

City Files To Annex New Areas

Opponents of Plan Hold Mass Meeting; Others Scheduled

The City of Prestonsburg, Tuesday, filed an order of annexation with the Floyd county circuit court, officially reaffirming its intention to incorporate seven tracts adjoining the present city limits.

The proposed annexation would incorporate large sections of the following areas: Bull Creek-Water Gap, Cliff, Stumbo Hollow (Middle Creek), Katy Friend, Auxier Road, Brandy Keg, and Town Branch.

Widespread opposition to the proposal by residents of the outlying areas has been apparent, however, since talk of annexation began. The protest culminated Friday night in a meeting of between an estimated 300 to 400 residents from the seven areas.

Although opposition to the annexation movement was demonstrated by the large number of residents who attended the meet, little constructive organization or strategy came about as a result of business conducted at the meeting, it was reported.

A suggestion that the groups join together and hire a single lawyer to represent the cause was scrapped as many residents apparently felt that each of the seven groups could offer better resistance with separate legal representatives.

Residents against annexation list increased taxes and restricted land use among primary reasons for opposition.

Forest Blazes Plague County

"Of 120 forest fires which burned in this district last week, probably 115 were the result of carelessness," according to District Forester Arthur Leach.

Leach said irresponsible burning of leaves, clearing of gardens and other domestic activity combined with unusually dry weather were the primary causes of the fires which began burning heavily March 17 and increased in frequency until rain quenched the blazes Friday.

Within the district, which includes Pike, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin and Lawrence counties as well as Floyd, approximately 2,500 acres of woodland burned with the heaviest forest damage being recorded in Floyd and Pike counties where 34 and 40 fires, respectively, were estimated to have burned over the six-day period.

Although many calls were received at the forestry division office here from homeowners who feared forest fire would spread to their property, no damage to homes or other buildings was reported, Leach said.

Leach said the fires cost the Division of Forestry $8-$10,000 in firefighting cost, "and this does not include the future money loss from soil erosion and the loss of young trees," Leach added. He also pointed out that although larger timber is not killed, trees become diseased or may be affected by rot. "This is a major reason we have low-grade timber in this section," Leach explained.

Maytown Fire Dept. And City of P'burg Receive Aid Grants

Gov. Julian Carroll has approved a grant of $1,035 to the city of Prestonsburg. The funds are to be used to upgrade the management services of the Prestonsburg Police Department.

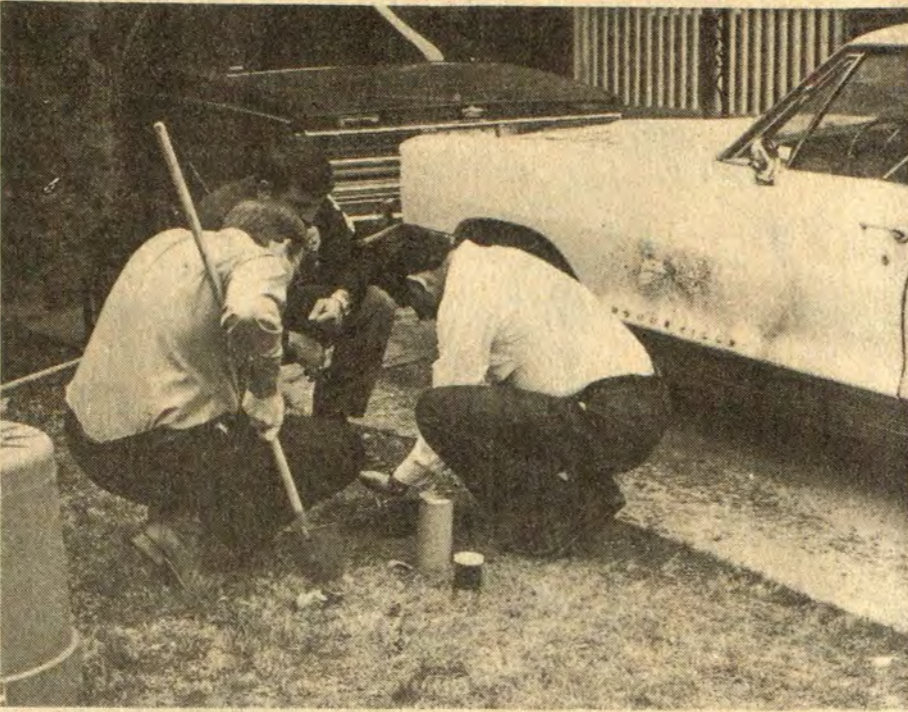

Carroll made the award after the application received the endorsement of the Kentucky Crime Commission. The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) is providing $931 of the total amount. The remainder is from state and local funds on a matching basis.

A $5,000 allocation to the Maytown Fire Department, recommended by the Floyd County Coal Severance Economic Aid Board, also has been approved, according to Commissioner William S. O'Daniel, Department for Local Government.

The allocation will be used to pay off a loan of the fire department, which borrowed money to purchase equipment.

Economic aid funds were established by Gov. Carroll in 1976 and approved by the 1976 and 1978 legislatures, with $10 million allocated from coal severance money each biennium.

Parsonage Here Rocked by Blast

An explosives specialist from the federal Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (at right) examines the "pot-hole" left by an explosive which was apparently tossed from a moving vehicle about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday in front of the First Methodist Church parsonage here, home of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Applegate. Also pictured are State Police Detective Fred Bailey (left) and Prestonsburg Police Sgt. Darrell Conley. Although no injuries resulted from the blast, several windows were broken in the parsonage as well as in the neighboring home of Mrs. Myrtle Reasor. Results of lab tests to determine the type of explosive used were unavailable as of Tuesday afternoon although dynamite was initially suspected. No motive in the incident has been determined.

In response to the incident, the Methodist Church this week posted a cash reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible.

Landfill Site Lack May Cost Funding

Under pressure from the state Department of Natural Resources and facing a seemingly impossible situation caused by the county's rugged terrain and related factors, the county stands to lose future funding for waste disposal if a suitable landfill site cannot be located, it was explained at Tuesday's meeting of the Floyd fiscal court.

According to County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones, "If we can't find a suitable landfill, we'll be right back where we started from—unable to get funding." The possibility of bringing the present county landfill on Middle Creek into compliance as a solution was all but dismissed by court members when it was reported that the Hill Engineering of Prestonsburg had told County Planner Bill Callihan that such a project would cost between $85-$100,000.

A representative of the Department of Natural Resources will be here Friday to inspect possible landfill sites and a concentrated search is being conducted to locate such areas throughout the county, according to Judge Jones. "I told Bill (Callihan) to find us something every day," she told the court.

The search for an adequate trash disposal site looks discouraging. Since state standards for landfills have been designed for "average" Kentucky terrain, apparently disregarding the narrow hollows and steep hills of this section, there is generally no flat area available that is far enough from a stream to comply. Magistrate Eddie Caudill added that "You can't get a sizeable tract of land in this country without having to buy the coal," thus making the cost often prohibitive.

Help from the Department of Natural Resources has been minimal according to the fiscal court's discussion and Judge Jones said the county had tried for months to obtain topographic maps to aid study of the area with no response from the department. "Our hands are tied," Judge Jones said.

Bid Opening Set April 20 On KY 80 Work

The state Transportation Department will open bids April 20 for work on sections of new KY 80 in Floyd and Knott counties.

The Floyd county project calls for grading, drainage and surfacing on 1.8 miles of KY 80 from KY 777 to near Right Fork of Beaver Creek, Gov. Carroll said. The April bid-letting also includes grading and drainage on a 5.3-mile section in Knott county, from the Floyd county line to three miles northeast of KY 1098.

Gov. Carroll said that after these two projects are awarded, only one section of KY 80 will remain to be placed under contract.

KY 80 and a number of other highway projects were initiated by Gov. Carroll under the resource recovery road program, which is financed with coal severance tax revenue.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. suggested that "KY 80 construction might open something up" and recommended that the county look closely at projected construction and any potential landfill sites which might result.

In other business conducted at the meet relating to trash disposal, the fiscal court voted to rescind a 1975 order requiring a service charge of $1.50 for individuals hauling their own trash to county-maintained dump areas. As a result of the action, there will be no charge for disposing of trash at county sites effective April 1.

The fiscal court, on the motion of Judge Jones, approved a resolution in support of a Wheelwright Coal Park and Museum which would be created with state funds. Judge Jones said she would carry the resolution to Frankfort to ask for support of the proposed attraction. "We may not have a shot at the money," she said, "but we need to try our best."

This Town...That World

IT'S WAR, MEN!
Since I am a fugitive from the Shirt Tail Gang—those who have to wear those peak-a-boo gowns in hospitals—I had thought to skip the column this week. But an emergency has arisen—yea, even is at hand—which demands a sounding of the tocsin.

The women are after the office of Poke Warden!

At hand is an anonymous letter declaring the fell plans of a secret committee to put the hand that rocks the cradle to ruling this part of the world—namely, the poke patch—that has been the recognized domain of men for generations.

Claiming that the office "is ours by inherent and inalienable right," they promise, like good politicians, to end the energy crisis by 1982, re-establish a sound balance of trade and get a $10 billion grant from Washington, among other things.

All this sounds as reasonable as most other proposals bounced around these days, and I would have hesitated to warn Watt Hale, Lenna Moore and other "male chauvinist pigs" of the imminent threat, had they not taken this pot-shot at us men. I quote:

"We dare no longer leave our polk (poke) patches in the hands of creatures who at the best of times cannot find pocket handkerchiefs for themselves and who invariably bring soda home from the grocery when salt was clearly marked that all might read..."

So—it's to the ramparts, men! The enemy is at the gates. And don't let me hear one craven soul say, "I surrender, dear."

Law Governs All Coal Excavation

The Division of Reclamation, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, has established the requirements that a surface mine permit must be applied for by any person excavating coal in the preparation of a building site for even a one-family home, State Representative James "Jitter" Allen said last week.

Allen, who is chairman of the legislative sub-committee on natural resources and environmental protection, said he will call another meeting of the sub-committee—possibly April 3—and that he expects the body to ask that one-family home sites be exempted. "People have a few rights left," he commented. "I don't know how long, but..."

State law provides that Division of Reclamation restrictions may not be more stringent than those imposed by federal law. The latter does not require a mining permit if the site is on a tract of two acres or less, or if no more than 250 tons of coal is excavated.

But, it is pointed out, this section of the federal statute applies only to sites for state and federal buildings.

Protest Causes Council Dilemma On New Program

For a time last week the U.S. Department of Labor's Job Corps Center proposed for Prestonsburg was on the way out before it ever arrived.

Responding to what was described as "vehement opposition to letting the Job Corps come in," the City Council went on record as opposing the location of the center here.

This action was followed by a reassessment of the situation, an informal meeting Saturday morning of the Council with members of the Prestonsburg Development Corporation—and, finally, Saturday evening, in the adoption of a resolution inviting the Job Corps. It won by the narrowest of margins—by a single vote.

Opposition stemmed, apparently, from the fear of townspeople that trainees, both black and white, might not be properly supervised and would create a problem.

This turn of events, however, came months after the Job Corps apparently had been accepted by the Council and after Governor Carroll had approved it. As a result of this earlier acceptance, the Labor Department had leased the U.S. Shoe Company building, across the Big Sandy from Lancer, for the Job Corps, and U.S. Shoe, in turn, had leased the "KAI" building in West Prestonsburg as its manufacturing site.

Meanwhile, U.S. Shoe had expended between $50,000 and $60,000 on repair of the long-vacant KAI structure.

"We made a commitment. If at all possible, we should honor it," Mayor Harold Cooley told Council members.

He later said the credibility of the city would be damaged if the commitment were not honored and that Prestonsburg would probably suffer loss of support when it sought future work projects. Cooley added that Congressman Carl D. Perkins was vitally interested in the Job Corps Center here, had personally endorsed it and said its benefits would far outweigh any liabilities.

The Mayor said he had called on federal authorities at Atlanta for their own commitments as to operation of the Job Center and its security features. "They assured him:

—That the Job Corps is a voluntary, not a punitive, program designed to train youths for a trade or trades—in the case of Prestonsburg, the building trades, including carpentry, plumbing, etc.

—That, hopefully, the trainees will be from Eastern Kentucky counties and would be about equally divided racially.

—That trainees will be under 24-hour, seven-days a-week supervision and control, and that if recreation is provided them outside the center they will be bused to and from the place of recreation and under supervision.

An early project at the center will be construction of a dormitory at an estimated cost of $1 million.

The center will employ 54 in supervisory capacities. Most of these will be residents of the area, officials here have been assured.

The first trainees are not expected to arrive before next January 1.

A raid last Friday by Sheriff Doug Lewis, and Deputies Randall Lewis, Phillip Neeley and Chuck Akers led to the arrest of Ottis Hall, Jr., on a charge of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale. Volunteer-Parent "Almost Like a Teacher" at Clark

As classrooms become increasingly crowded and the variety and complexity of teaching methods grow, so does the need for dedicated parent volunteers, especially in the elementary school. This fact was emphasized last week with the designation of National Parent Volunteer Week.

Clark Elementary near here enjoys the services of a number of hard-working parent volunteers, and among these, perhaps among all volunteers in the county, none are more diligent than Mrs. Eula Mae Hurd, of the Caney section of Middle Creek.

Clark Principal John K. Pitts, who praised the school's parent volunteers for playing a vital role in aiding teachers in the classroom, said he felt Mrs. Hurd should have special recognition.

"She comes early in the morning and stays all day—just like an employee," said Pitts, who also pointed out that the only days Mrs. Hurd had missed were due to family sickness.

Mrs. Hurd, the mother of a second grader and a senior in high school, started working at Clark two years ago at the suggestion of Clark faculty member Louise Howard who acts as unofficial coordinator for volunteer parents at the school. After a few days work, Mrs. Hurd realized the real need for volunteer work and she was hooked. "I really love it—I love working with the kids," Mrs. Hurd commented. In her daily work routine Mrs. Hurd contracts various teaching aids, duplicates material for teachers, instructs students in the use of educational devices, listens as children read aloud or give oral book reports, helps in grading tests, or as she says, "I just do whatever needs to be done."

Most of her energy is directed to work in the library or with students in grades 1-3. "I think the first three years in a child's school experience are the most important and feel that's where I'm most needed," Mrs. Hurd explained.

Louise Howard said "it is volunteers like Mrs. Hurd who allow the teachers to direct their attention more to the children." She said parent volunteers even painted the school's library and helped in building shelving. Describing Mrs. Hurd, she said, "She's almost like a teacher. She never stops."

Mr. Pitts stressed the importance of volunteer helpers like Mrs. Hurd and other Clark workers: "With a volunteer parent in the classroom you have maybe 30 pupils to two adults instead of 30 pupils to a single teacher—and that's an important difference."

Summing up her two years of work at Clark, Mrs. Hurd said, "I feel if more parents would see their child in the school situation, they would become more involved."

Mrs. Hurd helps a young Clark pupil with a reading exercise.

Young Speller Wins 4th Title

Tammie Arnett

Twelve-year-old Tammie Arnett is beyond dispute the best speller in the elementary schools of this county. The record supports that statement:

—In 1977 she won the Herald-Dispatch spelling bee in this county.

