

Groundbreaking Begins City Project

Ground was broken Friday at the North Lake Drive site here of the $690,000 Prestonsburg Municipal Building. Special guests at the ceremony were Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Charles Mason, Kentucky representative of the Economic Development Administration (EDA). Mason called the scheduled construction "one of the most significant projects currently being funded by EDA in Kentucky," and praised Congressman Perkins for his part in procuring the federal funds. Pictured from left to right at the groundbreaking are Tom O. McGuire, project contractor; Randy Burchett, representative of Marvin Crider and Associates, architect; Ronald Hager, Donald Nunnery and Paul Phillip Hughes, city councilmen; Prestonsburg Mayor Harold Cooley, Congressman Perkins, City Manager Curtis Clark, Mr. Mason, and Edgille "Shag" Branham, George Cecil Brown, Dr. Larry Leslie, Cloyd Johnson and Hansel Cooley, city councilmen. The new facility will house all offices of Prestonsburg city government, including the police and fire stations.

Auxier Woman Escapes Injury As Car Struck by Boulder on 23

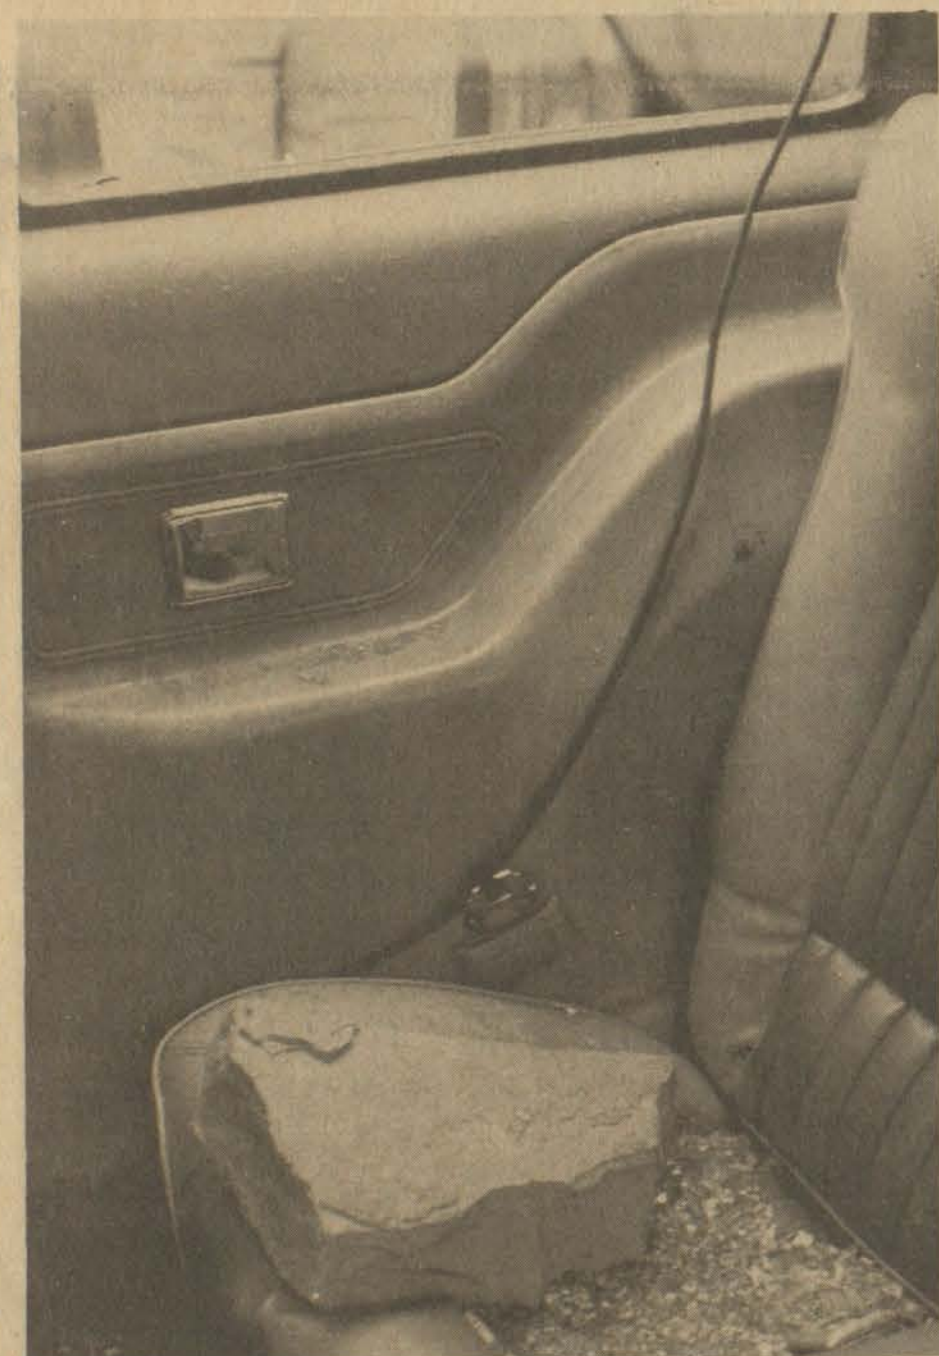

Photo shows where rock came to rest after falling from a cliff and crashing through a side window of the automobile of Mrs. Helen Meadows as she drove along U.S. 23.

The treacherous conditions along the nearly vertical road cuts which border numerous sections of U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville were emphasized Saturday afternoon as Mrs. Helen Meadows, of Auxier, narrowly escaped injury when a boulder fell from a cliff a short distance north of the Jenny Wiley Motel and crashed through a side window of her car.

Mrs. Meadows, who said she had almost been struck by falling rock along the road on several other occasions since moving here from Georgia recently, said she had only a few minutes earlier dropped her three children off. The children had been riding in the back seat where the rock came to rest.

The incident is one of many which have plagued drivers of the heavily travelled road since its construction, and although individuals and organizations have protested the conditions over the years, no improvements on the untraced shale and sandstone cliffs have been made.

The Prestonsburg Jaycees, who have most recently led the protest of the conditions, brought the state Department of Highways' attention to the matter in a letter written in early March of this year. Another letter, written two weeks ago and addressed to Calvin Grayson, secretary of the highway department, pointed out that although work on the cliffs had been promised, nothing had yet been done. The Jaycees had received no reply from Grayson's office as of Tuesday afternoon.

The Jaycees' original correspondence, which included several photographs of slides along the road, pointed out four zones which were cited as being particularly dangerous. Since that time, two major slides have occurred at two of the zones and the boulder which damages Mrs. Meadows' car fell from a cliff included in one of the zones.

Two Floyd Water Jobs Win Funding

Abbott-Little Paint, Bull Creek Systems Nearing Work Stage

Two major water distribution projects in northern Floyd county have been fully funded, and work on both is expected to be under way by early next spring, it was said this week by water district leaders.

Latest of the projects approved for funding is the Abbott-Little Paint Water District's system to serve the watersheds of Abbott and Little Paint Creeks to the Floyd-Johnson line.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins' office announced Monday that a $275,000 grant and a loan of $147,000 for the district have been approved by the Farmers' Home Administration (FmHA), and that a grant of $150,000 by the Appalachian Regional Commission will be added to these funds.

Earlier, the Bull Creek Water District had been notified of approval of a $276,000 FmHA grant, a loan of $164,000 from the same source and a $110,000 ARC grant for construction of a water distribution system on Bull Creek and its tributaries.

Both districts will purchase water, wholesale, from the Prestonsburg municipal system for distribution to their customers.

The Abbott-Little Paint project will (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

This Town...That World

Staring unseeing this Tuesday afternoon at a copy of The Old Farmers' Almanac, I was jerked back to consciousness when I saw the line which reads, "Forecast: Unsettled Weather." And a look outside confirmed the prediction and left me wondering why be conscious.

"PITIFUL" IS THE WORD

The Morehead News noted in an attractive Page 1 box last week that in the Sept. 28 issue of that newspaper a Mr. John Henderson had advertised a four-room house for rent, and that within one week Mr. Henderson had rented his house.

"We have said nothing about it, but Carl Chaffin advertised in The Floyd County Times the fact that he had a five-room apartment for rent—and within three days had not only rented the apartment but had had at least 200 telephone calls.

This is not to say that The Floyd County Times ad had any more pulling power than the Morehead News. It's merely proof of the pitiful housing shortage, hereabouts.

Workman, Hall Murder Trials Set Next Week

Goaded along by Circuit Judge Conley's suggestion that the case be heard or dismissed, attorneys for both the Commonwealth and the defense were preparing for the trial next Monday of Bobby Workman for the slaying more than eight years ago of James Chaffins.

The Workman trial and that of Edd Hall, Jr., charged with the slaying of Larry Spencer, slated to begin Nov. 30, may end criminal hearings in circuit court for the year.

The body of Chaffins was found at the roadside on Arkansas Creek, May 4, 1969. He had been shot four times. Workman and Gory Porter, Jr. were named in a murder indictment in 1974, but the charge against Porter later was dismissed on the grounds that evidence was insufficient to convict.

Other recent court actions: —The Court of Appeals affirmed the hit-run conviction of James Posten, who was fined $10 and sentenced to a jail term of six months.

—Russell Jarrell, the prosecuting witness in the case of Clyde R. Jarrell, who was convicted of assault and sentenced to a 12-month term in jail, (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

10 Churches Plan Thanksgiving Service

The community Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Ministerial Association will be held today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church on Arnold Avenue. The message will be delivered by the Rev. Dan Heintzelman, pastor of the Spurlock Bible Church.

This is an annual service at which a collection is taken for a fund to assist indigent transients passing through Floyd county. The host pastor is the Rev. Walter Applegate. Churches participating include First Christian, Irene Cole Baptist, First United Methodist, First Presbyterian, Saint Theodore Catholic, Saint James Episcopal, Spurlock Bible Church, Lancer Baptist, Community Methodist and the Church of God.

The public is welcome to this community service.

Neeley Draws 10-Year Term At Trial Here

What may have been the stiffest sentence imposed in the area for first-degree assault was handed down in circuit court here last Thursday by the jury sitting in the trial of Marvin Neeley, of Hueysville.

The jury held Neeley guilty of beating Tramble Adkins and set his prison term at 10 years. At the same time, it failed to agree on the guilt or innocence of Phillip Moore, who was indicted with Neeley in the Adkins beating.

It was said here Monday that Neeley will appeal the verdict.

Neeley admitted that he struck Adkins with his fist but that he did not kick him, as Adkins had alleged. He claimed Adkins drew a gun on him, that he disarmed Adkins, who then threatened him with a butcher knife which he also took.

The altercation occurred at the mobile home of Adkins on Brush Creek, near (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Home Blasted, Knott Man Shot At Wheelwright

A crime wave which swept Wheelwright and vicinity, beginning Friday morning and continuing through Monday morning, included the dynamiting of a home, the burning of the city hall-fire department building, the theft of four vehicles, breaks into four buildings and the shooting and wounding of a Knott county man.

The series of violent events began before daybreak last Friday morning when a charge of dynamite was tossed into or against the home of Mrs. Dorothy Hall, 56, in the vicinity of the Wheelwright ball park. The porch of the two-story frame structure was blown away and a wall caved in. Mrs. Hall and her husband, reported to have been the only occupants of the building at the time of the blast, escaped without serious injury.

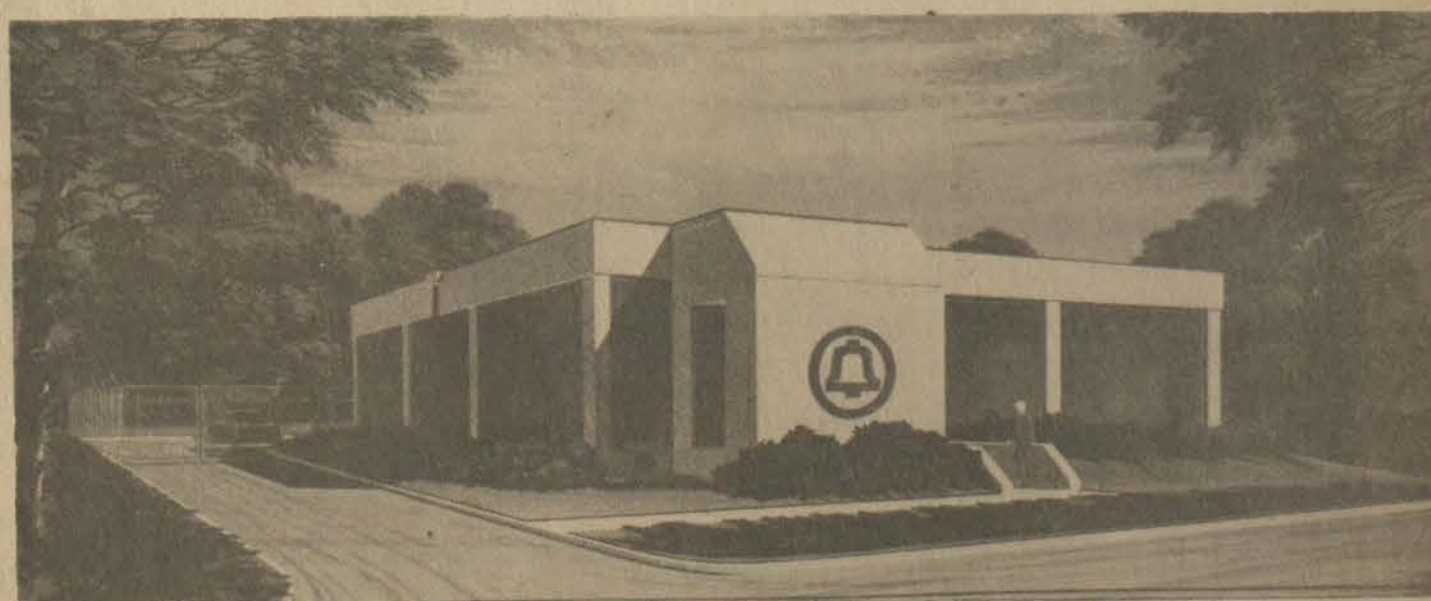

State troopers were expected to be joined Tuesday by federal agents in the investigation of the dynamiting. Mrs. Hall was at liberty under bond after having been charged with the revolver slaying Oct. 2 at her home of her son-in-law, Roger Dale Little, 26, Melvin miner. It had not been determined Monday if there was any connection between the slaying and the dynamiting of the residence.

State Trooper Terry Hall and Barry McKenzie, State Police arson investigator, arrested two juveniles Monday as suspects in the fire which gutted the city hall and fire department shortly before dawn Monday. The two, who were jailed here, reportedly signed confessions after Trooper Hall had found them in one of four vehicles which had been stolen during the night.

They reportedly told the officers that they had broken into the fire station and were attempting to take gasoline from the fire truck when a can was knocked over and the fuel spilled into an open heater.

The blaze gutted the two-story brick building which housed the city hall and fire department. The Mountain Investment Company, which leased the structure to the city, declined to make an estimate of the damage to the building, (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Bell Begins $3 Million Work

Architect's concept of the South Central Bell building here.

Work has begun on a $3 million South Central Bell project that will provide Prestonsburg residents with the most modern and efficient telephone service available, according to Phill Scott, local telephone company manager.

The project involves the installation of an Electronic Switching System (ESS) in a new building on Lafferty Lane, adjacent to the telephone company's present central office.

A central office operates as the center of the telephone system, routing calls to the numbers dialed. ESS is an electronic central office, which uses the newest technology available. Operating like a computer with solid-state equipment, it has several advantages over Prestonsburg's present central office, Scott said.

"An electronic central office requires less energy, less space and less maintenance than the system we now have," Scott said. "Savings on these items will help keep down the cost of providing telephone service."

Scott said constructing the ESS was the result of more than two years of assessing how best to meet Prestonsburg's present and future telephone needs.

"This electronic central office will also allow us to keep up with growth in the area. Floyd county is growing rapidly, and as the area grows, the demand for telephone service grows, too," he said.

Scott explained that the coal boom has attracted many people to Prestonsburg—people and businesses who need telephone service.

"To give you an idea of telephone growth here," in 1970 there were 3,800 telephones; today there are 6,700," he said. "We're aware of the need for additional telephone facilities here. The ESS is part of a long-term plan for providing telephone service in the Floyd county area."

Another part of the plan, he explained, is a major construction project that will provide additional telephone lines to eliminate four- and eight-party service. This project will cost $335,000 and will expand service mainly in the Abbott, David and Middle Creek areas.

"The ESS, which is scheduled for completion late next year, and projects associated with it will help South Central Bell meet its commitment to provide telephone service here," Scott added.

Several modern optional services will also be available in the 886 exchange once the ESS is in service. They include:

—Call Forwarding, which allows the automatic transfer of calls to another number.

—Call Waiting, which signals you when someone is trying to call you while you are on the phone, allows you to put the first party on hold, and answer the second call.

