of the Daniel Boone National Forest. The Department of Fish and Wildlife will stock 28 streams, five lakes and seven tailwaters. The Daniel Boone National Forest offers 11 streams with catchable trout, and seven remote streams which are stocked in the fall with sub-adults. The purpose of the sub-adult fall stocking program is to provide wilderness type fishing for the angler who doesn't mind a good long hike. Trout fishermen in Kentucky must have a valid fishing license and a trout stamp which costs $2.25. There is no size limit on Rainbow trout. The creek limit is eight fish per day, or eight in possession. Months for stocking trout in the Eastern Kentucky area are: Caney Creek, Elliott county, April, May, June and July; Laurel in Elliott and Kinnickinnick in Lewis county, April, May and June; Greasy Creek, Leslie county, April, May and June; Hoods Creek, Johnson county, April, May, June and July; Swift Camp Creek, Wolfe county, March, April, May and June; North Fork of Triplett Creek, Rowan county, March, April, May and June; Buckhorn, Fishtrap and Grayson tailwaters, each month, April through October.

NATURE'S SECRET FOR BEEF

The tenderness in Proten Beef is directly related to delicious tropical fruits, such as pineapple, papaya, and figs. Nature's original tendering agents already present in beef, are supplemented by pure food protein derivatives of some of these fruits. Minute quantities are used to create uniform tenderness seldom before possible. This process is so natural it assures full beef flavor and nutrition as well as added tenderness.

ROPES May Produce Film Depicting Job Opportunities

The ROPES Board of Directors held their monthly meeting at Sheldon Clark high school, Inez, March 28, with Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools and chairman of the board, presiding.

At this meeting Vern P. Horne, retired superintendent of Johnson county schools, Claude Farley, retired superintendent of Pike county schools, and Roy Marshall, retired superintendent of Magoffin County Schools, were approved by the board of directors to serve on the Regional Advisory Council. Mr. Farley addressed the board, pointing out the importance of cooperation among the local school districts in coming together and working to develop a comprehensive education program in this five-county area.

Carolyn Francis, of Prestonsburg Community College, discussed the possibility of developing a film depicting the job opportunities available in Region 11 and the educational institutions in the region where training may be received to complete a basic educational course, to acquire a high school equivalency certificate, or to be directed to a vocational school or to a college to receive the training that would be compatible to the job opportunities in this area.

Larry C. Bobbert, of Eastern Kentucky University, told the board that Eastern could "shoot" and process the film at a cost of $500 per minute. The board voted for the ROPES staff to pursue this and to work with Eastern and Prestonsburg Community College in developing the film.

Helen Colley, chairman of the Region Music Educators Association, presented Robert Wachtel and Dean Olson, of Musitronic, Inc., who demonstrated Musitronic equipment for teaching the piano keyboard.

Mary Lou Draughn, deputy director of the Pikeville Model City Agency, introduced Rickey Bartley, state President of Teens Who Care. Mr. Bartley spoke briefly on the goals and objectives of the Teens Who Care program.

Clarence Dutton, Regional Industrial Coordinator, asked the Board of Directors to approve his conducting an industrial survey for the region and the board approved his request.

Virgil Porter, a member of the ROPES board of directors and superintendent of Johnson county schools, gave a brief report on the findings of the committee to study cooperative purchasing.

Glenn Juett, Division of Purchases, Department of Finance, Frankfort, spoke on the possibility of purchasing school supplies and materials on the state price contract. He pointed out that a savings of from 15 to 30 percent could be realized by buying on state price contracts.

Reo Johns, director of ROPES, and Bronelle Skaggs, assistant director, gave an overview of ongoing programs and projects now in operation. Johns also announced that open house will be held at the ROPES regional office, May 3. Johns said that Dr. Eugene Hoyt, Director of the Educational Component of the Appalachian Regional Commission, Congressman Carl D. Perkins, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Lyman Ginger, and Dr. Carl Lamar, director of Vocational Education programs, will be the principal speakers at the dinner meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Don Burchett, regional supervisor for Guidance Services, will be in charge of making arrangements for the open house program.

