

Grand Jury May Probe Old Cases

Judge Asks Action On Environmental Damage in County

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley told the grand jury which he had empaneled Monday morning for the January term of circuit court that it has only one "new" murder case to investigate but that it may be called upon to undertake a probe into two or three earlier, unsolved murders.

A portion of the judge's remarks to the grand jury before it began work pertained to the environment. He spoke of the dumping of garbage, of the need for pure water, of the sedimentation at Dewey Lake and the "filth which showed up" after recent high waters in the county.

Judge Conley told the jurors that if they learn of the dumping of refuse into streams and along highways, they should vote indictments. "If we don't wake up, we're going to be in bad shape—and in our lifetimes, too," he added.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo warned the grand jury against "leaks" of information, and Judge Conley added, "I can't emphasize too strongly the necessity of secrecy in your work."

Clifford Wright, of Prestonsburg, was named foreman of the grand jury, which is comprised of two women and 10 men.

During the qualification of all jurors who will serve at the session Judge Conley took time to explain the importance of jury service and to comment on the unwillingness of many to serve. He told of as many as 53 telephone calls being received at his home at Eastern from persons wanting to be excused from jury duty. "I must say 'no' to most of these or there'll be no court. Jury service is like going to jail—it's never convenient. But you wouldn't like a court system which eliminates trial jury and has three judges making the decisions."

Then he began receiving statements from those who would be excused after appearing here. One woman said, "I have my problem with me. He's five years old."

"Bring your problem along with you," Judge Conley told her.

She said she was delighted to serve under those terms.

American Standard Promotes Mr. Hall

Jim Hulsman, plant manager of American Standard's plumbing fittings plant near Paintsville, this week announced the appointment of W. W. "Bill" Hall to the position of manager, Industrial Relations, effective Jan. 1.

Mr. Hall, a 32-year old native of Eastern Kentucky, has served as supervisor of Personnel Services since he joined the company in 1970. He presently resides in Prestonsburg with his wife, Geraldine, and their two sons, Christopher, 7, and Scott Alan, 2. He is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and attended both Lees Junior College and Pikeville College.

Mr. Hall is a golf enthusiast, and has earned recognition as an excellent basketball referee.

The three-year old Paintsville plant employs more than 400 in the manufacture of plumbing fittings.

Drop in Housing Causes Cutback

Because housing units are expected to drop this year around 25 percent from the 1973 total, American Standard at Paintsville has reduced its labor force, a company spokesman said this week.

The company expects a decrease in its business this year, because its products are tied directly to housing. Housing starts in 1973 totalled 2.2 million. This year the projected figures are 1.6 million. Labor force adjustments have been made to compensate for the loss.

Seventy-five employees were laid off indefinitely last Friday at American Standard. The work force remains at more than 400, it was said.

New Food Store Work Is Begun Here This Week

Removal of the D & D Car Wash and associated service station to a new location was begun this week to make way for a major food outlet at the corner of Patton Street and North Lake Drive.

Donald Ray Pelphrey, owner of the car wash, and Rondall Lawson will erect on the lot a 60 x 140-foot building to house Don & Ron's 7 to 11 Food Basket.

Mr. Pelphrey said the "7 to 11" portion of the firm name pertains to store hours. The building will be of block-and-brick construction, with brick and glass front, and will be air-conditioned and centrally heated. Parking will be available for about 30 vehicles.

The store is expected to open in about two months. No estimate of building cost was available.

The car wash and service station are being moved to the former Paul's Texaco location on North Lake Drive.

New City Officials Take Office

A new city administration took office here at induction ceremonies conducted at City Hall Monday evening.

After County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson had administered the oath of office, Mayor William O. Goebel, Jr. spoke briefly, declaring his own intention and that of the new City Council to work for local progress and for the benefit of the people. "I could write out goals a mile long, and none would be as important as the people of Prestonsburg," the youthful mayor said.

Councilmen who took office at the same time are Dr. N. Roger Jurick, Harold Cooley, Cloyd Johnson, Edgile "Shag" Branham, Harry Burke and Paul Joseph, new members, and Burl W. Spurlock and Byron Nunnery, incumbents.

Specific goals listed by Goebel included these:

1. To create more parking facilities. "Prestonsburg is the hub of Eastern Kentucky and it's going to remain the hub, not the rim," Mayor Goebel commented.)

2. A year-round cleanup and beautification program. ("If we must impose fines for littering, we will do so.")

3. A new fire department location—not necessarily a municipal building, although a close look will be made into that possibility. (The "old" Council at its last meeting rejected bids on construction of a municipal building. The mayor said the new city administration will study the situation carefully and do "whatever is feasible.")

4. Expand the present water system. This was not promised as an immediate project but one which is to be studied and on which action inevitably must be taken in the future.

One of the first official acts of the new mayor was to name Cloyd Johnson, a new member of the Council, chaplain.

Only two major changes were made in the official organization. Tom Lafferty, Prestonsburg motel owner-manager, was named police judge to succeed Earl Blackburn, and Joe Hobson was appointed city attorney to succeed Albert A. Burchett, who resigned in closing days of the previous administration. Lafferty's salary was placed at $175 a month and Hobson's at $200 a month, plus $7 cost fee.

