New Martin Bank To Cost $500,000

First Guaranty Building Start Is Made Friday

Work began Friday on the construction for the First Guaranty Bank of Martin of a half-million-dollar bank building at the junction of KY 80 and KY 122 (the Right and Left Beaver Creek highways) at the western limits of Martin.

Sam Martin, Jr., builder in charge of the construction work, predicted that the two-story structure, one of the finest of its kind in Eastern Kentucky, will be ready for occupancy next January.

The two stories of the 60 by 120-foot brick structure will embrace an area of 14,400 square feet, all of which will be used for banking purposes. It is being built on a three-acre lot, a part of six acres of land owned by First Guaranty in that section of Martin which is reported planned for other development. Parking for 150 vehicles will be available.

The new bank will have central heat and air-conditioning and will be four times the size of First Guaranty's present building in downtown Martin.

It was the need for more space as well as the attractiveness of the new location that led bank officials to decide on a new structure. "The growth of First Guaranty demanded a larger and more modern facility to serve the vastly increasing number of our customers," Glenn C. Spradlin, president, said.

In addition to the added office space, larger bookkeeping area and teller windows, the new facility will include a kitchen and lunch area for employees, two drive-in facilities and provisions for a third if needed.

The bank was organized in May, 1946 and now has assets in excess of $20 million.

"Some of the space which we will have on the second floor may not be used, at first," Mr. Spradlin said, "but at our present rate of growth it will be needed soon."

Two Men Reported Wounded by Shots

Two men in the Prestonsburg vicinity have within the week suffered bullet wounds, but neither incident has entered the official records, since prosecution apparently is not contemplated.

Warner Willis was reported as having been shot in his hand and leg Friday night at Briarwood. City officials said no formal complaint had been lodged and that details of the shooting were not clear.

Sam Henry Fitzpatrick, Floyd county road foreman, was in a Lexington hospital this week after a bullet which he said was accidentally fired entered the fleshy portion of his left arm and passed through his left chest. The wound was not considered serious.

Four Arrested As Beer Taken

Among those arrested by law officers in the county over the week-end were four charged with liquor violations.

A search of the premises of Tivis Neeley on Salt Lick by Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis and deputies Friday netted 144 cans of beer, 16 cans malt liquor and seven half-pints of whiskey. Neeley executed bond in quarterly court. Lewis and other officers arrested Willie and Lizzie Tackett, of Tackett Branch, near Grethel Sunday on selling charges. Each was fined $42.00 by Magistrate Bill Wells. Sherman Hall, also of Tackett Branch, was charged with possession after officers found him in possession of 276 cans of beer. He was fined $42.00 by Magistrate Wells.

Citations were issued by Eugene Mullins, weights and measures officer, to four overweight coal trucks on Right Beaver Creek. Booked in Magistrate Kenneth Roberts' court were William Blake Robinson, Randall B. Adkins, Curtis E. Ratliff, and David C. Conn.

Others arrested over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Roland Scalf, drunk driving, by State Trooper E. B. Allen; Elisha Castle, drunk driving, by State Troopers Estep and Bevins; a juvenile, grand larceny (stealing copper wire), by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and State Police Detective Cor-

Figures Clear Area Of Murder Stigma

Eastern Kentucky, which has long been publicized as an area with a high murder rate, now takes a back seat in that grim department to some counties in the western end of the Commonwealth.

Lyon county with a murder rate of 10.8 per 10,000 population was Kentucky's "bloody ground" for the year 1973, according to the annual uniform crime report compiled by Kentucky State Police. The Edmondson county murder rate was 4.6 and Pendleton's was an even 4. Only Leslie in Eastern Kentucky was as high as 4.3 murders per 10,000 population.

In the five-county area served by Pikeville Post, Kentucky State Police, Floyd county had the highest murder rate with four for the year and a rate per 10,000 population of 1.1. Johnson and Knott had one murder each, for rates of .6 and .7, respectively. Pike had three with a rate of .5, and Magoffin had none.

Little Gallatin (pop. 4134) led the state in the number of reported rapes with four for a rate of 9.7 per 10,000 population. Rockcastle was next with a rate of 7.3,

This Town . . . That World

Somewhere on this desk lies something which I must recover for my own benefit. It's Earl Castle's "checklist," prepared for the fishing trip which he and others began last Sunday when they left for Kerr Reservoir. The list included exactly 50 items and ranged from spare tires to aspirin. Come to think of it, his list might not be so important to me, after all. He didn't mention either a motor ignition key or a gas tank.

IT ALL DEPENDS

Joe Creason in a recent Courier-Journal column retold the story first recounted by J. Earle Bell, Morganfield editor, which had to do with the "Happy Pappy" class which a few years ago was studying basic history.

"Who wrote 'The Star Spangled Banner'?" the teacher asked.

"I think it was Roy Acuff," one "student" volunteered.

"Now you know he didn't write it," the teacher chided.

"Maybe not," the man countered, "but of Roy shore write some good 'uns!"

Which gives me the opportunity to print the story Homer Salisbury tells of the same sort of class which was assembled, somewhere in these parts, about the same time. Only this class was dealing with Arithmetic.

"How many feet are there in a yard?" the teacher asked.

There was a momentary silence, then up rose a scholarly figure to remark, "That 'pends on how many people's in it."

VOTER WOULD BE A CITIZEN

Next Tuesday is primary election day, which reminds me that there are those who would tell you certain low fellows in these parts have been known to vote without any voting credentials—such as being alive, for example. It doesn't make our guilt any less, but we have always

Youth Is Held After Father Shot 5 Times

A 16-year-old West Garrett boy is being held in county jail here, pending outcome of the five revolver bullet wounds which he inflicted on his father, Arthur Prater, at the Prater home last Tuesday afternoon.

The wounded man was described Monday morning at the UK Medical Center, Lexington, as "a pretty sick man," but the hospital spokesman said that, barring complications, he is expected to recover.

Prater was wounded in the mouth, neck, shoulder, lower abdomen and leg by .38-calibre revolver bullets allegedly fired by his son, Charley.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo, Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and state troopers investigated the shooting. They were told that Prater had asked his son to mow the lawn and that the boy, after doing some mowing, entered the house and emerged to begin firing at his father at a distance of perhaps 100 feet while the father was rolling up the windows of his car.

Elderly Boomer Prater, father of the wounded man, told authorities that he was inside the house, saw his grandson enter the house and leave but did not suspect any trouble till he heard the shots.

Clues Missing After Company Tipple Ruined

A dynamiting incident early Sunday morning, the second in the Prestonsburg area this year, almost demolished a coal tipple at West Prestonsburg and as of Tuesday, state and federal investigators were "in the dark" as to the identity of the person or persons responsible.

The blast, which occurred at approximately 5:20 a.m., waking most city residents, caused an estimated $30,000 damage to the tipple located a few hundred yards north of the West Prestonsburg railway depot. Another "bombing" in February caused extensive damage to the offices of Harris Brothers Construction Company here. No arrest has yet been made in connection with that incident.

The tipple was being operated by the Colonial Elkhorn Coal Company which is owned by Jack Carter and C. R. Hatton, both of Prestonsburg, and Henry Hamilton, of Allen. Carter said the tipple was being rebuilt and that he hoped it would be back in operation within a week. Under the ownership of Colonial Elkhorn, the tipple had been operating four years and recently had been loading coal for the Addington Brothers Company, of Morgan county.

Barn Collapse Fatal to Boy; Brother Hurt

An 11-year-old Mud Creek boy was killed and a brother injured Sunday in the collapse of a log barn near their home on Mink Branch, near Craynor.

The victim, Anthony Howell, and his brother, 13-year-old David, were reportedly playing in the log and shingled structure when the accident occurred. The barn, described as looking "a hundred years old," collapsed, apparently without warning, and a falling log instantly killed young Howell. His brother was hospitalized with minor injuries.

The victim was a son of Lina Howell and the late Ambrose Howell, who died last year.

Survivors, other than the mother and brother, include another brother, Clifford, at home; three half-brothers, Green Howell, of Galveston, Mervin Howell, of Pikeville, and Edwin Howell, of Albany, Michigan; two sisters, Susan and Lona Howell, both of Craynor, and four half-sisters, Mrs. Molly Gillespie, Craynor, Mrs. Alice Adams, of Galveston, and Mrs. Dolly White and Mrs. Minnie Ramsey, both of Racine, Wisconsin.

Funeral services will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 10 a.m. at the home with ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be made in the Howell cemetery on Island Creek, Pike county, under the direction of J. W. Call & Sons Funeral Home.

Yes, Virginia, There's a Primary

Kentucky, which thrives on a rousing political row, will have to wait till the November campaign to get one this year.

Next Tuesday's primary election belongs in the "foregone conclusion" category as neither Governor Wendell Ford, Democrat, nor U. S. Senator Marlow Cook, Republican, face any real opposition for their parties' nominations for the Senate. And Congressman Carl D. Perkins has no opponent for the Democratic nomination.

Cook's opposition consists of the perennial candidate, Thurman Jerome Hamlin, of London, Ky., and T. William Klein, of Louisville.

Equally weak is Ford's opposition for the Democratic nomination for the Senate—Harvey Edw. Brazin, of Frankfort.

Leaders of both parties, however, were urging voters this week not to neglect the matter of voting in the primary. Neglecting to vote is a bad habit to form, they say, pointing out that primary support, even if it isn't urgent, is an expression of voters' appreciation of services rendered by those seeking office.

Yet the voters may stay away from the polls in droves.

Ky. Fails To Enforce Strip Laws, ARC Told

A two-year study by two private consulting firms which concludes that Kentucky has often been lax in enforcing strip-mining regulation in this part of the state was released Monday by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The report said laws governing surface mining and land reclamation "are not being administered consistently in Eastern Kentucky."

The report said that a law enacted in Kentucky in 1966 was hailed at that time as the strongest surface mining legislation in the United States. But, the report added, "the recent dramatic growth in Eastern Kentucky surface mining has virtually obliterated many of the gains made since 1966."

An inability to detect all violations, inadequate funding and lack of decisiveness in acting against major violators were cited in the study as major contributors to the problem.

The report recommended an overhaul in the procedures followed by the Kentucky Division of Reclamation, the state agency which oversees strip mining operations.

The study also concluded that strip mining can be made compatible with the environment if certain steps are taken to modernize mining and reclamation techniques, as well as beefing up the state's enforcement program.

