

Jury Told To Indict Litterers

Full-Scale Probe Talked But Term May Be Too Short

With major crime at least temporarily waning, the instructions of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley to the grand jury empaneled for the April criminal court term Monday morning centered on crime against the environment.

Judge Conley specifically mentioned the littering of the county's highways and streams and the general garbage disposal situation. He recommended indictments against violators of the anti-littering laws.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said later that a grand jury probe of the entire situation involving littering and the disposal of solid waste has been considered but he was not certain Tuesday if the three or four days the jury will be in session would be sufficient for the undertaking.

The only murder case to be investigated by the jury is that of Richard F. Spencer, who was arrested on a charge of slaying his father-in-law, Jeff Nelson.

The trial of Johnny Wayne Charles on charges of murder and assault in the first degree is docketed for April 13. He is charged with the slaying of Bill Adkins. The only other murder case on the docket, that of Bobby Workman, is almost certain not to be heard, because the state of Michigan has not yet honored Governor Carroll's requisition for Workman's return to this county. The manslaughter trial of Mary Couch Flanery also appears on the docket but her trial is uncertain. She is charged with the fatal shooting of her husband.

The murder trial of Eddie Jones, who is accused of the slayings of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley and James Clayton Conley, may not be held till the September term of court, the commonwealth's attorney said. The delay was seen after Special Judge Caswell P. Layne had notified court officials that he already is committed to other court duties till August.

Court Reverses Two Convictions Of Agnel Jones

The U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals recently reversed two of three convictions in U. S. District Court at Pikeville of Agnel Jones, of Knott county, on charges of illegal possession of a firearm.

Jones was indicted in district federal court on the grounds that he was in possession of a firearm and in violation of U. S. law because he was a convicted felon. He appealed on the grounds that he had committed only one offense because of his "continuous and uninterrupted possession of the same weapon," and that two of the three convictions con-

Resurfacing Work Underway on Parkway Bridges

Resurfacing work was begun recently on this bridge spanning Middle Creek on the Mountain Parkway (KY 114) by Safety Engineering Co., contractors, of Paint Lick. A state expenditure of $33,000 will provide latex resurfacing for this bridge and an additional span near the Magoffin county line. The latex-cement material reportedly lasts up to four times as long as conventional concrete surfacing, and similar work is planned for several other bridges on the parkway in Floyd and other counties.

This Town...That World

THE HILLS ARE YOUNG AGAIN

St. Patrick's Day and the Wearin' of the Green are past, but these hills of ours are bursting out, begorra, in a garb to lay all that in the shade. On hillsides facing the morning sun the maples and poplars are greening, and later will come all shades of green—willow, moss, mint, sea, dark and all the rest, Copses of redbud and the dogwood which just now is turning from greenish tint to white beautifully write their part of the Resurrection Script. And soon to this coat which arrives to warm the soul and dissipate memories of winter will be added the boutonnières of pink and red and blue and gold of woodland flowers.

The face is scarred, but the wounds aren't fatal, and the ancient hills are young again, this April.

I am aware that there's little that's original about this, and I'm glad it is a repeat of the old story of the seasons and the years. The burgeoning springtime scene is mentioned here mainly for Mrs. Miles M. Owens, a Floyd county expatriate now living in Arizona, who has expressed a desire to hear from this corner something of the scene, back home.

P. S. Mrs. Owens says the mountains there are "beautiful but they never change."

NO BLACKBIRDS?

Last week we reported that the blackbirds had invaded the premises. And I had no more than done so when I was informed that there is no such thing as a blackbird, per se, that they are grackles or starlings or crows or cowbirds, not plain blackbirds.

'Open Garbage Dumps' Story Is Challenged

At least two sources this week challenged the accuracy of the "lead" paragraph in Kyle Vance's Courier-Journal story last week, which read:

"Floyd county's only two public garbage dumps are open, smoking, stinking and infested with rats."

The county has only two authorized dumping places—one, located on Turkey Creek; the other, on the Sam Hale property on the Left Fork of Middle Creek. Both are of the landfill type.

Neither is open in the sense that the refuse hauled there is not earth-covered. The Floyd fiscal court has provided as its contribution to the solid waste problem machinery at both landfills which is used to cover the refuse dumped there.

"Green Hamilton is doing a real fine job up here," was the comment from the Turkey Creek landfill. "And there's nothing smoking, because no burning is done here."

Mr. Hale, owner of the Middle Creek property which serves for the second landfill, gave a similar report on the situation there. The accumulated refuse is covered with earth; the county keeps a bulldozer and operator there to do that. There is no burning and there are no rats.

"They even have a catch basin to hold any water runoff from the dump," he said.

It's the promiscuous, uncontrolled dumping of waste materials from hundreds of homes and business elsewhere, in any convenient spot, that is creating the smell, most agree.

One visitor to Floyd county recently pronounced it a beautiful region—"and one of the dirtiest I've ever seen."

The fiscal court awarded a contract to Floyd County Sanitation, Inc., to gather and truck to the two landfills the solid wastes from Magisterial Districts 1, 2 and 3. The Lawson Sanitation Service serves District 4 in the same way.

A large proportion of the homes and businesses pay a monthly garbage collection charge, but hundreds do not, and no means have been provided to require or force them to do so. As a consequence, observers say, the garbage collection effort is scarcely making a dent in the messy situation.

A landfill for each of the magisterial districts, Nos. 3 and 4, which at this time have none, is expected to be put into operation later. Meeting state health and environmental requirements make the location of a landfill a task that involves months, and even then not all the standards can be met. Soil tests are required. When these are met, then there's the environmental provisions that the landfill must be a given distance from any stream. And the sparse level land in the heads of hollows—the only place available for dumps—is invariably split by a stream.

Other parts of Mr. Vance's Courier-Journal story read:

Sam Johnson, director of the state's solid waste disposal program, said by telephone from Frankfort that he would

Reward To Nab Phone Callers Set at $2,000

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Saturday authorized Supt. Charles Clark to advertise that the board will pay a $2,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of making school bomb threats.

The action was taken after months of harassment and interruption of classwork by anonymous telephone messages warning that bombs had been placed in various schools. Such calls have become "almost routine" but invariably result in the evacuation of the school under threat, it was said.

In recent months the Prestonsburg, Clark and Auxier schools have received most of the threats, with the ominous phone calls elsewhere in the county coming more infrequently. In most cases, high schools are threatened.

The board heard from William Criscillis, of the State Department of Education's Division of Buildings and Grounds, a report on the survey made by the division of physical needs of Floyd schools. The board discussed the report at length but took no action. It has 60 days in which to accept, amend or reject the report.

Textbook selections in social studies and language arts were accepted as made by the Textbook Selection Committee composed of teachers and the director of instruction. After this year, final approval of textbook selections will be made by the director of instruction and the superintendent of schools.

Forrest Curry, assistant principal at Betsy Layne High School, was employed as assistant Head Start director for the coming summer program. Curtis Moore is director of the program. No other staff members were employed at Saturday's meeting.

Supt. Clark was authorized to warn all non-tenure teachers that they may not be re-employed for the 1976-77 term and to

Clark Blames Ed. Department In KED Defeat

Educational regionalization as represented by Kentucky Educational Development regions (formerly ROPES) is doomed, Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools and chairman of Region 11 of the organization, told the Regional Advisory Council in a meeting here last week.

The regional concept for education is destined to end its less than four years' existence with the beginning of a new fiscal year, next July 1. And Supt. Clark told the council why:

Assistant superintendents with the state Department of Education, he said, testified against continuance of KED.

When Governor Carroll failed to include funding of KED in his budget, KED boards from all 15 regions in the state joined county school superintendents in urging financing of the regional offices. The matter went before the General Assembly's Joint Committee on Education, and the same support was given the regional concept there.

But assistants from the Department of Education voiced their opposition, and the committee failed to approve the program.

Mr. Clark in his talk before the regional council here made it clear that he blames neither the committee nor Governor Carroll.

"Why fund a program for which the Department of Education would be responsible, if they (the Department of Education) don't want it funded?" he asked.

Two Fined $514 In Marijuana Traffic Here

After the search of an auto here last Wednesday night yielded City Policemen Trusty and Kelly about a pound of marijuana, the officers arrested occupants of the car, Rodger D. Hall and Jimmy Lee Kidd, on charges of trafficking and illegal possession of controlled substances.

The two, who were booked in Prestonsburg Police Judge Tom Lafferty's court, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $257 each.

Azzie Newsome was charged Sunday with possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale after Deputy Sheriffs J. D. and Melvin Martin reported they observed Newsome making a sale at his home at Teaberry. A case of beer was recovered in the raid and Newsome executed bond the following day.

Arrested Thursday for the second time in three weeks on a charge of possession of alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale was Harold Yates, of Prestonsburg. Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Linzie Hunt booked Yates in Prestonsburg Police Judge Tom Lafferty's court where he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $107.

Radar Here Reduces Speeds, Chief Says

Chief of Police Ralph Thornsbury said Tuesday that use of radar equipment, which began last week-end, has resulted in citations to less than a dozen drivers but that it had already had an appreciable effect on speeding.

"We have issued tickets only to drivers going at least 20 miles over the speed limit," he added, pointing out that "we do not intend to give Prestonsburg the reputation of being a speed trap."

The equipment has been used mainly in school zones and on Lake Drive, the main thoroughfare.

Police Judge Tom Lafferty's report submitted to the City Council last Thursday night for the month of February showed receipts of $4,600.

The council accepted the $2,572.19 bid of Jack Coker & Co., Mobile, Ala., to furnish nozzles, hose jackets, fire extinguishers and other miscellaneous items for the fire department.

Liberty Bell Replica To Feature Two-Day Bicentennial Event

A two-day Bicentennial celebration of religious freedom in America will be held in Prestonsburg next week, with a replica of the Liberty Bell as a featured attraction.

Programs will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday (April 13) at the Municipal Parking Lot in front of the Courthouse, and at 7 o'clock the following evening at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church which is sponsoring the celebration.

The exact full-scale replica of the bell is being brought here by the Prestonsburg unit of the Kentucky Army National Guard. It is one of 52 such replicas given to the states and territories in 1950 by the U. S. Treasury Department to help promote a nationwide Savings Bond drive.

Lt. Roy E. Sturgill, commander of the National Guard Unit here, said, "I urge everyone to come out and personally see and hear this bit of our heritage."

"The bell is exact even to sounding like the original with its famous crack, because the replica has been harmonically tuned to the pitch of the original," Sturgill said.

The Rev. W. D. Jagers, pastor of Irene Cole Baptist Church, also urged all Floyd countians to participate in the celebration.

Tuesday's program will begin with a short march from the corner of Court and First Streets to the parking lot. The bell which is mounted on a National Guard truck, will be accompanied by five young prize winners in a poster contest on the theme of Religious Freedom in America.

The Tuesday evening program will also include patriotic music by the Prestonsburg High School choir under the direction of Carlos Haywood; dramatic readings, and a short review of the history of the Liberty Bell by Sgt. James I. Ingram, of the Prestonsburg National Guard.

The Wednesday night service will begin in front of the church, where the bell will be on exhibition, Rev. Jagers said. The theme that evening will be, "Baptists and Religious Freedom," and the program will include dramatizations of famous early Baptist leaders, presented by Paul P. Burchett, Gene Wright, Clay Mulford and Albert A. Burchett.

The church choir will also present a musical program under the direction of Gus Kalos, and there will be a short message by the pastor.

All area churches, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the programs, Rev. Jagers said.

The replica of the bell will also be on tour next Tuesday and Wednesday "to as many schools in the county as we can reach," Rev. Jagers said, and will be on display at Prestonsburg Community College on Thursday.

Mishap Results in Power Failure Here

When this big tractor-trailer attempted a left turn onto U. S. 23 from the Mountain Parkway intersection here, Tuesday afternoon, the end of the drilling rig which it carried struck a concrete electrical pole, snapping it, and bringing down an even larger pole nearby. Fallen power lines resulted in a black-out over much of the city's north end and workmen labored late into the night to correct the damage.

NAMED COMMITTEEMAN

Washington, March 29—Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz today named John E. Kalmey, 51, of Shelbyville to the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation ASCS Committee which is responsible for Administration of Federal farm programs in Kentucky. Mr. Kalmey, who has farmed all his adult life in Shelby county, owns 240 acres and operates an additional 116 with his 25-year-old son, John. He grows tobacco, corn, and alfalfa. The farm's dairy operation numbers 140 cows.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salisbury and children and Mrs. Rebecca Salisbury, of Stockdale, Ohio, were the overnight guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb. They were on their way home from a tour of Tennessee and North Carolina. They also visited relatives there.

Roscoe Hayes was taken to the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, Thursday but did not remain. He returned Friday for tests.

Earnest Hayes is a patient, in intensive care, after suffering an apparent heart attack Thursday morning at Pikeville Methodist Hospital. Friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Thelma Hicks had her children as guests last week-end from Louisville. They also attended church services with her at the First Baptist Church, Sunday morning.

Kenneth Webb, of Greenup, was the week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Webb, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald M. Hayes and baby, of Baltimore, Md., were here last week due to the illness of his father, Earnest Hayes.

Claude J. Webb attended revival services at the Wheelwright Baptist Church, Friday evening.

A week of revival services closed at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening with the Rev. Cohen Campbell conducting the services each evening and several groups of singers from other churches also participating. Mrs. Earl E. Webb and Mrs. Chalmer Hicks were luncheon hostesses at the Webb home to the revival team last Wednesday.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Martha Hayes whose brother, Granville Hoover, of Garrett, passed away last week.

Job Corps is a national system of 60 residential centers in 31 states and Puerto Rico which provides basic education, vocational training, counseling, health care, and similar services to help disadvantaged young men and women, ages 16-21, prepare for jobs and for responsible citizenship and is funded by the Employment and Training Administration of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Girl Scout Troops Planned at Price

Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council is starting three new troops at Price. The initial interest meeting was held March 30 at 6 p.m. at the Price Rescue Squad building. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sandra Patton, field director. Approximately 30 adults and girls attended.

The next adult meeting will be held Monday, April 12, at 6 p.m. at the same place. All parents are asked to attend to learn about the program and help set meeting times and places. Adults are needed to fill positions on troop committees, and to help leaders.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who helped in any way upon the death of our beloved husband and father, John H. (Jack) Vincent. Our special thanks to all who brought food and the beautiful flower arrangements. A special thanks to the ministers of the Old Regular Baptist Church, also to Rev. Rufus Johnston and Rev. Floyd Tackett; to the Hall Bros. Funeral Home for its efficient service; to Dr. Mary Hall and the nursing staff of the McDowell Regional Hospital. We will always be forever grateful for your kindness and thoughtfulness. The only way we can express our great appreciation to so many is saying, May God bless each of you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Appreciation Is Ours

Editor, The Times: It gives me great pleasure to present you one of the pens that Governor Julian Carroll used in signing House Bill 676 into law on March 30, 1976, at the hour of 10:30 a.m. at the Governor's office.