The next board will be held April 19 at Allen Central high school.

UMW Head Reported Supporting McCown For District Office

Arnold Miller, president of The United Mine Workers, has endorsed the candidacy of Forrest McCown, of Floyd county, and two other miners who are seeking district office in the upcoming UMWA District 30 election, it was said at Pikeville this week.

The election, which will be supervised by the U. S. Department of Labor, will be conducted from May 5 through May 20. Mr. Miller said he is endorsing and will campaign in behalf of Evans Robinson, Forrest McCown and Kenneth Smith. In his statement he said that all these men are strong union men who stand for the principles which must guide the union in the future, a strong safety program, a new organizing drive in the area and service and respect for retired miners. He noted that they were selected to run by the rank and file and will serve the rank and file.

Robinson is a candidate for the International Executive Board; McCown, for president of Dist. 30, and Smith for secretary-treasurer.

Eat More Foods From Nature

RIPE MULBERRIES. The fruits of the mulberry ripen in late June and are dark-red, juicy and sweet. Oldtimers picked the ripe fruits to make a delicious pie they called a "cobbler." When eaten with rich cream, this pie is truly good. Try one when the mulberries ripen. Better hurry or the squirrels and birds will beat you and get all the good eating.

GREAT SOLOMON'S SEAL. This fine plant forms dense patches in our region and has tall, slender, curving stems. Under the bent stems, small clusters of white flowers appear in May.

The roots of Solomon's seal show the "king's seal" plainly imprinted—hence, the name. These roots are crinkly and highly desirable as food, when steamed, the roots make a delicious salad; they are also good eaten raw. This exotic plant is a member of the Lily Family.

THE NETTLES. These plants grow tall and robust in our region and have stinging hairs on the stem as a means of defense. Without these, such a highly useful plant as nettle would soon be exterminated. These nettles are eaten by many different kinds of animals. The young sprouts when about 8 inches high make excellent greens. They are rich in Vitamin C and contain high percentages of phosphorus and iron, with about 6 per cent protein. Farmers used to mix the seeds of nettle with fodder to feed the cattle, as this gave a fine gloss to the hair. Persons with paralyzed limbs were once treated by stroking the limbs with stinging nettles to help restore feeling and circulation. Victor Hugo once wrote: "When the Nettle is young, its leaves make an excellent vegetable for greens." Thomas Campbell, the Scottish poet, once wrote: "The young and tender Nettle is an excellent pot herb."

LAMBS QUARTERS. This plant, a member of The Goosefoot Tribe, springs up in gardens after the cultivation has ended. It is often called, "wild spinach," and has been highly praised as a pot herb. The Indians used lamb's quarter to cure the scurvy; they also ate it as fresh salad and spring greens. The leaves have a whitish tinge, so the plant is sometimes called "white goosefoot." The young shoots should be picked for cooking when about six inches high. Canned Lamb's quarters is a highly nutritious vegetable substitute. The greens were once sold by the bushel in the markets of the east. The Maori, a brown-skinned race of New Zealand, claimed they owed their virility to eating Lamb's Quarters.

PURSLANE. This is the common garden variety of pussley, which often forms patches after the crops have matured. Oldtimers gathered it to feed their hogs but didn't realize it was a valuable food for people as well. Thoreau once wrote: "I have made a fine dinner many times, simply dining on a dish of purslane (pussley), which I got in my cornfield, boiled and salted to taste." Pussley is a member of the Portulaca Family, which is noted for its succulent stems. Gerard, famous herbalist, said: "Raw purslane is used in salads, with oil, salt and vinegar. It cools the blood and promotes a good appetite."

CRETTES. Most all the cresses make excellent greens; water cress may be found along the beds of brooks or around moist cliffs. There is an old saying: "Eat cress and you'll have more wit." Watercress is rich in Vitamin C and contains many of the minerals the body needs. It has been highly recommended as a food for the elderly, as it helps to maintain the suppleness of the blood vessels and prevents hardening of the arteries.

