Winter Weekend for Artists Set at Jenny Wiley, Feb. 23-25

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Kentucky's most popular art and photography competition-exhibit is scheduled for Feb. 23-25 at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. The annual Winter Weekend for Artists and Photographers attracts people from every region in Kentucky as well as a number of artists, photographers and devotees of art from nearby states.

In addition to giving artists opportunity to exhibit their work, they also will be eligible for having their paintings and photos chosen for a traveling exhibit with grand award winners in each of the two divisions receiving a sterling silver julep cup. Ribbons will be presented for first, second, third and honorable mention in each category.

Registration starts at 4 p.m. Friday. At 7 p.m. Friday, Russell May, of Prestonsburg, Kentucky Heritage Artist, will do a landscape in oils, after which he and his family will provide refreshments for all participants in the Winter Weekend.

Starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, Larry Spitzer, photography assignment editor for The Courier-Journal and Times, will present a program which will include photo-journalism as well as tips and answers to picture problems.

At 11 a.m. Saturday, Lynn Akers (Mrs. Gary Akers), art instructor at Scott High School in Kenton county, will direct a program on stained glass as creative art.

All entries, framed or matted, for the art and photography competition must be entered by noon Saturday.

Joseph Petro, Kentucky Heritage Artist who is back in Kentucky after several years as head of the Art Center in Rome, Italy, will present a program, "Illustrate With Oils," at 2 p.m. Saturday. At 4 p.m. Floyd county native Gary Akers, Kentucky Heritage Artist now residing at Florence, Ky., will demonstrate his technique in watercolor.

Awards in art and photography will be announced at 7:30 p.m. Saturday followed by a critique session at 8 p.m.

Sunday's session starting at 9:30 a.m. will be a "sharing" time with participants and guests giving background information and experiences that have aided their career.

All events take place in May Lodge at the park, but guests will have time between programs for enjoying park grounds and nature tours.

Robert Powell will coordinate photo competition while Kathy Bohman will organize art. Betsy Powell is in charge of registration. Hosting the weekend are Nellie Meadows and Powell, both Kentucky Heritage Artists.

Further information is available from Bob Bates, Kentucky Department of Parks, Capital Plaza Tower, 10th Floor, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, phone (502) 564-7160 or Robert Powell, Kentucky Heritage Artist, 527 South Upper St., Lexington, Ky. 40508, phone 606-252-2110. After 5 p.m. in Frankfort phone 502-223-5742.

VISITING IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Blanton are in Florida where they will spend Sunday, Feb. 18 at the Daytona International Speedway for the stock car race there. They also plan to visit at Daytona Beach.

MOVING TO LOUISVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fannin, who have resided the past three years in Memphis, Tenn., are moving to Louisville where Mr. Fannin will work at the Louisville Office of Equal Opportunity. Mrs. Fannin hopes to continue teaching. Mrs. Fannin is the daughter of Opies Blanton, of Oil Springs and Eugene Fannin, of Cliff. She is a sister of Jerry Fannin, of Prestonsburg, and Lloyd Fannin, of Cliff. She is also a granddaughter of Perry and Minty Crider, of Prestonsburg.

"THE IMPERIALS" SCHEDULED

"The Imperials" will be presented in concert Saturday, February 17, at 8 p.m. at the Church of God's State Fairgrounds, 3500 Versailles Road (Hwy. 60), just outside New Circle road, Lexington, under sponsorship of Sall, Inc., a non-deominational group dedicated to proclaiming the Gospel through music.

The Imperials are among the best-known artists in gospel music.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Owens a daughter, Ellen Renee Owens, on February 2. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Coleman, of Water Gap, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Owens, of Lancer.

Home Fruit Planting

By JOHN E. SPARKS

County Extension Agent-Agriculture. Home fruit plantings are a good way to provide your family with a low cost and healthful food. However, nothing is more disappointing than fruit that is improperly cared for.

If you haven't grown fruit trees before, start small. Successful fruit production requires a certain amount of work. If you aren't willing to commit time and effort to the plants, then don't plant them.

Fruit trees need ample space and sunlight. Trees are best located on a slope where cold air will drain away from them. Do not plant in low pockets. The soil should be reasonably fertile and well drained. Avoid heavy clay soils.

Dwarf apple trees are best suited to the home fruit garden. The benefits more than outweigh the extra cost. Dwarf trees are easier to maintain, to pick from and will come into bearing sooner than standard trees.

Success with dwarf peach trees has been spotty and may not be satisfactory. Peach trees are not large growing and can be kept small with proper pruning.

Many fruit trees require cross pollination, so more than one tree of each type may be necessary. Most apples, pears, plums and nut trees require another variety for pollination. Sour cherries, peaches and nectarines are self-pollinating and do not require another tree. Planting two trees of the same variety will not fulfill cross-pollination requirements; different varieties of the same fruit must be planted. Catalogs will usually provide information on the pollination requirements for different varieties.

A list of recommended fruit varieties for Kentucky is available from your County Extension office.

It is nearly impossible to produce good quality fruit without spraying. If spraying is impossible, small fruits, such as strawberry, blackberry and gooseberry will be more successful than fruit trees.

A good maintenance spray program should be initiated the first year after planting, even though there is no fruit.

Information on spray schedule's training and fertilizing home fruit trees is available from your County Extension Office.

A pruning demonstration has been scheduled for February 27, 2 p.m., at the Richmond Stone farm off route 404 at Blue River. An apple production meeting will be held for the backyard orchardmen at 6:30 p.m., at the Floyd County Regional Library. Will be going over the U.K. spray schedule and discussing disease and insect control.

Lake Area Has Loss of Visitors

Dewey Lake and Jenny Wiley State Park had 100,000 fewer visitors last year than in 1977, according to figures released last week by Dean Murray, Dewey Reservoir manager, U.S. Corps of Army Engineers.

Despite the marked drop in the number of visitors, May Lodge at the park and vacation cottages there were at capacity, as usual, during the tourist season.

The number of visitors at the lake last year was 1,289,825, as compared to the 1,391,322 there during 1977, Mr. Murray said. The totals included those camping, boating, fishing, picnicking, swimming and sightseeing.

Cause of the drop in the number of visitors could not be pinpointed, but it is believed that the lingering effects of the 1977 flood and the prolonged coal strike plus early spring bad weather contributed to the situation.

Two Floyd Soldiers In REFORGER Exercise

Staff Sgt. Gordon R. Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blair, of Bypro, and Spec. 4 Donald H. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Smith, of Weeksbury, are participating in the first return of forces to Germany (REFORGER) exercise to be held in winter.

ROFOGER 79, a strategic mobility exercise, demonstrates the U.S. capability to move by air and sea to reinforce NATO rapidly in a crisis situation.

Sgt. Blair is a member of the 1st Armored Division in Germany. His wife, Milda, lives at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Smith is a member of the First Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

Charlie Neeley, a student at Asbury College, Wilmore, was here for the week-end for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Neeley.

IN HUNTINGTON HOSPITAL

Miss Linda Stephens, who until her recent retirement was librarian at Prestonsburg High School, is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital, Huntington. Her sister, Miss Elsie Stephens, is there with her, and another sister, Mrs. Thelma Wallen, of Water Gap, and daughter, Miss Joyce Wallen, of Barbourville, except to visit this week.

IN LEXINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fannin, and baby daughter, Jenna, spent Friday night in Lexington.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards, who for the past several days has been critically ill in the intensive care unit of the Highlands Regional Medical Center, has been showing some improvement.

KINDERGARTEN TO OPEN

The kindergarten classes, for physically and mentally retarded children, sponsored by the Comprehensive Care program, will open at the First United Methodist Church, on March 1, interested parents should call the Comprehensive Care office here for further information.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Paris Conley is critically ill, at the Highlands Regional Hospital. Her son, Billy Paris Conley, and other family members are with her.

VISIT RELATIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stumbo, who moved from Prestonsburg to Frankfort several months ago, were here during the week-end for a visit with relatives. Mr. Stumbo, who was postmaster here for a number of years, is now postmaster at Versailles.

HERE RECENTLY

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Stanchina, of Charleston, W. Va., were here recently, to attend the 50th wedding anniversary reception for Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clark.

MEETING POSTPONED

Mrs. Mae K. Roberts, president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association, has announced that the meeting of this group, which was scheduled to be held at the Emma Mae Wells Cultural Center, Saturday, was postponed, due to inclement weather conditions. The time for the next meeting will be announced soon.

IN HOSPITAL HERE

ILL IN FLORIDA

Mrs. Nell Hagewood, who went to St. Petersburg, Fla. at Christmastime, to spend the remainder of the winter, was stricken with a heart attack, February 2, and spent several days in St. Petersburg General Hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Minix, III, Dr. Minnix and their children, Maurice IV, Marty and Melanie, flew to St. Petersburg shortly after Mrs. Hagewood was stricken. Dr. Minnix and Marty have returned to their home here; Mrs. Minnix and the other children are still with her mother. The condition of Mrs. Hagewood has improved, and she is now at the Venice Motel in St. Petersburg, which is operated by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Hagewood.

Clarks Honored on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clark celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, January 18. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hyden, their son-in-law and daughter, respectively, honored them with a family party on January 27. Those attending were: Mrs. H. L. Mayo, Mrs. Curtis May, Mrs. Wade Cross, Mrs. Andrew May, Mrs. Harry Sandige, Mr. and Mrs. Newt May, Mrs. Ted Hicks and daughter, Maria, Mrs. Marguerite Sharp, Frank Heinze, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pigman and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. William O. MORE ROOM

- More passenger room with Malibu Coupe and Sedan than any compact car.
- More trunk room with Malibu Coupe and Sedan than any compact car.
- More total room as defined by EPA Roominess Index with Malibu Coupe and Sedan than any compact car.

BETTER MILEAGE

- EPA estimated MPG: 22 city estimate with Malibu standard manual transmission. This estimate is better than the EPA estimated mileage of most compact cars. (In California, EPA estimated MPG: 16 city estimate with required automatic transmission and 231 cu. in. V6 engine. This Malibu EPA estimated mileage is as good or better than most compact cars.) REMEMBER: Compare this estimate to the "estimated MPG" of other cars. You may get different mileage, depending on your speed, trip length and weather. Your actual mileage will be lower in heavy city traffic.

GREAT FEATURES

- Fiberglass radial tires standard with Malibu; some leading compacts offer only bias-ply tires.
- V6 engine standard with Malibu; not available with many compact cars. (All Chevrolets are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.)
- Full-perimeter frame with Malibu; not found on many compacts.
- Delco Freedom battery standard with Malibu; not found on many compacts.
- Disc brake audible wear sensors standard with Malibu; not found on many compacts.
- Power flow-through ventilation system standard with Malibu; not found on many compacts.
- Hide-A-Way windshield wipers standard with Malibu; not found on many compacts.
- Shorter wheelbase gives Malibu shorter turning diameter than on some compacts.
- Shorter overall length for easier parking with Malibu than with some compact cars.

Earned Income Credit Aimed at Low-Income

The earned income credit (EIC) will reduce taxes or result in unanticipated refund checks for many working parents this year.

The credit, a reduction in tax liability rather than a deduction from taxable income, is available to taxpayers under certain conditions.

First, you must have maintained a household in the U.S. for all of last year.

Secondly, this household had to be the principal home for you and at least one of your children who was less than 19 years old or a full-time student or your child who is 19 or older and disabled and is entitled to be claimed as a dependent.

The earned income credit is 10 percent of the first $4,000 of earned income, for a maximum of $400. However, the maximum credit must be reduced by 10 percent of the amount by which adjusted gross income or earned income, whichever is larger, exceeds $4,000. In other words, you cannot claim the EIC when income reaches $8,000.

