

New Budget Is Cause Of Concern

Legislators from the state's coal-producing counties are unhappy about Governor Carroll's failure to earmark in his budget any coal severance tax money to be returned to these counties from which the coal comes—but they aren't sure just how unhappy they are.

The so-called Mountain Coalition is still alive and full of fight, but for the moment it's maintaining a policy of "watchful waiting."

Governor Carroll has promised, in lieu of the direct allocation of coal severance funds, a state "economy development fund" of $24 million a year to all 120 counties of the state, with possible special attention to the coal-producing counties.

That's why the unhappy mountain legislators are holding their fire. They want to see, first, what the new fiscal arrangement will mean.

State Senator Jim Hammond, Prestonsburg Democrat, admitted this week to disappointment, even anger, or the part of many.

"Personally," he said, "I want to keep the door open."

He wants to know, exactly, what the governor has in mind and what he will do, he added. So do other legislators.

Whatever happens, the coal counties will not benefit from any such windfalls as came their way in 1975 when $33.5 million was divided among them according to their tonnage totals.

They lack the votes to ram down the governor's throat the desired severance tax refund to the coal counties, but they hold enough strength to weigh heavily for or against administration measures, if it comes to an open split with Carroll.

Senator Lowell Hughes, of Ashland, whose district includes two Floyd county precincts, said he feels Gov. Carroll "still has an open mind" on the possibility of setting aside funds for the coal counties out of the $24-million-a-year development fund.

And Whitesburg Representative Hoover Dawahare, who led the fight for coal severance funds at the 1974 General Assembly session, commented:

"We'll try again, and hope for another miracle."

Big Sandy Health Care Receives HEW Funding for 1976

Big Sandy Health Care, Incorporated Chairman, Tom Behel, announced this week that the Prestonsburg-based program has received continuation funding through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the amount of $465,000.

The funding level for 1976, will be at essentially the same level as in the past with DHEW granting $330,000.00 toward the budget total for fiscal year 1976.

In announcing the new funding, Mr. Behel stated that this continued funding should prove the "turning point" for the organization: "Our start-up problems have largely been resolved," Behel said, "and the corporation has been re-organized to provide services with minimum overhead costs."

"The board of trustees has worked very hard over the past six months to provide the policies and goals for 1976 and we are very optimistic about the future of Big Sandy Health Care," he pointed out.

Big Sandy Health Care, Incorporated is a private, non-profit corporation established to deliver comprehensive health care services to underserved areas in District XI. The organization operates two clinics at present, one in Wheelwright, and the other in Salyersville. District XI encompasses a five-county area consisting of Magoffin, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Pike counties.

This Town...That World

The new Emancipation Proclamation: "Nurse, unhook him from that last tube."

REPORT OF A SORT

Since the day, some two weeks ago, when I took pen in hand to give my version of what the well-dressed hospital patient will wear, I have had requests for a sequel dealing, round by round, blow by blow, with what took place when the doctors and I really got down to cases, so to speak. But this was a matter so one-sided that you wouldn't be interested. Besides, 'tain't funny, McGee.

I would like to be able to report that I faced it all, if not with aplomb, certainly with a reasonable show of fortitude. But the fact is that, after one of these "sessions," nurses were overheard in off-the-record conversation which went to this effect:

"Some tolerance for pain, he has... why, he's the type that wouldn't flinch if you cut his toenails."

The only thing that concerns me about that statement is, I'm not sure it didn't refer to me.

EDR Program Ends June 30

The Educational Development Region (EDR) program, formerly known as ROPES, may have lost its chance of continued existence last week when Governor Carroll failed to include in his budget funding of its regional office staffs.

The Prestonsburg-based Region XI of EDR, as a consequence, expects to close its office here June 30 at the close of the current fiscal year. Until that time, a staff member indicated, the office will continue to function, as usual.

Reo Johns is executive director of the regional office here. Other staff members of the regional office are Shirley Beard, administrative assistant; Larry Jarvis, curriculum consultant, and Sharon Watkins, secretary.

EDR (or ROPES) was promoted by Dr. Lyman Ginger, former superintendent of public instruction, to serve as a liaison between local school boards and superintendents on the one hand and the State Department of Education. At the outset it was opposed by vocational school leaders, and opposition to the regional concept has continued, particularly in the Boyd county and North-eastern Kentucky areas.

Work In Progress To Convert To New City Gas System Here

Prestonsburg Water and Gas Commission crews have recently begun excavation work in the Highland Avenue vicinity as part of the commission's continuing project of replacing the city's old gas system with a new and more efficient high pressure system.

Transition to the new system involves the replacement of old gas line with a plastic, corrosion-proof network of pipes and the installation of special regulators at homes of consumers.

Bill Harvey Howard, superintendent of the Water and Gas Commission, described the new system as a high pressure-type system which will provide 15-20 pounds of pressure to each consumer instead of the present 8-10 ounces of gas. The regulators, according to Howard, will provide a steady and consistent flow of gas and will eliminate fluctuation in gas pressure as is frequently experienced, especially by consumers living on the outer reaches of the old system. He said an added plus was afforded by built-in safety devices in the regulator which automatically adjusts high or low pressures if they occur. Howard also pointed out that the new system will be far superior to the old in terms of fuel savings and efficiency.

Howard said that although the new system will provide improved service to consumers, the work is almost being done out of sheer necessity. "These old pipes were laid in the late '20's and early '30's," he explained, "and several costly leaks have occurred in the city as some pipes have corroded."

According to Howard, gas lines in the West Prestonsburg area were in the worst condition, so it was here that first work in the system conversion took place last fall. Pipe replacement in West Prestonsburg was completed in November at a cost of $38,000. Howard was quick to point out that this figure was far below the estimated $50,000 quoted by Howard K. Bell Engineers, Lexington, if the work had been contracted.

Mr. Howard said the conversion work would progress as the city budget would allow and he added that he hopes work in the city would not prove too great an inconvenience to residents.

Local Church Housing Group May Benefit

The Church Housing Association of Prestonsburg, which in December submitted an application for federal funds totalling $1.6 million for the construction of a mid-rise apartment complex for the elderly, will also apply for funds which recently became available as part of a Winchester woman's bequest, according to the Rev. Bruce Boss, Church Housing Association director.

Boss said an application will be submitted within the next few weeks for any available amount of the $400,000 which was bequeathed by Mrs. Ethel G. Cheairs to the Episcopal Diocese of Lexington. Mrs. Cheairs died in April, 1974.

The Church Housing Association's plan of using the money for the apartment facility meets the stipulation included in Mrs. Cheairs bequest that the money become "a fund or the fund for a home for the aged."

Robert A. Gibson, chairman of the diocesan committee to administer the estate, said the church has solicited applications only from the 64-county area within the diocese, roughly all of Kentucky east of Lexington. "That is about the limit of our jurisdiction, and we would have little authority or purpose in going outside," Gibson said.

Ceremonies To Signal Annex Start

Groundbreaking ceremonies will be held here Monday morning to officially mark the initiation of construction on the long-planned Floyd courthouse annex-juvenile detention center.

County officials will break ground at 11 a.m. on the $873,850 structure which will serve the county primarily as a juvenile detention center as well as an office building for the courthouse.

Plans for construction of the annex are more than two years old and were first discussed when the necessity of a juvenile holding facility became apparent. County Judge Henry Stumbo pointed out that the county or its officials are violating the law every day juveniles are held in jail along with adult prisoners, since the courts have held that youthful prisoners must be detained "out of sight and sound" of older prisoners. The pressing need for more office space and storage room for the increasing volumes of courthouse documents also emphasized the need for courthouse expansion.

Designed by Marvin Crider, Prestonsburg architect, the annex will be of concrete, to conform with the appearance of the courthouse with the second story walls of pre-cast concrete

Jail Terms Imposed By Circuit Court

Orders returned during the final three days of the January term of Floyd County Circuit Court last week, fixed the sentences of two men who were tried in two separate cases.

James Poston, Jr., was found guilty of charges of hit and run and leaving the scene of an accident, fined $10.00 and sentenced to six months in the county jail. Poston later filed motion and grounds for a new trial.

Sentenced by the court to a year in the state reformatory was Paul Shepherd, who last week entered a plea of guilty to charges of burglary in the third degree.

Russell Hagewood, Bank President, Dies

MR. HAGEWOOD

Russell Hagewood, well-known Prestonsburg resident and president and cashier of the First National Bank, died Thursday at Highlands Regional Medical Center after a brief illness. He was 68 years old.

A native of Clarksville, Tenn., he was born May 23, 1907, a son of the late Jesse Brown and Ida Francis Hagewood. Prior to his association with the First National Bank which dated from 1930, he was employed by the Bank of Wayland. In addition to his banking activities, he was a partner in Hagewood-Ratliff Real Estate. A graduate of Bowling Green University, he was a member of the First United Methodist Church here and a member of the Wayland Masonic Lodge.

Surviving him are his widow Mrs. Nell Gibson Hagewood; a son, Jesse Brown Hagewood, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and a daughter, Mrs. Betty Gail Minix, of Prestonsburg; a brother, Ruben Hagewood, of Clarksville, Tenn.; three sisters, Mrs. Farah McCallen, of New Port Ritchie, Fla., Mrs. Angeline Abbato, of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Jenny Bell Chadwick, of Clarksville, Tennessee. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church by the Rev. Walter Applegate and Rev. W. D. Jagers. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Two Doctors Resign At Mud Creek Clinic

The Board of Directors of the Mud Creek Health Project have accepted the resignations of Elinor A. Graham, M.D., and James M. Squire, M.D., effective April 1, 1976.

Mary E. Swaykus, M.D., is now on staff at the project specializing in obstetrics but continuing to do a general practice until additional physicians can be recruited. The project plans to have two physicians, one for pediatrics and one general practitioner by July of this year.

The project foresees no change in the operation of the clinic at this time. If the schedule should be cut down from a 6-day week to a 5-day week, all patients would be notified.

Cline Named East Ky. Commerce Rep.

Commerce Commissioner Larry Townsend has announced that Olive Hill native Gene Cline has been appointed at the Commerce Department's representative to Eastern Kentucky.

Townsend said the appointment is indicative of the increased emphasis desired by Gov. Julian M. Carroll on the "development needs and potentials" of the region.

Townsend called the appointment of Cline "a positive step toward the diversification of the economic base of Eastern Kentucky. With Gene's help, we hope to capitalize on the attributes of the region and show industry that Eastern Kentucky is indeed an attractive place to locate."

Cline said that the responsibilities of his position will require him to constantly add to his familiarity with the advantage and shortcomings of the Eastern Kentucky area, especially as it regards industrial sites and the development of these sites. He expects to work closely with local officials and business leaders in helping them to develop their potential.

In addition, Cline will work closely with fund-producing agencies such as the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Economic Development Administration and the Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority in identifying available funds for development use. "In this respect," said Cline, "I will act as liaison between these government agencies."

Cline, 40, has been clerk of the Carter Circuit Court since first being elected in 1963. He chose not to run for reelection this year. Married with two children, he attended Morehead State University.

History records that 60 men fell in the last battle of the Revolutionary War Aug. 19, 1782 at Blue Lick Springs near the present Mt. Olivet. Among them were Col. John Todd, Maj. Silas Harlan, Capt. Joseph Kinkead and Lt. John Kennedy.

Yatesville Lake In Ford's Budget

Kentucky construction projects totaling more than $36 million were included in President Ford's proposed budget, it was announced last week.

The following flood control projects by the Army Corps of Engineers were proposed for fiscal year 1977: Southwest Jefferson County, $4.8 million; Taylorsville Lake, $5.3 million; Tug Fork Valley, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, Phase I, $150,000; Yatesville Lake, $3.8 million.

The President also included $22 million for "multi-purpose power construction" at Wolf Creek Dam on Lake Cumberland.

Eastern Kentucky, No 'Gob Pile'

Louisville's Norbert Blume and others have apparently succeeded to some degree in their opposition to the continuance of the allocation of a portion of coal severance tax revenues to the coal-producing counties. In opposition to it Representative Blume has even threatened to introduce a bill which would tax all production and return a portion of this tax to each producing county.

But what he and others fail to comprehend is the difference between severance and production.

He can argue that a tobacco-producing county, for instance, should be entitled to a specific portion of that tax. But he fails to realize that a tobacco crop, for example, is not severance.

Tobacco may be grown on the same land next year. But they're not growing more coal, next year. Once it is mined and take from its place of deposit, it is gone forever.

Left are funnelled, guffed mountainsides, stripped hilltops, lowered water tables, silted streams, an ecology out of balance.

Coal severance tax allocations were originally designed to give the counties from which the irreplaceable fuel was taken an outside chance to prepare against the day when the coal is gone and the people of these counties must find new industry and the means of continued existence in the only homeland they have ever known or care to know.

There are those who subscribe to the "Sacrificial Lamb" theory for places such as Eastern Kentucky. Mine its coal, make it uninhabitable, even, if necessary, for the common good. And then let its people find homes and businesses and life elsewhere.

We not only do not "buy" that—we resent it.

Last year, the state of Kentucky almost literally looked to the hills for its strength. From these hills poured a wealth which raised state revenues far above all expectations at a time when the treasuries of many other states were depleted. If Kentucky is to enjoy any such prosperity this year, it will depend upon coal for it.

These coal-producing counties are vitally important now. They will continue to be important. Any neglect of them now, or in the future, to the extent that they may be destined later to be "written off" as liabilities rather than assets will mean a loss to a great state of one of the regions which can by no economic or humanitarian standard be tossed into the "gob pile."

hereby dissent. In recent days I have become an expert: twirl the thumbs in forward rotation exactly seven turns, no less; put on the brakes, meanwhile keeping the eyes focused on a certain spot on the facing wall; shift gears, then twirl backward seven turns. This is not a state of suspended animation, but I assure one and all that it defies the laws of physics; it is kinetic energy wholly dependent upon inertia of both mind and body. H-m-m...

Just now, I am reminded that the seed catalogs are delayed (shall I blame the Postal Service?). As a rule, I have by this time studied their colorful pages, carefully selected the flowers for that mythical garden, planned the vegetable plot and "laid by" the yearly crop, well in advance of the summer heat. Understand that Snow White and perhaps one or two other wintertime farmers have been delayed, too.

With no help from that quarter, I have dug up my 1976 edition of the Old Farmers Almanac. And here, only a few days before Valentine Day, I learn that this is Leap Year and that February, shortest month of the year, has five Sundays. (I did know how many years will elapse before February again has five Sundays, but have forgotten and doubt that the information will interest many of us.)

The Almanac also informs me that Candelmas—the traditional date of the presentation of the Christ Child in the Temple—and Ground Hog Day came last Monday. Of Candelmas it says, "If fair and clear, two winters in the year." And we all know that if the groundhog saw his shadow, there'll be six more weeks of dark and stormy weather."

Lest you fail to be informed, I add these facts:

Wednesday, Feb. 25—Colt six-shooter patented 1836; hen laid 16-ounce egg, 1956.

And:
"Tradition this year doth report
That maidens are allowed to court."
And now back to the old routine: Seven turns forward, stop, seven turns back...

'FURRINERS'

We have stewed a bit when the boisterous jays moved in and ruled the roost at our feeders, but now a newcomer, the evening grosbeak, a northern bird which apparently has migrated this far south for the winter, has showed up in such force that the jays have been reduced to squawks of profanity. These grosbeaks are colorful fellows in yellow with black-and-white wings and tail, but their lack of manners has taken the courtier cardinals somewhat aback, so to speak, and I wonder if some of our native birds aren't complaining among themselves about "these derned furriners."

FLOYD COONHUNTERS SCHEDULE HUNT

The Floyd County Coonhunters Association will hold a wild coon hunt, Saturday at 6 p.m. on John's Branch at Maytown.

