

Chair Lift Wins Court Pay Award

High Court Rules State Must Honor Agreed Settlement

Reversing the Franklin circuit court, the state Supreme Court last Friday held that the state must honor the $127,100 settlement it had reached with Ed Music, of Prestonsburg, and the Cumberland Chair Lift, Inc. for expenses incurred in equipment and labor when chair-lift installation was begun in early 1974 at Cumberland Falls.

The project was instituted under a contract awarded the Prestonsburg-based firm by Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnaon and Finance Commissioner Charles Pryor during the administration of Gov. Wendell H. Ford. Under heavy fire from environmentalists after the firm had materials on the ground, clearing and other work done, Governor Ford cancelled the contract on the grounds that the chair-lift was in violation of the state Wild Rivers Act.

Cumberland Chair Lift sued the state, and five days before Governor Ford left Frankfort to become U. S. Senator an out-of-court settlement was reached, providing the payment of the firm's expenses in the amount of $127,100.

When Gov. Julian Carroll took office as Ford's successor he stopped payment on the check issued to Cumberland Chair Lift and sued to set aside the agreed judgment. The Franklin circuit court set it aside, but last week's Supreme Court decision held that the state must abide by terms of the settlement.

The Supreme Court opinion noted that the lower court did not find any fraud or bad faith in the contract matter. It added:

"It (also) must be remembered that the agreed judgement did not accomplish

Trial of Charles On Murder Charge To Begin Thursday

The first, and perhaps the only, murder trial of the current circuit court term is scheduled to begin here tomorrow (Thursday) when Johnny Wayne Charles goes on trial for the slaying of Bill Adkins.

The court session was interrupted the first half of last week by the sudden death of court reporter, Mrs. Mary Irene James Spears.

In the only trial Monday the jury held guilty John Turner and Ruby Carol Butcher who were charged with possession of intoxicating beverages for the purpose of sale. First-time offenders, they were given the maximum penalty—a fine of $100 and 60 days in jail.

Reclamation Field Office Here To Lose Counties, Get Engineer

The Prestonsburg field office, Division of Reclamation, will lose 10 counties from its supervision in the announced plans of the state to "more evenly distribute the work-load among area offices" and to help handle the increased mining in Eastern Kentucky.

The Prestonsburg office reportedly will have the supervision of only four counties—Floyd, Martin, Magoffin and Johnson. The counties previously served by the office here and to be cut off to comprise an area to be supervised by a new office at Grayson and Boyd, Greenup, Carter, Lewis, Lawrence, Rowan, Elliott, Morgan, Menifee and Powell. Wolfe, another county in this district, is being cut into the Hazard district.

Nevard Wells, supervisor of the Prestonsburg office, said Monday that he has had no official word on division plans but that he expects the assignment of James Trammel, a Paintsville native, as area engineer in the office here to mean that Trammel will be in charge of the office. He commented that the assignment of an area engineer to the work here "will be a big help." His arrival here is expected around May 15.

The realignment of counties to area offices adds to the Hazard field office three counties from the Middlesboro district and assigns several counties now being served from Hazard to a new office being established at London.

Although the new Grayson office will be supervising strip-mining in more counties than any other in Eastern Kentucky, most of its counties are not heavy coal producers. Pike county, the biggest, has its own reclamation office.

Ralph Waddle, director of reclamation, said present area supervisors will be retained. He added that the assignment of area engineers was being made, since most the problems are related to engineering.

Trammel, the engineer assigned here, is a registered professional engineer who has worked in the design division of the Department of Transportation and before his transfer to the Frankfort central office worked on Pikeville area projects.

Board of Ed. Awards Martin School Work Bid

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Saturday accepted the apparent low bid of Barco, Inc., of Lexington, on complete renovation of the Martin Elementary School.

Barco's bid, lowest of two submitted, was for $358,947. The other bid offered, that of the Debon Construction Co., Ashland, asked $420,600 for the job.

The Martin school renovation will include a complete plumbing overhaul, a new heating system, a new electrical system, lowered ceilings, tile floors, new metal doors and interior painting.

Completion of the work is expected before the opening of the next school term.

The board accepted the resignations of Marcus Owens, supervisor, and Hazel Lafferty, teacher, effective at the end of the current school year. Both plan retirement. Mr. Owens, a principal and classroom teacher 25 years and supervisor for the last 12 years, said of his resignation:

"I'm promoting myself—to the farm." Mrs. Lafferty, a teacher of at least 30 years' experience, came into the Floyd system about five years ago. She is employed in the Prestonsburg schools.

When the Weeksbury school was closed about two years ago, the board of education directed that eighth-grade pupils there attend the Osborne Elementary School, but at Saturday's meeting it approved the teaching of the eighth grade at the nearer Melvin school.

Carl Duff and Dolvin Ratliff were employed as school bus drivers.

Strip-Mine Protesters Plan Martin Meeting

A "strategy" meeting of residents of the Martin area who oppose efforts of the B. & H. Elkhorn Coal Company to strip mine tracts of land situated near the community will be held Friday at 7 p.m. in the Martin Grade School auditorium.

The meeting has been called, according to the Rev. Dan Heintzelman, of Martin, spokesman for the citizens' group, in preparation for a public hearing with officials of the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, which will be held May 11 at Martin.

Three Charged In Frazier's Cr. Liquor Actions

Simultaneous raids by sheriff's department officers in the Frazier Creek section, near McDowell Friday, resulted in the arrest of three men on charges of possession of alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale.

Phillip Roger Hamilton and Guy F. Jones were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, Linzie Hunt, J. D. and Melvin Martin, while Kent Lambert was arrested on another section of the creek by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Denver Spurlock. A sizeable quantity of beer was said to have been netted as a result of the raids.

Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Denver Spurlock and Prestonsburg Policemen Kelly and Holt seized an additional quantity of beer in separate actions which resulted in the arrest of two juveniles for illegal possession.

Meade Death Held Accident

Herbert Meade, 21-year-old Harold man, was almost instantly killed at Stanville last Thursday when a heavy truck used in a strip-mining operation was accidentally driven over his body.

Coroner James J. Carter, who was called to the scene of the tragedy, said his investigation disclosed that Meade, a mechanic's helper, was beneath the truck making an oil check when the truckdriver, apparently unaware that Meade was under the truck, started the vehicle, crushing Meade's chest. The fatality was referred to as an accident, and no charge was lodged against the driver, Don Robinson, of Larkslane, Knott county. Both men were employed by the Greer Coal Company, which was listed as an affiliate of the Greer Brothers Construction Company.

A native of Martin, the victim was a son of Mrs. Anna Elliott Meade, of Harold, and the late Willie Meade. He was a member of the Church of Christ. Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Mrs. Lona Ruth Newsome Meade; one stepdaughter, Grete Lynn Tackett, of Harold; six brothers, Duard, Doyle, Gary and Hubert Meade, all of Harold, Wendell Meade, of Tram, and Warren G. Meade, Magnolia, Texas; and two sisters, Mrs. Sharon Gearheart, of Harold, and Miss Colleen Meade, of Harold.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m. Sunday from the Upper Toler Church of Christ, ministers of that church officiating. Burial in the Meade cemetery at Printer was directed by the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

College Here To Graduate 104; Murray President To Speak

The 11th annual Commencement exercises of Prestonsburg Community College will be held Thursday, May 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre. Prestonsburg High School gymnasium will be the alternate graduation location in case of inclement weather.

One hundred four students will receive degrees at the commencement.

The graduation speaker will be Dr. Constantine W. Curris, president of Murray State University.

When Dr. Curris took office as the sixth President of Murray State University on September 15, 1973 at the age of 32, he became the youngest president of a major college or university in Kentucky history.

A native of Grant county, Ky., he holds degrees from the University of Illinois and the University of Kentucky. He has held deanships and vice-presidencies at Midway Junior College, Marshall University, and the West Virginia Institute of Technology.

Hall Out, Sanitation Post Open

Fiscal Court Splits On His Successor; Treasurer Named

The Floyd fiscal court succeeded at its meeting Monday in terminating the employment of its county sanitation inspector, Charles Hall, effective May 15, but two subsequent attempts to name a successor failed.

First of all, Hall's dismissal was by a split vote, with Magistrates Bill Wells and Dewey Roberts and County Judge Henry Stumbo voting for the move, Magistrates Kenneth Roberts and Leroy Akers voting against it. Then, when Magistrate Dewey Roberts proposed the hiring of Paul D. Tackett as Hall's successor, his motion failed to receive a second. The motion of Magistrate Wells to employ Jack Scott was later defeated, Wells and Magistrate Akers voting for his motion and the Magistrates Roberts and Judge Stumbo opposing.

David D. Allen, of Prestonsburg, was named county treasurer for a period of four years, succeeding W. J. May, who retired, effective May 1. The treasurer's salary was increased from $300 to $400 a month. Mr. Allen executed $125,000 bond.

The court unanimously voted a 5 per cent salary increase for the magistrates, retroactive to Jan. 1, this year. The order pointed out that the increase is in compliance with state law.

The court authorized County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson to advertise for bids on road-drainage materials, bids to be opened May 24. Materials sought include 50 railroad tank cars, each 6½ to 7½ feet in diameter and 31 to 32 feet in length and 290 20-foot pieces of treated galvanized pipe, diameters ranging from 36 to 15 inches.

The court moved toward locating a new site for the county highway garage, authorizing Judge Stumbo to find a lot at least an acre in size for that purpose.

After agreeing to appropriate $4,000 from its Coal-Producing County Development Fund toward emergency

Boat Dock May Open Next Week

The Jenny Wiley boat dock may be opened next week for rental of slips to boat-owners, it was indicated Tuesday by George Barker, head of the dock division for the State Department of Parks.

Mr. Barker, who had arrived at May Lodge only a short time earlier, said a quick look at the reconstruction work in the dock area gave hope of opening of the dock itself by that time, although considerable work remains to be done on the $750,000 project as a whole.

Surfacing of two access roads on either side of the dock area, completion of the dock structure itself, landscaping and seeding are among the work-items yet to be completed.