—Three-way Calling, which allows you to add a third party to your calls.

—Speed Calling, which allows dialing frequently called numbers with a simple two- or three-digit code.

—Scott said Touch-Tone service will also be available.

Electronic switching was developed by Bell Laboratories, Scott said. The present ESS will be built and installed by Western Electric, the Bell System's manufacturing and supply arm.

Home of Civil War Captain

Its original yellow poplar logs covered by weatherboarding and the board roof replaced by metal, this structure which stands untenanted near Hall, Knott county, was once the home of Capt. William J. (Boley) Hall, of the 10th Kentucky Cavalry Regiment, Confederate Army.

Now more than a century old, the house was built when the upper Right Beaver Creek area where it is located was a part of Floyd county.

Captain Hall, who was Knott county's first tax commissioner, was a son-in-law of Clabe Jones, noted mountain feudist and onetime jailer of Knott county. He died in 1912.

It was to this home that Capt. Hall, late in the South's losing war with the North, asked permission of his superior officer to return on furlough to care for his war-impooverished family. His letter, dated January 7, 1864, and addressed to Major J. Stoddard Johnson, of the Department of West Virginia and East Tennessee, follows, as preserved in the Rebel Archives of the War Department:

"I would respectfully ask permission to visit my home in northeastern Kentucky for the following reasons: The Enemy who made the recent raid upon this part of the country, on returning paid my family a visit and literally destroyed everything they had accumulated to live upon for the winter.

"I am a poor man and no one left at my

Weather Radar for East Kentucky May Be Sought by Weather Service

The National Weather Service has tentatively agreed to seek funds in its next budget for construction of a weather radar station to serve Eastern Kentucky.

The station would be located in Lexington or the London area, Sen. Walter Huddleston said at the Kentucky Planning Association fall conference.

Supplemental funds will be sought to implement the project before the service's 1980 budget.

The weather station is being sought in an effort to predict and notify persons in Eastern Kentucky more effectively of severe weather which may cause flooding.

Huddleston agreed with many of the state and federal disaster relief agents attending the two-day meeting that efforts to cope with nuclear and natural disasters should be consolidated. The response to both emergencies would be "a many respects similar." He also stressed a need to "beef up" assistance to victims of natural disasters.

Eastern Kentucky is expected to be one of the areas studied by President Carter's task force which is looking into reorganization or consolidation of disaster relief programs.

Jack Eversole, executive director of the Barren River Area Development District, told about 20 persons attending a panel discussion earlier yesterday that floods are "something we can do something about through land use planning."

He noted that part of his district could not make use of federally provided mobile homes after a tornado touched down because there were no prepared sites.

Planning should include studies of "whatever there are federal grants in aid of," he continued.

Some disaster victims have the wrong idea about federal funding, said Ron Padgett, state coordinator of Disaster and Emergency Services.

Federal money is a supplement to that supplied by the state. "If an incident goes beyond the local's (city or county) abilities, the state gets involved. When it is apparent that it's beyond both, it goes to the Federal Disaster Administration."

During an emergency declaration, specific help goes for specific needs, he continued. Supplemental assistance is provided during a major disaster which must be declared by the president.

MRS. WILLIAMS

Mrs. Eloise A. Hall, of Hueysville (left), and Mrs. Marjorie Blair, of Weeksbury (center), were recently appointed to the Congressional District Steering Committee for the Governor's Pre-White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services. They were presented certificates at a luncheon meeting held in Morehead for committee members of the Seventh Congressional district by State Librarian Barbara May Williams (right). Mrs. Hall is assistant NYC director, Floyd County Board of Education. Mrs. Blair is librarian at Wheelwright High School.

ALLEN WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS NOVEMBER MEET

Allen Woman's Club held its November meeting at the clubhouse. Meeting was called to order by the club president, Wanda Weber, and devotions were led by Anita Lafferty who read an article entitled "Give Freely." Both the treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and approved.

The Red, White and Blue Pageant was discussed. Club members were disappointed in being unable to have concessions at the pageant.

A motion was made and approved that a $30 donation be made to the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs Headquarters for various funds.

Mary Hinchman, co-chairman of the club's annual Christmas Parade, reported on plans in progress for the parade. A co-chairman, Anita Lafferty was appointed to assist with the Christmas Parade which is to be Saturday, December 17, at 12:30. It will start at the Allen Elementary in Old Allen and end at the Bank Josephine parking lot in New Allen where Santa will greet the children with treats.

The club's Christmas dinner will be at 7 p.m., December 16, at the Plantation Motel Restaurant.

Immediately following the business meeting, the club had as guest speaker, Mrs. Betty Dixon, of Huntington, W. Va. Mrs. Dixon represented Tiara Exclusives—a glassware company in Indiana. She presented various glassware items from her company's productions. It was agreed that the club schedule a fund-raising Tiara giftarama Dec. 6 at 7 at the clubhouse. All club members are urged to attend and bring along two or three guests.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Deloris Dunaway and Pat Derossert, guest, Betty Dixon, and the following club members: Anita Lafferty, Jo Ann Adams, Vicki Boyd, Carol Jo Collins, Mary Hinchman, Wanda Weber and Bonita Porter.

Jehovah Witnesses Meet Slated Dec. 3-4

Organizational arrangements have been completed for the forthcoming semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, Saturday and Sunday, December 3 and 4. The religious convention is slated at the new Civic Center in Huntington, West Virginia.

Louis McClung, of Huntington, convention manager, and James Hall have named some from the local area to help in supervising the more than twenty departments comprising the assembly's organizational structure. William Wells, an elder with the Allen Congregation, will be in charge of the attendant department. His job is to see that comfortable seating is available for all who attend. "These departments are organized to distribute the many responsibilities that arise when a group meets in assembly," Mr. Hall said. "All volunteer their services free."

Theme of the convention is "Enjoying the Best in Family Life." "The purpose of the program is to show how a regular study and application of Bible principles can both prevent and solve problems that are peculiar to our day. Jehovah God is the creator of the family and knows best how it should function smoothly," Hall said.

Mr. Wallace will deliver a special public talk on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., entitled, "Maintain Your Confidence Firm to the End." All interested persons are invited to attend and all sessions are free with no collections taken. No meetings will be held at the local Kingdom Hall this week.

The Makers of Dupes

The report (reprinted elsewhere in this edition) by The Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch that the Right to Strike Committee of the United Mine Workers may have been infiltrated by communists should not be construed as an indictment of the U.M.W.A.

The truth is, a number of respected American institutions have been tainted by Communism. These people are smart. They do not herald their beliefs and motives until they have slyly insinuated themselves into this accepted group or that. Then they work under cover, like termites, eating away, unseen, unsuspected.

Churches, schools, professions, labor groups have been infiltrated. This is a dedicated foe.

The lesson the leaders and the rank-and-file of the United Mine Workers and other groups should learn, then, is to be aware of the danger of such influences, to keep an eye on those individuals or groups which would take the ball and run with it.

Members of the United Mine Workers traditionally honor picket lines. Which is their right. But it might be well that they determine in the future who is on the picket line before honoring it.

Masters of duplicity, Communists make dupes of many of us.

but Everett E. Hall, member of the Wheelwright town board, said the burned fire truck, hose, 18 firemen's uniforms and other items meant a loss to the city of at least $65,000.

Firemen from Wayland and the Left Beaver Rescue Squad joined Wheelwright firemen in fighting the blaze which was confined to the city building.

Other breaks into buildings during the night included a dentist's office, a store at Wheelwright Junction and restaurant at Melvin. It was reported that three automobiles and a truck were stolen.

Meanwhile, the busy Trooper Hall had a shooting to investigate. He reported that Ronnie Hitchcock admitted firing a shotgun blast which wounded Larry Slone, of Knott county, Sunday night at the Hitchcock home. Slone was taken to the McDowell Regional Hospital with pellets in his head and chest but was not believed to have been seriously hurt. Sgt. Garry Rose, of the Kentucky State Police, said Hitchcock was not arrested as evidence indicated Slone was drunk and creating a disturbance at the home.

The fire left Wheelwright without firefighting equipment and without housing for the fire department or city offices. All city records were saved, and it was said renovation of the second floor of the Library building there will be made to provide a meeting place for the city board. Later, it is possible that renovation of the clubhouse for city hall use may be included in the swimming pool project which is in the process of state or federal funding.

The Wheelwright city government had only recently completed paying for its $60,000 fire truck. Only public liability and property damage insurance was carried, and the loss of the truck and other equipment was uninsured, it said.

Mr. Hall said a Nashville fire equipment firm has offered help by bringing a fire truck to Wheelwright for temporary use, perhaps under lease, while an attempt is made to repair the burned truck.

"But I doubt anybody can repair the truck," Hall said. "Even the door handles were melted off."

involve laying of 12 miles of distribution lines, construction of a 60,000-gallon storage tank, two booster pump stations, two master meters and related items. It will serve approximately 200 residences and businesses.

John T. Hill, of the Abbott-Little Paint district, said Tuesday that procuring of easements will be the next step, after which contractors' bids on the project will be asked. He said complete plans for the system are expected from Howard K. Bell Engineers within the next 30-60 days, that actual construction should begin in March and that the work would be completed in less than a year.

Curtis Hatfield, chairman of the Bull Creek Water District, said there is a possibility that the district may be able to include the Katy Friend section in its service area. He said construction of new KY 80 has delayed the project, particularly on the Left Fork of Bull Creek.

Plans for that project, however, are 90 per cent complete by Kenco Associates, Ashland, he said, and the work of procuring easements is next on the agenda.

(November 23, 1967)

More than 67 per cent of the money spent by visitors to Dewey Lake and Jenny Wiley State Park last year was spent by out-of-staters, a new report by a University of Kentucky researcher shows. The Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club will sponsor the annual Christmas Parade, Saturday afternoon, officially opening the yule season. First of the candidates elected at the Nov. 7 election to take office is Harry Gordon Allen, new Floyd county tax commissioner. During last week's sessions of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association, Nelson R. Allen, native of this county, was named EKEA president, and Phillip Dingus, principal of Martin high school, was elected president for the one-year term which will begin with the next EKEA session. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell T. Hopson, of Grayson, formerly of Martin, their second daughter, Alisa Lynn, Nov. 18 at King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland. There died: J. S. Reynolds, 75, Wednesday at his home at Beaver; Samuel Bryan Hale, 71, Sunday at his home at Harold; Harry D. Goble, 74, formerly of Dwayne and a veteran of World War I, Nov. 11 at Tucson, Arizona; Roe Green, 82, of Town Branch, Monday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Jim Bob Parsons, 71, Monday at his home at Grethel; Floyd Robinson, Sr., 55, Saturday at home at Lancer; Frank N. Wells, 69, of Bypro, Sunday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Werlie C. Boyd, 77, of Harold, last Thursday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

Twenty Years Ago

(November 21, 1957)

Barring unforeseen complications, Prestonsburg's new water plant will go into operation about Dec. 1, it was said Wednesday. Body of Denver Crabtree, 67, who apparently died of a heart attack while hunting, was found in the woods on Sang Factory hollow, Wednesday night. Striking workmen of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company returned to work Tuesday morning—exactly one month after they had walked off their jobs. Residents of Floyd county received $67,393 in October under Kentucky's four assistance programs. Herbert Hume, superintendent of Mason county schools, was elected without opposition to the presidency of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association last week, succeeding Mrs. Dorothy Conley, of Wheelwright. Married: Miss Helen Meade, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. William F. Osborne, of Kenova, W. Va., Nov. 2 at the Church of God, here; Miss Juliana Williams, and Mr. G. C. Perry, II, November 16 at the Louisville Methodist Church. There died: Mrs. Carmel Howell, 87, Tuesday at her home at Teaberry; Mrs. Sola Hazel Page, 48, of Wayland, Monday at the McDowell Memorial hospital; Mrs. Pollie Nunnery Loar, 82, Thursday of last week at her home at Betsy Layne; Miss Tilda Bentley, 77, Sunday at Ligon; Mrs. Kitty Rice Conn, 79, Friday at Dana; Mrs. Dixie Blackburn Jervis, 68, of Endicott, Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Henry Meade, 64, Friday at the home of his daughter on Mare Creek; John Matthews Sellards, 75, formerly of Endicott, Friday at Williamson, W. Va.; Jerry Roger Mullins, Sr., 43, Floyd county native, Sunday at the Pikeville Memorial hospital; Sol Crisp, 73, Monday at his home here; John C. McNeil, Sr., 67, formerly of Wheelwright, Saturday in Ohio.

Thirty Years Ago

(November 20, 1947)

Prestonsburg's Dollar Day, linking closely in with the national fight on inflation, gained wide recognition this week through an Associated Press news-story telling of the undertaking here. Added to the growing list of new business structures erected in this county since the war are two new theatre buildings in the Beaver Creek section at Martin and Drift. Two more of the 128 Floyd countians who lost their lives during World War II were buried at home this week after having been returned from foreign military cemeteries. Sgt. Russell Hale, who at 21 was killed July 12, 1944 in Germany, was buried Sunday at Myrtle. Pfc. Ray V. Lawson, 23, who was killed Jan. 18, 1945 while serving as a tank crewman in the Battle of the Bulge, was buried Wednesday on Stone Coal Creek, near Garrett. The home of Frank Neeley was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning on the Abbott road as was the home of Mrs. Minnie Walters at Ball Alley, near here, Wednesday night. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lafferty, of Lackey, a daughter, Patricia Ann, recently at the Weaver Valley hospital, Martin. There died: Homer McKenzie, 54, last Wednesday at his home at Auxier; Kelly Keathley, 72, Nov. 12 at his home at Osborn.

(November 25, 1937)

Plans for the consolidation of certain high schools of the county may be a part of the discussion to be held at a meeting here Tuesday evening, of H. W. Peters, state superintendent of public instruction with Floyd school officials and citizens. Dedication of the $41,000 building now being completed at Wheelwright Junction to accommodate high school students of the upper Left Beaver section will be made Monday evening, it was announced this week by Wayne Ratliff, principal of the Wheelwright consolidated school. Norman Hall, 27, Hueysville miner, died Sunday when trapped inside his pickup truck after it had plunged over an embankment on the Salt Lick road. Fire of unknown origin early Tuesday night destroyed three homes at Martin, causing a total estimated damage of $4,500. Stores in this section report a large increase in the sale of winter underwear. In This Town-That World this week this item read as follows: After receiving our farewell salute, Presbyterian Pastor Potter, transferred to Joplin, Mo., admitted that everyone hated to see him go, but the Reverend added, "not enough to come to church." Married: Miss Marguerite Gorton, and Mr. Carthel H. Smith, Sr., both of Prestonsburg, Oct. 16 at Catlettsburg. There died: Mrs. Oma Jordan Howard, 28, of Garrett, Wednesday at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey.

Hippo, last Feb. 5. Phillip Moore, the second defendant in the case, lived in a nearby home which was owned by Adkins.

Adkins testified that Neeley and Moore came onto the porch of his home and that when he went to the door Neeley forced the door open, struck him with his fist and kicked him. He added that Moore held him and also struck him. He said he then feigned unconsciousness and heard Moore say, "He's gone—let's get out of here."

Phillip Moore's mother testified that during her visit with her son at the jail Neeley said in her presence that he "taught" Adkins not to "let his mouth run off about Chubby Neeley" and that if Moore had not stopped him he would have killed Adkins.

Moore claimed that when he and Neeley arrived at his home Adkins invited them into his trailer for a beer. He claimed he had no part in the attack on Adkins.

Dr. Miranda, a witness in the case, said Adkins had four broken ribs and contusions about the head and eyes.

TO VISIT SISTER

Harris Allen Bolling will leave by plane from Huntington today (Wednesday) to spend Thanksgiving with his sister, Mrs. Paul M. Henry, and Mr. Henry in Nashville, Tennessee.

HERE FROM INDIANA

Arnold Salisbury and two daughters, of Indiana, were called here recently due to the death Saturday of Mr. Salisbury's brother, Cola Salisbury, at his home on Barnett's Creek. The Salisbury families are formerly from Martin.

LETTERS To the Editor

Asks Explanation

As I was reading my Nov. 2, 1977 paper I saw Sample Ballot, where C. "Ollie" Robinson, clerk, certified how the ballot would appear on the voting machines. I for one can say that Little Mud No. 32 did not have Ronnie Stratton, Independent, for Constable on the machine, so I would like for some one to state the reason why it was not there. And in my Nov. 16 paper on the rundown I saw he didn't get one vote. So was all No. 4 that way? I believe the people should know why we only had 2 on the machine.

Here after 17 Years

I was in Floyd County Sept. 20 at McDowell for my mother's funeral. I wish to thank all the people of McDowell for their contributions, and especially the Old Beaver Church at Minnie. Also Hall Bros. Funeral Home. I noticed a great change in Floyd county since being away about 17 years. There are lots more new homes, new stores, new businesses, and your newspaper has grown in size quite a bit. In my opinion the economy of Floyd county has improved greatly since I was a resident.