—In 1978 she repeated with the same spelling title.

—A few weeks ago, she won the KEA-sponsored bee in this county.

—And last Wednesday she won the 1979 bee sponsored by The Herald-Dispatch.

Her latest county spelling title was won in a spelldown held at Martin Elementary School where she competed with the top spellers from 13 other schools.

The bee lasted for 342 rounds.

The perennial titlist is a seventh-grade pupil at Clark Elementary School, near here, and is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Arnett, of Prestonsburg. Her teacher is Jack Music.

Runnerup was Rosetta Hamilton, 13-year-old eighth grader at Stumbo Elementary. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Hamilton, of Teaberry. Her teacher is Hayes Hamilton.

Rosetta Hamilton

Both winner and runnerup will represent Floyd county in the Tri-State bee to be held April 14 at Marshall University, Huntington, West, Virginia.

Other school champions who competed in last Wednesday's spelldown for county honors were:

Mary Hall, Allen Elementary; Myra Whitaker, Auxier; Missy Johnson, Betsy Layne; Tonya Bailey, Garrett; Kim Frye, Martin; Lavena Hall, Osborne; Rona Lawson, Prestonsburg; Jeff Craft, Wayland; Sherry Johnson, Bonanza; Coy David Samons, Prater; Martha Jane Morrison, Home Branch; Patsy Lewis, Daniel's Creek.

Director of the bee was Anna Sue Stumbo, supervisor, Floyd county schools; pronouncer, Philip Dings, director of pupil personnel; Judges: Blanche Dings, food service director, Roberta Davidson, supervisor, Audrey Gunnels and Pam Wolhford, reading teachers at the Martin Elementary School.

Americans buy some 2.5 billion pencils every year, the March Reader's Digest reports. When you consider that each seven-inch pencil can draw a line 35 miles long, write at least 45,000 words and survive 17 sharpenings—that's a lot of pencilwork!

As any sci-fi fan would have guessed, at the heart of the Internal Revenue Service operation is a "digital data processor" known as The Monster. According to the March Reader's Digest, The Monster inhabits a climate-controlled, 21,660-square-foot room and is attended by 357 humans. Magoffin Sheriff, Pattons Held Guilty in Protection Racket

Former Magoffin Sheriff Ben Patrick and his co-defendants, Lum and Linda Patton, of Royalton, were held guilty of conspiracy and extortion charges in U.S. district court at Catletsburg last Wednesday.

They were accused of being parties to a plot to collect money from bootleggers in exchange for protection. The two principal prosecution witnesses were Ralieg Barnett and Steve Wright, both formerly of Martin.

The jury found Patrick guilty on four of the six counts alleged against him. Lum Patton was held guilty on two counts and Linda Patton on one. It was said the penalty on each count could be as high as 20 years' imprisonment or a $10,000 fine, or both.

Federal Judge H. David Hermansdorfer set March 30 at 9 a.m. as the date for sentencing.

The trial proceedings, as briefed from the report published earlier in The Ashland Daily Independent, follows:

The testimony detailed many bootlegging and law enforcement activities in Magoffin county from 1974 to 1977, when Patrick was sheriff and the Pattons were transporting alcoholic beverages, mostly from Perry county, and delivering them to bootleggers for resale.

Testimony brought charges of illegal activities of other officials and citizens. County Judge Pro-Tem Walker Howard was accused of accepting payments to warn Barnett and Wright of impending raids. County Judge Earl Borders was said to have sometimes called the Pattons to home, giving them time to hide alcoholic beverages behind sliding wall panels before law officers could raid them. On a tape recording, Borders is heard stopping in at a bootlegger's house and picking up a pint of vodka. The names of possibly two dozen transporters and sellers were divulged during the trial.

In his closing argument Tuesday, U.S. Attorney Houlehan, of Lexington, defended the United States' use of bootleggers as primary witnesses.

"The government does not choose the witnesses. Ben Patrick chose the witnesses. He chose who he dealt with. Who better can tell you (the jury) about what went on?"

Houlehan asked the jury not to take a negative attitude about the government providing immunity to former Chief Deputy Ray Porter, former County Patrolman Doug Patton and former Jailer Colin Ray Jackson, in exchange for their testimony. Those three had little to gain from the scheme and only limited involvement in it, he said, but might have been risking prosecution on other charges had they testified without immunity.

Houlehan repudiated Lum Patton's testimony that he only let Barnett and Wright believe he had a scheme going with Sheriff Patrick in order to keep up his voluminous alcohol delivery business with them.

"There had to be more going on than just Lum Patton going around telling people things to keep their business," Houlehan said.

Louie B. Nunn, of Lexington, representing Patrick, used statistics about the number of bootleggers in the county, raids by the sheriff's deputies and fines paid in his appeal to the six-man, six-woman jury.

Nunn said there were 108 bootleggers in the county and that records show that deputies raided 40. "And it was said that to bootleg, you had to have the approval of Lum and Linda and Ben," Nunn scoffed.

Nunn claimed that Barnett and Wright were being raided even though they were supposedly paying off, and criticized the government's use of immunity. Nunn said Porter passed on the blame for the scheme without getting himself in trouble; Jackson admitted to lying on several occasions; and that Doug Patton took a payoff himself and will not be in trouble for it.

"If Ben Patrick should be criticized, then he should be criticized for some of his bad judgments," Nunn said.

Owen Doyle, of Paintsville, representing the Pattons, presented a brief appeal to the jury, saying, "I've heard of $400, $500, $600, $700, $800, $9-a-case and $8-a-case deals. With a $64 fine, you could be picked up 10 times a month, be making a $700 payoff, and still have $60 left over."

"Is it reasonable for a bootlegger to pay $700 a month when he could be better off if caught 10 times a month? I submit it is not," he said.

Doyle theorized that it is not reasonable to assume that the payoff deals would vary as much as indicated during the trial.

Both Nunn and Doyle said Barnett and Wright weren't worried about monetary loss if they didn't pay off, but were looking to bribe officers in order to make even more money.

U.S. Attorney Houlehan had the last words to the jury before Judge Hermansdorfer gave instructions, as is customary. Houlehan said the bootleggers did not fear fines, but the loss of loads of alcohol often valued at $1,000 each.

The Pattons will remain free on bond while Patrick is serving a two-year sentence in the Federal Correction Institution in Lexington on an unrelated conviction from West Virginia.

Wednesday's conviction had its foundation in the Hobbs Act, which concerns public officials using their office to obtain money not rightfully due them from an individual or company involved in interstate commerce.

When hearing of the case was resumed last Monday, Patrick and Mrs. Patton invoked their right not to testify. Lum Patton did testify, however, and he denied that he had ever:

—Had any deal with Sheriff Patrick or any other law enforcement officer to extort money from bootleggers in exchange for protection against county deputy raids.

—Had any sort of arrangement with Pro Tem Judge Walker Howard.

—Told Raleigh Barnett he was collecting extortion money for Patrick.

—Had a payment arrangement with former Chief Deputy and Ray Porter or tell him which bootleggers to raid or not raid.

—Went with law officers on any raid of other bootleggers.

—Had any means of getting raided alcohol back from law officers.

—Went around town bragging about arrangements with law officers.

Patton said he only let bootleggers Raleigh Barnett and Steve Wright, to whom he was delivering on and off, believe he had a deal with Sheriff Patrick in order to keep their high-volume business.

Patton said Barnett "did all the talking" and that "I didn't see anything wrong with letting him believe what he wanted to believe."

Another Sneak Attack

The dynamiting here last week of church property is one of a series of such incidents, and the disgraceful string of events will likely be continued unless the perpetrators are known and prosecuted.

This recent sneak attack was more than a threat to individuals in this case, a minister and his wife. It was an insult to a church and an expression of violent contempt for all the high ideals that church represents.

These things we write, knowing it suffices nothing to inveigh against the person or persons who committed this indecency. They are hidden in anonymity. Perhaps, then, we should write, simply to record our deep regret that this community harbors in one or a few individuals such a spirit of violence.

Filed in district court Tuesday by County Attorney Arnold Turner, who objected to the probation, was a response to the court's action in the Neeley case.

Turner's response stated that no written request or motion for probation had ever been made by the defendant or his counsel and that the County Attorney's office had never been advised as to consideration of probation. Turner objected that even though the judgment of conviction was entered by the court on January 17 "at no time has this Court ever directly communicated to the Commonwealth, through the County Attorney and/or Assistant County Attorney (Eric Hall), any possible consideration or intention to probate the defendant."

The response further stated that the County Attorney's office was not advised of an intended probation even though both Turner and Hall were "within reach of...the District Judge, if he had so desired."

The conclusion of Turner's response requests that "in future matters where probation is being considered for individuals who have been convicted by County Attorney prosecution through jury verdicts, that the court require the defendants to file a written motion for probation, that the County Attorney have an opportunity to respond, and all the same be given whatever weight the court may feel is justified before rendering any decisions of probation."

(At a hearing held Tuesday morning District Judge Stumbo ruled that in the future, no probation would be granted on jury verdict without a hearing and without comment of the Floyd County Attorney.)

SCOUTING COMES BACK TO WHEELWRIGHT

A group of scouting applicants met in the Wheelwright clubhouse on Monday night to bring life back to scouting in this area.

Former scoutmaster, Fred Salisbury, provided guidance and suggested stricter adherence to the community involvement concept of scouting.

Raymond Hall accepted temporary chairmanship of the group and will contact the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America. A representative of the council will be invited to assist in establishing the new Wheelwright troop.

Attending the meeting were Jerry Tackett, Rev. Bob Howard, Mike Tinder, Wesley Robertson, Robert Hall, II, George Nifong, Tony Rhea, Kenneth Hunter, Coleman Robertson, Scott Hines, Raymond Hall and Fred Salisbury.

Anyone interested in promoting this project should contact Raymond Hall at 452-2268.

Soil-Mapping of Entire State To Be Completed in 10 Years

By 1990 each square foot of Kentucky will be mapped according to a specific soil type. Thirty-six soil scientists in the state take samples and make maps and inventories of soil series, outlining the natural capabilities and limitations of the land.

"A soil scientist is trained to study soils in great detail," Bob Somers of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection's Division of Conservation said. "With increased concern over land use, additional persons trained in classifying soil and in interpreting response of soil under various uses will be greatly needed."

Several soil scientists from a survey party to cover and map one area of the state at a time. "Once a soil scientist gets out on the job it takes him about six months to identify the soils by himself without the supervision of a party leader," Somers said.

After about a year in the field, the soil scientist become an experienced mapper and can meet certain goals or quotas. "The goals will fluctuate with the terrain or region," Somers continued, "and average from 35,000 to 45,000 acres per year."

The eight soil scientists with Somers' department use two or three types of soil probes, a slope-measuring clinometer and an altimeter to map soil series. "By identifying soils," he said, "you're able to attain a better use of the land."

"Soils information may help a homebuyer or developer determine soil-related hazards or limitations that affect homesites," Somers said. "It may also help land use planners determine the suitability of areas for housing or on-site sewage disposal systems."

In recent years, soil mapping has been used to interpret the suitability of subdivision locations, sanitary landfills and surface mine reclamation. From as far back as 1930, however, soil mapping has proven to be an important tool for the farmer.

"I use a soil map constantly," said Richard Crutcher, an Anderson county farmer. "From that map I determine which land I will use for which crop. You can tell more about a piece of land by looking at a map than by walking around, looking at the land itself."

The work of soil scientists helps land owners get the best results from use of the land.

"A soil map is kind of like a financial statement. You know what you have to start with," Crutcher said. "Of all the governmental agencies, soil conservation has benefited me the most."

Opposes Annexation

On Feb. 28, 1979 Notice of a proposed ordinance to annex seven tracts of land surrounding Prestonsburg was posted in The Floyd County Times.

I am angry. I am not a property owner but according to the Constitution I am a citizen and I feel I should be offered the choice to annex or not annex.

I have the freedom of worship, speech, the right to bear arms, the right to vote and lately I have the right to be treated as a person no matter what my religion, age or sex. Must I be forced to live in the city limits when I have already chosen not to?

Must I pay additional taxes when I already feel I pay my share? Must I go to court to voice my opinion and the opinion of the majority of my neighbors. Do I have a voice in the matter without spending a great deal of time and money to be heard? Why must I make enemies of long time friends by saying I don't want or need the city? Must we have another Boston Tea Party to stop taxation without representation?

Stand up, shout and be heard. Let the officials of the city know how you feel. Call or write to these officials and voice your opinion. If you don't know who to call or write contact your friends and neighbors and ask.

We must be heard. Isn't federal, state and county governments enough to contend with? Voice your opinion and make your voice loud.

Must you pay more dollars to get more Federal Grants? We have given enough away. Must we give the control and the use of our land to others?

If you live outside the proposed area of incorporation you must also be heard. Remember that you may be next. Shout now before it is too late.

Opposes Gasoline Plan

The Blue Grass Auto Club (AAA), representing more than 60,000 members in Eastern Kentucky, is strongly opposed to the Department of Energy's (DOE) standby energy plan that would restrict weekly gasoline sales or impose a rationing system upon American motorists.

The DOE plan to curtail gas sales on weekends would severely affect long-distance travellers, would not save a significant amount of fuel and would cause great harm to Kentucky's tourism industry.

As far as the rationing plan is concerned, there seems to be little chance that such a plan will be implemented and even less chance of its working if tried. The Auto Club urges all motorists to take an active role in conserving energy so that the drastic measures proposed by the DOE will not be necessary.

By driving 55 m.p.h. and by keeping cars in proper tune, American motorists can save enough gas to see us through this difficult period.

Seeking Information

I would like to enquire of anyone that may have knowledge of Harrison Hall, born in 1845, died in 1931, who served in the Confederate Army. The Daughters of the Confederacy may have records, as well as the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), as his great-grandfather was Anthony Hall, born about 1762, and served in the American Revolution. I would appreciate it very much if anyone having information relative to Harrison Hall's military record would forward same to me at the address below.

Herbicides Banned By Federal Order

Pesticides dealers and applicators have been notified by the state Division of Hazardous Materials and Waste Management of a federal emergency suspension order for herbicides 2, 4, 5-T and Silvex.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency issued the ban March 1 after discovering new evidence linking the herbicides with miscarriages in women in the Alsea, Oregon area. In the order, the distribution, sale and use of all products containing 2, 4, 5-T and Silvex was immediately prohibited. The suspension also included all products containing mixtures of these herbicides with other active ingredients.

The letter issued by the state informed Kentucky dealers and applicators that the suspension is in effect until the order is rescinded or until the herbicides have been permanently cancelled.

It also stated that the cancellation process could take as long as two years and "in the meantime, EPA asks that the product be stored according to label directions in an out-of-the-way area."

Fourth Grader Plans Marathon Swing Session

Stephen Davis, Prestonsburg fourth grader announced this week he will swing (in a regulation sandlot swing, presumably) for 12 consecutive hours on April 6. It is not known whether this is meant to break any sort of Guinness-type records, but it will no doubt be a Floyd county first.

Urges Voter Interest

People of Floyd County, now that the asbestos problem at the Prestonsburg High School is no longer an issue, we must not sit back and think our work has been completed. There is much to be done for our schools.