Mayor Goebel commented that Judge Blackburn "has treated everyone fairly." Recommending the appointment of Lafferty, he said he did so "because he is well-qualified and will be fair, honest and efficient."

Raiders Find Beer, Hall Jailed Here

Search of the home and service station of Jim Hall, of Beaver, Saturday afternoon by ABC Agent Arvel Nelson and Deputy Sheriff Roland Howell resulted in the confiscation of 46 cans of beer and the arrest of Hall's 18-year-old son, Stewart Hall. The case is in Magistrate Bill Wells' court.

Fred Patrick was jailed by State Trooper Simpson, Jan. 1, on a charge of breaking and entering the Plantation Motel on US 23, near here, and stealing an estimated $600 worth of frozen foods. Patrick is booked in quarterly court.

Deputy Sheriff Ted H. Salisbury last Sunday lodged charges of drunk driving, possessing alcoholic beverages and theft of a vehicle against his prisoner, Kenneth S. Hall.

Others booked at the county jail within the week, charges against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Roy Carroll, no operator's license, by Trooper Simpson; Dwight McGuire, drunk driving, by Troopers Castle and Estep; Darrell Kilgore, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Trooper Dennis Williamson; Alona Patton, drunk driving, by State Trooper Castle; Lester Garrett, drunk driving, by State Trooper E. B. Allen.

Busiest man in the crowded meeting room, with the possible exception of the mayor, was County Clerk Robinson, who administered the oath to every city official and employee present.

Others employed included City Administrator Curtis Clark at a monthly salary of $1004.84; Mrs. Beverly Hackworth, city clerk and general collector, $525 a month; Mrs. Jeannette McCauley, treasurer and occupational tax administrator, $700 a month; Shirley Lewis, tax collector, $66.80 per month; Marshall Davidson, delinquent tax collector, fee set at 19 percent of taxes collected.

The entire police force was re-employed, and one policeman, Woodrow Lafferty, was added at a salary of $355 a month during his six-month probationary period. Other policemen employed and their monthly salaries are: Bill Potter, chief, $530.70; Ralph Thornsby, Lonnie Herald and William R. Campbell, $501.40 each; James Laferty, Keith Lawson and Darrel Conley, $445.20 each; Kenneth Ray Kelly, $427.28; Otis Trusty, $400.90; Harold Dean Messer, $374.52.

Former Floyd Slayer Dies after 2 Killed

This Town . . . That World

George Brown has lost a coat, same color and size as mine. But his didn't have a box of fish-hooks in the pocket.

A fond wish in which we all join:
May the fuel shortage be short.

HOW ABOUT THAT!

This new zoning to keep some of us on "slow" time has its quirks. The same man who lost his coat reminds me that a body could leave Louisa, only 40 miles away, at 8 o'clock, say, and arrive here before the time he started; or, vice versa, he could leave Prestonsburg for Louisa and on arriving there learn he'd been almost two hours making the short drive.

DON'T SAY THAT!

Several acquaintances have been inquiring after my plans about open house, now that we're in new quarters. None of their comments excited me till one started to say I ought to have a housewar—and I stopped him right there, in mid-syllable.

FREEDOM

My son—the one who bought the bumper strip which read, "Eat More Possum"—has, like the cat, brought in something again. It's a photograph bearing these lines of Walt Whitman's, From this hour, freedom!

Going where I like,
my own master...

Reading that, you would expect to see an eagle in majestic flight, exploring the heavens in utter freedom. But the photograph alongside the poet's lines is that of a bird dog carefully climbing a woven wire fence, one paw atop the post, the other on the top strand, a hind foot at the top and his head stuck well forward, looking off there into the distance as if shading his eyes in search of a bone that needed gnawing.

If you're worried about TV and the 6 o'clock news, just tune in at 5. No charge for that advice.

MYSTERIOUS VISITORS

Every community, I suppose, has at some time or other its mystery. Ours still has two as oldtimers still wonder who those two men were, whence and why they came, their antecedents, etcetera.

The first was known as Cap'n Jenks. No more, no less. He arrived, unheralded, walked into a farmhouse without knocking and proceeded to "board among the scholars," so to speak, over a period of years.

Some surmised that he was an outlaw, hiding away from the law. Nobody ever knew. Nobody got around to asking him.

Jackson, Michigan police said Tuesday that two of three persons found dead in a home there late Sunday night had been shot to death and that the third, apparently their slayer, was Charlie Miller, 74, formerly of this county.

Miller, who was convicted of the slaying here of Deputy Sheriff Wesley Fannin, apparently was overcome by smoke. Police surmised, Detective Muma, of the Jackson police force, said, that Miller had killed the two women, then set fire to the house and was overcome by smoke.

The fire was reported at 11:25 p.m. Sunday. After extinguishing the blaze, firemen discovered the body of Mrs. Odie Joseph Younglove, 57, formerly of this area, and Ms. Veledah Carroll, 65. Both women had been shot in the head with blasts from a shotgun. The body of Miller was found in another room, the kitchen of the home.

Miller was at one time married to Mrs. Younglove's sister, Gracie, and it was said here that Mrs. Younglove had signed papers necessary to procure the parole of Miller from his life prison sentence for the Fannin slaying. He rented a room at the Younglove residence, 835 Maltby street, Jackson. Detective Muma said the strong odor of gasoline or other flammable substance was detected by firemen at the death scene.