As you know, House Bill 676 is the energy road fund bill which was primarily enacted into law so that Ky. 80 could be reconstructed from Ky. 15 in Perry county to U. S. 23 at Water Gap in Floyd county.

I appreciate the fact that you were unable to attend the official signing, due to your pressing schedule. Your sincere dedication and understanding of the problems of Eastern Kentucky and your newspaper's efforts to generate public demand for projects such as Ky. 80 for the economic development of Eastern Kentucky and the demand for environmental protection have been an example for all informed and concerned officials to follow.

On behalf of the citizens of Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky, I want to thank you.

JIM HAMMOND

"We agree that only one offense was committed," the district court of appeals judgment reads. The Knott man had been sentenced to the maximum punishment of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each of the three counts. The prison terms and two of the fines, however, were later suspended and five years' probation imposed.

"The fact that Jones now faces only one fine and only one probationary term," the appellate court said, "does not render the multiple convictions harmless error. Violation of the conditions of his probation would render him liable for cumulative punishments for the several convictions."

The defendant has asked the district court of appeals to set aside his sentence, contending the district court had improperly used a federal law to enforce the Kentucky bootlegging law.

The circuit court of appeals opinion said that in placing Jones on probation for five years "it was the clear intent of the district court to place a penalty of a long-term prison sentence and $20,000 fine upon Jones if he were ever again bootlegging."

The judge in the trial of his case at Pikeville was quoted as having told the defendant: "It is the intent, Mr. Jones, of this court to get you out of the whiskey business."

Davidson to express his concern over the excessive number of whiskey dealers in this county, and to point out that he had not approved any of the new licenses... Installation of parking meters in Prestonsburg was seen this week as a possibility within the next few months after the City Council Monday night had discussed their purchase... O. G. Hinton, Pikeville attorney, and four associates have purchased from the Consolidation Coal Company, the entire community of Van Lear for approximately $300,000... Everett Robinson, 34, was killed Friday when the trolley pole of his motor caught his neck on a curve inside the Stephens Elkhorn Coal Company mine at Manton... Married: Miss Bernice Boyd and Mr. Lloyd Miller, both of Prestonsburg, March 27; Miss Phyllis Alexander, of Elyria, O., and Lt. Alvin Reed, of Drift, March 9, at Elyria... Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tackett, of Allen, a son, Edward Gene, at the Beaver Valley hospital, April 1; to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frazier, of Allen, a daughter, Betty Ann, at home, Sunday... There died: W. H. (Bill Buck) Howard, of Fabms, Texas, formerly of Prestonsburg, Friday at home; Mrs. Amanda Combs Hicks, 71, at home at Garrett, Sunday; Preston Woods, 79, at home on Cow Creek, last Wednesday.

Forty Years Ago

(April 13, 1936)

Guyless Allen, 52, of Middle Creek, was shot and fatally wounded Friday, following a dispute over a small strip of land... Akro Castle, 39 years old, of Middle Creek, was instantly killed Friday night when caught beneath a slatefall in the Wells-Elkhorn Coal Company's mine No. 6 at West Garrett... Funds for reforestation and the prevention of soil erosion are available as a result of a provision in the substitute bill for the AAA, Congressman A. J. May announced this week... Roy Davis, 23, of Jenny's Creek, Johnson county, was instantly killed Saturday night when the auto in which he was a passenger collided with a Sandy Valley Grocery Company truck on the Mayo Trail approximately five miles from here... Will Rogers, Wheelwright miner, is in the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, in critical condition as the result of a knife wound sustained Saturday afternoon... Work was begun Wednesday by Henderson Neely, contractor, toward the construction of a bus station on the Mayo Trail, near the courthouse, for Sparks Brothers Bus Company... D. F. Morgan, of Wheelwright, was instantly killed Thursday morning by a slatefall in the mines of the Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright... There died: John Slone, 13, of Wayland, at the Paintsville General hospital, Friday; Ex-Magistrate J. J. Reffitt, 53, Saturday night at his home on Middle Creek; William W. Cecil, 92 years old, Thursday at the home of his son at Tram; Juanita Turner, 12, of Rock Fork, near Garrett, Tuesday.

Signing of Juvenile Bill

Gov. Julian Carroll signed House Bill 587 into law on March 29 as three of its co-sponsors looked on. From left are state Rep. Herbie Deskins, Jr. (D-Pikeville), Gov. Carroll, Mark Fitzgerald (D-Cynthiana) and Jim LeMaster (D-Lexington). HB 587 allows county judges several new dispositional alternatives for juvenile misdemeanor offenders, including permitting a judge to order a juvenile 16 or older to work on a community work service project for up to 120 hours, pay a fine of up to $150, or be detained for up to five days in an approved detention facility. Other provisions of the law specify that juveniles who commit Class A or Class B felonies, capital offenses or repeat offenses be institutionalized for a period of at least six months in an approved juvenile detention facility. It also allows the judge, in agreement with the state Department for Human Resources, to shock probate a juvenile after 30 days upon a motion from the defendant.

(Continued from Page One) Then, I ask, what about that old nursery rhyme about "four and twenty blackbirds baked in a pie"? Anyway, I wouldn't give one chickadee with his black four-in-hand and coonskin cap for the whole blackbird family.

I'M BACKED INTO A CORNER

I thought it might be the flu, or spring fever, or something that made me dizzier than usual, but I now suspect it was reading the following note from my friend, Dr. Richard D. Howard, of the Department of Special Education, Eastern Kentucky University, that did me in:

"A year or so ago one of your astute readers, Bessie Draughn, asked you why people "backed" their letters. I've given a great deal of thought to this and I think I know why.

"The back of the envelope isn't the back of the envelope as you and she figured but the back of the envelope, as the oldtimers knew, is really the back of the envelope. The front of the envelope is the back of the envelope as you and she figured, but that is wrong. That is really the front of the envelope. You ought to know that it is typical to enter the front—in buildings, mines and other structures with openings. You open the front of the envelope to insert the letter. The real back of the envelope is the opposite side where the "backin" belongs. There is another possible explanation but I like the first one better. It could be that the people wanted to be sure the letter came BACK in case it wasn't delivered and really wanted their return address put on it. You can check with envelope manufacturers if you wish to determine if I'm right."

JEREMIAH

I am still hoping I will make a trip to one of the larger lakes before the water becomes tepid. But don't take to the storm shelter yet—I may not go. If I do, I hereby highly resolve:

- a. Not to forget my boat key; b. Not to forget my gasoline tank; c. Not to forget the last time I forgot...

For all my untoward experiences, which include a night of vast loneliness on Norris Lake, a few miles of pulling at the oars when somebody failed to get the motor out of neutral, and the small matter of calling on a doctor to extract from the anatomy a well-imbued hook, I am a piker alongside a guy I know.

This acquaintance approached me, the other day, with doleful expression to remind me in apologetic tones that I should rid myself of this feeling that I am but one notch removed from the original Jonah.

"I," he sadly remarked, "hold the record." Then he listed a recent series of misadventures which left me feeling that I am thrice-blessed with the small measure of good fortune that remains in this vale of tears.

These are the unfortunate incidents which he recounted:

—Pulled out of his driveway going to work and had a flat. Working in a cold rain, he removed the flat only to discover his spare was flatter.

—Later in a practically new car was pulling onto the highway when the entire driveshaft fell out of car. Had to direct traffic (again in a cold drizzle) around a blind curve.

—Recently got up to prepare his boat for a fishing trip, found a flat on his car. Fixed that, then went to boat dock to hook up boat and trailer—only to find a flat on the trailer.

—After working all the preceding day to prepare his boat for the trip, he towed it all the way to Cumberland Lake but never even launched the boat because an acquaintance accidentally dropped every key he had into the lake (including boat key).

—Last fall had all of his fishing gear stolen.

—A few weeks ago, was pulling onto the highway from a service station when a car backed into his, causing $4-500 damage. Fellow had no insurance and was so drunk he actually wasn't sure how old he was.

And yet—well, my friend remains reasonably well.

(Continued from Page One) the Floyd county situation to a federal office from Atlanta last week to explain why garbage disposal remains a problem in most of the mountain counties.

"He was utterly and totally amazed," Johnson said, "and all he saw was what could be seen from the main roads. We told him, of course, that worse conditions could be found up the side roads."

Johnson said similar problems exist in some other Eastern Kentucky counties and that they were brought on chiefly by the economic resurgence of coal.

"People by the hundreds and thousands have moved back to Eastern Kentucky since the coal boom," he said. "Every place you look that used to be a possible sanitary landfill site is now occupied by several trailer homes."

"They are even putting their homes below the existing public dumps. There must be 300 homes below the Turkey Creek dump (in Floyd county). You'd think the places would be overrun with rats, but that isn't the case, strangely. The fact is that the rats can find enough to eat in the dumps, so they haven't invaded the homes."

He said a serious pest problem probably would result if the dumps finally are covered in compliance with the law.

Just as serious, Johnson said, is the lack of space for septic tanks.

"In some areas, I am sure, people have moved their mobile homes in on top of other people's septic tanks. The odor is awful in some neighborhoods," he said.

Johnson said his office has been working with the Floyd county problem "a long, long time."

"If we get no improvements, or unless they show some efforts to make improvements, I suppose we will call them (Prestonsburg and Floyd county officials) in for a hearing," he said. "To tell the truth, I can't see how even that will help. You fine them, and that takes that much more of their money that could be used for improvement. It's easy to order a site closed, but when you do that you are creating something worse."

Johnson said he will propose the use of severance tax money rebated to coal counties to develop sanitary landfills, although he has no sites lined up. He said he expects to learn in two or three weeks if any federal money will rrsult from the Atlanta official's visit.

The two Stumbos (County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Harold J. Stumbo) said Floyd fiscal court voted about a year ago to contract with Adrian Lafferty, a building contractor, to operate county garbage dumps and college garbage.

County Atty. Stumbo said the county is supposed to provide dump areas for Lafferty, who would pick up garbage for a fee from the customers. The county would be paid 5 per cent of Lafferty's net profit. Stumbo said that he knew of no payments from Lafferty to the county.

(County Attorney Stumbo told The Times he was not accurately quoted here; that he told Vance he did not know of any payments and that Vance should inquire of the county treasurer about the matter.)

Judge Stumbo said fiscal court took the action without advertising for bids and that the contract probably is illegal. The county attorney agreed.

Both said the garbage is being hauled in open trucks and that some has been blowing off to the roadsides.

Both also said they are anxious to clean up the county and are trying to make it possible.

"I have hopes that we can get something started," Johnson said. "If we give up, we might as well quit. And if something isn't done pretty soon, garbage will be all over the countryside."

Red-White Game Here Friday Eve Marks End of Spring Training

The Prestonsburg High School football team members began their spring practice Monday, March 29, and will culminate their training this Friday night, April 9, at 8 p.m. with its annual Red-White spring football game.

According to Coach Phillip Haywood, this has been a good spring practice so far and he believes a great deal will be accomplished. "We work basically on the fundamentals of football—blocking and tackling—in the spring and for that matter, all season. However, we think our kicking game, defense, and offense are a little farther ahead than they were last year at this time, and we hope to put a couple of new wrinkles into each. As usual, we'll be looking for replacements for our graduating seniors and will be trying to get more people ready to play in our offense and defense. Another thing we always try to determine in the spring is who really wants to play and who doesn't." Coach Haywood expressed with what he terms "a fine, hard-working group of young men with a good attitude toward the game."

are sponsoring the spring game, and tickets will be available at the gate. All are invited to enjoy watching the young Blackcats in action and at the same time support Prestonsburg football.

The Red and White teams' rosters are as follows:

Joseph, Specialist In Long Shot Wins

Racehorse U Kim, who was once referred to by owner-trainer Harry Henigman as "not worth the price of the shoes he's wearing," was recently guided by jockey Tommy Joseph, formerly of Prestonsburg, to a win at Detroit's Hazel Park which set a track record for place price and constituted the second biggest win mutual ever posted at the course.

With Joseph at the helm the Michigan-bred horse, who in nine previous races was never closer than 8-and-a-half lengths to the winner, paid a shocking $250.60 for $2. U Kim's record-breaking place price was $104.

Not one to "rest on his laurels," the 26-year-old Joseph came back the next day and brought in a 40-to-1 shot Bathing Beau for an $85.80 payoff. The winning horse also paid $24.20 to show and $12.80 to place along with Cur Be Quick and Chief Roller combined for a trifecta payoff of $7,392.90, one of the largest of the season.

Joseph, a son of Raymond and Betty Joseph, of Prestonsburg, has worked as a jockey since 1966 when he began riding at Lexington tracks.

Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., April 5—As Kentucky's lakes recover from last week's heavy rains, fishing for crappie and black bass shows some improvement and white bass activity is picking up again in several headwaters. The lake-by-lake rundown, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

GREEN: Black bass fair on medium and deep runners off points and in inlets and bays; crappie fair over submerged cover; murky to muddy, falling fast, 6 feet above winter pool and 54 degrees.

GRAYSON: Crappie fair over submerged cover in inlets and bays; black bass slow casting medium runners and still fishing minnows around stick ups in inlets and bays; in tailwaters, trout good; murky to muddy, rising, three feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

FISHTRAP: No activity; murky to muddy, rising, 10 feet below summer pool and 52 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: White bass fair to good on spinners and do-jigs in heads of large tributaries; clear to murky to muddy, stable at four feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass fair on medium runners and by jigging night-crawlers in inlets and bays; crappie slow over submerged cover; white bass fair in South Fork on do-jigs; in tailwaters, crappie and white bass fair; clear to murky to muddy, falling, 23 feet below timberline and 54 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Black bass slow on crank baits and spinner baits and by still fishing nightcrawlers in heads of inlets and bays; white bass slow and improving in Dix River; clear to murky to muddy, stable at 10 feet above summer pool and 55 degrees.

KENTUCKY: Crappie fair to good along brush line in inlets and bays and over submerged cover; black bass fair on crank baits around stumps in inlets and bays; in tailwaters, crappie slow; murky, rising slowly, two feet below summer pool and 58 degrees.

BARKLEY: Crappie fair to good over drop offs in inlets and bays; black bass slow on spinner baits in same areas; in tailwaters, white bass good and crappie fair; murky to muddy, stable at two feet below summer pool and 58 degrees.

