

Armory Job Under Way Near Here

Structure To Cost $516,000; Occupancy Seen in 12 Months

Construction has been begun by the J. A. Coleman Co., Paintsville, on the Kentucky National Guard Armory building and grounds on US 23, north of here, and completion is expected within 12 months, it was announced this week by Major Donald J. Waldner, of the Adjutant General's office.

Contract for the work was awarded the Paintsville firm on its low bid of $516,000. The armory site is a seven-acre tract at what is known locally as the mouth of Lick Branch.

The structure, to be of brick construction, will have approximately 15,000 square feet of floor space and will include an assembly hall, classrooms, a unit storage room with vault, a locker room, offices, a rifle range and a partially equipped food preparation area. Outside facilities will include off-street civilian parking and a military vehicle compound. Landscaping and planting of shrubbery are included in the contract.

McCloskey & Associates, Lexington, is the architect on the armory project.

A sewer extension will be made to the site, but details of the arrangement were not available.

The armory will house personnel and equipment of Detachment 1, Co. B. The unit, headed by Lieut. Roy Sturgill, now has a complement of 70 men, with a total of 85 authorized.

This Town...That World

A MINORITY OF TWO

Still on the subject of hats. My neighbor and fellow-square, Bill Dempsey, writes: "Edna (wife) and I stopped at a fruit and vegetable stand in Hazard last week. While I was buying peaches and cantaloupes Edna bought some green beans and another item or two. One of the clerks there asked her if we were together. She answered, 'Yeah, I reckon so, he's been following me around for nigh on 31 years.' He also asked if we were from Oklahoma and that just because I like to wear a hat. I intend to wear one, even if I am a minority. I don't mind being a minority but I would mind being the only one, so, please, wear a hat, even if it means buying a new one every four or five years."

There should be a closeout on straws, somewhere around.

AGAIN MAKING THE ROUNDS

We don't mean to make that item about the paper being late a regular feature, but there's more than the Baltimore TV announcer reviving the 22-year-old item. Last week Susie Wright arrived home from Hawaii and with her she brought a copy of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin which also gave the little yarn current standing. In Dave Donnelly's Hawaii column of that newspaper appeared the following:

"Forthright Journalism Award of the Week goes to the Prestonsburg County Times in Kentucky which front-paged the following: 'The Times is late this week and we want to apologize. The trouble started in a cornfield several years ago. From there it grew, fermented, aged in

Marijuana Plot Discovered

This crop of marijuana was discovered and quickly "harvested" Tuesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Randall Lewis at the head of Toler Creek. Deputy Lewis said the weed was obviously cultivated with evidence of careful tilling and fertilizing. No arrests have been made in connection with the discovery.

Unexpected Complications

Extension of sanitary sewer service to the May's Branch area by the Prestonsburg Water and Gas System was interrupted Friday when excavation work uncovered an old "coal bank," releasing a heavy volume of water which quickly filled freshly dug trenches. The laying of pipe was delayed as pumps were utilized to drain the mine and by Monday excavations were resumed.

The project, which is being done at an estimated cost of $91,812, will involve the placement of 4,402 feet of 8-inch sanitary sewer and necessary laterals to provide city sewer service to the residential area which was recently annexed into the city limits of Prestonsburg. The work has been contracted to W. & M. Contractors, Inc., of Ashland, and is expected to be completed within three to four weeks. The new sewer service will replace the septic tanks which, because of poor soil percolation, have created problems.

Superintendent of the Prestonsburg Water and Gas System Bill Harvey Howard pointed out that a water line will also be extended to provide residents of the upper section of the branch with adequate fire protection. Howard said a tentative contract on the work totals approximately $82,000.

Nine Miles of Floyd Surfacing Contracted on Bid of $315,574

The latest package of highway contracts awards to be announced at Frankfort includes more than $1.3 million for road surfacing projects in Eastern Kentucky, with approximately one-fourth of that amount applying to Floyd county roads.

More than $1.1 million of that total dollar figure will be financed with monies now being allocated to counties under the state's recently established Energy Road Fund (ERF) program.

Announcement of the contract awards came from state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts who earlier had reported that the state expects to set aside about $25 million in coal severance tax revenue over the next two fiscal years (1976-'78) to support road improvement projects under ERF in 39 coal-producing counties.

In the current package, the largest single ERF contract award went to Kentucky Paving Corp., of Grayson, whose bid was $315,474 to surface nine miles of Floyd County roads. The Floyd projects are:

—Long Road (CR 1173) at Weeksbury, extending from Caleb Fork road (CR 1175) for a distance of one-half mile.

—David KY 114 Road (KY 404), from a point 2.2 miles east of the Magoffin county line to KY 114, a distance of nearly six miles.

—Spurlock Creek-Blue Moon road (KY 2030), from a point 1.1 miles southeast of Ky 122 to the top of the mountain, a distance of 2.6 miles.

Coal Tax Road Fund In Floyd Is $284,796

Floyd county will receive $284,796 for roads and $222,548 for economic aid projects from the division of funds allocated as the result of Governor Carroll's coal severance tax package legislation enacted by the 1976 General Assembly.

The allocations to the 46 coal-producing counties were announced in Frankfort last Friday and are made from $12 million earmarked for roads and $5 million for economic aid.

Although its road allotment of $1,638,660 was almost $300,000 below that of Muhlenberg county, Pike county benefitted most in total monies allocated because it received $675,999 in economic aid.

The Department of Transportation will administer spending of the road funds after it has received recommendations from the fiscal courts of the several counties. These funds were allocated on the basis of coal tonnage mined in each county for the year ending June 30. The economic aid funds are divided under a more complex formula, with the value of the coal mined and the per capita income in each county being factors. It is weighted to favor the poorer coal counties and those in which a small total in severance taxes are realized. Economic aid funds are to be expended on capital projects, excluding roads and schools.

The projects are to be selected by a "coal severance economic aid board" created in each coal county by the 1976 law.

The county judge, mayor of the largest city, a member picked by the school board of boards in the county, and two residents appointed by the governor make up each board, except in two counties.

Martin and McCreary counties have no incorporated cities. They will have four-member boards until new legislation is passed to provide for a fifth member, state

Indiana Wreck Fatal to Three, Fourth Injured

Three former Floyd countians were killed and a fourth man was critically injured early Friday morning in a single-car wreck near Pierceton, Indiana.

The dead:

Charles M. Allen, 20, of Pierceton, son of Mrs. Ann Allen Gibson, of Langley; broken neck and internal injuries.

David D. Gill, 21, Warsaw, Ind., son of the late Melvin and Kathleen Adams Gill, formerly of the Spurlock fork of Middle Creek; crushed chest.

Michael O. Hale, 21, Warsaw, grandson of the late Tan Hale, of this county.

John Horne, 23, of Warsaw, who was listed as driver of the auto, was in critical condition with a skull fracture, chest injuries and broken bones. He is a son of Yancey Horne, formerly of West Prestonsburg.

The tragedy occurred less than two miles of the place where Hale's wife, Anna G. Hale, was killed the preceding Saturday night by a passing auto as she stood on the highway after leaving her husband's car.

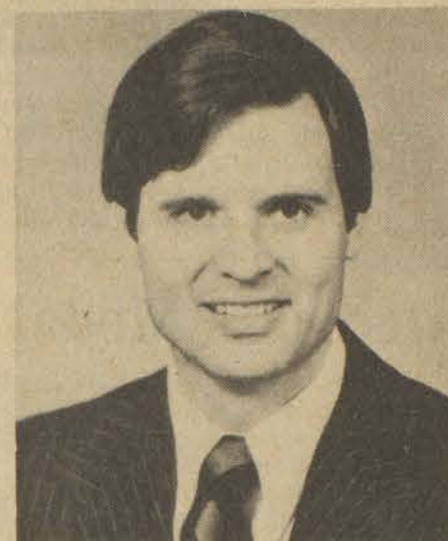

Investigating officers were quoted as saying that Horne's auto failed to negotiate a curve at the Cherry Creek bridge, struck a metal post and was airborne 194 feet before coming to rest in a creek bed.

The body of Allen was brought to the Floyd Funeral Home here, and funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Highland Avenue Free Will

KY 80 To Move 200-300 Families

Senator Hammond Successor to Ward

State Sen. Jim Hammond, of Prestonsburg, has been appointed as a member of the Municipal Statute Revision Commission by Gov. Julian Carroll.

He will replace state Sen. Tom Ward, D-Versailles, who resigned from the commission. Ward retains his senate seat.

Hammond will represent the Senate Cities Committee, of which he is vice-chairman. He will serve the remainder of an unexpired term ending June 19, 1978. His appointment was ordered by the governor Tuesday, Aug. 10.

The Municipal Statute Revision Commission was established by the 1976 General Assembly. A chairman and 13 members, all appointed by the governor, serve on the commission which is designed to study and review laws pertaining to cities with the goal of making the laws uniform throughout all classes of cities in the state and establishing a continuing survey of the needs of the cities in municipal statute revision and publish and make available to public officials compilations of the laws to assist them in understanding and performing their duties.

Housing Needs For Displaced Stressed Here

Between 200 and 300 families will be displaced by the construction of KY 80 between Water Gap in this county and Hazard, in Perry county, it was estimated at a meeting held at the Tourist Information Center here last Thursday by officials concerned with the approaching situation which will demand relocation of displaced families and the replacement of housing lost.

Roughly, 40 per cent of the relocation work, however, will consist only of moving existing homes back from the right-of-way of the four-lane project.

Maury Flood, ADD housing specialist, cited the coming need for housing sites, listing as possibilities landfills or condemned land. The road, however, will be a limited access route, and sites acquired must have water and electricity, have access to a sewage system or a package treatment plant, be located not too near a railroad and have access to the highway. So 8 to 10 such sites, each with room for 10 to 30 housing units, will be sought.

E. B. Hilton, Frankfort, project engineer for the Department of Highways, explained that some land is acquired by the state, either in fee simple which permits possible sale or transfer later, or by easement which could not be transferred and which could revert to the original owner.

The major question, "How to acquire land for housing—by ADD, county or non-profit organization?"—apparently remains to be answered.

Joining Flood and Hilton in the discussion of the situation were County Judge Henry Stumbo; Roger Recktenwald, of Big Sandy ADD; Mike Rudloff, chief engineer, Brighton Engineering, Frankfort, which is prime consultant on the highway; Allen Perry, Paintsville, (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Gov. Carroll Names Howard To New Court of Appeals

Harris Stephens Howard, Prestonsburg attorney, was one of 14 Kentuckians named Monday by Gov. Julian Carroll to judgeships on the newly constituted Court of Appeals.

Judge Howard and the other 13 appointees—two were named from each of the seven Supreme Court districts—were inducted to office in a ceremony in the Supreme Court room of the State Capitol at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Howard was named to the court from the second Division of the Seventh district. Elijah M. Hogg, of Morehead, was appointed to the first division judgeship from this district. The office pays an annual salary of $37,000, with an additional $500 to the chief judge who will be named by members of the court.

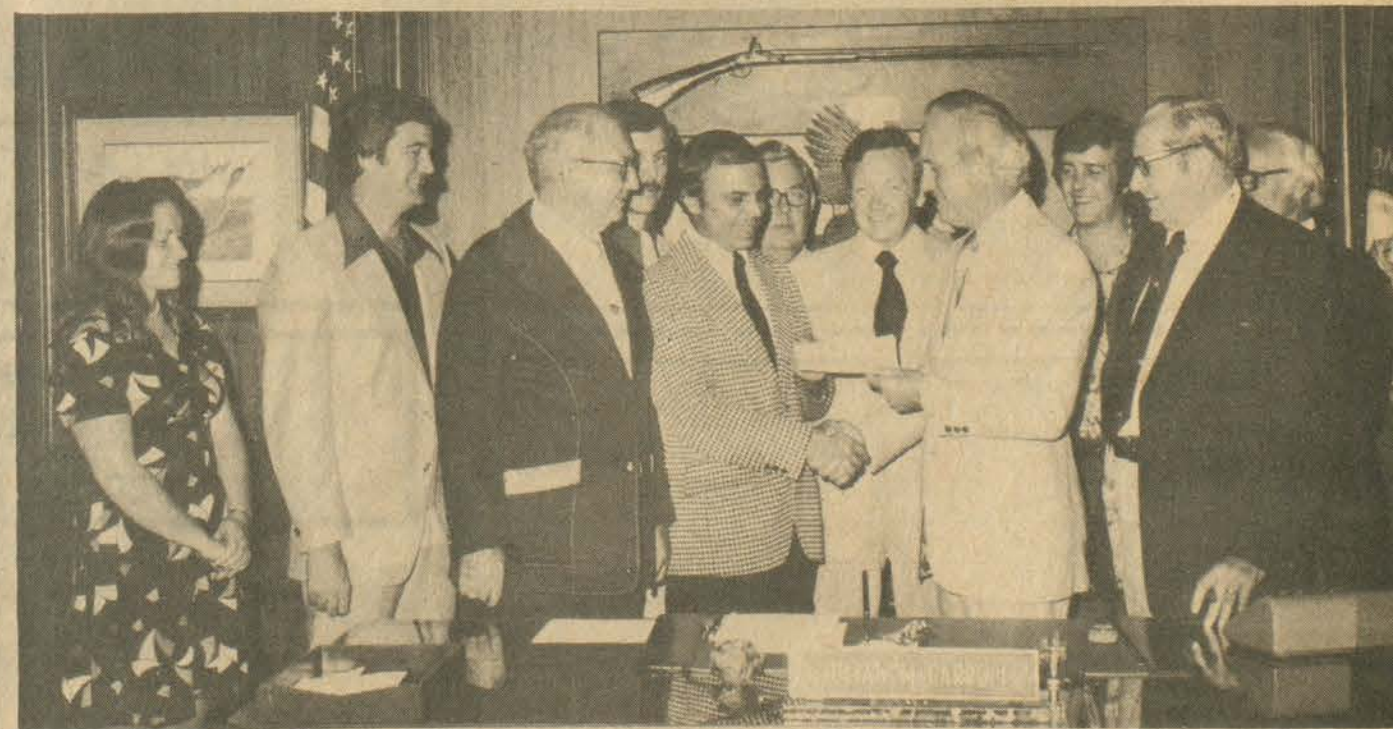

The 47-year-old Howard received both his A. B. and law degrees from the University of Kentucky, and has practiced law here 22 years. He comes from a family of lawyers. His father, the late J. Woodford (Jack) Howard was for many years an attorney here after serving a term as state senator. His grandfather, Albert Stephens, and an uncle, the late Claude P. Stephens, were prominent attorneys and both served in the office of commonwealth's attorney. Mr. Howard and his wife, the former Jane Davis, have two sons and a daughter. They reside on the Abbott road, near here. His mother, Mrs. Florence Stephens Howard, lives here.

The appointments made Monday by Governor Carroll end Nov. 2, but each appointment was made with the understanding that the appointee would stand for election at the November polls for the remaining seven years of the full term which will end Jan. 1, 1984. Each of the appointees has from the governor assurance of his support.

Governor Carroll's appointments were made after the screening of 42 nominees supplied him by June 29 by the Judicial Nominating Commission.

$117,500 for Medical Services System

Gov. Julian (right) Carroll presents a $117,500 check for operation of the Big Sandy-Fiveo Emergency Medical Services System to Morris Stafford, administrator of King's Daughters Hospital in Ashland, fiscal agent for the system. Viewing the presentation in the Governor's office are (from left) Janet Stinson, Elliott county representative; David C. McDavid, Carter county judge; George R. Hall, Boyd county judge; Jim Ellison, representative of Louisa Community Hospital; Mr. Stafford; Edward L. Riggs, Greenup county representative; C. Leslie Dawson, secretary of the Department for Human Resources; Gov. Carroll; Marvin Crider, Jr., architect for an addition to the Big Sandy Area Development District building; Henry Stumbo, Floyd county judge, and Joe McCauley (partially hidden), director of the Big Sandy ADD. The funds were made available by the state legislature and the federal government.

USDA Adopts Policy To Protect Lands

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) recently announced a policy to help keep the nation's best farm, range and forest lands from going into non-agricultural uses.

In announcing the policy, Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said the loss of "prime" lands well-suited to the production of food, forage and timber is a matter of concern to the nation. Major consideration must be given to long-term needs to retain the productive capability of and environmental values of American agriculture and forestry, he said.

USDA will urge all federal agencies to adopt the policy that federal activities that take prime agricultural land should be carried out only when there are no suitable alternative sites and when the activity meets an overriding public need.

USDA also will work with private organizations and groups to urge the protection of prime lands from premature or unnecessary conversion to non-agricultural land use.

Land use alternatives are generally available that can minimize the impact on prime lands, the secretary said, and such alternatives should be explored carefully, particularly where federal funds are involved and when prime lands will be irrevocably committed to non-agricultural uses.

Other guidelines for protecting prime lands call for environmental impact statements and review procedures; inventories and evaluations of the nation's farms, range and forest lands; cooperative efforts with states, local governments and universities to assure concerns for food, fiber, and wood production are recognized and emphasized in identifying prime agricultural lands.

The prime lands policy also proposes review of all USDA programs to insure that they are consistent with the policy.

Fiddlin' Dewey in Oklahoma

Floyd county's best known old-time fiddler, Fiddlin' Dewey Shepherd, of David, is pictured here in the company of two Indian women at a recent folk festival in Oklahoma. Shepherd has performed at several festivals this summer including the Smithsonian Institution's Folklife Festival at Washington, D. C.

Dedicate Medal of Honor Grove

Frankfort, Ky.—A busload of Kentuckians participated Saturday in dedication ceremonies at Valley Forge, Pa., for the Kentucky Medal of Honor Grove, a monumental tribute to the 46 Medal of Honor recipients from Kentucky.

The Kentucky delegation included two of the medalists who were honored and the widow of the state's only World War I Medal of Honor recipient. American Legion officials from Kentucky and volunteers involved in raising funds for the grove also were scheduled to make the trip.

One year ago this month, Gov. Julian Carroll provided the first $1,000 to kick off the fund-raising effort for Kentucky's Medal of Honor Grove at Freedoms Foundation in Valley Forge. Since that time, volunteers have collected about $13,000 for the project.

