

Detention Center To Serve Region

State Assumes Operation Here Of New Facility

The fight which the late Judge Henry Stumbo began months ago to place upon the state the responsibility for operation of the juvenile detention center here apparently has been won.

Judge Stumbo's daughter and successor in the office of county judge-executive, Yvonne S. Jones, was notified last Wednesday by Jack C. Lewis, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources, that the detention center, to be housed in the new Courthouse Annex, will be operated by the department as a regional detention center, serving Floyd, Martin, Johnson, Knott and Magoffin counties.

In the course of his contention that the facility should serve more than one county and be operated by the state, and not be a responsibility of the county, Judge Stumbo urged passage by the General Assembly of legislation which became known in Frankfort as "the Judge Stumbo Bill."

The $928,000 Courthouse Annex structure, a pet project of Judge Stumbo's, was first occupied at the end of last year. It already houses the offices of the county judge-executive, the fiscal courtroom, and offices of the extension department.

Commissioner Lewis wrote Judge Jones: "We will begin the process of establishing procedures and personnel positions, making necessary adjustments in the facility, and assigning staff in the immediate future. We expect the Department for Human Resources operation of this facility to begin in September, 1978."

The building to house a detention center was planned after the state Supreme Court had ruled that juvenile prisoners must be kept out of sight and sound of adult prisoners.

REUNION SCHEDULED
Descendants of Sam and Wilse Miller will hold their sixth annual family reunion, Sunday, June 25, at Archer Park here. All relatives are invited to attend and are asked to bring baskets of food.

Tiger Muskies Stocked at Dewey

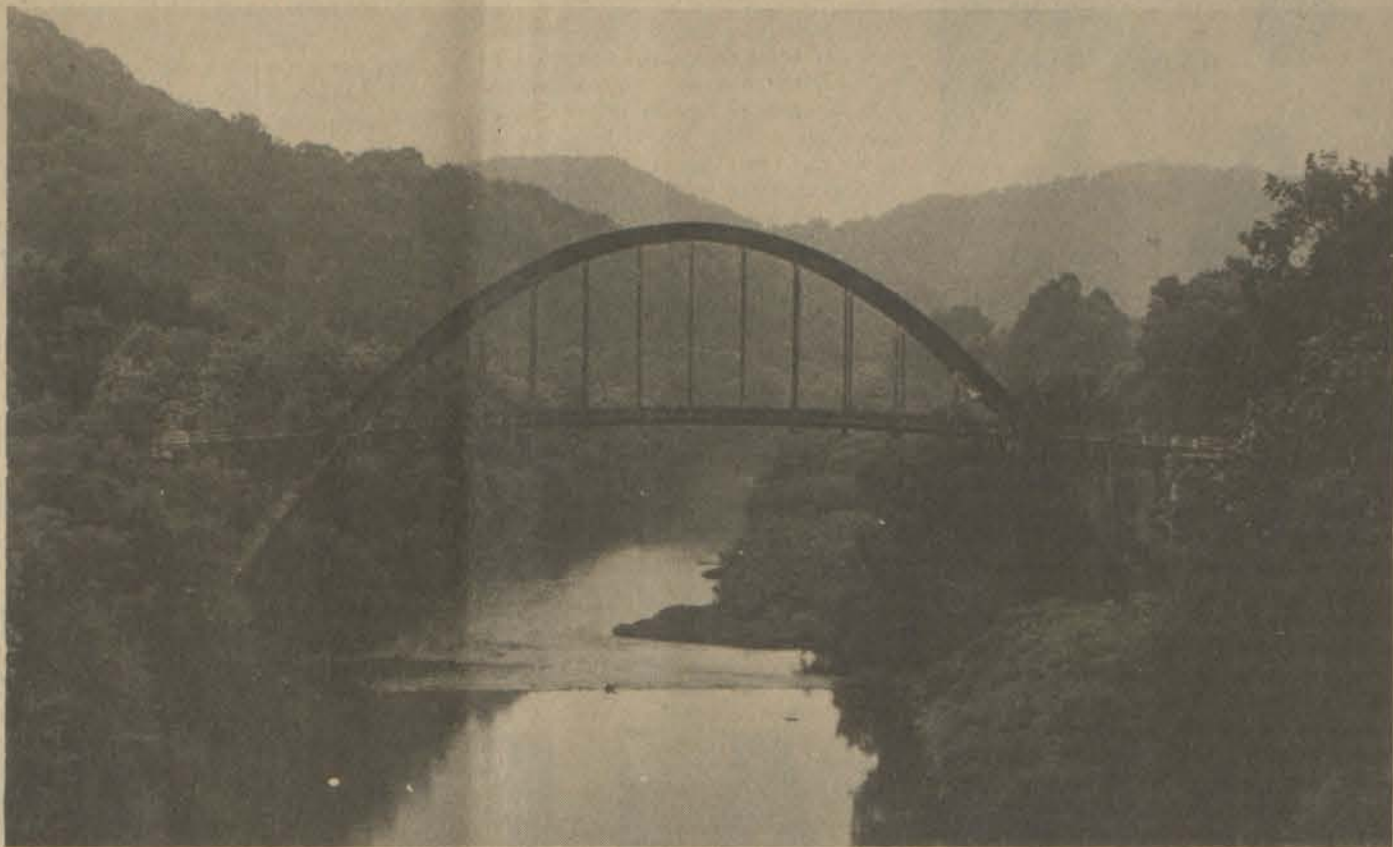

Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife personnel release tiger muskie fingerlings in the headwaters of Dewey Lake, Monday afternoon. A total of 4,000 of the muskie-northern pike hybrids, which were brought here from the Minor Clark fish hatchery at Morehead, were released, making the second time in three years tiger muskie have been stocked at Dewey. It is hoped that the fish, reputed to be voracious predators, will cut down on the lake's high concentration of shad and rough fish while providing anglers with a new sport fish.

VIEW OF OLD BRIDGE, formerly the main artery between Prestonsburg and West Prestonsburg, greets the motorist entering Prestonsburg from the Mountain Parkway. The West Prestonsburg bridge, closed to traffic for the past few years, is said to be representative of a type of bridge architecture rare in the United States.

Black Lung Applicants Hear Perkins Explain New Law

The U.M.W.A. hall at McDowell was packed last Saturday by former miners seeking information about the workings of the new black lung legislation as Congressman Carl D. Perkins made an appearance there which he had scheduled to supply answers to their questions. And some came—"just to see Carl," they said.

The congressman reviewed the new federal legislation in detail, pointing out that it provides for an automatic review of black lung cases filed prior to June 30, 1973 and that the older miner, if denied his claim by Social Security, can carry his case to the U. S. Department of Labor, introduce more evidence and have the case reheard.

Congressman Perkins said the Social Security Administration regulations for administering the law have been prepared and that they carry out the true intent of the law but will be from three to four months yet in really becoming effective.

He was sharply critical, on the other hand, of the U. S. Department of Labor which he described as "still up in the air." "The department," he said, "has some bureaucrats who would like to write their own law."

He spoke of the provision that miners' widows may prove their claims by affidavit, adding, "and now they (the Department of Labor) are trying to change that."

These Labor Department regulations, Congressman Perkins announced in a telephone conversation Monday with The Times, will be the subject of a public hearing which he has scheduled to begin at 10 a. m., July 10, at Millard High School in Pike county.

Hueysville Revival

To Begin Next Sunday

A revival, with Bill Ford as the evangelist, will begin Sunday, June 25, at the Hueysville Church of Christ and continue through June 30.

An invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

This Town...That World

Today, Wednesday, June 21, summer begins, the old calendar on the wall says. Wonder what was the season, just before that recent shower.

I shifted gears, several weeks back, ended all complaints about the cold and promptly changed to expressing serious doubts that I would be able to survive the heat.

THE GOOD, OLD SUMMERTIME

To be honest about the matter, I must confess that, fickle as my memory is, I haven't forgotten that we were all so snowbound, only a few months ago, that Whittier's well-known poem lost heavily in the local ratings. Summer has such a delightful freedom about it, none of the confinement that ice and snow bring. Although the old eyesight may be down a notch or so, I've discovered beauties about this spring that ends and the summer that starts today that, somehow, I never really saw before.

H-m-m...I'm reminded that this is the season when even the mosquitoes celebrate because they've just passed the screen test.

Wayland Child Dies in Wreck; Charges Filed

Ten-year-old Jerry Glenn Watkins, of Wayland, was killed last Thursday afternoon at Dema, Knott county, when the truck in which he was a passenger was allegedly sideswiped by another.

The victim, a fourth-grade pupil at the Wayland Elementary School, was pinned in the truck with his brother, Roger Dale Watkins, driver. Death resulted from a head injury, it was said. The driver suffered leg injuries. His two sons were thrown clear of the wreck.

Roger Dale Watkins, who operated a milk delivery route for the Dixie Belle Dairy, Hazard, said he was leaving Dema, driving toward Wayland, when Eugene Stamper, of Dema, rounded a curve at high speed, with his truck wheels over the centerline of the highway. He said he took evasive action but that Stamper's truck hit the rear of his vehicle, which plunged over an embankment.

Watkins said he appeared Monday before the Knott circuit court grand jury, seeking an indictment against Stamper. He added that Stamper travelled approximately a half-mile before stopping and was later arrested by a Kentucky state police trooper.

The wreck victim was a son of Charles L. and Anthe Jean Conley Watkins, of Wayland. Besides his parents, he is survived by seven brothers and four sisters, Carl Eugene, Roger Dale, Danny Lee, Rodney, Teddy and Shannon Watkins, all of Wayland, James Franklin Watkins, Rochester, Mich., the victim's twin, Mary Lynn, and Mrs. Loretta Ward, both of Wayland, Mrs. Carolyn Brunson, Bozler City, La., and Mrs. Deborah Jean Lazar, Wolcottsville, Indiana.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a. m. Sunday from the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist Church, the Rev. Doug Burkett and Green Boyd officiating. Burial in the Keene cemetery at Wayland was directed by the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Fiscal Court OK's Contract For David School Operation

The fiscal court at its recent meeting authorized County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones to sign a contract with the David School, Inc. for the operation at David of an alternate learning center which is scheduled to open August 1.

The center will serve delinquent and disadvantaged youths, and the court has been approved for a federal grant to cover the cost of its operation.

The contract provides for the court to pay to the school not more than $80,000 over a 12-month period, payments to be made in monthly installments. The contract may be terminated at the discretion of the court.

The school, in return, is to recruit and employ teachers in language arts, math, industrial arts, automotive education, science and social studies. In addition to the faculty, the school will employ a director and secretary-bookkeeper and provide adequate educational materials and equipment.

The contract provides that all teachers employed will have at least a bachelor's degree and three years' experience working with youth.

The pact was signed for the school by Daniel Greene, its director. Priorities set by Big Sandy Add were accepted by a vote of the court, with Magistrate Kenneth Roberts voting against their approval. Magistrate Roberts also did not sign a resolution providing from coal severance funds $5,000 each for the Allen, Maytown, city of Wheelwright, Wheelwright area and Betsy Layne fire departments and to the Left Beaver Rescue Squad for firefighting equipment.

Settlements made by County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson were accepted. They included: $9,378.30 property transfer tax; occupational licenses, $3,704.38; delinquent property tax for 1977, $1,351.90; delinquent property taxes collected for the county attorney, $1,369.07; delinquent taxes collected for the Floyd County Board of Education, $3,901.40; excess fees, $6,066.69.

Appointments to the Abbott Creek-Little Paint Water District of three water commissioners, retroactive to March 5, 1976, was made. The commissioners are John Hill, Thomas Hereford II and W. L. Baldrige. (All three had been appointed March 5, 1976 by the late Judge Henry Stumbo, who also had reappointed Hill last Feb. 21.)

Appointment of Jimmy Reed as a commissioner of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District also was approved.

A resolution adopted by the court increased the allocation to the Mud Creek Water District from the Coal Producing Development Fund by $19,920.91, bringing to $40,690.91 the total project cost.

In other action the court voted: —To employ an engineer to determine the location of county road right-of-way on Middle Creek where a coal tippie is being built.

—To add the Calf Creek and Sugar Loaf roads to the county road program.

—To assume responsibility for building and maintaining the crossing and road at Warco for the new road to be built there.

—To authorize the county judge-executive to sign a resolution pertaining to the Cliff housing project.

Berea College Honors Carl G. Ford

Prestonsburg native Carl G. Ford, (center) was honored at a dinner prior to his retirement from the Berea College Education Department. Shown here with Berea President Willis D. Weatherford and Mrs. Weatherford, Ford served on the Berea faculty for 23 years and supervised more than half of the college's elementary education majors.

New Budget For County Shows Drop

Outlay Last Year Above New Budget; RS Fund Is Lower

The budget approved for Floyd county for the fiscal year beginning July 1 provides approximately $68,000 less than the amount actually expended by the county during fiscal year 1977-78.

The total of budget appropriations for the coming year is $960,546. Last fiscal year, the budget totalled $1,261,876. Actual expenditures during the year ending June 30 were $1,028,632.

The new budget was approved by the state finance officer, then by the fiscal court during its meeting last Thursday.

The biggest drop for the coming year is in the Revenue Sharing Fund, with $297,746 budgeted. For the fiscal year now ending actual expenditures from that fund totalled $681,363.

