

Flood Disaster Again Hits Area

Expect River Stage Here To Rise above '57 Mark

FLOODWATERS spill across new US 23, south of Allen.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MEMBERS and volunteers filling sandbags for use at Second Avenue floodwall.

Big Sandy River towns faced Tuesday a flood disaster which may exceed in severity the 1957 flood when millions of dollars in property losses were suffered.

As The Times was attempting publication Tuesday night Prestonsburg girded itself for what could be its worst modern-day inundation if the 49-foot river stage predicted by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' district office in Huntington, W. Va. is reached. The river was due to crest here at midnight Tuesday.

Already the town of Martin had again been dealt a crushing blow, Beaver Creek rising there to a depth of six feet in the main street of the town (KY 80) and flooding practically every business place and all residences in the lowlying sections.

The same was true at Allen where both Beaver Creek and the Big Sandy add to the miseries of the community.

Both Right and Left Beaver Creeks suffered heavy flood damage, but meager reports from those sections do not indicate flooding to the extent that the river valley faces.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said both the American Red Cross and the Kentucky National Guard will be in action in the county today (Wednesday). He said there was no means at hand at this time of reaching an estimate of the damage to roads and bridges which had already been reduced to a sad state by one of the worst winters ever experienced in Eastern Kentucky.

The river, if it reaches the predicted 49-foot stage, will spill over the Arnold Avenue (Second Street) floodwall which normally protects the Prestonsburg business district and a large part of the residential section. In that event, only buildings on higher ground will escape damage. The Lancer, Briarwood and Porter Additions and the entire town of West Prestonsburg have no floodwall protection.

Churches and public buildings over the county were receiving families evacuated from threatened areas. Judge Stumbo said the courthouse will be open to receive flood refugees as long as there is room for them.

At Martin water stood eight feet deep Tuesday morning in the old Beaver Valley Hospital building, and later in the day the water in the "Forks of Beaver" area nearby had risen into the new S-Mart. It was feared that the worst of the flood remained Tuesday afternoon and night for the Allen area.

At Archer Park the main administration building was flooded Tuesday for the first time since its construction.

The Army Corps of Engineers district office was helping supply sandbags for the buttressing of the floodwall here, and the Kentucky National Guard joined city

Candidate List On May Ballot Rises over 100

The number of candidates for public office in this county rose past the 100 mark last Wednesday, last day for filing, with five Democrats, three Republicans and five independents added to the list.

Democrats who filed since last week's report: Daniel Houston Stephens, for county judge; Arnold Turner and Burnis Martin, for county attorney; C. "Ollie" Robinson, for county clerk, and Elmer W. Rice for county surveyor.

Republicans listed were Shelly McKinney and Corbit Hall, for constable in District 4, and Linden Elliott for constable in District 1.

Independents filed are: Andy Conley (who last week was erroneously listed as a Democratic candidate), for magistrate in District 2; Worley Ousley, for sheriff; Harold A. Baldrige, for magistrate in District 1; Bill Hinton, for constable in District 1, and Ronnie Stratton for constable in District 4.

Rice's filing for county surveyor will serve to activate an office which for years has been unoccupied in this county. He said he had been told by the attorney general's office that county surveyor is a legal office and that it may be sought in an election, as others are.

Candidates drew for position on the ballot, soon after the filing deadline, and County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson said he will submit the list this week for the printing of the primary ballot.

Dept. Announces Big Sandy Area Social Services

The Department for Human Resources has announced its proposed plan for social services in the Big Sandy Area Development District for the year beginning July 1.

Advertisements outlining the recommended services were taken in Kentucky's major newspapers and are scheduled for printing April 1.

The proposed plans for services are based on needs in the specific area identified by the ADD board, the local staff of the Bureau for Social Services and other interested groups and individuals.

Plans were developed to fill the most frequently identified needs within the limitations of available funds. The programs are funded under Title XX of the federal Social Security Act.

Services proposed for Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties (the Big Sandy Area) include involvement in these fields:

Adoption; adult activities and (or) work activities; adult protection; alcohol abuse, prevention and treatment; alternate care; child protection; continuing care; counseling for the emotionally disturbed child; day care services for children; day treatment; (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Highway 80 Bond Issue Set in June

Construction Bids Seen in 30-90 Days, Grayson Announces

State Finance Chief Russell McClure said last Friday that $212 million in bonds will be sold in June for the financing of KY 80 construction from Water Gap in this county to Hazard.

At the same time State Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson announced that construction bids on the 42-mile highway will be let in 30, 60 and 90 days.

McClure and Grayson made their statements at the second meeting Friday of the state Personal Service Contract Review Commission.

The panel took more than two hours to review and conditionally approve 17 contracts totaling more than $864,000. This was in sharp contrast to the last meeting at which almost $1.7 million in contracts were conditionally approved in about 20 minutes.

The panel spent most of the meeting discussing highway contracts and the proper procedures for getting them approved with Grayson. Highway contracts totaling more than $800,000 were also approved.

A total of $748,000 of that went for four large highway projects. The actual amount spent could vary, however.

McClure told the panel that the Ky. 80 (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Man, 69, Jailed As Carroll, 62, Dies of Wounds

Sixty-nine-year-old Carl Nance, Martin was named Tuesday morning in a murder warrant after Earl (Buster) Carroll, 62, of Martin, had succumbed late Monday evening at Highlands Medical Center to bullet wounds allegedly fired into his body by Nance.

Carroll was shot six times in the abdominal area while he and Nance were passengers in an auto reportedly driven on the Stephens Branch road, near Mantion, by the victim's brother, Willie Carroll.

Nance was arrested at Martin by Policeman Hershell Lester and was jailed by State Trooper Sizemore. He was first booked on a first-degree assault charge, which was changed to murder following Carroll's death.

State Detective Gary Rose said the shooting apparently took place inside the car driven by Willie Carroll. He said the men had been drinking, and two men, one of whom was the victim's brother, were booked on drunkenness charges and held temporarily for questioning.

The body of Carroll was taken to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home at Martin which later in the evening was evacuated as Beaver Creek flooded the town.

Detective Rose said he and a state trooper investigated the reported shooting last Saturday near Hueysville of William "Rooster" Thornsby but were unable to find any evidence confirming the report. Later, it was confirmed that James Lee Hall had been shot in the leg that day, near Lackey, but officers had not determined Monday who fired the shot.

'Job Description' Discouraging To District Judge Aspirants

Candidates for district judge who attended the seminar held Friday at May Lodge by the Administrative Office of the Courts may have left a bit dismayed by the magnitude of the job they're seeking.

Added to the multiplicity of the duties that will be a district judge's is the disturbing fact that a number of details have been left dangling, that funding for some essential court functions has not been made and that quick action by the next session of the general Assembly will be needed to pick up the loose ends.

William Davis, chief of the Administrative Office of the Courts, admitted that the situation is "a mess."

"Kentucky," he said, "has attempted to do in two years what North Carolina did in eight years," he said.

Following is a rundown on the jurisdiction and functions of a district judge:

1. To handle all misdemeanors, all non-felony drug offenses, traffic cases air and water pollution offenses, all fish and wildlife offenses, all city traffic offenses except parking, all offenses against city, county and city-county ordinances and codes; all juvenile offenses; all criminal matters not punishable by death or imprisonment in the penitentiary; all civil matters in which no more than $1500 is involved; all probate matters except those which are contested in an adversary proceeding.

To be assumed by the district judge are all the duties which now are those of the county judge, magistrates, police court judges and juvenile judges.

What assistance may he expect? A trial commissioner may be appointed upon certification of necessity for such help by the Supreme Court. But he must be an attorney (if one is qualified and available at the time such appointment is made), and his or her pay is only $7,200 a year.

Secretarial help will come through the circuit court clerk's office.

Jurors for both the circuit and district courts will be selected by random under (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Flood Causes Court Recess

Circuit court was interrupted Tuesday in the second day of its new criminal term by floodwaters which cut highways, isolated towns and threatened to inundate a large part of Prestonsburg.

The grand jury was empaneled and worked through the first day. It may not return till tomorrow (Thursday) because of stream and road conditions. Civil cases were heard during the first day.

The first of the murder trials docketed for the term, that of Dallas Fletcher, of Magoffin county, is scheduled to begin Monday. Fletcher is accused of the slaying of a Salyersville policeman. The Floyd circuit court has jurisdiction in the case because the victim died at the Highlands Medical Center here, although the shooting took place in Salyersville.

The murder charge against Bobby Workman, accused of the slaying of James Chaffins, has been continued. The other trial on the docket is that of Jot Marsillett, accused of the slaying of Sam Nelson.

Glenn S. Anderson, Sr. was named foreman of the grand jury.

WHILE FLOOD WATERS raged wild flowers flourished on hillsides and in quiet hollows, a reminder of nature's gentler side.

Louisa-Ft. Gay Bridge Moving Toward Work

Plans for the Louisa-Ft. Gay bridge are progressing smoothly and construction of the new bridge should be under way before the end of the year, State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson said this week.

"We have encountered very few obstacles. In fact, the planning has progressed even more rapidly than expected," Grayson said.

According to Charles Cook, director of the Transportation Department's Division of Bridges, the road plans are virtually 80 per cent complete now, and the final structure and right-of-way plans for the new facility are being completed by the consultant, Frankland and Lienhard of New York.

Cook also said that the final environmental impact statement has been approved and certified by the federal Council on Environmental Quality.

He also said that a situation, which could have caused a lengthy delay in beginning construction, has been avoided.

"On Feb. 9 and Feb. 16, notices of the opportunity to request a design public hearing were published in the local papers. During the two-week waiting period, the division received only one request, which was later withdrawn," Cook said.

Since no hearing was required, we were able to proceed to the joint inspection phase of the planning," he said.

The inspection, conducted by representatives of Kentucky, West Virginia and the bridge consultant, took place on March 11.

"The plans met the standards of the group with only a few minor comments offered. These comments are now being incorporated into the final plans by the consultants," Cook said.

He said that the date of the bid-letting for the bridge will be determined by the acquisition of right-of-way rather than by completion of the plans.

"The plans will be ready. It's just a matter of obtaining the necessary right-of-way," Cook added.

Cook, who is also chairman of the task force named last year to expedite the project, said another task force meeting will be held later this spring.

Campus Crusader To Speak

Campus Crusader Vic Waters will be the special speaker at the Benedict Baptist Chapel (on Slick Rock Branch of Cow Creek) at the 6:30 p.m. Easter Sunday service.

Mr. Waters has a B.A. degree in English literature from the University of South Florida and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Waters, of Cow Creek. He is presently serving with Campus Crusade for Christ at the Boulder High School, Boulder, Colorado. Vic and some students from Boulder High School narrowly escaped death in the flash flood that hit Estes Park, Colorado last year when about 80 persons died in the disaster. Among the victims were seven young women from Campus Crusade. Waters emphasizes that the primary goal of Campus Crusade for Christ is "to explain what a personal relationship with Christ is to interested students."

Pastor Bob Varney, of Benedict Baptist Chapel, invites all the friends and others who are interested to hear Mr. Waters. For any who might wish to help support the ministry of Vic Waters, please call 874-2394 for information.

Children's Health Screening Scheduled in 4-County Area

The Big Sandy Health Care children's health screening team will be locating in several areas around Floyd, Pike, Magoffin and Johnson counties during April.

Big Sandy Health Care's executive director, Roger C. Marshall, announced this week a new schedule for the screening team which serves the five-county area designated as District XI. This new schedule will afford more parents the opportunity to bring their children in for a complete health assessment close to home and at a nominal fee.

In Floyd county the team will do health assessments beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Big Sandy Health Care offices on US 23 here, beside the Quality Stamp Store and Dairy Cheer, on April 14 and 25. On April 4 and 5th they will be at the Wheelwright Clinic.