DEWEY: Crappie slow but improving over submerged cover; murky, stable at summer pool and 56 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Black bass slow casting spinner baits and jigging nightcrawlers over submerged cover; crappie slow over submerged cover; murky to muddy, stable at three feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

BARREN: Crappie fair to good over submerged cover; black bass fair to good on crank baits and spinner baits in inlets and bays; clear to murky to muddy, falling slowly, four feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

BUCKHORN: No activity; below dam, black bass good and trout fair still fishing live nightcrawlers in backwaters; murky to muddy, falling fast, four feet above summer pool and 56 degrees.

LAUREL: Black bass good on surface and medium runners in inlets and bays; trout good trolling spinners and still fishing worms, cheese and corn; clear to murky to muddy, stable at power pool and 56 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky slow casting and trolling medium to deep runners over main channel and old road beds; black bass slow casting spinner baits and still fishing minnows over submerged cover; murky to muddy, stable at two feet below summer pool and 51 degrees.

Grade School All-Stars To Play at Allen-Central

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to get a preview of the county's future net stars when the top players of four areas of the county will participate in the grade school all-star tournament at the Allen Central High School gymnasium, Friday and Saturday, April 9-10.

Proceeds will go to the 4-H Camp Fund. The four areas to be represented are: Prestonsburg (Clark, Prestonsburg, Auxier and Allen), coached by Fred Setser; Allen Central (Martin, Maytown, Garrett and Wayland), Howard Wallen, coach; Betsy Layne (Stumbo, Harold, Prater and Betsy Layne), coached by Junior Newsome, with Hays Hamilton as assistant coach; Wheelwright (Osborne and Melvin), coached by Hiram Couch.

The opening game Friday at 6:30 p.m. will pit the Allen Central area against Betsy Layne. The Wheelwright area will play the Prestonsburg area at 8 p.m.

Saturday's play will feature the consolation game at 6:30 p.m., and the championship game at 8.

Trophy donors for the tourney were listed by Raymond Griffith, tournament manager, as follow:

Winner, Floyd Federal Savings and Loan; runner-up, B. & D. Army Sets Special Day To Process Hi School Seniors

Saturday, April 10 the U. S. Army Louisville District Recruiting Command has scheduled a special day for high school seniors to process for enlistment into the Army.

According to Lieutenant Colonel Franklin Scherer, commander of the Louisville Recruiting Command, this day was arranged especially to give high school seniors who want to enter the Army after graduation a chance to take their qualifying physical exams. At the same time they can reserve their training slot in their chosen Army school. Training slots in Army schools can be reserved up to nine months in advance. He explained that the Saturday testing date is a convenience to students who would otherwise have to take off from school or wait for a week-day holiday in order to process. By that time many of the more popular Army job training slots could already be taken.

Any high school senior who is interested in the Army and wants to process on that date should contact his local Army recruiter immediately so that he can make necessary arrangements (call (606) 789-5893). Each applicant must take his mental test sometime prior to coming to Louisville for the physical exam.

To further facilitate the student in this requirement, a special mental test will be scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, April 3 at the National Guard Armory, 25th and Lexington, in Ashland, Kentucky.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT
CR 11,574

Floyd Federal Savings and Loan Association, Prestonsburg, Kentucky . . . PIF.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Jimmie Rose and Lizzie Rose, his wife, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of Revenue . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the January 2 term, 1976 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 9th day of April, 1976 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being on the waters of Big Mud Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky, and being the same property conveyed the defendants, Jimmie Rose and Lizzie Rose by deed from Thelma Cline, et al. dated January 17, 1968, recording in Deed Book 196, page 186, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, which is more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at an iron stake in the creek and running a straight line up the hill to a sycamore tree; thence a straight line around the hill to a corner fence post; thence down the hill to the creek; thence around the branch to an iron post, the beginning point.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $1,008.89 with interest thereon at 7 percent annually from the 2 day of January 1976 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 22nd day of March 1976.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON
Master Commissioner

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

The Awakening

All at once, so it seems, the great miracle of transformation takes place. Yesterday we gazed on a brown-leaf hill studded with gray and forlorn tree boles; today we see the bright, new green bursting out on every tree, displaying various rich tints—grayish green, pearly green, pea-green and every shade of green imaginable. Then comes the hectic rush of bursting spring, when all Nature suddenly seems to get in a big hurry to push up, to perk up, to look up and live and grow. Every little green sprig, every tiny blade of grass, every new sprout and wild flower, all reach up eager fingers as if to clasp the warm rays of the sun and hold them in their bosoms. Each and all seek a place in the sun, that each may fulfill its destined purpose to unfold and add a measure of life and beauty to the world.

And so we have the miracle of the green—green tree, green grass, green everywhere, hiding the wounds and scars of the past winter. It is an all-absorbing blessing; it absorbs the drabness of winter . . . No more brown-leaf hills, no more gray and barren landscapes. The green is over all and ruler of all.

And in the fields and woods, a trillion times trillion creatures of every kind come alive and rise from their winter beds. They crawl, they leap, they run, they fly aloft to dance and make love. Once again the birds come back; some today, many more tomorrow, and soon we begin to hear a mixed chorus of music which makes glad this old earth again. So the winter-dead earth has come alive and is flooded with music that is sublime. Not a bird note could you hear in the cold, bleak January; now, in the gladsome spring, you can hear the chorus of many voices blending in rhythm and making glad the hearts of men. All things sing in the glad spring—the birds, the frogs, the toads, the chipmunks, the insects—they sing until the last vestige of winter gloom is banished from the earth. The trees dance and laugh and sing, and if we have our faculties more fully developed, we could hear much more of Nature's sublime music.

The glorious rebuds on the hills sing and their song is clothed in purple splendor; the dogwoods sing in a white, mystical tune.

Shouldn't we then call it a miracle—the awakening of the earth at the magic touch of spring? From winter drabness, gray and gloomy, spring clothes earth's bosom with gowns of shimmering green, which heals the winter-weary hearts of men and puts a sparkle in the eyes. Let us earnestly seek to be re-born with the new-born earth of springtime.

Calls Jenny Wiley Council of IRA Best in State

Title I administrator Dorothy Jones was a recent visitor in several Floyd county classrooms as well as guest speaker at the Jenny Wiley Council meeting held in the Martin luncheon.

Mrs. Jones, who is also the president of the Kentucky State Chapter of the International Reading Association, discussed activities and events at both the state and national levels. According to the educator, Kentucky people are not as involved as they should be at these levels. "Kentucky is being neglected," stated the KSC president. "We need to be on programs at these national IRA gatherings; we need to let others know what we have done and what we can do."

Mrs. James praised the local council activities. "From everything I've read and seen the Jenny Wiley Council is the far most outstanding council in the state," proclaimed the speaker. She lauded the fact that one of the local council members is on the ballot as a candidate for KSC corresponding secretary, and that Lexie Allen, a Maytown reading teacher, is currently serving as KSC treasurer.

President Nadine Hicks announced that council members will go to Hazard, Monday, March 29, to assist the Hazard Community College personnel in the final organization of a local IRA chapter in that area.

Council member Bertha Ratliff discussed the Jenny Wiley Council participation in the IRA conference recently held in Jacksonville, Florida. She presented to the membership a Fourth Southeast Regional IRA Conference Distinguished Teacher Exhibit Award given to the Jenny Wiley Council (representing Kentucky) for their participation.

Since local representation at the National IRA Convention is based on membership the Jenny Wiley Council will be allowed one official delegate, according to President Hicks. Elsie Stephens, county reading supervisor, was named as the official Jenny Wiley Council delegate to the National IRA Convention to be held in Anaheim in May. Refreshments were served by the Martin school personnel. The Jenny Wiley Council is an affiliate of the International Reading Association.

Revival Continues

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has signed into law 375 bills passed by the 1976 General Assembly, allowed 13 others to become law without his signature and vetoed just four measures. He completed his action one day before the April 1 deadline for the legislation to become law without his signature.

The figures, particularly the low veto total, reflect the most harmony between governor and legislature in recent history.

Gov. Carroll has said that he is "highly pleased" with the session. "All of us, both legislators and the executive branch, worked to put together legislation that we felt would do the most good for the most people. This common goal, I feel, has produced much impressive, quality legislation."

Included among the latest legislation signed into law were the following:

—Legislation creating a code of ethics for legislators, including procedures for members to abstain from voting on legislation in which they have a personal or private interest.

—Legislation permitting public school teachers to include the Biblical theory of creation in any course involving the theory of evolution. Further, it permits Biblical reading in conjunction with such instruction and permits credit for such Biblical theory to those students accepting it. Another bill permits voluntary recitation of the Lord's Prayer by elementary school pupils.

—An open records bill which opens to the public nearly all records used or held by state and local governments.

—Several bills with expenditures for elementary and secondary education and fringe benefits for teachers, all designed to improve the quality of education in the Commonwealth.

—Legislation creating several new alternatives for dealing with juvenile misdemeanant offenders, including permitting a judge to order a juvenile 16 or older to work on a community work service project for up to 120 hours, pay a fine of up to $150, or be detained for up to five days in an approved detention facility. Other provisions of the law

The revival meeting which has been in progress at the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright, is continuing for another week. The meeting is being led by Dr. J. C. Hedrick, Baptist evangelist, and will continue through Sunday, April 11, at 7 p.m. daily.

The music leader is Scott Hines, with Mrs. Amber Hines as organist. Special music is featured each evening.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Employment Standards Administration of the U. S. Department of Labor sets and enforces standards under child labor laws.

Carroll Says Few Vetoes Reflect Harmony of Session

specify that juveniles who commit Class A or Class B felonies, capital offenses or repeat offenses be institutionalized for a period of at least six months in an approved juvenile detention facility. Another allows for the judge, in agreement with the state Department for Human Resources, to shock probate a juvenile after 30 days, upon a motion from the defendant.

—Legislation establishing a program to provide 50 per cent of tuition costs for members of the Kentucky National Guard to attend a state supported university, college, community college or vocational school.

—Coal severance tax legislation which calls for $47 million of the $85 million coal severance tax expenditures to be returned to the coal-producing counties, the rest to be used for economic development programs throughout the Commonwealth.

—Legislation creating a Hemophilia Advisory Committee and appropriating $150,000 for each year of the 1976-78 biennium for the operation of a hemophilia treatment program.

Among the four bills which became law without the governor's signature was legislation legalizing small wineries in Kentucky.

The four bills Gov. Carroll vetoed included legislation dealing with the prohibition of monopolistic practices including the creation of an anti-trust division in the state Department of Law and a bill relating to a work release program for prisoners.

Gov. Carroll explained that he vetoed the work release bill because an estimated "165 inmates currently involved in the work release program, both as trustees outside the prison confines and upon the prison farm operations, would be excluded from work release privileges and subject to confinement. The existing law can be administered without disruption to the present program."

The governor said that he vetoed the bill dealing with monopolistic practices in lieu of another bill, which he signed, that deals with anti-trust and monopolistic practices "in a more responsible manner." The bill the governor signed includes a section repealing the general fair trade laws of Kentucky in accordance with recently enacted federal laws, whereas the vetoed legislation did not.

Gov. Carroll has talked proudly of the legislation which created an Economic Development Fund for economic growth and development in several commerce and tourism-related areas, and the wide-ranging consumer protection package which adds increased enforcement powers to the state Attorney General's consumer protection division.

The governor also has said he was highly satisfied with the legislation he pushed through the legislature to outlaw commercial bail bonding for profit in Kentucky. He cited the history of repeat crimes being committed in order to pay off the bondsmen as an overriding necessity for the measure.

Kentucky is the first state in the nation to pass such a law.

15 Colleges Send Students To Mt. Dew Festival Here

The 12 annual Mountain Dew Festival, one of the largest collegiate events in Eastern Kentucky, will begin tomorrow (Thursday) at Prestonsburg Community College with approximately 1,000 college students and faculty members representing 15 junior and community colleges in Kentucky and West Virginia participating. The festival will continue through Saturday.

The three days of competition will feature 15 events, including archery, art, badminton, bowling, checkers, chess, golf, horseshoes, pool, marksmanship, table tennis, talent, tennis and volleyball. Trophies will be awarded for the first three places in each of these events.

Other activities will include the popular Miss Mountain Dew contest to be held in conjunction with the Talent Contest, Friday at 8 p.m. in the Prestonsburg Grade School auditorium. A representative from each of the 15 participating colleges will compete and be judged in four categories. Last year's winner was the Lexington Technical Institute representative.

There will be two dances during the festival, both in the Martin Student Center. On Thursday night "Ethan" will be playing, and on Saturday night "Free Fall" will be featured.

All activities will be open to the public. Colleges expected to participate in this year's festival are Hopkinsville Community College, Lexington Technical Institute, Elizabethtown Community College, Lee's Junior College, Somerset Community College, Ashland Community College, Alice Lloyd College, Jefferson Community College, Southeast Community College, Hazard Community College, Maysville Community College, Madisonville Community College, Southern West Virginia Community College, Wood & Forestry Technician School, and the host school, Prestonsburg Community College.

Bevins Appointed

State Trooper Leeman Bevins has been appointed to the position of public information officer and crime prevention specialist for the Pikeville State Police Post.

Bevins' appointment fills the vacancy created when Sgt. Eugene Hutchinson was transferred to a supervisory position within the post.

Truett Ricks, Commissioner, Kentucky State Police said, "This change was made so that more supervisory personnel would be available at each post and to see that our public information program would continue to assist and inform our citizens."

Health Notes

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a pap smear clinic Thursday, April 8, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 2 p.m. The health department reminds all women that early detection and treatment is your best defense against cervical cancer and that in order to have continuing protection you should have a pap smear at least once a year.

This clinic is free and open to all women.

Also, on Monday, April 12, a public health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist church at Wayland. Clinic hours will last from 10 a.m. to 12 and from 1 to 2 p.m. and the following medical services will be offered, free of charge: immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening and blood pressures.

All persons in the Wayland vicinity are welcome to attend.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, April 13 and 14, there will be no nursing or clerical services available from the health department. The health department staff will be assisting in the Regional Heart Clinic on these two days. These services will resume Thursday, April 15, at 8 a.m.

School Boards May Now Assist Pupils thru Medical Program

Frankfort, Ky.—School boards in Kentucky may now participate in the Kentucky Medical Assistance Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnostic and Treatment Program (EPSDT) according to Dianne Caines, supervisor of school health services in the Kentucky Department of Education.