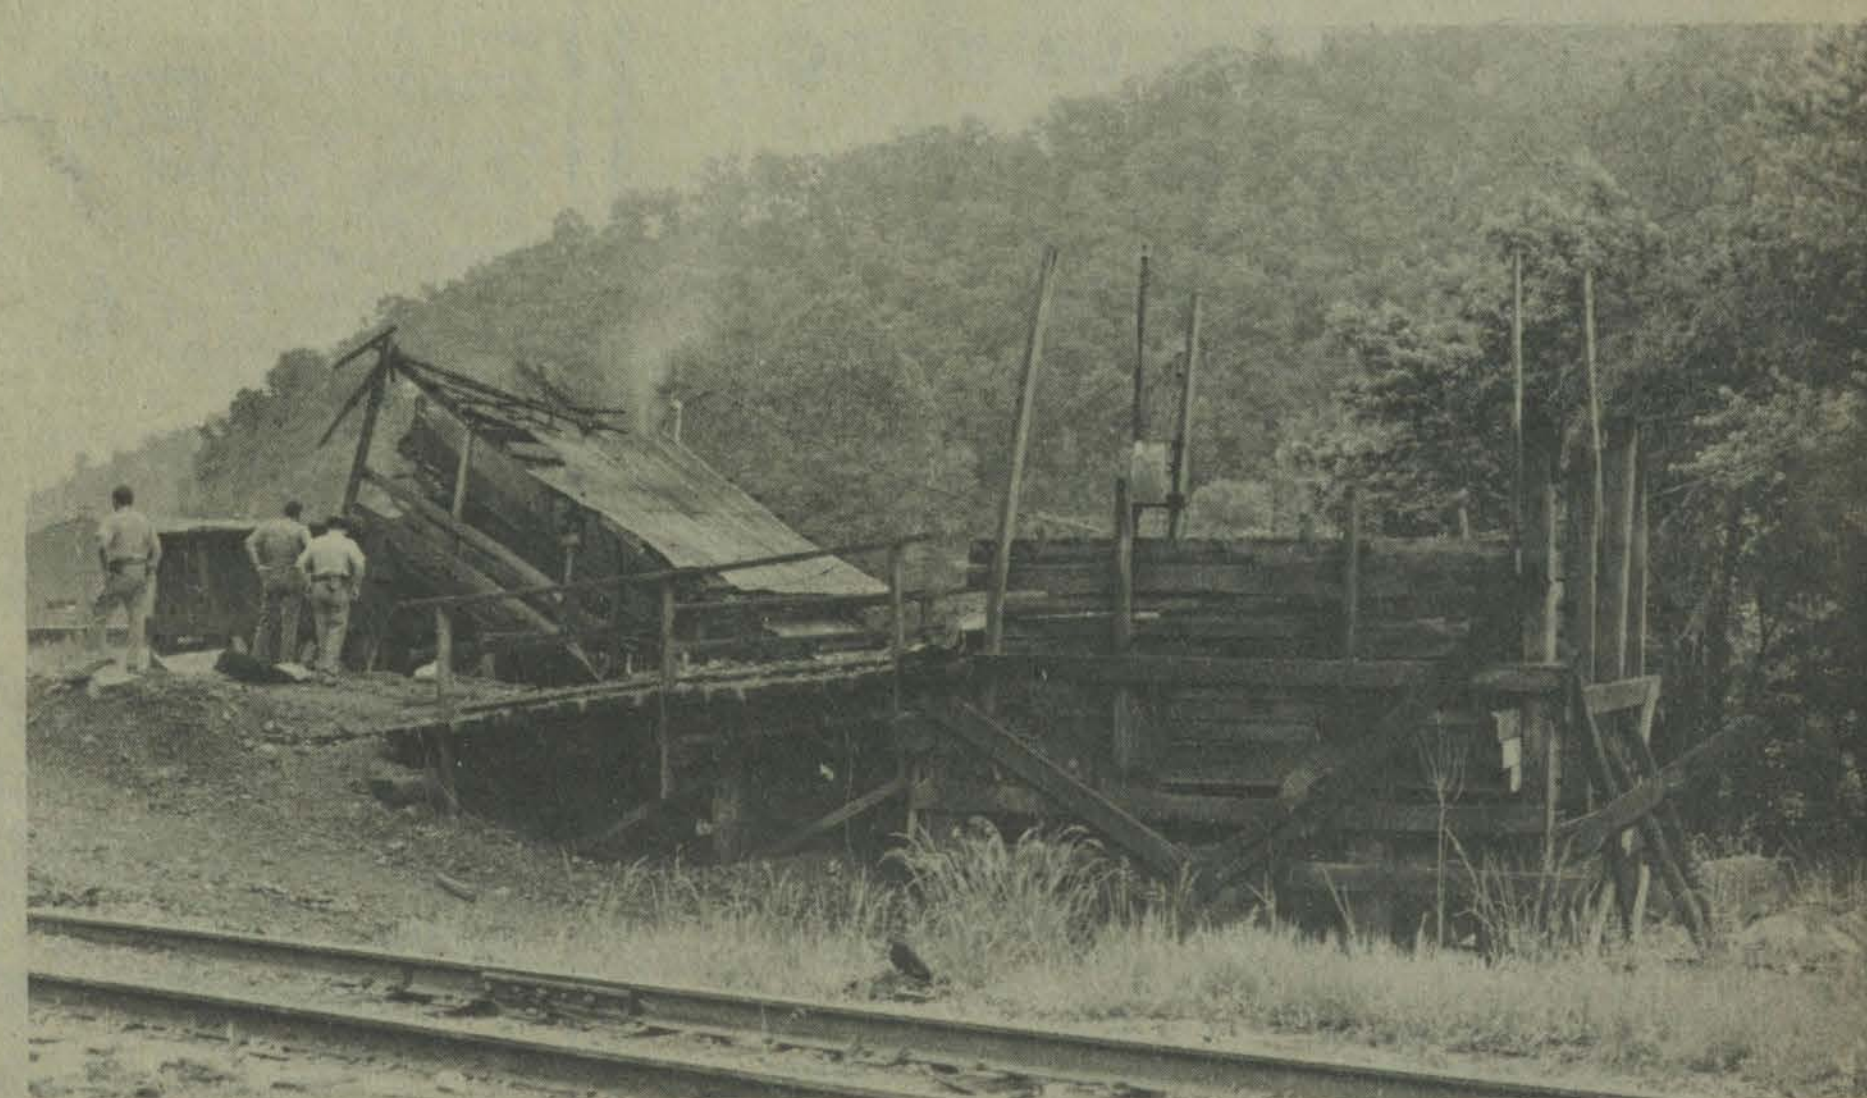

Here is a summary of the major findings and recommendations in the study:

1. The Kentucky Division of Reclamation "has not acted decisively in cases involving the few irresponsible surface mine operators that operate in Eastern Kentucky." The study recommended that the division "commit itself to taking decisive action" in the future.

2. The division's budget is inadequate for proper inspection and enforcement.

DWALE DUMP CLEANUP ASKED

The Allen Women's Club held its May meeting at the home of Delores Smith. Mrs. Fred Hall, guest at the meeting, asked that the club start a project to clean up the biggest community eyesore, the dump on the Dwale hill.

Other business conducted by Sue Frost, president, pertained to the pageant sponsored by the club. It was announced that the Little Miss Kentucky will be held, sometime this month.

The club is donating to the Prestonsburg College Scholarship Fund. This donation will be used by someone in this area if needed.

This month, the club will be helping in the Red Cross drive. Members will be out collecting, Thursday, May 16.

Green Stamps collected by the club were sent in to be used for a kidney dialysis machine. These machines are to be placed where needed.

Conservation Awards To Be Made Friday

The Floyd County Conservation District's Annual Awards Banquet will be held Friday at 7 p.m. at the Martin Elementary School.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Glen E. Murray, state conservationist U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will be featured as guest speakers on the program following the dinner.

Representative Perkins is the dean of the Kentucky delegation in the United States Congress. He has been a leading spokesman for soil and water conservation programs and for the development of our natural resources.

Mr. Murray has served as state conservationist for the USDA, Soil Conservation Service in Kentucky since July, 1969. Before coming to Kentucky, he had served as deputy state conservationist at Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Highlighting the banquet will be presentation of individual awards by the district supervisors. Forty-eight students will receive cash awards. Six schools will receive trophies for having the highest percentage of participation and two teachers will receive honor certificates.

The dinner meeting is closed to guests receiving special invitations.

Citations Many, Few Convicted

Officers of the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation have issued a total of 23 citations to operators of overweight coal trucks in Martin county during the period covered by that state agency's most recent report, March 25-April 26.

This brings the total number of coal trucks cited for overweight hauling in Martin County this year (total includes the last week of 1973) to 27.

The total number of citations issued statewide for overweight coal trucks (most of which were cited in Eastern Kentucky) so far in 1974 is 676.

Bureau of Vehicle Regulation Commissioner O. B. Arnold said, "Although we get practically no convictions in the Eastern Kentucky coal counties where the overweight coal trucks are doing the most extensive damage to the roads, our officers will continue to enforce the weight limit laws by continuing to write citations whenever violations are detected."

Camp Shawnee Gets Inspection

To assure the health and safety of Scouts who attend camp Shawnee, the summer long-term camp of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, a preopening inspection was conducted last Wednesday by council officials.

Camp Shawnee will open Saturday, June 15 for three weeks with an expected attendance of 300 Scouts and leaders from more than 20 troops throughout the council.

The inspection covered food service, dishwashing, refrigeration, food storage, sleeping quarters, first aid equipment, latrines, water supply, aquatic facilities and equipment, fire-fighting equipment, camp vehicles, maintenance equipment and storage, and buildings.

Conducting the inspection were Camping Chairman Arthur Leach, a forester with the Kentucky Division of Forestry, Scout Executive John Fanning, Camp Ranger Jim Sherman and District Scout Executives Greg Cohen and Mike Watkins.

Another inspection during June will be held by representatives of the Southeast Region of the Boy Scouts of America covering camp staff qualifications and training program, troop sites, and national health and safety standards, Leach said.

Additional information about sending boys between ages 11-16 to Camp Shawnee may be obtained by writing the council office at P. O. Box 110, Pikeville, Ky. 41501 or by visiting the council office located in the Rogers building, downtown Pikeville.

Try To Put Humpty-Dumpty Together Again

The Appalachian Regional Commission has decided to stress coal production in its planning for the region known as Appalachia.

This, perhaps, is a sound choice of priorities for the present. The nation has an urgent need for coal. Coal may be the only means of U. S. fuel self-sufficiency. And several states of the Appalachian region, including Kentucky, produce a high grade of bituminous coal.

The economy of wide sections of these states is almost pitifully dependent upon coal, and so we all have an interest, vested or otherwise, in the industry. We hail its contributions to the nation in normal times as well as in days of crisis. We wish it well.

But the ARC, like so many of us individuals, may be failing to look beyond the present in its study of the regional economy.