The budget provides for these expenditures next fiscal year from revenue sharing:

Public safety, $33,180; environmental protection, $46,082; public transportation, $93,790; health, $19,000; social services for the poor and aged, $4,500; financial administration, $47,200; capital construction, maintenance or equipment, $53,994.

The budget earmarks $274,054 from the general fund for general government—an increase of slightly more than $36,000 for the fiscal year which will end June 30. The appropriations for libraries was increased from the $16,000 actually spent this fiscal year to $33,000, and $149,708 was marked for debt service.

The budget figures show that $206,755 was spent during the last 12 months on highways. For the next 12, $187,400 was appropriated.

The general fund is winding up the year with a $130,400 surplus, and the road fund with $26,000.

The big revenue receipt item is, as usual, from tax levies, which are expected to produce $318,000.

Baby Drowned, Autopsy Shows; Hearing Slated

The 17-year-old girl whose newborn baby was found early last April in Left Beaver Creek at Drift is expected to face juvenile hearing here next week as a prelude to grand jury action in the case.

A juvenile petition alleging murder was filed last week by County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., after a pathologist's report to Coroner James J. Carter that the child was a drowning victim.

Turner said the hearing date will be set for the convenience of the Ashland pathologist to attend. He indicated the hearing may be held next Thursday.

The county attorney also said that he will ask that the girl be held under bond for future grand jury action.

A preliminary report on the autopsy performed on the body of a second baby found in a Cow mountain dump heap soon after the Drift case developed indicated that the baby was born alive. Its skull was fractured, but the pathologist indicated that this injury occurred following death, when it was tossed into the garbage pile.

No clue as to the identity of the mother of the second child has been uncovered.

Berea College Honors Carl G. Ford

A Berea College professor who has supervised more than half of the school's total elementary education majors retired this month after 23 years' service.

Carl G. Ford, associate professor of education, has supervised 356 of 676 Berea students who have majored in elementary education since 1945. Ford has worked actively with Berea's elementary majors since 1962 when he was named director of elementary teacher education.

The Prestonsburg native joined Berea in 1955 at the college's Knapp Hall Elementary School where he was the supervising teacher. He began teaching on the college level in 1959. Prior to joining Berea, he had held elementary, junior high and high school teaching positions and was principal of Prestonsburg's elementary and junior high schools from 1940-41. He taught at Prestonsburg High School from 1934 to 1936.

Ford's teaching career also includes seven years as a visiting summer session professor at Eastern Kentucky (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Consumer Comments

Consumer rip-offs don't just happen to the uneducated person! Recently the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office has received complaints from persons who have been in business for years. Most of the complaints come from people who have answered advertisements in their local newspapers. The desire to expand their investments and the need to find an option to fit a certain schedule makes the business opportunity or distributorship very appealing.

The person presenting the distribution package is usually very professional in appearance and obviously knowledgeable in marketing procedures. The oral promises run freely and many companies give money back guarantees. But don't be fooled—what you hear is not necessarily what you get. The potential investor should consider the following points:

Who is the company offering the distributorship?

What is the commodity being offered? Is it a proven "seller"?

How much is the distributorship going to cost you? Have you seen the merchandise price list?

What is the territory the distributorship is to cover?

What profits can be expected?

Is there any training or management assistance?

What are the contractual terms?

If it is not written specifically in the contract, then don't count on it. But one must also remember that a contract is a legal agreement and only as sound as the two parties making the agreement. So, it is important to check out the company in as many ways as possible. Your local Better Business Bureau or the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office could possibly give you vital information concerning the company.

Beginning in mid-June many business opportunity companies will have to register and post a bond with the Department of Banking and Securities in order to do business in Kentucky.

If you have a specific consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, 209 St. Clair, Frankfort 40601, or, in case of emergencies, call our toll free hot-line number 1-800-372-2960.

Former Floyd Brothers To Compete in Germany

Former Floyd countians, brothers Frankie Jay and John Hall, will compete in the Junior Olympic AAU wrestling tournament in Germany this month. The brothers will leave for Germany today (Wednesday) for a 16-day stay.

Frankie, 15, a sophomore, and John, 13, in eighth grade, were chosen as members of the wrestling team after winning a recent state tournament in Michigan where they now reside. Following this, they won first place in a tournament participated in by representatives of five states and Canada.

They are sons of Frank and Carol Gibson Hall. Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jay P. Gibson, of Illinois, and the late Charlie and Annie Hall, of Bevinville.

Martin Valedictorian

Angie Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Terry, of Martin, was graduated as valedictorian of her eighth grade class at Martin Grade School with a 3.9 grade average. Commencement exercises were held June 5 at the Martin auditorium for the class of 85 students. Miss Terry was a member of the girls' basketball team, and she plans to attend Allen Central High School next fall.

New Black Lung Program Not Yet Producing Results

Although the new legislation enacted March 1 by Congress was heralded as assurance that quick action would be taken in black lung cases, not one case has been settled in this county under the new law, a well-known attorney said last week.

Congress is looking ahead, however, to the time when the payoff will come and has moved to approve an emergency $181.7 million to finance the first year's operation of the black lung benefits program. That amount, it is estimated, will finance the program the remainder of the fiscal year which ends Sept. 30.

Of the requested amount, $162.8 million is earmarked for direct payments to retired coal miners who will become eligible for benefits under the new program's liberalized eligibility standards.

The remaining $18.9 million is for administrative expenses.

An estimated 300,000 black lung claims are expected to be filed during the first year of the new program, comparing with a total of 14,000 claims filed last year under the old law.

Thousands of coal miners who were denied benefits under the old program are expected to file new claims. Under the new program, benefit payments are financed by a coal excise tax paid by coal operators on the basis of production—50 cents a ton for coal mined underground and 25 cents a ton for surface-mined coal.

The Secretary of Labor, nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, heads the U. S. Labor Department.

Ky. History Class Visits Capitol

The Kentucky History class at Allen Grade School toured parts of Kentucky May 20th. They arrived at the State Capitol and were greeted by Rep. James "Jitter" Allen and Mrs. Alma Waddell, secretary for Gov. Carroll, who honored the class with special "favors" from Rep. Allen and Mrs. Waddell. After a tour of the Capitol, the group assembled in the ROTUNDA FOR A CLASS PICTURE. The group ended its tour at Ft. Boonesborough with an excursion on the "Dixie Bell." Mrs. Glenda Blackburn, co-ordinator of the tour, said the trip was in conjunction with career education and culminated the years study of Kentucky history.

State Strip-Mine Regulations Too Strict, Coal People Say

Coal industry representatives charged last week that some sections of the state's proposed new strip mine regulations are vague or too strict.

The coal operators said at a public hearing the state regulations generally are consistent with federal rules, but several criticized sections, they said, are more stringent.

Eugene Mooney, secretary of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said federal and state laws require that the state regulations be neither more nor less strict than federal rules.

Mooney said the proposed state regulations, if approved by the Legislative Research Commission, will remain in effect until the permanent federal program becomes effective.

Gene Brandenburg, commissioner of the Bureau for Surface Mining and Reclamation Enforcement, said he thought the regulations could be improved. However, Brandenburg questioned whether industry representatives would really want the regulations tightened up to the extent that the Department has no flexibility.

Brandenburg said that larger coal operators would rather have the state take a "cookbook" approach, in which regulatory requirements are spelled out, but that smaller operators would benefit more from the department's ability to examine strip mine applications on a site by site basis.

David O. Smith, executive vice president of the Kentucky-Tennessee Coal Operators Association, said the proposed regulations "very often run afoul of the legislature's order that they be no more stringent than the federal regulations." He warned that the association may take legal action if specific objections are not considered.

Tom Duncan, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, also said that any section of the regulations more stringent than federal rules must be removed.

Roads Demand Action—Now

Apparently, State Representative Bill Weinburg, of Hindman, who has called for an investigation of the highway maintenance program, thinks that the concern of state officials for road conditions should run deeper than the shallowest pothole, and we agree.

The situation is not confined to Eastern Kentucky, although coal truck traffic has compounded the problems here. Major highways, secondary roads, city streets are broken, most often packed with dangerous potholes, and many so-called country roads are just now becoming passable.

That is a vague picture of the situation now, at the onset of summer.

If Kentucky doesn't begin, without further delay, an emergency road reconstruction program, with all stops out, what will these roads and streets be after another winter?

Such a program may require some sacrifices. Some less important programs may need to be dropped, if funds are lacking. Those employed in minor cleanup and repair efforts may have to be dropped. The loss of employment would be more than compensated for by the hiring of men to do real, earnest work to repair the damages of two severe winters to roads and streets.

It may be that even some new road projects should be postponed till the emergency is met.

Kentucky has, roughly, four months in which to get done one of the biggest jobs it has ever faced. It will mean much to the state and its people if their officials face up to it with the determination, the single-minded resolve, that is required now, not later.

Prior to his retirement, Ford was honored at a dinner by approximately 100 friends, colleagues and former Berea students. He was presented various gifts, including golf equipment and a book of letters from college associates and former students.

Conn Opposes Nuclear Plant

Peter Conn, secretary of Kentucky's Department for Human Resources, has written a letter to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in Washington voicing opposition to the granting by that body of an operating license to the Zimmer Power Station Project at Moscow, Ohio.

Moscow is located across the Ohio River from Kentucky's Pendleton county-Bracken county line.

Conn says he opposes the licensing because the owner of the power station, the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. has not developed a safe method of disposing of the high-level radioactive waste which the station will produce.

"I do not feel comfortable with the existence on the Kentucky border of a facility which will generate potentially lethal materials for which there is no approved method of disposal. I am also concerned that in the future radioactive wastes from the power station will be transported to disposal sites on the highways of this state, with possible dangers to the public health," Conn said in the letter.

He urged the regulatory commission to deny the license until Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. can develop a safe process for disposal of the wastes.

Ten Years Ago

(June 20, 1968)

The Kentucky Air Pollution Control Commission this week threatened legal action against Floyd county and the city of Prestonsburg unless burning of refuse at garbage dumps is stopped immediately. A special meeting of the Left Beaver Development Association has been called toward winning for the Beaver Creeks a modern water distribution system...A strong possibility exists that the bridge to provide access from 23 at Lancer to the new U. S. Shoe Company plant and the Bull Creek section on the opposite side of the Big Sandy river will not be completed till the fall of 1969. John M. Cole, 44-year-old Drift miner, was instantly killed Saturday when he fell into a coal crushing machine at the Island Creek Coal Company mine tippie at Printer. There died: Elder M. C. Wright, 84, Friday at his home at Garrett; Mrs. Maudie Hunter, 79, of Honaker, Friday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Mrs. Mary Allen, 85, of Allen, Monday at Milton, W. Va.; George Hall, 82, of Melvin, June 11 at Paintsville hospital; Mrs. Angie Lafferty, 83, Monday at her home at Water Gap; Ray Spears, 61, of Paintsville, last Wednesday at Louisville; Dennis Little, 77, of Price, last Thursday at Paintsville hospital; Mrs. Lucille Mayo Herndon, 72, of Prestonsburg, June 6 enroute to Lexington; Harry Martin, 59, formerly of Wayland, Friday at Tiro, O.; John Ratliff, 86, Floyd county native, June 3 at Indianapolis, Indiana.

Purchase by Floyd county of various water and gas systems for $230,000 in 1953 from private owners was a "giant hoax and fraud upon the public generally, the taxpayers and consumers of gas and water," a suit filed in circuit court here Monday claims. The third Floyd county homicide within a period of five days occurred last Thursday afternoon when Roland Cline, 41, truck mine operator, was shot and killed in an exchange of gunfire at the mouth of Cline Branch of Johns Creek. A total of $98,100 insurance has been paid to survivors of passengers on the school bus which wrecked near Lancer Feb. 28 with the loss of 27 lives. Reports were heard this week of a rich deposit of silicate in the vicinity of Elkhorn City. There died: Grover C. Sammons, 69, of Betsy Layne, last Thursday at Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin; Canarah J. Tallent, 72, of Estill, last Wednesday; Wiley Warrick, 79, Monday at his home at the Goble-Roberts Addition, Ruben M. Kidd, 74, June 7 at his home on Little Mud Creek.

A quarrel over a dice game was climaxed early Saturday evening with the slaying, at a Wheelwright clubhouse of John Johnson, 24, of Wheelwright. The fiscal court has named Deputy Sheriff Harold Conn, special collector of delinquent poll taxes in an effort to make the poll tax more of a reality than the dog tax in this county. U. S. District Attorney Claude P. Stephens filed suit in the Floyd circuit court Monday asking that the City Board of Education of Prestonsburg be enjoined from condemning a portion of his lot here to be a part of the playground. Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. plans to raise telephone rates this week to $5-$5.50 for individual business lines and 2.75-$3.00 for individual residences. Bodies of four Floyd county soldiers have within the week been returned from overseas graves for burial in home cemeteries. The soldier dead are: Sgt. Bill Stephens, who was killed April 5, 1945 at the age of 24 on Luzon; Pfc. Chester Johnson, 24, who was killed July 2, 1944 in the Pacific; Pvt. Lee Baker, who at 26, was killed July 2, 1943 in New Guinea, and Pvt. Watt Keathley, 22, who was killed on Bougainville, Sept. 30, 1944. The Prestonsburg high school Black Cats, Kentucky baseball champions, bowed out of the southeastern invitation high school baseball tournament at Lakeland, Fla., Wednesday night when they lost to Avon Park, Fla., 9 to 3. Married: Miss Josephine Davidson, Prestonsburg, and Mr. Thomas Fields, of Cumberland, June 16, at Covington, Ky.; Miss Pauline Nunemaker, and Mr. John Salisbury, both of Martin, June 7 at Pikeville. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. John Dziedzic, of Prestonsburg, a son, John Hildreth, June 10 at the Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Robert E. Lee Adams, 58, at his home at Risner, June 18; William H. Adams, 50, June 20, at his home near Martin; Mrs. Amanda Hays Smith, 88, June 18, at the home of her daughter near Maytown.