For example, Janice worked part-time as a waitress last year and earned $3,600 in wages and $1,500 in tips. She is not married. She will claim a dependency exemption for Randy, her six-year-old. Janice's EIC will be $290. This is computed by subtracting 10 percent of $1,100, the amount by which her earned income of $5,100 exceeded the $4,000 limitation, from the $400 maximum credit. Janice will claim the EIC on line 57 of Form 1040, or if she uses Form 1040A, on line 11c.

Who Wants To Be in the Movies?

Film makers dramatizing the life of country singer Loretta Lynn want to put Blackey in Letcher county in the movies.

But they are meeting resistance from the city council and several residents of the town.

Woodrow Worsley, the movie's production manager, said after a meeting of the town council last week that he is "flabbergasted that the people don't seem to want us."

About 25 of the town's 200 residents attended the meeting.

"We're making a movie about a Kentucky woman and nothing said in the movie is in any way not complimentary to anyone," Worsley said.

Miss Lynn is a Johnson county native, but Blackey was chosen for filming of a three-minute scene because there are no mobile homes on its main street and it resembles a mountain town of 1947, he said.

"The director fell in love with it," Worsley said.

But those who object to the filming seem to fear the movie will resurrect old Eastern Kentucky stereotypes.

"What's Blackey going to get out of it?" asked council member Mike Dixon.

"And for that matter, what has Loretta Lynn done to solve our problems, like black lung? Her story is not typical of life here in the mountains," Dixon said.

Another council member, Jean Banks, said one resident has objected to having his house appear in the film.

"This man is an invalid who doesn't have too many years left and his wife is bedridden," she said. "He doesn't want to be degraded and he said he doesn't know what he'll do if they put his home in the movie."

Not all residents are opposed to the filming.

Jean Bailey said she grew up in Blackey and remembered what it was like in 1947.

"Blackey was in a lot better shape than that it is today," she said. "The town was completely different, so I don't see how it's going to hurt anyone."

"I'm proud there are no mobile homes here," added Ted Bates, a coal miner. "I'm proud that it looks like 1947 and doesn't have all the skyscrapers and what not. I'd be tickled to death to go out in New York and say, 'There's Blackey on the screen.'"

One resident, who was offered $150 for use of his house in the movie, said the council was interfering with his property rights by objecting to the filming.

Worsley said he planned to film a street scene in Blackey, in which Miss Lynn, played by Sissy Spacek, emerges from a doctor's office after learning she is pregnant.

Her husband, who has left her, is driving in a Jeep, Worsley said. She corals him and they get back together.

The movie will be completed whether Blackey is used or not, Worsley said. "We'll find another place."

Floyd Performers To Take Part In Country Music Week-End

Morehead State University will host a Weekend for Country Musicians, Feb. 23-25, with a list of performers reading like a Who's Who in traditional music.

The weekend, organized by MSU's Department of Music and Appalachian Development Center, will feature music that reveals the traditional sounds of Eastern Kentucky's mountain melodies.

"This weekend will focus on regional folks exchanging musical tunes and learning from each other about the music of their culture," said Dr. Glenn Fulbright, head of MSU's Department of Music and coordinator of the weekend activities.

Guest performers include the Ratcliff Family, of Martin, and the Eagle Country String Band, composed of Leo Blair, Ray Ross, Ken Baldauf and Rusty White of MSU; and Angie Ratcliff, Martin freshman at MSU. She is following in the musical footsteps of her father, Buddy, who performed with the Little Jimmy Dickens Band and Lester Platt and Earl Scruggs.

Others to perform include John McCutcheon, of Dungannon, Va., former member of the Carter Family, who will present sessions on the hammer dulcimer; Sybil Clark, 30-year veteran dance caller, who will call the dances

Friday evening; and J. P. and Annadeane Fraley, of Rush, who will perform traditional Eastern Kentucky music with Homer Ledford and his band from Winchester.

"We will emphasize traditional music that the people of the region will know and recognize," added Dr. Fulbright.

Activities include working with live music and dance leaders, supplying theory for dance band musicians, workshops for bands and individual musicians, concerts, dancing and singing.

"Old time traditional music will be performed by most players, with additional training available for individuals interested in dances of Old English tunes which were published around 1651-1730," Dr. Fulbright added.

"The weekend is open to anyone interested in learning more about traditional music and who is interested in playing traditional music," he said.

Registration and additional information is available from Dr. Glenn Fulbright, Department of Music, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351.

Allocation for Streets

Officials of the city of Martin have notified the state Transportation Department that they are reserving the city's $6,029 allocation for municipal road improvements in fiscal year 1978-79.

Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson said the funds will be added to Martin's allocation for next fiscal year.

Cities may reserve their municipal road aid allotments in order to accumulate a larger road improvement fund, Grayson said.

GRETHEL NEWS

The Grethel Homemakers Club met Feb. 5 at the John M. Stumbo school. Devotions were led by Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, and the president Mrs. Arieta Hall, presided. The lesson, "Cleaning and adjusting Your Sewing Machine," was taught by Extension Agent Frances Pitts.

Mrs. Cosetta Newsome displayed her own hand crocheted table centerpiece and hot-dish pad which was crocheted around plastic circles cut from canned soft drink holders.

Recipes were given out from the Christmas Nibble Party. Homemakers present were Mrs. Arieta Hall, Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, Mrs. Glenna Evans, Mrs. Eileen Martin, and Mrs. Frances Pitts.

Lasertech has so many potential applications that the U.S. and U.S.S.R. are racing to discover the scope of its use. Some observers, notes the August Reader's Digest, think the competition may put the space and missile races of the 1960s to shame.

Suits Name Two Coal Firms For Clean Water Violations

The U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky has filed a civil complaint against two Kentucky coal mining operations for violations of the Clean Water Act. The actions were filed at the request of the Environmental Protection Agency's Region 4, and were the first in the Southeast taken against coal mines for water pollution violations under the Clean Water Act. The charges were filed against Scotia Company, of Cumberland, and the Canada Company, of Pikeville. If convicted for the violations, the firms could be subjected to monetary penalties of up to $10,000 per day of violation.

John C. White, administrator of EPA's Region 4 in Atlanta, said, "We are now beginning to enforce the requirements of the permits issued to the coal mines. Presently, enforcement actions are pending against several other mines which have been violating the conditions of their pollution control permits."

During 1977, nearly 800 mines in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Alabama were issued permits to restrict the amounts and types of pollutants that may be discharged into local waterways. The permits were issued under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES). Currently, nearly 1,400 mines have been issued permits, and many more are being prepared for issuance. White continued, "We realize the great need for the recovery of coal resources, but the recovery must be done in a manner which will preserve the quality of the streams and lakes. To insure the compliance of the many permitted facilities, we have increased our inspection activities and are working closely with the Office of Surface Mining."

The permitting program was established by Congress in passing the 1972 amendments to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, which has now been re-titled the Clean Water Act. The Act requires any facility which discharges, or plans to discharge, wastes into the nation's waterways to apply for a pollution control permit, and to comply with the limitations placed within that permit.

To Correct or Amend Returns

If, after you have filed your return, you discover that you failed to report some income, that you claimed deductions or credits by mistake, or are entitled to some you failed to claim, the error can be corrected. To correct such errors, the IRS advises, prepare Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, and send it to the address shown on the instructions for that form.

An amended return usually must be filed within three years from the date your original return was filed.

U.S. Orders L&N To Cut Train Speeds

By BENZ. HERSHBERG
(In The Courier-Journal)

Saying the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has the "worst record of any railroad in the country" in handling hazardous materials, the federal government moved yesterday to restrict the speeds at which trains carrying dangerous substances can operate over the rail's 6,500-mile system.

The order, which takes effect at noon tomorrow, limits L&N trains carrying hazardous materials to a maximum speed of 30-mph compared with the 50-mph speed at which such trains now operate on main lines.

The Federal Railroad Administration, which regulates and enforces railroad safety, said the action was necessary because the "L&N's safety record demonstrates an apparent lack of interest in the safe transportation of highly dangerous chemicals."

As evidence of this lack of concern, the agency, a part of the U.S. Department of Transportation, cited the 121 accidents in which L&N trains carrying hazardous materials were involved from January 1976 through last June.

Because of the accidents in that period, 42 tank cars leaked hazardous materials, 19 people died and roughly 7,200 were evacuated, according to the FRA.

"This is the worst record of any railroad in the country," FRA administrator John Sullivan said yesterday in a press release.

Richard Spence, president of the L&N, said last night that "based on what I've heard of the order, I think it's ridiculous and will serve no purpose."

He explained that he had not received a copy of the document but had been given some information about it.

"The railroad's safety record needs to be improved," Spence observed. But he does not believe the FRA order will help company safety efforts.

He noted that the railroad is making efforts to reduce accidents. Those efforts include the formation of a special 20-man safety unit that is now being trained. The group "will work on safety rules and safety compliance" as well as try to reduce freight damage.

Other than lowering top speeds at which L&N trains carrying hazardous materials can operate, the FRA order also requires:

-The railroad to double the frequency of track inspections by its personnel.

-Repair of defective track and roadway materials immediately.

-The railroad to investigate every accident involving hazardous materials and report findings and probable causes of accidents to the FRA within 10 days rather than the 30 days allowed other carriers.

Installation of speed indicators in the leading locomotive of trains carrying hazardous substances.

-L&N to prepare a detailed report on its plans for safety improvements. No date for submission of the report was available yesterday.

Med Students Work With Local Doctors

Two University of Kentucky students and one from the University of Louisville are in the area studying with local doctors.

John Leach, of Prestonsburg, a fourth-year medical student at the University of Kentucky, will be with Dr. William B. Cook here from February 12 until March 23.

Allen Halbert, of Floyd County, a fourth-year medical student at the University of Louisville, will be with Dr. Lowell Martin at Martin from February 12 until March 23.

Sharlotte Dye, a clinical associate student of the University of Kentucky, will be under the supervision of Dr. Narong Chalothorn from February 12 until March 16.

The students are sent to train under the supervision of local physicians to acquaint them with the practice of medicine in a rural area. The long range goal is to have the students return to the area to practice. Their stay in the area is coordinated by the Big Sandy-FIVCO Area Health Education System, which is a program of the Council on Public Higher Education funded by the State.

Her Birth 92 Years Ago Attended by 'Great' Snow

One of the heaviest snows ever known in this region fell February 13, 1887, day of Mrs. Hayes birth. The snow was reputed to have covered fence posts and she recalls that her mother later told her of the great snow on the day of her birth, saying "When the door was opened, snow fell inside the room."

She is the last surviving member of the family of George and Nan Lawson Hoover who had seven children.

In her girlhood, Mrs. Hayes attended a one-room school from July to November, the usual school term, on Stone Coal near her father's farm with other students from Estill, Garrett, Salt Lick and Goose Creek. The three R's and geography were taught by Lee Turner, Willie Hayes and Eli Stumbo.

She recalls her first trip to Prestonsburg in 1906 was made by horseback as far as Allen and then on by train.

On November 1, 1909, Martha Hoover was married to Kennel Hayes by Rev. Sammy Patton, of Henry's Branch and the young couple began housekeeping on Turkey Creek where she still lives. They farmed, raising most of their vegetables as well as cattle, hogs, and chickens, and she would walk across the hill, carrying eggs from Turkey Creek to Eastern where she would catch a train to Garrett. There she would trade the eggs for mine "scrip" or drygoods.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes had six children of whom three, Gladys Hayes Hicks and Edgel Hayes, both of Langley, and Cledis Hayes Laferty, of Elizabethtown, survive. Last August, Mr. Hayes died at the age of 92, and in December a daughter, Nora Hayes, who was 70, died.

In 1916, Mrs. Hayes was baptized into the Regular Baptist Church, and she missed few Sundays being in church until recent years.

Mrs. Hayes has enjoyed remarkably good health, having been hospitalized only once, and a friend says, "Her mind is as alert as ever and she has good eyesight."

