

Announce Engagement

PHS Homecoming Queen

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hall, of Banner, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Katrina Lynn, to Mr. Reuben Davis, Jr., son of Mrs. Ida Bevins, of Nickelsville, Va. Wedding plans are incomplete.

Miss Margo May, 17-year-old senior at Prestonburg High School, was crowned Homecoming Queen during ceremonies held at halftime of the homecoming game held here Friday night, October 12. She was chosen by the student body from a total of six candidates nominated by the football squad.

Principal John Wayne Shepherd presented Miss May with her crown, trophy, and a dozen long-stemmed red roses. Members of the Homecoming Court were also presented with trophies.

Miss May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cooley, of Prestonburg, and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patton, of Prestonburg, and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. May, of Pikeville.

Hindman Doctor Arrested As Gotham Mayor Attacked

Dr. Charles E. Wright, 27, a physician at the East Kentucky Health Services Center, Hindman, was one of three persons arrested last week after allegedly pelting New York Mayor Edward Koch with eggs.

Mayor Koch was about to address the American Public Health Association convention at the New York Hilton Hotel when the incident occurred that left him with egg dripping from his face and from his blue, pin-striped suit. The demonstrators were protesting his advocacy of hospital closings in some areas of New York City.

Arrested with Wright were Dr. Nayvin Gordon, 31, of San Diego, Calif., and Gordon's wife, Linda, 32. All are members of the Health Committee Against Racism, a group with ties to the Progressive Labor Party, a dissident Communist organization.

Gordon was charged with third degree assault, disorderly conduct and harassment, after allegedly striking the mayor in the eye with his fist and then smashing an egg on his face. The other two were charged with disorderly conduct and harassment.

The closing of inner-city hospitals, justified by health planners as cost-efficient, has been criticized as insensitive to the health needs of urban minority groups. It also means a loss of jobs from the areas involved.

"Once again minority communities are being told to pay for budget-balancing sacrifices that should be shared," Vernon Jordan, president of the National Urban League, wrote in a syndicated column recently. Jordan also noted that hospitals are often the main providers of primary health care in low-income communities.

Hospital closings are often accompanied by promises to build new primary care clinics, but communities can expect a long wait for those clinics, and they may never materialize, Jordan wrote. Meanwhile, he added, the hospitals they depend on are taken away.

Dr. Wright reportedly returned to Hindman from New York Sunday, after posting a $6000 bond there.

Kilduff To Speak At Kiwanis Meeting

Malcolm M. Kilduff, the Beattyville man who served as confidential assistant to three U.S. Secretaries of State and later as assistant press secretary to President Kennedy and Johnson, will be the speaker at the meeting tomorrow (Thursday) evening of the Prestonburg Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Kilduff is expected to draw on his experiences in various capacities at the national level in his address. His political experiences include service in 1968 as director of public information for the Humphrey for President campaign and advance work nationally for President Ford's 1976 campaign. He moved to Kentucky in 1977 and in Lee county continues to be active in community affairs.

CHURCH GROUPS MEET

The Annie Allen and "Mommie" Ransdell Circles of the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Helen Clark, Monday evening, November 5, with the President, Mrs. Patsy Evans, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Sarah Laven. The president gave the watchword for the year: 2nd Timothy 1:6, 7. Mrs. Dolly Pettrey reported that cards had been sent to members who have been ill. Mrs. Lois Williams told the group of the work she and members of her Girls in Action group had been doing at Riverview Manor Nursing Home, stressing the fact that they had "adopted" two patients there for special remembrances on holidays.

Mrs. Linda Spradlin, chairman of the Outreach group of the church, asked the members to contribute recipes for a cookbook, to be entitled, "Best of the Baptists," which she and her group hope to publish and to be given to members of the church. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Lucy Regan for missionaries whose birthdays occurred on the date of this meeting. Mrs. Goldia Williams gave an interesting report on the book, "Baptist Traditions." The hostess served a dessert course to Mesdames Sue Hale, Isabelle Stephens, Patsy Evans, Lucy Regan, Sarah Laven, Helen Music, Dolly Pettrey, Docia Woods, Janice Pack, Opal Diggins, Julia Harrington, Nawonie Conley, Goldia Williams, and Lois Williams, members, and Mrs. Linda Spradlin, a guest.

Pikeville Grad, CPA Here, Sees Trend To Higher Education, Professions

Pikeville, Ky.—In the world of business and accounting it is considered somewhat rare to take the C.P.A. exam and pass it the first time around. But that is exactly what happened to one certified public accountant, Bill Bottoms, who also happens to be a graduate of Pikeville College, class of '74.

"It's not that big a deal," Bottoms claims. "Hard work is the key to passing the exam on the first sitting."

He was certified in March of 1976 and has been in private practice since 1977 in Prestonsburg, where he lives with his wife Jenny and their two children. Jenny is a registered nurse, teaching at Prestonsburg Community College. She just finished her masters in adult education and counseling this past summer at Morehead State University.

Bottoms talks of his early years at Pikeville College—1972 and 1973, right after his 4-year stint in the U.S. Navy. "There were some special things about the college that were important to me," he recalls. "I'd been away from the academic world so long that I needed the right atmosphere, the sense of concern for the individual, to swing back into study patterns and gradually accelerate and compete."

"I'll always be glad the college was here to help motivate me, and I think the close student-teacher ratio was instrumental in doing that, and I've always felt that Pikeville had everything the student might need—it was there for those who wanted to learn. I know, because I was one of those."

One thing that helped him see where he was going more clearly, Bottom feels, is the fact that he was a little older with a wife and a child to support—that took care of any incentive he might have needed.

He sees a great demand for the professions in this area of eastern Kentucky. He feels that potentials are only now being tapped. Like an awakening Hydra, the more this potential is used the greater the need. Growth creates the demand for greater growth. Part of this growth-base will continue to be coal throughout the '80s, but things are changing and Bottoms argues that we are discovering professional and human resources we didn't know we had.

Specifically, he notices a growing awareness of higher education in "these newer generations of young people," and that is fortunate for a region like this—where lessons have been bought dearly by the need for excessive labor and hardship in earlier generations.

State Reports No Interest Conflict

Financial statements of 609 state officials examined this year do not show any conflicts of interest, according to the Financial Disclosure Review Commission's 1979 report.

The commission reviews the financial status of elected constitutional officers, including the governor, and major management personnel in the executive branch. It can also review other major management personnel or public officials as it deems appropriate.

Originally the commission was established by Gov. Carroll through executive order March 4, 1975. It then only reviewed non-merit state employees under the governor's jurisdiction. It was re-established as an independent agency with an expanded role by action of the 1978 General Assembly.

According to the report submitted today, the commission "is convinced, to the extent of the considerable information provided, there exists no conflict of interest with state government arising from an investment, contractual arrangement or outside employment, either directly or indirectly, on the part of any such employee of his or her spouse."

Included in the 609 confidential financial filings reviewed this year were 588 filed by the April 15 deadline. An additional 21 filings were submitted later by people who were employed by the state in the covered categories after April 15.