Construction of a dam at Dewey, this county, costing a total of $3,940,000 has been authorized by Congress in a nation-wide flood control and soil erosion program, Congressman A. J. May told THE TIMES this week. One moonshine still, a portion of another, and a half-gallon of moonshine liquor were in the Sheriff's office and seven men were in the Floyd county jail last weekend as a result of two raids on moonshiners by posses led by Sheriff Dial Salisbury. A flip of a coin between Representative Mel Petry and Jim Hale, it was reported, prior to the Floyd Democratic convention here last Saturday, decided the election of the county's democratic chairman, Petry losing the toss, then nominating Hale in the convention. Beginning legal practice in Floyd county, Leroy Combs, son of Attorney and Mrs. B. F. Combs, this week filed his first petition in Floyd circuit court. Jerry Miller, 30, motor brakeman for the Elkhorn Coal Corporation, Wayland, was fatally injured Wednesday as he attempted to swing aboard a moving car, falling beneath the wheels. Bill and Dave Patton, contractors, have begun construction of a six-room colonial-style residence for Glen C. Spradlin, assistant cashier of The First National Bank. There died: Mrs. Margaret Porter Cline, 72, formerly of Prestonsburg, June 27 in Ashland.

Woman's Bond Set at $10,000 In Auto Deaths

A Prestonsburg woman is at liberty under $10,000 bond after her arrest last Tuesday on a second degree manslaughter charge lodged against her in the auto wreck deaths of a Floyd county couple.

Miss Ruby Collins was booked by Joe W. Lewis, Wheelwright deputy marshal, and Deputy Sheriff Linzie Hunt after a warrant had issued from district court. The warrant was issued on the basis of an affidavit signed by Gloria D. Salisbury, who said she was an eyewitness of the wreck in which Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Elliott, Jr. and their two-year-old son, Stevie Dwane, were killed last April 7, near McDowell.

The affidavit by Mrs. Salisbury alleged that Miss Collins "wantonly caused the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Elliott by failing to keep her car right of the center (line of the highway), to look for oncoming traffic and going off the road." Miss Collins herself was hospitalized with a shoulder injury as a result of the wreck.

No charge was made against her at the time of the tragedy, State Trooper T. D. Hall said his investigation of the wreck showed Miss Collins lost control of her car, ran into the ditchline, then cut back onto the highway and into the path of the Elliott vehicle.

Floyd Woman, First Grad of New Program

Connie Lafferty Castle, of Prestonsburg is the first person to complete the new associate degree program in Early Childhood Education at Pikeville College. She was awarded her degree during commencement exercises at the college, Sunday, May 7.

The 23-year-old Mrs. Castle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Lafferty, Sr., of Prestonsburg. A 1973 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, she attended the Prestonsburg Community College before coming to Pikeville College. In addition to full-time study, Mrs. Castle takes care of her nine-month-old son, Tristan Thomas Castle, and works at the Plantation Motel in Prestonsburg. She is continuing her studies in the baccalaureate degree program in elementary education.

The early childhood program is designed to train people already employed or who would like to become involved in the area and regional child care programs such as public and private day-care centers, private nursery schools, kindergartens, Head Start, and similar pre-school centers.

It is also a course of study for parents of pre-school children. The degree meets the stipulations of the Kentucky Department of Education and also follows the competency based guidelines of the National Childhood Development Associate.

Mrs. Castle is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lula DeRossett Lafferty.

Letters to the Editor

School Principal Cites McDowell Improvements

As principal of McDowell High School, I am one of the many readers who have been following the letters to the editor concerning the physical condition of the high school building. This response is not intended to minimize or ignore the existing needs of the school, but rather to inform the public of the projects that have been completed the last two years and others to be completed prior to the opening of the school year 1978-'79. These projects have been attained through a cooperative effort of the school's Parent-Teacher organization, our school board member, Dr. Mary Hall, and our superintendent of schools, Pete Grigsby, Jr.

One of the greatest improvements has been the lunchroom-gymnasium complex. Our new lunchroom is a modern and fully equipped facility. It is well staffed and provides a nutritious breakfast and lunch for our students. The gymnasium is also a welcome addition to our campus. With its spaciousness, clean restrooms and locker facilities our student body and the general public can enjoy curricular and extra-curricular activities. Before this structure is released by the contractor, the ground around it is to be landscaped.

In the grade school, our Junior High building, which was constructed a few years ago with room dividers only, has been fully air-conditioned and its classrooms have been partitioned. This project, which was completed last summer, has enhanced the learning situation as well as the comfort level of both students and faculty.

The primary building, which houses the first and second grades, received a new paint job last summer. Our Parent-Teacher organization paid a private contractor over $700 for paint and labor to paint the ceiling. The Floyd County Board of Education provided the paint for the walls and floors, and the summer NYC students completed the job. Ask any of our primary teachers what a difference this has made to their building.

Another project greatly benefiting our students was the construction of new sidewalks on the campus. This project's total cost was around $10,000, and it was money well spent in order to get our students out of the mud.

In order to relieve the automobile congestion on our campus, thereby making it safer for our students, a parking area has been leased. This also frees the area below the gym for outside physical education activities.

In the past two years the school has turned to a private garbage collection agency. All school garbage is put in plastic bags which are then placed in special bins for pick-up. We feel this is a great service because the school no longer has open burning incinerators. Neither do we throw the garbage into Frasure's Creek. The McDowell school is inspected periodically by both county health inspectors and representatives of the Floyd County Board of Education. I feel confident that the present ratings of the school are superior to those of the past.

When the lunchroom was moved from the high school auditorium, it was determined that the renovation of the auditorium would serve the needs of both grade school and high school students. The renovation included a new floor with tile covering, paneled walls, dropped ceiling, new lighting system, heating and cooling units, new doors, and carpeted stage. Also, three hundred new folding chairs were purchased in the renovation process. The cost of this was around $20,000. This year, our eighth grade graduation was held in the "new" auditorium. Also, for the first time in six years baccalaureate (a religious service) was held for our graduating seniors. In addition to the auditorium renovation, new doors, meeting the fire marshal's specifications, were installed at the front entrance of the high school. Also two new refrigerated water fountains have been installed on both floors of the high school.

In our outbuildings four new stoves were installed in the classrooms, and in the two-room "Rock Building" a new floor was installed in one room and both rooms were carpeted.

The ceilings in several rooms of the high school have been in poor condition for many years. However, it was pointed out to repair the ceilings while the roof leaked. During the school year 1976-77 a new roof was put on the high school building. Plans were made for the maintenance department to repair the ceilings last summer, but the devastating flood caused the postponement of that project. Consequently, the ceilings will be repaired this summer. In addition, new doors will be placed on the high school rooms and the tin roofs of the buildings along Frasure's Creek will be repaired and painted.

The major Floyd County Board and Parent-Teacher organization project this summer will be the air-conditioning of all the high school rooms along with the band room and grade school library. When this project is completed every class room on the McDowell campus will be air-conditioned. Also, our Parent-Teacher organization is hoping to purchase and install new window shades in all the rooms of the high school, as well as those in the grade school that are affected by the intense sunlight.

I believe that the projects completed during these past two years and those to be completed this summer reflect a concerned interest by our teachers, our parents, our school board, and superintendent toward the progress of the McDowell School.

It seems rather curious that after 20 years there is a sudden interest in the school's physical condition. It seems even more curious why, after 20 years of neglect, the blame is suddenly placed on the present school board and its superintendent.

Their record of accomplishment speaks for itself.

McDowell High School

Explains Heavier Fines

As you know the minimum fine for almost all traffic violations in Kentucky will increase by $15 effective June 17, 1978. This increase came about because of a law enacted by the 1978 General Assembly. The purpose of the increase is to generate revenue to provide funds for the continuation of the 15 per cent educational incentive supplemental pay to local police officers' salaries.

The board of directors of the Kentucky State Police Professional Association has directed me to write this letter for the following reasons. There has been much said about the $15 increase which has led many people to remark that police officers will soon be working on a "fee" system. The news media has reported on numerous occasions that traffic fines will increase by $15 and this increase will go to all police officers in the state. One major TV station reported it goes to the "state's police officers." This was misinterpreted by many listeners of that report to mean State Police officers. Since Kentucky State Police Troopers write a high percentage of traffic citations in Kentucky we, quite naturally, will receive most of the criticism. Kentucky State Police officers are provided annual training by our own Bureau and do not receive the 15 per cent educational incentive supplement. We are not complaining that we do not receive the supplemental pay, merely that State Troopers do not receive any sort of fee for arrests. We feel that many departments need this assistance to obtain and retain qualified and well trained police officers.

I hope this letter will help to alleviate any misconceptions by many citizens of this Commonwealth concerning this issue.

State Seeks Injunction To Reopen Martin Co. Road

The state Department of Transportation last Friday sought a Martin circuit court injunction to remove a week-old barricade placed across Kentucky 292 in Martin county by a citizens' group to bar overweight coal trucks.

A Bureau of Highways attorney from Pikeville presented the injunction request at Inez, Friday afternoon.

Stephen Reeder, deputy transportation secretary, said "The injunction request asks that the barricade across Kentucky 292 be removed. If the court decides to issue the injunction, it will ask that the people who erected it remove it."

The Martin County Better Roads Organization placed a nine-foot high chain and fence arrangement across the highway, barring access to large coal trucks to save the highway's surface from further deterioration.

Martin J. Stepp, a spokesman for the Better Roads group, contends the 3.5 mile segment of Kentucky 292 is private property, since it was built with local funds and the state does not own the rights-o-way.

He said his father was a magistrate 13 years ago when residents of the Lovely area donated money for the highway, called the "Huntley-Brinkley Road" locally because the campaign was mentioned on NBC's news program of that era.

Stepp said the group's attorneys welcome a court test of the ownership of the section of highway, and believe they will win.

"Our attorney tells us we've got a good case and it should stand up in court," Stepp said earlier in the week.

Public Participation In Conservation Plan Under Way in County

Extensive public participation concerning the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act is getting under way in Floyd county.

William J. Cantrell, district conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS), said this week that the first part of this grass roots effort will involve public awareness of the Act itself.

The major emphasis of the new law rests heavily with public involvement, Cantrell explained. This way, the SCS can better appraise the problems, trends and needs of the nation's natural resources and develop a program to meet these conservation needs.

To carry out the Act, SCS will join with the Floyd County Conservation District to sponsor public meetings during the coming months.

Interested individuals are encouraged to contact the conservation district or the SCS field office for a copy of a brochure entitled "Your Role in Conservation's Future" for more complete information.

The U. S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau develops policies and programs to promote the welfare of women in the labor force and encourages better use of womanpower, while offering information and assistance to state and community leaders and to other nations regarding women and work.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

By JOHN WILSON

This is the time of year when a camper, hiker or fisherman is most likely to encounter young wild animals in the woods. The first impulse, in many instances, is a desire to "adopt" the baby skunk, raccoon, fawn or whatever.

But the best course of action, according to Joe Bruna, fish and wildlife's director of game management, is to leave baby animals, even those seemingly "orphaned," where they are.

Although this advice may at first glance seem hard hearted, it is actually kinder in the long run for both the animal and the humans involved, Bruna says.

In the first place, the baby animal may not be orphaned at all. A fawn, for example, that seems all alone in the big woods probably has an anxious mother waiting nearby, but she will not show herself while a human is in the vicinity.

The care and feeding of a young animal is demanding and complicated, and most of those taken from the wild will die unless they are given the expert care that only a knowledgeable person can provide.

And if the animal does survive past infancy, other problems arise. Unlike dogs or cats, which have been domesticated for centuries, wild animals seldom lose their "wild" nature. An adult deer, particularly a buck, can be extremely dangerous and a raccoon, even one raised in the house, starts thinking he can whip anybody in the family when he gets to weigh about 25 pounds—and he's right.

Wild animals raised in captivity can seldom be successfully returned to the wilds, presenting their owners with the problem of what to do with an unmanageable adult fox, raccoon, skunk or deer. Often the animal must be destroyed, since it is almost impossible to get zoos to accept wild pets.

Then there's the problem of disease. Wild animals can carry and transmit to man several diseases, the most serious of which is rabies. Often, an animal which allows itself to be captured is diseased, and any animal which does not show a normal fear of man or displays signs of distress should be left strictly alone.