With Saturday's dedication ceremonies, Kentucky became one of more than two dozen states with a Medal of Honor Grove at Valley Forge. Each state grove has an obelisk standing seven feet, seven inches tall on a 24-square-foot brick plaza. The state's seal, a donor plaque and name plaque listing the Medal of Honor winners are on Kentucky's obelisk.

A 30-foot flagpole from which the state flag will fly stands behind the monument. And two meditation benches flank the brick plaza.

The names of 46 Kentuckians who were awarded Medals of Honor dating from the Civil War to the Vietnam War will be etched on the plaque. Those names will include SFC Gary Lee Littrell and Richard E. Bush, the two medalists who were scheduled to participate in the dedicatory ceremonies.

Littrell, formerly of Henderson, is with the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell. He was awarded the Medal of Honor for service in Vietnam. Bush, formerly of Glasgow, earned his medal as a U. S. Marine in World War II. He now resides in Waukegan, Ill.

The seven other living medalists from Kentucky are:

Carl H. Dodd, of Kenvir, in the Corbin area, U. S. Army, Korean War; Don J. Jenkins, Quality, in Butler county, Army, Vietnam War; Ross K. Wilburn, Strunk, in McCreary county, Army, World War II; Junior J. Spurrier, Russell county, Army, World War II; Ernest E. West, Wurtland, in Greenup county, Army, Korean War; William E. Barber, Dehart, in Morgan county, Marine Corps, Korean War; Peter C. Lemon, a Canadian who entered service at Fort Knox, Army, Vietnam War.

Mrs. Belvia Sandlin, of Louisville, the widow of Kentucky's sole World War I Medal of Honor winner, Willie Sandlin, who served in the Army in France, unveiled the obelisk.

Community Program Sought in Meetings Held at Betsy Layne

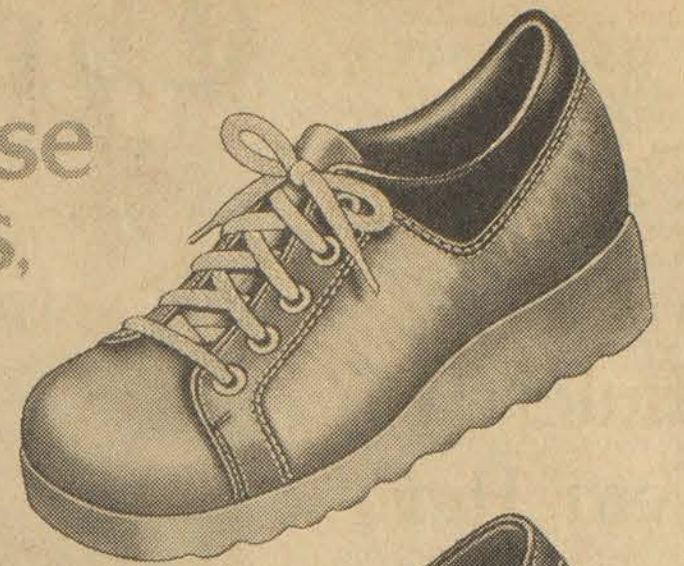

The Betsy Layne community is in the process of establishing an organization which can benefit from the help and cooperation of the Northeastern Kentucky Rural Community Development Association in developing a program for its youth and senior citizens.

Several meetings have been held, with guests from other communities joining in discussions of what they have been able to achieve through such organization. The next meeting of the Betsy Layne group will be Thursday, Aug. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Betsy Layne Grade School auditorium. All persons interested in a program to meet the needs of the young as well as the elderly are urged to attend.

Recognized for Arthritis Work

Miss Patty Lou Davis, left, Eastern Kentucky arthritis area representative for the Ky. Chapter, Arthritis Foundation, Louisville, last Friday presented Miss Burieta Gearhart with a certificate of recognition for her outstanding service in co-ordinating the 1975 Floyd County Arthritis Campaign. Floyd County's goal of $1300 was exceeded by $149, making it the most successful campaign ever held in Floyd County.

Within the next week, Miss Davis will present the following town chairman who helped make Floyd county's drive successful with achievement awards for their outstanding service in the campaign:

Mrs. John Sutherland, Prestonsburg Victory March Door-to-Door Chairman; Mrs. Barbara Heinze, Publicity chairman; James George, Chairman for Betsy Layne; Mrs. Jerry Frost, chairman for Allen, sponsor Allen Woman's Club; Mrs. Virginia Jamerson, chairman and Mrs. Ethel Osborne, co-chairman for Wheelwright, Burton, Weeksbury and Melvin; Miss Ruby Akers, chairman for Drift and McDowell, sponsor, Drift Woman's Club; Mrs. Bonnie Walters, chairman for Emma; Mrs. Alma Key, chairman for Martin; Mrs. J. C. Wells, chairman for Garrett, Wayland and Lackey.

Miss Gearhart expressed appreciation to all who worked and helped support the 1975 Arthritis drive. Proceeds go toward education, treatment and research.

RETIRED TEACHERS HEAR SENATOR HAMMOND SPEAK

The Floyd County Retired Teachers met Saturday, August 14, at the regional library here. A hospitality hour was held at noon, and the invocation was given by Mrs. Grace Conley, vice-president.

Mrs. May K. Roberts presided at the business session, and Carmel Akers gave the devotional. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Grace Sutherland, and approved. She stated that of the 120 retired teachers in Floyd County only half are members of the K.R.T.A. and F.C.R.T.A. and urged members present to work to increase membership in these organizations.

Mrs. Roberts spoke on services provided by N.R.T.A. to active members and distributed informational material on this subject. She requested each member to set up for herself a community service project of rendering help to the sick and distressed.

A welfare committee of four members: Kelsa G. Elliott, Grace Conley, Oma Elkins, and Rhoda Howard, was appointed to work with the secretary on various projects.

The guest speaker was State Senator Jim Hammond, attorney, who gave a brief resume of legislation introduced and posted by the 1976 General Assembly of interest to retired teachers. He gave highlights of the state estate and inheritance tax laws and answered pertinent questions on the subject.

The president announced that the Eastern District K.R.T.A. workshop will be held at May Lodge here Nov. 4 and 5, and the next meeting of F.C.R.T.A. will be on Saturday, Nov. 13, at 1 p.m. in the regional library here.

The following members and guests were present: Mildred R. Hall, Nora Martin, William H. Martin, Rhoda M. Howard, Anna May Mellon, Victoria M. Spradlin, Anna Scutchfield, Lucy C. Regan, Docia B. Woods, Beatrice Collins, Oma Elkins, Audie Elkins, Grace Conley, Leona Winkler, Margaret Compton, Kelsa G. Elliott, Elizabeth M. Bailey, Josephine Hill, Josephine Spradlin, Carmel Akers, May K. Health Council Seeks Members

The Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council said this week it is actively seeking general memberships in the East Kentucky Health Systems Agency, Inc. (EKHSA).

The organization will include the 68 eastern counties in Kentucky. If HEW, the governor of Kentucky, and the commissioner of Health Services are satisfied that the Governing Board is representative of all the people, designation and funding of the agency should be made not later than October 1.

"The Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council is most anxious that the Big Sandy Sub-area Council also reflect the population of the 'Big Sandy' region," Sallye Hill Stumbo, health planner, said. The Sub-area Council will replace the Health Planning Council and will be the local voice for Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties in any matters concerning health services and facilities.

The Sub-area Council will be formed by nominations from anyone in the region who is a general member of EKHSA. The Council must, by law, have in its membership providers of health care, i.e., physicians, dentists, registered nurses, allied health people, representatives of public health, hospitals, nursing homes, and others. It also must have a majority of consumers of health care—representatives of miners and mine-owners, women, low income, government and others.

The Sub-area Council must reflect the population in each county. County representation will be: Pike, 9; Floyd, 7; Johnson, 6; Magoffin, 4, and Martin, 4. "I am concerned because we have only one nominee for several of the provider categories," Mrs. Stumbo said. "Only one person has been nominated from public health, one dentist, etc. Consumer categories are also needed, especially from Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties."

The deadline for nominations is Wednesday, August 25. General membership and nomination forms may be found on page _____. The nominee and the person nominating must be general members. When all nominations are received, ballots will be mailed to all general members in the region and an Election Committee will certify the election.

For further information, call the Health Planning office at 886-6869.

Health Notes

The Floyd County Health Department is conducting a glaucoma clinic, Friday, August 20, from 9 to 11:30 and 1 to 2. Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness and it is estimated that one out of every 50 Americans over 35 years of age have this disease.

However, glaucoma can be prevented by early detection and treatment. All persons age 35 and over should be screened for glaucoma approximately every two years.

Having this simple and painless test will help you avoid possible serious loss of your vision. This clinic is free and open to the public.

On Monday, August 23, a community health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic at Mellie Tackett's Store at the mouth of Tackett Fork, at Beaver. This clinic will last from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 2 and the following services will be available: Immunizations, blood pressures, diabetes screening, TB skin tests and hemoglobins.

All persons in the Mud Creek area are welcome to take advantage of these free medical services being offered in their community.

The Mercury Report

This newspaper's report last week that mercury has been found in Dewey Lake was not made to shock or frighten readers. Appearance of the element there is reported as sporadic, and it was claimed by a Corps of Engineers spokesman that it has not been discovered in dangerous quantities.

We have no means of disputing the accuracy of these statements, but, since we do know that mercury is a very real threat to human health and life, we recognized our responsibility to warn the public of the situation.

At the same time, this newspaper was continuing its "continued story" of warning not the ordinary citizen but the Corps of Engineers, the Department of Parks, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and officials all up and down the line that what is happening at Dewey Lake is destroying it for every purpose for which it was conceived: that upstream mining was creating such sedimentation that the lake is being filled in and its life expectancy shortened; that the muddiness of the water and other deleterious effects on the water quality are affecting fish propagation and growth, and that neither state nor federal government was protecting its investment of taxpayers' dollars in the lake and surrounding state park.

During these years The Times has often been told, "We're keeping an eye on the situation." But nobody developed eyestrain. Everybody knew what was happening and all know what is continuing. Perhaps now it is too late to do anything about it.

But we wonder . . . would it be too much to ask?—Why not now do some earnest looking to determine the source of that mercury?

Meanwhile, it might be of benefit to a lot of people to have the water consumed by residents of places such as Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville and other communities tested to determine if mercury could have got into their source of water, the Big Sandy, as well as into Johns Creek which feeds Dewey Lake.

Kentucky Paving Corp. also was the successful bidder in asking $89,168 on another contract to surface the Dingus-Relief road (KY 437) in Morgan county between KY 589 and KY 172, a distance of 2.5 miles.

In five other counties—Clay, Knox, Leslie, Whitley and Laurel—Mountain Enterprises, Inc., of Flat Lick, successfully bid a total of $650,322 for ERF surfacing projects.

Low-Rent Housing Improvement OK'd

Senators Dee Huddleston and Wendell H. Ford announced last Thursday that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a contract for modernization of low-rent housing complexes here.

The total approved is $11,000. Bids will be asked for sidewalk construction, but drainage and guttering work will be minor items not requiring advertising for bids. Julia May, executive director of the Prestonsburg Housing Authority said. Work will be done at all three housing sites—Green Acres, Indian Hill and Dixie.

Miss May said Prestonsburg's was one of only two small housing authorities in the state to receive funding of such improvements.

Big Sandy ADD board member; Jim Mullins, Hazard, assistant project engineer, and Claude Swiney, county planner.

Some of the possible landfill sites mentioned at the meeting were one of 10 acres, the largest, between Goose Creek and Garrett, Garrett Hollow, Henry's Branch, a site near the meat-packing plant on Turkey Creek, the hill near Warco and another site between Dinwood and Buck's Branch.

The point was made, however, that the mere availability of land will not relocate families because housing will not be available when needed. Mr. Flood suggested that the Department of Highways might inform the county when a landowner is willing to sell a site and that the county might use coal severance tax funds to buy land for housing as well as for parks and industry. Hilton agreed this could be done, and Judge Stumbo commented that this would be something not done before. Mr. Hilton agreed it "would be a new approach."

When Mr. Perry spoke of Big Sandy ADD's interest in getting all the fringe benefits possible from the road, Hilton said, "We strongly favor such benefits, housing, etc., because this is a developmental highway."

First sections of KY 80 will be built in Perry county in areas where the population is not concentrated and where fewer people are to be relocated, it was said. Work in Floyd county will not be the last undertaken, but it is much more heavily populated and will present more problems. One of the problems mentioned other than housing exists, it was pointed out, on Jarrell Fork of Bull Creek which was described as "full of gas lines, all to be taken up and relocated."

A KY 80 relocation office will open in the next two weeks on the second floor of the Hughes-Fannin building on First Avenue. The office will not be open every day, however, but a schedule for its work will be announced soon.

Softball Finals Played Sunday

SAM MILLER, shown here in mid-swing, was a standout for the Watts Mobile Homes team, which defeated B. & D. Motors in double elimination Sunday night for the district softball crown. In two games Miller hit for a total of five triples and two homers.

"OOGIE" HAMPTON, pitcher for B. & D. Motors, who finished second in Sunday night's district championship play, is pictured in classic softball style.

Watts Mobile Homes beat B. & D. Motors Sunday night in double elimination play at Archer Park to take the 1976 district softball title.

At the conclusion of the five playoff games which began Sunday afternoon and continued until about 11:30 that night, the year's final standings were as follows: First—Watts Mobile Homes; Second—B. & D. Motors; Third—Petrie Furniture.

These three teams earned a berth in the Region 10 tournament which begins tomorrow (Thursday) at Archer Park. This tournament will feature the 12 top teams in Eastern Kentucky and will include defending regional champion East Kentucky Auto Parts.

While the mens' teams fought for the district title Sunday, the finals of the women's softball league were being played in adjoining fields. Tenth Region womens champs were the Music-Carter-Hughes Devils who defeated, D. & T. Car Sales, of Pikeville. These two teams will travel to the state tournament tomorrow (Thursday) at Glasgow. The Thompson's IGA team finished third in the regional tournament.

Floyd County Softball League Commissioner Bill R. Collins said response to this year's playoffs has been the "best ever." Collins said more than 500 spectators were present as late as 11 p.m. Sunday and added that even larger crowds are expected for the regional contest which attracts fans from several counties in Eastern Kentucky.

"We expect this to be our best regional tournament ever," Collins said, pointing out that East Ky. Auto Parts promises to be as strong as ever. The defending regional champions, according to Collins, defeated the Ohio State softball champions in a recent "practice" game. Area merchants have provided more than $1,000 in trophies for tournament winners.

Spurlock Home Burns After Hit by Lightning

The Spurlock Fork home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herald was destroyed by fire last Saturday afternoon after it had been struck by lightning.

All contents of the home were lost, and there was no insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Herald were away from home at the time while helping a relative move to Pippa Passes, Frank Tussey, who lives some 500 feet from the scene of the fire, said that when he reached the dwelling the blaze had spread throughout the building and that it was nearing collapse.

WASHINGTON—A method of processing cottonseed has been patented recently for the Agriculture Department. It is described as producing an edible high protein flour eminently suited for human nutrition.

SHE'S MISSED

Those who read the "society" news in this newspaper surely have noticed that something is missing, the last two weeks. This is because Ruth Sowards, who has done this weekly stint for us over the years, is ill and in the hospital here.

Ruth's love for people often shows in her column. Sometimes, she has written things which I cut because I thought they lacked news interest. But she wrote those items, she once said, because she knew people living far away from home who would just love to see something of that sort in the paper.

That may not be sound journalism, but it's good thinking. I suppose I'm wrong and that Ruth is right. And I hope she gets well soon to write again those little items that mean so much to many.

THE ROISTERERS ARE COMING

Where do the jays go for the summer? Into the hills? Perhaps so. The last two late afternoons now, they've been heard yacking away, 50 yards or so deep in the timber, preparing to appear center stage, any day now. Some say these are naughty birds, that they steal all the cherries and cuss out other birds till they leave. Well, I don't have any cherries, the birds at our house don't mind their insults too much, and I think they're beautiful.

IQ Testing Challenged

While a controversial IQ testing policy is being reviewed before being put into practise in school districts of the state the Floyd county school system is taking what was described as "a good, hard look" at its own testing program.

Ray Brackett, assistant superintendent of schools, discussed the testing program with The Times in the absence Friday of Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr.

"We basically use achievement rather than I. Q. tests," Mr. Brackett said.

The board of education recently employed Larry Jarvis as an itinerant guidance counsellor for service particularly in schools which have no counsellors and also as a coordinator of the testing program. Mr. Jarvis, who is nearing a degree in psychometry, will also act in an advisory capacity in the overall testing program.

In the past the board has contracted with Mountain Comprehensive Care to supply trained psychologists to assess tests that were made.

because it had been recommended to him by Dr. George Troutt.

(Troutt recently was fired as assistant superintendent of the Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children in the state education department. The testing policy had nothing to do with his dismissal, Graham said.)

"I usually sign things recommended to me, and maybe I didn't realize the significance of it (the policy)," Graham said.

Hicks insisted late last week that the testing policy was a good one.

He disagreed strongly with the educational psychologists who stress that qualified people must be involved in testing.

"Counselors already have the qualifications, and it could be a regular classroom teacher if he has had course work in testing," Hicks said. He added that the publisher of the SIT says that it is to be used by classroom teachers.

The new testing policy planned for state schools was originally expected to be put into effect with the opening of the school year—in most schools, later this month. Some psychologists have described it as "a horror, a disaster and a potential cause for lawsuits."

Although the policy was signed May 21 by state education officials, inquiries into the testing policy by The Courier-Journal were followed by an announcement by Dr. James Graham, superintendent of public instruction, that he and a committee would review the policy.

The dispute, which has been quietly argued through correspondence between psychologists and the education department since last March, involves the use of the Slosson Intelligence Test (SIT).

A low score would identify a child as mentally handicapped.

The test, some educational psychologists believe, may identify some children as retarded who are not, causing them to be placed in special education classes.

Hicks said the SIT was to be used only in schools that do not have qualified personnel to give the more widely accepted tests, such as the Stanford-Binet or the Weschler Intelligence Scale for Children.

