

Rule Holds Zoning Only Mine Curb

Opinion Says Court May Not Invalidate 'Broad Form' Deeds

The Floyd fiscal court under its Home Rule powers may not invalidate the "broad form" deeds under which much of the surface mining in Eastern Kentucky is done.

Nor may it abolish surface mining. It could "reasonably regulate" strip-mining through zoning, but the courts would have to weigh carefully any general zoning plan that may be adopted.

So wrote Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Runyan recently in response to inquiry as to the court's powers made by John M. Rosenberg, of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, on behalf of the Save Our Land Club formed in this county.

Mr. Rosenberg submitted to the Attorney General a copy of a proposed ordinance which had been drafted with the intention of asking the fiscal court to adopt it if its legality is established. It pointed out that burdens on land and economic development are imposed by the broad form deed and that these are inimical to the public interest and welfare. In support of this statement the proposed ordinance cites these points:

1. That both industrial and land development work is discouraged when the availability of sites is severely limited, since developers do not want to buy the surface of land which is subject to surface mining without their consent.
2. That "there is difficulty in persuading the young and skilled workers, our most precious resource, who have migrated from the area, to return to settle when they cannot obtain land that might not be strip-mined the next day, without their consent."

Rosenberg wrote the Attorney General:

"Ironically, our county today is plagued by the very harms found to be caused by unregulated strip-mining in the realistic language of KRS 350.020. While we agree that adequately regulated strip-mining as envisioned under Chapter 350 may not be proscribed by a fiscal court, it certainly could not have been the intent of the General Assembly to preclude the abolition of strip-mining in counties where the scheme of regulations, for all intents and purposes, has been totally ineffective."

On the question of validity of the broad form deed the assistant attorney general wrote:

Osborn To Speak As Kiwanis Clubs Install Officers

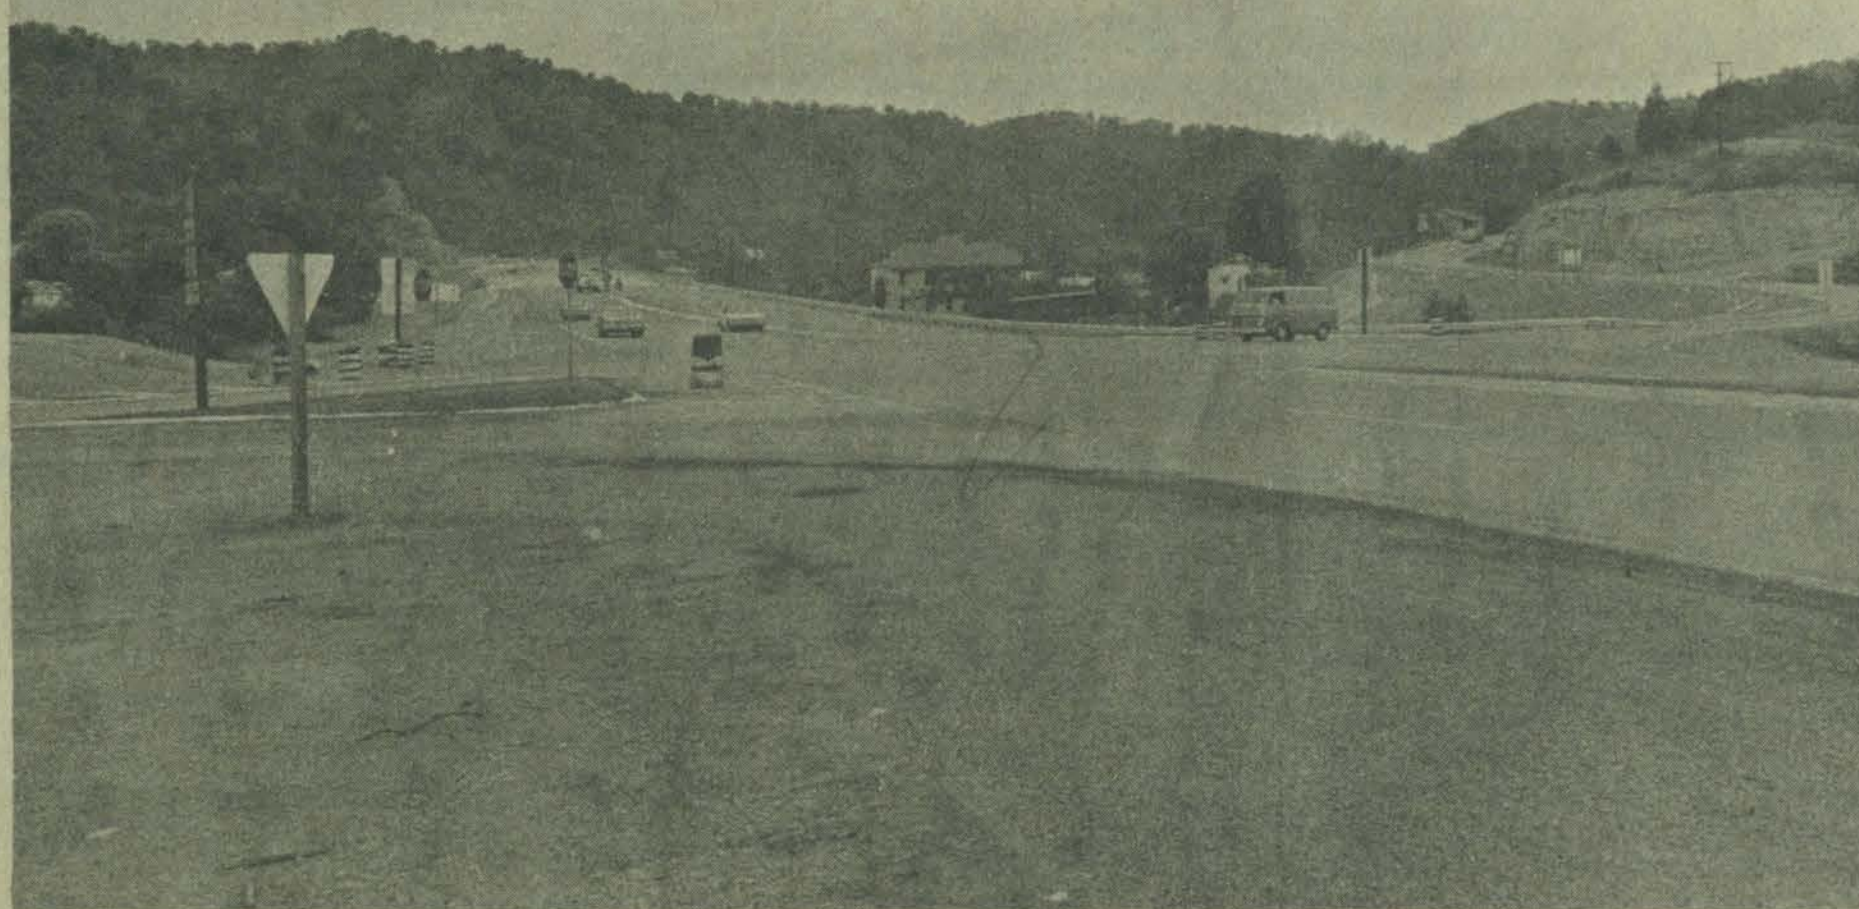

Floyd county's four Kiwanis Clubs will join in a single installation ceremony to induct their new officers for the club year tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m. with a banquet at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Ted R. Osborn, Prestonsburg native who now is a Lexington business and civic leader, will be the speaker. Mr. Osborn is treasurer of Kiwanis International after completing a term as vice-president of the organization.

The installation of officers will be conducted by Chalmers H. Frazier, past lieutenant-governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee district, and Hubbard C. Francis, of Prestonsburg, will be master of ceremonies.

Cecil Sturgill, chairman of the program committee, said 100 Kiwanians are expected to attend the installation and banquet.

Kiwanis clubs whose officers will be installed are Beaver Valley at Wheelwright, East Floyd at Harold, Martin and Prestonsburg.

The scene at Allen where US 23 and KY 80 meet has changed, with new highway construction almost complete. Photo looks toward new four-lane bridge across the Big Sandy and the new highway in the distance leading via Bull Creek to the Mountain Parkway, near here. KY 80, leading to the Beaver Creeks, is at left of intersection. Old US 23 is at right. The busy intersection has in recent weeks been the scene of at least two wrecks and is a potential danger spot.

County Facing Waste Disposal Program Delay

Two months ago, County Judge Henry Stumbo expressed the hope that the county's solid waste disposal program would be a reality this month. Now, he doesn't know.

Among other problems, there's the one of landfill sites—and he's careful to emphasize that he is not speaking of "a plain, old garbage dump."

Opposition of citizens to the location of a landfill in the vicinity of their homes had already been sensed, but Monday morning it became more tangible when a petition bearing the names of 150 residents was submitted in protest to the location of a landfill on the Job Turner Branch of Right Beaver Creek.

County Attorney James R. Allen, with whom the protest was filed, pointed out that waste dumped at a sanitary landfill must be covered daily and that the covering is to be compacted under state regulations—no rat harbours, no unsightly mounds.

The county will receive a final permit to operate a landfill only after the site has been prepared according to detailed specifications. The permit is renewable annually. And it can be revoked at any time the county fails to meet state standards.

The Floyd fiscal court two weeks ago purchased more than $50,000 worth of heavy machinery which will be used mainly in the operation of the four sanitary landfills expected to be made available, one for each of the county's magisterial districts.

Cleared of Charges, Deputies Say They, Sheriff Threatened

"We have three months left to serve as deputy sheriffs, and we intend to prove that the bootleggers are in trouble," two deputy sheriffs who were cleared of bribery charges by circuit court juries recently, said this week.

The deputies, Dester Hamilton and Ralph Howell, said they and Sheriff Frank Leslie have been "threatened, accused and abused by the bootleggers" of this county. The two said they know every deputy on the sheriff's staff, and they added:

"We have never heard him tell the first one to make any exceptions in bootlegging. When he tells us to make a difference, we will resign."

Hamilton and Howell declared they will play no favorites. At the same time they announced a raid Friday on Randall Gearheart, of Frasures Creek, from whom they confiscated 40 cans of beer. The case is in Magistrate Eddie Caudill's court.