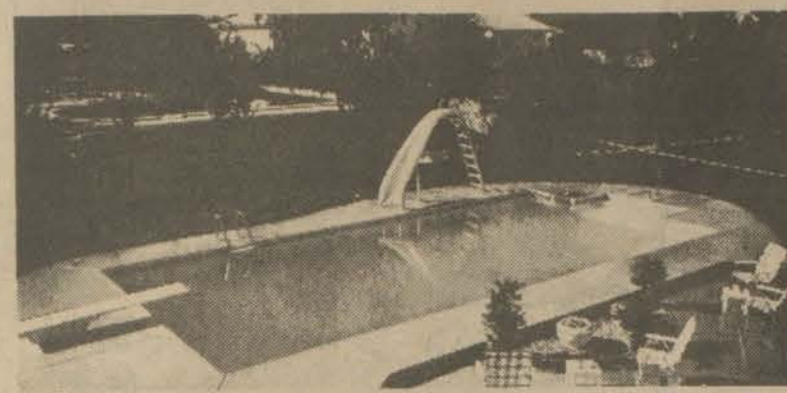

Skunks are particularly dangerous, since they can carry the rabies virus for six to eight months before symptoms appear. Even a skunk bought from a pet store and certified disease-free could develop rabies months after it is purchased.

Skunks and foxes probably represent the most common reservoirs for rabies in the wilds, although virtually all mammals are capable of carrying this disease and transmitting it to man. The danger of rabies, by itself, is reason enough to leave wildlife in the woods.

Finally, there's the legal aspect. To keep wildlife as pets, a permit from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is required, and a permit will be granted only for those animals taken during the open season for that particular species.

Without a permit, the animal is subject to confiscation and the owner can be fined. A conservation officer, upon application for a permit, will check to see if the animal was obtained legally and if the facilities for keeping it are sanitary and of adequate size. The officer will also make periodic checks to make sure the animal is being well cared for.

Enjoy Two-Day Nashville Tour

Pictured boarding the bus Friday morning for a two-day trip to Nashville, Tenn. are part of the group of 43 members of the E. P. Grigsby and Archer Senior Citizens Centers plus a small group of representatives from the Johnson County Senior Citizens Center. While in Nashville, the group toured Opryland, the Country Music Hall of Fame and the homes of many noted Country-Western recording artists, and enjoyed the Grand Ole Opry. Enroute home, the group visited Harrodsburg and Shakertown. Director of the Archer Center is Patsy Evans while Dee Burchett is director of the E. P. Grigsby Center.

Floyd Unemployment Rate For April Above Area Average

Eastern Kentucky unemployment decreased from 21,316 persons in March to 14,979 in April, according to Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Department for Human Resources.

The rate of unemployment dropped from 7.4 percent to 5 percent in that same period. Magoffin county had the highest rate of 7.7 percent while Martin county, about 20 miles away, was lowest with 2.8 percent. Floyd county; 6.3 was well above the area rate of 5 per cent and the overall state rate of 4.1 per cent.

"Seasonal factors and the end of the coal strike account for most of the decrease in unemployment," said MacDonald.

The April, 1977 unemployment rate in eastern Kentucky was 5.4 percent. This April's rate for the entire state was 4.1 percent, the lowest since October, 1977. County-by-county figures for April are:

- Bath 6.2, Bell 5.4, Boyd 3.5, Breathitt 4.5, Carter 5.9, Clay 6.9, Elliott 3.8, Floyd 6.3, Greenup 3.3, Harlan 5.1, Jackson 7.4, Johnson 4.1, Knott 4.8, Knox 5.5, Laurel

- 3.6, Lawrence 5.7, Lee 7.3, Leslie 5.9, Letcher 6.7, McCreary 5.5, Magoffin 7.7, Martin 2.8, Menifee 5.5, Montgomery 5.4, Morgan 4.6, Owsley 7.5, Perry 4.6, Pike 5.4, Pulaski 4.3, Rockcastle 5.3, Rowan 4.9, Wayne 5.9, Whitley 4.9, Wolfe 6.

More Parolees Employed, 1976 Review Indicates

The employment rate of ex-offenders on active probation and parole supervision in 1976 rose over that of 1973, as did salaries and taxes paid, according to a study just completed by the state Bureau of Corrections.

In the study of 5,911 men and women on active supervision in 1976, the bureau found that 82.8 percent of the labor force within that group was employed that year. A previous study conducted by the bureau on the year 1973 showed 75.8 percent of the labor force within 3,700 probationers and parolees was employed.

A majority of salaries earned by those on active supervision in 1976 ranged between $4,000-$7,000. The previous study found the majority of salaries in 1973 to range between $3,000-$6,000.

The 5,911 ex-offenders on active supervision in 1976 paid a total of $472,082.96 in Kentucky state taxes and $1,841,416.09 in federal taxes for that year, according to the study. According to the 1973 study, the active caseload of 3,700 paid a total of $257,692 in state taxes. No attempt was made in the first study to determine how much federal tax was paid.

The new report shows the active caseload to have risen in 1976 nearly 60 percent over 1973, while the state taxes paid rose more than 83 percent. Active caseloads include men and women on probation, parole, conditional release and misdemeanants.

Brett Scott, corrections' deputy commissioner for community services, said the active caseload in Kentucky is now approximately 6,500, a 10 percent increase over 1976.

The just completed study points out there were 15,000 cases classified as inactive in 1976 because the men and women, although still on parole, were no longer required to have monthly contact with their probation and parole officers. Those people were not included in either study.

Local Students On ECU Dean's List

Eight students from Floyd county have been named to the Dean's List for the 1978 spring semester at Eastern Kentucky University.

To attain the list, a student must make a scholastic average of 3.5 or better for 14 or more semester hours.

One of the Floyd students, Stephen T. Baker, of David, had a perfect 4.0 standing. The others are honor students Melissa J. Williamson, of Allen; Brigitte R. Music, East Point; Deborah D. Fannin, Ann L. Holbrook, Ramona J. Prater and Janett Tackett, all of Prestonsburg, and Holly L. Leach, of West Prestonsburg.

Wayland Landmark Being Razed

Arlie Hayes, of the Hayes Metal Company, Pikeville, announced last week that his firm had been awarded a contract to remove the old Elk Horn Coal Corp. tipple and coal cleaning plant at Wayland. The plant had been abandoned for years and had deteriorated into an eyesore and a hazard for children. Work on removal of the structure is under way and should be completed shortly, Mr. Hayes said.

Disposal Site Near Highway Topic of Suit vs. Leslie County

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has issued an administrative complaint against Leslie county for maintaining an unpermitted solid waste disposal site off the Daniel Boone Parkway. A public hearing will be held July 6 at 10 a.m. at Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort to give the county an opportunity to defend itself against allegations listed in the complaint.

The open dump, located half a mile from the Hyden-Spur exit, is also in violation of the state's air pollution regulations which prohibits discharging contaminants into the air from open burning.

According to a departmental landfill inspector, the county executed a contract with a landowner on April 20 to establish the open dump without applying for a permit when its former site had been filled to capacity. Since that time, the county has been notified on several occasions by both air pollution officials and landfill inspectors that it is in violation of the state's solid waste disposal and air pollution regulations.

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection is now asking that the county: —Be required to discontinue unlawful operation of the solid waste disposal site, to discontinue unlawful open burning at the site, and take remedial measures as deemed necessary to close the site.

—Be assessed a civil penalty of $5,000 for the initial violation of the state's air pollution regulations and $5,000 for each day the violation continues.

—Be assessed a civil penalty of $1,000 for the initial violation of the state's solid waste disposal regulations and $1,000 for each day the violation continues.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, among occupations not requiring a college degree, faster than average employment growth is expected for insulation workers, police officers, waste water treatment plant operators, most subprofessional health occupations, and mechanics and repairers of computers, industrial machinery, motorcycles, and air conditioning, refrigeration and heating equipment.

House Defies President, Yatesville Dam Approved

Defying a veto threat, the House refused Thursday to kill the Yatesville dam in Kentucky and seven other water projects.

But it went along with a request by President Carter for the addition of 11 other projects, including the Big South Fork in Kentucky and Tennessee, to a $10.3 billion public works bill.

An amendment offered by Rep. Robert Edgar, D-Pa., to eliminate the projects was defeated 234-142.

Passage by the House of the full "pork barrel" bill providing money for water resource development projects and major energy research programs is expected.

The $48.6 million Yatesville project, approved in 1965, would dam Blaine Creek and create a 2,314-acre lake about five miles west of Louisa and a mile south of Yatesville.

Under a contract signed by former Gov. Wendell Ford, the state would pay $4 million of the bill.

Edgar's administration-proposed amendment was intended to strike $21 million for construction during the 1979 fiscal year on eight projects that have a total price tag of $546 million.

Rep. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that drew up the money bill, in urging rejection of the amendment, said that Congress should protect its right to determine what projects should be built.

The other projects that would have been eliminated under the amendment included: Bayou Bodcau, La.; LaFarge Lake, Wis.; Lukfata Lake, Okla.; Meramec Park Lake, Mo.; Fruitland Mesa, Colo.; Narrows unit, Colo., and Savery-pot Hook, Colo. and Wyo.

Earlier, the House overwhelmingly defeated efforts to remove from the bill three other projects: Russell Dam in Georgia and South Carolina, the Bonnevill Unit of the Central Utah Project and the O'Neil Unit in Nebraska.

An amendment by Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., to kill the three projects was turned down by a resounding voice vote and he was unable to get enough members to rise to call for a roll call vote.

The appropriations bill provides more than $1.3 billion for continuing the building of major water projects by the Army Corps of Engineers and for more than $240 million for construction of irrigation projects by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Added to the bill at administration request was more than $30 million for new construction and planning starts for 11 projects in 11 states.

The added projects included: Metlakatla Harbor, Alaska; Goleta and vicinity, Calif.; Hartwell, fifth unit, Ga. and S. C.; Kahoma Stream, Hawaii; Big South Fork, Tenn. and Ky.; Bassett Creek, Minn.; Chaska, Minn.; Two Harbors, Minn.; Point Place, Ohio; South Weber Water Improvement District, Utah, and West Bench Irrigation District, Montana.

Shriners' Bluegrass Fest Scheduled June 22-25

The fourth Annual Shriner's Bluegrass Festival is set for June 22, 23, 24 and 25 at the Wise County Fairgrounds in Wise, Virginia. This year's event features probably the biggest and most expensive package of bluegrass talent scheduled anywhere in the country this year.

Bluegrass and old time music acts to appear include Osborne Brothers, J. D. Crewe and the New South, Seldom Scene, Ralph Stanley, Country Gentlemen, Larry Sparks, Bluegrass Alliance, Lost and Found, Marshall Family, John McCutcheon, Smoky Mountain Special, Janette Carter, Wxy Straw, Messa Grass, Katie Lauer, II Generation, Kentucky Ridge Boys, Goins Brothers, Highwoods Stringband, Singing Cookies plus many more. Friday night, June 23 will feature an early Country Gentlemen reunion with Charlie Waller, John Duffey, Tom Gray and Eddie Adcock. Thursday's music will begin at 6 p.m. and run continuously until 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday's music will begin at 10 a.m. and again run continuously until 1 a.m. each day. Sunday will exclusively feature mountain and bluegrass gospel music beginning at 10 a.m. and running continuously until 5 p.m.

The one hundred-acre fairground site provides free camping and spacious parking facilities and features a modern stage and covered grandstand. A restaurant featuring country food will also be available. For further information or advance tickets call or write Glenn Roberts, Jr., Norton, Virginia 24273, Phone 703-679-3601. All profits go directly to the "Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital.

Woman's Club Installs Officers

Recently installed officers of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club, include, from left—Mrs. Don Hughes, treasurer; Mrs. Otto Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ronnie Patton, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Marie Mullins, 1st vice-president, and Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, president. Facing Mrs. Castle is Mrs. S. M. Martin, a past president of the club who installed the officers. Mrs. James E. Martin, recording secretary, was absent when the picture was taken.

The officers were installed following the annual breakfast, which was held this year in the Masonic Lodge dining room at Wayland. Mrs. J. T. Spillman gave the devotional. Mrs. Castle expressed her appreciation to the officers who had been helpful to her during her past term of office and presented each with a gift.

Those present for the breakfast besides the officers in the picture were: Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. M. M. Collins, and one guest, Mrs. Jo Webb Martin of Lackey.

Five Investigators Added To Probe Welfare Fraud

Five new investigators are being hired to implement Gov. Julian Carroll's effort to combat welfare fraud.

"Our April 24 announcement of the Welfare Fraud Line has proven so effective that we must hire more agents to handle the volume of information," Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn explained.

The Welfare Fraud Line is a toll-free telephone number (1-800-372-2970) which any Kentucky citizen who wants to report suspected cheating in any welfare program can call. The investigators, who now number 25, follow up on information given in the calls.

Before the Fraud Line was started, the original 20 investigators worked fulltime for a month in Jefferson county. Their work resulted in 345 welfare fraud cases being turned over to Jefferson County Attorney J. Bruce Miller. The first 28 of those cases to be prosecuted resulted in guilty pleas.

Because of the 200 to 300 new leads in Jefferson county generated by the Fraud Line, the investigators have remained in Jefferson county longer than originally intended. The investigative team will move to northern Kentucky in June to search out welfare fraud in that area, Conn said.