Hicks said the department never intended to place children in special education classes solely on the basis of the SIT.

He said that, before a child was labeled as needing special education, he would be given individual math, reading and general achievement tests.

Also, the child's behavior would be observed, along with studies of his educational and social development, Hicks said. These latter procedures would be done through a local school committee, he said.

The critics are overplaying the IQ test and downplaying the committee's work, Hicks charged.

The critics, however, counter by claiming that the committee, even if it functions, will be working with initial test results that are inadequate at best and inaccurate at worse.

"One gets the impression that in school counseling and school psychology the Ohio River is about '30 years' wide, and with the recent backward steps we see in the Kentucky state Department of Education, we may soon find that the Ohio River, like the Atlantic, is too wide to see across," UK Psychologist Liddle said.

His views are shared by the psychology staff of Eastern Kentucky University, which wrote to the state education department last April, objecting to the policy.

A similar objection was expressed in a letter by Dr. Curtis Barrett, president-elect of the Kentucky Psychological Association and a member of the staff of Norton-Children's Hospitals in Louisville.

"I personally think it's a real mistake to use it (the SIT test)," said Dr. Thomas Koltveit, a University of Louisville educational psychologist.

"I don't think you could find a reputable educational psychologist in the country who would use the Slosson test in determining if a child should be put into a special education class," he said.

Ben Hicks, state consultant-supervisor of psychological services in the state education department, said last week that the critics were misinformed, over reacting and concerned about their own job security.

Hicks said he could not understand what the "big issue" was about, but he acknowledged that the policy is unpopular with some professional psychologists.

"But Dr. Graham is well-aware of the policy and is supportive of it," Hicks said.

Graham, however, said in an interview that he had signed the May 21 policy.

Parkway Art Show Set August 22

An August Sunday at Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell county can be the family's most pleasant outing of the summer. This particular Sunday is Aug. 22 when from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. the park's Hoedown Island will be the setting for the 11th annual Mountain Parkway Art Show.

There are no art judges, no ribbons and no prizes, but there will be dozens of artists and hundreds of original paintings. The show continues to be a major one for those who collect art and those who enjoy "just looking."

Hoedown Island is little more than a five-minute drive from the Natural Bridge exit of Mountain Parkway. Artists are expected to have their works ready for viewing by 9 a.m. Any artists anywhere may exhibit works in this show, but the rules specify "no crafts." (A special show in October will feature crafts.)

Lee Facility Asks To Add 43-Bed Unit

The Department for Human Resources has received an application from an Eastern Kentucky facility which, because of its estimated cost, comes under the jurisdiction of Section 1122 of the Social Security Act. This segment of the law applies to capital expenditures by health care facilities which, if not justified by increased services or efficiency, could result in unreasonable increases in costs to patients. The application is from the Lee County Personal Care Home, Inc., Beattyville, to construct a 43-bed addition to the present facility at an estimated cost of $694,000.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review this proposals at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Lexington, on August 17-18. The review is open to the public.

Artists are expected to have their works ready for viewing by 9 a.m. Any artists anywhere may exhibit works in this show, but the rules specify "no crafts." (A special show in October will feature crafts.) Artists arrange their paintings on easels, tables and bleacher seats so that visitors may walk around to see and study each work.

When the island space is filled, works are displayed along the approach area. A number of Kentucky's best-known artists participate in this show.

Sponsors of the event are the Powell County Art Club with cooperation of the Kentucky Department of Parks. Rules established by the art club state that a $2 fee will be charged exhibiting artists but the show is free to the public. Artists are to bring their own easels and tables and must frame or mat all works. In event of rain the exhibit will move to Hemlock Lodge.

NAMED TO HEAD LACKEY CF DRIVE

Mrs. Patty Collins has been named Lackey Chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung-damaging diseases, according to Jay Crouse, president of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Mrs. Collins will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

The Breath of Life Week will be September 11-24 with a door-to-door drive scheduled during that time.

Gift of Automobile Recognizes 23 Years Service to Church

June 14 was the 23rd anniversary of his service to the Spurlock Community Church as its pastor, and the congregation recognized that service by presenting the Rev. Dan Heintzelman a new Caprice Classic.

The Rev. Mr. Heintzelman came to this county from Michigan, and one of his first fields of work was on Spurlock. "The people at Spurlock showed so much love in those first two years, it was so easy to stay," he commented last week when asked about the gift.

Those who attended church there, back in 1953, numbered only 10 to 15, and the average attendance now is about 45, but the church there rates "big" with the minister.

He has been recovering over a period of many months from serious injuries suffered last year when the church bus which he was driving after services at the Spurlock church was hit by another car.

Governor's Wife Names Mrs. Reynolds To Head Girl Scout Fund Drive

Mrs. Julian Carroll, wife of Kentucky's governor, announces the appointment of Mrs. Lynn Reynolds as Girl Scout Fund Drive chairman in Floyd county. Mrs. Reynolds attended the kick-off luncheon at the Governor's Mansion on August 4, to receive her appointment and to help make plans for the fall campaign.

This year, the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council has set a goal of $30,000 to be raised through the 43 fund drives being held. This money is used to provide professional support to volunteers, to pay for program materials, and to provide training and educational opportunities for the adults who are leading our girls.

Mrs. Sandy Patton, field director for this area, works with the volunteers to see that troops are maintained, and the every girl is given the opportunity of belonging to Girl Scouting.

Meals on Wheels To Handle Nutrition Program for Elderly

A new program which will provide one hot meal a day five days a week, for persons 60 and older, will begin in Floyd county soon, Phillip N. Price, executive director of Community Meals On Wheels, Inc., announced last week.

The program is a part of a nationwide effort which seeks not only to provide the elderly a nutritionally adequate meal but also to break the grip of isolation in which many older persons find themselves, Mr. Price explained.

Locally, the program will be administered by Community Meals On Wheels, Inc. Cost of the program, estimated at $118,000 for the first year, is being covered by a grant from the Kentucky Department for Human Resources which is administering the program on a statewide basis.

"Actually, the grant will cover only 90 percent of the cost," Price said. "The remaining 10 percent is coming from in-kind contributions of staff time, office space, supplies and from local donations."

The Administration on Aging, which is responsible for the program nationally, hopes to involve 250,000 elderly in the program during the first year of operation. Several programs are now under way.

Individuals 60 and older will be eligible to participate in the program. "The primary group of elderly we are trying to reach are those who cannot afford to eat adequately, who lack the skills and knowledge to select and prepare well balanced meals, who have limited mobility to either shop or cook for themselves and those whose feelings of loneliness and rejection rob them of the incentive to cook for themselves," Price said.

A small donation fee will be asked for each meal, but no one will be turned away because of his or her inability to pay, and no means test will be made, it was emphasized.

Community Meals On Wheels, Inc. will be working in cooperation with the Senior Citizens Center in Floyd county to provide meals at their site.

For further information contact your Senior Citizens Center or Community Meals On Wheels, Inc. Box 307, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Phone 886-3953.

Michigan Judge Tells Workman To Report Here

Floyd county authorities, with help from the governor, have been for more than a year seeking the return of Bobby Workman from Michigan to this county for trial on a murder charge.

Workman was indicted by a grand jury here, months after the body of James Chaffin, of Louisville, was found at the roadside on Arkansas Creek, near Martin. Later, Governor Wendell H. Ford issued a requisition for the extradition of Workman to this county. The accused man refused to waive extradition. He submitted the results of a polygraph (lie detector) test made in Michigan in support of his contention that he was innocent. Harold J. Stumbo, who at that time was commonwealth's attorney, scouted the impartiality of this evidence on the grounds that the test was made by a person chosen by the defendant or his attorney. Followed a series of moves and counter-moves, all of which added up to frustration for those seeking Workman's return.

Finally, last week, a hearing was held at Ann Arbor on the request for extradition. Mr. Stumbo, who is now county attorney, Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, a witness and two officers went to Ann Arbor. The judge who presided at the hearing heard testimony from County Attorney Stumbo which related to the indictment and some testimony heard by the grand jury, and from Patty Branham, who identified Workman and testified that he was in Floyd county the night of the Chaffin slaying.

Following the hearing, the presiding judge said the Commonwealth had proved its case. But as Commonwealth's Detective Tom Halbert and Keith Lawson, of the Prestonsburg police force, stood by to take Workman into custody for the return to Kentucky the judge directed that the prisoner report to this county for trial by August 25.

What disappointed the Floyd county officials most was the fact that the judge did not require the defendant to post bond of any sort to guarantee his appearance as directed.

Named CF Chairmen For Garrett, David

Jay Crouse, president of the Bluegrass Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation has announced the appointment of the following people as chairmen of the annual Breath of Life Campaign. Mrs. Buster Richmond, chairman of Garrett, and Miss Dorothy Clark, chairman of David, will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

The Breath of Life Week will be September 11-24 with a door-to-door drive scheduled during that time.

Approximately one of every 1,500 babies is born with Cystic Fibrosis, which is still incurable. CF is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for CF. It is believed that one in twenty persons, or a total of ten million Americans, is a symptomless carrier of this gene. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers, as well as a cure for CF and better methods of treatment for all lung-damaging diseases.

Senior Citizen News Times Cited for D.A.V. Support

Among the activities over the past two weeks at the Archer Senior Citizens Center were Teddi Pence, of Floyd Federal Savings & Loan Association, who brought the Senior Citizen members up to date on direct deposit of social security checks from the administration to bank.

Wanda Hall, C.A.P. employee was at the center to give a demonstration of macrame hanging baskets. Members enjoyed a trip to the Johnson county center, Thursday, and the Magoffin county center, Wednesday. A trip to Martin county center was cancelled last Friday due to a bus problem, but is planned for a later date.

A "pot luck dinner" is planned for Thursday, Aug. 19 at the center. Meat, vegetables and drink will be furnished by the nutrition program. Members should bring salads or deserts.

A special day for senior citizens at the Kentucky State Fair has been planned for August 26. A Bicentennial style show is scheduled featuring Early American fashions. Anyone 60 or over is eligible.

Among the senior citizens taking part in these activities were: Rosy Burchett, Ermine and Dianah Hall, all of Prestonsburg; Edith Elkins and Gypsie Baldrige, both of East Point; Goldie Vance, Roshia Moore, and Peacie Warrens, all of Wayland; Rhoda Brickley, Prestonsburg; Mattie Wallen, Prestonsburg; Hester Vanderpool, Huesville; Sola Blackburn, East Point; H. Advice to Home Canners

The several thousand home canners in Kentucky who expect to stock up on foods from their gardens should be aware of a certain danger, according to Dr. C. Hernandez, preventive services director in the state Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services.

That danger is botulism, "a bacterial toxin that develops in improperly canned foods, whether commercially canned or canned in the home," Hernandez said. "Most cases involve home canning."

The best way to avoid botulism poisoning, Hernandez said, is care during the canning process. "It is extremely important that individuals who can foods at home boil the food for the specific amount of time. Correct pressure and temperature when using a pressure canner are also essential to prevent botulism."

To avoid contamination, canners are advised to take no shortcuts; use no ordinary jars for canning, only canning jars; use sealing lids only once and buy new ones each year; use no overripe food; avoid overpacking foods; follow the time and temperature specifications exactly, making time adjustments according to altitude; and test the cans' seals.

Before the cans are opened for use, they should be inspected for signs of spoilage and contamination. Bulging lids, leaks, off-odors, off-colors and mold can indicate danger.

After the jars have been inspected, the foods should be boiled before serving. Boiling time will vary with the acidity of the food, but all home processed foods should be boiled for a minimum of three minutes before serving.

The contamination may be difficult to detect, Hernandez said, since it cannot always be seen and is sometimes odorless. The danger of botulism is that if symptoms of double vision, inability to swallow, sore throat, speech difficulty and progressive paralysis of the respiratory system are ignored treatment is often useless. The symptoms develop within 12 to 36 hours after eating the contaminated food, and the fatality rate has been quoted as high as 20-25 per cent.

If symptoms develop, victims should seek medical attention immediately. "Only a doctor can handle the condition," said Hernandez. "Botulism is a very serious illness."

Further information about botulism and canning procedures is available from the county extension agent office.

Veterans' Insurance Cost To Be Reduced

An estimated 180,000 veterans, holding $1.2 billion worth of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) will have their premiums reduced Oct. 1, the Veterans Administration reported today.

Affected are policyholders who have service-connected disabilities, and whose NSLI insurance policy numbers are prefixed with the letters "J" or "JR."

A VA spokesman explained that excess interest income accrued on those policies prompted the premium decreases.

Reductions for some 154,000 insureds with "J" policies will amount to about $32 per year. Another 26,000 veterans with "JR" coverage will have their premiums decreased by about $81 annually.

Amounts of the new premiums will vary with age, plan and premium classification, a VA spokesman said.

Congress provided for a one-year reopening of the NSLI program in 1965 for disabled veterans because of difficulties in obtaining coverage from commercial sources. The new law required that premiums be calculated on a non-dividend basis and that the VA evaluate premium rates periodically.

This will be the first premium reduction for "JR" policyholders. Premiums on "J" policies were decreased in 1970.

September Folk Festival Here 'Biggest Shindig of Them All'

By HELEN PRICE STACY

On a late summer evening in the Kentucky mountains, farm work laid by for the day and household chores finished, neighbors stop by to say, "Howdy." It's more than a mere greeting, for most of the guests have with them a banjo, guitar, harp or fiddle. A twang or two from the guitar is joined by a few picks on the banjo, followed by a longer tone from the fiddle as hands, late from the hayfield, pull a bow across strings.

Soon, what seems like an awkward beginning of a tune fits together in a mountain symphony that has been a way of life for centuries, and strains of "Sourwood Mountain" or "The Mocking Bird" echo up and down the valleys.

For those who want to be a part of the biggest shindig of them all, Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre is the place to be Sept. 3, 4 and 5 when the 11th annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival gathers together devotees of mountain music and dance.

"The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival brings singers, dancers, tale tellers, poets, musicians and craftsmen together to share with everyone the lore of the Southern Mountains," states Kathryn Frazier, program director. "Our aim is to preserve and encourage continued use of traditional expressions of our people."

(The folk festival was founded by Edith Fitzpatrick James, Prestonsburg woman, to preserve ancient music forms, old customs, arts and crafts.)

The Highlands Folk Festival has it all—music, ballads and other folk songs, dancing, chanting, "lining out" hymns, gospel music, poetry reading and yarn spinning. "Our cultural heritage is too precious to be allowed to pass away through neglect or disinterest," noted the director.

The three-day event at the amphitheater in beautiful Jenny Wiley State Resort Park devotes Friday and Saturday (Sept. 3-4) to traditional music and dance, programs both nights to begin at 7 p.m. There is an admission charge ($2 for adults and $1 for children) for these programs, but Sunday's entertainment is free.

Sunday's schedule includes an art exhibit and at 5 p.m. religious music. Performers, some professionally trained and others who "just picked it up," will entertain with ancient and modern church music and singing.

The Highlands Folk Festival will be a time to get a little bit closer to mountain people who cherish the ways known by their fathers before them.

Columbia Asks Gas Rate Boost

Columbia Gas of Kentucky, Inc., asked the Kentucky Public Service Commission Monday for permission to increase its natural gas rates to its residential, commercial, industrial and wholesale customers in Kentucky, effective Sept. 6.

Michael Barna, Jr., Lexington, gas company manager, said the new rate would mean an increase of about 76 cents a month in the gas bill of the average residential customer served by Columbia Gas of Kentucky. He added that it was requested to offset increased operating costs caused by continuing inflationary trends.

Specific reasons cited by Barna for requesting the new rate include increases in the cost of labor, supplies, construction, taxes and other operations and increased costs to Columbia Gas of Kentucky in obtaining capital.

If the new rate is approved by the PSC, it will increase the gas company's annual revenue by $2,000,000, or about 3.65 per cent.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky serves some 115,700 residential, commercial and industrial customers in 40 communities and sells gas to seven other gas companies for resale in Kentucky.

The present residential rate is $3.429 for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas used, $1.875 per 1,000 for the next 49,000 cubic feet, $1.815 per 1,000 for the next 50,000 cubic feet, $1.785 per 1,000 for the next 100,000 cubic feet, $1.755 per 1,000 for the next 800,000 cubic feet, $1.735 per 1,000 for all over 1,000,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge is $3.15.

The proposed rate would be $3.535 for the first 1,000 cubic feet, $1.935 per 1,000 for the next 49,000 cubic feet, $1.895 per 1,000 for the next 50,000 cubic feet, $1.865 per 1,000 for the next 100,000 cubic feet, $1.845 per 1,000 for the next 800,000 cubic feet, $1.825 per 1,000 for all over 1,000,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge would be $3.50.

McDowell Clinic's Request for Funds Slated for Review

Frankfort, Ky.—The Department for Human Resources has received an application from McDowell Regional Medical Clinic which, because of its estimated cost, comes under the jurisdiction of Section 1122 of the Social Security Act. This segment of the law applies to capital expenditures by health care facilities which, if not justified by increased services or efficiency, could result in unreasonable increases in costs to patients.

The application proposes to establish an out-patient ambulatory care clinic at Stone, Pike county, at an estimated cost of $216,000.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review this proposal and then at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Lexington, August 17-18. The reviews are open to the public.

ENJOY FROGGING

Paul C. Tackett and William S. Kendrick enjoyed a brief frogging expedition Saturday night on John's Creek.

College for only pennies a day.

Nowadays, it takes a bundle of money to pay for a college education. No matter how you figure it.

But with United States Savings Bonds, you can count on having the money when you need it.

In fact, when you join the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-A-Month Plan, saving can work out to just pennies a day.

You see, a little is set aside to buy Bonds for you. Regularly. Automatically.

And before you know it, those pennies add up to a pretty nice education.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

They make saving for college more than just an educated guess.

Series E Bonds pay 9% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

200 years at the same location.

A public hearing of the plan is held at the Lexington Office.

Ohio-Kentucky Gets Gas Rate Increase

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has granted a $6,872 rate adjustment increase to Ohio-Kentucky Utilities, Inc., due to an increase in the wholesale cost of gas from the utility's supplier, Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company.