Short 'Look Down the Road' When Coal Boom Is Over

Featured speaker at Monday night's meeting of the Big Sandy Area Development District's board of directors at May Lodge, state Development Cabinet Secretary William L. Short echoed a question which was brought up repeatedly during the night: "What happens in 25-30 years when coal is no longer the mainstay of the country's fuel needs?"

Stressing the point that the area must take full advantage of the prosperity which the coal industry will afford in the coming years, he also warned that diversification of the local industrial base is a necessity in order to avoid an economic collapse in future decades.

"Unless we do formulate an economic base besides the coal industry, we might experience the tremendous outmigration of past years," Short said. "We have to innovate to diversify the economy."

Short pointed to completion of the Appalachian highway system as vital to the future of the area. "When the system is completed we will be in a position to make a strong argument for job diversification," he remarked. Short called for greatly increased revenues to go to coal producing counties, where, in many cases, he said, "there persists an inadequate quality of life." He also offered support of a point brought up by Pike County Judge Wayne T. Rutherford earlier in the meeting, saying, "We need to look at the new strip-mine reclamation laws in the light of how to make the most effective use of strip-mined land for future development."

Pikeville Mayor William C. Hambley said the new strip-mine laws, which carry stringent reclamation requirements, "will have to be revised," to be made more manageable. "It's a shame that the new laws weren't formulated in the first place with future development and site creation in mind," Hambley commented.

Keith Kelley, director of the recently-funded Central Appalachian Development Project, outlined the events leading to the creation of the project and its objectives. Need for the project, according to Kelley, arose after the devastating April flooding. Based at Pikeville, the project operates in Virginia, Tennessee and West Virginia, as well as Kentucky, and Kelley listed its goals as: 1. Formulation of a long-range economic and flood recovery program; 2. Procurement of federal funding for the program, and 3. Implementation of the program. Kelley said the project is presently trying to determine the problems on which most of its energy should focus. "We are looking at the major gaps that other programs seem to consistently miss," Kelley pointed out. The project director said flooding problems on smaller streams are of particular concern, pointing out that "We're finding that more than 50 per cent of the damage last spring resulted along the tributaries rather than the major streams." He said the project will look closely at major land development schemes and how the new strip-mine regulations will relate to such development, and, again voicing a concern for the future of the area's economy, "the whole matter of looking down the pike to when coal does not assume the importance it has today . . . to avoid the boom or bust cycle that has characterized the coal fields in the past."

Kelley assured the group that, despite a general tightening of the belt in terms of federal spending, "chances for funding are good at this time." He said the importance of coal to the nation would figure significantly in the channeling of funds into the area.

After a report on the recently concluded research in the county by members of the National Demonstration Water Project by BSADD staff member Roger Recktenwald, the board approved the formation of a non-profit water-wastewater work group to aid water systems in the county in administration and funding. The purpose of such a group, according to Recktenwald, would be to assist the various utilities in the area, "and not to indict any individuals or dig up any skeletons in the closet."

Reporting on the work of the ADD transportation committee, Martin county board member Russell Williamson reported on Gov. Julian Carroll's assurance that a major road would be built in Martin county and called it "the finest thing ever to happen to our county." Martin county officials and the transportation committee will decide on one of three corridors which have been proposed for the road construction in coming weeks, Williamson pointed out.

Big Sandy ADD Enterprise Development specialist Charles Nicklas reported on work by the development committee, saying that several sites have been identified in the five-county ADD district which are "potentially good" for industrial or multi-use sites.

Langley Man's Woodcarving Among Bush Gallery Auction Pieces

Lynn Rogers, chairman of the Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, Inc. (left) accepts piece donated by woodcarver Roy May.

Among the numerous pieces of art and handiwork which are currently on exhibit as a part of the "Dutch" auction being held now through Nov. 29 at the Bush Art Gallery here, are several examples of Floyd county woodcarver Roy May's work.

May, a native of Langley, says he has been carving 40 years, "ever since I started carving myself toys as a child," as he pointed out, and his woodcarving has developed into a fine art over that period.

His work includes individual figurines depicting, for example, coal miners, and intricate group scenes such as the "Sunday Meeting" (see photo elsewhere in this issue) and other subjects from mountain life.

Members of the guild are donating their work, which includes everything from quilts to dulcimers, in an on-going drive by the membership to raise money for the operating expenses of the guild.

In order for the guild, which provides an outlet for and encourages local craftsmen and artists, to remain in operation, projects of this nature will be held in various sections of Eastern Kentucky.

Anyone interested in donating handi-craft or art materials for the auction may bring them to the gallery, which is located directly behind Milady dress shop on North Lake Drive. Information on the auction and other matters related to the guild may be obtained from the gallery or by writing The Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, Inc., Box 110, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

More gardeners should grow striped cushaws

By
Nevyle Shackelford
UK College of Agriculture

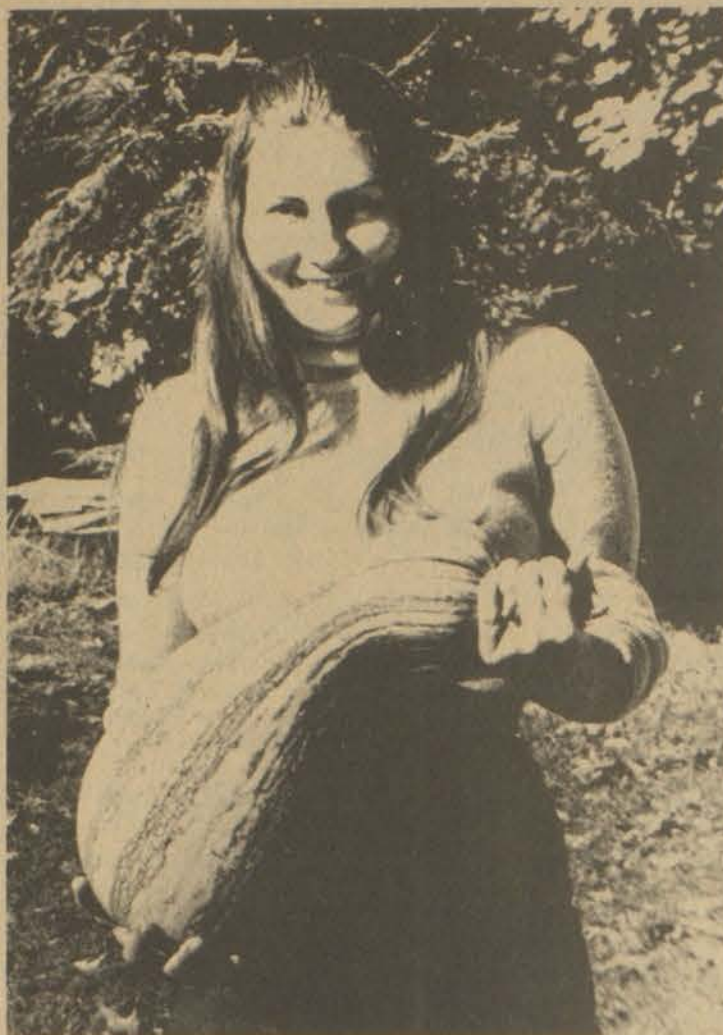

Like the pumpkin, late October is the peak month of the striped cushaw. Large and gourd-shaped, this gift from the American Indian comes into full maturity about the time of the first hard frost of autumn and when prepared in the good old fashioned way by baking in an oven, provides some of the finest eating in the world.

Nutritionists say, too, that it is a rich source of Vitamin A, that substance so essential to growth, reproduction and prevention of infections of the lungs and intestines. In addition, it provides a wide range of other nutrients needed, as the saying goes, to keep a person "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed." Also being low in calories, it makes an ideal dish for persons wishing to lose weight and reduce their waistlines.

The striped cushaw is distinctly of American origin and is truly of ancient culture. Fragments of cushaw rinds and seeds, in an excellent state of preservation, were found by archeologists in ruins of the Basket Makers and Cliff Dwellers who held forth in some of our Western states from 1500 to 2000 years B.C.

The striped cushaw is easy to grow. It will thrive in partial shade as well as in the open and does well when planted in a corn patch. Its vine will run for 20 feet or more and it is not unusual for as many as four or five 20-pound cushaws to grow on one vine.

This cushaw stores well and in a cool basement will keep up to six months without losing any of its fine eating qualities. It can be cut up in chunks, greased with a little melted butter, sprinkled with a mixture of brown sugar, ground nutmeg and cinnamon, and baked uncovered for 45 minutes in an oven heated to 375 degrees F.

STRIPED CUSHAW—Of ancient culture, the striped cushaw, such as this magnificent 22-pounder held by the young miss, is really a good tasting, nutritious vegetable. It is not unusual for one vine to produce several specimens like this.

Prepared in this manner, especially when a raging winter storm is pounding against the closed doors and windows of a cozy farmhouse, it provides an eating thrill to be long remembered.

There are other ways, of course, to prepare the versatile striped cushaw for the table. It can be stewed, steamed, made into pies, or for the adventurous, sprinkled with salt and pepper and eaten plain raw. The seed of these great fruits can be roasted and eaten like peanuts. In fact, every part of this versatile field and garden product can be eaten except its hard rind.

As said before, the striped cushaw is easy to grow, is resistant to disease and makes a welcome addition to the winter larder. Although one of the most neglected of garden crops, it is one of the most rewarding vegetables for home garden cultivation.

Communist Infiltration Of Committee Is Claimed

By RODNEY W. WHITE (In The Huntington, W. Va. Herald-Dispatch, Nov. 19) United Mine Workers Union leaders said yesterday, the influence of the Miners Right to Strike Committee (MRSC) will weaken because of its connection with the Revolutionary Communist Party USA.

But union members said miners still want a limited right to strike included in a new contract with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association (BCOA). The present contract expires Dec. 6.

A connection between the two organizations was established through a publication of the Revolutionary Communist Party (RCP), which is printed in Wayne County.

Mrs. Judith Y. Branch, spokeswoman for the party at Beckley, W. Va., said the MRSC was not formed by the RCP, but she said some members of the radical group are members of the committee.

She also said her husband, MRSC spokesman Mike Branch, also is a member of the RCP. However, she denied that the party controls the organization.

"Some members of the RCP are members of the committee," Mrs. Branch said. "But that is not the point. The committee is made up of rank and file miners and that is what the committee is all about."

Mike Branch, who has refused to confirm or deny he is a member of the RCP, was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Mrs. Branch said she was not going to answer any more questions.

"I talked with you, and still the stuff came the same way it has all along," she said. "You think you have a hot item there, but this kind of stuff has been going on—these so called exposures—for the last five years."

Mrs. Branch said she would make a statement to the press later.

Robert Carter, president of UMW District 30 based at Pikeville, Ky., said, "I want nothing to do with the cotton-picking Communist Party. They ought to be run out of the United States as far as I'm concerned."

However, the association of some MRSC members will not affect the membership's demand for a limited right to strike, he said.

"It has always been a policy of the mine workers not to cross over the picket line," he said, "but I think if the Communist Party is involved in this and the membership knows about it, I think they would cross it."

Paul Hornshell, secretary-treasurer of Local 9639 in District 30, said he and the members of his local had heard rumors that a group out of West Virginia were active in communist activities.

"Naturally, the men are very hard line against anything communist," he said. "They are not going to have a very good reaction to that group (MRSC)."

MARTIN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiPaolo, of San Antonio, Texas, announce the birth of their first child, Patrick Joseph, on October 7. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Estill Newsome, of Martin. VISIT IN WEST VIRGINIA Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Isaacs were recent visitors at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Lawrence, of Iaeger, W. Va.

Tragedy Haunts Fuller Family

The Litton Fuller family moved last summer from Knott county to Beattyville but tragedy stays with them.

First, a son-in-law, husband of Emily Fuller, was killed in the Scotia mine explosion in Letcher county, March 11, 1976.

Then Litten Fuller's wife Tressie was killed Sept. 24 when a runaway gasoline truck exploded in Beattyville while Mrs. Fuller was having her hair styled for her daughter's wedding.

And now—last Saturday—two of Fuller's sons, John and James, were killed when a television antenna which they were erecting came in contact with a power line. The father escaped with burns.

"The Fullers have really experienced their share of tragedy," a neighbor, Sam Spicer, said at Beattyville. "Most families would break under this kind of pressure," another friend said, "but they are good, strong people. I guess they'd have to be."

Fuller had wanted to own a farm when he retired from the mines, and he found one he liked near Beattyville. His son John, 28, was a foreman for the Falcon Coal Company and lived at Ary, Perry county. James was a student at Knott County Central High School.

HOSTESS TO COMMITTEE

Mrs. Jess Stover, of Auxier Heights, entertained at her home Tuesday evening, having as her guests members of the Executive committee of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. Mrs. Stover, who is chairman of this committee, discussed with the group plans for the club's annual Christmas party which will be held Thursday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. John F. Brown, with Mrs. Chalmer Frazier as leader. The theme of the meeting will be, "Christmas Bells," and the Hand Bell Choir, directed by Miss Elizabeth Frazier, will be presented. Following the discussion of plans for this event, Mrs. Stover served a dessert and spiced tea to members of the committee: Mrs. Helen Ankrom, Mrs. Joann Johnson, Mrs. Wonnell Godsey, Mrs. Docia Woods, Mrs. Nancy Martin, Mrs. Dorothy Burke, Mrs. Martha Johnson and Mrs. Patsy Brown. Members who serve on the committee but were not present are Mrs. Thelma Wallen and Mrs. Orella McGuire.

Groups Urging Present KY 3 For New Road

Seven civic organizations and two governmental agencies are represented in resolutions urging the reconstruction of the present KY 3 from US 23, near Combs Airport, to Inez as a corridor for KY 40 to serve Martin county. Copies of the resolutions have been forwarded to Governor Carroll, the Department of Highways, County Judge Henry Stumbo, Big Sandy ADD and Terry McBrayer, secretary for Economic Development.

Pointing out that the "abundance of coal in Martin county has caused the growth of the population and economy to far exceed the growth of its transportation facilities," the resolution contends that the KY 7 link provides "easy access to US 23, Combs Airport, Highlands Regional Hospital, the Mountain Parkway, the new Julian Carroll Parkway (new KY 80) and both Paintsville and Prestonsburg business districts . . ."

Signators included representatives of the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Area Chamber of Commerce, the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, Floyd County Democratic Women's Club, the Big Sandy Life Underwriters Association, the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, the Prestonsburg Senior Woman's Club, Prestonsburg Kiwanianes and Floyd County Jaycees.

Two officials—Mayor Harold Cooley, of Prestonsburg, and Magistrate Bill Wells—also signed the statement.

Community Action News

The Wheelwright Community Action Club held its regular club meeting Nov. 10. President Elmer Ferguson opened the meeting, and Mrs. Willie L. Blackmon gave the devotional.

The opinion poll has been completed and a re-cap with the results will be made by Donna Mullins and presented at the next meeting.

Plans for a free community Thanksgiving dinner were presented by Willie Blackmon and the club will sponsor this event Sunday, Nov. 20 at 4 p.m. at the high school cafeteria. Everyone is invited to attend and should bring a covered-dish of food. Mr. Ferguson will contact local merchants for donations of turkey and-or ham. Soft drinks and paper products will be supplied by the club.

A "Disco Dance" was discussed and this activity was scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 26 from 7 to 11 p.m. The dance will be held in a building donated by Walt Williams of Mt. Investment and located between the beauty shop and the dentist's office in Wheelwright. A clean-up committee is needed and all volunteer workers will be given free passes to the dance. Organizers for this dance are Katie Newsome, Linda Holbrook and Donna Mullins. Anyone wishing to volunteer should contact one of the above persons. Free prizes in the form of tee-shirts, posters and a record album will be given away.

The president is currently trying to get the Alice Lloyd College choir to present a Christmas carol program in the community. Mike Mullins of ALC has been contacted, but no definite scheduling has been acquired.

Katie Newsome was presented with the club scrapbook to maintain as part of her duties as reporter. The awards won by this club were also entrusted to Mrs. Newsome to be displayed at the Wheelwright Public Library until the club obtains a permanent building.

County Extension Agent John Sparks reported on the area executive meeting held in Prestonsburg.

Attending the meeting were Amber Hines, Felmon Blackmon, Katie Newsome, Linda Holbrook, Walt Williams, Elmer Ferguson, Willie L. Blackmon, Donna Mullins and John Sparks.

The next scheduled meeting is Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Lewis-Shepherd

The marriage of Miss Pauline Lewis, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Rudolph Lewis, of Banner, and Paul David Shepherd, son of Mrs. Troy Shepherd, of West Prestonsburg, and the late Rev. Troy Shepherd, was solemnized at 5 p.m. Friday, November 18, at the home of the groom's mother by the Rev. Donnie Burke.