There have been more than 750 calls received on the Welfare Fraud Line since it opened a month ago. More than 50 percent of the calls came from Jefferson County. Western Kentucky had the second highest showing with almost 15 percent.

KIDS LOVE BOATS. But they also need special attention. The Committee for Safe Boating Week, June 17, advises that small children should always wear proper flotation devices and should be taught to keep seated and not lean over the rail.

DAV Chapter To Dedicate Hall

Dedication of the chapter hall of Disabled American War Veterans Chapter 128 will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, and the veterans have invited state, federal and county officials as well as all veterans, chapter members and the public to have a part in the ceremonies.

The chapter hall is the former Estill Church of Christ, which Chapter 128 purchased and renovated. It is located one-fourth mile north of Wayland, on Ky. 7.

The DAV chapter was organized in 1969 with a membership of 20. It now has a membership of approximately 700. Disabled Veterans of Foreign Wars are not permitted under department regulations to conduct fund-raising ventures, and the task of raising money was undertaken by DAV Auxiliary Unity 128, whose members worked at stands during parades and elsewhere. Friends in this and neighboring counties, many of whom did not live to see the dedication, helped with contributions.

"We are proud of our chapter hall and would like for everyone to attend the dedication," Monroe Vanderpool, seventh district DAV commander, said. "It has taken a lot of hard work and patience during these years to save the money to buy and remodel this building."

Twenty-two families enjoyed a potluck dinner, June 6, at the second annual picnic sponsored by the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association. The group, meeting at the Dewey Dam recreation area, also enjoyed whiffleball and other outdoor activities. During the picnic, the families completed a survey indicating their desire for future group projects, such as talks by area professionals, an Association newsletter, group social activities, breastfeeding support meetings, and a group baby-sitting co-op. Mrs. William S. Kendrick, head of the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association which is open to all area residents, reported that there were participants at the picnic from Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Magoffin counties.

Johnson-Hall Vows Said

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Johnson, of Melvin, announce the marriage on June 3 of their daughter, Ramona Lynn, to Mr. Jeffery D. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hall, of Hi Hat. The reception was held at the home of the bride.

The vast majority of the 46 million job openings expected to arise between 1976 and 1985 will require less than 4 years of college training, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

Little League Baseball

Little League action last week saw several games postponed due to players leaving for summer camps and vacations.

Monday night, all games were rained out but on Tuesday the Clark Indians slipped past the Music-Carter-Hughes Braves, 6 to 5, and the second game between Auxier and Clifton-McDonald was postponed.

The girls' softball the Sluggers beat the bombers, 26 to 12, and the Rolling Stones and Wildcat game was postponed.

Thursday night, Clifton-McDonald and Auxier postponed and so did East Kentucky Mack-Branham and Baker, but in a makeup game Branham and Baker downed Goble Lumber, 19 to 12.

Friday night, Goble Lumber beat Branham and Baker, 14 to 12, and Clark again defeated Music-Carter-Hughes, 8 to 12.

Dr. Pauling Featured On KET's Survival Kit

Two time Nobel Prize-winner Dr. Linus Pauling, an advocate of the controversial "C" vitamin, appears on KET's "Consumer Survival Kit," Saturday, June 24 at 5:00 p.m. (E.T.), 4:00 p.m. (C.T.). Dr. Pauling praises the benefits of Vitamin C and discusses the effects of vitamins A, B, and E.

CSK also looks at factory-built or pre-fabricated homes and assesses the success of vocational schools.

This year, the median price of new homes has reached an all-time high of $52,200. For this reason, many potential buyers are investigating the economic feasibility of factory-built homes. Three basic models (modular, panelized, and pre-cut) are available.

Are vocational schools an acceptable way to learn a trade? More and more people are deciding they are. CSK provides some questions to consider before choosing a vocational or professional career.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

Mrs. Kathy Waddle Elliott would like to thank her many friends and relatives for all the nice flowers and cards she received while she was ill. She also thanks the Community Methodist Church, Bull Creek Baptist Church and First Church of God for all the prayers. She is doing fine at her home in Lexington.

Hilanders To Honor Dr. Hall At Home Opener, Saturday

The Paintsville Hilanders, who represent Kentucky's lone professional sports franchise, announce that several national baseball celebrities will be on hand for their Appalachian League home opener, Saturday (June 24), which has been designated, "Dr. Paul B. Hall Night." The well-known physician and former University of Kentucky baseball star will throw out the opening game ball and will be presented gifts from the Hilanders' board of directors.

Pee Wee Reese, former Dodge short-stop, Bobby Bragan, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball League, will help Chauncey Devault, president of the Appalachian League, will help honor Dr. Hall in special pre-game ceremonies.

Game time is set for 8 p.m., and pre-game festivities are scheduled to begin at 7:50. All Hilanders games will be played at the Johnson Central High School park.

Farm Director Charles Evrnanian has announced that the Chicago White Sox have withdrawn their Gulf Coast League entry and will, instead, place their rookie players on the roster of the Paintsville team. Among players expected to be sent to Paintsville are early round White Sox draft choices. Other Major League teams that will be sending players to Paintsville are Detroit, Minnesota and Baltimore.

Meanwhile, two-a-day "free agent" drills are continuing at the Johnson Central Park. Field Manager Ron Mihal is conducting the tryout sessions, and several former minor league players and non-drafted college seniors are participating.

The Hilanders open the season at Bluefield, W. Va., tomorrow (Thursday) before returning to open their home season Saturday night against the same Bluefield team.

Comets Ranked First In Floyd Co. Women's Softball Standings

With the Floyd County Softball Association well into its summer season of play at Archer Park, the standings among the women's teams show the Coal Country Comets maintaining the first place position with R. & S. Truck Body and Peter Cave Coal in a tie for second and third place.

Other womens' teams and their rankings are as follows:

Fourth, B. & D. Motors; fifth, Drift 76'ers; sixth, Salyers Coal; seventh, Martin's Dept. Store; eighth, Mitchell Trucking; ninth, Coca Cola, and tenth, Elrod Construction.

Womens' play can be enjoyed at the park every afternoon except Saturdays, beginning at 5 o'clock.

Engineering Made It Happen. Now, A Car With A 110-Inch Wheelbase With A Superb Luxury Car Ride.

Beauty? Yes. Versailles' elegant proportions are impressive from any angle. But more than that, Versailles is also a luxury car that behaves beautifully. Its pleasing road manners were brought about by careful engineering of its body structure, suspension system and, perhaps most strikingly, by the engineering of vital connections within its drive train-the system which transmits motive power from engine to rear wheels. Selected elements of the drive train are precision-balanced with the elements next to them. Each engine is hand-matched to its Select-Shift automatic transmission. The driveshaft, the rear axle, the brake rotors, each wheel and its tire all are matched for balance to help minimize any interior disturbances that may originate in the drive train.

The result is an automobile surprisingly free from vibration; one reason why, on the road, Versailles feels like a much larger car. The quality of its ride is, of course, best evaluated through your personal experience.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

We are seeking bids on $25,000.00, more or less, of materials and supplies anticipated to be purchased during the 1978-'79 school year.

No specific details may be given on items to be purchased except that they are the typical materials and supplies found in any regular school supply catalog. The Central Office purchases will be covered by the same bid. Individual schools within the systems may exercise the option to purchase under the same bid.

Bidders should view anticipated quantity of materials to be purchased and reflect catalog discount on same. Bid quotation should be made from the catalog now in use. The prices of materials in this catalog will be in effect for the duration of this bid. Catalog to be used for bidding purposes shall be clearly identified and will remain in use for pricing for the life of bid.

Ample quantities of catalog shall be made available to schools and teachers. Materials ordered must be delivered within (30) days of issuance of purchase order.

Bid price should include delivery to larger schools and delivery of materials for rural schools to our depot at Allen, Kentucky.

The Board reserves the right to buy at the same quoted bid price for the remainder of the 1978-79 school year and reserves the right to reject or accept any bid offered.

For Additional information contact Ray Brackett, Ass't. Supt.

Heritage Commission Offers $1,000 Award In Design Competition

Artistic talent, love of history—use both to win the Kentucky Heritage Commission 1978 design competition.

Competition is for creation of a design which will be used to designate the state's historic homes. A cash award of $1,000 will be presented to the winning entry.

According to Jim Oppel of the Heritage Commission, the markers should take the form of a decal to be displayed on the inside of windows of houses and other sites listed on the Survey of Historic Sites in Kentucky and the National Register of Historic Places. The decal, which must be no larger than 4 by 6 inches, must be visible from street distance and incorporate the words, "Historic Site in Kentucky," into a strong, readily identifiable graphic image, Oppel said. Entries, which must be camera ready, should contain no more than five colors.

The nationwide design competition begins July 15 and the deadline for entries is Sept. 15. The person with the winning entry will be notified Oct. 1.

All-Pupil Career Education Two-Year Cost, $1 Million

With a multitude of jobs available to young people today when they finish their schooling, career education is becoming an important part of their preparation for the world of work.

Career education offers children an awareness of self and of the world of work, orients them to occupations, prepares them for a career and gives them an understanding of the economic system of which jobs are a part.

In Kentucky, where career education in the schools was mandated during the 1976 legislature, all 181 local school districts have integrated career education into their regular school curriculum, according to Dorothy Alexander, state coordinator for career education.

Kentucky schools have been allocated $1 million for career education over the next biennium, $600,000 during the first year and $400,000 during the second. That breaks down to roughly $1.40 per student over the biennium, Alexander said.

36 Floyd Students On PCC Dean's List

Robert R. Allen, academic dean at Prestonsburg Community College, has announced that 36 Floyd county students have been named to the Dean's List for the 1978 spring semester. To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must have a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

The students are:
Thomas J. Blackburn, Prestonsburg; Lona E. Brewer, Allen; Madge P. Brumley, Teaberry; Margaret A. Buchanan, Prestonsburg; Drema K. Cornelison, Auxier; Thomas O. Dingus, Martin; Phillip D. Elliott, Prestonsburg; Betty J. Grey, Allen; Deborah J. Hall, Allen; Stanley K. Hayes, Hueysville; Jeffery T. Hicks, Prestonsburg; Greg Howell, Auxier; Judy A. Hyden, Prestonsburg; Debra S. Johnson, Prestonsburg; Robert D. Justice, Prestonsburg; Massoud Keivanjah, Prestonsburg; Carol B. Leinenbach, Prestonsburg; Sureka G. Maddiwar, Martin; Emma L. Martin, Prestonsburg; Jennifer L. Mullins, Garrett; Norman S. Osborne, Garrett; Lowell T. Parker, Minnie; Sandra H. Parnell, Prestonsburg; Virginia K. Pitts, David; Woodrow H. Ratliff, Endicott; Geniece Reed, Garrett; Debbie M. Reynolds, Garrett; Zhaleh Rezaei, Prestonsburg; John P. Sammons, Martin; Mary L. Shepherd, Prestonsburg; Deborah B. Sherlock, Prestonsburg; Chicita Slone, Auxier; Nancy Venters, Prestonsburg; John K. Ward, McDowell; Marcia L. Watson, Martin; Leo J. Weddle, Prestonsburg.

Most school districts are still in the initial states of implementation, she said. "It takes a period of time for any kind of innovative program to get going."

But the community involvement in career education is exciting, she said, as she praised the response the program has had from business, industry and community leaders. "Anytime the community gets involved in a school program, it builds better relations between the school and the community," Alexander said.

Career education varies from school to school and generally strives to meet the special needs of the children involved. Children being introduced into the world of work may participate in interviews, shadowing or internships.

Interviewing, which is used extensively in the primary grades, involves inviting a worker into the classroom and letting the children ask him or her about the job, training, salaries, fringe benefits, or whatever they are interested in finding out. The children can be exposed to a number of occupations from doctor to computer specialist to truck driver.

Junior high school or middle school students sometimes try "shadowing" a worker for two or three hours. The student is given an opportunity to observe the daily routine involved in holding a job.

Internships give a student a chance to spend two or three days on the job with someone in the working world. "Internships give students an opportunity to sort out any preconceived notions they have about a job and see if they are true," Alexander said.

An internship lets a student find out what he's apt to encounter in an occupation before he begins formal training. Alexander told about one student who wanted to be a doctor. After spending two or three days observing a local doctor, however, he discovered that he was terrified at the sight of blood.

A statewide awareness conference on career education will be held June 22-23 at the Bluegrass Convention Center in Louisville.

Jeff DeRossett

Jeff DeRossett, 67, a Kentucky resident for most of his life and a native of Prestonsburg, died May 25 in a hospital in San Diego, Calif., after an illness of several months. He and his wife, the former Lora Mae Snavelly, also a native of Floyd county, had resided in Chula Vista, Calif., a suburb of San Diego, for the past 3 1/2 years since their retirement. He was a son of the late Sol and Belle DeRossett. He was a U.S. Army veteran, having served from 1933 to 1945, and worked for 28 years in Cincinnati, O., as a crane operator for Inland Steel. He was a member of the Chula Vista, Church of the Nazarene. In addition to his wife, Mr. DeRossett is survived by three sons, David, of Chatsworth, Calif., and Timothy, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; a daughter, Mrs. Florence Tisa, of Rochester, N.Y.; two stepdaughters, Bonnie Reeves, of Chula Vista, and Judy Taylor, of Jacksonville, Fla.; three brothers, Ollie and Ashland, of Prestonsburg, and Hillard, of Boomer, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Willie Spears, of Newport, Ky., and Mrs. Victoria Lafferty, of Prestonsburg; and five grandchildren. Burial was in the Glen Abbey Memorial Park of Chula Vista after funeral services May 30 at the Little Chapel of the Roses and military graveside rites. Mrs. DeRossett continues to reside at the family residence at 1925 Otay Lakes Road, Space 24, Chula Vista, California 92010.