Rev. Bobb said the diocesan committee would, in all likelihood, split-up the money and award several grants rather than giving it all to a single applicant. For this reason, he explained, the housing association would apply for a fraction of the total, in hopes of acquiring seed money, or funds for preliminary work on the housing project which are not normally provided as part of the federal funds. The housing association will also apply for additional money from the total of the bequest for the construction of a community room for the proposed apartment complex as well as money for purchase of the construction site.

Prestonsburg may have somewhat of an advantage over some communities in its chances for securing some of the funds. Speaking for the Lexington diocese, Gibson stated, "We anticipate that the diocese will keep a hand in this after it is built, and are looking for a partner. What we plan to do is narrow the applications to three or four, then negotiate with each and insure keeping involved." Rev. Boss is minister of the St. James Episcopal Church here. There are also local Episcopal churches in Ashland, Pikeville, Morehead and some other large county-seat towns of the diocese.

The Church Housing Association's application for federal funds was submitted December 1 to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

panels. The juvenile detention area of 6,600 square feet will include, in addition to detention space for 12 to 14 boys and 6 to 8 girls, a large recreation area, dining area, kitchen, classroom and library facilities.

On the first floor will be 1,150 square feet of space for the juvenile court; and 1,875-foot area for emergency employment offices; 1,375 square feet for conference area, and official records, possibly those of the county clerk, and 1,050 feet of space rentable to one or more governmental departments or agencies. The mechanical room of 750 square feet will be on the third floor.

Major portion of the cost of the project, which was contracted December 5 to Barco, Inc., will be covered by revenue sharing funds.

IN APPRECIATION

On behalf of Virgil Peter's wife Cecelia, his children, grandchildren, parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Peters, brothers, Urban and Dean, and sister, Annabel, I want to thank Hall Brothers, Rev. John Huffman, all the relatives and friends for the flowers, food, and expressions of love and above all the prayers that gave us the strength at the time we needed it most. God bless each of you.

Carroll's budget simply provided no funds for EDR which is costing an estimated $894,000 this fiscal year. The governor said elimination of EDR from the budget "does not reflect an abandonment of the regional concept or of the pressing need for closer coordination among districts in planning and implementing costly programs."

So the regional boards composed of local superintendents, community college and regional university officials and Department of Education personnel may be maintained. But the staffs for each of the dozen or more regional offices will get no funds unless there is a change of budgetary policy.

By making the EDR concept part of his State Government Issues document, Carroll is stating the position he intends to take, but substantially leaves it to the legislature to change his mind by raising certain questions.

"Is there a need for a regional system in any form? If the General Assembly believes that a need exists, then the questions must center around the type of services to be provided, and the type delivery system necessary to provide these services," Carroll wrote.

He said the course he has outlined for the next two years "is one of retrenching and redefining the basic approach to coordination among local schools and the state Department of Education."

In expanded information provided with the issues document, establishment of the regional services program was described: "In effect, a layer of bureaucracy was created between the superintendents of local boards of education and the program administrators in the Department of Education."

"It is this aspect of the program, the creation of another layer of bureaucracy, which led the governor to recommend discontinuation of the regional operations, particularly since the Department of Education officials presented no compelling reasons for continuing the program."

The Blue Lick spa attracted many visitors in the mid-19th century. The Arlington Hotel was rebuilt and had its grand opening June 4, 1880. Dan Turvey wrote the Carlisle Mercury that the hotel dining room was 100 feet long. The promenade porch was 192 feet long.

Both Brown and Martin said Judge Walter had earlier refused to dismiss the murder charge against Agnel Jones, father of Eddie, by agreement with the Commonwealth, the judge holding that such action would be prejudicial to the Commonwealth in its case against Eddie Jones.

Judge Walter quoted Circuit Judge Hollie Conley as stating at a hearing for bail for Jones, March 22, 1974, that there was some doubt in the mind of the court that evidence as presented at that hearing was sufficient to convict. He also attacked Johnny Martin as a Commonwealth witness, alleging that Martin himself had admitted to committing perjury in various appearances before the grand jury in the Jones case, and pointing out that the weapon allegedly used in the killing was Martin's.

The judge scored The Floyd County Times for its editorial, "Is a Judge's Power Unlimited?" which was published following dismissal of the Jones case. "It is my considered opinion," he wrote, "that an action of this nature should not be tried in the press before any final order is signed by the court."

Commonwealth counsel were not aware of Judge Walter's response till late Tuesday, representatives said. They maintained that their strong opposition to the judge's action was voiced in open court.

The Commonwealth has filed a brief with the state Supreme Court in support of its motion for a writ of prohibition to prevent Judge Walters' action to end the case.

The Passing of a Real Friend

Real friends are seldom found and are to be extremely appreciated.

The passing of Mr. Hagewood is the loss of a real friend to many people. His death is especially a very sorrowful loss to me, because my experience is different than many other people that he was a friend to, and helped in many ways, with advice and financial aid at times when they needed it very much.

When I came to this town 27 years ago, I was a rank stranger to everyone here. I had just come out of the Army. I went to work in a mud hole in West Prestonsburg in the scrap business, with just barely enough money to eat on and buy meager amounts of scrap metal, trying to get a start on my own. Mr. Spurlock and Mr. Hagewood must have felt sorry for me. They said anyone that would work that hard under such conditions, needed help, and they were very willing to help me, without any strings attached. Of course there were no strings to attach, as I had nothing but a will to work. No one had ever helped me in such an open, good-will manner as these two men had. It was really something from heaven to me, because I had never had anything in life but hardships and hard knocks; that is why I wasn't afraid of hard work or the mud holes.

I can never forget friends like that, and they were every day alike. They didn't run hot and cold like a lot of people. They were very kind and considerate.

I am sure many other people think as I do about them, but my case was a bit different than most, as I was a rank stranger and they took me in. How do you forget or fail to appreciate people like that, so very, very much. They were as dear in my heart to me as many in my own immediate family. Mr. Hagewood was of the finest personality. I only wish I could have attained such good qualities and kindness that he portrayed. With sorrow, we have lost a real friend.

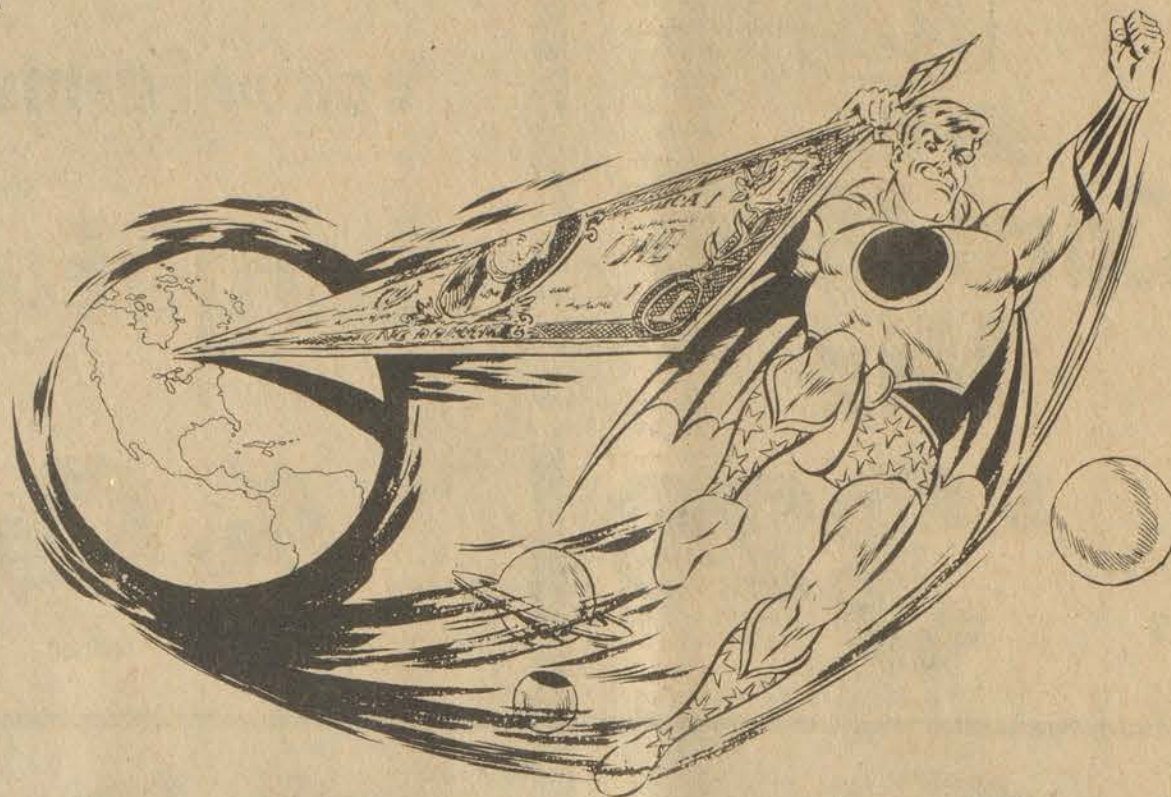

CHARLES MCCOY

CARD OF THANKS

The father and sisters of Andy Hale wish to thank everyone who was so nice to bring food, flowers, or who helped in anyway, through our sad hours of giving up our only son and brother. We also want to thank all the good ministers who came both nights for their comforting messages and prayers. A special thanks to Rev. Carl Ray Tuttle, Rev. Bee Johnson, Rev. Bennie Stone, Rev. Andy Hamilton, Rev. Clinton Dean Moore, and Rev. Richmond Shepherd for such a humble prayer before Andy's body was taken out of our home. A special thanks to Hall Brothers for their nice service.

Area Low-Income Residents Challenge IRS Hospital Rule

A number of low-income residents of this area are challenging an Internal Revenue Service ruling that allows private, non-profit hospitals tax-exempt status as charitable organizations even if they don't admit indigent persons for regular treatment.

The challenge is in the form of a class action suit brought by several individuals, the nonprofit Eastern Kentucky Welfare Right Organization and other health and welfare groups. A decision is expected soon in the suit which was argued before the Supreme Court last month.

Kentuckians involved are poor people who were denied admittance to two private Eastern Kentucky hospital, Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, and the new defunct Prestonsburg General Hospital, both classed as tax-exempt, charitable institutions under the IRS ruling.

The suit says those hospitals "refuse to admit and treat poor persons who are not covered by private health insurance and lack the means to pay pre-admission deposits. These hospitals refuse admission to poor persons covered by Medicaid if such persons cannot pay said pre-admission deposits."

The IRS ruling, which is not binding law but does carry considerable weight in courts, requires charitable hospitals to provide free emergency room service for poor people and to accept any Medicare or Medicaid patients. But charitable hospitals aren't required to give full care for indigent patients.

Mrs. Bertha Moore

Mrs. Bertha Moore, 79, of Bevinsville, died Tuesday, January 27, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, after a short illness.

Born June 20, 1896, she was a daughter of the late Mrs. Elvira Hall Mullins, and the widow of John Moore who preceded her in death in 1950. She was a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church.

Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Lillie Mae Hall and Mrs. Rissie Mae Harris, both of Columbus, O.; a son, Ed Moore, of Drift; 15 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Little Rock Regular Baptist Church at Bevinsville by ministers of the church. Burial was made in the Honey Camp Cemetery under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Samuel Donald Crager

Samuel Donald Crager, 54, of Wayland, died Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a short illness.

Born March 30, 1921 in Weeksbury, he was a son of the late Sam and Yuka Burke Crager, and was a miner.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Sharon Crager; six sons, Donald Crager, of Wayland, Roy Crager, in Indiana, Sam and Daniel Crager, both of Cincinnati, O., David and Kippy Crager, both at home; five daughters, Mrs. Sandra Jones, of Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Dorothy Centers, Miss Diane Crager, all of Cincinnati, O., Misses Dawn Marie and Juddy Crager, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Carol Thomas, of Detroit, Mich., Miss Nan Crager, and Mrs. Elda Paige, oth of Wayland; six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist Church by Free Will Baptist ministers. Burial was made in the Woods cemetery on Cow Creek under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Basil Horn

Basil Horn, 50, of Rt. 2, Warsaw, Ind., formerly of West Prestonsburg died unexpectedly at Murphy Medical Center shortly after noon Sunday.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Johnson Funeral Home, and burial was made in Jeffersonville.

CONVENIENCE FOODS

Consider your time and the quality of the finished product in deciding between convenience foods (those with more-than-usual services added) and un-serviced ones. UK Extension foods specialists suggest. Compare prices to see if it pays to prepare a product yourself from basic ingredients. Sometimes, it does not. How much you enjoy cooking and how much time you can spend on food preparation should also have much to do with your choice.

Auxiliary Donates Mobilizer To Highlands Med Center

The Highlands Regional Medical Center Auxiliary recently presented a $6,800 mobilizer to the medical center here. The mobilizer, a sophisticated device which can easily and safely transfer a critically ill or severely injured person without undue movement to the patient, was purchased by the Auxiliary with funds raised by selling fruit cakes and from sales in the med center's gift shop.

Mrs. Vaughan Victim In Auto Mishap, Sat.

The body of 51-year-old Sarah Blackburn Vaughan, of Prestonsburg, was discovered Monday morning, two days after the car she was driving apparently swerved off US 23 north of Prestonsburg and dropped over a slight embankment.

Although the mishap is estimated to have occurred sometime Saturday night, Mrs. Vaughan was not missed since she had reportedly told her mother, Mrs. Ella Hatfield, not to expect her home until Monday.

Arvil Nelson, who discovered the body by chance, said he pulled off the road in the vicinity of B & B Engineers' offices to check his car, when he saw tire-tracks leading through the mud and over the river bank. Looking over the bank, Nelson said he saw a 1971 Pontiac which had apparently been there for some time since recently fallen snow was undisturbed around the vehicle. Recognizing the car as having come from Brown's Auto Sales here, Nelson said he reported the wreck to Brown's salesman Merle Williams who quickly identified the vehicle as one which Mrs. Vaughan had kept over the week-end to test drive. Nelson then checked at Maloney's Store where she was employed and was told that Mrs. Vaughan had not showed up for work that day. It was then that Nelson returned to examine the car more closely and discovered the body.

A coroner's inquest concluded that the victim died of internal injuries and exposure and an investigation by State Police Detective Danny Stumbo is being carried out in an attempt to define the cause of the fatal crash.

The widow of William Joseph "Little Bill" Vaughn, Mrs. Vaughan was also preceded in death by her father, Logan Blackburn. Born August 7, 1924, in Floyd county, she was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of V.F.W. Post 5839 in Prestonsburg.

Survivors include two sons, William Joseph Vaughan, III, of Milan, Mich., and Logan Jefferson Vaughan, of Prestonsburg; a daughter, Ella Mae Cornett, of Ypsilanti, Michigan; two brothers, Clyde Blackburn, of Prestonsburg, and Bill "Buck" Blackburn, of Azalia, Mich., and three sisters, Thelma Rene Jamison, of Wayne, Mich., Rowena Coffie, of Petersburg, Michigan, and Mary Elizabeth George, of Ypsilanti. She also leaves four grandchildren.

Funeral rites will be conducted Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Floyd Funeral Home Chapel with the Revs. Leroy Gibson, Jonas Miller and Paul Joseph officiating. Burial will be made in the Weddington cemetery here.

Floyd County Health Notes

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a glaucoma clinic Friday, February 6, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. Glaucoma is a serious disease which sometimes strikes persons age 35 and over with no warning. It can slowly and painlessly cause blindness.

In order to have continuing protection, all persons over 35 years of age should be screened for Glaucoma at least once every two years.

This clinic is free and open to the public.

On Monday, February 9, a public health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland. This clinic will last from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. with the following services being available: immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening and blood pressures.