The covered section of the dock which was blown downlake and damaged by wind will, hopefully, be rebuilt, Mr. Barker said. This depends, he added, upon an insurance settlement.

Although a firm commitment was not made, it was also indicated that the rental rate for boats will be $1 per foot-length of the boat, which is, essentially, the same as last year's rates.

A Job for Government

A recent television program featured the plight of a small Ohio town and its residents as the federal government demanded that its heavy pollution of a nearby stream from the septic tanks in use there be stopped by the construction of sewers and sewage treatment facilities at a cost of three millions of dollars, or more.

The people propose to defy the government order. They admit the need of cleanup but point out that their share of the cost will run around $1200 per property-owner. And, they say, these property-owners are mainly retired people or individuals with low fixed incomes who cannot bear the financial burden.

The situation is not peculiar to this Ohio town; it exists across the United States.

Along the Big Sandy River, for instance, county-seat towns with greater resources have complied, or are complying, with federal and state demands for sewerage and sewage treatment. But scores of other communities along the river have no facilities of the sort and are either using septic tanks or are pouring their untreated sewage directly into the river. This means that the meeting of environmental standards by the few larger towns in the valley fails to provide the water quality that must be attained if the much-publicized water standards are to mean anything.

But these small communities are in the same position as that of the Ohio town—only, they not yet have been told they must do something to correct the situation. When they are told to construct sewer systems and build sewage treatment plants, what answer can they make? And if they are not told to do so, why require larger communities to spend millions in compliance with what has become an "alleged" national cleanup?

Construction of new water systems is annually compounding the violations against the environment. The population growth in this and other area portends more stream pollution than ever.

What is the answer? The federal government, or the state, may issue orders, make demands, threaten and even crack down on homeowners. But if small towns and their inhabitants cannot by any stretch of the imagination raise the money required for compliance, what is to be done?

Government must pick up the tab. More government spending. No other way. For the taxpayers of the country to bear the load for all these scattered villages and towns across the land isn't fair, you say? Perhaps—but what is the alternative?

If tax monies are not so spent, a bad situation will grow worse with population growth. The alternative, then, could be rivers of filth, sewage-saturated soil and a stinking, disease-laden atmosphere.

Don't Blame the Teachers

(Wall Street Journal)

The New York State Board of Regents recently voted to require all students in the state to pass ninth grade level reading and mathematics examinations as a condition for receiving a high school diploma. While that may not sound very stringent, the new regulations represent a significant tightening up of current requirements.

New York City, for example, demands only an eighth grade reading level, and even that is largely pro forma. Moreover, the city's Board of Higher Education is bitterly divided over a proposal that opponents brand as heartless: Namely, restricting admissions to the city university by imposing eighth grade reading requirements.

The state regulations are symptomatic of an apparent general tightening up on educational requirements around the country. Many school districts are for the first time beginning to ask why Johnny can't read, write or spell, and some districts are talking about holding teachers responsible for failure of their students to meet reading and mathematical skills standards.

The general trend can be welcomed, but while it is fair enough to hold teachers to certain performance standards—assuming that such standards can be devised—blaming them for broad educational deficiencies is clearly unfair. They themselves often are victims of social attitudes that demand that non-achievement be rewarded equally with achievement and that trouble-makers and malingers pay no penalty for disrupting classes.

A recent federal government study has shown that teachers are all too often victims of attacks, vandalism, muggings and assorted other physical assaults that have turned many schools into battlegrounds. Few people, no matter how well prepared or motivated, can teach under such disruptive and demoralizing conditions.

The decline in the educational level in large part mirrors the failure of society to cope with broader social problems. But it is not enough simply to leave it at that. Teachers and administrators cannot work miracles, nor should they be expected to succeed where parents, clergymen and policemen have failed.

The way to preserve an acceptable educational level is by imposing realistic standards, offering each student the opportunity to attain them and penalizing those who do not have an inclination toward attainment.

renovation of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, a public hearing on the proposed expenditure was set at the courthouse at 10 a.m., May 24. The money is proposed to be used for the purchase of materials for a new roof and interior repair of the building. The project, while not directly pertaining to an industrial or recreational project, will significantly increase the county's level of vital health and emergency services and thereby enhance the county's industrial development prospects, the court held.

Heintzelman said the Lexington-based coal firm has applied for strip permits in the Finance Hollow, Becky Clark Branch, Rice Branch and Route 80 sections around Martin. "All of these areas are heavily populated," the Rev. Heintzelman pointed out, "and we believe a great deal of damage to property would result from any sort of stripping operations in these areas."

Heintzelman said a petition has been circulated and photographs have been taken in the areas to show property which, he claims, would be threatened by strip mining.

Clark PTA Slates May 8th Carnival

The Clark Elementary School P.T.A. will sponsor a spring carnival, May 8, from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m. Proceeds will be used to purchase duplicating paper and fluid for the coming school year.

Mrs. Judy Frasure, P.T.A. president, said there will be games and prizes for every member of the family. There will be several booths of games and concession stands where hot dogs, popcorn, candy apples, cup cakes, ice cream and soft drinks will be available throughout the evening. The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the King, Queen, Prince and Princess at 8 o'clock.

The P.T.A. sponsored carnivals, both Hallowe'en and spring, have become a yearly event at Clark school. In the past, funds have been used for such things as window shades for the school, stage curtains, air-conditioning units, blacktop for the parking lot, sidewalk awnings, individual-type film strip projectors, as well as reading workbooks and supplies for the children.

"Since the school charges no fees for any activities the children are involved in, this offers a very good way for parents to help pay for those 'extras' the youngsters are involved in," Mrs. Frasure said.

The Floyd County Fair Board recently voted to construct a building, 36 by 200 feet at the Municipal Park here as a permanent home for the county fair. A large-scale attack on the problem of sanitation and a general health and community beautification program is scheduled to begin at Ligon, May 16 under the auspices of the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program. The Floyd fiscal court unanimously voted Monday an $8,988.96 appropriation to carry on the work of the Floyd County Health Department during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Today (Thursday) was proclaimed by County Judge Henry Stumbo a day of mourning in Floyd county as the burial of Kentucky's most famous son, Alben W. Barkley, was being made at Paducah. 16-year-old Sparkle Gayheart, of Garrett, won the title of "Miss Floyd County" at the Strand Theatre last Friday. David L. Francis, president of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Co., David, has been elected to a two-year term as director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Gale Thompson, a daughter, Gailenna Ruth, April 25 at the Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: John W. Prater, 65, of Hueysville, Sunday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; Foster Anderson, 42, Friday at the Prestonsburg General hospital from injuries suffered in a car wreck at Goodloe, three days earlier; Mrs. Edna Cleveger Huff, 53, formerly of West Prestonsburg, April 24 in Ft. Pierce, Florida.

Agreement reached here Friday between the Floyd fiscal court and the State Highway Department on expenditure of the county's $72,800 rural highway fund for the year provides that $46,677 will be spent in the county's four magisterial districts in the construction of four new up-the-creek roads and two bridges. The two strike directly affecting this section, in which coal production and bus transportation have been brought to a standstill, apparently remained this week as far distant from settlement as ever. Estill Collins, of Martin, was shot through the arm late Tuesday night at Martin. Prestonsburg high school's Ballard Branham pitched a no-hit, no-run game Friday against the visiting Russell high school baseball team. All Class I railroads joined April 15 in a petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission asking for authority to increase freight rates on bituminous coal. Fire, Friday, destroyed a small house, owned by J. E. Conley off Friend street and occupied by Elige Blanton and family. Deadline for procuring permits to keep hogs in incorporated towns of this county had been set for May 15, Dr. Marvin Ransdall announced this week. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Jones Tallent, of Maytown, a son, Robert Jones Tallent, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; to Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dermont, of Martin, a daughter, Teresa Joyce, April 25 at the Gearheart hospital. There died: Jake Shepherd, 69, who sold to the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company the site for its mining town of David, April 23 at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington; Mrs. Susan Reed, 84, at home on Brush Creek near Hippo, Saturday; John Wesley Stratton, 91, at home at Ivel, Sunday; Miss Ann Thornsby, 28, at the home of her parents at Lackey, Sunday.

Motion of counsel for John Scott to permit the filing on May 1 of his appeal from the decision of Circuit Judge John W. Caudill holding that neither he nor Dewey Roberts, who is contesting Scott's election as Magistrate in District No. 4, is entitled to the office, was granted by the Court of Appeals a few days ago. Bids on the construction of an addition to the Floyd county courthouse are being asked by the Floyd County Building Committee this week. While riding the running board of an automobile, Lonnie Tackett, 22 years old, of Melvin, was struck and killed by a truck, Saturday night, a short distance above Wheelwright. A. J. "Uncle" Andy Frazier, 96 years old, who, during the Civil War, carried General Lee's message ordering the famous charge at Gettysburg of General Pickett, died Wednesday morning at his home at Prestonsburg. Six men have been convicted here within the last week of committing offenses on or against the property of the C. & O. Railway Company. Cooperating with the Floyd county health department in its annual clean-up, paint-up drive here, Mayor A. C. Carter has designated the week beginning May 4 as Clean-Up week in Prestonsburg. There died: T. P. Branham, 44, mine foreman for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland, Saturday at the Paintsville hospital; Prof. N. C. Boughton, principal of Prestonsburg high school, Sunday night at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Mrs. Minerva Clifton, at her home here, last Thursday; Luther Bentley, 24, of Lackey, Wednesday at Martin; Dona Hunter, 49, of McDowell, Wednesday.

Summer Camp for Boy Scouts Expected To Draw over 200

As the days begin to get longer, Scouts in Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, look forward to summer camp adventure at Camp Shawnee, in the headwaters area of Dewey Lake.

More than 200 Scouts are expected to take part in the week-long training experiences between June 20 and July 10, according to Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, Council camping chairman.

"The adventure that a Scout has in summer camp depends on many factors," Leach said, "but one of the most important is boy involvement in program planning, in competitive events, and in his own growth and development."

Among the activities that Scouts find at Camp Shawnee are archery, sailing, swimming instruction, nature study, handicrafts, rocket firing, and enough additional activities and games to keep any boy, ages 11 to 17, active and interested for an entire week.