She, herself, says, "I have lived a good and happy life with Kennel and I'm just waiting for my call to heaven."

A group of students from Alice Lloyd College which her grandson, John Hicks, attends, have written and taped stories told by Mrs. Hayes.

NOTE OF THANKS
A Happy Valentine—full of love—to my many friends who showed concern during my January stay in the hospital. The cards, calls and flowers were greatly appreciated. Most of all, thank you for your sincere prayers. The Lord willing, Curt and I will head Floyd County way in the not-too-far future.

RONALD FRASURE

Ronald Frasure, a Prestonsburg businessman, announced his entry in this year's race for County Judge. Frasure says he is entering the race because of the urging of hundreds of Floyd Countians who want better local government. A Republican, Frasure made a strong bid for Judge in 1977.

Frasure says he has something to offer Floyd County in leadership and administrative ability. He wants to thank the people who gave him so much support in the past and is asking for their help again in 1979.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats have taken the spotlight in the 15th regional basketball picture. Coach William Newsome's Bobcats won over fifth-rated Virgie last Saturday night, 75 to 70. The Bobcats had won over Mullins earlier in the week by 75 to 63 to bring their overall record to 16 and 4.

In the win over Virgie Rick Ferrell pumped in 31 points and pulled in 15 rebounds, while teammate Ronnie Akers had 18 points and 8 rebounds and Mike Williams with ten points and several key rebounds. Paul Layne's fine defensive play on high-scoring Stonie Newsome was another factor in the win, Darrell Newsome came up with several key plays, plus 13 points, and it was a team win for the Bobcats.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats came up with two wins out of three games, Coach Ron Robinson's Blackcats won over Wheelwright at Wheelwright, 68 to 66. The Cats had four in double figures—James Brown, 18, David Pitts, 16, Chris Stephens, 13, and Mark McGuire with 15 points. Wheelwright's Berger had 19 while Vic Rhea connected for 16 points and Monroe Jones had 15. The Blackcats traveled to Salyersville on Saturday night and lost to the Magoffin County Hornets. The Cats now have a season record of 5 and 14.

Coach Howard Wallen's Allen Central Rebels won one and lost one during the week, winning over Magoffin County by 88 to 73. The Rebels trailed at halftime by 4 points but really rolled in the second half as Phil Slone connected for 16 points and a game high of 24 points, Mark Martin had 14 and sophomore Randy Conley connected for 15 points. The Allen Central game at Buckhorn Friday was postponed due to bad roads, however, on Saturday night the Rebels traveled to Somerset and faced Pulaski County, top team in the 12th region, and lost a heartbreaker, 70 to 68. Phil Slone connected for 20 points, Ralph Caudill had 19 points Junior, Phil Slone's total for the season has risen to 382 point in 28 games. The Rebels now have a record of 18 and 9.

The McDowell Daredevils won over the Wheelwright Trojans, 70 to 66, Saturday night for the second straight loss for the Trojan. Both losses were by a total of 6 points. In the McDowell-Wheelwright game the Daredevils were led in scoring by Gary Pack with 23, and Vic Ray had 15. Berger and Tony Hall, each with 13, led the losers, McDowell record is now 8 and 15. Coach Jody Swords Trojans now have a record of 9 and 10.

A light schedule last week for the girls. The Prestonsburg Lady Cats won their 19th game of the season by defeating the Wheelwright Lady Trojans. The Lady Cats met the Lady Trojans again Monday Feb. 12 and defeated the Trojans, 74 to 42. The winners were led by all-state candidate Dee Dee Music with 47 points, plus 21 rebounds. The Lady Trojans were led by Kim Curry with 13 points.

Immunized Cattle Said More Valuable

Calfhood vaccination to immunize cattle against brucellosis will raise the value of the animal $200 or more, says J. D. Wolf, assistant director of livestock sanitation for the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

The vaccination program, part of a comprehensive brucellosis eradication effort initiated by state Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris last February, is offered to state livestock producers as a free service. The program is jointly funded by the state and federal governments.

Brucellosis, a bacterial disease which causes abortions and other breeding problems for cattle, costs farmers in Kentucky and throughout the nation millions of dollars annually.

The disease also causes undulant fever in humans. It is contracted primarily by drinking unpasteurized milk or handling calves from infected livestock.

"In cattle, the main symptom is abortion. The cows do not appear to be sick, but the infection attacks and kills the fetus," said Wolfe. "Retained afterbirth, or placenta, and uterine infections are symptoms."

"So far, we've found the vaccination program to be about 70 percent effective in preventing the disease and vaccinated dairy calves have increased in value more than $200 at the stockyards since we started the program," added Wolf.

Calves that are three to six months old are eligible for the program. However, the state veterinarian's office recommends that calves be vaccinated at three to four months of age for best protection.

Harris stressed the importance of having all cattle inspected for the disease.

"By the first of June, many states will have laws in effect that will prohibit the importation of cattle into the state unless the owners or transporters can show proof of vaccination against brucellosis," he said.

Local veterinarians will vaccinate the calves as a free service.

Lady Trojans Defeat Dorton, 67-49

Steve Cauthen would have understood the feelings that the Lady Trojans were experiencing in their locker room Friday night, February 2. The Lady Trojans had just broken their losing streak by rolling to a 67-49 victory over the Dorton Wildcats. After losing the last seven games they had played, the win over Dorton was doubly sweet for the Lady Trojans. The last time the two teams met, Dorton walked away with a one-point win over the Lady Trojans. The Trojans have been bidding their time since then.

"I got took at Dorton. This was a chance to even things up," coach Brody said with a grin after the ballgame.

For about 14 minutes, it looked as if Wheelwright plans for victory were not going to happen. The Dorton Wildcats led the Trojans at the end of the first quarter 18-10 and 32-26 at the end of the second.

"The Wildcats shouldn't have given us as much trouble as they did. I was a little disappointed that we had to work as hard as we did for the win," she added.

"We just didn't hustle enough during the first half," senior Leslie Grigsby said. "Brody really laid it on us in the locker room at half time. That helped as much as anything to get us going," she added. "When you're facing the possibility that you're going to spend your next practice session running laps, you're going to put a little more energy into it. Plus we know we should be beating them."

That extra incentive lit a fire under the Lady Trojans. Not that the Trojans had not been working. In the first few minutes of the third quarter, Kim "Burr" Bailey had worked under the boards capturing the rebounds for the Trojans. Dorton had trouble containing Grigsby and Moscrip under the net and found themselves in frequent foul trouble. Grigsby and Moscrip went to the foul line often. Fourteen of the 30 points that Moscrip earned came from her shots at the foul line. Kim Curry came back into the game in the third quarter. She made two shots in the early part of the quarter, and with four minutes left, the Trojans tied up the game 36-36. The Lady Trojans took the lead after Amber Moscrip shot a successful foul shot, stole the ball and completed a lay-up. The score was 45-41 until Dorton's Janet Belcher was fouled. Her two free throws brought the score to 45-43, Trojans, at the end of the third quarter.

There seemed no stopping the Lady Trojans in the fourth quarter. Offensively, the Trojans hustled for the ball. Couch, Moscrip, and Grigsby executed several steals. With six-foot center Kim Curry under the net, clearing the boards and rebounding, the Lady Trojans built an 11-point lead over the Wildcats.

The Lady Trojans held the Wildcats to six points in the fourth quarter while they racked up 21 points. The final score of the game was 67-49.

Leading the Lady Trojans in scoring was sophomore guard Amber Moscrip with 30 points; Sabrina Couch with 11; Leslie Grigsby with 12; and Kim Curry with 7 points and 13 rebounds. Edie Bryant led the Wildcats in scoring with 20, and Janet Belcher followed with 12 points.

Ranier-Owned Racing Car Sets Daytona Speed Record

Prestonsburg's Harry Hale Ranier's record of success is not confined only to the business of mining coal. He's doing right well, too, in the auto racing sport.

Last Sunday, his Oldsmobile racing car, driven by Buddy Baker, set a new speed record at the Daytona International Speedway at 196.049 miles an hour and won pole position for next Sunday's Daytona 500. That was last Sunday morning, and for winning pole position Baker earned $17,000.

Returning to the speedway that afternoon, Baker picked up an additional $50,000 by dominating the 50-mile Busch Clash.

Bobby Allison was the only other driver to win a pole position as he finished second to Baker with a speed of 194.889. Yale Yarborough was third, but only the fastest two were awarded positions.

Baker, who has never won a Grand National race at Daytona in 70 races, had for last Sunday's events and has for next Sunday's grand finale what has been termed "the best auto racing crew that money can buy," is confident.

"When you talk about me having the best crew money can buy, well just let me say I am real close to the New York baseball Yankees," Baker said. "I've what I call a coup of people. I have three engineers who were crew chiefs for other top drivers, and there are at least four other guys in the crew who could be crew chiefs."

Baker's trio of mechanical masterminds includes Herb Nab, of Fred Lorenzen and Junior Johnson fame, and Jake Elder, of Benny Parsons fame, to handle chassis preparation and Waddell Wilson, considered an engine-building genius. The team is approximately named W.I.N.

"I have been enthusiastic before, but anything can happen in racing," said Baker. "However, if there is one car here that can't break, it would be mine."

The Ranier-owned car left behind such nationally known drivers as A. J. Foyt, Benny Parsons, Richard Petty and David Pearson.

Aluminum Can Drive Continued by Team

The aluminum can drive begun recently by the Prestonsburg High School football team continued this week as part of an effort to send the team to football camp.

Coach Phillip Haywood stressed that the drive will give local residents the chance to help clean up the area and at the same time help the football squad.

Haywood requested anyone who knows where a large number of aluminum cans are to contact anyone connected with the team.

Tax Tables Reflect Set Amounts

For about 96 percent of taxpayers, Congress has designated a minimum amount of income that is not subject to taxation. This amount is called the zero bracket amount. The zero bracket is automatically reflected in the Tax Tables.

Congress also has allowed $750 for each exemption. For taxpayers who can use the Tax Tables, the exemption allowance also is computed into the tables.

The zero bracket amount is based on a taxpayer's filing status as follows:

- Married filing joint return $3,200
 - Qualifying widow(er) with dependent child $3,200
 - Single $2,200
 - Unmarried head of household $2,200
 - Married filing separately $1,600
- If you are single, with no dependents, you automatically are allowed $750 for your exemption and $2,200 for your zero bracket amount for a total of $2,950, the minimum amount at which most single taxpayers are required to file a return.

In addition, there is a law that temporarily allows a general tax credit. This credit also is computed into the Tax Tables. Therefore, you will notice in the Tax Table for a single individual that a tax liability is not imposed until the individual's income is $3,200. However, you are still required to file a return if your income is at the minimum level for your filing status.

More

By WILMAY

Decades ago, the late Mrs. A. O. Allison, whom many in this county knew well, sent us a small paper, THE ASHLAND AVENUE BAPTIST, which still comes. In a recent issue Dean Rosco Brong wrote:

"Indubitably the present current of social unrest and lawlessness that is destroying our country is closely related to the decline in Biblical Christianity. In proportion to our population there are perhaps more people professing religion and fewer living the life of Christ than ever before. As a result, moral decay, and the stinking corruption of the so-called 'new morality,' has spread through all levels of society.

Any who think the church is immune should read more. Of course, it is not the church but we who comprise it. Of all institutions, it could do most to reverse the trend.

The editor of one great non-denominational magazine asks if the problem is that the church has been infiltrated till we not only have the church in the world but the world in the church! Marvin Stone, dedicated successor to the late godly David Lawrence of U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT, expressed it in a nutshell in a recent editorial. Similar articles years ago prompted starting research that led to this series, since the problem is nationwide.

In THE WESTERN RECORDER, editor C. R. Daley said "The frustration is accentuated by the lack of any orderly and honorable way for pastor and people to let each other know how the other feels. And so the relationship goes from poor to bad, and eventually from bad to worse."