Mrs. Caines said the Jefferson County Board of Education, Newport City School Board, and the Russell County Board of Education are already participating in the screening program.

Medical Assistance, or Title XIX, is a federal-state assistance program that provides payment for certain medical services to persons who lack sufficient income to meet the cost of medical care. Children up to 21 years of age, having a Medical Assistance (Medicaid) card, are eligible for the screening services.

A child screened undergoes a general health assessment that includes a medical history; growth and developmental assessment; vision, hearing and dental assessments; screening for kidney abnormalities, tuberculosis, anemia and updating of immunizations. Screening for venereal disease, sickle cell and lead poisoning is done as medically indicated. Children who need medical care are referred to an appropriate health care provider.

Gail Huecker, commissioner of the Bureau for Social Insurance, said some 160,000 children in the Commonwealth are eligible for participation in EPSDT program. Since the start of the screening program in 1972, approximately 54,785 have been screened.

The low number of eligible children screened prompted the inclusion of school boards as a provider of the services. "Some physicians participate in the program; however, most of the children are seen in clinics throughout the Commonwealth," said Commissioner Huecker.

School boards interested in participating in the Medicaid EPSDT program should contact James C. Rogers, director of the Kentucky Medical Assistance Program, by writing to Bureau for Social Insurance, Department for Human Resources, Frankfort, 40601 or by calling the EPSDT staff at (502) 564-5472, ext. 49.

Rudolph Spencer, of Garrett, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey.

CONCLUDES VISIT

Mrs. Nell B. Howard returned home last week from a visit of a week with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Rayburn, in Ashland. She also visited relatives in Olive Hill.

IN FLORIDA HOSPITAL

Willie Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rice, of Pyramid, has been ill since last Oct. 14th and has been hospitalized in the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando, Fla.

HAS SURGERY

Mrs. Nettie Roberts, wife of Curtis B. Roberts, formerly of West Prestonsburg, has undergone minor surgery in Leesburg General Hospital, Leesburg, Fla. She is recovering nicely.

SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Condition of Miss Ella Noel C. White, who is a patient at Highlands Medical Center, is slightly improved. She is attended by nurses around the clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Meade and Mrs. Gladys P. White, of Lexington, are here with her.

CRITICALLY ILL

Unfavorable reports from the condition of J. B. Ford at the Highlands Medical Center have caused much concern.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Curtis were hosts to Sunday dinner at their home on the Middle Creek road. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stump, Mrs. J. R. Herron and Miss Lena T. Porter, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Margaret P. Alley, of Prestonsburg.

RETURN FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rose returned home last week after a three-month stay in Ft. Meyers, Florida.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Dickie) Hall announce the birth on Feb. 28 at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, of their second child, first son—Richard Ashley. Mrs. Hall is the former Peggy Wright, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elder Wright, of Water Gap.

RETURN FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Keenon who have been vacationing in Florida for a month returned home last Thursday.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO MEET AT LODGE

The Floyd County Democratic Women's Club will meet Wednesday, April 14, at noon at May Lodge.

Judge Hollie Conley will be guest speaker, and all Democratic women are urged to attend.

WINS ART AWARD

Paul G. Stanley, of Prestonsburg, won first place for his oil painting in the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs meeting held at the Paintsville Civic Center, March 20. Twenty-four clubs were represented at the meet, and the painting will be displayed in competition at the Federation's statewide meeting. Stanley, a junior at Prestonsburg High School, is the son of Mrs. Harold Joseph and the late Ronnie Stanley and is the stepson of Harold Joseph.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The First United Methodist women held their monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Eddie Worland.

President, Mrs. Roy Ramey, presided, and the meeting opened with prayer by Miss Myrtle Pugsley.

Mrs. Thomas Lemaster gave the devotions, "To Celebrate Easter," then "Christ's Life, Birth, Death and Resurrection," scriptures read from Isaiah, St. John and Luke, concluding with prayer.

Delicious refreshments were served by hostess to Mrs. Roy Ramey, Mrs. Carl Horn, Mrs. Denzil Whitten, Mrs. Thomas Lemaster, Mrs. James Carter, Mrs. Thomas Hereford, Mrs. Arthur Bradbury, Mrs. Thomas D. Honn, Mrs. Clifford Baldrige, Mrs. George D. Brown and guest, Miss Myrtle Pugsley.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Hazz Freeman and daughter left Monday for Findlay, Ohio, where they reside.

CONDUCTING REVIVAL

The Rev. W. D. Jagers, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here, is preaching this week in a revival at First Baptist Church, Ashland.

IN OHIO

County Judge Henry Stumbo is in Circleville, O., where his brother, George Stumbo, is critically ill. The fiscal court meeting scheduled Monday was postponed till next Monday because of Judge Stumbo's absence.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Mrs. Nora Spradin, of the Goble-Roberts addition, entertained with a luncheon at her home last Monday Mrs. J. T. Spillman, of Estill, Mrs. Harry Sherman, Beckley, W. Va., and Mrs. Beatrice Collins.

IN MOREHEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Layne were in Morehead last week visiting relatives while on business.

HERE TO SEE MISS WHITE

Relatives who came here Saturday and Sunday to visit Miss Ella Noel C. White at Highlands Medical Center included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Meade and Mrs. Gladys P. White, Lexington, Steve Meade, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. James Nesbitt, Mt. Sterling.

Miss Brackett Receives Good Citizen Honors

Miss Laura Frances Brackett, senior at Prestonsburg High School, and the Good Citizen representative of John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was presented her certificate by Mrs. Roy C. Nester, DAR state chaplain, Saturday, at the state capitol at Frankfort.

Approximately one hundred Good Citizens, parents, and guests also enjoyed a tour of the Governor's mansion, a buffet luncheon, a tour of the old State House and Museum, and a tea held at the Lieutenant Governor's home.

Miss Brackett was accompanied by John Graham Chapter regent, Mrs. J. Frank Preston, and her mother, Mrs. Ray Brackett.

ILL AT HOME

Mrs. Grace L. Burke is suffering from a flu relapse at her home on Arnold Avenue.

HAS INFLUENZA

Mrs. Otella Smiley is confined to her home with an attack of flu.

VISITOR IN PAINTSVILLE

Mrs. Beatrice Collins was a business visitor in Paintsville Monday.

HERE FROM LEXINGTON

Mrs. Anna Laura Bolous, of Lexington, is visiting Mrs. Willie Mellon here this week.

VISIT MRS. HUTSINPILLER

Mrs. May Martin and Mary Catherine Hutsinpiller visited Mrs. Maxie A. Hutsinpiller at the Cresthaven Nursing Home in Paintsville, Saturday.

GUESTS IN PIKEVILLE

Mrs. Faye Hall, of Pikeville, had as her recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sword, of Dwale, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Sword and Mrs. Callie Sword, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

ATTENDED BALL GAME

Mrs. Janelle Steffy and children, Tavis, Bambi and Jamie, of Dwale, attended the basketball games in Louisville last week.

AT MT. MANOR

Mr. Daniel Chapman, of Garrett, registered at Mountain Manor Nursing Home here last week.

VISIT AT DWALE

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lynch, of Ashland, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Howard at Dwale recently.

APRIL 2—HER DAY

Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards observed her 81st birthday, April 2. Calls from a distance, cards were received and friends called throughout the day, offering congratulations. She received many gifts. To all who called, refreshments were served. On Sunday she was recognized at the morning service at the First Presbyterian Church. She has the distinction of being the oldest Prestonsburg member of the church, her membership dating from the age of 12.

13th Beauty Pageant Said 'Most Ambitious'

"Star Spangled Girls" will be the colorful theme of the 13th annual Miss Floyd County Scholarship Pageant to be staged Saturday evening, April 24, at the Prestonsburg fieldhouse.

Tickets can be obtained at the high school or by calling Judy Branham at 886-8601 for reserved seats.

Mrs. Susan Wallen, pageant general chairwoman, Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, said the show this year will be the most ambitious production planned since the start of the annual program in Prestonsburg.

The new Miss Floyd County will be crowned by the retiring Miss Floyd County, Miss Melissa Lafferty, of Allen.

The pageant winner will be awarded a total of $200 in scholarship and wardrobe from various merchants. She will also represent Floyd county in the Miss Kentucky Pageant with the opportunity to seek the $1,500 scholarship awarded to the state queen.

Scotia Mine Disaster Probe Begins Monday at Whitesburg

By STEPHEN FORD (In The Courier-Journal) Whitesburg, Ky.—Supervisory personnel at Scotia Coal Co.'s No. 1 mine, the scene of two explosions last month that killed 26 men, acknowledged to a federal investigating panel Monday that the mine section where the explosions occurred was rarely checked for accumulations of explosive methane gas.

Two Scotia foremen said no methane readings were taken in the section in the early morning of March 9, before a crew of 15 men—who were killed in the first blast—entered the section.

Harreld Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, said the lax gas checks violate state mining laws, and federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA) officials said federal law may also have been broken.

In addition, Scotia employees told the panel that the fresh air supply to the section had been short-circuited for about a week before the explosion and that it was further reduced during a MESA inspection the night before the March 9 explosion.

These disclosures were the high points of the testimony by witnesses on the first day of public hearings being held in the crowded Letcher county courtroom by a "high-level" five-man commission appointed by the U. S. Interior Department,

Alcohol Abuse Discussed

(Submitted by Betsy Layne F.H.A.) Betsy Layne F.H.A. would like to give you some facts about alcohol abuse. Alcohol is a drug, a chemical substance. It acts on the brain like an anesthetic putting the brain centers to sleep from the top down.

Although the whole body is effected by an overdose it is the brain that suffers first and most. The term "intoxication" means one thing: there is enough alcohol in the body to have a toxic (poisonous) effect on the brain. Detoxifying or "sobering up" only takes place when the body gets rid of the alcohol.

Exercise, fresh air, and hot coffee do not speed up this process. Cold showers don't work either. The liver must metabolize the alcohol and there's no way to hurry it.

The majority of people who choose to drink do so in a responsible and controllable way. Drinking can be a pleasurable activity. It can also be a disastrous experience. Blacking out is just one effect of overdosing with alcohol. There are other immediate and long-term results of getting drunk. Understand the risks of drinking so you can manage your decisions wisely.

We would like you to take this quiz and find out for yourself, WHAT KIND OF A DRINKER ARE YOU?

- 1. Do you drink and talk about drinking often? 2. Do you drink more now than you used to? 3. Do you often take a drink to help you relax? 4. Do you sometimes gulp drinks? 5. Do you drink when you are alone? 6. Do you sometimes forget what happened when you were drinking? 7. Do you keep a bottle hidden somewhere... at home, at work, or at school... for quick pick-me-ups? 8. Do you need a drink to have fun? 9. Do you ever just start drinking without thinking about it? 10. Do you drink in the morning to relieve a hangover?

HOW TO SCORE: According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, a social drinker should have three or fewer "yes" checks. Four or more "yes" checks do not necessarily mean you are an alcoholic or that you even have a serious problem. But they should serve as real danger signals.

The first steam shovel, known as the Otis-type after inventor William S. Otis, began stripping coal near Pittsburg, Kansas, in 1877. This was the first attempt at applying a fully-mechanical device to a strip-mine operation. In 1905, the first mechanical strip mine in Kentucky was opened at Lily in Laurel County.

which runs MESA, to investigate the explosions.

MESA believes both of the disasters at the mine at Oven Fork in Letcher County were caused by explosions of methane gas near the temporarily idled head of a mine section known as 2 Southeast Mains.

Two days after 15 Scotia miners were killed March 9 about 3 1/2 miles inside the mine, a second blast in the same area killed 11 more men—eight Scotia employees and three MESA inspectors—preparing the mine for a probe of the first blast.

In addition to the revelations about gas checks and air-supply manipulation, yesterday's testimony also included statements about a possible unreported methane fire in the section three months before the blast, unreported methane streams in the section, sparking battery-powered equipment in the area and poor safety training for Scotia employees.

Federal law requires that all active mine sections be thoroughly checked for methane within three hours of the start of each work shift. State law requires such a check at least every four hours.

Responsibility for making the checks normally rests with the "fire boss," a supervisory employe, on the previous shift.

However, Charles Fields, a Scotia fire boss, said he did not check the head of the No. 2 Southeast Mains before the ill-fated crew entered March 9. He said he had been in the head of the section only about twice since the mining equipment was withdrawn five or six weeks earlier and placed in a new section, (2 left) branching off about half way up to 2 Southeast Mains.

Fields acknowledged that his fireboss's book showed an entry for March 9 that 14,300 cubic feet of air per minute (the legal minimum is 9,000) was reaching the end of the section.

Fields said the figure was supplied by the shift foreman, Arvil Cornett, but Cornett then testified he had not firebossed the heading of the No. 2 Southeast Mains either, suggesting that Fields' entry was fabricated.

"It wasn't firebossed. If it was, we wouldn't be here today," Kirkpatrick said in an interview.

Fields, Cornett and other company witnesses indicated the heading was checked infrequently because they considered it an inactive section. However, several Scotia supervisors testified that they considered it only temporarily inactive.

Kirkpatrick said state law requires temporarily idle sections and sections adjacent to working sections (2 left, adjacent to 2 Southeast Mains, is active) to be treated as active sections and inspected every four hours when men are underground.

Panel chairman Robert R. Barrett, MESA administrator, said he also considered the section active because two motormen were working in the area unloading rails at the time of the March 9 explosion and because fresh air to 2 left is routed first all the way to the head of 2 Southeast.

However, former Kentucky Gov. Bert Combs, attorney for Scotia's parent firm, Blue Diamond Coal Co., disagreed and contended the heading was an idle section requiring only weekly inspections. He said other fire bosses may testify later that they checked the entire section each week.

Official Says Process Could Revive Big Sandy Gas Field

The Big Sandy gas field, which to date has produced more than 2 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, has the potential of even greater production if a recovery process known as pyrolysis can be made practical, an official of the U. S. Geological Survey said recently.

(Pyrolysis involves heating the shale, thus breaking down the formation and releasing pent-up gas reserves.)

Shale formations throughout the Appalachian basin which once produced natural gas, and which may still yield significant additional supplies, will be the targets for detailed studies by a team of specialists from the Geological Survey.

The five-year program, spurred by the gas shortage in the eastern United States, and aimed at assessing the gas potential of black shales of Devonian age that underlie an area of more than 160,000 square miles in the Appalachian basin, will be carried out by the USGS on behalf of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) under terms of a recently signed agreement.

Wallace de Witt Jr., program chief at the Survey's National Center, Reston, Va., said that there is a large volume of natural gas locked in the black shales. He said, however, that "as yet, geologists and engineers don't have the key to free this gas. The problem is to develop methods for well stimulation and enhanced gas production that will economically recover even a modest percent of the total volume of gas locked in these shales."