Leach said that the members of the camp staff for the three-week season are carefully selected and are skillful in their relationship to boys and in helping leaders be effective in administering the troop program at camp.

William E. Shambora, district executive, Lonesome Pine Council, will serve as camp director during the entire 1976 camping season. Shambora has surrounded himself with a very competent staff made up of qualified and experienced personnel from Indiana, Kentucky, Utah, and Virginia.

Shambora said he is presently negotiating with the Kentucky Department of Education to provide camping experiences at lower costs in order that boys from low-income families may attend camp.

The final two weeks of camp operation, July 11 through July 24, has been reserved to provide camping experiences for handicapped children, both boys and girls. Shambora said that this would be a continuation of the program first conducted by the council during the summer of 1975.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Replies to Minister

After reading the letter from Rev. Martin, I felt that I should give a reply. In reference to his foreign aid statement, what would Rev. Martin advocate? Complete elimination so the people in India, Peru and others in the third world countries can starve? What about Israel?

Next, Rev. Martin states that, "Rhodesia, . . . is anti-communist, pro-American and a free country." It may be free for the white minority, but for the Black majority it's slavery!

Does Rev. Martin advocate that the United States of America, cradle of liberty, democracy and majority rule, should support and aid a minority, racist and dictatorial regime? Would he like to reinstate slavery in Martin, Ky.?

As a college student I have read and studied about the Red Scare of the 1920's and the McCarthy era in the late 1940's and thru the 1950's. However, I would never have thought that I'd find this same feeling in Floyd County, being expressed by a preacher!

A Double Standard Of Justice

Quoting from The Floyd County Times: "Coal Truck Citations Up, Convictions Low." Johnson county is holding true to its record in virtually no convictions for coal trucks.

Again quoting from the Floyd County Times: "There were only two convictions of 313 cited, with 288 of those being coal trucks." The total fines were $73.50, according to The Times.

I would like to see a comparison of convictions of 288 citations given to the small vehicle operator with the 288 citations given to the coal trucks. I would venture to say it would be more than 2 to 288. We seem to have two standards of justice—one for the public and one for the coal truck drivers. There are too many violations by these trucks for our law enforcement officers not to see and enforce. All truck drivers are not guilty of these things, I admire the skill of a great per cent of these drivers; however, there are those who will tailgate within five feet of one's bumper, pass on curves, speed over the limit, and most all are over-loading and endangering the driving public, also people living along the roadways. To see proof of this, just drive along Route 40 and look in my yard. Children are not safe playing in their own yards for lumps of coal weighing several pounds rolling off these speeding trucks and coming into yards with great force.

Is a minute gained or an extra pound of coal hauled worth someone's life or someone maimed for life? Let us apply the same justice to all, not the double standard of justice President Ford applied to Nixon.

Apprenticeship information centers in 30 local offices of the federal-state employment service system placed nearly 9,000 persons in apprenticeships, including more than 1,700 minority group applicants, during the 1975 fiscal year, according to the annual report of the U. S. Department of Labor.

any violation of the Wild Rivers Act, the purpose of which act is to preserve ecological values," the high court said. "The agreed judgment provided only for payment in settlement of a claim in litigation.

"The fact that the state would not pay what it had agreed to pay does not strike us as being a reason of any nature . . . to justify setting aside the judgment.

"The fact that the contract may have been unlawful is not significant; it would have had to be found undisputably and undoubtedly illegal."

Commenting on the Supreme Court decision, Governor Carroll said, "I ordered the check to be retained and not delivered, in that I believed the public interest demanded that I not pay such a sum in voluntary settlement of the controversy unless ordered to do so by the court. The court has now ruled that Mr. Music is entitled to the $127,000. Therefore, the sum will be paid as ordered."

THE MATTER OF NAMES

Almost every week this newspaper in justice to the innocent publishes notes to the effect that the person listed in the preceding week's edition as having fallen afoul of the law is not the person of the same name who resides at such-and-such postoffice. This similarity of names causes headaches for all concerned. But if you think this is peculiar to our county, consider the following which my friend, Homer Salisbury, culled from a recent newspaper and sent to me:

"Officials of the Associated Press have notified editors throughout the country that the following is no joke and even true: Richard Nixon was arrested in Pittsburgh by a policeman named George Washington. (Nixon was charged with possession of suspected marijuana, police said, which might prove to be after further examination, of course, nothing more than a bunch of dried marigolds.) Oh, one more thing. At the time of the arrest, Washington's usual partner, officer Benjamin Franklin, was home sick."

WE BECOME 'ACCLIMATED'

A few years ago, an Army veteran who had spent months in India during World War II told a group of us about walking the streets of Calcutta and of his horror at seeing a man dying of starvation outside a restaurant where the more fortunate dined. He spoke of seeing men step over the starving as they lay in extremis on Calcutta sidewalks.

This veteran had some sleepless hours before beholding what at the time seemed to him the utter heartlessness of men. But the time came when he was not so shocked. As he walked the streets, day after day, and saw not one but many beggars dying while others skirted them or stepped gingerly over them, emotional scar upon emotional scar formed a callous, and he lost his sense of pity. Oh, well, they're going to starve, whatever I feel or do, so . . . He became "acclimated."

The same thing is happening to a lot of people, these days, in another sphere. You and I are not nearly so rudely shocked today by those short, ugly words that turn up in print as we were, say, five years ago. We've had such a steady diet that we're becoming acclimated. The violence on television, in the movies, the pornography—hour after hour, day after day, and drop by drop wears away the stone or forms one.

It would be less of a tragedy if all this didn't begin even in textbooks, feeding the young mind on pure filth and suggestions of violence.

UMW 3c Per Hour Increase Set May 1

All United Mine Workers coal miners and mine construction workers will receive a cost-of-living wage increase of 3c per hour, starting after May 1, UMW Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick announced last week.

Patrick said the 3c per hour increase would bring the total cost-of-living increase paid to date under the 1974 contract to 39c per hour. Because the rate of inflation from December to March has decreased significantly, the cost-of-living adjustment for this period was not as high as the maximum possible.

Patrick said that the 39c per hour cost-of-living increase after May 1 should be calculated for all overtime and premium time hours worked. The total cost-of-living adjustment paid for regular overtime work after May 1 is 58.5c; for double time work 78c per hour; and for triple time work $1.17 per hour, Patrick said.

Sammons Named "Great Teacher" For Fourth Consecutive Year

For an unprecedented four consecutive years the Great Teacher Award annually conferred by the student body of Prestonsburg Community College has gone to John D. Sammons, associate professor of mathematics, and chairman of the Division of Physical Sciences.

Enumerating reasons for the Prestonsburg native's selection for the honor this year, the college newspaper, The Highlander, pointed out that he is:

- Generous with his time with students, "continuously having help sessions," and has the ability to present a difficult topic so that students can understand it.
- Serves as a mathematics consultant for the area in and around the college, developing ways to help individuals and groups improve mathematics skills and dealing with group and individual problems.
- Involved in many college and community activities, including the Mountain Dew Festival and the PCC Chess Society which he organized.

Gov. Carroll Sees Tourism, Agriculture Gains in State

Optimism about Kentucky's future industrial and economic growth was the general theme of Gov. Julian Carroll and other speakers at the Governor's Industry Appreciation Luncheon held in Louisville, April 28.

Gov. Carroll told a luncheon crowd of about 500 at the Bluegrass Convention Center that his expectations for Kentucky's brightening economic picture include not only growing, industrial development but an income from tourism approaching one billion dollars annually and an equal income from agriculture. Gov. Carroll said the state's agricultural income is already equal to that from tourism and has the potential to triple in the next few years.

The governor also said coal would continue to be tremendously important to the welfare of the Commonwealth and renewed his pledge that the coal industry will have first-class status while it maintains sound environmental practices.

Gov. Carroll pointed out another area of growth not to be overlooked is Kentucky's horse breeding and racing industry. One example of Kentucky's expanding prestige in this area he said, is the decision for the World Three-Day Event Championships to be held at the Kentucky State Horse Park in Lexington in 1978.

Gov. Carroll told the group "a new aggressiveness" marked Kentucky's spirit in the development of its industrial, economic and natural resources. Those present included representatives of 49 industries that have located in the state during the past year and representatives of 213 Kentucky industries which have expanded.

Examples of the new spirit he said, are the state's recent decision to locate an office in Western Europe as well as the east and west coasts of this country; and a recently announced mission he is leading to attract Japanese investment in Kentucky.

The governor said that some of these ideas have been tried before, "perhaps without much success," but that the state is now ready for such efforts aimed toward securing Kentucky's "rightful share" of U.S. and world market investment dollars.

Gov. Carroll said an invitation has been received from Brazil to explore increased investment and trade opportunities with that country.

State Development Secretary William L. Short; John Young Brown, Jr., chairman of the Governor's Economic Development Commission; and Commerce Commissioner Larry G. Townsend joined Gov. Carroll in commending the state's new and expanding industries and echoed his feeling of optimism.

The governor told the luncheon guests he will hold the first of four major governor's conferences this fall. It will focus on the economic development of Kentucky. The three subsequent annual conferences will deal with education, welfare and Kentucky state government respectively.

Carter County's Ambulance Service, A Model in Rural Emergency Care

WHEN THE GOING GETS ROUGH (above) the Carter County ambulance can go no farther, so Charles Seagraves, trained ambulance driver, must carry oxygen and medical necessities the rest of the way to an emergency victim. Carter County's emergency medical service, run by the County and funded by the state Department for Human Resources and federal and local monies, is a lifesaver, as Willie Burnett and his wife Ruby (right) can attest. Two years ago, a team of ambulance drivers "brought Willie back to life" from a severe heart attack. Now, able to enjoy a spring day on the porch of their hillside home, the Burnetts are two of the ambulance service's biggest fans.

Grayson, Ky.—Gaining critical seconds, a Carter county ambulance, sirens blaring, picks up speed. If headed for the Appalachian foothills that cover Carter county, the ambulance will soon slow to a tedious crawl. There, the road dips, climbs and curves; narrowing and becoming steeper as the vehicle penetrates the mountains. Those magnificent mountains become menacing barriers between life-saving medical care and trauma.