Those filing by April 15 had to submit both a financial disclosure statement and a copy of their 1978 federal tax forms. Newer employees filing after that date only had to file a financial disclosure statement. The new employees hired after April 15 were brought under commission jurisdiction by a bill passed during the 1979 extraordinary session of the General Assembly.

The financial statement required must reflect all offices and employment held by the employee, spouse and dependents, major holdings and net worth as of Jan. 1. Each year after the initial review, the employee must submit any revision in financial status by April 15.

During a press conference attended by commission members today, Gov. Carroll said creation of this agency is "one of the hallmarks" of his administration.

Snow and Ice Removal Maps Now Available

Individual county maps indicating state Department of Transportation snow and ice removal priorities for this winter will be available again this year, according to state Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson.

The maps, prepared and distributed by the department's Bureau of Highways, show which roads receive attention first according to four priority categories. After a request from Gov. Julian Carroll to the Department of Transportation following two consecutive hard winters, county maps were made available for the first time last year. Grayson said snow and ice removal priorities were available only on a statewide map prior to 1978.

Grayson explained that with Kentucky's 25,000 miles of state-maintained roads, "limited manpower and equipment requires a priority system by which the most heavily traveled roads are cleared first."

"The county maps were developed to inform Kentucky residents which roads are scheduled to be cleared first in their own county," he added.

Kentucky's roads are classified as follows:

Priority One—Interstate highways, parkways (toll roads), urban expressways and any other state-maintained road of exceptional traffic volume.

Priority Two—State primary roads (such as US 60, US 127), expressways, bypasses and other access roads with slightly less traffic volume.

Priority Three—State secondary roads such as KY 52, rural secondary roads, other roads of equal traffic volume.

Priority Four—All remaining state-maintained roads not included in one of the first three categories.

Roads classified as Priority One, Two or Three are to be maintained through plowing, salting and sand spreading often enough to keep them safe for travel, according to Russell Romine, assistant state highway engineer.

Priority Four roads will be maintained when all other roads are clear, Romine said. "We plan to get to all roads we're responsible for," he added.

Romine explained that the priority system is not absolute, and that local officials have some flexibility concerning which roads are cleared. "If an county foreman or district engineer feels a road should receive extra attention due to an emergency, whatever work is needed may be authorized to improve a road's condition," he said.

Romine said city streets and county roads not part of the state-maintained system are not included in the road maintenance plan.

Copies of county maps may be obtained from the Bureau of Highways district office or by writing the Department of Transportation in Frankfort.

Traffic Arrests Up in September

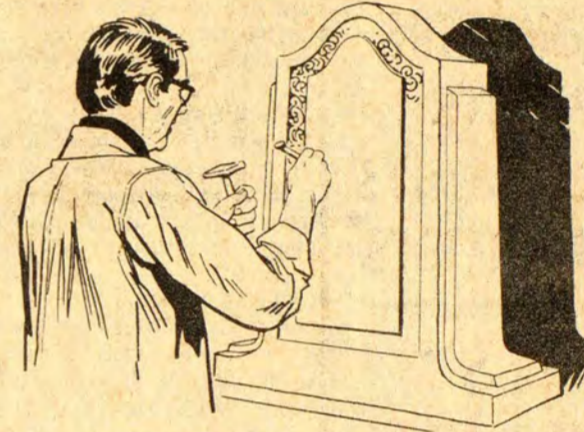

State police at Pikeville report a slight rise in traffic arrests during September.

State Police Commissioner Kenneth E. Brandenburg said today Pikeville troopers made 938 traffic arrests during September as compared with 885 just one month earlier. Drunk driving arrests, however, were down from 79 to 71 during that same period.

Quoting from the latest activity figures available for the Pikeville post area, which covers Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties, Brandenburg also said the post reported 67 criminal arrests. The August total was 98.

Other September activity totals for the Pikeville post included 19 stolen vehicle recoveries, 151 arrests for public intoxication, 152 motorists assisted, 296 vehicle accident investigations, 83 crime prevention program contacts and eight safety education program presentations.

Statewide, during September, the state police reported 18,504 traffic arrests, including 1,235 for drunk driving, 1,285 criminal arrests and 182 stolen vehicle recoveries.

'Ormandy at 80' Is KET Salute

Eugene Ormandy, music director for the world-famous Philadelphia Orchestra, celebrates his birthday in a special production of "Ormandy At Eighty" for "Great Performances," on KET Wednesday, November 21 at 9 p.m.

To mark the occasion, the Hungarian-born conductor leads the orchestra, hailed by composer Sergei Rachmaninoff as "The greatest virtuoso orchestra in the world," in a performance of Rachmaninoff's Symphony No. 2 in E minor (op. 27).

A special feature piece traces Ormandy's musical career and his association with the orchestra. During the interview he reminisces about his friendship with Rachmaninoff, which dates back to 1930.

In the "Great Performances" tradition, "Ormandy At Eighty" salutes the maestro for his almost half-century association with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

"Ormandy At Eighty" is repeated Sunday, November 25 at 4 p.m.

NOTICE

To Comply With Executive Orders 11988 Floodplain and Wetland Impact Along Levisa Fork Between Prestonsburg And Allen

Floyd County, Kentucky

The Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, is considering financial assistance in extending water lines south of Prestonsburg to Tram, and the provision of other improvements to the City of Prestonsburg water system. A description of the project is as follows:

1. Extension and Interconnection of Water Line Segments: Segment 1 - 2,800 L.F. of 12 inch connecting existing water storage tank to east section of Prestonsburg; Segment 2 - 12 inch main beginning east of City near cemetery along U.S. 23, 700 L.F. east, then crossing Levisa Fork twice 2,500 L.F., then parallel to Levisa Fork 2,800 L.F. to the water treatment plant, then 600 L.F. to an existing 394,800 gallon water ground storage tank; Segment 3 - 20,200 L.F. of 10 inch beginning at a point 1.2 miles downstream from Emma and connecting with an existing 10 inch line, then east 2,000 L.F. crossing Levisa Fork to the C & O Railroad, then paralleling the railroad and Levisa Fork 18,900 L.F. to New Allen in the vicinity of the existing water storage tank at Allen; Segment 4 - 9,400 L.F. 12 inch line paralleling U.S. 23 from New Allen to Banner; Segment 5 - 26,000 L.F. of 8 inch line paralleling U.S. 23 from Banner to Tram at Mare Creek to connect to the Big Sandy water district.

2. The capacity of the existing Prestonsburg water treatment plant will be increased to 3 mgd.

3. Two new water storage tanks will be constructed, one 500,000 gallon tank at Prestonsburg and a 300,000 gallon tank at Allen.

4. A water booster pumping station will be constructed at Mare Creek.

The proposed construction is expected to begin in the spring of 1980 and in the fall of 1981. Most of the water line and the improvements to the water treatment plant and the booster pump are located in the floodplain of Levisa Fork. The water storage tanks will be located out of the floodplain area.