Mrs. Younglove was a daughter of Early Joseph and Cumine Shepherd Joseph. She was a widow. Her survivors include one daughter, Caroline, of Michigan; a brother, Everett Joseph, Ironton, O., and six sisters, Mrs. Gracie Baker, of Michigan, Elsie (married

U.S. Dismisses Grigsby Charge

The charge of knowingly receiving stolen tapes against David Lee Grigsby, of Martin, was dismissed in U. S. district court Monday on the U. S. attorney's own motion.

His attorney, Cassie J. Allen, said the government action came when its attorney decided it could not maintain its case. The government charge was that Grigsby had received early last year stolen tapes valued at more than $5,000 which had been shipped in interstate commerce.

Grigsby's attorney said her investigation of the case led to Wilmington, Del., and that it was found that the address given by the firm which sold the tapes to Grigsby was a vacant lot. A Michael Blankenship was arrested there for theft of tapes from a warehouse where tapes of a bankrupt firm had been impounded.

Grigsby voluntarily disclaimed right to possession of the tapes after he learned they were stolen, it was said.

Officials Make Change Without Ado

Three incumbents to county office being inducted by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley (rear) in circuit courtroom Monday morning. From left, they are County Judge Henry Stumbo, beginning a record seventh term in the office; County Attorney James R. Allen, beginning his first full four-year term, and County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, a four-term veteran.

County officials got going with new four-year terms of office Monday, and they did so with a minimum of fuss and feathers.

All new members of the official family and some incumbents took the oath of office last week. Tax Commissioner Lovel Hall took office last month and has been working three weeks. The four magistrates, three of whom are new to the fiscal court, were inducted to office Dec. 28. Joe Wheeler Lewis, who returns to the sheriff's office after an absence of four years, was sworn in last Wednesday, as also were Jailor Lawrence Hale and Coroner James J. Carter, both of whom were re-elected to office.

Three incumbents, County Judge Henry Stumbo, County Attorney James R. Allen, and County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, were re-inducted to office Monday morning in the circuit courtroom by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

The county added a new official to the list when Paul Dean Wells was inducted to office as county surveyor—a post which had not been occupied for 20 years or longer. Mr. Wells was unopposed at both the primary and final elections.

Only the sheriff's office required reorganization. Sheriff Lewis announced that Claude A. Flanery, of Martin, will work in his office and that Otto Fannin will be employed mainly to serve court summonses and civil papers. Both Flanery and Fannin served as deputies during the term of Ex-Sheriff Frank Leslie. Green Stone, of Martin, has been named a deputy, and Sheriff Lewis said he hopes to employ two more salaried deputies and some to work on a fee basis.

"I'm checking out every man very carefully before I appoint him," Lewis said.

He added that at the request of 30 to 40 good citizens he expects to police the Mud Creek area himself.

"I've been told," he said, "that several bootleggers have already moved out." Lewis said he expects to conduct his office as he did during his preceding term.

They came and took pictures and got a lot of information about what and how we are doing, and about our future plans. They wrote up one half page in their paper, in our behalf. I think it was awfully good of them to do so.

Gasless Bonus: Fewer Deaths

A bonus from the energy crisis: fewer traffic fatalities have been reported on many of the nation's highways since the debut of lower speed limits and gasless Sundays.

An Associated Press survey showed there were fewer traffic deaths in at least 15 states since President Nixon asked motorists on Nov. 25 to slow down and gas stations began Sunday closings Dec. 2.

In some of the 25 states surveyed, officials said it was too early to link changes in the number of fatal accidents with fuel-saving measures.

The National Safety Council said Monday it has trimmed its Christmas death toll prediction because the fuel shortage has caused a reduction in week-end driving.

"There is no doubt that most motorists are driving slower and the gasless Sunday has cut down on the amount of traffic in the state. These two factors have resulted in fewer highway deaths," said Col. P. F. Thompson, chief of the South Carolina Highway Patrol.

The last gasless Sunday in South Carolina was also a deathless one, he said.

For the first time in eight years, Washington State got through a week-end without a traffic death this past week-end, police said.

A state patrol survey showed traffic deaths down 42 per cent on state roads since the imposition of a 50 mile per hour speed limit on Nov. 8.

The Florida Highway Patrol said only one person died in traffic accidents last week-end.

"We haven't had as many persons killed since gasoline stations started closing three weeks ago," a patrol spokesman said. "I won't claim the low figures are all due to the fuel crisis, but it's playing a big part."

"Most people are staying at home and off the roads and they are slowing their speed down," said Claude Armour, state safety commissioner in Tennessee.

He said three persons died last Sunday and one person each on the previous two gasless Sundays.

Speeding citations have also dropped: only 727 motorists were ticketed in Tennessee Dec. 9 compared to 907 on Nov. 25.

Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said his agency would make no predictions on holiday deaths because of the fuel crisis.

Assembly To Consider These Pre-Filed Bills

Among bills recently pre-filed for consideration by the 1974 General Assembly were the following:

House Bill 141, which would ban the sale of no-deposit, non-returnable beer and soft drink containers.