Eastern Kentucky coal reserves, for instance, are far from inexhaustible. What for the region after the coal is gone? Floyd county is an alarming example of what may lie ahead.

This county has no large, undeveloped coal lands remaining to attract underground mining. Smaller tracts remain but these are not sufficient to justify the expenditure of millions in a modern-day mining venture which would include tipple, preparation plant and the like. Small "truck" mines may operate profitably in such small "blocks" of coal, but unless coal deposits are developed by shaft or slope mining, major coal mines in this county cannot be expected ever again.

Only the mountaintop coal or thin seams along the steep hillsides remain, and these are being strip-mined. There lies the future of coal in Floyd county. And at the present rate of strip-ping, it may all be gone within another five years.

What then? Has ARC given any serious thought to such a situation? Surely, it doesn't regard a county such as this, or an area such as this, no more than the sacrificial lamb, to be offered up for the nation and then forgotten. Its thinking, we would like to believe, would envision more than denuded hillsides, silt-choked streams and a wasteland to be filled with acid waters.

ARC, then, should consider, among other matters, emphatic, purposeful action to help Appalachia in the decades that hopefully lie ahead.

1. It should immediately throw its influence and resources into providing new industries for areas which, one day, could have no industry. The few manufacturing plants which have located in Eastern Kentucky have discovered a giant labor pool, and those in the great industrial centers of the country have found Eastern Kentuckians to be among their best workers. Industrial sites, access to such sites which are already available, encouragement to varied industry to come into counties such as this—these are needed from ARC. People must work to live after the coal is gone.

2. ARC should begin now to plan a giant reclamation project to make the region habitable after the shovels and bulldozers have departed these hillsides. It is obvious that neither state nor federal government will ever afford the protection that this rugged land needs. Both talk a great game, but when the chips are down they strike out, ingloriously. Technicians, skilled workers, laborers by the thousands would be needed for the Herculean task.

It may not seem fair for taxes from states untouched by devastation to help pay the cost of such an undertaking, but the coal is going to the benefit of the nation, and whatever can be done to restore the area must be done.

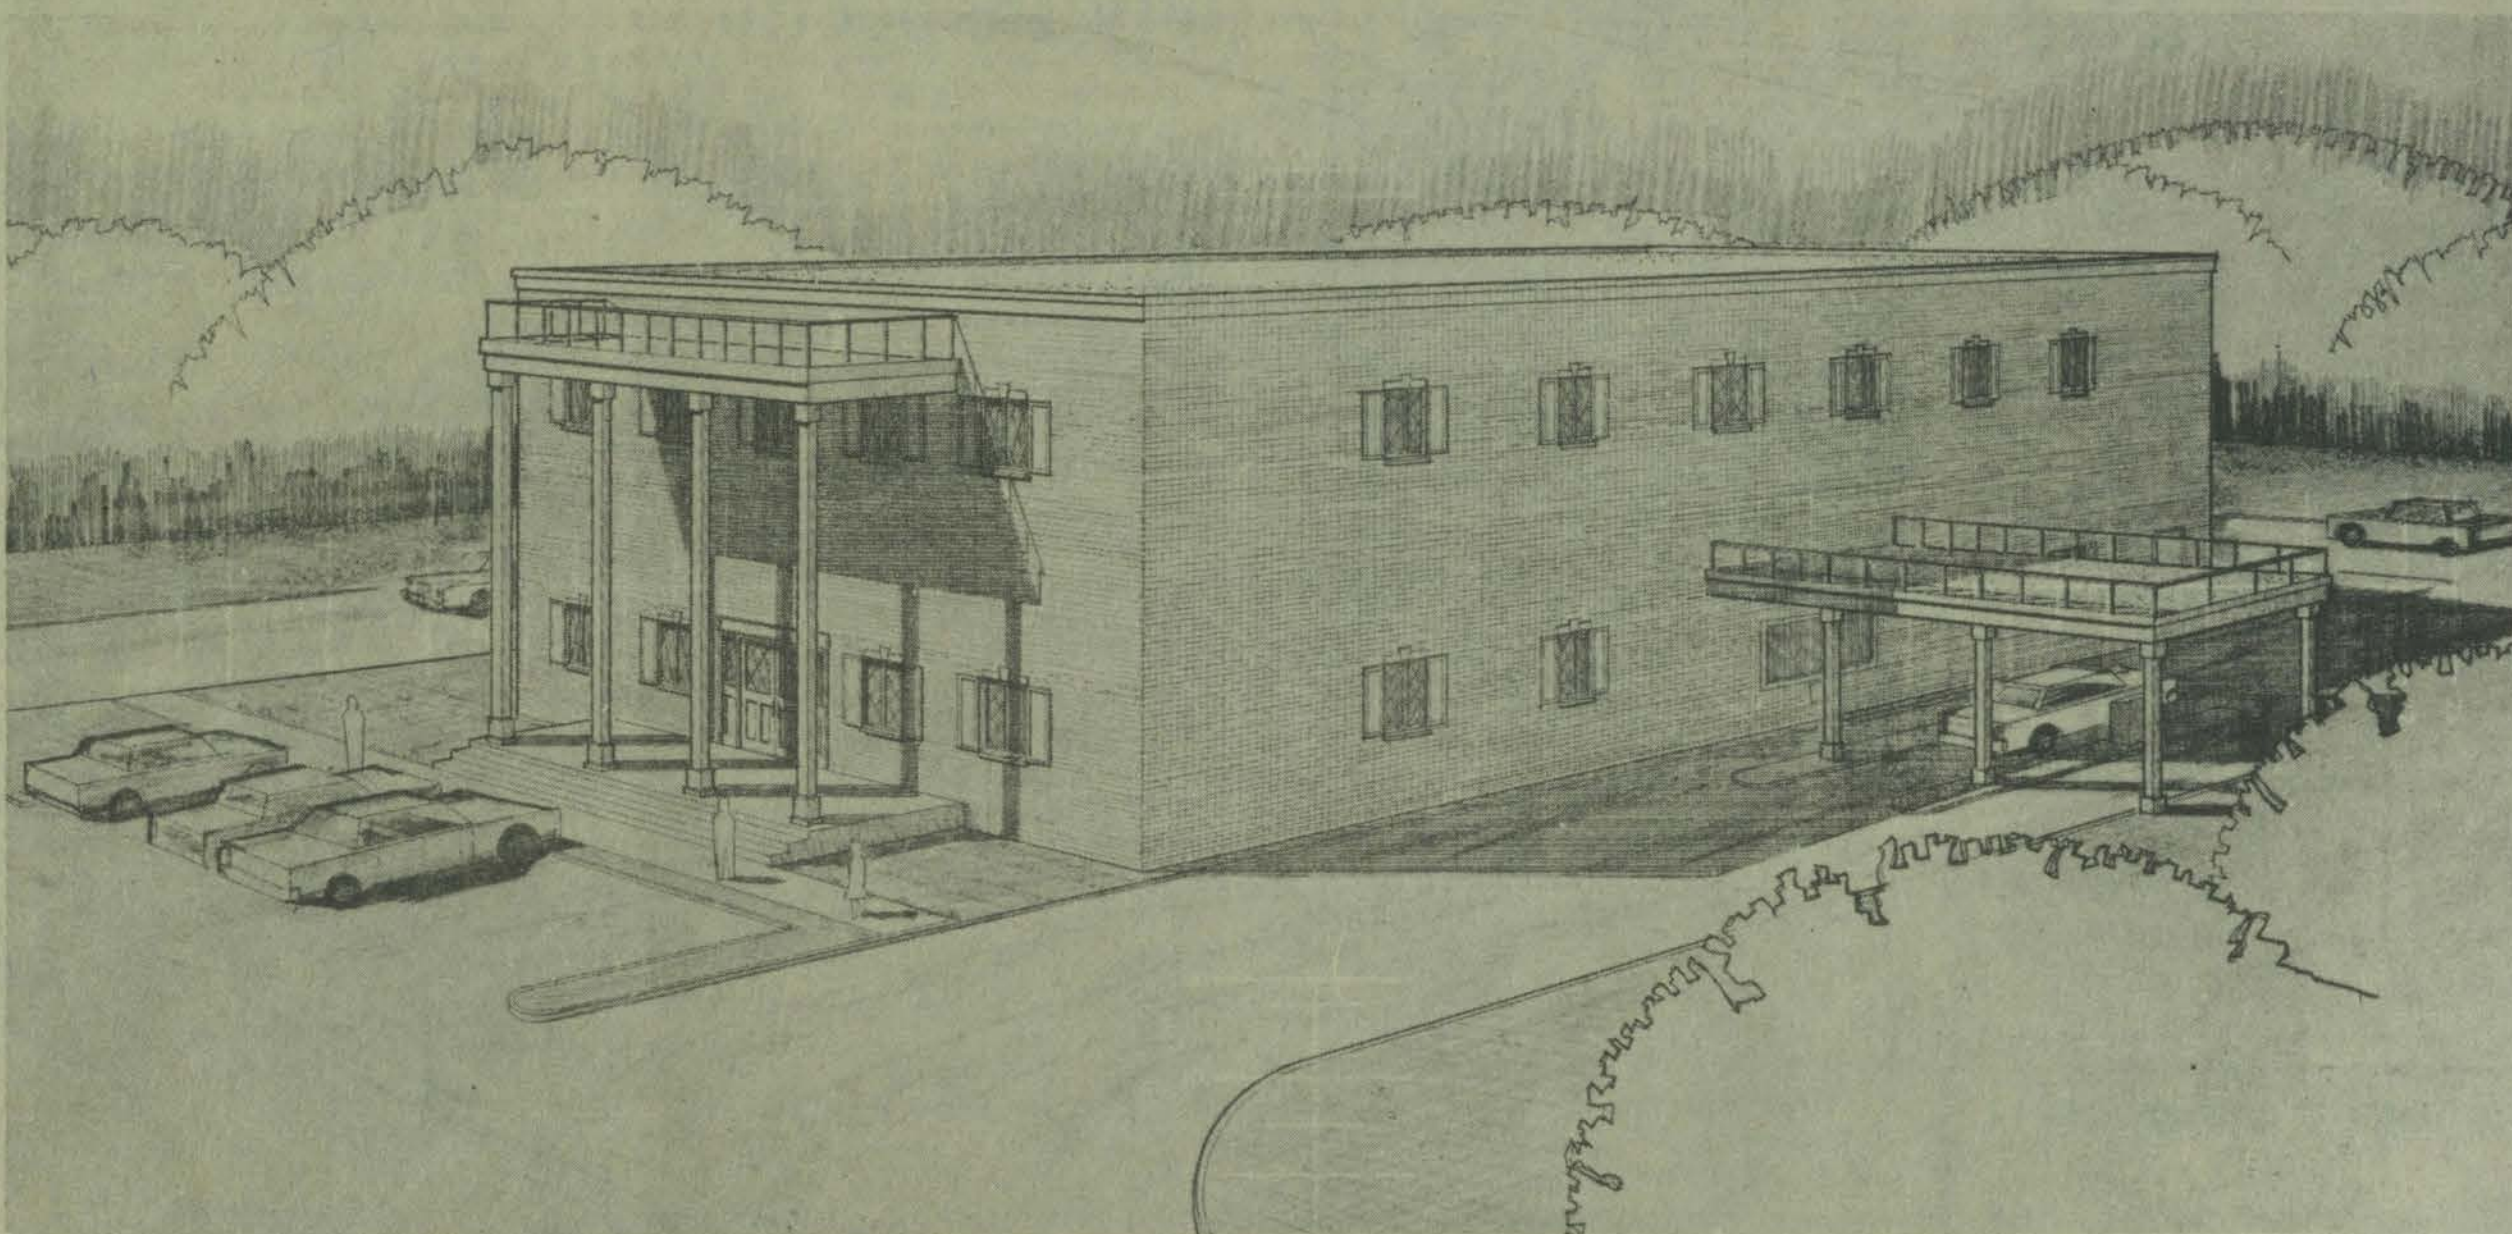

It's true, you can't put Humpty-Dumpty together again. But, please, won't somebody try?