All persons in the Wayland vicinity are welcome to attend this clinic and take advantage of these free services.

Scout 1st Aid Meet To Be Here Saturday

The Lonesome Pine Council of the Boy Scouts of America has announced that the annual Scout first aid meet will be held at Prestonsburg, on Saturday, February 7. Location of the meet is the skating rink at Archer Park at 1 p.m.

Host Explorer Post 21 which is sponsored by the Floyd County Rescue Squad says that more than 100 Scouts from throughout the Council have been preparing for this event and are expected to participate. Skills which will be used in the contest include personal first aid as taught in the Scouts' First Aid Skill Award and the more advanced procedures included in the First Aid Merit Badge.

The public and all boys interested in becoming Scouts are invited to attend the meet which is free.

Bondsman Proposal Budget Set Forth

Unveiling of a nearly $5.7 billion state budget for the next two years and a four-hour hearing on Gov. Carroll's proposal to outlaw private bail bondsmen in Kentucky highlighted last week in the General Assembly.

The proposed budget, presented to a joint session of the House and Senate by Gov. Carroll, gives top priority to public elementary and secondary education.

Included is $147 million in new money for public schools, the bulk of which would be used to raise teachers' salaries by an average of $2,000 over the two-year period.

Other money is included to provide free textbooks for high school students; expanded kindergarten, special education and vocational programs; health insurance for school employees and increased benefits for retired teachers.

The budget also provides money to: Implement the first phase of Kentucky's new court system; expand the Consumer Protection Division in the Attorney General's Office; reimburse innocent victims of crime; enable cities to purchase mass transportation; hire additional strip-mine reclamation inspectors.

Testimony on the bail bond proposal before the combined House and Senate Committees on Judiciary-Statutes covered a broad range of issues including the philosophy of private enterprise, the efficiency of government and the extent of corruption in the bail bond industry.

Spokesmen for the industry questioned the legality of the state putting an entire industry out of business.

Supporters of the bill, House Bill 254, testified as to alleged corruption in the bonding business, including reported cases of kickbacks among bondsmen, attorneys and law enforcement officials.

The House Committee subsequently approved the bill after amending it to make it easier for a person to be released on his own recognizance.

HB 254 would shift bonding responsibilities to the various court clerks.

In other committees last week bills were advanced which would compensate crime victims for losses due to injury or death; prohibit hiring professional strikebreakers; increase gas tax revenue for cities and provide home rule for them; strengthen Kentucky's generic drug law; establish guidelines for judicial nominating commissions and treating the mentally retarded; designating the monarch butterfly as the state insect.

Among new bills introduced last week was senate Bill 142, to set aside a portion of money from the coal severance tax to compensate victims of "black lung."

OBSERVES 96th BIRTHDAY

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

A Kentucky resident recently received a tie in the mail. It was accompanied by a request for a donation. The consumer called the toll-free Attorney General's Consumer Hotline (1-800-372-2960) and wanted to know if he had to send money for this item. This consumer was informed that a remittance was not required because consumers are protected by Kentucky's law concerning unsolicited goods.

Unsolicited goods are any items received through the mail, such as ties and notecards, that were not ordered or requested by the consumer. Unsolicited goods do not include merchandise ordered directly by the consumer or items received by the consumer belonging to a purchasing club operating under the negative option plan. Also, merchandise addressed to or intended for someone else is not considered as unsolicited goods under this statute.

What should the consumer do when he receives these unsolicited items in the mail? First, consumers can refuse to accept delivery of the merchandise. This may be done by marking them "return to sender" and giving them back to the postman. The consumer has another option: he may keep the merchandise.

Unsolicited goods may be disposed of in any manner by the consumer and considered as a gift.

Many of the unsolicited goods received by consumers are accompanied by heart-rending letters requesting payment for the goods. Your response to such pleas is a personal matter, but remember, you are not required to pay or donate money for unrequested and unordered merchandise.

If you have any questions about unsolicited goods or any consumer complaint contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. Write to Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 or call, toll-free, on the consumer hotline at 1-800-372-2960.

Times Want Ads Get Results!

By LARRY BURKE

Someone wrote these words: "The sugar of life is at the bottom of the cup." He was referring to the magnificent era of life known as growing old.

So many great and wonderful people have achieved their greatest rewards in their "old age." Tintoretto painted "Paradise" at eighty. Tennyson wrote "Crossing the Bar" at eighty-three and Titian at ninety-eight painted his historic picture of the "Battle of Lepanto."

It is true that we can all not be shining Apollos in later years. We can be our age. We can refuse to grow old and, instead, grow up.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: If we keep mentally and spiritually young life will be better all about us.

New Equipment Helps Cut Down Pollutants

Thousands of tons of pollutants were prevented from entering the air in Kentucky in 1975 by air pollution control equipment. Industries had installed the new control devices in order to meet state air pollution regulations.

According to the division of air pollution in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, about $82 million was spent by air contaminant sources in Kentucky during 1975 to meet the requirements of state and federal air pollution control regulations.

The division estimates that during December alone, over $10 million was spent for air pollution control by pollution sources in the state. The division estimates that during December those controls removed from or prevented about 13,250 tons of pollutants from entering the atmosphere.

The division reports that during 1975, 171 air contaminant sources achieved compliance with state clean-air regulations. During the year the division issued 176 operating permits and 107 construction permits. More than 5,000 investigations were made by the division during the year and more than 500,000 air quality measurements were recorded.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AUTHORIZING AND INSTRUCTING THE CITY ATTORNEY TO TAKE STEPS TO ANNEX AS A PART OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG A TRACT OF LAND SITUATED IN THE MAYS BRANCH AREA ADJACENT TO THE NORTHERN LIMITS OF THE CITY LIMITS OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. That the City Attorney institute an action and file a petition in the Floyd Circuit Court, within thirty (30) days after the adoption and required publication and advertisement of this Ordinance, according to law, to annex as a part of the City of Prestonsburg a tract of land situated in the Mays Branch area adjacent to the northern limits of the city limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and described as follows:

"BEGINNING at a point in the existing City limits line located on the northeast side of the Mays Branch Road where the present City limits line crosses Mays Branch Road; thence leaving the present City Limits in a northeast direction to the top of the hill between Spradlin Branch and Mays Branch, corner of the property of Dr. David White; thence with the property line of Dr. David White, around the head of the hollow, and down the point to a point on the north side of the Mays Branch Road; thence in a southern direction to a point in the existing City limits line, located on a high point on the ridge between Mays Branch and Trimble Branch."

For more particular reference to the tract of land described, a map of said territory is filed with Richard Earl Martin, Civil Engineer, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

SECTION II. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith, are hereby expressly repealed to the extent of such conflict.

SECTION III. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from this date, after publication as required by law and the Provisions of this ordinance.

PASSED AND APPROVED, THIS THE 15th DAY OF JANUARY, 1976.

WILLIAM O. GOEBEL, Jr.
 Mayor, City of Prestonsburg, Ky.

 Clerk, City of Prestonsburg, Ky.

PCC Utilizes Guild System

Two members of the pottery guild, Lynn Rogers, left, who also instructs a class in ceramics, and Marsha Bradley, of Staffordsville, are shown at work on different phases of pottery at Prestonsburg Community College.

Prestonsburg Community College has taken an idea from the Middle Ages and turned it into a unique continuing education program.

The idea—the medieval guild system—has allowed the UK community college to develop what James Ratcliff, coordinator of community services at the college, calls a "true continuing education experience."

"When we established our continuing education program we didn't think just offering courses would be enough to meet the needs of our area," explained Ratcliff. "The courses were important, but were also restrictive—when they ended, the student was finished and had nowhere to go if he wanted to pursue the subject further."

"To overcome this, we established the guilds as a complement to the classes, so people who were interested in a particular area could get together and share their ideas and techniques and work on individual projects. They could continue their education as long as they wanted, at their own pace, making it a true continuing education experience."

The guild system was established at Prestonsburg a year ago, with pottery and weaving programs. Guilds were added in painting in April and photography in September. Possible areas for new guilds include writing and string instruments.

Guild members usually meet once a week, depending on the guild, and have liberal access to the college's facilities. Members of the community possessing special expertise in the subject matter lead the guilds.

"I think a major share of the credit for the success of our guilds goes to the people who've been leading them," Ratcliff said.

Miss Howell Receives Masters Degree from U.D.

DAYTON, Ohio, January, 1976—The University of Dayton awarded 412 associate, bachelor and master's degrees on December 20, at its winter diploma exercises. This was the first diploma exercise of the university's 126th commencement year, and among these graduates were Carol J. Howell, daughter of Russell Howell, of West Prestonsburg, who received her Master of Science in Education majoring in Educational Administration. Miss Howell received Bachelor of Arts degree from Morehead State University in 1969.

Improved Reclamation Performance Said To Be Result of Coal Boom

By JENNY PULLIAM

When the coal boom struck, the state division of reclamation's work load doubled. To meet the new demands on service, the division obtained new equipment, new programs and new people.

When the strip mining boom struck in 1974, the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection issued 1,370 surface mine permits affecting 57,000 acres. In 1975, the number of permits issued increased again—this time to 1,522.

To help cope with the extra work during 1975, the division expanded its staff—particularly in eastern Kentucky. Other measures were instituted to make better use of the staff's time.

In April, the division opened a new regional office in Pikeville, making it the fourth eastern Kentucky reclamation field office. The new office lightened the work and travel load of the Prestonsburg field office.

A school to further train the state's reclamation inspector was begun and a cooperative education program for students seeking a reclamation degree started.

Since then, as part of the inspector training, inspectors from each of the regional reclamation offices have attended the five-day session of the first phase of training.

The instruction is divided between classrooms and field instruction. Courses taught have included regulation and policies, permitting procedures and bonding, sediment control, revegetation and reclamation research and first aid. Studies have also covered state and department administrative policies and procedures, environmental impact of surface disturbances and statutory basis of reclamation regulations.

New equipment that the division acquired in 1975 includes a helicopter, mobile radios, cars and jeeps.

The helicopter was purchased last fall to help improve inspection of strip mine sites. The Bell jet-powered helicopter, which seats four passengers and a pilot, has allowed a quicker review of a larger number of strip mines. Division officials say the helicopter has saved much time that would have been spent in ground travel.

By giving the inspectors greater and more rapid accessibility to the mines—especially in the mountains—the helicopter has enabled inspectors to more thoroughly monitor reclamation activities. It has also helped inspectors detect illegal strip mines.

Recently installed mobile radio units have permitted closer contact between the offices and inspectors in the field. Radios in vehicles, the helicopter and at the base station allow communication from each of the three locations to the other two.

Last spring, 41 vehicles were added to the reclamation fleet to replace worn-out trucks and to provide new inspectors with transportation. Most of them were four-wheel drive Scouts and Ram Chargers needed for traveling to the small, scattered mines in the steep mountains of eastern Kentucky. The mobility of these vehicles has provided the inspectors with better accessibility to surface mines located in rough terrain.

Cornett Receiving Ford Appointment

The functions and personnel of the Transmission and Chassis Divisions of Ford Motor Co. were recently consolidated into one division, and H. T. Cornett has been appointed supervisor of the General Accounting functions for the new division.

Mr. Cornett graduated from Prestonsburg High School in 1956 and entered the University of Cincinnati where, in 1961, he earned his Bachelors Degree in Accounting. Following this, he joined the Ford Motor Company, in Dearborn, on the College Graduate Trainee Program.

In 1962 he was appointed to the Naval Aviation Officers Candidate School in Pensacola, Florida and subsequently served in Spain, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey.

Upon his return to Ford in 1965, he was assigned to the Ford Division and held various administrative and supervisory positions in the controllers' offices. He was assigned to the Chassis Division in 1971, where he was Divisional Auditor until his present appointment.

Mr. Cornett is married to the former Patricia Laping, of Cincinnati, who is on the staff of Wayne State University in Detroit. Mrs. Cornett also recently completed her doctoral work at the University of Michigan and received her Ph. D. in August, 1975.

The Cornetts have two sons, Thomas and David.

EDMOND HERSHELL TACKETT
On March 29, 1924, a newborn son of Joe P. and Hazel Wallen Tackett was introduced to a world bursting all over with the springtime. At that time neither took great note of the other. But each was destined to have some impact on the other. He never lost sight of his responsibility to improve the world and its people. For the next fifty years he devoted his time and talents to this objective. The boy was named Edmond Hershell Tackett. His family and friends called him Hershell.

The world saw television, universal use of the airplane and automobile, man walking on the moon, the use of the atom, computers, unheard of mechanical devices, unprecedented advances in medical technique and medicine, but none that could save him from the diseases that so drastically beset him and cut him down in the full bloom of his productivity.

The young man graduated from the Prestonsburg Graded and high school and Pikeville College. He earned a Law Degree from Cumberland College Law School, Lebanon, Tennessee. He was admitted to the bar in March 24, 1950 and was associated with his father in the Law Firm of Tackett & Tackett until 1964 when he became District Supervisor of attorneys for the Department of Highways at Pikeville. He was a member of Kappa Alpha Social Fraternity, Delta Theta Phi Legal Fraternity, the Kentucky and Floyd County Bar Associations. He was a Veteran of Army Service during World War II.

He had a passion for the law and worked at his chosen profession under hardships of agonizing illnesses, but he never complained and he never whimpered.

He remained at his post until the end and demonstrated courage of the true soldier that he was. Men of lesser stature would have faltered and quit, but he died as he would have wanted to die, in the active practice of his profession.

He was a forceful and sustaining member of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church and on occasions served in the capacity of "lay preacher". He was looked upon as an active leader and supporter in school and community affairs.

He was a good and decent man and had the basic qualities which made him loved, admired and respected by those who knew him best.

He left surviving a wife, Mrs. Virginia (Ditty) Burchett Tackett and two sons, Dr. Carl Edmond Tackett and Mr. Paul Carter Tackett. They can take comfort in the fact that he left a fine heritage, a heritage in which they can always be proud.

Liaison Co-Ordinator For Optometry Congress

Dr. Hal E. Midkiff, of Prestonsburg, has been named to serve as liaison coordinator for this area for the 53rd Annual Southern Educational Congress of Optometry to be held in Atlanta, February 27-March 2, Dr. James R. Prince, Kilmarnock, Va., President of the Southern Council of Optometrists, sponsor, announced.

More than 3,500 registrants are expected at the meeting, one of the largest of its kind in the world.

Dr. Midkiff will help provide information and assistance in expediting arrangements for those planning to attend.

Forty-three optometrists and four ophthalmologists will lecture. Drs. Claude A. Poliak, ophthalmologist, University of South Florida, Emerson Woodruff, University of Waterloo (Canada), and, Robert P. Levoy, New York City, will lecture on the general program.

Helen O'Connell, noted star of screen, stage, radio and TV, will entertain at the annual banquet, to be attended by some 1500 persons.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "Dec. 75," your subscription will expire at the end of December.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

The Bald Eagle, Our Bicentennial Bird

This magnificent bird of prey, our national emblem and the symbol of our nation's power and majesty, should have more consideration and recognition in this our bicentennial year. Badges bearing the picture of the bald eagle should be worn and the bird's picture should be displayed in schools and other public places.

Our national bird has been placed on the list of endangered species and has been declining sharply in the past decade or so. This is due mostly to the eagle's eating poisoned fish, which makes the eggs infertile. So the population of these eagles is now at a dangerously low level.

The bald eagle is not "bald," as the name implies. His neck and head are white, and seen at a distance this gives the impression of baldness. The tail is also white.

To see this great eagle soaring on high, with a 7-foot wing span and the wings held straight out is an awe-inspiring sight. No other bird can fill his place as the symbol of the power and majesty of our nation.