REAL MCCOY CHRISTMAS

Bypro, Ky.—The family of Mr. and Mrs. Houston McCoy gathered for a week-long Christmas reunion. The McCoy's have six children, six in-laws, 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Those present were Aileen and Houston McCoy, Linda, Louie, Kami, Terri and John Ferrari, all of Bypro; Anita, Hollis, Sherry, Bunky, Kevin, and Todd Daniels, Taylor, Mich.; Lynn, Doug, Tim, Steve and Tara Bates, Lake Zurich, Ill.; Gary, Tonda, Shane and Meshanna McCoy, Bypro; Larry, Sheila, Chris, and Chad McCoy, River Rouge, Mich.; Rick, Beth, Heather, and Brandon McCoy, Lincoln Park, Mich.; Angel, Kenny and Eric Heath Hall, Bypro.

In W. R. (8-30-69) C. D. Matthews asked, "Why is it that some ministers seem to be saying they are the only ones who get signals from God about tenure? Why do the pastors suppose they are more aware of God's will for the church than church leadership is?"

He may be right. Perhaps a few do feel that way, as some do such unethical things that several state offices now keep confidential files on pastors.

E. B. Brachter wrote: "Many ministers tend to look upon any difference of opinion as a personal affront. When they meet opposition they take it personally and become exceedingly defensive." (W. R. 10-5-74).

Aren't we members guilty, too? Layman Ira J. Porter, of Kentucky Trust Bank, Louisville, in the same issue reflected: "I'm wondering if the problem isn't a God-gap, rather than a clergy-laity gap." Food for thought, for all of us!

Dr. Frank Owen, secretary for Kentucky Baptists, in W. R., advised pastors facing conflict, "Try to live, think, and preach above it...Preach like you've never preached, on everything except the controversy at hand. Most always it's best not to drag these things into the pulpit."

Those who disregard his counsel hurt themselves and the church. A few retaliate, say and do things they urge the laity not to do when problems arise. Upsets may lead to factions, which plague any minister. Often the cause is someone's love of status or power, or it comes from ignoring guidelines for church offices, etc., provided by leading faiths. Elders, stewards, and deacons are one and the same, but in different denominations. In the opinion of this writer, the best book on the work of church leaders is by a long-time president of Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, who says, "It does not seem wise for one man to hold a major place of leadership in more than one church organization...Here are some principles on which we build the committee work in our church. The first is that no man shall serve as the chairman of the same committee two years in succession. In addition, we do not have the person to serve more than two years on the committee, whether chairman or not. This makes it possible to use many people in the program. It also encourages the use of a man in different places of responsibility. The more places one serves, the more acquainted he becomes with what actually goes on in the life and program of the church." Robert E. Naylor, THE BAPTIST DEACON, (Nashville: Broadman Press, 1955). Used by permission.

Interest, dedication, attendance, offerings etc, usually grow in relation to the percentage of active members. So does their own spirituality, to a degree. One family moved to a new locale, transferred their letters. Soon the church assigned the couple to posts. The young matron remarked happily, "We feel so much more at home here. We attended the last church for years, but no one ever gave us anything to do. Now we feel as if we were a part of the church."

All members are a part of the body of Christ. When some do not feel that they are the rest of us are responsible. One of the most successful and best loved pastors in Eastern Kentucky sees that every member free to serve has an opportunity to do so as time passes. Any church that keeps some new and some old in "harness" will grow in more ways than one!

To Wed Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Blackburn, of Drift, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Sherry Jean Blackburn, to Virgil Ray Paige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Paige, of McDowell.

Miss Blackburn is a 1978 graduate of McDowell High School. Mr. Paige is employed at the R&S Truck Body Company. The wedding will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday, February 17, at the Drift Pentecostal Church of Christ. The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

On election days, the taverns along the roads were the polling places, where the farmers and tradesmen, either travelled on foot or horseback, over the trails to exercise their right to vote. This is also your right. Observe February as American History Month with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

File Early

Why file early when you've got until April 16 this year to mail your tax return to the IRS? Here are two good reasons:

First, if you're expecting a refund, why wait much longer than necessary to claim and receive it? Normally, fewer people file early in the year, permitting Internal Revenue Service Centers to process returns and mail out refunds in four to five weeks. It can take ten weeks or longer for a return filed in April when the processing workload is much heavier.

Second, taxpayers filing close to the deadline are more apt to make mathematical errors due to lack of time to recheck calculations on their return. Errors slow down processing, delay refunds, and often require correspondence between IRS and the taxpayer.

Tax Cut Voted, Budget Increased

After weeks of deliberations and hours of caucuses and compromises between the House and Senate on the final day of the session, the General Assembly today passed a budget that increases agency appropriations by $35 million, cuts agency budgets by $17 million, and cuts taxes by about $50 million.

In its final day today the House and Senate bogged down on House Bill 19 over a House amendment presented by Rep. Joe Clarke (D-Danville) that would have required tax cuts to be matched with cuts in state programs. Clarke had contended that failure to match tax cuts with budget cuts would result in putting a future 1980 session of the General Assembly in financial jeopardy. The Senate however said that the current budget is financed with recurring revenues that will continue to exist in the future.

Conference committees from the House, Rep. Buddy Adams (D-Bowling Green), Rep. Harold Demarcus (R-Stanford) and Rep. Bob Jones (D-Crestwood) and from the Senate, Rep. Robert Martin (D-Richmond) Sen. Gene Huff (R-London) and Sen. John Berry (D-New Castle), were appointed to resolve the difference.

The conference committee was unable to resolve its differences, and a free conference committee was appointed. (A free conference committee has the right to rewrite any portion of a bill, while a simple conference committee only can accept or reject amendments causing the disagreement.) Membership on both the free standing and original committee was the same.

A free conference committee quickly voted (by a four to two margin) to restrict itself to rewriting only Senate amendments to the budget bill.

The committee removed the Clarke Amendment, clearing the way for the adoption of the budget. Sen. Martin, who led the fight against the House Amendment in the committee, said that the General Assembly has always used carry-forward funds from previous years to finance recurring necessary governmental expenses. He charged that since the author of the amendment said it could take a lawsuit to define nonrecurring funds, the amendment would "put a cloud of doubt on state programs."

Other committee agreements on Senate Amendments reduce the appropriation to the Legislative Research Commission by $50,000, appropriate $150,000 to the Attorney General's Office for expert witnesses for rate intervention cases before the Public Service Commission, and subtract $150,000 from the amount set aside for loans to local communities for tourism projects.

The House accepted the conference committee report on Senate amendments to the bill by a 56-34 margin and went on to pass the budget by a 62-37 margin. The only major protest against the bill was voiced by Rep. Art Schmidt (R-Cold Springs) who said the bill adds about $13 million to the last budget passed by the General Assembly, adding "there's no way you can balance a budget by cutting taxes and increasing expenditures."

The Senate approved the bill 21-0.

As passed by the General Assembly today the budget bill balance tax cuts and additional agency appropriations with $71 million in lapsed funds and increased revenue estimates, a $17.4 million reduction in operating programs and about a $3.5 million reduction in capital construction funds.

The bill includes Senate amendments that will appropriate $4.5 million to the Coal Producing County Development Fund and $1.5 million to the Coal Impact Road Fund, if and only if general revenues exceed estimates by $20 million and the coal severance tax is more than $147.5 million in 1978-79.

As adopted by the General Assembly HB 19 essentially adopts budget revisions submitted Jan. 31 to the General Assembly by Gov. Julian Carroll. However, there were two relatively minor changes, including reducing a $7 million additional salary improvement for state employees to $5 million and shifting $2 million of that amount to the School Building Authority Fund. The change also included a two percent ($43,000) reduction in the administrative budgets of constitutional officers, (governor, lieutenant governor, auditor, secretary of state, etc.)

Additional appropriations included:

—$14.2 million for additional costs for prisoners accused of violating state law and increased money for base court revenue payments to localities.

—$5 million for additional costs for prisoners accused of violating state law and increased money for base court revenue payments to localities.

—$5 million for additional salary improvements for state employees.

—$3.5 million for increased subsidies to local schools for school construction.

—$2.9 million for upgrading salaries of property valuation administrators and for proposed changes in the state property tax collection.

—$2.1 million for flood relief.

—$1.5 million for National Guard flood duty, the board of claims, back tax collections and for the political party checkoff on income tax forms.

—$1.5 million for court facilities.

Subtracted from the budget passed by the 1978 session of the General Assembly was:

—$8 million from Human Resources since the number of welfare recipients and the amount of payments is less than anticipated.

—$3.4 million for energy coal conversion demonstration projects that have been delayed or cancelled.

—$1.9 million from Human Resources if a facility to treat the emotionally disturbed, and an early childhood disease screening program are both delayed in implementation.

—$1.9 million from the Kentucky Development Finance Authority.

—$1 million from the pneumoconiosis (black lung) fund although the legislation specifies that if workmen's compensation payments are increased the money will be returned to the fund.

Announce Engagement

Mrs. Elvia Scott, of West Prestonsburg and Mr. Jack Scott, of Auxier, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jackalee Scott, to Mr. Tim D. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ferguson, of Prestonsburg. A September wedding is planned.

Named to New Post

Mrs. Ruth Ann Blanton, former teacher and counselor at Prestonsburg Elementary School, was recently appointed to the position of Region 11 vocational counselor by the State Department of Education.

Mrs. Blanton received her A.B. and Masters Degrees from Morehead State University and is working toward completion of Rank I. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jesse Rowe, of Prestonsburg, and the late Mr. Rowe and is the wife of Von Blanton, of Staffordsville.

Officers Seize Marijuana, Nab One at Langley

State and county officers arrested Donald Kimberley, of Langley, Saturday night at his mobile home after a search of the premises uncovered a small quantity of marijuana.

Two search warrants for the Kimberley trailer had been sought—the first by State Police, the second by Sheriff Doug Lewis who arrived at the scene while State Police Sgt. Gary Rose, Troopers Don Weedman, John Sizemore and Danny Stumbo and Lieut. Elkins were making the search. County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. accompanied the officers there.

Turner said some paraphernalia, including a set of scales and about 700 "baggies," were confiscated, and that marijuana residue was found in the duct system of the trailer.

Kimberley was charged in district court with possession of marijuana for the purpose of sale and possessing drugs not in a proper container. He was released under bond for trial in April. Turner said, The county attorney said he accompanied the raiding party because the making of a case on possession of drugs for sale is so technical that he felt he should be on the scene.

Sheriff Lewis and Deputies Randall Lewis and Phillip Neeley arrested Tommy Allen on Sizemore Saturday afternoon after they had confiscated 184 cans of beer and 16 half-pints of whiskey. He was charged with possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale.

Sheriff Lewis arrested Calvin Sizemore, of Stephens Branch, at Wayland Monday and charged him with transporting alcoholic beverages. Lewis confiscated a case of whiskey and five cases of beer.

Billy Ray Gilliam, who was arrested at Wheelwright Feb. 6 by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis, Phillip Neeley and Chuck Akers as an escapee from a North Carolina prison, has been claimed by North Carolina authorities. Gregory Weddington and David D. Tibbs were booked on third degree burglary charges by Deputies Lewis and Neeley. The two are accused of breaking into the Scaf Engineering Company warehouse at Stanville.