A bridal shower was held at 7 p.m. that evening at the home of Mrs. Shepherd. Hostesses were Brenda Powers, Sadie Salyers, Recca Lewis, Ruth Osborne, Ocie Shepherd, Oney Lewis, Willa Mae Shepherd, Phyllis Shepherd, Martha Shepherd, Barbara Brown, Linda Endicott, Dixie Lewis, Kathryn Lewis and Elizabeth Lewis.

The bride graciously expressed her appreciation for the many lovely gifts.

Meet After 40 Years

Mrs. Avanel Sexton Collins, of Hueysville, and Mrs. Thelma Slone Obernour, of Toledo, O., who grew up together on Salt Lick Creek near Hueysville, had not seen each other for 40 years when they met recently in Toledo. They spent 10 days catching up on the past years' events.

Mrs. Obernour is a daughter of Fred and Zula Sexton Slone, and Mrs. Collins is a daughter of Lummy and Luerona Miller Sexton.

Catholic Church Events Listed Here and Martin

A Thanksgiving celebration of the Eucharist will take place Thanksgiving Day at 10 a.m. at Saint Juliana Catholic Church in Martin. The ceremony will include the blessing of foodstuffs to be used in the dinner of the day and a sermon by the pastor, Father William Poole. Participants will enjoy holiday pastries in the church hall after the worship service. All are welcome.

There will be a fellowship gathering of members of Saint Theodore Catholic Church and First Presbyterian Church, both in Prestonsburg, at the Presbyterian Church Nov. 30 with a pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m. The pastors of the two churches will review some of the joint activities in which the churches have joined in the past five years. These activities have included scripture study, adult discussion groups, Christian unity services, youth retreat, weekly radio program, college work group, blood donor program, meals-on-wheels, New Year's night watch services, ecumenical wedding, prayer group participation, a seder meal, a swim party, and a variety of social events and social involvement projects. The public is welcome to attend both the meal and the meeting.

Father John Cahill, native of Drift, will conduct the worship services at Saint Juliana Church and Saint Theodore Church Sunday, Nov. 27. He is student chaplain at Thomas More College, Ft. Mitchell, Ky. The Mass that day will mark the beginning of the liturgical season of Advent.

Artist Tells Pupils of His Work

Kentucky Heritage Artist, Russell May, visited the seventh and eighth grade classes at Clark Elementary School, recently, in conjunction with career education studies the children are doing. Mr. May discussed painting as a career by outlining steps the artist goes through from beginning a piece of art until it is sold. He also exhibited several of his paintings to illustrate painting techniques. While at the school, he painted a landscape scene from start to finish, explaining to the group as the painting progressed what he intended to do and how he would accomplish it. At the end of the session, Mr. May presented, on behalf of the eighth grade class, the painting to the school where it will be on permanent display in the school's library.

Stumbo Writes Court Members

In a brief note to members of the fiscal court Nov. 16 County Attorney Harold Stumbo reminded them that if they expect to benefit from a federal grant to help solve the county's solid waste problem they must create a garbage disposal district along the lines he suggested several months ago.

Stumbo said the court rejected the plan he submitted at that time.

Pike county is establishing a garbage collection and disposal system with the benefit of federal environmental funds, and Floyd county can qualify for such help, the county attorney said.

The fiscal court will meet Monday.

Penalties have been established by the fiscal court in this county against dumping of refuse, but the practise continues with no violators caught. Stumbo said that in at least once instance he knew of dumping on state road right-of-way.

The recommendations made by Stumbo earlier to the court suggested that:

—The court create a garbage and disposal district and appoint a director for each magisterial district to control the operation, with the county judge by virtue of his office as chairman.

—The county issue revenue bonds to purchase equipment, if necessary.

—The district have the power to organize the collection and disposal system and remove it from political influence.

Announcing the Pike county system recently, Pike County Judge Reatherford said two or more officers will be employed especially to patrol roads of the county to prevent their use as dumping places.

Martin Church To Show 'A Thief in the Night'

"A Thief in the Night," in color, will be shown at the First Assembly of God at Martin, Sunday, Nov. 27, at 7 p.m.

"A Thief in the Night" is a mighty motion picture about Bible prophecy, showing what can happen when Jesus Christ returns. This exciting story centers around Patty, an average girl caught up in living for the present, with very little concern about the future. The things that happen when this way of living catch up with her provide an action-packed drama.

The motion picture portrays with devastating reality the Biblical prediction, "There will be no place to hide."

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Lorie Vannucci, and congregation extend an invitation to all interested persons to view this gripping film.

Maytown Man Named in Theft

Prestonsburg police arrested Timothy Robinson early Sunday morning charging the 21-year-old Langley man with stealing several items from new Jeeps parked on the lot of Parkway Motors, here.

Policemen Dick Campbell and Roger Webb made the arrest after reportedly sighting a man among cars parked on the Parkway lot. After apprehending Robinson, the officers reportedly found him in possession of three doors which had allegedly been removed from new Jeeps on the lot as well as carpet and mirrors which were also said to belong to the vehicles.

Officer Campbell said a brown Jeep, which belongs to Robinson, was examined and found to have on suspiciously blue door.

Campbell said several gearshift knobs and tools were also found in Robinson's possession.

The theft charge with which Robinson was booked constitutes a Class "D" felony, it was said, and the case will come before the January session of district court. Campbell said Robinson also faces a possible jail term stemming from the robbery earlier this year of a Right Beaver grocery.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Randall M. Stewart, drunk driving, by State Trooper Weedman; Rodney Phillip Patton, burglary in first degree, by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis; Troy Owens, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; Frank Meadows, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; Herman Isaac, drunk driving, by State Troopers Shelton and Stephens; Charles Roberts, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Carl Jarrell; Bennie Coleman, drunk driving, by State Trooper Shelton; John P. Hunter, Stan D. Lawson, and Billy Ousley, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stephens; Carmel Howell, attempt to elude police officer, by State Troopers Rose and Hall; Mark Hamilton, first degree burglary, by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis.

FBL at Garth Installs Officers

The Future Business Leaders of America held the installation of officers ceremony October 30 at the Garth Area Vocational Education Center. Mrs. Carla Reynolds, faculty adviser of PBL and teacher at Mayo State Vocational School, presided. Many friends and parents observed the installation. Following the ceremony, the officers, relatives, and friends gathered for a buffet-style dinner.

McDonley-Scott Vows Said

Miss Margaret Leavena McDonley, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Brown, of East McDowell, became the bride of Mr. Danny Lee Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashland Scott, of Prestonsburg, formerly of Garrett, at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 22.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Andy Hamilton at the home of the bride.

Given in marriage by her brother, Glenn McDonley, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin fashioned with a victorian neckline. The A-line skirt featured a chapel train edged with matching lace. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a lace camelot cap. She carried a bouquet of daisies and miniature roses.

Miss Rita Faye McDonley, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of soft yellow crepe and carried a bouquet of assorted flowers with matching streamers.

Dwayne LaMar Scott, brother of the groom, served as best man. The mother of the groom, wore a pale gray dress fashioned with long sleeves, navy accessories and a corsage of blue-tipped carnations.

Mrs. Brown, grandmother of the bride, received the guests in a blue and rose dress with a corsage of rose-tipped carnations.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the bride's home. The couple is residing in Prestonsburg.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FROM -MUSIC-CARTER-HUGHES-

To our many friends and customers throughout Eastern Kentucky:

Over the years, Music-Carter-Hughes has tried to be a good and responsible neighbor, because we feel it is important to help the area which has been so good to us. Whatever the occasion, whether civic, scholastic, religious, or patriotic, we have tried to shoulder our fair share of the load.

We have now encountered a problem whereby we must ask for your patience and understanding. As many of you know, over the years we have loaned used cars for our customers to drive while theirs were in our shop. However, two serious problems have arisen. Number One: We have no insurance on these cars because of the exorbitant cost of insuring a $300,000 used car inventory. In the past three weeks alone, six of our used vehicles have been wrecked at a total loss of over $10,000.00. The Number Two Problem is that obviously we cannot sell used cars while they are loaned out—and selling the used trade-ins are the life blood of the automobile business.

Therefore, we regretfully have taken the following steps, effective since Nov. 21:

NO USED CARS OR TRUCKS WILL BE LOANED AT MUSIC-CARTER-HUGHES.

We deeply regret having to take this action, but frankly feel we have no other choice.

Realizing the need for some customers to have transportation in the event of a wreck or serious mechanical breakdown, we will offer 10 rental cars and two rental trucks available for our Service Department customers only, at the very nominal rate of $6.00 per day. Customer pays no mileage charge and will furnish their own gasoline. We will do all in our power to schedule your auto in and out on time. Please call our service manager for an appointment.

We do hope you understand our reluctance to take this action, and will try to help us give you better service by calling for an appointment before bringing your car in.

May we also take this opportunity to wish you and your family a happy and joyous holiday season.

Sincerely,

MUSIC-CARTER-HUGHES

Edward C. Music, Pres.
Paul P. Hughes, Sec.-Treas.
Estill Lee Carter, Vice-Pres.

Pippa Passes, Ky.—The James Graham Brown Foundation, of Louisville, recently notified Alice Lloyd College that it will contribute $50,000 to the college, provided the college can raise an additional $50,000 in new money within six months.

If ALC is successful in raising the additional money, the entire $100,000 will be used to purchase new furniture for the five dormitories and dormitory lounges, according to Dr. Jerry C. Davis, ALC president.

Frymire To Retire From Full-Time Duty

Maj. Gen. Richard L. Frymire, Kentucky's adjutant general for the past six years, has announced his resignation and future plans. The resignation is effective Dec. 9.

Frymire said that he plans to return to his Madisonville law firm of Moore, Morrow and Frymire on a full-time basis, and to accept a part-time Air National Guard position as special assistant to the commander of the Air Force Tactical Air Command, headquartered at Langley AFB, Va. He will assume that post Dec. 10.

Frymire also will continue to serve as a member of the Reserve Forces Policy Board, which provides guidance to the Secretary of Defense on matters that affect the National Guard and all other reserve military components. He was appointed to that board Jan. 1 for a three-year term.

As adjutant general, Frymire has commanded the Kentucky Army and Air National Guard and served as director of the Division of Disaster and Emergency Services. He was first appointed by Gov. Wendell Ford Dec. 7, 1971 and was reappointed by Gov. Julian Carroll Dec. 9, 1975.

During his tenure, the National Guard undertook an extensive building program and expanded to areas of the state not previously served by local units.

Additionally, the state's modern Emergency Operations Building was constructed, bringing all disaster response elements together for the first time.

The Army and Air Guard Unit Structure also was greatly improved and modern units were acquired.

The National Guard was called to state active duty on numerous occasions during Frymire's tenure, providing aid following the 1974 tornadoes and the floods of last April.

During his military career, which began in 1952, Frymire has served in many positions, including commander of the 165th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, and he has recorded more than 3,000 flying hours. He has earned the Legion of Merit, among other awards.

After advising members of his staff of the resignation, Frymire praised Gov. Carroll for the support he has given the department.

"I could not have asked for more support than that given to us by the governor," he said, "for the governor fully understands the value of the National Guard and I think that he has used the guard wisely to serve the people of Kentucky. During the many natural disasters we've experienced in recent years, the governor has fully backed all of the programs and actions of the department."

Fall is good time to plant roses

Fall planting of roses has become an accepted practice in Kentucky, according to Mary Hotze, horticulture extension specialist in UK's College of Agriculture.

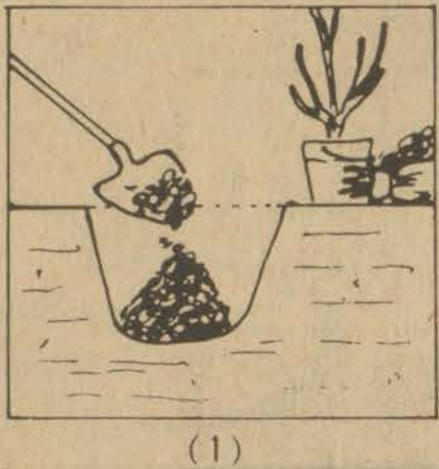

"It's no more difficult to plant roses in the fall than in the spring," she said, "as long as simple procedures are followed."

It has long been recommended that roses be planted in the fall in milder temperate regions such as is normal for Kentucky.

"Fall planting will allow the rose to become firmly settled in the soil throughout the winter, ready to start an active growth as soon as the warm days of spring arrive," the horticulture specialist said.

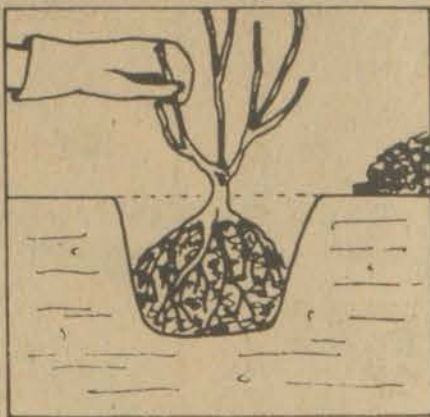

"For successful fall planting of roses, I would recommend the easy steps as outlined in the following diagrams," Hotze added.

STEP 1—Deeply spade a bed in a well-drained area. Dig each hole 15-18 inches wide and as deep. Add a quart of peat moss or compost mixed with 1/2 cup fertilizer. Mix well with the soil. Form a mound of the mixture in the planting hole.

STEP 2—Prune all rose canes to 12 inches and remove any broken or injured roots. Position rose on mound so that roots are spread out naturally and the bud union (swelling at base of stem) is level with the ground.

(2)

STEP 3—Work in soil around roots to eliminate any air pockets. Firm soil around roots and add more soil until hole is three-fourths full. Then firm the soil well with foot or tamper, using care not to injure roots.

(3)

STEP 4—Fill remainder of hole with water and allow it to soak in and then refill. After water drains, see that bud union remains at ground level and fill remainder of hole with soil and tamp. Head canes back to about eight inches, making cuts one-fourth inch above an outside bud.

STEP 5—Mound soil around and over the plant to a height of eight to 12 inches. This protects the rose canes from drying out. In the spring after growth starts, gradually remove mound of soil—probably within a week to 10 days. Loosen name tag so that it doesn't constrict cane. When vigorous growth starts, apply plant food according to the directions on the container.

Howard Updates Know-How Taking Active Part in Program

When Billy R. Howard, the Floyd county native who heads the state Bureau for Vocational Education, decided to up-date his knowledge on personnel development, he participated in a program administered by his bureau, the vocational staff-industry exchange program.

"This venture had a two-fold purpose," Howard said. "I would receive first-hand experience with the staff-industry exchange program and I would learn about the personnel development and improvement programs of a large corporation."

Howard spent several days in Franklin Lakes, N. J., at IBM's Career Development and a day at IBM's plant in Lexington.

"I am interested in industries' staff development programs, particularly IBM's, because the bureau is in the process of assisting the regional staffs—the employees out in the state—to develop their own personnel development programs," said Howard. These programs teach the skills needed in management and supervision and other techniques in personnel improvement.

These workshops are important to vocational regional staffs because many have backgrounds in education or in the area of their teaching specialty and have had little experience in supervision or management, said Howard. He wants the regional staffs to develop their own personnel improvement programs instead of the programs originating out of the state office in Frankfort. "We want the regional people to have a feeling of ownership in the personnel development program."

"My participation in the staff-industry exchange program has reinforced my conviction that this is an effective way for vocational teachers and administrators to upgrade their knowledge and skills," he said. So far, more than 500 Kentucky vocational personnel have taken advantage of the program.

Howard explained the staff-industry exchange program allows vocational teachers and administrators to exchange work stations with skilled technicians and supervisors in business and industry, or health agencies and institutions, where vocational students are being employed or may find employment. The teachers then revise their courses to include the new information to help make occupational education more relevant to their students.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting has been scheduled by the Kentucky Department of Transportation with local officials, public agencies and interested citizens from Floyd and Johnson counties to discuss the proposed reconstruction of US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. Department of Transportation planning engineers hope to gain information which will aid them in developing all possible alternatives. These alternatives and their effects will be compiled in a project planning report and environmental impact assessment which will be made available to the public at a later date. This meeting, which is the first step in the planning of the project, will be held at May Lodge at Jenny Wiley State Park on Wednesday, November 30, 1977, at 7:30 p.m.

All interested citizens are urged to participate and provide comments either by attending the meeting or by visiting, writing, or calling the Department of Transportation's District 12 office which is located at Pikeville and is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The mailing address is P. O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501. The telephone number is (606) 437-9691.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET AT BETSY LAYNE
The women's society of the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Curtis Wallen Thursday night at 7:30, Nov. 10.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. B. C. Caldwell and opening prayer was by Mrs. Dean Osborne. The minutes were read by Mrs. Curtis Wallen and approved by the group. The treasurer's report was then given and approved. It was decided that the annual Christmas Bazaar would be held at Weddington Plaza, Murphy Mart Store, December 3 from 10:30 till 3:30.