In Pike county the team, with Mrs. Jenny Allen, R.N., as team director, will be located in at the Stone Baptist Church, April 18, 19, 20 and 21. Starting time for the health assessment clinic will be 10:30 a.m.

In Magoffin county the team will be available April 26, 27 and 28 at the Magoffin County Clinic operated by Big Sandy Health Care.

In Johnson county the team will be set up at the Paintsville Civic Center on April 6, 7 and 11, from 9:30 a.m. to late afternoon.

Last year the children's health screening team, under the direction of Mrs. Jenny Allen, R.N., screened more than 3,600 children, with nearly 50 percent of these going on for further medical or dental attention to their local health professionals.

Why Wait for Letters?

The Times does not want to appear to be hypercritical of the routine followed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in seeking an expression of public opinion before taking action to halt the heavy sedimentation of Dewey Lake.

Perhaps names are needed for the files, but we fail to understand why.

If no public demand is forthcoming, what does the Corps propose to do? Nothing, and permit the inexorable silting in of a reservoir in which the United States and the state of Kentucky have invested millions?

The most recent study shows that sedimentation is piling up at a rate two times faster than anticipated. All the sources of sedimentation are there yet, and will remain there till coal mining ceases to be profitable in the Pike-Floyd section upstream from the lake. Members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation are fully aware of the situation and are said to be interested in seeing that something is done. They know, without benefit of public hearings or written statements that something must be done without undue delay if Dewey Lake is not to suffer irreparable damage.

The Corps should cut all the red-tape, and get on with the job of planning and doing whatever is necessary to stop that load of sediment from entering and filling in the lake.

departments in the work there and elsewhere in the community.

The flood in the valley resulted from unusually heavy rainfall Sunday night and Monday in the Big Sandy headwaters. Although the rainfall at Dewey Dam was officially recorded at only 2.15 inches, precipitation in the upper reaches of the river was reported at 5 to 6 inches.

Pikeville, which was devastated in 1957, again has suffered major disaster. The water there was reported at a depth of six feet in places. The town was isolated and without telephone, power or radio service.

Flood stage here is 36 feet. The river rose to 48.78 feet in 1957—22 of a foot less than the peak predicted here Tuesday night. The river is expected to crest at Paintsville today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. at 46 feet. The river there rose to 43 feet in 1957.

The only loss of life reported was the death of Charles Barker, of Paintsville, Standard Oil Company driver, whose gasoline-loaded truck plunged into flooded Rockcastle Creek, Martin county, Tuesday morning.

drug abuse, prevention and treatment; education, training and rehabilitation services.

Also included in the proposed plans are concerns in emergency shelter care for children; employment-related services; family or individual counseling services; family planning; foster care services for children; group home care and services; health-related services; home management-homemaking services; housing and home improvement services; juvenile services in the community; preschool day training services; residential treatment services; social services planning; and unmarried parents.

These recommended programs are subject to public comment for a 45-day period ending May 16. A public hearing on the Big Sandy Area's proposed plan will be conducted May 2 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Pike Auditorium, Prestonsburg Community College.

Kentucky's Title XX programs are administered by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Services. Bureau staff members will be available to answer questions at the hearing.

Written comments should be sent before May 16 to Commissioner Jack C. Lewis, Bureau for Social Services, Department for Human Resources, 403 Wapping Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

One copy of the complete proposed state plan is available without charge, and additional copies may be obtained for $5 each.

Written requests for plan copies should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Hockensmith, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Services, 403 Wapping Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Or call toll free 1-800-372-2992, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (EST).

Following the 45 days of public comment and hearings, the Department for Human Resources will analyze the comments. The plan will then be formulated and submitted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. At the end of June the final plan will be published.

NOVA To Explore Solar Energy Issue

Oil and natural gas have a life of only 20 to 30 years left. Coal and nuclear energy are dangerous, or polluting, or both. But at this time we still do not know what technology to substitute.

"Nova" explores the possibilities of solar energy and the "Dawn of the Solar Age" on KET, Wednesday, April 13 at 8 p.m. and Saturday, April 16 at 5 p.m.

Solar energy is in vogue as a home-heating source, and seems to be safe. But it may bring new problems—institutional ones—like who owns the sun and who should collect and distribute its energy.

Solar energy is also expensive—at least so far. The United States will spend $300 million on it in 1977 and Japan has allocated $200 million a year to its development through 1999.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 77," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Lowest Teacher Salary In Floyd Co., $8,263

Starting salaries for Floyd county teachers with bachelor's degree and no experience this year are almost $500 higher than the lowest pay in some other counties of the state.

The starting salaries this year range from $7,800 to $9,300, according to a new Kentucky Education Association (KEA) research publication. Floyd county's is $8,263.

The bulletin, "Salary Schedules of Kentucky Public-School Teachers, 1976-77," shows a $7,800 beginning minimum salary in the Bowling Green school system. The top minimum of $9,300 for beginners is scheduled in the Union county system.

In the Floyd school system, the highest salary scheduled is $10,363 for Rank III teachers, $10,943 for Rank II teachers, and $11,543 for Rank I teachers.

The lowest (minimum) salary scheduled in the county is $8,263 for Rank III teachers, $8,833 for Rank II teachers, and $9,418 for Rank I teachers.

The bulletin, prepared by Floye Perkins, KEA assistant director of public relations and research, lists these median minimum and maximum salaries based on an analysis of salary schedules from all Kentucky school systems (half the systems are above the median and half are below the median):

Median minimum—Rank III, $8,313; Rank II, $8,913; Rank I, $9,513.

Median maximum—Rank III, $10,482; Rank II, $11,090; Rank I, $11,695.

Kentucky's average salary for classroom teachers this year is estimated at $10,950, ranking the state 38th in the nation. The national average is $13,297.

KEA public relations and research director Charles Whaley said last year's scheduled salaries for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees ranged from $6,765 in Hart county to $8,750 in Fort Thomas.

Most Kentucky teachers are in the Rank III category, which means they have a bachelor's degree. The state-mandated minimum this year for Rank III teachers with no experience is $7,731.09. This is 93 percent of the state's foundation program allotment of $8,313 for such teachers.

For Rank III teachers at the maximum level of experience the highest scheduled salary ranges from $10,100 in Estill county after 12 years to $14,560 in the Anchorage and Jefferson county systems after 13 years.

Starting salaries for Rank II teachers—those with master's degrees—range from $8,280 in Carroll county to $9,936 in Fort Thomas.

At the maximum level of experience Rank II teachers receive a low of $10,700 in Estill county after 12 years and a high of $15,788 in Jefferson county after 14 years.

For Rank I teachers—those with a master's degree plus 30 approved college-credit hours beyond the master's—starting salaries this year range from $8,800 in Newport to $10,736 in Jefferson county.

The highest scheduled salary a Kentucky teacher at the Rank I level can earn in a local school system ranges from $11,300 in Estill county after 12 years of experience to $16,744 in Jefferson county after 15 years of experience.

(Not included are longevity or "super-maximum" increments that a few Kentucky school systems pay after certain intervals of service.)

Head Start Recruiting Begins

Big Sandy Head Start is recruiting handicapped children to take part in the 1977 program.

The children are being enrolled to use the full range of Head Start education, health and other program services under a new Congressional mandate providing 10 per cent of Head Start enrollment nationwide for the handicapped.

The mixing of handicapped and non-handicapped children is expected to give all the children experience in learning to understand and respect differences among people.

In the program, a handicapped child is encouraged to think less about his disability and more about his strengths as he related to other children. By learning and playing with children who are not handicapped, the child improves his self-image, overall development and sense of belonging.

Head Start staff workers are trained to work with handicapped children and their families. The program also works with other agencies in the community to provide the full range of services a handicapped child may need.

For more information or to enroll a child, call 789-3641 or come by Big Sandy Head Start, Court House, Paintsville, Kentucky, or visit your local Head Start office.

Reasons Varied as Few Seek District Judgeship

The relatively low number of candidates filing for district judgeship posts by last Wednesday's midnight deadline does not surprise William E. Davis, director of the Administrative Office of the Courts, who is responsible for handling the administrative details of the state's new reformed court system.

Davis said there are a variety of reasons only 250 lawyers filed for the 113 judgeships.

The first reason mentioned by Davis is the pay of $27,500 a year. "The pay, by Eastern Kentucky standards, is not particularly lucrative," he said. During the special legislative session last year when the salary was set, salaries as high as $33,000 were pushed.

"This is as tough a job as there is in the state of Kentucky," Davis said. He noted that the 113 district judges will be replacing 321 police judges, 150 magistrates and 120 county courts whose judicial functions are taken away under the new state court system.

Another factor accounting for the low number of filings, according to Davis, is the newness of the job. "Some people don't want to be involved in something when it's so new because there are so many problems."

On the personal level a new judge is cast in a "unique position," Davis feels. "You can't be one of the old boys in the sense you used to be," he said, explaining that judges are expected to be very conservative, always neutral and ever mindful of public appearances.

Other reasons many qualified lawyers aren't seeking the judgeships concern the cost of campaigning and the lack of job security. District court judges must give up all other legal activities. (Only lawyers qualify.)

Davis said a lawyer who wins a judgeship but loses it four years later at re-election time is faced with rebuilding a law practice.

Candidates filed for all except one of the 113 judgeships.

Nobody filed for the 47th judicial district in Letcher county. Davis said there are several ways the post could be filled, however. For example:

Someone could mount a write-in campaign for the November general election; or, the Judicial Nominating Commission could submit three nominees to the Governor who would make an appointment, if anybody is interested later; or a district judge from a nearby county could handle the 47th district caseload.

Davis said there is one lawyer in the district who is interested and would qualify for the post in late 1978. He would be licensed for two years by that time, a requirement for district judges.

Besides the election activity, other activity related to readying the state for its new court system in January is in progress. Davis' staff is visiting the state's 120 counties to arrange for facilities. An accounting firm has been selected to design a uniform accounting system for circuit clerks. Work on devising a record keeping system, selecting a tape recording system, determining the number of deputy clerks needed and other needs of the court system also is underway, Davis said.

Voters approved reform of the court system in 1975. The system consists of a new state Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals, circuit courts and the district courts.

Jaycees Dance Nets Wright Fund, $450

A total of $450, raised as the result of a benefit dance sponsored by the Floyd County Area Jaycees, March 19, has been deposited into the Stewart Wright Fund, Chalmer Howard, Jaycees president said this week.

Stewart Wright, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wright, of Water Gap, suffered extensive paralysis in a Prestonsburg High School football game last fall and a number of fund-raising efforts have been mounted to ease the financial burden of young Wright's hospitalization and rehabilitation.

Howard said the dance, which was held at the old Girl Scout camp at Dewey Lake, was a great success and he pointed out that one guest donated $100. Howard commended Troy Calhoun, leader of the Big Branch Revue and the other band members for donating their time and talent to the dance.

Carl Castle, of Prestonsburg, and Howard, of Auxier, recently assumed the positions of chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the Stewart Wright Fund.

Of Floyd County

To the Voters of Floyd County:
I am the son of the late Claude Branham and the stepson of the late Charlie and Mornor Lafferty. I am married to Carrie A. Blevins, of Prestonsburg, who has been a licensed practical nurse for 10 years.

I would like to explain to the people that the qualifications for the office of Coroner does not have to necessarily be that of a funeral director or embalmer. The Coroner's job is to deliver a just and honest investigation of any suspicious fatality or accidental death. A vote for me will insure FULL TIME (24 hours a day), honest and just service in the office of Coroner.