Shrine Units Thank People

On behalf of the Floyd County Trail 70's and 750's motor units of Oleika Temple, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the wonderful and most generous people of Floyd and surrounding counties for their donations to our newspaper sale. Your generosity gave our units the money we needed to out-sell any other unit or club of Oleika Temple. This is the third consecutive year that you have made it possible for our units to win the newspaper sale trophy.

Navajo Squaws Thank Business Firms for Gifts

The Navajo Squaws would like to thank the following people in the Prestonsburg area for their nice gifts which will brighten the drab lives of a few little Indian boys and girls on one of three reservations in Arizona. Christmas was a little brighter for each.

Thank you, Mr. Music, of Music-Carter-Hughes, for your gift of the nice little sewing kits, combs, pencils and the 15-pound box of candy; Mr. Lafferty, of E. & D. Motors for the very, very nice check; Mr. Vance, of Vance Volkswagen, for the lovely tops, ball point pens, billfolds and rain hats; Mr. Spurlock, of The First National bank, for the more than 250 items consisting of pens, pencils, key rings and rulers; the manager of Princess Mfg. Co., of Auxier, for all the many, many needed items, including buttons, snaps, laces, etc.

The Navajo Squaws is a group of women of different church affiliations. Having a love of God and missionary work in their hearts, they have pooled their talents, energy money, time and ingenuity freely for the good of the Indians. None are Indians themselves.

We invite and need any and all who will join and help. Any article of clothing, new or used, for men, women or children is needed. Items may be sent to the president, Mrs. Ed (Helen) Walgren, O. P. Box 214, Dolan Springs, Ariz. 86411. For further information, call a local member at 886-6384.

Thanks for Support Of Easter Seal Campaign

Editor, The Times:

As chairman of the 1974 Easter Seal campaign in Floyd county, I want to use the medium of your columns to thank all the wonderful people and organizations who contributed to the campaign in so many ways.

In addition to all those who gave money, there were a great many who also gave of their time and talents. Special thanks are due to your newspaper and to Radio Stations WDOC & WPRT whose fine coverage of the campaign was invaluable.

Although our main appeal for support is in the spring, the work of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults is carried out every day of the year, so it's never too late to give to help crippled children.

Those interested are invited to visit any of the Easter Seal centers to see for themselves the wonderful work made possible by financial support of Easter Seals.

$620,000 Available For College Students

Gov. Wendell H. Ford has announced that $620,000 in state money is expected to be available for needy Kentucky college students this fall. Ford said eligible Kentucky residents could qualify for non-repayment grants of up to $400 a year. Guidelines for the new program will be developed by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority. Funding for the program will be on a matching basis between state and federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Each would allocate $310,000, with the state's matching grant coming from anticipated surplus revenue. The program is authorized under Title IV of the federal Higher Education Act of 1964.

Californian Plans Picnic For East Kentuckians

Editor, The Times:

I have heard it said that once a person lives in the wonderful mountain section of Eastern Kentucky he either lives there all his life or, if through necessity he has to leave that wonderful part of our good United States, he never forgets it. I most certainly have found that true. I firmly believe that the best of "God's children" are the native-born Eastern Kentuckians.

In reading my local paper, "The Union," here in Sacramento, I ran across a little item that might interest you.

It seems that Mrs. Sue Ingram, a native of Sacramento, went to Frenchburg, Ky. last year with her husband for a one-month visit to his native Eastern Kentucky and fell so much in love with her husband's people that she has gone to a lot of trouble and expense and time to arrange a picnic for all Eastern Kentucky people in this area. In fact, she told me she and her husband are planning to sell the home here and move to a place where people are still people. I am sending the clipping to you and if any of the good Eastern Kentucky people happen to be in this area around the last of June, tell them to either contact Mrs. Sue Ingram (telephone 456-5364) or call me at 363-9697 Sacramento. Mrs. Ingram also said if someone wants more information to write to her at 4320 60th Street, Sacramento, Calif. 95820.

Says Citizens Center Needs Public Support

Editor, The Times:

With modern medicine there are more and more old people, I understand. Now, I am one. I have waited sixty years to have time to collect recipes, draw pictures, crochet rugs, write a book, work with clay, etc., ad infinitum. Oh, and I must lose 100 pounds! I kept putting it off—oh, me!

Well, along comes this wonderful opportunity to do things with Senior Citizens at Archer Park. Three weeks our group has mostly talked and eaten. We need help and to be organized. Oh, my goodness! If that's all we do—my goose is cooked.

Glenda Hall, of Bypro, is in charge; Dee Burchett, secretary, and Mr. Harmon drives the bus. Ermine Hall is on the board, as I understand it. Jemima Shumate is "chief instigator."

Let's back these people up, folks. Getting together is fine. We are bound to do somebody some good. We need you. What can we do to help make your retirement more than just bearable? Let's enjoy it.

CAROLINE S. JONES
 Bevinville, Ky.

P.S. Mrs. Grace Burke demonstrated at each of two meetings—once on dried flowers and their arrangement and once on arranging artificial flowers. We all enjoyed Mrs. Burke's presentation and noted her special interest in her church. At the same time Mrs. Lula Wallen, Mrs. Kitty Rowland, Mrs. Jemima Shumate, Mrs. Thelma Autore and Mrs. Hazel Crisp cut out hats of gay cotton prints for themselves and one for me. Mrs. Rosy Hall ('twas her first visit) was much impressed by everyone's friendliness.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30 and 40 years ago)

Ten Years Ago

(May 28, 1964)

Every opportunity will be given the 1964 crop of high school graduates to take advantage of the facilities of the Prestonsburg Community College when it opens in September, and so student applications will be taken beyond the previously announced deadline. . . . Although the first and second floors of the new courthouse will be completed within the next 10 days, the structure may not be occupied by county offices before mid-summer, it was indicated this week. . . . The chairmanship of the Republican party in this county was won Saturday by J. L. (Jack) Hyden, of Prestonsburg. . . . Congressman Carl D. Perkins won the Democratic nomination for the Seventh district Congressional post with the greatest of ease Tuesday, and at the same time former Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, of Prestonsburg, was emerging a decisive winner in a six-candidate race for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge from the Seventh district. . . . The Prestonsburg strawberry processing plant, which began operation here three years ago, had received 2,700 crates by Tuesday evening, it was said by plant owner Carl Abbott. . . . 602 high school seniors received diplomas this week during graduation exercises at each of Floyd county's high schools. . . . There died: Mrs. Cynthia M. Porter, 95, last Wednesday at her home on Third street here; John R. Jarvis, 76, of Endicott, dead on arrival at Prestonsburg General hospital Thursday; Charles F. Burnett, 77, of Wayland, Monday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Samuel B. Reed, 71, of Wayland, Monday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Rev. Tona Hall, 63, Sunday at his home at Hippo; Mrs. Lora Wells, 56, of Auxier, Monday at a Lexington hospital; Harry Prater, 78, formerly of Floyd county, Friday at his home in Akron, Indiana; Harold D. Hall, 43, former resident of this county, May 21 at Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Abbott, native of Floyd county, May 20 at an Ashland hospital.

(Files from Twenty Years Ago missing)

Thirty Years Ago

(May 25, 1944)

Floyd county's Honor Roll in the courthouse yard here, bearing the names of more than 4,000 young men in the nation's armed forces, will be dedicated May 30. . . . The Adjutant General's office has confirmed the death of Pfc. Douglas Vaughan, of Prestonsburg, in the sinking of a troop transport ship in the Mediterranean. . . . S-Sgt. Jay Joyce, of Wayland, first listed as missing after the Flying Fortress on which he was radio operator had been shot down, is now known to be a German prisoner of war. . . . There died: Mrs. Josie B. Harris, 63, Floyd teaching veteran, at the Prestonsburg General hospital last Thursday; Mrs. Louise Greer Culbertson, 32, of Prestonsburg, this morning (Thursday) at a Paintsville hospital; Mrs. Darcus Bingham, 78, today at her home near Cliff; Alfred Parsons, 38, Amba postmaster, Saturday at a Martin hospital.

Forty Years Ago

(May 25, 1934)

Walter Johnson, 19, was fatally wounded by gunfire Saturday at Melvin. . . . Earl Allen, 27, of Garrett, suffered a spinal fracture Monday in a slatefall inside a mine of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland. . . . J. D. Harkins, Jr., of Prestonsburg, will, because of an outstanding scholastic record, be a member of the Court of Honor at next month's commencement at the University of Michigan. . . . The J. W. Western Shows and Bud Hawkins will return to Prestonsburg next month. . . . Three Floyd County Board of Education members and a number of county teachers joined in the demonstration at Frankfort Monday in support of the sales tax. . . . Plot of Garrett high school's senior class play dealing with the theft of proceeds derived from the presentation of a college play obviously appealed to somebody. The night after the play, "The College Hobo," was presented, the "gate" amounting to $55.75 was stolen from the school office. . . . There died: G. C. Fitzpatrick, 49, Saturday, at Garrett; Mrs. W. E. Perry, 70, mother of Mrs. Valentine P. Hopkins, of Prestonsburg, May 14 at Danville.

Veterans Who Travel Should Check Benefits

The Veterans Administration cautions veterans who plan to travel or establish residence abroad to be sure to check on availability of benefits before departure.