Hearing Draws Criticism Of Ky. Enforcement Job

In an all-day hearing held at Prestonsburg Community College here Wednesday, representatives of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) heard the testimony of area residents and environmentalists criticizing the state's failure to enforce regulations concerning the discharge of waste water into streams.

Wednesdays' session concluded two days of meetings which began in Frankfort last Tuesday, preliminary to the granting or denying by EPA of 96 applications for federal permits to release waste water from Kentucky coal mining operations. The 96 applications have been tentatively approved.

The fact that only 96 operations have applied is especially discouraging, according to Richard Hall, New York City attorney for Save Our Kentucky (SOK) and the Sierra Club, because, he noted, "by EPA's own estimation there are some 1,400 active mining operations in the state." This indicates, in his opinion, that the other 1,300 operations which have not applied are "guilty of federal misdemeanors."

In Floyd county alone Inland Steel Corporation has filed for 26 permits in the Left Beaver Creek section and National Mines Corporation has applied for five on Right Beaver Creek or its tributaries.

EPA officials were met by a steady stream of "witnesses" who protested that the waters in the area are already dead or dying because of the state's past failure to enforce the laws.

Among those testifying was Avery Wiley, of Prestonsburg, a member of the Sierra and Audubon clubs. Wiley told the group, "Eastern Kentucky is dying. Dewey Lake and Fishtap Reservoir are dying, and strip mining is the worst polluter of all." Displaying two jars of water which he said he had taken from Left Beaver Creek, Wiley said, "The Big Sandy River is an open sewer . . . state and local officials have done nothing." One of the jars contained acid water while the other was filled with "black water" caused by the large amount of coal dust in the water.

Another witness was Mike Mullins, of Hi Hat, who told of watching a stream near his home deteriorate because of mine waste. "I know what black water is. I watched a stream die," he said.

"When I went to college in 1967, that stream was alive," Mullins said. "Now there's nothing. Sometimes it's so thick

OUCH!

Monday morning, I missed Stinky who always is good for at least one sharp jab of the needle to start the week off. But Lenna Moore came along later to pinch hit for him.

He had just made a mistake, he said, had seen a man walking away from him, thought the man was I and called to him. When the man turned, according to this report, he turned out to be a total stranger.

"Sorry," Lenna apologized. "I thought you was Norman Allen."

The other coolly looked Lenna over and remarked:

"It is human to err, I understand. But you didn't have to make a mistake like that."

Branham Fined $500 after Plea On Lesser Count

Roy Branham, of Wheelwright, who had been named in a grand jury indictment as a key figure in an alleged "deal" between bootleggers and Floyd county officers, entered a plea of guilty in circuit court here last Wednesday to the charge of obstructing public justice and was fined $500. The 60-day jail term accompanying the fine was probated by Special Judge Jean L. Auxier, of Pikeville.

The Branham case was concluded largely by negotiation. A tape recording of voices purported to be those of Branham and Sheriff Frank Leslie had apparently been slated for use in Branham's trial. But Special Prosecutor A. Dale Bryant, of Jackson, was stymied when Mrs. Grace Branham, who was expected to testify to the validity of the tape, refused to testify. The Branhams had been divorced but were remarried on the Friday preceding the trial, and Judge Auxier ruled that a wife may not be forced to testify against her husband.

Branham refused to plead guilty to the charge of offering a bribe, and the prosecution apparently decided to accept the plea to the lesser offense.

The judgment entered in the case stipulated that Branham's plea is "not to be construed as being against Sheriff Leslie or in any manner to be used against him."

A Martin county jury failed to agree in the recent trial of Sheriff Leslie at Inez on a charge of malfeasance-nonfeasance and accepting a bribe. Retrial of the case is docketed for Nov. 13, again at Inez.

Three deputy sheriffs won acquittals here last month at the hands of circuit court juries. They were accused of accepting bribes by the same January, 1973 grand jury that indicted Sheriff Leslie and Branham. Cleared at the conclusion

Middle Creek Water Project Bids Are Asked

The Parkway Water Association's work of two years toward a water distribution system along a four-mile stretch of the Mountain Parkway on Middle Creek resulted this week in advertising for contractors' bids on construction.

The system, which will begin at the limits of the village in the Clark elementary school vicinity, will cost an estimated $80,000. Bids will be opened Oct. 25, and completion of the project is set within 120 working days after awarding of the contract.

The entire project will be financed by funds borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration. No federal grant funds are now available, and this situation has slowed down, if not stalled, efforts toward two other water systems in the area, the Bull Creek and David distribution systems.

B. B. Shepherd is chairman of the Parkway Water Association. Richard E. Martin, Prestonsburg, engineer on the development, said 64 consumers have signed for water service and have each paid $100 connection fee.

Water will be purchased by the Association from the Prestonsburg municipal water system which is already supplying water to the Clark school and homes built in that immediate vicinity.

Leslie Has Mangled Arm After Wreck During Auto Chase

The car of Sheriff Frank Leslie wrecked on Cow Mountain early Sunday night while he was chasing another auto, and he suffered a mangled left arm and severe loss of blood. Sheriff Leslie is in the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Two circumstances are credited with the sheriff's survival: his auto, plunging over the mountainside, wedged between two trees, and he was found by Mr. and Mrs. Cletis Setser in time to prevent his bleeding to death.

The muscle was stripped from his forearm, and two deep lacerations were suffered at the back of his arm. Sheriff Leslie was returning home from Home Branch of Buffalo, where he had gone to investigate a reported shooting, when a speeding car passed him and he gave chase.

protesting the issuance of permits. "These people don't believe the federal government will do any better enforcing the law than the state," he said.

Other witnesses included James M. Hamilton, of Lookout, who told EPA officials that strip miners are "destroying our land and timber and pushing the dirt and rocks off our garden land," and Billy Joe Pierce, of Elkhorn City, who alleged that mine wastes have destroyed fish life in Russell Fork.

Bill Pettrey, vice-president of the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club, pointed out that tourism at the lake and Jenny Wiley State Park is down 30 per cent this season and predicted progressively greater losses due to strip mine-related water pollution and siltation.

Pettrey said that until two years ago Dewey Lake contained a sizeable population of white bass but that siltation and muddy water conditions caused by strip mining in the upper reaches of Johns Creek had made it impossible for the game fish to reproduce. The lake now has no white bass.

Young Songsters, The Spurrllows, To Open Concert Series, Oct. 9

The Spurrllows, a group of highly talented young musicians and technicians, will display their versatility here in the first presentation of the 1973-'74 East Kentucky Concert Series at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium, October 9. All performances of this eighth season of the series will begin at 8 p.m.

Every year the Spurrllows present more than 600 concerts in which they combine pop, folk, rock, soul, smooth ballads and inspirational numbers. They have appeared on a Bob Hope Special on NBC-TV and have the distinction of being the invited guests of President Nixon to present a concert for him, his family, and 110 wounded Vietnam veterans on Thanksgiving Day.

Of the Spurrllows, Don Hearn said in the Washington Dailey News, "The Spurrllow show is not to be missed. When they combine to serve up a lyric such as '...and we'll have a real good time', take it as a guarantee. You'll have just that." Gilbert and Sullivan fans can look forward to "The Pirates of Penzance," to be staged here November 13 by the Turnau Company which is well-known for the excellence of its productions.

Jazz buffs will be especially turned on by the appearance here January 24 of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band on tour from New Orleans where the members all took part in the birth of our most American art form. They were on the river boats, in the saloons and in unique funeral marches where jazz was born and grew. In fact, they are the people from whose ranks came Louis Armstrong, King Oliver, and Jelly Roll Morton. Though these are the people who have made history and nearly all are now over 60, there is no lapse in the playing, no lessening of the spirit of joy and the simple happiness that is so integral a part of real New Orleans jazz.

All the fun and high spirits, not to mention unlimited energy of country dancing will be exhibited with grace and youthful exuberance by the Berea College Country Dancers in their appearance at the Prestonsburg High

The Spurrllows, nationally known singing group which will open the East Kentucky Concert series here, Oct. 9.

There were 14.3 million young men and women 16 to 24-years-old attending school in the year ending in October 1972; of that number 5.2 million had jobs, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

Tourist Promotion Committee Elects Elliott, Chairman

T. Bruce Elliott, owner of Elliott's Glass & Electric Company of Pikeville and Prestonsburg, and vice-president of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, has been elected chairman of the state's Region 11 Tourist Promotion Committee.

The committee, a part of the Big Sandy Area Development District, which serves Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties, is responsible for area-wide promotion and advertising of the "Kentucky Highland" region. His election occurred at the committee's annual meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park, September 6.

Other officers of the committee elected at that meeting are Edward C. Music, Prestonsburg, vice-chairman; Burl Wells Spurlock, Prestonsburg, treasurer, and Miss Nell Davis, Prestonsburg, recording secretary. All take office immediately.

Strong Strip Mining Bills Are Suggested

Frankfort, Ky.—An interim legislative committee last week received bills designed to eliminate throwaway bottles and cans and to all but abolish strip-mining and broad form deeds in Kentucky.

The Interim Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources received several other proposed bills on strip-mining, as well as some requested by the Kentucky Forest Industries Association. The committee did not have a quorum present, however, and could take no action, so it indicated it might discuss the bills at its next meeting.

The strip-mine bills came largely from two sources—Pete Guthrie, a Lexington attorney representing the Sierra Club, and Ann Bowers, of the Louisville Audubon Society—and carried the endorsement of both. They would:

1. Prohibit strip-mining on slopes steeper than 14 degrees which Guthrie acknowledged would be a "near-ban" on strip-mining, eliminating 80 to 90 per cent of it in Eastern Kentucky. The same bill would prohibit any overburden from being put on the downslope of strip-mine sites and prohibits all sedimentation and acid drainage, which he said also would practically ban that type of mining.
2. Require the written consent of surface owners before any strip-mining operation can disturb their land; another proposal to the same effect would require such written consent for reclamation before the strip-mining began. Both proposals would have the effect of getting around the broad form deed, which Kentucky courts have said allow strip-mining although they were signed before that mining was common.