A famous enthusiast for eating foods from the wild once said: "Most Americans don't know how to live because they don't know what is good for them to eat."

Instead of haggling over the price of horsemeat in the supermarkets, people should go back to nature and find out the good things she has in store for them.

Meals on Wheels

Jesus has a table spread
For all within his will—
Make this your daily reminder
As you serve the Meals on Wheels.
Serve them spiritually as well as physically.
This will make it much more worthwhile;
While you are there say a prayer
And give away a smile.
Show God's love everywhere you go,
That it is true and divine,
For Jesus loves, lives and gives every day
And that means your service and mine.
Helpers are needed—Will you be one?
Your place in this work to fill
And help each day and all the way
To serve the meals on wheels.
Be a volunteer for Jesus,
He was a volunteer for you.
It is written in Jesus' name for the sick and shut-ins and the volunteers for the Meals on Wheels. Do your very best and God will do the rest.

Environmentally Speaking

by
THOMAS O. HARRIS
COMMISSIONER
Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection

Although the Division of Solid Waste is one of the smallest within our department, it faces an enormous task. No other nation produces so many products and so much waste.

As our technology and gross national product have grown, our wastes have become more complex, and toxic industrial wastes have increased. The sheer volume of many of these wastes presents a problem.

Each of us generates about five pounds of solid waste every day. Studies show that for every appliance we produce, we create 40 more pounds of solid waste, not counting the appliance itself, which ends up in the solid waste stream.

Too often, we think of solid waste as only home garbage, leaves and debris. It is actually almost everything man produces and uses—automobiles, stoves, refrigerators, factories, offices and houses. Already solid waste handling ranks third in non-military expenditures of public funding, behind public highways and education. Most of these funds are local and state.

Add to this already complex problem the built-in problem of population growth and the long range implications are such that if we do not plan ahead to handle the problems and investigate all possible solutions, we may be caught in a crisis situation.

I challenge you, as Kentuckians, to band together to solve these problems. In areas where the population is small and the land area great, I urge you to ease the economic burden of solid waste control—break the lifetime habits many persons have of throwing solid wastes into fields or streams where many expect the spring floods to carry their wastes away.

Recycling has been going on for years in our rural areas, as our farmers traditionally plowed many agricultural wastes back into their fields to enrich their property. This recycling and the recycling of many forms of solid wastes must be encouraged and increased.

The awesome task of finding solutions to the solid waste problem can only be accomplished with your help.

Steve Sandlin, Jr., food survey officer, State Department of Health, will assist the local health department in teaching the school by lecturing with slides and answering questions.

"The purpose of conducting the school is to give managers and employees important food service information which will result in safe, wholesome food for the consumer," Mr. Goble said.

The following is a schedule of time and location of each food handler school:

Environmental Needs— 'The Price Will Be High!'

