

THE NEW NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY was taking shape as this photo was snapped Monday and a spokesman for the local unit said roof work is expected to begin in as little as four weeks. The $516,000 structure, located at Lick Branch on the Auxier road, is expected to be one of the finest facilities of its type in the state. Contractor on the project is the J. A. Coleman Co., of Paintsville.

94 Officially Listed In Race for Office

Ninety-four Floyd countians had at 11 a.m. Tuesday officially filed their candidacies for county office at the county clerk's office.

The list will doubtless grow longer before the deadline for filing is reached at midnight today (Wednesday), since nobody had filed for either the offices of county clerk or county attorney. A few who had advertised their candidacies were yet to file with the clerk.

The office of jailer which in other years attracted "droves" of candidates is being sought by only four. The office of magistrate in the county's four districts apparently is most widely sought, with 32 Democrats and five Republicans in the running. Close behind are the district races for constable which have a total of 33 candidates—31 Democrats and two Republicans.

Eight Democrats and one Republican had as of Tuesday morning filed for sheriff. Three had filed for county judge on the Democratic ticket, four for coroner and one for tax evaluation administrator (assessor).

Two Democrats reportedly had filed for state representatives, but they file in Frankfort.

Splits in Voting Mark Monday's Court Session

The fiscal court was divided on three issues which came before it at its Monday meeting, and the widest split was recorded on what was later termed "a political issue."

This major divergence came when Magistrate Bill Wells introduced a motion to "eliminate any member of the Floyd County Fiscal Court to use any county vehicle until after May 24, 1977," the date of the primary election. Magistrate Leroy Akers supported the motion, but the other two magistrates, Kenneth Roberts and Dewey Roberts, and County Judge Henry Stumbo opposed it.

Magistrate Kenneth Roberts cast a "no" vote on two other motions supported by the other members of the court. One of these permitted a change in the plans for repair of the jail, with a lowering of the contractor's price by $5,200. The other was to pay Kentucky Power Company $1,073.10 for lighting of the men's and women's softball fields at Archer Park here.

The court was unanimous in other actions:

1. Directing the county attorney to contact Congressman Perkins and seek his help in getting the Corps of Engineers to go to Martin and clarify boundary lines for landowners involved in easement proceedings preparatory to the stream improvement project there.
2. Adoption of a resolution calling for state reconstruction of the Cow Creek road.
3. Adoption of a contract with the Bureau of Highways for the next fiscal year on roads and streets. The state apportionment of funds for the fiscal year is $158,354.
4. To give the building in the lower end of the Allen park area to Elmer Fields, who in return is to clear the site of all debris.
6. Authorized advertising for dealers' bids on two trucks which the court proposes to buy.

The names of candidates recorded at the county clerk's office as of Wednesday morning follow (not in the order of their filing but as their declarations were found in the files):

Constable, Dist. 1, Democrats—Bill Webb, Willie Hale, Corbin Joseph (incumbent), Larry Douglas Goble, Harris Campbell, James D. (Doug) Wells.

Constable, Dist. 2, Democrats—Bob Hackworth (incumbent), Dallas Shepherd, Lawrence Hicks, Charles Martin, Otis Sparkman.

Constable, Dist. 3, Democrats—Foster Porter, Johnny Martin, Jimmy Dwayne Hall, Clinnon Martin, Adrian Rector, Buddy Bryant, Jason Moore, Danny Bryant.

Constable, Dist. 4, Democrats—Butler Salisbury, Willie D. Hall, Ronnie Stratton, Rufus Thacker, Corbit Hall, Mathew (Dump) Kidd, Paul Stilton (incumbent), Rufford Kidd, Shelby D. McKinney, James A. Hall, Dewey Lee Rogers, Gary Dale Hamilton; Republicans—Bill Elliott and Donald Akers.

Magistrate Dist. 1, Democrats—Leo Music, Charles Leffie Harmon, Gerald DeRossett, Jesse Wallen, Charlie Johnson, Ray Wilcox, Harry Vencil Cooley, Curtis Talmadge Blackburn; Republican—W. T. (Bill) Foley.

Magistrate Dist. 2, Democrats—Andy Conley, Merle M. May, Kenneth Roberts (incumbent), James Lynn Allen, Zeb Ousley, Jake Layne; Republican—French Hensley.

Magistrate, Dist. 3, Democrats—Terry David Bentley, Stephen Barnette, Walter L. Stumbo, George C. Cochran, Emma M. Pack, Edward Caudill, Leroy Akers (incumbent), Donald Johnson, Johnney (Bill) Little, Barbara R. Newsome; Republican—Emerson Brown.

Magistrate Dist. 4, Democrats—Wilburn Akers, Dewey Roberts (incumbent), Elder Hershell Hamilton, Robert R. Ratliff, Sandy Boyd, George Anna (Kidd) Case, Thomas D. Tucker, Hydrac Harmon; Republicans—Doyle G. Meade and Russell Clark.

Sheriff, Democrats—Doug Lewis, Frank M. Leslie, Delmer (Dick) Elswick, Bobby Ranier, Holland B. Hurley, Jr., Arvel (Mush) Nelson, Henderson.

Holy Week Services Set, April 4 thru 8

The Floyd County Ministerial Association will sponsor Holy Week services during the week, April 4 through April 8, at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here. The time of these services will be during the noon hour from 12:05 until 12:30, with a brief lunch to be served immediately following each service.

Irene Cole Baptist Church on First Avenue will be the host church, and a different minister will be speaking each day.

Walter Applegate, president of the ministerial association and pastor of the First United Methodist Church, said this is the first of these joint efforts and urges as many as possible to attend.

The schedule of services follows:
Monday, April 4—Rev. Bill Thomas, First Presbyterian Church; Tuesday, April 5—Rev. Taylor Biggs, Community United Methodist Church; Wednesday, April 6—Rev. William G. Poole, St. Theodore's Catholic Church; Thursday, April 7—Rev. Bruce Boss, St. James Episcopal Church; Friday, April 8—Rev. Walter Applegate, First United Methodist Church.

THE BEST TRUANT OFFICER

Some of those remedies George Brown and Watt Hale listed last week worked, years ago, to make doctors popular today. Talk of a bitter pill to swallow, but if you've never tried quinine or castor oil or Epsom salts, my child, you know nothing about such matters. Those three medicines caused me, many the time, to resist the temptation to stay home and out of school for health reasons.

HOW NOT TO SAY IT

"It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness" was beautifully said, whoever said it. But look how the Federal Register might put it (according to the College and University Officer bulletin):

"There is a greater opportunity to accelerate change by illuminating to a perceptible degree of brightness an instrument of radiance, except those that utilize electricity or a petroleum product or wood, rather than using epithets, expletives or to blaspheme and take out aggression or vent anger in a situation where there exists an absolute absence of luminosity."

If they had added "at this point in time, I do believe I would have screamed."

Information gained by listening to a conversation outside my office door while two forefingers(?) this bit of copy:

The swallows have returned to Capistrano, and the blackbirds are leaving Kentucky. No, who is pessimistic enough to say things are growing worse?

Strike Plan Views Cuts In Services McDowell Hospital Acts To Meet Crisis If Walkout Comes

Preparing for an April 1 strike, the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital announced Monday that it has started limiting patient admissions and services.

The United Steelworkers of America has informed Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc. that it will strike because agreement on a new three-year contract has not been reached. Union members last Friday turned down ARH's offer in a systemwide vote at the nine ARH facilities.

Administrator Edward V. Collins pointed out, however, that the McDowell ARH employees voted to accept the contract. "Even though our employees voted, 58 to 9, to accept the contract, he said, 'the union members are governed by the systemwide vote, and will be compelled to strike.'

"We very much appreciate the McDowell employees' response to the contract offer and their attitude of cooperation can only work for the betterment of this hospital in the future," Collins said.

The steelworkers' union represents about 75 per cent of the McDowell ARH employees.

"While we continue to hope that a strike can be averted, we must prepare to operate with a reduced work force," James L. Reed, chairman of the

Zebulon Lodge To Host Annual District Meet

HENRY M. CONLEY

The annual meeting of District No. 38 of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Kentucky will be held on Friday, April 1, with Prestonsburg's Zebulon Lodge No. 273 as host lodge.

Henry M. Conley, Prestonsburg, D.D.G.M., will preside at the meeting and John E. Moyers, Grand Master, Louisville, and other Grand Lodge officers are expected to attend.

The 38th Masonic District is composed of lodges in Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Martin counties.

The meeting will begin with a dinner to be served in the dining room of Zebulon Lodge at 5:30 p.m., with the tiled meeting at 7. All Master Masons are invited to attend.

Chairman Says Work Scheduled To Begin in July

A water system to serve the entire Bull Creek watershed became a certainty this week as U.S. Senators Huddleston and Ford announced that the Department of Agriculture has awarded the Water Gap-Bull Creek Water District more than $400,000 in a grant and loan for the work.

The Department of Agriculture funding, the senators said, includes a grant of $276,000 and a FmHA loan of $164,000.

An additional $165,000 in ARC funds is expected, Curtis Hatfield, chairman of the water district, said.

Construction, which will include tension of water mains from the end of the Prestonsburg system up the Bull Creek valley, is scheduled to begin July 1.

"We hope to make it by that date," Mr. Hatfield said. "But the State Highway Department needs to decide exactly where new KY 80 will go before that time. We would have had everything ready if that had been done."

The district has signed 212 prospective consumers and expects to add others to the list. Its application for funding was made last May.

A second and even more extensive water district has filed application for $560,000 to provide water to the Abbott Creek and Little Paint sections of the county, and funding of this project is expected by next fall. This water system also would be supplied by the Prestonsburg system.

Dr. Davis To Succeed Hayes as ALC Prexy

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Dr. Jerry C. Davis, vice-president of North Greenville College, Tigerville, S. C., has been appointed Alice Lloyd College president to succeed William S. Hayes, president of the College since 1962. Hayes will retire July 31.

Dr. Davis was unanimously elected president of the college at a special meeting of the board of trustees held last week-end in Lexington. Mr. Hayes was elected president emeritus at the same meeting.

Dr. Davis, 33, who holds a PhD in entomology and zoology, will assume the duties of president, Aug. 1. Mr. Hayes, following a year of vacation, will serve the college as a consultant to the board of trustees in long-range development.

Dr. Davis has taught at Cumberland, Ohio State University and the University of Tennessee, where his teaching assignments have included instruction in anatomy and physiology, medical entomology, zoology and others.

He was the unanimous recommendation of a seven-member Presidential search committee created last year by the College's Trustees to screen applicants for the position. Chairman of the Search Committee was Devert Owens, an associate professor of education at the University of Kentucky, an alumnus of Alice Lloyd College and a member of the College's Board of Trustees.

Owens said the recommendation was

Dam Opponents May Be Losing Lengthy Battle

Opponents of the Paint Creek dam project in Johnson and Morgan counties haven't given up, but their chances of winning are far from bright.

A few weeks ago, they were jubilant when President Carter omitted the project from those marked for federal funding. But the U. S. Senate upended Carter's plans by voting the restoration of the project. Meanwhile, Congressman Carl D. Perkins, father of the plan to dam Little Paint Creek, got in his licks. And the President officially restored the dam to the list of those which will be funded.

On the heels of that action, opponents of the reservoir called on Governor Carroll for help, and he reportedly assured them he would not sign a new contract obligating state funds of future state administrations for the project, if the current state contract to that effect is held unconstitutional.

Opponents of the dam say such an action by the governor would be patently unconstitutional but doubt that it will be so held.

Ivan Swift, Congressman Perkins' press secretary, commented:

"Of course the governor is not going to do something that would go against the Constitution, but we don't think it will come to that."

A hearing scheduled last week on the reservoir was cancelled.

Mayo Barn, Local Landmark, To Be Razed

Front view of old Mayo dairy barn.

The tearing down of an old barn is not generally regarded as an event of great significance. It's a common occurrence and one lamented by few.

There is one old barn near the Briarwood subdivision in Prestonsburg, however, which symbolizes an older and simpler lifestyle in this otherwise modern county-seat town, and its scheduled destruction will undoubtedly evoke some sadness among the community's residents who have their moments of nostalgia.

Razing of the Dick Mayo dairy barn will begin April 1 to make way for the construction of a parking lot to serve the 116-bed Riverview Nursing Home which is to be constructed on a two-acre tract of the Mayo farm which adjoins Briarwood.

One Prestonsburg resident who holds particularly strong ties for the barn is Mrs. Regina Mayo Roberts, from whom the property for the nursing home was purchased. For it was her first husband, the late John D. "Dick" Mayo, who built the impressive structure as a dairy barn.

"When Dick went into the dairy business in 1940," Mrs. Roberts recalled, "the old Eureka mining camp which used to be where Briarwood is now, had been shut down. He dismantled the large boarding house which was a part of the mining community there and rebuilt it as a dairy barn."

The Eureka camp was established in 1918, Mrs. Roberts said, and Minter Homes of Ashland constructed the houses for the miners as well as the boarding house.

The barn, which Mrs. Roberts described as being constructed by her husband "very nicely and very secure," incorporated lumber of the old boarding house and even some of the elaborate, carved pieces which decorated door and window facings on the boarding house can be seen in the barn.

According to Mrs. Roberts, her husband established the dairy business "because he loved working with the cattle so much and we had a great deal of pasture land." Mr. and Mrs. Mayo sold milk, buttermilk and butter to private customers in the Prestonsburg area until Mr. Mayo's death in 1953 and the subsequent closing of the dairy business.

Mrs. Roberts said she will certainly miss the old barn but that she is comforted by the fact that its passing will be for a good cause.

"The nursing home will provide a wonderful service to the whole area," she said, "and I'm glad it's being built."

CERTIFICATION TRAINING FOR PRIVATE APPLICATORS

According to law, after October 1, 1977 the purchaser of restricted pesticides will have to be certified.

There is no fee or test involved in becoming a certified private applicator; and it takes about 2½-3 hours.

Anyone can become a certified private applicator by attending a pesticide applicator training program being given April 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the Prater Creek Grade School; April 8 at 6 p.m. at the Garrett School Gymnasium; April 11, 6:30 p.m., at the Maytown school lunchroom; April 21, 6:30 p.m., Martin Grade School; April 28, 6:30 p.m., John M. Stumbo Elementary School.

Certification will be done by DNREP and the certification is good for five years.

The World of Imagination

By DELTA MILLS

Several years ago people living in the country accepted events in their own immediate vicinity but were very seldom interested in the rest of the world. Most of their time was taken up by the hardships of earning a living, and books was something they could do without if necessary.

My family worked as hard as the next fellow, but as far back as I remember we always had time for reading. Every member of the family, as he or she became old enough, was an avid reader. The events and excitement of the outside world came to us through newspapers and books—and what a glamorous world it seemed to us at the time!

I remember one newspaper in particular, The Blade and Ledger, that came to us each week. It was published in Chicago, and is long since out of existence. It was in two sections, with the news portion reporting all the odd and curious events picked up everywhere. This section was highly appreciated at our house, but the story section folded inside was our delight and joy. It was a high spot in the week the day the Blade and Ledger came, and all of us, including Dad, looked forward to the hour after supper by the fire when Mother would read to us. At the time, the children were too young to read for themselves, and every word was devoured by them. Once in a while when she was short on reading material, she would tell us episodes of her college days, and I have often since wondered if she sometimes could resist calling upon her imagination a trifle, when she looked at her circle of wide-eyed listeners.

It was the time of the villain and the heroine, when the dark, scheming and jealous woman plotted against the blue-eyed, innocent and blond-haired Lady Edith Whatsis, and it was almost more than we could bear when the story would be continued to next week, leaving the jealous woman's hands at the throat of the fair Edith, on the brink of a dark well.

Mother knew well that she would never be allowed to stop at that point, but would be forced to tell more stories until our excitement ran down, and no one could tell a story like Mother, building up to a suspenseful climax, then giving a loud yell, scaring the living daylight out of everyone, including Dad.

The following night everyone would be in their places, eager to hear more stories, but sometimes the story-telling was threatened by some infringement of the rules laid down by Mother, which would spell disaster for the listeners. In the soft evening dusk, Mother and Dad would gather the milk pails and go to the 'milk gap' to do the milking, and my sister would get orders to do the supper dishes, but a long picket fence ran all the way to the gap, and the other children would run alongside the fence with sticks, creating enough racket to wake the dead, and when my sister heard this 'clickety-click' start, she would go through those dishes in nothing flat, and would be there with her stick before the others were well started, causing Mother to make an inspection of the kitchen when she returned to the house. But my sister never seemed to mind doing the dishes over, for by this time the story-telling had started, and she could hang around on the edges, never missing a word.

THE FIRST modern-day martyr for the cause of women's rights was a young Englishwoman named Emily Wilding Davison. On June 4, 1913—Derby Day at the racecourse at Epsom Downs, England—she ran onto the track directly in the path of the King's prize horse, trying to seize the reins. The horse trampled her, and she died four days later. Miss Davison's act was the climax of a nationwide protest campaign against the oppression of women, says a new Reader's Digest book, Great Events of the 20th Century.

The Bible

By WILMAY

As the Easter season approaches thoughts turn to God's Word and the most wonderful story ever told, found in the greatest book ever written. Most persons have received love letters one time or another. Remember how we treasure them? The Bible is God's love letter to mankind. Do we read, reread it the way we do other adored notes? If we fail to do this we rob ourselves, for it not only describes in detail the most sublime devotion possible but also gives numerous ways for achieving the abundant life. Learning how to receive what God has in store for every child of his and to cash the promises he makes all of us is a lifetime job for everyone.

Too many of us are like the little boy who one day picked up a dusty Bible at home and, thumbing its pages, asked his mother, "Is this God's book?" She nodded affirmatively, whereupon the lad suggested, "We ought to send it back to him, 'cause we never use it here."

Between sixteen and eighteen centuries and approximately forty writers were needed to complete the scriptures. God himself was the divine author, guiding the hands and pens of men whom he verbally inspired, (II Tim. 3:16), as his word says in various places. But humans had to put it into writing for others. These men were of widely different backgrounds, education, training, character, economic and social strata. Some were dead and gone centuries before others wielded the pen, but this miraculous book contains not one actual contradiction. Some critics insist it does. One young man said he gave up reading it when he discovered that I John 1:8 and 3:9 were in direct contradiction. Like most fault-finders he needed more study, for the first passage refers to the carnal nature and the second to the spiritual. Every believer possesses both throughout life.