The meeting was then turned over to Aileen Wallen. She gave an interesting and informative talk on the Kentucky Annual Conference of United Methodist Women, which was held in Ashland. Mrs. James George closed the meeting with prayer, and refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Dean Osborne, Mrs. Eliza Blackburn, Mrs. R. K. Larson, Mrs. James George, Mrs. Emory Osborne, Mrs. Bert Allen, Mrs. Kelse Elliott, Mrs. B. C. Caldwell, Mrs. G. H. Blackburn, Mrs. Dale Meade.

Settlement School To Celebrate 75th Anniversary, Nov. 26

The Hindman Settlement School will celebrate its 75th anniversary with open house, Saturday, November 26, to share remembrances, to honor former executive directors, Elizabeth Watts and Raymond McLain and retiring executive director Lionel Duff, and to become acquainted with his successor, Michael Mullins.

The meal will be served at 12:30; speaking will begin at 2. The McLain Family Band will play during the afternoon.

"$8 by the 8th" Campaign Draws $55,000 Teacher Contributions

Teachers have contributed more than $55,000 to the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) political action arm in an "$8 by the 8th" of November (election day) campaign.

The money was counted and the total was reported at a rally during a KEA lobbying seminar in Louisville, attended by some 200 educators.

Doris Wilson, chairwoman of the Kentucky Educators Public Affairs Council (KEPAC), the political action group, said perhaps as much as $100,000 may be collected before the end of the year.

The funds drive, she said, demonstrates that teachers are going to continue putting their money into political action despite the recent ruling by the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance that KEPAC can no longer use the reverse checkoff system of collecting contributions. The complaint on which the Registry ruled was filed by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce's political action arm.

Last year KEPAC collected about $160,000 through the checkoff system, Mrs. Wilson said. Most of that was spent on primary and general elections.

The $8 sought during the drive is the sum KEA members ordinarily would have contributed through the checkoff.

KEPAC contributions will be used to support candidates in school board, city, county, state, and federal races, Mrs. Wilson said. Legislative priorities include collective bargaining for teachers and increased funding for elementary and secondary education.

Among those speaking at the KEA lobbying seminar were Clyde Caudill,

Pro or Con

By WILMAY

The last column touched on current criticism of the medical profession at large. Every coin has two sides. A favorite true story of the writer is that of the late Dr. George Leavell, for years Southern Baptist missionary to China, where his salary then was too measly to mention. Having volunteered, Dr. Leavell was not there for money, as time proved, but to serve his fellow-man. From northern Mississippi, he was a member of a large family, whose sons all distinguished themselves. He had an enviable reputation in Shanghai before one of the largest oil companies here decided to open offices in the Orient and began a search for the man best qualified to direct all of its enterprises there. It needed one who was educated, skilled, highly intelligent with business acumen, familiar with the people and country, its traditions, and potential, able to speak the Chinese language fluently, et cetera. Every inquiry led to the energetic missionary from the south. Convinced that he alone was their man, the oil firm sent a representative to offer Dr. Leavell a salary well beyond what he was receiving from the Foreign Mission Board of Richmond.

To their utter astonishment he declined. Upon transmission of his decision the field delegate was advised to increase the proffered fee. This was done, to no avail. Nonplussed, the V.I.P.s of the concern in the U.S. ordered their agent yet abroad to tell Dr. Leavell to name his price; if need be, to give him a signed check to fill in for any amount, so long as he accepted the post. But young Leavell was not for sale. He was God's man, in God's place, at God's time, loved the Chinese, was needed by them. His final answer was an emphatic refusal.

If every doctor has his type of dedication there would be fewer problems in the profession, rampant with the temptation of tainted lucre! Another thrilling account of self-sacrifice and love for others was that of the young Catholic medic, Dr. Tom Dooley, whose death Jan. 18, 1961 saddened all who knew of his devotion to the poor and sick in southeast Asia for years. Dooley gallantly kept on keeping on, even while dying of a malignancy.

Closer home is a case somewhat resembling his. A deeply consecrated Methodist, Dr. Jim Turpin, of Ashland, grandson of the late Dr. John Wes Duke, of Hindman, gave many years of selfless service in Asia, as did his wife, who became a physician herself in order to assist more. One of their fine young sons met a tragic death in a plane accident over there.

Dr. Charles Wilson, noted eye specialist, of Pikeville, and his wife go annually to impoverished Haiti to minister free of charge to the population whose need is so crucial. This is done strictly on their own.

Decades past, this writer had an interview with the late Dr. Irvin S. Abel, Sr., of Louisville. Since he then was the only man ever to have become president of A.M.A. two or three times (three it seems), he was asked to what he attributed his remarkable success. He replied that it was to two things: 1. "There's not a lazy bone in my body," and 2. "to everlasting faith in Almighty God." Then he added that one of his parents had been Protestant, the other Catholic and that he had inherited the best from both. It was well known that he not only had his own operating room but also that he never failed to go to a private place for prayer before performing surgery, another habit every surgeon needs to acquire. Numerous medical personnel regularly pray about every serious case, recognizing the power of the Master Physician.

One of the most celebrated doctors of all time was the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer from Alsace. Physician, surgeon, humanitarian, philosopher, missionary, musician, scientist, theologian, author, editor, he devoted most of his unique life to the needy in the jungles of Africa. At one time he was the only living person to hold doctorate degrees in three fields. His multiple services to suffering humanity are almost unrivaled. He could have had the world in his hands, had he not—like Moses of old—preferred helping people.

Books have been written about the hallowed zeal of many in the noble profession of medicine, books that inspire youths of today who devote more time to reading than to TV. Most medical heroes and heroines go through life un-sung, but they do not work for glory. Multiplied thousands owe their lives to men and women who often risked their own lives or jeopardized their health to serve and-or rescue others ill or involved in tragedies. Since two columns have discussed one side of the "coin" perhaps another can give the opposite. For that reason it may be well that readers remember the first two when later reading what some noted authorities say about flaws in the profession under such heavy scrutiny today. Some are beginning to wonder if one reason for so much denunciation of medicine may be a subtle move to discredit it more and more as the move to force socialized medicine on the nation gains momentum. If so, it is more imperative than ever that the good physicians, etc. join those who are determined to clean up where the job is needed!

Frequent evaluation and constructive criticism by those serving, and also by those being served, regardless of what profession, occupation or business it may be, are always helpful when done in the right spirit. Life is and should be a never-ending circle of give and take! There is something bad wrong with any of us when we cannot tolerate censure or correction, and there is far more amiss with the individual and discipline or what-have-you when nothing is done to make changes, improvements, turn wrongs into right!

Change is not always progress, but progress inevitably involves change.

Tax Law Changes for 1977

Some people like changes; others prefer things the way they are. But whatever side of the fence you're on, one thing is certain: When you fill out your 1977 tax return, you won't be able to avoid the many changes in the tax law that have come about through recent legislation.

You have probably heard standard deduction has been replaced by a zero bracket amount which is a flat $2,200 for singles and $3,200 for marrieds filing jointly. And there has been quite a bit of publicity about the new tax tables with the zero bracket amount, personal exemptions, and general tax credit built right in.

These changes affect most taxpayers, but don't require you to plan ahead. Because some of the new provisions do, however, demand pre-planning, it makes sense to start gathering your records together and examining the tax consequences of some of your actions.

For instance, if you own a capital asset, such as stock, bonds or real property that you intend to sell this year, are you aware that in order to qualify for long term capital gain or loss treatment, you must have owned that asset for more than nine months? The holding period in prior years was more than six months.

Do you also know the amount of a capital loss you can use to offset your taxable income has increased from $1,000 to $2,000?

Both of these changes can make a significant difference in your tax bill for 1977. Suppose, for example, that you never heard of the new nine month holding period, and you dispose of a capital asset after seven months, thinking that you will have to pay tax on only one-half of your profit. When you fill out your 1977 tax return you might be surprised at the amount of tax you owe.

If you have moved, or plan a move, in 1977, you will find several changes in the tax law. The distance requirement of 50 miles has been changed to 35 miles, so you won't have to move as far in order to claim moving expenses.

In addition, the maximum deduction for pre-move househunting and temporary living expenses has gone up from $1,000 to $1,500, as has the deduction for expenses related to buying, selling, or renting a home which increased by $500, and is now $3,000.

Older Americans who sell their homes in 1977 will be glad to learn that there has been a sizable change in the tax break available to them. Previously, anyone age 65 or over who sold his or her home did not have to pay any tax on the gain if the adjusted sales price of the house was $20,000 or less.

The exclusion amount has now been increased so that you pay no tax on the gain from the sale if the adjusted sales price is $35,000 or less. If the adjusted sales price is over $35,000, the tax break is prorated.

Remember, the adjusted sales price of your home is the amount you receive after paying selling commissions and certain allowable fixing-up expenses, such as painting part of the interior of your home.

Here's something else new for 1977! If you are a worker under the age of 70½ and do not participate in any other pension or annuity plan during the year, you may for the first time, include your non-working spouse in your Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA). If you establish an IRA for you and your non-working spouse, you may contribute a total of 15 percent of your compensation, to a top limit of $1,750.

And for 1977, you have an additional 45 days from the end of the tax year (until February 14, 1978) in which to make your contribution and still deduct it on your tax return. The advantage of an IRA, of course, is that contributions are not taxed until they are withdrawn at which time the individual would normally be in a lower tax bracket.

Other changes that could mean a difference in your tax liability are in the areas of alimony, child support, and child care expenses.

Alimony, previously an itemized deduction, is now an adjustment to income, which means that anyone can claim on his or her tax return the amount of alimony paid during the year.

If you make child support payments to a former spouse, you may have to pay more money now in order to claim your children as dependents on your tax return. In prior years, if the tax exemptions were not allocated in the divorce decree, and you were the noncustodial parent, you had to contribute $1,200 or more for the support of one or more children in order to take the dependency exemptions. That amount has now increased to $1,200 for each child.

Expenses you pay for work-related child care may now be claimed as a tax credit. The credit is 20 percent of the amount you pay during the year for child care. The maximum amount of the credit allowed is $400 for one child and $800 for two or more children.

It's obvious there are changes in store for many Americans when they prepare their 1977 federal tax returns. To get a head start on your taxes, contact the IRS for free publications on areas that will affect your taxes. You may order the publication by filling out the order form that is enclosed in the tax package you receive, or by calling IRS toll-free. In Louisville, phone 584-1361; Lexington, 255-2333; elsewhere throughout Kentucky, 1-800-292-6570. Hours are 8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. EST (7:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. CST).

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Goble-Roberts Homemakers Club met Nov. 17 at the Dixie Community Center. Linda Burchett, president, presided, and Alice Rowe read the minutes from the October meeting. The lesson was on candy making.

Attending were Bertha Barnes, Linda Burchett, Nancy Roberts, Alice Rowe, Cora May and Francis Pitts. Our next meeting will be December 14.

Frontier Christmas in Old Washington, Kentucky

By MIMI C. LEWIS

If you're a history buff, and want to be in on the ground floor of something, go to Old Washington for its annual Frontier Christmas celebration, December 3 and 4.

Washington, Kentucky, a 191-year-old village four miles south of Maysville, has all the potential for being a latter-day Williamsburg, the classic colonial restoration in Virginia. At the same time that Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry were making history there, Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton were making a very different sort of history in northern Kentucky. Jefferson and Henry were fighting for the life of a nation, Boone and Kenton were fighting for life, period.

Founded in 1786, and considered a haven for pioneers from constantly marauding Indians out of the north, Washington was by 1790 the second largest settlement in Kentucky (after Lexington). A few years ago it was discovered that there were still 110 log cabins on their original sites. The history-minded and public-spirited citizens who started the restoration of Old Washington are seeing every year more fruits of their imaginative plans. Of the 35 buildings deemed worthy of restoration, 10 are now complete and open to the public. There will be no charge for touring the historic homes during the Frontier Christmas week-end.

What started a few years ago as just a small Christmas party for the residents of Washington, as a gesture of gratitude for their cooperation with the restoration, has now become an annual, joy-filled renewal of purpose for all in-involved, and a great attraction for residents and visitors alike.

Paxton Inn, where Frontier Christmas originated, is the chapter house of the Limestone Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The Paxton Inn Boutique will be open during the Frontier Christmas week-end and refreshments will be served there as well as at the Johnston House. The First Presbyterian Church and Havens Chapel will serve lunch during both days of the festival.

Visitors will be welcome from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3, and from 12 noon until 6 p.m., Sunday. All the houses and cabins will be decorated with materials that might have been used in 1786. Nita and Dan Keller will demonstrate the making of cornshuck dolls and wooden toys (don't harried parents wish they could get away with that now?). Tom Strohfeldt, who has been resident gunsmith at Williamsburg, will demonstrate his craft as well as show some of his collection. His wife will be demonstrating the art of weaving. George Clooney will be drawing caricatures, and woodcarvers will be at work.

Pioneers who came down the Ohio River on flatboats, upon landing at Limestone (now Maysville), frequently dismantled the flatboats and took the lumber along with them to use in building their cabins. A wonderful example of this remains at Washington: Mefford's Fort, in which the stairway and upstairs floor are original boards from a flatboat of that period. Also to be seen at Mefford's Fort will be a candle-dipping demonstration.

The Paxton-Evans House is to be an information center for the Frontier Christmas week-end. Written inquiries should be addressed to: Paxton-Evans House, Washington, Ky. 41096. Phoned inquiries may go to Miss Christine Gantley at (606) 759-7843.

Lynn Sweet, a cabinetmaker for the Kentucky Historical Society, prefers to be called a "joiner." Like the joiners or craftsmen who first came to America, Sweet specializes in furniture-making and particularly likes to make chairs. Careful research, innate skill and modern equipment provide Sweet with the ability to create copies of chairs from past periods, as well as his own designs.

CHAIRS FROM THE PAST

Sweet makes chairs for the society's exhibits like his shaped-seat corner chair of Honduras mahogany. This style is from the Queen Anne period (1720-1755), and was originally popular in Newport, Rhode Island. The tall-backed chair on Sweet's left is a copy of the "Craftsman" style or "Mission chair" which he fashioned from quartered white oak. It was designed by Gustav Stickley, the innovator of Craftsman furniture between 1890 and 1915. On Sweet's right is his interpretation of an Art Nouveau chair from the period between 1895 and 1915.

Sweet's skill and craftsmanship is displayed throughout the Old Capitol in Frankfort in the 40 pieces of furniture which he repaired and refinished during the restoration project from 1973-75. One of his most important contributions to the project was making the Speaker's desk in the Senate chamber. Sweet is currently working with the museum staff on the addition of a new room in the History Museum, one which will highlight Kentucky-made furniture.

Winterize Your Home

By FRANCES H. PITTS
(Home Demonstration Agent)

There's a lot you can do to winterize your house, even if you don't have money for insulation this year or can't find it locally.

Stop drafts under doors by using a permanent wind-stop at the bottom. You can buy several metal-and-vinyl threshold strips. Or you can make your own by cutting a narrow length of inner tubing or a strip of heavy sacking and tacking it to the bottom of the door. The added strip will work on inside doors also.

A roll of heavy weight plastic will go a long way in winterizing windows and covering unused outside doors. Out doors tack it over the window frame and window using long strips of thin wood or even strips of cardboard to hold the edges tight. Indoors you can attach plastic to the windows by using masking tape.

Weatherstripping doors and windows also helps to cut down on heat loss. Felt stripping is probably the cheapest. Also available is the foam stripping with one stick side. It works better on doors than windows. The foam stripping with the foam backing is easy to put up and more durable. Also available is vinyl stripping with an aluminum channel, and spring metal stripping. These are more expensive but longer lasting. It works well on doors and windows.

Winterizing foundations keeps cold winds away from the foundations. This cuts down on floor drafts and also helps to keep plumbing from freezing. Adding skirting to mobile homes not only improves the looks of the home but will certainly make the home much warmer.

Insulating water pipes early keeps you from having to thaw them out later on in the season. You can buy insulating tape that is sticky on one side for easy application. Or you can make your own by using several layers of newspaper or old strips of rags or sacks. You can hold the papers and sacking in place with duct tape. It works well with little cost. Electric heat tape for wrapping pipes is also available, but be sure not to overlap the tapes on themselves as you wrap them around the water pipes.

Remember the more you do now, the less you will have to do as the weather becomes much colder, and the smaller your heat bills will be this winter.

Heritage Commission Funds Restoration of State Projects

The Kentucky Heritage Commission has approved $525,950 in funding for 18 restoration projects throughout the state, announced Mrs. Kathy Sloane, commission chairman, today.

Mrs. Sloane said five other projects were chosen for alternative funding from Kentucky's federal allocation. These projects include two in Jefferson county for Preservation Alliance, $25,000, and Louisville School of Art, $15,000; two in Fayette for First Presbyterian Church, $9,060, and Higgins Block, $25,000; and in Franklin county, the Carneal-Watson House, $23,200.