The increase will affect gas supplied on and after July 1. The July 27 order also set a minimum monthly bill of $3.45 for the firm's customers.

Ohio-Kentucky serves customers in Floyd county.

On July 31, 1777, Congress commissioned the Marquis de Lafayette a major general in the U. S. Army.

COMMISSIONED SECOND LT.

Jerry Neil Soard, of Van Lear, was commissioned Second Lieutenant July 23 at Fort Riley, Kansas after completing Army ROTC Advanced Camp. Lt. Soard, who received the Cadet Award, American Veterans of WWII (AMVETS), enrolled in the University of Kentucky Army ROTC program in the summer of '73 and graduated in May of this year. He had been a member of the Cadet Kentucky Rangers.

Approximately 2,500 cadets representing 133 colleges and universities in seventeen states attended the 1976 Advanced Camp at Ft. Riley, whose primary mission is to complement the ROTC Cadet's on-campus instruction and to further develop leadership skills.

CARROLL'S EDUCATION BUDGET ELIMINATES FEES, PROVIDES TEXTS FOR KENTUCKY'S SCHOOL CHILDREN

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll feels increased state expenditures will aid parents in the education of their children in Kentucky schools.

Specifically, he points to allocations in his 1976-78 budget that will end instructional fees for certain courses and provide free high school textbooks.

What follows are answers to specific questions by Gov. Carroll on public education in the state:

Q—Governor, you said that you're interested in eliminating the financial burdens of education. What have you done to further this aim?

Gov. Julian Carroll presents the keys of a new bookmobile to a county library board representative. Kentucky has the largest state-owned fleet of bookmobiles in the nation.

GOV. CARROLL—First of all, I recommended that $9 million be allocated to eliminate instructional fees for school children and the General Assembly approved this recommendation.

I think this appropriation was very important since some students have been prevented from taking certain courses because they couldn't pay the fees. This was especially true at the high school level where there were a lot of fees.

I also recommended that about $7.6 million be appropriated for purchasing high school textbooks. This recommendation was approved, too.

By the end of my administration, high school texts will be owned and administered free by the state. The state Board of Education has already started on this project by approving the revised state plan for textbook distribution.

This plan will ensure that no child has to drop out of school because his parents can't afford textbooks or has to be embarrassed because of his inability to buy books.

Q—Will this have any effect on the textbook program for kindergarten and grade school children?

GOV. CARROLL—It won't interfere with that program at all. The program for grades one through eight is already active and has already received additional funding through my budget. I recommended that $2 million in additional funds be allocated for these texts and that recommendation was approved.

Q—Since we're talking about younger children, would you please comment on what you have done to provide kindergartens across the state?

GOV. CARROLL—I believe that we've made major strides toward providing kindergartens for all children. The General Assembly allocated $4.3 million to provide 300 new kindergarten units over the biennium. The locations of the units will be based on requests from local school districts, and education department officials have assured me that they will be spread out in a fair and equitable fashion.

Three hundred units won't satisfy the state's total need, but they do represent an increase of 150 per cent over 1976. This is obviously a significant improvement.

Also, I think we must realize that since kindergarten classes usually only meet for half of a regular school day, there actually may be an increase of 600 additional classes over the biennium rather than 300.

Q—I'd like to get away from specifics for a moment, Governor, and talk about what you have done on the crucial issue of raising Kentucky above its low national standing as far as per-pupil expenditure is concerned. Would you comment on that please?

GOV. CARROLL—I'll be happy to. Personally, I think that this is an area of great accomplishment for the Commonwealth. First, however, I would like to point out that although Kentucky's per-pupil expenditure has been low, state support of education has always been relatively high. As you know, Kentucky ranks 49th among the states in overall per-pupil expenditure, which has been a point of concern. But few people are aware that Kentucky ranks 23rd in state support of education.

Also, I think the Commonwealth's citizens should know that Kentucky ranks higher than six of the seven surrounding states as far as state support on a per-pupil basis is concerned. Only Illinois ranks higher, according to National Education Association figures.

Still, I have been concerned, and continue to be concerned, about Kentucky's overall national ranking. Consequently, I recommended allocating $147 million for elementary and secondary education and related programs. This means that by the end of the biennium, educational spending will increase by close to 39 per cent over 1976 levels.

This appropriation will make it possible for Kentucky to make a dramatic jump from 49th to 39th position in national ranking, a significant increase. This assumes, of course, that other states will increase their spending at the same rate as they have in the past.

On the same assumption, Kentucky should move from 23rd to 14th position as far as state support alone is concerned and should exceed the average of the seven surrounding states by $190 in 1977-78.

All in all, it would be no exaggeration to say that we are making exceptional progress in our support of education.

Q—Governor, another major concern is Kentucky's low ranking in teachers' salaries. Have we made equal progress here?

GOV. CARROLL—Yes, I certainly think so. The average salary will increase by $1,200 in 1976-77 and by another $800 in 1977-78. This represents a substantial commitment toward equalizing the salaries in Kentucky with those in the seven surrounding states. Again, if we assume that those states increase their teachers' salaries at the same rate as in the past, Kentucky salaries will be only $616 behind the average.

And if Illinois were excluded from the calculations, then Kentucky would be only about $122 behind the average in the six other states. Also, it's quite possible that this increase could bring us up from 46th nationwide to 36th by 1977-78.

Q—Are fringe benefits included in these calculations?

GOV. CARROLL—No. These figures are for salaries only. Fringe benefits are totally above and beyond these. And I might add that Kentucky compares quite favorably with the seven surrounding states as far as fringe benefits are concerned.

Q—Getting back to specific programs, would you please comment on the things you've done to strengthen vocational education?

GOV. CARROLL—Well, to begin with, I activated the 1202 Commission, the commission on post-secondary education. As I indicated in my executive order activating the commission, I want its emphasis to be on vocational-technical education. This commission will maximize both the planning and coordinating of all post-secondary vocational-technical programs. I believe this commission will improve the quality of post-secondary education, reduce the cost of education by eliminating overlapping programs, if any, and plan for necessary facilities and programs which do not exist now.

Also, in addition to the $7.2 million I appropriated in January of 1975 for vocational facilities, I recommended to the General Assembly that another $10 million be allocated for vocational facilities and equipment now approved for funding.

As you probably know, recent studies have shown that by 1980 only two jobs out of 10 will require a four-year college degree. And you also probably know that I am very concerned about college training which leads only to a dead end street as far as getting a job is concerned. I think that we all need to recognize that vocational training is a viable educational alternative to a college degree.

I am firmly committed to providing that alternative, as my budget requests indicate. I believe that providing vocational school facilities will help all Kentuckians by preparing students for jobs which are needed and where there are openings.

Obviously, we also need to rid our students of the notion that a college education is the only route to a good job. I think that our new career education program will be helpful here. Career education will make students from the first grade on up aware of the great multitude of jobs which exist. I also think that career education will make our students aware that they should not be ashamed of undertaking any honest work. More important, I think career education will make them aware that many of the jobs not requiring a college degree are still jobs which make a highly significant contribution to our society.

Consequently, I recommended an appropriation of about $2 million for career education, and the legislature approved this recommendation.

Q—You pledged to aid local school districts in reducing the high dropout rate. Have you initiated any specific programs to help in this area?

GOV. CARROLL—My support of career education should also bring relevance to the curriculum in our secondary schools. Career education will be implemented at all grade levels, but I've been particularly impressed with reports of its success in our high schools.

As you know, we've had career education programs in some schools for the past four years, but this $2 million from my budget will mean that these programs will be available in every school.

I've been told that educators who have examined career education programs have found a significant reduction in the dropout rate of high school students in schools which offer the program. At the secondary level, career education teaches these students how to choose a career, and it makes them aware of the educational requirements employers demand.

The primary target of career education is relevancy in the classroom—preparing students for the world of work. It directly involves the community in the classroom and makes both the school and our citizens aware of each other. After all, the community is the second victim of the dropout problem.

I believe that this program of relevant teaching will help our students realize the necessity of staying in school and will help the community support these students in their efforts to complete their education.

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) is an integral part of Kentucky's educational system. KET has been particularly effective in enabling Kentucky's adults obtain a high school equivalency certificate.

Q—Gov. Carroll, will career education aid local school districts in developing programs for students to enable them to make wise career and educational choices?

GOV. CARROLL—Career education will allow every school in Kentucky to help their students explore career alternatives—beginning in kindergarten.

You know, it's often been said that education isn't relevant to life, but I think that career education programs can bring the community and its needs into the classroom.

Students in every grade become aware of their ultimate career choices, and this program can give them the self-sufficiency to make that important choice when the education ends.

This program doesn't call for expensive equipment, and it doesn't mean a large staff in big offices in Frankfort. In fact, 98 per cent of the $2 million allotted to this program will go directly to the schools.

This program will give students the chance to see the practical application of their studies. And it brings home the importance of a strong educational background. I'm hopeful that it will help keep students in school.

Q—You also promised to give special attention to programs for exceptional children. Have you been able to do this?

GOV. CARROLL—The budget approved by the legislature allocated $2.1 million to be used for a survey of exceptional children throughout Kentucky. This means that the Bureau for Exceptional Children will be able to hire 17 new consultants, who will be placed in strategic areas around the Commonwealth to help our local school districts identify their special students, evaluate those students' needs, and place these students in the most appropriate learning situation. Some 20 per cent of the $1 million per year during the next biennium will be spent directly on the identification of these exceptional children.

Other portions of the appropriation will go for in-service training for the 17 consultants and for training local school personnel to identify these children and their needs.

This money is not being spent just in Frankfort—it will go wherever it's needed across the state. It will help produce training materials for teachers, and it will mean that these teachers are better prepared to help exceptional students in the classroom.

Of course, this massive search for exceptional children will create the need for more classrooms for their educational needs. This budget also includes $11.2

million for 800 new classroom units next year, and another $9 million to provide 600 more units in the second year of the biennium. According to the projections given me by the Department of Education, these additional units will meet the needs of the students who will be identified by our survey. And if all these units are used, I'm told we'll be serving approximately 14,000 additional exceptional children over the biennium.

These 1,400 new units will give Kentucky a 57 per cent increase in exceptional classroom units over our 1976 levels. They will fill the immediate need in the local districts.

Q—You had indicated that you would help local districts improve educational services to the blind. What have you been able to do for these students?

GOV. CARROLL—Our survey of exceptional children will help us better evaluate the needs of these students and place them in programs suited for their best progress.

Another appropriation of $50,000 will go directly for the transportation of students from their homes to the School for the Blind in Louisville and the School for the Deaf in Danville. This money means that these children will be able to spend at least one weekend a month at home with their families.

In the past, some districts could afford to transport these students, but other districts simply did not have the money it took to bring these students to their special schools. This appropriation sets aside $25,000 a year during the next biennium, so that all local districts can provide this service.

I anticipate that our survey of exceptional children will identify more students who can make their best educational progress at the School for the Blind and the School for the Deaf. I recommended a substantial increase in the service budgets of both schools to meet an expected demand for more enrollment spaces.

Of course, children who can best be helped in their local district can benefit from the 1,400 new exceptional classroom units we're providing over the next biennium.

Q—Gov. Carroll, would you outline some of the ways that education television has been strengthened in the classroom?

GOV. CARROLL—Yes, but don't forget that KET is a significant factor in the broad spectrum of home television, too. More people are viewing KET than ever before. More than 250,000 Kentuckians regularly watch KET programming and more adults are entering into adult educational opportunities all the time. Last year 1,500 adults were enrolled in Kentucky Educational Television's GED series. This course, as you know, prepares adults without a high school diploma for the General Education Development test or GED test as it is commonly known. They receive a high school equivalency certificate when they pass the test. During that same time, more than 700 persons were enrolled in television higher education courses.

Q—Governor, about the classroom instruction...

GOV. CARROLL—Yes, but as to specifics, the new courses will be worked out by KET and the Kentucky Department of Education in what they consider the areas of greatest need, but to say what the new courses will be would be premature. I will say this: I expect just about every school in Kentucky will get not only better reception but also more and improved instructional programs.

Q—How so?

GOV. CARROLL—$1.1 million was provided to extend the reception of KET in the schools by providing matching funds on a basis analogous to the minimum foundation program for the purchase of additional TV receivers, master antenna and distribution systems where needed and video tape recorders. The video recorders are particularly important because they permit local schools greater flexibility in scheduling KET programs.

Remember, not all education takes place in formal settings. By that I mean in the classroom or under planned curriculum such as the GED series. One can become better educated by watching a well-made movie or experiencing the magnificent sounds of a great symphony orchestra. In order to provide some areas better coverage, I allocated money for increased power for the Ashland transmitter and if federal matching funds are available, additional transmitters will be placed in the Owensboro-Henderson area and in the Paducah area.

However, the thrust of the budget increase to KET, in this biennium, is designed to improve educational services to the elementary and secondary level.

Q—During your campaign, you told the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) that you would take steps to improve the operation of the Kentucky Teachers' Retirement System. Now that the legislature has ended its '76 session, how did you fulfill this promise?

GOV. CARROLL—First of all, I made no attempt to incorporate the system into the State Employees Retirement Program. A few years ago, there was such an effort, based on the feeling that the elimination of the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS) as a separate entity would end a lot of duplication of services and save the taxpayers' money.

But actually, the teachers would have suffered several consequences if the TRS had been incorporated into the State Employees Retirement Program. First, as the system is presently established, teachers do not pay Social Security. They have their own pension system. If they became part of the state employees system, they would be required to pay Social Security. On several occasions teachers have voted on whether or not to pay the Social Security, and on each occasion they opposed it overwhelmingly.

Forcing the teachers to adopt a system in which they have no interest would not be fair and would serve no real purpose. Second, teachers do not work a full year. During the summer, they are on vacation. That time is usually used for the teachers to return to college to pursue their degrees, or take refresher courses to update their knowledge. The state employees retirement system could make such vacations unprofitable for the teachers, perhaps even penalizing them for their summers not in the schools. So to avoid these problems, I left the system alone.

Q—In the past few years, inflation has caused considerable strain on those with fixed incomes, such as retired teachers. During your campaign, you said you would help get cost-of-living increases for the teachers in retirement, and your budget did indeed include such a provision. Would you explain this program?

GOV. CARROLL—Certainly. As you know, there is already a provision for a cost-of-living increase of one per cent yearly. However, inflation was increasing at a rate of 12 per cent yearly, so the increase is gone even before the teachers receive it.

So, I put $10.4 million into the budget for cost-of-living increases of three per cent for each year of retirement for up to five years. That is, if a teacher retired one year ago, he will get a three per cent increase. If he retired in 1974, the increase is six per cent. Retired for three years, the teacher gets a nine per cent increase; four years, 12 per cent; and a teacher who retired in 1971 or before, would receive a 15 per cent increase. The increases are limited to five years retirement.

In addition, the budget appropriates $7.5 million for pension benefits for years served prior to 1941. Previously, those teaching before 1941 received $40 per year. Now, for the first 15 years served before 1941, teachers will receive $64 per year. In 1977-78 teachers will receive $88 for the first 15 years prior service. The amount for the years beyond the first 15, however, will remain at $40.

Staying on the issue of prior service, we are also taking steps to retire the prior service debt by allocating funds to meet the amortization schedule. In 1974, the debt was $55.6 million. The new budget allocates $9.6 million to meet the amortization schedule, which is supposed to be paid off by 1990.

Q—What about survivors' benefits, Governor?

GOV. CARROLL—There were problems here concerning a type of "reverse" sex discrimination. Widows could receive all the benefits of their teaching husbands' survivors' benefits, but it seemed that widowers did not receive an equal amount of their teaching wives' benefits. We allocated $1.6 million to the survivors' benefits to increase the amount overall, and increased widowers' benefits to equal that of the widows' benefits.

This will replace a plan of temporary cost-of-living increases that would result in an 11 per cent annuity increase for persons retired since 1971. There were no provisions for this plan to continue into the 1976-78 biennium.

I continued a cost-of-living plan and increased the size of bonuses available to retired teachers.

Q—Governor, you set one goal of your administration to raise the contribution of the state to the Teachers' Retirement System to equal the state's contribution to the State Employees Retirement Program. What steps were taken in this legislature to meet this goal?

GOV. CARROLL—To meet the contribution to the State Employees Retirement Program, the state will have to increase its contribution to the Teachers' Retirement System to 13.1 per cent. The present employer contribution is 7.7 per cent for Trust Fund Contributions. In the 1976-78 biennium, the state's contribution to the system will be increased to 10.7 per cent. And by the end of my administration, we will have met my goal of contributing 13.1 per cent, thus equalizing the state's contribution to the State Employees Retirement Program.

Q—Could you tell us any other actions you have taken regarding teacher retirement?

GOV. CARROLL—Well, there were a few other items. During the legislature, two actions were taken concerning disability benefits. The service requirements for qualifying for disability benefits were lowered from eight to five years. And a provision was added to the statutes that allows disability retirees more freedom to choose joint-survivor options.

Another action concerns active teachers: the age of retirement for active teachers with less than 30 years service was lowered from 60 years to 55 years old.

Q—Governor, what do you plan to do about the busing issue?

GOV. CARROLL—Well, primarily, I refused to include any funds for busing in my budget. I would prefer, however, not to make much of a statement about busing at this time, except that I am opposed to busing for school desegregation. Since the issue is in the courts, I feel it would be inappropriate to comment further.

Dr. Maiden and Mr. Owens Wed Aug 14 in Virginia

Mrs. Hobart M. Maiden, of Meadowview, Va., has announced the marriage of her daughter, Dr. Joanna Cranston Maiden, to Mr. Russell U. Owens, of Bristol, Virginia. The ceremony was held at the bride's home on August 14, with Dr. Andrew Spence officiating.

The bride is director of local health departments in the Mount Rogers Planning District for the State Health Department. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted R. Owens, of Abingdon, Virginia. Mr. Owens is director of the Abingdon field office of the State Office of Special Programs. He formerly was director of Virginia Appalachian Health Services, serving the LENOWISCO and Cumberland Plateau Planning Districts, and during part of his tenure there the bride was its medical director. Prior to that Mr. Owens was a field administrator for the United Mine Workers' Welfare and Retirement Fund. Before joining the Virginia Department of Health Mrs. Owens was associated with the Floyd County Comprehensive Health Service. She has also been a medical missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention to Nigeria.