The construction of these water works improvements is located in the 100 year floodplain because the existing urban development needing these improvements is located in the floodplain. Therefore the cost of locating the improvements elsewhere would be prohibitive. No wetlands are involved. All construction will be monitored in order to insure that the standards for construction in floodplains are being met. The proposed construction will have a minimal impact on the natural values of the Levisa floodplain during construction, and the proposed improvements will have no adverse long-term impact.

Agencies involved in the project are the City of Prestonsburg.

Drive Safely Thanksgiving, Police Advise

State police predictions of traffic accidents during the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday weekend probably won't keep anyone off the highways, but they should.

"We'll be out there with everything in our inventory—radar, marked and unmarked cars," said Lt. Ernest Bivens, director of Public Affairs for the KSP. "But I'm afraid that Thanksgiving still is going to turn out to be the last holiday on earth for a lot of people."

Bivens said a high death toll from traffic accidents appears almost a certainty, "unless, by some miracle, everyone suddenly decides to begin obeying the 55 mph speed limit, drive sober and watch out for the other guy."

"I'd like to be more optimistic about the kind of weekend it's going to be," he said, "but, over the past 15 years, the double digit death toll has become virtually a Thanksgiving tradition in Kentucky."

Bivens said that except for 1974, when seven deaths were recorded, every Thanksgiving holiday since 1964 has ended with anywhere from 11 to 32 dead. Last year, 15 were killed, bringing the 15-year death count to 245.

"Only the Fourth of July, with 226 deaths since 1964, comes even close to matching that record. I wish we could blame it on the weather, rather than the drivers, but we can't," Bivens said.

Speed, drinking and failure to yield consistently are listed, year after year, as the major causes of traffic deaths both in Kentucky and nationally, he said.

"And year after year, we repeat the same fact and those same warnings over and over again to anyone who will listen, but people go right on driving as they always have, killing themselves and others," he said.

Thus far this year, more than 119,000 motorists already have been cited by state police for moving hazardous violations, most of which involved speeding, drinking while driving and failure to yield. But the worst may still be ahead of us.

"With Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's coming, one right after the other, we are entering what we fear could be the most dangerous time of the year on our highways," Bivens said. In an effort to offset that threat, state police will be especially alert during the next six weeks to every type of traffic violation, especially speeding and drunk driving.

For the state police, the holidays are going to be another workday, Bivens said. "We will be out, in maximum force, using every facility at our disposal to keep the death and accident tolls down. If that means spoiling someone's holiday with a traffic ticket then, so be it," he said.

To avoid that inconvenience—or worse, an accident which could very well kill, maim or permanently disable you or a member of your family—Bivens said, "If you are going to drive over the holidays, don't speed; and if you are going to drink, don't drive."

Bill To Up Pot Penalty, Help Independent Aged

A bill that would stiffen penalties for possession and sale of marijuana and a proposal to expand Project Independence for the elderly statewide were approved today by the Interim Joint Committee on Health and Welfare.

The committee voted to send a letter to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee and to the governor endorsing the proposal to expand Project Independence services for persons over 60 years of age who might otherwise require nursing home care. At a subcommittee meeting this morning, Charles Cain of the Bureau for Social Services estimated it would cost $13 to $15 million to expand the program.

A bill that would set a graduated series of penalties for possession of varying amounts of marijuana was approved for pre-filing. The bill would also set penalties of one to five years in jail and a fine of $3,000 to $5,000 for involving minors in the sale of controlled substances.

Penalties range from 90 days in jail or a $250 fine for possession of less than 30 grams of marijuana to a 10-to-20-year jail sentence and a $250,000 fine for sale or possession of more than 50 pounds. The bill would also require offenders convicted of trafficking in controlled substances to serve at least a third of their sentence.

The committee also approved a resolution calling for the funding of additional residential treatment facilities for drug abusers. Bob Gray, a legislative analyst, told a subcommittee meeting this morning it would cost about $1 million for five additional treatment centers and for additional treatment facilities for comprehensive care centers. Currently there is only one such facility in the state. The funding is already included in the Department for Human Resources budget request, Rep. Dottie Priddy (D-Louisville) told the committee.

The committee also approved for pre-filing a bill that would give state aid for regional ambulance services. According to an estimate presented to a subcommittee last week, the measure would cost about $7 million over the biennium. Also approved was a resolution calling for the Legislative Research Commission to look into the feasibility of using helicopters for emergency medical transport.

In other action today, the committee: —Passed over a bill that would appropriate funds to Community Action Agencies into those counties not currently receiving full services, for low income and elderly persons, such as day care, meals on wheels, legal services and youth employment and training.

—Approved a bill that would redefine the duties of dentists and other dental personnel to allow dentists to delegate some of their tasks to assistants. It would also increase the dental board membership from seven to nine members and increase license fees for dentists.

—Passed over a bill that would set aside $600,000 over the biennium for the Department of Local Government to develop plans for evacuation in the event of a disaster at a nuclear plant.

The wedding will be solemnized at the McDowell High School, Thursday, November 22, at 3 p.m. The gracious custom of open church will be observed, and all friends and relatives of the bride and groom are invited to attend. ## COPE Work Ends As Funds Exhausted

Human Resources Secretary J. E. DeShazer said at the end of October that the Crisis Oriented Program for Emergencies (COPE) has been suspended because funds have been exhausted.

COPE offers emergency funds to individuals or families who face a severe financial crisis and who have no children living at home.

The department has instructed its Bureau for Social Insurance staff to stop taking applications for COPE as of 4:30 p.m. October 29. Applications accepted by that time will be processed, said DeShazer.

COPE was implemented with a $750,000 allocation from the 1978 General Assembly for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1980. The department has been accepting applications since July 1, 1979.

During the previous fiscal year the allotment of $750,000 for the crisis program was exhausted within nine weeks. Changes were made in this year's program to reach more applicants with the same amount of money.

To date, 3,844 households have received $557,000 to meet emergency needs. About 700 applications are pending.

DeShazer said the department administers other programs that offer various types of assistance and that every effort will be made to extend that aid to applicants who are eligible.

Think Regional, Officials Told

Doing things on a regional concept from the 15 Kentucky area development districts to the multi-state regional commissions has been received recently for more than 300 local, regional, state and federal officials.

Al Smith, who may soon become the federal co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Council, is approaching the issue from examples he has seen as a local weekly newspaper editor.

Smith cited Russellville's hospital tax as an example of Republican and Democratic cooperation to get something done. He talked of the solution of a 1962 Logan County drought as responding to one need in one area while resolving a problem in another.

The 22-year newspaper veteran also spoke of how solutions to an agricultural marketing problem brought about a $1 million educational legacy for his county.

Smith said each of the incidents he cited showed how small cities can reach out to urban areas who in turn work with counties, then regions and on up to states to make things happen.

Having viewed his first Appalachian Regional Commission project recently at the dedication of a housing development in eastern Kentucky, Smith spoke emotionally of what faith and hope had accomplished. The project, previously known as the Sanctified Hill program, was the result of seven years of effort to relocate 26 families whose homes were demolished in a mudslide.

Later in the program John Whisman, now serving as a federal official in the new regional program, again referred to this project as an example of regionalism making things happen that would otherwise be illegal.