I would also like to bring to the voter's attention that I am not associated with any funeral home in Floyd county. Your vote and support will be most appreciated. Thank you. 4-6-2-pd.

Regional Meet on Aging Held

Representatives of the Big Sandy Area Development District, members of the Area Council on Aging and a number of older citizens from the area met Friday at Prestonsburg Community College to discuss existing and planned programs and services for senior citizens in the five-county ADD district.

L. B. LeMaster, planning director with Big Sandy ADD said the major focus of the meet was to discuss the planning process and use of money allocated with regard to area senior citizen programs "and to be open to input by those elderly residents who the programs and services directly affect."

Provisions of Titles III and XII of the Elderly Americans Act were explained and discussed with particular emphasis on the Title XII nutrition project and the Meals on Wheels Program which is the local agency which provides the project services to residents of the Floyd, Pike, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin area.

"Title III and XII offer transportation, outreach, informational referral, cultural and recreational services to elderly citizens and the meeting allowed Big Sandy ADD and related social agencies to discuss an overall plan with residents," LeMaster said.

Contestant Search Begins For Floyd Beauty Pageant

Mrs. Kay Cooley, president of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, announced this week that the Miss Floyd County Pageant will be held Saturday night April 30, at the Prestonsburg High School fieldhouse.

At the same time she called for civic and social organizations in the area to sponsor candidates and for individual young women in the Floyd-Martin-Magoffin county area to submit their own names as entries.

To qualify, a young woman must be between the ages of 17 and 26 on the Labor Day holiday, must be a high school graduate by Labor Day and must never have been married.

Talent will be considered in the judging and each contestant should possess some quality of talent, either trained or potential. Mrs. Cooley stressed that the range is varied and that no young woman must necessarily be trained in any specific field. She pointed out that many entrants in previous pageants did not realize they possessed a quality of talent until they considered entering the contest.

In urging civic and social organizations to sponsor candidates, Mrs. Cooley said each member of the organization should consider the young women they know personally, relatives or daughters of friends, and should encourage the girls to enter the pageant.

Judging of the candidates will be based on the same values as considered at the Kentucky State Pageant and at the national Miss America Pageant. Personality, poise, beauty and talent are the major requirements. Each contestant will be judged in private interview, in evening gown, in swimsuit and in the presentation of her talent.

The winner of the Miss Floyd County Pageant will be provided a $200 scholarship which will enable her to continue her education at the college of her choice.

Boating—If You're Careful—Is Fun

As the temperature rises, there is a comparable increase in the number of Kentuckians making use of the state's water recreational facilities.

According to State Water Enforcement Director Doug Shoulders, boating is one of the fastest growing family-participation activities in the nation.

"Boating can be fun for all ages and it can adjust to any pocketbook. However, to insure that everyone can participate under the safest possible conditions, it is important that all participants become familiar with the rules and regulations governing water sports," Shoulders said.

One of the most basic of the state's boating laws concerns registrations.

All motor boats principally used in Kentucky must be registered and numbered in the state. Registrations are obtained from the circuit clerks in the county of principal use or in the county of residence.

Shoulders said that the registration number must be permanently affixed to the side of the boat and that the registration papers must be on board at all times of operation.

Kentucky law also requires that boats of 16 feet or more in length carry a wearable personal flotation device (PFD) for each person on board. In addition to the life preserver, the law requires that at least one throwable device, such as buoyant cushion or ring buoy, be on board.

Smaller boats are required only to have on PFD, not necessarily a wearable one, on board for each passenger.

Federal boating laws require that all PFDs be U.S. Coast Guard (USCG) approved and in good serviceable condition.

In May 1975, safety rules governing water skiing became more stringent, according to Shoulders.

"Previously, Kentucky regulations allowed water skiers to wear the commonly used ski belts as long as an approved PFD was on board for his use when he was a passenger. Unfortunately, a PFD in the boat is of no help to a fallen skier," he said.

As of May 1975, the skier is required to wear an approved USCG Type I, II or III jacket rather than the belt.

Shoulders said these jackets will keep a person afloat and in an upright position. He also said that the Type I and II jackets are designed to hold an unconscious person's head above the water by turning him from a face downward position to a vertical or slightly backward position.

"Falling into the water while skiing at 30 mph has been compared to hitting a hardwood surface in a fall. These jackets also provide protection for the rib cage and organs of the skier," Shoulders said.

The 1975 regulations also call for a third person to participate in the water skiing sport.

Grant Made Ct. of Appeals

Gov. Julian Carroll has authorized a grant of $170,373 to the Court of Appeals for the hiring of staff attorneys and clerical help to facilitate the management of its caseload.

With the increasing number of cases being considered by the court, the Kentucky Crime Commission (KCC) recommended approval of the monies.

The staff attorneys will screen cases before they come before the court, compile a resume of the facts, an analysis of existing laws relevant to the case, and relate these to the members of the court. This will reduce research time allowing for more expeditious, competent decisions.

Of the total amount, $153,334 comes from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). The remainder will be matched with state funds on a percentage basis.

In addition to the skier and the boat operator, an observer of at least 12 years of age must be aboard. However, there is a provision which states that an observer is not necessary if the boat is equipped with a wide angle mirror so that the boat operator can observe the skier at all times.

"All these regulations are aimed at making Kentucky waterways safe for all those who use them. The safety practices underlying each of the regulations should become second nature for all persons using our lakes and streams for recreation," Shoulders said.

The regulations, on file with the state Legislative Research Commission, are enforced by Shoulders' office, which is a division of the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

For further information concerning Kentucky's boating laws, contact the state Division of Water Enforcement, 114 W. Clinton St., Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Nominate and Elect HOWARD KEATHLEY FLOYD COUNTY JUDGE

A Man For All the People . . . No. 4 On the Ballot

I, Howard Keathley, would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to the voters of Floyd County. I am a native of Harold, Ky. My parents are Mrs. Bertha King Keathley and the late Grover C. Keathley. I am a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and attended Pikeville College. My wife is the former Lucille "Tiny" Cartmell, foster daughter of Graham and Evelyn Harris Burchett, of Emma. We have 2 daughters—Ebbie, married to Doug Prater, of Prestonsburg and Suzanne, married to Bruce Henderson, of Willoughby, Ohio. Tiny and I, also, have one 5 year old granddaughter, Renee.

Here are a few important points I would like the voters of Floyd County to remember, May 24:

- THE PUBLIC MUST HAVE ACCESS TO THEIR ELECTED OFFICIALS. If I am elected, all Fiscal Court sessions will be announced with the news media and public welcome at all sessions. At this time, under the present administration, Fiscal Court sessions are unannounced to the general public, thus resulting in closed sessions and allowing the same 28-year-old underhanded policies to continue.
- I AM A MAN WITH 15 YEARS PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE IN ROAD

CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE. Every citizen of Floyd County knows that their tax dollars are being wasted by the present administration's road maintenance program! Taxpayers should not have to travel on roads similar to dry creek beds! We should not have to face a situation where an ambulance or emergency vehicle is stopped because of road conditions!

• TAXPAYERS SHOULD BE ABLE TO SEE THEIR TAXDOLLARS AT WORK! Through wiser budgeting of the already-available funds, that, in the past, have been foolishly wasted, we will be able to provide the people of Floyd County with decent, respectable recreational facilities, improved water supplies, better ambulance and health-care systems, and up-to-date sanitation methods.

Voters, the responsibility of improving the condition of Floyd County will be in your hands, May 24! Nominate and elect me, to be your next County Judge, and it will be my job and responsibility to you to see that you are truly satisfied and benefiting from the ways your tax dollars are used!

Putting Our House in Order

by John W. Gardner

Sitting in the Oval Office with all the paraphernalia of power, a new President is facing a problem that has proven impervious to Presidential power for many decades—the problem of putting the Executive Branch in order. After he has been in office a while his ambitions along this line will be realistic—not to make it a model of tidiness and efficiency, just to make it a tolerably prudent steward of the taxpayer's money and an instrument of citizens' concerns.

Because the Executive Branch departments represent quite diverse special interests they resist any attempt to coordinate them or to place their activities under the common policy guidance of the President. No one of the agencies is charged with thinking consecutively about the common good, or about the future of the nation or the species or the planet.

There is much talk of planning these days, and the opponents of planning shudder because they call to mind apprehensively the Soviet five-year plans. They should stop worrying. On problems of any complexity, our government can't come up with a five-day plan! Our biggest problem is not that we can't build for the long future. We can't even act coherently in the present. For the federal government, long range planning is "how to get through the weekend."

Our new President says he wants to reorganize the Executive Branch. In that effort his greatest difficulty will be that present patterns of organization are held in place by powerful special interests. They've spent a long time digging their tunnels into the public treasury and they don't want anyone blasting in the area.

The Congressmen whose campaigns have been financed by those same special interests will heartily agree. It's ironic that Congress freed the President from obligation to the special interests by enacting public financing of Presidential campaigns but refused to pass similar legislation setting themselves free. In the final reckoning they couldn't separate themselves from all that lovely special interest money.

A former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, John Gardner is the Founding Chairman of Common Cause.

There is hardly any measure more crucial to a President's capacity to govern than the public financing of Congressional campaigns.

In addition, any meaningful Executive Branch reorganization should also include:

- Establishment within the President's Office of effective machinery to cope with the present incredibly tangled relations among federal, regional, state and local levels of government. Such machinery does not now exist.

- A top level "home" for management in the Executive Branch to give the President a capacity to deal with waste and inefficiency in the Executive departments. That was the original intention of the Office of Management and Budget, but the management function has never really emerged.

- Restoration of the Civil Service Commission, which has fallen on desperately mediocre days. All of the career services must be rehabilitated to the point where good people inside will stay, and good ones outside will join.

- A capacity within the President's own office to formulate coherent national policy proposals to place before the Congress. It is incredible but true that on problems that cut across agency lines—and in the modern world most important problems do—the President has very inadequate machinery for developing policy options.

Watergate taught us that citizens must be alert to prevent the abuse of power and to preserve the countervailing forces such as Congress, the courts and a free press. I hope we never forget that lesson.

Now we face the fact that citizens must also help a President get the federal machinery in shape to the point where governing is possible. The special interests will oppose his every move. Citizens acting in the public interest can support him in the hard battles that will be necessary to put our house in order.

BUILDING A CAMPFIRE for a cook-out is one of the popular activities of youngsters who attend Easter Seal resident camps in Kentucky. The scene above was pictured last summer. Camping sessions will begin in May and June at Camp Kysoc at Carrollton and Camp Green Shores at Rough River Lake. More than 1,100 handicapped boys and girls enjoyed two-week sessions in 1976.

SIGNS OF SPRING AT ARCHER PARK include Prestonsburg firemen helping prepare the pool for the summer season. Draining of the pool and other necessary work, provides some on-the-job training for volunteer who gain experience with equipment used.

Highway Dept. Vows Elimination Of at Least One Road Hazard

Elimination of at least one dangerous cliff section along US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville was virtually assured by state Department of Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson in a letter received recently by the Floyd County Area Jaycees.

Grayson's letter, addressed to Chalmers Howard, of Auxier, president of the Floyd Jaycees, came in response to a letter and series of photographs which the civic organization had sent to the Department of Transportation secretary early in March in an effort to stress the urgent need for work on certain sections of the high walls which border the much-used route.

The Jaycees' communication outlined four "critical" zones where the need for terracing or removal of unstable rock overhangs was considered most pressing and it is Zone No. 1, near the junction of KY 1428 in Prestonsburg, which is set for first work by the state. According to Grayson, "The Department is currently making preparations to eliminate the hazardous condition in the area referred to in your letter as Zone 1." Grayson said plans for correcting this area are expected to be completed in April.