William Conrad Betzing

William Conrad Betzing, 48, of Aurora, Colorado, died Monday, June 12, at Fitzsimmons Army Medical Center following a short illness. A retired staff sergeant in the Air Force, he had served in Korea and Vietnam. He was a son of Mrs. Flora Frederick Betzing, of Zanesville, O., and the late Archie D. Betzing, and was a member of the First Baptist Church. His widow, Mrs. Peggy Jean Sammons Betzing, who survives him, is a native of Martin.

In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by two daughters, Diane and Sandra Betzing, both at home; a sister, Mrs. Eloise Hansel, of Chandlersville, O., and one grandchild. Funeral services were conducted at the chapel of Hall Brothers Funeral Home by the Rev. Dale McAlister. Full military honors were accorded by a color guard and rifle squad from Rickenbacker Air Force Base in Columbus, Ohio. Military personnel from the base acted as pallbearers, and burial was made in the Prater cemetery at Martin.

Mrs. Othel Dale

Mrs. Othel Dale, 63, of Tram, died last Friday at Highlands Regional Medical Center following a short illness. Born July 9, 1914 at Grethel, she was a daughter of the late Triplett and Ella Blanton Hamilton and was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church. Her husband, Daniel Ervine Dale, preceded her in death in 1965. She is survived by three sons, Archie Dale, of Tram, James Dale, of Herdon, Va., Edgar Dale, of Columbus, O.; one daughter, Mrs. Cathy Elkins, of Tram; two brothers, Estill Gibson, of Melvin, and Dallas Gibson, of Tram; two sisters, Mrs. Jackie Gilliam and Mrs. Irene Harris, both of Melvin; 17 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Monday at Hall Brothers Funeral Home by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Hamilton cemetery at Grethel.

Mrs. Mary Butler May

Mrs. Mary Butler May, 97, formerly of Prestonsburg, and mother of Former Commissioner of Agriculture William H. May, of Frankfort, died Sunday morning at King's Daughters' Hospital, Frankfort, after a long illness. She was the widow of W. H. May, onetime 31st judicial district commonwealth's attorney and well-known lawyer. A native of Johnson county, she was a daughter of James and Elissa Franklin Butler. She was long a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here, and it was she and her husband who gave the church (then known as First Baptist) the lot on which the original church was built where the Fountain Korner Drug building now stands. She had resided in Frankfort about 25 years. Surviving are her son and three daughters, Mrs. Dudley Spencer, Frankfort, Mrs. C. B. Roberts, Fredericksburg, Va., and Mrs. Charles Kelley, Miami, Florida. She also leaves nine grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. Graveside funeral services were conducted at Frankfort cemetery at 10:30 a.m., Tuesday.

Miss Aileen Fairchild

Miss Aileen Fairchild, 74, of Allen, died Sunday at the Paintsville Hospital following a long illness. A member of one of the pioneer families of this section, she was born August 25, 1903, a daughter of the late Den and Lula Mayo Fairchild. She attended Morehead and Berea Colleges and had taught school. She was a member of the Church of Christ. Surviving her is one sister, Mrs. William Burke, of Ft. Pierce, Florida. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Hall Brothers chapel by the Rev. Earl Waugh. Burial was made in the Fairchild cemetery at Allen.

Frank B. Music

Frank B. Music, of Johns Creek near Van Lear, died Sunday, June 11, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, following a brief illness. Former superintendent of Princess Elkhorn mining operations at David, he was a mine operator and owner at the time of his death. Mr. Music was a son of the late Arch and Della Preston Music, born July 10, 1915 in Johnson county. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Wells Music; four sons, Dexter Music, of Hager Hill, Rex, James David, and Joe Music, all of Johns Creek; one daughter, Mrs. Vivian Young, of Winchester; five sisters, Mrs. Clista Daniels and Mrs. Marshall Ward, both of Boons Camp, Mrs. Audie Williamson, of Van Lear, Mrs. Evelyn Pauley, of Clothier, W. Va., and Mrs. Fay Cole, of Columbus, Ohio. Nine grandchildren also survive. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 14, at Jones-Preston Funeral Home by the Rev. Richard Held. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Van Lear.

Shawn Thomas Collins

Shawn Thomas Collins, infant son of Ishmael and Elva June Frasure Collins, of East McDowell, died last Thursday at UK Medical Center in Lexington. The infant was born earlier that day at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin. In addition to the parents, survivors include a sister, Vickie Gail Collins, at home; the paternal grandparents, Freddy and Mary Collins, of Corn Fork, and the maternal grandparents, Ted and Osie Frasure, of East McDowell. Graveside services were conducted by Carl Baldrige at the Frasure cemetery at East McDowell where burial was made under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Joe DeRossett

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon (Wednesday) at the chapel of Floyd Funeral Home for Joe DeRossett, 66, of East Point, who died Monday at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington following an extended illness. The officiating ministers will be Rev. Moses Kitchen and Rev. Dewey Music. Mr. DeRossett was well-known in the Prestonsburg area where he had for many years owned and operated a service station. He was born April 24, 1912 at Water Gap, a son of Mrs. Minnie Lee Sizemore DeRossett, of East Point, and the late Christopher C. (Lum) DeRossett. He was a member of the East Point Church of God, East Point Masonic Lodge No. 657, F & AM, and was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Leota Leake DeRossett; one son, Kenneth J. DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, and one daughter, Mrs. Betty Jo Daniel, of Owensboro; five brothers, Fred DeRossett, of Pomona, Calif., T. J. DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, Christopher C. York, of Metamora, O., Mrs. Victoria Meade, of West Prestonsburg, Mrs. Ruth Newton, of Louisville, Mrs. Velva Compton, of East Point, Mrs. Virginia Whit, of Ashland, and two grandchildren. Burial will be made in Richmond Memorial cemetery here. Nephews of Mr. DeRossett will act as pallbearers.

Vacation Bible School Attendance Peaks at 82 At Faith Bible Church

"Come and Find God's Secret" was the theme of the daily vacation Bible school held last week in the Faith Bible Church at Martin. Classes were held for four age groups: Pre-school, primary, middlers and teens. The program format included a general session for music and Bible stories, individual class study period, handicrafts session, and refreshment time. Initial enrollment was 56, and attendance peaked at 82 during the week. Of this number, 53 students had perfect attendance. Teachers and helpers included: Barri Johnson, Susan Barnette, Carol Branham, Ada Depoy, Rosa Martin, Ruby Skeans, Mearilla Pitts, Mary Lou Barnette, Faye Pitts, Ilene Thompson, Doris Pitts, Helen Radcliff, Beulah Jackson, Cathy Crum, Georgia Conn, Sheila Lee, Irene Conn, Kathleen Keithman, and Pam Wohlford. Agnes Reed was in charge of the refreshments supplied by members and friends of the church. The week's activities culminated with a picnic at Jenny Wiley Park, Saturday afternoon. The group then assembled at the church Sunday evening to share with their parents and friends God's secret: "The only hope of getting to heaven is Jesus in your heart!" Handcrafts were also displayed for viewing. The Rev. Bob Martin expressed his gratitude for the church's opportunity of teaching these young people, and extends an open invitation to all Bible school participants and their parents to attend Faith Bible Church services. Sunday School services are held each Sunday at 10:30 a.m., followed by morning worship at 11:30 a.m. Sunday evening services are conducted at 7, Bible study on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m., and prayer meeting each Wednesday at 7 p.m.

IN FISCAL YEAR 1976, the Job Corps provided 43,400 young people with skill training, on-the-job experience, remedial education, social direction, and health services through 60 residential centers across the nation, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration.

IN MEMORIAM

(In loving memory of my Mother and Father, Bess and Bill Young, who departed this world on May 7, and May 14, 1975.)

"The Journey" When death, the angel of our higher dreams, Shall come, far ranging from the hills of light, He will not catch me unaware; for I Shall be as now communing with the dawn. For I shall make all haste to follow him Along the valley, up the misty slope, Where life lets go and life at last is born. There I shall find the dreams that I have lost On toilsome earth, and they will guide me on, Beyond the mists unto the farthest height. I shall not grieve except to pity those Who cannot hear the songs that I shall hear! Thomas C. Clark 1877 Sadly missed by their youngest daughter, Sarah Lynn, and the grandchildren they will never know.

Have your blood pressure checked.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation to our many friends for their kindness during the death of our husband and father, Manuel Hall. To the Floyd Funeral Home, Mae Martin, Roger Nelson and Larry Burke for the efficient service and most of all their concern. To the ministers, Orbin Dickerson and Jack DeRossett for their kind words, to the Bonanza singers for their beautiful singing, and to all who brought food and sent flowers, or assisted in any way. Thank you and may God bless you. Mrs. Allie Hall, Mrs. Shirley Nelson, Mrs. Vernie Ellis, Mr. Donald Hall, Mr. Ronald Hall.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Malcom "Mack" Johnson, take this opportunity to express our deepest gratitude to our many friends who sent flowers or showed their sympathy to us in any way, upon the passing of our beloved husband and father, we thank all the ministers for their kindness, the Highlands Regional Hospital and Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. Myrtle Johnson and family.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our deepest appreciation to all those who were so kind to Cynthia Allen and her family upon her recent death. We especially want to thank the staff of the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital for their kindness. Also the preachers of the Hurricane Creek Primitive Baptist Church and our many friends for their help, food and flowers sent. And a special thanks to the Merion Funeral Chapel for its kind and efficient service. The Family

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. George Holbrook, of Melvin, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Yvonne Carol, to Mr. Billy Gene Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bryant, of Wheelwright.

Yvonne is a recent graduate of Wheelwright high school, and Mr. Bryant, who attended Wheelwright high school, is currently employed by Holbrook Plumbing, Inc., of Varney, Kentucky.

The wedding will be solemnized on the lawn of the residence of the bride's parents at 2 p.m., June 24 by the Rev. Ellis Holbrook. After a short honeymoon, the couple will reside at Wheelwright.

Too Many Meetings Held, Graham Says

Dr. James B. Graham, superintendent of public instruction, has declared a moratorium on all Department of Education meetings between Aug. 10 and Sept. 15.

The department will not call any meetings of local school district personnel during the time when schools are busy opening this new year.

"Personally, I feel there are too many educational meetings in the state," Graham said, "and the Kentucky Department of Education is going to take the lead in looking at the number of meetings it calls."

School districts need the time from Aug. 10 to Sept. 15 to get schools open, and sending staff members to meetings during this period is most inconvenient. I also hope we can have a moratorium on department meetings during the last month of school," Graham said.

Department personnel will, however, be available to school districts needing consultative services or inservice workshops during that time period, Graham said.

New Laws Now in Effect

A BATCH OF NEW LAWS BECAME EFFECTIVE LAST Saturday.

Now you may make a left turn at red lights from a one-way street onto another one-way street.

If you're in wet territory, you may have wine with your meals at restaurants.

In need of dentures, but can't afford them? Now you can ask the state to buy them for you.

If you are older than 61, blind, disabled or poor, you may obtain state assistance for partial payment of your utility bills.

If you're a somewhat reckless or unlucky motorist, you'll discover that the fines for moving violations have increased considerably—by $15 in most cases. In addition, court costs in district courts will rise from $10 to $27.50.

If you're a woman who chooses to have an abortion, your health insurance will no longer cover it automatically. An extra payment will be needed for coverage. State welfare funding for abortions will be allowed only if your life is in danger.

If you're a woman contemplating divorce, you will no longer automatically obtain child custody as generally has been the case. Courts will have to consider both parents henceforth in that role.

Some laws either will take effect later this year or already have been carried out earlier by regulation.

For example, the Legislature voted an end to mandatory motor vehicle inspection and that would have occurred Saturday. But Gov. Julian Carroll eliminated the program weeks ago by executive order.

And a new act will require vehicle owners to carry proof of insurance through another windshield sticker, but that won't go into effect until Sept. 1.

Meantime, the state already is operating under year-round registration of motor vehicles, as of Jan. 1, but that law actually was passed in the 1976 session.

The 1978 Legislature passed 414 bills, more than in any session in the past decade or more.

However, most of these laws involved special interest or governmental agencies, or were so broad they apply only to certain classes of citizenry or occupational groups.

Thus, a new $7.5 billion budget will take effect for the next two fiscal years, beginning July 1.

And it provides a record $276 million increase in funding for education, most of which will start with the new school year and features salary raises of up to $1,400 for teachers.

A number of changes in the state's coal severance tax, with its companion financing of roads and other facilities, also begin with the new fiscal year.

On the other hand, the revamped strip mine regulations under which Kentucky adheres to federal requirements went into effect last month.

The new laws concerning parents and school children seem in the main positive.

There will be no more fees charged for instructional materials in schools and textbooks will be provided free.