A "must" for your travel kit, VA advises, is a statement of service connected conditions issued by VA offices which maintain the veteran's medical records. Then, should a need for medical care arise, the statement, together with an application for medical benefits, may be presented to the American embassy or consular office in country of travel or residence.

In an emergency an eligible veteran is entitled to VA-paid hospitalization if he or a representative notifies the embassy or consular office within 72 hours after the hospitalization begins. Notification of outpatient treatment must be made within 15 days.

Only in the Philippines at the Veterans Memorial Hospital in Manila is care available to veterans with both service connected and nonservice connected disabilities. As in the United States, however, veterans with nonservice connected disabilities are eligible on a space available basis, and only if they are unable to defray expenses.

Retired servicemen are eligible for medical benefits from military hospitals and clinics.

GI home loans are not available to veterans living in foreign countries, but compensation and pension checks may be mailed to all overseas addresses except those in certain "blocked" countries.

Veterans traveling in foreign countries should maintain stateside mailing addresses, where possible, to insure prompt receipt of checks, VA officials warned.

Big-Bone—20,000 Yrs. of History

By DAVID KENNAMER

Embedded in a small patch of Northern Kentucky soil—soil that was at one time so unstable that the impact of a man walking would cause the earth to shake for many acres all around—is 20,000 years of history.

This is Big Bone Lick State Park, a recreational area 20 miles southwest of Cincinnati and two miles east of the Ohio River, which was the first widely known location for the collection of prehistoric animal bones in North America.

A large salt lick created by sulphur springs attracted massive mammals being driven south by the advance of the Ice Age glaciers. The boggy earth—or "jelly-land" as it was once called—trapped the animals, their dying bodies slowly sinking into the bog where their bones were preserved, a record of prehistoric mammal life.

Since 1960 the bog, the salt lick and the hills surrounding them have been included in a state park, now 512 acres large, with well-groomed campgrounds and picnic areas, and well-equipped recreation facilities.

The park was visited by nearly 250,000 people last year, most of whom came to enjoy its recreational possibilities without realizing the area's true significance—its natural history, which holds much to fascinate all who visit, vacationers and scientists alike.

To answer some of the questions visitors invariably ask, the state Department of Parks has embarked upon a development plan for Big Bone Lick that promises to turn the park into an area of great educational interest and value.

A museum, already open, and a diorama to be completed by mid-summer, will explain what the area looked like 20,000 years ago and the reasons for its existence and significance.

A path will take visitors through the remainder of the bog, past a reconstructed Indian village, a model "dig," explanations of both vertebrate and invertebrate fossils, a platform surrounding the sulphur spring, a reconstruction of a pioneer salt works, an explanation of pre-Ice Age rivers describing the formation of the area's hills and valleys, and life-size models of Ice Age mammoth and bison.

A considerable amount of human history is also represented at Big Bone Lick. Just as the salt attracted animals, the animals attracted the primitive people inhabiting this part of North America in prehistoric times.

And just as the bones were preserved in the bog, so were tools and implements fashioned by these people. Excavations have even uncovered what appears to be a kill site where a group of hunters felled one of the large bison trapped there.

Park officials plan to allow the area surrounding the new diorama to grow wild, in hopes it will appear as it did when mastodons and mammoths, betrayed by their craving for salt, fell prey to the disguised dangers of what came to be known as Big Bone Lick.

PLAN ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM

This Saturday (May 25) at Eastern is the date for another annual Achievement program of the Joy Bible Club. This very unique program is presented by the boys and girls of the club and they invite everyone to attend. Highlighting the evening will be songs, stories, contests, verses, etc. Awards will also be presented.

Miss Harried Handloghien of Venezuela South America will be the guest of the evening. She will be showing curios and films of that land. She is currently working with the Spanish speaking people of the Grand Rapids area. A special gift will be presented to her from the children of this area. Refreshments will be served, plenty of seats available. This Achievement program is to be held in the home of Miss Barbara Wynsma and Lois Holmquist, of Eastern, which is across from Allen Central High School. The time is 7 o'clock.

Combine Fun-Safety In Holiday Week-end

To make sure your Memorial Day week-end this year is a memorable one—for the pleasures it brings rather than the disasters that could occur—take these tips from the Floyd County Health Department.

Last year 17 deaths occurred in 13 accidents on Kentucky highways during the three-day Memorial Day week-end. If you're planning a trip, you can help avoid similar disaster by seeing that tires, brakes, lights and other parts of your vehicle are in good operating condition. Make sure you have a first-aid kit in your glove compartment and a first-aid manual, too.

If you're picnicking, plan to take foods that travel well. Cooked meats such as meat loaf, fried chicken and hamburgers must be refrigerated unless they are to be eaten within two hours of cooking. Celery and carrot sticks, radishes, green onions and other raw vegetables are good picnic travelers, and canned or fresh fruit juices and bottled drinks are safe picnic beverages.

Memorial Day weather traditionally borders just on the edge of the good old summertime-type. Chances are the sun will put in a strong appearance, so be prepared with plenty of suntan oil or lotion. Go easy if it's your first outing of the season. Too much sun can cause sunstroke or heat exhaustion in addition to a painful burn.

If boating and swimming are in the agenda, use common sense about safety. Avoid mishaps by checking your boat before taking it out and making sure all passengers wear life preservers. It's a good idea not to swim alone and to stay out of real deep water.

Observing these rules and using some common sense about preventing accidents should make your holiday week-end safe and happy!

... and it's another great year—our 200th!

To our unspoiled recreation treasure in America's heartland we've added Bicentennial excitement... making Kentucky your family's best vacation bet!

Mrs. Charlotte Fisher Cole, 91, of Weeksbury, died last Friday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital. A daughter of the late Isaac and Hannah Olds Fisher, she was a native of Alabama, born March 9, 1883. A member of the Free Will Baptist Church, she was the widow of Joe Cole.

Among her survivors are two neices in Alabama.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) at the Community Center in Weeksbury by Deacon Terry. Burial will be made in Middlesboro under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Minnie E. Whitaker

Mrs. Minnie England Whitaker, 70, was found dead at her home at Ivyton Friday evening when neighbors became concerned about her. She was last seen Thursday evening and is believed to have died either that night or Friday morning. She had suffered from diabetes and heart disease for some time.

Born May 7, 1904, she was a daughter of the late Richard and Haley England. Her husband, Lewis Whitaker, died February 2.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Martha Hackworth, of Pyramid, 11 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m., Sunday, at Carter Funeral chapel by the Revs. Oscar Prater, Adam Marshall, Herald Whitaker. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery here.

The state's new open meetings law will not apply to the Kentucky Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission, according to an attorney general's opinion. Responding to a query from commission executive director Mrs. Iris R. Barrett, Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock said the commission is a quasijudicial panel and not a public agency as defined by the law. Most state agencies will be required to hold open meetings when the bill becomes effective June 21.

Summer Programs For Youths Slated

The Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program has announced plans to operate Summer Youth Programs in 22 Eastern Kentucky counties.

This program affords area disadvantaged youth (ages 14-21) the opportunity to earn a wage and acquire valuable work experience and, at the same time, contribute to needed community services. Non-profit public and private agencies are being urged to use these young workers. Responsibility for recruiting youth and operating the program will be delegated to local Boards of Education and Community Action agencies. The youth will be paid an hourly wage through funds made available through the U. S. Department of Labor. The Summer Youth Program will begin at the close of this school year.

The counties eligible for participation are Floyd, Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike, and Wolfe.

Veteran Educator Dies at Lexington

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here for veteran teacher and school administrator, James William Salisbury, of Printer, who died Monday morning at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington. He was 61 years old.

A son of the late James Pendleton Salisbury and Chaddie Halbert Salisbury, he was born March 22, 1913 in Prestonsburg. Mr. Salisbury began his work as an educator shortly after graduation from the University of Kentucky in 1935 when he began teaching at Martin. He remained there until 1939 when he went to Wheelwright where he taught for one year. He also taught at Garrett from 1940 to 1942, after which he was principal of the Auxier school from 1942 to 1945. He then went to Martin where he was principal from 1945 until 1964, when he became director of transportation and supervisor of adult education for the Floyd county school system. He served in this capacity until his death. Mr. Salisbury was a outspoken champion of those who wished to better themselves through education, and under his supervision hundreds of adults in this county and adjoining areas earned their high school equivalency certificates. He was a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Marie Stephens Salisbury; four sons, James David and Phillip Edward Salisbury, both of Catlettsburg, Timothy J. Salisbury, of Printer, William Terry Salisbury, of Norvall, Mich.; two daughters, Chaddy Lou Hardwick, of Parma, Mich., and Mrs. Judith Stewart, of Catlettsburg; two brothers, Homer Salisbury, of Prestonsburg, and Dr. Jack Salisbury, of Frankfort; six sisters, Mrs. Bess S. May, Mrs. Ruth May, Mrs. Judy Clark, Mrs. Kitty Sandige, Mrs. Maude Mayo, and Mrs. Ethel Cross, all of Prestonsburg, and 12 grandchildren.

Burial will be made in the Porter cemetery at Cliff under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers are Dr. H. G. Salisbury, Jr., Dr. Robert J. Salisbury, Claude Salisbury, Herbert Salisbury, III, Henry Louis Mayo, Jr., James S. Mayo, James A. May, James L. Williams, William O. Goebel, Jr., Jack Hyden, Jack Clark Hyden, Astor Meade, Michael Meade, Robert Lee Salisbury, Richard Wiley, Ben Ferguson, Jr., Dorsey and Johnny Ferguson, Bob Porter, Donald Stephens, James B. Friend, Fred Cochran.

A significant shift is expected by 1985 toward fewer jobs in goods-producing industries and more in service industries, according to the 1974-75 Occupational Outlook Handbook, published by the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Jack Allen, would like to express appreciation to all our friends and relatives who offered condolence upon his passing. We would especially like to thank those who sent flowers, made contributions to organizations, and gave gifts of food. The services of the home health nurses were invaluable during the time of our dear one's illness and confinement at home.

To Rev. W. D. Jaggars and Rev. Ira McMillen we will be forever grateful for their kind words and consideration in our time of loss and sadness.

My Name Is BRAZIN

and I'm the other Democratic candidate for U. S. Senate. I entered the race because I thought that at least one person should stand up and say that professional politicians, political machines, and special interest groups have combined in a way that is not in the best interests of the country. What the country really needs badly is a lot more interested people and a lot less professional politicians.

If you feel the way I do, you've now got a chance to say so by coming out and voting next Tuesday. There is likely to be a very light voter turnout and your vote will probably count for more than it has in a long time. If you feel that politics could stand a good house cleaning, get your friends together, come out and vote and we'll start cleaning house together.

40 ways not to be fuelish.

Give your furnace an efficiency check-up, to make sure it's not wasting fuel.