The garbage is still on our school property, holes in the playgrounds and many other broken down inadequate facilities must be taken care of.

One of the ways we can improve our school system is to take a good hard look at our elected officials and decide whether they are representing our children's interest or their own self interests. An election year is upon us. Now is the time for people throughout the county to let our public officials know, through your vote, that you want our interests met, not the special interests of a select few.

We people in this county seem to forget that we do, by our vote, have power. That is a fact that should never be forgotten. The only reason the politicians are in office is because of our vote or our apathy. Hopefully, the next politician will not be in office because of apathy.

Take a good look at the candidates; ask them questions on school issues; decide for yourself if they are sincere, then use the power our forefathers gave us and vote.

Too Many Street Lights

To the people that live, work and pay taxes in the city of Prestonsburg.

Monday, March 16, 1979, I was driving along the top road of May Branch and I noticed the road was blocked by a group of construction workers erecting street lights. I stopped the car, walked over to the men and asked, "Who is paying for the street lights?" One man would not answer. Another said, "I believe the city of Prestonsburg is, because that's what the work order says." I got mad because the lights are above College Heights Estates. Before the workers started, College Heights Estates had eight street lights. Now it has 22 street lights. Obviously new street lights were not needed. The lights are a waste of tax money and a waste of energy. Also the street lights are very ugly to look upon.

Mixed-up Priorities?

I was sitting on my porch steps last Wednesday when this truck stops. The driver jumps out, comes in my yard (or what I considered to be my yard) with a rake and tears this sign off a tree that been there two or three years. He didn't explain so I asked why and he said the state told him to. That really put me to thinking. How could the state take the taxpayer's money and hire someone to do such a thing with ditches so filled up with trash and garbage that water runs across roads or anywhere it can?

What has happened to our freedom? When we can't hang a sign in our front yard things are looking bad. Hang in there, Betty Lafferty!

Asbestos in New Jersey

I would like to thank this newspaper for publishing my last letter at the request of Mr. Ray Brackett. It provided the people of Prestonsburg (PBS) the opportunity to set me (Concerned Parents Against Asbestos) straight! CPAA was shocked beyond words when we heard the ENTIRE story of PBS. All these months (since August 1978) we thought we were the only parents in this country facing the agony of asbestos in our schools. Little did we know...

Although the asbestos problems in Prestonsburg differ greatly from ours here in Cinnaminson, New Jersey, we were utterly amazed to hear of PBS's difficulties and frustrations in attempting to remedy the problem. We are going through the same thing.

In the fall of 1978, our group called in the N.J. Dept. of Health and the Dept. of Environmental Protection who recommended total removal of the asbestos in three of our schools. We foolishly thought we had won our battle! Our school officials then chose to disregard this, as it was only a recommendation and not mandatory (our state agencies tell us they have no power to enforce). Finally, the district called in Dr. Robert Sawyer 3 1/2 weeks ago. (Our school board would not permit a representative from our group to meet with him.) We are now awaiting Dr. Sawyer's report. But...will our officials act upon his report? We don't know.

The EPA has "reasoned that school boards are a more responsible segment of society, one for which control regulations are unnecessary." CPAA says, "If Prestonsburg, Kentucky and Cinnaminson, New Jersey are any indication of what is transpiring nationwide, then the EPA and their voluntary program should go back to the drawing board!"

In closing, I would like to thank Mrs. Joyce Everly and all PBS members for their encouragement and support. And a special thanks to Mr. Brackett and Mr. Grigsby--without whom CPAA and PBS would never have "met!"

Says Empty Hospital Beds Result of Wrong Placement

A health care planner says that it is not for lack of patients that many hospital beds are empty in central and eastern Kentucky.

"We have the number of beds we need—they're just in the wrong places," Tony Goetz, director of the East Kentucky Health Systems Agency, said.

The agency oversees and does long-range health care planning for 57 hospitals in a 68-county area.

The federal government recommends there be four hospital beds per 1,000 population. In the area covered by EKHS, there are just slightly more than four beds per 1,000, Goetz said.

Yet at least 29 of the 57 hospitals have too many empty beds, he said. Some have yearly occupancy rates that are less than half what they should be. The result is that many are in financial trouble, he said.

One or two may soon be forced to close, and other closings may follow, Goetz said.

Among reasons for the large number of empty beds are that many small eastern and central Kentucky hospitals lack expensive, sophisticated medical equipment needed for treatment of certain illnesses and injuries. They don't have the patients to justify the cost of such equipment.

As a result, those patients travel to large hospitals in Lexington or other states, he said, and Lexington hospitals are operating at their expected capacity, Goetz said.

Another reason for empty beds is that many of the smaller hospitals are located too close to one another.

There is also the problem of beds approved for a particular use which cannot be shifted to other uses. For example, a hospital cannot put a heart attack victim into a pediatric bed, or a man with psychiatric problems into a maternity ward, he said.

Goetz said the federal government may be to blame for the large number of limited service hospitals in the area, because it provided funds for building many of them in the 1950s and 60s.

Goetz said the funds should have been used for building fewer but larger hospitals in central locations.

Labor Department Sets Black Lung Meetings

The U.S. Department of Labor will conduct two public meetings in Eastern Kentucky on April 7, to provide information about the black lung program to coal miners, their families and survivors, according to Assistant Secretary for Employment Standards Donald Elisburg.

An 8:30 a.m. meeting will be held at the Perry county courthouse, and the 1:30 p.m. meeting will be at the Jenkins High school gymnasium.

At each meeting Labor Department officials will discuss eligibility for black lung benefits, claims procedures, evidence requirements, appeals processes and the roles of the different offices involved in administering the program.

Cairo, with a metropolitan population of at least six million, is the largest city in Africa, the April Reader's Digest reports.

Artist Series Set at Park

Artists and art lovers have enjoyed a winter weekend at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park near Prestonsburg and they have gathered at Lake Barkley State Resort Park near Cadiz in the in-between season. Now comes the annual spring schedule of artists at Natural Bridge State Resort Park, near Slade.

The spring shows at the park focus on individual artists rather than several and emphasize exhibits of paintings rather than workshops. However, some of those who will display their works will also paint on the spot.

The first artist in the series will be Don Ensor, of Louisville, who will show originals and prints April 1. As an indication of the many forms of art, Roberta Fugate, of Rough River Dam State Resort Park, will appear at Natural Bridge April 8, and not with paintings but with a book of poetry and short stories, "Many Faces of Liza."

Others scheduled are: April 15, Easter Sunday, Al Cornett, who will exhibit landscapes; April 22, Iva Daniels, of Clay City, flowers; April 29,

Brett Johnson, of Lexington, mixed subjects; May 5, Dan Short, of Berea, who will show birds, butterflies and wildflowers; May 6, Russell May, of Prestonsburg, who will show and paint landscapes; May 13, Mother's Day, Helen Price Stacy of West Liberty, who will show flowers and landscapes; May 20, Nellie Meadows, of Clay City, will exhibit with Jewell Baker of Stanton. Meadows will show wildflowers and other subjects, and Baker will demonstrate framing of paintings and prints. All exhibits will be in the lobby at Hemlock Lodge. Saturday shows will be from 10 a.m. till 6 p.m. and Sunday exhibits from 1 p.m. till 4 p.m.

The park's nature center in the activities building near the lodge will be open. On display here are individual exhibits of iron, timber and railroad industries that once thrived in the area. Some snakes and other wildlife will be available for viewing, and some snakes for handling. Collections of antiques and other materials pertinent to the Natural Bridge, Red River and Daniel Boone Forest region are on permanent exhibit.

The spring artist series is scheduled at a time when families revel in the outdoors, when anglers are trying their luck in the park lake or in the middle fork of Red River and maybe in nearby Swift Creek and the main Red River channel. There will be wildflowers to see and identify and trails to hike.

Park campgrounds are located in beautiful woodland settings with creeks to wade or sit beside. There are spacious picnic areas and historic landmarks.

"It's How Pretty You Are Inside..."

(Reprinted below is an article from the Detroit Free Press on Charlotte Carr, five-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Goble, of Prestonsburg.)

By LAURA BERMAN
Free Press Staff Writer

Opening her already huge eyes even wider and flashing her much-celebrated Charlotte Carr smile, the recipient of 119 trophies for beauty, poise and baton-twirling rattled off the names of the contests she has won, the states in which they were won, and choice details about some of her more important titles.

"The only thing is," sighs five-year-old Charlotte Carr, recently crowned "America's Most Beautiful Miniature Majorette" among honors, "my dad broke two of them. And I broke one."

"She has been to California, North Carolina, Ohio and West Virginia; she did a stage show in Kentucky; she has twirled in Illinois," says Teresa Carr, the mother of the beauty queen.

"And Tennessee. And Hawaii," adds Charlotte, impatiently, and just before whispering to her mother: "I thought you were going to let me do all the talking."

Charlotte, who has racked up all her awards in the last year and a half, cites her latest ambition—to become a movie star. Her agent in California called just last week to see if Charlotte might be able to audition for the Shirley Temple role in the remake of "Little Miss Marker." It turned out she needed to be six years old by March, and her birthday isn't until May. "There will be other chances," her mother told her.

And in the meantime, there's an upcoming TV appearance with Soupy Sales for a telethon. Charlotte, who lives in a yellow frame house on the rural fringes of Ypsilanti, does a lot of charity work.

"We don't push her to do any of these things," Mrs. Carr said. "It's always her idea to learn something new—she'll see the other girls in a pageant try something, and she'll want to learn it too. I never tell her to practice, she just does."

Charlotte, who had her hair freshly curled and tied with a satin ribbon and who was wearing a pink knit ensemble and a tiny bit of blue eyeshadow to set off her eyes, nodded. "I want to be a champion," is what she said.

"My Papa (her grandfather) says, I'm better than Shirley Temple," is all Charlotte says, with a radiant smile and a toss of her curls. She isn't discouraged easily.

"She has learned that you can't win all the time," said Mrs. Carr.

And Charlotte, picking up her cue, flashed that glorious smile of hers. "It's not how pretty you are on the outside," she said. "It's how pretty you are inside."

BUDDING ROMANCE and a good pocketknife undoubtedly resulted in the initials of long-ago sweethearts which decorate this fine old tree.

Toys Banned As Dangerous

Three more toys that contain hazardous levels of lead have been found in Kentucky, Peter Conn, secretary of the Department for Human Resources, says.

The three toys, in addition to four discovered earlier this year, have been banned from sale in Kentucky, Conn said. All of the banned toys are mobiles for use in infant's cribs.

"The paint on some of these mobiles contained as much as 8.4 percent lead," Conn said. Federal law allows a maximum of .06 percent lead in paint used on children's toys.

The banned toys were discovered in a continuous inspection program operated by the department's consumer product safety branch. They are sold under seven different names: Butterfly Mobile, Birdee Mobile, Honey Bees Mobile, Cradle Birds Mobile, Cradle Butterfly Mobile, Cradle Bees Mobile and "Little Majestic" Cradle Mobile.

All of these toys have been confiscated and are being held in quarantine or being destroyed, Conn said.

"We have notified the Consumer Product Safety Commission of our findings," he added. "The CPSC has verified our findings of dangerous levels of lead in the first four toys. We believe they also will verify our latest findings and require the manufacturers to recall these mobiles nationwide."

The crib mobiles can cause lead poisoning only if the paint on them is consumed, Conn said. This can happen when infants or toddlers chew on the mobiles.

All of these toys were made in Hong Kong, added Conn.

Any consumer wanting more information about toy safety should contact the Department for Human Resources Consumer Product Safety Branch, 275 E. Main Street, Frankfort, Ky. 40621. The telephone number is (502) 564-3127.

Better Government Not Bigger Government

The United States of America was founded because our ancestors thought that the English government was not responsive to their needs and concerns. It was the idea of our ancestors that if we created a government "by the people, of the people and for the people" we stood a better chance of having our concerns become the concerns of government. It was thought that if we created a government which was closer to the people, it would be a better government.

Lately, the actions of government has caused some of our people to question whether or not the government is working for us. It seems that government talks one game and plays another. Even though our people constantly express their concerns to our government, it seems no action is taken. Let's look at some issues:

GOVERNMENT ACTION

1. Government has issued over 4,164 regulations for the coal industry.
2. The health care industry is the most regulated industry in America making it extremely difficult for private practitioners to practice.
3. Severance tax money is spent on a Jefferson County Parkway.
4. The people who suffer most from runaway inflation are the elderly.
5. Government regulations make over 75 percent of the land in East Kentucky ineligible for use as a land fill.
6. There are so many government regulations that small, volunteer ambulance services have difficulty operating.

GOVERNMENT TALK

1. We need to double coal production.
2. East Kentucky needs additional physicians and dentists.
3. East Kentucky needs more roads.
4. We need programs for the elderly.
5. We need a garbage disposal system.
6. East Kentucky needs an emergency ambulance system.

The above are only a few points that cause our citizens to question whether government is actually working for them. Government's answer to our concerns has often been to pass additional regulations and spend more money. We have reached a point where government is actually hindering rather than helping our people. This is not the way our ancestors meant government to be.

Benny Ray Bailey firmly believes that what we need is BETTER GOVERNMENT NOT BIGGER GOVERNMENT. The bureaucracy has governed our lives for too long. We need to take a hard look at government regulations and decide which are needed and which need to be done away with. We need someone in the State Senate who has proven by his past accomplishments that he will work for our people. That man is Benny Ray Bailey. Let's elect Benny Ray to the State Senate. It's a vote for the future of our area.

Wilkerson Crusade
 To Feature Holm

Dallas Holm takes a personal interest in youngsters who have turned to drugs—he almost ended up there himself. The youthful singer is a former member of a rock group. "It was a lot of money and fun, and it took a long time before I realized I wasn't ever going to accomplish anything."
 "I was raised in a Christian home and went to church, but somehow all that got lost in the shuffle. One day my pastor told me to take an honest look at myself, and I didn't like what I saw. It was then that I made a commitment of my life to Christ." After leaving the rock group, Holm went to college to prepare for the ministry. He began traveling to sing and give his story in churches and schools. Soon he was invited to join the staff of a large church as minister to youth. It was at this church that Dallas was approached to join the David Wilkerson Crusades as crusade soloist. "At first I wasn't sure. I liked what I was doing, but the whole thing sounded very exciting."
 One of his most memorable moments working with the Wilkerson group was in a ghetto area of New York City. "I went down in the district with just my guitar. The kind of kids that hang around the streets there can spot a phoney a mile away. I just started singing and soon I had a whole group following me. During one song a kid ran out of a store across the street—he had just held up the store. I kept singing and they kept listening."
 Holm is a very special part of the Wilkerson Crusade and his singing is much respected among the young people with which he works. "I am very happy with the work I am in now; God gave me this talent and I want to use it to serve Him."
 Holm will be appearing with the David Wilkerson Crusade here April 19 and 20 at Prestonsburg High School gym at 7:30 p.m.

By HELEN PRICE STACY
Perhaps it is true that many Scotch-Irish in Kentucky are not so much Irish and Scottish as they are English. In 1611 King James I of England sent a population from northern England and Scotland to Ireland, in an effort to make a strong Protestant settlement. By 1650 about 3,000 were living in Ulster.