Although one parcel of right-of-way must be acquired before work on the hazard can begin, Grayson said, "It will be put under contract as soon as possible after the right-of-way has been cleared and the utilities relocated, possibly early this summer."

Secretary Grayson also said he would ask State Highway Engineer G. F. Kemper to have an investigation made of the three other zones identified.

"On the basis of this investigation, he (Kemper) will advise me of what action the Department can take with respect to them," Grayson explained.

Governor Who

The person sitting in the Governor's chair above is not Governor Carroll but the Youth Governor of Kentucky, Matthew Hanrahan, of Morehead. Pictured with Governor Hanrahan, from left, are Secretary of State Tricia Burke, of Louisville; Lieutenant Governor Jay Callis, of Henry county, and Speaker of the House Karen McGuire, of Montgomery county. These four will provide the leadership for the 32nd annual Kentucky Youth Assembly, sponsored by the YMCA of Kentucky, in Louisville and in the state capital, April 7, 8, 9. More than 400 young people from throughout Kentucky are expected to attend.

Virginia Pine Sawfly Damage May Be Light

The Virginia pine sawfly is a defoliating insect that attacks Virginia, shortleaf and pitch pines during the months of April and May. The first signs of attack by this insect usually begin to appear from mid-to-late April, depending primarily on the start of warm weather. In the past, the Virginia pine sawfly has caused light-to-severe defoliation of its hosts in eastern and south central Kentucky.

The Virginia pine sawfly does its damage during the larvae (caterpillar) stage. These light green caterpillars have shiny black heads and four gray-to-black stripes running the length of their bodies. They are capable of defoliating a tree in two weeks; however, they feed entirely on one-year-old needles and complete their development before the new needles appear. This allows the trees to develop enough new foliage to survive if other conditions are favorable. Trees that have been heavily defoliated three or more consecutive years are often severely weakened and highly susceptible to attack by other insects and diseases.

According to surveys made during December, 1976 by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Division of Forestry, defoliation by the Virginia pine sawfly is expected to be negligible this spring. In general, less than ten percent of the foliage on the three varieties of pines will be removed.

For additional information concerning this insect and its control (or any other tree insect or disease), contact the District Forester, Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Workman Again 'Passes' Test; Trial Postponed

Bobby Workman, who was booked for trial on a murder charge in connection with the slaying almost eight years ago of James Chaffins, last week submitted to a polygraph (lie detector) test for the second time, and the examining officer for the second time expressed the opinion that he was telling the truth.

As in his first test in Michigan, Workman last week told Sgt. Gary M. Godby, chief polygraph examiner, Kentucky State Police, at Frankfort that he knew nothing of the Chaffins murder, did not hear of it till he had returned to Michigan from this county, and that he did not know the victim.

The body of Chaffins was found at the roadside on Arkansas Creek, Derby week-end, 1969. His auto was later found, near David. Authorities since then have developed evidence which, they say, makes a strong case against Workman.

But Sgt. Godby, the polygraph examiner, wrote, after last week's testing, that "in the opinion of the examiner this subject told the truth during this examination."

In any event, Workman's guilt or innocence will not be established at the current term of the Floyd circuit court. His trial has been postponed till the next criminal court session.

Districts To Get $2 Million For Cancer Education Work

Two million dollars in state funding to implement career education programs is being allocated to local school districts as they prepare to meet the 1978 implementation deadline.

Dorothy Alexander, state career education coordinator in the Kentucky Department of Education, explained that Kentucky's legislature appropriated $2 million to assist school districts in instituting career education programs. "The actual implementation of the program is the responsibility of the local school boards," Miss Alexander said. Application for funds under the provisions of the Career Education Act is the prerogative of local officials, she commented.

According to the guidelines set up when the state's career education program was implemented by the 1976 legislature, all school districts must include career education in their curriculum by the 1978 fall school term.

Schools applying for state funding must submit plans for their career education program to the Department of Education by July 1, 1977.

Each school district will receive a grant based on $3.15 per student according to the average daily attendance records.

A number of school districts have already submitted plans, Miss Alexander said. The Department of Education is currently processing applications for funds.

Miss Alexander explained that career education is designed to guide students through occupational exploration and orientation and prepares students for career decision-making. "Students are given an opportunity for exposure to different roles in a diversity of work opportunities through career education."

VOTER INFORMATION

A voter who moves from one county to another need not return to the county of his previous residence to reregister, according to an opinion issued by Asst. Dep. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman.

The county clerk should ask the voter if he has been registered in another county, according to Herdman. If the voter says, "yes," the clerk should notify the other county's clerk and type "transfer" on the voter's registration form.

Sterling Kenneth Lindon, Campton, requested the opinion of the Attorney General's Office.

Red Cross Help Promised Floyd

Hershell Joseph, executive director of Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, said Tuesday that the Kentucky Red Cross divisional headquarters in Louisville is prepared to send whatever personnel, equipment and provisions are needed to ease the suffering caused by this week's destructive flooding.

Joseph said the arrival of Red Cross aid awaited only estimates from the office here of the amount of help needed in the county. "We're getting reports right now from Civil Defense people all over the county as to the extent of damage and number of displaced persons," Joseph pointed out. "As soon as we can get an overall idea of the need, Red Cross will come in with as much equipment, people and food as is necessary."

The Red Cross office here has been working this week to identify safe areas and shelters where displaced persons may stay until the flood water subsides. "If necessary, Red Cross will provide food at these places," Joseph said. "Nurses are also on standby."

Red Cross has set up offices here at the courthouse as well as the office on Court Street. The Floyd Chapter can be reached at 886-2521 or 886-3055.

LRC Staff To Begin State Energy Study

The Legislative Research Commission (LRC) today directed its staff to commence a study of what the legislature might do to relieve energy related problems in the state.

A final report could be made by November, according to a staff estimate.

The study will be primarily concerned with the natural gas situation. However, the LRC staff plans to gather information on such subjects as coal research and development, solar energy, electrical generation, home insulation, tax incentives for conservation, the economics of energy supplies, the availability of fuel oil and liquid gas and the effect of energy costs on low income families.

A recommended course of action for the study involves work in five areas:

—A review of the natural gas and oil reserves and resources to determine the accuracy of existing data.

—A determination as to what extent cities and municipalities can be assisted in obtaining dedicated gas supplies by General Assembly action.

—A determination of how legislative action would affect the supply of intrastate natural gas. The concept of a Kentucky Pipeline Authority would be examined.

—An examination of statutes and regulations as they relate to landowners obtaining gas supplies from pipelines which cross their land.

—A review of the roles and responsibilities of all state agencies concerned with energy matters.

The LRC had asked the staff at its March meeting to decide whether it could undertake an energy study. Brian Kiernan, a staffer who evaluated the request, today told the LRC its study would not conflict with any other energy related studies he has been able to find.

In other action, the LRC deferred consideration of a resolution requesting that the commission acquire "ready only" access of all computer data sets utilized by any agency of the state. The resolution was adopted by the Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue at its March meeting.

Consideration was deferred because the LRC staff has not had time to finish a cost analysis.

Today's meeting was the last for Philip W. Conn who has resigned as director of the LRC effective in mid-April. Vic Hellard of Versailles was named director-designate at the commission's March meeting. He will become director when Conn leaves in April.

Job Opportunity Policy Necessary

All political subdivisions in Kentucky need an affirmative policy of equal employment opportunity to prevent loss of certain federal funding.

Under new provisions of the revenue sharing act, a local government accused of discrimination must produce evidence that it did not discriminate. Failure to provide such proof will result in a suspension of revenue-sharing funds.

The Department for Local Government is offering a two-day workshop to assist local governments in preparing necessary documentation to prevent suspension of funds. A workshop is scheduled April 11-12 for local governments in the Kentucky River, Lake Cumberland and Cumberland Valley area development districts.

Sessions will begin at 8:45 a.m. each day at the Ramada Inn, London, on I-75 and Ky. 192.

KET Program To Explore 'Case of the Missing Mummy'

More than 3000 years ago, the Egyptian courtier Yuya was placed in his golden coffin, waiting to be reborn into the afterworld. But now Yuya has become vital evidence in a curious and very modern detective story.

Saturday, April 16 at 9 p.m., Kentucky Educational Television (KET) followed Liverpool University anatomy professor Ronald Harrison to the Mummy Room of the Cairo Museum. There, using the most advanced post-mortem techniques, some of which he pioneered to help in police work involving mummified bodies, Professor Harrison hopes to establish new facts about the Pharaohs who ruled Egypt 14 centuries before the birth of Christ. Most of all, he hopes Yuya may help to answer a simple but baffling question: Who was Tutankhamun's mother?

The Tutankhamun family tree is complicated because his father, Amenophis III, married his own daughter, Sitamun, after the death of his first wife. "A common enough event," observes Professor Harrison, "at a time when the Pharaoh was always anxious to preserve the family tree."

Tutankhamun was the son of Amenophis and Sitamun was his sister. Could she also have been his mother? is a question explored by "The Case of the Missing Mummy" while Professor Harrison makes his investigations—from the lifting of the mummy case through X-rays and blood-group tests. "It's astonishing just how much of the form and tissues of the body are preserved over this very long time. The state of preservation is quite fantastic."

Jenny Wiley State Park Ready For New Influx of Visitors

By HELEN PRICE STACY

"We're ready for a big season," Lowell Baker, manager at Jenny Wiley State Resort, said recently. "We've been doing our spring cleanup of park grounds and making repairs where needed. We at the park are ready for the thousands of people who every summer enjoy the park, May Lodge and Dewey Lake."

Already visitors are taking advantage of spring to boat and fish on the lake, camp out and participate in various outdoor recreations.

By the time the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre open June 24 in the park amphitheatre, some families will feel right at home in this beautiful resort park near Prestonsburg. Other area roads also are well traveled when the season gets underway.

The handsome May Lodge commands a vista of woodlands, mountains and wide stretches of Dewey Lake. Guests in the lodge have private balconies from which to enjoy the scenery and outdoor activity.

Baker points out that the park's major camping area was completed last year on Goble Branch and already is being used by many outdoor enthusiasts.

"Our golf course is open," he noted, "and the boat dock is in operation. We've having a run on docking spaces for boats."

The park manager said John Lawson, of McDowell, is now in charge of the Jenny Wiley Boat Dock, "and everything is go."

Along with a new season, new dock manager and new campground, the popular Eastern Kentucky resort has a new recreation program director. Patsy Trotter, formerly employed as recreation director for the city of Hopkinsville, is busy with implementing plans for an outstanding season.

"Square dancing will be a regular feature here," Baker said, "and for those days of bad weather—we all have a few—a variety of indoor games will be offered for campers and everyone."

This year campers will have full use of a recreation center, with complete renovation of Pine Center. The center, once a camp for Girl Scouts (Camp Chatterwaha) has a new kitchen, new bathrooms and other improvements.

Visitors to the park pass the golf course on their way in. On the opposite side of the park approach road is the amphitheatre where each season outstanding musicals are performed under sponsorship of the Jenny Wiley Music Theatre Association. Auditions for parts were held earlier and include local performers as well as those better known in the arts. Area youths ages 12 to 16 auditioned in mid-March for parts in the production Oliver.

Between opening of musical June 24 and closing Aug. 21, theater-goers will have enjoyed "Godspell," "Oliver" and "Camelot."

At the foot of the hill on which May Lodge is located is the newly rebuilt boat dock. Already in wide use, the dock provides easy access to the lake with its wide reaches as well as coves and inlets of smaller streams. Those who enjoy fishing from land will find well-used paths around the lake shore and hundreds of spots from which to dangle a pole or cast.

In addition to a small pool for lodge guests, the park has an olympic-size pool to be opened later in another section of the grounds. There are picnic facilities, hiking trails, cottages and special entertainment throughout the season.