House Bill 146, which would allow for the expenditure of $30 million over the next two years to create a state veterinary school.

Senate Bill 50, which would expand the Council on Public Higher Education's authority to include, among other measures, its needed approval of all state university land sales and acquisitions involving over $100,000.

Senate Bill 51, which would increase the number of commissioners on the state Court of Appeals from four to seven and give the high court the authority to establish which criminal, civil and workmen's compensation cases can be appealed before the court.

The safety council lowered its forecast of persons expected to die on the nation's highways between 6 p.m. Dec. 21 and midnight Dec. 25.

"Our adjusted Christmas fatality estimate represents a reduction of 50 fatalities from what the toll might have been if the gasoline shortage did not exist," said Council President Vincent L. Tofany.

The projection of disabling injuries from accidents is down 1,000, he said.

However, the revised forecast is still unpleasant: Between 550 and 650 persons are expected to die and up to 29,000 may be injured.

Tofany said it was too early to determine the extent that gas conservation measures have affected traffic deaths and injuries.

"However, our statistics show that these two measures could significantly reduce the motor vehicle fatality toll. The past Thanksgiving holiday period could be taken as an indicator."

He said 542 persons died, although the prediction was 625 to 725.

Among the states reporting no deaths last Sunday were: Washington, Maryland, Delaware, New Mexico, Florida, Nevada, South Carolina, Wyoming, Utah.

And Now . . . Pay-Day

We pay for our corporate sins as well as for our personal shortcomings, and the United States appears now to have come to pay-day.

National leaders of both political parties for a generation or so have been coddling the oil companies and ignoring the development of substitute fuels. The atom bomb to destroy has been developed; men have been sent onto the moon. Billions of dollars have been spent in the name of science, but the means of reducing coal to gas or oil was neglected.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins in a speech at Ashland this week said that if this country had adopted an energy policy after World War II "the energy crisis would not have occurred, but the oil people had their way about it." He said he became aware of the shortage in 1953 when a coal-to-oil products plant in St. Louis was closed by the federal government.

That plant, he said, was converting coal to gas at a cost that was within two cents of the cheapest price it could be done at an oil refinery. "But," said the Congressman, "the oil lobbyists and chemical people were receiving payoffs from campaign promises."

And so a nation pays for these sins, this year, and will perhaps pay for years to come.

The great tragedy is that the grim payoff will fall hardest on the ordinary citizen and that the nation itself stands exposed to its enemies.

Area Stream Pollution Permits Ignore Federal Law, Claim

Mired in controversy, federal stream pollution permits issued last fall to Eastern Kentucky coal companies are now being questioned.

The Environmental Protection Agency, in handing out six permits over the objections of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, has been accused of ignoring federal law "in a cavalier fashion."

An indignant letter to EPA from the House of Representatives Conservation and Natural Resources Subcommittee told the agency to advise four Pike county coal companies their permits "were not properly issued."

Six permits were issued to Crescent Coal Co., Kentland-Elkhorn Coal Corp. and Republic Steel Corp., all operating above the seriously polluted $54 million Fishtrap Lake in Pike county and General Refractories Co. operating above Grayson Lake in Carter county.

EPA, the subcommittee claims, issued the permits Oct. 12, nine days after the Corps had asked that these particular cases carry special provisions.

The Oct. 3 Corps letter to EPA stated, "In the past, large sediment deposits have occurred in our lakes as a result of coal mine discharges receiving inadequate treatment and/or because of sediment structure failures."

Listing the four companies, the Corps asked they be required to "promptly dredge the receiving waters whenever in the opinion of the district engineer of the responsible U. S. Army Engineer District, deposits attributable to the permitted discharge become an obstruction to the navigability of those waters."

The subcommittee charged: "Nine days later EPA issued permits without including the Corps' recommended condition and without further consultation with the Corps." It further claimed EPA did not even notify the Corps that the permits were to be issued. "This unilateral decision to reject the Corps' Oct. 3 recommendation violates EPA's regulations," the subcommittee claimed, noting a series of court cases holding such regulations tantamount to law.

"We believe that EPA's rejection was arbitrary and that the affected permits were unlawfully issued," the committee charged in the letter posted in December.

The six permits were among the controversial 100 issued to Kentucky coal companies Oct. 12 by the EPA. In a September public hearing held in Prestonsburg EPA officials were warned by Eastern Kentucky residents that the limitations placed on coal waste discharges would be difficult to enforce.

The permit system, adopted by the federal government in May, 1973, was designed to allow gradually lessening amounts of water pollution.

The Corps formally objected to the six permits Nov. 8 when Russell E. Train, administrator of EPA, was notified by letter from Maj. Gen. J. W. Morris, director of civil works of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Armory Hopes Here Brighten

At a recent meeting of National Guard personnel and area citizens at Prestonsburg Community College, General Wilbur Buntin expressed confidence that plans for the location of a National Guard armory here would soon be approved.

Thirty-six persons from Floyd and surrounding counties, most of them with former military experience, attended the meeting, and General Buntin said that there was sufficient officer material present to "form a good nucleus for an armory."

Buntin, who was accompanied by members of his staff and the state recruiting staff, said he is waiting approval from the National Guard Bureau of the Department of the Army in Washington, D. C. Confident of the success of a Prestonsburg armory, Buntin pointed out that Senators Marlow Cook and Dee Huddleston as well as Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins were adding their support for the armory.