In 1698, England passed laws that hindered the Irish linen and woolen factories and imposed severe limitations on church and school.

In one week in 1727, six shiploads of Scotch-Irish landed in America and soon thousands had sailed the treacherous seas to reach the New World. Some settled in Philadelphia, Charleston and other ports, some pushed on, and of those who traveled on some found their way into the rugged Cumberland. From Ulster came a people who pioneered in Kentucky and Tennessee, and by 1782 4,000 of them called Kentucky home.

James McElhane was listed in Bath county in 1840 as a soldier of the Revolutionary War and Thomas Lewis was listed in Morgan. The Lewises are traced to Wales, but the family roots began on the Isle of Lewis off the coast of Scotland.

By 1773 the McAfees were in Kentucky. James, Robert and George McAfee were surveyors where Frankfort stands and traveled in many areas of the state before returning to Virginia. They surveyed around Harrodsburg and traveled part time with James Harrod.

In Pike county, Slater's Branch is named for the family whose ancestor James Slater came from Dublin and settled in Tazewell County, Va.

James McBride traveled down the Ohio River in a canoe in 1754 and carved his initials on a tree at the mouth of the Kentucky.

Joseph Bevins was born in Belfast in 1751. By 1803 he was in Pike county with his wife, Mary Annie Noblett. He and his descendants did much to settle the Big Sandy Valley.

Joseph McMurtry helped build the Pactolus iron furnace in Carter county in 1824. They shipped their three-ton daily capacity of iron ore on the Ohio River.

A log cabin on the Thomas McCall farm in Anderson county became the site for a Presbyterian church in 1827. By 1805 the McClure and Kennedy families were settled in cabins in Grant county; William McConnell was among those who brought the first horses and cattle into Lewis county and northern Kentucky; McCracken county was named for Capt. Virgil McCracken of Woodford county who died at the River Raisin near Detroit during the War of 1812; eight McFadin (McFadden) brothers from North Carolina fought in the Revolutionary War, five of them coming to Kentucky, and one of them, Andrew, built McFadin's Station in Warren County in 1785; James Doherty, son of Cornelius (who was born in Ireland) and Mary Hill Doherty, came to Kentucky with Daniel Boone.

Edward McShane, a soldier of the Revolution, was an early minister of Indian Creek Baptist Church, constituted in 1790 in Harrison county; in 1809, in Boyle county, Dr. Ephraim McDowell performed the first successful operation for removal of an ovarian tumor; his patient was Jane Todd Crawford of Green County; in 1813, Dr. Charles McCreey performed the first successful removal of an entire collarbone, the patient a 14-year-old youth.

What would Kentucky be without contributions made by the Scotch-Irish and what would it be without historical contributions of Germans, Britons, Africans, French and other nationalities? In days of early settlement, ships carried thousands of persons from many countries who eventually would make their way across mountains and through gaps to make Kentucky history.

CARD OF THANKS
We, the family of Mrs. Laura Prater, thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for the flowers, food and all your kind words of comfort: the ministers, James Duff and Edgar Dotson, pastor of the Garrett Church of God, for the use of the church; Robert McCullough, for making the trip from LaGrange, Ohio, to help conduct the funeral; and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their kind and efficient work.

Highways Official To Visit Little Mud

By RON MARSTIN
Otto Ingram, state deputy transportation commissioner, told a delegation of Little Mud Creek residents who met with him in Frankfort on Monday that he would personally assess the condition of their roads. Thursday, April 5, was set as the date of the inspection.

The delegation was made up of seven Little Mud residents, including two mine operators, who presented Ingram with a petition bearing 456 signatures. The group was accompanied by State Representative James "Jitter" Allen, State Senator Jim Hammond, District Four Magistrate Hershell Hamilton, and Floyd County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. The Frankfort meeting climaxed a series of local meetings in which area residents complained of badly deteriorated roads, hazardous curves, and children walking to school through mud and water.

The group asked that KY 2030, which serves Little Mud Creek, be ditched, drained, and resurfaced, for a distance of about three miles beginning at Sammy Clark Branch. They also asked that four sharp curves on the state road be straightened out. They added recommendations to the county that the county road from Trace Branch to the head of Little Mud Creek and the Big Branch road be repaired and maintained.

Commissioner Ingram estimated the cost of upgrading the state road to be close to a quarter of a million dollars, a sum which would by itself almost wipe out the county's share of the rural secondary roads fund and the county road aid fund. Ingram told the group that he would inspect the road with a view to recommending an allocation from the general highways fund.

At one point in Monday's meeting, Ingram suggested to Emmett Lawson, one of the delegates and a Little Mud mine operator, that the five operators who mine the hollow share with the state the cost of upgrading the road. If the operators set down a bed of rock to state specifications, he suggested, the state would do the blacktopping. Lawson said he did not think the operators would agree to the arrangement. Lawson and other operators have complained that they are expected both to pay taxes to the state for road maintenance and also to maintain the roads themselves.

The question of coal industry responsibility for the condition of the roads is not likely to receive a sympathetic hearing on Little Mud Creek, as Senator Hammond and Representative Allen discovered when they raised the issue last Friday at a meeting of 60 local residents at the Spruce Pine school. "What is tearing up your roads," Hammond asked a woman in the audience, "your family car or the coal trucks?" "My son drives a truck," came the reply, "and I'm not going to put the blame anywhere."

Janice Pullium, who has organized the roads protest and whose brothers operate a deep mine on Morgan Fork, estimates that 490 percent of the working men of Little Mud are employed by the coal industry. "We owe all we have to the industry," she says. "Before the operators came, there was nothing here. The only jobs were in Ohio."

Mrs. Pullium said she felt confident that something would be accomplished by the Frankfort visit. Magistrate Hamilton agreed. "This trip will pay for itself," he said, adding, "At least we have gone right to the top." Other delegates attending the meeting were Eula Hall, Astor Hall, Tommy Kidd, Lemuel Meade, and Caner Hunter.

New Bell System Ready Here

Bob Goble, South Central Bell switching equipment technician, types instructions into the ESS computer to test customer lines to make sure they are in working order.

The switching system will make several new optional features available to telephone users in the 886 exchange. These features include automatic transferring of calls from one telephone to another, putting a caller on hold while answering a second call, adding a third party to a call and dialing of a frequently called number with a two- or three-digit code.

When telephone subscribers in Prestonsburg awaken Saturday March 31, they'll have the most advanced and efficient telephone system available, an Electronic Switching System (ESS).

In the early hours of Saturday morning, South Central Bell technicians will complete the last steps necessary to activate the new $2.47 million central office. The ESS will bring improved service to Prestonsburg telephone users, said Phill Scott, local Bell manager.

While the new switching system will be a great advance over that previously in operation, Scott said that he anticipates a rash of service calls in the first few days of operation. First, the new dial tone is so much softer, many people may assume something is wrong with their phone. Secondly, those in the Prestonsburg area may experience some agitation because under the new system, all seven digits must be dialed. For example, they must now dial 886- and the next four numbers rather than 6- as in the past.

The ESS is an electronic central office that uses the newest technology available. As a central office, the ESS is the center of the telephone system, routing calls to the numbers dialed. It operates like a computer, using solid-state equipment.

"The ESS has several advantages over Prestonsburg's present central office," Scott said. "It requires less space and less maintenance than the system we now have. And a primary advantage of this new generation of telephone equipment is that it will keep down the cost of providing service, and it will also help us keep up with telephone growth here," he said.

Telephone users will notice some changes with this new telephone equipment; the dial tone will be softer. You will have to dial ALL seven digits of a telephone number, and if you're on a two-party line, you'll have a new method for dialing the other party.

The new electronic central office will ensure residents of continued good telephone service while making available several modern optional services including automatic transferring of calls from one telephone to another; putting a caller on hold while answering a second call; adding a third party to a call, and dialing of a frequently called number with a two- or three-digit code.

Scott said the ESS will also make Touch-Tone service available to customers in the 886 exchange.

Songwriters say it's "raining violets" in the springtime. According to the April Reader's Digest, other names for rain vary depending on geography. Here are a few: dam-buster (Alabama), leak-finder (Wisconsin), stump-washer (South Carolina) and tree-bender (Massachusetts).

Last year U.S. taxpayers footed a nearly $50 million postage bill for their senators and representatives, the March Reader's Digest reveals. This franking privilege is one of the many taxpayer-supplied tools that help keep incumbent legislators in office, the magazine reports.

Selections of nuptial music were presented by Mr. Steve Porter.

The linen draped altar was flanked by white and gold footed baskets holding yellow rosebuds and blue carnations with greenery entwined around the church baptistry and candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white dacron-polyester organza over imported silk slipper satin fashioned with a semi-empire waist, fitted bodice and a yoke of French Chantilly lace over inserts of organza with matching lace mandarin collar. The wrist-length lace sleeves were edged with a double ruffle over her hands, accentuating the straight trumpet sleeves. Her apron skirt was trimmed with matching lace from the waist to a deep ruffle of organza with the lace extending from the center back into a full chapel train. The mid-length veil of illusion was fashioned of flowing imported French net and was held in place by a Queen Anne cap of Chantilly lace and pearls with a matching waist-length, untrimmed net blusher. The bride carried a nosegay of yellow and blue rosebuds with white and blue carnations and baby's breath tied with lace streamers.

Mrs. Nova Hammons, sister of the groom was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of blue polyester with empire waistline and matching floor-length cape, and she carried a nosegay of yellow and white rosebuds with blue carnations edged with lace and with lace streamers.

Mr. Winston Dillon, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man, and ushers were Joe Hammons, brother-in-law of the groom, and Randy Porter.

Miss Kimberly Jane Daniels, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Peter B. Hayes was ringbearer.

Mrs. Larry Daniels presided at the guest register.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. Assisting were Mrs. Clifford B. Latta, III, Mrs. Mark Stephens, Jr., Mrs. Adrian Lafferty, Mrs. Parley Hunter, Mrs. Walter Snavely, Mrs. Donald Chaffin, Mrs. Paul Osborne.

After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Gray are now residing in Prestonsburg.

Blackcat Aluminum Can Drive Picking Up

The Prestonsburg High School football team has begun its aluminum can collection drive for recycling purposes in order to help send the gridders to football camp. Head Football Coach Philip Haywood said the response from businesses and citizens of the community has been good. He said, "We thank everyone, but keep the cans coming as we're still a ways from our goal." The Blackcats have asked that everyone save their aluminum cans, then call Coach Haywood, Coach Burchett, or any member of the team and someone will come and pick them up. Anyone knowing of any scrap aluminum or a large deposit of cans are also asked to call. The Cats plan to continue their drive until the end of the school year.

A STATEMENT FROM JERRY LAFFERTY, JR.

As we begin this campaign for County Judge-Executive, I want to voice my support for a united Democratic party and a united Floyd County people. It has been said a journey of one thousand miles must begin with a single step. When I am elected your County Judge-Executive, I will take that first step to help bring our people together again. I will work in harmony with all of our elected officials to promote progress for our county. I will not use my office to support or oppose any other Democratic candidate for public office. We as Democrats need to concentrate on the many assets that unite us, instead of belaboring the few problems that some would divide us.

Since I believe you need and desire to meet all your candidates for public office, I plan to campaign full time, meeting as many of you as possible prior to the election. I urge you to ask your neighbors and friends about me. Then I believe you will decide to vote for me for County Judge-Executive.

Your Friend,
JERRY LAFFERTY, JR.

Budget Upped For Coal Study

Efforts to increase federal funding for coal research and development has cleared a major hurdle as the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, at the urging of Sen. Wendell Ford (D-Ky), said it supports substantial spending increases over what the Administration proposed.

In a March 15 report to the Senate Budget Committee on preliminary spending levels, the Energy Committee indicated it contemplates increased funding for a number of coal-related synthetic fuel initiatives, including construction of two solvent-refined coal projects and a second high-Btu gasification demonstration facility.

The committee recommended a spending ceiling of $895 million for fossil fuels research—an increase of $150 million over what the President's fiscal year 1980 budget requested.

"This is a clear indication that our committee recognizes coal must play a more important role in our national energy strategy," Ford said. "The potential many of these synthetic fuel technologies have for reducing our dependence on imported oil and natural gas is a well-known fact, but they will never be brought on line commercially until full Federal support is assured."

The committee report on preliminary budget estimates anticipates $59 million for the SRC I project which would be located in Western Kentucky and $45 million for construction of a SRC II facility, scheduled to be located in West Virginia. An additional $16 million in operating funds for both plants was also included. The Administration had proposed that both projects be funded through the preliminary design phase, with a decision to be made later this year on which one would be funded through completion.

EAST POINT CLUB MEETS

The East Point Homemakers Club met March 20, at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Arnita Snavelly. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Snavelly in the absence of the president and vice-president. Dues were collected from three members for the coming year.

A discussion of the Share Ourselves Project, doing volunteer work at the hospital, was held. Two more members have volunteered to help besides the three others who are already working. Each member present donated $1 to the ovarian cancer research.

Members gave lesson suggestions to Frances Pitts for the coming year. The door prize was won by Elsie Leake. Refreshments were served to Della Snavelly, Elvie Spradlin, Elsie Leake, Martha Leake, Frances Pitts, Dorothy Harris, Letha Kendrick and Leslie by hostess Arnita Snavelly.

ANTI-ANNEXATION MEET SET FRIDAY

Floyd Couple Wins $52,000 Judgement For Coal Haulage

A Floyd county couple last week won in the Magoffin circuit court a judgment of $52,000 for coal hauled over approximately 390 feet of their land at the mouth of Bull Creek, a tributary of the Licking River.

The jury awarded the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hicks, of Pyramid, 10 cents a ton haulage fees. It was the first time in Magoffin that such a case has been reduced to a per-ton fee, their attorney, Jarvis Allen, said. Heretofore, such cases have been decided on the basis of damages.

The defendant, Middle States Coal Co., contended that it used the county road, not the Hicks land, but testimony offered by the plaintiffs showed that a new road or haulway around the hill, above the county road, was used.

The 10-cents-per-ton verdict applies to coal hauled by the company till February 28. The charge for hauling after that date is negotiable.

Miss Reynolds is fourteen and a freshman at Betsy Layne High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reynolds, Jr., of Allen.

Tax Returns Must Show Correct Filing Status

Filing Status

Your filing status, indicated by checking the appropriate numbered box on the face of the tax return, is important. It determines which tax table you should use to find the correct tax rate.

The choices of filing status are: single; married filing a joint return; married filing separately; unmarried head of household; or qualifying widow or widower with a dependent child. These choices are easy to determine, but certain rules govern qualifications for each status.

Single. All taxpayers who do not qualify in another filing status must file as single.