- 1 Adjust your home thermostat to the recommended fuel-saving temperatures: between 65 and 68 degrees during the day. Down to 55-60 degrees at night.
- 2 Make 50 miles per hour your top speed when driving. On the average your best mileage happens around 35 mph.
- 3 Turn off lights, electrical appliances and TV sets when you're finished with them. Unplug instant-on TVs.
- 4 Start or join a carpool. And when you use your car, use it efficiently. Combine trips to the supermarket, the drug-store, the bank, etc., and make one clean sweep.
- 5 Drive at a steady speed, accelerating and slowing gradually. Especially avoid "jackrabbit" starts. They really eat up gas.
- 6 Don't idle your engine more than two minutes.
- 7 Avoid congested traffic. That kind of stop and go driving consumes gas quickly and adds to air pollution. Plan trips for off-hours.
- 8 Have your home's heating system checked to make sure it's operating at peak efficiency.
- 9 Install a humidifier on your heating system. Humidified air is comfortable at substantially lower temperatures than dry air and healthier for you.
- 10 Close off any areas of your home that don't require heat all the time. Guest rooms, for example.

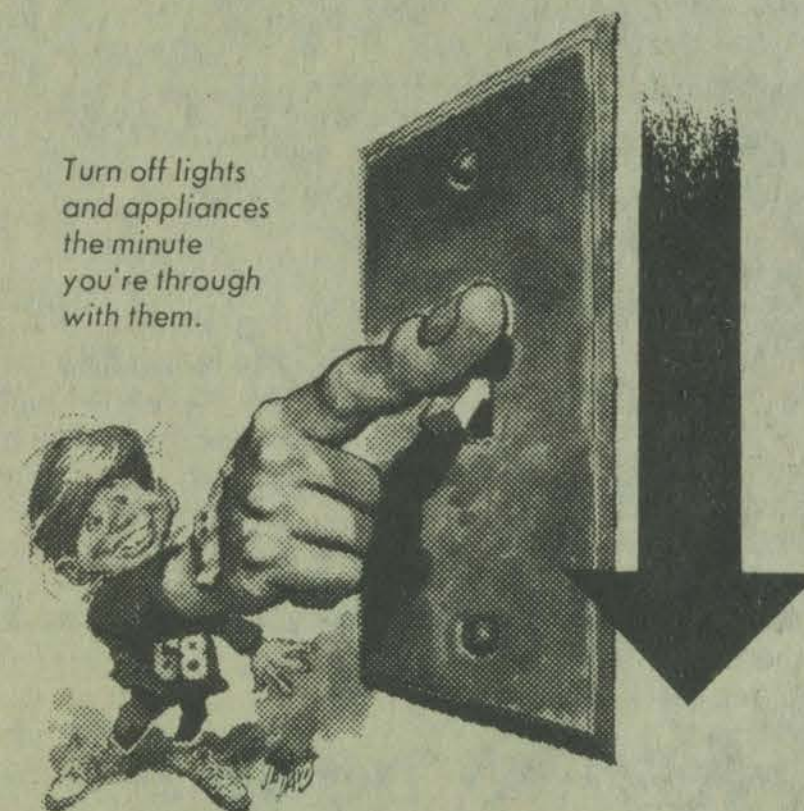

Hold driving speed to 50 or slower.

- 11 Don't waste fuel heating the garage.
- 12 Keep windows near thermostats closed. Otherwise the cold air will cause a lower reading, and your furnace will run longer but not make you any warmer.
- 13 When you're not using your fireplace, make sure the damper is tightly closed so heated air won't escape.
- 14 Weatherstrip or caulk around drafty doorframes and windows.
- 15 Install storm windows. You'll cut down heat loss by 10-15%.
- 16 Close draperies at night. Keep them open during the day. Closed, they'll act as insulation. Open, they'll let in additional warmth from the sun.
- 17 Move furniture that blocks forced air registers.
- 18 Keep the area near your furnace free from obstructions, especially the space around air intakes.

- 19 Check the color of the burner flame in your gas furnace. If the flame is yellow, instead of blue, there's too much air in the combustion mixture. A repairman can fix you up in a jiffy.
- 20 Clean or replace furnace filters regularly.
- 21 Eliminate outdoor decorative lighting, such as spotlights, floodlights and lights lining driveways.

- 22 Turn off your gas yard light. It's a real gas gobbler.
- 23 In the kitchen, try to cook all foods for a meal in one area of the range—on top, in the oven, or under the broiler. For cooking small quantities of food, use a portable appliance like an electric skillet.
- 24 If you cook with gas, don't use more flame than necessary. Flames should just touch the bottom of cooking utensils.
- 25 A clear blue flame on a gas range means the burner is operating properly. If the flame is yellow, have a repairman make adjustments.
- 26 On electric ranges, turn off burners several minutes before the end of the proper cooking period. The heating element will stay hot, and your food will finish cooking without using additional energy.
- 27 Do not preheat ovens more than a few minutes. And don't set the temperature higher than you need.
- 28 Run full loads in the dishwasher, so that you can run it less often. Don't use it between 4 and 8 p.m.
- 29 Run full loads in the washer and dryer. Same reason.

Turn off lights and appliances the minute you're through with them.

- 32 Once a month, flush the sediment out of your hot water tank by draining a couple of buckets of warm water from the faucet at the bottom of the tank. If allowed to build up, this sediment insulates the water from the heater.
- 33 Make sure the temperature on your water heater isn't set excessively high. 110 degrees is about right. Wrap hot water lines with insulation.
- 34 Repair leaking water faucets—especially hot water faucets.
- 35 Take showers instead of baths. You'll use a lot less hot water.
- 36 Make sure your home is adequately insulated. It should have at least 6 inches of insulation in the attic, 3 inches in walls and under floors over crawl spaces.
- 37 Wrap heating ducts that go through cold spaces with fireproof insulation. And while you're there, check ducts for leaks.
- 38 Seal air leaks from living spaces into the attic—around ceiling fans, electrical fixtures, heating ducts, and pull-down stairways. (But don't seal off ventilation in the attic. You need that to prevent moisture buildup.)
- 39 Before summer comes, have your cooling system checked to insure efficient operation.
- 40 Right now, write for a free booklet with these and more tips on how to save fuel. Just send your name and address to: Energy Conservation, Box CW, Washington, D.C. 20240.

Dial your thermostat down—to 68 degrees or lower.

- 30 Whenever practical, wash with cold water.
- 31 Use the shortest possible drying cycle. And clean the dryer lint trap after each load. (A clogged trap lengthens drying time.) In winter vent the dryer blower into the house.

Avoid "jackrabbit" starts when motoring.

Don't be fuelish.

Farmers' Benefits thru Sign-Up Cited

"Although there are no farm set-aside payments, farmers can still benefit from sign-up this year," Sharon Conley, acting executive director of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said last week.

Farmer sign-ups and certification can be completed in one step. They start after planting and must be certified before harvest. The final date for signing up is July 15.

Acreage certification in the feed grain program makes farmers eligible for benefits that include allotment preservation and eligibility for commodity loans. The program also offers a new disaster payment provision. The Department of Agriculture, under certain conditions, will make payments for prevented planting and for yield losses due to bad weather or other natural disasters. Disaster payments cover feed gain only.

When disaster strikes a program crop, and the farmer chooses not to carry the crop through to harvest, he must first report the disaster to the county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, according to Mrs. Conley.

Secondly, the farmer must request an appraisal to establish his eligibility for payment under the disaster provisions of the Cotton, Feed Grain and Wheat Programs. The county ASCS office may decide that an appraisal is unnecessary when the damaged or destroyed crop acreage is in excess of applicable allotments.

Once an appraiser completes a damage evaluation, and the acreage is released, the farmer may devote the acreage to other uses.

Certification or program crops is still important this year for disaster benefits, Mrs. Conley said. Producers who harvest program crops, such as corn, before certification will find that crop ineligible for disaster payments.

Five-Day Grace Period On Spending Reports

K. P. Vinsel, executive director of the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance, announced that late-filing candidates will be allowed a grace period before being put on an official delinquent list. Although May 13 was the deadline for receipt of campaign spending reports required by state and federal law, Vinsel said this office would not turn in an official delinquent list until next Monday, May 20. The recent session of the Kentucky Legislature passed a law that allows a five-day grace period for persons late in filing campaign-spending reports. Although that law doesn't take effect until June 21, Vinsel said the grace period is clearly the intent of the legislature and "we'd have trouble prosecuting any candidate who is a few days late."

Reynolds Says Coal Tax Money Will Aid Local Industry

State Representative W. J. Reynolds, of Allen, who has been named chairman of the legislative committee to establish guidelines for the spending of coal severance tax monies returned to the counties under the new state law, said last week that the spending of the money for development of industrial sites will probably have top priority.

Other members of the committee are Rep. Hoover Dawahare, of Whitesburg, and Senator Gibson, of Madisonville.

All 42 coal-producing counties of the state are expected to benefit materially from the new legislation, which provides that half of the coal severance tax shall be returned to county where the fuel was produced. The severance tax is 30 cents a ton, or 4 percent of the market value of the coal, whichever is greater.

Eastern Kentucky coal has been selling at $30 a ton, or more, since the beginning of the fuel crisis, and the return to counties of this area is expected to be heavy.

The legislation which returns half of the severance tax to the counties was known as "the Mountain Amendment," and this developed during consideration of the Governor's budget bill into a near-revolt by mountain legislators.

When the severance tax funds are allocated to the coal-producing counties, the fiscal courts of the several counties will set up projects for review by the legislative group headed by Reynolds.

Guidelines for use of the tax revenues are expected to be established by June 1, after which the commission will meet with the fiscal courts of the coal counties. The severance tax funds are expected to be in the hands of the fiscal courts around August 15.

In 1931, the Davis-Bacon Act provided for payment of prevailing wage rates to laborers and mechanics employed by contractors and sub-contractors on public construction, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a U. S. Department publication.

Mayo Vocational Adds Equipment

One of the newest additions in the printing department at Mayo State Vocational School is a Mark I Bell & Howell Baum folding machine. The Baumfolder is capable of folding from two to twelve folds in parallel and right angle combinations folds. It also has complete facilities for scoring, perforating, slitting, and trimming.

Another step upward that the shop has made is in the press department. Mayo's printing department has just received two Davidson offset presses, one of which is called "The Perfector," capable of simultaneous two-sided duplicating at an initial speed of 8,000 impressions per hour.

Another addition is the CG7200 Compugraphic headline machine that teams up with the Compugraphic text phototypesetter which was purchased earlier. Since all the newspapers in the area have this kind of equipment, Mayo has added this to meet the needs of industry.