"We have one of the finest dining rooms," Baker said. "We serve complete meals and offer our sumptuous buffet treats as well as sandwiches."

With its many offerings in outdoor recreation, planned programs and summer musical productions, Jenny Wiley is "ready for company." Said Baker, "In fact, we expect this to be our best year even."

Over the past four years the only thing that Mr. Roberts has done is grow fatter and richer while our district has grown poorer and in worse condition. I don't have to tell you what he's done because there's nothing to tell. You can see for yourself what hasn't been done. Our district has taken a back seat to the rest of the county long enough. FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Primary election, May 24.

(Pol. Adv.; Richard E. Fitzpatrick, Wells Campaign treasurer)

What will be the duties of your District Judge of Floyd County?

Our new court system provides for a District Judge in Floyd County, who will do the judicial work now being handled by five City Police Judges, four Magistrates, the County Judge, County Judge Pro-tem, Trial Commissioner and Juvenile Judge.

Additionally, the Legislature has increased the jurisdictional limits in civil cases to $1,500.00. The new Judge will not only handle the increased civil load, but will also preside over a new small claims court (under $500) and will handle all criminal matters, including the violation of all state laws and city and county ordinances, except offenses punishable by penitentiary confinement or death.

Also, the District Court will handle all juvenile matters, the appointment of guardians, committees, administrators, the probation of all wills and administration of all estates.

About the only duties not assumed by the District Judge will be the fiscal duties—budgeting money for roads, salaries, etc., and supervising how your tax money is spent. These duties will continue to be administered by the Fiscal Court, the Magistrates and the County Judge, now called County Judge Executive.

The Administrative Offices of Courts at Frankfort estimates that 68 percent of all cases will originate in the District Court. This means that 68 of every 100 persons coming to the courts will come first to the District Court. The man who holds the office of District Judge for the first time has an awesome responsibility to see that the District Court is properly set up, constituted and operated. How the court is conducted the first term may set the pattern for the future of Justice in Floyd County.

The office of District Judge will require a person with not only a law degree, but also with considerable administrative ability. It will require a person with good health, good nerve, and a willingness to work long hours.

If I am elected, the fact that my residence is next door to the courthouse (and jail) will somewhat ease the problem of having your District Judge available after hours.

Believing that I am the best man for the job, I respectfully urge you to vote for me in the coming May Primary.

To the Citizens and Voters Of Floyd County:

To familiarize you with my family and myself, I offer the following information:

I am one of nine children, born to L. C. "Crit" Leslie and Clara Layne Gunnell Leslie, of Emma, Ky., both deceased.

Married to Hester Woods the daughter of Johnnie Woods and Maxie Goble Woods, of Emma, Ky., deceased.

To our union were born four sons, John Paul, married to Pam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Spradlin, of Prestonsburg; Darrell Keith, married to Cheryl, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Garland Godsey, also of Prestonsburg; Jonathan Bennett Lee, married to Debby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Fuls, of Allen, Ky.; Jerry Mayo, married to Deanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Caudill, of Auxier, Kentucky.

I, as did my wife, graduated from Prestonsburg High School. I then went to the CCC's for six months, joining your U.S. Navy in December, 1940, pre-Pearl Harbour, as a member of the heavy Cruiser U.S.S. Salt Lake City on which I served six years. I know because I was there when we went to war.

I mined coal for 15 years at our Wheelwright and Price Inland Steel mines, belonging to our Wheelwright local for the same number of years.

I am presently employed by the C. & O. R. R. Company as a conductor, working from the Manton yard in the Right Beaver section and the Ivel-Bull Creek section of our county, still belonging to a union—this time, the Brotherhood of Conductors and Brakemen—and hauling the coal that you dig to market.

From then and at present I am still a part of our most plentiful resource of energy, "Coal", and a proven union man.

FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

On January 1, 1978, a new County Attorney will take office in Floyd County, the same date a new District Court begins. His duties will include the prosecution of all criminal cases found therein. That County Attorney will have a greater opportunity than any heretofore to help or hurt the general welfare of our people by his actions.

If this new system is to succeed, it must be matched with a new face, a man who is fresh in commitment, energy and ideas. He must have a determination to run an open, honest and effective office that meets these newly-created responsibilities. That County Attorney must be a man who is capable of working with everyone to achieve his goals. That County Attorney must be a man who not only has the desire to enforce the law, but the compassion to apply it to real-life situations to achieve basic honesty and fairness under the law for every man and woman.

We cannot afford to miss this new opportunity. Therefore, I ask you for your vote and support. In return I promise you four years of hard work and dedication to do the things that must be done for all of us. My office will have an open door for every man and woman, whether rich or poor, with a sympathetic ear to your problems and difficulties. My official duties will be carried on in the open, visible to all, with a complete explanation to anyone as to why any certain thing has been done. Decency, fairness and honesty will be our sense of direction for the future.

Non-Resident May View Public Records

Any person can examine public records that are not expressly exempted by law, according to the state Attorney General's office.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Carl Miller issued the opinion in response to a question from Erlanger attorney Ervin L. Bramlage, who asked if Albert J. Roll should be allowed to examine Erlanger-Elsmere independent school district records. The Board of Education had previously denied Roll's request, saying he was not a resident of the district and his requests amounted to harassment.

Miller said the specific records that Roll requested were not exempted under the Kentucky Open Records Law and that Roll's non-residency was not a basis for denying him access to the records. Although an agency can refuse access to records on the basis of harassment, Miller said that Roll's actions did not show intent to disrupt the essential functions of the school district and did not constitute harassment.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

It looks like the fishing schedule is about a month behind normal this year. As most anglers know, fish react to rising temperatures in the spring, beginning their spawning activity by the thermometer, not by the calendar.

That's fine for the fish, but it can be downright frustrating for the fisherman. Psychologically, we've been ready to go for what seems like six months, but the weather just won't cooperate.

Water temperatures are still low—in fact, the surface temperatures are about the same now as they were at the beginning of March last year.

Walleye are usually the first fish to start spawning runs, usually in February. This year, the first walleye activity was reported on March 21. White bass have started to stir some, but again this activity resembles what usually takes place in late February.

So unless things warm up quickly, we'll likely have late spawning seasons for most species. But fishery biologists are predicting good fishing this year. After the severe winter, which probably caused some mortality among all species, the fish should react with heavy, intense spawning pressure, according to Charlie Bowers, director of fisheries for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Bowers says he wouldn't be surprised to see excellent fishing this spring, with good catches continuing into, if not throughout, the summer. If his predictions hold up, the fishing this year should be worth waiting for, so hang on just a little longer.

And while we're waiting, here are a couple of good bets to look into. If you've never attended one of the Department of Park's Fishing Unlimited programs, you've missed a good time and a chance to collect a handsome trophy.

These fishing unlimited programs offer a chance to get together with other anglers at one of Kentucky's fine state resort parks, to look over the latest fishing gear on display and to learn from guest experts.

Trophies are awarded for the largest black bass, the largest crappie, the heaviest string of bass, the heaviest string of crappie, the largest fish other than black bass or crappie. The youngest and oldest fishermen entering fish will also receive trophies.

Fishing unlimited programs will be held at Barren River State Resort Park April 22-24 and at Lake Cumberland April 29-May 1. The $45.00 rate includes two nights lodging and six meals.

For additional information, contact the Kentucky Department of Parks, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Another way to win a prize on your fishing trips this spring doesn't involve entering a contest, just catching certain fish. The Department of Fish and Wildlife wants to know about any legal sized rockfish, musky, walleye or any bass over five pounds you catch. In exchange for a few scales from any of these fish, the department will send you a wall certificate and a lapel pin.

The scales will then be used to determine stocking success, growth rate and other information about these important game fish. So your participation in this program not only brings you something, it also helps biologists create better fishing for the future.

Write Jim Axon, Division of Fisheries, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 for details and mailing envelopes for the scales.

To Present "Discovery of Africa"

African village scene in Ayr Mountains area

A program on the customs, arts and crafts of an isolated group of desert people who inhabit the Ayr Mountains of Niger, Africa will be presented in the auditorium of Prestonsburg Community College at 8 p.m. Friday. Presenting the show and leading the discussion will be Aubine and Michael Kirtley who together lived for several years with Tuareg artisans of the Ayr Mountains in one of the more remote parts of Africa.

The program will begin with an introduction by Mr. Kirtley, and will include a slide show with music and sound. A discussion will follow. Accompanying the show is an exhibit of artifacts from the artisans. There is no charge for this event; however, donations will be accepted at the door from those who wish to contribute to help meet expenses. The workshop is co-sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Commission and PCC's Office of Community Services.

Barge Will Ply Big Sandy While Water Remains Deep

A new craft will go down the Big Sandy in a few days, after the crest of a "high tide," as the rafts of timber did 75 years ago.

It will be the "maiden voyage" for the river-traveller—and perhaps its last.

For it is a steel barge manufactured in this county, to go downriver to Louisa, and there turn up the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy to go to Kermit, W. Va., and there possibly remain as long as it is functional.

The 10½-ton barge was manufactured at the May Truck Body plant, near Emma, for Ed Ousley, of Prestonsburg, who operates a sand-and-coal dredging enterprise in the Tug Fork at Kermit. It has been ready for travel for some time, but higher water was needed to permit it to negotiate the shallow shoals, en route. The barge was scheduled to begin its downriver trip tomorrow (Thursday), but its departure may depend upon water conditions.

The barge is 18 feet wide—too wide to be transported to Kermit via highway—and 32 feet long. Within its hull are one and a half tons of flotation, and it will sustain a weight of 120 tons. Once it arrives at Kermit, Mr. Ousley will add to it machinery for dredging up the sand and coal on the bottom of the river.

Ben Ferguson, Jr. will operate the heavy outboard motor which will propel the barge from Emma to Louisa and upstream to Kermit. It is not known if others will assist him. In any event, the barge will be equipped for the trip to protect its "crew" from the weather and to afford eating and sleeping accommodations.

CANCER
 Answerline
 American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

A furniture designer asks: "Why is it that when you read about cancer drugs, leukemia is mentioned right away. Aren't drugs useful in treating other forms of cancer?"

ANSWERline: Cancer drugs, given in combination with surgery and/or radiation, are a vital part of the treatment plan for many major forms of cancer—including breast, lung, and colon cancers—but you are right, the public hears a lot about leukemia. The reason is simple: beginning in the 1940's, and achieving real progress in the 1960's, chemotherapy, particularly combination chemotherapy, for leukemia blazed the way for the use of drugs in cancer treatment in general. Medical science is at the point where specialists may design a sophisticated sequence of nine different drugs according to exact sized and timed dosage for a leukemic child. A tremendous amount of research stands behind that treatment plan and now we're learning how to combine drugs with radiation, surgery and immunotherapy for major adult cancers. In leukemia, treatment results can be seen and assessed quickly because it is a rapidly-growing cancer. It takes far longer to assess the results of treatment with slower growing cancers. Just as in leukemia, research has to work out the answer to which form of cancer—for example, there are several forms of colon cancer alone and each differs in reaction to existing cancer drugs. Our ability to use drugs in leukemia shows that we can find answers to those kinds of questions.

A car mechanic explains: "I have a sore on my wrist that has been there a while. I figure it's my work. My wife says I need vitamins, what do you say?"
 ANSWERline: Only a trained physician can answer that question, and you should see one right away. A sore that doesn't heal may be a sign of skin cancer and because of that possibility it is wise to have a checkup.