"The potential volume of natural gas in the black shale is great, and the volume of black shale available in the Appalachians is also very large," de Witt said, emphasizing, however, that "much must be learned about promising areas where the black shales may be most amenable to new techniques for release of the gas by the use of heat, chemicals, or combinations of both."

During the 1920's, de Witt noted, gas was found in the black Devonian shales of Eastern Kentucky, and during the next 25 to 36 years the huge Big Sandy gas field was developed in an area of about 2,150 square miles.

The Big Sandy gas field, de Witt said, contains about 200 cubic miles of gas-productive black shale. Individual wells in the field have an initial open flow of as much as 5 million cubic feet, and at least one well has produced 7 billion cubic feet of gas during its 35-year life. "Although many noncommercial wells—called dry holes by the well drillers—were drilled in the Big Sandy field, the productive wells average about 350 to 390 million cubic feet of gas before reaching the limit of economic recovery," de Witt said, adding that "to date, the Big Sandy field has produced more than 2 trillion cubic feet of gas—about 1-15th of the total volume of gas produced in the Appalachian basin."

"Production data from wells in the Big Sandy field," de Witt said, "show that the black shale has produced slightly more than 1 cubic foot of gas per ton of shale where the operators are using the present method of well stimulation and production. Lab tests, however, indicate that by heating chips of the black shale in a retort to about 500 degrees C the complex organic compounds in the shale can be broken down, and as much as 1,000 to 2,000 cubic feet of gas per ton of shale can be released by this process, called pyrolysis.

"If the 126,000 cubic miles of black shales in the Appalachians could be made productive at the same volumetric rate as the 200 cubic miles of black shale in the Big Sandy field, an additional 149 trillion cubic feet of gas could be available in the Appalachian area," de Witt said.

The USGS-ERDA program, to cost nearly $5 million, will involve as many as 20 USGS experts in stratigraphy, petroleum geology, structural geology, geochemistry, geophysics, and paleontology in the study of the black shales throughout the Appalachian basin in cooperation with geologists from State Geological Surveys, universities, and industry.

The USGS and other cooperators in the study expect to develop a series of criteria which will enable ERDA and the natural-gas industry to delineate targets of black shale that would be most likely to yield significant amounts of gas under more sophisticated techniques of extraction.

Girl Scout News

Floyd C. Service Unit had a program of square dancing, songs, and games at Drift, recently. Hostess was Diantha Hodges and her Junior and Cadet Troop 634. Girls attending were Lorraine Martin, Junior, Martha and Betty Slusher, Cadettes. Adults present were Shelia Phelps, Linda Maggard, Dorine Martin. Visiting was Junior Troop 991 including Cindy Harless, Margarita Boaders, Brenda Green, Penny Roberts, Susan Goble; Leader Nancy Roberts and assistant, Anna Bell Harless and daughter, Lanora Harless.

Songs and dance games were led by Diantha Hodges. Jake and Bunny Farley, members of Berea Square Dancers, came to teach the girls to square dance, and all scout members and leaders are most appreciative of this.

Road Cost Overrun Financed by ARC Grant and State

Additional funds necessary to cover a cost overrun on the construction of the Hazard High School access road in Perry county will come from a $301,000 Appalachian Regional Commission grant, Gov. Julian Carroll has announced.

The governor said the state will provide $129,000 toward meeting the increased cost of the road. He indicated that the necessary funds have been made available to the secretary of the U. S. Department of Transportation by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Display Contest Prize

Three members of Prestonsburg's Post F, Travelers Protective Association of America, Edgar Craft, Lloyd Wells, and John Wayne Shepherd, president, display a 12-gauge shotgun won by Curtis Blackburn, of Endicott. Proceeds from the event will be used to buy School Patrol safety jackets.

Scouters Receive Special Awards

Three 20-year veteran Scouters received at Lonesome Pine Council's recent annual Appreciation Dinner held at Jenkins the Silver Beaver award, the council's highest award in recognition of a specially meritorious service to boys throughout the council. The three 1976 Silver Beaver recipients were O. T. "Trigg" Dorton, of Paintsville, Ronald W. Heller, of Grundy, Va., and Brandt Mullins, of Pikeville.

Mr. Dorton is immediate past president of Lonesome Pine Council and has served for 24 years as a member of the council's executive board. He has been especially active in assisting the council during its financial campaigns, and has also been active in many other worthwhile community activities. He has served as president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and is president-elect of the Kentucky Bankers' Association.

Mr. Heller is Scoutmaster of Troop 48 which is sponsored in Grundy by the Mountain Mission School. Since 1965 he has been associated with Troop 48 and also served for a period of time as Scoutmaster and assistant with Troop 40, also in Grundy. Mr. Heller is campus minister and supervisor of the boys' dormitory at Mountain Mission School.

Mr. Mullins has been a member of the executive board of the Council since 1956. From 1959 through 1961 and again from 1968 through 1976 he served as council treasurer. He also served as assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 371, sponsored by the First Baptist Church. In the community Mr. Mullins is an active member of the First Baptist Church and has assisted with various fund-raising campaigns. He also served as treasurer of the Pikeville independent school district and has been a director of the Pike County Chamber of Commerce for the last eight years.

In addition to the Silver Beaver awards, a special plaque was presented to H. E. Greer, Sr., of Hazard, commemorating his more than 42 years of service to Lonesome Pine Council.

J. M. Wood, of Pikeville, was recognized for his service as chairman of the 1975 sustaining membership enrollment, and E. M. Bane, of Grundy, received a plaque in recognition of his having served as chairman of a special council campaign which raised money to retire the council's indebtedness.

Two district awards of merit were presented. One of these went to Scout Lon Meader of Hyden, Kentucky, whose quick response in several emergency situations has exemplified his Scout training. The other award of merit was presented to Buddy Roe, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, Whitesburg, in recognition of his having assisted seven boys to achieve the rank of Eagle Scout during the past nine months.

A Den Leader's Training Award was presented to Mrs. Ruth Cantrell, of Pack 3, Wise, Va., and Den Leader Coach Training awards were presented to Mrs. Barbara Asher, of Pack 3, Wise, Va., Mrs. Caroline Leach, formerly of Pack 21, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Barbara

Steam Train Slated To Run May 15-16

Ever long to hear that lonesome whistle once more, or just wonder what the real thing sounds like?

A group of railroad enthusiasts in Lexington called the Bluegrass Railroad Club makes it possible to ride a real choo-choo, or if you've outgrown your first childhood and are not into the second, a steam locomotive.

On Saturday and Sunday, May 15-16, the oldest main-line operating steam locomotive will leave Elkhorn City at 9:45 in the morning for a 184-mile round trip to Kingsport, Tenn. over the Clinchfield Railroad. The 12-car train takes its passengers through the Breaks, over many high trestles and through 32 tunnels each way. Lunch is served at Kingsport.

All past trips have been complete sell-outs, with passengers coming from all over the country. Those ordering tickets should state date preferred. All inquiries should be sent to Bluegrass Railroad Club, 346 Desha Road, Lexington, Ky. 40502, or those interested may call 278-1975.

The club is a non-profit organization which operates the trips to promote railroad interest and "for what fun we get out of them."

Polly, of Pack 4, Big Stone Gap, Virginia. The Scouters' Training Key was presented to Buddy Roe, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, Whitesburg.

Clyde DeRossett, Jr., of Prestonsburg, chief of the Tomahaken Lodge of the Order of the Arrow, was presented the Vigil Honor certificate by Alden G. Barber, chief Scout executive. Also receiving recognition from the Scout executive were seven Eagle Scouts who were present, including Van S. Breeding, Richard G. Brown, Mark J. Larkey, Johnnie P. Ramsey, Robert D. Roe, and Vincent J. Yinger, of Troop 9, Whitesburg; David A. Fanning, of Troop 81, Millard, and Glenn C. Leach, of Troop 27, Prestonsburg.

Special recognition was presented to Jonathan U. VanTassel, executive director of Dilenowisco Educational Cooperative, Inc., of Norton, Va., as a result of the splendid cooperation between Dilenowisco and the Boy Scouts of America in providing a summer camping experience for special education and handicapped children during the summer of 1975.

If the luxury car you're thinking of buying doesn't have these features you're buying the wrong car.

FRONT-WHEEL DRIVE. This system gives you greater tracking stability. Since the car is pulled rather than pushed, tracking and cornering on snow, in crosswinds, and on treacherous curves is remarkable.

NEGATIVE STEERING-ROLL RADIUS. In a front-wheel blowout situation, negative steering-roll radius assists you in bringing the car to a controlled stop.

DUAL-DIAGONAL BRAKES. Each front wheel is connected to its diagonally-opposed rear wheel so that, in case one circuit should fail, the other still operates. This, in combination with negative steering-roll radius, helps maintain directional stability.

COMFORT. Audi's luxurious interior has unusual headroom and legroom, and comfortably seats 5. The seats are orthopedically-designed for maximum support and comfort, thereby minimizing fatigue. The front seats recline.

FLO-THROUGH VENTILATION. This system not only provides a continuous flow of fresh air, but circulates it in a manner which can cool the face as it warms the feet, helping you stay alert.

OUTSTANDING MILEAGE. CIS fuel injection gave Audi an EPA-estimated 30 mpg highway and 20 mpg city (actual mileage may vary depending on driving habits, car's condition, and optional equipment with standard shift).

TRUNK SPACE. The Audi has 20.1 cubic feet of carpeted trunk space, more than some luxury cars twice the price. It was specifically designed to accommodate the luggage of a family of five.

INDEPENDENT FRONT SUSPENSION. The Audi's independent front suspension system, in combination with its torsion crank rear axle, provides additional stability as well as a smoother ride.

RACK-AND-PINION STEERING. Audi's power-assisted rack-and-pinion steering is the most direct and immediately-reacting type of steering system there is.

CLASSIC DESIGN. The Audi's styling is one of understated elegance. Designed for substance and quality, its look varies little from year to year.

SAFETY. The Audi is built with a rigid, computer-designed steel safety-cell passenger compartment. Its collapsible front and rear sections, steering wheel and steering column are designed to absorb energy. It has 3-point inertia-type front seat belts, and child-proof rear door locks which can be set to open only from the outside. Steel-belted radial tires are standard equipment.

PRICE. Germany makes some of the greatest luxury cars in the world, and some of the most expensive. But in the Audi 100LS, you can get all these features for thousands of dollars less than you might expect to pay. That alone makes the Audi 100LS unique.

The answer is Audi

Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Miley Prater, of Route 850, David, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary, Sunday, March 21. They were honored by their children and grandchildren with a special dinner and gifts at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. Denver Ousley, at Blue River.

Miley and Laura Hicks Prater were united in marriage March 20, 1916, at Pyramid, by the Rev. John Reffitt. They are the parents of eight children, six of whom are yet living. They are Earnest, Arnold and Kenneth Prater, all of David, Charles Prater, of Pikeville, Mrs. Lona Hall, of Allen, and Mrs. Ruth Prater, of Prestonsburg. In addition, 26 grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild represent five generations of the Prater family.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
(Attorney General)

Many consumers have credit cards and receive monthly computerized bills. Problems arise when an inaccurate bill is received or when an unfair credit billing practice is followed by a company.

To alleviate these problems, the federal government has enacted a law entitled the "Fair Credit Billing Act." This law establishes a problem-solving procedure to settle billing disputes.

Under this law, if you receive a bill which you feel is incorrect, a written notice must be sent to the company within 60 days of the mailing date of the bill. The creditor must respond in 30 days. The company then has 90 days to either correct the error or explain why the bill was correct.

During this settlement process, you do not have to pay the disputed amount or finance charges on that amount, but the other portions of the bill that are correct must be paid. If the creditor does not follow these procedures as specified by law, you do not have to pay the disputed amount up to $50—even if you owe it.

Remember, if the creditor was not in error, you will be required to pay the full amount plus finance charges. This late payment must be noted on your credit report as resulting from a billing dispute, so as not to effect your credit.

The "Fair Credit Billing Act" gives you other rights as well. If a consumer buys an item or a service at a store and charges it on a non-store credit card, such as Bank Americard or Master Charge, the consumer can refuse to make payments if the product is unsatisfactory.

To do this, the consumer must attempt to negotiate in good faith with the store, the items or service must cost more than $50, and the store must be located within 100 miles of the consumer's home or within the same state.

These portions of the "Fair Credit Billing Act" are already in effect. More provisions are expected to be effective this summer. If you want more information on these rules, contact the Board of Governors of the Federal

1976 Hunting Seasons Set

Frankfort, Ky., March 30—The opening day for the statewide gun deer hunting season has been "standardized" by the state Fish and Wildlife Commission to open annually on the first Saturday in December but the length of the season will be reconsidered each year and could vary from season to season, depending on the status of the state's deer population, according to Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell.

Dates for the 1976 season will be December 4 through December 8 and the state will be divided into four "zones" for purposes of gun deer hunting. In Zone No. 1 (McCracken, Livingston and Crittenden counties) and in Zone No. 3 (Gallatin and Owen Counties), either sex deer may be taken December 4 but only bucks with at least one forked antler may be taken during the other four days of the season.

Either sex deer may be taken during the entire five-day season (December 4-8) in Zone No. 2 (Barren, Hart and Edmonson counties) and only bucks, again with at least one forked antler, may be taken in Zone No. 4 which includes the remainder of the state except for those counties and management areas which are closed to deer hunting or in which special regulations apply.

Three new counties—Perry, Johnson and Knott—and a portion of Breathitt (that part south of Buckhorn Creek road) were added to the list of counties previously closed to all deer hunting. The counties closed prior to this year are Jackson, Owsley, Clay, Harlan, Powell, Clark, Leslie and Wolfe. Wildlife management areas closed to hunting for deer (and all other species) are Robinson Forest, Beaver Creek, Grayson Lake, Pine Mountain and Redbird.

The commission also initiated a requirement that all gun deer hunters check their deer in at a county check station in an effort to obtain more accurate statewide kill data for use in formulating the 1977 season. Plans call for the check stations to be located at business establishments in each open county where space and services will be volunteered.

Dates for the archery deer season will be October 1 through November 14 and December 18 through December 31. Either sex deer may be taken and all counties open to gun deer hunting will be open to the archers.

Seasons for the various wildlife management areas and military reservations, which sometimes differ from statewide regulations, will be announced at a later date.

The 1976-'77 small game hunting seasons was set with virtually no changes, Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold L. Mitchell said.