The destination may be a home on an unmarked muddy, rutted hillside lane where a man lies in a coma from a heart attack; or where a woman is about to give birth or where a child has a fractured skull. "A lot of times you can only get so far, and then you have to go the rest of the way on foot. If they need to go to a hospital, you have to pack them out," said Charles Seagraves, Carter county ambulance driver. Seagraves' emergency runs are filled with reminders as he passes houses, intersections, ditches and "hollers" where he has found people near death or sometimes already dead. "Ninety per cent of the time I know the people. They're close friends or relatives," he said.

For Seagraves and the ambulance attendants he works with, growing up in Carter county and knowing many of the people who call for help make what they do more than just a job. Willie Burnett, who lives at the base of a steep hill about seven miles from Grayson, is alive today because of the Carter county emergency squad. Two years ago he lay deathlike on the floor following a severe heart attack. His wife of 42 years made a frantic call for help late at night—trying to stay calm, but afraid it was already too late. Minutes later, two trained ambulance drivers rushed in, began proper first aid and carried him to the ambulance for the ride to the hospital.

Three weeks later, Burnett dropped by the Carter county Judge's office, bringing many thanks and blessings, saying, "I am alive because of what those boys did for me."

Worship at Church Here Reminiscent Of Days of 1776

Special '76 services were held at the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday morning, with two-thirds of the congregation dressed in the period of about the year 1776. The Rev. William Thomas, pastor of the church, read a large portion of the sermon delivered by the Rev. John Witherspoon, "The Dominion of Providence over the Passions of Men," on the fast day ordered by the continental Congress for May 17, 1776. Rev. Witherspoon was president of New Jersey College (later, Princeton) when he delivered this sermon in Philadelphia, and was later the only clergyman to sign the Declaration of Independence. Only male deacons and the minister sat at the communion table. Women elders were excluded. The congregation sang "Amazing Grace" by John Newton, circa 1779, and "Broad is the Road," by Isaac Watts 1785 following the "lining" of the words and tune by James Radcliff. The communion was observed in colonial fashion, the congregation seated on the front pews. Offerings were placed on the communion table.

Disposal Issues Emerge

Frankfort, Ky.—After proposing some revisions to state regulations on subsurface disposal, the state plumbing division has found some Kentuckians do not agree.

County officials, representatives of several organizations and residents of Trigg county protested the proposed changes at a recent informational meeting held in Frankfort by the division of plumbing in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

They maintained a regulatory change which would establish uniform standards for subsurface sewage disposal systems where a public system is not available would slow development of summer homes built on the shallow soil around Lake Barkley.

Art Curtis, the department official who conducted the meeting, said that the regulation would put into effect legislation passed two years ago extending the plumbers program statewide.

As it is, the regulation requires property owners to abandon septic tanks and tap on to sewers whenever a public sewer becomes available. If a rock formation is within four feet of the soil surface or if water drains from the soil at a rate less than one-half inch per hour from a test hole, use of septic tanks is banned.

The proposed regulation defines the method for making an approved percolation test to measure the soil's water absorption capacity. It permits the head of the environmental department to grant variances on subsurface disposal systems only if the variance is recorded in the property deed as notice to future owners of possible drainage problems.

For county health departments that request jurisdiction over the regulation and have sufficient staff to carry it out, the regulation allows the environmental department to assign its enforcement duties to them.

The Trigg Countians stated three chief objections to the proposed regulation. They opposed the rock sounding test, the elimination of the disposal pit and the saturation rules. They also asserted that in areas such as Trigg County, where control should not be the same as for larger areas with a different soil consistency, more responsibility should be left up to local government.

Bob Francis, a Trigg County attorney, asked if season differences in soil conditions will be considered in the enforcement of the regulation. "If these standards are put into effect and enforced as they are," stated Francis, "the state department of environmental protection will bankrupt our county."

Hal Fennell, administrator of the Trigg County Health Department, said: "Of the

Visited by Violin-Maker-Player

The music appreciation classes of Allen Central High School were recently visited by Buddy Ratcliff, of Martin. Mr. Ratcliff, gifted violinist and "fiddle" player, was invited to demonstrate his skills to the music classes in connection with a study of the history of music in America. Introduced to the group by Alicia Mayo, music instructor at Allen Central, Mr. Ratcliff played several familiar fiddle tunes, including "Old Joe Clark", "Bile them Cabbage," and "Orange Blossom Special". He was accompanied at the piano by his daughter, Angela, who is a sophomore at Allen Central. Mr. Ratcliff and Angela also played several violin duets, including "The Tennessee Waltz" and the "Down Home Rag". Angela also performed a classical violin solo.

In addition to being a performer, Mr. Ratcliff is also a violin maker. After his performance, the students were invited to ask him questions, and examine a violin that he had made at his home on Buck's Branch, near Martin.

Physical Fitness Of Students Being Tested for First Time

Frankfort, Ky.—The physical as well as mental well-being of Kentucky schoolchildren is being measured for the first time this year in the state Department of Education's annual educational needs assessment.

Results of student performance on a test of physical skills and a written test of health knowledge and attitudes will help the department evaluate and plan its physical education programming, said Conley Manning, director of program development in the department's bureau of instruction.

The program is "probably the most intensive and important statewide project undertaken in the area of physical education," Manning said.

The tests were compiled by officials in the bureau of instruction and from the department's office of planning and research, with the help of the Kentucky Physical Education Advisory Council.

Some 3,000 fourth, eighth and eleventh graders from districts which chose to participate will be tested.

To standardize the testing conditions for valid test results, the department has scheduled workshops to train teachers to administer the tests.

Overall, more than 20,000 Kentucky students are tested yearly in various components of the educational needs assessment, in which the department analyzes its success in meeting the instructional goals set by the state Board of Education. This year, the physical education test was added to the existing tests in subject areas such as language skills, mathematics and social studies.

MSU Alumni To Honor President Doran and Wife

Morehead, Ky.—Morehead State University President and Mrs. Adron Doran will be recognized at the annual alumni banquet Friday (May 7) for more than 22 years of service to MSU, Kentucky and the nation.

Scheduled at 6:30 p.m. (EDT) in the ballroom of the Adron Doran University Center, the event will be sponsored by the Alumni Association and is open to the public.

"We are planning a great evening of tribute for President and Mrs. Doran to express our regards for their dedicated services as the First Family of the University," said Marvin Rammelsberg, president of the Alumni Association and chairman of the Special Tribute Committee.

"This will be a wonderful opportunity for the many, many individuals who have helped and been helped by President and Mrs. Doran to express their own feelings in person."

Rammelsberg said speakers representing all areas of the University community and dignitaries on the state and national level will participate in the program.

Dr. Doran was appointed to the MSU presidency in 1954, becoming the seventh man to hold the office. Now into his 23rd year, he has served more than three times longer than any of his predecessors.

When Stars Are Legal Tinder

"Sold to the boy in the back for 12 stars!" cries "auctioneer" Louise Howard, librarian at Clark Elementary school, during the recent RIF auction and sale day held in the school multi-purpose room.

Children who are in remedial reading and special education classes, earned stars by reading "regular" library books. With the stars earned, they could either "buy at auction" or select from a large number of books displayed on tables any books they wanted to own.

Working through the RIF program, the school is able to purchase books from book publishers at a discount price, with money the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club and Floyd County Farm Bureau afford.

Those assisting with the program are John Pitts, school principal, Louise Howard, school librarian, and teachers Delphia Hicks, Nadine Hicks, June Stephens and Judy Marshall.

Oral History Project Begins Fifth Summer in This Area

In Alice Lloyd College's Oral History Project students interview Appalachian residents about times gone by, helping to preserve the history of the region.

Pippa Passes, Ky.—The Appalachian Oral History Project is now entering its fifth summer of work. For the past five summers participants in this program have been collecting the history and folklore of the surrounding counties. More than 1,100 hours of taped interviews with Appalachian residents (termed "resident historians") have been collected by student workers since the program's beginning. More than 300 of these interviews have been transcribed.

These interviews are used by many people, for a variety of purposes. Students are using them for research papers and class reports. Scholars are using them for books, theses and articles. Curriculum specialists are using them to develop curriculum packages. And media specialists are using them to develop composite tapes, film strips and video tapes.

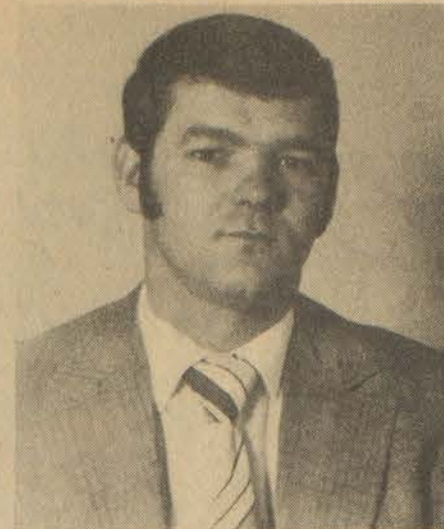

"Through all these means, the Oral History Project presents the people of the hills as they really are," says Mike Mullins, project director. "These materials represent a body of first-hand information from those folks who were there when it happened."

Although the Oral History program is a very important research project, it is also an educational opportunity for ALC students. During the 10-week summer program, students work collecting interviews, transcribing tapes and doing office work. Through this program, students learn about their culture and heritage.

The Oral History program is now accepting applications for student workers for the 1976 summer program. Present students and students planning to attend Alice Lloyd College during the 1976-77 academic year are eligible to work in this program and should contact Mike Mullins or Ron Daley at Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Kentucky, 41844.

Johnson Sheriff Adjudged Guilty On Seven Counts

Johnson county Sheriff Ray Melvin was convicted Tuesday in U. S. district court at Catlettsburg on seven of 11 counts alleging violation of the Hobbs Act by accepting bribes from bootleggers in return for protection.

Robert Stafford, former Johnson trial commissioner, who was indicted with Melvin, was acquitted on all counts.