The couple are at home at Meadowview. Professionally, the bride will use her married surname, Dr. Joanna M. Owens.

Beaver Elkhorn Told To Appear At PSC Meeting

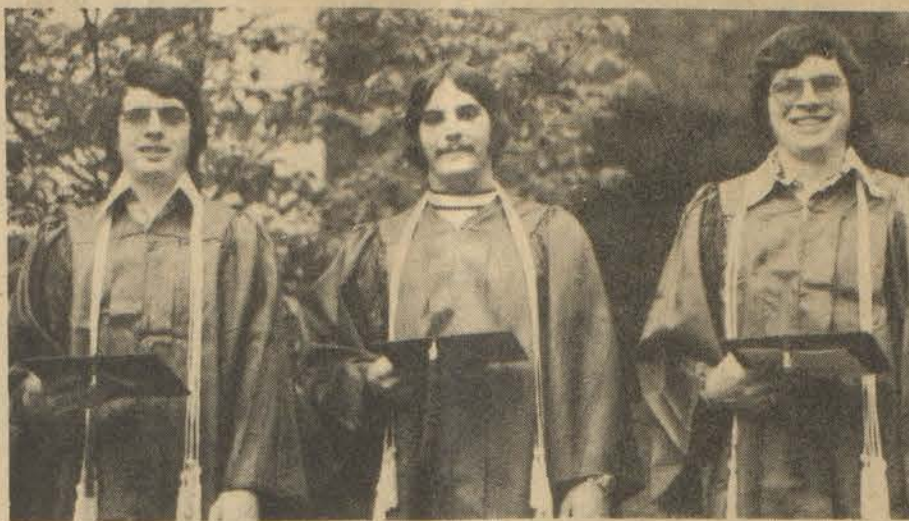

The Public Service Commission has ordered officials of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District to appear before it at 3 p.m. today (Wednesday) to show cause, if any, why the district should not comply with a recommendation made earlier in a PSC staff report relating to tap-on fees and another recommendation that the water district should file application for a certificate of convenience and necessity on the David construction project for which contract has been awarded.

The staff report pointed out that an inspection of applications for water service made June 28 showed that there were 203 pending applications, most made before July, 1973, and that service had not been provided at the time of the inspection.

Persons who were employed by the water district to collect tap-on fees from potential customers did not in most instances, the report continued, consult maps of the water system to determine if it was possible to provide service to customers. The report, signed by George S. Milligan, III, recommended that the water district refund all fees paid by customers to whom service cannot be provided within the next 10 months. It also asked that the district file for a certificate of convenience and necessity for the construction of the system extension to serve the David area.

Receive Engineering Grants

Three graduates of the pre-engineering program at Prestonsburg Community College have been awarded academic scholarships by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University Scholarship Committee. Bennet Hatfield, left, and Dennis Hatfield, right, brothers, were recipients of a Massey Foundation Scholarship, and Mitchell Kalos, center, was awarded a scholarship made possible by the National Mines Corporation. The brothers are sons of the Rev. and Mrs. Sonny A. Hatfield, of Inez. Mr. Kalos is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kalos, of Hager Hill. All three students will be juniors this fall majoring in mining engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Two Days Set for 'Flu' Shots

Swine flu immunization clinics will be conducted by the Floyd County Health Department October 20 and 21, James B. Goble, health department official, said Tuesday.

Although the vaccine has not yet been received here, a tentative immunization schedule has already been compiled, and Goble said two teams from Frankfort will help administer the shots at different points in the county. "The teams will be equipped with two air compressor-type guns each, which will allow a large number of people to receive the vaccine," Goble said.

The vaccine, which is to be shipped from the State Health Department at Frankfort, is expected to arrive here by the third week in September, Goble said. There has been some delay in distribution of the vaccine, due to the refusal of insurance firms to provide liability coverage for the manufacturers of the vaccine. That problem was resolved last Tuesday night, however, when Congress passed legislation requiring that all damage suits against the immunization program be filed against the federal government.

Goble said there are no plans to administer the shots to persons under 18 years as recommended by medical authorities.

Wounded Man, Only One of 3 Involved, Named in Warrant

Clifford Whitaker was seriously wounded in an altercation involving two other men on the State Road fork of Middle Creek, the night of Aug. 8, but as of this week he was the only person named in a warrant.

Warrants charging Whitaker with wanton endangerment for allegedly flourishing a knife were sworn out by both Tom Marsillett and James Cline, Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said. Marsillett reportedly fired the shot which struck Whitaker.

East Ky. Refuse District On the Verge of Collapse

By STEPHEN FORD (In The Courier-Journal)

Hazard, Ky.—A pioneering eight-county Eastern Kentucky garbage district, which has barely survived under a budget drawn from customers since most federal funding ended two years ago, is on the verge of collapse.

The district—named the Kentucky River Garbage & Refuse Disposal District—was formed in 1970 with the aid of more than $500,000 in funds from the Appalachian Regional Commission. The district was designed to demonstrate how to combat chronic illegal garbage dumping in the mountains.

Instead, the district has often illustrated that many Eastern Kentucky counties and towns assign a low priority to garbage disposal.

Now, the district operates only week to week. The district's directors, comprising the county judges and mayors of cities in the eight counties, voted Tuesday to postpone for two weeks a decision on whether to close the landfills, giving district officers a last chance to find operating funds.

The district asked in April that each county and city in the district's area pay $2 for each of its citizens for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In return, garbage from participating counties and cities could be dumped free in the district's three landfills. The landfills are the only state-approved dumping sites in the eight counties: Letcher, Perry, Knott, Leslie, Breathitt, Owsley, Lee and Wolfe.

The new policy replaced a system of charging customers—individuals, private contract haulers and local governments—for each ton of garbage brought to the landfills. The policy was intended to give the district a dependable and adequate income.

But three counties—Knott, Leslie and Wolfe—refused to participate, and most other counties and cities have been tardy with their checks for the first quarter, creating serious financial problems for the district.

The $2-per-person assessment was designed to produce an annual income—based on full participation—of $228,200 for the district, enough to allow it to operate and to begin replacing inadequate and broken-down equipment.

Among county governments, only Lee county has made its first payment.

Even if all participating counties and cities make their payments, the income will now be only about $158,000, because of the three counties that are not participating. District manager Mike Conn says that is not enough to operate the three landfills another year.

The Kentucky River Area Development District is preparing a list for the district of possible sources of federal money. But development-district spokesmen admit they are not optimistic that new federal funds can be found.

To get counties to participate in the district program may require a state crackdown on illegal dumping, he said.

Owsley County Atty. Kendall B. Robinson said that his county decided to participate in the garbage district for the

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky.—While black bass fishing shows some improvement, anglers on most major lakes are finding bluegill and crappie the top fish.

The lake-by-lake rundown, according to the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife:

CUMBERLAND: Crappie fair drifting minnows in deep coves over submerged cover; bluegill fair along deep banks; black bass fair on the upper lake casting artificial nightcrawlers and trolling medium runners early and late off points and deep banks; in tailwaters, crappie and trout good; clear, falling 35 feet below the timberline.

LAUREL: Crappie good early and late and at night over submerged cover and around stick-ups. Trout fair at night, still-fishing worms off deep banks. Clear, stable at power pool.

BARBLEY: Black bass fair on medium runners and crank baits along points, bluegill fair around gravel bars and rip rap. In tailwaters, catfish good, crappie, rockfish and white bass fair. Clear to murky, stable 2½ feet below pool and 84 degrees.

KENTUCKY LAKE: White bass good on spinners in jumps and around points and rip rap; sauger fair drifting minnows in the canal. In tailwaters, catfish fair, sauger slow, clear, stable, three feet below summer pool.

BARREN: Bluegill fair to good off deep banks, crappie fair early and late and at night over submerged cover. In tailwaters, trout fair, clear, falling, two feet below pool.

GRAYSON: Bluegill good along shallow banks and around stickups. Black bass slow to fair on surface lures and artificial nightcrawlers off rocky points and shallow banks. In tailwaters, trout slow, clear to murky, stable, one foot above pool.

GREEN: Black bass fair on surface lures early and late around willow bushes and stickups. Bluegill fair off rocky points and in timbered coves. In tailwaters, bluegill and trout fair. Clear, stable 1½ feet above pool.

DEWEY: Crappie fair around submerged treetops and stickups. Bluegill fair in inlets and bays. Clear to murky, stable at pool.

ROUGH RIVER: Bluegill fair in inlets and bays and over submerged cover; crappie slow to fair still-fishing minnows over submerged cover and trolling spinners over the main channel on the south fork. In tailwaters, crappie slow. Clear, stable at pool.

HERRINGTON LAKE: Black bass fair early and late in the jumps and at night on artificial nightcrawlers off rocky points and in inlets and bays. Rockfish slow to fair trolling deep runners off points and deep banks. Clear, stable, two feet below pool and 81 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky fair to good casting and trolling deep runners over the main channel and old road beds. Black bass slow on artificial nightcrawlers along deep banks and over submerged cover. Clear, stable at pool.

BUCKHORN: Bluegill fair to good off deep banks, black bass slow on crank baits early and late off rocky points and over drop-offs. Clear to murky, stable at pool.

NOLIN: White bass fair trolling spinners, crappie slow over submerged cover. Clear, stable, one foot above pool.

FISHTRAP: Crappie fair over submerged cover and around stick-ups. Bluegill slow in inlets and bays. Clear, stable at pool.

DALE HOLLOW: Bluegill good on flyrod poppers and still-fishing worms and crickets in inlets and bays and off deep banks. Clear, stable 7½ feet below pool and 79 degrees.

Apple Butter Makin' Takes a Lot of Sugar

Over a half-ton of sugar, 170 dozen quart jars, apple-peelers, firewood are all part of the East Point Area Development Club's preparation for its annual apple butter making project which will get underway Saturday.

Club members will meet at 7 a.m. that morning, and extend a welcome to any neighbors who would like to try their hand at peeling and stirring. A luncheon will be served at 11:30.

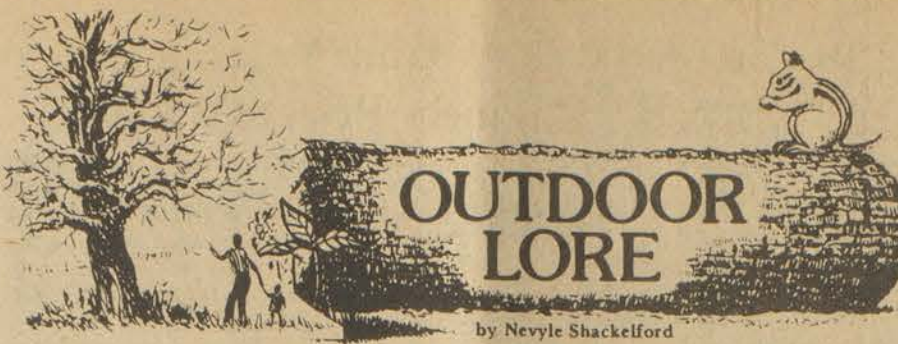

Regular meeting of the development club was called to order August 5 by Julianne Gray. Among activities of the club discussed were the Sulphur Spring reported as almost complete; assisting earlier in the organization of a club in the village category at Oak Lawn Estates; the formation of the East Point Chapter of the Jenny Wiley Trail Association to upgrade the extension of state route 1428 since it will not be made four lane; the purchase of a gift of appreciation for James O. VanHoose, retiring community development specialist. Also discussed was the extension of the Abbott-Little Paint Water District into Johnson county which would mean an additional 30 to 40 families served by the district.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Leake, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Delong, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spradlin, Mr. and Mrs. Landon Tackett and Margie, Mrs. Dorothy Harris, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Baldrige, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gray and Julianne Gray.

CB Members Donate To Fire-Hit Family

A special meeting of the Right Beaver CB Club was held August 8 at the Wayland Town Hall building. The purpose of the meeting was to provide assistance for "Thirty Eight Special," a former member of the club, whose mobile home was destroyed by fire.

The club appropriated $120.00 from club funds and individual donations to buy clothing for the family.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Trees have long been recognized for their contribution to soil and water conservation, but not everyone realizes the role played by trees in human conservation. Trees contribute to the welfare of all forms of human and animal life by producing the oxygen we breathe in and in consuming the carbon dioxide we breathe out.

This healthy transformation takes place in the leaves through what scientists call photosynthesis. As explained in books on biology, photosynthesis is the food-manufacturing process whereby carbon dioxide taken from the air is formed into a simple sugar. As the word "photo" implies, sunlight supplies the energy as it combines with water absorbed by the tree's roots. Oxygen is given off as a by-product.

Scientific research has determined that a young, vigorous, high-yield stand of trees grow an average of 4 tons of new wood per acre per year and that it releases to the air 1 ton of oxygen for every ton of wood grown. Since the average person consumes about 1 pound of oxygen daily, scientists believe an acre of healthy, managed trees can supply the oxygen needs for 18 people.

This surplus oxygen production, the scientists say, is limited to younger trees. Old growth—mature forest trees—consume as much oxygen as they can generate, a fact that makes it logical to harvest mature trees and to set new trees in their places.

With trees providing much of the oxygen we need to live and breathe, it behooves all homeowners to maintain trees and other plants around the house. Planners should also include more parks and green strips in programs for future development, and residential developers should preserve some natural areas in subdivisions.

AREA CATHOLIC CHURCHES PLAN AUGUST 29 ACTIVITIES

Saint Theodore Catholic Church in Prestonsburg, Saint Juliana Catholic Church in Martin, and Saint Francis Catholic Church in Pikeville will join together for a swim party and pot-luck dinner at the Pikeville Church's new location just north of Pikeville, Sunday, August 29 at 3 p.m. There will also be a discussion of attitudes of political candidates on the issue of abortion. The afternoon will conclude with a meeting of the Big Sandy Pastoral Council, which represents local churches to the bi-monthly assembly of all mountain-area Catholic churches in Jackson, Ky. The public is invited to participate.

Community Services at PCC To Stress Orchestral Strings

With a grant from the Kentucky Arts Commission, the Community Services department of Prestonsburg Community College is placing a high priority on its orchestral strings program this year. Beginning its third year of operation, the program will have a class for beginners in violin, viola, cello, and string bass, and individual studio lessons for those who have studied one year or more.

A new aspect of the program will include performing workshops for those who play violin, viola, cello or string bass. At least two of these groups will be formed, and performances will be given throughout the year. According to James Ratcliff, coordinator of Community Services, this program is a serious attempt to lay the groundwork for the development of an orchestra here in Eastern Kentucky for the future. Both children and adults are encouraged to enter this program.

Instructor for these activities is Buddy Ratcliff, of Allen, who has been teaching strings in the program from its beginning. The class for beginners will meet Tuesdays, 6:30-7:30 p.m., in room 155 of the Johnson Administration Building, beginning August 31, while the workshop will meet 7:30-8:30 on the same evening, beginning two weeks later.

For more information, contact Prestonsburg Community College, telephone 886-3863, extension 243.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all those who brought food, provided flowers, or helped in any way during our time of sorrow. We especially thank those who traveled long distances from other states to show their concern. Also, a special thanks to Leroy Akers, magistrate, who had the road and driveway repaired, Greener Frasure, for his help during the illness of our loved one, the ministers for their comforting words, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for the kind and efficient service.

Willis Conley

Willis Conley, well-known Floyd county man, died at his home at Wayland Thursday after a brief illness. He was 85 years old.

The father of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, he was born December 15, 1890 at Handshoe, a son of the late J. M. and Phebe Coburn Conley. A retired merchant and miner, he had operated a sawmill and was postmaster at Garrett for 32 years. His first wife, Mima Coburn, preceded him in death.

Survivors, in addition to Judge Conley, include his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Castle Conley; a son, Haden Conley, of Irvine; four daughters, Mrs. Inez Cox, of Corbin, Mrs. Sally Sherer, of Oxen Hill, Md., Mrs. Edna Everidge and Mrs. Bessie Draughn, both of Prestonsburg; three brothers, Troy Conley, of Plant City, Fla., Coet Conley, of McCarthur, O., and Kearney Conley, of Michigan City, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Maxine Reed and Mrs. Minta Conley, both of Hueysville; 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church by Regular Baptist ministers. Burial was made in the Conley cemetery at Hueysville under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Joseph Childers

Joseph Childers, 79, of Lexington, formerly of Martin, died Saturday morning at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, following a prolonged illness.

A native of Virgie, he was a son of the late Sam and Mary Etta Greer Childers. He was a member of the Church of Christ at Martin, a 56-year member of Zebulon Lodge No. 273, F. & A. M. and the El Hasa Temple Shrine. In 1951, he retired after many years as a C&O Railroad engineer.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lettie Johnson Childers; a brother, Bill Childers, in California; two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Johnson, of Virgie, and Mrs. Cora Yates, of Coal Grove, O., and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Monday at Kerr Brothers Funeral Home by Homer Swindall, minister. Masonic services were conducted by the Robert M. Sirkle Lodge No. 954. Burial was made in Memorial Gardens, Louisville.

Catherine (Sissie) Martin

Mrs. Catherine (Sissie) Martin, 93, of Eastern, died Saturday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin. She had been in failing health for the past two years.

Born February 28, 1883, she was a daughter of the late Jonathan and Jemima Spencer Webb and the widow of W. S. Martin.

Surviving her are two sons, Charlie Martin, of Eastern, and Dr. Henry Martin, of Richmond; four daughters, Misses Velva and Lula Martin, both at home, Mrs. Goldia Salyers and Mrs. Minnie Conley, both of Eastern; 14 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Monday by the Rev. Bob Martin at Hall Brothers chapel. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Eastern.

Obituaries

Mrs. Garnet Banks Dixon

Mrs. Garnet Banks Dixon, 54, of Lexington, formerly of Prestonsburg, died Sunday, August 1, in Lexington.