Federal grants, provided by the National Park Service, must be matched. State matching funds are provided through the heritage commission by appropriations from the state legislature. Grants also are available for acquisition of properties listed on the National Register, and for survey and planning work by local groups, Mrs. Sloane explained.

The heritage commission also unanimously passed a resolution regarding the proposed demolition of the Lawyer's Building, next to the Church of Good Shepherd in Frankfort. In the resolution the Heritage Commission pledged its support to working with the pastor and congregation of the church "to seek a reasonable and viable alternative to the loss of the Lawyer's Building, while permitting the most worthy project of constructing a gymnasium and parish meeting facility to move forward."

QUESTION BOX

Pastor Forrest Howe, M. Div., answers your questions about spiritual truth, ethical behavior, and Bible understanding. Write to him at Box 462, Allen, Ky. 41601

QUESTION: If God is a God of love, why is there so much suffering in the world today?

ANSWER:

The question posed is probably one of the oldest questions in the world. It is one of the themes of the book of Job, considered by many Old Testament scholars to be the oldest book in the Bible. To say we can answer this question completely would be presumptuous. We can only offer a partial explanation for we now look through a glass darkly.

God created man to have joy. He wants man to have the "desires of his heart." Psalms 37:4. "No good thing does the Lord withhold from those who walk uprightly." Psalms 84:11. Jesus says in John 10:10 "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly." Unfortunately man separated himself from God. From then on, death reigned. Therefore much of the suffering that man experiences, i.e. sickness, death, natural disaster, etc. is because he is alive and shares in the lot of the fallen race.

A second reason for suffering can be traced to the fact that Satan is seeking to reclaim his former servants. Thus he goes about bringing woe upon them in order to entice them back. I Peter 5:8. Associated with this fact is that some afflictions do come from the hand of God. These are designed to purify and to refine us. Job 23:10. There are two things to remember in this matter. "I will never leave you or forsake you" Heb. 13:5. The second, is that one will never be tested beyond his strength. I Cor. 10:13.

There are some times that neither God or Satan can be blamed for man's dilemma. Many times an individual brings suffering upon himself. A natural law exists that we reap what we sow. Much sickness is the result of intemperance in eating and drinking. God has given us a diet that will keep us healthy. To violate these principles will bring sickness. Lev. 11.

Although there may not be a complete answer for all cases, the important thing to realize is that God is not the author of suffering. We do know for sure that He is a God of love. He cries when His creatures cry. Heb. 2:18; 4:15. He knows when every sparrow falls. Matt. 10:29. It has been Satan's purpose to malign God from the very beginning. Soon God will put a stop to suffering, death, tears, etc., Rev. 21:4. Those who are in harmony with God's will can look forward to that day.

Program To Help Handicapped UK Students Draws Attention

In the room especially equipped for the handicapped in King Library at the University of Kentucky, UK student John David Cooley, of Wayland, in Floyd county, enters the sound-proof booth for studying and listening to tapes and using other equipment.

Seven years ago when Jacob (Jake) Karnes assumed his duties as director of Handicapped Student Services at the University of Kentucky he spent considerable time visiting other schools to learn what was being done to help the handicapped student.

Now, after a good deal of work at UK in developing services for the handicapped, representatives of other colleges and universities are coming to the University of Kentucky to see how it's done.

It all points to the progress that's been made by the University through Handicapped Student Services, a part of the UK Human Relations Center located in old Alumni Gym.

When the program began in 1970, there were eight blind students and 10 in wheelchairs. Today, says Karnes, 20 legally blind and 30 to 35 wheelchair students are enrolled.

Karnes is proud of what has been accomplished so far, but as more handicapped students come to UK, he also sees the need for more to be done.

The problem is that there are so many needs at the University for so many different students," Karnes says.

Curb ramps have been built at most driveways and street corners, "but we are still working to install more of them," Karnes says.

Telephones and drinking fountains on campus have been lowered, and many phones now have amplifying devices for the hard-of-hearing. The Lexington Lions Club has published a telephone directory in braille, containing the most-called and emergency numbers.

Floor identification numbers have been installed in braille at elevators. But the materials used have been troublesome because the small plastic stickers can easily be torn away. Karnes' office is looking for a more durable material.

Classrooms and other locations also are identified in braille, and handicapped students have been given keys to elevators that normally are locked.

Blazer and Holmes residence halls have been re-designed and equipped for the disabled student. Arrangements have also been made in the dorms for live-in guides for blind students.

Easy-access ramps have been installed in most campus buildings. Just recently, ramps were built and doorways were widened during the renovation of the Funkhouser building.

An advisory committee, headed by Victor Gaines, UK director of affirmative action-employee counseling, is looking at existing facilities and how they can be re-designed for use by the handicapped.

To ease transportation difficulties, two Lextran campus shuttle buses have been equipped with lifts at the doors. Each bus can accommodate five or six wheelchair students, and Karnes said he is working to secure one more elevator-equipped bus.

Handicapped students who drive can park in reserved parking areas on the campus. Although parking continues at a premium on campus, encouraging some non-handicapped use of the special parking areas, most drivers respect the reserved spots.

Karnes, in conjunction with the UK Placement Service, also is working to help handicapped students find jobs when they leave UK. Companies, he said, are beginning to pay more attention to the problem and provide information that will aid the disabled.

Karnes' efforts have even gone into finding special seating for the handicapped at athletic events and concerts.

And in the UK Library, special study rooms and study aids have been provided. These are such things as a television screen magnifier which greatly enlarges and projects onto a screen the page type from any book or document in the library; a large-print typewriter; several different tape recordings; a vari-speed machine that increases the speed of a tape without distortion; sound-proof study booths and recording studios and a number of books, magazines and maps in braille.

A current problem, Karnes says, is finding readers for blind students. Many students volunteer their services, he adds, and the state has made funds available to pay some students for an hour or two a day.

Another need, Karnes says, "is for better accommodation of students with spinal cord injuries. We have about 20 quadriplegic students on campus, and they require personal daily attendant care." Many of these students live at Cardinal Hill Hospital, where they receive more personal attention.

Karnes and others involved in helping the handicapped have written a proposal soliciting help through the Rehabilitation Services Administration for attendant care services in conjunction with a residence hall on campus.

Karnes is assisted in his office by Kathy Taney, a former student who conducts a book recording program for the blind operated by the state Bureau for the Blind. Nearly all requests for interpreters for the deaf are for technical programs at Lexington Technical Institute. An office at LTI headed by Beth Enright is set up to handle such requests.

A few months ago Karnes' office invited the University family and townspeople to spend several minutes to a half-hour traversing the campus in wheelchairs. The invitation was accepted by legislators, city officials and candidates for public office, as well as by faculty, staff and students.

Karnes believes many people have become aware of the problems facing the handicapped. "When people are aware, our job is easier."

Senior Citizen Center Has Thanksgiving Program

An old-fashion Thanksgiving program and dinner was held Nov. 17 and 18 at the E. P. Grigsby Senior Citizen Center, Martin.

The First Thanksgiving story was read by Mrs. Goldia Vance, of Wayland. Cecil Ratliff read "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" and "It Takes a Heap of Livin'," from a book that had been given to her more than 50 years ago. Mrs. Flora Spears read another Thanksgiving poem. Sister Jeanette sang "Bless This House."

Several attended the health clinic that was held on Friday, also.

The new bus has now arrived at the Center with Henry Harvey as driver. All sections of the Right and Left Beavers will be covered. Mondays, the bus will cover the McDowell area, Drift and into Martin; Tuesdays—Prater Creek, Dana and Allen areas; Wednesday—Wayland area, Garrett, Bosco, Maytown, etc.; Thursday—Wheelwright - Weeksbury area; Friday—part of Mud Creek area.

The 5th of each month will be used to take Senior Citizens to Prestonsburg to shop, doctors offices, banks, Social Security, Food Stamp offices. Any problem with transportation should be reported to 285-9573, and talk directly to the Center director.

The E. P. Grigsby Center is open every day except Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m. till 4 p.m. Hot meal daily. Center will be closed Thursday and Friday this week in observance of Thanksgiving.

Soldiers Wanted.

As you know, we need good, young people who want to serve their country. We need some to serve in the United States Army. We may not have a draft. But we still have a need. Army life is not for everyone. You may get up early in the morning, work hard all day, and hit the sack, dog-tired, long after the sun has disappeared. But for those who are up to the discipline Army life demands, the rewards are great. Job training. Good pay. Travel. In-service educational opportunities. And a chance to grow as an individual. If you're interested, give us a call. We think you'll be a better person for it.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Paula Coal Company, Inc., P. O. Box 681, Ashland, Kentucky 41101 intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 273 acres located east of Dewey in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 3 miles southeast of State Route 3's junction with Long Branch Road and located north of Big Branch, latitude 37 degrees 43' 00", longitude 82 degrees 40' 55". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Richmond Heirs & Harkins Mineral Associates. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface mining by top removal, contour cut and hollow fill method.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described strip mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

TALKING ABOUT ALCOHOL

A Public Service Feature Presented By Mountain Comprehensive Care Center

By A. K. WEBB
Alcohol is ancient. The study of it is fresh.

Research into defining alcoholism, why some people who drink too much become alcoholic and others who drink too much don't, and complications with alcohol and the body are being investigated under close scrutiny of knowledgeable persons.

Kentucky has its own gathering of interested people in the form of the Kentucky Alcoholism Council (KAC), formerly known as the Kentucky Association on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (KAAAA). A non-profit organization, KAC is a group of Kentuckians concerned about the alcohol problem within our state who seek constructive solutions for 135,000 of us who have the problem with alcoholism.

The council has a sturdy base of numerous Eastern Kentuckians and has four local members on the board of directors. These include Stephen Knowles, Van Lear resident who is secretary on the board; Frank Layne, of Prestonsburg; Johnson County Judge James Witten and Pike County Attorney Dan Jack Combs.

In the more than five years of operation, the council stirs public and private attention to the alcohol situation. They strive to prevent alcohol problems and try to ensure that those who need treatment find it throughout the state.

An annual event given considerable press and television coverage is the Kentucky Alcohol Forum held recently at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Lexington. The three-day conference provided up-to-date training for professionals and citizens concerned with our third major health disease.

A medical doctor commented that he attended the conference because of the plentiful number of alcohol sufferers he dealt with. "I'm here to find out what alcoholism is and to obtain useful guidance in helping my alcohol patients," the doctor stated.

An alcoholism counselor said conventions of this sort excited him because oftentimes he got to talk with experts researching some aspect of alcoholism which helped him in counseling. "One of the speakers, Dr. Charles Lieber, who is an authority on alcohol and how it affects the liver, gave me greater insight on his new development of a blood test capable of diagnosing a heavy drinker," said the counselor.

Father Joseph Martin, guest speaker at the banquet, said that alcoholism is a family disease, all members affected when one member drinks. "We know what causes drinking; we don't know what causes alcoholism," said the man who is somewhat of a celebrity in the alcoholism field.

He went on to compare the alternatives to drinking that are available. "For example, if I decided that I wanted to be a doctor tomorrow and prayed earnestly that God would make me one I think his answer would be, 'Fine. Go to medical school!'"

When we decide to quit drinking, there are many places to go to for help. If you want to get involved, write Kentucky Alcoholism Council, 628 North Broadway, Lexington, Kentucky 40506, or call 254-2761.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Hawley Warrens, want to express our deepest appreciation and gratitude to all those who sent flowers and food and the many friends and neighbors for their time and sympathy during the recent illness and passing of our beloved husband and father. Many thanks to the nurses of McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital, who answered his every need, and to Dr. Sara who did all she could to help. Also, to Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their kindness and service. May God bless all of you.
His wife, Dorothy,
and family.

To the People of Dist. 4:

I want to take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude and appreciation to the people who elected me magistrate of District 4. I want to thank all the county officials and precinct workers in my district who gave generously their support, time and energy in the effort that realized our victory. I want to give a special thanks to the acting secretary for our campaign, by making our position intelligible and accessible in this journal throughout the primary. To these people I am deeply grateful and greatly indebted.

But I want to reassure those who didn't vote for me that I will not neglect their needs. It is the duty of an elected official to serve all the people. This I will do. I feel that I can work with the Democratic county officials in meeting the needs of my district within the scope of my office. Throughout my campaign I have spoken "Progress" for District 4. This I will do. I will make every effort to prove that the people, who voiced their preference at the polls, have not spoken unwisely.

Thanks again, people of District 4, for practicing good voting habits and electing me for your Magistrate on the Democratic Ticket. Your problem is my problem, feel free to call me any time, day or night. 587-2559.

ELDER HERSHEL HAMILTON
Magistrate-Elect, Dist. 4
(1t.)

THANKSGIVING SUGGESTIONS

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Most Kentucky families will dine royally, this Thanksgiving Day. There will be roast turkey, dressing smelling of onions and sage, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, creamed peas, oyster dressing or maybe scalloped oysters, relishes, salads, jams and jellies, cakes and pies and the like. Be thankful.

Sometimes Kentuckians have a way of making gourmet foods from uncommonly common dishes, like soup-beans and ham chunks or cornbread and gravy. For those who like to adorn the Thanksgiving table or buffet with one or more of the delicious, delectable, mouth-watering dishes that might not always make it on the menu alongside the Lobster Newburg, Quail a la Cendre or broiled Ptarmigan, how about:

Skillet fried Kentucky country ham. Place slices of ham in skillet, spread plain mustard on each slice and sprinkle brown sugar over this. Fry a few minutes on one side, then turn ham and repeat the mustard and brown sugar on this side and fry a few minutes longer. If biscuit gravy is desired, tip the coffee pot a bit and pour about half a cup in the ham leavings.

Fried bananas, as prepared by Loula Speed in Lake Cumberland country. Peel three bananas and cut in half lengthwise. Roll in flour mixed with salt and pepper. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in skillet, arrange banana halves and sprinkle with brown sugar. Fry until brown underneath, then turn to fry other side.

Kentucky crackling bread. Sift together 2 cups cornmeal, a bit of salt and half teaspoon soda. Add 1 cup buttermilk and 1 cup diced cracklings, then form into cakes and bake on greased baking sheet or bake in cornbread pan at 450 degrees for 30 minutes.

Saratoga Chips as prepared by the Missionary Society of the Mt. Washington M. E. Church in 1917. Slice large potatoes thin, dry between cloths, each slice separated. Drop a slice at a time into hot lard. Lift out when dry and salt lightly. That same year Mrs. Lucien Porter told how to make a one egg cake: 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup sweet cream, 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 tsp. baking powder, 2 teaspoons flavoring. Mix and bake the usual way.

Other goodies from the Mt. Washington ladies of the Missionary Society of 1917 include pies. Mrs. Claude Anderson offered Amber Pie: 4 eggs, 1 cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup jam. For Cottage Pie, Mrs. W. F. Markwell said to take 3 eggs, two-thirds cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 1 1/2 cups cream, 2 tablespoons flour, mix and bake as other pies.

As everyone knows, fancy fixins have a way of losing their appeal after so long and then it's back to fried potatoes, corn pone and that old standby folks used to call Poor Man's gravy. Plain food could grace a table day-in, and no one would say a word.

What hunter would complain or teenager gripe if when reaching yard gate or sidewalk to home the aroma is one of potatoes frying along with skillet ham. The only thing better is the fragrance of homemade light bread as it permeates the neighborhood and makes everyone hungry.

Ah, the beauty of the simple things, the plain foods, family and friends. Add familiar hills, yards, fields and hollows and nothing to do but look up and say, "Thank You."

Don't fuss around this year trying to fancy up the table. What could be more elegant in a downhome way than walnuts, hickory nuts and autumn leaves for a centerpiece or an arrangement of oranges, apples, bananas and a pineapple for hospitality.

U. S. Forest Service To Accept Applications

Applications for seasonal and summer jobs during the 1978 calendar year will be accepted by the U. S. Forest Service between December 1, 1977 and January 15, 1978.

Officials at the Forest Service regional office in Atlanta said applications will be accepted for jobs as aids and technicians in forestry, range, engineering, surveying, biological science, hydrology and physical science.

Applicants need to specify their availability for seasonal or summer employment or both. Seasonal employment is for applicants who are available for temporary employment any time during the calendar year. Summer employment is for the period between May 12 and September 30. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age at the time they report for work.

Further information about the jobs and application forms can be obtained by writing Forest Service - Temporary Employment, 1720 Peachtree Rd. N. W., Atlanta, Georgia 30309.

Alcoholism Classes Said Well-Attended

Good attendance and high interest has marked both sessions of "A Community Looking at Alcoholism" at Pikeville College with speakers Ray Daugherty, Executive Director of Kentucky Alcoholism Council (KAC) and Pike county attorney Dan Jack Combs.

The next class meeting scheduled on Tuesday, November 29, will involve alcohol and medical aspects. Dr. Mary Fox, Medical Director at the Pike County Health Department, will be the featured speaker for the evening.

Dr. Fox will lecture on alcoholism and its effect on body organs, in particular the brain, lungs, and liver.