Ice cubes and penguins. That's what most folks thought Alaska had to offer back in 1867 when Secretary of State Seward suggested we purchase it. But thanks to thousands of Americans who invested in U.S. securities, we had the down payment on hand. So we bought what was to become our fiftieth state. Then came the furs. The fish. The forest products. And finally, the gold. By 1900, Alaska's natural resources had repaid many times the original purchase price. Yep, Americans invested in their country, and it really paid off. And it still does today. To you and your country. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan at work. Then, a little is set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds. Automatically. And what could be easier than that? So buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They're a warm place for your cold cash.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Carroll Reviews Workmen's Compensation

Gov. Julian Carroll praised representatives of labor, management and government last Wednesday for their joint effort that resulted in legislation reversing soaring workmen's compensation insurance rates in the Commonwealth.

"Kentucky was facing an immensely serious problem," Gov. Carroll said after Kentucky Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey issued an order Tuesday which reduces workmen's compensation insurance rates in Kentucky by 20.4 per cent overall. "This development is even more praiseworthy when contrasted to recent publicly-stated doubts by industry spokesmen as to the likelihood of any rate reductions in the foreseeable future," he pointed out.

The immediate net saving to Kentucky employers, retroactive to Jan. 1, is $29 million a year.

"Because of recent court decisions, workmen's compensation insurance rates rose by an average of 32.5 per cent last year," Gov. Carroll noted. "Industry felt it couldn't afford those rates, along with the prospect of future increases, and remain in business in Kentucky."

"But yet, labor quite rightfully demanded adequate compensation for workers who were injured on the job."

"Our workers needed protection but we also needed to preserve their jobs," Gov. Carroll continued. "So the labor and industry representatives on the review commission I appointed last August sat down together to work out a solution that was in the best interest of all."

"The Kentucky General Assembly also acted responsibly in taking the recommendations of this review commission, giving them careful consideration, and then enacting them into law in the special session last December," the Governor said.

While the immediate net saving to Kentucky employers is $29 million a year, the Governor noted, their gross reduction in premiums from what they would have paid if the General Assembly had done nothing was more than $70 million. That is because built-in rate increases and other increases would have been based on the old, higher rates, McGuffey said.

Another provision of the new law also will save Kentucky employers another $12 million a year, if the total amount which insurance carriers pay into the state's Special Fund is the same for the next five years as it has been the last five, Gov. Carroll said. The Special Fund pays claims beyond an employer's workmen's compensation coverage.

That reduction, he said, occurs because previously, insurance carriers kept forty cents of every $1 they collected from employers for the Special Fund. The forty cents went to pay agents' commissions and general overhead costs, with the rest retained as profit.

A provision of the 1976 law limited insurance carriers to a two per cent collection fee. They now must pay to the Special Fund at least 98 per cent of the money they collect for that purpose from employers.

State Agency Cracks Down On Mental Health Centers

The state human Resources Department is planning to crackdown on management of the 15 comprehensive care centers in Kentucky.

For the first time this year, the local mental health centers will be asked to sign a contract with the state spelling out how much money they will receive and what services they're expected to deliver.

"We're getting away from the period when we didn't know what the comp care centers were doing," said Robert Slayton, an aide to Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn.

Signing a contract "seems like the obvious thing to do, but no one has ever done it," he said.

The state funnels more than $3.5 million into the community mental health centers each year, in addition to federal grant for staffing and programs.

Conn, who took over as secretary of the giant health and welfare agency less than three months ago, was hit with requests for additional money from two comprehensive care centers almost as soon as he stepped into the job.

One request was for about $90,000, the other for more than $1 million.

Although the centers are required to submit a plan and a budget every year, there has been no follow through to make sure the money was being spent effectively.

"It was like walking on marshmallows," Conn said. "There was a plan, but not strong accountability."

The mental health centers were organized about 10 years ago in Kentucky. Federal funds were plentiful to start programs for the mentally retarded, mentally ill, alcoholics and others.

But as federal funds began drying up, the centers began looking to the state for money, arranging independently with the various bureaus in the Human Resources Department to provide additional funds.

Conn compared it to a "Balkan state," where each center has an independent relationship with each bureau, and there's no coordination.

He believes that by establishing a department-wide review of the centers' operations, and by spelling out in a contract what is expected, "we'll be able to hold them more accountable."

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

—Forty years ago, the beaver was almost completely eliminated from its original range east of the Mississippi. But today, thanks to modern wildlife management, beavers are so numerous in some sections of the Southeast that control of their numbers is necessary.

—new environmental protection regulations severely limit the steps a professional wildlife manager can take to control wildlife "pests".

—Wildlife biologists can now use space satellites to help them classify and evaluate wildlife habitat.

These are among the items members of the Department of Fish and Wildlife's game management division discussed at a day-long continuing education conference in Frankfort March 30.

Sponsored by Auburn University and the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Department, this short course for wildlife professionals is part of an experimental program designed to bring continuing education to those working in the natural resources, according to Dr. Edward P. Hill, assistant unit leader at Auburn's Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit and formerly of Floyd county.

The program is designed to acquaint wildlife biologists with recent techniques and new developments in the wildlife sciences. "What we are trying to do is acquaint professionals with what has happened since they left college," Hill explained, adding that the short course has received favorable responses from seven southeastern states.

Although it is not on a trial basis, this program may become permanent, according to Commissioner Arnold L. Mitchell of the department of fish and wildlife. Future programs could be funded by a combination of state and federal money, Mitchell said.

Hill, who presented the session on beaver population control, Dr. Michael Golden, assistant professor of forestry at Auburn and Chuck Danner, a wildlife biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, were the instructors for the conference.

Golden spoke on the forest habitat classification, stressing the importance of evaluating the productivity of land for wildlife purposes. He described a new technique he and other scientists at Auburn are developing, a technique which uses satellite photographs. Golden said that a satellite map showing the forest habitat regions of Kentucky should be available soon.

Danner, who is stationed in Lexington, brought the participants up to date on the latest theories and techniques of wildlife pest control. "We used to speak of the eradication of pest species," Danner said. "Now we talk of reducing the level of damage caused by wildlife. This change in attitude reflects both a practical assessment of the situation and a change in moral attitude on the part of wildlife professionals."

Danner explained the legal problems of dealing with endangered species which might become pests, such as an endangered bat in someone's attic, and he expounded upon recent Environmental Protection Agency regulations governing the use of pesticides.

Hill discussed controlling beaver populations in Alabama, where he has been engaged in a variety of beaver control experiments. Most beaver damage, Hill said, occurs from the flooding their dams cause, although their diet of wood can cause destruction of timber or ornamental trees.

Hill's studies show that commercial trapping offers the best control measure, since it only eliminates the beavers from problem areas but also provides income for the trappers.

A Prestonsburg native, Hill is a former biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He thinks beavers have the potential for improving the watershed quality in strip mined areas of Kentucky by their dam building activities. (Hill is a son of Judge and Mrs. Edward P. Hill, now residents of Frankfort.)

Approximately 20 wildlife managers from around the state attended the conference.

In Gratitude

Remembering an Easter Sunday of twenty-five years ago, when Carl (who has gone early to his heavenly home), our first-born daughter, and I were baptized and became members of the church, while our three-year-old daughter looked proudly on, and in her tiny voice said, "I'll be next!"—and knowing that a few years later she fulfilled the promise she made on that memorable day, I approach each Easter season with special gratefulness to the One whose life here on this earth, and whose death on the Cross made these memories possible.

And when sadness from the loss of Carl sometimes overwhelms me, I'll try to remember the lines from the poem of Grace Goodhue Coolidge, which reads:

"The memory of your smile, when young,
"Reveals His face,
"As mellowing years come on apace.
"And when you went before,
"You left the gates of Heaven ajar
"That I might glimpse,
"Approaching from afar,
"The glories of His grace."

There is a story from Arabia that is worth repeating.

A young man came to a wise old sheik, and asked, "What kind of people live in El Kamen? I would like to move my family from our village."

"What kind of people live in your village now?" asked the sheik.

"Unpleasant, selfish and unfriendly," stated the young man.

"You will find them to be the same in El Kamen—they're unpleasant, selfish and unfriendly," advised the wise old sheik.

In a few days another young man approached the old sheik with the same question about El Kamen.

"What kind of people live in your village?" he again inquired.

"Wonderful, thoughtful and considerate," the young man said.

"The people in El Kamen are the same—wonderful, thoughtful and considerate," the old man smilingly replied.

This is just a story—but isn't it true that by our attitudes we make life just about what it is.

Appointments Made By Present Judges Valid Next Year

County judge-executives who will take office next January under the state's new judicial article will not have authority to nullify appointments made by the previous county judges, according to the state Attorney General's Office.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles W. Runyan issued the opinion, noting that an appointment is not nullified because of the fact that the appointing authority went out of office or because the office of the appointing authority was abolished. He said the validity of an appointment rests purely on whether the county judge, prior to Jan. 2, 1978, makes the appointment in conformity with the law.

However, Runyan explained that should a term expire or a vacancy arise in 1978, the new term would be filled by an appointee of the county judge-executive.

I am the son of Taylor Layne and Martha Hale Layne, of Stephens Branch, Manton, Ky. My paternal grandparents are the late Alford Layne and Mary Carver Layne. My maternal grandparents are the late Wess Hale and Sarah Kennedy Hale.
My wife, Pauline, is the daughter of M. F. Patton, of Eastern, Ky., and Pearl Prater Patton, of Ypsilanti, Mich. We have five children, Brenda Joyce Burton, of Stanton, Ky., Glenda Kay Merion, Martin, Ky., John Phillip, a student at Morehead University, Bert Ricky (Dewey) and Kathy Lynn, at home. We also have three granddaughters. Pauline and I own and operate Layne's Grocery at Manton, Ky.
I graduated from Martin high school in 1942 and served three years in the US Air Force during World War 2.
I am an active member of the UMWA. I have served as an officer of two Local Unions—7791 at Langley, and 6282 at Manton, for twenty years. I have also served as a Notary Public for the last seven years.
During all these years, I have filled out many forms for my brothers of the UMWA, regardless of the local union they belonged to. I have also notarized many papers during my last seven years as Notary Public.
All of you people offered to pay me for the services that I did for you, but I never accepted anything. These things I did because I wanted to help you. Now, I would like to ask all of you to help and support me, Jake Layne, for Magistrate in District 2.
If you do not live in my district, but know some people who do, would you please talk to these people and tell them about me?
Every politician will tell you, I am honest and sober. I am not asking you to take my word alone. If you want to know anything about me, ask the people who know me.
This is my application for the job as Magistrate in District 2. If you want a man that will help all of the people in this District, regardless of where they live, vote for me.

VOTE FOR
HOLLAND B. HURLEY
Democrat
For SHERIFF

Dear Fellow Democrats:
When first announcing my candidacy for County Sheriff, I stated that I had no political strings or affiliations and at this time I would like to reiterate my position in that regard. No one picked me to run for Sheriff. My decision to run for that office was made only by one person and that person was me. Some railroad men I work with said we need a change in the courthouse. I agree with them.
I do not believe our system of government can continue to exist if each time an individual decides to seek an elected office he must seek the permission of those persons who run the courthouse and hold the political power.
I know I am the underdog in this race. I will have to have the poor man's vote to win the May primary. If I am elected I promise you that I will treat the poor man equally with the rich, and no poor man will ever feel he must hesitate before coming to my office. The decisions I make as your County Sheriff will be determined by my conscience and my sense of fairness and will not in any way be influenced by individuals who hold political power or have lots of money.
I am running my own campaign and am on the ticket to show that the poor people are ready for a change in Floyd County.
All you have to do is elect me and you have done your part. The rest will be up to me. I will try to be one of the best Sheriffs you have ever had.
I know that most of the men running against me have lots of time and money, which I am short on. I work long hours and campaign on the weekend.
Thank you.
HOLLAND B. HURLEY.