Of this eagle's soaring, John Burroughs, the naturalist, wrote:

"He strikes great lines across the heavens; he sees the earth spread out like a magic carpet far beneath him; he sees the wrinkles hills and undulating valleys like a many-colored tapestry; he sees the rivers like silver ribbons connecting the lands. Dignity, majesty and calm repose are his. I wish that my thoughts could take as wide a sweep. I would then feel as far removed from the petty cares and turmoils of life as the eagle soaring on high."

Bald eagles build a bulky nest high in some sturdy tree, and add new material each year until the nest may weigh a ton! Only two eggs are laid at the nesting; the eggs are white as ivory. The small number of eggs at one nesting accounts in part for this eagle's slow rate of multiplying.

State Nat'l Guard Recruit New Members

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky Army National Guard enlisted 269 new members during the first three weeks of "Operation Spirit of '76," said Lt. Col. Armando Alfaro, recruiting and retention manager for the Guard.

The special project is designed to bring the Kentucky Guard to full strength for the year and include special activities by nearly every Guard unit in the state.

When the two-month drive was launched in early January, Maj. Gen. Richard L. Frymire, the adjutant general, set a goal of 1,000 new enlistments.

The 1st Battalion of the 149th Infantry, headquartered in Barbourville, leads the current effort with 76 new recruits.

Other foods of the bald eagle are rabbits, mice, squirrels and snakes. It's a pity they eat fish poisoned with pesticides, which are concentrated in the fish's liver.

The male eagle has a high, cackling call, like cac.cac.cac. This eagle is not polygamous; he chooses one mate and stays with her for life. Our eagle with arrows clasped in this talons is shown on gold coins of our money.

It is a rare thing to see a bald eagle in this section of the country, where fishing is not a paying proposition for him. These eagles are found in Florida, where there is an abundance of lakes and streams; also in California and other western states.

Once when I was a boy, I heard the oldtimers tell about seeing an eagle flying high over Wolf Creek Valley; it was an exciting event and they talked about it for years afterwards.

The eagle is called "the king of birds." He was chosen by Napoleon as the national emblem of France. The ancient Roman warriors carried shields and standards bearing the picture of the eagle. Russia uses a double-headed eagle as their national emblem.

The eagle is a member of the falcon family, whose members are noted for swiftness of wing and the power to quickly capture and kill their prey.

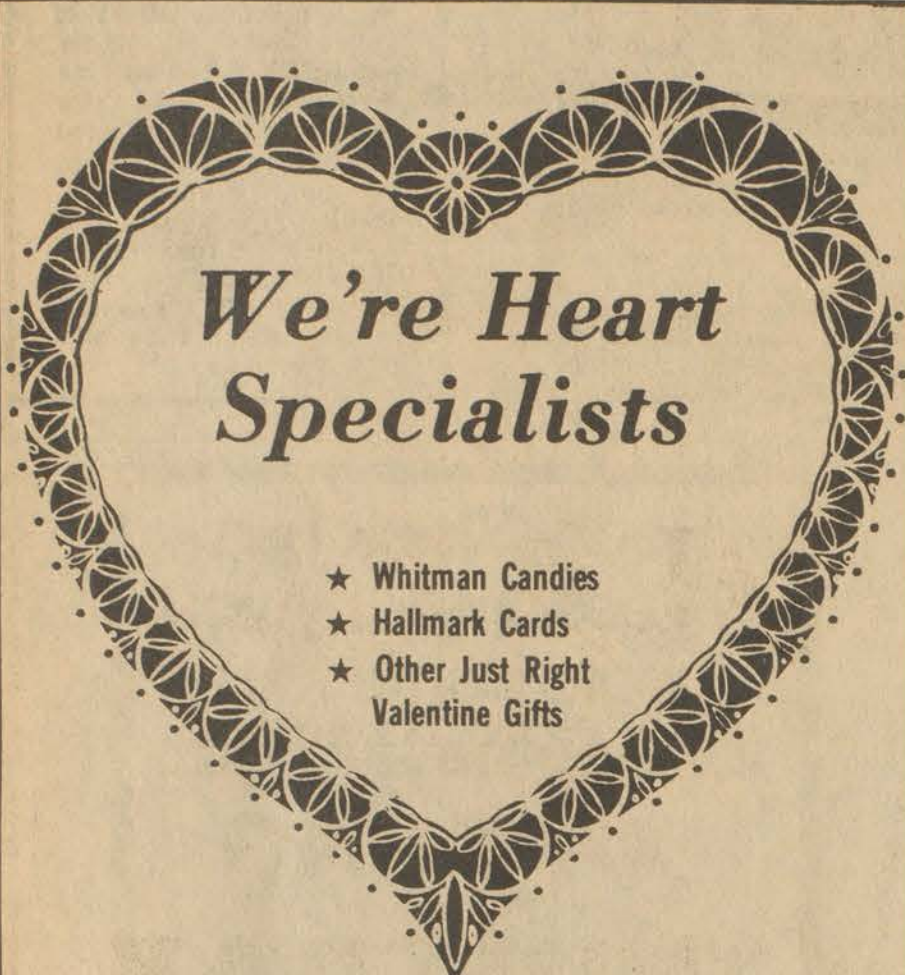

The eagle is noted for its remarkable vision; with its telescopic eye, he can spot a small animal from high in the air. Thus we say of persons with keen vision, "They have eagle eyes."

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. King, of Harold, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Deloris, to Mr. John Daniel Knauz, son of Mrs. Marguerite Knauz, of Harold, and the late Daniel S. Knauz.

Miss King is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and is presently employed as a dental assistant with Dr. W. A. Doyle and Dr. J. A. Brose at Betsy Layne. Mr. Knauz, a 1974 graduate of Pikeville College, is presently employed by Commercial Credit Corporation in Pikeville.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Arnold B. Johnson at the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church on Saturday, February 14, at 4 p.m. The gracious custom of an open church wedding will be observed. A reception at the church will follow the wedding.

W.I.C. Providing Infant Nutrition

The WIC Supplemental Food Program, which provides nutritious foods for women, infants, and children, has been in operation since January of 1974. This program is administered by the Maternity and Infant Care Project in Floyd county. A food voucher system is in operation with five grocery stores in Harlan county participating.

The number of individual participants in the program has increased significantly during the last two years, and currently there are 106 prenatales, 96 infants, and 8 children participating in the program. All of these participants are members of families who receive comprehensive services from the Maternity and Infant Care Project.

The primary goal of the WIC Program is to provide nutritious foods and nutritional counseling for expectant mothers, infants, and children under age five. Expectant mothers and their children receive milk, cheese, eggs, juice, and cereal. Infants under one year of age receive iron-fortified formula, infant cereal and juice. Since good nutrition is such an important aspect of good prenatal and baby care, the WIC program has become an important service of the Maternity and Infant Care Project.

The type of nutrition that infants and children receive during the first few years of their lives will greatly affect their growth and development.

Auditions Scheduled At Richmond Sat.

Auditions for the 1976 production of "Wilderness Road" will be held Saturday, Feb. 7, at 9 a.m. in the Jane B. Campbell Fine Arts Building on the Eastern Kentucky University campus in Richmond.

There are about 65 parts in the cast of the Civil War musical drama. Reading auditions will begin at 9, followed immediately by singing tryouts. Those auditioning are asked to bring a musical piece; an accompanist will be provided.

The auditions are the first in a series of tryouts scheduled for February and March. The next auditions will be held at Berea February 26-28, with tryouts also set for Memphis, Tenn., March 3-6 and Chapel Hill, N. C., March 20.

This year's production of "Wilderness Road," written by Pulitzer Prize winner Paul Green, will be staged June 30-Sept. 5 at Berea's Indian Fort Theatre.

There are also openings for technical persons, a house manager, ushers and concession workers.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE PASSING OF J. W. HOWARD

PRESTONSBURG ATTORNEY

On a bright Sunday afternoon in 1926, a handsome, energetic, and capable young attorney, John Woodford Howard, alighted from a train at the Prestonsburg station to establish a law practice in this Big Sandy town. As was customary in those times a goodly number of the townspeople turned out to "meet the train". In this group was a number of the beautiful girls for which the town had acquired some degree of fame throughout Kentucky. He inquired from one of his lawyer friends who had gone over to the station to greet him regarding the identity of one of these girls. Upon being informed that she was Florence Stephens, he said, "I am going to marry that girl." He did, and it flourished into a beautiful relationship that endured until death separated them. He also established a law practice equal to his fondest imagination.

Jack Howard came to Prestonsburg from White Oak. Like a white oak he was—good timber—strong, sound, solid—deep rooted in the soil and not easily swayed by prevailing winds. He had a peculiar knack of combining forcefulness and eloquence with absolute discretion and gentleness. In his profession and in his private life he was always gracious and gentlemanly. His abilities, techniques, procedures, and understanding of the law were often emulated, but never copied. He took great pride in helping young attorneys improve their skills and by reason of his willingness to share his talents the quality of this bar has been improved in no small degree.

In the prime of his practice it was recognized throughout this state that Floyd County had the most capable group of attorneys of any town outside the metropolitan areas. He was a major factor in creating that image. Even though he was very zealous in protecting the rights of his clients, he was never criticized by adversary or associate concerning the way in which he practiced a case.

A mighty oak of the legal profession has fallen. Floyd County and the State of Kentucky have suffered a great loss.

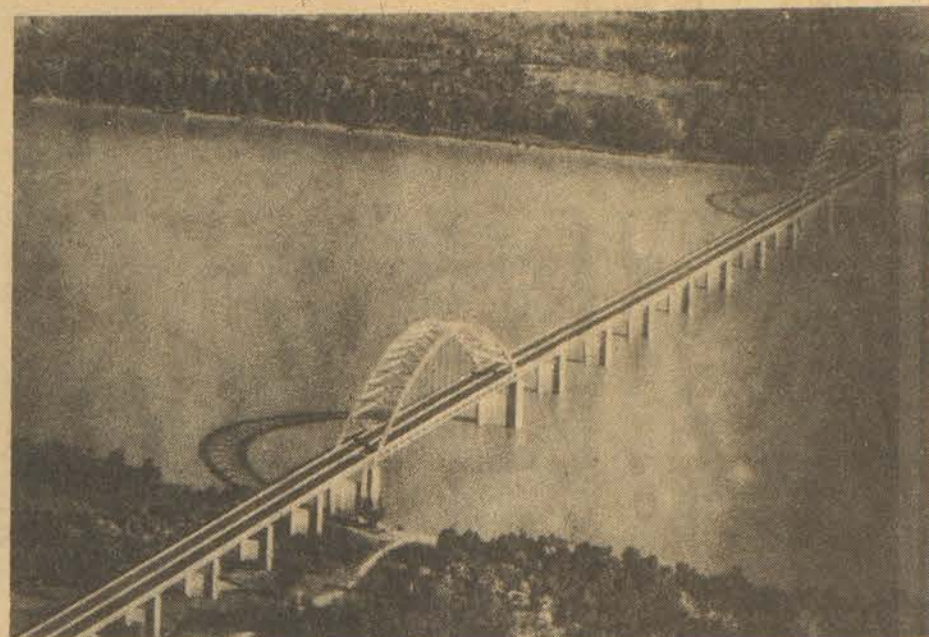

Respectfully submitted,
Floyd County Bar Association

State Top Bridge Award Winner

One of three bridges in the state awarded the Kentucky Department of Transportation in the 1975 prize bridge contest sponsored by the American Institute of Steel Construction is the double-arched I-24 bridge spanning the Ohio River near Paducah.

Kentucky was the top awards winner in the nation this year and the only state to win three awards of a possible 17. There were 99 entries from 49 states in the competition. State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, who accepted the awards at a recent meeting of the Capital Chapter of Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers, commented that "Kentucky only entered four bridges."

The other award-winning spans were the bridge on Ky 312 in Laurel County and a pedestrian bridge in McCreary county.

Air Fleet Upgraded By F-27 Purchase

Frankfort, Ky.—The Commonwealth of Kentucky is revamping its fleet of airplanes. Announcement of the changes was made today by Secretary of the Cabinet and Commissioner of Finance William E. Scent. The changes include the purchase of a previously owned F-27 Fairchild turbo-prop aircraft and the sale of four planes the state now owns.

In announcing the revamping of the state's current 15 plane air fleet, Scent noted that the updating will provide more efficient air transportation for the various departments of state government.

"The purchase of the used sixteen passenger F-27 will solve a problem which has existed within the fleet for some time," Scent said. "There has been a growing need for an aircraft capable of carrying more than the six people to which we are currently limited," he added. "The F-27 provides that need and at a reasonable purchase price and operating cost."

The F-27 to which the state takes title today was first put into service by the Reynolds Tobacco Company in 1961 but has logged only 5,000 flying hours. It was purchased for $360,000 from the Youngstown Cartage Company in Ohio. During the intervening years, it was operated by a variety of corporations.

"We are fortunate to find an aircraft of this quality with so few operating hours and at such a reasonable cost," Scent said.

As for the sale of the four planes, Scent said, "the single-engine Cessnas are being phased out as passenger carrying aircraft since they do not provide the necessary instrumentation or two-engine safety factor considered necessary for flying in instrument weather conditions and at night. The twin-engine Navajo is being phased out of state service since the aircraft has reached a point of obsolescence," he added.

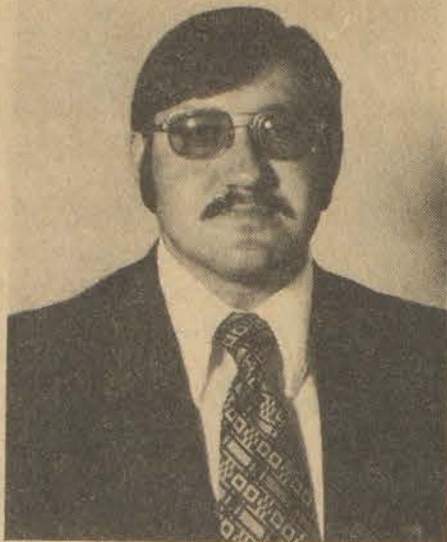

"We also feel confident that state employees will begin to make greater use of the in-state air commuter service provided by Air Kentucky," Scent said. "Coupled with the realignment of our own air fleet, this will enable us to provide the safest and most efficient air transportation for state government."

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN MEET

The Democratic Women's Club of Floyd County will hold its business luncheon meeting at May Lodge, February 11, at 12 noon. Fay Patton, club president, will introduce the new committees for this year.

The membership drive is now in progress and all Democratic women are invited to attend.

To Speak at Allen Meet

The Allen Elementary School will host the first Jenny Wiley Council meeting of the year at 7 p.m., Tuesday, February 10.

Guest speaker will be Larry Jervis, who serves the Kentucky Department of Education as Curriculum Consultant for KEDR XI. A graduate of Morehead State University, Mr. Jervis is well-known among educators in Floyd County having served as teacher, guidance counselor, and Director of Transportation. His topic of discussion will be "Right to Read Progress."

The public is invited to attend. The Jenny Wiley Council is an affiliate of the International Reading Association.

PCC To Feature Work of Combs

From February 9-19, the Prestonsburg Community College Library will host a one-women art exhibit featuring Mrs. Duna Combs. The exhibit is a retrospective of her work and includes about 40 pieces. Many of the works have not been shown in this area before and range from abstract expressionist oil paintings to watercolors, pastels, drawings in pencil and conte-crayon in the realistic style.

Mrs. Combs had her first show in March, 1967 at Alice Lloyd College. Since then, she has given two exhibits at the public library in Prestonsburg. She also has lectured about art to various clubs.