Men like Wm. Tyndale have died for the Bible. The Ana-Baptist Greek scholar was hung and his body burned in 1536 because he defied high powers and persisted in translating the scripture into the English language so his people could read the Word for themselves. Infidels have died after fighting it their whole lives, often to admit at or near death that they lived wrongfully.

The Bible is divided into two major sections, the Old and New Testaments, with 66 books, 39 in the OT, and 27 in the NT. Proverbs is the central OT book; II Thess., the N.T. Esther is the only book that does not mention God. Every book has a divine purpose, with a specific theme, and often contains key words or verses. There are 1,189 chapters, Psalms 119 the longest, 117 the shortest. The latter also is the central chapter of the entire volume, Job 29 the middle O.T. chapter; Romans 13-14 of the N.T., (an odd number there.) The Bible has one chapter that will cause anyone who reads more than two verses of it, to cry: This is true. Scripture has 31,173 verses, 23,214 O.T. ones, and 7,959 N.T. Psalms 118:8 is the central verse; II Chr. 20:17-18 the O.T., and Acts 17:17 the N.T. The longest verse is Ezra 3:8 with 75 words, while the shortest is John 11:35 with 2 words. Ezra 7:21 contains every letter of the alphabet except "j." Ezra 3:8 has every letter except "q" and "x." Though factual data are worth knowing it is far more important to understand the spirit and message of the Blessed Book.

Truly great minds in nearly all civilized countries and in every century, including noted scientists—among them Dr. Von Braun of missile fame—firmly believe in the Bible, whose truths have been corroborated by fulfilled prophecy, archeology, and other ways, times without number. One can only feel sorry for individuals who spend billions trying to find how the world and life originated, and whether or not human life exists on other planets, for students of the annual best seller since it became available in printed form know the answers to these questions, beyond the shadow of a doubt. Thousands in every generation at last give up only to find peace in scripture and God after wasting their lives in rebellion, wild living, and addictions of various sorts.

As Christianity wins more and stronger supporters opposition to the Bible increases rapidly. Some new translations are helpful, but some of them—though highly recommended by so-called experts—intentionally tone down the Word, omit the blood (without which there is no salvation), substitute "young woman" for "virgin" in the case of Jesus' mother. Granted that some paraphrases are easier to understand, especially by amateur readers, it is well to keep in mind that a number take unwarranted liberties that destroy the true meaning of certain passages. The Living Bible contains offensive terminology not in the original Hebrew in more than one place; ex.: I Sam. 20:30. Much the highest rated, the King James Version is the most perfect, the most beautiful, and the best, particularly for novices. It is interesting to note that invariably it is used exclusively by the largest churches here and abroad, most of which limit their literature to the scripture, an example that time may prove worth imitating. Children's Bibles based on KJV are excellent for youngsters who outgrow Bible story books. It is astonishing that several new translations deliberately water down the gospel.

(P.S. If you read more than 2 verses of Ps. 117 you are sure to cry!)

Kids love that pun!

ARABS WANT CLARIFICATION OF PRESIDENT'S COMMENT

WASHINGTON—The ambassadors of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon called on Secretary of State Cyrus Vance for clarification of President Carter's statement of support for Israel's need for "defensible borders."

The Arab nations reportedly were upset by Mr. Carter's use of the phrase this week. It seemed to suggest U.S. agreement with the Israeli view that withdrawal to 1967 borders would leave Israel militarily vulnerable.

Senior Citizen News

The Archer Park senior citizens center, for the benefit of all interested persons 60 and over, is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. till 4 p.m.

Activities planned each day include games, craft work, reading and displays.

Good Old Days? . . .

WERE THE GOOD OLD DAYS really that great? Not in terms of product quality, they weren't. The March Reader's Digest points out that the 1940 Lincoln Continental was a notorious oil burner with an engine life of not much more than 40,000 miles. Today's cars are running longer with less maintenance. The head of the largest fleet-leasing operation in the U.S. even thinks the bodywork—the rust-and-rattle-proofing—is better in the newer cars.

hospital's board of governors, said.

He said the board, in consultation with the hospital medical staff, has instructed Administrator Collins to prepare the hospital to operate under strike conditions.

The administrator said the hospital has begun limiting admissions to emergencies and to patients who can be admitted and discharged prior to April 1.

Beginning April 1, Collins said, the McDowell hospital plans to limit inpatient care to 10 to 12 beds. It will also provide essential out-patient service for as long as possible with the limited number of employees remaining on the job.

Board chairman Reed said the hospital staff's ability to render quality care to patients after a strike has begun will be evaluated daily.

"We deeply regret having to discontinue some services and to reduce others," said Reed, "but there is no substitute for quality care.

"Our first concern must be for the individual patient and there is no question that there is a limit to the number of patients we can care for with less than one-third of our normal staff," Reed said.

He said area hospitals have been informed of the strike potential and alerted to expect an increased demand for services from individuals who normally use the McDowell ARH.

The board chairman said all local hospital officials are aware of the impact the reduction of services caused by the strike will have on the area.

McDowell ARH normally has an in-patient census of 53 and serves some 200 outpatients daily.

"Hospital services cannot be limited without causing hardships for the people we serve," Reed said. "We apologize for the inconvenience and hope the people in our service area understand that the strike leaves us no choice other than to reduce services."

GOOD IDEA

US Shoe Company is opening a plant at West Liberty, and the folks over there are honoring company officials by way of a community welcome to them. Plants such as US Shoe and the mining machinery manufacturers which keep people at work in this county are among those who deserve a special recognition.

I'VE BEEN NEEDLED

If I didn't have so much confidence in my preacher I'd swear he was gouging with the old needle when he called me last Thursday to ask when the change to Daylight Saving Time will come. Then he blandly inquired if I planned to do any fishing that week-end, and, told that I was unhappily denying myself that pleasure, he remarked that he figured it was safe, then, to let his son venture onto a certain lake . . . All of which leaves me wondering.

CONFESSION

This is the season of the year when people from all over, in all walks of life, get the urge to dig into the soil, to plant dry seeds and stand back to watch nature's resurrection story unfold.

I envy them, these who find relaxation and downright pleasure in sore muscles and sweaty brows. Me, I do not belong to the genre.

I am so averse to this digging and hoeing bit that when I express my delight at sight of bloom and flower those who know me say I am no more than a cuckoo gardener: where others planted I plant myself to revel in the results of their work.

Perhaps this is why I am partial to wild flowers that simply grow and glow while I neither toil nor spin.

You may say that I look as if I am "by the weight of centuries bowed down"—but nobody can call me the Man with a Hoe.

AND TO CONCLUDE . . .

My Paintsville colleague, Bud Perry, in his excellent "Coffee Break" column last week wrote:

"Our good friend Norman Allen just marked what he believes is his fiftieth year in this crazy business. As well as he can recall, he wrote the first copy for the Floyd County Times, in longhand, a half-century ago.

"We don't know whether to congratulate him, commiserate with him, or call for a psychiatrist."

FORMER ILLINOIS GOVERNOR LEFT $1.2 MILLION ESTATE

CHICAGO—Former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner left an estate valued at more than $1.2 million, the Chicago Tribune says in a copyrighted article.

Kerner died at 68 last May of lung cancer, two months after being paroled from a federal prison. He was convicted in a racetrack stock scandal, becoming the first judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals ever convicted in a criminal trial.

It has been believed that his long legal fight had depleted much of his funds.

Thoughts for the Week

By DR. RICHARD D. HOWARD

SUNDAY:	When we do as well as we know, produce as well as we dream, act as well as we think, we shall be able to have the kingdom on earth as it is in heaven.—Stella Terrill Mann
MONDAY:	Fully to be a human being is ever to be discovering, creating, growing.
TUESDAY:	I love this age of force. Expectantly I greet each pregnant hour, emerging from the all-creative source, supreme with promise, imminent with power.
WEDNESDAY:	We all have presence of mind; it's the absence of thought that gets us into trouble.
THURSDAY:	A warm heart is an inside job—even though it is expressed in outer actions.
FRIDAY:	Hitting the ceiling is the wrong way to get up in the world.

Letters to the Editor

Spring Song

The great blizzard of '77 has passed and it can now be put where it belongs—in the minds and memories of those robust souls who will rehash its venom for years to come.

Spring is lurking somewhere nearby and it is now time to give a few thoughts to the wondrous things around us.

Yesterday, a flock of wild geese flew over on their way back to the rivers of Canada. A scrawny, little robin appeared in the back yard chirping a welcome to the warming days ahead. Five mourning doves edged closer to the house, begging for a morsel of food. A haughty squirrel scampered up into the barren walnut tree looking for a walnut that forgot to drop to the ground last fall.

Up from the withered leaves of autumn a bright burst of color peeped and said hello to spring. The buds on the maple trees looked flushed with anticipation at being the first to reach center stage for the reopening of the expectant pageant.

A lone, ambitious honey bee flew across the greening grass in search of a wee bit of nectar to begin the wondrous miracle only his species can achieve. How many are aware that one ounce of bees' wax produces four pounds of the sweetest substance found on this earth? As an afterthought, how many are also educated in the memory of how awful a big toe can throb after one of the sweet little creatures has plunged his stinger into the skin?

Trees a-budding, flowers a-blooming, farmers a-plowing, baby calves a-borning and little white woolly lambs playing in the pasture.

The symbols of springtime are indeed a wondrous and spectacular revelation of what a great artist can produce. Colors are being blended to perfection for every tree, every bud and flower. Spring rains are coming to cleanse and germinate the dormant earth. There is an awakening which is almost spiritual, that everything is right on schedule.

The hand of God is, most of all, a wondrous thing. Can we observe the coming of spring without remembering 2000 years ago? If the deadness of the trees of winter can come forth anew, each spring, then, why not mortals made in the image of God? The Bible asks the profound question "If a man dies, will he live again?" Springtime answers the question impressively, eloquently and accurately. Yes! With the proper sowing and with the proper reaping, man can and will live again. Yes!

Auxier Water Rate Increase One in a Series

Added to the string of announcements of rate increases granted by the Public Service Commission in recent months to Floyd county utilities was one for $27,784 on March 22 to the Auxier Water Company.

Auxier water customers will pay a monthly minimum of $7.

The increase has been sought since last year and the consumer protection division of the attorney general's office and Highlands Regional Medical Center intervened at a public hearing last August. In its March 22 decision the PSC noted that the water company had asked a $32,450 increase to provide for operating expenses, to service its debt and produce a reasonable return on its investment.

Also granted in a March 21 order byPSC was a $3,862 gas adjustment increase to the Buck's Branch Gas Co., due to an increase in the wholesale charge made by Columbia Gas of Kentucky.

The gas rate increases began with the fuel shortage dating back to January, and all have been attributed by the individual companies to the higher rates charged by their suppliers, notably Columbia.

Neeley Gas Company, one of the smaller firms, was granted two increases in February. The first raised its monthly minimum to $6.80; the second, to $6.95. Next highest minimum was the Auxier Road Gas Company's $4 till last week's increase brought Buck's Branch's to $5.25.

Utilities will continue to ask the state Public Service Commission to approve rate increases unless national action is taken to stabilize the energy situation, Barkley Sturgill, PSC chairman, said recently.

Speaking at a Frankfort meeting of the Interim Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation, Sturgill said inflation, environmental protection costs, a shortage of energy and lack of a national energy policy have resulted in requests for utility rate increases.

"There will be continued rate cases," Sturgill said, adding, "This is a national picture. "The PSC conducted 61 hearings during the last two months.

In response to questioning from committee members, Sturgill said he has no way of knowing what fuel rates will be in the coming months and years. He said there is nothing the PSC can do about the power rates, but "I imagine Congress could do something about it."

Tournament Cancelled

Several days ago I mailed you information concerning our Invitational Tournament for freshman boys.

Since that time it was brought to my attention that having the tournament after the state tournament might jeopardize the eligibility of the players. Commissioner Mills' information informed me that any freshman player who had participated in a varsity game during the regular season and then participated in a post-season tournament would lose a year of eligibility. Also it would affect the eligibility for spring sports such as baseball and track.

This condition would seriously hinder all the teams involved, so we thought it best to cancel the tournament for this year.

We hope to have the tournament next year during regular season. We sincerely appreciate the interest and cooperation you have shown and deeply regret having to cancel.

Acknowledges Help

On a recent rainy afternoon I had stopped on the shoulder of the road on Route 23, just outside of Pikeville, and found myself unable to leave. My two-month-old truck, heavily loaded with valuable chiropractic and medical texts, would only go in reverse. My business is the mechanics of the body, not the mechanics of a truck, so along with my wife, our two children, our dog and a truck full of books, I was completely helpless.

This would-be disaster was short-lived, however, as State Trooper Roy Sturgill immediately came to my rescue. Placing a rug on the wet ground, Officer Sturgill crawled under the truck and put it in a forward gear. He then directed me to town and to a service station and motel.

I'm very pleased to know that I'm bringing my family into a community that has men like Officer Sturgill on the police force—a man who was prompt to act and didn't hesitate to go beyond his line of duty.

Remembers Miss Voelker

During the late '20s and early '30s a number of young women came to Floyd county to organize and teach Sunday schools. As a young teenager living in Stephens Branch I can say they brought the best of the outside world to us.

We grew to think of them as a very important part of our lives. One of them, Laurine Voelker, became a very special friend, and I have kept in touch with her through the years. She often asks about the people she used to know, especially the children, and I tell her any news I may have from my visits there and reading the Floyd County Times.

I feel sure she would appreciate hearing from anyone who may remember her. Her address is: Miss Laurine Voelker, 130 Barbour St., Buckhannon, W. Va. 26201.

Big Sandy ADD Slates Forum At May Lodge

The Big Sandy Area Development District will sponsor a public forum April 18 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, to discuss issues, problems and opportunities affecting local and regional development.

Prompted by a Congressional mandate, the meeting will be held in cooperation with the Kentucky Development Cabinet through its state Appalachian Regional Commission Program (ARC).

The mandate, which came in 1975 Appalachian Regional Development Act amendments, requires increased citizen participation in the creation of an Appalachian regional plan and in the revision of the existing state Appalachian plan.

Similar public meetings will be held during April in each of the eastern Kentucky area development districts.

State ARC staff members will be present to assist with the meeting and to hear local concerns that should be reflected in the state and regional planning processes.

The May Lodge meeting, which will be held in conjunction with the regular April ADD meeting, is scheduled for 4 p.m.

Any interested resident of the Big Sandy Area can obtain information about ARC activities and about regional issues from the Big Sandy ADD office, Prestonsburg.

'Coffee Break' Slated At Martin, April 2

The Floyd County REACT team No. 3261 will have a free "coffee break" at Thompson's IGA store at Martin, April 2. There will be free coffee, doughnuts and pepsi. The REACT will also be giving away literature on REACT. The last coffee break was held here at Heck's March 19 and 20. The winner of the CB radio was Clarence Wade, of Allen. This is a fund-raising drive for needy families and emergency cases.

Rev. Ball To Conduct Powell Co. Revival

Rev. Ron Ball, formerly of Prestonsburg, will be the featured evangelist during the coming week at the New Life Crusade which is being co-sponsored by five United Methodist churches of Powell and Clark counties.

The services, which will begin nightly at 7 p.m. will run from March 31 through April 3 will be held in the gymnasium of the West Bend United Methodist Church in Powell county. The crusade will also feature the Rev. Charles Jones as minister of music.

The Crusade will include special services on local radio stations, in several schools and other institutions in the Powell-Clark county area.

Rev. Ball, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Princess Ball, of Prestonsburg, recently concluded a week's evangelistic crusade in Carnegie, Pennsylvania.

BLACKBIRD FLOCKS ARE LEAVING KENTUCKY.
STATE OFFICIAL REPORTS
FRANKFORT, Ky.—Huge flocks of blackbirds that plagued Kentucky farmers by eating feed grain and transmitting disease among animals during the winter are leaving the state, agriculture officials said recently.

The millions of starlings, grackles, cowbirds and redwing blackbirds are flying north for the summer, said Coburn Gayle, director of pest and noxious weed control.

"They're hedgehopping their way north," Gayle said. "Most of our roosts are breaking up fairly quickly."

REMINDERS OF WINTER linger in shaded rock shelters such as this one photographed Sunday in Johnson county where large chunks of ice remain despite mild, spring weather.

Program To End Diplomas Based on Attendance Seen

Competency-based education may be a reality in Kentucky in four years, the State Board of Education learned at its quarterly meeting last week.

If a time schedule presented to the board is followed, "competency-based education would be fully implemented in four years," Dr. Donald Van Fleet, director of the Office of Special Programs and Services in the Department of Education, said.

"We're limiting ourselves to the basics—reading, mathematics, and writing," Dr. Van Fleet said. The plan will identify minimum skills in those areas for all grade levels. Students' competency in those basic skills would be measured at grades 3, 5, 8 and possibly 11.

In proposing minimum objectives for all students in Kentucky, the plan has tried to identify those minimal skills which all Kentucky students should acquire in order to perform the reading, writing and mathematical tasks required by everyday living.

Competency measurements will bring an educational accountability into the school system. Periodical testing in the lower grades will enable students "to make normal progress toward the desired highest level skill," Dr. Van Fleet said.

Pilot programs will be set up around the state during the first year of implementation.

The implementation of competency-based education comes as a result of a rising public concern in Kentucky about high school graduates who cannot balance a checkbook or compose a business letter. The Rev. Bob Brown, chairman of the State Board of Education, has pointed out that too many students are receiving a diploma based on attendance, and not achievement.

Dr. Van Fleet has indicated that the Governor's Task Force on Education will have an input during the implementation period of the plan.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Nevile Shackelford

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

If you are planning to set out a rosebush or two around the old homestead this spring, you might be interested in knowing that no decorative plant has been more closely identified with the American spirit and progress than the rose. An insignia of joy, of sorrow, of love and of war, it is a flower beloved by all and a blossom we depend upon to express our emotions on those occasions when words fail or seem inadequate.

States where it cannot be grown, the rose is truly national. As a matter of fact the rose grows wild in practically all temperate regions and on the mountain heights of the tropics and could just as easily be the international flower.