Clean Air Not the Only Issue

Except for those engaged in the business themselves, The Times is as interested as anybody in the possibilities that lie ahead for coal through its conversion to gas or oil—a process that will rid coal of its air-polluting quality.

We agree with Representative W. J. Reynolds and others that a coal gasification plant belongs in Eastern Kentucky. We would like to see it located in Floyd county, because it would mean more work for Floyd countians.

We all are pretty well agreed that coal is our most marketable item, with the exception of human resources. Our economy depends upon it. It is vital to the nation.

But this recognition of facts does not keep us from wondering if the coal business cannot be operated so that the rights of people to their land and to clean water will be protected.

If a plant such as is sought for this section were located here, the problem remains. Coal must feed it. And the state of Kentucky, its governor, other officials and its leaders must face up to the environmental problems which its mining undeniably create. Important as it is, clean air is not the only issue.

Our Yesterdays

THE BANK JOSEPHINE . . . THE ONLY BANK IN FLOYD COUNTY, PARTICIPATING IN THE FEDERALLY INSURED STUDENT LOAN PROGRAMS

In a continuing effort to fulfill our self-imposed obligation to further the education of the future leaders of this area, we present the following as an Open Letter to all who are interested in supporting this program:

THE BANK  JOSEPHINE

SINCE 1891
 P. O. BOX 471 • TELEPHONE (606) 886-2356
 PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY 41653

The Bank Josephine is the ONLY financial institution in Floyd County that has participated in both the United Student Aid Fund and the Federally Insured Student Loan programs, and since 1968, has loaned over one-half million dollars to the youth of Floyd County for higher education.

As of spring 1972, financial institutions in Kentucky had made $31,800,000 in loans under the United Student Aid Fund and Federally Insured Student Loan programs. At that time, The Bank Josephine had made $415,865.08 or 1.30 percent of the loans made in Kentucky. Our deposits indicate that we would have fulfilled our obligations in comparison to the deposits of all of the commercial banks in Kentucky if we had only made .52 percent of the loans made. We had exceeded our obligation by .78 percent.

Management of The Bank Josephine is very interested in this program and wishes to continue to help our youth obtain the education they need so badly in order to progress and compete. The Bank Josephine also feels since it is the ONLY financial institution (bank, savings and loan association, etc.) in Floyd County participating in this program, it should be made known to those others who are also interested in higher education of the youth of Floyd County.

It takes deposits to provide the funds needed and the more deposits we have will mean the more student loans we can make. Help us so we can help more of our youth. We would appreciate your giving consideration to this fact.

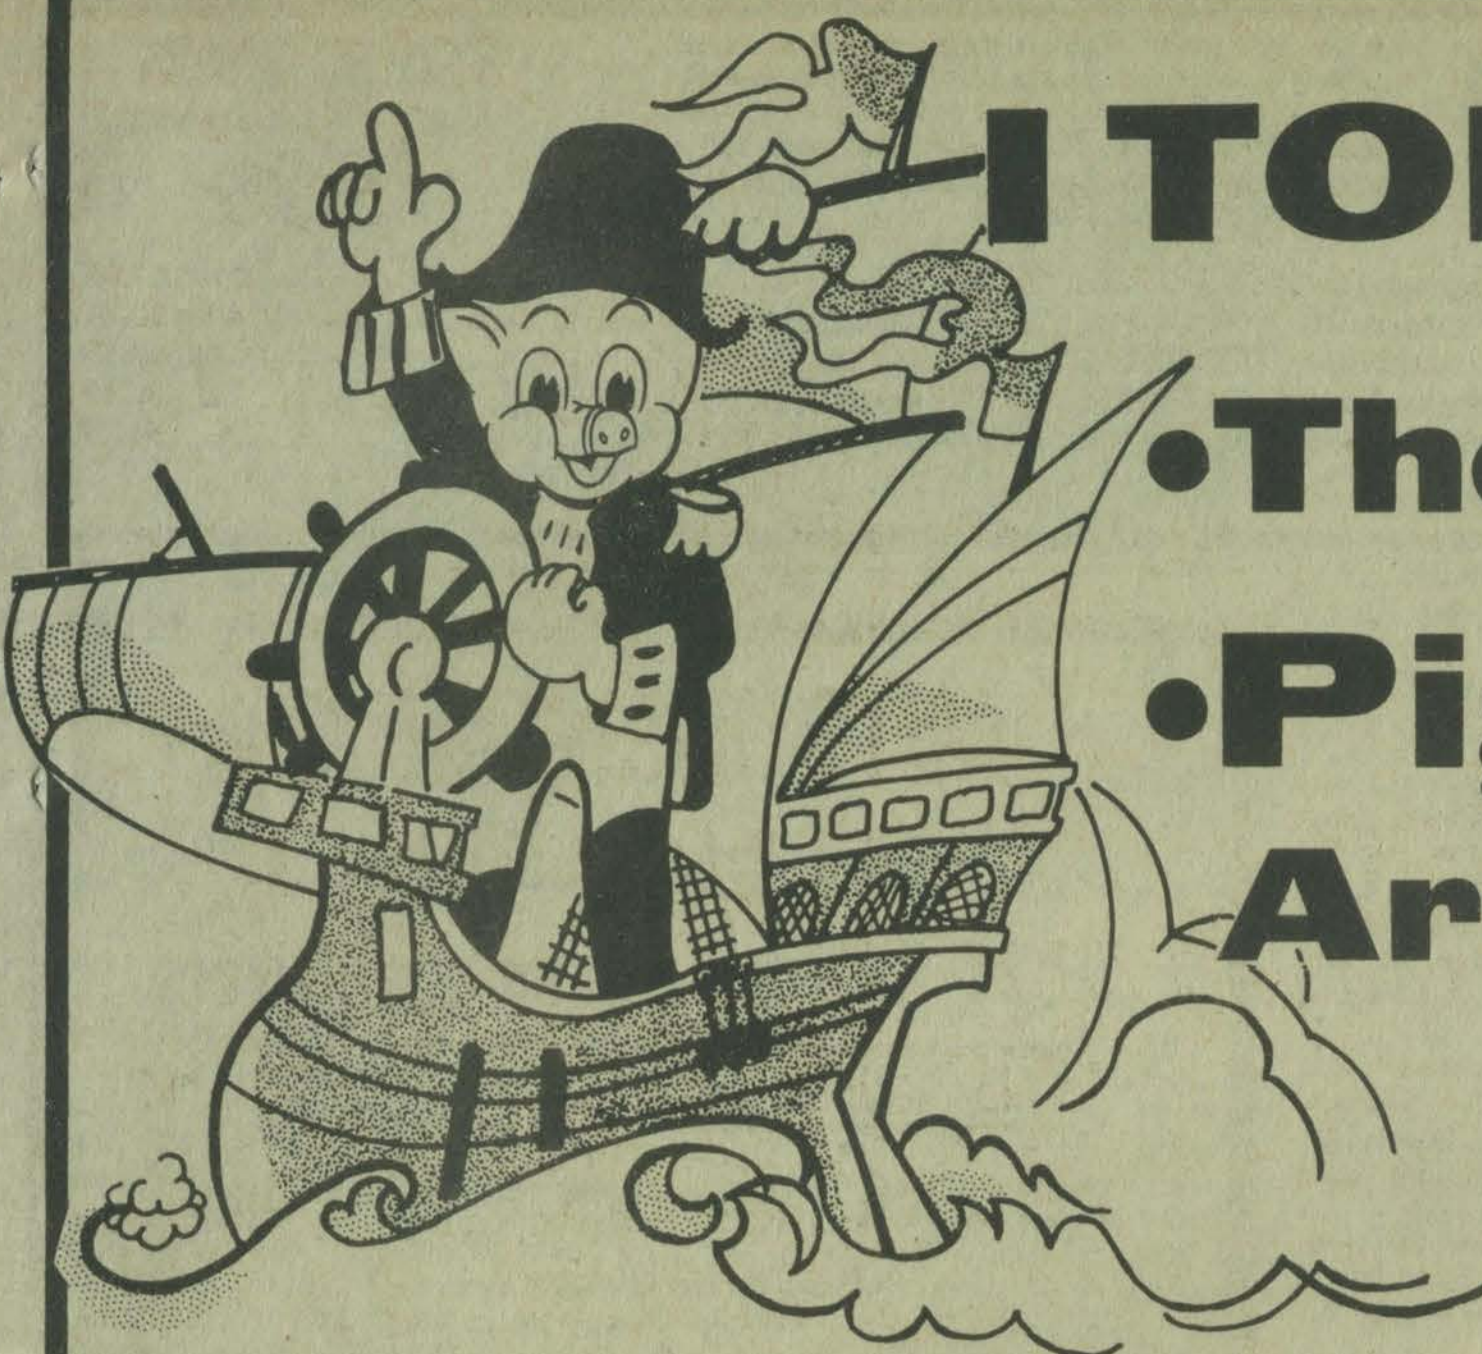

Sincerely,

John G. Heinze

Woman's Auxiliary Meets At Boldman, Sept. 25

Boldman, Ky.—The Woman's Auxiliary of the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church met Tuesday evening, September 25, at the church. Theme of the program was, "If It Is To Be, It's Up To Me," a slogan which the group adopted as the new motto for the Boldman Chapter of WNAC, a national organization of Freewill Baptist women, working to promote and support missions at home and abroad.
The September meeting was unique in that it was the first of a series of meetings which will culminate with the complete re-organization of the local auxiliary at Boldman. New business undertaken included the storage chest-bench project for the church nursery, the regular pre-scheduling of nursery attendants for Sunday services and a drive to re-create interest in the refreshment and fellowship hour following church services on the second Saturday night of each month.
About a dozen persons attended the organizational meeting, with Annabelle Puckett, president, bringing devotions and presiding over the business. Donna Rita Ratliff provided music for the evening. The next meeting has been scheduled for Oct. 23 at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Arnold B. Johnson.

Vote For Joe Wheeler Lewis Democratic Nominee for Sheriff of Floyd County

Fourteen years' experience in Floyd county as Deputy Sheriff and "High" Sheriff. If elected Sheriff, I will not only try to stop the children from using dope but I will do my best to stop the bootlegging, too. From my 14 years' experience as a peace officer I have found alcoholic beverages to be involved in most all crime.