The most recent graduates who have found employment in nearby printing shops are: Gary D. Ousley, from Floyd county, is employed at C&R Printing Company at Pikeville; Chris Haney, from Johnson county, is employed at the Paintsville Herald; Everett Allen Haney, from Johnson county, is employed at Prestonsburg Community College Printing Shop; Homer Allen, from Pike county, is employed at Mountain Printing Company, Allen; Mickey Davis, from Martin county, is employed at Comprehensive Health printing shop at Prestonsburg, and Bonnie Rice, from Magoffin county, is employed at the Paintsville Herald.

Gov. Wendell H. Ford has appointed new chairmen for the boards of regents of Murray State University and Kentucky State University. Named to the post at Murray State is Frank Paxton of Paducah, succeeding H. Glenn Doran. Dr. Rodney T. Gross of Grayson will succeed the Rev. Homer Nutter at Kentucky State.

The government has something the people need but won't release it.

Why?

- But.
- If private corporations aren't trusted to do the job, let the U.S. Government, itself, mine the coal.
- The U.S. Government can restore the land exactly the way the U.S. people want it to.
- The U.S. Government can fix the price of coal to include reclamation costs.
- The U.S. Government can guarantee that no company will profit from the mining.
- The U.S. Government can control allocation to users who need low-sulfur coal.
- It's the people's coal, and the people need it.
- Now.

- Out in the West, the U.S. Government owns vast reserves of clean low-sulfur coal. It is desperately needed to solve America's energy problem.
- Yet it's not released.
- Why?
- Some say mining will scar the land. They're suspicious of private enterprise; they do not believe industry will act responsibly, and restore the land.
- And their voices block the release of this non-polluting coal.
- We can't speak for others—but long before environmental groups were formed or reclamation laws framed, American Electric Power was restoring mined land to a condition more productive, enjoyable and valuable than before the coal was mined.
- What we did and are still doing to 125,000 acres of famished farmland in Ohio is a national model for beautification of mined terrain.
- Any responsible corporation experienced in land reclamation can develop and carry out a plan to mine the Western coal and return the land to a condition as good as or better than it was before.

15th Region All-Stars Begin Practise for Annual Net Classic

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

Coaches Pete Grigsby and Wendell Wallen started practice Monday for the second annual clash between the all-stars of the 14th and 15th regions. The all-star classic will be played in Prestonsburg at the fieldhouse Saturday, June 1.

Grigsby and Wallen, so far, have been impressed by the workouts and there seems to be a lot of enthusiasm among the players. Most are in good shape and have been going through several drills a day. By tip-off time an outstanding squad is expected to be in tiptop shape. Usually, an all-star group has problems working as a team, learning each move and their positions, but this group of stars seems to be all ready for a team effort against the 14th regional stars.

Several scouts from many colleges and universities have accepted invitations to attend the all-star game. Coaches Grigsby and Wallen pointed out that mountain boys for many years have been overlooked and passed up for other all-star games, with boys from the cities of Louisville, Lexington, and Owensboro dominating the all-star roster. Our boys just haven't received the recognition and publicity that they should get; in fact, we have the three top scorers in the state here in the 15th region, and the four top scorers in the state come from the 14th region. Our boys just haven't had the opportunity to perform when the college scouts are there to watch. Both coaches said a full house should be on hand for this all-star classic to show that fans are backing our boys from the 15th region. Another reason we expect a large crowd, the 15th regional stars want to get revenge for last year's 91 to 88 loss. The practice sessions will be open to the public.

Sports Roundup

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg boys' and girls' track teams participated in the regional track meet last week at Morehead State University. Russell High School won first place, Boyd county finished second and Prestonsburg finished sixth in the Class AA. Dennis Walker, a jumping jack in basketball, took first place honors in the high jump with a 6-2 jump. He competed with 17 other boys in the high jump, received a medallion and picked up a total of eight points. Steve Campbell, of Prestonsburg, placed fourth in the discus throw.

Coach Pete Grigsby, Jr., of McDowell, and Coach Frankie Francis, of Wheelwright, have released the dates of their annual basketball camps for boys, and this year a camp for girls will be held, June 18 through June 22. The first basketball camp for boys will be June 6 thru June 11. The second camp will be June 12 thru June 17. Several outstanding high school and college coaches will be making guest appearances. The camps will be held at the McDowell gym.

Drift and Wheelwright, members of the Pike County Semi-Pro Baseball League will meet in a make-up game Saturday at the Drift park. Last Sunday, Wheelwright lost to Greasy Creek, 14 to 2, and for the second straight Sunday Drift was rained out. They did get three innings in before the game at Phelps was washed out.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Saturday, May 25—Wheelwright at Drift.

Sunday, May 26—Kimper at Drift, Grapevine at Wheelwright, Sycamore at Greasy Creek, Johns Creek at Pikeville, Phelps at Marrowbone.

Bob Daniels, head basketball coach of Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., will be the guest-speaker for the annual all-sports banquet honoring all athletes at Allen Central High School Friday, May 24, at the high school cafeteria. Coach Daniels is a former basketball star from the 15th region, playing his high school ball at Oil Springs. Several awards will be presented to the athletes, including the second annual outstanding achievement and athlete award. Kent Gibson received the first such award last year. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The sports banquet is open to the public.

Black Cats Win Baseball Title

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg Blackcats baseball team last week won their second straight district baseball championship under Coach Fred Setser and his assistant, Russell Shepherd. The Blackcats won the championship over the strong Allen Central Rebels by a score of 11 to 4 as Roger Shepherd hurled a four-hitter and helped his own cause by driving in three runs. Prestonsburg got off to a 2 to 0 lead in the first inning, but Allen Central came back and scored three in their half of the inning. Shepherd then settled down and gave up only one more run, that being a blast off the bat of Marty Spurluck that cleared the centerfield wall.

In opening round play, Betsy Layne dusted McDowell, 6 to 5. Billy Osborne started and went the distance for the win. Dan Hall slapped a three-run homer and played excellent defense with shortstop Sammons and second basemen Sturgill sharing that honor. Rick Roberts was the loser on Thursday. Allen Central's Don Hansford spun a two-hitter, and a two-run homer by Acie Shepherd and a three-run homer by Tommy Murphy won over Betsy Layne by a score of 18 to 1. Dan Hall had a solo homer for the Bobcats' only scoring. Larry Woods was the loser. Lefthander David Shepherd twirled a two-hitter and shut out Wheelwright, 9-0. Jeff Riley was the loser for the young Trojans.

In the championship game Prestonsburg defeated Allen Central, with Mike Meade connecting for two two-run homers. David Shepherd was the winner, Del Jagers was his receiver, Rick Pack, a freshman, started for Allen Central and was charged with the loss. He and Don Hansford split the pitching chores. Acie Shepherd did the receiving for the Rebels.

Prestonsburg will face Phelps today (Wednesday) at 4 p.m. at the Johnson Central field in the regional. The following players were selected for the all-tournament team:

Reveals Pollution Danger

Frankfort, Ky.—A U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) official says the level of sulfur dioxide in Jefferson county is so high it causes at least 10 premature deaths each year.

The statement came from Dr. John Finklea, EPA's director of the National Environmental Research Center, at a state Public Service Commission hearing on a Louisville Gas and Electric Co. (LG&E) request to install sulfur dioxide removal equipment at its power plants in western Jefferson County.

Finklea also said the sulfur dioxide emissions are responsible for 20,000 asthmatic attacks and serious illness to about 50,000 elderly residents each year.

Finklea said the figures are based on statistical analysis and not on medical records of Jefferson County residents. He said the estimates were developed by applying tests done in other areas of the country to Jefferson County.

The doctor's statement marks the first time anyone has supplied such data in the months LG&E has sought to obtain PSC approval to install devices to control the amount of sulfur dioxide emitted from the power plants.

John Smither, director of the state Air Pollution Division in the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said he was unfamiliar with EPA's statistics and could not prove or disprove them. But, he added, Finklea is a respected expert on the health hazards of air pollution and "should know what he is talking about."

Studies conducted on the effects of sulfur dioxide, a poisonous gas produced when coal, oil or other fuels containing sulfur are burned, have shown that it aggravates heart and lung ailments as well lowering respiratory resistance to disease. Sulfur dioxide also damages plants and building materials.

Finklea was one of a dozen EPA, state and local officials testifying in an effort to get the commission to change an earlier ruling on LG&E's request. In March, LG&E was denied permission to install more than one unit instead of the two the company has sought to add. PSC officials said the equipment had not been proven effective and would be too costly for the consumer to bear.

Tests on a similar scrubber have shown the device will work, according to J. F. Mayrose, LG&E executive vice-president. Another EPA official, Frank Princiotta, agreed with Mayrose, citing similar equipment now being used in Japan. Princiotta also noted that such devices were proven reliable 40 years ago in Great Britain.

Disagreeing with EPA and LG&E officials was A. V. Slack, a consultant with the Edison Electric Institute. He said his and other electric companies were not convinced that the sulfur dioxide removal equipment is reliable.

The commission will schedule another hearing next month to complete testimony on the LG&E request. A final decision is not expected until later in the summer.

Attorney General's Opinions Are Listed

Among opinions released this week from the office of Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock were the following:

In response to a question from William S. Haynes, Louisville, Asst. Atty. Gen. Patrick B. Kimberlin III said that it is not necessary for an elected official, officer or employee of a governmental entity to register as a lobbyist when working during the General Assembly session for or against legislation which may affect people of the state as a whole. Kimberlin explained that Kentucky law defines "lobbyist" as any person employed as "legislative counsel to promote, oppose or act with reference to any legislation which affects private pecuniary interest, as distinct from those of the whole people."

In response to a question from James C. Milam, City Attorney of Russellville, Asst. Atty. Gen. Thomas R. Emerson said that a fourth class city may require abutting property owners to keep sidewalks in repair or to pay for the repair of the sidewalks, and may impose a reasonable fine for failure to make or pay for such repair. Milam explained that there is no specific statutory authority for the city to levy a special tax assessment or place a lien on the abutting owner's property for failure to pay for the cost of repairing the sidewalk. However, an ordinance requiring the abutting property owner to repair the sidewalk may be enforced by the city under its power to impose fines and penalties for the violation of the city ordinance, he said.

In response to a question by David H. Pribble, Pendleton County Judge, Asst. Atty. Gen. Emerson concluded that a county fiscal court does not have the authority to levy a tonnage tax on quarries or mining companies that are operating in said county.

In response to a question asked by John C. Darsie, Jr., special counsel for the University of Kentucky, Asst. Atty. Gen. Carl Miller replied that if a UK Board of Trustees member is found to be in a conflict of interest situation, he is subject to removal for cause but could continue in office until removed by a court judgement. Miller said in conflict of interest cases involving school board members, the attorney general has traditionally authorized citizens to employ counsel for prosecution when sufficient documentary evidence suggests that a violation has occurred.