No flower brings to mind more varied and beautiful pictures than the rose and those who plant or contribute in any way to the propagation, development, or culture of the rose have an interest and a concern for the beauty and attraction of the earth. And for those who may be wondering how the fragrance and the loveliness of this flower could be symbolic of the American spirit, think of this. The rose is an independent sort of a flower with sharp thorns for those who would tread on it. This represents the American spirit, not to speak of the fact that the rose's presence speaks of permanency, and the sermon of its beauty certainly suggests neither wandering from our principles nor our national altars.

Botanists say that within the Rose Family (Rosaceae) there are about 2,000 species of trees, shrubs and herbs, and is represented by some of our most valuable fruits and loveliest flowers. To this family belong a major proportion of commercial fruits and berries grown in temperate regions, notably the peach, pear, plum, cherry and apple.

As the poet said, the rose is, indeed, the flower of paradise.

Brides carry them to the altar, the sick are cheered by them, and under a benedictory blanket of roses we bury our beloved dead. Our pioneer ancestors planted a rosebush beside the door as a pledge that this was home and down through the generations, the rose has added much to the joy, the inspiration and the beauty of life. Three of our states found wild roses growing within their borders and made it the state flower. Two other states have adopted varieties of roses as their sentimental representatives in the hall of states and while officially, we have no national flower, we might well agree on the rose. Also since there are very few, if any, places in the United "Citizen of the United States of America." Probably it was because of the excellent benefits. Like life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Folks from all over the world soon learned what a government of the people, by the people and for the people was all about.

That's one of the reasons why today, Americans of all backgrounds take stock in America by buying U. S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds are a unique opportunity to support your country. And reap some benefits, too. Like a college education, new home, retirement income, whatever.

So buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

They might just be the help you've wanted.

Now U. S. Bonds pay 8% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. 'Appalachian Sounding'

Scheduled at Pikeville

The second regional tour of "Appalachian Sounding" will involve some familiar faces. Most of the original cast of the successful 1976 Carolina Regional Theatre production will be on the road again, this time touring all 13 states of the Appalachian region. The production will be presented April 12, at 8 p.m. in Faith Chapel at Pikeville College.

"Appalachian Sounding" is a dramatic treatment of the unique historical and cultural contributions of the Appalachian people. Focusing on the story of a representative mountain family, the play examines the effects of "progress" on the family and their neighbors.

Other visitors calling on Mrs. Campbell, Sunday, at the hospital were Mrs. Alta Malone, Mrs. Rosemary Frasure, Mrs. Sarah Laven, and Mrs. Ruby Ines. The group also visited Mrs. Minnie Flanery, who is a patient at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

ALTHOUGH Charles Lindbergh captured the world's imagination with his solo New York-Paris flight in 1927, his was not the first transatlantic flight. According to a new Reader's Digest book, Great Events of the 20th Century, the first nonstop Atlantic crossing was made in 1919 by two Englishmen, Capt. J. W. Alcock and Lt. A. W. Brown. They left Newfoundland on June 14 in a Vickers Vimy and flew to Clifden, Ireland, in less than 16½ hours.

An Answer to Kenneth Roberts' Letter in Last Week's Floyd County Times

Mr. Roberts said he would like for me to name several roads that I had built while I was Magistrate. Well here are some of the roads built: Begin at Wayland, Ky.—Mill Creek bridge; Streets built in Wayland and black topped; Steele's Creek road built and blacktopped; Stamper Branch and Shop Fork blacktopped; Glo Road blacktopped; Estill Road blacktopped; Millard Allen road blacktopped; Martin Branch blacktopped; Lackey streets to church blacktopped; Baptist Bottom bridge built; Garrett streets and Rock-fork and West Garrett roads blacktopped; Salyers Branch road built and blacktopped; Prater Fork built and blacktopped; Goose Creek Bridge built; 1½ miles road built up Goose Creek; Wilson Creek road built; Salt Lick road from Route 7 to Knott County line; Salt Lick road from Bosco to Salyers Branch blacktopped; Maytown streets blacktopped; Johns Branch road built and blacktopped; Turkey Creek, Stone Coal road, 2½ miles built and four miles blacktopped. I might have missed a few roads and bridges. These roads were built with the county equipment, by Force Account work and were blacktopped by contract. Let by the state and paid for with the gasoline tax money.

As for the debt he is talking about on the equipment, it pays for itself by working on the County Aid Roads Program. He said he paid off debts I owed when I went out of office. That is false for we paid off every debt I made or caused to be made before I left office. I will pay him and the hardware man $100 (one hundred dollars) if they show me where I owed him a debt. Maybe that will build him up, telling a falsehood on me. He said I walked over blacktop going to Stone Coal Church. I am proud of that and we walk across the Baptist Bottom bridge to get there which we built while I was Magistrate. He said he built 34 or 35 bridges. He should have for he had plenty money to work with. He likes to brag about work he has done around here on a wall and across Salt Lick. I have nothing against that job. I ask you people to allow some for what he said for no wheel of the school bus hung over the bank while the school bus was going around the bank he said was 15 feet high is only seven feet high. He didn't mention the project he did on Stone Coal Creek on his property in his write up.

Next Kenneth wants to talk about the garbage. He said I put in my ad in the paper for better roads, and remove the dumping fee. That is true—if two other Magistrates will vote that way with me off will go the fee. I don't think people should have to pay for something they are already paying for.

Why was Mr. Roberts so interested in paying $315,000 of the county's money for the garbage deal? Kenneth and Leroy Akers voted for buying and Judge Stumbo and Dewey Roberts voted against.

Appraisers were sent out to appraise this property and it all amounted to $32,600.00. Kenneth said all I ask you people to do in District No. 2 is judge his 3½ years against my 16 years. I am sure that is just what you all will do. But first, add ¼ of $2,312,298.95 and see if District No. 2 is that much better off.

I must sign off because I can't answer all of his questions because my income is small and I can't compete with him in writing for he has (2) two or (3) three jobs for it would cost too much for me. You people will answer all that on election day.

Kenneth Roberts is trying to make you people believe that what Judge Henry Stumbo told me to do, that is just what I did. That is all false. I am glad to tell you people all over the county I was Magistrate for 16 yrs. We all honored Henry Stumbo as Chairman of The Fiscal Court. The Magistrates tied twice. He cast two deciding votes. One was the way I voted. The other against. We all know what we had to do with, and all did the best we could with what we had to do with. We all got along well and had no quarrels in court among us.

For peace and good will, honesty and better roads for all... May God Bless you all is my wish.

Seminars Set on Handling Of Hazardous Materials

A 10,000-gallon truck pulled into a Gadsden, Ala., service station last Aug. 31 to fill two aboveground storage tanks. Ignition occurred during the unloading process and set in motion an inferno that killed three firefighters and injured at least 28 others before it was extinguished.

The office of State Fire Marshal Warren Southworth has begun several training seminars to guard against similar tragedies happening in Kentucky. Gilbert Ellis, head of the office's hazardous materials section and coordinator of the conferences, said the Gadsden situation occurred from three major mistakes: the improper placement of fire equipment, failure to keep water on the storage tanks and the fact that no one shut off the current to the transfer pump.

That and other information was shared among 75 participants at the first conference recently held at Barren River State Park, near Glasgow. Since several agencies are usually involved in potential disaster situations, the participants included representatives from the Kentucky State Police, the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the Bureau of Highways, the Department for Mines and Minerals, and the state Department of Education.

Although he noted that Kentucky has not had a disaster of the proportion of Gadsden's for several years, Ellis said continued cooperation between the state officials is needed to continue the state's record. For instance, officials with Natural Resources should be contacted if a chemical spill threatens to pollute the surrounding area. And, the expertise of Mines and Minerals personnel could prevent a wrecked truck carrying explosives from destroying several city blocks.

Ellis said Kentucky's several thousand miles of highways and the nation's energy crisis will contribute to an increase in the potential for disasters. He said the office "worked" more than 150 accidents in Kentucky last year, including 12 train derailments, 43 truck spills, 57 gas leaks and 12 natural gas explosions. Some two billion tons of hazardous materials are expected to be shipped in the U.S. during 1977 he explained, adding, "We're going to get at least our proportionate share of that."

Moreover, Ellis revealed that his office believes at least one-half of the accidents occurring in Kentucky go unreported simply because those on the scene are unaware of the need to contact the correct authorities for prompt action when an accident occurs.

"I would say that Kentucky thus far has been doing an excellent job of monitoring hazardous spill accidents, judging from all the near-misses we have had recently," Ellis said.

During a recent interview, he noted that one mile away, near Frankfort, a train carrying 60,000 gallons of propane had derailed. The day before, a truck carrying nuclear material had overturned near Somerset, but the debris was removed before an explosion could occur.

Ellis said the office knows of only two fatalities from hazardous spills last year, both of which were instant death situations resulting from truck accidents.

The state fire marshal's office hopes to improve even that record through the seminars, the second of which will be held at the State Fire School in Lexington next June. A third is scheduled for the Northern Kentucky area in October.

US Shoe Plant Opening Slated In West Liberty

Production will begin within the next two weeks on a new shoe plant located in West Liberty, according to W. Terry McBrayer, Commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Commerce.

The plant, formerly housing a shoe operation, will be reopened by the U.S. Shoe Company which has facilities in four other Kentucky communities, including Prestonsburg, Flemingsburg, Maysville and two plants in Vanceburg.

The plant, which will produce women's footwear, is expected to employ 200 by next fall, according to company officials. New employees are presently undergoing a training program set up by the New and Expanding Industrial Training Unit, a cooperative effort of the Bureau of Vocational Education, Department of Education and the Department of Commerce.

In conjunction with the factory opening, an appreciation dinner will be held March 29 at 7 p.m. at the Morgan County High School, West Liberty, for Department of Commerce officials, representatives of the U.S. Shoe Company, and members of a West Liberty-Morgan County economic development committee. McBrayer will be principal speaker.

PSC Orders Pike Firm To Amend Violations

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has ordered the Phelps Gas Co., Pikeville, to take immediate steps to correct violations dating back as far as 1972.

The commission has directed the company to comply with six specific recommendations by Aug. 1, 1977. After that date Phelps Gas is to pay $25 per day for each violation, the March 8 order notes.

Those recommendations include:
—The maintenance of at least one portable recording pressure gauge with which to conduct distribution pressure checks.

—The establishment of an odorant level and periodic check of the level.

—The establishment of a comprehensive corrosion control program.

—The establishment and maintenance of the accuracy of all gas meters.

—The conduction of an electronic leak survey of the company's system.

—An update of the company's "emergency plan" so as to provide an educational and public relations program for customers.

In setting out its directives to Phelps Gas, the commission noted that the company has repeatedly been in violation of PSC regulations and has a history of incomplete responses to the commission. The latest PSC order directed to Phelps Gas was taken after a Feb. 15 public hearing in Frankfort. No representatives from the company were present.

In addition to the six recommendations, Phelps Gas has been ordered to file bi-weekly progress reports with the commission until all violations are corrected.

Housing Program Ready To Begin in Kentucky

The Kentucky Development Cabinet has signaled the beginning of a new housing program for Appalachian Kentucky by announcing a contract with the Housing Assistance Council of Washington, D. C., for training and technical services for selected state government and local housing agency personnel.

Financed by grants from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), the state-administered housing program will include pre-development loans and site development and off-site improvement grants for low- to moderate-income subsidized housing in the Appalachian counties of the state. The Kentucky Housing Corporation, the state housing finance agency, will administer the ARC funds and will provide technical assistance to successful applicants to help insure the ultimate success of the housing project.

The Housing Assistance Council (HAC), selected to perform training and technical services for the state, is a federally funded nonprofit corporation that operates a national predevelopment loan fund for developers of subsidized housing for rural low-income people. In addition to the loan fund, HAC conducts technical assistance programs, research and demonstration projects, housing policy analyses, and training and information services to nonprofit, public, and private organizations nationwide.

Under the Kentucky contract, HAC will conduct technical workshops for staff members of the Development Cabinet, the Kentucky Housing Corporation, area development districts, and members of nonprofit and public housing agencies in the Appalachian counties of Kentucky. All participants will be selected by the Development Council.

The source of funding for the new Kentucky housing program comes from the Appalachian Regional Commission, an independent federal-state agency established in 1965 to promote the economic development of Appalachia through public investments in new highways, housing, health, development planning, and education services.

The specific ARC Section 207 housing programs which will be administered by Kentucky are the seed money revolving loan program and the site development and off-site development grants. The seed money revolving loan program provides funds for 80 percent of the cost of planning housing projects that will benefit low- and moderate-income families using any federal or state subsidized housing program. Loans can be used for a variety of front-end purposes, including market surveys, preliminary site engineering and architectural fees, land options, FHA fees and other required loan fees and discounts.

ARC's site development and off-site improvement grants provide up to 10 percent of the total project cost to sponsors of new or rehabilitated subsidized housing for low- and moderate-income households. The grants do not require any local matching funds; they are designed to reduce the amount of development costs to be assumed in a mortgage so that the housing payments would not be beyond the reach of low- and moderate-income families. Eligible site development expenditures under this program include excessive excavation, cutting and filling, rock excavation, demolition of existing structures, and removal of debris. Examples of eligible off-site improvements are utility line extensions, street grading, paving, drainage, and water and sewer extension.

For additional information on the Appalachian housing program contact Lynn Luallen, director of the Kentucky Housing Corporation, 1121 Louisville Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 (502-564-7630).

Garden Project May Be Doubled

Gov. Julian M. Carroll's sponsorship of last year's popular community garden project has "borne fruit."

Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn last week announced the approval of an $87,769.10 contract with the Kentucky Association of Community Action Agencies to provide seeds, plants, fertilizer and tools for low-income elderly citizens of Kentucky.

The community garden project, which supplied 3,561 people in 30 counties last spring, will attempt to double its services and production by expanding to statewide coverage.

Conn said the program was designed to facilitate the distribution of fresh vegetables to needy senior citizens as well as provide an opportunity for their participation in production.

Initiated and sponsored by Gov. Carroll, last year's gardening project was funded by a $17,939 grant from the General Fund.

Oppression Horrors Documented on KET

"The 81st Blow," a documentary of the holocaust befalling European Jewry in the Nazi era, airs Friday, April 1 at 10 p.m. during Kentucky Educational Television's (KET) Festival '77.

Produced by an Israeli team, it is compiled from films and photographs from the '30s and '40s and is accompanied by a dramatic testimony of witnesses who appeared at the Eichman trial, held in 1961 in Jerusalem.

"The 81st Blow" alludes to the inability of human beings to confront the unbelievable inhumanity of the Holocaust. Its title comes from the story of a Jewish boy in one of the ghettos, who was brutally beaten with 80 blows. He survived, migrating to Israel after the war. When he began to tell his story, no one believed him—a totally crushing 81st blow.

The story, with all its details, became known in the course of the investigation of witnesses at the Eichman trial.

TO DISCUSS LEGISLATION

Squire Feltner, president of District 30, United Mine Workers of America, will be at Wheelwright High School at the Saturday meeting of Local Union 5899 to discuss proposed Black Lung legislation. Members of other local unions may attend the meeting, it was said.

District Nurses

Sponsor Workshop

Kentucky Nurses Association District 11 and Prestonsburg Community College Nursing Department will sponsor a two-day workshop April 4 and 5 on basic management and supervision skills for nurses. The speaker will be Lillian Younker, of Organization Development Services, Inc., Louisville.

The workshop, which is for all registered nurses who wish to learn about basic management skills in nursing, will be held on Monday and Tuesday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day in Prestonsburg Community College's Pike Auditorium.

The college will award 1.25 c.e.u.'s to all registered nurses and will award certificates of merit to students and other health professionals who attend the workshop.

A message to the voters from

JAKE LAYNE

Democratic Candidate for

MAGISTRATE, District 2

Do you want a man that will not wait until election time to gravel the roads and install drain pipes?

Do you want a man that will gravel public roads instead of private driveways?

Do you want a man that will gravel your roads while you are living, and not after you die?

If you want a man that will do something to improve his district from the beginning of his term to the end, elect me for Magistrate.

If you elect me and I do not do my job as I should, then you can vote me out on the next election, as you have done to other Magistrates.

If you vote me in as Magistrate and then vote me out, because I did not do the job that I should have done, then I would not ask you to vote for me again for the same position that you said I could not fill.

Vote for me for Magistrate in District 2. A man that can and will work with all the county officials and do a good job for my district.

Your Friend,
JAKE LAYNE

Fire Department Gets

Calls for Assistance

By GARY COMPTON

Price, Ky.—The Left Beaver Fire Department responded to a fire call to Hi Hat, March 26. Both units responded. On the same evening it received a call to a car wreck, and on the way to the wreck received a call via CB to cancel our run. At 11 p.m. another call came in to go to Wheelwright and pick up a woman who needed medical attention. On March 27 the department received a fire call to McDowell, and again both units responded. After fighting the brush fire at McDowell, firemen received another call to come to Minnie for a house fire, and both units responded.

We were well pleased with the turnout of men who helped all week-end. If you should need to call the Fire Department, please call one of these numbers:

377-6773 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.; 377-6697, 377-6819, 377-2234, 377-6683, all hours.

A revival will begin at the Goble-Roberts Free Will Baptist Church at 7 p.m., Sunday. Services will be led by evangelists Bill Campbell and Richard Crisp and there will be special singing. The pastor, Rev. Jack Derossotte, extends a welcome to everyone to attend.

MUCH IMPROVED

Mrs. Bill Pettrey, who has been ill for several weeks at her home here, is now showing marked improvement and was able to attend services at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, on Sunday morning.

RECOVERING FROM SURGERY

Mrs. Effie Hopkins is recovering nicely from eye surgery, performed at the Wilson Clinic, in Pikeville recently. Mrs. Hopkins was accompanied to Pikeville by her cousin, Mrs. Willie Mae Branham.

VISIT BROTHER

Dr. and Mrs. James Sankey Williams, of Nicholasville, have returned to their home, after having been called here, due to the illness of Mrs. Williams' brother, Harry Porter, of Allen. Mr. Porter's condition has improved.

RETURN FROM HOLYLAND

Among the Prestonsburg residents who have recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land are Mrs. Elizabeth Garriott, Mrs. Regina Roberts, Mrs. Ora Lee Wireman, Mrs. Phyllis Ranier, and Miss Jean Carol Hale.