From 8-9 p.m. on Monday, February 9, there will be a meet-the-artist reception in the library of Prestonsburg Community College to open the exhibit. Assisting at the reception will be Mrs. Barkley Sturgill, Mrs. Chris Rivera, Mrs. Harris Howard, Mrs. Clarence Cahill, Mrs. Ed Stewart, Miss Jennifer Mullis, and Miss Kathy Bradley. This public is cordially invited to attend.

Garth Vocational To Observe Open House, Feb. 8-14

If you are concerned about the future of your son or daughter, you should visit the Garth Area Vocational Education Center during the week of February 8-14. That week has been designated as National Vocational Education week and thousands of schools across the country will be opening their doors to citizens who have never before been inside a vocational-technical school.

Vocational education at the Garth Area Vocational Education Center prepares all types of citizens for employment within the area. It provides our youth with knowledge and skills; upgrades the skills of an employee whose job has become more complex and retrain a worker who has been displaced from his position due to technological innovations or physical impairment.

Mr. Frank B. Sammons, principal, Garth Area Vocational Education Center urges all citizens of the area to visit the school during National Vocational Education Week. You can learn about career education by observing the existing vocational programs and talking with area employers who serve on school vocational advisory committees.

If you are concerned about educating, visit the Garth Area Vocational Education Center during the week of February 8-14. The school is located at Hite, Ky. on Highway 122 and is open from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. For further information, call the school at 285-3088.

This announcement comes in from Alice Williams, FBLA adviser, Garth Area Vocational Education Center.

You can get some idea of how effectively you have concealed yourself in a duckblind by observing the way crows react as they fly over. If the crows detect you, they'll swerve in their flight. This usually indicates a need for additional work on your blind.—SPORTS AFIELD

Personalities of the Bovines

By GEORGE L. MOORE

Shortly after we moved from McDowell in Floyd county to the farm on Sinking Creek in Elliott county, we purchased six white-faced heifers about eleven months of age. Some six months later we purchased a registered male of the same breed. All of our animals were given names. Since the Vietnam war was raging and Hanoi was much in the news, we named the new addition to the herd Hanoi.

Hanoi was orphaned at a very tender age and had to be raised on a bottle. There were a number of small children in the family of the owner and they took great delight in feeding the young calf morning, noon and night. The only trouble was that they fed him so much he became glutton and never changed his eating habit when he grew up. He was always looking for a handout. The children carried and brushed him several times each day and he became very gentle and always seemed to be fond of small children. It was a standard practice in this part of the country to start feeding the cattle after the first few killing frosts had fallen. Grain and hay were fed in the morning and hay again at night.

Hanoi watched very closely and when he saw me go to the barn in the afternoon, he would sneak away from the rest of the herd and come to the barn. He would enter his stall and stand over his feed box as I placed the hay in the mangers, and he would look at me with a disarming sympathetic look on his face as if to say, "Give me some grain—you can see I am by myself and the others will never know." Most of the time I would give in and place some grain in his feed box.

He was the most docile and gentle animal that I have ever known. Little children, who accompanied their parents to fish at the farm pond, would pet him and rub his head. If he got too nosy they would slap the eighteen hundred-pound animal in the face and say, "Get out of my way Hanoi."

All registered animals actually have two names, or least, our did. The registered papers indicated such names as Lady Royal Oaks No. 1 or Lord Domino, III, but they were never called by such names. Shortly after birth each animal is registered by using an indelible stapler to place a letter and a number inside the ear. This will last for the life of the animal.

The second name comes about in this way. The animal will remind you of someone you have known in the past and you will name it after that person. Something will happen to the animal along the way that will cause it to get its name. For example, I missed a cow from the herd late in the afternoon. Unable to locate her, I secured the help of my neighbors, Elmer and Burbee Stone, and we continued the search. It was in a dense woods a considerable distance from the barn. The cow left the wooded area and chased my dog all the way to the barn. We found no calf. I put the cow in the lot and the next morning it was obvious that she had had a calf. It rained hard during the night and the next morning we found the calf in the woods where we had searched the evening before. It was almost dead from exposure. We carried it to the barn in a tub and got some warm milk down it. Today it is a fifteen hundred-pound cow named Drizzle. A couple of nights later, the thermometer dropped to six below zero. A calf that was born on that night was called Frosty. It is no great problem to find names as long as the herd stays under twenty in number. After this point it is more difficult to find names. My wife, Nellie, solved the problem by naming each new arrival after some character in a soap opera. Glancing back over my chart I see a Walter, a Liz, a Lenora, an Ada, a Rachel and so on. There were two born on the same night, male and female. We called them Bonnie and Clyde.

There is not much money to be made in this business, but if you love animals you can sit on your front porch in the summertime and watch a herd of whiteface cattle grazing the the green hillside, and a joy and satisfaction can come to you that cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents.

Receives Masonic Honor

Daniel Autore, of Bevinsville, was honored by the Supreme Council, Thirty-third Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry of the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States of America, and given the rank and decoration of Knight Commander of the Court of Honour at the Biennial Session in Washington, D. C. in October and the investiture was made by the Lexington Scottish Rite Bodies at the Scottish Rite Temple in Louisville, November 15.

Mr. Autore is a member and past master of Wheelwright Lodge No. 889 at Wheelwright. He served as a member of the Grand Lodge Homes Committee in 1952 and the Grand Lodge Scholarships Committee in 1957. He is a member of the Lexington Scottish Rite Bodies and is active in promoting Scottish Rite Freemasonry in Eastern Kentucky. He was appointed Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge of Italy near the Grand Lodge of Kentucky by Past Grand Master John W. Hall in 1957 and is serving in that capacity at present.

HEW Attempting Health Upgrade in Appalachia, Other Rural Sections

Last year, the Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, began an effort to upgrade the quality of health care in rural areas of the nation through more effective use of available federal, state and local resources. This effort, called the Rural Health Initiatives, is an attempt to use what is available through the National Health Service Corps, the Appalachia Regional Commission, Migrant Services, and Community Health Center Programs without a dramatic infusion of new federal grant monies.

An outstanding example of what can be accomplished through this concept can be found in the lush green mountains of northeastern Tennessee. The communities of Norma, Petros, and Stony Fork, where strip mining and lumbering are the basic sources of livelihood, had seen their physicians drift away until no health care was available in the area. Now there are three fulltime clinics, with a physician who divides his time, and three nurse-practitioners, one in each clinic. The clinics were constructed mostly by volunteer laborers from the communities, with the seed money coming from the Regional Medical Program with support from the Appalachia Program.

Last year, forty-seven such medically underserved areas in the nation were selected for funding, with awards totaling $7.3 million being made to meet the special service delivery deficiencies identified by the localities themselves. $1,617,088 went to twelve communities in the rural South, long an area where large segments of the population have had difficulty in obtaining necessary health care.

Although the deadline is set at February 15, 1976 for making application, this date will likely be extended. For further information and application kits on rural health initiatives, please contact: Mr. Donald J. Scheer, Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 829, 50 Seventh Street, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30323. Phone (404) 525-3946.

When you want to know for sure about the sharpness of your fish hooks, look at them under a magnifying glass. Many that feel sharp or look sharp to the naked eye have blunt, rounded tips. These need additional honing. Some fishermen carry small, strong plastic magnifiers in their tackle boxes for just such purposes.—SPORTS AFIELD

New Faces, Methods Mark Gen'l Assembly

To the casual observer the 1976 session of the Kentucky General Assembly may look like any other session in recent memory. But a closer look reveals several significant changes both in procedure and in the individuals who occupy leadership positions.

Of the 16 leaders of both parties in the House and Senate, only four held leadership posts during the last session in 1974.

At the top, Representative William G. Kenton, D-Lexington, and Senator Joe Prather, D-Vine Grove, are the new House Speaker and Senate President Pro Tem respectively.

Other newcomers to the leadership ranks include Representatives Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo, speaker pro tem; Bobby H. Richardson, D-Glasgow, majority floor leader; William Donnemeyer, D-Belleue, majority caucus chairman; Herman W. Ratliff, R-Campbellville, minority caucus chairman; Dwight Wells, D-Richmond, majority whip; and Raymond Overstreet, R-Liberty, minority whip; and Senators Pat M. McCuiston, D-Pembroke, assistant president pro tem; A. D. "Danny" Yocom, D-Louisville, majority caucus chairman; Walter A. Baker, R-Glasgow, minority caucus chairman; and Kelsey E. Friend, D-Pikeville, majority whip.

The only returnees to the top offices are Representative W. Harold DeMarcus, R-Stanford, as minority floor leader, and Senators Tom Garrett, D-

Paducah, majority floor leader Eugene P. Stuart, R-Louisville, minority floor leader; and Joe Graves, R-Lexington, minority whip and formerly minority caucus chairman.

In addition, 13 House committees and 12 Senate committees have new chairmen this session. Of that total only seven were chairmen of other committees last session.

Two of the new chairmen are former House Speaker Norbert Blume, D-Louisville, and former Senate President Pro Tem William Sullivan, D-Henderson.

The number of standing committees in both houses was increased from 14 to 15 this session with division of the Judiciary Committee in each chamber into separate panels dealing with courts and statutes.

Perhaps the most significant procedural change has been to open the Rules Committee in both houses to the press and to non-member legislators for the first time. The media had long sought access to meetings of these two committees, through which all legislation must pass before it can receive final action on the House or Senate floor.

Critics of the previous closed meeting policy charged that the Rules Committees were used too often to "kill" legislation without individual members of the committees being publicly accountable for their actions.

The House again this session adopted a rule requiring its Rules Committee to decide within five days whether to return a bill to a standing committee or advance it for final House action. The Senate has required its Rules Committee to act on all bills within 10 days.

Another important addition to the rules in each chamber is the provision for fiscal analysis of certain legislation which could have a monetary impact on the state or its citizens. It is hoped this will prevent a recurrence of situations in which legislation is passed without its economic impact being fully realized.

The scheduled meeting time for standing committees in both houses has been expanded from one hour to two, a change that will give each committee more time to consider the legislation before it.

Again this session House committees must give advance notice of bills that will be considered at each meeting. The Senate has no similar requirement, and any bill that is before a Senate committee may be considered at any of its meetings.

Betty Crocker Winner

In memory of my father, John Branham, of Martin, who passed away one year ago February 12.

What would I give if I could say, Hello Daddy, in the same old way. To hear your voice and see your smile, To sit with you and chat a while. But you did not go alone. For part of me went with you That day God called you home. Sadly missed by daughter, Johnnie B. Armstrong Springfield, Ill.

Miss Teresa Huff has been named Allen Central High School's 1975-'76 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Teresa won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and aptitude examination. She will receive a certificate from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program, and becomes eligible for state and national honors.

Youth Group Visits Mt. Manor Patients

Members of the Faith Bible Youth Group were visitors at Mountain Manor Nursing Home here Sunday afternoon. The group, welcomed by the administrator and staff, visited each patient leaving a bag of fruit as a token of their good wishes and concern. The boys and girls were assisted by staff member Hester Preston.

Group meetings are held each Sunday afternoon at 5:45 p.m., and all youth in this area are cordially invited to participate. The youth group is affiliated with the Faith Bible Church of Martin, pastored by Rev. Bob Martin.

Maytown Woman's Club Meets There

The Maytown Woman's Club met Friday, January 16, at the clubhouse. Instead of the usual third Thursday, the date was changed in order to meet with State Senator Jim Hammond who is leasing the club a vacant lot in Maytown where the club plans to develop a mini-park. Since Mr. Hammond was unable to attend, club President Alicia Mayo appointed a committee to meet with Mr. Hammond at a later date.

C.I.P. Chairman Shirley Stewart reported that the club's project, the Maytown Public Library, is progressing as planned, and that a committee meeting will be held in the library, Monday, January 26. Bicentennial co-chairmen, Mosaete Patton and Irma Tallent reported that special activities would coincide with the Maytown Homecoming in July. It was decided to send a delegate to the GFWC Convention in Philadelphia to help elect Kentucky's clubwoman, Mary Elizabeth Sowards, President of the General Federation. Guidelines were also established for the Scholarship Fund, and contributions to the Maytown Fire Department and scouting were approved.

A birthday party for the club was discussed and further plans are on the agenda for the February meeting. The present club was federated in March 1951.

A discussion of the Equal Rights Amendment was led by Mrs. Mayo and a petition was signed by individual members to be sent to the state legislature.

Hostesses Bonita Hopson and Cheryl Campbell used the bicentennial theme in serving refreshments to the following members: Alicia Mayo, Irma Tallent, Sis Hall, Margaret Ann Vaughn, Sandy Patton, Nancy Blevins, Bonnie Hubbs, and Shirley Stewart.

Garth School To Participate in National Voc. Ed. Week

Pictured above at the Garth Area Vocational Center are members of the Floyd county chapter of Future Business Leaders of America. FBLA members of the first section which meets mornings at Garth in photo at left (l. to r.) are Debbie Sherman, reporter; Kathy Newsome, treasurer; Glenda Tackett, secretary; Alise Williams, adviser; Goldia Spencer, president; Julie Meade, reporter, and Wilma Hunt, vice-president. Afternoon section members in photo at right include (seated)—Teresa Burke, president; Michelle Leath, reporter; Nettie Slone, reporter; (standing)—Sheila Hall, vice-president; Mary Bates, reporter; Shelby Robinson, treasurer; Patricia Bentley, secretary.

February 8-14 has been designated as National Vocational Education Week and will be observed throughout the country by educational institutions, teachers and students.

Frank B. Sammons, principal, Garth Area Vocational Education Center stated that the purpose of this national observance is to bring attention to the merits and accomplishments of vocational education. He encourages citizens of the area to visit the school during this week to view on-going projects and programs.

Mr. Sammons said that both young people and adults today face a tremendous task of selecting career development programs and he stressed that careful investigation and observation are necessary for the potential student to choose the career training program which will provide the most satisfying and rewarding careers.

The faculty of the Garth Area Vocational Education Center is ready to answer any questions the public may have regarding vocational education and they invite all interested persons to come and visit with them during National Vocational Education Week. The school is located at Hite, Kentucky on Highway 122 and is open from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. For additional information, call 285-3088.

SHORT ROWS

By Nevyle Shackelford

Although gardening is commonly considered as a spring and early-summer enterprise, the late-summer and fall garden deserves consideration, too, and the time to plan for a late garden is now—at the same time spring garden plans are being made.

Except in dry-land areas, according to C. R. Roberts, UK Extension vegetable specialist, all garden space should be kept fully occupied throughout the growing season. Second and third plantings of crops adapted for late season growing not only provide a supply of fresh vegetables for the autumn months, but often give better products for canning, freezing, and storing. Late-grown snap and lima beans, for example, are well adapted to freezing and canning. Then such vegetables as beets, carrots, turnips, and Chinese cabbage can be produced for storage. In Kentucky, the late autumn garden is often as important as that produced in early fall.

Roberts suggests that, when making garden plans and arranging spring plantings, all early-maturing crops be grouped so that as soon as one crop is harvested another can be planted in its place. It is not desirable, however, to follow a crop with another of the same kind. The second planting should be with an unrelated crop. In other words, beans should not be followed by beans or corn by corn.

Early peas or beans can be followed by late cabbage, celery, carrots, or beets. Early corn or potatoes can be followed by fall turnips, spinach, or kale. It is not always necessary to wait until the early crop is entirely removed. A later crop can be planted between the rows of the early crop—for example, sweet corn between potato rows. The practice of planting a late roasting-ear patch in the potato patch is a practice that has been carried on and has worked successfully for generations. Cultivating the corn, usually only with a hoe, will keep down the late-spring weeds and crabgrass and make potato digging easier.

The main reason, of course, for not following an early crop with another of the same kind is this: crops subject to attack by the same diseases and insects should not follow each other.