Married Taxpayers. You are considered married for the entire year if on the last day of the tax year one of the following categories applies:

- married and living as husband and wife;
 - living together under common law marriage in a state where the common law marriage is recognized;
 - married and living apart but not legally separated under a final decree of divorce or separate maintenance;
 - separated under an interlocutory divorce decree;
 - if either spouse died during the year, the surviving spouse is considered married for the entire year.
- Some married persons can file as single or as unmarried head of household instead of using the rules for married filing separately. Thus, if one spouse itemizes deductions, it isn't necessary for the other to itemize.
- Although married, you may file as a single person if all of the following tests are met:
- you file a separate return;
 - you paid more than half the cost of maintaining your home for the tax year;
 - your spouse did not live in your home at any time during the tax year;

- for more than six months of the tax year, your home was the principal residence of your child or stepchild whom you can claim as a dependent.

In another situation, you may file as head of household and, although married, check unmarried head of household as your filing status if your home was the principal residence for your child or stepchild for the entire tax year.

Although married, you and your spouse may elect to file jointly or separately. The tax may be lower if you file a joint return, because the tax computation for it splits the joint income reported and uses a lower tax rate. A joint return must include all income, exemptions and deductions of both spouses. Both must use the same accounting period but may use different accounting methods. The husband and wife must sign a joint return.

When each spouse had income, they may file separate returns instead of a joint return. Each should report only their own income, exemptions and deductions on the individual return. When each spouse files a separate return and one itemizes deductions, the other must also itemize.

If both spouses earned income during the tax year, compute the taxes on a joint return and on separate returns to determine which method produces the lower tax.

Head of Household. You can file in this status, and compute the tax using the special Tax Rate Schedule Z or Tax Table D, if you meet all of the following requirements:

- you were married on the last day of the tax year;
- you maintained a household and contributed over half the cost of maintaining it;
- your household was the principal resi-

The Rush to Rewrite Our Constitution

By DAVID COHEN

The Constitution is America's basic document. We have a responsibility to treat it with care for it serves us well. It enables the majority to govern while it protects minorities against abuses of government power. It fixes responsibility with elected officials to fashion specific remedies that correct citizens' major grievances.

The move currently underway in the states calling for a constitutional convention to require a federal balanced budget has to be taken seriously. I worry that the care that should be taken in proposing constitutional amendments has been shunted aside. Any constitutional change deserves extensive public discussion and deliberation.

Twenty-eight state legislatures have called for such a convention and research by Common Cause on the first twenty-one petitions shows how seriously flawed the process has been. Instead of orderly deliberation with open hearings, public discussion and recorded committee votes, in fact, only six states issued committee reports explaining the proposed action; only six states held public hearings; and in two states no committee even considered the petition before the legislatures raced passage through.

Congress, state legislatures and citizens should be convinced, beyond a reasonable doubt, of the necessity of an amendment rather than cater to the passions of the day. As President Lincoln, in speaking about "the general proposition of amending the Constitution," said:

"As a general rule, I think we would much better let it alone. No slight occasion should tempt us to touch it. Better not take the first step, which may lead to a habit of altering it..."

David Cohen is President of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizens' lobby.

For the call to a constitutional convention to get this far tells us that our representative institutions have ignored people's concerns. The drive is capturing a deep-seated public anger about government's failure to provide good value for hard-earned tax dollars. It gives citizens the chance to vent their anger about paying for the costs of an ever-growing federal bureaucracy.

Elected officials had better heed the message that our tax dollars have to be carefully spent on important public needs; that unresponsive bureaucracies have to change their bad habits; and that waste in government has to be eliminated. But rather than rushing for simplistic solutions, they must do what is expected of elected officials—face up to our problems. We've faced crises before without having to rewrite the Constitution.

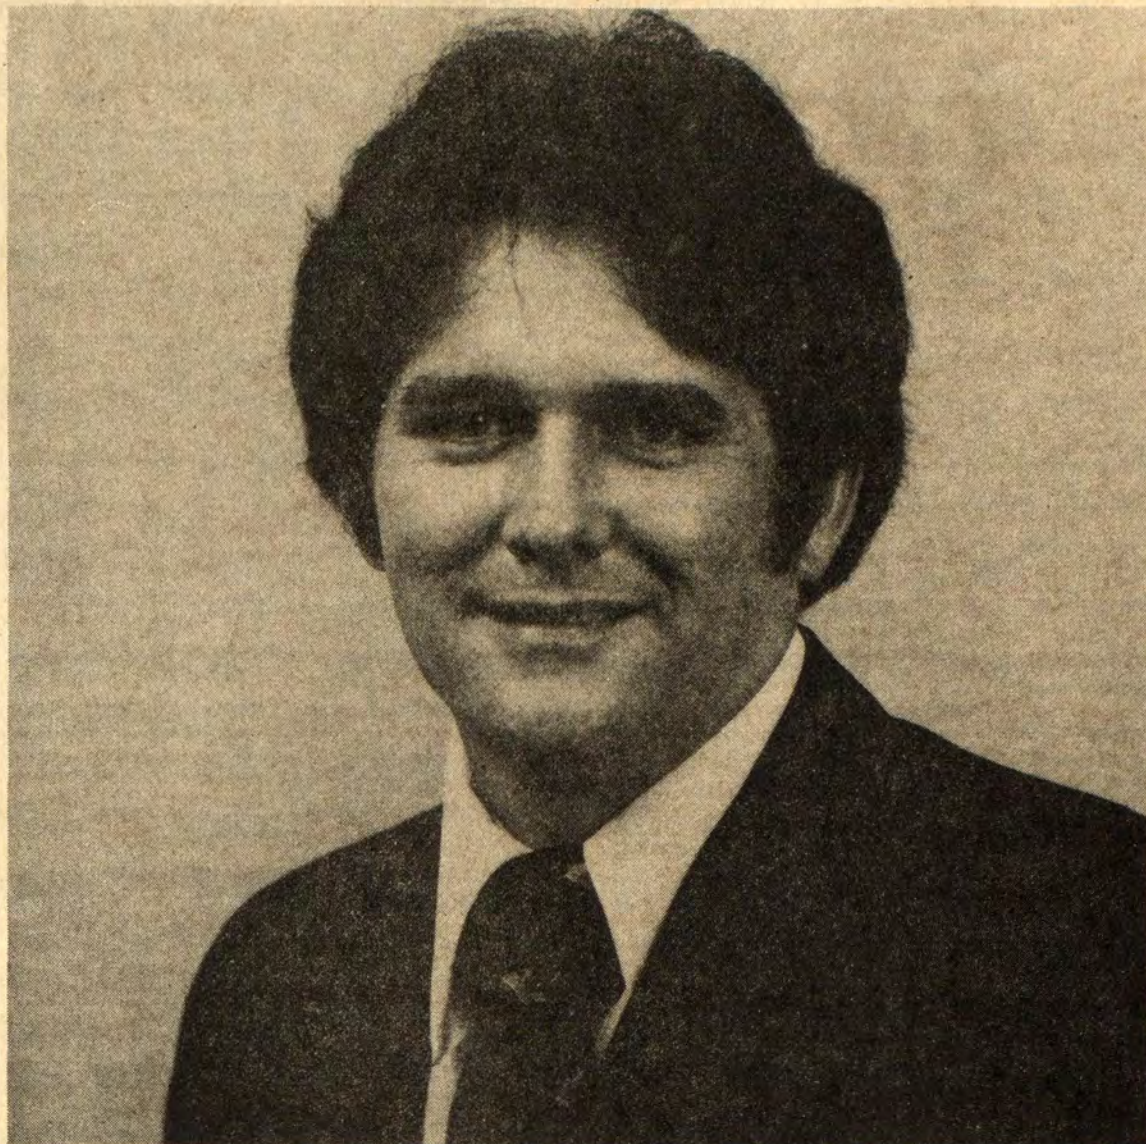

There are practical steps Congress and state legislatures can take that will make a real difference.

Congress should follow the states' lead in passing Sunset legislation which calls for the termination or modification of programs that have proved ineffective or outlived their usefulness. Thirty states have enacted Sunset legislation.

The states should follow Congress' lead and pass legislation reforming their civil service systems to make them more responsive to the citizens they are supposed to serve.

Congress should consider carefully the pros and cons of writing economic theories into the Constitution. It should not rush into judgment. The states should do the same before calling for a constitutional convention.

DR. RALPH DARRELL JOHNSON

CANDIDATE FOR

STATE SENATOR

29TH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

FLOYD, KNOTT, MARTIN AND PERRY COUNTIES.

The following are projects that I feel are vital to the welfare of you, the people of Eastern Kentucky.

- * A strong effort must be made to stabilize the coal industry, to eliminate the major economic fluctuations resulting in the work stoppages which have affected every phase of life in Eastern Kentucky.
- * We must attract additional industry to our region of Eastern Kentucky, and to do this we need adequate water and sewage systems throughout our counties.
- * Intra-mural sports programs in our schools should be expanded to encourage more of our youth to become physically fit.
- * To get maximum benefit from matching federal funds for desperately needed local projects. An increased effort is needed in utilization of state and local funds.

AS STATE SENATOR I WILL DO EVERYTHING IN MY POWER TO IMPLEMENT THESE PROJECTS.

Prestonsburg Football
Boosters To Meet

Prestonsburg Football Boosters Club will have its first official meeting of the 1979 season Thursday night, at 7:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria. The Boosters Club is concerned with both the graded school and the high school football programs. Some projects have already been discussed, and new ideas may be discussed at the meeting; but it will take people to make them work, club spokesmen said. All football boosters, parents, and anyone interested in Prestonsburg football are urged to attend as organization and planning must begin now for the upcoming season.

Big Sandy-FIVCO Attracts Health Profession Grads

The Big Sandy-FIVCO region of the Area Health Education System (AHES) has been successful in attracting a number of health profession graduates from the University of Kentucky to work in the 10-county area.

According to Carolyn Hay, regional coordinator for AHES, 11 graduates from the University of Kentucky are now employed on a full-time basis by health agencies in the area. As former students, all of them participated in rotations to rural areas sponsored by AHES and the University of Kentucky. Nine of these students were placed in the Big Sandy-FIVCO region.

"The biggest success," said Miss Hay, "has been with the clinical associates who have been placed in rotations here. There are now five clinical associates who have been placed in rotations here. There are now five clinical associates from UK employed in the area assisting local physicians."

Other UK graduates employed in the region include three physical therapists, two dentists, and one pharmacist.

"This program has been successful for UK as well as for AHES," according to Jean Keating, head of the AHES program at the University of Kentucky Medical Center. "UK was asked to help implement the programs to attract health professionals to rural counties, and has added its own educational goals. We feel we have been successful in meeting the needs of both the students and the state."

It is estimated that 86 UK students training to be clinical associates, physical therapists, nurses and physicians will receive school credit for a rotation in the Big Sandy-FIVCO region during the 1978-'79.

Ladies' Exercise Club To Meet Here Monday

MY GOLDEN RULE

I GIVE YOU MY WORD

1. 10 COMMANDMENTS

If elected I will personally donate a TEN COMMANDMENTS scroll to every school in the district.

2. FULL-TIME DRUG DETECTIVES FOR SCHOOLS

I will work toward a special law enforcement agency for schools in every senatorial district to aid teachers. They need assistance in dealing with problems such as drugs, brutality and immorality. Ask your teachers and your children about these problems. A special force trained in school situations and working with parents and teachers could help immensely. LONG OVERDUE!

3. HIGHWAY SIGNS

We cannot talk tourism and cleanliness and leave unsightly signs cluttering up our countryside for years. This is against state law! We want to be a "law maker" not a "law breaker". Our many thousands of signs will appear on private property only—with the landowner's permission.

4. MEETING WITH PRESIDENT CARTER

We have arranged to meet with President Carter and propose a federally funded secondary road system for Appalachia. How can we produce coal without adequate haul roads? This has been a "hit and miss" situation long enough.

We also intend to ask the question, "Why isn't coal moving according to all predictions of two years ago?"

5. EQUALIZING SALARIES FOR TEACHERS

Teachers in our mountain areas make less money than teachers with the same qualifications in other counties. This is unfair! Simply because a teacher teaches in a poor county with a small tax base he, or she, is penalized. We will propose legislation to use coal severance tax money to bring these salaries on a level with school districts downstate. This would not affect the Minimum Foundation or disturb the taxation of the county.

JOE WEDDINGTON WILL LISTEN

Hundreds of good citizens continue to call us with suggestions and questions. We are being warmly received everywhere in the district. We are inspired beyond measure.

This Is a Road?

Blanton Branch residents find the going rough even with a 4-wheel drive on this stretch of road which leads off Conley Fork near Bonanza. A large boulder, a resident told the Times, has apparently diverted the stream which formerly ran beside the road, into the road bed. Efforts to get help in improving the situation had apparently proved futile, it was said Tuesday.

IN SUPPORT OF BENNY RAY BAILEY

For many years, I have read the Floyd County Times, more so now that the May primary election is "just around the corner." Over the past years, I have been tempted to write a letter to the editor of this paper, on numerous occasions. However, I have resisted until this present time.

By way of introduction, my name is Norma Ward Turner. I am a native of Eastern Kentucky. All of my life I, as well as most of you, have been approached by candidates, who are relatives or people we have known all of our lives, or our next door neighbors, or members of the church, etc., who have asked us to vote for them. We also know these candidates' egos must be far above the average person's because of all they say, "they can and will accomplish things far better than their opponents." Though some of them have even served their terms in office, they still expect us "uneducated hillbillies" to swallow this same fable, "hook, line and sinker."

The gist of what I am trying to say is that I do support Benny Ray Bailey for State Senator—not because of any promises or prestige, nor because his mother is a member of the same church that I attend, but because I have my own beliefs and convictions that Benny Ray has already proven his interest in helping the people of Eastern Kentucky. Also, after receiving his education he returned to the hills from where he was born and raised.

I realize that Benny Ray is not perfect, nor has he accomplished what he has in the past few short years without stepping on toes and making his share of enemies. Nor am I naive enough to believe that Benny Ray or any other candidate is running without the backing of any source other than his own self, whether it be the Democratic, Republican, Independent Party or some unknown power. However, I sincerely believe that Benny Ray will remain his own man and not be clay in the hands of his potters.

While writing this letter of support for Benny Ray, I remember very clearly, another young man who started his political career in much the same fashion and manner and has done all that he could for the people of Eastern Kentucky. I see in Benny Ray another beloved Congressman Carl D. Perkins in his (Benny Ray's) quest to help the people of Eastern Kentucky, whom Benny loves and will never (if elected for State Senator) look down upon us as idiots, who don't know when we are being patronized.

A concerned citizen,
Norma Ward Turner

Auxier, East Point Cables Pioneer Floyd Satellite TV

Satellite television, which promises to bring the most varied and modern programming available to residents in the Beaver Creek section and elsewhere has made for some exciting news in recent weeks with an article concerning such technical innovation appearing in last week's Times.

What that article failed to mention was that for the past three weeks about 400 Floyd residents have already received the 24-hour Channel 17 from Atlanta's Southern Satellite Systems, the first such service offered in the county. In the East Point-Little Paint section 122 subscribers of the Van Lear-based cable of Paul Butcher have been enjoying the new programming while most of the 275 customers of Jim Daniel's Auxier Cablevision (which receives the service through Butcher's system) have received the same stations.

Daniels pointed out that Home Box Office, a New York-based independent station which broadcasts 24-hour movies including 18 "first-runs" a month would soon be available to viewers of the Auxier and East Point cables.