- No. 1. Funerals will have escort.
- No. 2. Ball games and school programs will have protection.
- No. 3. Churches will be protected, if needed.
- No. 4. I will do my best to keep the drunks and drunk drivers off the roads.
- No. 5. All breaking and enterings will be worked, day or night.

Vote for a better Floyd County.
Vote: JOE W. LEWIS
For Sheriff

(pol. adv.)

VOTE DEMOCRATIC!

The Democratic party has always been and will always be a party which is dedicated to the common man. The Republican party is a party dedicated to a few rich individuals. Let us list the flagrant mistakes made by the national Republican Party.

- 1. Watergate.
- 2. Increased cost of living.
- 3. Unemployment.

Now, we are not necessarily saying that our opponents have directly been involved in the above mistakes, but let us remind you that our opponents have supported and will continue to support those persons who are responsible for Watergate, inflation and high unemployment. Vote Democratic November 6, 1973. Our nominees are:

- County Judge—HENRY STUMBO
- County Attorney—JAMES R. ALLEN
- County Court Clerk—C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
- Jailer—LAWRENCE HALE
- Tax Commissioner—LOVEL HALL
- Sheriff—JOE WHEELER LEWIS
- Coroner—JAMES J. CARTER
- County Surveyor—PAUL DEAN WELLS

Gipson-Stumbo Wedding

The wedding vows of Miss Deborah Susan Gipson and Gregory Damron Stumbo were exchanged on August 18 in a double-ring candlelight ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Bowling Green, Ky. The Rev. Rollin S. Burhams officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Millard Gipson, of Bowling Green, and the late Mrs. Gipson. Mr. Stumbo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stumbo, of Prestonsburg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of candlelight silk organza and peau de soie adorned with alencon lace, which featured a victorian neckline, juliet sleeves and cathedral train. Her mantilla veil of ivory illusion was outlined in matching lace. Miss Gipson carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and gypsophilia.

Mrs. Timothy Whitaker, of Lexington, was the matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids included Miss Alice Baird, Miss Laura Huddleston, Miss Nancy Smith and Miss Sarah Smith, of Bowling Green; Miss Mary Louise Alverson, of Paris and Miss Gail Griffin, of Louisville. The attendants wore identical gowns of kelly green linen designed with smocked bodices and full skirts accented with a ruffled flounce at the hemline. They carried bouquets of yellow marquerite daisies and baby's breath.

The flower girl was Miss Ann Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Owen, of Bowling Green. Steven Garner, the bride's cousin and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garner, served as ringbearer.

Mr. Steven Collins, of Prestonsburg, served as best man. Other groomsmen included the groom's cousin, Mr. Keith Leslie, of Prestonsburg; Mr. John Hurter, Owensboro; Mr. Michael Landford, Perryville; Mr. David Myers, Mt. Sterling; Mr. Donald Caudill, Morehead; Mr. Thomas Booth, Kingsport, Tenn., and Mr. James Stocker and Mr. Michael Kegley, both of Louisville. The bride's cousins, Mr. Garner Gleenor, of Bowling Green, and Mr. Robert Riley, of Richmond, served as acolytes.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Stumbo wore a floor-length gown of pale green peau de soie and silk organza. The high neckline was trimmed with beaded lace and a tailored bow accented the natural waistline. Her corsage was a white pholenopsis orchid.

Mrs. Wayne Stumbo, grandmother of the groom, chose a street-length dress of blue linen. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given by the bride's father at the Bowling Green Country Club.

Following a brief honeymoon, the couple will reside in Louisville where Mr. Stumbo attends the University of Louisville Law School.

The groom's parents entertained the wedding party with a dinner following the rehearsal. Other pre-nuptial parties included a shower, picnic supper, swimming party and several luncheons.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Edward B. Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Collins and daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Burton, Mike Vanderpool, Clifford Wright and Rex Gayheart.

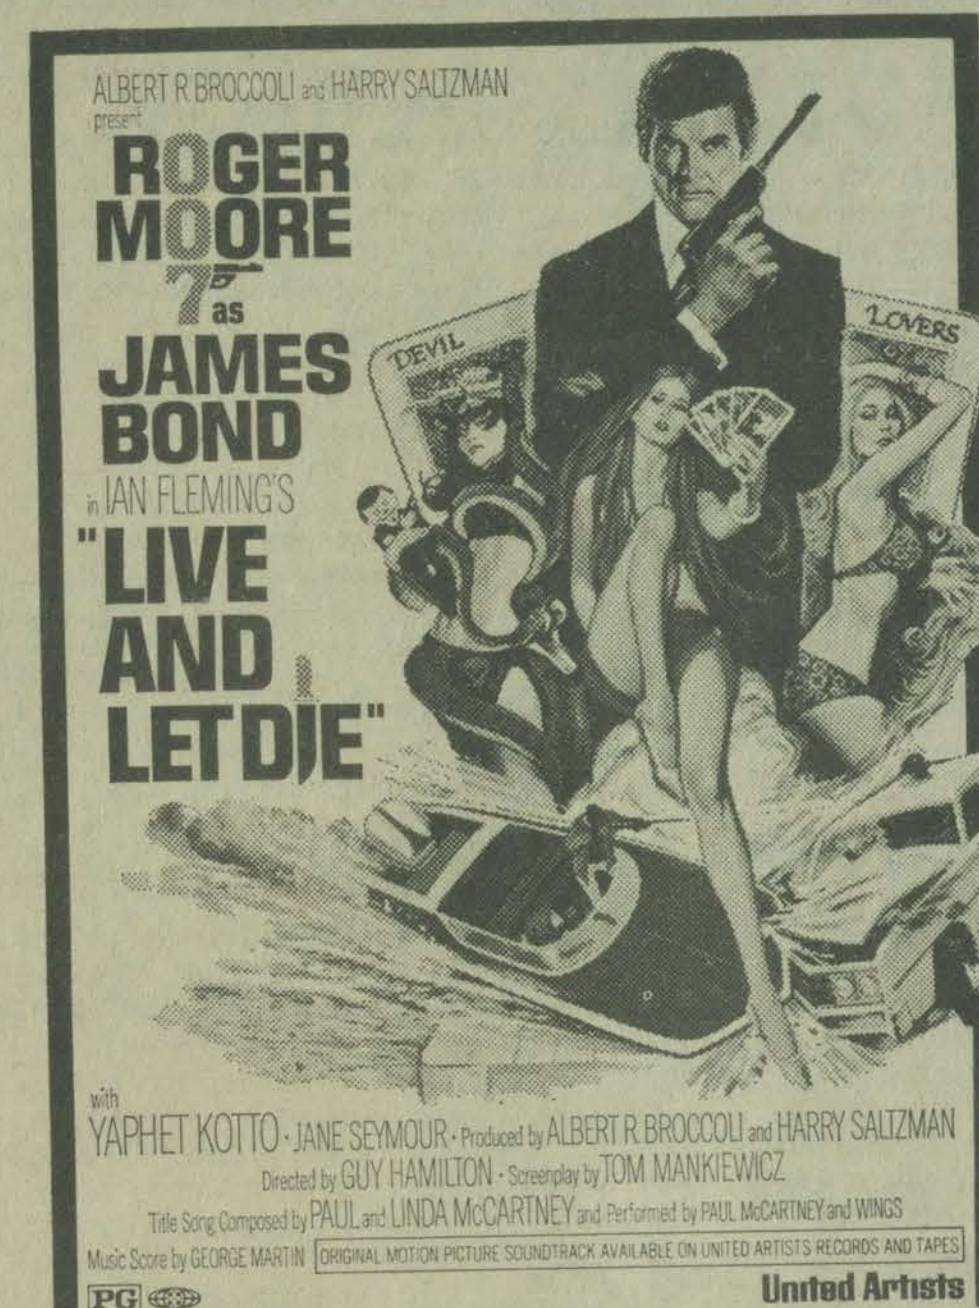

Per capita disposable income in real terms—actual purchasing power—rose 5.3 percent from the second quarter of 1972 to the second quarter of this year, according to the Council of Economic Advisors.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each one who helped in any way during the illness and upon the passing of my wife, Fannie Hamilton; for the flowers, the food and the kindness of the people; also to all the staff of good doctors and nurses at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, the staff of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, and all the members of the Old Regular Baptist Church.

ANDY HAMILTON

Are You Sincere? You May Be Wrong.

The Bible says they have hell to look forward to. If it's possible that one chance in a million the Bible is right. I would read every last word of it and find out for myself. God declares with a clearness no thinking person can miss: Not by works of righteousness which we have done but according to His mercy He saves us" (Titus 3:5). In the face of these two verses, how can you have any hope of escaping hell and of going to heaven by good works or religion? God loves you, my friend. Believe Him, not religious leaders who tell you that you can be saved by your good life. Beware of Satan's lies, opened forth from the unbelieving hearts of modern man and those who say God is dead. God says, you must be born again. Is He right? You better find out for yourself.

(To be continued next week)

Will you please sign and mail to one of the addresses below?

I realize the need of the New Birth. I want Christ as my Saviour. I want to repent and be baptized. I trust Jesus Christ to wash away my sins. I will stand on His promises. When I have the chance I will confess Him before all people. I will confess Him to be my Lord and Saviour.

Helsley-Newman Vows Exchanged

A double-ring ceremony was held uniting in marriage Miss Joslynn Elaine Helsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Helsley, Sr., of Strasburg, Virginia, to Mr. Ira Dean Newman, son of Mrs. Maggie Newman, of McDowell, and the late Green B. Newman.

The ceremony, held August 12 at 2 p.m. in the chapel of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Strasburg, Va., was performed by the Rev. Gordon C. Bayles, Jr. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of aqua blue chiffon with acetate taffeta. The stand-up collar, long sheer sleeves and empire waist were trimmed with tiny flowers on cotton Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of daisies and white bridal roses.

Mrs. Marie Boaz of Columbia Furnace, Va., served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of pale blue acetate crepe that featured a stand-up collar and Juliet sleeves. The princess style skirt fell from a gathered empire bodice with an illusion yoke of ivory lace and tiny blue flowers. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored daisies.