ROBERT R. RATLIFF
DEMOCRAT FOR MAGISTRATE, Dist. No. 4
By working together we can make things happen.
Something we all need is roads, for ourselves and especially our children. Some of our children still have to walk for miles through mud and water just to get to the school buses. In this day and time this should not be allowed to happen! There are a lot of places where people are still working on the roads with horses and ponies, just to make them passable. But we do have modern equipment to do this work with. We could haul creek gravel, red dog, sandstone from strip jobs and also county gravel when available, etc. But it takes ambition to get the job done. And there is a lot to be done, for our roads have been neglected a long time.
Let's don't look at the past—We've got our future to think of.
Your vote is needed and will be appreciated. 2t-pd. by the candidate

Re-Elect
BOB HACKWORTH
CONSTABLE, Dist. 2
I am running for re-election for Constable in your district. I have served you for the past three and a-half years to the best of my ability. I have answered your calls day and night. I have attended school activities. I have directed funeral processions, and have attended church activities when asked. I have done my very best to enforce the law all over District No. 2. I have treated everyone as an equal and will continue to do so in the future. If I am re-elected I will continue to:
(1) Attend all ball games and school activities.
(2) Enforce the law all over District No. 2.
(3) To provide the same efficient service as I have done in the last three and-a-half years.
I have made many friends among our young people simply because I have treated them with respect and in return they have done the same for me. If you want four more years of progress toward law enforcement and knowing you have someone to call on when you need help, re-elect me.

DELMER (DICK) ELSWICK
FOR SHERIFF
As you know I am a candidate for Sheriff of Floyd County, Kentucky. I quit drinking over 4 years ago and I have not drunk any alcoholic beverages since that time. I want you to know I am against bootlegging, dope and drunk driving. I will carefully select qualified deputies, they will be in full uniform and they will treat everybody in an equal manner. Deputies will be furnished at all funerals, school activities or any place needed in Floyd County.
As I have stated before no Elswick has ever run for public office in Floyd County. I believe that everyone deserves a chance. A vote for Elswick means a safer Floyd County.

Democratic Candidate for

MAGISTRATE, District 2

Do you want a man that will not wait until election time to gravel the roads and install drain pipes?
Do you want a man that will gravel public roads instead of private driveways?

Do you want a man that will gravel your roads while you are living, and not after you die?

If you want a man that will do something to improve his district from the beginning of his term to the end, elect me for Magistrate.

If you elect me and I do not do my job as I should, then you can vote me out on the next election, as you have done to other Magistrates.

If you vote me in as Magistrate and then vote me out, because I did not do the job that I should have done, then I would not ask you to vote for me again for the same position that you said I could not fill.

Vote for me for Magistrate in District 2. A man that can and will work with all the county officials and do a good job for my district.

Explanation

The defendant in the suit listed by The Times last week as Denver Ousley vs. Larry Miller is not the Larry B. Miller who resides at Highland Heights, Prestonsburg.

ACCORDING TO A special labor force report released by the U.S. Department of Labor, nearly 9 of 10 children lived with both of their parents in March 1970; but six years later in March 1976, this ratio had dropped to slightly more than 8 of 10.

No 'Educational Blueprint' Costs Two Ways, Carroll Says

Lack of an educational blueprint for Kentucky education is costing more tax dollars than necessary and hurting students, Gov. Julian Carroll said last Thursday at a meeting of his Task Force on Education.

During a meeting of the group's steering committee the governor estimated the state's tax money probably could be spread twice as far as it is now in education with less duplication.

"We can create new dollars for reappropriation for sound educational programs that are now being inefficiently spent or by duplication being spent for those programs," according to Carroll.

The governor appointed the task force earlier this year to look at all levels of education in the state and make recommendations on improvements to the 1978 General Assembly. Thursday's meeting of the group's 40-member steering committee was the first for the task force, although the staff has been at work since February.

Don Stephens, of Lexington, who resigned as state representative to accept Carroll's appointment, is executive director of the task force.

At the luncheon meeting at the Governor's Mansion, Stephens named chairmen and vice chairmen for 33 subcommittees recommended to tackle subject areas in education. Steering committee members will study the proposed topics, then recommend which to retain and what topics to add.

Stephens plans to meet in April with subcommittee heads and members to acquaint them further with study areas.

Besides subcommittee recommendations, suggestions on improving Kentucky's educational system will come from delegates to a fall conference scheduled in Lexington.

Thomas Tucker Will Work To Improve Roads . . .

TO ALL VOTERS OF DIST. 4:

As you all know, I am still a candidate for Magistrate of District 4. I am a young man, 32 years old. I am not married. I stay home and take care of my sick mother and daddy. I am employed by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. I have never been arrested in my life, nor in jail in my life. It always has been in my heart to help poor people in any way I could. I feel that the people are in need of roads now more than ever before. They can't go to the stores . . . They can't go to church without destroying their cars and trucks. I believe in churches and I believe the people deserve decent roads to get there on. I know what bad roads are—they lead from my house to every house in District 4, that's not on the main highway. I know this for I have been out talking to the people and traveled over the roads. I have been in Mr. Roberts' home place on Toler Creek and the roads are so bad that you can't hardly get over them. I have taken a picture of some holes in the road up Left Toler. I believe that any human being wants and deserves good roads to travel on . . . The way the roads are now reminds me of the boys having fun throwing rocks in a frog pond, when a wise frog said, it may be fun to you, Mr. Roberts, but it's death to us. Get behind me, Thomas Tucker, and I'll get the roads fixed. It will take your votes to get me in office and my work when I get there to fix the kind of roads that all of the people need and should have. You all deserve a lot better than you have got.

ARNOLD TURNER, JR. FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

WHO IS THIS MAN?

That is a question that deserves the consideration of the people throughout this county.

Arnold Turner, Jr. is a young man of 28 years, born and reared in McDowell, Kentucky, the product of a coal mining family. His father has been connected with coal mining since he first entered the mines at the age of 16 years. His grandfather and four of his uncles are all United Mine Worker's members, whether retired or active. His mother and her family are deeply imbedded in the mountain way of life, and the life experiences of the working man and woman.

Arnold Turner, Jr. graduated from McDowell High School in 1966. From there he went on to the Prestonsburg Community College for two years, and then on to the University of Kentucky to complete his undergraduate work. He then fulfilled a long-time ambition of himself and his family by entering the University of Kentucky Law School. He graduated from that institution in 1973. During his last year and one-half there, he not only was a full-time student, but worked 20 or more hours a week as a law clerk to then Kentucky Attorney General Ed Hancock, driving daily from Lexington to Frankfort, Kentucky after classes and home again to complete his studies before the night was done. While there as a law clerk, he comprised one of the original three-member staff of the Kentucky Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division and participated in the successful prosecution of the "Dare to be Great" consumer investment fraud that made national headlines.

At last, completing his legal education, he found like many other young men and women that doors do not open easily for the inexperienced. He located in our neighboring Pike County, and was employed as an Assistant Commonwealth Attorney to that two-judge Circuit Court. For two years he prosecuted felons from murder to incest, and maintained a near 90 percent conviction rate. During that time he was described by John Paul Runyon, President of the Kentucky Commonwealth Attorney's Association as "probably one of the best young prosecutors in the entire state" of Kentucky.

However, native Floyd Countians seldom remain satisfied with any arrangement other than their home. So, in November of 1975, he opened a private practice here in Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Now, for the first time, he is seeking public office. Not as a seasoned politician, but as a young man who now feels he has the experience, honesty and know-how to be a good County Attorney for our people. His heart and interests lie here. Look to his family ties and relations.

His father, Arnold Turner, of McDowell, fed himself and his family by the wages of a coal miner for over 21 years as an underground miner and then worked an additional 12 years as a Kentucky State Mine Inspector. This young man's grandfather, Joe "Hoss" Turner, is the son of Joel and Margaret Coburn Turner of the Right Beaver section of Floyd County. His paternal grandmother is Mertie Martin Turner, daughter of Keene and Martha Robinnett Martin, who are from the Drift-Minnie area of our county. Arnold Turner, Jr.'s mother, Annette Newsome Turner, was a working woman, employed 17 years as the Housekeeping Supervisor at the Appalachian Regional Hospital at McDowell. She is the daughter of the late Milford Newsome who was from the Ligon-Mud Creek section of this county. His maternal grandmother was Dona (Donie) Hall Newsome, who was well-known as a restaurant owner in Martin and McDowell for many years. Her parents were Robert and Henrietta Hopkins Hall of the Spewing Camp-McDowell area.

Other family members consist of three sisters and two brothers-in-law, all of whom live at McDowell, and those being Donise Turner, Joan Chaffins, Anita Gibson, Phillip Chaffins, son of the late Dave and Mint Chaffins of Wayland, and David S. Gibson, son of Selton and Bertha Gibson, of Maytown.

He is married to Elizabeth Ann Burga, the daughter of Bill Burga of Hager Hill and Alta Burga of Wheelwright. She is the granddaughter of Dewey and Eula Osborne of Wheelwright. They have one son, Arnold Brent Turner, currently enrolled in the Allen Elementary School.

It should never be suggested that family relations should determine your vote, but a man's background is a good indication of a man's desires for the future. Arnold Turner, Jr. is a native Floyd Countian whose hopes, dreams, and ambitions stand to see Floyd County prosper and progress.

In January, 1978, Kentucky will begin a great experiment called the District Court. All violations of law heretofore processed through our County Courts, Magistrates Courts, and City Police Courts, will go through this one judicial body. The County Attorney taking office at that time will be its chief prosecutor and driving force. Now is the time for a new face to be joined with a new beginning. The supporters of this young man sincerely believe that he will bring honesty, openness and effective service together for all of us as our County Attorney.

French high schools are open on Saturdays.

Last-Chance Effort Made

State Agriculture Commissioner Thomas O. Harris announced last week he is exploring one last chance to get federal aid for Kentucky farmers, including Floyd county's, who suffered crushing financial losses during the most severe winter in 177 years.

Harris said at a new conference that Gov. Julian M. Carroll, in a telegram to U.S. Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland, has requested that 71 counties be declared disaster areas, allowing them eligibility for low-interest rate loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

This most recent attempt to get federal relief for Kentucky farmers follows earlier rejection of Kentucky's request for federal assistance under the feed grain program.

Harris emphasized that the only hope now for federal assistance is the low-interest rate loans at the rate of 5 percent to cover emergency situations.

"If this effort fails, I know of no other recourse," Harris said.

The Commissioner said the loan rate had not been sought previously "because we did not want to dilute the possibility of getting other financial assistance under the feed grain program. But since that has been denied, we are now taking this new line of attack."

He said he hopes to receive a response to the request by the end of this week.

Harris outlined the procedure farmers should follow:

First, the 49 counties that did not make a request for loans may still apply to their local county emergency boards to be reconsidered, and those counties can then be placed on the list.

Second, if counties have fewer than 25 requests for low interest rate loans, they should apply to the state director of FHA in Kentucky, since he has the power to declare an emergency in such cases.

The 71 counties requesting relief are Adair, Anderson, Ballard, Bell, Boone, Bourbon, Boyd, Boyle, Bracken, Breathitt, Bullitt, Calloway, Campbell, Carroll, Carter, Casey, Christian, Clark, Clinton, Cumberland, Edmonson, Fayette, Floyd, Franklin, Fulton, Gallatin, Garrard, Grant, Graves, Grayson, Hardin, Harlan, Henderson, Henry, Hickman, Jessamine, Johnson, Kenton, Knott, Knox, Knott, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Lewis, Lincoln, Livingston, Logan, McCracken, Mason, Meade, Mercer, Metcalfe, Nelson, Oldham, Owen, Owsley, Pendleton, Pike, Robertson, Rowan, Scott, Shelby, Spencer, Taylor, Todd, Trimble, Warren, Wayne, Wolfe, and Woodford.