The loss of the 26 homes was not large enough to get federal assistance, but when it was expanded to a "demonstration project" for land and housing development, it was funded, Whisman explained.

He and Frank Groschelle, who both have headed area development programs in Kentucky, traced the history of these programs and predicted rosy futures. Both men issued warnings that the state arm needed to be directly from the governor's office and that the basic concept of service to local governments controlled by local governments should not be lost.

To Observe 50th Anniversary

Rufus and Erian Roberts Sturgill, of Betsy Layne, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house to be held Saturday, November 17, from 2 until 4 p.m. at the lodge at Jenny Wiley State Park. All friends, relatives and neighbors of the couple are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturgill both grew up on Toler's Creek and were married December 23, 1929. During these fifty years, they have resided at Osborne, Van Lear, Harold (Pin Hook) and Mi Village at Betsy Layne. The couple have seven children—Charlotte Forsyth, of Mi Village, Betsy Layne; Barbara Billiter, of Harold; Willie Guy Sturgill, of Louisville; Nadine Lingle, also of Louisville; Joyce Ann Casals and Maudie Lou Sturgill, both of San Diego, and Gene Sturgill, of Pikeville.

Mr. Sturgill was employed by Columbia Gas Company at Boldman until his retirement a few years ago. Mrs. Sturgill has operated a grocery store at Harold for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturgill look forward to visiting with many of their friends and acquaintances this Saturday afternoon at May Lodge.

NLRB Rules Drivers Needn't Join Union

Truckers who own and operate their own vehicles cannot be forced to join a union as if they were employees of their contractors, an administrative law judge of the National Labor Relations Board has ruled in a San Diego, California case.

The NLRB judge issued this ruling recently in response to a complaint brought by independent truck owner-operators, after they were compelled to join the Teamsters union or suffer the loss of hauling contracts with San Diego contractors. The judge held that the truck owner-operators were themselves independent, individual, contractors, and hence that efforts by the Teamsters union to have the truckers' contractors pressure them into the union were an illegal "secondary boycott" under Federal labor laws.

The truck owner-operators' complaint challenged the legality of provisions in the Teamster union contract with building and construction contractors in southern California. The challenged provisions required that any independent truck owner-operator used by the contractors first be cleared by the Teamsters union and then be compelled to join the union like employees of the contractors.

The independent truckers complained that, under pressure from Teamsters

Local No. 36, the construction contractors threatened to deny them hauling contracts unless they joined the union.

Attorneys argued in their complaint that independent owner-operators should not be regarded as employees of their contractors, since they essentially ran their own trucking firms. They further argued that the Teamsters' demands that the contractors boycott any owner-operator who failed to join the union were illegal under the National Labor Relations Act.

The federal statute makes it an unfair labor practice for a union to cause an employer to refrain from business dealings with any third person, in order to advance the union's objective of putting pressure on the third person. This is termed a "secondary boycott" of the third party.

The NLRB administrative law judge found that the Teamsters union and the construction contractors had collaborated in a boycott of independent truck owner-operators who failed to join the union and obtain the union's clearance to contract with the contractors.

"The owner-operator has only two choices," stated the judge, "he can become an employee against his will...or he can be precluded from hauling for (the) contractors, thereby effectively taking himself out of the hauling business." This, he held, was an illegal secondary boycott of the owner-operators, as independent contractors themselves.

New Legislator Speaks At Teacher Ass'n Meet

Members of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association held their regular quarterly meeting Saturday at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, with the president, Mrs. Norma Stepp, in charge. The Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, brought the devotionals, ending his message with the reading of the verses of the song, "We Thank Thee, Lord."

Mrs. Anna May Mellon, treasurer, announced that this organization now has 123 paid members and six associate members. A discussion was held regarding efforts to get the remaining 27 retired teachers of the county to become members, and so reach the 100 percent membership goal.

The President announced that cards had been sent to members, Mrs. Frankie Best and Mrs. Kelsie Elliott, who have been ill. She then read thank-you notes from the family of the late Alton Crisp, expressing their appreciation to the members for the book, "The Kingdom Within," by Kentucky author Jesse Stuart, to be placed in memory of Mr. Crisp in the Floyd County Library; and from the family of the late Mrs. Martha Harris Allen, thanking them for the poetry book, which will soon be added to the library here in Mrs. Allen's memory.

Mrs. Minnie Grace Sutherland, program leader, presented State Representative-Elect Gregory D. Stumbo, as speaker for the meeting. He asked that the purpose and the needs of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association be explained to him, and Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Mae K. Roberts lead the members in a discussion of these matters and in the formation of the group's five priorities, which they would like to have presented in connection with the tentative legislative program for Kentucky retired teachers. The speaker held a question-and-answer session following the discussion.

The hostesses, Mrs. Sarah Laven and Mrs. Goldia Short, used the Thanksgiving motif in the decorations and the refreshments. Those in attendance were the Rev. Tim Jessen, Gregory D. Stumbo, Mrs. Julia Stephens, Arnold Lowe, E. D. Roberts, and W. H. Martin, guests; and members, Mesdames Norma Stepp, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Opal May, Anna May Mellon, Docia B. Woods, Mae K. Roberts, Edith M. Hopkins, Alma Lowe, Rhoda M. Howard, Zella S. Archer, Beatrice Collins, Nora Martin, Lucy C. Regan, Hattie S. Reedy Grace Conley, and Ethel Ratliff; Misses Linda J. Stephens, Elsie Mae Stephens, Lexie L. Allen and Ruby Akers; Lewis Campbell, Wayne Ratliff, Carmel L. Akers and Marcus Owens.

Following a discussion with the members, the president announced that, since the General Assembly meets after the previously scheduled meeting of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' in February, the next meeting would be changed to Saturday, January 19, at noon, at the Floyd County Library here. Mrs. Stepp added that this would be a very important meeting, and urged all members, and prospective members to make plans to be present. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Nora Martin and Mrs. Rhoda M. Howard.

Wins National Title

Joey Gilkerson, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gilkerson, of Ypsilanti, Michigan, has had a Cinderella type success story in the past few months.

Miss Gilkerson started modeling in September, 1978. She attended her first modeling competition in October, 1978, where she won the title of Little Miss Sweetest Day, and from there was crowned Little Miss Valentine Princess. She went on to compete for Little Miss Michigan and was crowned with the state title. She then traveled to Louisville for the national finals and was crowned Little Miss North America, and North America's National Grand Champion.

Since winning the national titles, she has appeared on many television talent and talk shows. She is kept busy making personal appearances on behalf of her title. Most recently she was in Pikeville for a modeling seminar and was hostess at a regional pageant held at the Holiday Inn in Pikeville. She is presently appearing in the Nutcracker Suite at Ford Auditorium in Detroit. A proficient ballet dancer, she was selected for the part after a series of auditions. She will be hosting the upcoming Kentucky state finals in Lexington, May 10, and is also planning a special tour of Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Mich. Miss Gilkerson is the great-niece of Mrs. Lawrence Nunemaker, of Allen, and a great granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Jane Keathley, who is 95 years old. Her mother is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Keathley, formerly of McDowell.