Others arrested, charges on which they were booked and names of arresting officers follow:

Terry Meade, driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages (DUI), by State Trooper Scott; Bill Little, Jr., menacing with intent to do bodily harm, by Deputy Sheriff Neeley; Gary Meade, resisting arrest and attempt to elude an officer, by Prestonsburg Policemen Keith Lawson and Larry Woods; Herman Jones and John F. Bailey, DUI, by Deputy Sheriffs Lewis and Neeley; Hayes Howell, Jr., DUI, by Sgt. Kilgore, Prestonsburg police; Ronald Wells, terroristic threatening, by Policemen J. Wright and D. Chaffins, of Prestonsburg; Tony Walters, DUI, by State Troopers Castle and Stevens; Larry Allen, DUI, by Deputies Chuck Akers and John Wilson; Mary Judd, hit-run driving, by Sgt. Darrell J. Conley, Prestonsburg police; Jerry Kidd, DUI, by State Trooper H. J. West; Kenneth Roberts, DUI, by State Trooper Don Weedman; Lonnie Neeley, resisting arrest and warrant from Menifee county, by Policemen C.E. Kilgore and J. Wright; Blake Bliiter, DUI, by Sheriff Lewis; Paul Mullett, terroristic threatening, by Deputy Sheriff Neeley.

$744.5 Million Involved in Sale

Five companies have agreed in principle to acquire Ashland Oil Inc. oil and gas properties in transactions totaling $744.5 million, company spokesman said yesterday.

The agreements, to purchase the properties from the company's Ashland Explorations Inc. unit, have been announced in recent days by the five companies, said Dan Lacey, a spokesman at Ashland, and Bill Hartl, Ashland's director of financial communications.

Ashland, the nation's 15th largest oil firm, has been divesting itself in recent months of its less profitable operations.

Tenneco Inc., based at Houston, Texas, has said its Tenneco Oil Co. unit and Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo, Texas—acting as equal partners—agreed to acquire Ashland Exploration's Midcontinent Region oil and gas properties for $340 million.

That acquisition would involve both producing and exploration properties—including 350,000 undeveloped acres in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, and net proven reserves estimated last Oct. 1 at 2 million barrels of oil and 740 billion cubic feet of gas.

Tenneco said the agreement was subject to negotiation of a definitive accord and receipt of government approval.

Getty Oil Co., based in Los Angeles, Calif., said it agreed in principle to acquire interests in 15 oil and gas properties and support facilities from Ashland Exploration for $267 million.

The properties—offshore of Louisiana and Texas—currently produce 6,500 barrels of oil and about 25.6 million cubic feet of gas a day.

Included in the support facilities are four natural gas plants in Louisiana and pipelines connected to the various properties being sold. Getty said it expected to complete the transaction in April, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Petro-Lewis Corp. of, of Denver, Colo., said it agreed in principle to purchase the producing oil and gas properties of Ashland Exploration's Rocky Mountain Southeast and Southwest regions for about $120.5 million.

Lear Petroleum of Dallas, Texas, said it agreed in principle to purchase exploratory acreage in the Ashland unit's Southwest, Southeast and Rocky Mountain regions for $17 million.

That acquisition would involve about 1 million acres, including 304 possible sites for exploration and 30 sites currently identified as drillable.

Ashland Oil began negotiating the sale of its oil and gas properties last year and announced last month that it had received bids totaling $750 million.

Orin Atkins, board chairman and chief executive officer of Ashland Oil Inc., said last June the company intended to "critically examine every segment of the company which hasn't been a net cash generator or doesn't possess a high potential for growth."

In Memoriam

In memory of Goldia Hughes who passed away—February 14, 1978:

I can see her as she lay there in so much pain; She would pray and praise the Lord. She was not ashamed.

How she suffered nobody will ever know; Finally her pain did cease when Death said, "Come, let us go."

You won't have no pain To torture you anymore; For Jesus said, "Enter in through Heaven's open door."

Sadly missed by her niece, Eula Hurd and Family it-pd.

A very REFINED Gentleman OR how NORBERT RILLIEUX was the original Sugar Daddy.

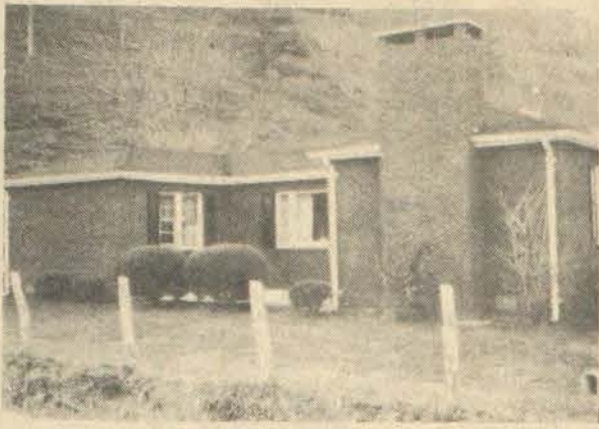

On August 26, 1842, Norbert Rillieux put a patent on a sweet idea. It was a way to refine sugar. To help the sugarcane juices evaporate more quickly, he enclosed condensation coils in a vacuum chamber. A process that's made things a lot sweeter ever since. You can make your future a little sweeter, too, by buying U.S. Savings Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan. They're the dependable way to save for an education, vacation, or even retirement. Because they always pay off with interest. So buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And be a "sugar daddy" in your spare time.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Free Tax Service Offered at Weeksbury

Many Kentucky taxpayers who need help preparing income tax returns will find free assistance near home, according to Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS, in cooperation with retired, social and civic organizations, college groups and interested individuals, has established temporary tax assistance offices throughout Kentucky. Volunteers trained by the IRS staff these locations to assist low-income and older Americans with a step-by-step completion of their income tax forms.

Individuals seeking tax assistance at a VETA location are reminded to bring with them their tax package and all pertinent documents such as W-2 forms and interest statements.

The service will be available March 2, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and March 3 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Weeksbury Community Center. A similar service was rendered earlier at the David Community Center.

EXPRESSES THANKS

Margaret O'Quinn, of Garrett, has returned to her home from Central Baptist hospital in Lexington. She wishes to thank her many friends for all of their flowers, cards and prayers.

Martin Class of '69 Plans 10-Year Reunion

The 1969 graduating class of Martin High School has scheduled a 10-year class reunion for Saturday, May 26 at the Martin gymnasium. A spokesman for the reunion planning group said a letter will be mailed in the near future to all '69 graduates whose names and addresses are available.

In the meantime, anyone wanting further information on the reunion may call the following numbers: 886-9072, 886-8738, or 285-9228.

NOTICE

To Subscribers of Tel-Com (TV Cable Service) In The Area Formerly Served By Akers Cable Television System:

On July 11, 1978, Tel Com was granted approval by the Floyd County Fiscal Court to acquire the Akers Cable Television System which serves Warco, Martin, Stephens Branch, Bucks Branch, Arkansas, Banner and parts of Emma and Calf Creek.

At that time, the rate being charged for this cable television service was $10.00 per month. We advised the Fiscal Court that we would voluntarily reduce this rate to $9.00 per month immediately, and to further reduce it to $8.50 per month in September, 1979.

These rates are based on our projected costs of operation. We feel we can continue to operate effectively on that rate structure. However, if these rates are reduced, we believe it will be economically impossible for us to continue to offer full 12-channel service, including the three Lexington stations, which we are now offering. A lower rate will not allow Tel-Com to operate and have any appreciable return on our investment.

On Tuesday, February 20, 1979, at 1 o'clock p.m., the Floyd County Fiscal Court will have a meeting to discuss the rate charges of all franchised cable television operators in the county. If we are not allowed to charge the rates as set out above, we will have no course other than to reduce our service, and eliminate seven channels, including the three Lexington stations. We do not desire to take this action, and in fact, have made extensive plans to add other services to the broad range of viewing possibilities we now offer.

We want you, our subscribers, to know of this situation. Our policy has been to be aggressive in providing the best service possible, and while we realize we have had some technical difficulties in our system, we are trying to correct these as quickly as possible, and still offer the most viewing choices to you.

If you desire to continue to receive the 12-channel service now being offered, at the price now being charged ($9.00 per month now, and $8.50 this September), we invite you to make this known to your magistrate and other members of the Fiscal Court. We know they are concerned with what you want and that they will appreciate hearing from you.

An Individual Retirement Account (IRA) will help assure your financial security.

Social Security simply isn't enough to afford a comfortable retirement. It is a semi-fixed income and therefore cannot adequately keep pace with rising prices and unexpected personal needs.

You'll be amazed at how much can be accumulated with IRA. For example, if a 30 year old begins an IRA account now with an annual contribution of $1,500.00, by age 59 1/2 he or she would accumulate $161,968.44 towards retirement.

When you retire, you'll want much more than Social Security can provide. That's why IRA makes so much sense.

We strongly recommend IRA to our customers as a sound investment program. It is safe and prudent. So, if you are not now participating in a pension plan where you work, call the IRA Representative at 886-9101 for a complete explanation and everything you'll need to start your Individual Retirement Account, today.

An Individual Retirement Account is long-term, high-interest, high-yield savings account. Each year you may voluntarily deposit the lesser of 15% of annual earnings or $1,500.00. These funds are fully tax deductible.

Many superstitions cluster around Feb. 14, one of which is that birds of the air choose their mates on this date. Some older citizens observe this date as Ground Hog Day, rather than Feb. 2. It is also the date on which many older gardeners plant salad peas. There is an ancient midwife belief that babies born on Feb. 14 grow up to be "loving and giving."

Feb. 14, of course, is most noted for the time-honored custom of young people sending out cards, candy and trinkets bearing tender messages to their sweethearts—a practice that began more than 17 centuries ago. The custom commemorates St. Valentine, a gentle Roman priest, who had the courage to resist and defy war and died as a consequence of this resistance on this day in 270 A.D.

About 250 A.D., the Roman emperor, Claudius the Cruel, began a long series of useless and bloody wars of conquest for which his people had no heart. The most beloved person in Rome at the time was a kind, compassionate priest named Valentine. To his church flocked the families of soldiers praying for peace and safety of their sons, husbands and fathers. Gradually young men whom the Emperor drafted to replenish his armies came under the influence of this good, peace-loving priest and sought sanctuary in his church.

As a result of Valentine's activities, Emperor Claudius experienced difficulty in recruiting Roman youths for his armies. He issued a decree forbidding all marriages and engagements until his wars had been fought to a victorious close.

Young people were in despair. Valentine, however, thinking the decree wicked and unjust, ignored it completely. Defying the Emperor, he secretly married and blessed all young people who came to him. For some time this gentle, valiant man of God continued to preach the gospel of love and peace, and endeavored to help sad, bewildered young people work out their destinies.

But in the year 270, the Emperor succeeded in seizing the aging priest and put him in a dungeon, where on Feb. 14 he died of mistreatment. His sorrowing friends, particularly his young friends, decided they would meet every year on the anniversary of his death and do honor to his name. It became a favorite day for engagements, marriages and exchange of loving gifts. Young lovers adopted it as their special day. As the years slipped by and many other holidays were lost in the dust of time, St. Valentine's Day persisted to become an even more popular and holy day.

SHORT ROWS

By Nevyle Shackelford

Glowing with the sunlight of summer and perfumed with the fragrance of wildflowers, honey from the comb is the purest of all foods. Also this golden product of bees has been enjoyed by man since the first days of recorded history.

Besides being delicious to the taste, honey is healthful to the body. Nutritionists say it contains traces of iron, copper, manganese, silica, chlorine, sodium, phosphorus, magnesium, protein and vitamins in the right quantities to serve the needs of the normal individual. It is a sweet that many diabetics can tolerate. It helps babies retain calcium and thus grow stronger limbs and better teeth. Then as a carbohydrate food, it is unsurpassed.

Honey is truly, as it has been called, a "golden wonder." It contains such a high concentration of sugars that when exposed to contamination, bacteria cannot live for more than an hour or two in properly ripened honey. More than that, it cannot be adulterated without easy detection. If mixed with corn syrup, it separates. If diluted with water, it ferments and no one has been able to cheapen or improve upon this product of nature.

Because of its purity and sweetness, honey has been a symbolic entry in the wedding ceremonies since ancient times. From its traditional use in the marriage sacrament comes the word "honeymoon."