Sentencing of Melvin was set by District Judge H. David Hermansdorfer at 10:30 a.m. today (Wednesday). The maximum penalty on each count is $20,000 and 10 years in prison.

The 45-year-old Melvin did not testify in his own behalf, and he lost the testimony of the three character witnesses allowed by Judge Hermansdorfer, since the judge held that Melvin's attorney had in cross-examination of prosecution witnesses used them to testify as to the sheriff's character.

Melvin did not testify at his Johnson circuit court trial last September on a similar charge. The jury in that trial failed to agree.

In the federal court trial the jury received the Melvin and Stafford cases at 1:15 p.m. Monday and their deliberations covered a period of more than 12 hours before the verdict was announced, early Tuesday afternoon.

Three prosecution witnesses—Herbie Gene Wheeler, George and Glenna Tackett—testified that they had given Melvin payoff money. Mrs. Tackett said she was "wired for sound" at the time of her meeting with the sheriff, and a tape purporting to be a recording of the conversation between her and Melvin was admitted as evidence.

This and other tapes were admitted as evidence only after their contents had been corroborated by the witnesses' testimony, earlier in the trial.

One of the three character witnesses appearing for Stafford was Circuit Judge W. B. Hazelrigg, of Paintsville.

Stoppages Cost UMW Funds Estimated $500,000 a Day

Recent work stoppages in Virginia and West Virginia, which cost the United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) Health and Retirement Funds an estimated $500,000 per day in income, have prompted inquiries about the probable impact of any future work stoppages.

"Any work stoppages will have the largest impact on the two 1950 trusts," Funds Chairman Harry Huge said. "The 1950 Benefit Trust, which is on a pay-as-you-go basis and has no financial reserves, will undoubtedly be hardest hit. The 1950 Pension Trust will also be significantly affected by work stoppages of any substantial duration."

Nearly all of the Funds' income derives from contributions made by employers signatory to the 1974 and 1975 UMW wage agreements. The size of these contributions is determined by the tonnage of coal mined and the number of hours worked.

Under the terms of the agreements, contributions are channeled into four separate trust funds. The 1950 Pension and Benefit Trusts provide pension and medical benefits for mine workers who retired before 1976, health care for their families, and death benefits for their survivors. The 1974 Pension and Benefit Trusts provide comparable benefits for active mine workers, their survivors and dependents, and for those who retire during or after 1976.

The formula for determining contributions to the four trusts changes each December 6, the anniversary of the signing of the 1974 contract by the UMW and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. The 1974 Pension Trust, which made its first payments this January, receives 63c for each hour worked plus 7.6 c for each ton of coal produced. The scale for the 1974 Benefit Trust is now 77c per hour worked. The rate for the 1950 Benefit Trust currently stands at 18c per ton of coal mined, and 52.4c per ton for the 1950 Pension Trust.

Dowsing—the practice of discovering water sources with a forked stick—often works like a charm, even though scientists can't say why. The May Reader's Digest says dowsing has been in use at least 8000 years. And while skeptics scoff, the water witches often find underground water supplies where geologists have failed.

The Employer Services Improvement Project (ESIP) of the U. S. Employment Service was extended to 27 more cities in 16 states during the 1975 fiscal year, bringing the total to 80 communities in 27 states and involving 1,800 employers, according to the annual report of the U. S. Department of Labor.

In cooperation with the state employment services, the U. S. Employment Service continued its efforts during the 1975 fiscal year to develop aptitude and proficiency tests in order to provide better selection and counseling of job applicants, according to the annual report of the U. S. Department of Labor.

IN MEMORIAM

"FATHER"

My father is dead and gone away, I know he's up in heaven today. We miss him, but he's happier there, With no troubles, in heaven, for him to bear.

Father, Oh Father, I loved you so, It was hard for all your children to let you go. The angels in heaven and all their wings, Couldn't hide my father and his taborine.

We couldn't understand some of the things he did, Some thoughts we told him, and others we hid. He was kind to everyone, yes, children too in church, He gave them candy like any father would do.

He loved his home, and his animals, he fed, When they had little one's he fixed them a warm bed. He wasn't able to do all his heart desired, But by all of us, He was still admired.

I will never forget you father, As long as I live, The words and tears I shed, In God's hand I give.

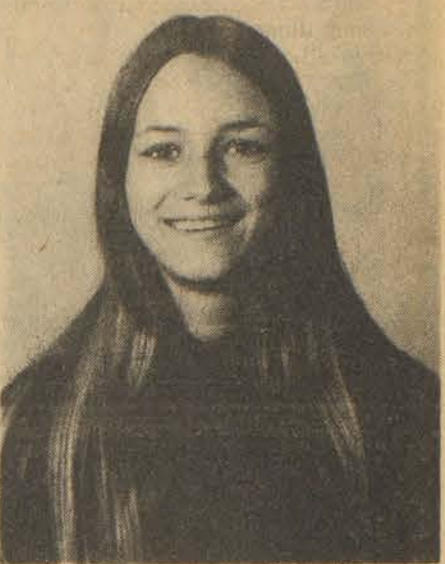

In memory of Lewis Shepherd. Daughter, June Shepherd

Jenny Wiley Reading Council To Honor George L. Moore

CARD OF THANKS

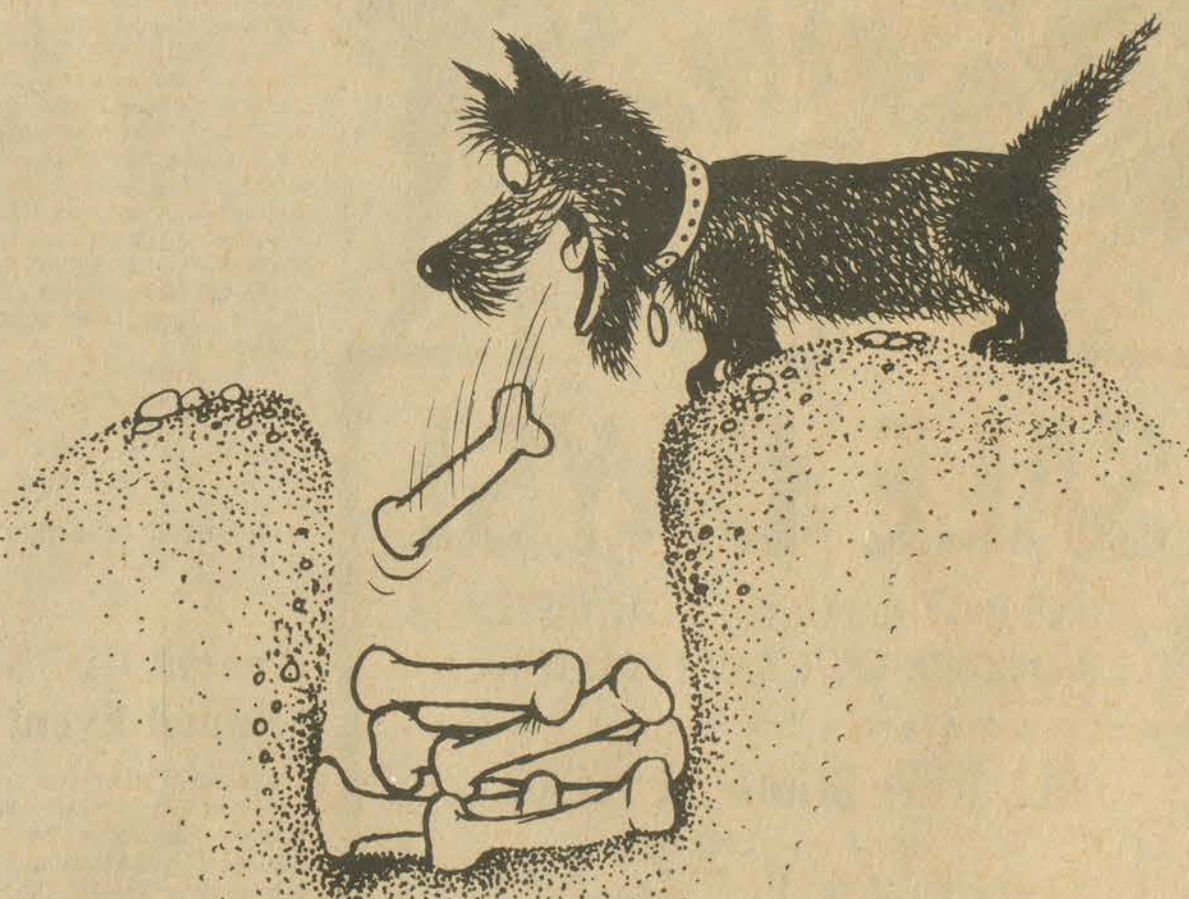

The family of Mrs. Hulda Matilda Conn Boyd would like to thank everyone who helped in any way during the recent passing of our loved one. We especially thank the doctors at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. Because of difficulty in finding addresses, we were unable to send thank you cards to everyone, so to all those who did not receive cards, we apologize and again a sincere thank you.

The Jenny Wiley Council, an affiliate of the International Reading Association, has chosen one of the area's well-known educators as recipient of this year's Honorary Award. Each year the council follows the practice of honoring one educator, devoted to young people and interested in the development of the total person, with the presentation of a lifetime council membership.

A native of Elliott County, the 1976 award recipient, George L. Moore, attended Shady Grove School, a one-room rural school in which there were 140 pupils and two teachers. He was a student at the Christian Normal School and later received an A.B. degree from Morehead State College. Mr. Moore earned his M.A. degree from Peabody College in 1940, and continued his work at the University of Wisconsin during the next two summers.

His teaching experiences began in the early 1920's. After teaching in a rural school in Carter county he came to Floyd county where he served his profession for many years. Both teacher and principal in the Floyd county schools system, Mr. Moore is best-remembered in his role as McDowell principal for a period of 29 years. He retired in 1965 to his farm in the county of his birth, and for the past three years has written a column for various area newspapers.

The presentation to Mr. Moore will be made at the Jenny Wiley Council annual dinner meeting to be held at the McDowell school Tuesday evening, May 11. Activities will begin promptly at 7 p.m.