HERE FROM FLORIDA

Mrs. Malinda Conley, who has been spending the winter months in Tampa, Florida is spending some time at her home here. She will return to Florida within a few days for a few more weeks at her home there.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davidson, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Deborah Louise Davidson to Donald Derek Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Hicks, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Davidson is currently a student at Transylvania University majoring in elementary education and she is a member of the Sigma Kappa social sorority. Mr. Hicks is a student at the University of Kentucky and is majoring in agricultural economics.

The wedding date is set for June 26, at 4 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, Prestonsburg.

VISITS MR. PRATER

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Goble spent Sunday with Mrs. Goble's father, James Prater, who is a patient at Mercy Hospital, Portsmouth, O. Mr. Prater's condition is serious.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. Grace Conley underwent major surgery at the Highlands Regional Hospital this past Tuesday. Her condition is satisfactory. Mrs. Conley's two sons, Ben Conley, of Ada, Ohio, and Donald Conley, who is stationed with the United States Navy, near Washington, D. C., came here to be with her during and following her operation.

April, Month of Sun and Showers

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

"April," according to an old nursery rhyme, "is the month of sun and showers and of pretty wildwood flowers," but for farmers, gardeners and homemakers, it is much, much more. It is a month of furious activity both indoors and out—activities such as housecleaning, plowing, planting, and, in general, getting ready for another good crop year.

In nature, April is a month of new life everywhere—new lambs, baby chicks, new leaf, young squirrels, kittens and fresh green grass. Buds swell and open in the apple orchard, pear, peach and cherry trees bloom and wildflowers by the thousands emerge from the floor of the forest and in waste places across the land. Songbirds whose voices have long since been silent, start tinkling their musical arias in the treetops and, as the poet says, "Gladness is born of the April weather, and the heart is as light as a wind tossed feather."

In April, as old timers used to say, "everything starts coming your way," and indeed it does. But as mentioned before, it is a very busy month. In addition to plowing and planting, there are fruit trees and shrubs to be scanned for caterpillar egg masses and smooth-barked trunks of new transplants to be wrapped with burlap or heavy paper to prevent sun scald. Also, if you are bothered with wild onions, between April 1st and 15th, is a good time to get after them. According to UK weed control specialist, Jim Herron, new wild onion bulbs start developing about mid-April and early application of chemicals will give better control than if treatment is delayed until new bulbs develop. Herron recommends 2, 4-D, Banvel-D, Silvex, or combinations of these materials in the control of wild onions and states that they are more effective when air temperatures range around 60 degrees F. For rate of application of these chemicals, read and observe directions on the package, or contact your local extension agent.

By this time, many early vegetables have already been planted, but wait until the danger of frost is past to plant the more tender vegetables such as sweet corn, cucumbers, tomatoes, muskmelons, okra and peppers. A lot of old time gardeners used to plant a patch of beans on Good Friday which, this year, comes on April 8. The danger of frost is not over by that time, but isn't a bad idea to plant beans on this date, especially a small patch. If the frost holds off, good. If not, not too much damage will result and there will still be plenty of time to replant.

In the latter part of April, early planted crops may need thinning and cultivating. Cultivating will help get ahead of the weeds and to stay ahead. Thinning, of course, will result in larger and perhaps better quality vegetables. Radishes, beets and carrots nearly always need a bit of thinning in April.

In the flower garden, the beauty of the tulip beds will be there to see and to enjoy in April. As they fade, remove the flowers and do not let the seed pods form. Do not, however, disturb the tulip foliage. And since petunias can stand temperatures down to 29 degrees, they can be started during the latter part of this month. To give an idea on just how hardy these flowers are, a few years ago a bed of volunteer petunias were observed blooming on Christmas Day.

Other tasks well worth doing in April include checking the beehives to see how well the bees are faring after this unusually cold winter, setting out a strawberry patch and putting in an order for sweet potato plants.

Also if anyone in the audience missed transplanting shrubs or trees last fall, this can still be done with a good chance of survival for the transplants. UK horticulturists say April is one of the best months for transplanting holly trees.

The 30 days of April are always busy days. They are happy days, usually, and mark the recurrence of that age-old miracle of spring. It is good to be busy during the month, but not too busy. In getting the April job done, take time out to enjoy this most wonderful of all months.

TVA May Drop Kentucky Coal

Western Kentucky coal producers will soon begin losing their TVA market, and Eastern Kentucky mines may lose as much as half of the 5.7 million tons a year they sell to TVA, it was predicted this week as the agency began taking steps to cut down on its use of high-sulfur coal.

The full loss to Kentucky coal may not be known till 1980 when TVA meets state and federal sulfur-dioxide control requirements. Low-sulfur western coal is expected to take the place of Kentucky fuel, but TVA admits the cost of transportation will be "very expensive." TVA estimates that the cost of the new environmental program will mean an increase of $375 million a year in the cost of electricity in the region it serves. Its plan to be build smokestacks up to 1,000 feet high was rejected by EPA.

Despite this threatened market loss, prospects for Eastern Kentucky coal are brightening, it was said here.

A NEW VETERANS Administration hospital at Loma Linda, Calif., will replace a similar facility at San Fernando, Calif., destroyed during a 1971 earthquake.

Vanderpool Is Foreman At GE Appliance Park

Dorlan Vanderpool was recently promoted to position of foreman on the first shift in door fabrication in the door storage, paint hangon and repair area of General Electric's major appliance business group, Appliance Park, Louisville.

Prior to this, he had worked in miscellaneous fabrication since joining the company in 1963 and was shop steward on the second shift.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderpool, of Garrett, he is a graduate of Garrett High School.

ACCORDING TO A U. S. Labor Department publication, released in 1976, most labor-management disputes in the United States are settled without a strike. In 28 of the 30 years since the end of World War II, idleness due to work stoppages has amounted to less than 1 per cent of working time. And most strikes are settled in 2 weeks or less, the publication states.

Pictured above are winner and runner-up of Martin Elementary School's recent spelling bee. They are, Belinda Martin (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Creed Martin, of Hunter, winner of the bee, and Billy Dingus, runner-up, son of Mrs. Janice Dingus, of Drift, and Bill "Crush" Dingus, of Paintsville. Miss Martin was runner-up in the county-wide Herald-Dispatch spelling bee held Saturday at the Floyd County Library here.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

Consumers often call us about cars they have purchased which do not get as many miles to the gallon as the EPA gas mileage estimates they relied upon when buying their new car. What is an EPA gas mileage estimate?

The Environmental Protection Agency publishes fuel economy figures on different makes and models of cars. They are based on the "city" and "highway" gas mileage figures of the EPA, which are derived from cars driven on test platforms designed to simulate city and highway driving conditions. Because of this, they are nothing more than estimates and should not be relied upon as a true measure of the performance to be expected from the car. Many consumers overlook this fact.

EPA figures can be used to compare fuel economy on different model cars and are often used in car advertisements. But don't forget to consider the following factors which affect EPA gas mileage figures:

—The engine size, transmission type and fuel system result in different gas mileage for the same model car. This information should be disclosed in ads, so be on the lookout for it.

—When mileage figures in an advertisement are for a specific car and not from the EPA Mileage Guide, the ad must disclose all optional equipment which can increase fuel costs. In addition, the impact of the absence of optional equipment must also be disclosed.

Consumers should also note that individual driving styles and the condition of the car can cause the "miles per gallon" figures to vary. For example, an engine that is already warmed up (one that was used within the last 4 hours) requires less fuel to reach its most efficient operating condition than a "cold" engine. Trip length also affects gas mileage. Shorter trips (under 5 miles) do not allow the car to warm up to its peak operating temperature and engine condition. A car's condition has a bearing on the number of miles which can be driven per gallon of gas. On the average, a tuned-up vehicle gets approximately 3 to 9 per cent better gas mileage than one which has not been properly maintained. Under-inflated tires also can increase gas consumption.

You can obtain a free copy of all EPA gas estimates in the brochure, Miles Per Gallon Ratings for 1977 Cars. Write Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colorado, 81001. This pamphlet can help you to compare the fuel economy of different makes and models of cars.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

NOTICE

Because of the impending strike at 12:01 a.m. April 1, 1977 by Local 14636 of the United Steel Workers of America at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, the McDowell ARH is making the following announcement:

If a strike occurs, the McDowell ARH regrets to inform the people of its service area who utilize the hospital's services that the hospital will be able to provide services to medical emergencies only.

This planned curtailment of service will be evaluated daily and may result in further curtailment, if the demand for services exceeds the hospital's ability to provide quality care.

The McDowell ARH earnestly requests the public's cooperation and understanding during this unfortunate period.

Another 'Endangered Species'— The One-Room Country School

The one-room school is an "endangered species," too. Only six remain in Kentucky. All six are in Eastern Kentucky—and one of the six is the Daniels Creek school in this county.

Ray Brackett, assistant superintendent of Floyd county schools, said last week that there are no immediate plans to close Floyd county's last one-room school. And there are those who contend that it should never close. These are mostly of the older age group. They argue that the one-room school should be preserved, not only as an educational relic but also because such schools provided the fundamentals as others do not, served uniquely to preserve a sense of togetherness among pupils and as a source of community pride.

One of these schools which may be in its last year is the Salt Lick school in Knott county, a few miles from Hueysville. That school was the subject last week of a feature written by Malcolm L. Stallons and published in The Lexington Herald. Mr. Stallons' story follows:

The school day begins early for Mrs. Lois H. Conley in the Knott County mountains of Eastern Kentucky. It begins shortly after seven o'clock as she makes her way down a dusty dirt road to the one-room white frame school at Salt Lick Creek where she teaches.

Normally one of her students, Clarence, waits for her on the steps which lead up to the elevated building.

Together, they fire up a coal burning stove which will warm the small structure before the other 15 students will arrive for a day of lessons, drawing and just sitting around.

She is one of six teachers in Eastern Kentucky whose responsibility it is to educate their students which vary from grades one through eight in a one-room school.

The children usually arrive about eight. Some have walked nearly a mile. Other ride double on bicycles, dodging ruts in the earthen road.

If it's a warm day they generally stay outdoors until Mrs. Conley walks to the door of the frame structure and rings a gold-colored bell, a signal that the day is about to begin. If it's a cold day, they trickle inside the building to enjoy the warmth Clarence and Mrs. Conley have provided.

The children come indoors, each taking the seats assigned them according to the grade level they have attained. The lower grades sit near the front of the room, while those in higher grades sit in the back.

On this day the lower grade children are learning to identify certain words to aid them in their reading. This is done with the help of flash cards.

The children seem to have an interest in their work, allowing for the normal curiosity stimulated by the presence of a visitor.

"The students' interest in learning has been one of the things which has bothered me," says Mrs. Conley, who, until this year, taught in a consolidated school at Jones Creek (Fork).

"Sometimes it's awfully hard to get them to work, and sometimes I wonder if I'm accomplishing anything, but I keep on trying."

The rapid decline in one-room schools in Kentucky has been buried along by a movement to consolidate schools in an effort to provide better education to the student.

Presently there are only six one-room schools left in Kentucky, and the Salt Lick School will probably be the next one to close. It, according to plans, will later be combined with the Upper Quicksand School some four miles deeper into Knott County.

Critics of one-room schools say the quality of education in a consolidated school and the one-room school, can't be compared. Mrs. Conley tends to agree.

"There just isn't any way I can get all the subjects a student needs in during a day's time," she says. "You can only spend about 30 minutes with each grade and that's a shame."

"The difference is that in a consolidated school they will spend all day on a certain level of education, whereas here we spend about 30 minutes," she adds.

"Certainly there are certain advantages and disadvantages of attending a one-room school," says Enoch Combs, supervisor of the Knott County schools.

"A couple of the disadvantages are that there are too many classes, and not enough competition between students at the same level, and the time spent at each level is less," he says.

"But then too, a student can learn from others—that is, he'll learn lessons at his level, but at a higher level also."

"If the student (at a one-room school) gets a lousy teacher, he'll probably have eight years of lousy education, but if he gets a good one, he's going to have eight years of really good education," Combs explained.

"In a consolidated school we figure he's going to have a mixture of good teachers and bad ones," he added.

And while the school boards attempt to send their best teachers to the one-room schools, it's sometimes hard to find teachers who will agree to take the positions.

But Combs says Knott County has been "extremely" lucky in that some of the county's best teachers live near the schools located along the mountainous terrain and have agreed to teach there.

Lunch time comes around noon here and as their counterparts do in consolidated schools, the Salt Lick students put their books away in anticipation of the upcoming meal.

In times past, the teacher would dismiss school for an hour to allow the students to go home. Others would bring lunches in paper sacks and eat at their desks.

But today, students eat a hot meal prepared by a cook in a small but separate section of the room.

A recess period follows lunch and once again the children play outdoors until Mrs. Conley rings the bell.

One by one they methodically line up in front of the water pump at the edge of the creek. The students each fill their plastic cup with water as Clarence pumps the squeaking mechanism.

Then they file indoors for the afternoon's session.

And finally the appointed time comes and the children flock to the coat racks, gather their belongings and race across the wooden bridge onto the dirt road which leads home.

The one-room school is now empty except for Mrs. Conley who ends her day by sweeping out the wooden floor building. When finished, she gathers her belongings, and as her final duty of the day, she closes the school's doors, securing it from intruders with master padlock.

She, like the children moments before her, begins walking down the road toward home.

And once again, the small white building stands silently at the bottom of the hillside, the stillness broken only by the sound of rushing waters in the creek.

Memory Hill Park in Morgan To Contribute To Tourism

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Come to Morgan County this year, and, along with noting progress, take a walk through Eastern Kentucky history that begins in the mid-1700s with the birth of Daniel Williams and continues with a row of log cabins on a hillside at the Wardie Craft farm at Caney on Route 191.

Daniel Williams carried a Bible and a long rifle when around 1804 he entered what later would become Morgan county and built his cabin at Wells Mill, later named West Liberty. He already had been with Daniel Boone at Boonesborough, and family history says he married Violet Crouch at the fort.

A number of prominent people made it a point to visit at the Williams cabin. One of these was Richard Mentor Johnson, later to become Vice President of the United States.

Williams already had fought at the Battle of Blue Licks and, seeing enough fighting in battle, had decided to fight in a different direction. He lived for some time in Montgomery county and helped establish the Lulaburg Church in 1793.

In the early 1800s he was instrumental in organizing 11 Baptist churches, and in 1813 founded Burning Springs Association of Primitive Baptists.

Before his death in 1820, Williams and his family moved to Caney where he built a handsome house of material he thought more handsome than poplar logs—cannel coal. He was intrigued by the satin luster of blocks of the coal, built his house and later saw it catch fire and burn. He built his next cabin with logs.

Elder Williams and his wife, Violet, are buried on the bench of a high hill overlooking Caney valley, near the site of his home. On days when he wanted to call his flock together to worship he stood on the hillside and blew on a large horn, the sound echoing up and down the valley.

Not far away on the same hillside is the beginning of Memory Hill Park as a memorial to Williams and his contemporaries. Wardie and Hazel Craft, former schoolteachers, and he a former principal and now pastor of his own Baptist Church, already have built six cabins, each to be furnished as a pioneer museum.

In the center of the complex, visible for some distance, will be built a granite shaft similar to Washington's monument but on a smaller scale. This will be inscribed with names of people who have contributed to the cost of the work and park and when completed will be dedicated to the memory of Elder Williams.

The cabins are monuments to individual families. Logs are from the Henry cabin that stood near Index, the Rev. Billy Davis cabin from Wolfe county and old family homes from Breathitt, Perry and Magoffin counties.

In addition to the many descendants of families who once lived in the reconstructed log cabins, many other families are connected with Memory Hill Park. The Wardie Crafts themselves have a number of adopted children and altogether have reared or helped rear more than 100 orphans or homeless children. The Rev. Mr. Craft has preached, married and baptised for 49 years.

Opposite the log cabins is a memorial garden with graves marked by sculptured Italian marble, one of these a memorial to "Parson" Daniel Duff, pioneer preacher who married, baptised and buried many noted Eastern Kentuckians in the Kentucky River area.

Elder Daniel Williams and wife had a large family with sons and daughters marrying into prominent regional families. As an example of family influence, one son, John T. Williams, was appointed by Gov. Adair to help start proceedings in 1822 for forming Morgan county. John T. Williams' son, also named John T., became a regional hero as Capt. Williams in the Civil War.

Another son, Wiley, was Morgan's first state representative, and Elder

Williams' daughter Nancy married David Lykins and was the mother of William Lykins, first judge of the county after adoption of the 1850 constitution. A daughter Edith (Edy) married Richard Allen, who had come from North Carolina. This couple's son was George Allen, and their son Caleb was father of noted attorney, the late Grover Cleveland Allen of Breathitt county. Atty. Allen was the father of Malcolm Allen, of Jackson, and grandfather of Henry L. Allen, of West Liberty, Eastern Kentucky educator.

Anyone who would like to help with the work at Memory Hill should contact Wardie Craft, Rt. 4, Box 224, Caney, Ky. 41407.

When the park is opened this year, it will influence a deeper study of history in the region and as a "mini" Harrodsburg will contribute to the state's vast tourism industry.

THE KENTUCKY EASTER Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults owns and operates Easter Seal facilities in Lexington, Louisville, Paducah, Covington, Carrollton, Ashland and McDaniels.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Z. S. Dickerson, Sr. would like to express our deepest gratitude to everyone who offered their condolences by sending flowers, and food and by stopping by the Funeral Home to pay their final respects.

We appreciate so much the love and support of the church family of the Community United Methodist and to the choir and pianist who lifted our hearts in song and for the beautiful words of love by the Rev. Taylor Biggs and Dr. Harold Dorsey.

The family would also like to thank the nurses and aides of the second floor of the HRMC for being so kind and helpful. A special thanks to the Masonic Lodge for their beautiful tribute, and to the Carter Funeral Home for their efficient and thoughtful service.

To everyone concerned, we thank you, from the bottom of our hearts.

Career Festival At ALC, April 6

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Area high school students are invited to attend a Career Festival at Alice Lloyd College from 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday, April 6, in the college's new fieldhouse. The festival provides an opportunity for young people to explore occupations available in Eastern Kentucky.

"While designed primarily for ALC students, the festival will help area high school students explore a number of occupations," said Gary Medlin, ALC counselor and festival organizer.

"For students planning to attend college, but who have not as yet picked a field of study, the festival provides a chance to explore a number of fields. For high schoolers undecided about what to do after graduation, the festival is an excellent way to explore the current job market in Eastern Kentucky," he said.