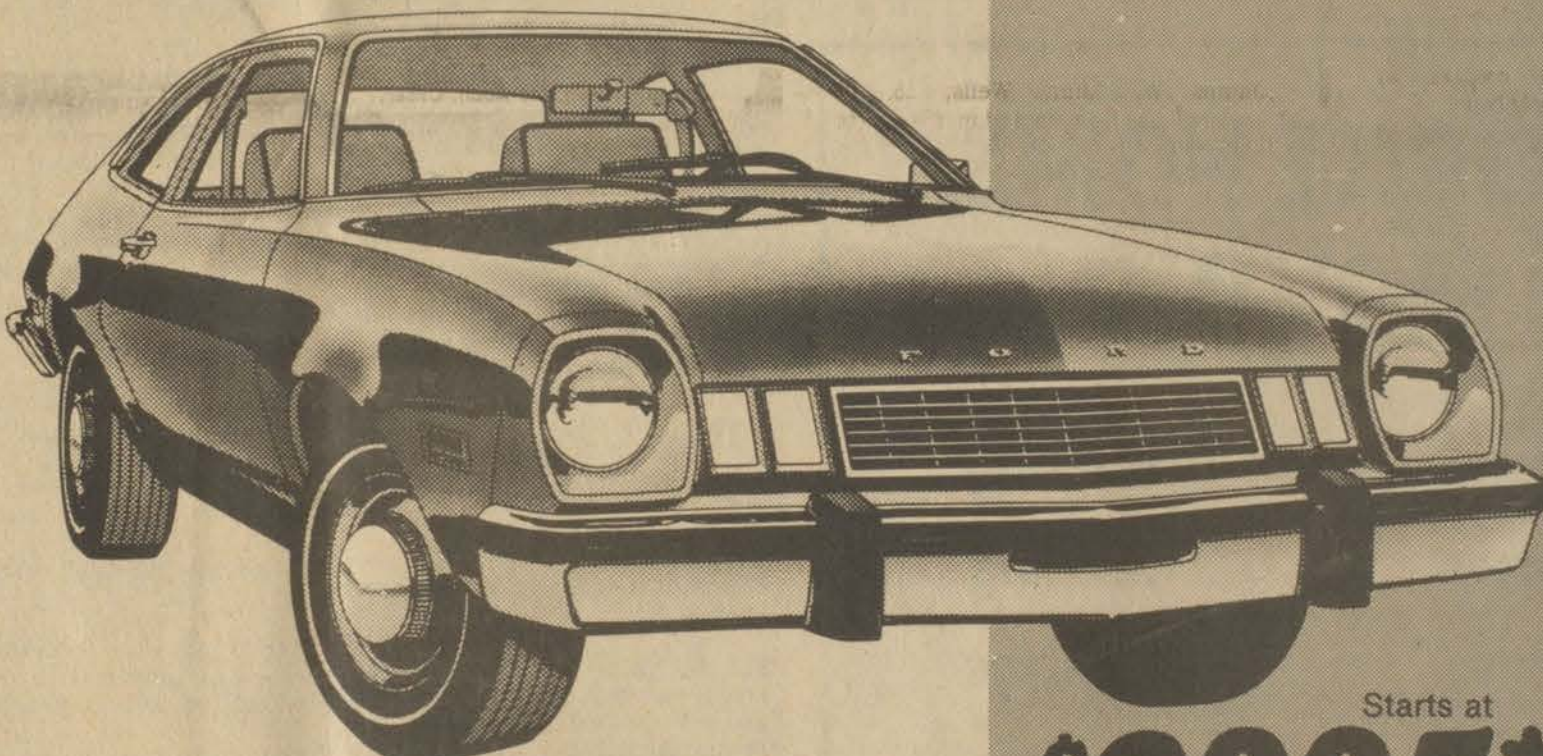

Dr. Fox became interested in the alcohol situation here because of her work in the public health field and involvement with Mountain Comprehensive Care Center. She has seen many individuals suffering from the illness.

When asked her opinion of alcoholism, Dr. Fox replied, "I have no opinion. I only know it is a problem, a major health problem."

A setback in the drinking dilemma are denials of the problem from both alcoholics and those who aren't.

Big Sandy CAP Programs Get Federal Funds

Secretary for Human Resources Peter D. Conn has announced that four Eastern Kentucky Community Action Agencies (CAA's) will receive federal grants totalling $2,123,387. The agencies and grants are:

—Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, Paintsville, a grant of $1,155,337 to provide funds for the agency's full year, part day; full year, full day and summer Head Start programs, for a period of 12 months, and a second grant of $204,000 to continue for 12 month programs already in operation.

—Lake Cumberland Community Services Organization, Inc., Somerset, $207,204 to continue for six months programs already in operation, including a Senior Opportunities Program.

—Daniel Boone Development Council, Manchester, $85,000 to continue for six months programs already in operation. —Leslie, Knott, Letcher, Perry Community Action Council, Inc., Hazard, a grant of $381,000 to continue for nine months programs already in operation, and a second grant of $90,846 to provide funds for six months for the agency's weatherization program.

Senior Opportunities programs offer social activities to underprivileged elderly people. Hot meals, craft workshops and games are some of the many functions offered to older persons in this program.

Weatherization programs repair and improve energy savings of the homes of elderly and low-income people. The purpose of these programs is to lessen the impact of high fuel costs to individuals and families and to reduce the amount of energy their homes consume.

Head Start programs provide pre-school training for children from low-income families. Under federal guidelines, these programs also provide nutritional, medical, social and dental services the children might require.

CAA's also provide emergency food and medical services, and training for poverty-level youth. CAA's are local administrative units which operate on a regional basis. They are an outgrowth of the former Office of Economic Opportunity.

The funds are awarded under the Head Start, Economic Opportunity and Community Partnership Act of 1974.

MSU Names Wells Sports Info Director

James W. (Jim) Wells, 25, of Morehead, has been named men's sports information director at Morehead State University, effective Nov. 21.

Wells received the bachelor's and master's degrees from MSU, and has served since January, 1975 as a staff writer in the University's Office of News Services. He succeeds Randy L. Stacy, who has been appointed sports information director at Tennessee Tech.

Wells was a baseball student manager for four years and a graduate assistant in track and field. At MSU he majored in journalism and business administration.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary L. Wells, of Morehead, and the late Milford "Toodles" Wells.

U. of L. Group Schedules Crime Prevention Seminar

A "Crime Prevention Seminar for Citizens" designed for people who want to reduce the crime rate in their neighborhoods will be offered Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 by the National Crime Prevention Institute (NCPI) of the University of Louisville.

The seminar will be held at NCPI's headquarters on U of L's Shelby Campus, 9001 Shelbyville Road.

Doyle Shackelford, assistant professor of police administration at U of L and community development specialist with NCPI, said the two-day course is the first of its kind ever offered by the institute.

Since its inception in 1971, the institute has trained about 3,500 law enforcement officers from throughout the nation in crime prevention techniques, and it has also worked with citizens' groups, advising them on how to establish neighborhood crime prevention programs. But this is the first time a special training session for citizens has ever been offered.

Those attending the seminar will learn how they can organize an effective program, Shackelford said. They will be given the tools with which to identify what kind of program is best for them and to establish a successful program.

The seminar will be open to anyone interested in starting such a program or to members of existing programs who want to improve them.

Interested persons may register by contacting NCPI, University of Louisville, Shelby Campus, Louisville, Ky. 40222. The registration fee is $85, and the registration deadline is Nov. 25.

Further information may be obtained by calling NCPI at 502-588-6987.

Carter Energy Package May Mean More Jobs In Coal Fields Area

Stating that "Appalachia is the Saudi Arabia of coal," Vice President Walter F. Mondale urged greater use of the nation's coal resources to help meet the current energy crisis during an Oct. 27-29 Appalachian Conference on Balanced Growth and Economic Development at Charleston, West Virginia.

Mondale, the conference's keynote speaker, told an Oct. 28 dinner gathering of some 500 persons that to allow the country's dependence on foreign oil to grow is similar to "closing down the U.S. Army." He stated that the nation has the means to combat the energy crisis and that Appalachia could lead the way because of the area's vast coal reserves.

The vice president said the country should reduce present energy consumption and convert to greater coal usage. However, he added that the nation should learn from past mistakes and protect the lives, health and safety of the men and women who work in the coal mines.

He noted, too, that while growth should be permitted, people should "insist" that land and communities not be destroyed in the quest for coal.

Mondale said that the United States will spend $45 billion this year alone for imported oil, an amount which accounts for 10 per cent of the entire federal budget. He said the bill could rise to $100 billion within a few years unless the energy crisis is solved.

The vice president said President Carter's energy package could mean more than 100,000 new jobs in Appalachia's coal mines and thousands more jobs in coal-related industries. The plan is now under construction by Congress.

CANCER Answerline American Cancer Society

(A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.)

A hardware store salesman explains: "a lot of my customers keep telling me to quit smoking, but nobody tells me how. It's a tough habit to shake!"

ANSWER line: A quick call or visit to your American Cancer Society Unit will provide you with "how to" information and perhaps an invitation to a smoking withdrawal program. For the moment, how about these ideas? Pick a Q (Quit) day and just quit. If you can't, smoke one less cigarette a day. Make each cigarette you smoke a special decision and put off making the decision. Tell your friends, customers and family that you are quitting because a public commitment bolsters willpower. Did you know that your food will taste better? Every time you are inclined to smoke ask yourself: lung cancer? heart disease? emphysema? Are cigarettes worth lung cancer or heart disease or emphysema?

A Sunbelt resident asks: "Is too much sun the only cause of skin cancer?"

ANSWER line: While excessive sun exposure is the major—and preventable—cause of much skin cancer, some cases are caused by exposure to other kinds of radiation. Cancer-causing chemicals, e.g., arsenic, burns, and a genetic predisposition can also act in the development of skin cancer. Fortunately, most skin cancers, because they are so highly visible, are detected while the disease is in an early stage and are therefore highly curable. Because of your place of residence, you should be especially careful about sun exposure.

A day care center worker asks: "How accurate is the Pap test?"

ANSWER line: The Pap test is a quick and painless procedure during which a sample of vaginal fluid and cells scraped from the surface of the cervix are collected for later microscopic examination. It is almost 100 per cent accurate in detecting cancer of the uterine cervix (the neck of the womb). The test can actually detect cancer before the onset of symptoms. There is, however, another kind of uterine cancer, endometrial cancer, which begins in the lining of the womb. The Pap test is only about 60 percent effective in detecting this kind of uterine cancer. There are other techniques that are used to detect endometrial cancer and they can also be performed in a physician's office or clinic. Nonetheless, Pap tests are important for women from the time they become sexually active throughout life. To safeguard her health, each woman should have routine pelvic examinations including a Pap test and whatever other tests her physician suggests. This is important because when uterine cancer is detected in an early stage, the chances of cure are excellent.

A computer programmer asks: "What is thermography?"

ANSWER line: Thermography is a way of recording the heat patterns of the skin. While it is not as reliable as other methods (such as breast x-rays and physical examination), thermography is used in conjunction with them to detect possible breast cancer. Abnormalities within the breast raise the temperature of the affected area and it is this change that thermography is able to register.

To Increase Food Stamp Allotments

WASHINGTON—Food stamp allotments will be increased between 2 per cent and 3 per cent on Jan. 1 to help the poor with higher food prices expected next spring, the Agriculture Department said last week.

The program allows for inflation adjustments every six months.

About 5.13 million families receive food stamps at an annual cost to the federal government of about $5.4 billion. The caseload has declined since April 1975.

After Jan. 1, a family of three with a monthly income of $220 after paying its rent, utilities and other basic expenses would pay $58 to get $138 worth of food stamps. A family of three with an after-expenses monthly income of $460 would be eligible for food stamps.

Your shopping cart can tell you a lot about your electric bill.

Like food and everything else you buy these days, inflation has hit us, too.

So, it would be easy to blame inflation for rising electric rates and leave it at that.

And, for sure, inflation has doubled and tripled the cost of everything from towers and transformers to coal and cable.

Take coal, the single largest operating expense in our business. Its cost has gone up fourfold and more in the seventies.

But the reasons for rising rates go beyond those everyday expenses.

Pollution control devices like precipitators must be installed to help keep our air clean as this coal is burned.

And those devices cost millions. Installing them in existing plants can cost as much or more than the original plant.

Of course, power plants cost a lot more today, too. And, to keep up with your needs, more of them will be needed.

Which means money must be borrowed to build them. But even that's more expensive these days.

Interest rates and construction costs have doubled in the last ten years.

Obviously, keeping up with these rising costs and trying to stay ahead of the steadily growing need for electricity isn't easy.

But, by sharing the facts and problems as well as the good things electricity brings, we hope you'll better understand some of the forces that have made your electric bill go up.

Your corporation can buy your life insurance with tax deductible dollars.

Advantages both ways. It's good for the corporation regardless of size, because the premiums for life insurance on corporate-owners, executives, key employees... all employees... are tax deductible as a business expense under a recent government regulation. So the employee gets the benefit of increased compensation, up to $50,000 in term life insurance purchased by the corporation, with no current income tax liability for either party! The employee can even have permanent life insurance, retain the cash values and benefits, and pay only the tax on the premium. It's a good concept.

Now, all you need is a little help to do something about it. Kansas City Life, The Lioness, would like to introduce you to one of our people who knows the ins-and-outs of this new concept.

Our people have a Concept 79 Planning Kit which provides you with an easy way to understand and plan this new benefit program for you and your employees.

Scholarship Winner

Robert Curtis Hughes, who graduated summer cum laude in pre-med from Transylvania University, Lexington, in May, 1977, has been awarded the Southern Medical Association Scholarship for freshmen medical school students at the University of Louisville School of Medicine for the fall semester of 1977. He is the son of Fayette Wells Hughes and the late G. Arthur Hughes, former manager of the R. H. Hobbs Co. here.

Ext. Service Budget Cuts Said Not UK's

University of Kentucky President Otis Singletary has dismissed as "errant absolute nonsense" rumors that the University has been undercutting the agricultural extension service by reducing its budget.

Singletary, speaking before a special Legislative Research Commission (LRC) committee on appropriations and revenue, blamed cuts in the extension budget on the Council on Higher Education and on the legislature. Many problems that exist with extension today, Singletary said, "would not exist if the money had been appropriated."

The Cooperative Extension Service provides agricultural assistance and home economics, 4-H and community development education to rural areas, and to urban residents and businessmen through its extension agents. The salaries of Kentucky extension agents rank 49th among the 50 states.

Charles Barnhart, director of extension services, said the University of Kentucky's current budget request contains a $954,000 request to bring the agents' salaries up to the 1975-1976 fiscal year average.

Singletary said, "As our budget goes through the mill everything gets cut and agriculture is no exception." He said that agriculture had not been shortchanged by the university administration.

Singletary however, opposed a suggestion that the legislature "line-item" appropriations for the extension department. Singletary said any attempt to specifically appropriate funds solely for the use of the extension department (line-item) would limit the university's ability to "take what resources are available to us" and apply them wherever they are needed.

In other action at the Nov. 17 meeting, the committee asked for legislation to be drawn up to create a legislative committee to oversee the award of personal service contracts; for legislation to be presented at the next meeting which would create a $200 million Coal-Grain Transportation Authority to sell bonds to finance coal and grain railroad cars and lease them to railroads, and heard an LRC report which said that about $160 million in state funds and $20 million in local funds would be required to bring teachers' salaries to the level of seven surrounding states.

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY SOCIETY IN MEETING

The East Kentucky Society for Medical Technology met Nov. 15 at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville. A business meeting was held, setting the years goals and plans for a Christmas party. A slide and tape program on abnormal hematology was presented by Mary Jo Blackburn, MT (ASCP). Charles V. Ormerod, of Physicians' Laboratory, attended the meet.

Private Church Schools Win Round in Continuing Battle

A temporary injunction granted parents, pastors and the Kentucky Association of Christian Schools, Nov. 15, will prevent state and local school officials from enforcing state truancy laws.

Stating that a greater harm could be done to individuals prosecuted for truancy violations than would be done to the state if the laws are not immediately enforced, Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs issued the injunction until such time as a lawsuit filed by the association, parents, ministers and church schools is heard.

The lawsuit charges that the state law which authorizes regulation of private schools by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education is unconstitutionally vague and violates the First Amendment right to exercise religious freedom.

Ed Fossett, attorney for the Kentucky Department of Education, argued that the Christian school representatives had not clearly shown that their constitutional rights had been violated.

The controversy began last spring when the State Board of Education refused to accredit 20 Christian schools in the state. During the same meeting, the board did accredit more than 200 private and parochial schools.

Representatives of the Christian schools charge that requiring their schools to meet minimum state standards interferes with their right to operate a school in accordance with their religious beliefs.

Speaking in behalf of the Christian schools, several witnesses attested to their religious beliefs and explained why they were not willing to abide by state accreditation standards. One witness, the Rev. C. C. Hinton, of the Saline Christian Academy in Somerset, said, "The state cannot approve what God has told me to do."