By BARRI DUNCAN
Frankfort, Ky.—Those attending an Environmental Awareness Conference here this past week—representative of government and industry, speakers, and several hundred audience participants—agreed that now is the time to do something about the environment, but disagreed on what should be done.
Some were optimistic.
Gov. Wendell Ford opened the seminar by saying he was optimistic about the environment, but still advised that "if we are to benefit from technological gains, the quality of life must be measured by more than consumer goods and the gross national product."
"It must also be measured by the beauty, durability and safety of the environment in which we live," he said.
Commissioner Thomas Harris of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection also took an optimistic stand, outlining successful accomplishments of his department and several of its programs.
Harris emphasized that the Division of Water, at this time, is primarily concerned with the reclassification of streams in the state. Legislation passed last fall committed the state to clean its streams of all pollution by 1983, but due to the federal cutback of funds, the goal has been endangered.
Harris also noted that the reclamation laws have been strengthened and compliance by coal companies has increased.
The commissioner, in the same optimistic vein, pointed out that it is very difficult right now to buy grass seed.
"Now, I don't know if the coal companies have anything to do with this," he said, "and I'm not even sure how much grass seed it takes to revegetate 38,000 acres of stripped land, but we're hopeful that it's an indication that coal operators will meet their May deadline."
Speaking for the coal industry, Paul Patton, Elkhorn Mining Company, Virgie, pointed out that coal operators and government must—and can—cooperate to limit environmental problems.
"The coal industry must be more responsive to the needs of environment," Patton said. "We have lagged behind when we should have led the way."
Although to most of the program participants, the future looked bright, some were pessimistic.
Keynote speaker Wendell Berry said, "We have learned that the environment is rapidly deteriorating. We have looked around us and have seen that people are diseased in body and mind by the foulness that we have made in the environment."
Berry, professor of English at the University of Kentucky, farmer and author of several environmentally oriented pieces, said that public thinking on environmental issues is contaminated by two American illusions: one, that we can "move away from our troubles and, two, the possibility of "universal comfort!"
"We wish to have everything done for us by something or somebody else," said Berry, "in order that we may have time to ride to play golf."
Whitesburg attorney, Harry Caudill, addressing himself to the role of the citizen in the fight against environmental pollution, echoed Berry's sentiments.
"We've got to be willing to pay for it (environmental improvement) and accept a lower standard of living," Caudill said, adding that a change of lifestyle—thrift, wearing wool sweaters and

Exam Program Receives Grant

Frankfort, Ky.—Dr. B. F. Brown, director of the Division of Laboratory Services, State Department of Health, has been notified by the Kentucky Crime Commission that the Medical Examiners Program has been granted $103,410 to carry its program through June, 1973. An earlier grant of $41,666 put the program into operation last April. That grant ended Dec. 16; the new grant covers the Dec. 16-June 30 period.
The Medical Examiners Program assists county coroners in their performance of their duties by providing medical assistance to determine causes of death. The grants from the Crime Commission will cover the costs of autopsies and laboratory work in cases of suspected homicide.
During 1972, 132 autopsies were performed for coroners in 20 counties. Deaths from gunshot accounted for 94 cases. Other causes of death included eight stabbings, nine beatings, two cases of drug overdose, three drownings and one instance each of death from strangulation, a fall, freon inhalation and burns. One person died after being hit by a car and cause of death was not determined in four cases.
David Jones, administrator of the Medical Examiner Program, notes that a few deaths were ruled out as suspected homicide. Four were recorded as heart disorders, two as pneumonia and one, acute bronchitis. He cited the case of an elderly storekeeper who was found dead in his store: because the man had been robbed several times, the coroner felt that a full investigation should be made of the death. The autopsy in this case eliminated the question of homicide, since the man had died of a heart attack.
Since Jan. 1, the program has handled 54 additional autopsies.

To My Many Friends:

I take this means to express my heartfelt gratitude and thanks for all of those who had a part in my recovery from my serious illness. First of all, my thanks to God, and then to Dr. Ray who did so much for me, to Dr. Martin also, and to the wonderful consideration and kindness shown me by those other doctors, the staff, and the nurses who were so attentive unto my needs, and to Donny Jones for his blood donation, to those fine young men from the R & S Body Shop, to Talmage Vanderpool and Delton Ray Conley and others who offered their blood that I may live. Last but not least, I am thankful for the prayers in my behalf. I cannot express in words how much you all mean to me, and I humbly ask God to bless each one of you and yours. You will always be in my prayers.

Again thank you.

Frankfort, Ky. —Transportation Secretary Elijah M. Hogge warned last week that any political signs placed on state-owned right-of-way will be removed by highway maintenance workers.

The Secretary said, "Placing any advertising device - business as well as political on the Commonwealth's roadside is forbidden by the statutes. In the case of certain Interstate and Primary roads, federal regulations also are involved."

He continued, "I am calling attention to political signs at this time because they are apt to become particular problems as the May primaries draw near."