Weather Crucial Next 20 Days For State Crops, Harris Says

The recent cold snap hasn't done much to help Kentucky's varied agricultural interests, but an even greater problem looms in the next few weeks, according to State Agriculture Commissioner Thomas Harris.

"The next two weeks to three weeks are vitally important" for the state's tobacco, vegetable and grass crops, he said. "We need warm nights for everything we've planted recently to grow properly."

"But maybe more important," Harris said, "we need moisture. The entire state has been dry. The last few days we've had slightly less than an inch of rain, and that has helped," noted the commission, but, he said, that's still way short of the amount of moisture that we usually have at this time of the year.

"That's one of the most depressing things that we have right at the moment," said Harris, who calls this spring "the driest spring I've seen since 1930."

"We need a good, slow root-soaker to get the hay crop and grass moving and put the moisture in the ground to help bring up the corn that's being planted, and to get in shape so we'll have moisture for transplanting tobacco."

Additional rain fall also will help the pastures tremendously and it'll step up the hay crop,"

Harris said, "I'll say probably the hay crop is hurt as bad as anything, except some of the fruit crop."

Tobacco, Kentucky's top money-producing crop, has had a difficult time "with the weather getting warm, getting cold, and particularly with the dry weather" he said.

"But," Harris said, "I think that practically all the farmers throughout the state are watering their plant beds . . . and reports that I'm getting are that there will be plenty plants to get the crop out—maybe not quite as good as they have been in some years past, but there should be plenty of plants to get the crop out—provided that we have decent weather from here on.

"Grass, pasture and hay, in my opinion, are short at this time. Maybe we've been a little bit overstocked, pastured it close this winter, and haven't been given the opportunity" to regenerate. "But even those places that have, it hasn't grown like it normally would."

Harris said he anticipated that if we don't get some rain shortly and the "weather doesn't get right shortly," the hay crop is going to be "pretty darn short" throughout the state this winter."

Youth Job Program To Begin June 1st

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, Inc. has announced plans to operate a Summer Youth Program in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Pike and Magoffin counties. This program is intended to afford area disadvantaged youths the opportunity to earn a wage and acquire valuable work experience, and at the same time contribute to needed community services.

Non-profit public and private agencies are being urged to utilize these young employees. The youths will be paid an hourly wage through funds made available through the U. S. Department of Labor.

The Summer Youth Program will begin June 1. High school graduates and college students who plan to resume their education this fall and who are interested in working this summer should contact the N.Y.C. Central Office in Paintsville or their local Community Action Program Office in the courthouse here, John M. Stumbo, coordinator, said.

To Whom It May Concern:

On and after publication of this notice I will not be responsible for any debt incurred by any person other than myself or by my wife, Brenda Ratliff.

Church Growth On the Upswing

Church membership in the United States, generally in decline since the intense social and political involvement in the 1960s, has begun to rise again, according to statistics released last week.

The 1976 edition of the Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches said total U. S. church membership now stands at 132,287,450—a gain of 1,042,311, with 62.3 per cent of the population claiming membership.

Yearbook figures come from both 1974 and 1975 because not all of the 223 religious bodies surveyed have completed their 1975 membership compilations. "Church membership in the U.S. grew most dramatically in the 1950s, leveling off or even decreasing in some religious groups in the 1960s," said Constant Jacquet Jr., yearbook editor. "By contrast, church membership in the 1970s has climbed slowly, although increases have not kept up with growth in the U. S. population as a whole."

Most significantly, the 1976 yearbook suggests a leveling off in the trend toward membership loss of the large, mainline Protestant denominations which were considered theologically and politically liberal during the turmoil of the 1960s.

It cited as a prime example the Episcopal Church, which lost some 225,000 members between 1970 and 1973. Between 1973 and 1974, the last year for which figures were available, the church lost only 9,872 members, "indicating a possible stabilization of membership in that church."

The Roman Catholic Church, with a membership of 48.7 million, continues to be the nation's largest religious body. The Southern Baptist Convention, with 12.5 million members, is the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The yearbook also reported that about 40 per cent of U.S. adults attend a church or synagogue in an average week, a figure unchanged since 1971.

And it said members of 44 Protestant denominations comprising 5 million of the nation's 71 million Protestants contributed $5.28 billion in 1974, an increase of 9.1 per cent but still lower than the 11 per cent drop.

'Celebration' Unique Feature Of Bicentennial Caravan

Through the door of this backwoods cabin, visitors to the "Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" caravan will be able to gain an understanding of the austere lifestyle of the late 18th Century frontier family, meanwhile enjoying music of the period.

An award-winning audiovisual program featuring scenes of the contemporary South will accompany the "Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" caravan of exhibits to Prestonsburg this month during its tour of eight southern states in 1976.

"Celebration," an outdoor 10-minute presentation, received the Grand Award for multimedia productions at the 1975 International Television and Film Festival in New York in November. The award was the highest the festival can give a production, and more than 2,000 entries were received.

"Celebration" can be seen when the caravan stops here on May 17.

The production uses more than 900 slides taken throughout the Southeast in combination with original music. Fifteen slide projectors will project the photographs on a large sectionalized screen built into the side of one of the caravan exhibit trailers. Music and photographs have been carefully synchronized using sophisticated computer techniques.

"Celebration" complements the historical theme of the caravan by featuring scenes of southern architecture, agriculture, industry, people, tradition, culture, recreation, and scenery.

The five traveling display vans and exhibit tents of "Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" recreate major events in southern history by tracing the development of the region over several hundred years. The vans are designed so that the visitor will be taken back through time to the late 1500's, when Indian villages once dotted the region. Displays and sound effects have been carefully combined to isolate the visitor from the outside world while recreating the movement of history as it took place in the South, from the distant past to the promise of the future.

The caravan will visit some 170 communities in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia during 1976. There is no admission charge.

"Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South" is co-sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky Army National Guard. It is being locally sponsored by the Bicentennial committee of the Prestonsburg Area Chamber of Commerce.

Plan Pesticide Analysis Of Tobacco Samples

Random sampling of tobacco at the marketplace is being continued this year to check on possible residues of DDT, TDE, Endrin and Toxaphene, Graham Burchett, Chairman of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said recently.

Tobacco growers who use DDT, TDE, Endrin or Toxaphene are not eligible for Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) price support loans on their tobacco crops.

Tobacco growers in Floyd county should make every effort possible to use only acceptable pesticides to protect their own interest, Burchett said.

State To Identify and Evaluate Needs of Exceptional Children

Kentucky's newly amended state plan for the education of handicapped children includes a project to identify all exceptional children in the Commonwealth and evaluate their special educational needs.

Children with learning disabilities, those who are emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded, physically handicapped and those who have communicative disorders are identified as being exceptional by the state Department of Education. These children are assured an equal educational opportunity under provisions of the state plan, which was approved by the Board of Education at its last meeting.

In order to determine the special educational needs of these children, a study will be made to evaluate their learning disabilities.

The state department of education is coordinating the collection of selected information items on physically, emotionally, and mentally handicapped children under 21 years of age, for the purpose of determining present and future program and placement needs, and for statistical reporting. Information will be sought from the local school districts and local counterparts of the Department for Human Resources.

Information which could identify an individual child will not be maintained beyond the local level collecting it and will not be held at the state level except for purposes of determining average daily attendance for state funding. Data to be collected by local school districts include professional diagnostic information, services needed and services provided.

Parents and guardians maintain the right to inspect any data and to appeal its accuracy. The access of unauthorized persons to personally identifiable data without parental consent is forbidden.

One person in each local agency has responsibility for those having access to these data. These data must be destroyed within five years following the completion of special services to the child. Parents will be notified and asked for written approval before any personally identifiable data is recorded for this project. For further information regarding the survey or the local person to contact for information, you may contact: Mr. Thomas H. Robeson, Director, Division of Supporting Services, Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children, State Department of Education, West Frankfort Complex, U. S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank the many friends for the food, kindness, help and sympathy during the illness and at the death of our father, Oscar Patton. I also wish to thank the Hall Bros. Funeral Home, the members of the Freewill Baptist Church who took part in the funeral, also the pallbearers, the Rev. Brodie Amburgy, and those who sang before and at the funeral. These things will be long remembered.
MRS. VERNA JACKSON

Well-Known Potter To Conduct Workshop

On the afternoon of the first day, Jackson will actually construct a permanent raku kiln with participants observing. On the second day, Jackson will demonstrate raku firing, after which participants will practice firing.

Jackson, who last year designed and constructed a downdraft pottery kiln for the Potters Guild at Prestonsburg Community College, earned his B.S. in industrial arts at Berea College and his masters of fine arts at Claremont Graduate School (California).

For more information on enrolling in the workshop, contact the Office of Community Services, Prestonsburg Community College, 886-3863, Ext. 208.

Mobile Home 'Lemon' Law To Become Effective Next Month

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
(Attorney General)

In 1975, the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection received more written consumer complaints about mobile homes than any other product. To help consumers with this type problem, the Kentucky General Assembly passed a mobile home "lemon" law that will become effective this June.

This mobile home "lemon" law was enacted to protect you from having to pay for or live in mobile homes which pose an imminent danger to your health, safety or right of occupancy because of improper workmanship or defective parts or materials.

If a defect which would cost the owner more than four per cent of the purchase price to repair or replace cannot be made good after three attempts by the manufacturer, the mobile home may be declared a "lemon" and you may be entitled to a refund of the purchase price or a new mobile home.

If you discover a defect within the first 12 months after delivery, you have certain legal rights. These rights must be exercised according to procedures established by this new law.

First, the owner must write a letter to the manufacturer containing the following information: an accurate description of the conditions which make the mobile home unsafe or unsuitable for living, your name and address and a statement saying you are exercising your legal rights under the Kentucky mobile home law. Send the letter by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the manufacturer and send a copy to the dealer who sold you the mobile home. All of this must be done within 10 days after discovering the defect.

After the manufacturer receives your letter, he must examine the mobile home within 10 days and notify you in writing of his findings.