A daughter of Mrs. Bessie O. Banks, of Lexington, and the late John Banks, she was born January 20, 1922. Her husband, James E. Dixon, preceded her in death. She was a member of the Gardenside Christian Church.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Opal Kidd, Mrs. Ruby Blackburn, and Mrs. Douglas Young, all of Lexington.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, August 3, at 11:30 a.m. at the Milward Funeral Home by the Rev. Phil Williams. Burial was made in Lexington cemetery.

High Fitch

High Fitch, 48, of St. Paris, O., formerly of Hueysville, died at his home Tuesday, August 10, following an illness of a few months.

Born April 7, 1928, he was a son of Jack Fitch, of Hueysville, and the late Rhoda Hughes Fitch. He was a construction worker, employed for the past 10 years by Maxon Construction Company and was a member of the First Baptist Church in Fairborn, Ohio.

In addition to his father, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lue Elsie Collins Fitch; one son, Kevin J. Fitch, at home; seven daughters, Mrs. Katherine Feakes, of Port Angeles, Wash., Mrs. Martha Roberts, of Yuba City, Calif., Mrs. Phyllis Currier, of Lubbock, Texas, Mrs. Minnie G. Wilson, Mrs. Mary M. Curd, Mrs. Sylvia Fitzpatrick, all of Fairborn, and Mrs. Jo Ann Hale, of Bradford, Ohio.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Fairborn by the Rev. Harold J. Stephens. Burial was made in the Byron cemetery, Xenia, O., under direction of Warren K. Burcham Funeral Home.

Daniel Autore

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 o'clock today (Wednesday) at Merion Funeral Chapel for Daniel Autore, 68, who died Monday at his home at Bevsinsville following an extended illness. The officiating minister will be Benny Blankenship, and Masonic services will be conducted by members of Wheelwright Lodge No. 889.

A native of Terre Haute, Ind., Mr. Autore came to the Wheelwright area in 1931 where he was employed by Inland Steel Company. He was a member of Local No. 5899, U.M.W.A. and of Masonic Lodge No. 889, Wheelwright. He was a son of the late Sullivan and Angeline Cook Autore.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Thelma Jones Autore; a brother, Anthony Autore, of Detroit, Mich., and a sister, Mrs. Nell Baycich, of Warren, Ohio.

Burial will be made in the Newman cemetery at Hi Hat.

Mine Veteran Dies In Price Accident

Burl Osborne, veteran of 29 years experience in mining, was killed at 9:30 Tuesday morning at Island Creek Coal Company's Price preparation plant when he was caught between two coal gondolas. His body is said to have been severed when the gondolas collided. Mr. Osborne, who was 50 years old, resided at Wheelwright.

Mining inspectors were on the scene and unavailable for comment, as were officials of the company. The body is at the Merion Funeral Chapel.

State Jobless Down in July

Frankfort, Ky.—The state's unemployment rate dropped to 5.9 per cent in July, down from June's rate of 6.5 per cent, according to figures released today by the Department for Human Resources.

Most of the decrease is due to college and high school aged youths discontinuing their search for summer employment and therefore dropping out of the labor force, said Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for Human Resources.

The national rate for July was 7.8 per cent.

Kentucky's economy has improved substantially since July of last year, said MacDonald. At that time, unemployment had reached 7.4 per cent.

Compared to last year, 21,000 fewer persons are unemployed and 31,500 more are working in Kentucky.

Most of the year's improvement has been in the nonagricultural area, with notable increases in numbers employed in construction, electrical machinery and service industries.

Total employment in Kentucky is 1,343,100; the number unemployed in the state is 84,000.

CAN'T DENY MORE BURGLARIES

Deceived by his own officials in the past, FBI Director Clarence Kelley says he can't flatly deny that FBI agents or informers are continuing to carry out illegal burglaries.

Kelley told a Washington news conference that "I feel that it is not being done," but, because FBI officials deceived him before, he said, "I can no longer make categorical, sweeping statements."

The director said he has insisted on thorough FBI and Justice Department investigations of the burglaries, but he would not predict that the probes would lead to criminal charges because agents involved were only following orders.

Court Helping Water System With Extension

The Prestonsburg Water and Gas System this week received a total of $8,500 from the Floyd fiscal court to provide city water service to 76 customers formerly served by the City of Allen.

The funds will go toward the purchase of 1.6 miles of 8-inch water line to extend the service to consumers from the mouth of Calf Creek to the area of Mack Tackett's furniture store, less than a mile north of Allen.

According to Prestonsburg Water and Gas System Superintendent Bill Harvey Howard, consumers in the area have experienced chronic water problems this summer due to pipeline troubles from the Allen system, and the City of Allen has agreed to permit the Prestonsburg system to take over service to these residents. Howard said the contract between the Allen and Prestonsburg systems and the fiscal court provides for 10 years service from Prestonsburg with a 10-year option at the end of that period.

Howard said the new service will take the form of a community effort as the residents of the area to be served have agreed to provide the labor and machinery necessary for placement of the pipe. Work is expected to begin within the next two weeks.

Ky. To Participate In Mobile Home Act

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky will participate in the Federal Mobile Home Program as a State Administrative Agency (SAA).

State Fire Marshal Warren Southworth was notified August 13 that the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has approved the Commonwealth's participation as an SAA.

Kentucky is one of the earlier states receiving HUD approval.

The program, designed to insure that mobile home manufacturers be responsible to consumers purchasing their products, became effective June 15 following Congress' passage of the 1974 Federal Housing and Community Development Act.

Prior to the initiation of the program, the Office of the State Fire Marshal was enforcing standards for the construction and safety of mobile homes under the guidelines of the National Fire Protection Association code.

"Our responsibility as an SAA acting as an agent for HUD will be to oversee the program throughout Kentucky," Southworth said.

"We intend to work as a full partner with HUD, enforcing HUD requirements to insure the quality of mobile homes manufactured," he said.

"The program affords the consumer a readily accessible route to secure needed repairs to their homes. Its most positive aspect will be the standardization throughout the industry thereby insuring the consumer that, regardless of the geographic area in which he purchases a home, it will be constructed to the same basic code," he added.

In Kentucky, the program will be administered by the Manufactured Housing Section of the office of the state Fire Marshal and will include consumer complaint processing.

WASHINGTON—Mercer county has become eligible for special assistance on public works projects, according to Rep. John Breckinridge, D-6th District.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON

Some people collect stamps, while others collect political campaign buttons, old knives, butterfly wings, sea shells or just about anything else.

But a guy who collects fish scales has got to be a little weird, right?

Well, not necessarily. Particularly if he's collecting scales in the name of science and especially if his collecting activities may ultimately lead to better fishing for Kentucky's anglers.

Jim Axon, a fisheries biologist with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and the leader of the fisheries division's predator fish program, has a whole laboratory full of scales, all carefully cataloged and sorted. And he spends hours staring at the scales in his collection through a microscope.

But Jim isn't content with the scales he has—he wants more. In fact, he'd like to have scale samples from every legal sized rockfish, musky or walleye or from every bass of five pounds or more that's caught in Kentucky.

And like all good collectors everywhere, Jim is willing to trade for these scales. In exchange for a few scales from any of the above fish, Jim will send the angler who submits them a lapel pin in the shape of the fish caught and a certificate of achievement suitable for framing.

That's really a good deal for the fisherman—a pin to decorate your fishing hat and a certificate to hang on the wall in exchange for a few scales that have to be taken off before the fish fry anyhow.

Jim is willing to offer such a good trade because the scales can provide him with much valuable information about stocking success, growth rate, adaptability and catchability of these important game fish. Under microscopic examination, the scales reveal a great deal about the fish from which they were taken and, by extension, about all the fish stocked at that particular time in that particular body of water.

The information obtained from this study will be used in planning future stocking program around the Commonwealth—programs which will benefit anglers in the future.

Jim has been collecting scales for over a year now, and he says the response from anglers who know about the program has been very good. But he is worried that scales from some fish are not reaching him because fishermen haven't heard about the good deal he's offering.

Jim has posters explaining this program, along with supplies of postage-paid envelopes for mailing the scales, at just about all docks on the lakes where musky, walleye or rockfish have been stocked. But he thinks that those fishermen who don't use commercial docks may be unaware of the program.

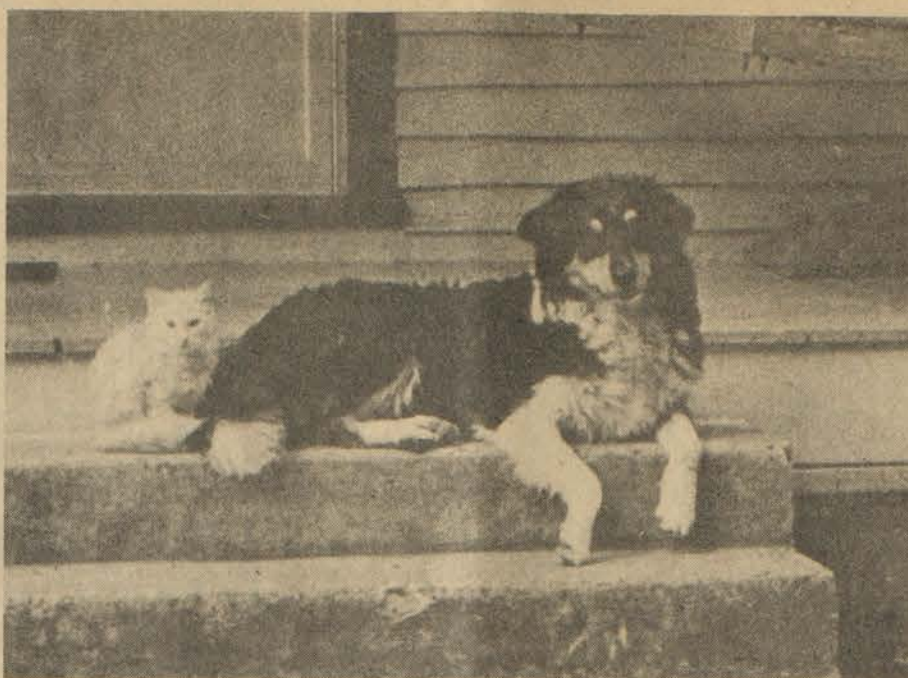

For example, Jim feels that many of the anglers who own land on Nolin and Routh-River Lakes and have their own private docks may be catching walleye and not sending in the scales because they don't get to a dock with a sign explaining the project.

He also suspects that quite a few rockfish caught below the dams at Kentucky and Barkley lakes aren't being reported because much of the fishing that takes place there is done from the bank and that these anglers also aren't aware that the scales from their fish are worth something.

As we've said before, Jim wants scale samples from as many fish as possible. As in any scientific survey, the larger the sample, the more valid the results will be.

So if you're a musky, walleye or rockfish fisherman, or if you expect to land that lunker bass you've been after all season, be sure to keep Jim Axon in mind. And if you haven't run into any of Jim's posters or if you don't know where to get mailing envelopes, let the department of fish and wildlife know and we'll send you several envelopes to keep in your tackle box—just in case.

Mail requests for envelopes to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky., 40601.

IF DOGS AND CATS are "natural enemies," as has often been said, then someone must have neglected to tell these two. Relaxing on the front steps of a Highland Avenue home here on a recent morning, they seem to be the best of friends.

Letcher County Teacher Strike Looms as Negotiations End

Whitesburg, Ky.—The Letcher County Teachers Organization is threatening to go on strike when the fall school term begins and the superintendent of the school system said last Thursday that no resumption of negotiations is planned.

However, Supt. Kendall Boggs said the Board of Education is willing to meet with the teachers.

The teachers have said they will strike beginning Aug. 23, but Boggs said "we have appealed to them to reconsider."

The main issue in the dispute, he said, "is in salary beyond what the board feels they're able to pay."

He said the teachers are demanding a raise of $1,200 and that the board's offer of a $1,070 raise has been rejected.

"They are also demanding an extended year on the experience scale, from 10 years to a maximum of 11 years," he said. "That would mean that each 11 years teacher would get $100 more than under the maximum presently."

He said the board is unable to meet that demand because "we are a deficit district and our budget has not been approved" by the state Board of Education.

"We operate on an unapproved budget, then we try to outline procedures to follow to try to get us in the black, such as cutting staff, cutting back and so forth," he said.

"I don't see any solution at this point," the superintendent added. "I think it's a matter of whether the board feels that in order to appease the teachers they would have to give money they don't have. They don't feel it would be in the best interest of the school district financially."

"There are other demands they have made the board feels they can't cope with, but the major part is money," he said. "They want a uniform day throughout the district. They want every teacher to start and end at the same time."

"These problems aren't unsolvable, but we've got some problems," Boggs said.

Ron Stewart, of Hazard, regional representative for the Kentucky Education Association, said the LCTO represents 80 per cent of the county's 200 teachers. He also said the teachers are willing to go back to the bargaining table.

In western Kentucky, another group of teachers has threatened to go on strike.

Amy Carter Visits TV Set As New York Highlight

While her father was putting the final touches on his acceptance speech for the Democratic Convention in New York City, Amy Carter toured the Manhattan studio of the children's program, "The Electric Company."

Armed with a small camera and pencil and paper, she recorded her own record of the videotaping and exchanged autographs with the show's repertory company, including such characters as Jennifer of the Jungle, Paul the Gorilla, J. Arthur Crank, Fargo North, Decoder and Easy Reader.

Accompanied by her cousin Chuck Smith, 10, and Bill Doherty, 7, son of Mrs. Carter's personal assistant, Amy tried on a gorilla costume, posed for the camera in character wigs in the make-up room, sampled sound effects (ghosts), read scripts in the control room and clambered into Oscar the Grouch's trash can found in the storage prop room.

There was no contest as far as this fourth grader was concerned. Of all her sightseeing experiences during convention week, Miss Carter announced, "This is the best."

"The Electric Company" can be seen week-days at 5:30 p.m. (ET), and Saturdays at 9 a.m. (ET).

MSU Gets $68,068 Nutrition Program

Morehead, Ky.—Morehead State University has been granted $68,068 to continue a project in nutrition and dietetics for another year to serve the Big Sandy, Buffalo Trace, Gateway, and Five development districts.

Funded by the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education, it is designed to finance rotating work experiences for food service students in various degree programs at MSU. The purpose is to expose students to health care in Eastern Kentucky in an attempt to attract and retain professionals in food services.

The project is designed for 39 students, including 18 in the associate degree program, 18 in the bachelor's degree program and three graduate students.

Sister Francine Janousek, instructor of home economics at MSU, is the project coordinator.

NEWS OF THE ALLEN COMMUNITY

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway Lafferty and grandson, James Neile Osborne, were business visitors in Lexington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Allen had as guests last week-end her sister, Mrs. Jimmy Reed, and Mr. Reed, of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cook, of Frenchburg, Georgia Ann Jones, of Lexington, and Mrs. Goldia Westfall, of Allen, spent a week visiting Mrs. Bill Hall, of Garfield, Arkansas.

Allen Cub Scouts enjoying a trip to Camden Park last Thursday were Jimmy, Keith and Steven Parsons, Rodney Garrett, Dean and Dennis Smith, Chris and Chet Lumpkins, Randy Bentley, Mark Tussey, Stacy Marshall, Randy Rice, Darby and April Ratliff. The scouts were accompanied by mothers, Cindy Parsons, Lula Ratliff, Rita Smith, Debbie Lumpkins, Lois Marshall and Marie Tussey.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mayo, retired Morehead teacher, was the dinner guest Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bailey. Mrs. Mayo, sister-in-law of Mrs. Bailey, had just returned from a tour of Rome, Paris, and London with her family. Another guest this week was Mrs. Bailey's brother, Holmes Mayo, of Wise, Virginia, who spent Wednesday night with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Osborne and children, James Neile, Dwayne, and Leslie, spent the past week touring the Smokies and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Ray Crisp and Mr. and Mrs. Galloway Lafferty visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Preston, Tuesday, in Lawrence county. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Preston, Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephenson, Buffalo, New York, Miss Mary Avonne Stephenson, of the University of Kentucky and Buffalo, John David Preston, Paintsville, and Mrs. Ray Brackett.

Visiting Mrs. Phyllis Crace, Mrs. Anna Lee Bentley, and Mrs. Cindy Parsons this week were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Frederick, Debbie, Diana, Dawn, and Doug, of Homer, Michigan. While here, they also visited Mrs. Stella Spurlock, of Martin, and Mrs. Lizzie Smith Maggard, of Hindman.

By LARRY BURKE

There is an old Spanish proverb that goes like this: "If I have lost the rings here are the fingers still."

This proverb brings a great lesson in encouragement to disappointed hearts. A person who loses a ring—loses only a ring. There can be other rings someday, and they will still have the fingers on which to wear them.

Someone has said: "We shall one day thank God as much for our sorrows as for our joys." Even though shadows seem to lie more thickly than sunlight; and winters seem to be more dominant than the Spring.

Remember—the landscape is beautiful by the alternation of mountain and valleys, of hill and meadow, of river and island, so is life by its apparent contradictions, by its lights and shadows.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

A recent ad cautions, "When you've got you health, you've got just about everything." Consumers today are extremely concerned about health. Unfortunately, some consumers deal with health quacks, who misinform and deceive consumers out of millions of dollars yearly.

Medical fraud hasn't changed much from the medicine shows of the 1800's. The early quack appealed to people's fears and wishful thinking in selling bottles of potions to cure everything from dandruff to tired blood. Modern medical quackery makes false claims for drugs and cosmetics, promotes unnecessary food supplements, and endorses devices which don't work.

Can you recognize medical quackery? Ask these questions if you suspect medical quackery:

(1) Is the product or service being offered a "secret remedy?"

(2) Does the sponsor claim that he is battling the medical profession, which is attempting to suppress his wonderful discovery?

(3) Is the remedy being sold from door to door, by a self-styled health advisor or being promoted in lectures to the public from town to town?

(4) Is this miracle drug, device or diet being promoted in a sensational magazine or by a faith healer's group?

(5) Does the promoter show you testimonials on the wonderful miracles his product or services have performed for others?

(6) Is the product or service good for a variety of illnesses, real or fancied?