The squirrel seasons will open on the traditional third Saturday in August—August 21—and continue through October 31; reopen November 18 and continue through December 31. The seasons for taking rabbits, quail, grouse and furbearers will open as usual on the third Thursday in November—November 18—with the rabbit and furbearers season continuing through January 31 and quail and grouse hunting extending through February 28. (All small game season, except trapping for furbearers, will be closed during the statewide gun deer hunt, December 4 through December 8.)

Bag and possession limits for squirrel remain at 6 and 12; for rabbit, also 6 and 12; quail, 10 and 20, and grouse, 4 and 8. There is no limit on the number of furbearers which may be taken by trapping but raccoon hunters will be limited to a bag and possession limit of one per hunter, with no more than three raccoons per party of three or more hunters.

during the shakeout season October 21 through November 17, and the same limits will apply during the "taking" season, November 18 through January 31, whether the raccoons are taken by gun, dog or alive.

Seasons and limits on wildlife management areas and military installations, which sometimes vary from statewide regulations, will be announced at a later date.

In other action, the commission authorized expansion of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' hunter safety education program; set the statewide gun deer season for December 4 through December 8 and the statewide archery deer season for October 1 through November 14 and December 18 through December 31.

The commission also opened to grouse hunting the counties of Christian, Caldwell, Hopkins, Butler and all portions of Hardin, Bullitt and Meade lying outside of Fort Knox. These areas had previously been closed due to grouse research and experimental stocking programs which were conducted there.

Burial will be made in the Dry Creek cemetery under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Obituary

To the many friends and all who knew my Dad, (Preacher) Luther Davis, who on January 30, 1976, departed this life for his home in glory, a place where Jesus said he would go to prepare for him and all who believe in our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

For many years he walked the hills of both Floyd and Knott counties of Kentucky to preach God's Gospel to those he loved. For financial reasons, he was forced to leave the hills and people he loved, as so many others have done.

For the past 22 years he had lived outside the little town of Rensselaer, Indiana, where most of the family had moved and was near the town of North Judson, Indiana.

I say with regret, we laid my Dad and Mother to rest. My mother passed away on March 8, 1973. My dear Mother suffered for so long. My Dad spent the last few years of his life looking after her.

I know you will be saddened as you read this, but I also know you would want to know of their passing.

Bless you.
KILE DAVIS

For Whatever It's Worth, New $2 Bill Due April 13

The new two-dollar bill will take its place as a regular part of the nation's currency when it becomes available to the public through commercial banks on April 13, Thomas Jefferson's birthday. Jefferson's portrait, painted in the early 1800's by Gilbert Stuart, will appear on the face of the new bill.

The back of the note will feature a rendition of "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," painted by John Trumbull during the post-Revolutionary War period. The painting now hangs in the Trumbull Gallery at Yale University.

CRITICALLY ILL

Local Tpr. Island Fund Drive Begun

A fund drive for this year's Trooper Island Boy's Camp has begun in the area. KSP Post 9 Public Information Officer Leeman Bevins announced this week.

The camp, which is maintained completely on donation's from citizens, is located on Dale Hollow Reservoir and accommodates 500 underprivileged boys from all sections of the state each summer. Boys ages 11-14 are recommended by troopers and include youngsters who would otherwise not have an opportunity to attend summer camp.

Any persons wishing to donate to the camp fund or who would like further information on Trooper Island should contact Post 9, Pikeville, Ky. 41501, Phone, 437-7311 or 7312, or ask any state police trooper.

In 1975, the West Kentucky Easter Seal Center for Crippled Children and Adults, at Paducah, provided services for 822 people.

Our sun is really a star—albeit a colossal one with a diameter of 864,000 miles. But stars don't live forever, and this one is already middle-aged. The April issue of Reader's Digest calculates that it will make 20 more turns around the heart of the Milky Way before the sun begins to die. That's some time in the distant future though: each trip takes 250 million years.

Black Lung Association Has Music Get-Together

More than 200 persons came to the Kentucky Black Lung Association's "Music Get-Together" last Saturday at the Upper Carr Community Center in Knott county. The music began at 7 p.m. and lasted well beyond midnight. Local talent from Letcher, Knott, Floyd and other counties provided the entertainment.

The night began with the Shady Mountain Boys of Floyd county. They were followed by Calvin Waddles and his Lonesome Mountain Boys, then C. B. "Lummie" Thornesberry, a black-lung sufferer himself, played a few tunes, using the old claw-hammer style of playing. Thornesberry later passed the hat for a donation for the KBLA and received over $68.

George Tucker, president of the KBLA and a fine musician himself, played next and explained what the KBLA is and what the money would be used for. He encouraged everyone to support the upcoming "black-lung" bill that Representative Carl Perkins is working on.

Other groups that provided entertainment were the Coal Miners, Floyd County Ramblers, Good Time Ramblers of Floyd County, Caney Cup-Ups, Knott County Boys and the Kentucky Mountaineers of Knott County and the Boone Mountain Boys, Jack Wright and friends of Letcher County. Also appearing were Barbara Edwards, balladeer and student of traditional mountain music from Ashland, and one of Knott county's favorite musicians, Ray Slone.

SINGING CONVENTION SET

A singing convention will be held Saturday, April 10 at the Drift Free Will Baptist Church at 7 p.m. The Martin Harmonizers, Spiritualaires, and others will be singing. Everyone is invited to attend.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON
With Gov. Julian Carroll's proclamation the Commonwealth joined states across the country recently in participating in the annual observance of National Wildlife Week.

As in the past, the National Wildlife Federation has chosen an important aspect of wildlife conservation upon which to focus the nation's attention. Both through the national organization and through state affiliates (such as the League of Kentucky Sportsmen), the NWF has devoted much time, effort and money to get across this year's message—"Save Our Wetlands."

But it's going to take more than a week of publicity to halt the destruction of wetlands, areas which the Committee on North American Wildlife Policy has called "our most endangered wildlife habitats." The NWF estimates that over half of this country's original 127 million acres of wetlands has been lost forever.

Wetlands—marshes, swamps, bogs, natural stream banks, lake borders and so on—form important natural communities which support a wide variety of plant and animal life. Wetlands are essential for waterfowl, and provide homes for everything from song birds and turtles to swamp rabbits and raccoons.

Wetlands also play an important role in the natural purification of water supplies and help control erosion by preventing the rapid run-off of rain water. They can also furnish recreational and scenic areas for hunters, birdwatchers, nature photographers and other outdoorsmen.

The problem is, wetlands are all too often considered "wasted" areas which could be "improved" by being drained or filled. To the agriculturist or the land developer, they are places which are too wet to plow or too soggy for suburbs or shopping centers.

When a wetland is destroyed, the wildlife which it sheltered is also lost. Filling a bog, draining a swamp or channelizing a stream may open up a few more acres of land for immediate profit, but the long-term loss, in terms of the destruction of irreplaceable natural wildlife habitat, is likely to be much greater.

Kentucky, which had few wetlands in the first place, has relatively more to lose with each mile of drainage tile or each scoop of the dragline.

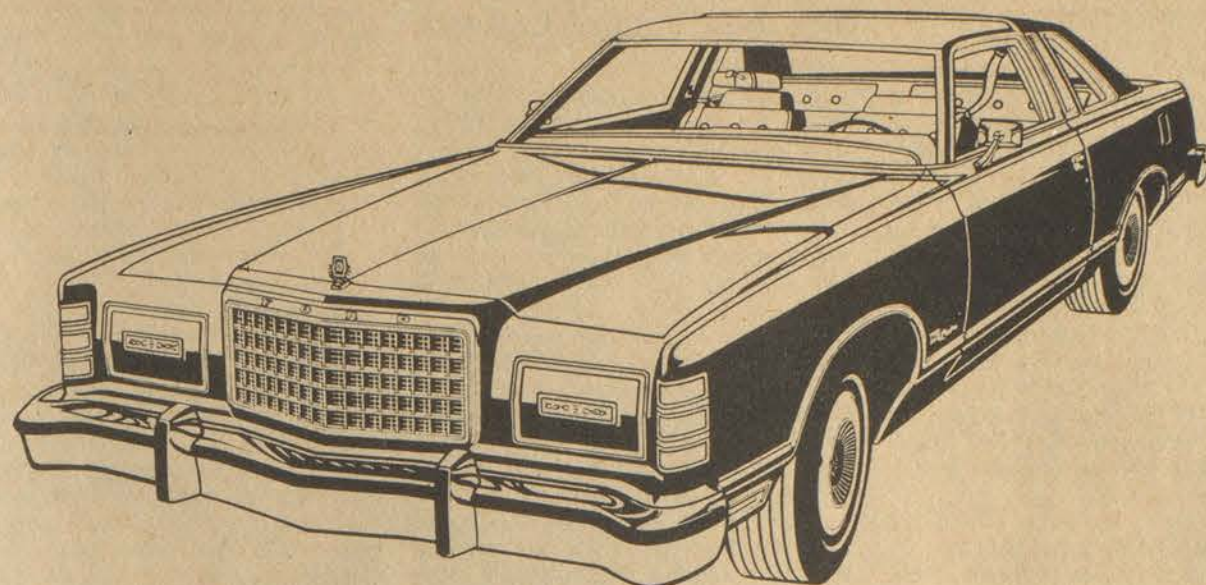

Loss of wetland habitat in Western Kentucky has caused a serious decline in the swamp rabbit population there, and migrating ducks and geese are finding it harder each year to locate suitable resting and feeding grounds in the state, making such areas as the department of fish and wildlife's Ballard county wildlife area or the Sloughs wildlife area (near Henderson) more important with each passing year.

Like other pressing environmental problems, halting the destruction of wetlands will require much planning, persuasion and hard work. While a week devoted to this endeavor is a good start, it should be considered as only the beginning of a struggle which will be with us for a long time, and which will become more important as land values increase.

So although National Wildlife Week, with its "save our wetlands" theme is past, we should not forget about these valuable and irreplaceable areas of wildlife habitat. To be effective, the interest and concern engendered by this week will have to persist for years to come.

Competent Swimmers?

According to the National Safety Council, fewer than 12 percent of the 107 million swimmers in the U. S. can be called competent. And far fewer than 12 percent are competent ocean swimmers, declares the April issue of Reader's Digest. Don't panic, observe the sea conditions before going in, and never fight a strong current—that's the best way to keep your head above water, the magazine advises.

A Branch Broken in England—
A Pioneer Family in America

It might not have been a tree similar to the Kentucky coffee tree, but a coffee tree figured in the banishment of an Englishman from his native country.

England's loss was America's gain, however, and ultimately that of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The story as told from one generation to another in the families involved said the son of the banished man fought in the Continental Line in the Revolutionary War and became the ancestor of many Eastern Kentuckians.

In England, Peter Sullivan was a tenant farmer. His master was a man of title. The estate was a large one with much work to be done. Sullivan's tasks often were menial and difficult, but there were times when he took great pleasure in his work, especially those days when he was asked to ride over the land to inspect crops and property.

Sullivan was a family man and happy that he had work that provided a good life for his loved ones. He would find out that his taskmaster sometimes ruled with a cold heart.

He had been ordered to ride over the estate one day, then to make his report. Things had not gone well and there was not enough time it seemed to get the job done. His horse was lazy, or perhaps in his frustration he (Sullivan) was too impatient.

He needed a crop to spur the horse to a faster gait and so, hesitating alongside the path, he broke a withe from a tree. He did not stop to consider that the withe had been snapped from his master's prize tree, an imported coffee tree.

Sullivan was brought before the noble one. His sentence for committing the deed was "exile to America." Fortunately, he was ordered to take with him his family and any personal possessions he wished.

They packed what they thought they could manage on the sailship, including china that some descendants think might have been given the couple by the titled family.

Not too much is known of the intervening years, but in 1782 in Lincoln County, N. C., a son of the couple, also named Peter, was married to Catherine Ayrehart.

Their daughter Susanna became the second wife of Eastern Kentucky Pioneer John Sellards, son of Hezekiah Sellards who came to the New World from Ireland in 1732. John's sisters were Virginia (Jenny) and Elizabeth and there were a brother Sam and a younger brother.

Sellards also served in the Revolutionary War while in his twenties and later scouted along the Big Sandy River. He, as much as anyone, took part in the search for his sister after Jenny had been taken captive by Indians.

His sister Jenny had married Thomas Wiley, and Elizabeth had married an English soldier John Borders. John's younger brother was with their sister Jenny when Indians attacked the Wiley cabin on Walker's Creek, Va. The young brother and three of Jenny's four children were killed.

According to historian Henry Scalf of Stanville, Ky., it was Susanna Sullivan Sellards who remembered many details of the captivity of her sister-in-law.

John Sellards had established Sellards Settlement on Buffalo Creek in about 1794, Scalf said, and later with his second wife, Susanna, a younger woman, made his home at Ivel in Floyd county where in 1838 at age 73 he died and was buried. Susanna lived until she was 90. She died at the home of a son-in-law, Christopher Goble, on Buffalo Creek and is buried there.

It is not known if the first Peter Sullivan, along with the fine china might have tucked in a few seeds from the coffee tree. The china, however, survived many generations and some pieces yet are treasured heirlooms in the family of a descendant.

HUNGARY IS FACING A PAPRIKA SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON—If you think nations with oil shortages have troubles, listen to this tragic tale.

Hungary has a paprika shortage. That's right. No paprika for the goulash, no paprika for the chicken. Unless—and what humiliation for the Hungarian soul this means—they import it from Spain.

This national calamity is reported by the National Geographic Society, which also states that paprika never was Hungarian in the first place, although the idea of putting it into everything in sight certainly is.

The little red spice is originally from America, the magazine reports, but was quickly brought back to Europe by explorers.

UK Room, Board Rates To Remain Unchanged

Room and board rates for University of Kentucky dormitories and cafeterias will remain unchanged for the 1976-'77 school year, UK President Otis A. Singletary has announced.

"Thanks largely to the foresight and creativity of those who oversee our dormitory and cafeteria operations, we've been able to offset the effects of inflation and can keep our rates at their present levels," Dr. Singletary said. "This is especially gratifying because we are very much aware of the financial pressures our students and their families are facing. Holding the line on housing and meal plan charges will help keep higher education within an affordable range for our students."

Our Fragile Earth

By JERRY HOWELL
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

Junk automobiles present huge problems for recycling promoters. Although scrap processors have been able to utilize automobiles for some time, their volume and value have not been high in the recent past and our landscape has been littered with rusting hulks for some years.