★ Cancer Hopeline ★

Q—My mother, a cancer patient, is now undergoing radiation treatment. Could you explain the purpose of this cancer treatment? Also, I've been told that radiation therapy causes bad side effects. Is this true?

A—Radiation treatment for the management of cancer has become increasingly important during the past 20 years. Currently it is used as a form of treatment for 50 to 60 percent of all cancer patients at some stage of the disease. A small and localized cancer in a patient eligible for curative therapy is treated by radio-therapy if the cancer is made up of radiosensitive cells, is in a site inaccessible to surgical excision, and if surgery would produce undue damage to vital tissues.

When cure is not possible, radiation therapy may considerably prolong life and restore comfort to the cancer patient. This type of palliative irradiation may reduce the size and delay the spread of cancers, heal and relieve tumor-related obstructions of the blood or lymph vessels. Palliative radiotherapy may also be administered to relieve pain or, in the event of bone tumors or metastases, prevent tumor-caused fractures.

Radiation is usually delivered only to limited, cancerous areas but because radiation affects all cells, both normal and abnormal, the radiotherapist and the staff will plan treatments so that as little as possible of the normal tissues is treated. This requires that the cancer area be accurately located in relation to normal body structures. Radiation cures cancer by killing abnormal cells. However, it also can damage normal cells and so for this reason the planning of the treatment requires great skill and care. Lately, careful studies have set exact dosages for many types of cancer—meaning more effect treatment, less radiation damage to normal tissues.

Safe doses of radiation therapy can also cause skin reactions, nausea, vomiting, a feeling of tiredness - all of which disappear with rest and good nutrition. When these temporary side effects are balanced against the potential for controlling or curing a form of cancer, the benefit to the patient is obvious because unchecked cancer costs lives.

Those wanting to know more about radiation treatment may write or call the Cancer Hopeline for a free booklet: 915 South Limestone, Lexington, Kentucky 40563 and/or 1-800-432-9321.

ERC Orders Ky. Power Co. To Comply Fully

The state Energy Regulatory Commission has found that all 28 electric utilities it recently examined have complied with regulations of the fuel adjustment clause with one minor exception.

Kentucky Power Co. of Ashland was the only utility found not to be in complete compliance with the regulations.

The company has not applied cost increases and decreases associated with the clause to certain street lighting contract sales despite the commission's denial of a request to exempt them.

In its order, the commission said "all customers should bear their proportionate share of fuel costs" and it "can only be accomplished if the fuel clause is applied consistently to all kilo-watt-hour sales." It ordered the company to apply the clause to all sales and to calculate the revenue lost since Nov. 1, 1978. The dollar amount will be recorded as a penalty.

The commission ordered most of the utilities to study the feasibility of having routine meter reading programs to protect customers if electricity costs continue to rise. As prices rise, the commission cautioned, the pirating of electricity will grow and "diligent customers" will have to absorb the costs unless they are protected.

The utilities examined were Kentucky Power, Union Light, Heat & Power, East Kentucky Power Cooperative, Berea College Electric, Big Rivers Electric Corp., Kentucky Utilities, Meade County RECC, Jackson Purchase RECC, Henderson-Union RECC, South Kentucky RECC, Green River Electric Corp., Taylor County RECC, Farmers RECC, Cumberland Valley RECC, Fleming-Mason RECC, Fox Creek RECC, Nolin RECC, Owen County RECC, Licking Valley RECC, Jackson County RECC, Salt River RECC, and Shelby RECC.

Under a new regulation, the commission is required to examine the utilities' compliance with the fuel adjustment clause regulations every six months. The examination, which was the first to be performed, was for the period from Nov. 1, 1978 to April 30, 1979.

Is There a Robot in Your Future?

By Lynn Varacalli

You may not be asking yourself "Where am I going to get a robot to clean my house?" but there are some people who are gambling that you soon will be asking yourself that very question.

Quasar Industries makes robots. Presently, their robots are used primarily as promotional "celebrities" on television shows, at trade shows or grand openings. But Quasar's main goal, since its inception in 1969, has been the care and feeding - or rather the research and development - of the domestic android.

This "robotized" house servant is a robot of your very own that will answer the door, serve drinks and vacuum rugs. Unfortunately, robots will not do windows—too clumsy!

By 1980, Quasar plans to mass produce 125 robots a day for $3995 each. Weighing 180 pounds and standing 5' 2", each domestic android will have a cone-shaped body, a blank globe of a face (Quasar theorizes that people would rather project a personality into the robot themselves), tubular arms 3' long with functioning elbows, wrists, and hands with three fingers.

All the mechanical servants will be made to perform the following basic tasks:

- Answering the door and announcing visitors.
- Serving food and beverages on a standard equipped tray.
- Vacuuming rugs or polishing floors.

Monitoring the home for fire, smoke or unauthorized entry by sounding an alarm. (Sensitive to temperature, the robot can monitor the heating or air conditioning units in your home also.)

Speaking (English, unless otherwise requested) up to 250 words and recognizing up to 6 persons in the family by their individual voice patterns.

A "personality" type will be programmed into your android. If you need some cheerful chatter after a hard day's work, the robot will be so programmed. On the other hand, if a touch of sarcasm or some back talk turns you on, your android will be similarly turned on.

Aside from the basic features, there will be options available upon request. Some of these include a telephone answering monitor, an increased vocabulary, a foreign vocabulary, a walk-the-dog setup and a hedge trimmer option.

Okay, so you and your family decide a robot is the answer to your housecleaning problems. You put your order in for a domestic android or two. (Quasar is not taking orders as of yet.) The robot is sent to your home. (Quasar's promotional robots fly first class!) Then what?

A service technician will spend several days "acquainting" your servant with your family and your home. The exact dimensions of each room, plus the location of all furniture will have to be programmed into the robot, so the android can go about its business. When given a command to vacuum, for instance, the robot will not vacuum right into your television set.

Upon installation of your domestic android, service visits will be completed on a complimentary basis by a technician assigned to your area. Service contracts will be available for approximately $45.00 per month, which will assure uninterrupted, smooth robot service year after year. The life span of your mechanical servant is projected to be 25 years (which is better than average for live-in help).

Does all this talk of robots conjure up visions of the Jetsons and other science fiction? You are not the only skeptic. Experts in the artificial intelligence community feel that Quasar's domestic android can not possibly do what Quasar claims it can do. Only time will tell whether Quasar and the robots will soon be household words, not to mention household servants.