If the answer to any of these questions is "yes," you should beware of the product and service and investigate before you buy. Remember that medical quackery is dangerous and should be avoided. Always check with your physician and buy drugs only from reputable, licensed pharmacists.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Registration at MSU To Begin, Monday

Morehead, Ky.—Morehead State University's fall semester opens Monday, Aug. 23 with registration of graduate students and seniors starting at 8 a.m. in the Laughlin Health Building. SWINE FLU SHOTS START IN SEPTEMBER

The first swine flu immunization shots should be available in late September, according to the director of the government's immunization program. Dr. W. Delano Meriwether said Congress has removed the last major obstacle by passing legislation that makes the federal government liable for any injuries or deaths related to the shots. President Ford is expected to sign the measure today. Vaccine manufacturers had not been able to obtain liability insurance and would not sell the vaccine without it. Meriwether said that once the program is fully operational, more than 1 million persons a day will be immunized.

Restraining Orders Issued Against Seven Coal Firms

Restraining orders were recently issued by Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs to seven coal companies for strip mining in Eastern Kentucky without a permit, as a result of action brought by the state environmental department.

In separate court actions the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has charged Terry Coal Co., Clintwood, Va.; Lena Coal Co., Kings Creek; Cliffside Coal Co., Versailles; Horn Coal Co., Gilley; Today Coal Co., Inc., Lexington; Cornett Coal Co., Hyden; and C C & H Coal Co., London, with strip mining without first obtaining a permit from the state division of reclamation.

Terry Coal Co. is charged with strip mining without a permit at a Pike County location off Highway 197 near Shelby Gap. The environmental agency is asking for a $98,000 bond as the cost of performing reclamation on the 14-acre area.

The state environmental agency has charged Lena Coal Co. with operating an illegal strip mine of about four acres off Highway 510 near Gordon in Letcher county. The department seeks a bond of $28,000 to insure reclamation of the stripped area.

The charges against Cliffside Coal Co. claim the firm engaged in illegal surface mining on a 14-acre Pike county site located on Big Branch off Highway 197 on Elkhorn Creek near Shelby Gap. The environmental department seeks a $98,000 bond.

Horn Coal Co. is charged by the state environmental agency with strip mining without a permit approximately four acres located off Highway 510 and 963 about one mile from Gordon on Line Fork in Letcher county. The environmental department is seeking a $28,000 bond.

The environmental agency claims that Today Coal Co., Inc. strip mined about 14 acres illegally at a location on Big Branch off Highway 197 on Elkhorn Creek near Shelby Gap. The agency seeks a $98,000 bond.

The state charged Cornett Coal Co. with illegally strip mining a 10-acre site in Leslie county. The violation occurred near Cutshin Creek off Highway 80 and 421 near Hyden. The environmental agency is seeking a $70,000 bond.

C C & H Coal Co. is charged with strip mining without a permit approximately two acres located on Cutshin Creek off Highway 699 and 80 near Hyden in Leslie county. The department is seeking a $14,000 bond.

In addition to the restraining orders, the environmental department is seeking a penalty of $1,000 for the initial violation of five of the firms and a $5,000 penalty for the initial violation of Cornett Coal and C C & H Coal. For each additional day the violations have continued, the department also seeks a penalty of $1,000 per day.

The agency is asking that each firm submit a reclamation plan to the division of reclamation for approval and then carry out the plan to the satisfaction of that division.

NINE IN CHURCH BUS KILLED BY TRAIN

Nine persons in a Sunday school bus were killed Saturday, Aug. 7, at a Nebraska railroad crossing by a train traveling 60 miles an hour.

A minister, who was driving, his wife and seven children died. The other eight persons in the bus, all children, were seriously injured. The train hit the bus broadside on the edge of Stratton, a western Nebraska community of 481 persons.

The bus "was only going about 15 miles an hour," the train engineer said. "He could have stopped. Then I thought he was going to go across all right. Another 10 feet and he would have made it."

SOUL INSURANCE How To Get It Free!

No doubt you have fire insurance on your home; insurance on your car; insurance on your health. Such forms of insurance are very necessary and they cost you money. But do you have any soul insurance? This is the most important insurance you can have, and it is free for the asking. Jesus himself issues the "policy". "For by grace (God's mercy) are ye saved, through faith, (in Jesus); and that not of yourselves: It is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2: 8-9). God's blessed Son, Jesus, gave his life, and spilled his precious blood on Calvary, to provide soul insurance for all who would repent of their sins, and receive him into their hearts, through faith, trusting Jesus for eternal life, (Romans 5: 8).

Many people died last night. Where did their immortal souls go? The Bible, God's Holy Word, pictures two places — Hell and Heaven. The only way to stay out of Hell and get to Heaven is through Jesus, God's son, and the soul insurance he gives to all who repent and believe. "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God," (John 3: 18).

For all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God," (Romans 3: 23). There is none righteous, no, not one," (Romans 3: 10). Any God-called preacher should preach often about Hell and the awful punishment in Hell, which burns with fire and brimstone, "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched," (Mark 9: 43-48). Moreover, the Soul's Destiny is fixed when death strikes.

Coming back from a trip to Kentucky this summer, I noticed a large sign along the road in Tennessee, which read

If you go to Hell It's your own fault

"How true that is," I thought.

God does not arbitrarily put a person's soul in Hell. "God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved," (John 3: 17). A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not accept God's love, and his remedy for sin — Jesus Christ, God's Son. A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not repent of his sins, and come to Jesus and receive him into his heart as his own personal savior and lord. "He that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him," (John 3: 36). "The unbelieving shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone," (Rev. 21: 8)

Let me add quickly: Jesus died and spilled his precious blood at Calvary for sinners. But this does not automatically keep sinners out of Hell or take them to Heaven. I wish preachers would give more emphasis to this point. Jesus only provided the remedy for man's sins by his death on Calvary. There is something for man to do himself before the saving process is completed. Man must seek Jesus and accept Jesus; man must repent of sin and believe in Jesus. Jesus himself came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, and saying: "the time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent ye and believe the Gospel." (Mark 1: 14-15). Jesus does not force any man to accept him. The predestinated choice belongs to man. If a man refuses to receive Jesus, he has already rejected him and is headed toward Hell. Beware! Jesus himself says, "Behold I stand at the door (of your heart and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." (Rev. 3: 20).

You can go to your doctor, and get medicine for your ailments, but if you do not take the medicine, it will do you no good. I can hold out my hand with a twenty-dollar bill in it, meaning to give it to you, but it is not your money until you receive it into your own hand. The choice is yours. Likewise with Jesus. He came to call sinners to repentance, but Jesus' love is effective in a sinner's life, only when the sinner repents of his sins, and receives Jesus into his heart, through faith, as his own personal savior and lord. "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God," even to them that believe on his name," (John 1: 12).

There is a Hell to shun, and don't you ever forget it. Let's see what the Bible says about Hell: It is a lake of fire, (Rev. 20: 15). Hell is a bottomless pit into which the angel from Heaven will cast that old serpent, the Devil, (Rev. 20: 1-3). Jesus himself speaking in Matthew 25: 41 to those on his left hand who had no soul insurance "Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels." Jesus talking in Matthew 13: 41-42 says "the Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity, and shall cast them into a furnace of fire; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

A most vivid description of Hell is given by Jesus himself: "There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus which was laid at his gate full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs from the rich man's table. And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom, (referring to Heaven). The rich man also died and was buried; and in Hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment, and seeth Abraham afar off and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, "Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame." (Luke 16: 19-31)

INSURANCE OF ALL KINDS IS OUR BUSINESS

Phone 886-2318

Thus you can see the contrast between Lazarus and the Rich Man. Lazarus did not get to Abraham's bosom because he was a poor man. But he did get there by believing in God. He had soul insurance. The rich man did not go to Hell because he had barrels full of money. He went to Hell because he worshipped his money, and had left God out of his life. He had no soul insurance. The rich man is still in torments in Hell, and he will be in Hell forever and forever, Poor Fellow! And millions more are there with him. The Bible says, "for what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul," (Matthew 16: 26).

There is a Heaven to gain, where all is peace and joy, love and happiness. Only those who have soul insurance will go to Heaven. Jesus speaking in John 3: 16 says, "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Neither is their salvation in any other (except Jesus), for there is none other name under Heaven, given among men, whereby we must be saved," (Acts 4: 12). Jesus himself speaking in John 14: 6 says, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life; no man cometh to the Father, but by me." Another scripture says, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved," (Acts 16: 31). Another scripture says, "that whosoever believeth in Him (Jesus) should not perish, but have eternal life," (John 3: 15). First John 5: 11-13 puts it this way, "and this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life; and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God! God does the saving through His Son Jesus; Man, through faith in Jesus, does the believing in this same Jesus. It is clear from the scriptures, and many more, that God, the Father, intrusted into the hands of Jesus, His blessed Son, all aspects of salvation and complete soul insurance.

You have now heard the Gospel, dear friends, enemies, and sinners. Today is the day of salvation "behold now is the accepted time; behold now is the day of salvation," (II Corinthians 6: 2) You might not be alive tomorrow. This might be your last chance to get in touch with Jesus, God's Son, "in whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins," (Ephesians 1: 7). "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth from all sin," (First John 1: 7). Choose you this day whom ye will serve." (Joshua 24: 15).

The Sinner's Prayer. Won't you pray this Sinner's prayer with me, right now, and mean every word of it from the bottom of your heart, and get your soul insurance from Jesus, this very minute? "Lord Jesus, I know that I'm a sinner, and deserve to go to Hell because of my many sins. But I now confess all my sins to you, having been led by the Holy Spirit, and I now repent of all my sins, and ask you to blot them out with the precious blood you spilled for me at Calvary; through faith in you, dear Jesus, I now accept you and receive you into my heart as my Savior and Lord. I believe, dear Jesus, that you are God's Son, that He raised you from the grave on the third day, and that you are alive forevermore up there with the Father in Heaven making intercession for me. I believe that there is none other savior except you, dear Jesus. And right now, I trust my immortal soul into your hands. Thank you, dear Lord, for saving my soul, and giving to me — eternal life, now, and forevermore."

Jesus was listening; he heard your prayer. He has already written your name in his Lamb's Book of Life. God's Holy Spirit has already taken up residence in your body, and there is rejoicing in Heaven because you have repented of your sins and have accepted Jesus as your only Savior and Lord. You are now a new creation; you have been born from above spiritually.

Now Jesus wants you to go further with him: (1) He wants you to be baptized by immersion. Jesus himself was baptized in the Jordan River by John the Baptist. "And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the Heavens opened, and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him: And there came a voice from Heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased," and immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness," (Mark 1: 9-12). Jesus was already perfect before he was baptized. He was God's Son, without sin, and he needed nothing. But his baptism marked the beginning of his earthly ministry, and gave us an example in humility. His baptism showed a picture of his death, his burial and his resurrection from the grave. Go thou and do likewise!

(2) Jesus wants you to join a church which preaches the fulness of God's word, the Bible: one which preaches Jesus, God's Son, as the pre-eminent Savior and Lord of Life, and the only Savior and Lord of Life. If a church does not preach these Bible truths, I would never join it. Jesus is the head of the Church. The Church is the body and bride of Jesus, the body of believers, not the building where the church assembles to hear the word preached and songs of praise sung. Moreover, Jesus wants you to attend his church regularly, and support his church with your money, time, and talents.

(3) Jesus wants you to get glory and fellowship out of you. He wants you to grow in his grace by reading the Bible daily, by praying frequently and witnessing to others, especially sinners; telling them about the precious soul insurance which Jesus gave to you, and gives to all who will receive it. Jesus wants you to love your neighbor and help those in need. Jesus wants you to do his commandments and follow him.

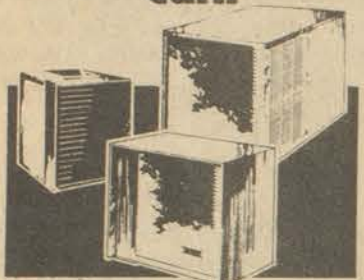

The greatest decision you ever made was to accept Jesus as your Savior and Lord, and to get this soul insurance from Jesus, which assures you a home in Heaven — far away from the torments of Hell!

And they all said "Amen."

Mountain Life 100 Years Ago

By GEORGE L. MOORE

Little more than a century ago, most of the large families in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky were almost completely self-sustaining. Most of the clothes they wore as well as the bed clothing was homemade.

It was a formidable task to provide clothing for a large family. It was the housewife who took on this responsibility. First, the sheep had to be sheared; the wool needed to be carded and spun into hanks of yarn strings. The next step was to dye these hanks of yarn and weave them into cloth on a loom. When socks or mittens were to be made the knitting needle was the only tool that was required.

Most of the clothing was of the same color; it was, in most instances, a dirty brown. The bedspreads or "coverlids," as most people at that time called them, were made of many colors. The colors included black, brown, red and green. The black dye was made by boiling certain roots and bark from the nearby forest. The only material that had to be purchased was cotton thread. My maternal grandmother lived in the south central part of Floyd county during the Civil War period. She said that the nearest place that thread could be purchased was a place called Yellow Mountain in Virginia. Although it was more than a two-day journey on horseback, she always made one trip each year. It was necessary to spend one night at a roadside inn during the journey. The price was 25 cents for both the horse and rider. Very little food was purchased at the store, for in those days, the stores were few and far between. During the war years the people learned to use many substitutes. Clean corn cobs were burned and the ashes saved for baking soda. The persimmon tree was invaluable. Fruit from the tree provided a substitute for sugar, while the seeds were dried, roasted, and used as a substitute for coffee.

In those days, bartering took place, yet very little money changed hands. However, a certain amount of money was required. Taxes had to be paid in cash, and shoes had to be purchased for at least some members of the family. In order to earn this necessary money, the head of the family headed for the iron furnaces just as soon as the crops were laid by.

These furnaces were located in Boyd county and vicinity at this time. Surface iron ore was converted to pig iron by using charcoal to produce the necessary heat for smelting. At this time of year, there was little water in the Big Sandy River and, consequently, no boats. So the farmer, carrying his five-pound chopping ax, walked the entire distance of 125 miles. When he reached the spot where the charcoal timber was located, he lost no time in getting to work. He chopped down the trees and chopped them into four foot lengths. This wood was converted to charcoal on the spot.

Since the men were paid by the cord, they were referred to as charcoal woodchoppers. If you had the skill of Abe Lincoln with the ax and the strength of Paul Bunyan, you could make as much as a dollar and thirty cents a day. If you wished to splurge and stay at the boarding house, the cost was 25 cents per day; but on the other hand, if you wished you could join with the others to shanty, and in this manner get by much cheaper. I have been told by one who took part in this work that a good chopper would net about 75 cents per day. The average pay was more like 50 cents a day.

In the late autumn, the older boys in the family got ready to spend a few months at a blab school. It was, in most instances, too far for young children to walk. A walk of six or seven miles to a blab school was not unusual. The school described here was located at the mouth of Sizemore Creek on Left Beaver in Floyd county.

One book was used for all branches of learning and all the "scholars" read about as loud as their lungs would permit. I was fortunate enough to get a first-hand account from one who attended one of these old schools. He said the building was made of logs with two small windows on either side. There was a large, open fireplace in the back of the room, some four feet in width. There was no ceiling; only the roof of hand driven boards was between the scholars and the open sky. All of the pupils were referred to as scholars. It made no difference whether or not they knew a letter in the alphabet or could count to ten, they were still scholars. There was a dirt floor. The seats consisted of split logs hewn smooth with a broad ax. Four auger holes, two on each end, were bored on the underside of the log. It was then mounted on the logs. The bark was left on the underside to be used for kindling later on.

My informant said that scholars had certain chores to perform. As the weather turned cold, they had to chop wood for the big fireplace. They chopped enough and carried it in to provide fuel for the day. Another chore, and a very important one at that, was to carry new sand for the ciphering pit.

After fresh sand was smoothed out, the teacher would take his index finger and make letters of the alphabet for the small children. He would make numbers up to twenty, which they all ciphered in unison. For the advanced ciphering class he would smooth out the sand and put down figures to add, subtract and divide. The scholars made no distinction in the trace; it was all ciphering.

When the winter closed in, attendance dropped sharply. The main reason for this was that many of the parents were unable to buy clothing and shoes for all members of the family. Sometimes, one coat had to serve two boys. One would stay at home and the other would go to school and wear the coat. The following day, the procedure would be reversed. They did the same thing throughout the winter. If there is any that thinks this is an exaggeration, I can assure you that it is not. You see, one of the boys who alternated with the shoes and coat was my father.

After a boy had gone without shoes for the greater part of the year, the skin on his feet became as tough as leather. Some of the harder souls braved the cold and came to school without shoes. It was not unusual to see as many as 8 or 10 large boys skating on the ice in their bare feet.

Complete Summer Programs at Berea

Tom Slone learns the correct way to use a rope as John King of the Berea staff demonstrates tree-cutting techniques.

Terri Slone uses a spectroscope to study the composition of the sun.

Virginia Pitts moves brush to block a worn trail, protecting the forest from erosion.

Three Floyd county high school seniors have completed intensive college-credit studies this summer at Berea College. Terri Slone, of Ligon, was in the astronomy program; Virginia Pitts, of David, and Thomas Slone, of Star Route 5, Prestonsburg, in the wildlife biology program. Miss Slone, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Slone and a student at McDowell High School, was one of 15 in the astronomy class taught by Dr. Smith T. Powell of the college physics department. Miss Pitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vertis Pitts, and Slone, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Slone, are both students at Prestonsburg High School. Their wildlife biology program, which is fully funded by the National Science Foundation, was directed by Dr. Claude Gentry of the agriculture department.

Cattle Growers' Referendum Set In This County

A "check-off" referendum related to financing a promotion, consumer education and research program for Kentucky's beef cattle industry is scheduled statewide on September 7, according to John Sparks, county Extension agent for agriculture. All persons engaged in commercial cattle production are eligible to vote in the referendum, which was authorized by recent state legislation. Voting in this county will be at the Extension office, second floor, Prestonsburg Post Office, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on September 7. Under the proposed program 10c per head for all cattle sold on the commercial market would go into a fund to finance the industry promotion, education and research program. This amount would be "checked off" at the time of the sale and sent monthly by the auction market officials to the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association, which would administer the program. Producers not wishing to participate could request refunds. Eligible voters are defined in the referendum rules as "tenants and sharecroppers sharing in the proceeds of the sale of bovine animals" as well as "owners of farms on which bovine animals are produced". Each person qualifying will have one vote. A producer will vote in the county where his principal place of business is located. More details on the referendum are available at the county Extension office.