There have been many programs started and many solutions proposed for the junk car problem. The Tennessee Valley Authority, headquartered in Knoxville, Tenn., has one of the most successful programs in the nation. They aid local civic groups and elected officials in the immediate Tennessee Valley region and surrounding area, including Kentucky, in initiating and completing junk car pickup programs. TVA designed a special carrier truck for transporting the car bodies to an automobile shredding operation for processing and outlined a legal procedure for obtaining permission to pick up deserted cars. This effort is an example of the renewed interest in automobile recycling.

This interest is economically based. Virgin ores used in the steelmaking process have risen in price recently and more efficient recycling methods have been developed. Because energy costs have also risen and because it takes less energy to recycle a car than to produce it from raw materials, it is economically cheaper energy wise to recycle, not to mention the savings in natural resources.

One proposed method of automobile recycling has had little exposure. That method consists of requiring that a deposit be made on each new car sold, so that, regardless of age, the car would always be worth the deposit of say $200-$300. If this were the case, the last owner would certainly try to sell the car to a scrap dealer or return it to a reprocessing center. If this proposal were instituted, a car would become a giant soda pop bottle which could be returned for a deposit.

Of course this method has many inherent problems, as does any method used to recycle these cumbersome metal beasts. One of the method's primary problems would be concerned with proof of title: intercounty and interstate title transfer problems would be major. Nonetheless, with proper management this system will work and would be well worth the effort if our landscape could be free of these ugly sights.

The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, through a special division, has a junk car recycling program which has proved very successful. Local groups have independently conducted car removal programs with some success. These efforts, along with those of TVA, if coupled with some strict regulatory measures, can make a difference.

There are other solid waste disposal methods which have recently received lots of publicity.

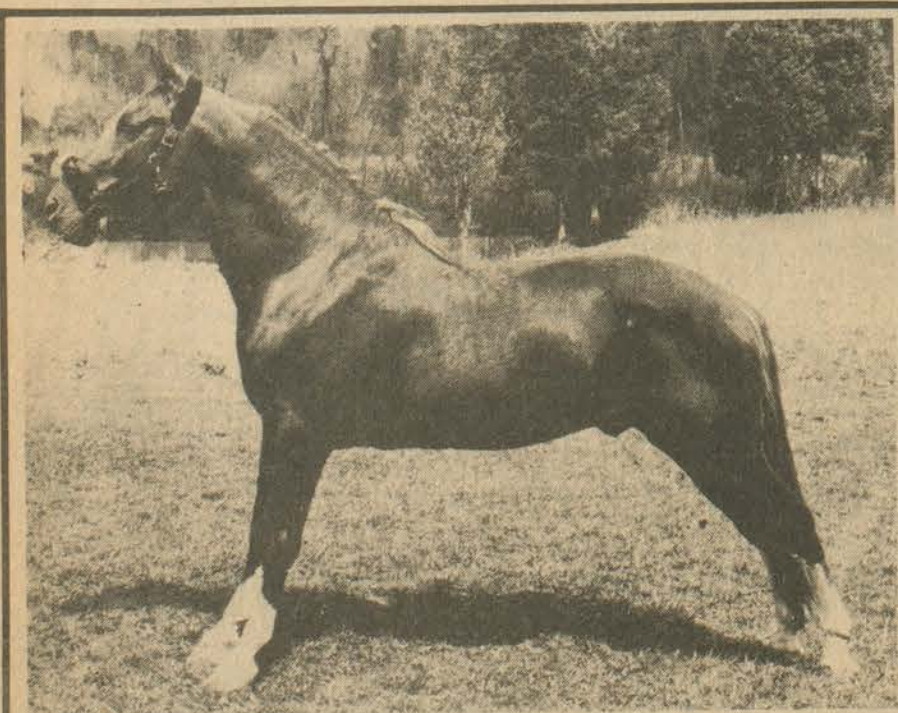

Floyd Head Start Program To Enroll Handicapped Children

The Floyd County Head Start Program is recruiting handicapped children to take part in the program.

The children are being enrolled to use the full range of Head Start education, health and other program services under a new Congressional mandate providing 10 per cent of Head Start enrollment nationwide for the handicapped.

The mixing of handicapped and nonhandicapped children is expected to give all the children a valuable experience in learning to understand and respect differences among people.

For more information or to enroll a child, call 886-3697, Floyd County CAP office, second floor, Floyd County courthouse, Prestonsburg.

MORE

IS ALL THE EXTRAS THAT DON'T COST EXTRA ON OUR LOWEST PRICED TOYOTA.

Warning: this car is deceptively priced. The price is actually a lot lower than it seems. Because it's what you get for that price that makes our Toyota Corolla 2-door sedan the best bargain on wheels today.

You get big things like reclining bucket seats in front, rear window defogger, power front disc brakes and a gas-saving 4-speed synchromesh transmission. All standard equipment. No extra charge.

And you get little things like a lockable glove box, package tray and a cigarette lighter. All standard equipment. No extra charge.

More. It's a carload of equipment many others charge extra for, included in the basic price of even our lowest priced Toyota.

And more is: 22 Toyotas to choose from • 4 small wagons to choose from • 4 small pickups to choose from • 19 Toyotas that get 34 mpg or better on the highway • 6 Toyotas that sell for less than $3600 • 39 features standard equipment on our Corolla SR-5.

Toyota dealers give you more because Toyota is more. That's why Toyota outsold all other imported cars in 1975.

Corolla 2-Door Sedan

Manufacturer's suggested retail price. Freight, title and local taxes and options extra.

Based on 1976 EPA fuel economy figures. 19 model averaged 34 to 39 mpg on the highway and 20 to 24 mpg in the city. V-4 actual mileage may vary.

Floyd Man Named Member Of Deep Mine Safety Body

Gov. Julian Carroll has signed an executive order creating the Kentucky Deep Mining Safety Commission, a body with the ultimate responsibility of examining a program of full-time deep mine safety inspectors and drafting legislation on the subject for consideration by the upcoming special session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

Gov. Carroll's action follows a pledge made by him on March 20 in which, while committing himself to establishing such a commission, he said: "I am wholeheartedly in support of the concept of a full-time safety inspector who does not have work responsibilities, but has the sole responsibility of the safety of the miners who are working in a particular mine."

The executive order names 15 individuals who will make up the membership of the commission. The panel will be chaired by state Sen. Kenneth Gibson, of Madisonville. The commission is composed of three other Kentucky legislators, three labor representatives, three representatives of industry, three individuals representing the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, a member of the staff and faculty at the University of Kentucky and an official of the Federal Mining Enforcement Safety Administration.

The commission will concern itself with three basic areas:

1. A full evaluation of HB 602 to determine whether its provisions sufficiently address deep mine safety problems;
2. Examining a program of requiring full-time safety inspectors in the deep mines, including a determination of the best means of selecting and employing them, defining their duties, and determining to whom the inspectors should be accountable;
3. Coming up with other recommendations relating to deep mining safety as are necessary, and finally, the drafting of legislation that embodies the commission's findings and decisions.

The commission will meet on the call of the chairman and will be attached to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for administrative purposes, getting from the department staff assistance, meeting space and other needs.

The members of the commission, in addition to Sen. Gibson, are:

Representing the Kentucky General Assembly—Sen. Gene Huff, R-London; Rep. Glenn Freeman, D-Cumberland; and Rep. William Blair, R-Paintsville.

Representing the United Mine Workers of America—Charles Head, Madisonville; Bobby Dukes, Greenville; and Robert Carter, Burdine.

Representing mine industry management—Tom Barton, Peabody Coal Co., Centertown; Paul E. Patton, Chapparral Coal Co., Virgie; and Cloyd McDowell, Harlan County Coal Operators Association, Harlan.

Representing the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals—Harrell N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner, Lexington; Sam S. Johnson, executive assistant, Lexington; and Willard Stanley, inspector, Melvin.

Representing university staff—Ted D. Haley, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Representing the Mining Enforcement Safety Administration—John Crawford, assistant administrator, Arlington, Virginia.

UMW Pension Plan Changes Announced

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31—Trustees of the United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) Health and Retirement Funds have confirmed that mine workers retiring under the Funds' newly implemented 1974 pension plan can receive pension credit for periods of employment with construction companies prior to October, 1968.

"There has been some confusion over this issue," said Funds Chairman Harry Huger, "largely because October, 1968 was the date when construction workers were first covered by the provisions of a UMWA wage agreement."

Huger noted that the 1974 contract between the UMWA and the Association of Bituminous Contractors (ABC) stipulates that pension credit will be granted for on-site construction of bituminous coal mines as well as for construction work in a shop away from the mine site. However, shop work will be credited only if it is directly related to the development, expansion or alteration of a mine.

The 1974 pension plan, created by the UMWA wage agreements signed on December 6, 1974, substantially increases pensions for construction and other mine workers who retire during or after 1976.

MMI Day Proclaimed By Governor Carroll

Governor Julian M. Carroll, in a salute to the Commonwealth of Kentucky's last remaining military school, has proclaimed Thursday, April 15, as Millersburg Military Institute Day "in order to recognize the invaluable contribution made to education in Kentucky."

MMI, located in Millersburg in Bourbon County has been providing quality education to young men for 83 years. Comprising both a high school and a middle school, the small nonprofit, nonsectarian military school has been a sports contender in football, baseball, basketball, wrestling and tennis for many years despite its small enrollment. Supported by a small active army element, the school also offers a Junior Reserve Officer's Training Corps program. Graduates and friends throughout the world will celebrate MMI Day on April 15 in their own areas in addition to open house commemorative activities which will be held on the MMI campus on this date.

AGENTS ATTEND K.H.E.A.

Extension home economists attended the Kentucky Home Economics State Association meeting at Lexington last week. The keynote speaker was Dr. Joyce Brothers, nationally known psychologist. Attending from this area were Frances Pitts, Carol Bailey, Francine Freeman, Barbara Disney, Cindy Plummer, Penny Messerknecht, Rita Spence, Sally Lewis, Kathy Bullen and Shelia Falbush. The agents also attended the Consumer information meeting sponsored by the Electrical Women's Round Table of Kentucky, also held in Lexington.

Frances Pitts, first vice-president of the Kentucky Home Economics Association, attended the state board mid-year meeting held just prior to the K.H.E.A.

The pesticides office in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection wants people to make sure that chemical control is the best solution for fighting their own insect problems. Recommendations include: use natural controls first; upon finding that chemical control is necessary, get the proper pesticides for the specific problem; read the label; store it securely; apply to properly; clean up thoroughly and dispose of containers safely.

New Reclamation Engineers Hired for Strip-Mine Control

Frankfort, Ky.—Revvng up enforcement of Kentucky's present strip mine regulations is only the ribbon on the package deal brought by the state's new environmental head.

Robert D. Bell, the new secretary of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, says he intends to beef up one of the protective functions of his agency by strengthening state control of strip mining, especially through a renewed emphasis on engineering.

Unwrapping his package, Bell is already carrying out his intention to increase the number of registered professional engineers on the division of reclamation staff from two to 20. Through raising the number of reclamation engineers, Bell will be able to place three engineers in each regional office.

Out in the field is where questions are raised on how the earth should be properly put back in place, and Bell feels that's where the engineers should be—at the mine site to answer questions and make decisions.

Five engineers new to the reclamation program have appeared on the scene and begun working. Those five are supplementing the work of the two registered professional engineers already employed by the division.

In addition to two recent appointees by Bell—John Witt as Bell's successor as head of the bureau of land resources and Ralph Waddle as Witt's successor as director of the division of reclamation—the other three new engineers are Charles Rogers and Frank Foreman, who have both worked previously in the coal industry, and Danny Garland. Each has a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from the University of Kentucky.

In his move to bring to the agency more technical expertise on putting the earth back right, Bell is hiring registered professional engineers to head all five area offices of the division of reclamation. He plans eventually to place three registered engineers in each of the regional offices and five in the Frankfort office. The present supervisors of those offices will become assistants to the professional engineers.

To ease the burden placed on the Middlesboro office, which currently supervises 1,100 mines, an additional regional office may be opened in London or Corbin. The other regional offices supervise 200 to 300 mines.

Besides bringing more engineering expertise into the department, Bell is getting other state agencies to join the fight on illegal strip mine operations. He also wants to make a restudy of the state strip mine regulations soon.

The division of reclamation is still seeking registered professional engineers to fill the posts. That recruitment effort is being headed by the newly-appointed department personnel officer, James E. Hilton.

No county in the nation produces more coal than Muhlenberg—21,897,984 tons last year.

Annual Spring Arts Fest At ALC To Begin April 14

Pippa Passes, Ky.—The 13th annual Spring Arts Festival at Alice Lloyd College will begin at 12:30 p.m. next Wednesday (April 14) in the New Gym, with a workshop by the Lexington Ballet Company. The dance company is directed by Nels Jorgensen, who has the distinction of having performed at the White House for both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. He was also one of two male dancers to demonstrate at the Bolschoi Ballet in Moscow.

The public is also invited to the formal opening of the high school art exhibition at 4 p.m., Sunday, April 18, in the ALC library. Students from all over southeast Kentucky will be competing for cash awards and possible scholarships. The art exhibit will be on display at the ALC campus April 18-23.

A free concert by the "Voices From Appalachia," the ALC choir, is also open to the public. The concert will be at 7 p.m., Thursday in Cushing Hall. The choir specializes in the hymns and ballads of the Southern Appalachian highlands, songs as old as our nation itself.

Other highlights of the Spring Arts Festival include a bluegrass concert, performance by a well-known puppeteer, student recitals, wildflower slide presentation, one-woman dramatic presentation, and a classic Marx Brothers movie. The public is invited to all scheduled events, which include:

A bluegrass concert by the Country Gentlemen at 8 p.m., Sunday, April 18, in the New Gym. The Country Gentlemen have been termed one of the liveliest and most imaginative bluegrass groups in the nation, encompassing both traditional and contemporary material. Admission will be charged all except members of the Alice Lloyd College staff and students.

Monday, April 19, 8 p.m., Peggy Cowles will appear in Cushing Hall in "Just Between Us," a one-woman show conceived and adapted by Daniel Stein. Miss Cowles has appeared on many major television shows, including "Marcus Welby, M. D.," "The Bold Ones" and "Man and the City." In addition, she has performed to theatre audiences at the Long Whard Theater, New Haven; Actors Theatre of Louisville; Arena Stage, Washington, D. C., and the Mark Taper Forum, Los Angeles. Miss Cowles will conduct a workshop in Cushing Hall on Tuesday, at 12:30 p.m. Both the play and workshop are free. Area residents will be able to watch the magic hands of George Latshaw, puppeteer, as he gives a free performance of "Hand In Glove", Tuesday, April 20, 7 p.m., in Cushing Hall. The talent of George Latshaw has had its effect throughout the puppet world. He has represented the United States twice, by invitation, at the International Puppet Festival in Great Britain. Here in the U. S., the movie and television industry contracted Mr. Latshaw for NBC's "Quillow and the Giant" for children's theatre. He was also author-puppeteer for "The Convertible Crocodile" for CBS-TV.

Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Mr. Latshaw will visit Caney Elementary School, where he will present a workshop for the students.

Alice Lloyd College students will present a recital on Wednesday, 12:30 p.m., in Cushing Hall.

A Marx Brothers movie, "A Night at the Opera", will be shown Wednesday, April 21, at 7 p.m. in Cushing Hall. "A Night at the Opera" is considered by many to be the best and maddest of all Marx Brothers films.

Rufus Fugate, an alumnus of Alice Lloyd College and current extension agent in Leslie county, will present a slide show of wild flowers of the eastern Kentucky mountains, Thursday, April 22, 8:30 p.m., in Cushing Hall. Mr. Fugate will provide narration with the slides.

In Memoriam

In memory of Jerry Lee Owsley who passed away three years ago today, April 1, 1973:

He lives with us in memory still,
Not just today, but always will.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Good was his heart, his friendship true,
Loved and respected by all he knew.
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.

Our Dad and Husband was tops in all ways,
And we'll treasure his love to the end of our days.
He didn't enter Heaven's gates alone;
you see,
Part of us went with Him 'cross that unknown sea.

Sadly missed by wife,
Martha, and children.

Bevins Among Troopers In Study at Centre

Frankfort, Ky.—Seventeen Kentucky State Police officers are going back to school, thanks to a grant from the state's Department of Transportation (KYDOT).

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts said the grant will permit 17 state police public information officers to attend the Kentucky School of Alcohol Studies at Centre College for one week, beginning July 11.

"Alcohol plays a very large role in traffic deaths, and this program will help train state police in the controls presently being utilized to reach those who are prone to drinking," Roberts said. "This should play a key role in combating the drinking driver problem."

The project is being funded under a grant from KYDOT's Office of Highway Safety Programs at a total cost of about $1,785.

Among the troopers attending the school is Leeman Bevins, of the Pikeville Post.

To demonstrate good forest management practices in timber harvesting, timber stand improvement and reforestation, the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection manages eight state forests with a combined total of 46,751 acres. A plan of management is made for each state forest, incorporating multiple use through application of wildlife management and recreational planning.

Public Hearing on Area Plan For Social Services Set Here

Frankfort, Ky.—The Department for Human Resources has announced its proposed plan for social services in the Big Sandy area for the year beginning July 1, 1976.

Plans for services are based on needs in the specific area identified by the Area Development District board, local staff of the Bureau for Social Services, and other interested groups and individuals.

Services proposed for the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike (the Big Sandy Area) are:

Adoption; adult activities and (or) work activities; adult protection; alcohol abuse, prevention and treatment; alternate care; child protection; continuing care; counseling for the emotionally disturbed child; day care services for adults; day care services for children; education, training and rehabilitation services; emergency shelter care for children; employment related services; family or individual counseling services; family planning; foster care services for children; health-related services; home management-homemaking services; housing and home improvement services; juvenile services in the community; residential treatment services; sheltered workshops services; social service planning; and unmarried parents.

These recommended programs are subject to public comment until May 15. A public hearing will be conducted on the Big Sandy area's proposed plan May 6 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Pike Auditorium, Prestonsburg Community College, Prestonsburg.

Human Resources Secretary C. Leslie Dawson notes that Title XX does not include all sources of federal funds for Social Services programs such as the Older Americans Act and Title IVB of the Social Security Act.

Kentucky's Title XX programs are administered by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Services. Bureau staff members will attend all public hearings to answer questions.

The state's total Title XX budget is $53,473,581, of which $39,712,500 is federal money. A copy of the proposed plan for the entire state may be reviewed at any local bureau office during regular working hours.

Comments should be sent in writing before May 15 to Secretary C. Leslie Dawson, Department for Human Resources, Capitol Annex Building, Second Floor, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

One copy of the complete recommended state plan is available without charge. Send written requests for plan copies to Margaret Hockensmith, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Services, 403 Wapping Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Or call toll free 1-800-372-2992 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Following the 45 days of public comment and hearings, the Department for Human Resources will analyze comments and make necessary changes prior to submitting the plan to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. A display ad of the final plan will be published June 30.

Nursing Home Here Accredited by JCAH

Mountain Manor Nursing Home has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Eleanor Robinson, administrator.

This accreditation is the result of an on-site survey made by a field representative of the Joint Commission's Accreditation Council for Long Term Care Facilities. Accreditation indicates that this facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by AC-LTCF and that the facility substantially complies with these standards.

The standards set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by an AC-LTCF survey.

Mountain Manor Nursing Home is one of approximately 1600 long term care facilities throughout the U.S. that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 23,000 facilities in the U.S. that fall into the long term care classification of the JCAH.

The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons. It was incorporated in 1951 with the support of its present member organizations: the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association. In 1966 the Joint Commission undertook the creation of accreditation programs for facilities other than hospitals.

Invest In Quality

For centuries Europeans have invested a substantial amount of their earnings in good "Works of Art" — hand crafted Silver, quality Furniture, fine Paintings and Porcelains — and they have proven to be one of the best investments yet!

Since World War II "good" works of art have proven to be a better investment than most stocks and bonds in your lock box! Think about that — Please accept our invitation to visit and let us show you one of the largest and finest collections of Antique furniture and silver in the country.

We do our own buying in the British Isles and import directly to Kentucky — with no middleman — so our prices are more reasonable than in the East.

There is so much to see — including our Gallery of Limited Edition Porcelains from all the important studios in the world.

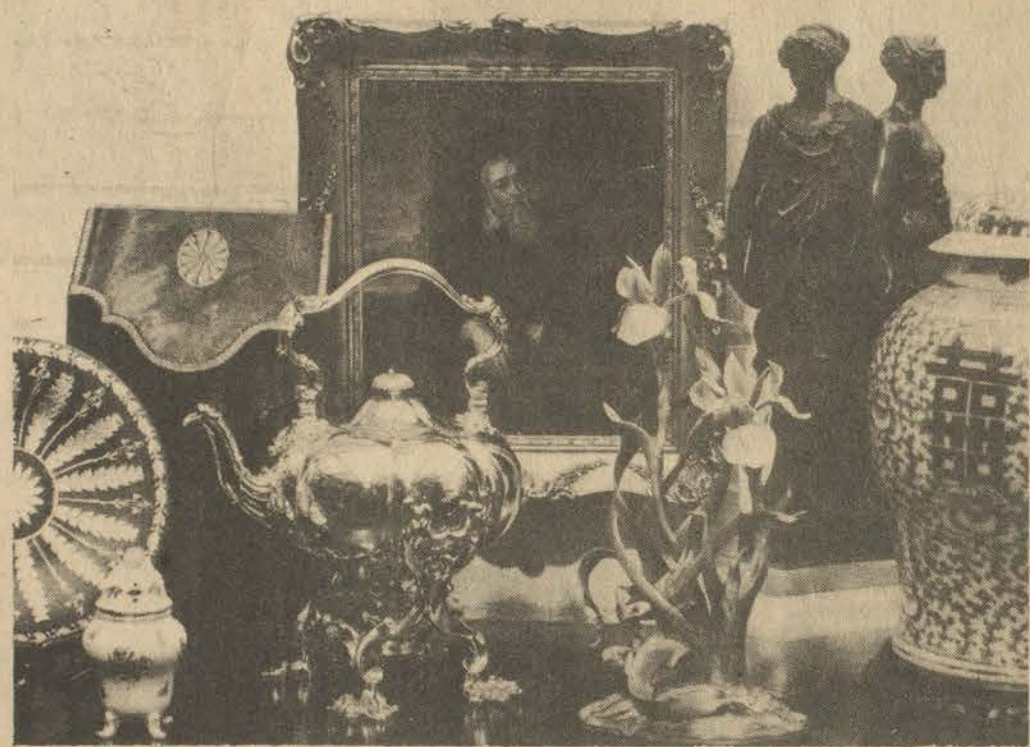

Write for our illustrated catalogue, available for $2.00.

We're located on I-64 between Lexington and Louisville and are open every day, except Sunday 9:00 a.m. — 5 p.m.

Our latchstring on our front door is always out!

Governor Signs National Guard Benefits Bill

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll signed three bills into law Monday granting benefits to members of the Kentucky National Guard. He had earlier signed another bill affecting the Guard.

One of the new laws will enable Guardsmen to purchase distinctive vehicle license plates for $25 and renew the license each year for a $1 fee.

The bill previously signed establishes a "Kentucky National Guard Educational Encouragement Fund" within the Department of Military Affairs, and will provide for payment of 50 per cent of tuition fees at state-supported universities, colleges, community colleges, or vocational schools. An appropriation of $50,000 was made to cover a two-year period.

Two other bills signed into law were basically "housekeeping" pieces of legislation relating to occupational taxes and workmen's compensation.

Guard officials said that the new laws will be very helpful in recruiting and retention activities. They said that such incentives are essential if the Kentucky Guard is to maintain an adequate force in the state.

Sizemore Mining Co. To Change Method Of Wayne Stripping

Frankfort, Ky.—Sizemore Mining Company, of McDowell, has agreed to amend its method of strip mining in Wayne county, following action by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

The amended method of operation must comply with state requirements for strip mining where there is acid-bearing overburden. The company also agreed to submit to the division of reclamation amended maps of its operation near Monticello in order to comply with the $1,500 bond per acre required.

The department agreed to lift the order of suspension issued against the company on December 12.

CARD OF THANKS
The Bill Webb family, in behalf of J. B. Bays, wishes to thank all those who were so kind upon his recent death. We especially thank all those who sent food and flowers, the staff of Mountain Manor Nursing Home, the ministers of the United Baptist Church for their consoling words, and the Carter Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

To Lead Revival

REV. JOHN EAST

A revival will be held at the Lancer Baptist Church from April 12 through April 18, with services nightly at 7 o'clock. The evangelist will be the Rev. John East, pastor of the Western Avenue Baptist Church, Connorsville, Indiana. Lee Caudill, pastor of the Lancer church, says, "I am sure you will enjoy the evangelistic preaching of this spirit-filled man of God." The public is cordially invited to attend. The church extends a special welcome to any person or group desiring to bring special music.

Mayor Petit Appoints Former Floyd Countian

W. J. Reynolds, III, formerly of Allen, has been appointed to a 43-member citizens advisory board by Mayor Foster Petit of Lexington for the Bluegrass Employment and Training Program. The program administers a $2 million training program for the Lexington-Fayette county metro government and the six adjoining counties of Clark, Woodford, Scott, Franklin, Madison and Bourbon.

The advisory board will study existing conditions of the 7 counties and make recommendations to the Mayor for the type of training programs best suited to fulfill the area's needs for fiscal year 1977.

Reynolds is also an active member on the Bluegrass Area Development District Manpower Council (BGADD), which is charged with the planning of training programs in the 17-county Bluegrass region, relative to the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

The U. S. Department of Labor's Employment Standards enforces the Federal Wage Garnishment Law, which limits the amount of an employee's wages or salary that may be garnished.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 76," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Television Special For March of Dimes

East Kentucky will have an April Shower of Stars Tuesday, April 13, from 7 p.m. until midnight when WKYH-TV, Channel 57 will air the long-awaited second annual March of Dimes Telerama from Hazard High School's Memorial Gym.

Del Reeves and the "Good Time Charlies" will be joined by June Rollings, Scooby Doo and Yogi Bear of Kings Islands, and many others to entertain from the gymnasium.

There will be no charge for this performance, and the public is invited to attend.

Miss Humphrey-Mr. Patton Wed

The marriage of Miss Mary Cecilia Humphrey and Mr. Paul Richard Patton was solemnized at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 20, by Father Charles Beebe at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Havana, Illinois.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Humphrey, of Manito, Illinois, and Mr. Patton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lenville Thomas Patton, of Sidney, Ohio.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Suzanne Cunningham, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satin fashioned with an empire waistline, and a wedding ring collar of lace with lace inset. The long sleeves were edged with lace at the wrists, and the bodice was fastened with covered buttons in back with a satin bow at the waist. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a cap of lace flowers, and she carried a nosegay of white daisies, carnations and rosebuds surrounded by a collar of gladiolus petals.

Miss Savana McGinley, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown in a sheer spring floral print styled with empire waistline. She wore a matching garden hat and carried a small nosegay of yellow daisies and white baby's breath.

Mr. Timothy Lloyd Patton, brother of the groom, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Humphrey wore a coral knit dress with white accessories and a corsage of coral carnations and white rosebuds. Mrs. Patton, mother of the groom, wore a camel and white ensemble with camel accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton are now residing in Sidney, O. where he is employed. He is also a senior at Wright State University in Dayton, O., majoring in accounting. Mrs. Patton is a graduate of Bryan Station High School in Lexington, and attended Eastern State University.

Rural Fire Grants Again Are Available

Frankfort, Ky.—Grants to assist rural fire departments in upgrading their equipment will be made again this year, according to Harry Nadler, director of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

The grants are available to communities of less than 10,000 in population in the form of 50-50 matching grants. Nadler said $59,400 in grants is available this fiscal year. Last year, $62,400 was portioned out to 54 rural fire departments.

The three-year pilot program is designed to identify needs and solutions to problems faced by rural communities in conducting a fire protection program and to upgrade their fire protection capabilities.

Nadler said the funds will be distributed on a need basis. Special consideration will be given to present protection level, ability of the community to help itself, values protected and past fire occurrence.

For additional information and application blanks, interested fire departments should contact Harry Nadler, Director, Division of Forestry, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this means to express my thanks to all the friends and neighbors who helped me in any way during the sickness and at the death of my husband, Rev. J. D. Payne. I especially want to thank each one for their beautiful flowers, the food and their every kindness. A special thanks to the ministers, Rev. Lori Vannucci and Rev. Johnny Juffman, for their consoling messages, also to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

May God bless each one.
MRS. VIRGIE PAYNE

Region XI Olympics Slated at Thelma

The first annual Region XI Special Olympics will be held April 14 at the Rehabilitation Center at Thelma, Johnson County. Region XI is newly formed to include the counties of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin.

Of the participants in the regional, winners will be advancing to Bowling Green for the Kentucky State Special Olympics which will be held May 21-23 at Western Kentucky University. All coaches and adult leaders will accompany the groups. Students from the five-county area will be representing their groups at the three-day meet.