Career areas to be represented by professionals at the festival include business, industry, health care, education, mining, agriculture, forestry, social work, and mental health. Also present will be representatives from about 10 small private colleges.

The festival is part of a three-day career emphasis workshop at the college. Activities for ALC students include sessions in resume writing, writing letters of application, career planning, and handling job interviews.

Heaven—"Don't Miss It"

HEAVEN, the home of mansions fair, Here are some things that will not be there:

The vile and wicked shall not be there;
No sin can enter the portals fair.
No devil, no demons can entrance gain;
No sickness, no death, no suffering or pain;

No darkness, no night, no woe or despair,
No cares or burdens too heavy to bear;
No tears or sighs on the Golden Strand,
No disappointment in that Fair Land;

No fear or evil our peace to annoy,
Nothing to hurt, or mar or destroy;
No heartache or grief, no not a trace,
Will ever be found in that holy place.

HEAVEN, the place so wondrously fair,
Here are some things that WILL be there:

The throne where all saints will prostrate fall,

Jesus the Saviour, the fairest of all!
Saints of all ages, lovers of God—
All have been washed in His precious blood.

Loved ones and friends dear to the heart,
Will meet in that Land and never will part;

Perfect their love with companionship blest,

Each one delighting in all of the rest.
Far more than poor mortals here have known

Are the things God's promised to all His own.

There's children and flowers, and all day long

The saints will be singing redemption's song.

Twelve manner of fruit from the living tree

Will feed their pure souls in eternity—
Plus living water from under the throne—

This is our Everlasting Home.

—C. Dongell

Hell—"Flee From It!"

HELL! the prison house of despair,
Here are some things that will not be there,

No flowers will bloom on the banks of hell,

No beauties of nature we love so well;
No comforts of home, music and song,
No friendship of joy will be found in that throng;

Not a child to brighten that long, endless night.

No love or peace, not one ray of light;
No blood-washed soul with bright beaming face,

No loving smile—no not a trace;
No mercy, no pity, pardon or grace,
No water, O God, what a terrible place!

The pangs of the lost no human can tell
Not one moment's ease, there's no rest in hell.

HELL! the prison house of despair!
Here are some things that WILL be there!

Fire and brimstone are there we know,
For God in His Word hath told us so;

Memory, remorse, suffering and pain;
Weeping and wailing, but all in vain;
Blasphemers, swearers, haters of God,
All who refused to be washed in the blood.

Lovers of pleasure more than God,
Rejecters of Christ while here on earth's sod;

Murders, gamblers, drunkards, the liar,
Will have their part in the lake of fire;

The filthy, the vile, the cruel and mean,
A horrible mob in Hell will be seen!

Yea, more than humans on earth can tell
Are the torments and woes of eternal Hell!

TERESA ROBINSON NAMED WINNER IN HERALD-DISPATCH SPELLING BEE

Winner, Teresa Robinson

The Bonanza Rural School's representative, 14-year-old Teresa Robinson, was named winner of the 1977 Herald-Dispatch Spelling Bee after defeating representatives from eleven other Floyd county schools Saturday at the Floyd County Library here.

Miss Robinson, who was the 1976 runner-up, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson, of East Point, and is an eighth-grader at the Bonanza school. Teresa's teacher is Josephine Whitaker.

Runner-up in this year's bee was Belinda Martin, who represented the Martin Elementary School. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Creed Martin, of Printer, she is a 13-year-old eighth grader at Martin. Her teacher is Mrs. Charlotte Moore.

The winner and runner-up will go to Huntington, W. Va., April 30 to participate in the Spell-Down which will be held in the auditorium of the Evelyn H. Smith Music Hall on the campus of Marshall University.

Runner-up, Belinda Martin

Other contestants who participated in Saturday's competition and the elementary schools they represented follow:

Melissa Banks, Allen; Don Robin Spears, Betsy Layne; Tammy Arnett, Clark; Melody Conn, Harold; Jill Osborne, McDowell; Anthony Rhea, Osborne; Eric Herrin, Prestonsburg; Debbi Reed, Home Branch Rural, and Elaine Akers, Prater Rural.

This year's bee director was Anna Sue Stumbo, supervisor, Floyd county schools, and pronouncer was Nadine Hicks, remedial reading teacher at Clark Elementary. Judges included Blanche Dingus, Edgar Bingham, and Pam Wohlford.

The Good Samaritans

By GEORGE L. MOORE

In the present-day society money is everything. It is rare indeed to find people who are willing to make sacrifices and undergo hardships in order that they may render much-needed service to others.

It would seem that there are too many people today who follow the philosophy of everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost. Perhaps the greatest thing one can do in this life is to render service to others. People who cannot help themselves through no fault of their own, are eternally grateful to those who extend a helping hand in time of need.

When we turn back through the pages of history, we find but very few people who are remembered for the wealth that they accumulated. Rather, they are remembered for the service they performed for others. This is best illustrated in studying the life of Jesus Christ. According to Holy Writ, he devoted his entire life to the helping of others. It is not recorded that he ever accumulated any wealth or acquired any property. His entire life was spent in helping those in distress.

Once knew a man in a large industrial country who was completely unselfish, devoting almost all his time to the helping of others. He never accumulated any wealth and was poor all his life. He was a carpenter and a minister but his entire life was devoted to rendering service to his fellowman. Often when a death occurred in his valley, he would furnish all the materials and construct a coffin for the departed. In addition he would preach the funeral. He did not ask nor did he receive any compensation for his service. When he approached a crowd, some one would say, there comes the best man in this county. There were no dissenting opinions. (Wasn't it appropriate that Isaac Stratton was a carpenter, too?—Ed.)

He made his round at least once each week to two hospitals in the county, visiting the sick and afflicted. He was welcomed by the patients and members of the hospital staff. His pleasant smile and friendly manner always seemed to cheer the patient more than anything else. His oldest son, a telegraph operator for the C & O, followed in his foot-steps. He lived in Ashland and when he learned that my wife had been stricken with a heart attack, he was one of the first to pay her a visit.

In our own Elliott county, we have three men, Jackie Flanery, his brother J. R., and his brother-in-law, Charles Lewis, all of Route 3, Olive Hill, who qualify for the title of Good Samaritan in fullest biblical meaning of the word. For the past two years, Zelma Stone, of the Stark community, has had a complete kidney failure. It is necessary for her to be taken to a kidney machine at the University Memorial Hospital at Lexington three times each week. She is at the complete mercy of her kith and kin. The three people mentioned above make the 200-mile round trip to Lexington each week. Her life would cease without their help. Each one of them takes his turn and has never failed to make the trip in all kinds of weather. During the bad weather in January, when the road conditions were extremely hazardous they never failed to make the journey. They deserve the thanks and praise of all people everywhere for risking their own lives to make it possible for another person to live.

WOMEN ARE EXPECTED to account for much of the labor force expansion in the 1980s as an increasing proportion take jobs outside the home and as men's labor force participation continues to decline, according to "U.S. Workers and Their Jobs: The Changing Picture," a publication of the U.S. Labor Department.

PART ONE
ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
CONTRACT XII
WATER PLANT SETTLING
AND FILTERING EQUIPMENT
PRESTONSBURG CITY
UTILITIES COMMISSION
PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

1. Sealed bids will be received by the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, hereinafter referred to as the "Owner" for performing the work described herein, at the Utilities Commission Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, until 2:00 P.M., Local Time, Thursday, April 7, 1977. The proposals will be for furnishing labor, materials and performance of all work described and set forth by the general and technical specifications and working drawings prepared by Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc. Immediately following the scheduled closing time for the reception of bids, all proposals which are submitted in accordance with this advertisement will be publicly opened and read aloud. The work to be bid upon is described as follows:
Contract XII—Water Plant Settling and Filtering Equipment Division "A"—Tube Settler Modules. Furnishing and Installing Tube Settler Modules in Existing Settling Basins.
Division "B"—High Rate Filter Media Removal of Existing Filter Media, and Furnishing and Installing New High Rate Media in Existing Filters, Including Polymer Feed and Control Equipment.
2. All bids must be made on the blank forms of proposal to be furnished.
3. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond payable to the Owner for five per cent of the total amount of the bid. As soon as the bid prices have been compared, the Owner will return the check or bond of all except the three lowest responsible bidders. When the contract is awarded, the checks or bonds of the remaining unsuccessful bidders will be returned. The check or bond of the successful bidder will be retained until the contract and surety bond have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned.
4. A performance and payment bond in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price with a corporate surety approved by the Owner and the Engineer, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract, and the bidder shall state in the proposal the name and address of the surety or sureties who will sign this bond in case the contract is awarded to him. A maintenance bond guaranteeing the repair of all damage due to improper materials or workmanship for a period of one year after the acceptance of the work by the Owner will also be required.
5. The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required forthwith to execute the contract and a performance and payment bond within ten calendar days from the date when the written notice of the award of the contract is mailed to the bidder at the address given by him. In case of failure to do so, the Owner may, at his option, consider that the bidder has abandoned the contract, in which case the certified check or bidder's bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.
6. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids for any justifiable reason. It is understood that the work to be done is being financed with a loan from the Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Contractor's proposals shall hold firm for sixty (60) days to allow the Owner time to complete its financing arrangements. Mutually agreed upon extensions of time may be made, if necessary.
7. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000, the bidder must submit Form FHA 400-6, "Compliance Statement," with his bid. An Equal Opportunity Clause will be a part of all construction contracts exceeding $10,000.
8. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000 and the contractor has one hundred (100) or more employees, he will file Standard Form 100, "Employment Information Report," with the Joint Reporting Committee, P. O. Box 12, Springfield, Virginia 22150, within thirty (30) days after the contract award and annually on or before March 31st thereafter for the life of the contract.
9. If the prospective contract is for $50,000 or more and the successful bidder has fifty (50) or more employees, he will develop and place on file within 120 days of the contract award written affirmative action compliance programs using Form AD-425, "Contractor's Affirmative Action Plan for Equal Employment Opportunity," as a guideline.
10. Before the award of the contract, any bidder may be required to furnish evidence satisfactory to the Owner and to the Engineer of the necessary facilities, ability, and pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the said contract.
11. Prior to signing the contract, the Contractor shall submit on a form acceptable to the Owner and Engineer, an overall construction schedule for the project. This construction schedule shall start with the proposed date of signing the contract, and the completion date shall be the date specified in the contract.
12. Bidders must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the proposed work, by examination of the Plans and Specifications and requirements of the work and the accuracy of the estimate of the quantities of the work to be done, and shall not at any time after the submission of a bid dispute or complain of such estimate nor assert that there was any misunderstanding in regard to the nature or amount of work to be done.

13. The Construction Contract and the Detailed Specifications contain the provisions required for the construction of the project. No information obtained from any officer, agent, or employee of the Owner on any such matters shall in any way affect the risk or obligation assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.
14. Proposals which are incomplete, unbalanced, conditional or obscure, or which contain additions not called for, erasures, alterations or irregularities of any kind, or which do not comply with the Detailed Specifications may be rejected at the option of the Owner.
15. A bidder may withdraw any proposal he has submitted at any time prior to the hour set for the closing of the bids provided the request for withdrawal is signed in a manner identical with the proposal being withdrawn. No withdrawal or modification will be permitted after the hour designated for closing the bids.
16. For the purpose of clarification it is understood that the work to be done is being financed in whole or in part by means of a loan and-or grant made or insured by the United States of America acting through the Farmers Home Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The Farmers Home Administration will, therefore, require approval by its representatives of all contracts, attachments, and similar documents, all partial and final payment estimates, and all change orders.
17. Computation of quantities that will be the basis for payment estimates, both monthly and final, will be made by the Engineer.
18. The word "Owner" means the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. The Owner will be responsible for payment in accordance with the terms of the contract.
The word "Contractor" means the person, firm or corporation to whom the award is made. Subcontractor as such will not be recognized.
The word "Engineer" refers to Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc., Lexington, Kentucky, designated by the Owner as its engineering representative during the course of construction to make appropriate inspections and computations of payments.
The word "Representative" means the State Director of the Farmers Home Administration or his designee.

Doctor Headed This Way?

Jim Dawson's longterm plan is to "end up in a rural area of Kentucky, possibly in Prestonsburg."

The fourth-year University of Kentucky medical student comes from such a place, Shepherdsville, and his experience in a series of on-site rotations with Area Health Education Systems confirms that as a doctor that's the kind of place he wants.

For as long as he can remember, Dawson has wanted to be a doctor. He earned a B.S. degree in medical technology at UK and worked for five years while in school and after graduation as a medical technologist in the clinical pathology laboratory of University Hospital.

Dawson's aim was "to stay around the hospital and to be admitted to medical school. In the fall of 1973 he entered UK medical school.

Now in his final year, he has already finished two AHES rotations: in November at Hindman with Dr. Grady Stumbo, and in December at the Morehead Clinic with Dr. Richard Carpenter.

AHES involves six state-supported universities, including UK. The state-sponsored and financed program places students of the health professions in various health-care settings in communities throughout the state.

In his AHES rotations Dawson has seen "what the common problems are—colds, heart attacks, sprained ankles, lacerations..." Back in Lexington at the UK Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, he adds, students are more likely to meet the "complicated, or referred case."

Dawson is now again in Morehead for a rotation in surgery with Dr. Warren Proudfoot of the Cave Run Clinic. After Morehead he will do some community medicine in either Ashland or Prestonsburg.

Family practice and surgery both interest Dawson, but he has applied for a residency in obstetrics and gynecology. He says obstetrics will permit him some surgery as well as some association with the family. Ideally, he would like to practice his specialty in a rural area where that skill is needed.

Dawson's mother has for 25 years worked as "office nurse" for Shepherdsville physicians. Through her and with his five years as a medical technologist, Dawson learned "what I was getting into" by choosing a doctor's life.

And AHES has taught him what it is like to be a community physician.

Jim Dawson has earned another distinction worth mentioning. At 17 he was the state's biggest producer of rabbits for medical research and on Easter Sunday in 1964 he appeared on the old TV show, "What's My Line?"

"Even though they guessed my line, I was given $50 in prize money and my parents and I had a wonderful trip to New York," he said.

Jim is not in the rabbit business now but one day when he settles down as a Kentucky doctor, he intends to start that line again as a hobby.

Energy Shock May Be Way to Better Life

"We're running big risks with the whole planet," Stewart L. Udall said, but added, "Americans can survive the current energy crisis if they are willing to cut back on energy consumption and change their life-styles."

Udall, keynote speaker at the environmental education conference held in Lexington recently, served as Secretary of the Interior from 1961 to 1969.

"The environment and values are up front again," he said, referring to the current energy crisis. "This is the second energy shock in three years and we don't seem to learn much."

"The energy crisis is a humanistic crisis of values and life-styles," Udall said. "We have developed a culture in this country that says that there is always more of everything. Bigger is better. Growth will continue. We can industrialize the world," he said.

Americans can cope, in Udall's opinion, "but we need to make basic, structural changes in the American way of life. We have to consider not only what kind of lives we want to lead, but what kind of environment we want to leave for our children and grandchildren."

Udall, who is having wood stoves installed in his Washington, D. C. home, sees new values emerging as Americans try to cope with the energy shortage. He suggests that Americans may be moving to a socially better way of life.

"Automobiles have shut us off in our own little worlds," he claims, and he said that with the need to stretch resources, Americans will become closer and more involved with each other.

"Now we are going to have to make our own cities work. We can bring railroads back, ride buses, carpool, build bike paths. We'll see more cooperation," he said.

Udall considers the recent production of Alex Haley's "Roots" as healthy for Americans. "We can all look back at our own roots and see what values are important to us."

"The environment and the energy needs of the public are not necessarily an either-or situation," Udall said and explained that it isn't necessary to pollute water or destroy the countryside to supply the public with energy.

He cited Kentucky's coal as an example. "Coal is an important part of the answer to energy problems, but we don't need to destroy Kentucky in the process of getting it out of the ground."

Udall, who has returned to his law practice in Washington, is also writing and lecturing.

Heavy Weekend Fire Activity Contained, Is Forestry Report

Although 69 woodland fires were reported over the week-end in the six-county Eastern Forest District, which includes Floyd, as of Tuesday morning, no new blazes had been recorded at the district forestry office here.

"We've got everything pretty well under control at the moment," said District Forester Arthur Leach. "No new fires have been reported since yesterday (Monday) and the fires reported over the week-end have been controlled."

A total of 2,790 acres were burned as a result of the week-end fires, Leach reported, with most of the Floyd county acreage being lost in the Abbott and Mud Creek sections of the county.

Leach said Floyd and Pike were hardest hit by recent fires in the district which also includes Magoffin, Johnson, Martin and Lawrence counties. He explained that the rough terrain and steeper slopes in the two counties hampered fire-fighting efforts.

According to Leach, 95 per cent of the fires have been started as the result of debris burning and clearing of fields. "An unusually dry season has made the situation all the more dangerous," Leach added.

Leach stressed that from now through May 15 burning of trash or any type of debris before 4:30 p.m. is illegal.

Easter Seal Camps Demand Is Great

"With record numbers of children with handicaps applying for Easter Seal camp, the need for increased Easter Seal funds is greater than ever this year," Bert T. Combs, chairman of the 1977 Kentucky Easter Seal Campaign, said today.

Camping and recreation are essential to the normal social development of any child who is separated in any degree from able-bodied children," Combs said. "So it is of more importance than ever before that the Easter Seal Campaign this year be given generous support by all Kentuckians."

He said that the Kentucky Easter Seal Society hopes to send more crippled children to camp this year than the 1,197 who attended during the 14 sessions in 1976. But he encouraged parents to register their children early because of the increased demand.

At both Easter Seal camps in Kentucky, Camp Kysoc at Carrollton and Camp Green Shores at Rough River Lake, a staff of well-trained counselors experienced in working with handicapped children direct a full program of activities which contribute to their educational, recreational and social growth.

The professionally planned program includes swimming in a heated pool, boating, nature lore, campcrafts, overnight campouts, camp fires and sports especially adapted to handicaps of the campers.

The Easter Seal Campaign continues to April 10, Easter Sunday.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY was a labor of love for French sculptor Frederic-Auguste Bartholdi, and it took him 20 years to complete the gigantic project. Bartholdi conceived the idea of hammered copper sheets to form the statue, but according to the April Reader's Digest, it was Gustav Eiffel—himself famous for another structure—who designed the underpinning that keeps the famous Lady of New York Harbor secure in high sea winds.