The manufacturer may decide there is no defect in your mobile home or that it is due to abuse by you, the action of a third party or an act beyond the manufacturer's control. If you disagree with his findings, you may have to bring a legal action to enforce your rights. If you should win in court, you will also be entitled to reasonable attorney's fees.

If the manufacturer does discover a defect and agrees to promptly repair or replace it and grant a four month extension of the owner's rights under this law, the owner must make the mobile home available for repair at the home-site within three days after receiving the notification that it can be fixed.

If you do not do this, you cannot exercise any further rights under this law. In situations where the occupants must find other lodging during the repair period, the manufacturer must provide equivalent accommodations or accommodations acceptable to the owner.

When the manufacturer agrees with the consumer that the mobile home is a "lemon," then he shall supply the consumer with a new mobile home of the same year and model or return the purchase price minus any loss in value due to abuse by the consumer or a third party. If given a new mobile home, it must be supplied at the home-site and warranted as though it were just being bought.

Remember when buying a mobile home that any repairs made prior to delivery must be completely disclosed in writing by the dealer, manufacturer or wholesaler who made the repairs. This is done so you will know whether or not you have any immediate rights under this law.

Also, the dealer selling the mobile home must furnish the name and address of the dealer, manufacturer and wholesaler, if any. This same information must be affixed to the mobile home in a conspicuous place and shown to the owner by the dealer.

If you would like additional information on this law or if you have a consumer complaint, write the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Room 34, The Capitol, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Rockefeller Foundation American Music Gift Designated to PCC

Robert Wallace, Prestonsburg Community College librarian, announced this week that the college has been designated to receive as a gift from the Rockefeller Foundation the 100-record collection of American Music now being produced by the Recorded Anthology of American Music.

The Recorded Anthology of American Music is a non-profit company created through a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, and mandated to produce this record series tracing the social and cultural history of the United States through its music. American music in all idioms and from all periods will be represented.

The first 10 records are scheduled for arrival in April, and additional shipments of 10-record units will be made until the 100-record set is completed by the end of 1978. The public is invited to use the college library to listen to this record collection.

'Blitz' Inspections Planned For Underground Mines

By BRYAN WILKINS
(In The Lexington Herald)

WHITESBURG, Ky., April 29—The Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration official in charge of all Eastern Kentucky mines said yesterday that "blitz" inspections of underground mines will be conducted in the area in the future.

A blitz inspection brings several inspectors into all sections of a mine at one time, saturating the mine without notice to the operators or miners.

Lawrence Dow Phillips, appeared for the second time before a federal panel investigating twin explosions at the Scotia mine here. The separate explosions killed 26 men.

Phillips' remarks were in response to indications that federal coal mine safety laws were not enforced or completely followed at the Scotia mine prior to the explosions last month.

Phillips testified that "the results in the last few weeks (of hearing testimony) have changed my thinking. When this type (blitz) is necessary it will be conducted."

Phillips was responding to charges that a single coal mine inspector would be deceived into thinking air ventilation in an underground site meets the law's requirements, when in fact air may have been diverted into the section under inspection from other sections in the mine.

A blitz would send a handful of inspectors into a mine to see if the air met requirements or if it was being regulated.

Phillips said the air ventilation plan in the Scotia mine, which he approved, was adequate to meet requirements.

Replying to questions from the panel pertaining to mine safety at Scotia, Phillips said all three mines at the site do not have a good compliance record.

Phillips cited one case where an inspector found men working underneath an area where concrete was being poured after he had already issued a violation notice for the infraction.

Phillips said a "willful violation" notice had been sent to the MESA office in Washington, D. C., but that a special investigation of the matter was not completed yet.

The incident occurred last fall. Phillips cited another incident when, after a report that a mine ventilation fan at the Scotia mine had stopped, the inspectors found the fan charts for the particular time period missing. This is still being investigated, Phillips said.

Phillips said there have been "numerous willful violation notices sent to the office in Washington" from his district that are still awaiting action.

Phillips said he had manpower shortages to oversee the 700 surface and underground mines in his district. Apparently 81 violations were issued at the Scotia mine from the beginning of this year until the end of February. Phillips said this "was a large number of citations."

He said he felt the Scotia mine was improving at the time of the disasters, and that more frequent inspections found necessary at Scotia were having an effect.

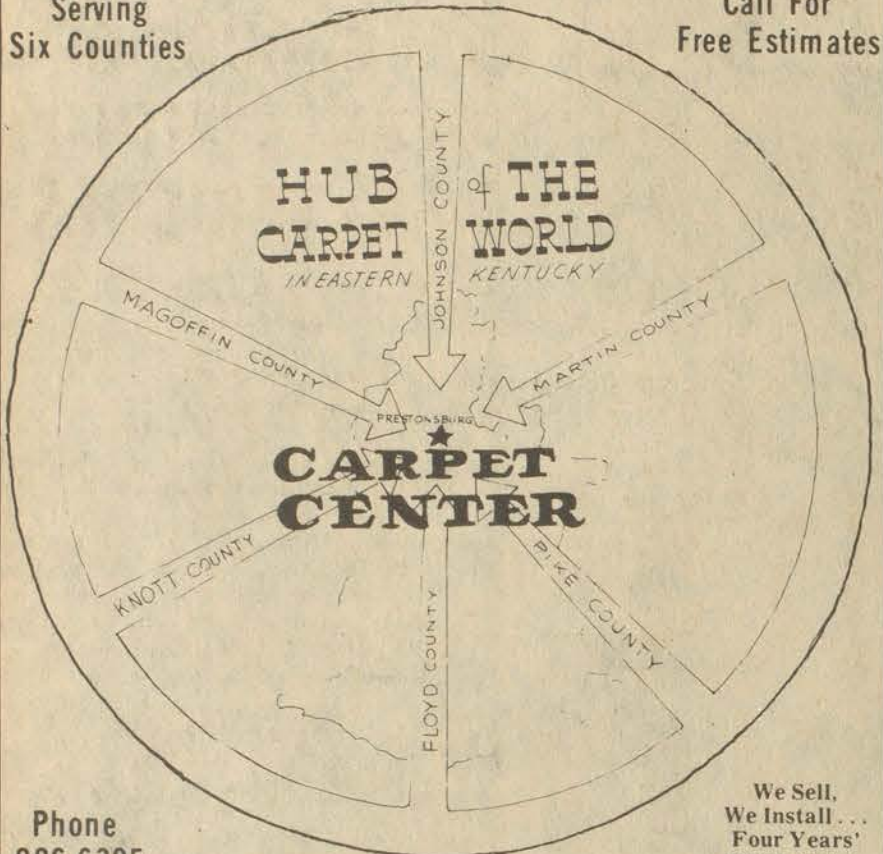

He said he felt the Scotia mine was improving at the time of the disasters, and that more frequent inspections found necessary at Scotia were having an effect.

MEDIAN HOME PRICE FIGURES
CHICAGO—Near the end of 1975 the median sale price of an existing home in the West was $40,740, the Society of Real Estate Appraisers says. For the average existing home sold in the Northeast the cost was $39,550, in the South $34,560 and in the North-Central United States $30,670.

Carelessness Equals Increased Accidents

Frankfort, Ky.—Ignoring the countless safety lessons he had received, a state bureau of highways employee recently laid his bothersome safety goggles aside and went to work with his jackhammer.

The inevitable happened. Rock particles struck his eye.

Missing work only five days, this employee was lucky. If his cornea had become infected, he could have suffered permanent eye damage.

The employee was not the loser in this case. He was paid either sick leave or workmen's compensation and medical expenses. He also recovered from his unnecessary injury.

The losers were the bureau of highways, his employer, and Kentucky taxpayers for bearing these expenses while no services were being returned. The loss could have been greater if the man's job required the immediate training of a new man.

But such costs are being cut through a Kentucky Department of Transportation (KYDOT) safety program. Workdays lost because of injury have been dramatically reduced in the bureau of highways since the safety program's inception. Approximately 93 per cent of the department's work-related injuries occur in the bureau.

"Because of its duties, the bureau presents a variety of potential dangers," explained state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, who also serves as commissioner of highways.

Skid Testing on For State Roads

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky Department of Transportation's Division of Research is currently testing the state's primary road system to evaluate its skid resistant qualities.

According to Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the research division has purchased a highly sophisticated truck and trailer unit specifically designed for the program.

The $58,000 unit looks like any ordinary compact camper attached to a pick-up truck. The inside of the truck is fitted with a control panel resembling that of a space capsule.

Water is sprayed on the pavement in front of the trailer's wheels by nozzles controlled from the truck, and operators of the test vehicle then apply the trailer brakes, gradually or all at once, locking the wheels.

As the trailer skids, sensitive electronic equipment in the truck measures speed, distance and per cent of slippage for each wheel, plus traction on the pavement.

When a problem area is discovered, signs are placed to warn motorists. Eventually, the situation will be corrected by resurfacing those sub-standard areas with one of several new mixtures developed in the research lab.

The Department of Transportation's public information office will notify local media when the unit is in their respective areas.

He mentioned the use of heavy construction equipment, on-site hazards, dangerous traffic and field operations compared to the relative safety found in departments with only office operations.

Last year, the department's employees lost 6,995 out of approximately 18.4 million man-hours in its 12 districts and Frankfort central office. Those figures compare favorably with the National Safety Council's statistics from other state highway departments.

The best news from 1975's safety record is that only one fatality occurred in the department.

Roberts stated, "While one death is too many, this is a record never matched in the history of the state Transportation Department."

The secretary pointed out how an improved safety record saves the public money in numerous ways. "Last year we saved $19,000 because our reduced injury-severity rates lowered our medical and hospital payments," he explained. "Department-wide, we saved $10,000 in salaries paid in sick-leave because of the improved injury rate."

"It must be borne in mind, however, that due to recently elevated compensation benefits to workers, it cost us $45,000 more last year than the previous year in compensation charges," Roberts noted. "So we've got to bear down some more."

Roberts said that the department's work sites and equipment are inspected by state Department of Labor and "We're doing everything possible to comply with the federal and state laws. We have a very good record in regard to departmental infractions that come under their scrutiny."