Over the years honey has also figured prominently in the practice of folk medicine. A tablespoon of honey at the evening meal was once a remedy for insomnia. Mixed with vinegar, it was considered excellent for coughs. It was used to control muscle cramps and as a soothing, healing agent for burns. Chewing a piece of honeycomb was used to relieve breathing-tract difficulties.

Raising or keeping a few stands of bees around the old homestead has long been advised by professional agriculturists as an adjunct to gardening and orcharding. A stand or two of bees, these professionals say, will mean more fruit and vegetables. In fact the pollinating activities of bees give to agriculture 30 times the value their honey brings on the market.

Yes, indeed, honey is a wonderful food and a symbol of all that is pure and good. To take a bite of this golden wonder, as Donald Culross Peattie once said, is to "partake of a sacrament with nature."

Training of Officers To Offset Stress Of Work Slated

More than 3,000 local law enforcement officers across Kentucky will receive job stress awareness training this year, according to Ray Kottak, acting Justice Department secretary.

The instruction is designed to help police officers identify and deal with stress in their working environment, Kottak said. The stress awareness training is part of a 40-hour course provided local officers by the Bureau of Training in Richmond.

Kottak said that current research has implicated psychological stress as an important causal agent in such health problems as coronary disease, gastrointestinal malfunction, dermatological problems, severe nervous conditions, neurosis and a number of other physical and mental disorders.

He speculated that health problems are not the only consequence of this stress. He said allegedly high rates of divorce and marital discord among law enforcement personnel may be attributable at least in part to occupational stress.

Bureau of Training Commissioner Robert Clark Stone said law enforcement has been described as one of the most emotionally dangerous vocations in today's society. "Our stress awareness classes are designed to identify the 'stressors' in police service, such as shift and beat rotation, high-speed chases, public scrutiny, some negative attitudes by the public and occasional boredom," Stone said.

"They are also designed to prescribe means of reducing stress, such as identifying the 'stressors', establishing regularity by reducing shift rotation as much as possible, assuring three balanced meals a day, exercise and plenty of sleep.

Tree-Fruit Production Class To Be Offered

The Betsy Layne High School Agribusiness Department will offer a class for adults in the production of fruits. This includes the selection, raising, pruning, grafting, disease control, etc. in the production of fruit. The class will begin February 13 at 6:30 p.m. Those unable to attend the first meeting may register by contacting Suzanne Huffman at Betsy Layne High School or by attending the following Tuesday. The class will be held at The Betsy Layne High agriculture building.

NOTICE
Legal Notice to families who lived in public housing projects operated by the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or lived in public housing projects in any other city between March 16, 1971 - September 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. A dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971 to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 5, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

'Squeeze Is on Art,' Club Speaker Says

Wayland, Ky.—"The arts are fundamental to the learning experience," quoted Mack Martin from the magazine, "Saturday Review," as he spoke recently to members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. Otto Martin, Wayland.

The article from which Mr. Martin quoted was entitled, "Why Children Should Draw, the Surprising Link Between Art and Learning". The article stressed that a child learns in two ways, symbolic and experimental. Mr. Martin further quoted, "Symbolic is what children get in traditional educational education, but experimental learning is a requirement for symbolic achievement. Given the proper tools with which to work, a child will naturally show an aptitude for order and sequence which are so much a part of learning math and science." "Children need to be taught to use their hands (intelligence), but that is not acknowledged in the schools," the article stated.

"However," Mr. Martin pointed out, "children need to be creative in order to properly express themselves as a complete person, not just for the good it might do them in the learning of math and science."

According to the article from which he quoted, art is fighting a losing battle in the schools. "The big squeeze is on and art is being pushed to the bottom of the list, which we can see all around us," he added. "Taxpayer rebellions and pressures from parents to cut out what some people erroneously class as frills has caused a part of the squeeze, but whatever the reason, it always ends up being a curtailment in the arts." At the conclusion of his talk, he passed out three-page lists of some of the numerous pressions related to art.

Following Mr. Martin's discussion, four of his private art students displayed some of their work in various media. The students were Sandra Slone, Frank Baldrige, and Kevin Webb, of Wayland, and Stephen Layne, of Eastern.

Mack Martin is a local artist and a teacher in the Martin Elementary School.

At the conclusion of the program during a business meeting a discussion took place concerning the raising of money to assist in the purchase of protective footwear for the Area Fire Department at Wayland. A pledge of $200 was made toward this purchase, the money to be paid by the end of the club year. A report was given on the recent pecan sale by club members and funds turned in for the pecans and Christmas merchandise which was sold. Club members were reminded by the president, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, of the annual baking of cupcakes for the Golden Years' Rest Home for Valentine's Day, each club member to bake two dozen cakes.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Frank Baldrige, Mrs. Curt Slone, Mrs. Robert Webb, Jr., and Mrs. Bert Layne, guests, and Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, Mrs. Marie Mullins, Mrs. S.M. Martin, and Mrs. Otto Martin, members, and Mr. Martin and his four students.

The next club meeting will be held February 19 at the home of Mrs. James E. Martin, Wayland, with Mrs. Don Hughes in charge of the program.

Warning to Fishermen

The "book" says, "Don't take your wife fishing—she'll outfish you." But it doesn't give any such warning about your children. So Paul Combs, of the Middle Creek road, took his eight-year-old son, Paul Clark, II, deep sea fishing with him when he joined a party aboard the Hi Hopes out of Bahia Mar yacht basin, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 22 and the youngster made a piker not only of his old man but of everybody else aboard. His catch (here pictured) was a 48-inch grouper which weighed 61 pounds. At the time his catch was reported he was the leader in the junior division of the winter fishing tournament sponsored by the city of Ft. Lauderdale.

If Funds Available, Inmates Again To Make License Plates

Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn today pleaded with the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee not to slice $10 million from his department's budget.

Such a cut, Conn said, would have a direct effect upon Kentucky's welfare recipients—"the people who need it the most."

Eight million dollars of the proposed $10 million budget reduction would be from the fund that provides benefits to people on welfare, Conn explained. "You would be cutting into services for the blind, handicapped, elderly and poor."

He said he wanted to dispell "serious and pervasive myths" about welfare recipients and show that his department is not pouring "money down a rathole."

Conn said the most common myths about welfare cases are that they have too many children, spend many years on welfare and that welfare recipients are mostly minority groups.

The typical welfare recipient, he said is white, an adult with two children and on welfare for about two years.

Conn admitted that there are welfare fraud cases, but he said in most cases "welfare benefits are going to people who legitimately need them." He noted that his department has strengthened its efforts to prevent fraud.

Corrections Commissioner David Bland told the committee that his agency needs an additional $435,000 to reestablish license plate-making operations at the LaGrange Reformatory. The state got out of the license plate-making business in 1975 and since then has purchased them from the Georgia prison system.

"The out-of-state vendors for license plates have not been very satisfactory," Bland told the committee.

He said Kentucky could save by making its own higher-quality plates, in addition to providing work for 120 inmates. "It is imperative that we relieve idleness at the reformatory," Bland said.

Regional System in Effect For All Ky. Circuit Courts

The success of an experimental project in regional court administration led last month to the establishing of regional administration for all of Kentucky's circuit courts. A further outgrowth of the success story is the formation of three experimental regions for the district courts, which will be organized along similar lines, with their organization effective February 8.

Until the passage of the Judicial Article, the concept of regional administration had never been considered for Kentucky courts. The only forerunner to the idea was the Model Courts Project initiated in 1972 to study the use of trial court administrators in nine pilot counties comprising five judicial districts.

The drafters of the Judicial Article, in anticipation of future need, included a provision in the Constitution which allows judicial administration by region. A statewide regional court administration plan was developed by the Administrative Office of the Courts and presented to the Judicial Council for its consideration. In June, 1977, the Judicial Council recommended the plan to the Supreme Court and provided that two pilot regions of the circuit courts be designated for initial experimentation with regional administration. The pilot project became effective January 2, last year.

The regional administration project has four goals: 1. To equalize work among the judges within regions; 2. to expedite the disposition of litigation within regions; 3. to promote uniform procedures and practices within regions and throughout the state; 4. to increase the responsiveness of the Administrative Office of the Courts to the needs of the trial courts.

A number of factors were considered in determining the composition of the pilot regions, including the caseload per circuit judge, the rank order of judicial circuits by caseload per judge, the number of circuit judges and counties, geographical constraints, highway quality and access, trial commissioner use and kinship disqualification.

Under the provisions of the charter accompanying the order of the Supreme Court, an administrative judge is selected in each region by the circuit judges within the region. His duties are to plan, coordinate and supervise activities within each region; advise the regional coordinator of information necessary to make a judicial transfer decision, work with the regional coordinator to set up exact procedures for conducting the project within his region, and exercise within his region the temporary assignment authority delegated to him by the Chief Justice.

The two pilot regions created for experimental purposes were the Eastern Region, composed of the 21st, 23rd, 25th, 37th and 39th judicial circuits; and the Central Region, composed of the 9th, 10th, 11th, 29th, 40th, and 55th circuits. The success of the two pilot regions was such that in July, 1978, an additional region known as the Southeastern Region, was established to compose the 13th, 27th, 34th, 44th and 50th judicial circuits. With the addition of the Southeastern Region, a total of 43 counties, 17 circuits, and 18 circuits, and 18 circuit judges were included within the initial regional administration project.

The administrative judges selected in each of the pilot regions—Judge James S. Chenault of the Eastern Region, Judge Robert Spragens of the Central Region, and Judge Henry V. Pennington of the Southeastern Region—had all been participants in the Model Courts Project during the course of the experiment. Their experience with the utilization of court administrators in trial courts has been invaluable to the success of the project.

At its November, 1978 meeting, the Kentucky Judicial Council recommended to the Supreme Court that the Regional Administration Project for circuit courts be expanded statewide to 10 regions, including the three pilot regions already in existence. The Council also approved three pilot regions for the district courts, which will be organized similarly to the circuit court regions.

The greatest advantage claimed for regional administration is the ability of administrative judges to shift judges from one district or district to another in order to share heavy caseloads. This is viewed as an alternative to redistricting or addition of judges and trial commissioners.

An unusual aspect of the project is that it is administered by judges, rather than by court administrators. A member of the staff of the Administrative Office of the Courts has been designated as regional coordinator whose duties are to gather and maintain statistical information, and to keep the judges advised of the availability of judges for transfer. Although the regional coordinator meets regularly with the judges in each region, it is the judges themselves who are responsible for the administration of the project.

Floyd Store Loses Food Stamp Status

Hammond's Grocery, of Stanville, has been barred from accepting food stamps for a year because of violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

Owned by William Hammonds, the store was disqualified from the program for one year, starting Jan. 23, after being charged with selling several cartons of cigarettes and other ineligible items for food coupons.

Robert L. Cunningham, who is in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, explained that the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the disqualification period.

Cunningham added that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

NOTICE OF BLASTING SCHEDULE

In accordance with the provisions of 405 KAR 1:090, Addington Brothers Mining, Inc., U.S. 23 Woodland Place, Paintsville, Ky. 41240, announces the following Blasting Schedule. The blasting site consists of approximately 146.0 acres located east of Auxier in Floyd county. The area is located 0.6 miles northeast of Dewey Dam at Lat. 37d. 43' 00", Long. 82 d. 40' 55".

Blasting of overburden is conducted on a daily basis, 6 days per week (Mon. - Sat.). Designated blasting time is between 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. - 6:30 p.m.

Access to the blasting area will be marked with a sign "Blasting Area". Blasting areas containing loaded holes will be marked with Hi-Vise cones. Authorized personnel will patrol the blasting area to restrict unauthorized access into this zone.

Audible warning of blasting activity will be given by sirens audible for at least 1/2 mile. The first signal will be 3 long sounds with a siren prior to the blasting signal. The blast signal will be 3 short sounds made with a siren prior to the shot. On the last short sound the shot will be fired. The all clear signal will be one long sound made with a siren after inspection of the blasting area for complete explosion.