Mrs. Ida Goodman Wills

Mrs. Ida Goodman Wills, 88, of Westerville, O., formerly of Garrett, died Thursday, March 24, at Mt. Carmel East Hospital following a short illness.

Born April 29, 1888 at Red River, she was a daughter of the late Buck and Molly Centers Goodman and was a member of the Missionary Baptist Church. Her husband, Lawrence E. Wills, preceded her in death.

Surviving her are four sons, Jack Wills, of Lexington, Dee Caldwell, of Hazard, John Caldwell, of Ft. Pierce, Fla., and Jack Caldwell, of Columbus, O.; one daughter, Mrs. Ann Grove, of Westerville, O.; a brother, Charlie Goodman, of Garrett; a sister, Mrs. Mae Watson, of Chicago, Ill.; four grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Monday at Hall Brothers Funeral Home chapel by the Rev. Dan Heintzelman. Burial was made in the Richmond Memorial cemetery here.

Mrs. Tony Hopper

Mrs. Tony Hopper, 83, of Hanging Rock, O., formerly of Wayland, died Monday, March 21, in Lawrence County General Hospital in Ironton, Ohio.

Born September 7, 1893, she was a daughter of the late Isaac and Caroline Collins. She was preceded in death by her husband, Noah Hopper, in 1974.

Surviving are two sons, Glenn and Nick Hopper, both of Hanging Rock; one daughter, Mrs. Patty Castle, of El Paso, Texas; two foster children, Mrs. Hartie Hartman and Mrs. Robert Carver, both of Marion, O.; 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the James V. Hayes Funeral Home in Ironton by the Rev. Clell Elliott, and burial was made in the Collins cemetery there.

Ell Johnson

Ell Johnson, 57, of Risner, died Wednesday, March 23, when he was stricken suddenly by an apparent heart attack while returning to his car after fishing at a pond at David.

A son of Mrs. Pearl Slone Johnson, and the late Jim Johnson, he was born March 29, 1919. He was a disabled miner, last employed by Island Creek Coal Company.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida May Castle Johnson; four brothers, Bee and Charlie Johnson, both of Risner, and Will Allen, of Stockbridge, Mich.; six sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Dubler, Mrs. Daisy Clemmons, and Mrs. Virginia McKissick, all of Lima, O., Mrs. Ann Brown, Mrs. Marie Arnett, both of Risner, and Mrs. Eliza Ousley, of Blue River.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday, at the home at Risner by ministers of the United Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Jim Johnson cemetery at Risner under direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Nephews of Mr. Johnson acted as pallbearers.

Winter Work Layoffs Extend Aid Program

The state's public assistance program for unemployed fathers has been extended because of January and February's abnormally high unemployment rates, according to Gail S. Huecker, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Insurance.

This winter's energy squeeze, which resulted in increased work layoffs and a tighter job market, caused the bureau to alter plans that would have halted the program April 1.

"We had no idea the energy crisis would have such an impact on unemployment rates," Commissioner Huecker said.

Legislation enacted by the 1974 General Assembly requires the department to begin this portion of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program when the unemployment rate reaches six per cent.

Phasing out the unemployed fathers program is compulsory when the statewide rate drops below 5.5 per cent over a four-month period.

The August, September, October and November, 1976, unemployment rates averaged 5.4 per cent, but the bureau has continued taking and processing applications, Huecker said.

The bureau has projected an unemployment rate of at least six per cent for the November-February and December-March periods, suspending plans to discontinue the assistance.

Each of the 6,900 participating families was previously notified of the plan to end the program, but this later announcement cancels the interruption of payments.

Kentucky's unemployed fathers are receiving an average of $250 per month. Huecker said they were also eligible for medical assistance and food stamps. The amount a family pays for food stamps depends on income and household size, she explained.

Slow Molasses Picks Up Speed

All most people know about molasses is that it doesn't move very quickly on a cold day in January.

But, as the trend to cook from scratch picks up speed in American households, more and more people are rediscovering the delights of this traditional basic ingredient.

After years of generally declining sales, molasses is staging a comeback. "One of the major reasons for the popularity of molasses is that it's the most nutritious of all the sweeteners," says Tim Younkin, product manager at RJR Foods, Inc., maker of Brer Rabbit molasses.

Molasses is what is left over after refined sugar is made from sugar cane. When sugar cane stalks are crushed, boiled and the sugar crystals have been removed, the dark syrup that is then extracted is the molasses (from the portuguese word "melaco," which means "resembling honey").

Nutritionists have discovered that refined sugar contains little food value. Almost all of the vitamins and minerals remain in the molasses during the processing of the sugar cane.

Another feature of molasses is that its mellow flavor and caramel color are suggested in most recipes for baked beans, gingerbread, some cookies, and dark breads. Molasses also is eaten extensively as an additive in milk, as a base for barbecue sauce, and as a table syrup.

Molasses can be traced back to the original cultivation of sugar cane in New Guinea about 8,000 years ago. As civilization spread west, sugar cane moved with it and molasses had become a popular product by 1600 A.D.

Early North American settlers recognized molasses as a healthful food and often consumer it straight as a tonic.

For example, the founders of the colony of Georgia were each allocated 64 quarts of molasses to tide them through their first harsh year. When settlers headed west, they carried wooden casks of molasses to insure a plentiful supply for cooking and eating.

With the Louisiana Purchase of 1803, the young country acquired its first major sugar cane producing area. By the 1820s "ribbon cane" was flourishing in Louisiana and other areas, and domestic molasses became an important product for the South.

NOT MAN OF SAME NAME

The Roy Tackett reported in last week's paper as having been arrested for drunk driving is not the man of the same name who resides at Minnie.

Is Named Professor

Walter Frasure, counselor-financial aid officer and instructor at Prestonsburg Community College, has been promoted to the rank of professor in the University of Kentucky Community College System. This rank is the highest attainable in the Community College System. The promotion is based upon Mr. Frasure's outstanding achievement in teaching, counseling, community service, and professional growth.

Mr. Frasure has been at Prestonsburg Community College since its opening in 1964. His areas of responsibility at the college include counseling, administering the financial aid program, and teaching in the areas of sociology, psychology, and education.

Prior to working at Prestonsburg Community College, Mr. Frasure taught in the public school system and served as principal of Martin Elementary School and Allen Elementary School. Mr. Frasure was also assistant superintendent of the Floyd County Schools from 1960-1964.

Mr. Frasure's educational background includes attendance at Alice Lloyd, Pikeville College, Eastern Kentucky University, University of Kentucky, and Morehead State University. In addition to having an M.A. and Rank I degree from Morehead State University, Mr. Frasure has completed more graduate hours at Morehead State University than any other student in the institution's history.

Mr. Frasure is the son of the late James and Susan Mosley Frasure, of McDowell, Kentucky. Mr. Frasure and his wife, Rosemary, reside at Allen, Kentucky. The Frasures have two children, Sharon Frasure Martin and James William, and two grandchildren, Lisa Prater and Walter Patrick Martin.

Railroad Commission Statement Blasts Railway Companies

Jimmy "Gabe" Turner, of Drift, railroad commissioner for the state's third district, announced this week that the Kentucky Railroad Commission had issued a statement to the various railway companies which travel in the state concerning the "disturbing situation" which has resulted from the increasing frequency of train derailments.

The statement is a product of a recent meeting of Turner, Third District Commissioner John W. Manning, and First District Commissioner L. H. Frymire. The statement, which is addressed to "The Presidents of all railroads operating in Kentucky," reads as follows:

"In the last several months there have been numerous derailments on the tracks of railroads operating in Kentucky. This is a disturbing situation. Apparently the fault lies with the deteriorating nature of the tracks and the road beds, worsened by a severe winter. We are sure these derailments are costing the railroads considerable sums of money, and are also endangering the lives and property of citizens of the Commonwealth. In the interest of both economy and compassion it would seem that something should be done about this situation.

Under Chapter 276 KRS, the Railroad Commission "should exercise a general supervision over the railroads of the state." Under the authority herein, we call upon you, the railroads of Kentucky to improve your tracks and thus attempt to eliminate or at least reduce this increasing number of derailments. May we hear from you as to what plans you have to meet this situation."

Turner said it is hoped that the statement will emphasize the "real need for improved maintenance and repair that presently exists."

Floyd Catholic Parish Lists Services, Meets

There will be a meatless pot-luck supper on April 1 following Lenten Services at 6 p.m. at Saint Theodore Catholic Church in Prestonsburg. At the supper, Sister Armella, of Martin will speak on adolescent religious formation. The Floyd County Right-To-Life Association will meet at 8 p.m. at the church to plan a pancake breakfast. The public is welcome to any of these meetings.

Next week, the Floyd County Catholic Parish will observe Holy Week, a time of commemoration of the suffering and death of Jesus. The Holy Thursday service will be at 7 p.m. at Saint Juliana Church in Martin, and the Good Friday Service there also at 7 p.m. The Easter Vigil begins at 11 p.m. on Saturday (April 9) at Saint Juliana Church. The Easter Vigil consists in four parts: the service of light, the liturgy of the Word, the liturgy of initiation, and the liturgy of the Eucharist. The Catholic parish will also participate in the community Holy Week Services Monday thru Friday at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church at 12:05 p.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Prestonsburg.

Next Sunday is Palm Sunday, the day commemorating the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. Special services will be held at 9 a.m. at St. Juliana Church and at 10:30 a.m. at St. Theodore Church with a reading of the Passion of Christ in parts. Palms and branches brought from home will be blessed and carried in procession. After the 10:30 a.m. service, pastries and hot drinks will be served, and there will be a discussion group on the subject of Ingmar Bergman's film, "Scenes From A Marriage," which has recently run on Kentucky Educational Television.

Nuclear Plant Critic Warns Of Hartsville Radioactivity

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A prominent critic of nuclear plants has warned that radioactivity from the Tennessee Valley Authority's proposed Hartsville, Tenn., nuclear plant will be hundreds of times greater than TVA estimates.

Dr. Ernest J. Sternglass insisted TVA's estimates must be vastly multiplied because of radiation he said will eventually fall back to earth and contaminate public drinking water.

But a TVA attorney, Alvin Gutterman, attacked the credibility of Sternglass. "The history of this gentleman is such that no testimony he could give could help this board decide anything," Gutterman said.

The exchange took place at hearings held last Wednesday by the federal Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, which is weighing TVA's application to allow construction of the proposed four-reactor plant at Hartsville.

Park at Minnie To Get $32,000

Commissioner Ralph Ed Graves, Department for Local Government, last week announced state approval of an application for Economic Aid Funds for the Left Beaver District Park at Minnie. The Floyd fiscal court has already purchased the park site. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds have been certified in the amount of $12,650, to which $32,000 in Economic Aid funds are to be added.

Development will include outdoor basketball court, shuffleboard court, fencing, parking, utilities, four tennis courts, and a softball-baseball field.

Economic Aid is a new approach to returning coal severance taxes to coal producing counties. It was established by Gov. Julian Carroll as part of Kentucky's Economic Development Plan approved by the 1976 legislature.

Earlier allocations of Economic Aid have been made to the county recreation center at Allen and the cities of Martin and Wheelwright.

Eat Wild Plants for Health's Sake

Go after the wild plant foods this spring. Be eager to try new ones and you will help combat the high cost of living and also build up your vitality.

As a substitute for fresh fruit, try that old garden favorite, rhubarb. It is often found growing in patches around old gardens or home sites. The big, broad leaves are poisonous, but the reddish stalks are definitely not poisonous. They make a delicious fruit-dish. Rhubarb is rich in iron and other minerals.

RECIPE FOR RHUBARB PIE.—Cut the red stems into half-inch pieces and cook in an uncovered vessel, stirring often, and you'll have some tasty "apple sauce." Sweeten with honey or table syrup. To make the pie, place a layer of the sauce in a flat-bottomed pan, then add a layer of fluffy split biscuits; repeat the process until the pie is the desired thickness. Serve with rich cream and you'll have delicious eating.

CURLY DOCK GREENS.—Dock greens are also rich in iron and vitamins A and C. Mix the leaves with wild mustard greens and parboil. Pour off the water and wash the greens, then fry in hot grease for five minutes.

Curly dock is also known as "yellow dock," as the roots are long and yellow. Curly Dock Tea as a Tonic.—This tea will thin the sluggish winter blood and purify it. To make the tea, gather the yellow roots, wash thoroughly and parboil 30 minutes. Add a tablespoonful of golden seal if desired. Sweeten to taste and use three times daily.

"The roots of yellow dock are a rich source of digestible plant iron," says Dr. Joseph E. Meyer, in "The Herbalist." This is a mineral very important for man and lower animals, too. The Indian medicine men used the roots freely in treating anemia and rundown systems.

WILD LETTUCE.—All the different kinds of wild lettuce of our region are

MARTIN HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Martin Evening Homemakers Club met March 14 at the Martin School lunchroom. President Dorothy Wildman opened the meeting, and Wilma May gave the devotional, "Art of Contentment." The lesson was, "Different Materials." Pat Frye gave minutes of last meeting.

Those present were Dorothy Wildman, Mexie Bates, Alice Hayes, Gail Osborne, Wilma May, Dolly Mayo, Eva Stephens, Frances Pitts, Dorothy Tackett, Pat Frye, and Jean Meade. Hostesses for the evening were Mexie Bates and Dorothy Wildman.

ONE OF SEVEN Easter Seal facilities in Kentucky, Cardinal Hill Hospital, at Lexington, provides comprehensive care and treatment programs for children and adults.

CHINESE ARCHAEOLOGISTS FIND ANCIENT BRONZE FIGURE

TOKYO—Chinese archaeologists have unearthed a 2,000-year-old bronze horse and chariot in the southeastern province of Kweichow, the Chinese news agency Hsinhau reported Saturday.

Hsinhau said the bronze figure, about 4 1/2 feet long and nearly 3 feet high, was discovered in the passageway of a tomb and was similar to those found in tombs of the Han dynasty.

NEW ZEALAND was the first nation to mandate voting rights for women, according to a new Reader's Digest book, Great Events of the 20th Century. It happened in 1893. New Zealand was followed by Australia in 1902, Finland (1906), Norway (1913), Denmark and Iceland (1913), the U.S.S.R. (1917), and Canada, Germany and Austria (1918). The United States was something of a laggard, not granting women the right to vote until 1920.

Ellis Lee Jervis, born in the bicentennial year, April 30, 1976, is a son of Ellis and Rose Lee Jervis, of Endicott. He has two brothers, Darrell and Matthew, and a sister, Tammy.

DID YOU EVER wonder why dune buggies have such funny-looking tires? An ingenious engineer was inspired by camels, the "ships of the desert," in the mid-thirties, according to the April Reader's Digest, Richard Kerr, working in Saudi Arabia, measured the spread of the camel's foot and the weight of the animal. Based on these calculations he designed a tire that could travel the desert speedily and safely.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., March 28—Several lakes are now reporting good white bass activity in the headwaters, while crappie and black bass fishing remains only fair at most locations around the commonwealth. The lake-by-lake rundown, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

BARREN: Black bass fair to good on spinner baits and dollys with pork rind trailers over drop offs and shallow stump beds; crappie fair to good in lower lake over submerged cover (8-10 feet); white bass good in headwaters (Holland area); in tailwaters, crappie slow; clear to murky, rising slowly, 20 feet above winter pool and 54 degrees.

NOLIN: Black bass good on medium runners off rocky points; crappie slow around stick ups; white bass fair to good in Broad Ford area of headwaters; in tailwaters, no activity, closed for construction; clear to murky, rising slowly, 19 feet above winter pool and 55 degrees.

KENTUCKY: Crappie fair over submerged cover (6 feet deep); black bass fair on medium and deep runners off points and over submerged cover; in tailwaters, catfish slow; clear to murky, rising, at winter pool and 55 degrees.

BARKLEY: Crappie fair over drop offs (12-14 feet deep); in tailwaters, white bass and crappie fair; clear to murky to muddy, rising, one-half foot above winter pool and 56 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Crappie fair around stick ups (6-8 feet deep) in North Fork; black bass slow to fair on spinner baits and crank baits and by jugging minnows and dollys around points and in inlets and bays; white bass and crappie fair in headwaters (Hardin Springs area); murky to muddy, rising, 8 feet below summer pool and 54 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass fair to good casting spinner baits and crank baits and by jugging nightcrawlers and dollys along shallow banks and in inlets; crappie fair to good over submerged cover; white bass fair in Cumberland River, with some walleye and sauger also being caught; white bass slow in South Fork; in tailwaters, trout fair to good, crappie and white bass fair; clear to murky to muddy, falling, 29 feet below timberline and 52 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Black bass and white bass good on medium runners and spinner baits in inlets and bays; crappie fair over submerged cover (6-8 feet deep); clear to murky, falling, one foot below winter pool and 57 degrees.

GREEN: Black bass fair on crank baits and spinner baits along shallow banks; clear to murky to muddy, rising, 18 feet above winter pool and 51 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Crappie slow around stick ups; black bass slow jugging nightcrawlers along shoreline cover; white bass very slow in Dix River; clear to murky to muddy, falling, 24 feet above winter pool and 52 degrees.

LAUREL: Black bass good on crank baits in timbered coves and along deep banks; crappie good around stick ups; clear to murky, stable at power pool and 54 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky fair casting or trolling deep runners over main channel and off deep banks; clear to murky to muddy, stable at winter pool and 45 degrees.

GRAYSON: Black bass fair jugging nightcrawlers along shallow banks and rip rap areas; crappie slow over submerged cover (4-6 feet deep); in tailwaters, trout fair; clear to murky, stable and 1½ feet above winter pool and 53 degrees.

DEWEY: No activity; muddy, stable at winter pool and 54 degrees.

Annual 4-H Tourney Slated April 15-16

The annual 4-H Grade School basketball tournament will be held at Allen Central High School, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 15-16.

In the opening session at 6:30 Tuesday evening Allen Central will face Prestonsburg, and in the second game at 7:45, Betsy Layne will be pitted against Left Beaver.

Rules will be those of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association; no more than 12 players will be allowed on each roster; all players must be eighth graders.

Trophies will be awarded 12 players named to all-tournament team; to the most valuable player; best offensive player; best defensive player; for hustle; rebounding; free throw; team free throw; sportsmanship, and first, second, third, and fourth place.