Some old time gardeners who always follow succession planting practices vow that late-grown vegetables have a better taste than those maturing early in the season. No doubt the nearness of impending winter, when vegetables fresh from the garden will be no more for a long time, does enhance the taste. A ripe tomato plucked in October seems to have more taste and flavor than the first one pulled in July. That last mess of greenbeans in the fall seems to taste better than the first mess harvested in June, and even a roasting ear tastes mighty good in late autumn.

It is good business to plan for succession gardening.

Educators Attend Title IX Workshops

Frankfort, Ky.—Regional workshops on Title IX, federal regulations regarding sexual equality in education, are being held across the state for teachers, counselors and principals to familiarize them with the regulations and explain the implementation procedures.

Bill Birdwell, Kentucky Department of Education's coordinator of the workshops, said eight have been scheduled for January and seven for February.

The Title IX amendments became effective July 21, 1975. Elementary schools have one year in which to implement Title IX, while secondary schools have three years. The provisions say admission to secondary and post secondary vocational schools must not be based on sex; students may not be assigned to classes because of sex; awards, recognition and scholarships must not be based on sex; and students may not be guided into occupations dominated mainly by their sex.

Title IX also covers school employees. Some of the regulations under the new amendments provide that recruitment of teachers must not be based on sex; teachers must receive equal pay for equal work; teachers cannot be hired or treated differently because of their sex; and schools cannot inquire of marital or parental status when interviewing a person for a job.

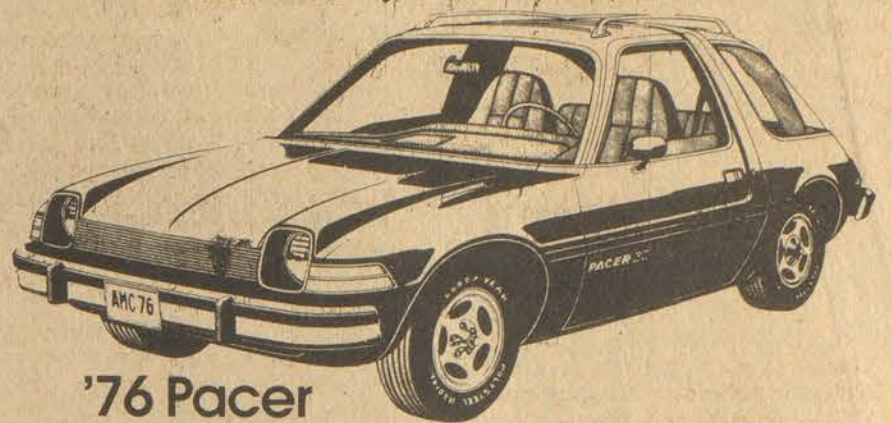

Birdwell said terms of three instructors composed primarily of state Department of Education personnel are conducting the workshops. About 19 individuals in the state have been trained to provide leadership for the workshops said Birdwell.

The U. S. Department of Labor reports that 14 is the minimum age for employment outside school hours in a variety of nonmanufacturing, nonmining and nonhazardous occupations for a limited number of hours under specified conditions of employment.

Resolution of Respect
In Memory Of
PAUL E. HAYES
(1923-1972)

Paul Eugene Hayes was born at Fed, Kentucky, February 13, 1923, the son of William Parish and Laura Ferguson Hayes. He attended the public schools of Floyd County and graduated from McDowell High School in 1939.

He received a Bachelor of Science degree from what was then called Morehead State College in 1941, and earned his degree in law from the University of Kentucky in 1949.

During World War II he served in the 8th Air Force in the European Theater of Operations, received special military instruction at Yale University; was awarded the Bronze Star, and was honorably discharged as a Captain in 1945.

He began the practice of law in Prestonsburg, Kentucky in 1949 and on October 28, 1950 he was married to Lucille Kidd of Beattyville, Kentucky. They had one child, a daughter, Vee Vee Hayes Tackett.

Paul had a unique and varied life: He was a school teacher in the Floyd County School system, and later became a part-time instructor in advanced mathematics at the University of Kentucky, while attending law school there. He was a merchant seaman, a shipyard rigger, a member, and later Chairman, of the Kentucky Workmen's Compensation Board. He served the old 97th Floyd County District as State Representative in 1951-52.

Of all the things which Paul did—and did well—his most notable accomplishments were in the fields of Law and Government. He was a student of law; a tireless and diligent researcher, and innovator, an actor in a truly professional sense and a skilled legal tactician. His perception and understanding of the theory of law was unbounded and, in lawyer parlance, as a "legal mind" he had few peers.

In Government and in the law-making process he played a prominent, if not a publicized role. He was instrumental in rewriting the Kentucky Workmen's Compensation Statutes. He was active on all levels of democratic politics and was a friend and advisor to four Governors. Because of his zeal and astuteness in the political arena some of his Frankfort colleagues referred to him as the "Mountain Eagle", but to the many friends who knew and loved him, he was affectionately called, "Rubinoff".

He left a legacy that one might well emulate: He was loyal; generous,—sometimes to a fault; a devoted son, a loving husband and father; a compassionate and understanding brother and uncle and a friend to the poor and less privileged. He brought the same enthusiasm and devotion to the cause of the downtrodden that he had freely given to the leaders of this Commonwealth. This Bar has lost a member and a friend. We have, and we will continue to miss Paul Hayes.

BE IT RESOLVED, THEREFORE, that we have solemnly acknowledged his passing and the loss to the Bar; that a vacuum has been created in our ranks which is not likely to be filled; and that we place upon the records of this Court our tribute to his memory.

This 30th day of January, 1976.

"Who has seen the wind? Neither you nor I, but when the trees bow down their heads, the wind is passing by."

This little verse remembered from an old schoolbook brings to mind that the blustery winds of spring will soon be howling across the land, delighting the hearts of kite flyers and filling weathermen with nostalgia.

From the late 1800's to the mid-1930's, kites gathered information on wind, temperature, and pressure vital to Weather Bureau forecasts. But now as weather information gatherers, kites have gone out of style. They have been replaced with sophisticated weather balloons. Hundreds of these shiny balloons soar aloft daily from different parts of the United States, some as high as 100,000 feet, to measure wind direction and velocity.

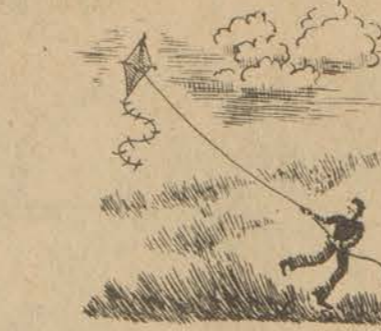

The unseen wind that keens around chimney corners, sighs through pine trees, and "tosses birds across the sky" is a strange thing. Despite all the scientific advances, it still mystifies.

Illness, crime, and even business failures have been blamed on a dry mountain breeze called the "Föhn" that occasionally sweeps into Austria, Switzerland, and Germany. A doctor in the Austrian Alps observed that on days when the Föhn was blowing, he had twice as many patients as usual.

The Los Angeles area of California is sometimes troubled by a host breeze known as the "Santa Ana."

The National Geographic Society reports that when the Santa Ana assails the area, some school teachers have to suspend classes. The children become so unmanageable trying to hold classes becomes impossible. Experiments with mice at the University of California indicate that this wind may cause mental problems. High concentrations of positive electrical charges that accompanied the stream of hot air made the animals listless.

The ancient Greek philosopher and astronomer, Anaximander, analyzed the wind as "a flowing of air," a simple definition still honored by modern science. Often this flow is of extreme violence and the sheer, terrible power of an outraged wind is almost beyond the imagination. But we need the wind and have always needed it.

Without the wind that furnished power for sailing ships, world civilization may never have been accomplished. It has been harnessed to pump water and generate electricity. It is needed to chase away smog and to ventilate the earth. It can be gentle as a lamb, or harsh and dangerous to the extreme. It is, indeed, a strange force.

Volume Released On Pike Co. History

The Pike County Historical Society has just released its second volume of papers of interest to Eastern Kentuckians, and others interested in history as well as all historians and genealogists, according to Dr. Leonard Roberts, the society's president, of Pikeville.

The book titled Pike County Kentucky 1822-1976, is size 8½ by 11, paper bound, and contains 13 articles in 108 pages. It covers the entire historical period of Pike county with articles on the Pike county courthouse and an interesting Pikeville landmark.

The largest number of articles in the volume are researched genealogies on the families of Powell, Cline, Roberts, Branham, Miller, Stump, Yost, Tibbs, and related families. A most useful article is the first tax list of residents owning land in the county in 1823.

Other articles of great interest would be the abstracts of Pike county wills, from the beginning of the county to the 1880's. The longest one is a list of Pike county marriage from 1822 to 1865. There is a short history of the Little Hattie Church on Marrowbone.

An article of the 20th century is the history of the coal operations in Pike county, including the experiences of an operator, Fon Rogers. The book contains an Index and is available at most bookstores.

JW Reading Council In Workshop Activity

Members of the Jenny Wiley Reading Council met recently at Martin Elementary School to construct simple supplementary reading materials. Floyd county schools represented were McDowell, Clark, Maytown, and Martin. Teachers were assisted in workshop activities by Reading Supervisor Elsie Stephens.

Since many children require much more reading material than what is provided by basic series used in connection with workbooks, teachers have found supplementary aids to be invaluable. Workshop participants exchanged ideas and duplicated various reading aids and bulletin board displays. Materials were furnished by the council.

A project of the Jenny Wiley Council, mini-workshops have been conducted periodically for several years.

The Jenny Wiley Council is an affiliate of the International Reading Association.

White Is Elected AEP Chief Executive

Donald C. Cook, head of American Electric Power Company for the past 14 years, today announced his coming retirement, and W. S. White, Jr. was elected to succeed him. Both the retirement and the election will be effective February 19.

At today's meeting of the AEP Board of Directors, the 66-year-old Cook tendered his resignation as chairman of the board, chief executive officer and chairman of the board's executive committee, and White, 49, was elected to those posts. Cook, with AEP for 23 years, will remain as a director and consultant.

White, who will be the seventh chairman in the company's 69-year history, has spent his entire career with the AEP System and has had extensive management experience in both AP's New York headquarters and as operating head of Appalachian Power Company, one of its principal utility subsidiaries. AEP, a major electric utility holding company system, is the nation's largest investor-owned producer of electric energy.

Cook also announced today his intention to resign—and to recommend the election of White as his successor—as chairman and chief executive of the American Electric Power Service Corporation, the management arm of the AEP System, and as president and chief executive of each of the System's seven electric utility operating companies and of its other subsidiaries. Cook also will resign as a director of each subsidiary. These actions are scheduled to take place at the board meetings of the subsidiaries on Thursday and also to become effective on February 19.

Why Must God Damn It?

That title hurts me because I hate even to quote people who call upon the Almighty to damn things, but I must be understood. Yesterday I heard my barber ask God to damn his scissors because they were not cutting properly. I asked him why he asked God to damn them and he didn't know. Do you?

Let's begin with this question: What is the reason why we curse? Actually, profanity is caused by a lust for power. It gives us a sensation of superiority over others and seems to put us in command of the situation. We have the need for such feelings because of our sense of inferiority to others.

If we are honest, we'll have to admit that deep down within us, we feel very weak and uncertain of ourselves. We need power but we do not have it. Yet we need it to get on top of life. The use of God's Name in profanity seems to give us this needed sense of power and superiority.

But now I have another question: Why do people, unconsciously harboring these deep feelings of inferiority, drag the Name of Almighty God in their profanity? Why is God asked to damn things, rather than the mayor, the angels, the preacher or even the devils?

The reason is clear: the curser uses God's Name because it INSULTS God Who has said: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." Just as a traffic-violator has the urge to insult the policeman who gives him a ticket and the judge who fines him, so the sinner wants to insult God by dragging Him off His holy throne, humiliating His Person, mocking His justice and ridiculing His Name. We attempt to degrade God just because we know we are guilty of breaking His Commandments.

We have learned, therefore, that the use of God's Name (not the mayor's name, nor the Devil's) in profanity seems to give us a sense of power over other people. In other words, we feel weak before men but so powerful before God that we even dare to insult Him! Something is terribly wrong with the person who gains power among men by insulting God.

And what is wrong—God tells us! I have nourished and brought up children and they have rebelled against me. Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a seed of evil doers—children that are corrupters. They have forsaken the Lord—Isaiah 1:2, 4 this can mean nothing else than that we have rebelled against God.

I hope you can now see with me that there is only one thing to do—surrender to God. Stop fighting. Seek peace with God on His terms. The Bible says "we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." Romans 5:1. Jesus comes to us with words of forgiveness—a forgiveness accomplished through the sacrifice of Himself on the cross. He finished the work of salvation by paying with His life the penalty of our guilt. He also broke the power of sin over us so that now we need no longer be under the power of sin. If Christ has freed us from guilt and power of sin, it means that we are no longer rebels who desire to insult God. Jesus Christ, therefore, is the answer to our problem. It is my hope and prayer that you will not cast Him aside.

You have used your mouth to curse—I now invite and urge you to confess Jesus Christ as your Savior and Lord, thereby blessing Him with the very lips which once cursed His Name.

Miss Conn Wins 1st in 4-H Drive

Tyrone Martin is pictured presenting the first prize of $20 in uncirculated bi-centennial half-dollars and quarters to Miss Kathy Conn, Maytown Elementary 4-H member, in the Floyd 4-H organization's recent light bulb sales drive.

Miss Conn won county-wide by selling 89 boxes of bulbs, or over $200 worth in the fund drive to help finance the new Irish Acres 4-H camp for Eastern Kentucky 4-H'ers. She is a daughter of the Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Conn, of Hippo. Her 4-H leader at Maytown is Mrs. Jones Tallent.

Martin, himself, a former 4-H'er, posted the first-place prize in support of the new camp.

In each of the county's 4-H clubs, five bi-centennial silver dollars were awarded for first place, with two silver dollars for second place in the respective clubs. First and second place winners listed respectively after club names are as follows:

BONANZA—Dewey Hackworth and Ricky Berga; CLARK—Randal Ousley and Pam Dingus; PRATER—Anthony Conn and Coy Sammons; BETSY LAYNE—Todd O'Brian and Mark Westfall; HAROLD—Melissa Layne, Kenneth Case and Greta Yates; STUMBO—Kenneth Tackett and Stanley Tackett; MARTIN—Terri Bentley and Johnene Reynolds; MAYTOWN—Kathy Conn and Michael Gibson; GARRETT—John Allen and Michael Banks; OSBORNE—Sandy Dorton and Lisa Blankenship; MELVIN—Brenda Little and Steve Helton.

MARTIN COMMUNITY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill L. Frazier of New Albany, Indiana, are announcing the arrival of their second son, Thomas Allen, born January 31 at Kentucky Baptist East Hospital, Louisville. Their other son, James Arthur, is spending this week with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Frazier, of Martin. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gregerson, of Jeffersonville, Ind.

Randy Click, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Click, of Dwight, Illinois, is now making his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Cora Click, and is employed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Mrs. Myrtle Skeans has been ill at her home here.

Mrs. Anna Mae Spencer, Mrs. Dorcus Lafferty and Miss Amanda Lafferty attended this week's meeting of Senior Citizens at Archer Park in Prestonsburg. They carried a lunch with them and enjoyed a time of quilting.

The young people of the Martin Methodist Church attended the MYF District Meeting at the Allen United Methodist Church last week. There were 100 people in attendance who enjoyed gospel music brought by "God's Looking Glass," a singing group from Morehead. Youth minister, Chuck Cooper, brought the devotional.

Mrs. Joan Scalos, of Campbellsville, was a recent houseguest of her mother, Mrs. Anna Mae Spencer.

Willie Holt has been in Lexington for a checkup at UK Medical Center and is much improved.