Quasar feels there is a market out there for household robots—a $35 billion market to be exact. It's a novel idea, and only Quasar knows for sure just what its robot can and can not do. They proclaim it can do basic household chores (like those mentioned earlier) but not delicate tasks such as polishing silver. Find out for yourself. For more information, contact Quasar Industries at 59 Meadow Road, Rutherford, N.J. 07070. You can be the first on your block to own a domestic android, but you'll still have to do your own windows. # Myths Debunked

Prices good thru Saturday

By DEBRA JOHNSON
Public Education Specialist
Mountain Comprehensive Care Center

Myth—"Most alcoholics are skid row bums." Fact—Only three to five percent are. Most alcoholics are married, employed, regular people who live in relatively nice neighborhoods. Myth—"Most skid row bums are alcoholic." Fact—Not so! A recent study found that less than half the derelicts on skid row had any drinking problem at all. Myth—"Very few women become alcoholic." Fact—During the 1950s, there were five or six alcoholic men reported for every one woman. Now, the ratio is about three to one with some physicians reporting nearly equal numbers of men and women patients.

Myth—"Most alcoholic people are middle-aged or older." Fact—Although alcoholism is often manifest between 30 and 55 years of age, research has found that the highest proportion of drinking problems is actually among men in their early twenties. The second highest incidence occurs among men in their forties and fifties. Myth—"You're not alcoholic unless you drink a pint a day." Fact—There is no simple rule. Experts have concluded that how much one drinks may be far less important than when, how, and why one drinks. However, if you drink a lot of beer or wine or distilled spirits, you still drink a lot. Myth—"The drunk tank is a good cure for alcoholics." Fact—Alcoholism is an illness. We do not jail people for other illnesses such as epilepsy, cancer, or tuberculosis. Why do we continue to do so for alcoholism? Myth—"The really serious problem in our society is drug abuse." Fact—Right on! And our number one drug problem is alcohol abuse. About 300,000 Americans are addicted to heroin, but nearly 9,000,000 are dependent on alcohol. Myth—"Alcohol is a stimulant." Fact—Initially acting as a temporary irritant of the mouth and throat, alcohol is about as good a stimulant as ether. Alcohol eventually acts to depress or slow down the central nervous system. The loud talking and bizarre actions that often follow alcohol ingestion are really part of a "pseudo-stimulation," the results of a loss of inhibitions as alcohol depresses brain function.

Myth—"The person who can hold his liquor will never become an alcoholic." Fact—Don't envy the person who can drink everybody else under the table. Such an individual may never feel the need to exercise caution and thus may tend to drink indiscriminately. In addition, the person who can hold so much liquor is developing a tolerance for alcohol. Tolerance is a polite word that describes drug dependency. Myth—"People get drunk or sick from switching drinks." Fact—Switching from vodka to beer to bourbon to wine does not make much difference, really. What usually causes an adverse reaction to alcohol is the total amount consumed when a person drinks. Myth—"You are safe as long as it's only beer." Fact—Sure thing! Just like it's only Scotch or gin. Actually, one beer or one glass of wine is about equal to one average highball in alcohol content. The effect of beer might be a little slower, but you can get just as drunk on beer and become as much of an alcoholic on beer as on wine or hard liquor.

Myth—"Getting drunk is funny." Fact—Maybe in the old Charlie Chaplin movies but not in real life. Drunkenness is no funnier than any other illness or incapacity. Myth—"A good host never lets a guest's glass get empty." Fact—There's nothing hospitable about pushing alcohol or any other drug. A good host doesn't want his guests to get drunk or sick. He wants them to have a good time and remember it the next day. Myth—"People are friendlier when they're drunk." Fact—Maybe so. But they're also more hostile, more dangerous, more criminal, and more suicidal. Half of all murders and one-third of all suicides are alcohol related. Myth—"If parents don't drink, their children won't drink." Fact—True, much of the time. But the highest incidence of alcoholism occurs among offspring of parents who are either teetotalers or alcoholics. Perhaps the extremism of the parents' attitude is an important contributing factor.

Myth—"It's rude to refuse a drink." Fact—Nonsense! Refusing a drink is no more rude than refusing a piece of cake. What is rude is trying to push a drink on someone who doesn't want it or shouldn't have it. Myth—"Alcohol warms the body." Fact—Beverage alcohol may impart a sensation of warmth in the body by creating surface heat. However, as the blood courses near the skin's surface, a heat loss actually occurs and body temperature is lowered. Myth—"Thank God my kid's only on alcohol and not on drugs." Fact—If your kid is hooked on drinking alcohol, he is hooked on drugs. Alcohol is one of the hardest drugs known. Myth—"A few drinks can help you unwind and relax." Fact—Very true. But if you use alcohol like a medicine, it's time to see a doctor. Myth—"Mixing your drinks causes hangovers." Fact—The major cause of hangovers is drinking too much. Period!

Enjoys New Apartment

Mrs. Rebecca Burchett, seen here relaxing in her new apartment, feels so pleased with it she opened it to visitors at Highland Terrace's Open House on Sunday.

If you have ever wondered why a dog's nose is always cold, you were indulging in a whimsy old as man's association with this wonderful and loyal canine. As a result of this wonder, many peculiar little tales have been invented to account for it.

One story has it that the dog helped Noah drive all the other animals into the ark at the time of the catastrophic flood of Bible history. The dog was the last to go aboard and by that time the vessel was so full it was nigh bursting at the seams. As a consequence, there was no room for the poor dog inside and it had to stand in the doorway with its nose outside in the rain. The rain was so cold the dog's nose chilled and it has never been warm since.

Modern science, however, has a more down-to-earth explanation for this canine characteristic. According to veterinarians, the coldness of a dog's nose is due to the fact that it must be kept moist all the time in order to keep sharp the sense of smell which is vital to a hunter. The constant evaporation of the moisture, of course, tends to keep the nose cold.

There is always a good reason for things in nature and while on the subject of dogs, if you have also wondered why a dog turns around two or three or four times before lying down, animal psychologists have a reason for that, too.

Dogs, like men, have certain traits and instincts which they have inherited from a wild and savage ancestry. Their remote parents were wild dogs, very similar to wolves, jackals, hyenas and foxes. In fact, the wolf or the jackal was perhaps the real ancestor of our Old Ring or Rover. During the thousands of years that have passed, though, man has gradually tamed and domesticated the dog. Skill in breeding has resulted in the production of varieties as far apart as the Saint Bernard and the hairless Chihuahua.

But in spite of all man's cleverness, the domestic dog still retains many mysterious instincts which have never been bred out of it and which were doubtless useful in helping it stay alive in the primitive world full of prey and predators.

One of these instincts is this turning around and around before lying down. The wild dog made its bed in the jungle out of grass and drifting leaves. By turning around and around, it trampled out a comfortable and sheltered bed in the long grass, hidden from hungry or blood-thirsty prowlers that fain would do it in. By turning around and around, the dog was able to scan the horizon for sign of approaching enemies.

NUTS: Harvesting, Drying, Storage

By JOHN E. SPARKS
County Extension Agent
for Agriculture

Fall brings more than the first frost, colored leaves on trees and Halloween. It's a time for harvesting nuts, too. Many young Americans have never enjoyed this experience.

Nuts ripen from August to November, depending on the species and variety. They should be allowed to mature full on the trees and to fall naturally or with mild shaking. Gather nuts from the ground as soon as they have fallen, especially if the area is troubled by rodents, rainfall, neighbors or high humidity. Rapid harvest helps to prevent discoloration of the shell and kernel.