All proceeds of the tournament will go the 4-H program.

Lt. Gov. Stovall To Speak At East Point Club Tonight

Lt. Governor Thelma Stovall will speak at the East Point Community Center tonight (Wednesday) at 7 o'clock as guest of the East Point Area Development Club.

The club's last meeting, March 3, was called to order by Landon Tackett, and following pledge to the flag and devotional, reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved.

Members voted to purchase a plaque for a tree planted at Johnson Central High School and to continue the scholarship established at Mayo Vocational School. The Abbott-Little Paint Water System was reported as feasible, and the preliminary engineering report has been sent to Farmers Home Administration.

Plans are being made by the club to build a permanent shelter for making applebutter, and also to replace old windows in the existing building. Discussed was the possibility of the club's sponsoring a Little League baseball team, and suggestions were made for placing "Green Boxes" for garbage collection. Three such boxes would be needed in the East Point area.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Leake, Mr. and Mrs. Landon Tackett, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baldridge, Paul R. Greer, Susie Gray, Mary Stambaugh, and Beatrice Dunnagan.

WHILE The United States and Panama continue to attempt to devise a mutually satisfactory treaty, the Panama Canal keeps on serving thousands of ships each year. A new Reader's Digest book, Great Events of the 20th Century, notes that 14,500 ships pass through the Canal annually, carrying some 12 billion tons of cargo. The average transit, ocean to ocean, takes between 14 and 16 hours, and the average toll is about $7000.

MINISTER'S BLINDNESS BRINGS HIM CLOSE TO CONGREGATION

WESTERN SPRINGS, Ill.—The Rev. Robert G. Kemper cannot recognize his 1,500 parishioners, cannot see his daughter wave at him from the choir and must memorize his sermons. He is blind. Kemper, who has been blind since 1972, has been minister of the First Congregational Church in this Chicago suburb for four years.

"I have a more direct feeling with the congregation. It's a person-to-person communication, a closeness, even though I have to ask each person his name as I shake his hand," Kemper says.

TVA'S PLANT WOULD HURT MUSSELS, CRITIC TELLS BOARD
NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A critic of the Tennessee Valley Authority's proposed Hartsville, Tenn., nuclear plant has told the federal Atomic Safety and Licensing Board here that the facility's proposed reactors could endanger three species of mussels.

Dr. Charles W. Huver of the University of Minnesota testified Thursday that the mussels in the Cumberland River, which adjoins the proposed plant, would be subjected to increasing amounts of radioactivity once the reactors are in operation.

However, a health physicist for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission said the amount of radiation reaching the mussels from the facility would be insignificant.

Slate Special Olympics For Region, April 29th

The second annual Region XI Special Olympics will be held April 29 at Johnson Central High School at Paintsville. Region XI was formed last year to include the counties of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin. Students enrolled in Special Education classes in these five counties are eligible to participate in the Special Olympic games. Track and field, bowling and gymnastics are included in the competition.

Oral History on Statewide Level

"There are 70 active committees at the community level doing oral history projects," said Margaret Price, executive secretary of the Kentucky Oral History Commission, at a recent commission meeting in Lexington. "The oral history project at the local level records the voices of a common people, speaking a Commonwealth heritage, reminiscing of Kentucky's yesterday, challenging the present, or perhaps envisioning quite a different reality for the Kentucky that is yet to be," said Miss Price.

The Kentucky Oral History Commission is recording Kentuckians who know of incidents that have not been written into the annals of Kentucky's history. These incidents may be secret weddings, family feuds, scandals surrounding a murder, court trials, funerals, the Ku Klux Klan and secret lodges that do not exist today. They are also recording Kentuckians who have played a major part in the state's government, politics, literature, and higher education.

The commission is conducting two projects—one for oral history projects in universities and colleges, and one concerning local history from citizens within communities. The latter project is being conducted with the assistance of local people through public county libraries.

Approximately 200 tapes, made by local volunteers and available at local libraries, have been sent to Frankfort for cataloging and duplicating since the project began eight months ago, said Miss Price. They contain such stories as the first black agriculture teachers in Hart County, the 1937 flood in Paducah, and the travels of an insurance inspector in eastern Kentucky in the 1930's.

Miss Price said a priority objective in the local history project is preparation of a guide listing tapes, subjects, interviewers and interviewees in the Bicentennial Oral History Tape Collection. "Ideally, this tape listing should be placed in each of our county libraries."

"The local oral history project is not a bicentennial capsule. The project of recording voices of a 'common people' has the momentum to continue for many years and will include many Kentucky generations," said Miss Price. The momentum for the oral history projects must be the interest and the desire of the people in Harlan, Lawrenceburg, Henderson, Paducah and Louisville—all communities—to establish their roots, Miss Price explained to commission members.

Reports were given by oral history project directors from universities and colleges which received a commission grant totaling more than $21,000 late last year to do projects in one of three areas: higher education, government and politics and literature.

The Kentucky Bicentennial Oral History Commission is administered by the Kentucky Department of Library and Archives. The 15 district libraries have been provided with tapes and a tape recorder that can be used by volunteer interviewers. Tapes made are sent to the commission headquarters at the state library in Frankfort.

CARDINAL HILL HOSPITAL, an Easter Seal center at Lexington (Kentucky) provided care and treatment for 741 children and adults in 1976.

TWO DIE IN BLAST AT ISRAELI PLANT

TEL AVIV, Israel—A fuse exploded in a high explosives area of munitions plant Saturday, killing two workers, the military command said. The Defense Ministry appointed a committee to investigate the accident.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Cedar Mining Co. Inc. Rt. 3, Box 44, Pikeville, Ky. 41501 intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 10 acres located south of Harold in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southeast of State Route 979's junction with US 23 and located Southeast of Levisa Fork.

The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Paul Gearheart, Joe Justice, David Justice, Estill Stewart and law heirs. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Strip and auger by hollow fill method.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, 327 North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to object to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection as to the issuance of a mining permit must do so in accordance with KRS 224.081(2) and must forward same to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

State In Flood-Prone Areas Investigation

Foremost Insurance Co. has notified State Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey that Kentucky has been included in the company's analysis of flood-prone areas containing some 80,000 mobile homes it insures.

McGuffey said Foremost has accordingly been advising its policyholders through brochures of proper steps to take to protect the homes if floods threaten. The commissioner said Foremost policies generally cover emergency flood removal.

Foremost, the nation's largest insurer of mobile homes, writes coverage for some 35 per cent of the homes in Kentucky.

McGuffey said that while Kentucky has not been threatened by floods this year, Foremost officials are concerned about possible spring flooding from the winter's heavy snowfall.

SINCE 1958 the Kentucky Easter Seal Society's Hearing and Speech Center, in Louisville, has provided help for people with communication problems.

LEGAL NOTICE

A MESSAGE
TO THE PEOPLE

My name is Doug Lewis, and I am a Democratic candidate for Sheriff.
I am 26 years of age. I am married to Lamarr McCoy, of Prestonsburg, and we reside on the Auxier Road, just outside of Prestonsburg.
I am a graduate of Betsy Layne High School with the class of 1968. I attended Prestonsburg Community College from 1968 to 1970. I have recently been taking Law Enforcement Classes from Eastern Kentucky State University.
I am the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler Lewis, of Stanville, Kentucky. My father was a coal miner in Floyd County for 16 years and a United Mine Workers member. He is presently serving his second term as Sheriff, being the only Sheriff in Floyd County ever elected twice to that office.
As most of you know, according to Kentucky law a Sheriff cannot succeed himself in office. Therefore, I am seeking the nomination to this office.
I have served you for the past three years as a Law Enforcement Officer; 1/2 year as Commonwealth Detective and 2 1/2 years as a Deputy Sheriff. I have tried hard as an officer to better our county, and my only concern as your Sheriff would be to continue doing so.
My father and I both have clean records as law enforcement officers and if I am elected we will continue working together so that you may have four more years of honest and dedicated work in the Sheriff's Department.
TO THE PEOPLE . . .
All people were created equal and all people should be treated equal. If elected I will do so. I am not promising that I will stop all the crime in our county, because it can never be, but I am promising that I'll devote my full time working on it.
Thank You.

THOMAS D. TUCKER
FOR MAGISTRATE OF DISTRICT 4
To All Voters of District 4 of Floyd County:
As most of you know, I am a candidate for Magistrate of District No. 4 of Floyd County. I am a young man, age 32, and I am the son of George and Della Tucker. I have never been in politics before.
So much has been promised to the people by politicians—that if they were elected that they would build roads and bridges. None of these promises have been fulfilled. Our roads are worse than they have been in several years.
I pledge with an oath of honor to the voters that I will do everything in my power to build roads and bridges. If elected, I will form a Citizens' Road Committee for each precinct to help see that we receive our fair share of road money.
If you are tired of scraping the bottom out of your car or getting stuck in the mudholes in the middle of the roads... If You Are Tired of This,

JAKE LAYNE
for
I am the son of Taylor Layne and Martha Hale Layne, of Stephens Branch, Manton, Ky. My paternal grandparents are the late Alford Layne and Mary Carver Layne. My maternal grandparents are the late Wess Hale and Sarah Kennedy Hale.
My wife, Pauline, is the daughter of M. F. Patton, of Eastern, Ky., and Pearl Prater Patton, of Ypsilanti, Mich. We have five children, Brenda Joyce Burton, of Stanton, Ky., Glenda Kay Merlon, Martin, Ky., John Phillip, a student at Morehead University, Bert Ricky (Dewey) and Kathy Lynn, at home. We also have three granddaughters. Pauline and I own and operate Layne's Grocery at Manton, Ky.
I graduated from Martin high school in 1942 and served three years in the US Air Force during World War 2.
I am an active member of the UMWA. I have served as an officer of two Local Unions—7791 at Langley, and 6282 at Manton, for twenty years. I have also served as a Notary Public for the last seven years.
During all these years, I have filled out many forms for my brothers of the UMWA, regardless of the local Union they belonged to. I have also notarized many papers during my last seven years as Notary Public.
All of you people offered to pay me for the services that I did for you, but I never accepted anything. These things I did because I wanted to help you. Now, I would like to ask all of you to help and support me, Jake Layne, for Magistrate in District 2.
If you do not live in my district, but know some people who do, would you please talk to these people and tell them about me?
Every politician will tell you, I am honest and sober. I am not asking you to take my word alone. If you want to know anything about me, ask the people who know me.
This is my application for the job as Magistrate in District 2. If you want a man that will help all of the people in this District, regardless of where they live, vote for me.

To the Voters of District 3
In response to the March 16th statement made by Leroy Akers concerning the firing of Bennie Caudill from the County Road Department:
Fact No. 1—The loading of a privately owned truck:
There is a sworn affidavit on file with the County Judge that the owner of the vehicle had Leroy Akers' permission for Bennie Caudill to load his truck with red dog.
Fact No. 2.—A Letter of Right to Appeal the decision of firing Mr. Caudill.
As of this date, no such letter, has been received by Mr. Caudill from the Floyd Fiscal Court nor the County Attorney.
Bennie Caudill has been employed by the Floyd Co. Road Dept. for 6½ years and had an excellent work record.
During the past year Mr. Caudill spent several 7-day weeks using County equipment and machinery for the purpose of doing a landfill on private property owned by Leroy Akers where he later built his new ultra-modern house.
Stated below is a law that prohibits a magistrate from using County-owned machinery for personal gain:
KRS. 61-210-11. Conflict of Interest.
"Members of Fiscal Court are prohibited by statute from using their position for personal finance or advantage. The fiscal court may not contract with any of its members for road construction, road supervision or the sale of construction materials.
KRS 61-210-31. The punishment for violations of this provision is a fine of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment in the County jail from 10 to 40 days, or both a fine and a jail sentence, forfeiture of office.
Money illegally spent under these provisions may be recovered by the County or by taxpayers acting in the interest of County.
The action taken against Bennie Caudill was initiated by Leroy Akers and was purely personal and political.
Bennie Caudill is the brother of Edward Caudill who is a candidate for Magistrate of District 3, the office now held by Leroy Akers.

VOTE FOR
HOLLAND B. HURLEY
Democrat
For SHERIFF
Dear Fellow Democrats:
When first announcing my candidacy for County Sheriff, I stated that I had no political strings or affiliations and at this time I would like to reiterate my position in that regard. No one picked me to run for Sheriff. My decision to run for that office was made only by one person and that person was me. Some railroad men I work with said we need a change in the courthouse. I agree with them.
I do not believe our system of government can continue to exist if each time an individual decides to seek an elected office he must seek the permission of those persons who run the courthouse and hold the political power.
I know I am the underdog in this race. I will have to have the poor man's vote to win the May primary. If I am elected I promise you that I will treat the poor man equally with the rich, and no poor man will ever feel he must hesitate before coming to my office. The decisions I make as your County Sheriff will be determined by my conscience and my sense of fairness and will not in any way be influenced by individuals who hold political power or have lots of money.
I am running my own campaign and am on the ticket to show that the poor people are ready for a change in Floyd County.
All you have to do is elect me and you have done your part. The rest will be up to me. I will try to be one of the best Sheriffs you have ever had.
I know that most of the men running against me have lots of time and money, which I am short on. I work long hours and campaign on the weekend.
Thank you.

MAN DIES WHILE SEEKING REVENGE FOR BROTHER'S DEATH
OKLAHOMA CITY—A man who went to a bar, apparently seeking revenge for his brother's shooting death, was himself shot and killed at the bar, just 19 hours after his brother died, police said.
 Police said Roscoe Derricot, 21, of Oklahoma City, was shot after he allegedly assaulted the bar's owner, Albert Thompson, 55.
 Thompson was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and released on bond.
 The dead man's brother, Zand Derricot, 27, of Eubanks, Calif., then went to the Ram's Inn, apparently seeking revenge, and was shot after he allegedly threatened the bar manager, Howard Sisher, police said.

THINGS TO CONSIDER

Each of us is seeking a better way of life and new ideas that will help our children have a happy, more successful future. This thought should not, and must not, remain a dream. Individual achievements have their rewards, but countywide achievements will bring pride, satisfaction and success to all our people.

Think on these proposals:
 1. Water and sewage expansion; 2. The continuity of garbage collection; 3. A YMCA and a YWCA; 4. Roads that can be travelled; 5. Upgrade the pay for county police and improve their equipment; 6. The availability of your Magistrate to be seen or talked to four hours daily.

Drilling Interest Renewed In Lawrence, Morgan Counties

(From The Licking Valley Courier, West Liberty, Ky.)
 With oil bringing upward of $13 a barrel from stripper wells and newly-drilled wells, there is new activity in the old Keeton-Martha field in Lawrence county, and some of the activity is extending into Morgan and Elliott.

A newcomer in the field is International Shasta Resources, Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C. Canada, which has just completed its third Weir well on Cam Creek near the Lawrence-Morgan-Elliott line.

And Shasta has drilled two wells in extreme eastern Morgan, on Docks Creek just over the hill from the head of Cam Creek.

Shasta holds leases on about 5,000 acres in Lawrence, Elliott and Morgan counties. The Elliott leases are Ashland Oil Co. leases, farmed out to Monitor Petroleum Corp., which in turn farmed them out to Shasta.

On Docks Creek in Morgan, Shasta is re-activating the old Woolridge well No. 1, drilled by E. C. Ware, of Campbells-ville about 20 years ago. And Shasta drilled Woolridge No. 2 this winter, but the well was not shot due to inclement weather and bad roads. It is judged to be about a 10 barrel producer.

Shasta is returning to eastern Morgan to shoot the two Docks Creek wells in about a week. Shasta is the first company to use judymite to shoot a well in this area. Both Docks Creek wells are Weir wells, long-term producers from one of the shallow sands.

Over the hill in Lawrence County, Shasta has drilled three Weir wells, two on the Homer Neeley lease and the other on the Ronald Sparks lease.

Fyffe Bros. Production Co. of Isonville, using cable tool rigs, drilled the wells, with Wendell Wheeler as driller.

Shasta said it planned to have a third rig operating in a few months to drill a test well into the corniferous.

Cam Creek well No. 2 hit the Weir at 824 feet, and well No. 3 was finished in the Weir at approximately 900 feet. Both have showings of being good small producers, upwards of 10 barrels apiece, according to Tate Blanchet, geologist for International Shasta.

President of Shasta has pointed out that one reason these relatively small wells (800 to 900 feet) can be produced on a profitable basis is that the cost is only about $15,000, using cable tool rigs. Also since the oil embargo in 1972, the government permits refineries to pay premium prices for new production from small wells and from re-activated stripper wells. Purpose is to up the nation's oil supplies.

Shasta's Cam Creek holdings join the Martha field in eastern Lawrence where Reliance Oil Corp. is engaged in doing extensive and systematic water-pressureing. Reliance already has drilled about 30 water injection wells in the Martha field, and plans to drill a total of 60 wells to re-activate production in old wells of the Martha field.

Some waterpressureing wells already are producing, and the oil is being piped directly to Ashland Oil through existing pipeline.

Ashland Oil also is doing considerable work in the old Keeton field and in wells in the Paint Creek section. All pumping wells have been equipped with automatic electric pumps. Old wells are being plugged and new water-injection wells drilled.

Ashland recently brought in a 10-barrel corniferous well in the Red Bush area, and the company plans to build a new gas pipeline and a scrubbing plant near Red Bush.

Underage 'Antiques' Can Turn a Profit

If you want a priceless antique, go to a reputable dealer. But if you want to collect "golden oldies," there are many sources that can yield treasure—and turn a profit in the bargain.

Writing in the April issue of Reader's Digest, collector Marguerite Brunner says almost anything old can pay off—kitchen tables and utensils, bottles, jewelry, even backdated magazines. In fact, says Brunner, "A close friend of mine collected anything and everything old, and once a month she had a sale. She sent three sons through college on the proceeds."

How do you go about it? Set a monthly budget for your acquisitions, she advises, and start checking out sources. These are thrift shops, rummage sales, garage sales and want ads. For more experienced collectors she suggests antique specialty shops and auctions, although here you must be careful.

Tips to take into consideration: "Most thrift shops depend primarily on clothing sales for their money, and when they have older, more valuable pieces of china, glass, silver and furniture, they sometimes price them low... If people prefer modern furniture, they frequently underestimate the value of their old things... Dealers cannot always buy only what they want, for many things are sold in job lots."