Some people have believed that burning down a date palm would cause it to grow back better than ever.

High School Baseball Preview: Prestonsburg, Allen Central

By KENNY RICE

"We're weak this year. This is the least experienced team at Prestonsburg in the last 10 to 15 years," said Blackcat's baseball coach Russell Shepherd. "We lost 12 seniors from last year's team (which finished second in the county to McDowell) and that's a big gap to fill." One of the strongest baseball programs in the 15th Region has been at Prestonsburg High for the last six years. During this time, the Blackcats have won four Floyd county district titles and finished second once for a total of five trips to the regional tournament. Losing four infield and two outfield starters plus key utility players is going to make it difficult for Prestonsburg to return to the regional this season.

"This year I'm really stressing discipline and defense. We have a pretty good team offensively speaking, and we're going to have to work hard at defense. I think we can win 75 percent of the games if we hold the opposition to one or two runs, because we can score more than that a game," Shepherd continued. "We have quite a bit of pitching experience with Greg Dillon (sr.) the main man of our staff. And Tom Wilson (jr.) Randy Griffith (so.), who is our left-hander, and David Pitts (jr.) are returning pitchers with experience. That should be one of our strong points." Two freshmen, Robbie Tackett and Steve Wright, plus senior Tim Music, "who throws a knuckleball and roundhouse curve," also bolster the pitching.

Prestonsburg is hoping pitching will compensate for a young infield with mostly Babe Ruth experience behind the mound. "At first base Denny Ousley (so.) has limited action against high school competition. Practice is just underway and there are no set positions, but basically we know who's returning and who should be a front runner for that position, but second base is up for grabs. It's hard to say who'll start for us there." Jack Carter Wells played at second for us some last season, but he decided to concentrate on football and basketball for next year and isn't coming out this season. Wilson is our shortstop. He has good range and a strong arm. Pitts is our only returning starter in the infield at third," Shepherd assessed his infield.

Prestonsburg lost three catchers through graduation. Tom Dillon (soph.) who has "improved a lot since last season," and Dan Daniels (jr.) saw little action behind the plate last season but are listed as the top two catchers on this season's roster. Freshman Jeff Hilton could also see varsity playing time.

Greg Dillon, a starter in leftfield since his freshman year, is the lone starter returning to the Blackcats' outfield. Robert Shepherd (soph.) is expected to start in either center or right with sophomores Jeff Shupe, Ralph Gilliam and Tim Bentley and junior Paul Sargent competing for the other starting outfield spot.

"There are some juniors and seniors who quit baseball after their freshmen years, who are coming out for the team and some of them may help," Shepherd said. "Dwayne Rodebaugh and Tom Hastings are a pair of juniors with good speed and they're football players so they're in good shape and they could help us."

Prestonsburg begins play April 11 at Paintsville. The Cats are playing "one of the toughest schedules in the school's history" according to Shepherd. Local powers Belfry and Knott County Central will be on the schedule this season. Prestonsburg will play everyone in the county at least twice this season because the district will be set up like the basketball district with the winner and runner-up being seeded.

"This is a challenging season for us. Last year with our experience, the emphasis was on strategy. This season learning the fundamentals will have priority in practice," Shepherd, now in his sixth season as head coach, said, "I'm looking forward to the challenge."

REBELS HAVE EXPERIENCE

Allen Central's situation entering a new baseball season is the reverse of Prestonsburg. The Rebels have experience and depth.

"We do have experience even though a lot of juniors start and play key roles for us. These are juniors who have been starting since their freshmen years," said first year Central coach Roger Johnson. "There are 25 out for the team and they are all looking real good."

So good in fact that Johnson said there are as many as seven positions up for grabs. "Mark Martin has built an impressive pitching record during the two years he's started for AC. He's a left-hander, and because not many teams face that many left-handers, I think Mark has an edge on them and will be our key on the mound this year. Mark's a complete player with the bat and in the outfield. Jeff Bailey is making the switch from second base to shortstop nicely (to fill in the spot vacated by Tim Branham's transfer to Johnson Central) and Jeff adds leadership. Both boys are juniors with two years' experience under their belts," Johnson beamed.

With Martin and Bailey as the only veterans with a position sewed up, the competition is fierce for the remaining spots. The atmosphere is the way Johnson wants it. "No one can be complacent, everybody has to keep working and there's always a competitive atmosphere to be a winner. There's three seniors after the first base job and three or four people out for every position."

Johnson feels confident about Central's chances in the Floyd County district this season. "I feel we will be a strong contender. Everyone's back in the pitching department. On defense we look pretty good, but need improvement. Mike Thorpe is the only man we lost through graduation and his spot in the outfield is going to be tough to fill. Our hitting is coming along well for this time of the year, and it's a matter of time before it reaches the stage we think it should be. When it does, I think hitting will be our strongest point. I think everyone on the team is anxious about this season."

Allen Central's schedule is still in the process of being completed. So far Fleming-Neon is the only team this season that wasn't on the schedule last year. Johnson is planning to add other first-time opponents for Central and is trying to increase the schedule so "we'll be playing four times a week. I feel the more games the better to help us in the post season play."

An area of the schedule that Johnson is upset with is that the first week of the season, his seniors will be gone on their senior trip. "We'll be missing some key players and some leadership the first week of the season, but that is something that couldn't be helped. Our younger people will be stepping in then, and that may work out better for us in the long run, by giving the youngsters early experience," Johnson said optimistically.

The Rebels appear to be one of the area's soundest clubs this season. "If we play up to our potential, I think we will have a very successful season," Johnson noted.

Next week, a preview of Wheelwright, Betsy Layne and McDowell.

Floyd Roads To Get $440,000 Allocation Next Fiscal Year

The state Department of Transportation has announced a $440,478 allocation to Floyd county for rural secondary road maintenance and improvements in fiscal year 1979-'80.

The funds will provide maintenance along 109.2 miles of rural secondary roads, Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson said.

Improvement projects include blacktop resurfacing on 3.5 miles of KY 1750, the Bonanza-Big Lick road, and 4.6 miles of KY 1427, the Prestonsburg-Bonanza-KY 114 road, and construction of a bridge over Left Fork of Beaver Creek, near KY 122, on the Johnson road.

The rural secondary road program was established in 1948 to help maintain and improve the farm-to-market and other essential rural roads. It is financed with two cents of the nine-cent tax collected on each gallon of motor fuel sold in Kentucky.

The Rio cost more than a grand.

In 1853, money took America to the banks. Of the Rio Grande.

In that year, the Gadsden Purchase further extended United States territory down the west bank of the mighty Rio Grande.

And established what today is the border between Mexico and the states of Arizona and New Mexico.

The cost: $10,000,000. And Americans put up the money. By purchasing government securities. You could bank on America back then. And you still can. By buying U.S. Savings Bonds at work. Through the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, a little is set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds. Automatically. So help keep your future, and America's, flowing smoothly. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They're a grand way to save.

LRC Staff Recommends State Discount Program for Elderly

A feasibility study done by the staff of the Legislative Research Commission recommends that a statewide senior citizen discount program be implemented in Kentucky.

Statewide senior citizen discount programs are already in effect in Ohio and Delaware, and seven local discount programs are operating in Kentucky, the study says. Two programs are operating in Louisville, with others in Covington and northern Kentucky, Frankfort, Madisonville, Mount Vernon and Murray.

The study also says that many discount programs are being offered by individual merchants in the state.

Under the proposed program, retail merchants and providers of services would offer discounts of 5 to 40 percent to those over 65 of age. Merchants would participate in the program voluntarily and each would determine the percentage discount they would offer.

Senior citizens would show either a valid driver's license or an identification card obtained from circuit clerks in order to receive discounts under the proposal recommended by the study.

Estimated cost of the program for the first year would be $165,359, with less than half that amount required in each of two succeeding years, according to the study. It indicates that after three years the cost of maintaining the program would be negligible.

Population estimates quoted by the study indicate that nearly 400,000 Kentuckians will be 65 years of age or older by 1980.

Seniors Student-Teacher

Ten weeks of student teaching are now under way for 440 seniors from Eastern Kentucky University, including one from Floyd county.

They are assigned by EKV's College of Education to school systems throughout the state, with 123 going to elementary schools and 157 to secondary schools.

The student teacher from Floyd county is Brenda J. Music, of East Point, who is assigned to teach music at Estill County High School, Irvine.

The Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act requires labor organizations to meet certain democratic standards in conducting union elections, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

NOTICE

Legal Notice to families who lived in public housing projects operated by the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or lived in public housing projects in any other city between March 16, 1971 - September 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and-or;

2. A dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971 to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 5, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and-or a dependent in the household was employed.

PLANNING RENOVATION...Allen Johnson, president of General Designs, Inc., a Greenville, Ill. architectural planning firm, addresses members of the Prestonsburg Merchant's Development Committee, March 13 in one of a series of meetings held in recent months which are aimed at providing a plan for renovation and general improvement of the Prestonsburg shopping district.

Marathon Runner To Speak Here

Roland Anspach, one of the premier distance runners in the United States in his age category (50-54), will speak on "Nutrition for Fitness" at the Prestonsburg High School Field House, Saturday, March 31, at 7 p.m.

The Dayton, Ohio resident holds the current steeplechase record for the entire United States in his age group.

Anspach competes annually as a member of the United States Masters National Track and Field Team. He has raced in London, Helsinki, Stockholm, Oslo, Gutenberg, Copenhagen, Kohn and parts of Canada. All this has been achieved while working full time at Delco Moraine in Dayton, Ohio.

He began running in 1967 while helping his son with a paper route. At that time he could not run a mile. He now runs between 80 and 100 miles a week and usually competes in 20 track meets a year. It is a rare occasion when he does not win top honors. He has won more than 100 trophies and almost twice as many medals.

His interest in good nutrition and the relation of food supplementation to strength and stamina while running led him into still another field. He is also a distributor of Shaklee Products, a company which produces, among other things, food supplements.

Mr. Anspach believes that he can offer helpful advice to others as he continues to "defy the hourglass". There will be no admission charged and the public is invited to hear him speak.

FLOYD COUNTY FISCAL COURT By: C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON Clerk

Symbolic of spring and one of the most graceful aerial acrobats of the bird kingdom, the swallow is deeply entrenched in folklore. In ancient legend, this was the bird that brought the first fire down from heaven to benefit mankind. Also it was once believed that it was the best of omens when swallows built nest under the eaves of houses or on rafters of barns. The birds were not only considered harbingers of good luck, but were also regarded as having power to protect buildings from storms.

One of the strangest of all superstitions surrounding these cheerful little birds is one holding that they possess medicinal virtue. In his writings, Pliny told of the Assyrians using swallows to treat "inebriation and the bites of mad dogs." Then, as late as the 17th Century, a concoction of powdered swallows, castor oil and white wine was used in England to treat epilepsy and "strengthen the kidneys."

A recipe for compounding this medicine called for 40 to 50 swallow fledglings pounded to pieces—feathers and all—in a mortar. To this pulp was added an ounce of castor oil, a pint of white wine, and then distilled. Two or three teaspoonfuls given with sugar was the recommended dose for "passions of the heart, passions of the mother, falling sickness, sudden fits, dead palsy, apoplexies, lethargies and other distempers of the head."

No doubt the belief in swallows as a remedy for epilepsy had, in an oblique sort of way, its basis in the old Doctrine of Signatures. This old principle of faith held that God marked plants with some sign to indicate the special use for which each was intended. The ancients associated the rapid chattering of the swallows with the frenzied, incoherent speech of a victim of epileptic attack.

Having a taste for unnatural history, Pliny also wrote that the swallow used the woodland wildflower, celandine, to restore the lost eyesight of its young. Just how seriously Pliny was taken after nearly 2,000 years is to be seen in the writings of an American physician.

"It is said," wrote Dr. O. Phelps Brown in 1875, "that if you take a needle and put out the eyes of young swallows, the old ones will restore their sight again by means of this herb."

Dr. Brown added that, since he had never made any such cruel experiments, he was not prepared to say whether any such miraculous power of healing lost eyesight was a virtue of the plant, or whether it was an instinct or gift inherent of swallows themselves.

Little League Holds Organizational Meet

Prestonsburg Little League held its organizational meeting at the courthouse here last Thursday night.

New officers were elected for the current year, and the Little League Program in general, certain rule changes, and fund-raising projects were discussed.

Officers set May 15 as a tentative date for the season to begin, with hopes of getting started by May 1. President Paul Hughes stated that the May 15 date seemed more realistic because of spring rains and flood waters at the Little League field at Archer Park. April 23 was the date set for cut-off of all registration so the teams could be formed and managers could begin practice.

Prestonsburg Little League was found to be in non-compliance of some rules during the past season, and President Hughes says they will be corrected during the forthcoming season.

New officers elected for the current year are as follows: Paul Hughes, president, Bill R. Blackburn, vice-president, Glenn Copley, secretary, and David DeRossett, treasurer.

Food Stamp Regulations To Make Fraud Difficult

It will be more difficult to defraud the food stamp program successfully under the new regulations which went into effect Jan. 1, according to Edward W. Davidson, southeast regional director of the food stamp program.

"One of the weaknesses of the original food stamp act," said Davidson, "was the absence of provisions that would allow program directors to deal appropriately with those who would deliberately defraud the program."

Under the new regulations, he explained, it will be the responsibility of the states and their district attorneys to enforce the food stamp laws. Individuals who willfully commit fraud can be dealt with promptly and effectively. In addition to being disqualified from the program, violators can be referred to the courts for prosecution.

Davidson emphasized that no action will be taken against anyone suspected of fraud until that person has been given a fraud hearing.

Food stamp fraud includes deliberately making false statements or concealing information to obtain benefits, altering coupons or authorization cards, using food stamps to buy ineligible items, and trading or selling coupons or authorization cards.

Highlands Blood Bank Accredited

Highlands Regional Medical Center blood bank supervisor, Larry Perdue (left) and hospital administrator, Les Rankin, examine the Certificate of Certification recently granted to the hospital's blood bank. The Certificate represents a two-year accreditation of the facility by the American Association of Blood Banks and indicates that it meets or exceeds the Association's rigorous standards.

The Highlands Regional Medical Center blood bank has been awarded a two year accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Les Rankin, administrator.

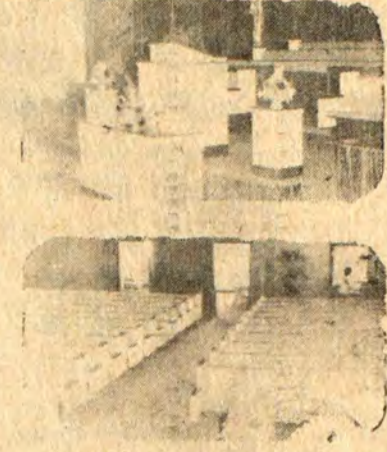

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the Association, and confirms that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the AABB. By meeting those requirements, Highlands Regional continues as one of the select facilities across the United States that have earned the accreditation rating and recognition.

Don Hicks, acting laboratory director at Highlands, explained: "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary, but Highlands sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence, and thus provide higher quality blood, blood products and services to patients."