Head Start Gets $1.2 Million Total

Gov. Julian M. Carroll and Secretary C. Leslie Dawson, Department for Human Resources, have announced more than $1.2 million in federal funds for six Kentucky Community Action agencies and Boards of Education for use in Head Start programs. In the eastern region of the state, some $803,490 will be distributed to the following counties: Boyd County Board of Education, Catlettsburg, $80,420 for full conversion from a summer to a full year part-day Head Start program. Bell-Whitney Community Action Agency, Pineville, $360,516. Leslie, Knott, Letcher, Perry counties Community Action Council, Whitesburg, $362,552. Head Start programs provide preschool training for children from low-income families. Under federal guidelines, these programs also provide nutritional, medical, social and dental services which the children might require.

Inspect Workplaces

The U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration inspected 80,949 workplaces to obtain compliance with requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Act during the 1975 fiscal year; as a result of these inspections 318,792 violations of the act affecting 6,173,255 employees were cited.

Golden Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Willard (Pete) McKenzie, of Auxier, cordially invite all friends and relatives to attend the celebration of their parents' 50th Wedding Anniversary on Saturday, August 28. The reception will be held at the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church basement between 2 to 5 p.m. 8-11-2t-pd.

Holding down health care costs... What we're doing. What you can do.

Like just about everything else, the cost of health care has been going up. Obviously, some price increases are unavoidable. But, at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we're working to help avoid unnecessary cost increases. For instance, we work with doctors and hospitals to pinpoint the factors that affect the cost of health care and to help find ways to keep them contained. We keep a close watch on the cost of services. And we agree to pay only for justifiable increases. In addition, we support community health planning. This is an important tool in planning appropriate care while avoiding expensive duplication and unnecessary facilities and services. You can help by using health care services wisely. For example, don't ask for admission to the hospital unless your doctor says it's medically necessary. Perhaps you can get the treatment you need on an outpatient basis. If you are admitted to the hospital, don't stay any longer than necessary. Unnecessary use of health care services contributes to increased costs for everyone. Together we can help avoid unnecessary increases in the cost of health care.

Inheritance Tax Law Changes Exemption

Frankfort, Ky.—A new Kentucky law which took effect June 19 will increase and equalize the state inheritance tax exemption for surviving spouses. According to Bruce McCutchen, supervisor of the state Assessment and Inheritance Tax Division, the 1976 legislation affects only the surviving spouse, making no change in the allowable exemption for other beneficiaries. He said the wife's exemption previously had been set at $10,000, while the husband was allowed a $5,000 exemption. Both exemptions will now be increased to $20,000. "In essence, the first $20,000 that is considered taxable is exempt from state taxation," McCutchen said. He explained that the bill, sponsored in the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly by Sen. Joe Prather (D-Vine Grove) and Sen. John Lackey (D-Richmond), originated with the governor's interest in providing financial relief to the people of the Commonwealth. "The bill will naturally cause a loss in revenue to the state, but it is a part of Gov. Carroll's tax-cut program," he said. Exemptions for other beneficiaries will remain the same: infant or incompetent child, $10,000; other children, $5,000; other relatives, $1,000 and unrelated beneficiaries, $500. Revenue Commissioner Maurice P. Carpenter outlined another change in the inheritance tax laws. He said the Revenue Department has begun providing a short form, similar to the one used for income tax, for inheritance tax returns. It is designed for small, uncomplicated estates. "We have tried to set the machinery for the survivors and the short form has helped to update the system," he said. According to Carpenter, approximately 50 per cent of those filing returns use the short form. The commissioner added, "Neither the law nor the short form exempts anyone with an inheritance from filing, even if no tax liability exists."

Here's H.O.W. To Help Wildlife Sportsmen

Frankfort, Ky.—If you want to help wildlife but don't know how, then here's H.O.W.

Help Our Wildlife (H.O.W.), a program created by the National Rifle Association of America and adopted by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, is designed to make it easier for citizens to report promptly violations of game and fish laws or acts of vandalism.

This program should be of particular interest to sportsmen wanting to purge their ranks of the minority of slobs who give the entire sport of hunting a bad name and to landowners who suffer most from the activities of this illegal minority.

Basically, H. O. W. asks anyone witnessing a game law violation to report it promptly to the nearest conservation officer or other law enforcement agency. To simplify this process, a standardized card is available for submitting such reports.

The card, which contains the name, address and telephone number of the county conservation officer, also has space for describing the type of violation and the description of the lawbreaker. All information will be kept confidential.

These cards may be obtained from the local conservation officer or by writing the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Division of Public Relations, Capital Plaza, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Those requesting the cards from the department will also receive the name, address and telephone number of the conservation officer for their county.

Arnold Mitchell, Commissioner of the department of fish and wildlife, urges all concerned citizens to participate in this program. "Effective wildlife law enforcement," Mitchell says, "is the cornerstone of wildlife conservation, and the support and cooperation of the public is essential if we are to control poaching and other fish and game law violations."

CB Club News

By Ding Bat K10 9022

First, I want to express my heartfelt sympathy to Grumpy and wish her a very speedy recovery of her broken arm. (Not only because of the pain and inconvenience it caused her, but because her chore of writing this column falls on me.) Hurry up, Grumpy, and get better or learn to type with your left hand.

With that off my chest—now for the news: The Floyd Co. CB Club had a meeting Saturday evening at Archer Park. This was an "eat-in' meetin'." Messenger Boy, President, and Corn Shucker, REACT Team Captain, held the meeting, before the picnic lunch was served. Horny Toad was elected assistant team captain, Sweet Lucy was elected secretary and Poor Boy was elected treasurer of REACT. The raffle prize, donated by Ding Bat, was won by Jacquelin Branham. Proceeds of the raffle will go toward purchase of vests for all clubmembers. Next meeting, Poor Boy will donate the prize.

A committee was appointed to look into the possibilities of a booth at the Floyd County Fair.

Motorists will soon be seeing signs telling them that the Floyd County CB Club monitors Channel 22 on all major highways entering the county.

Those present at the meeting were: Big Bass (Dan Heintzelman), Four Wheeler and Little Brown Dodge (Robert and Blanche Kinsley), Horny Toad and Sweet Lucy (Selton and Jan Mullins), Purple Pickle and Casino Lady (Kal and Maude Franko), Coal Miner's Clerk (Kathryn Sumpter), Popeye, Clos Pin, Little Popeye, Monkey and Sweetie Pie (Winston, Linda, Kelly, Brian and Marcia Jefferson), Daddy Rabbitt and Baby Rabbitt (Charles and Scottie Branham), his wife, Jacqueline Branham, Kentucky Fisherman (John T. Hurd), Beechnut (Donnie Goble), Corn Shucker (Jack Hopson), Messenger Boy and Ding Bat (Victor and Jean Hickman), Poor Boy (Doug George), Polly and William White.

The next meeting will be at the courtroom, Floyd county courthouse, Sunday, August 22, at 2 p.m.

Haywood Concerned About "Letdown"

The Prestonsburg Blackcats moved into their third week of fall practice Monday with Head Coach Philip Haywood pulling at his hair before beginning preparation for their opening game against Johns Creek on August 27.

Some of his concern stems from some fresh injuries which occurred in the last two scrimmages. Five players have been sidelined and it is questionable whether any of the five will be ready to play against Johns Creek.

Injuries are not the only problem. Coach Haywood said, "The injuries hurt, sure, but none of them are too serious. The thing that's really bothering me is our mental attitude. We had a real good first weeks practice, but since then we've just been going thru the motions. Our players act as if our opener is two months away, rather than next week."

Haywood said the Blackcats moved the ball fairly well in the Greenup county scrimmage but made a lot of "silly" mistakes. He also said about the scrimmage, "Our defense was just not aggressive and our tackling was terrible. Everybody was just standing around waiting for somebody else to do it and you just can't play this game like that. "I know one thing," Haywood concluded, "we've certainly got our work cut out for us this next week and a half."

1976 P.H.S. Grid Schedule Announced

The Prestonsburg Blackcats 1976 football season will open August 27 in a game against John's Creek High School. The opener will be an away game. A schedule of other games follows:

- September 3—Pikeville (home);
- September 10—Johnson Central (home);
- September 17—Rowan County (away);
- September 25—Breathitt County (away);
- October 1—Belfry (away);
- October 8—Louisa (home);
- October 15—West Carter (away);
- October 22—Morgan County (home);
- October 29—Somerset (away);
- November 5—Paintsville (home).

The first award under the new provisions of the Trade Act of 1974 was made by the U. S. Department of Labor in May 1975 to about 300 workers in a Maine woods products factory. The new provisions provide special compensation to workers who are adversely affected by imports.

Miller Outdoes Earlier Catch

In last week's Times Elliott "Blackcat" Miller, of East Point, was pictured with a 31-inch, 18-lb. catfish he caught while fishing in the Big Sandy. Sunday, he outdid his earlier feat by boating a 46-inch, 41-pounder, caught on a chub minnow in the river. Miller (left) and Tommy Wilson, of Lancer, who helped land the brute, are pictured with their catch.

Conservation Officers Graduate August 6

Richmond, Ky.—The state Bureau of Training held graduation exercises for 43 Fish and wildlife Conservation Officers Friday, August 6.

In this second training program offered to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, trainees were taught to handle complaints, techniques and mechanics of arrest, how to identify narcotics and explosives, self-defense and property defense. One section was devoted entirely to the Kentucky Penal Code as it pertains to federal game laws.

Although no Floyd countians were among the graduates, three from neighboring counties received certificates, including the following: Cordell Gayheart, Knott county, Tommy Cantrell, Johnson county, and Don Bevins, Pike county.

BLACK MAN BECOMES ARCHBISHOP IN RHODESIA

SALISBURY—The Most Rev. Patrick Chakaipa, 44-year-old son of an African tribesman, was installed Saturday August 7, as the first black Roman Catholic archbishop in Rhodesia. He became Archbishop of Salisbury before a crowd of 20,000 at an open-air mass in the black township of Highfield.

Dove Hunting Opens Sept. 1

Frankfort, Ky., August 11—The Kentucky dove hunting season will open September 1 with no change from last year in the total number of days of hunting or in the bag and possession limits, Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell said today.

The season will again be split into two sections, with the first part running from September 1 through October 31 and the second, December 11 through December 19.

The daily bag limit is 12 with a possession limit of 24 after two or more days of hunting.

Other migratory bird seasons announced today by Mitchell are those for woodcock and Wilson snipe, both split, running October 9 through December 3 and December 11 through December 19, and for teal, September 4 through September 12.

Daily and possession limits are: woodcock, 5 and 10; Wilson snipe, 8 and 16, and teal, 4 and 8.

Shooting hours for doves are from 12 o'clock noon until one-half hour before sunset, prevailing time; for woodcock and Wilson snipe, from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset, prevailing time, and for teal, from sunrise until sunset, also prevailing time.

Ministers' Wives Bear
Brunt of Problems

Ridgecrest, N. C. — Many minister's wives today are taking a beating from their husbands.

The beatings are not physical and usually they are not intentional, but according to a recent speaker here at Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center, they often occur because ministers feel that they have no one to turn to with their problems but their wives.

"Ministers tend to ask too much of their wives, because they don't have a wide enough support system," says Fred McGehee, consultant in the career guidance section of the church administration department at the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board. "Because they love their husbands, minister's wives will give and give and give, and they can become depleted."

"It puts pressure on a marriage," he adds. "Yet the community says, 'You're supposed to be the model home. You're not entitled to have problems.'"

The minister, however, can ease the pressure, McGehee says, by becoming involved in some type of support group. Minister's support groups and how to develop them was the primary topic in a special seminar titled "Pastor's Pastor Skillshop" offered during the Bible Preaching Conference July 31-Aug. 6.

McGehee, who pastored North Carolina churches for 12 years, told participants of his needs and frustrations in the early years of his ministry. Like other people, he emphasized, the minister needs the help of others, and it is vitally important that he develop some type of support group.

That group, he says, can consist of several close friends that the minister can confide in, a group of professionals outside of the ministry or just a social group that he can relax around and enjoy being with.

Many ministers have organized support groups with their fellow colleagues. The men set their own guidelines for the group, establish objectives, and make their meetings a top priority.

McGehee points out that these groups do not take away from the importance of the role of the minister's wife, but they do ease a burden that can become unbearable.

Without them, the minister can be the loneliest person in town.

Report Shows Crime
Increase in State

Serious crime in Kentucky increased 19 per cent in 1975 over the previous year, according to State Police figures released here recently.

The Uniform Crime Reporting System shows 114,665 serious crimes reported to the State Police in 1975 with the rate per 100,000 population at 3,273.7, up from 2,771.5 in 1974.

The report shows that firearms were used in 77.5 per cent of the 351 murders reported in 1975, down from 79.7 per cent in 1974.

The 3,499 reported robberies last year were an increase of 12.8 per cent over 1974.

Breaking and entering increased by 17.3 per cent last year with 33,671 cases reported. The arrests for this offense increased 12.6 per cent over the previous year with 6,775 arrests made in 1975.

Narcotics arrests totaled 8,641 last year, an increase of 16.7 per cent over 1974 and a dynamic increase of 666.1 per cent over 1970. More than one of every two people arrested for narcotics violations last year was under the age of 21 and 11.1 per cent of all drug arrests were people under 16.

Justice Secretary John L. Smith said that in 1976, "I feel we have made several positive steps in responding to the increase in crime." He noted the establishment of the Office for Crime Prevention which stresses citizen involvement in the fight against crime and the legislative action creating statewide jurisdiction for the State Police as two of those "positive steps."

ROD STEIGER DOING WELL
AFTER OPEN-HEART SURGERY

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—Actor Rod Steiger was listed "in very good condition and progressing as expected August 7," after open-heart surgery, doctors at Daniel Freeman Hospital said.

The 51-year-old star of such movies as "In The Heat of the Night," "No Way to Treat a Lady," and "The Pawnbroker," underwent a cardiac bypass operation Saturday.

Minimum Security Prison for Women

Frankfort, Ky.—Justice Secretary John L. Smith announced in June that the state Bureau of Corrections plans to open Kentucky's first minimum security correctional institution for women by mid-to late summer.

Smith said the Bureau's ongoing planning currently calls for a gradual transfer of "carefully screened first offender and young, less criminally sophisticated women" from the Kentucky Correctional Institution for Women near Pewee Valley to the new institution in northern Kentucky at the site of the Daniel Boone Boy's Camp at Bellevue. Eventually the Boone County facility will house 35 to 40 women, Smith said.

The Boy's Camp has been vacant for nearly nine months since the state Department for Human Resources moved its program to downtown Covington. Bob Moll, assistant deputy for institutional support services in the Corrections Bureau, said the physical structure of the buildings remains in fine shape, and only a few minor renovations will be necessary before the women begin moving in.

Smith said the creation of the minimum security women's facility will benefit Kentucky's corrections system in several ways. He said the separation of the young, first offender and less criminally sophisticated women from the more criminal female offenders would aid rehabilitative efforts at both institutions and would ease the overcrowded conditions at the Pewee Valley facility.

Small Communities Ask State Water Quality Treatment Fund

Frankfort, Ky.—Representatives from several Kentucky communities came to Frankfort recently to present testimony to the state environmental agency on its priority list for federally funded waste water treatment projects in local communities.

attorney from Alton in Anderson county, said that the rating for the Alton water district dropped from seventh place on the 1976 list to 162 on the new one and the community would like to be reconsidered for funding.

The division of water quality in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection conducted the hearing to receive comment on the proposed priority list for redistribution of federal grant funds remaining from those allocated for fiscal year 1975 and fiscal year 1976. "That," William Forester, division director, explained, "was because the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recommended that no new funds be granted for fiscal year 1977."

Forester said that the priority list represents a reallocation of about $52 million. The remaining funds are being redistributed as required by the federal EPA and the priorities have been set according to EPA guidelines. The Environmental Protection Agency provides assistance to communities for three phases of water quality treatment projects: determining needs, preparing plans and specifications and construction.

At the hearing, Thomas Jones, an

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Have you ever had that feeling of enraged helplessness brought on by watching someone violate a fish or game law or commit an act of vandalism which will probably cause you to lose a favorite hunting spot to "Posted" signs?

Or have you as a sportsman or as a citizen concerned about wildlife conservation, ever wondered what you could do to help stop such illegal acts as deer poaching, livestock shooting or trespassing?

Of course, its highly inadvisable (and sometimes downright dangerous) for a private citizen to confront a violator directly, but now there is a way for you to report quickly and accurately any game law violations which you witness.

The National Rifle Association of America has created a program called "Help Our Wildlife" (HOW), and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife has adopted a modified version of this plan along with fish and game agencies in many other states.

The basis of HOW is encouraging citizens—particularly sportsmen and rural residents—to report promptly any and all game law violations or acts of vandalism which they might witness.

To make this reporting easier, the Department of Fish and Wildlife will supply to anyone who requests them a number of violation report cards. These cards provide space for pertinent information which can lead to the arrest and conviction of those violating fish and wildlife regulations. The cards also contain the name, address and telephone number of the county conservation officer.

These cards are available from the local CO or may be obtained by writing the Division of Public Relations, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Those requesting the cards from the Frankfort office of fish and wildlife will also receive the name and phone number of the conservation officer in their county.

All information submitted on the cards will be kept strictly confidential and the cards need not be signed nor the sender identified in any way.

Besides its value in helping conservation officers apprehend game law violators, the HOW program should also serve as a deterrent, since it will both make people more aware of the problems of illegal hunting and will also provide an effective way to report violations.

The success of HOW will depend largely upon the willingness of sportsmen and landowners to report violations. We must begin to recognize the poacher, the game hog or the vandal as the criminal he actually is, a criminal who causes untold thousands of dollars in damages each year in property damages and loss of our precious wildlife resource, and who gives the entire sport of hunting a bad name.