Persian walnuts and chestnuts are better if collected daily, for they mold rapidly if left in the hull on damp ground. Only chestnuts free of mold and decay should be stored. Place these in cold storage immediately after harvest.

Hull back walnuts before they turn black. If the walnuts are washed thoroughly in water as soon as the hulls are removed, the nuts will be more attractive when dry.

Most nuts have a high oil content and consequently a reasonably long storage life. All nuts should be air-dried before storage. If the shells break with a sharp snap as you crack them with your fingers, then they are dry enough to store. Store at a relative humidity of 65-75 percent. Failure to dry nuts properly often results in a moldy, poor quality product.

If the humidity is too low, there is undue drying. If it is too high, the nuts will lose quality and develop a rancid flavor.

For good storage a moisture content of less than 3.5 percent is suggested for pecan and walnut kernels. This is quite dry. Pecans must have less than 4.5 percent moisture content within two weeks to avoid deterioration. Hence, dryness must be accomplished in a short period either through use of drying room or by some other means.

If you know of a woodland area which has nut-bearing trees and the area is open to you, take advantage of a nice fall day to harvest some nuts. Come winter, you'll be glad you did.

The Disaster Unemployment Assistance program, administered by the U.S. Department of Labor, provides financial assistance to employees and self-employed workers whose regular jobs were lost or interrupted as a direct result of a major disaster such as tornado, hurricane, earthquake, snowstorm, drought, fire or explosion.

These recommendations will not be released in final form until after the Nov. 6 election to avoid the changes becoming a political issue, said Clapp.

The special subcommittee met here today and Thursday.

Clapp said the subcommittee will ask permission from the Legislative Research Commission to meet past the Oct. 31 committee meeting deadline set by LRC.

Proposed changes in the law will be aimed at raising benefits to injured workers and reducing workmen's compensation premiums paid by state employers, he said.

Major recommendations include doubling the $121 maximum weekly benefit to permanently, totally disabled workers; placing a time limit, such as four years, on permanent partial disability benefits paid to workers who are back on the job with pay and chance for advancement equal to pre-injury levels; and establishment of a rehabilitation program for injured ed workers under a separate bill.

Doubling of permanent total benefits will not result in increased premiums for two reasons, according to Clapp. Benefits of this type account for only 5 to 6 percent of the total pay out, and, in addition, the legislators plan to tie these benefits to social security benefits, he said. This tie would mean a worker's compensation benefits would be reduced by the social security payment amount, said Rep. Clapp.

Placing a time limit on permanent partial disability benefit payment and establishing a rehabilitation program will contribute to premium reduction, said Clapp. Permanent partial benefits make up 63 percent of workmen's compensation payments, he said.

Insurance industry representatives said placing a four-year cap on permanent partial payments would reduce premiums by 30 percent, he added.

The big IF in modern medicine stands for interferon, a hormone-like substance that shows promise as a weapon against a wide spectrum of viral diseases—from cancer to the common cold. Interferon is still in early stages of testing, the November Reader's Digest reports; scientists are hampered by the scarcity of the substance and its cost—a few years ago it cost $2000 to treat one common cold through interferon spray.

Named Principal of Year

Ernest Hamilton, native of this county and principal of the Jasper, O. Elementary School, is shown at left receiving the award naming him "Principal of the Year" from Ohio State P.T.A. President Louis Overbeck. The presentation was made at a meeting held at the Sheraton Hotel in Columbus, Ohio.

Ernest Hamilton, native of Teaberry, was recently named "Principal of the Year" in the Southeastern District by the Ohio State P.T.A. This district includes a five-county area.

Hamilton, 34, who has been principal of the Jasper (Ohio) Elementary School for the past four years, also received praise from both the present Scioto Valley Superintendent, Dr. Sam S. Smith, and the former superintendent, John C.

Martin. The Jasper P.T.A. nominated him for the honor which he received from the state organization, and he says of them, "Here in Jasper we have one of the best schools and P.T.A.'s in the state..."

Mr. Hamilton attended elementary school at Antioch and is a 1964 graduate of Betsy Layne High School. He attended Alice Lloyd College and Pikeville College where he received a Bachelor of Science degree. In 1974, he received his Master's degree from Xavier University. Among the teachers he credits with inspiring him are Marie Reynolds, Maggie Howell, Mearl Tackett, Goldia Mae DeRossett, and Helen Mitchell in grade school, and high school teachers, Myrtle Howard, A. J. Crider, Hershel Conn, Chessie Cornett, Phyllis Slone, Florence Harris and Lola Burke.

He is a son of Garfield and Edna Hamilton, of Teaberry, and his wife, Priscilla, is the daughter of the late John B. and Lula Hamilton, of Ligon. Mrs. Hamilton, who is a media specialist at Piketon High School, was herself the recipient two years ago of the Martha Holden Jennings Award for outstanding work as a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton are the parents of three children, Kerry Kevin, Katrina Kaye, and Kirby Ken, and reside near Piketon, Ohio.

Governors' Memorial Project in Danville

A memorial to Kentucky's first governor, Isaac Shelby, and all who have succeeded him to the post is under construction at Constitution Square State Shrine in Danville.

The Governors' Circle and other renovation under way at Constitution Square will cost the state approximately $323,000, Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery said.

The project includes renovation of the log buildings in the square, landscaping, new lighting and walkways, and construction of an office, public rest rooms and new parking areas.

The shrine in the heart of the city marks the site where Shelby and other Kentucky pioneers met in 1784, and at succeeding conventions in 1787, 1788, and 1789 to seek separation from Virginia and statehood for Kentucky.

With the granting of statehood to Kentucky in 1792, the commonwealth's first constitution was framed and adopted at the same meeting place.

The shrine includes the log cabin which housed the first post office west of the Alleghenies, along with replicas of the jail, courthouse and meeting house. A museum in the jail contains many mementos of Shelby, including furnishings and surveying tools he used.

The governors' memorial will be in the form of a circular garden with brick walkways. A series of bronze plaques in the inner circle will give details about the life of Shelby, who was a hero of the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812 and who served as governor two terms, 1792-1796 and 1812-1816.

A statue in the center of the memorial will depict the pioneer and statesman pictured on Kentucky's state seal. J.E. Owens, deputy commissioner for planning, construction and maintenance, said the figures represent a later version of the seal which Shelby called for and helped design.

The outer circle in the memorial garden will include a series of plaques with portraits and information on each of Kentucky's later governors, Owens explained.

The two 6-foot statues and 54 interpretive plaques are being prepared under a $66,000 contract with Merijohan-Wengler Inc. and sculptor George F. Yostel, of Cincinnati, project administrator Thomas Engstrom said.

Yostel also did the sculptures of former Gov. (now U.S. senator from Kentucky) Wendell Ford at State Democratic Headquarters and of Adolph Rupp in the Sports Arena at Lexington Civic Center.

The Constitution Square project is scheduled for completion in September 1980.

Wood Plus Know-How Can Cut Fuel Bills

As the temperature drops and home heating oil prices rise, many Kentuckians have begun the search for alternate sources of energy. If you are fortunate enough to have the essential equipment in your home, an old method can bring relief to your heating bill.