The Rev. Mr. Hinton, when asked about teacher education requirements, said, "All of our teachers must be saved, they must confess Jesus Christ as their personal savior" and "they must adhere to church and school standards of conduct."

Fossett emphasized that state standards of accreditation did not limit the additional requirements that schools could place upon their teachers but did require that certain academic standards be met.

The requirements that state-approved textbooks be used in the schools was another area of contention. The Rev. Guy Goodell of the Frankfort Baptist Tabernacle Christian School said they chose textbooks "on the basis of their inspired fidelity to God." He said the state-approved list of textbooks offered no alternative to the teacher who wanted to teach the creation theory in biology.

Mrs. Terry Hicks, a parent from Owensboro, said her children are enrolled in the Owensboro Christian Academy because they receive moral training and are taught the word of God in addition to being exposed to the same subjects they would be taught in public schools.

The case is tentatively scheduled to be heard next April.

WASHINGTON—President Rutherford B. Hayes was quite religious. His family held prayer readings daily after breakfast and often had Sunday night hymn-singing sessions at the White House.

Education Ass'n Board Okehs Survey, Canvass

The November meeting of the Floyd County Education Association's executive board was held recently at the Martin Elementary School.

The board approved the distribution of FCEA surveys to Floyd county educators. The survey, designed to ascertain the association's strengths and weaknesses, as well as teachers' preferences, was distributed in each school by the district directors. Arrangements were also made to canvass each educator for KEPAC contributions and pledges.

To boost promotion of the 1978 KEA legislative program, the FCEA executive board voted unanimously to participate in a statewide advertising campaign designed to increase teacher concern. Johnny Maddox, president, was authorized to purchase both bumper stickers and county billboard space.

The FCEA's executive board will meet next at the Martin School on December 5.

Attending the board meeting were Johnny Maddox, president; Shelby Draughn, president-elect; Ruth Ann Blanton, vice president; Nadine Hicks, secretary; Blanche Dingus, Bertha Ratliff, Forrest Curry and Janice Allen, district directors; Phillip Dingus, KEA executive board member, and Betty Rowland, KEA field worker.

Vocational School Students To Get Guidance Services

Students enrolled in Kentucky's vocational-technical schools will benefit from improved guidance services under a new unit created in the state Department of Education's Bureau of Vocational Education. The unit will cater to the specific needs of students in vocational education programs.

Gary Steinhilber, director of the new vocational guidance unit, said all of the state's vocational-technical schools have a guidance counselor who assists students in planning their curriculum and with problems related to school work. "The new set-up will pay dividends to students because they will receive direct and more personal services and will be placed in vocational programs which will develop individual skills," he said.

"I don't want the counselors to get away from working with the students," said Steinhilber. "Counselors should work with students in orientation, individually and in group counseling. They should also coordinate testing programs, assist students in assessing their abilities and evaluate their progress in school," he said. "It is a part of the counselor's job to let the student know where he stands so that the student can make decisions concerning his career."

According to Steinhilber, emphasis is being placed in instructing students on how to get a job when they leave school. This includes interviewing for a job and completing job applications. The bureau has heard from employers of vocational students that many graduates lack these skills. "However, the employers praise the vocational skills the students are taught in our schools," said Steinhilber.

The vocational guidance counselors also are working with instructors to stress the instilling of acceptable job habits and attitudes in students. Steinhilber noted, "This is another area which needs more attention, according to employers."

The Bureau of Vocational Education has received $198,000 in federal funds to improve guidance services for vocational students. Steinhilber said the primary activities of the unit are to:

—Develop and implement a plan for improving the guidance and counseling services for students enrolled in state vocational technical schools and area centers.

—Assist in developing and implementing plans for program improvement and support services.

—Review and recommend for approval, guidance programs to be budgeted from vocational education funds.

—Encourage the development of vocational guidance activities at the elementary, secondary, and post-secondary levels.

—Assist in monitoring and evaluating guidance programs.

Steinhilber said he is working closely with the state education department's division of guidance and social work. He was employed by that division for nine years prior to his present job. Steinhilber's counterpart and contact person in that division is Dr. Bill Braden who coordinates occupational guidance programs. Braden's position is new in the division.

"As guidance counselors we want to prevent students from dropping out of school, especially vocational school," Steinhilber said. "Statistics indicate that in 10 years about eight out of 10 jobs will not require a baccalaureate degree. There is an increasing demand for clerical workers, health occupations personnel, technical employees—jobs that do not require a baccalaureate degree," he said.

Betsy Layne Girls Win Net Honors

Three members of the Betsy Layne girls' basketball team were honored at the conclusion of the Tom Wiley Invitational Tournament held last week here. Pictured from left to right they include: Mary Stumbo, Most Valuable Player, Individual Free Throw, All-Tournament and Best Defensive Player, and Vicky Watkins and Carla Hammonds, both named to the All-Tournament squad. The Betsy Layne girls boast of a 6-1 win-loss record.

Betsy Layne Girls Win

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Betsy Layne girls won the Tom Wiley Girls' Invitational Tournament and also got revenge for an earlier defeat as they won over the Prestonsburg girls, 70 to 40, for the championship last week at the Prestonsburg fieldhouse. The McDowell Daredeviltes won third place honors by defeating the Allen Central Rebelletes by 48 to 46.

The Tom Wiley tournament began last Wednesday night with McDowell winning over Wheelwright, 72 to 61. Delores Martin ripped the nets for 29 points and Renee DeRossett scored 19 as McDowell won their fourth straight game. Wheelwright was led in scoring by Kim Hall with 20 and Tammy Hamby with 17. This was Wheelwright's first loss and their record is now 2 and 1.

In the second game Prestonsburg rolled over the Magoffin county girls, 65 to 45, as 6-1½ junior center, Dee Dee Music, led the Cats on the boards as well as in scoring with 27 points, Sherri Allen came up with a fine game and scored 20 points for Prestonsburg, and Lisa Borders had 18 points. Thursday night, the Betsy Layne girls defeated Paintsville, 66-39. Mary Stumbo led the winners with 19 points and Carla Hammonds controlled the boards and had 13 points. The Allen Central Rebelletes defeated Johnson Central, 56 to 44. Allen Central was led by Martin with 13 points. In the semi-finals Friday, the Prestonsburg girls defeated McDowell, 62 to 46. Again the big gun for the Cats was All-Stater Dee Dee Music with 24 points, Renee DeRossett led the McDowell attack with 16 points. In the semi-finals Allen Central lost to Betsy Layne, 69 to 47 as Mary Stumbo poured in 28 points and Pam Clark connected for 12 points. Toby Spradlin had 16 points for Allen Central. In the consolation game McDowell won, 48 to 46. Brenda Hamilton scored 14 points, Terri Hamilton had 13 and Melinda Hopkins connected for 12 points. For Allen Central Roby Spradlin connected for 14 points.

In the championship game the Betsy Layne girls got off to a good start against Prestonsburg and never trailed. Betsy Layne led at halftime, 32 to 13 and won it, 70 to 40. Mary Stumbo connected for 24 points and Pam Clark had 18 while Vicki Salisbury and Carla Hammonds each had 9 points. Prestonsburg was led in scoring by Dee Dee Music with 17 points.

In the presentation of the trophies Mary Stumbo of Betsy Layne walked away with the most silverware. She won the Most Valuable Player Award, Best Defensive Award, the Individual Free Shot Trophy and was selected on the all-tournament team. Dee Dee Music was the winner of the Best Offensive Trophy, the Best Rebounder Trophy and was selected on the all-tournament team. Team Free Shot Trophy went to McDowell. Sportsmanship was awarded to Wheelwright. Cheerleaders first-place trophy was won by Prestonsburg, and the second-place trophy by Johnson Central.

Area High Schoolers To Attend Alice Lloyd College Career Fest

Pippa Passes, Ky.—More than 700 area high school seniors are expected to attend a Career Festival next Wednesday (Nov. 30) at Alice Lloyd College. Purpose of the festival, according to Gary Medlin, ALC guidance counselor and festival organizer, is to provide seniors with more information about the job market, especially in eastern Kentucky, as well as information about specific careers.

About 30 representatives of occupations ranging from physician to coal miner, and corporate executive to welder, will be available to talk to students in the ALC gymnasium from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All high school seniors are invited to attend.

B Team All Stars Defeat A Team, 8-6

The Floyd County B team elementary All-Stars defeated the Floyd county A team All-Stars in football 8 to 6 in a hard fought game that went to the final second. The A team stars scored as time ran out but were unable to make the conversion against a strong B team defense.

Quarterback Eddie Johnson, of Osborne elementary threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to Roger Tackett for the B team score. Johnson scored the extra two points.

Alice Lloyd Cagers Win One of Three

Pippa Passes.—At the end of last week, the Alice Lloyd College Eagles had won one and lost two, with the single win against Bristol Community College in the season opener and the losses against Lindsey Wilson and the Cumberland J. V.

"We had an unusually high number of errors combined with a shooting slump," said Eagles Coach Dan Wilson, adding that he expects a great deal of improvement in upcoming games.

The Eagles' next home game is set for Thursday, Dec. 8 in a re-match with Cumberland.

Coaches Share Recollections

Eastern Kentucky basketball luminaries met at Alice Lloyd College last week to relive seasons past. Their recollections of the beginnings of basketball in the mountains were tape-recorded for use in the college's Oral History Project. The meeting was jointly sponsored by the Oral History Project and the Division of Community Programs. College officials plan to schedule interviews with the participants individually in order to provide a more detailed account of the beginnings of the round ball game in the mountains. Those attending the meeting, facing the camera from left, are:

Ed Madden, former coach at Knott County High School, and current assistant superintendent of Knott County schools; Gurney Adams, a member of the 1928 Carr Creek basketball team and a retired school teacher now living at Carr Fork; John Campbell, basketball coach at Garrett High School for 32 years; Goebel Ritter, former coach at Neon and Hazard, now assistant superintendent of Letcher county schools; Gordon Moore, former sports writer, now a supervisor with the Floyd county school system; Pearl Combs, retired coach at Hindman High School; Roy G. Eversole, former coach and principal at Hazard High School, and superintendent of Perry county schools, now at the People's Bank in Hazard; Morton Combs, former Carr Creek coach, now superintendent of Knott county schools; Joe Gilly, former Harlan High School coach, now retired and living in Maryland; Willard "Sprout" Johnson, former assistant Carr Creek coach, now retired and living at Carr Creek; Foster "Tubby" Calhoun, former Hindman High School assistant coach and Knott county judge-elect. George Conley, former Ashland High School coach, now a coal executive living in Ashland, was not pictured.

Boys' Basketball Play

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg Blackcats, Wheelwright Trojans and Betsy Layne Bobcats opened their 1977-78 basketball seasons last week with wins, while McDowell High suffered its first loss of the season and Allen Central had another setback.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats rolled to their first and second wins last week by defeating Millard 70 to 64, and Feds Creek, 69 to 54. The Wheelwright Trojans opened their schedule under new Coach Ken Newman Friday night by defeating Magoffin county, 65 to 59. The Betsy Layne Bobcats opened up Saturday night by defeating Dorton, 71 to 39.

McDowell lost for the first time this season at Sheldon Clark in an overtime, 70 to 65. Allen Central lost its third game of the season to Knott County Central.

The 16th annual Jenny Wiley Invitational tournament begins here tonight. Seven of the eight teams are the same as last season, with Magoffin county replacing Elkhorn City in the only change.

In tonight's opener at 7 o'clock, Betsy Layne (1-0) plays Johnson Central, which will be playing its first game. McDowell, sporting a 5-1 won lost mark, meets Johns Creek (0-0) in the second game of the evening.

Thursday's 7 p.m. opener has defending champion Allen Central (1-3) matched against Pikeville (0-0) and in the final game of the first round host Prestonsburg (2-0) is pitted against Magoffin county (3-3).

The semi-finals will be staged at 7 and 8:45 p.m. Friday and the consolation and final games are set for the same time Saturday.

The scoring:

Betsy Layne (72)—Ricky Ferrell 32, Steve Jones 18, Mike Williams 10, Ronnie Akers 5, James Mullins 2, Darrell Newsome 1, Joey Reynolds 2, Gary Kidd 2.

PRESERVING OUR HERITAGE, Kentucky Heritage Commission archeologists measure a stone chimney (above) standing in the ruins of an early residence in the Red River Gorge. Other examples of structures being preserved by commission activities are Glendale Bridge (bottom right), an 1890 iron bridge over the Nolin River in Hardin County, and the Col. Thomas Deye Owings House in Bath County, with a Federalist spiral stairway (bottom left) showing important architectural details. Preserving our heritage is the duty of the Kentucky Heritage Commission, but it's also the responsibility of all Kentucky citizens. National Historic Preservation Week, May 8-14, deserves Kentuckians' support. (Photos by Kentucky Department of Public Information)

IN MEMORIAM

(In memory of John F. Pennington, husband of Cora Gibson Pennington)

One year has passed and gone since you had to leave us all alone, but today without you I will have to linger on, in my heart, I can't believe that you are gone from our home. Oh, what heartaches and loneliness are left in the home for your voice we can't hear, your hands we can't touch, but in our hearts we miss you very much. The memories of all our happy years we had together. We shared our love with you, and you are missed very much by wife, Cora, children, and friends.

IN MEMORIAM

(In memory of Larry Dean Spencer on his 28th birthday, Nov. 27):

I miss your smile, your ways, so sweet, Your memory I will always keep. I know your birthday this year will be happy with God up there. I will remember you as time goes on; I'll never forget you, no matter how long. I'll keep waiting for the day to come when I can be with you in our new home.

Sadly missed by sister,
MRS. SUE FLANNERY

Deposits for additional sets by bidding contractors and by parties not making legal bids to the Owner will be returned less a reproduction and handling charge of $37.50 upon receipt of plans and specifications unmarked and in good condition within two weeks after the bids are opened. Deposits will not be refunded under any other condition.

Plan sheets may be purchased by manufacturers, suppliers, and subcontractors at a cost of $1.00 per sheet and pertinent specifications may be obtained without charge, but only on written request where sheet and page numbers are listed by the party making the request. No refund will be made for individual plan sheets.

Sealed proposals for this contract shall be clearly marked on the outside of the envelope as follows:
"Sealed Proposal for Contract I - Sanitary Sewerage System or Contract II - Phase One Development, Schoolhouse Hollow, David Community Development Corporation, Inc., David, Kentucky, not to be opened until 2:00 P.M., Local Time, Thursday, December 8, 1977."

If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the proposal must be enclosed in another envelope and mailed to the David Community Development Corporation, Inc., P. O. Box 51, David, Kentucky 41616 allowing sufficient time for such mailing to reach this address prior to the scheduled closing time for receipt of proposals.

Bids shall be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond made payable to the David Community Development Corporation, Inc., David, Kentucky, in an amount not less than five per cent (5 pct.) of the base bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of Ninety (90) Days after the date bids are opened. He may, however, withdraw his bid at any time prior to the time and date scheduled for opening of same or any authorized postponement thereof. Any bid received after the time and date specified shall not be considered and will be returned unopened to the bidder.

The Contractor's attention is called to the fact that funds will be made available through a DHUG Grant, an ARC Grant, a FmHA Grant, and a loan from the Housing Assistance Corporation for the construction of this project.

Work to be performed by Contractors involved in this project is subject to the minimum wage rates established by the U.S. Department of Labor under the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act and the Kentucky Department of Labor, as set forth in Chapter 337 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes (per amendments adopted by the 1970 General Assembly.) Contractors will be required to pay whichever minimum wage rate is higher for the individual crafts.

Both Federal and State wage rate determinations will be incorporated into the specifications by an addendum issued prior to the scheduled bidding date.

Bidders must comply with the President's Executive Order Nos. 11246 and 11375, which prohibit discrimination in employment regarding race, creed, color, sex or national origin. Where the President's Executive Order No. 11246 is shown, Executive Order No. 11375 also applies.

Bidders must comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Anti-Kickback Act and the Contract Work Hours Standard Act.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR CERTIFICATION OF NONSEGREGATED FACILITIES

The Bidder will submit, as a part of the Proposal Form a Certification of Non-segregated Facilities. The certification provides that the bidder or offeror does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure of a bidder or offeror to agree to the Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities will render his bid or offer nonresponsive to the terms of solicitations involving awards of contracts exceeding $10,000, which are not exempt from the provisions of the Equal Opportunity Clause.

The David Community Development Corporation, Inc. may consider informal any bid not prepared and submitted in accordance with the provisions of this advertisement and/or the specifications and may waive any informalities or reject any and all bids.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT

My family and I wish to thank all who voted for and supported me in this past General Election for District Judge.

We had many friends and relatives who worked many long, hard hours to help me get elected. To these people we wish to extend a special thanks.

I have no malice toward any person who supported my opponent, because this is a democracy, and this is the American way.

I will try to make you a good, honest District Judge.