Collecting is fun, and should be approached with a spirit of adventure. "Buying a shoe box of old jewelry from a thrift shop is more fun than a treasure hunt. I've found gold chains, cameo brooches, pearls and scores of other valuable things," Brunner notes.

Part of the fun is the psychological gamesmanship you'll learn to play—when to act dumb and when to hide your ignorance. As with collecting itself, it takes practice and you'll sometimes make mistakes. But a canny collector can make other people's "junk" pay handsome dividends.

THE FEDERAL FUNDING Work Incentive (WIN) program helps individuals who are recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits obtain full-time employment, leading to economic independence.

BILLS WELLS

As a candidate for County Judge, I believe the people have a right to know all about any person who offers himself for public office. You can judge a candidate better when you know who he is, who his family is, how he and his family earn their livings, what his financial interests and holdings are, what his past experience is, and what his future goals and ideas are.

FAMILY

I am 45 years old, born in Floyd County, the son of Bessie Whittaker Wells and the late W. E. (Everett) Wells. I married Billie Jo Fitzpatrick, daughter of Bill and Mae Pitts Fitzpatrick, in 1948. We have two sons: Kenneth Ray, 26, married to Jan Arnett, the daughter of Frank and Audrey Dotson Arnett; and Michael Keith, 21, married to Gayle Bentley, daughter of Earl and Altonette May Bentley. Kenneth formerly worked for East Kentucky Auto Parts but is presently unemployed. Mike works for Music-Carter-Hughes.

EDUCATION and EMPLOYMENT

I graduated from Prestonsburg High School in 1948, and have taken several correspondence courses and courses from Prestonsburg Community College over the years. Since 1969 I have been Manager of the Big Sandy RECC, and previously worked for Prestonsburg Building Supply and Meade Brothers Hardware.

The Big Sandy RECC serves five counties, including Floyd. Its main headquarters is at Paintsville and there is a branch office in Prestonsburg. A Paintsville office is supposed to be a campaign issue in this race and some people are already bringing it up. I wish every Floyd Countian could always find work inside Floyd County full-time and I pledge to work for that goal. However, I have learned through my own experience and recently from that of my son, Kenneth, that this is not always possible. I work at my present job, like any other husband and father, because it is a good job and provides a good living and keeps me working in Floyd County for a great deal of my time.

FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE

Another campaign issue is supposed to be the fact that if elected County Judge, I will take a salary cut. This is true. On the other hand, my children are now grown and are starting their own families. (I will be a grandfather in August for the first time). My financial burden has eased over the years. Thanks to an inheritance my wife received, we own four small pieces of property, all in Floyd County. Billie Jo and I live on a small farm on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek. My two boys and my mother live in the other three houses. Since there is no mortgage or payments due on any of these houses I feel my family is secure to take a salary cut. I believe they will benefit more if I am serving Floyd County for less personal money, and can help work for new businesses, industries and jobs for their future, than if I bring home a few more dollars a month which helps only ourselves. I do not own any other property in or out of Kentucky. I do not own or have an interest in any coal business or any other business anywhere. I will not put any of my family on the public payroll. I will work for new jobs for all Floyd Countians in private enterprise.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The only other interests I have are in the people of Floyd County. I was President of the Floyd County Babe Ruth League for eight years, and President of the Little League for ten years. I was associated with those two groups over 20 years. I was Area Director of the Boy Scouts for two years. I have been associated with the County's Chamber of Commerce and many other civic organizations. I was an elected School Board member for one term, before being elected Magistrate in 1965.

I represent the First District as Magistrate but I have never believed we can separate one district from another. The best programs for Floyd County are the ones that serve all the people of Floyd County. A successful program requires 100 percent cooperation from all four Magistrates and certainly must have the leadership from the top of the County Judge. I pledge to give such leadership and cooperation.

OPEN GOVERNMENT

I believe an open and honest government is what the people of Floyd County want and they should have it. That is why I am disclosing all the facts about my personal and financial matters now. I pledge that as your County Judge I will continue to make all matters of interest to the public open to the public. All county business will be conducted in open meetings and fully publicized. There is no room in today's world for the secrecy that has existed in the past.

Shoplifter's Success Is Public's Loss

Frankfort, Ky.—On a quiet Tuesday evening in a half-empty shopping center where many of the stores have moved to more prime locations, a shoe store had its door propped open to let the cool breeze blow in.

Business was slow, so the manager had decided to take the night off. The store was manned by two high school students. One of them was in the back watching "Happy Days." The other was in front waiting on a customer.

A barefooted girl in her mid-to-late 20's walked in with her long jeans hiding her bare feet. While one clerk was engrossed in the television show and the other was fitting a child's shoe, the girl slipped on a pair of shoes, carefully glancing over her shoulders every once in awhile.

To make sure she was not detected, she put on an innocent act, picking up another pair of shoes and asking if it came in a darker color. She inquired about handbags in the window and then protested vehemently about the high cost of baby shoes.

She replaced a pair of baby shoes on a shelf and walked out of the store—wearing the blue shoes she had put on upon her entry into the store.

Another shoplifter had successfully victimized another retailer.

Losses from shoplifting run into the millions of dollars each year in Kentucky. At large department stores, such as Shillito's or McAlpin's in Lexington, losses ran into the $100,000 range last year. Those losses are made up by inflated prices paid by other shoppers.

The Kentucky Office of Crime Prevention currently has no major thrust aimed directly at the shoplifting problem. Lt. Norman Bryant of the Office of Crime Prevention, however, said this summer will bring the implementation of a number of new programs, including programs directed toward shoplifting, business fraud and employee pilferage (which constitutes a large portion of retail losses, crime prevention officials believe).

Bryant said much of the pilferage and shoplifting programs will consist of common sense approaches. He said that in the case of shoe stores, a suggestion that mates to shoes not be put out on display but kept back in a storeroom is one common sense preventive measure.

Bryant said a great deal of crime prevention work consists of "just good old common sense." He said he believes a number of merchants become victims just because they never stopped to think of what could happen.

"Leaving your store in the hands of two high school kids with a television set in a half-deserted shopping center with your racks full of paired shoes is just not good common sense. I'm sure if the owner ever stopped to think about it, he'd have realized how he was just inviting someone to take advantage of him," Bryant said.

He said he was "very hopeful" about the support Gov. Julian Carroll has shown for the statewide crime prevention effort. Recently at a national conference of statewide crime prevention programs, Gov. Carroll announced several new programs the Office of Crime Prevention will begin implementing this summer.

The new programs include a broadening of the use of "Operation Identification," the program where valuables are marked with an identifiable number. The program will be expanded into the areas of farm equipment, construction equipment and frequently-stolen retail items in the store.

Deceptive business practices will also be dealt with, along with strengthening existing shoplifting laws, the governor announced.

Gov. Carroll also said that to seek and increase public awareness and involvement in crime prevention, three major media campaigns will be implemented this summer.

Bryant said he believes the greatest hope for crime prevention lies in the awareness and involvement of the public. Security officers at two major department stores in Lexington agreed. One said, "If the public only knew how great our losses are to shoplifters, I think we would see a great many more people becoming involved. People tend to care more when it affects their pocketbooks."

Pancreatitis, Topic Of Physicians' Seminar

"Pancreatitis" was the topic of a seminar held Monday for area physicians at the Highlands Regional Hospital.

Sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Medicine and the staff of the hospital, the seminar was part of a continuing education program designed to provide current information in various fields of interest to physicians.

Guest-lecturer for the seminar was Dr. Paul Mandelstram, professor of medicine at the UK College of Medicine.

Has New Assignment

State Trooper Crandell Lee Slone, of Shelbyville, formerly of this county, was transferred March 1 to the license examining station, Louisville, after having been assigned to Shelby county since his graduation in 1967 from the Kentucky State Police Academy. A native of Lackey, he was graduated from Betsy Layne High School and attended Kentucky State University, Frankfort. His mother, Mrs. Nova Slone, resides at Allen. Trooper Slone, his wife, the former Wanda Lou Crisp, and son will continue to reside in Shelby county.

Spanish-American Vets Number 15

Spanish-American War veterans in Kentucky now number 15, two less than on July 1 of last year, according to the Veterans Administration.

Nationwide, there are 551 remaining veterans of that war which occurred between 1898 and 1902. The number dropped 104 in the past six months.

Kenneth E. McDonald, director of the VA regional office in Louisville, said the VA keeps a month-by-month tally of these older veterans from their compensation and pension rolls.

The average age of a Spanish American War veteran is now 97 years.

At 91, Indiana Woman Has Never Skipped Volunteer Duties

A 91-year-old Indiana woman continues to do volunteer work at Marion hospitals after being cited by the Veterans Administration for putting in over 5,600 hours there.

Mrs. Caroline Bowman, a small-framed woman of about 80 pounds, never missed a day of her scheduled weekly visits to the VA hospital in 27 years. She is the only volunteer not to require a substitute in all of those years.

Cliff Nordstrom, director of the hospital, presented the native of Wabash county with the VA's certificate of appreciation. But the VA's award is only part of the recognition she has received over the years.

She was 90 years old before she resigned as canteen chairman for the Wabash County American Red Cross bloodmobile program, after 26 years on the job.

Mrs. Bowman is the oldest active member of the Wabash Christian Church. She is a charter member of the Senior Citizens Club, the Twin County African Violet Club, the Paw Paw Township Home Demonstration Club, Cheer, Inc., and the former Woman's Christian Temperance Union and League of Women Voters.

According to Herb Daykin, VA hospital chief of voluntary services, Mrs. Bowman still comes to the hospital when transportation is available, and she works every second and third Wednesday at the Wabash County Hospital near her home.

Daykin says Mrs. Bowman spent her days helping in educational and occupational therapy, sponsoring and assisting with parties for the patients, sorting mail, delivering flowers and making up menus.

"With her 'left-over' time, she just sat and visited with the patients," he said. "She is truly a remarkable woman."

Mrs. Bowman's explanation for her many years of activity is that "I have to do something to keep myself busy. I can't just sit around holding my hands."

She is the first to admit that she has "enjoyed everything I ever belonged to."

Place First in Art Competition

John Reynolds and Kathy Heintzelman, both of Martin and students at Allen Central High School, are shown above with their paintings for which they were awarded first place in two divisions of the regional art show held at Pikeville, last week.

Reynolds won first place in the painting division, and Miss Heintzelman was first in the drawing division of the art competition sponsored by the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs, District 7. Each was presented an engraved silver tray and blue ribbon.

Counties represented were Floyd, Knott, Pike, Letcher, Magoffin, Johnson, and Martin.

Charlie Slone, of Estill, and Kim Martin, of Eastern, students at Allen Central, also were entered in the competition.

The winning entries of Miss Heintzelman and Mr. Reynolds will be entered in the state contest to be held in Louisville in April. They were sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club whose fine arts chairman is Mona Ratcliff. Caralita O'Quinn is their art instructor at Allen Central.

Miss Heintzelman is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Dan Heintzelman, Mr. Reynolds is a son of Mrs. Jean Reynolds and Ralph Reynolds, all of Martin.

UK Room, Board Rates Rise

Room and board rates for University of Kentucky students have been increased for the 1977-78 school year.

The executive committee of the UK Board of Trustees approved the new rate schedule at its March 8 meeting. It is the first such rate increase at UK in two years; the last adjustment in room and board charges was in 1976-76.

Undergraduate students living in UK residence halls will pay these yearly rates in 1977-78: housing and three meals seven days a week, $1,546, a 10.4 percent increase over the present rate of $1,400; housing and two meals seven days a week, $1,380, a 15 percent increase over the present $1,200, and housing and two meals five days a week, $1,282, a 14.5 percent increase over the present $1,120.

UK students living in undergraduate residence halls must choose one of the meal plans. About half select the two meals five days a week plan, 40 percent the two meals seven days a week plan, and ten percent the three meals seven days a week plan.

"These upward adjustments result primarily from increased labor, food and utility costs," said Jack C. Blanton, UK vice president for business affairs. "The income from our present rates is just not sufficient to meet these higher operating expenditures."

Blanton said the rate increases were the lowest amounts that could be implemented to keep the Housing and Dining System operating on a break-even basis.

Room rates in undergraduate residence halls for the eight-week summer session in 1978 were increased to $180 per student for two persons to a room and $225 for one to a room. These are 12.5 percent increases over the present rates of $160 and $200.

New monthly rates for housing for married students and single graduate and professional students also will take effect in 1977-78.

Married students in Cooperstown and Shawneetown housing areas will pay $115 monthly for the efficiency apartments, $130 for one-bedroom apartments and $140 for two-bedroom apartments. The present rates are $105, $120 and $130.

The monthly rental rate for efficiency apartments in Cooperstown for single graduates will be $117.50 ($58.75 per student for double occupancy; and for one-bedroom apartments $132.50 ($66.25 per student for double occupancy). The present rate is $107.50 and $122.50.

In Commonwealth Village, the monthly rental rate for efficiency apartments for single graduates and professional students will be $130 ($65 per student for double occupancy; and one-bedroom apartments $150 ($75 per student for double occupancy). The current rates are $120 and $140.

The room rates for conference groups and guests also have been increased slightly for the summer of 1978.

HOUSE ACTION TO BE TELEVIEWED ON CLOSED-CIRCUIT SYSTEM

WASHINGTON—Proceedings of the House of Representatives will be televised on a closed-circuit system for a 90-day test period beginning later this month, Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said yesterday.

But the telecasts will be made available only to House members.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' trout trucks began rolling March 22 as the annual stocking of rainbow trout into streams, lakes and tailwaters got under way.

Although the commonwealth's trout waters are usually stocked for the first time early in March, it was necessary to wait until the end of the month this year because cold weather last winter slowed down the trout's growth. The fish are stocked at an average length of nine inches, a size they won't obtain this year until almost a full month later than usual.

The department will stock 31 streams, eight tailwaters and 10 lakes this year. In addition, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will stock an additional 11 streams in the Daniel Boone National Forest with trout.

These fish are all catchable size trout, and the intention is that most of these fish be caught shortly after stocking. Conditions are seldom suitable for trout to spawn successfully in Kentucky and low water during the summer limits the number of trout that will hold over from one year to the next.

Some streams are stocked for only two months, while other streams receive trout through September depending upon stream flow. Since the tailwaters below the larger dams in Kentucky are fed by cold water from deep in the lake, they are stocked through October on a monthly basis, with one exception. No trout are stocked by the department of fish and wildlife in May, because the trucks and crews are busy with the farm pond program during that month.

Tailwaters usually have favorable conditions for "hold-over" trout. The state record rainbow, 14 pounds, four ounces, came from the tailwaters of Lake Cumberland.

Lakes must be deep and cool to support trout. The best lake fishing for trout is now at Laurel River Lake, near Corbin. This 5,000 acre impoundment was stocked in February with its yearly quota of 65,000 trout, in addition to holdover fish from stockings since 1973.

The nearest thing to "native" trout fishing in Kentucky occurs in a few remote streams in the Daniel Boone National Forest, where fingerling trout are stocked by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. These trout grow up wild and wary, and the challenge of catching them is sometimes matched by the challenge of getting back into these remote waters.

Kentuckians have their own ways of catching trout, which, even though they would make a dry-fly purist cringe, are effective. Whole kernel corn, a small gob of cheese or a worm are favorite baits. These are usually cast out and allowed to sink, then the angler simply waits for a bite.

Those who prefer artificial lures usually choose light tackle with small spinners. It's unusual to see anyone fly fishing Kentucky's trout streams, but this shouldn't discourage fly fishermen—flies should be as effective here as anywhere else.

If you'd like to try trout this year, drop a line to the Division of Public Relations, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 for a copy of this year's trout fishing guide. This pamphlet tells which waters are stocked and the months each receives trout.

Says Political Signs Hurt

Calvin G. Grayson, secretary of the Kentucky Department of Transportation (KYDOT), has a suggestion for the public that could save them and (KYDOT) an enormous amount of money:

"Refrain from plastering highway signs with bumper stickers promoting your favorite political candidate."

According to Grayson, KYDOT was forced to replace about 5,500 road signs a month last year. A large part of these had been covered over with political campaign stickers and other slogan-bearing decals. Signs used for practice and those smeared with paint also had to be replaced or refinished.

Once a sticker has been attached to a reflective sign, there is no way to remove it short of sandblasting and refinishing it. "And that is not an inexpensive process," Grayson said.

Larger signs, such as interstate and tollroad signs marking entrance and exit ramps to state parks, could cost as much as $1,500 each to refurbish. Smaller warning signs cost anywhere from $40 to $50 to repair if the metal has not been damaged. In that case, another $4 to $28 can be added to the cost of replacing the signs.

Grayson said removal of these stickers from road signs has become a routine job for Bureau of Highways maintenance crews across the state. "But, in an election year—as 1977 is—the number of stickers appearing on traffic signs is expected to increase drastically, and the Bureau does not have the manpower or time available to remove all the placards," he said.

Grayson pointed out that "ignoring our request not only costs KYDOT a tremendous amount of money, but it also can have unhappy consequences for the offender." Any individual caught slapping a bumper sticker on a road sign can be charged with "posting advertising unlawfully" and fined up to $250.

PRESTONSBURG SPRING CLEAN-UP PROJECT

The Prestonsburg City Council and Mayor have proposed April and May as the months designed for "The Spring City Clean-Up." The city has sectioned off in different areas to be cleaned on different weeks of these two months. Each sectioned area will be notified by the two area radio stations, in advance of their area to be cleaned. In the cleaning of these areas, the city would appreciate the cooperation of citizens. Cooperation of the citizens would be the moving of cars from the streets during this time and all trash that requires removal by the city hauling truck be placed by the curb.

The project will begin as follows:

- Section I, West Prestonsburg ————— April 4-April 8
- Section II, Goble-Roberts ————— April 11-April 15
- Section III, Briarwood and Lancer Addition ————— April 18-April 22
- Section IV, Porter Addition, starting from Prestonsburg High School including Mays Branch and Green Acres — April 25-April 29
- Section V, All the area starting from Prestonsburg High within Arnold Ave. and Central Ave. to Friend St., including Trimble Branch. ————— May 2-May 6
- Section VI, All the area starting from Friend St., within First Ave. and Highland Ave., to Graham street. ————— May 9-May 13
- Section VII, All the area starting from Graham st., within Riverside Dr., and Highland Ave. ————— May 16-May 20