All public school pupils will be tested in the third, fifth, seventh and 10th grades to determine how they have mastered basic skills, and school systems will have to provide special classes or programs for those doing poorly.

If you want your child in kindergarten, the state will provide a class for youngsters who are 5 by Sept. 1.

If your child is suspended from public school, he or she will have the opportunity of a hearing before suspension.

Insurance policyholders will get some breaks from new statutes. For example, insurance firms will not be allowed to raise your rates when you have an accident that is not your fault.

Any car insurance policy you are issued after next Jan. 1 will have to fully cover replacement costs of windshields and headlights, even if deductible coverage is included for other items.

And if you leave your job you won't automatically lose your health insurance coverage.

You would be able to continue buying coverage under certain types of plans without having to show you were still insurable.

If you are a poor person, one important additional benefit for you takes effect Saturday.

If there is an emergency and you cannot get aid from the usual welfare programs, a crisis assistance program will allow you to obtain short term help. The state Department for Human Resources will handle it.

Some other immediate results of last winter's session.

If you're cited for a traffic violation outside Kentucky, the state will have the power to negotiate agreements with that state on your behalf. That could help if you have to post a large bond or go straight to court.

If you are a homemaker displaced from your role because of death of a spouse or divorce, a new series of programs in job training and counseling will be drawn up for you.

Reception To Honor Silver Anniversary

Pratt Reunion Is Held At Archer Park, June 11

The annual reunion of the descendants and relatives of the late William and Martha Osborne Pratt was held at Archer Park here, June 11.

Registration began at 10 a.m. the business meeting was opened with Ollie May, of Martin, giving the benediction and blessing of the food. Officers elected to serve next year are Co-chairwomen, Dolly Mayo and Alice Hayes, of Martin; Secretary-Treasurer, Marena Hale, of Manton.

Prizes were given in the following categories: Farthest distance, Chalmer Martin from South Carolina; oldest person, Ollie May, of Martin, age 73; youngest person, Matthew Belcher, of Prestonsburg, age 18 months; largest family, Mrs. Nora Martin, of Langley, 14 members of her family present.

Door prizes were won by Chalmer Martin, South Carolina, and Zola Pratt Lykins, of Harper, Ky. A basket lunch was shared, followed by an afternoon of getting reacquainted with friends and relatives, by the following:

Mrs. Marena Hale, Jeannie and Reva, of Manton; Mr. and Mrs. Earrit Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie May, Phyllis Gearheart and Kay Ellen, Bill Hoppman, Mary Ann Mayo, Ron Hunter, Donna and Myreda Pratt, all of Martin; Mr. and Mrs. John Belcher, Mike and Matt, of Prestonburg; Mrs. Nora Martin, Dee Dee Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Martin, Jamie and Rondell, Mrs. Evelene Martin, John Thomas and Franklin Lee, all of Langley; Glema Moore and Benjamin, Beverly Moore, Jeffrey Moore, Daphne Moore and Mr. and Mrs. John Pratt, all of Garrett; Flo Pratt Hamilton, of West Liberty; Rephard Lykins, Zola Pratt Lykins, and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Evans, all of Harper; Jim Pratt and Joan Pratt, of Paintsville; Warren Risner, of Bypro; Priscilla Pratt Prater, Chris O'Brian Prater, Byron Neil Prater, and Rhonda Michelle Prater, all of Huesyville; Mr. and Mrs. John Myles, of Kenova, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Pratt, of Paintsville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pratt, of Staffordsville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Calvert, of Fairborn, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Winston Hamilton, Glenn Patrick and Winston Scott and Zola Pratt Patrick, all of Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. James B Lankford and Diane, all of Athens, Tennessee; Debbie Hayes and Macky Newman, of Mousie.

Anyone who would like to be contacted concerning next year's reunion should contact one of the officers whose names and addresses are given near the beginning of this article.

Enrollment Decline And Salary Schedule Cause Teacher Cutbacks

A survey recently conducted by KSBK on the numbers of teaching positions that will not be filled for the 1978-79 school year shows the decline in pupil enrollment and lack of local funds to provide for the state mandated salary schedule to be the primary reasons for the non-reemployment of teachers. From the 160 school districts responding to the survey, 343 professional positions will not be filled for the 1978-79 school year. Of this number, 86 positions will be taken care of by retirements, 84 by resignations, with 18 listing other reasons, for a total of 188 positions.

This leaves 155 teachers who received notices that they would not be reemployed. District officials indicated that 87 of these positions are being eliminated due to reduction in the number of pupils, with the balance of 68 positions being eliminated because local funds are not sufficient to meet the requirements of the state mandated salary schedule for positions not covered by the Foundation Program.

ACCORDING TO THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR, the more than 2,500 local offices of the Federal-State employment service offer youth such services as testing, counseling, and job placement; in fiscal year 1976, the employment service received 4.6 million new or renewal applications from young people under age 22, totaling 30 percent of all applications.

A Gift for Flag Day

The Martin Woman's Club presented a flag to the E. P. Grigsby Senior Citizen's Center on Flag Day, June 14. Eulene Ratliff, president of the Martin Club, and Cora Osborne of the center, are shown holding flag. Fathers Day dinner was held at the same time.

Floyd County Health Notes

The Floyd County Health Department this week issued the following announcement regarding their up-coming clinics:

A glaucoma screening clinic will be held at the health department, Friday, June 23, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. Being screened for glaucoma is very important since it can detect this disease that can painlessly and silently cause blindness. Glaucoma screening is recommended twice a year for all persons age 35 and older. Remember, the earlier it is detected the easier it is to control.

No Discrimination Rule Restores $95,000 to KSP

The Kentucky State Police have received an agreed order from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration restoring nearly $95,000 in funds for the Kentucky State Police crime labs around the state, Justice Secretary John L. Smith announced.

Smith said the restoration of federal funds for the crime labs follows a Franklin circuit court ruling that the state police height requirement is not discriminatory, as had been ruled by the Kentucky Human Rights Commission.

The funds were suspended by the administration last year following the Human Rights Commission's ruling.

State Police Personnel Honored

Awards and commendations were presented recently to Kentucky State Police members at the Trooper Island Appreciation Day picnic at Dale Hollow Lake. Presenting the awards were Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stovall and State Police Commissioner Kenneth Brandenburgh.

Trooper Danny Stumbo, of Martin, received an official commendation for recapturing two Floyd county jailbreakers. Off duty at the time of the break, he learned of the whereabouts of the fugitives and recaptured them.

The official commendation awarded Trooper Terry D. Hall, of Price, was for his "tenacious and skillful pursuit" and later arrest of an armed robbery suspect whom he saw leaving the scene of the crime.

Trooper Kenneth Frost, who was officially commended, was called to a scene where a small boy was trapped in a slush pond. "His leadership and coordination of the rescue effort was largely responsible for the rescue of the child," the citation reads.

Trooper Ernie Stepp, who received an official commendation, was called to a burglary then in progress and arrested the criminals. This swift response was done without backup or regard for his personal safety, the commendation noted.

Trooper Don K. Weedman, of Banner, received the Citation for Bravery. Advised of a robbery, he gave chase to the suspect who entered a hospital where a hostage was taken. Tpr. Weedman entered the hospital and forced the suspect to free the hostage and surrender. (Trooper Weedman; photo unavailable).

Douglas Asher, who also was cited for bravery, went to the home of a burglary suspect to interview him. The suspect's father objected to the interview, so Asher left and returned with a warrant for both father and son. The burglary suspect was arrested and the father armed himself, opening fire on Det. Asher. The gunfire was returned and the assailant was fatally wounded.

Nat'l Safety Council Honors Martin County Coal Corp.

The Martin County Coal Corporation's preparation plant was recently honored by the National Safety Council for the outstanding safety record achieved over the past three years. This operation earned a President's Citation for the period ending Dec. 31, 1977.

In making the presentation Vincent Toftany, president of the National Council, said, "By their adherence to the highest standards of safety, your employees have enriched their own lives and those of their co-workers by making their workplace a safer one. This is an impressive example that has been set not only in your own community but throughout your entire industry."

The NSC President's Citation was accepted by Raymond Bradbury, president and general manager of Martin County Coal Corp., director of training. The preparation plant has amassed over 200,000 man hours without a lost time accident. This record began on April 30, 1975 and is continuing.

Martin County Coal Corporation has established itself as one of the leaders in safety in the coal mining industry. Three of the operations received National Safety Council Certificates of Commendation for 1976 for outstanding safety performances. In addition, Martin County Coal has received several awards from the U.S. Department of Interior's Holmes Safety Association. These "Sentinels of Safety" awards have been presented annually to surface mine operations on the MCCC property.

In accepting the award, Superintendent Cox praised his employees. He said, "All the men working at the Preparation Plant have a spirit of cooperation. This spirit and their sense of 'looking out for the other guy' have enabled us to achieve this record. It's a real pleasure to be associated with such a great group of men."

The U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, originally created by Congress in 1884 and made part of the newly-established Labor Department in 1913, acts as the nation's chief economic factfinder in many areas.

MINNIE NEWS

(Last week's correspondence)
Hezzie and Pauline Hall, of Ashtabula, Ohio, visited her parents, Ted and Ethel Collins, recently and took them on a vacation and sightseeing trip to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

Terry Micheal Hall and family visited his grandparents, Ted and Ethel Collins, over the weekend. Their granddaughter, Debbie Gebauer, and family are also visiting them.

Friends at Minnie are sorry to learn of the serious illness of Dewey Gilbert (Gile) Stumbo.

Woodrow Stewart has been a patient in Highlands Regional Medical Center at Prestonsburg. His condition is somewhat improved.

Friends at Minnie express their sympathy to the family of Sherman Stumbo who passed away recently.

Wallen Retires

Jesse Wallen has retired from Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation here after 26 years' service.

He joined Columbia in 1952 in the gas measurement department, and was an instrument mechanic at the time of his retirement.

A graduate of Prestonsburg High School, Wallen is a member of the Masonic Lodge. He plans to stay active in the gas business.

He and his wife, the former Rina Mae Wills, live on Bull Creek, near here. They have two daughters, Mrs. Mary Lou Daniels and Mrs. Jessie Sue Gray.

Workshop Here on June 28 To Discuss Spouse Abuse

A community workshop sponsored by Domestic Assault Support and Housing, Inc. (DASH, Inc.), Big Sandy Area Development District, the Kentucky Commission on Women, Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky, Inc., and the Prestonsburg Community College Community Service Program, will be held next Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Community College, in the Johnson Building, Room 159.

Focus of the all-day workshop will be discussions of the causes and solutions of family violence. The workshop will begin with a film, "Battered Women: Violence Behind Closed Doors," in which battered women discuss their feelings of helplessness, the shame of being a failure as a wife, and the fear of being alone.

The conference is open to the public, and the sponsors are especially interested in audience opinions and suggestions concerning whatever solutions and goals come out of the sharing of ideas.

Those invited to speak or to participate in panel discussion include Craig Kilgore, Prestonsburg City Police; Kay Martin Doyle, Magoffin commonwealth attorney; Bonnie Crisp, Mountain Comprehensive Care; Father William Poole, Ministerial Association; Angela Sherbo, Legal Services (Hazard); Mary Jane Eades, Department of Justice; Helen Hughes, Commission on Women; Betty Conner, Program Development Planning Branch, Department of Social Services, and Lois Hake, Fairfield, Ohio shelter founder.

Garfield Place—Prestonsburg Landmark Rich in History

By LAURA WEDDLE
Almost every town or city in America has its own historic landmark; one to which residents can point with pride and say to visitors, "There is where a well-known figure—famous or infamous lived"; or "There is where an event took place which helped to shape our country's history". Almost every town has one, and Prestonsburg, Kentucky is no exception.

Ours is known far and wide as "The Garfield Place," because it was in that house in January 1862 that Colonel James A. Garfield, later to become the 20th President of the United States, made his headquarters following the Civil War Battle of Middle Creek. Located on what is now Second Avenue, the house was built by John M. Burns, soon after he moved to Prestonsburg in 1853.

The name of James A. Garfield is, of course, secure in the annals of history. But what of John M. Burns, the builder and original owner of the house? Henry P. Scaif, in his book, KENTUCKY'S LAST FRONTIER reveals that he was a lawyer whose political affiliations were with the old Whig and later the Republican party. During the Civil War his sympathies with the Union cause were well known. It is interesting to note, however, that he came under suspicion as a possible Rebel at about the time of Garfield's battle along the Big Sandy, which would eventually bring Garfield to Burns' home, and secure a place for the house and its owner in the pages of history. There is no documented evidence for the suspicion of Burns' Confederate loyalties; rather he seems to have been presumed "guilty by association" because his law partner, John M. Elliott, was known to be involved in activities considered helpful to Confederate interests.

This suspicion was enough to send Burns fleeing from Prestonsburg at word of Garfield's forthcoming arrival, because he feared that his association with Elliott might prompt his arrest. Burns later returned to Prestonsburg to resume his law practice, but moved to Cattlesburg in 1864. His career included the offices of state senator, Boyd county school commissioner, and Circuit Judge of the sixteenth judicial district, which was composed of the counties of Boyd, Lawrence, Martin, Johnson, Pike and Floyd.