David Newman, of Louisville, served his brother as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Newman is a graduate of Strasburg High School and is presently a senior at Berea College where she is majoring in mathematics. Mr. Newman is a graduate of McDowell High School and will graduate from Berea College in December.

The couple is now residing in Berea.

Judge Releases Accused Rapists

Judge releases juveniles on rape charge. One boy was already on probation for charge of theft until the age of 21. He was charged with rape, but only sentenced for probation until age of 21, which he was already on.

The other boy was probated to his father. The oldest boy, who is not a juvenile, is out on a simple $2,000 bond.

scattered everywhere. And pollution getting into the lake. Can't have it, son."

"But—but, sir," stammered the unfortunate youngster, "why jump us campers and leave other polluters alone?"

"Polluters—what polluters?"
 "Big shovels and stuff like that, sir. What about that strip-mining and all the coal and dirt and stuff pourin' into the lake?"

"Har-rumph! As we have repeatedly stated, my dear young one, we're keeping an eye on the situation."

The young camper was ready to leave the field of battle with plumes dragging. That answer was the clincher. Yet he paused for one final question:

"Do you suppose we'll ever be permitted to camp over there again?"

The man beamed expansively. "Sure, sure, my boy. Just wait a few years and you can camp all the way across the lake."

"Thank you, colonel," the lad said, moving toward the door.

"But," added the man, "there's one thing more, son. You gotta promise to keep the grass cut."

P.S.

I did not vacate the premises, as planned, last week. So any fishing questions you may ask will not be embarrassing.

The proposed county ordinance would, in effect, constitute a contract change or adjustment which would be calculated to impair the obligations of contracts under both the federal and state constitutions. "It is further our opinion," Mr. Runyan wrote, "that the proposed ordinance could not be upheld as a valid exercise of the county's police powers (health, safety, welfare and convenience), since, under the known facts surrounding the economics of this energy source (coal), we feel that the courts would not hold the ordinance to be reasonable and in conformity with the necessity of the situation."

Of the possible abolition of strip-mining Runyan wrote: "In connection with KRS 67.083, since it provides that no county ordinance can be in conflict with existing statutes, it is our opinion that such an ordinance would not be valid."

Runyan pointed out that an earlier opinion had held that a reasonable zoning classification based upon recreational uses, activities and facilities alone would appear appropriate.

This earlier opinion concluded generally that cities and counties have the right under their police powers to "reasonably regulate" strip-mining through zoning so as to minimize danger and protect the safety, health and welfare. Such restriction or prohibition of strip-mining by zoning, he warned, may not be arbitrary or unreasonable.

Zoning has been talked on occasion by the fiscal court, but it involves issues which are expected to delay for a long while any positive action toward a countywide plan.

Town Newsome has been employed as director of these operations. Judge Stumbo, members of the fiscal court and Mr. Newsome have inspected, with a field representative of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, several potential landfill sites. Soil tests on some sites were taken weeks ago, but no report has been received. At one stage earlier in the year, final approval of one site was near when it was learned that mineral underlying the surface was involved.

After sites are approved and leased, then must come the detailed planning of a collection system, fees to be charged, schedules to be prepared.

"It gets discouraging, all these delays," Judge Stumbo said this week. But the effort continues.

Once, the collection and disposal system is working, he said, he will move to get rid of all open dumps in the county.

Fund, told the group, "The fact you must face is the history of lawlessness on the part of the mining industry. It has compiled a deplorable record." Rivkin gave examples of coal companies cited for numerous discharge violations and asked, "Is it too much to ask them to obey the law?"

Save Our Kentucky Attorney Hall referred to the mining industry generally as "Irresponsible," and added, "The problem of enforcement is probably worse in the coal industry than any other industry you will deal with. You will have to prosecute and hand out some big fines or the efforts of EPA are going to come to very little in this area." He also said, "I don't think the state of Kentucky has demonstrated that it can do the enforcement."

Hall asked EPA officials to order coal companies to install continuous pollution monitoring devices. He recommended "more sophisticated monitoring devices than you presently seem to be considering" and that each mine's shift foremen be required to sign a monitoring report along with the mine management.

Both Hall and Rivkin warned that any monitoring by the companies must be continuous and must be structured in such a way that doctoring reports would be a felony.

While Hall urged that the EPA restrict discharges, others testifying asked that the permits be refused outright.

Paul J. Traina, director of EPA's Enforcement Division for the Atlanta Region, pointed out that the federal law carries stiff penalties for non-compliance—$10,000 in civil actions and up to $25,000 per day in criminal cases.

A report prepared for the hearing by Attorney General Ed W. Hancock was made public last Tuesday and dealt with a new federal system for regulating mine pollution.

Contained in the report were statistics showing that 10 coal companies, including Island Creek Coal Co. and Left Beaver Coal Co., both in Floyd county, has been cited a total of 333 times since 1971 for polluting streams, and have yet to be taken to court by state antipollution officials.

Two of the mines, Island Creek and Blue Diamond, in Perry county, with a total of 160 violations since 1971, are among the first 96 Kentucky mines to receive federal permits to discharge mine wastes.

Hancock urged EPA to "see that black water discharges will be abated and not merely acquiesced in as being 'unavoidable'." He also warned that EPA's plan to rely on the coal companies to monitor their own operations may be "merely another bureaucratic boondoggle and serves only to pollute the public mind in terms of what is being done."

The new federal permit system requires that coal companies monitor their discharge of sediment, acid-water and other pollutants at least once each month.

of trials here were Virgil Conn, Dester Hamilton and Ralph Howell. Earlier in the year, a fourth deputy, Buddy Ward, entered a plea of guilty and was fined.

Judge Auxier was named special judge for the trial of the cases here and Mr. Jackson as special prosecutor because Circuit Judge Hollie Conley and Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo were prosecution witnesses.

The criminal court term ended last Wednesday, and the last few days of the session were its most active. Five convictions resulting in pen terms were recorded in this period. Those convicted:

Scottie Garrett, knowingly receiving stolen property, plea of guilty, one year; Marion Hurd, Jr., knowingly receiving stolen property, trial by jury, one year; Scottie Garrett and Carl Ed Smith, plea of guilty to the charge of knowingly receiving stolen property, one year each; Charles Jenkins, pleas of guilty to charges of auto theft and breaking and entering, one year on each count.

Other convictions:

Billy Ray Clark, drunk driving, jury trial, $100 fine; Delmar (Duke) Pennington, plea of guilty to a petty larceny charge, $200 fine; Larry Bentley, drunk driving, $100; Kelly C. Dings, reckless driving, $100; Larry Shortridge, drunk driving, plea of guilty, $100; Irvin Slone, improper equipment, driving, $50; Anita Pyles Jones, disregarding stop sign, jury trial, $10; Charlie Williamson, petty larceny, plea of guilty, three months in jail; Alberta Woods, plea of guilty to a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, $50; James Martin Case and Johnny David Case, assault and battery, plea of guilty, $100 each; Flynn Edward Arnett, drunk driving, jury trial, $100 fine.

Woman's Club Meets

Langley, Ky.—The Maytown Woman's Club held its monthly meeting September 20 at the clubhouse. New topics discussed were: Donations to the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department, a newly organized group; a contribution to the Girl Scouts' trip to Washington, D. C.; the fall meeting of the K.F.W.C. at Pikeville, and new ways of making money for the club.

Mrs. Mike May took the other members on a trip to "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way" with a Spanish program, which consisted of Spanish pronunciation, Spanish culture and Spanish conversation.

This meeting also served as a welcome to new members. It was decided that the member enlisting the most new members would receive a prize.

Old members attending the meeting were Mrs. Roland Burchett, Mrs. Kenneth Blevins, Mrs. Dennis Mayo, Mrs. Mike May, Mrs. Denny Gibson, Mrs. Hubert Halbert, Mrs. Ed Stewart, Mrs. Jimmy Hobson, Miss Denice Blevins and Miss Sissy Hall. New members were Mrs. Kenny Stewart, Mrs. Jake Halbert, Mrs. Jerry Banks and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

Two Suits Ask $35,000 Total

Two civil actions seeking to recover a total of $35,000 have been filed in circuit court here, and one of the two is an addition to several claims filed against road construction contractors in this county.

Marlin and Vivian Kimmel claim $10,000 damage was caused by blasting for US 23 by Greer Brothers & Young Construction Company to a house which they own at Harold. As a result of the blasting, they claim, the house fell from its foundation and four rooms and the bathroom split along the walls.

Ernest E. DeCoursey, of Wayland, in the second suit seeks to recover a total of $25,000 from the Mary Ann Coal Company and its employee, Bill Thacker, for injuries suffered last January when an inloader operated by Thacker plunged over a hillside and hit DeCoursey's truck. The plaintiff, who alleged reckless operation of the company's machinery, said he was injured while at the scene of the coal company's operations on Toler Creek as an inspector for the Department of Natural Resources and while he was parked off the main area of the road.

DeCoursey asks $20,000 for pain and suffering, loss of time and earning capacity, plus $5,000 for past and future medical expenses.

Archery Season for Deer Begins; Continues Through Oct. 31st

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 27—The first half of the 1973 archery deer hunting season began October 1 and will continue through October 31. The remainder of the split season will run from December 1 through December 31.

Bow hunters may take either sex deer in any of 118 counties. Jackson and Owsley counties are closed to all deer hunting.

Archery hunters must use long bows and barbless arrows with broad head points at least 3/8 inch wide. Hunters may use crossbows only on the Pioneer Weapons Wildlife Management Area in Bath and Menifee counties. Crossbows must be of at least 80 pounds pull and crossbow arrows must be barbless and have broad head points at least 3/8 inch wide.

All archery hunters must have an annual Kentucky hunting license and a deer permit. The resident hunting license is $5 and the nonresident license is $27.50. The deer hunting permit, required of both resident and nonresident archers, is $10.50.

The limit on deer is one per hunter per year, whether the deer is harvested by gun or by bow. All deer hunting is restricted to daylight hours only. Archery hunters may not carry any type of firearm.