In unusual situations it may be necessary to denote a blast at times other than specified. This emergency blasting will be done when weather or other conditions present some hazard to normal procedures, when necessary to maintain safe operating conditions, or when necessary for public safety.

Honored on Golden Wedding

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Johnson on their Golden Wedding Anniversary was given by their daughter, Norma Jean Hopper, of Melvin, and their granddaughter, Jennifer Hopper Bruner, of Troy, Mich. Dec. 17, at their home in Melvin. The table was decorated with a large gold-and-white sheet cake, flanked by gold candlesticks bearing tall white candles.

Refreshments were served by Edna Frazier, Ruby Hughes, Ola Mae Damron and Janet Bruner. The honorees were presented many gifts from their many relatives and friends, for which they thanked each guest. Beside one dozen red roses, the hostesses gave Mr. Johnson a diamond tie clasp and to Mrs. Johnson a diamond bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married Dec. 1, 1928, at Wales, Ky. Mr. Johnson is the son of the late Martin L. and Lina Johnson, of Weeksbury. Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of the late Joe and Rebecca Hall, of Wales, Ky. They have spent their 50 years of married life in their present home at Melvin. Mr. Johnson was formerly employed by Island Creek Coal Company at Wheelwright, and has been retired eight years.

State Board To Sponsor Seminar on TV Learning

Today's children are the product of an electronic society. Television is as much a part of their lives as bicycles and skateboards. Educators and parents have long been concerned about the effects TV has on kids, and on February 20 the State Board of Education will hold a seminar to discuss ways to maximize the positive aspects of these effects.

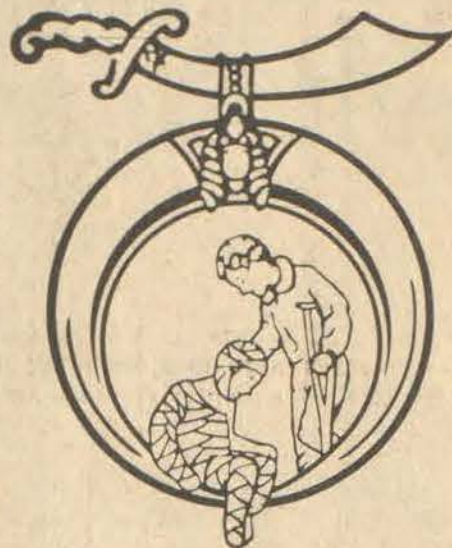

"Television affects children, there's no doubt about that," says Bob Brown, vice-chairman of Kentucky's State Board of Education. "The board is conducting this seminar to discuss how we—parents, educators and television people—can make those effects more desirable. To my knowledge, this is the first formal meeting of this kind in the country."

According to Brown, the members of Kentucky's Board attended a national meeting of state school boards last fall in Hershey, Pennsylvania. At that meeting, one of the topics discussed was television and learning in education.

Says Brown, "We were very impressed. When we got back, we decided to explore this subject further, and that is how we came up with the idea for this seminar. We have asked the Kentucky Authority for Educational Television and the Kentucky Broadcasters' Association to help us coordinate it."

The day-long meeting will be held in Lexington and includes Keith Milke, of the Children's Television Workshop (originators of "Sesame Street"), and Dr. Roger Fransecky, child psychologist and long-time advisor to developers of children's programs, as speakers. Each Board member has invited parents from his region of the state, as well as school board superintendents and teachers. In addition, students and television broadcasters from around the Commonwealth have been invited to voice their opinions.

According to the Tax Foundation, it takes the average worker two hours and 45 minutes of every eight hour work day just to pay taxes!

But it takes less than 11 minutes of work to pay the electric bill...about one coffee break. Even with inflation that's a pretty good deal when you think of all the things electricity does for you each day. From waking you up, making your coffee, keeping your food fresh, vacuuming your rugs, preparing your meals, cleaning your clothes, doing your dishes and keeping you informed and entertained.

We don't know how many seconds out of every day's pay you can save conserving electricity, but we know it can be very worthwhile. In fact, we have some free S.A.V.E. booklets that can show you how to save energy and become part of our Save America's Valuable Energy Program. Stop by any of our offices for your copies.

At Kentucky Power, we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

"COAL IS THE ANSWER"

In the beginning of the Industrial Revolution, which turned America into a primarily industrial country, the United States looked to the Appalachian Mountains to furnish the energy, in the form of coal, to fuel the machines and factories. Coal was the energy source that moved America into the 20th Century and made possible the great growth of this period.

However, during this period also, America discovered a new form of energy called oil. America was fascinated with this "black liquid gold" and began to convert all machines, factories and even made the automobile to operate on this new form of energy. It seemed the oil was plentiful and cheap. Oil was the basic form of energy that guided the development of the country during the first 70 years of the 20th Century.

In 1973, with the Arab oil embargo, Americans found that oil was neither plentiful nor cheap. We began to hear cries throughout the land that America had an "energy crisis." The United States and our government have spent millions and millions of our tax dollars trying to develop "new" energy sources. We have tried to harness the sun, for "solar energy," we have tried to harness the atom, for "nuclear energy," and we have undertaken the most ambitious construction project in our history to bring a trickle of oil from the northernmost slopes of Alaska. And America has ignored the answer to our present energy needs.

Someday, maybe your home will be heated with "solar energy." Someday, maybe your car will run with "nuclear energy." Someday, maybe we will find a great new oil source. However, if we hope to solve the present "energy crisis," the answer is not in these expensive and exotic sources. The answer is America's most plentiful fossil fuel and it is located in abundance here in East Kentucky. THE ANSWER IS COAL.

America has more coal than the Arabs have oil. Coal is our most plentiful source of energy. We don't have an "energy crisis," we have a "oil crisis." Coal can meet our present energy needs. Kentucky is the largest coal producing State in the Nation. If East Kentucky were a Nation, we would be among the ten largest coal producing Nations in the World.

Benny Ray Bailey believes that the responsible development of our coal resources is in the best interest of all persons in East Kentucky. Coal is the backbone of our economy and our coal miners are among the best people to be found anywhere. We need to speak up for the coal miner and support the coal industry. Benny Ray Bailey knows our area and our people. Benny Ray understands the complex political, social and economic systems of our Nation and how to make them work for us. Let's elect Benny Ray Bailey to the State Senate. Coal miners need a Senator too.

STERLING "PORKY" TACKETT, Floyd County Chairman

Dr. Allen Co-Authors Textbook Series

(The following, excerpted from The Nashville Tennessean, relates to Dr. Jack Allen, Prestonsburg native. Dr. Allen is a son of Mrs. Anna M. Allen, now of Lexington, and the late Edward L. Allen, Prestonsburg attorney.)

A new elementary school social studies textbook series has special significance for two professors at George Peabody College of Teachers.

Dr. Dorothy J. Skeel, professor of social studies education, and Dr. Jack Allen, professor of history, began the idea for the series, laying out the rationale and doing the initial conceptual framework, Dr. Allen said.

Other authors and consultants for the books were selected by the editorial staff of the American Book Co. of New York, publisher of the series, with suggestions from Drs. Allen and Skeel.

Designed for kindergarteners through sixth graders the series includes textbooks, workbooks and teacher guidebooks.

Dr. Skeel wrote "Self," the first grade book; others, second grade, and the third grade workbook. Dr. Allen is author of the fifth grade book, "Americans." Both also served as consultants on other volumes and materials in the series.

The two educators from Peabody were initially approached by the publishers with the idea for the books and they began talking over the concept with the company three years ago. The series carries a 1979 copyright.

"This is Dr. Skeel's and my first collaboration," Dr. Allen said, "but it has been a very close one since the books are the result of about three years' planning."

He said the books have been in print since last fall, although not on sale until now. The early copies are intended for advance viewing by schools, education departments and the like. Dr. Allen said the series will be on the Tennessee approved list of books for elementary schools for the next five years.

"This series was one of the most enjoyable projects I've ever worked on," he continued, adding he is also pleased with a series he calls "visually the most attractive I've ever seen." Already selected by several state boards of education—where there are statewide adoption lists, in addition to Tennessee—the series compares favorably with others in the same subject area, he said.

The purpose of the series, as stated in its opening pages, is "to help children use knowledge and acquire skills to become creative, thinking, decision-making citizens of the world. To understand others, children must first understand themselves and how they relate to other people...a social studies program must explain what it means to be human."

The graphics of the books include a mixture of photographs, drawings and maps.

Dr. Allen, a Peabody faculty member for almost 32 years, has degrees from Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Peabody.

A former president of the National Council of Social Studies, he authored or co-authored 15 textbooks in elementary and secondary school social studies and 16 professional books and booklets related to social studies education.

At Peabody, he has served as chairman of the Division of Social Science, acting executive dean for academic affairs and director of Programs for Educational Policy Specialists. He is consultant to the Center for Economic and Social Studies Education, and has been a visiting professor at the University of Colorado.

Heck's Reports Sharp Jan. Sales Increase

Reporting sharp sales gains for the month of January 1979, Heck's, Inc. (NYSE - "HEX"), the regional retailer, said discount department store sales totaled $8,455,000, up from $5,733,000 in January 1978, a gain of 47 per cent.

The chain, whose 69 discount department stores serve a seven state market, also registered a 35 per cent store-for-store sales increase during the same period, said Heck's Chairman Fred Haddad. Store-for-store sales, representing same stores, excluding new units, amounted to $7,630,000 in January 1979 versus $5,641,000 for the same month of 1978, he said.

Cattle Grubs Now Evident

When beef producers notice large bumps under the skin of the backs of their cattle in late January, February and March, it's already too late to do anything about the cause, says an entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The bumps are caused by cattle grubs, according to Chris Christensen, and the time to control them is between the end of July and the end of October.

Christensen explains that application of systemic insecticides when the larvae are at certain locations in the body could have a detrimental effect on cattle. When killed later than October, tissues inflamed by the dead grubs can cause the esophagus to swell or put pressure on the spinal column, he says.

The entomologist explains the lifecycle of the cattle grub:

The flies become active in the spring when the weather is warm. They attach eggs on the hairs of cattle, then young larvae bore through the skin and spend the next 8-10 months migrating through the bodies of the cattle.

Eventually the larvae or maggots come up under the skin on the back where they cut holes in the hide to breathe and begin growing.

Christensen says the larvae become an inch long and half an inch in diameter and are covered with spines which cause considerable irritation to the cattle. The animal reacts by creating a puss pocket, or cyst, in the area.

"The important thing is that when you're finishing grubby cattle, the meat has to be trimmed wherever grubs are located, and this trim is from the most valuable part of the carcass," notes Christensen.

Also, holes in the cattle hide made by grubs for breathing hurt the economic value of the hide, he adds.

Besides the economic damage to finishing cattle, cattle grubs cause reduced feed efficiency in livestock. Some studies indicate heavily infested cattle gain two-tenths of a pound less per day than cattle in which grubs are controlled, says Christensen.

"The problem is apparent now, but it could have been easily controlled by applying systemic insecticides to livestock from the end of July to Oct. 31," he points out. Insecticides may be applied as pour-ons, spot-ons, sprays or feed-through products.

Christensen notes that treatment for lice will not cause problems in grub-infested cattle.

Mayo Vocational Student Drives Wrecker to School

Can the lady drive her two-ton wrecker to school? The answer at Mayo State Vocational Technical School is "yes."

Judy White, 20, of East Point, a recent graduate, helped pay her way through diesel mechanics training at Mayo by driving a wrecker during bad weather. Her father, Edgar White, of Virgie, gave his daughter the wrecker to drive after she had wrecked her car several times. Judy readily admits she enjoys driving and working on a truck much more than a car. She has also had other part-time jobs while attending Mayo, jobs often involved in doing what she likes most—working on diesel engines.