This room has a separate locking door.

The interior wall and ceiling is aluminum bonded to plywood. This enables the people who clean this unit to wash the walls in the whole unit.

The floor is a hand lay up one piece fiberglass (NOT CHOP) with 1 1/2-oz. Matt and a 20-oz. woven roving. This is the same as any runabout or fishing boat you would see. We lay the fiberglass up the wall approximately 6", this gives you a solid one-piece bath pan. This also keeps all moisture away from the super structure.

The industry's utilization rate rose to 81 per cent during the week from 77.1 per cent the previous week.

State Has Troubles, Too

Complaints about the sad condition of roads following the worst winter in many years are heard not only by county officials but also in Frankfort. And state highway officials are as nonplused as those at the county level.
State Highway Engineer Frank Kemper told legislators last Wednesday that the Highway Bureau will not have enough money or time to repair all of the damage to state roads caused by this year's severe winter.
"We will have to spend more money than we are budgeted for," Kemper told the Interim Committee on Highways and Traffic Safety. "But there is a limit to the amount of money we can use effectively."
"There is a possibility we won't be able to contract for repair of all the winter damage if we had the money," Kemper said. "There is a good possibility all of the roads damaged won't be back to topnotch shape by the end of the year."
Kemper said he would not have final figures on the impact of this winter for another 60-75 days but the $25 million in additional repair cost above normal winter repair that Gov. Julian Carroll has used in making disaster aid requests is conservative.

He said the figure will run at least to $40 million, and "we will find ourselves in a considerable hole. I don't know how much, but I do know we will be in trouble."
Kemper said some of the money can come from the $10-$12 million normally spent during the summer resurfacing rural secondary roads, while some could come from the $12 million left from the energy road fund.
He said his figures apply only to state-maintained primary roads and not to rural secondary roads and county-maintained roads—which will run the figure even higher.
Kemper said this winter has been the most devastating on Kentucky roads in his nearly 30 years with the Highway Bureau. He said damage has been particularly hard in the coal producing regions of the state and a county judge had called him earlier in the day saying there were three roads in his county that even coal trucks couldn't travel over.

Kemper said the district highway engineers in the three Eastern Kentucky coal districts and the second highway district at Madisonville have lowered the maximum weight limit on roads in their area until the roads settle this spring.
The committee agreed to meet again shortly after the first of June to receive a final damage report from Kemper, but could not decide after lengthy debate if it should assign a subcommittee to travel around the state checking the conditions of various roads.
The group also adopted a resolution calling on the governor to extend all possible aid to the counties road repair fund.
Rep. Aggie Sale, D-Harrodsburg, said that most legislators are running for reelection this year and are especially sensitive to citizen complaints about the disrepair of highways.
In response, Kemper suggested the legislators could go with highway district engineers on inspection tours.

One on One Program Seen for Retarded

Owensboro, Ky.—"For years we have had the thought that the mentally retarded can't do anything, and it has carried over into their thinking," said Sharon Benner, a 24-year old Brescia College sophomore.
She is working to change that kind of attitude while carrying 13 semester hours in special education and human relations at Brescia.
"I taught a girl how to dribble a basketball. She kept saying she couldn't do it, but when she mastered it, she was unbelievably happy," said Miss Benner.
"As a result she's got more confidence. Something as simple as that can give the mentally retarded a lot of confidence and happiness."
Miss Benner is doing administrative work for the Owensboro Council for Mentally Retarded Citizens and coordinating a seven-county area of special olympics for handicapped and retarded. She also is coordinating an experimental citizen advocacy program for the mentally retarded.
The six-month citizen advocacy program is designed to help educate and trainable mentally retarded citizens "get into some independent living."
Similar to Big Brother and Big Sister programs, this program allows volunteers to befriend mentally retarded individuals and teach them to change money, manage a small bank account, use the telephone, cook meals, and other functions that would enable them to live in apartments.

"We are in the process of going out and beating the bushes for some good advocates," said Miss Benner. She is using TV and radio and speaking at service clubs to explain the program and recruit volunteers.
In the matching process, a volunteer and a retarded citizen fill out forms answering questions such as age, sex, likes, dislikes and hobbies. Then, the volunteers are interviewed to make sure what their attitude toward the mentally retarded is, and to make sure that they are stable. It's not only a teaching experience but a relationship; friendship comes first.
The retarded person is also consulted so that they will understand and want an advocate. It's a commitment for them as well as for the volunteer.
"The advocate can learn from the protege as well as the protege learning from the advocate. The volunteer will learn strengths and weaknesses of services that are offered to mentally retarded citizens in the community. If we fall short in offering some services, an advocate can help keep the local council on its toes. Our goal for the six months is to have 15 working, stable relationships at the end," Miss Benner said.
She would like to see the program expand to deal with legal rights for the mentally retarded.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

Would you like to buy some magazines? This question will be asked time and again during the warm weather months ahead. You better have some questions and answers ready, or you may end up with magazines you don't really want.

Almost every consumer has been approached at one time or another by a magazine salesperson who says that he or she is competing for a trip to Europe, trying to win a scholarship, or working his or her way through college. This is almost never true, and don't be influenced by such sales pitches, since they have nothing to do with whether or not a magazine is a good buy.

You should question introductions such as "I am taking a survey of neighborhood reading habits" or "the magazine is free; all you have to pay for is the cost of postage and handling." These are merely deceptive and illegal plays used to get into your house. If you know at this point that you don't want or need a magazine subscription, then say so and send the salesperson on his or her way.

If you are interested in subscribing, ask to see the solicitor's registration number. All salespersons selling any type of printed materials in Kentucky, where the delivery depends upon some type of future payment, must pay a fee and register with the county clerk of the county in which the solicitations will be made. If the salesperson is not registered, he or she is doing business illegally.

Also, all "deals" will be presented in very attractive packages. Don't be fooled by the claim that the subscription will only cost you "a few pennies a day." Just ten pennies a day is $36.50 a year, and if you buy a three year subscription, "a few pennies a day" can add up to more than $100. Make sure you compute this cost and compare it to the subscription prices offered by the magazine itself.

Consumers should also remember that door-to-door salespeople have sales pitches designed to push you into purchasing merchandise for which they receive a commission. They are not giving away anything for free. Some will try to maneuver you into signing a contract by embarrassing you or by promising a lot of free extras. Don't be pressured into signing anything. If you are not sure, tell the salesperson to come back or that you will send the contract in the mail. If the solicitor won't agree to this, then call off the transaction.

Before you sign a contract, make sure that you read it first and understand exactly what you are doing. Also, look for the notice that you have three business days in which to cancel the contract. If this is not on the contract, the contract cannot be valid.

If you sign a contract, and then realize it is inadvisable, you can utilize the three-day cooling-off period as provided by Kentucky law. Any purchase made in the consumer's home which costs more than $25 and does not involve insurance can be cancelled in three business days. The consumer can simply write a letter to the company cancelling the contract. If you do this, keep a copy of the letter and send it by certified or registered mail, with return receipt requested.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

State Vets' Share Near $4 Million

As a part of President Carter's program to help stimulate the national economy, Kentucky veterans will have received almost $4 million in government insurance dividends by April 8.

Max Cleland, administrator of veterans affairs, announced the accelerated dividend payment Friday, stating that veterans from both World Wars and Korea who have their government insurance in force, will be paid within the next two weeks.

The anniversary date is the usual day of dividend payment and about one-fourth of the $4 million has already been sent out.

Nationwide, the annual dividend means an extra $180 million pumped into the economy.

The dividend payment is sent automatically and no application is necessary on the part of the veterans.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 77," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

CANCER

Answerline

American Cancer Society

A woman writes: "I have been reading more and more about drugs for breast cancer. Are they being used for all women with this disease?"

ANSWER line: Cancer is the kind of disease that must be treated in a highly individualized way for the very best results and there are many methods of treatment. For many women, surgery alone is the way to treat breast cancer, other women might require surgery and radiation, others might benefit from surgery plus a particular cancer drug or more likely from a combination of cancer drugs. While it is true that new studies have touched off great interest in the potential of breast cancer drugs, particularly when they are given early in the patient's treatment plan, these drugs are not being given to all women with breast cancer.

A labor union official explains: "Each time I smoke a cigarette, I think, how can this one cigarette harm me? Can it?"

ANSWER line: As far as science knows, one cigarette can't hurt you unless you start a fire. But, it has been established that the damage that cigarettes do is dose-related, which means that the more you smoke (and the more you smoke high tar and nicotine cigarettes) the greater the chance of illness. There are twenty cigarettes in a pack but if you multiply a pack-a-day habit by 15 years, you get a smoker in the lung cancer danger zone. In other words, smoking damage adds up.

A concerned relative writes: "My cousin lives in another state and she wrote to say that she has to have a colonoscopy examination done for cancer. Please explain what this is."

ANSWER line: A colonoscopy is a new instrument that enables a trained physician to examine the entire six-foot length of the large intestine. This permits the assessment of any sign or symptom that can't be explained by other diagnostic means such as X-rays. In some instances, the physician will use the colonoscopy to remove tiny samples of suspicious tissue that can then be examined under a microscope for cancer cells. Also, growths (called polyps) can sometimes be removed as a preventive measure. Colonoscopy is usually not a painful procedure but a mild sedative is usually given.

A scout leader asks: "How can I arrange to do a project with my group of youngsters about the dangers of cigarettes? It is a subject that interests me but I need facts and material to give them."

ANSWER line: Your local American Cancer Society Unit will be very glad to help and you might be surprised by the many interesting items that are available free of charge. For example, there is a special film for youngsters entitled "Decision for Mike," with a film guide for you to use; the "Story of a Cigarette," a coloring book with a good health message; a variation of "The Three Little Pigs" story in comic strip style, and much more.

Hospital Strike Averted As New Pact Approved

A new three-year contract was ratified March 31 by union employees at nine Appalachian Regional Hospitals, removing the threat of a strike.
 A spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America informed ARH President David K. Heydinger that the new pact was approved by 1,008 to 258, by the vote of the union membership.
 The ratification averted a strike the union had called for 12:01 a.m. April 1 if a contract settlement had not been reached.
 "Obviously, we are pleased that an agreement was reached and ratified overwhelmingly by the employees," the ARH president said.
 Major contract provisions, Dr. Heydinger said, are a 61-centers-an-hour wage increase over three years and a modified union shop for Category II employees.
 Under the modified union shop, he said, Category II employees who are not union members will not have to join, but new employees must become union members.
 The contract directly affects about two-thirds of the health care system's

2,974 employees. Dr. Heydinger said the total cost of the contract to ARH will be $6.2 million over three years.
 ARH hospitals are located in McDowell, Hazard, Harlan, Middlesboro, Whitesburg, South Williamson, and West Liberty, Ky.; Beckley and Man, W. Va.; and Wise, Va.
 The Morgan County ARH at West Liberty is not covered by the bargaining agreement.

Road Contracts Top 29 Million

State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson said last week that more than $29.4 million in highway contracts for the coming construction season were approved during February.
 February's figure is an increase of over $9 million from the January total of $20.1 million.
 Grayson said that the interstate category received the most attention last month with a total of $27.4 million in awarded contracts. Only $900,000 in interstate contracts were awarded during January.
 The only other federal aid program with projects approved last month was the off-system program which had slightly more than $80,000 in contracts approved.
 The off-system program is designed to aid state and local governments in maintaining certain roads and bridges previously not eligible for federal aid.
 Remainder of the February total ($2 million) went for work on state and rural secondary roads not eligible for federal funding and maintenance projects.