It was announced at the meeting that upon approval of the armory another organizational meeting will be called for all interested people.

Board, Court Set Spl. Meet For Bond Sale

The Floyd County Board of Education's regular Saturday meeting was of a routine nature, but its special meeting with the Floyd fiscal court next Wednesday morning will deal with the sale of $1,825,000 worth of bonds to finance construction of Phase II at the new Allen Central High School.

The court acts as fiscal agent in the bond sale, using the proceeds for construction of the school's auditorium-gymnasium and other facilities and, in turn, leasing the facility to the board for a sum sufficient to amortize the bonds over a period of years ending in 1995.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark was optimistic about the bond issue. "We expect bids below 6 percent," he said, pointing out that date has been provided showing the status of Floyd county and the school system, and that this has for the first time made possible the sale of rated bonds. The new issue is rated BBB. Several bids are anticipated.

The bond bids will be opened at 10 a.m. at the first meeting of the new fiscal court.

At Saturday's meeting the board of education transacted these items of business:

Accepted the resignation of Irene Stephens, who is retiring as a teacher at Prestonsburg High School, and employed in her stead Linda Setser who was a replacement teacher at the school last year.

Adopted a resolution asking the State Board of Education to approve the two-day change in the school calendar made prior to Christmas.

Approved a contract with the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church for use by the church of the Auxier elementary school gymnasium.

Approved the contract with Mayo Vocational School for vocational training of Floyd pupils at the Garth Vocational School.

Approved out-of-state travel for Woodrow Allen and John K. Pitts to attend a Right To Read conference in Washington, D. C.

Employed Ruford Blackburn as replacement janitor at the Prestonsburg fieldhouse.

Employed Haley Mae Hale as half-time janitor at Allen elementary and Brenda Gayheart as half-time cook at Drift elementary.

Renewed the annual contract with Mountain Comprehensive Care Center for evaluation and psychological services for Title I pupils.

The workshop, first of three to be conducted during the 1973-'74 school year, was sponsored by the Jenny Wiley Council, an affiliate of the International Reading Association. Workshop participants were instructed in the preservation of materials through the use of laminating film. Laminating machines and film were provided by the General Binding Corporation, Sales and Services, Lexington, Kentucky. Demonstrations were given by B. K. Martin, sales representative.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank our friends and neighbors for the flowers, cards, help and sympathy shown us upon the passing of our father, Bill Woods, Sr., better known as Daddy Bill, of Emma. We especially thank Floyd Funeral Home for its service and kindness; also, a special thanks to Rev. William H. Amburgey and Rev. James A. Harmon and the singers, "The True Believers."

His Children, SHELLY WOODS BEECHER WOODS BILL WOODS, JR.

Generally speaking, Floyd county is not affected by the Eastern Standard Time status which it retains at a time when the nation is on Daylight Saving Time, but the arrangement effected by Governor Ford was not entirely free of complications.

For instance: The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's main offices are in Ashland, and the Columbia Gas System area headquarters are in Charleston, W. Va. And both Ashland and Charleston went on Eastern Daylight Saving Time, Sunday morning.

As a consequence, company offices here would open, and employees of both companies go to work, an hour later than the day begins for the Ashland and Charleston offices. The lunch break, likewise, is an hour later here than at the main offices, and so is the hour ending the day's work.

Synchronization of work, in office or in the field, presents a problem. Columbia proposed to solve it by operating here, as well as in West Virginia, on Daylight Saving Time. But Kentucky West Virginia, as of Monday morning, had reached no such decision.

(Technically, Floyd and other counties which had no time change, were zoned into the Central time zone. Then the national Daylight Saving Time order advanced its time an hour to its usual Eastern Standard.)

Tackett, Jr., also was re-employed as park superintendent at a salary of $556.50, and Acie Tackett as park attendant at $353.95. The parking lot attendants, L. B. Moore, Curtis W. May and Grover Young, were re-employed at $105 each per month.

Daniel W. Allen was hired as general mechanic and backhoe operator for $533.88 a month, and Jess Craft was named street sweeper operator at $412.92. Delcie Arlene Adams, part-time custodian, will be paid $117.96 a month. Salaries of sanitation department employees were set at $353.95 a month. They are Thurston Endicott, Harvey Bayes, George Craft, Jimmy Ray Johnson, Ellis Jarvis and Raymond Mitchell. Three temporary employees were kept at work and may be employed permanently later.

One of the interesting developments of the meeting came toward the end of the session when Councilman Burke introduced a motion that a committee be appointed to negotiate with state officials for the possible purchase of the state's Public Information Center here for use as a municipal building. The motion was adopted with the amendment that other buildings be considered.

Councilmen Branham and Burke were designated to countersign checks for the city, and the first and third Thursday monthly meeting dates were retained. The final report of Police Judge Blackburn showing a total collection of $1049 in fines in December was accepted.

and he never volunteered any information.

The burly individual sometimes would partake too freely of the grape or "cawn," and on such occasions would barge through a door, into a family's living quarters, seat himself, speak never a word and chill all who beheld him with baleful glances from bloodshot eyes. At other times he worked about the places he visited, was tenderness itself to women and children.