Judy is a 1977 graduate of Virgie High School. She became interested in mechanical work at age 9, when she began working with her father, "the person who had helped me most in life." While helping her father, she learned to drill wells, operate a backhoe, bulldozer, crane and road grader. She is also a competent tractor-trailer truck driver.

Following up on her interest through high school, Judy attended Millard Area Vocational Education Center and completed the auto mechanics program there under the instruction of Rodney Sanders and Maurice Newsome. While attending Mayo, she took diesel mechanics, instructed by Dewey Conley and Enos Browning.

During her enrollment at Mayo, Judy won recognition by winning first place in the Kentucky V.I.C.A. Skills Olympics in the area of diesel mechanics. (On their return trip to Paintsville from the state competition, the bus transporting the V.I.C.A. students broke down. Luckily, Judy had her tools with her. She proceeded to repair the bus so they could continue their trip home.) After winning the first place award in the state competition, Judy then progressed to the National Heavy Equipment competition in Birmingham, Alabama.

During the 1978-79 school year Judy was elected chaplain of the Mayo V.I.C.A. chapter. Even though she was an "A" student, she maintains that letter grades meant nothing to her; she says she was only interested in learning as much as possible. She has one piece of advice for future Mayo students: "If you aren't interested in a subject, don't take it. You may occupy a space and knock someone who really wants to learn out of coming."

Most of the boys in the class accepted her well and tried to help, any time the job called for teamwork.

Judy said she has two ambitions: One, to own a diesel repair shop some day ("this will give me a chance to have a bunch of men to boss around"); the other, eventually to return to vocational school as a teacher.

After her mother died just before July's graduation from high school in 1977, Judy took on the responsibility of helping raise her younger sister, Patricia, who currently is attending Johnson Central High School and living with Judy at East Point. Judy said Patricia hasn't fully decided what her future will be, but she is considering attending the carpentry class at Mayo.

Put your mind-and-hand-to-it, and you can do anything. With that philosophy, this girl who would rather work on or drive a truck than a car is pretty certain to be successful in her chosen field of diesel mechanics.

Lice, a Winter Problem

Lice are a major winter insect problem for livestock, says Chris Christensen, Extension entomologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Lice don't cause many problems in the summer," he says, explaining that lice seem to be sensitive to light and heat. However, lice populations build up in the winter when hair coats thicken and skin becomes dry and scaly, according to Christensen.

Late January, February and March is the period to watch for infestation since populations usually build up to sufficient size to cause irritation, he advises.

Christensen points out that heavy lice populations not only irritate cattle, but also can cause blood problems, such as anemia. As a result, animals may become more susceptible to disease and pregnant animals more susceptible to anemic abortions.

In addition, lice infestation often reduces the vigor of livestock, causes a loss in milk production and less efficient feed utilization.

Christensen describes two types of lice that infest livestock. One is the chewing and biting type which feeds on bits of skin, hair, debris on livestock and raw flesh around wounds. These fast-moving pests cause considerable irritation, but usually don't inflict heavy economic damage.

The other type is the sucking lice which have piercing mouth parts. Slate gray in color, these lice often are found in colonies that may look like patches of dirt or manure on the animal.

The lifecycles of the sucking and chewing lice are such that damage is compounded as their numbers increase, according to Christensen. Louse eggs are attached to the hair, young lice hatch and they feed in the same manner as adults, he explains.

"Lice infested animals do a lot of rubbing and scratching," says Christensen. If this activity is noticed, he suggests the farmer examine the animals closely, looking behind the ears (inside the ears for hogs); around the muzzle, brisket and tail head, and around the udder in dairy animals.

If heavy infestations are found, the animals should be treated to control the lice, advises Christensen.

Several insecticides for controlling lice are available, with water-based insecticide sprays being the most commonly used. "It is important to completely wet down the animal for good coverage and kill," Christensen says, adding the use of water-based sprays is not advisable in frigid weather.

Dusts also are used in controlling lice, although they may be inconvenient for use on larger livestock. So, Christensen suggests the use of dust bags to keep lice populations at a manageable level.

Another more convenient way of controlling lice on beef cattle and hogs is with pour-on insecticides. Christensen stresses the importance of establishing the weight of the animal to be treated and using only the amount of insecticide recommended for that size animal.

When treating livestock for lice infestation, he emphasizes the need to treat the entire herd to prevent reinfestation of the herd. "If some can't be treated, separate the animals until they can be," advises Christensen.

It is possible to completely eliminate lice if animals are treated again after two or three weeks, according to the entomologist. The first treatment takes care of mobile lice, and the second treatment, made after eggs are hatched but before they mature, eliminates the young lice (nymphs).

Reinfestation can occur when new animals enter the herd or if a herd comes in contact with a neighboring herd, notes Christensen.

He says animals on a good plane of nutrition usually show fewer effects of lice, whereas, cattle or hogs on a maintenance diet are more easily affected by lice.

Studies conducted in Arizona indicate heavily infested animals on a poor diet lose twice as much weight as those not infested, according to Christensen.

The Indians had a superb faculty for establishing the best possible routes by which to travel. The colonists were wise to make use of the native trails, which they called "traces and trodden paths". Won't you join with the Daughters of the American Revolution and observe February as American History Month? You will be glad you did.

The Many Uses Of Sugar

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
UK College of Agriculture

The sugar you use to sweeten your coffee and sprinkle over your cereal has been condemned as a major cause of tooth decay and a contributing factor to a wide range of ailments from diabetes to obesity. Nevertheless, this product of the cane and beet fields remains one of the most popular of all foods that appear on the tables of this good land.

In fact, in one way or another, just about everyone uses sugar and if its detractors were totally correct, there wouldn't be a sound tooth or an ailment-free body in the country.

Sugar may be a sort of controversial subject but on one point there is all but universal agreement. It is a very important and versatile product. It has propelled cannon balls in time of war and furnished the explosive power of bombs dropped from the bays of flying fortresses.

In times of peace it has been used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, paint and lacquer, plastics, insecticides, and mountain moonshine. It has been used to strengthen concrete, to tan leather, and silver the mirrors in bathrooms and bedroom bureaus.

Sugar has been used to give chewing tobacco a better flavor and to keep some kinds of roll-your-own smoking tobacco from drying out. Then in plant nurseries throughout the land, sugar is mixed with soil to prevent the "damping off" disease so deadly to many young plants and transplants.

A sugar mold also produces a gluconic acid, the lime and salt of which is an essential part of the diet prescribed for expectant mothers. And sugar, of course, is consumed in almost unbelievable quantities by meat packers and producers of medicine and prepared baby foods.

Sugar has long been recognized by nutritionists as a source of quick food energy. It helps prevent dizzy spells or "blackouts" often suffered by aviators flying in the rarified air of the stratosphere.

It is used too, in the preparation of citric acid which medical people use to keep blood from coagulating while it is being collected for the preparation of plasma. Then thousands of pills, cough syrups, and other drugs are made more palatable by coating or adulterating with sugar.

These are only a few of the many uses of sugar, past and present, and research is going on every day to find still other uses. More than just being versatile, sugar is another wonderful commodity that comes from the farm.

Increase in Homestead Exemptions
To Save Floyd Residents $114,000

The Kentucky Department of Revenue has notified all county property valuation administrators of a $1,300 increase in the homestead exemption for 1979 and 1980.

This increase raises from $8,900 to $10,200 the exemption from property tax of qualifying residential property owned and occupied by persons 65 or over.

The Department computed the increase based on the rise in the U.S. Department of Labor consumer price index. The recomputation is required to be made by the Department of Revenue every two years under Kentucky law.

Since 1972, Kentucky taxpayers have been eligible to apply for a homestead exemption provided: (1) they are over 65 years of age; (2) they own the property; and (3) the property is used as a taxpayer's personal residence.

Qualified applicants were eligible for only a $6,500 exemption on the value of their property subject to taxation when the program was first started in 1972. The homestead exemption statute was amended in 1974 to state that the $6,500 exemption must be adjusted every two years if the consumer price index has changed as much as one percent.

In accord with this, the dollar value of the homestead exemption was adjusted to $7,700 for 1975 and 1976, and further adjusted to $8,900 for the years 1977 and 1978.

Homeowners who will be 65 or over this calendar year have until March 1 to apply for the $10,200 exemption. Persons who qualified for the old exemption do not have to reapply. The increase will automatically be credited to them.

Persons wishing to apply may do so by going to their county property valuation office.

Proof of age is required at the time of application. Medicare cards are preferred, but a birth certificate, school or Bible records, or, if none of these are available, a driver's license will be accepted.

The homestead exemption legislation saves senior citizens considerable amounts of money on their taxes. It means that those citizens who will be 65 or over this year, and own a home assessed at $20,000, will pay property taxes on only $9,800 of that assessment.

Age Limit Is Eased
For 5-6 Year-Olds

Gov. Julian Carroll has issued an executive order which will allow some five and six-year-olds to begin kindergarten and first grade earlier than is normally allowed.

The order sets up procedures by which parents may petition the board for their child to be admitted to kindergarten if the child becomes five after Sept. 1 and before Dec. 31. The parents of a child whose sixth birthday falls during the same period, and who has not attended an approved kindergarten, may petition for the child to be admitted to the first grade.

If a child in this category has attended an approved kindergarten, the decision on his promotion or retention will be made by local school authorities, and the parents are not eligible for the petition process.

Parents must submit their petitions to the secretary of the state board by May 1, unless they have moved from another state after that date, in which case the deadline is Aug. 1.

The exemption also removes, of course, significant amounts from the tax rolls of local units of government. The attorney general has ruled, however, that taxing districts may adjust their compensating tax rate annually to offset the revenue that would otherwise be lost as a result of the granting of those homestead exemptions.

State Sen. Jim Hammond (D-Prestonsburg) recently asked E. Tarleton Rogers, director of the state General Property Tax Division, to compile figures showing the savings to qualified taxpayers in the four counties he represents.

Based on 1978 tax rates, which are nearly the same rate as this year, the exemptions will mean a total savings of $114,000 to those residents 65 or older in Floyd county; $65,000 to those in Knott county; $104,000 to those in Perry county; and $22,000 to those in Martin county.

Broken down by cities, the additional $1,300 exemption this year will mean an additional savings of $15.24 to each qualified homeowner in Prestonsburg; $10.35 in Hindman; $13.21 in Martin; $16.20 in Wayland and $20.10 in Wheelwright. The total savings to each homeowner in 1979 will be $119.55 in Prestonsburg; $81.19 in Allen, excluding city rate; $103.63 in Martin; $127.09 in Wayland and $157.69 in Wheelwright.

In Hindman, where the county property tax rate is 24.3 cents per $100 property valuation, the school rate is 24.6 cents, the city rate is 10.0 and the state rate 31.5 for a total of 90.4 cents per $100 valuation, the additional $1,300 will mean an additional savings of $11.75 per qualifying taxpayer this year and next, and an overall savings of $92.21 per taxpayer 65 or older this year.

For Hazard residents, the total tax rate is $1.565 per $100 property valuation. This means an additional savings of $20.35 and an overall savings of $159.63 for each taxpayer who qualifies for the homestead exemption.

In Inez, the county property tax rate is 27.2 cents per $100 property valuation, the school rate is 18.7 cents, the city rate is 0, and the state rate 31.5 for a total of 77.4 cents per $100 valuation, the additional $1,300 will mean an additional savings of $10.06 per qualifying taxpayer this year and next, and an overall savings of $78.95 per taxpayer 65 or older this year.

PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing will be held on February 20, 1979, between 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m., at the Floyd County Courthouse Annex for the purpose of accepting public comment with regard to the awarding of franchise bids for the purpose of regulating cable television operations within Floyd County, Kentucky.

At the conclusion of the public hearing, the fiscal court will meet in special session regarding the awarding of cable television franchises.