Traffic Court Judges To Get Special Training

Specialized training for the state's 113 traffic court judges has been approved with more than one-third of the judges scheduled to participate in the first phase of the program under an $11,000 federal highway safety grant, according to state transportation officials.

The program is designed to familiarize the judges with traffic law and traffic court procedures, Bennie Maffet, transportation safety coordinator, explained. Under a law enacted by the 1978 General Assembly, the jurisdiction of the quarterly and police courts, which included traffic cases, were placed under a district court system, Maffet said.

"Many of the district judges who took office on January 1978 lacked prior judicial experience," he said. "The new training program has been designed to supply the education necessary for the district judges to handle the traffic cases as well as their other court duties."

Of the 35 judges to receive training this fiscal year, 30 will attend in-state training during August and five will be sent out of state for training later this month.

The Church of God in Garrett
Invites You To Come and Worship

It is now spring of the year and time for all things to bud forth in life. Also, Easter is fast approaching, the day we celebrate the very existence of life itself breaking forth from the ground.

Many churches also are planning growth campaigns, and we at the Church of God in Garrett, Ky. are doing the same.

The Church of God in Garrett is a small Pentecostal church with general headquarters in Cleveland, Tennessee. It is a church that dates back to the 1800's and that believes in the divine Word of God. Our heritage is built upon the faith of many gone on before.

The Church of God would like to warmly invite you to come and attend our services. We are a small church, but the size of the church does not determine the spirituality of the church, because where two or three are gathered together in Christ's name, He is there.

So, come and worship with us in Sunday School at 10 o'clock, morning service at 11, and evening worship at 7 o'clock. We also have a very good Bible study Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

If you're looking for a church to grow in spiritually, or looking for a home church to worship and grow with, come to the Church of God in Garrett, Ky. We are located behind the Bank Josephine.

Come as you are and let's worship God together.

WHAT DO YOU THINK, ENERGY GROWS ON TREES?

Until Buck Stove, that is. Buck Stove is almost as good at getting energy out of trees as nature is at getting it into them. Buck Stove is the wood stove for modern America.

How well do Buck Stoves work? Well, a recent owner survey uncovered the fact that 96% of the families surveyed used their Buck Stove as their primary heat source. Doesn't that tell you something?

Another interesting fact came to light during this survey. Of all the really great reasons for buying a Buck Stove (like saving 50-80% on your heating bills, as a majority of our customers do), fully 48% of the customers surveyed listed outstanding quality as their number one reason for buying a Buck Stove.

Of course, this didn't surprise us. We know all about that quality: which is why we can conditionally guarantee your Buck Stove for the lifetime of the original owner.

Buck Stoves are safe and easy to install, too. These all-steel, heavy-duty stoves meet the strict safety standards set by the National Fire Protection Association and Underwriter's Laboratories. And every Buck Stove dealer has trained, certified installers who assure you of the safest, most effective installation. Or, you can even do it yourself.

Because energy grows on trees, and money doesn't, Buck Stove is the sensible alternative for the American homeowner.

Education Conference To Focus on Basics

More than 1,000 teachers are expected to attend the fourth annual reading and language conference to be held March 31 by the University of Louisville School of Education and Education Student Council in conjunction with the Kentucky Association of Children with Learning Disabilities.

The day-long conference will begin at 7:45 a.m. with registration at Commonwealth Convention Center, 221 River City Mall.

Speakers will address sessions for elementary and secondary teachers and for parents. Their topics will fit in with this year's theme, "Assessment and Instruction in Reading and Language: Focus on the Basics," an especially timely topic because of renewed interest in acquiring competency in reading and language skills.

Keynote speakers will be Dr. Arthur Heilman of Pennsylvania State University, who will speak to participants interested in elementary school aspects of reading and language; Dr. H. A. Robinson of Hofstra University, who will address those interested in middle, junior and senior high school programs; and Dr. Alvin Granowsky, director of reading instruction in the Dallas Independent School District in Texas, who will talk with parents.

High School Students Offered Berea Courses

BEREA, KY—High school students who want a taste of college life may have the opportunity to enroll in Berea College for a special summer program.

Four-week sessions in wildlife biology, creative-writing, astronomy and mathematics begin on June 10 as part of the Rising Seniors Program at Berea. Each carries four semester hours of college credit. A week-long workshop in graphic arts for high school publications is scheduled from June 10 through 16.

Because of the intensive nature of these summer classes, only high school students who have completed their junior year and have strong academic records (3 point average on the 4 point system) can be accepted. Preference will be given to applicants whose families have limited financial resources and are residents of the Appalachian region.

Applications should be filed not later than April 20. Application forms and further information may be procured by writing John S. Cook, director of Admission, Box 2344, Berea College, Berea, Ky.

Floyd County Health Notes

JANETE E. HICKS
Health Educator

A new dental program, the fluoride supplement program, is being made available to Floyd county and every other county in Kentucky. This new program is being made possible through the Kentucky Department for Human Resources, Dental Health Branch, and the Floyd County Health Department.

Fluoride supplements are available through the Floyd County Health Department for preschool children, ages to six, who are not receiving fluoridated drinking water, other fluoride supplements, vitamins with fluoride, or a commercial ready-to-feed infant formula.

The supplements contain the mineral sodium fluoride which help in making tooth enamel (outside coating on teeth) more resistant to decay. Under these circumstances tooth decay can be prevented up to 65 percent.

A child's eligibility for fluoride supplements is based on the natural fluoride content of home drinking water. Parents or guardians are given a water sample container along with instructions for taking and submitting a water sample. Before the child can take fluoride supplements, a Parental Consent form must be signed.

Any parents or guardians in the Floyd county area interested in receiving fluoride supplements for their preschool age children may contact the Floyd County Health Department for further information. The dates for health clinics for the upcoming week is as follows:

Monday, April 2, the regularly scheduled Martin Outpost clinic will be conducted at the Beaver Valley Clinic in Martin, Kentucky. A Community Health Nurse will be offering immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, blood pressures, and Pap tests from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2.

This clinic is a free service and the public is welcome to attend.

Monday, April 2, a glaucoma clinic will be held at the Floyd County Health Department from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3. The Community Health Nurses advise all persons age 35 and over have a test for glaucoma at least every two years. Glaucoma is a disease that can steal a person's sight away slowly and painlessly.

This clinic is a free service and the public is welcome to attend.

The Floyd County Health Department and the Floyd County Board of Education reminds parents that all kindergarten and first grade children must present a certificate stating their child has been immunized.

This is in accordance with Kentucky Law KRS 214.036 which, in part, states, "...no child shall be eligible to enroll as a student in any public or private elementary or secondary school without first presenting a certificate from a duly licensed medical physician stating that the child has been immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, rubeola, and rubella...the governing body of the schools shall enforce the provisions of this section."

This law applies also to transfer students who will be entering school for the first time this fall.

Also required under this law is the provision that the child entering school for the first time must also have a TB skin test and a physical examination. The child who will be entering the eighth grade this fall also must have a TB skin test. Immunizations and TB skin test. Immunizations and TB skin tests are given free of charge at the Floyd County Health Department on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week from 8 to 4 p.m. and at the monthly outpost clinics at Martin, Wayland, Bypro, and Mud Creek (check this newspaper for dates of each clinic). The physical examination forms are available from either the health department or board of education but they must be signed by the child's doctor.

The immunization certificate can be obtained at the local health department or from the family doctor's office depending where the child received his immunizations. If the child has not completed his immunizations, he must present a statement from his family doctor stating that the child has started his immunization series and that the child will have completed his immunization series, including both measles vaccines, before entering his second school year, 1980-81.

All forms, physical examinations, verification of skin testing, and immunization certificates must be presented to the child's school before he enrolls.

By requiring that children receive their vaccinations, TB skin tests, and physical examinations before entering school, the Floyd County Health Department and the Board of Education hopes to help prevent county-wide epidemics of diphtheria, whooping cough, and measles among school-age children.

FAN COOLS SKIN 7 DEGREES

Although a ceiling fan cannot chill the air, it can circulate 7,000 cubic feet of air a minute, according to the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers. This can cool the skin temperature as much as seven degrees. And in winter a fan can recirculate heat collected near the ceiling.

Celebrates Birthdays

A surprise birthday cake was served at Jerry's Restaurant at Prestonsburg in honor of Wanda Boyd, of Betsy Layne, and Melvin Fletcher, of Salyersville. The couple celebrated their February 24th and 26th birthdays together on Sunday evening, Feb. 25.

Those attending the birthday dinner were Mrs. Judy Walters and daughter, Rhonda, David Boyd, Bonita Porter and Pat Derossett.

April 20 Bid Letting Sections of KY 80

Sections of KY 80 in Floyd and Knott counties are among major highway improvements around the state to be included in the Transportation Department's April 20 bid-letting.

The department will open bids on five resource recovery road projects initiated by Gov. Carroll: the Whitesburg By-pass, the Providence By-pass, 3.5 miles of widening on U.S. 25-E in Knox county, grading and drainage work on 1.1 miles of the Flemingsburg By-pass, in addition to the sections of KY 80.

Other projects announced by Governor Carroll include reconstruction and widening at the Interstate 64-75 interchange east of Lexington, guardrail safety improvements along the Waterson Expressway, four-laning of U.S. 60 between —24 and Paducah and grading and drainage work on reconstruction of both U.S. 45 in Graves county and a section of the Somerset-London road (KY 80).

FOR COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE

The future development of Floyd County is, once again, in our hands this coming election. If we are to achieve our chosen objectives, we must have leadership in our county offices that exhibits qualities of DETERMINATION, MOTIVATION, and SINCERE DESIRE for PROGRESS, GROWTH, and PROSPERITY in this county.

The opportunities of achieving these chosen objectives are abundant and the only shortage of opportunity is the shortage we declare and accept. If a sincere, positively determined desire for progress exists in our county's leadership nothing can cause us to accept less than what we are striving to achieve.

The one realization we all must face is that in order to have the means of support to BUILD and MAINTAIN our county we simply cannot afford to take our tax dollars elsewhere. We must make beneficial use of them here and intelligently apply the return profit to our county's use, also.

The reason I am seeking this office is one of DEMOCRATIC DESIRE and DETERMINATION for a more POSITIVE, ECONOMICALLY-BALANCED future for ALL Floyd Countians.

Strip-Mine Bonds Forfeited Last Year at Record $735,947

The state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection called in more money during calendar year 1978 in bond forfeitures (money posted by coal operators to insure reclamation of strip mined land) and released more bonds than in any previous year.

A total of $735,947 in bond forfeitures were claimed during 1978, compared to $315,800 in 1977, thereby bringing the total for 1978 to more than double the amount collected in 1977. That figure also exceed all combined forfeitures in the past 19 years.

In addition, due to completed reclamation activities, the department released a total of $18,020,320 in bonds compared to a total of $15,314,780 in 1977. Gene Brandenburg, commissioner of the department's Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, attributed the increase to the department's active enforcement programs and a more efficient and improved bonding procedure instituted during 1978. He also said that a concerted effort on the bureau's part to release bonds that have been dormant for a number of years was responsible for the increase.

"Our improved methods by which bonds are computed, released and possibly forfeited are basically responsible for the increase in both releases and timely forfeitures," said Brandenburg, and added, "We also have been contacting all of our operators during the past year to assist them in obtaining releases."

"These figures also indicate that the department is firmly enforcing reclamation of strip mined land as set forth by Kentucky's newly adopted surface mining regulations. By the same token, those strip mine operators who are performing adequate reclamation practices are being recognized by the department through bond releases," he added.

The release of a bond, obtained by the coal company from a surety company, depends on whether the permit holder has met reclamation requirements set forth by the department. If strip-mined land has not been reclaimed properly, the department will require the operator to forfeit the bond and will then seek to collect from the surety company. The department will then use the bond money to reclaim the land affected by strip mining. Any surplus funds are returned to the surety company by the department after full reclamation work has been performed.

Brandenburg said that 1978 was the first year in a decade that the department had less than $1 million in claims against surety reclamation bonds issued by insurance companies on behalf of operators. Approximately $2 million in bonds were outstanding a year ago.

The department also collected more penalties from strip mining violations during 1978 than in any previous year.

The total for 1978 amounted to $469,560 as compared to $316,000 in 1977. The highest previous total was $367,750 in 1976.

Eugene Mooney, secretary of the department, attributes the increase to the advent of the new strip mine regulations, an increase in the number of inspectors, the added authority the department has over surface effects of deep mine operators, and more vigorous action by the department in pursuing available legal remedies.

He also said that since the department now regulates the surface effects of deep mining as well, more non-compliances are issued each month.

Black Cutworm Threat Control Methods Told

With corn planting time approaching, farmers are being alerted to the potential problem of black cutworm damage to their crop.

Severe damage occurs in the state every year, and the pest can attack corn from the time it is planted until plants are about 24 inches tall, according to David Foster, Extension entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Fall plowed fields, with good drainage, planted early and following a crop other than soybeans, have the best chances of escaping cutworm damage, says the entomologist.

Fields most frequently damaged are on over-flow land or poorly drained ground, have an abundance of surface litter at planting time, produced soybeans last year, have high populations of winter annual plants, and are planted later than normal.

If a field has a history of cutworm damage or fits several of the conditions that increase to the crop, Foster says it often is advisable to apply a soil insecticide at planting time. Recommended products for controlling black cutworm include Lorsban 4E, which recently received a label for preplant incorporated application at the rate of one quart per acre, Lorsban 15G and Mocap 15G and 6EC. Application directions should be followed closely.

Another approach to the cutworm problem is to plant without using a soil insecticide, relying on rescue treatment insecticides later if the pest causes trouble. Foster says that this plan requires scouting fields closely so that cutworm activity can be detected early and, if necessary, treatment can be applied in time to protect the crop.

"It's a good idea to scout fields regularly for cutworm infestations whether or not a soil insecticide is applied at planting time," says Foster. Rescue treatments should be applied when damage is apparent on 3 percent of the stand and cutworms average less than an inch in length.

The county Extension agent for agriculture has more information on controlling black cutworm, including recommended insecticides for use at planting or later as rescue treatments, rates and methods of application.

Perkins, Other Congressmen Join McCoy-Elkhorn Suit

Congressman Carl D. Perkins, joined by Congressmen Thomas L. Ashley of Ohio, John P. Murtha, of Pennsylvania, and John M. Slack, of West Virginia, intervened last Wednesday as friend of the court in the lawsuit by McCoy-Elkhorn Coal Corporation against the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in U.S. district court at Pikeville.

McCoy-Elkhorn in its suit alleged that Section 125 of the Clean Air Act was unconstitutional under the Interstate Commerce Clause and the Fifth Amendment. The suit arose when the EPA sought to raise the price of electricity to Ohio consumers by preventing Ohio utilities from buying out-of-state coal.