KYDOT Safety Administrator Guy Schoolfield reported that 83 per cent of Department of Transportation injuries are caused by employees committing unsafe acts—such as the employee neglecting to wear his safety goggles.

"We will largely concentrate future efforts toward training and motivating supervisors, who will in turn educate and inspire workers to eliminate unsafe work practices," he said.

The proposals will be for furnishing labor, materials and performance of all work described and set forth by the general and technical specifications and working drawings prepared by Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc. Immediately following the scheduled closing time for the reception of bids, all proposals which are submitted in accordance with this advertisement will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The work to be bid upon is described as follows:

Contract XII—Water Plant Settling and Filtering Equipment Division "A"—Tube Settler Modules Furnishing and Installing Tube Settler Modules in Existing Settling Basins.

Division "B"—High Rate Filter Media Removal of Existing Filter Media, and Furnishing and Installing New High Rate Media in Existing Filters, Including Polymer Feed and Control Equipment.

2. All bids must be made on the blank forms of proposal to be furnished.

3. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond payable to the Owner for five per cent of the total amount of the bid. As soon as the bid prices have been compared, the Owner will return the check or bond of all except the three lowest responsible bidders. When the contract is awarded, the checks or bonds of the remaining unsuccessful bidders will be returned. The check or bond of the successful bidder will be retained until the contract and surety bond have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned.

4. A performance and payment bond in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price with a corporate surety approved by the Owner and the Engineer, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract, and the bidder shall state in the proposal the name and address of the surety or sureties who will sign this bond in case the contract is awarded to him. A maintenance bond guaranteeing the repair of all damage due to improper materials or workmanship for a period of one year after the acceptance of the work by the Owner will also be required.

5. The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required forthwith to execute the contract and a performance and payment bond within ten calendar days from the date when the written notice of the award of the contract is mailed to the bidder at the address given by him. In case of failure to do so, the Owner may, at his option, consider that the bidder has abandoned the contract, in which case the certified check or bidder's bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

6. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids for any justifiable reason. It is understood that the work to be done is being financed with a loan from the Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Contractor's proposals shall hold firm for sixty (60) days to allow the Owner time to complete its financing arrangements. Mutually agreed upon extensions of time may be made, if necessary.

7. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000, the bidder must submit Form FHA 400-6, "Compliance Statement," with his bid. An Equal Opportunity Clause will be a part of all construction contracts exceeding $10,000.

8. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000 and the contractor has one hundred (100) or more employees, he will file Standard Form 100, "Employer Information Report," with the Joint Reporting Committee, P. O. Box 12, Springfield, Virginia 22150, within thirty (30) days after the contract award and annually on or before March 31st thereafter for the life of the contract.

9. If the prospective contract is for $50,000 or more and the successful bidder has fifty (50) or more employees, he will develop and place on file within 120 days of the contract award written affirmative action compliance programs using Form AD-425, "Contractor's Affirmative Action Plan for Equal Employment Opportunity," as a guideline.

10. Before the award of the contract, any bidder may be required to furnish evidence satisfactory to the Owner and to the Engineer of the necessary facilities, ability, and pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the said contract.

11. Prior to signing the contract, the Contractor shall submit on a form acceptable to the Owner and Engineer, an overall construction schedule for the project. This construction schedule shall start with the proposed date of signing the contract, and the completion date shall be the date specified in the contract.

12. Bidders must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the proposed work, by examination of the Plans and Specifications and requirements of the work and the accuracy of the estimate of the quantities of the work to be done, and shall not at any time after the submission of a bid dispute or complain of such estimate nor assert that there was any misunderstanding in regard to the nature or amount of work to be done.

13. The Construction Contract and the Detailed Specifications contain the provisions required for the construction of the project. No information obtained from any officer, agent, or employee of the Owner on any such matters shall in any way affect the risk or obligation assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

14. Proposals which are incomplete, unbalanced, conditional or obscure, or which contain additions not called for, erasures, alterations or irregularities of any kind, or which do not comply with the Detailed Specifications may be rejected at the option of the Owner.

15. A bidder may withdraw any proposal he has submitted at any time prior to the hour set for the closing of the bids provided the request for withdrawal is signed in a manner identical with the proposal being withdrawn. No withdrawal or modification will be permitted after the hour designated for closing the bids.

16. For the purpose of clarification it is understood that the work to be done is being financed in whole or in part by means of a loan and/or grant made or insured by the United States of America acting through the Farmers Home Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The Farmers Home Administration will, therefore, require approval by its representatives of all contracts, attachments, and similar documents, all partial and final payment estimates, and all change orders.

17. Computation of quantities that will be the basis for payment estimates, both monthly and final, will be made by the Engineer.

18. The word "Owner" means the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. The Owner will be responsible for payment in accordance with the terms of the contract.

The word "Contractor" means the person, firm or corporation to whom the award is made. Subcontractor as such will not be recognized.

The word "Engineer" refers to Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc., Lexington, Kentucky, designated by the Owner as its engineering representative during the course of construction to make appropriate inspections and computations of payments.

The word "Representative" means the State Director of the Farmers Home Administration or his designee.

Businessmen Help
Trim Budget Fat

Few states in the Union could survive as a private business; in fact, with increasing regularity, state governments are having a hard time surviving at all. To cut away the bureaucratic underbrush that is clogging their systems and blowing up their budgets, many states have turned to the private sector for assistance.

Some encouraging results stories, where volunteer businessmen have helped modernize and revitalize state government, are detailed in the May issue of The Reader's Digest.

Item: Ohio taxpayers saved $50 million a year after a committee of 94 Ohio businessmen studied the state's government for three months and presented 511 recommendations.

Item: Ninety Washington businessmen came up with 670 recommendations. Gov. Dan Evans implemented two-thirds of them, and Washington taxpayers saved over $20 million a year.

There is even a consulting firm—Warren King and Associates, based in Chicago—set up to recruit these business volunteers from their various companies. By 1976 some 20 states had taken advantage of this service. "More than 1500 businessmen had participated," the article reports. "They offered 14,500 suggestions which could, if put into action, save taxpayers a monster $4.8 billion. Other states—including Missouri, Minnesota and Wisconsin—had instituted programs of their own."

Why are businesses willing to lend their key personnel to help out? According to U.S. Chamber of Commerce President Dr. Richard L. Leshner, "Businessmen have a big stake in helping governments get along on less."

Watch Governor Add Final Touch

The moment they had been waiting for arrived when Governor Carroll signed the bill providing financing for construction of KY 80 from this county to Hazard. In the group, from left, are County Attorney Harold Stumbo, Mayor William O. Goebel, Jr., of Prestonsburg, County Judge Henry Stumbo, State Senator Jim Hammond, State Representative James "Jitter" Allen, Marvin Music, president of the KY 80 Association (at rear), and State Representative Hoover Dawhare, of Hazard. At rear, right, is Ex-Governor Louie B. Nunn, and at extreme right, facing the governor, is Ex-Governor Harry Lee Waterfield. Others in photo were not identified.

By LARRY BURKE

There is an ancient poem that we read somewhere that goes like this.

Three things there are that come not back:
The arrow shot along its track,
It will not swerve, it will not stay,
It flies to strike and wound and slay!

The hasty word returneth not,
Though quickly spoke and soon forgot,
In many hearts it lingers still
To do its work for good or ill.

And golden opportunity—
That too will not return to thee.

Thou mayest weep and plead and yearn,
These three will never more return.

It is true that this clever verse states things that slip away, never to return. But it is a wonderful fact that there is always a tomorrow. And tomorrow we can carefully shoot another arrow—and speak a carefully chosen word—and look for another opportunity.

It's wonderful to know that we can have second chances—and third, and fourth, if necessary.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "Prepare yourself for new adventures—they are coming your way."

Floyd Co. Grocer Loses Food Stamps

Atlanta, Ga.—A Floyd county, Ky. grocer, Charles E. Slone, has been removed from the federal food stamp program the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

Robert L. Cunningham, in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, said that Slone, formerly doing business as Slone's Market at Blue River, was disqualified from the program for one year, starting April 20. He had been charged with redeeming food coupons accepted in violation of the food stamp program. Cunningham added that Slone has recently sold the market, and the new ownership has been authorized to accept food coupons.

He explained that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

Kentucky Power Co. Files For General Rate Increase

Kentucky Power Company last Thursday filed with the Public Service Commission its request for approval of a general upward adjustment in all retail tariffs.

Citing rate relief needed to offset crippling inflation experienced during the past few years, Waldo S. LaFon, executive vice president of Kentucky Power, said that the formal filing was a followup to the company's public announcement last month of its need and intent to seek an increase in revenues in the "very near future".

Based on a test period of the full calendar year of 1975, (utilities are required to justify the need for rate relief based on actual operating figures over a prior 12-month period) the company is asking for $17.1-million increase in annual revenues.

La Fon pointed out that when utilities seek rate relief the need is usually an immediate one because the amount of increase is always based on last year's actual operating expenses and does not allow for consideration of the higher costs of doing business the year in which the request is filed.

According to filed testimony, the company earned 6.71 percent on its rate base in 1975. "This is well below the accepted level an electric utility needs to enable it to properly finance new construction and other projects to keep ahead of customers' growing needs for electricity," La Fon said. The company is seeking a rate base return of 10.16 percent, which, according to testimony, the increased revenues requested would make possible.

According to La Fon, the proposed new rates would have cost the average 1975 customer without electric heat about 17 cents more per day.

Normal procedure in utility rate cases is for the Commission to review the request and establish public hearing dates which will be announced later.

In the earlier public announcement of the company's need to seek an increase in revenues, it was reported that part of the filing would include a request to change present terms and conditions of service to make, also, the Equal Payment Plan or Budget Billing available to customers other than only those with electric heat. This was reported then as an attempt to help customers, especially those with electric air conditioning who experience higher bills in the summer months, by giving them the option of electing to spread out their electricity costs more evenly over a 12-month period.

"Due to difficulties in getting this part of the filing prepared, it was not possible to include," La Fon said, "but, after the case is ruled upon, the same request will be made."