Each hunter who harvests a deer must immediately attach to the deer the locking metal tag provided with the deer permit. The tag may be attached to any portion of the deer provided that it cannot be removed without mutilating the deer carcass or damaging or destroying the locking tag. The tag must remain attached to the deer until the carcass is processed and packaged by a locker plant, butcher or by the hunter. The card portion of the deer permit must be separated from the metal tag when tagging the deer and retained in possession of the licensee.

All hunters under 18 years of age must be accompanied by an adult while hunting deer. After harvesting a deer, a hunter may assist others in taking deer provided he or she does not have archery equipment in possession at the time. Any persons assisting others in taking deer must have a valid Kentucky hunting license and deer permit in their possession.

Residents of other states whose laws prohibit Kentucky residents from hunting deer in their state during open season will be denied permits to hunt deer in Kentucky.

Three East Kentucky Festivals To Mark Month of October

By HELEN PRICE STACY
Mark October for three events in the Eastern hill section of the Bluegrass State. Oct. 4-6 is the Johnson County Apple Festival in Paintsville; Oct. 12-14 is the Morgan County Sorghum Festival in West Liberty, and Oct. 20 is Red, White and Blue Day in Prestonsburg.
Already the sumac leaves are scarlet, the apples getting rusty coats, cane is ripening in the field and the feel of early autumn is in the air.
Throughout Johnson county, apple orchards are winy scented as apple growers prepare for the annual Apple Festival. In Paintsville, downtown city streets are roped off, with traffic rerouted in order to allow ample room for festival displays, sales booths and entertainment.
Elmon Davis, veteran Apple Day chairman, continues to view the festival as a growing event and one that uses food to win thousands of annual visitors.
In West Liberty on the week-end of Oct. 12-14, the emphasis will be on sorghum molasses and arts and crafts. Sorghum will be made at an old-time cane mill set up on the Morgan County seat's Main Street, where visitors can use a piece of green cane to dip in the evaporator pans and taste the sweet syrup.

Parades and festival queens, football games and visiting celebrities will be featured at both the Sorghum and Apple festivals.
On Oct. 20, the annual Red, White and Blue Day will take place in Prestonsburg, highlighted with a parade downtown. This event is the result of efforts of Mrs. Marcela Bailey, of Langley, to promote patriotism. Mrs. Bailey has the cooperation of veterans' organizations in seeing that thousands of visitors enjoy the day, and go away with much old-fashioned enthusiasm for the Stars and Stripes and love of country.
Mrs. Bailey is so in tune with restoring old-style patriotism that she raises a flag daily at her home and has painted her front porch red, white and blue. She hails from a family of veterans. Her husband, brothers and father have fought for America and freedom through wars starting with World War I. Her ancestors also participated in battles for American freedom.
"It seemed to me," said Mrs. Bailey, "that more and more our American flag was being pushed down. Our flag is a symbol of all the good things in our country. If we let our flag down, we let our country down as well as all those who sacrificed for us. It's time to renew our respect for the red, white and blue. That's why I'm working so hard for our big day in Prestonsburg."

Further information on Red, White and Blue Day may be had by contacting Mrs. Bailey at Langley. Anyone needing information on the Morgan County Sorghum Festival may contact Mrs. James R. Perry or Mrs. Alex Spencer, West Liberty, and those wanting to know more about the Apple Festival may contact Elmon Davis, Paintsville, or the Paintsville Area Chamber of Commerce.
Marching bands, pretty girls, good foods, arts and crafts and demonstrations of many mountain arts await visitors. Mark October for Eastern Kentucky this year!

Pastor Resigns

The Rev. Glenn Noe, of Mousie, has tendered his resignation to the Maytown Baptist Chapel which he has pastored for almost a year under the sponsorship of the First Baptist Church of Allen.
A native of Hazard, the Rev. Noe was graduated from Cumberland College in 1972. He also had two years' study in a Bible college in West Virginia. Under his leadership the chapel, which is only 15 months old, has increased enrollment and offerings, has initiated a Sunday evening youth program and is building a two-story 38 x 84-foot church. The building, begun two months ago, is under roof.
The young minister has pastored the First Baptist Church of Mousie for several years but leaves in late October to serve as associate pastor of the First Baptist Church at Whitesburg. His wife is the former Miss Sheila Everage, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Archie Everage of Hindman. The chapel accepted the resignation with "deepest regret." A farewell service for the Noes has been scheduled for October 21. Chapel Director Howard Ramey announced.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to everyone who helped in any way during the illness and upon the death of our loved one, Cody Gibson. Our special thanks to the staff at the McDowell Hospital, to everyone who visited him at the hospital and at our home, for the food, for the lovely floral offerings and especially the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church for their consoling words and to Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their kind service.

BIG AUCTION SALE

50 LOTS IN THE ROLLING ACRES SUBDIVISION 50 LOTS
Sat., Oct. 13, 1973
Beginning on the Premises at 10:00 A. M.
Property owned by JOHNNIE HALL, BIRCHEL HALL, AND GEORGE BARNETT

To be sold at Auction on Saturday, Oct. 13th 1973, at 10:00 A. M.
We have been authorized by the above owners to sell at Auction on the above date 50 nice residential lots located on U. S. Road 23 about 5 miles on the Allen, Pikeville newly constructed 4 lane Highway. In Rolling Acres Subdivision, some of this subdivision is already developed with 6 or 7 nice, newly built brick homes. Black top streets are already constructed throughout this subdivision, utilities are available.

All the property is level land and is located between Big Sandy River and the new 4 lane highway leading to Pikeville.

Since the new highway was constructed through this section building land is at a premium and now is the opportunity to buy, at your price, some of the most suitable residential property in Floyd County.

Easy terms will be announced on day of sale. Inspect these lots any time before day of sale And Be There As This Is A Big One.

Any Talented Kentuckian Can Now Afford College

By JACKIE BONDURANT

Any talented Kentuckian who desires a college education will find help in achieving this goal from the University of Kentucky's Office of Educational Talent Search—regardless of his race, age, or financial status.

Talent Search, a federally-funded program which is hosted by UK, is looking for 1,000 low-income students to be enrolled in its program before Jan. 1, 1974.

High school dropouts, potential dropouts, senior citizens, veterans, heads of households, and the physically disabled or handicapped are urged to take advantage of Kentucky's post-secondary educational opportunities.

Larry Poyntz, ETS counselor, listed only two criteria for enrollment in their program—income and potential or talent.

"Income guidelines are set by the U. S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare," Poyntz said. "Anyone who contacts us for information will be helped, however, regardless of his income."

"High school seniors are most important in our search for talented individuals," Poyntz said. "It is possible for us to find full funding for a student's college education if we can locate him or her soon enough and get the paper work started."

"We have contacted student financial aid officers in colleges, universities and vocational schools across the state and they agree: our students will receive first priority for financial aid if we get their names in their offices before May 1, 1974," Poyntz said. Such students may then begin their college education in fall, 1974.

After a student has been referred to Talent Search, he will be given counseling on how to complete forms for financial aid, tested for particular talents and potential, and offered the opportunity to select the college, university, or vocational school he wants to attend.

The staff of Talent Search not only will help complete all the forms necessary for admission, housing, and financial aid, but will take the student to the campus or school of his choice for a tour and interview with admissions offices.

"We don't care where the student goes for additional training after high school, as long as that school fits his particular needs and desires," Poyntz said. "However, our office is supposed to stay within the borders of Kentucky."

Nitsch-Hall Vows Solemnized

Miss Laurel Nitsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Nitsch, of Huntsville, Ala., became the bride of Town Hall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Town Hall, Sr., of Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Floyd county, in a ceremony solemnized by the Rev. Othar O. Smith at the Southside Baptist Church in Huntsville, at 2:30 p.m., August 26.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Charles L. Crawford, Jr., organist, and Branson Isley, Jr., vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white Quiana fashioned with a high, draped collar, long, full sleeves, and a set-in band to which was gathered the bodice and skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a petal headpiece edged with Venise lace and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of roses, strawflowers, natural wheat and baby's breath.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Kathy Nitsch, maid of honor, who wore a sleeveless gown of apricot voile fashioned with a V-neck and wide collar. She carried a bouquet of asters, strawflowers, and baby's breath.

Town Hall, Sr., served his son as best man, and ushers were Martin L. Habel and Daniel E. Connor.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the church with music provided by Dr. Jon Neergaard, guitarist.

State Police
Trains Agents

By DAVID KENAMER

Frankfort, Ky.—With the training of 16 "resident agents," the Kentucky State Police is launching a coordinated and more fully staffed effort to combat the use of narcotics and dangerous drugs in the state.

For the past two weeks, a group of the new resident agents and undercover agents have participated in a training session at the State Police Academy in Frankfort to learn various aspects of the state's drug problem and ways to deal with it.

By next summer the state police hopes to have a force of 26 narcotics agents in the field. Eight of them will be undercover, 16 will be resident agents, and two will be supervisors, according to Detective Sgt. Bill Kline.

A resident agent will be stationed in each state police post and will work "on top" as opposed to undercover. His duties will be to handle narcotics complaints from the area, to investigate criminal offenses dealing with drugs and to assist local police. If a situation warrants it, he can call in an undercover agent.

Detective Sgt. A. B. Conkright, of the state police drug unit, said in one of the classes, "We know that drugs have reached every community big enough to have a high school. With 16 new agents we will reach them, too. Every community will get some attention."

Of the group trained during this session, 15 are state policemen and three are members of the Lexington Metro Police Department. Also in training was an analyst who will examine and organize information collected about drugs into "concise informative reports about trends, cases and patterns," according to Sgt. Kline.

In the past, state police narcotics agents have all been undercover and have been trained by other agencies such as the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. Sgt. Kline pointed out that "this is the first time we've had enough men in training at one time to sponsor our own school." He said that two more training schools will be held before the force reaches full strength in April.

Candidate For SHERIFF
Of Floyd County

I understand that it has been suggested that I am and have been in the past involved in illegal activities in Floyd County. Let me set the record straight. I have never and do not intend to be involved in illicit activities here or anywhere else. I have never in my life been arrested. I can stand on my record. I have nothing to hide. But I doubt if Joe Wheeler will have fun explaining some of his past activities. Can Joe explain to the people of Floyd County what really happened to a certain man? Is this man still picking lead out of his ears?