Martin girls basketball team won a trophy for third place in the Clark Invitational Tournament, Friday, Jan. 30. Team members are Kristi Frye, Anna Whicker, Lisa Hutchinson, Libby Carr, Lisa Spradlin, Karen Crum, Maria Reynolds, Romona Hall, Melinda Hall, Romona Sizemore, Kathy Collins, Patty Reynolds, Venessa Akers, Lolita Baldrige.

A household shower was given for Randy and Donna Hutchinson Wright at the Hut Restaurant, Friday, Jan. 30. They lost their trailer home including all furnishings about two weeks ago in a tornado at Ekron, Ky. They are now living, in Muldraugh, and Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. Jean Hutchinson, has been there the past week helping with the children, Shelly and Sherry, since Mrs. Wright was injured. This is the third trailer home the Wrights have had destroyed by tornadoes in less than 2 years.

MR. AND MRS. PRATER OBSERVE 19TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A luncheon was held Sunday, January 25, at 5:30 p.m. in observance of the 19th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Prater, of Langley, at the home of Mrs. Randy Scarberry.

Hostesses for the occasion were their daughters, Mrs. Faye Scarberry and Mrs. Willa Dean Frasure.

A beautifully decorated cake and other foods were enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Randy Scarberry and son, Eddie, Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Frasure, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Prater, Jean and Mitchell, Jr., and Jackie.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bourbon Thompson, a daughter, Cristi Leigh, on Friday, January 23, at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilhite, of Ligon, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Thompson, of Martin.

U. S. PIANIST WINS CONTEST

MUNICH—Diane Walsh, 24, native of Washington, D. C., has won first prize in the International Piano Competition here. The prize is $2,500 and engagements this season and next in Germany and Austria.

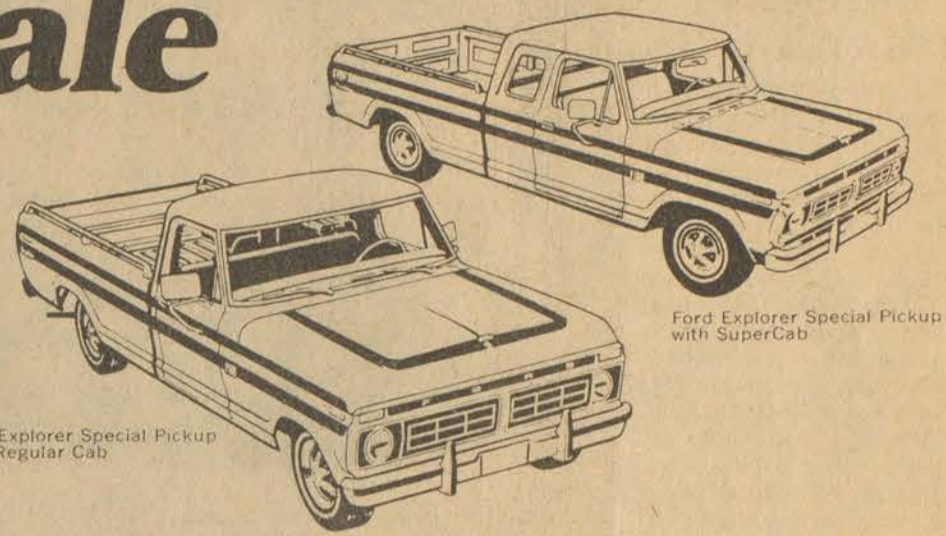

No first prizes were awarded in any of the other competition categories—violin, organ, bassoon and wind quintet.

Reward

I will pay a reward for the return, or information leading to the return, of a pointer (bird dog). White with lemon ears. Lost Oct. 25 in Prestonsburg. Finder return—no questions asked.

Cats Drop Two To County Rivals

The Prestonsburg Blackcats lost two games at home last week, losing Tuesday night to the McDowell Daredevils, 72-68, and Friday night to the Wheelwright Trojans by a score of 69-52.

Leading scorer for McDowell was Bobby Osborne with 29 points. Harold Tackett had 12, Terry Tuttle, 12, and David Grigsby, 11.

Grady Stephens, a leading scorer in three games last week, was again top scorer for the Cats with 17 points. David LeMaster hit for 16 points.

In Wheelwright's defeat of Prestonsburg, Trojan Jeff Riley hit for 23 points, Sheldon Berger, 19, Gary Anderson, 11 and Dewey Jamerson, 11.

David LeMaster took top scoring honors for the Blackcats with 16. David Harmon accounted for 14.

The Blackcats, now with an 8-12 record, play Betsy Layne Tuesday at the Betsy Layne Fieldhouse, and Allen Central, Friday at home.

McDowell Girls Roll Over Feds Cr. 146-21

McDowell, Ky.—Geri Grigsby scored 63 points as her McDowell High School girls' basketball team set a school record for most points in one game with a 146-21 victory over Feds Creek, Saturday night.

McDowell's outburst broke the previous school record of 135 also set against Feds Creek earlier this season. In that game, Grigsby amassed 81 points.

In their second meeting, McDowell led 34-2 at the first quarter, 70-9 at halftime and 112-23 after three quarters. McDowell, tied with Louisville Assumption for the No. 1 ranking in the state, is unbeaten in 19 games.

At McDowell (146)—Grigsby 63, Reid 14, Howell 24, Roberts 19, Martin 10, Carter 10, Caudill 2, Floyd 2, Henson 2.

Feds Creek (21)—Miller 2, Darrell 5, Griffith 7, Williamson 5, Lullivan 2.

Wheelwright Picks Up 12th Win Sat. Night At Allen Central

Saturday night the Wheelwright Trojans traveled to Allen Central where they defeated the Rebels, 77-65.

Leading scorer for the Trojans was Jeff Riley with 29. Sheldon Berger hit for 20, Gary Anderson, 14, Marty Gore, 13 and Bill Younce with 1. Dewey Jamerson was held scoreless as he got into foul trouble, picking up his third foul in the first quarter. Gary Anderson lead in rebounds, turning in 17.

Allen Central was led in scoring by Ricky Pack with 24. Other scorers—Ricky Prater, 17, Wayne Scarberry, 8, Charlie Stone, 1, Delbert Ison, 4, Mike Thorpe, 6, Jeff Ellis, 3, and Gary Howard with 2.

Wheelwright's win over Allen Central and the defeat of Prestonsburg on Friday night upped the Trojans' record to 12-4 for the season. The Trojans will be on the road this week-end, facing Bracken County and Bath County.

Prestonsburg's Mike Dixon (No. 50) attempts a jump shot against Wheelwright defenders Greg Matthews (43) and Roy Johnson (11). The Trojans downed the Blackcats, 69-52.

Central Rebelettes Win One, Lose One

On January 28 the Allen Central Rebelettes hosted a well-coached, but inexperienced Salyersville Five. The Rebelettes led all the way with a 10-3 lead at the end of the first quarter, and a half time lead of 29-7. The Hornets played a good floor game, but had difficulty with shooting. The third quarter ended with 41-10, and the final tally was 53-20.

Kim Hall, senior guard, led all scoring with 18, and Mary Francis and Bonita Compton hit in double figures also.

Individual scoring for the two teams was as follows:

Allen Central Rebelettes—K. Hall, 18; M. Francis, 12; B. Compton, 11; N. Conley, 7; K. Conley, 2; S. Campbell, 2. Salyersville Hornets—V. Howard, 6; T. Holbrook, 5; P. Wages, 4; M. Blanton, 2; D. Bradley, 2; B. Campbell, 1.

Playing Prestonsburg in a hard fought contest on January 29, the Rebelettes were bested 65 to 51. The Rebelettes will meet Millard for a home game February 3 in the Campbell Athletic Center.

Reply To Mr. Robie Skeans

By WILMA Y
Thank you for expressing yourself in the Times about my article, 1976, but you do jump to conclusions. It said nothing about hairstyles. (consult Dr. Norman Peale on that.) No actual picture of Jesus existed but you may be shocked to hear that my favorite painting of him is Sallman's Head of Christ, in which he has long hair, though biblical scholars do not think he did, since Paul condemns long hair in men, and the scriptures are not contradictory; however, Paul said not contend about such. My own hair is short. As for hippies, most persons think they are either dirty loafers or terrorists out to destroy things as some have done. Do you favor such? 1976 defended the casual dress of today.

You ridiculed my use of the word labyrinth, but Webster gives several definitions for it, including its use in my article.

You wrote of love but how much was expressed in your reply? Indeed God is a god of love but he is also one of justice and judgment, and does not forever tolerate wickedness in man or nation. Several years ago "Decision," Dr. Graham's magazine, carried an article on why Christians must hate some things. Scripture says God hated Moses, and Esau. No doubt he hated what each was doing at the time. You denounce fear, though the medical sciences insist certain fears are normal and necessary, and scripture says the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. It contains many passages about fearing God. I am old and ignorant but have read the Bible thru many times, and never do interpret it out of context.

The church is not declining you say. See page 6, Jan. 16th issued of "Christianity Today," in which Dr. Wm. Barclay, internationally known Christian leader says it is, (as does Billy Graham.) In fact, Spurgeon and Moody, and other world-famous Christian authorities insisted the apostasy started near the close of the last century, and present-day church historians claim that the falling away due to characterize the period prior to the rapture and tribulation is in full swing, so who am I to question them?

It is your privilege to support ERA, though women already have the few rights it claims to provide. Senator Sam Ervin called it "the most drastic measure in Senate history." It robs women of many more rights than it provides, and will open wide a Pandora's box of unknown evils. Some entire denominations have gone on record as opposing it. Much propoganda supporting it is misleading. You might read I Peter 3:7; I Cor. 11:3; Ephes. 5:23, and others. I myself was happily married fifty years and firmly believe that no earthly career can provide the rich fulfillment for women that wifehood and motherhood do. After all, the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, indirectly if not directly, for mothers rear both the statesmen (or politicians) as well as the ministers and teachers. One major difficulty is that too many women have forsaken their queenly thrones in homes and families, for the fleeting joys afforded by careers and the world. As for the price being paid what better example can be found than this: women were going to vote and clean up politics. Next, they were going to enter politics themselves, and clean up politics, which has grown more and more corrupt if experts and news media are reliable! We cannot disobey God and get by. His commands and laws never change. They are no less applicable today.

It was nice to read your family tree, too bad you were not named to the Floyd County Hall of Fame. Thanks again, for your article. May God bless you and use you and your wonderful family. When you return to Stephens Branch back home in God's country bring Mrs. Skeans and come see me. It would be a joy to meet both of you. Incidentally, I am not a preacher. I do not believe in women preachers!

Knott School Hit by Blast

Knott county's Beaver Creek Elementary School, recently the center of a dispute between parents and school officials since a bomb threat was telephoned to the school, Jan. 5, sustained heavy damage early Thursday morning after a charge of dynamite was apparently thrown through a window.

The explosion, which reportedly occurred between 3 and 4 a.m., caused extensive damage to an office, the school's kitchen and a storage room. No injuries resulted from the blast.

Knott county schools Supt. Morton Combs said the blast caused a loss of electricity and water in the school. He said the school will be closed until early next week to allow for repairs to restore the services.

"It was more than one stick, you can be sure of that," said state police Capt. James Gay. "There was quite a bit of damage, walls buckled, that kind of thing. There was no fire."

Gay said agents from the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the U. S. Treasury Department were investigating, along with state police detectives.

The recent uproar at the school, which is located a short distance above Wayland, stems from the charge of parents, that the school's principal, Clyde King, and his wife, Louise, the school secretary, erred by not evacuating the building as soon as the Jan. 5 threat was received. The parents want the Kings removed from their positions.

Groups ranging from 30 to 150 parents occupied the school gym, and started a boycott which helped drop attendance at the school, which has an enrollment of 470 pupils, below 100 students. Combs said county schools have been open only six or seven days this month because of bad weather.

Knott Circuit Judge John Chris Cornett issued a restraining order Jan. 15, forbidding parents to gather in the school or to interfere with operation of the school.

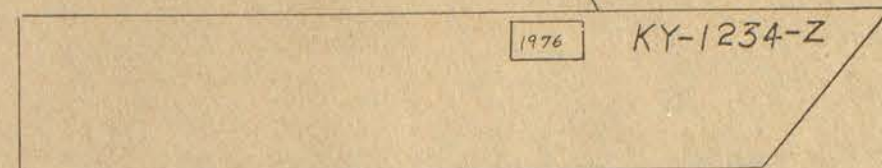

Willie Little, a spokesman for the parents, said last night that protesters will obey the court order but will continue to boycott the school and to seek the Kings' ouster.

Combs has previously expressed confidence in the Kings and indicated he intends to leave them in the Beaver Creek school. However, he declined to repeat that position yesterday.

"I think the Kings are fine people," he said, "but I don't want to say anything that will aggravate the situation."

The Employment Standards Administration of the U. S. Department of Labor enforces laws and regulations setting employment standards, providing workers' compensation to those injured on the job, and requiring federal contractors to provide equal employment opportunity.

New Decal Placement for Boats

In a memorandum received at the Floyd Circuit Court Clerk's office last week, the Kentucky Division of Water Enforcement pointed out that questions have arisen concerning the placement of the 1976 validation decals on boats.

A new regulation which became effective Jan. 1 of this year requires that current-year validation decals be displayed within six inches behind and in line with the certificate of number on the starboard (right hand side) bow of the vessel (see accompanying sketch).

Coal Conversion Not Seen In East Kentucky's Future

Development of a coal-conversion industry in Eastern Kentucky is not envisioned, the administrator of the Kentucky Energy Research Center, Dr. Dee Ashley Akers, was quoted as saying in a story in Sunday's Courier-Journal.

This is said to be due in part to the growing feeling that the region's metallurgical coal should be preserved.

Noted, however, is the fact that a demonstration plant for coal liquefaction—conversion of coal to liquid fuels—is now under construction at a cost of approximately $80 million at Catlettsburg.

Plans are also moving forward for a gasification plant in Pike county which will cost around $10 million.

Dr. Akers expressed great optimism, on the other hand, that a multibillion dollar coal conversion industry will be established in Western Kentucky around a 1,000-acre site which the state had offered for the $237 million Coalcon Company plant which went to Illinois. The Kentucky site is located in Henderson county near Basket, a community of 250 near both the Green and Ohio rivers and was the second choice for the Coalcon plant among 15 in six states which competed for the major plant to convert high sulphur coal to oil and gas.

Akers said two firms are definitely interested in the Basket site for SRC type operations and that these are in the $100 million plus category. Also the state has been working with Texas Gas Transmission Corp., of Owensboro, to build a demonstration plant costing $700 to $800 million in the area of Slaughters, Ky. near the Hopkins-Webster county line.

The Occidental Petroleum Co., Dr. Akers said, is proposing to build a Garrett Process plant which produces fuels in gas, liquid, and solid forms, at a site not yet announced.

Stanley, Goins, Headline Show

A Bluegrass music spectacular Thursday, February 5, at the Betsy Layne Fieldhouse, will feature Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys, pictured above, and the Goins Brothers. Sponsored by the Betsy Layne Band Boosters, the show will begin at 8 p.m. The two popular groups will also headline a show the following night at the Carr Creek Community Center at Pine Top (Knott county).

Three Arrested On Theft Counts

Lucas Moore, of Price, was being held at the county jail here this week in default of $1,500 bond in connection with charges of theft by unlawful taking and unlawful transaction with a minor.

Moore is accused of stealing a 1965 Chevrolet belonging to a Bob Spath. He was arrested by Kentucky State Police Detective Gary Rose, Friday.