Then one day he disappeared. Word came back later that he had been shot to death in a mountain county. He had walked inside a home, unannounced, without a knock, and a nervous householder had written finis to Cap'n Jenks.

The other mystery figure is nameless. He didn't know his name when my father pulled him from Salt Lick Creek into which he had fallen from his horse on a winter afternoon. A neat, clean-cut old gent, he was, once we got him thawed out, but he could not tell us his name, or where he was from or where he was going. He mentioned children but couldn't remember who or where they were.

He spent the night, ate breakfast next morning, mounted his horse, said his goodbyes and rode off. As he left we noticed that he was wearing two ties but put it down to the general pattern of his eccentricity and thought no more of it.

A few hours later, the mailman from farther up the creek left in the mailbox a large envelope addressed in a beautiful hand to my father. One of the ties he had worn, which was my Dad's was in the envelope. But it was the note inside that I have never forgotten. It read:

"I long have known that I am a monomaniac but not till now did I know I was a kleptomaniac."

Ships that come to view and pass over the horizon to the unknown. It's a little late to bring these two into print, but I still occasionally wonder about them...as witness the foregoing.

Tax Charge Uncontested By Pikeville Accountant

Louisville, Ky.—John S. Petot, Jr., a certified public accountant at Pikeville, pleaded nolo contendere last Thursday to two counts of failing to file income tax returns for 1970 and 1971.

U. S. District Judge Charles Allen gave Petot, 56, a 30-day sentence and placed him on probation for two years. Petot also was fined $1,000.

The Internal Revenue Service said Petot previously had pleaded innocent and had been slated for trial but changed his plea.

Floyd Woman Joins ALC Staff

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Christine Stumbo, of McDowell, has recently been named assistant in Mental Health and assistant in Community Services at Alice Lloyd College.

Miss Stumbo holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Berea College and a master's in social work from the University of Louisville.

As assistant in Mental Health she will teach in ALC's new Mental Health Program and will provide liaison between human service agencies and student-employees in the program. ALC, with the help of the National Institute of Mental Health of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has developed a two-year program in mental health technology. It is intended to train students to work in mental health agencies and institutions to help meet a critical shortage of trained personnel in eastern Kentucky.

As assistant in Community Services, Miss Stumbo will be responsible for organizing this summer's ALCOR program. Her work will involve preparing and hiring students to work in the program, making contact with community people for use of buildings and recreation facilities, and arranging for the delivery of health and social services.

ALCOR stands for Appalachian Leaders in Community Outreach. It began at ALC in 1969 and, because of its success, was quickly extended as a joint venture among six Appalachian colleges administered by an independent non-profit corporation.

ALCOR student workers provide a bridge between isolated families in rural hollows and health and education agencies.

COMPLETES COURSE—Jacqueline Evans, Weeksbury senior at Morehead State University, receives her completion certificate from Mrs. Mignon Doran, founder and director of MSU's Personal Development Institute. The five-week, non-credit course has received national attention for its innovative approach to personal development. Miss Evans is the daughter of Willie M. Evans, of Weeksbury.

No Time Change Made Here As Governor's Plan Accepted

The effect of Governor Ford's time plan which was approved Friday by the U. S. Transportation Department is to place all but 12 counties in the state on Eastern Standard Time rather than the Daylight Saving Time which went into effect nationwide Sunday morning.

The 12 counties which moved their clocks ahead an hour lie along the Ohio River, mainly, and are bordered by Ohio and West Virginia, both of which went on Daylight Saving Time. They are Boyd, Lawrence, Carter, Greenup, Lewis, Mason, Bracken, Pendleton, Grant, Campbell, Kenton and Boone.

All other counties in the state are on Eastern Standard, the same time in effect since last summer's Daylight Saving Time ended. As counties in the Central Time Zone moved into the Eastern zone, the effect was the same as if Daylight Saving had been imposed there—their clocks were moved up an hour to Eastern time.

The net result, according to the governor's office, is that no undue hardship would fall on any segment geographically or economically.

Much of Western Kentucky along the Ohio River would be on the same time (Central Daylight) as neighboring Illinois.

The populous Louisville area would be on the same time as Chicago, its nearest largest trading center.

The Cincinnati area suburbs of Covington and Newport would be on Ohio time, while the border city of Ashland would be on the time of adjacent West Virginia.

"The plan I offered to the federal government conforms to over 95 per cent of the opinions expressed from all sections of Kentucky," Ford said.

The governor said more than 1,000 letters, telegrams and telephone calls have been received about the federal time act.

His plan apparently is an attempt to satisfy most of the state.

It seemingly would avert some of the most bitter controversy over the time problem, an issue which threatens to intrude into the regular legislative session which began Monday.

Ford indicated he thinks most Kentuckians do not want to change to daylight time. Much of the outcry against daylight time came from parents whose children would be going to school longer in darkness, and from farm interests.

Business interests seemed mainly concerned with staying in the same time zone as their nearby markets in other states.

Pikeville Hospital Planning Unit for Cancer Treatment

The Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, has announced plans to construct and equip a $250,000 radiation unit for the treatment of cancer.