(A group of interested area citizens have formed a group, recently, The Big Sandy Historical Preservation Society, with the immediate objective of securing funds for the restoration of the Garfield Place.)

College Day Camp To Begin June 26

Thirty-seven young people between 6 and 16 pre-registered last Friday and Saturday for the College Day Camp at Prestonsburg Community College which begins June 26. The program will be held Monday through Friday for two three-week sessions with the first session, June 26 through July 14; the second session, July 17 through August 4.

There will be adult supervision from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. While there will be recreation activities preceding and following the classes, most of the instructional activities will be between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Paula Collins, administrator of the "Summer College Day Camp for Youth" is a native of Letcher county and now lives at Banner. Mrs. Collins is a Berea College graduate with a major in sociology, and attended Pikeville College receiving degrees in Early Childhood and Elementary Education. She has worked toward her master's in areas of Early Childhood Education, Leadership Development and also Education of the Handicapped. Mrs. Collins has taught in the LKLP Headstart program in Letcher County, the Berea College nursery school, and the Irene Cole Baptist Church Day Care.

Mrs. Collins' husband, Charles Collins, also a Berea graduate, is purchasing agent at R & S Truck Body Co. Inc. at Allen. They have a son, Paul Edward, fifteen months old.

Festival, Travel Time in Kentucky

You could take extra iron, super vitamins and all the pep talks in the world and not have energy and time enough to enjoy the events taking place in Kentucky.

Wilderness Road opens June 24 near Berea, followed closely by other theater openings throughout the state. There are Fourth of July celebrations, summer horse shows, arts and crafts festivals and other festivals and fairs in Kentucky, where the emphasis is on food. Sometimes the food is not down-home Kentucky fare but exotic offerings with a tropical taste. But, take note—even a banana from the tropics tastes better when prepared by Kentucky cooks!

If you and your friends enjoy water sports events, check out the regattas in river towns and cities, especially those in Ashland, Louisville and Owensboro.

The annual Tri-State Fair and Regatta located in the Ashland-Ironton-Huntington area kicks off with a formal Regatta Ball the night of June 17 in the Huntington (W. Va.) Civic Center. This Ohio River event attracts crowds not only from the Tri-State of Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio but also from many states. Ron Coleman, chairman of the fair and regatta, said, "We've got more than 40 events scheduled during the 19 days in June and July. The regatta ball is a great way to get it all started."

So much is included in this year's Tri-State event that a 52-page magazine has been published explaining the fair and regatta features, regulations and the like. The magazine is being sold in Ashland, Ironton (Ohio) and Huntington. The Tri-State Fair & Regatta office is at the New Henry Clay Hotel in Ashland, telephone 324-7222, for those who want information.

During July the Jenny Wiley Drama Association will be in full swing with musical productions at the Jenny Wiley

State Park Amphitheatre. There will be "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" to see on the stage at Van, near Whitesburg, and "The Book of Job" in Laurel Cove at Pineville.

There will be Daniel Boone Days July 1-3 at Booneville, the Lions Club Horse Show in Owingsville July 2-4, The Nibroc Festival in Corbin the first week in August and the Laurel County Homecoming at London the week of the Full Moon in August.

On Aug. 13 the 13th annual Mountain Parkway Art and Crafts Exhibit is set on Hoedown Island at Natural Bridge State Resort Park and Aug. 16-20 will be the famous International Banana Festival at the twin towns of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn.

At the Banana Festival there will be free sewing from the world's largest banana pudding. A Fulton area dairy makes the pudding using 3,000 bananas, 250 pounds of vanilla wafers and 950 pounds of boiled custard. How would you and your family like to sink your teeth in that one! The big free banana pudding treat is Aug. 19 with a giant parade to enjoy!

Why a banana festival in Kentucky? Fulton and South Fulton were once the banana crossroads of America due to the banana-carrying freight trains that stopped there to re-ice.

Mark on your calendar of entertainment and travels the date of Sept.

1-3 to take in the annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival at Prestonsburg's Jenny Wiley State Resort Park and mark a change in date for the annual Morgan County Sorghum Festival in West Liberty. This year's sorghum festival is scheduled Sept. 22-24. (And don't miss Red, White and Blue Day in Prestonsburg.-ed.)

This is not the half of it, but it will do for a beginning. Put on your traveling bonnet and hat, pack the children and Granny and Gramps in the wagon and start out. This summer will be a good time to see and enjoy this great land.

There are campgrounds, parks, motels and restaurants along the way to make your travels pleasant.

Kentucky Leads National Guard May Recruiting

State Adjutant General Billy G. Wellman announced Thursday that Kentucky was the top state in the country for recruiting in May with a net increase of 154 persons.

Wellman said that he is "very pleased" with the rise in strength and hopes it will continue until the entire state is at 100 percent strength. The Guard strength is approximately 5,200, which still leaves 1,000 persons to be recruited, Wellman said.

The Guard just completed an Awareness Week to make Kentuckians aware of their strength problems. Gov. Julian Carroll proclaimed the week, and many Guard communities were asked to help with recruiting for units that were low in strength.

Wellman noted that the Guard Bureau in Washington is trying to help with recruiting by establishing a new program called "Split Training Option." This program would allow a young man or woman to enlist in the Guard, attend basic training during one summer, then return to the unit for 12 months and finally complete advanced individual training the next summer. In the past many young people could not enlist because the 12 to 16 weeks needed for both basic and advanced training interfered with their high school or college education, Wellman noted.

Wellman said that this new split training program would go hand-in-hand with the Kentucky Guard's educational encouragement fund. This fund, allocated by the 1978 General Assembly, enables the Guard to pay up to 50 percent of a guardsmen's tuition to almost all state college, university, or vocational schools. Guard recruiters hope that the two programs together will entice many high school juniors and seniors to look closely at the Guard.

The late Mr. and Mrs. John McNeil, Sr. were former residents of Wheelwright.

Study Hazards of Handling

Magistrate Ray Wilcox, left, and County Civil Defense Director Petty Thompson, standing, look over a booklet on the handling of hazardous materials with Larry Arnett, state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services training specialist, at a DES conference held recently in Lexington.

The conference was sponsored by the Kentucky Division of Disaster and Emergency Services and a major portion of the program was devoted to hazardous materials response. Other subjects discussed included emergency operation problems, requesting state and federal aid, rescue training and public information.

Kentucky Adjutant General Billy G. Wellman addressed the group and had high praise for the amount of time and energy they put into preparing counties for possible disasters. Wellman said the program on hazardous materials response was particularly interesting because of the large number of incidents that have occurred in Kentucky.

Carroll Names Task Force To Study Transport Problems

Before his departure to the Southern States Energy Board Conference in Puerto Rico last Thursday, Gov. Julian Carroll announced the appointment of a blue ribbon transportation task force.

Speaking to an estimated crowd of 250—mainly local government and industry officials—Carroll said the task force "will launch a year-and-a-half study to help solve transportation problems through the next decade, especially in the 1980-'82 biennium."

The task force is to be headed by Shively Mayor William S. O'Daniel and includes 40 state and local officials, legislators, transportation executives and industrial representatives.

Carroll pointed to the recent success of the task force on education as an example of local participation in problem solving. "We went to the (1978) legislature with the biggest educational package and the biggest education price tag in the history of Kentucky," he said. The transportation task force will be asked to submit a report on Kentucky transportation needs to the governor by Oct. 1, 1979.

Carroll noted that two areas of progress in the state's transportation network are the Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway and the Resource Recovery Road Program. The Tombigbee waterway "will give us the largest system of navigable waterways in the world," he said.

Resource Recovery Road bond issues, the governor noted, amount to about $462 million. But Carroll emphasized the state's sound financial structure, saying "We're in better shape than we have been in 15 years."

Carroll said current plans for state highways "don't even scratch the surface of what transportation needs are."

He described recent railroad derailments as "frightening." Mentioned was a chemical rail spill at Grayson which required the use of auxiliary water supplies due to contamination.

Carroll said air transportation within the state "will require building and improvement of more and more airports to attract industry and tourism to the state."

PUBLIC NOTICE

All interested persons are hereby notified that a summary of the Fiscal Year 1978-79 budget of Floyd County including the intended uses of federal revenue sharing funds is available for public inspection.

BY WILMAY

Floyd county lost two of its most outstanding citizens recently when David and Wanda Reed moved to Lexington. The void they leave will be hard to fill.

Thanks to the kind minister who said alcoholism is not a disease, as we said in two columns back. He added that diseases can be caught. In narrow terms and small dictionaries Webster agrees with him, limiting disease to pathological upsets. But large dictionaries give some definitions that include alcoholism; however, the preacher wins, for God's Word, which supersedes all others, labels drinking among sins that prohibit indulgers from inheriting the kingdom. (1 Cor. 6:10, Gal. 5:21.) While one cannot "catch" alcoholism, sin is so contagious that scripture warns against bad company. Drunkenness causes one third of all suicides and arrests, half the highway fatalities and murders, a majority of broken homes. Sixty percent of its highway deaths are of youths 16-24. A Reader's Digest survey found over one million youths 12-17 with grave drinking problems. NCAI reports that nearly three-fourths of U.S. school pupils drink, almost a half million alcoholics 10-19 years old. Of nine million adult alcoholics three-fourths started as teen-agers. A survey by Ky. Dept. of Human Resources showed that 41 per cent of 6th, 7th, and 8th-graders drink. Over half of today's alcoholics had alcoholic parents. The nation gains almost a quarter million more yearly. Kentucky Western Recorder says instant alcohol is on the way: "Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission reports that powdered alcohol, an 'all you add is water' product, is being test-marketed on the west coast, and Americans can anticipate an onslaught of advertising...The instant 'cocktails' follow the six percent alcohol candy bar and the alcohol milk shake." (Quoted with permission.) This gives some idea of what the future holds.

Congress has always allowed the states only seven years to ratify any law. It is now being pressured to extend ERA ratification seven more years. Good citizens permit such unfairness by default, by doing nothing. More than one wonders how billionaire Howard Hughes paid no income tax fifteen years, or how several multimillionaires often paid little or nothing. It is no secret that many tax laws favor the wealthy. Tax-exempt foundations established by affluent families or groups are often loopholes that save them money in the final analysis, according to published data. No one is shocked that California taxpayers revolted. Their example may be copied. There is less protest against the taxes than against waste and corruption being exposed by many. The public is tired of faulty handling and swindling of funds voted for government. June Good Housekeeping has a sad article about fabulous jewels given the Nixon women and others, and cover-ups in some cases. Regardless of excuses many give, inflation rests squarely on big government, on refusal to balance the budget, with no thought of paying the national debt. Woe unto us when pay day arrives!

Catholic leaders have long set a good example opposing filthy films. They score again, urging all agencies concerned over rising statistics of unwed mothers, illegitimate children, abortions etc., to change methods and approaches to the problems by ceasing to major on sex education and contraceptives, and to spend the same effort, time, and funds teaching youths better morals and higher standards. This involves school, home, church, and society, though the home is primarily responsible. Easy acceptance of new, lax attitudes, marked deviation from conventional, traditional, and biblical principles cause the epidemic of evil threatening the downfall of our land. Printed announcements of cohabitational contracts between unmarried parties both young and old, marriage between homosexuals who can adopt children in some states, are a mere tip of the avalanche that can annihilate America. When good men do and say nothing wickedness triumphs. Silence gives consent. Passiveness dulls the corners of our consciences that are God-given as check-mates to prick all of us at times. Refusal to resist often leads to embracing the thing once opposed, and little sins frequently lead to big ones in many lives.

Increase in postal rates will not solve that problem. It is time to remove the causes. UPS makes a good profit, and a young couple in one city succeeds well with private mail delivery service, though charging less than Uncle Sam, who demands that they desist. Unknowingly, Bob Brunner of WSAZ stole my thunder on that subject last week. I had told several of plans to mention it. Mounting postal deficits, despite annual Washington subsidies, call to mind contracts for ships, planes, etc., whose final cost is sometimes double accepted bids!

Orchids to Bradas May who oversees having grass in the May cemetery mowed. Nothing reveals the love and greatness of our area more than the beautifully adorned graves, county-wide. No group is more deserving of revered memory than deceased veterans, and how sad that most of us neglect the living ones left handicapped or ill for life.

If Johnny gets poison ivy nothing is more effective than dampened soda applied repeatedly, a good old-time remedy. Inexpensive, too!

Red Cross Stresses Swimming Safety

In order to make the summer months safer and more enjoyable for participants in water sports, Mr. Jim Welch, Safety Programs director for the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, lists the following important rules for safety in the water.

Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates that the area is safe for swimming. Stay away from the vicinity of a diving board.

Before diving, check the water for sufficient depth and for the absence of rocks and other hidden objects. In pools, look for depth markings before diving.

If you have not been swimming since last summer, take it easy at first. Know your limitations and stay with them.

Do not swim when overtired or overheated.

Make certain that reaching poles, buoys, and similar rescue equipment are immediately available in your swimming area.

Don't depend on an inflated inner tube or flotation to hold you up. It may slip from under you or develop a leak.

Whenever a storm approaches get out of the water—it is a conductor of electricity, and a lightning strike near you could be fatal. Head for shelter immediately, but not for shelter under a tree.

It's the handiest way. Use our convenient Drive-In Teller.