Arrested by State Police Detective Rose and County Detective Sam Hale over the past week were Donnie Combs and Rodney Scott, who were charged with receiving and possession of stolen property. The two allegedly assisted in the transporting and selling of a television and stereo belonging to the Right Beaver Food Market to a Mousie resident. The two executed bond the same day of their arrest.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Charles W. Bates, drunk driving, by Wheelwright Marshall and Deputy Marshall Harold and Mildred Bates; Pete Hays, drunk driving, by State Trooper Shelton; Gary L. Gibson, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; Kenneth Bryant, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; Clell M. Patton, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; David C. Johnson, drunk driving, by State Trooper Hardin; William L. VanHoose, drunk driving and no operator's license, by City Policemen Lawson, Trusty and Kelley; Don Columbus Patton, by City Policeman Keith Lawson; Chester Garrett, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, John D. and Danny Martin, and Donnie Gayheart, wanton endangerment in 1st degree, by State Troopers Stephens and Goble.

Burchett Accepts Bridge Award

The bridge over Laurel River Lake on KY 312 in Laurel county was named a winner in the 1975 Prize Bridge Contest conducted by the American Institute of Steel Construction (AISC). In photo, Joe Burchett (right), of Prestonsburg, president of Bush & Burchett Contracting Co., of Frankfort, which was the general contractor for the bridge, accepts the award from state Secretary of Transportation John C. Roberts in ceremonies conducted recently in Frankfort.

Area Trio Being Held In Murders

Two Knott county men, David H. Jacobs, 28, and James E. Amburgey, 34, of Pippa Passes, and 17-year-old Magoffin county girl, Glenna Fay Shepherd, of Gunlock, are being held in Bartholomew county jail, Columbus, Ind., in connection with the death of John Simmons, Jr., 46, of Louisville, whose body was found last Friday along I-65 south of Columbus.

At the same time, the trio has been charged with the death of Janet Whalen, 18-year-old go-go dancer, whose body was found Thursday in a room at the Bobles Motel in Lexington, her throat cut.

Jacobs walked into an Indianapolis police station early Friday and told officers there that he had witnessed both deaths. He said that Amburgey killed Miss Whalen after they picked her up in a Lexington bar.

After leaving the motel, Miss Shepherd, Amburgey, and Jacobs went to Louisville where, according to Jacobs, Amburgey paid Simmons $5 to drive them into Indiana in Simmons' truck. Near Seymour, Ind., Jacobs said Amburgey strangled Simmons with a belt.

After this, according to Jacobs, he, Amburgey and the girl drove to Indianapolis in Simmons' truck Friday morning. There Jacobs said he slipped away from the two at a bus station and took a cab to police headquarters.

Police said Jacobs told them Amburgey had boasted of killing six to eight other persons in Kentucky.

Amburgey and Miss Shepherd were arrested on fugitive charges stemming from the Lexington murder. Indianapolis police found them sleeping on a bench at a downtown Indianapolis bus depot where they are believed to have been waiting for a bus to Louisville. They offered no resistance and Amburgey was not armed although police said Jacobs had told them Amburgey was carrying a stick of dynamite.

SAVE MONEY—PACK A LUNCH
Lunches eaten away from home can take quite a sliver from the food budget, UK Extension specialists in consumer economics point out. Even modest lunches chosen from a restaurant menu at $2.50 a day add up to more than $600 a year over 240 working days—and part of this may go for empty calories such as beverages, tidbits, or desserts. A savings of just $1.00 per lunch can add up to $240 a year—and eating about 200 fewer calories at each lunch can result in weight loss of some 12 pounds during the year!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Message Is Clear—Not Deaf—Just Dumb

Editor, The Times:
After reading your article entitled, "Is a Judge's power unlimited," I would just like to say that you have restored my confidence in Mr. John Q. Public.

For the past few years I have been under the impression that Mr. Public is deaf and dumb. After reading your article, I feel that I must offer half of an apology. No I can see that I have been wrong—Mr. Public isn't deaf after all. Can you really be honest with yourself and still feel that Judge Walters owes the public an explanation? The Judge owes the public nothing! How many young men has this same Judge sent to prison—500—1,000? Has the public ever protested even one of these judgements?

Didn't this same paper just recently praise local jurists for their outstanding ability to make sound decisions? It would appear that your earlier condemnation of the "Bleeding Hearts" was premature. The jurists will fulfill their obligation to the public only when the public opens their eyes and fulfills their obligation to themselves and to the jurists.

As long as the flower of anarchy is nourished it will continue to bloom.

I hope to see this letter printed in The Times.

Cleaver Found Guilty by Jury In Johnson Co.

A Johnson Circuit Court jury last week found George Herman Cleaver, 21, guilty of first degree murder and armed robbery.

The jury, after deliberating for more than five hours, gave Cleaver, 21-year-old Coldwater, Michigan resident, the maximum sentences for both charges—life imprisonment for murder and 20 years for armed robbery.

Cleaver was found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Sandra K. Penix, mother of four children, last May when he attempted to rob the postoffice-grocery which she and her husband operated at Boons Camp.

Cleaver's trial ran five days and the jury heard more than 25 witnesses. Defense attorney James Early had argued a defense of insanity which the jury decided against. Verdict in the trial was unanimous.

Circuit Judge W. B. Hazelrigg, in connection with the case, struck down Kentucky's death penalty statute as "unconstitutional." The ruling was based on the 1972 U. S. Supreme Court's decision striking down death penalty laws, because they granted wide discretion to juries. The decision will be appealed at Hazelrigg's request to the new Kentucky Supreme Court by Commonwealth's Attorney Eugene Rice.

Defense attorney Early, whose client could have faced the death penalty, will argue Hazelrigg's position before the Supreme Court.

Gov. Awards Grant To Continue Office Of Dis. Detective

A grant of $4,500 was recently awarded by the office of Governor Julian Carroll to help maintain the position of district detective for the 31st Judicial District, it was announced last week.

The project had received a favorable recommendation from the Kentucky Crime Commission during its November meeting in Richmond and was submitted to the governor for final approval.

Of the total amount, $3,375 will come from federal Law Enforcement Assistance Authority (LEAA) funds and $1,125 from local matching funds.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said the grant would fund the district detective position until July when the state would assume full responsibility for maintaining the job as outlined in a ruling passed during the last meeting of the state legislature. The legislation, Allen said, will also provide for the hiring of the assistant Commonwealth's Attorney as well as for a secretary to serve the Commonwealth's Attorney's office. The position of district detective, which has existed less than a year, is occupied by Tom G. Halbert, of Martin. Serving the Commonwealth's Attorney's office, it is district detective's duty to assist in investigations and preparation of criminal cases as well as serving subpoenas.

Allen said the district detective had been of invaluable assistance to his office and he also commended Halbert for his contributions in the solving of "several" breaking and entering cases.

A groundhog is a harmless animal but sometimes likes to eat in gardens and croplands.

Overweight Truck Citations up 24%

Frankfort, Ky.—State Secretary of Transportation John C. Roberts has released statistics revealing that the number of overweight coal trucks cited during 1975 increased by more than 24 per cent.

Roberts said that the 72 field officers assigned to the Kentucky Department of Transportation's Division of Highway Enforcement issued 2,792 overweight citations to coal truck operators in 1975 as compared with 2,249 handed out in 1974.

Other citations, for such violations as no Uniform Vehicle Identification Card, improper registration and no Kentucky Fuel Tax License, remained substantially unchanged.

Roby E. Meadows, director of highway enforcement, attributed much of the increase to "increased mining activity across the state."

"We have about the same number of officers on the road as last year, but there are more mines in the state," he said.

Roby also said that overweight citations for trucks hauling material other than coal declined last year from 3,713 in 1974 to 1,596.

He attributed the increase in weight-haul limits enacted by the 1974 legislature as the reason for the drop. The legislation raised the allowable limits from 73,280 to 80,000.

STOCKBROKER URGES WOMEN TO USE THEIR OWN NAMES

NEW YORK—One of the most treasured possessions of a woman is her identity, says Myrna Liebowitz, president of the Women Stockbrokers Assn.

"If they are in business and get married, they shouldn't use their married name," Miss Liebowitz said. "By doing that, they are giving up their identity."

The stockbroker practices what she preaches. She recently married Ken Berger, a successful manufacturer, but insists on using her maiden name in her position at Herzfeld Stern.

"It took me years to build up my name and I don't want to give it up—professionally," she states. "My husband, thank goodness, understands."

P'burg Budget Set at $476,357

A budget totalling more than $60,000 over last year's figure of $415,540 has been adopted by the City of Prestonsburg for 1976.

By far the largest slice of the $476,357 included in this year's city budget will go to the Prestonsburg Police Department which has been allotted a total of $82,296. Policemen's salaries make up $73,736 of this amount with the rest going to equipment and maintenance expenses.

Second in line in terms of amount of funding for 1976 is the city fire department which will receive $65,775.20 for salaries and operating expenses. Salaries will take up $51,875.20 of this total.

The sanitation department this year will operate on the third largest amount in the budget, $54,500. As in most other city departments, most of this total, $40,000, will be paid employees.

Utilities account for the greatest expense ($20,000) included in the $46,722.80 total allotted for the street department. Salaries will take up $11,772.80 of the total.

The balance of the total city budget will go to the following departments, offices, and services:

- City Garage, $22,225; Parks and Recreation, $26,779.20; Public Works, $13,500; Maintenance and Operation of Municipal Building, $3,235; Animal Shelter, $6,000; Parking System, $22,275; Jail Expenses, $6,000; Employees Benefits, $3,600; Planning and Zoning, $5,100; Police Court, $6,575; City Clerk, $13,229.60; City Treasurer and Tax Administrator, $16,779.60; City Manager, $18,639.60; Mayor's Office, $29,275; City Council, $1,650.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our gratitude and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who expressed their sympathy in so many ways upon the passing of our loved one, Mary Beverly Vance. The lovely floral offerings, visitations, words of solace and comfort will long be remembered. We wish to express our appreciation for the efficient service of the Hall Bros. GRETHEL CLUB MEETS

The Grethel Homemakers Club met last Monday at 7 p.m. at the John M. Stumbo school.

Meeting was called to order by Cosetta Newsome, club president, and devotions were led by Mrs. Maisie Anspaugh, who spoke on, "The Grace of Quick Forgiveness."

The lesson for the evening was "Patchwork Items," and Mrs. Frances Pitts displayed many homemade, patchwork projects. She emphasized that this is an Eastern Kentucky art which should be kept alive. Mrs. Frances Pitts assigned each lady to make a patchwork item and bring to the February meeting for display.

The next meeting will be Feb. 23, and the lesson will be, "Sewing With Sweater Knits."

Ladies present were Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, Mrs. Maisie Anspaugh, Mrs. Glenna Evans, Mrs. Arietta Hall, Mrs. Eileen Martin and Mrs. Frances Pitts.

Rebecca Nichols, William Evans, Green Evans, Elizabeth Varney, Jeff McDonald, Theresa Potters Roth, Charles Robert Potters, Donna Potters, Elmer Nichols, Nancy Evans, Jimmy Varney, Mary McDonald and Jimmy Roth . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the January 16 term, 1976 in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 13 day of February 1976 at 10:00 o'clock A.M. same being a day of regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Floyd County, Kentucky and being the same property conveyed to Harry Jarrell by deed recorded in Deed Book 150, page 84, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, which is more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at a high rock a corner of the land of Darwin Scutchfield and Sandy Valley Coal Company; thence south to a black oak; thence south to the corner of the garden; thence with the garden fence to opposite a well including a six foot lane, out to two feet beyond the well; thence a straight line to the road, thence running with the drain to the forks of same, thence with the left fork of said drain a straight line to a hickory tree on top of the ridge, thence turning left around the ridge adjoining the John G. Johns property, thence with the center of the ridge to a low gap known as the Nowhere Gap, thence following the ridge to a high point adjoining the property of Frank Whitt and John G. Johns, thence following the ridge through another low gap to the point of beginning, containing forty acres, more or less.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of the late Harry Jarrell and Betty Jarrell.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $490.00 with interest thereon at 6 pct. annually from the 16 day of January 1976 until satisfied and the sum of $1,173.79 with interest thereon at 6 pct. per annum from January 16, 1976 and costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 26 day of January 1976.

A Person Who Thinks He Knows His Onions

By RALPH HALL

Numbers 11:5 We remember the onions the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely, the cucumbers and the melons, and the leeks and the onions, and the garlic.

Here we find a people who had been slaves to the Egyptians for four hundred and twenty years. God had brought them out of slavery, and promised them a land that flowed with milk, and honey. They could not trust God to take care of them. All they could think of was food. God even fed them with food from heaven; this still was not enough. The children of Israel sat down to eat and rose up to play. We could say Israel thought they knew their onions. This got them in trouble with God, and for forty years they wandered in the wilderness.

(I Sam. 13:13) And Samuel said to Saul thou hast done foolishly, thou hast not kept the commandment of the Lord thy God. Which he commands for now would the Lord established thy Kingdom upon Israel for ever.

Saul was a foolish king he would not keep the word of God so God took his kingdom from him. We could say that Saul was a rebellious and stubborn and he rejected the word of God and God rejected him from being king. (Sam. 15:23) This man thought he knew his onions and lost his kingdom forever.

David was a man after God's heart, but one day he saw a woman taking a bath. He wanted that woman so he sent for her not caring that she was another man's wife. So the woman came to David, and David thinking he knew his onions had the woman's husband, who was a soldier in David's army put in the front line of the hottest battle. He told them over him to make sure he did not return. So the man was killed. David sinned.

(II Sam. 11:14-15)

So God sent the prophet Nathan to talk to David. Nathan told him a story about a man who only had this one little lamb. And how another man took it from him. After David heard the story he said that man will die, and Nathan said you are that man David. David thought he knew his onions, and sinned against God. (II Sam. 12:1-9)

Balaam makes a big mistake against God. (Num. 22:30-31) And the ass said unto Balaam am not I thine ass, upon which thou hast ridden ever since I was thine unto this day? Was I ever wont to do so unto thee? And he said, Nay.

"Then the Lord opened the eye of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the Lord standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face.

Here was a man who was going to go over God if he could. I guess it was from Balaam that we get the saying as stubborn as a mule. How many of us are like that trying to get our way no matter what the price may be. The mule knew more about his onions than Balaam. How many today are there in the Church that knows more than the Assembly?

Jonah (1:3)

But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish, so he paid the fare thereof and went down into it to go with them unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord.

The things that some people will do to try to get away from the will of God.

Jonah just made things hard on himself running from God. No matter where you go you cannot get away from the presence of God.

Belshazzar the king thought he knew his onions. So one day he got drunk at a party he had given, and he remembered the vessels of God that had been sanctified unto God. He sent for them and drank wine from them. A hand began to write on the wall. None of the people who knew their onions so they thought could tell the king what the writing meant. But there was a man in his kingdom who had the spirit of God in his life—Daniel. He was sent for and told the king that his kingdom would be taken from him, and that his life was weighed in the balances, and he was found wanting. (Dan. 5:25-31) Any time you put your hand against God you are in trouble.

Paul put his hand against God, and the Church. God let him go for a little space, but one day Paul wanted to put a stop to the church. He even went to the high priest to get a letter to do away with the Church.

He knew he was doing the right thing, but how wrong he was. Knowing his onions caused him to fall to the ground come up blind and have to be led away by those who were with him. Now we find the man who was going to bring the church in chains, being led away blind. God told him where to go and what to do when he got there, and how this man of high up had been brought low. He had to go to one of the very people he was going to do in for help. How many times is it that way in our lives. (Acts 9:10)

A person who really knows his onions is a person who gets saved, and in the Church.

Ecll. 12:3-4 Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter—Fear God and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of a man.

"For God shall bring every work into judgement, with every secret thing whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Let us not think we know too much. We need to be led by the Holy Ghost.