The four-million-electron-volt linear accelerator will be twice as powerful as the cobalt unit which was previously considered, it was said by W. Ernest Elliott, chairman of the board of directors, and Lee D. Keene, administrator of the hospital.

The officials said that the cancer-fighting unit is to be the hospital's next major step in expanding its program of health services for the area it serves.

Cost of the new facility will be met in part by some $90,000 from the Pikeville Model City Agency and $20,000 pledged by the Methodist Hospital Guild. There also have been contributions from other sources, and a quiet but steady drive for the remaining funds is continuing.

Elliott and Keene expressed the hospital's appreciation for this significant start toward the needed funds and indicated their confidence that the people of the area served by the Methodist Hospital would be generous in contributing toward this necessary health service.

The hospital's cancer clinic was opened August 1, 1947, as one of 18 in the state, sponsored by the Kentucky Division of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Ralph W. Allen was the first director, and the first radiologist was Dr. Gene N. Combs, who joined the staff in 1951 and is director at present.

The Methodist Hospital now is the center for diagnosis and treatment of cancer for the easternmost seven counties in Kentucky, and under the State Health Department's regional planning it is to remain the center, officials noted. Many additional patients from adjacent Virginia and West Virginia are served.

"With the completion of the super-voltage unit for cancer treatment, the Pikeville Methodist Hospital will have a complete facility capable of providing comprehensive health care for Eastern Kentucky and the surrounding area," said the administrator. "The unit, when completed, will be the only such equipment within a 120-mile radius of Pikeville," Keene stated. He pointed out that cancer patients requiring such treatment now must travel to Louisville, to Lexington, or to other distant cities where such units are available.

"The many patients already cured of cancer throughout this area attest to the value and service of the clinic over the past twenty-six years," Dr. Combs added. "Great improvement in cancer therapy by improvement in equipment has taken place during this time. Superficial and deep therapy of modern design are already available. Surgery and radium have also been available. With the addition of a 4 MEV linear accelerator, the radiation armamentarium against cancer will be complete."

The state Bureau of Vehicle Regulation's Division of Drivers Licensing has announced plans for a computerized program to remind Kentucky drivers to renew their licenses on schedule. Beginning in March, drivers will receive a pre-renewal notice during the month before their licenses are to be renewed. Also, temporary licenses will no longer be used as permanent licenses will be pre-printed before renewal.

The 1974 General Assembly is expected to pass a statute in compliance with the new federal law requiring 55 m.p.h. speed limits on all roads that now have higher limits. Gov. Wendell Ford has requested that the Bureau of Highways initiate "innovative ideas" for keeping the cost of new highway signs to a minimum.

AIMING FOR ECONOMY WITH A SMALL CAR?

THE DODGE BOYS ARE RIGHT ON TARGET

WITH A FREE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION.

Right now, when you buy either a Dart Swinger hardtop or Dart Custom four-door sedan optionally equipped with power steering, vinyl roof, AM radio, light package, whitewall tires, deluxe wheel covers, left remote-control mirror, deluxe bumper guards, three-speed wipers with electric washers, day/night inside mirror, deluxe insulation package, and special exterior mouldings, your Dodge Dealer can offer you the automatic transmission free (because Dodge doesn't charge him for it). See the new '74 Dart Automatic Specials at the Dodge Boys' right away.

They're all "right on" with:

• ECONOMY!

Did you know that a Dodge Dart Sport can go farther on a gallon of gas than a Nova?

Gas mileage figures based on October 1973 Popular Science magazine. Tests performed by Popular Science for its report were conducted on '73 vehicles with figures adjusted by Popular Science for 1974 model changes and the results of E.P.A. tests.

• INCREASING TRADE-IN VALUE.

Just check around, wherever used Dodge Darts are sold. You'll see how our little cars hold their value.

• ROOM FOR 5 OR 6.

Our Swinger hardtops and Dart sedans have room for six. There's room for five in our Dart Sport coupe. (Yet, Dart Sport has more total hip-room than Maverick, more trunk space than three Pintos!)

• ELECTRONIC IGNITION.

This advanced system is standard on every 1974 Dodge Dart. It eliminates points and condenser (that can wear out or get wet). In addition, factory-recommended spark plug maintenance is up to 18,000 miles under normal driving conditions. (Another nice saving for you when you choose a new Dart.)

• SMALL-CAR MANEUVERABILITY.

If you've been driving a big car for years—you may be pleasantly surprised to find how many "more" parking spaces there are for a Dodge Dart at parking lots.

$1.4 Million Fund For Personal Care

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Wendell H. Ford has taken another step to provide additional assistance to Kentucky's aged, blind and disabled, through the Department for Human Resources. Having previously authorized state supplemental income payments and Medicaid assistance for this group of citizens, the governor last week announced he would expend $1.4 million annually to equalize availability of personal care for this group.

Federalization of the aged, blind and disabled program which takes effect January 1 has made state funds available with which to expand its help to this group.

"I have elected to take these additional state funds and utilize them to provide more and better help for this group of needy citizens, to eliminate the inequity involved in Personal Care payments and provide all aged, blind and disabled in the Commonwealth with an equal opportunity to avail themselves of the care they rightfully deserve," the Governor said.