Jesse James' Gang left Kentucky in 1868. We no longer need a lawman like Pat Garrett. But we do need a good Sheriff. Elect me and I will enforce the law 1973 style.

May Commissioned To Paint
Scene for Pioneer Fort Replica

Prestonsburg's Russell May is one of the Kentucky artists who have been commissioned by the Fort Boonesborough Park Association to paint one of the scenes telling the story of the early exploration of Kentucky and the founding of Ft. Boonesborough.

Mr. May has been assigned the scene which will portray the early settlers coming through Cumberland Gap on their way to the historic fort which was established by the party led by Daniel Boone. He was commissioned to do the painting by Jack K. Hodgkin, art project chairman for the Boonesborough association.

The painting, which will measure approximately 40 by 48 inches, will be displayed with the works of other Kentucky artists in the replica of the original Fort Boonesborough on which construction work is ready to begin. Artifacts and relics of pioneer days will also be displayed in the fort replica.

The Prestonsburg artist said this week that he expects to complete the painting this winter, possibly soon after January 1. He currently is painting landscapes depicting a farm in the Culpepper, Va. area, on order from Virginians who own the farm.

Owner of Fine Home But on Food Stamps Reported Convicted

Hoyt Cupps, Jr., of Isom, Ky., who was convicted in U. S. district court at Lexington recently for violation of the Gun Control Act, has more explaining to do. Cupps had been charged with possessing a Colt automatic pistol after having been convicted of a felony moonshine liquor violation. John M. Compton, assistant U. S. attorney, who handled the prosecution, advised that the conviction arose when Kentucky State Police Sergeant Jerry Combs and Detective Lieutenant Hubert Jarvis discovered the weapon in the automobile operated by Cupps on Highway 15, near the State Police barracks in Hazard. Judge H. David Hermansdorfer deferred sentencing of Cupps for 30 days pending further investigation by the U. S. Probation Office when it was learned that Cupps owned a $50,000 home in Letcher county, owned several motor vehicles, and was receiving food stamps. The maximum penalty provided under law is imprisonment for two years or a $10,000 fine, or both fine and imprisonment.

In Appreciation

We, the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church, wish to take this opportunity to thank every one for the wonderful support that we received from our friends and the surrounding communities. Also we wish to thank everyone for the wonderful help we received from all of those that assisted us and helped in preparing for this Association.

We wish to thank the Churches at Garrett, Ky.—namely, Garrett Baptist, Methodist, Church of God, and the Freewill Baptist and any other church we may have overlooked.

We also wish to thank the merchants who assisted us in this great Association—namely, Elmo Campbell, Hollie Conley, Mrs. Mosey Johnson, James A. Scott, and Bob Campbell.

We are sorry that we are unable to mention all of the names that assisted in this great effort. ELDER BANNER MANN'S, Moderator BRO. HAWLEY SCOTT, Clerk

Meade-Morgan Vows Spoken

The marriage of Miss Martha Noel Meade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Meade, and Richard Alan Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill Morgan, was solemnized at 2 p.m. Saturday, September 8, at Mary Queen of the Holy Rosary Church, Lexington, Ky.

Msgr. Leonard Nienaber officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Meade chose a candlelight organza gown with peau de soie lace and hand-sewn pearls. Her chapel mantilla of silk illusion was bordered with lace motifs. She carried a cascade of white orchids and roses.

Mrs. William J. Bridge, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length lilac and white dress with matching picture hat, and carried a French bouquet of lilac and white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Steve Morgan, Miss Susan Clemons, Mrs. Steve Nichols, of Lexington, and Miss Diana Burchett, of Prestonsburg, wore dresses similar to that of the honor attendant in blue and white organza with matching hats. They carried French bouquets of blue and white carnations.

Steve Morgan served as best man. Ushers were Steve Meade, brother of the bride; Tommy Bailey, Steve Nichols and Howard Tolliver.

Miss Sandra Meade, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Joey Bridge, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

The reception was held at the Springs Motel. Assisting were Miss Malinda Morgan, Miss Cecilia Morgan, Miss Rosemary Morgan and Mrs. Steve Meade.

After a wedding trip, the couple will live in Lexington, Ky.

Again, It's Fall Fire Season And Danger Time for Forests

As soon as the dead leaves begin falling, Kentucky can expect fires to start in fields and forests, and this fall will be no exception. The sad part is that most of the fires will be man-caused and preventable.

In anticipation of the fall forest fire season, the Division of Forestry, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, has been conducting a series of training sessions for its personnel. Forestry Director Harry Nadler said that all the field men have received training in the basic fundamentals of forest fire suppression. The sessions provided new employees their initial training, and provided a review for older employees.

Nadler said that as a result of comparatively light fire seasons the past two years, many new personnel have not had sufficient experience in fire suppression to cope with a bad fire season. The additional training should help bring all personnel up to the desired training level.

During the training sessions, special emphasis was placed on the construction of fire lines to bring the fire under control in the shortest possible time. Practice fire lines were constructed with a mechanized tractor plow unit as well as hand tools. The fall fire season, as designated by law, runs from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15, but weather conditions may be such that fires occur before this date. At the present time several areas of the state are dry enough for fires to start. During this period it is unlawful for any person to set fire to any flammable material capable of spreading fire, located in or within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland, except between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and 12 midnight.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION MEETS

District No. 11 of the Kentucky Welfare Association met September 28 at the Starlight Restaurant, Pikeville. Preceding the meeting, a hospitality hour was held at The Landmark Motel. William Bailey, district president, presided at the meeting which was attended. A most interesting meeting was enjoyed by 103 guests. The Rev. J. I. Meyer, retired minister of the United Methodist Church, Pikeville, gave the invocation. Judge Josephine Johnson, of the Pikeville juvenile court greeted the guests. State Senator Kelsey E. Friend was the speaker on "Blacklung Benefits to Disabled Miners."

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Oak McGuire, Jr. announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, September 20 at a hospital in Springfield, Ill. The name, Emily Elizabeth, has been given her. Mrs. McGuire is the former Janie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, of Prestonsburg.

Music for Magistrate

I am Leo Music, Candidate for Magistrate, District 1.

I am married and have three children—one son, David, and two daughters, Carol and Nancy. My wife, Mary K. Prater Music, is the daughter of Sherman Prater and Mollie Sparks Prater, of Bonanza, Ky.

I am the son of Estill Music and Amanda Shepherd Music. I am the grandson of the late Garfield Music and Sarah Caudill Music, also Hi H. Shepherd and Minnie Montgomery Shepherd. They are lifelong residents of Floyd county.

If I am elected I will be a fulltime Magistrate.

Try me one term and if I am not a better magistrate than my opponent, then vote against me next time.

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

Air Pollution Office Opened at Hazard

The Appalachian Regional Office of the Division of Air Pollution in the State Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection opened Monday, October 1 in Hazard.

Roger Blair, Enforcement Program director in the Air Pollution Division, said the regionalization concept was inaugurated to make the state agency more available and responsive to the public.

"The field inspectors," he said, "will inspect all air contaminant sources in their regions to ensure that air pollution regulations are being observed. By being in the regional offices and not in Frankfort," he added, "our staff will be more available to help both citizens and industry."

R. Clay Faulkner, environmental specialist, has been appointed to the Appalachian office which will serve 22 Eastern Kentucky counties, Floyd, Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Rockcastle, Whitley, and Wolfe.

The office is located at 501 Highway Street, Room 22, Hazard.

Training Course Set

A state-sponsored, 80-hour basic training course is scheduled to begin at the Prestonsburg Fire Station October 8. This new course replaces the old 20-hour course previously offered. All Floyd county fire departments interested in this training program should contact the Prestonsburg Fire Department. It is hoped that the station here will eventually become a centralized training center for a 20-mile area.

Miss Hunter Appears With Vaughn Group

Miss Claudia Hunter, of Prestonsburg, is presently appearing in the Eastern Kentucky area with the Jim Vaughn country music group as the show's female vocalist.

Miss Hunter, a 17-year-old high school senior at Prestonsburg was asked to perform with the show after Vaughn and his manager heard from local sources of the young singer's talent. Mr. Vaughn a country-western recording artist from Bluefield, W. Va., has toured the states and has appeared with Miss Hunter thus far at Virgie and Catlettsburg. This Saturday they will perform at Morehead. Miss Hunter has also appeared at Bill Monroe's Bluegrass Festival at Jackson the Eighth Annual Highlands Folk Festival at Jenny Wiley State Park and was a runner-up in the Miss Floyd County Pageant held in August. After finishing high school in May, Claudia plans to continue her singing career.

Cats Fall Victim To Russell, 19-12

A tough Russell football team and a fair share of "bad breaks" resulted in a district and Big Sandy Valley Conference loss for Prestonsburg Friday night as the Blackcats went down before a home crowd 19-12.

Strong defensive play on the part of both teams resulted in a scoreless first quarter and the game's first TD came in the second quarter after Prestonsburg halfback Mike Meade fumbled on a kick reception at the one yard line. Mike Haynes recovered the fumble for Russell and ran four yards for the score. This play aroused some controversy concerning the legality of a touchdown scored on a fumble recovered within the five yard line. Another Russell score on a 17-yard scramble by Mike James put the score at 12-0. Prestonsburg retaliated with a 32-yard pass from quarterback Jim Blackburn to Mike Meade which put P-burg on the board. With 30 seconds remaining in the second quarter, Prestonsburg's Danny Layne intercepted a Red Devil pass and sprinted 85 yards for the tying score.

The tie was broken when Russell's Mike Haynes returned the opening Blackcat kickoff 90 yards for the score. Neither team was able to get on the board after this and the final score was Russell Red Devils 19, Prestonsburg Blackcats 12.

Leading Prestonsburg rusher was Ronnie Burke with nine carries for 54 yards. Quarterback Blackburn completed 11 of 23 passing attempts for a total of 141 yards including one interception and one touchdown. Mike Meade caught four passes for 63 yards while Dennis Walker caught three for 39 yards.

Friday night's loss brought the Blackcats' record to two wins, three losses thus far.

In another home game this Friday night, the Blackcats will face Belfry High School in a district and conference contest.

ON CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Tom G. Dingus left last week for a Caribbean cruise.