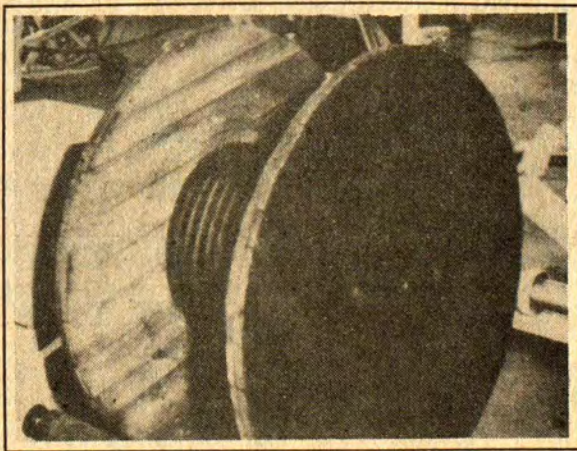

The congressmen based their intervention upon their position as constitutional officers of the United States. As congressmen they are uniquely in possession of information regarding the Congressional intent of Section 125.

The congressmen demonstrated in their brief that "region," as used in Section 125, meant a "multistate section of the country, bound by geographic and economic ties and showing a historic interdependence in the area of coal production and marketing." The brief also demonstrated that the illogical interpretation by the EPA violated the U.S. Constitution.

The congressmen concluded by stating that the brief was submitted to assist the court in its deliberations and urged that the EPA's action be overturned so that it would be consistent with the intent of Congress and the Constitution.

Unemployment In Area Rises

Unemployment in the Eastern Kentucky area increased from 19,810 persons in December to 30,605 in January. The rate of unemployment increased from 6.5 to 10.2 percent in that time.

"This sharp increase occurred as the result of a combination of economic and seasonal factors. National economic conditions plus layoffs due to bad weather and other seasonal factors have caused a higher number of layoffs than usual," said Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Department for Human Resources.

Kentucky's overall unemployment rate for January was 7.5 percent and the national rate was 6.4 percent. Floyd county's rate rose to 9.9 percent.

Lee county had the highest rate in the Eastern Kentucky area at 17.4 percent while Martin county was low at 5.1 percent.

County-by-county figures for January follow:

Bath, 13.8 percent, Bell 9.2, Boyd 6.4, Breathitt 9.2, Carter 15.3, Clay 13.3, Elliott 9.8, Floyd 9.9, Greenup 5.4, Harlan 10.8, Jackson 13, Johnson 9.4, Knott 11.9, Knox 10.1, Knott 11.9, Laurel 8.4, Lawrence 16.5, Lee 17.4, Leslie 9.7, Letcher 16.2, McCreary 14.2, Magoffin 15, Martin 5.1, Menifee 14.3, Montgomery 10.4, Morgan 12.6, Owsley 13.2, Perry 8.7, Pike 7.9, Pulaski 9.9, Rockcastle 12.1, Rowan 9.6, Wayne 13.4, Whitley 13.6, Wolfe 12.6.

The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 is designed "...to assure so far as possible every working man and woman in the Nation safe and healthful working conditions and to preserve our human resources."

Ginseng, First in Plants

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
UK College of Agriculture

Although druggists say it is not official in any modern pharmacopoeia and in the opinion of many modern physicians its medical virtues are all but nil, ginseng is still of tremendous commercial importance. At last report the dried roots of the wild variety of this plant of superstition and legend were selling at over $100 a pound.

Ginseng which in Chinese means "first in plants," comes in two species—American and Asiatic. Some botanical authorities say the species are identical. Other botanists equally qualified find the idea untenable, but on one point both sides are in total agreement: The chief value of the plant is in the minds of the Chinese who consider it a specific in treating everything from dyspepsia to nervous disorders and sexual impotence. As early as 1750, citizens of Peking were purchasing ginseng at the price of seven ounces of silver per ounce of ginseng.

The American species, Panax quinquefolium, grows, or once grew, in rich woods throughout eastern and central North America. Chroniclers of early pioneer lore tell that it was used to a considerable extent by North American Indians. The Indians employed it in the treatment of asthma, stomach disorders, and to promote fertility in women.

Practicing conservation, the Indians dug their ginseng roots only in the fall after the plant had dropped its berries. After digging the root, they planted the matured seed on the same spot and thus assured continued existence of this valuable wild crop.

Modern "sang" diggers agree with the Indians. Roots dug in the fall, they say, retain their plumpness and handsome appearance after drying. The most highly prized roots have a fine light color that comes from plants that have grown in deep black forest mould.

For generations, collecting ginseng for export to China and other Asiatic countries has been highly profitable and there has always been a ready market. As a consequence, the plant has been all but exterminated in many areas where it was formerly abundant. The tendency toward its eradication and its continued high market value has led to its domestication in shaded beds once known as "sang gardens."

There are some ginseng proponents who believe that its cultivation still offers a profitable field to many small family farmers. One thing for sure, the demand for this fine article for export is not likely to be exceeded by the supply.

Although medical science, as mentioned before, is somewhat dubious of ginseng as a cure-all or a remedy for some of the other ailments for which it is regarded, the Governor's Council for Agriculture in Kentucky holds that "based on recent biomedical research, in which active compounds have been isolated that act effectively on experimental animals when they are placed under stress, ginseng may prove important for use by everyone. Thus, the heavy demand for ginseng may be even heavier in the future."

Incidentally, anyone desiring more information on this plant such as how to propagate from seed, soil preference, conservation, when to dig, and how to care for the roots, may get this information from a very neat and interesting little booklet entitled "Ginseng In Kentucky." This booklet was published last May and if the supply has not been exhausted it may be obtained by writing The Governor's Council on Agriculture, 7th Floor Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Drift Club Inspects Facilities at Garth

The Drift Women's Club met at the Garth Vocational School March 19. This was a program meeting by the Public Affairs Committee with Mrs. Sophia Cahill, chairman. Two ideas were projected by the committee—one to inspect the facilities at Garth and the other to acquaint the club members with the educational program at the vocational school. Mrs. Linda J. Turner, instructor of business practices, and Mrs. Melvina Tomson, instructor in nursing, were the speakers and tour guides. Members of the club were impressed with the ideals and aims of both programs and by the maintenance of the class rooms. As a result of this visit, the club plans to acquaint itself with other establishments in Floyd county.

Mrs. William Hoffman was hostess for the meeting. Members present were Mrs. W. L. Reed, Mrs. Kermit Martin, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, Mrs. Burton Collins, Ms. Ruby Akers, Mrs. Martha Hurley, Mrs. Sophia Cahill, Mrs. William Hoffman.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Over 100,000 Kentucky fifth and sixth graders are now bringing home applications for a rather unusual camping program created by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

While campers participating in this program will get their share of outdoor activity—swimming, boating, fishing and nature study—they attend camp primarily to learn about conservation and safety, according to William Bell, director of the Division of Conservation Education in the department.

An important aspect of this education, Bell said, is hunter education training. All campers receive lessons in the safe handling of firearms and archery equipment, and those who pass the "final exam" earn hunter safety certificates which are accepted in the over 20 states which now require formal training before a license is issued.

The certificates are also recognized at Land Between The Lakes, which requires hunter training for participants in its youth hunts, and will be accepted by the increasing number of regulated hunting areas requiring certification, Bell said. Campers also learn the hows and whys of sportsmanship, are introduced to the importance of fish and wildlife laws, and learn proper sportsman-landowner relationships.

The camping program stresses safety in all outdoor activities—fishing, boating, swimming and even hiking in the woods. The safety record of the camps themselves is excellent.

"We haven't had a really serious accident since the program began in 1945," Bell said.

The conservation education division operates three camps, each with a capacity of 200 students per week: Camp Earl Wallace, on Lake Cumberland; Camp John Currie on Kentucky Lake; and Camp Robert Webb on Grayson Lake. The programs at all three are identical and the camper attends the closest camp to his home.

Another very appealing aspect of this camping program, Bell said, is its cost. The week in camp (Monday through Friday) cost $23 plus transportation charges. These charges average around $5, depending upon the distance from camp and the kind of transportation arrangements made. Insurance is included in the costs, but if an applicant fails to attend the fees cannot be refunded, Bell said.

Only fifth and sixth graders who have participated in the conservation education program in Kentucky schools are eligible to attend camp. Full descriptions of the camping programs and applications were given to each student during March and completed applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis through May 1.

However, Bell urges parents to get applications in as early as possible, since facilities are limited and it is not always possible to accommodate every boy or girl who wishes to attend. Bell said that parents with questions about the camping program can write the Division of Conservation Education, Department of Fish and Wildlife, 592 East Main Street, Frankfort, Ky., 40601 or call (502) 564-4762.

WHO IS THIS MAN and WHY IS HE RUNNING FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE?

The young man pictured above is Gregory D. Stumbo. He is a Democratic Candidate for State Representative, 95th District, in the May Primary.

Greg would like to take this opportunity to tell the voters a little about himself.

He is the son of Harold Stumbo and Pluma Martin Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, Ky.

He is the grandson of Wayne D. Stumbo (deceased) and Barbara Hopkins Stumbo of Minnie, Kentucky, and Dewey Martin and Magnolia Sizemore Martin of McDowell, Kentucky.

He is the great-grandson of Eli and Belle Gayheart Stumbo, Johnny and Maggie Hall Hopkins, Alexander "Squint" and Nancy Osborne Martin, Edward and Florence "Hebads" Hall Sizemore.

This is not to suggest that you should vote for a man just because of his family; but, rather to point out the "Roots" and heritage that have given Greg a strong sense of dedication to the needs and problems of our area.

Greg is a native of Floyd County. He grew up in Prestonsburg and attended school there. He also spent a lot of time visiting with his grandparents and family in the areas of Drift, Minnie and McDowell. This type of background enables Greg to know and understand the particular problems of our urban and rural communities.

As your State Representative Greg intends to call for a coalition of coal producing counties to press for special legislative funding to repair, upgrade and maintain the rural and secondary road system for those counties.

Greg is a candidate for State Representative because he believes the time is NOW for strong, dedicated leadership in Frankfort. He sincerely feels that we can have in Floyd County what other areas of our state have experienced, namely economic growth.

When you are considering who to vote for as your State Representative, remember there is one candidate who:

- 1.) Is young, sincere and dedicated; 2.) Knows the problems of our area; 3.) Wants to build a better area for all of us to live in.

So why is he running for State Representative?

BECAUSE HE CARES!!

GREG STUMBO — WHY NOT!

According to the Tax Foundation, it takes the average worker two hours and 45 minutes of every eight hour work day just to pay taxes*

But it takes less than 11 minutes of work to pay the electric bill...about one coffee break. Even with inflation that's a pretty good deal when you think of all the things electricity does for you each day.

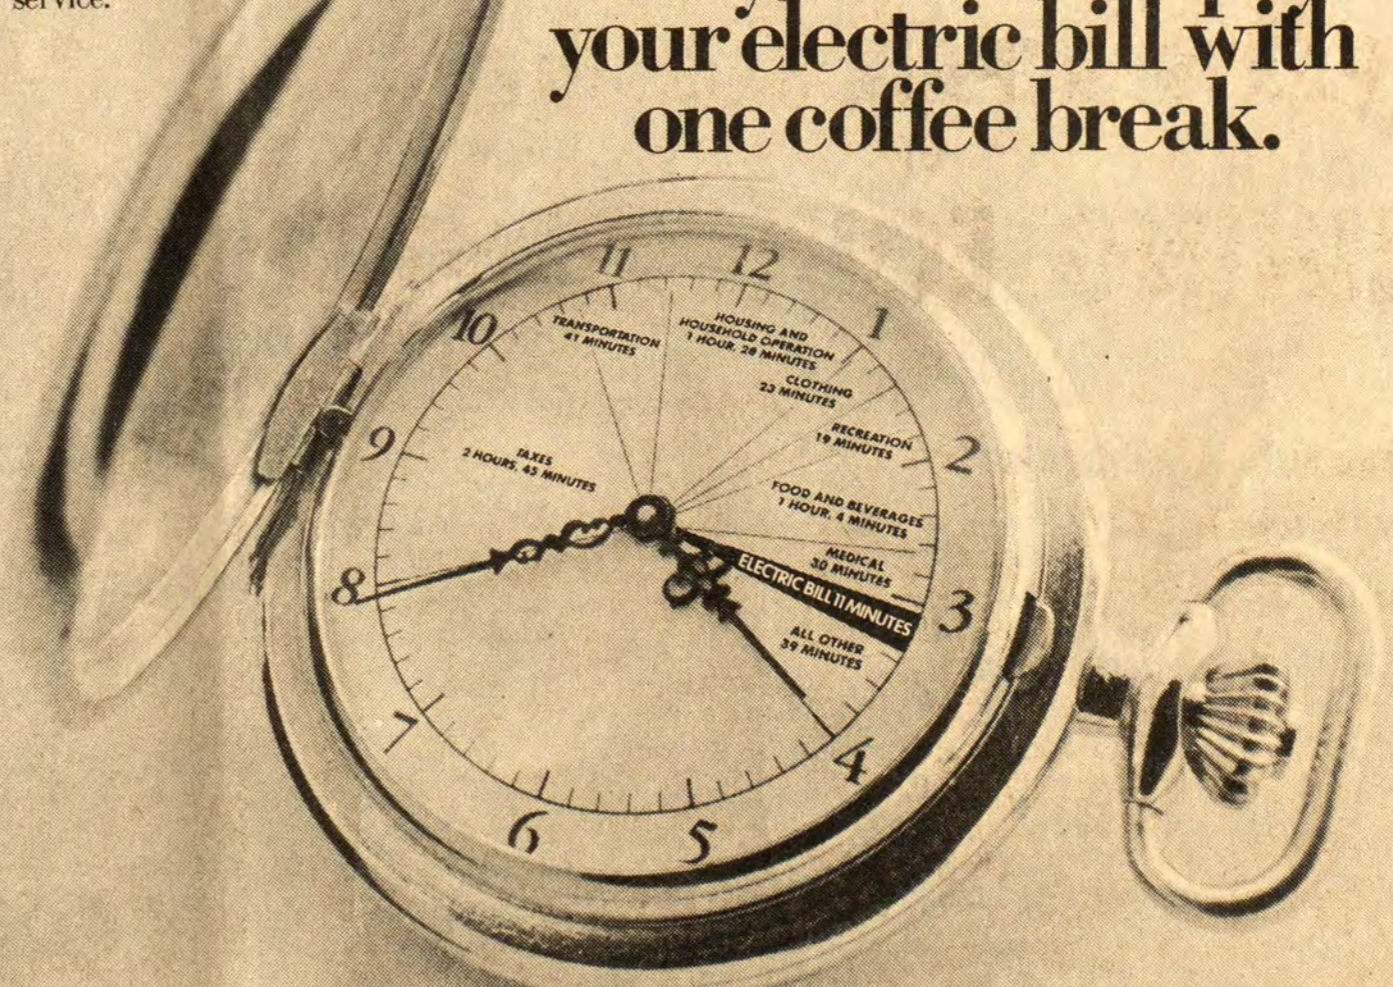

From waking you up, making your coffee, keeping your food fresh, vacuuming your rugs, preparing your meals, cleaning your clothes, doing your dishes and keeping you informed and entertained.

We don't know how many seconds out of every day's pay you can save conserving electricity, but we know it can be very worthwhile. In fact, we have some free S.A.V.E. booklets that can show you how to save energy and become part of our Save America's Valuable Energy Program. Stop by any of our offices for your copies.

At Kentucky Power, we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

You have to work a third of every day to pay your taxes. But you can still pay your electric bill with one coffee break.