The increased payments will be made to approximately 37 percent of the current 7,000 Personal Care recipients who have no other sources of income. There will be no change in the payment level for the remaining 63 percent whose income plus the Public Assistance payment is equivalent to the agency standard.

"5-Minute Parole," a Good Reason To Stay Out of Trouble

By HERB BROCK

Frankfort, Ky.—For a growing number of inmates in Kentucky's correctional institutions, the "five-minute parole" is fast becoming the best reason yet for staying out of trouble.

Established with the cooperation of South Central Bell Telephone Company, the novel incentive program gives inmates on good behavior the opportunity to make one collect, long-distance call each month to any one of four friends or relatives whose names have been submitted to officials in advance.

"We require only that the inmate maintain a conduct record clear of anything more than a warning for ninety days prior to his making the call," said John Rees, executive assistant to State Corrections Commissioner Charles J. Holmes.

First introduced nearly five years ago on a trial basis at the Frenchburg Correctional Facility, the "five-minute parole" proved so successful that the State Bureau of Corrections began expanding the program to include other correctional facilities as well.

The latest institution to join the list of those already offering the special parole is the state reformatory at LaGrange. There, operators began accepting calls just in time for the Christmas season.

Other institutions using the "five-minute parole" are the Correctional Institute for Women at Pee-wee Valley, the Blackburn Correctional Complex, the minimum security forestry camps in Bell and Harlan counties, and the state penitentiary at Eddyville.

Rees said that although the program was operated successfully at several of the state's correctional facilities for a number of years, the final decision to adopt it as a permanent rehabilitation tool did not come until mid-1973, after it had been tried out for several months at Eddyville.

Gene Nygaard, a corrections officer who heads up the incentive program at the LaGrange reformatory, said inmates there can make their five-minute calls from four booths installed in a remodeled area of an old canteen.

Nygaard worked with the principal engineer at the LaGrange facility for six months readying the old canteen so telephone technicians could install the phones.

While the advanced age of the facility did pose some technical problems, Nygaard said, "good coordination between us and the South Central Bell people finally got the job done."

Region II Team On Drug Abuse Gets Training

The ROPES Region II Drug Abuse Education training team left Sunday for a two-week training session in Washington, D. C.

Team members include James Klein, team captain, Alcoholism and Drug Abuse regional coordinator, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center; Rickey Bartley, of Pikeville, Pikeville College student; Jim Gambill, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center; Larry Pennington, of Salyersville, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center; Theresa Lemire, of Prestonsburg, Prestonsburg Community College nursing instructor; Marshall Weems, of Pikeville, University of Kentucky student; Jackie Hampton, of Pikeville, Mayo State Vocational-Technical School student.

The training session is the culmination of months of preparation by ROPES staff members, cooperating regional agencies and the staff of the National Drug Abuse Training Center in Washington, which began with the preparation of the grant application in February, 1973, and included many agency and team member conferences and a visit from Mrs. Pat Graham, field specialist with the National Drug Abuse Training Center. Johns, who praised the cooperation and assistance received from cooperating agencies and the drug abuse training center, said, "All of us, and especially the team members, are gratified by the enthusiasm shown for this project. Our team members are eager to participate and I feel that this program will have positive benefits for Region II."

The Drug Abuse Education Project, funded by a mini-grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, provides the two-week training free of cost to participating team members. Upon their return, members will meet with the ROPES staff to plan for dissemination of information in the region.

Cooperating agencies are ROPES Region II, Pikeville Model Cities Agency, Floyd County Board of Education, Mayo State Vocational-Technical School, Floyd County Human Resources Council, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, Prestonsburg Community College, and Pikeville College.

The conference, developed through the efforts of Jaycees, state government, public and private agencies and organizations, was designed to provide reliable information on the effects of alcohol and problems associated with its misuse.

Basketball Roundup

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
The Prestonsburg Blackcats and Betsy Layne Bobcats were the only Floyd county winners in high school basketball during the past week. While Allen Central and McDowell lost two, Wheelwright lost one.

Activity for the week began Thursday night when the Virgie Eagles defeated the McDowell Daredevils, 80 to 75. McDowell traveled to Johns Creek on Friday night and lost a close one, 70 to 67. McDowell was playing without the services of Rick Roberts, who has been hospitalized.

Betsy Layne came from a seven-point deficit in the first quarter to win over Allen Central, 65 to 61. Dan Hall led the Bobcats with 29 points; however, Larry Woods and Greg Roberts put in the clinchers by scoring four points in the final minute of play. Allen Central's Don Hansford took scoring honors for both teams with 31 points.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats broke out of their three-game losing streak as they whipped Greenup County, 54 to 44. Greenup County, one of the top teams of the 16th region, came to town with an impressive 7-2 record. Earlier in the season, the Blackcats had won over Greenup County in the championship game of the Sandy Valley Conference at Greenup County.

Saturday night, Allen Central suffered its second straight loss at the hands of Greenup County. Again Allen Central lost out in the fourth quarter. The Rebels led at halftime, 30-20; going into the fourth quarter it was 44 to 33, but the Rebels just couldn't hold the lead and lost by a score of 56 to 54. Again Don Hansford led both teams by scoring 29 points.

Wheelwright travelled to Mullins Saturday night and lost by a score of 74 to 62. Isaacs had scoring honors with 20 points for the Trojans.