Forger Nabbed Here Convicted By U. S. Court

Ernest Hamm, Jr., of Mansfield, O., whose trail of forged checks ended here more than a year ago in his flight and capture by Prestonsburg police, was convicted in U. S. district court at Lexington last Wednesday of a charge of interstate transportation of stolen securities. The two-count indictment accused the 32-year-old Hamm of transporting "falsely made and forged checks" from Smithville, O. to Prestonsburg.

John M. Compton, assistant U.S. Attorney, prosecutor in the case, detailed that several checks were stolen from a business in Smithville, Ohio in blank, and recovered in Prestonsburg. The checks had been completed and made payable to James Ray Clark and each of the 25 checks was in the amount of $154.75.

Hamm was arrested after fleeing the Montgomery Ward Catalog Store here where he attempted to cash one of the forged checks. He left behind a false driver's license in the name of James Ray Clark, along with one of the stolen checks he was trying to cash.

His convictions resulted from cashing checks at The Bank Josephine and Kroger's.

Judge H. David Hermansdorfer, referring to the fact that Hamm's criminal record filled three pages, imposed a sentence of three years on count 1 and five years on the second count, the 5-year sentence being suspended and a two-year probationary period imposed to follow his release from imprisonment of three years on the first count.

Other convictions in district court included these:

Hubert Courtney, of Pikeville, charged with violation of the Federal Gun Control Law, was also convicted last Tuesday.

Courtney, 31, had been accused of making a false statement in the acquisition of a firearm and possession of a firearm after having been convicted of a felony. U.S. Attorney Eugene E. Siler said Courtney had four prior felony convictions.

Judge H. David Hermansdorfer sentenced Courtney to a term of two years, suspended, and placed him on probation for two years with a special condition being that the defendant receive counseling from the Mental Health Center at Pikeville.

David Brewer, 37, of Hazard, was held guilty of violation of the Federal Gun Control Law. Brewer had pleaded guilty on September 10, Judge H. David Hermansdorfer sentenced him to five years and a $5,000 fine, which was suspended, and he was placed on probation.

The case arose on June 29, 1971, when Kentucky State Police, led by Detectives Hubert E. "Snake" Jarvis and London "Sonny" Owen raided Brewer's home at Christopher in Perry county. Siler said that a large quantity of stolen goods, estimated to be worth more than $6,000 was recovered in the house. They were determined to have been stolen from Norwood, Ohio, and several different cities in Indiana. Besides stolen guns, the police recovered stolen typewriters, electric tools, adding machines, calculators, five television sets, several radios and various other items.

Tommy Kilburn, 45, of Hazard, was convicted of possession of an unregistered explosive device, a homemade bomb consisting of several sticks of dynamite.

The offense arose from investigation into the bombing of Hazard Mayor William Morton's house during March, 1969. Agents investigating the case for a long period of time presented an indictment to a federal grand jury in February, 1973 and a true bill was returned.

The trial took less than a day and the jury was out less than 15 minutes before returning the guilty verdict. An eyewitness to the act of Kilburn's possessing the bomb, lighting the fuse, and throwing the explosive device in the direction of the Mayor's house testified at length during the trial.

Judge Hermansdorfer sentenced Kilburn to a term of 16 years' imprisonment, citing the failure of local law enforcement officials to successfully prosecute, despite Kilburn's being charged with nine felonies in state court, and the seriousness of the act resulting in this conviction. Hermansdorfer announced his sentence as the maximum sentence provided under law.

The court denied the request of Kilburn's attorney to permit this sentence to be served concurrently with a two-year sentence presently being served for a separate violation of the federal Gun Control Law. That sentence was imposed at federal district court at Pikeville last June.

Auditions Scheduled For Children's Theatre

Court Decision In Johnson Case Hits at Permits

Routine issuance of overweight coal truck permits by the Department of Highways was forbidden by the Court of Appeals in a decision handed down last Friday.

The high court decision reversed the Johnson circuit court opinion in favor of the Terry Elkhorn Coal Company in a suit filed by Van Lear residents when Terry Elkhorn was headquartered in Prestonsburg.

Overweight permits basically were authorized by law for special and emergency situations, the court said, with the public safety and preservation of highways to be kept in mind.

The decision came in an appeal by Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock from the Johnson circuit court.

The high court reversed the lower court on three points.

It said overweight permits for hauling coal by truck could not be issued by the Highway Department under the conditions prevailing in Johnson county.

It held the lower court should enjoin Terry Elkhorn from the practice on the ground it is a public nuisance.

It also said the attorney general has a right to intervene in the case in the public interest.

On one aspect of the case appealed by the coal company, the high court affirmed Johnson court.

It declared Terry Elkhorn must maintain and repair State Highways 302 and 1107 and that the lower court's injunction to that effect should remain in full force until this is done.

Appellate Commissioner Walter Catinna, who wrote the opinion, said:

"If we follow the construction of this statute as it is presently being enforced then there would be no necessity for any type of load limits, highway classifications, or otherwise, for all these laws would be overridden by a special overweight permit..."

"It is obvious that the special permit was only for use in emergency or unusual situations and was not an instrument that could be issued to and used by a person in the day-to-day operation of a business."

An aide said that as far as is known it continues to issue overweight truck permits under a new arrangement where the trucker is bonded to make sure he shares in making road repairs.

The Johnson county cases date back three years and involve a group of residents living on or near the two roads.

They sought to stop the trucking of coal by overweight vehicles, contending the highways were being destroyed, homes damaged and dust and grime spread everywhere.

Catinna said the requirement to consider the public safety and preservation of highways before issuing a permit "has been continuously and openly disregarded" under implementation of the statute.

"In the case of the permits issued here, there resulted not the preservation of a highway but the complete destruction of blacktop-surface state road to detriment and danger of the traveling public, including the children of the community traveling to and from school on school buses," he said. Catinna said Terry Elkhorn admitted the trucks weighed more than 30,000 pounds despite a 24,000-pound limit for that class of highway, but insisted the weight was within the 73,280-pound restriction set out by the permits.

The high court said that nonetheless one citation in the record showed a truck with a gross weight of 84,000 pounds.

It added the highway department was violating its rules by not specifying the cargo to be carried and by not requiring a separate permit for each vehicle. There is not even a formal application by Terry Elkhorn for the permits, it said.

"For these reasons the special overweight permits are void and of no force and effect," the appellate court said.

Catinna commented that "the record in this proceeding almost defies comprehension," declaring Terry Elkhorn once filed an answer and counterclaim 353 pages long.

Ray Isaac Returned To Ohio Officials

A Wheelwright man, sought by Franklin county, Ohio officials on a charge of burglary, was returned to Columbus Friday after being booked at the county jail here earlier.

State Troopers Bevins and Simpson charged Ray Dene Isaac with drunk driving and no operator's license after they had driven to the Isaac residence to serve a warrant issued by Franklin county. The traffic violations were dismissed after the accused was handed over to the Ohio officials.

Other booked within the week, offenses and arresting officers follow:

George E. Waughn, drunk driving and possession of a concealed deadly weapon, by State Trooper Bevins and Simpson; Everett Watkins, Jr., drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriff Elbert Salyers; Corbess Hayes, assault and battery, Deputy Sheriffs Tackett and Hall; Jackie Conn, drunk driving, by State Trooper Newsome Charles Page, cutting and wounding, by State Trooper Newsome; Ralph Stephen Banks, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, by City Policemen Kelley and Trusty; Themet Johnson, drunk driving, by State Trooper E. B. Allen.

Health-Safety Plan Focus of Seminars

With the Kentucky Departments of Labor and Human Resources, Associated Industries of Kentucky (AIK) is co-sponsoring 13 seminars—one in Floyd county—on Kentucky's Occupational Safety and Health plan.

The seminar in this county was held last Tuesday at May Lodge. Main emphasis of the meetings is that now Kentucky, not the federal government, is responsible for enforcing the provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Reynolds Urges Pilot Program Study on Coal

At a recent meeting of the legislature's Public Utilities and Transportation interim committee, Rep. W. J. Reynolds, of Allen, urged legislative support for a pilot program to study the liquification and gasification of coal in Kentucky.

"There is a possibility that one or more of the research plants may be located in Kentucky," he said, "and I feel the plant should be located where the coal is." Reynolds urged Kentucky's Congressional delegation and the Kentucky Coal Association to influence the National Coal Research Foundation to build one of the research facilities in Kentucky.

The committee discussed plans for the University of Kentucky to conduct the research. "If liquification and gasification of coal is proven feasible," said Rep. Reynolds, "it would be a tremendous boon to Kentucky's coal industry."

Rep. Reynolds said Kentucky should take advantage of the energy crisis to further industrialize the state. "The energy crisis, which is a catastrophe in some states, could be an economic boon for Kentucky because of our supply of natural resources," he added.

The total real output of goods and services—what our economy produces—rose 6.2 percent from the second quarter of 1972 to the second quarter of 1973, the U. S. Commerce Department reports.

Martin May Have Area's First Housing Exclusively for Aged

If construction plans aren't thwarted by exorbitant costs, the town of Martin and its Housing Authority will by the end of next year have what is believed to be the first Eastern Kentucky housing complex devoted exclusively to the benefit of the elderly.

The Housing Authority this week asked bids on construction of two two-story buildings which will house 28 dwelling units for the elderly, plus administrative, maintenance and community spaces. Bids submitted will also include site improvements, utilities, lawns and planting work.

When the new bids are opened the afternoon of Nov. 1, it will be the third time offers from contractors have been considered by the Housing Authority. Twice earlier, the bids were rejected as too high but on those occasions the bidding was on a five-story, high-rise apartment-type structure which would have afforded 12 units for the elderly and 20 for others. This construction, however, was of a more expensive type than the work now considered, the building planned at that time involving liberal use of steel and concrete.

Estimated cost of the work offered for new bidding is $400,000. Mrs. Helen P. Ison, executive director of the Housing Authority, which operates the Pageant Hills housing complex, said the two buildings now proposed will be of two stories with brick veneer and plywood siding on wooden framework. The complex will be located in Town Center, at the rear of the municipal parking lot, on the site acquired by the housing authority under urban renewal development.