Responding to a question submitted by John A. Hartman, of Walton, Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman issued an opinion that no person shall be eligible to hold the office of mayor or councilman unless he is a property holder in the city. Payment of real estate taxes is not a prerequisite for holding public office, he added.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Carl Miller stated that the provisions of the Proprietary School Act makes it a misdemeanor for such a school to operate without a license or for an agent of the school to perform his duties without a permit. In addition, Miller said, each day's failure to comply, punishable by fine and imprisonment, shall be considered a separate violation.

The information was sent to Ray Corns, director of the Division of Legal Services, Department of Education, Frankfort.

Parents May Register Handicapped Children

Parents of handicapped children of school age (6-16) should register their children with local school officials now.

At the recent Board meeting of the Kentucky Association for Retarded Children, Dr. Nancy Riffe, Governmental Affairs Chairman, reported it is the association's understanding that new laws and an additional appropriation mean that legally every school-age child, regardless of handicaps, should be enrolled this September.

Under the administration of Governor Ford and Superintendent of Public Instruction Lyman Ginger, provisions for handicapped children in the public schools will be more than doubled. "But, unless parents get their children registered immediately schools districts will not be able to plan adequate programs in time for the opening of school," Dr. Riffe said.

Anyone desiring further information about enrolling a child should write the Kentucky Association for Retarded Children, Box 275, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601., or call 502-564-6680.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON
Guest Columnist

Frankfort, Ky.—There's a gourmet's delight down by a nearby stream or pond, and all it will cost you is a new set of flashlight batteries, a night's sleep, and perhaps a good dunking.

We're talking, of course, about frogs. And about frog hunters, who after the May 15 opening date will be tired, sleepy, and wet, but well fed.

Experienced frog gathers have their favorite techniques for capturing their quarry. Perhaps the favorite is gigging, although others prefer to use a .22 rifle or a bow and arrow. But the most basic method is just to wade in and grab them by hand. This also is often the most exciting technique, particularly for those who can't tell the difference between a frog's eye and a snake's in the beam of a flashlight.

It's also possible to capture frogs during the day by "fishing" for them with a rod, reel and artificial lure. The "fisherman" looks for frogs resting close to the water's edge or on a clump of moss. He then dangles a small wet or dry fly in front of the frog, bringing it closer and closer until the frog "strikes." When hooked, the frog will usually take to the water, and landing it is as much a challenge as playing a good-sized fish.

Farm ponds are excellent places to hunt frogs, particularly with the "fishing" method. With the tens of thousands of ponds in Kentucky, chances are that there is one nearby where you can obtain permission to do some frogging. Other good locations are small rivers, streams, and over-flow lakes.

The 1974 frog season runs from 12:01 a.m., May 15 through 12:00 p.m., October 31. The daily limit is 15, with no more than 30 in possession after two or more days of frogging. Since most frog gathering is done at night, the legal "day" extends from 12 o'clock noon to the following noon. During this time, a person may have no more than 15 frogs in possession while in the field.

A license is required to capture frogs. If a gun or bow and arrow is used, a hunting license is necessary, and a fishing license is required of the person using fishing tackle. Either a hunting or fishing license will suffice for gigging or hand grabbing frogs. The holder of a combination license may, of course, use any of the above methods.

One last tip: When you clean your frogs, remove the white cord in each hind leg. This cord, which can be readily seen where the legs are split apart in actually a nerve, and this is what makes the legs jump while being cooked.

Bank Robbery Defendant Gets 55 Years in Pen

Harold Jackson Bartley, 25, of New Carlisle, Ohio, was sentenced last week to a total of 55 years on charges arising from the June 12, 1973, armed robbery of the Virgie branch of Pikeville National Band and Trust Company.

Assistant U. S. Attorney John M. Compton detailed that a .38-caliber revolver was used to rob Mrs. Billie Newsome, a teller at the bank, of $6,292.00 which included $400 in currency, the serial numbers of which were recorded prior to the robbery. Some of those bills were in Bartley's possession when arrested, two days after the robbery, at Dayton, Ohio, by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

A codefendant was arrested the same day by FBI agents and Kentucky State Police in Pike county and his trial is set in Pikeville, July 24.

U. S. District Judge H. David Hermansdorfer ordered that Bartley be sent to the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri, for physical and mental examinations and at the end of 75 days his sentence will be reviewed, since 55 years is the maximum sentence that could be imposed.

Fulton Whitlow Stewart, 59, and his wife, Agnes, 56, were convicted on two counts of possessing and selling moonshine whiskey to undercover Treasury agents during October and December, 1973 at their residence near Democrat in Letcher county.

Judge Hermansdorfer sentenced Agnes Stewart to three months in the custody of the Attorney General and placed her on active probation for one year. Sentencing on Fulton Stewart was deferred until July 1, following a psychological and medical examination.

Danny Looney, 31, of Feds Creek, Pike county, was sentenced by Judge Hermansdorfer to six months, probated and fined $500, plus court costs, for improper storage of explosives. The assistant U. S. attorney detailed that a quantity of dynamite and blasting caps were located by Pike county detectives while executing a search warrant at Looney's home on Moltey Fork, May 24, 1973.

Judge Hermansdorfer sentenced Roland Collins, 60, and his son, Randall Collins, 18, on four counts of an indictment relating to the operation of a moonshine still in the White Cabin Fork section of Wolf Creek, near Pilgrim, in Martin county. Roland Collins was sentenced to five years in prison which was suspended and he was placed on probation for three years and fined $3,000. All but $1,000 of the fine and costs were suspended and he was placed in the custody of the Attorney General until the fine and costs are paid. Randall Collins was given an indefinite sentence under the Federal Youth Corrections Act and placed on probation.

McKinley Belcher, 77, of Cromona, Letcher county, was convicted on three counts of an indictment arising from the possession and sale of moonshine during August and September, 1973. The purchases were made by agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms of the Treasury Department at Belcher's residence. He was given a sentence of a year and a day on each of the three counts to be served concurrently and placed on probation for three years.

Marvin Dixon, formerly of Prestonsburg, and now living in Florida, was fined $750, plus costs, and sentenced to six months in jail for improperly storing explosive materials. Service of the sentence was suspended and Dixon was placed on probation for 15 months, but the fine was ordered to be paid. Two juveniles, who had earlier pleaded guilty to charges relating to the theft of the explosives, transferred them to Dixon, who stored them temporarily in his vehicle, the assistant district attorney alleged.

Lee Harmon and Harold Thacker, both 19, of the Fishtrap area of Pike county, pleaded guilty to the September, 1973 burglary of the Fishtrap Post Office.

A sentence of six months was imposed on both, and they were probated for 18

Sammons Is Named Teacher of Year, Second Year in Row

Prof. John D. Sammons, of the Mathematics department, has been named by the Prestonsburg Community College student body as teacher of the year for the second consecutive year. Prof. Sammons was chosen because of his effectiveness in classroom presentation, his fairness towards all students, his genuine concern for students, both in and out of the classroom, his friendly warm personality, and his enthusiasm for life.

Sammons is a member of the Mathematical Association of America and the Kentucky section of the Mathematical Association of Two-Year Colleges. He is presently serving his second two-year term as a member of the Senate of the Community College System. Professor Sammons is currently working on the Rules Committee and has been responsible for several important rule changes for the Community College System.

He was responsible for establishing the P. C. C. Chess Society, one of the most active student organizations on campus is chairman of the Publications Board, in addition to being on both the Appeals Board and the Library Committee. Prof. Sammons is also a very active member of the Faculty Assembly.

He and his wife, Connie, reside near Clark Elementary School on the Mountain Parkway. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Rowe, of East Point.

To Whom It May Concern:

On and after publication of this notice I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by any person other than myself.

Co-Valedictorians at W'wright

MISS HALL

MISS RILEY

The Wheelwright High School senior class will hold Commencement exercises May 31. Two students have earned the privilege of being co-valedictorians for the class of '74. They are Debra Lynn Hall and Benita Joy Riley. The girls received this honor by maintaining a 3.97 grade-point standing through all four years of high school. Besides being outstanding in the scholastic field, both girls are also active in various other activities.

Miss Hall, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glennis Hall, of Melvin, has been cheerleader all four years at Wheelwright High. During her senior year, she served as captain of the squad. As a member of the Beta Club, she was elected assistant secretary. She also serves as secretary-treasurer of the senior class. She was chosen "most likely to succeed" by her classmates this year. Last summer, she was chosen to attend

Berea College's Summer Science Program. She plans to attend Pikeville College, and major in business administration.

Miss Riley, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Niagara Riley, of Wheelwright, has been a band member and majorette during her four years in high school. During the last three years, she served as featured twirler of the corps. She has received various awards for her twirling and strutting ability. This year was elected secretary of the Beta Club, and also as one of the "Senior Superlatives." She has also won numerous awards in the beauty pageant field, including the title of "Kentucky's Coal Queen", and runner-up to "Miss Floyd County", "Miss Ky., V.F.W.", Miss Crescendo, and finalist in the "Miss Kentucky Teenager Pageant". She plans to attend the University of Kentucky and prepare for a career in law.

Coal Trucks Account for Most Citations Although Convictions Are Few

Frankfort, Ky.—Officers of the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation issued 551 overweight truck citations between March 25 and April 26.

Included in the total are 288 citations to overweight coal trucks, most of which were cited in the 24 coal-producing counties of Eastern Kentucky.

The other 263 citations principally were issued to overweight freight carriers at the bureau's weight stations located on the interstates and other major Kentucky truck freight routes.

Bureau of Vehicle Regulation Commissioner O. B. Arnold said, "Although there are practically no convictions in the Eastern coal counties where most of the road damage caused by overweight coal trucks occurs, our enforcement officers will continue to issue citations whenever violations are detected."

The current figures bring the total of overweight citations issued for 1974 (including the last week of 1973) to 1,939. Overweight coal trucks have accounted for 676 of the citations.

Arnold added that of the 1,400 overweight citations issued in the coal counties in 1973, only 12 resulted in convictions. The overweight cases are tried in the county courts of the counties in which the violations occur.

PICNIC AND RALLY SCHEDULED AT JOHN'S CREEK

The Commission on Religion in Appalachia announced this week that what it termed a "Working People's Picnic and Rally" will be held in support of the Pikeville hospital strikers Sunday, May 26 at John's Creek High School. The day's activities, which will include free food and live entertainment, will begin at 10 a.m. with a special worship service beginning at 11, featuring several well-known speakers. Johnny Barry, of Prestonsburg, executive director for the Catholic Committee of Appalachia urged all interested persons to attend. The public is invited to these activities which will conclude at 6 p.m.