When George Washington pitched his silver dollar across the Potomac, Americans were heating their homes with an abundant natural resource—wood.

But times have changed since Washington's feat. According to the state Division of Forestry, the resource that was once so plentiful is now in need of careful management and conservation. "Wood, however, is still a viable source of energy if used properly," said Elmore Grim, director of the forestry division. "Knowing which types of wood suit your needs, which trees to cut and how to properly store your wood can save you money."

Pound for pound, all types of wood have about the same heat value. For a given volume, however, heavier woods contain more heat. Trees that generate high amounts of heat include oak, hickory, black locust, beech, white ash and hard maple.

Softer woods do not burn as hot as hardwoods, but burn more readily. Good soft woods like pine, yellow poplar and cottonwood should be mixed with the hardwoods for efficient burning.

The price of firewood in Kentucky ranges anywhere from $50 to $150 per cord. If you have to pay premium prices for wood, chances are you won't save much on your heating bill. There are alternatives to high wood prices, however.

Wood may be gathered from many sources if you are willing to spend the time and effort doing the work yourself. Good places to gather wood are around urban areas, new housing developments, landfills and other land-clearing operations. Permission may be obtained to cut the wood and haul it away, benefiting both the land developer and the firewood user.

Another good place to find firewood is in the seven state forests around the commonwealth. Permission from district foresters must be obtained before you begin gathering wood.

Your best bet for gathering cheap firewood, however, is to know a farmer or own your own piece of land. For proper timber management, treetops and low-quality trees must be culled out. Trees which are crooked, diseased or damaged have no commercial value and make excellent firewood. Free of charge, state foresters can show land owners which trees need to be culled.

Now that you know which wood to gather and where to get it, the remaining step to proper wood gathering is knowing how to store your harvest.

Wood should be as dry as possible before burning, and state foresters advocate cutting, splitting and stacking your wood at least six months before it is burned.

For best drying results, wood should be stacked in perpendicular layers on blocks or stringers. An open shed is the best place to store wood, but if one is not available, cover the top of the woodpile with canvas or plastic. Another important thing to remember is that wood may harbor insects and other pests. Keep wood at least 25 feet from the house, and never store large quantities of wood indoors.

Before you light the first fire of the season, it is a good idea to have your chimney cleaned.

"Creosote build-up is a serious fire hazard," Grim said. "We encourage everyone to have their chimney cleaned periodically to keep it in safe working condition."

Autumn Is Nut-Harvesting Time

By NEVYLE SHACKLEFORD
UK College of Agriculture

In autumn's past gathering hickorynuts, walnuts, hazelnuts, and chestnuts was a favorite pastime for many young Americans. Running a race with squirrels, chipmunks, and jaybirds, these delightful products from the wild were gathered and stored for cracking, roasting, and eating around the winter fireside. This form of outdoor activity has declined in recent years and many youngsters have never enjoyed this experience.

In case someone, young or old, would again like to go back in time to the old ways and have fun doing it, here are some hints from David L. Hensley, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture horticulture specialist, on the old-fashioned art of gathering and storing the wild fruits of the woodland nut trees and shrubs.

Depending on the species and varieties, says Hensley, nuts ripen all the way from August to November. They should be allowed to mature fully on the trees and fall naturally or with a mild shaking. The nuts should be gathered as soon as they have fallen, especially if the area is frequented by rodents or neighbors, or subjected to heavy rainfall or high humidity. Rapid harvest helps prevent discoloration of the shell and kernel.

Walnuts and chestnuts are better if collected daily because they mold rapidly if left on damp ground. Only chestnuts free of mold and decay should be stored. Place these in cold storage immediately after harvest.

Hull black walnuts before they turn black. If the walnuts are washed thoroughly in water as soon as the hulls are removed, the nuts will be more attractive and less messy when dry.

Most nuts, says Hensley, have a high oil content and consequently a reasonably long storage life. All nuts should be air-dried before storage. If the shells break with a sharp crack when hit with a hammer or squeezed between the jaws of a nutcracker, then they are dry enough to store. Store at a relative humidity of 65-75 percent.

For good storage a moisture content of less than 3.5 percent is suggested for pecan and walnut kernels. This is quite dry. Pecans must have less than 4.5 percent moisture content within two weeks to avoid deterioration.

If you know of a woodland area that has nut-bearing trees and the owner doesn't mind, take advantage of some nice fall day to gather some of these gifts made available by Mother Nature. They will be mighty good to eat come wintertime and the exercise will do you good. While out hunting nuts, you might also find some ripe persimmons and wild grapes that also make good eating picked fresh from the tree or vine, or made into pudding or jelly.

Energy-Saving House Opened

If this house doesn't sit quite square on its lot on KY 404, at David, that's because it is designed to face the sun. Built with cost- and energy-efficiency in mind, the house is warmed by solar heat absorbed through its southern face, with the warmed air drawn by fan from the top of the house to a stone storage area in the cellar, from where it rises to warm the house again during the night.

Heavy insulation and double-glazed windows, as well as the vertical design of the 1000-square-foot residence, are also expected to reduce energy cost substantially.

The three-bedroom house was built by Appalachian Housing Industries out of air-dried lumber, after a plan designed by Joseph Caldarola, of West Virginia, and engineered by Homer Hirst, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Workshops for State Teachers Set on Drug Education

"Making Decisions," an alcohol and drug education guide developed by the Kentucky Department of Education, will be introduced to teachers and administrators at a series of workshops across the state within the next two months.

Incorporating the work of the Division of Program Development, more than 1,500 Kentucky teachers and art students from Lexington's Henry Clay High School, the guide was developed to assist teachers in the implementation of the "Alcohol and Drug Education Act of 1974." This act made the teaching of alcohol and drug education mandatory in all Kentucky public schools.

The workshops, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Education and Kentucky's colleges and universities, will help familiarize teachers and administrators with the new guide and its potential in their schools.

Featuring exercises and activities to use in the classroom, the workshops will also examine Kentucky's alcohol and drug laws and identify local, state and national alcohol and drug education resources.

"The scare tactics of the '60s didn't work," said William Wilson, alcohol and drug education consultant for the Department of Education. "Today we must give our students the best possible education about alcohol and drugs and let the decision be theirs."

Workshops have already been held in Fayette, Clark and McCracken counties. Workshops for elementary, secondary and high school teachers in Jefferson County are also being planned. Seven other workshops are scheduled for Nov. 7 at Eastern Kentucky University,

Nov. 12 at Pikeville College, Nov. 15 at Northern Kentucky University, Nov. 20 at Morehead State University, Nov. 27 at Western Kentucky University, Nov. 30 at Cumberland College, Dec. 7 at Murray State University.

Covering kindergarten through twelfth grades, the workshop will deal with philosophies involved in alcohol and drug education and curriculum planning at all educational levels.

For further information on these workshops or the new guide contact: William Wilson, Kentucky Department of Education, 18th Floor, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call (502) 564-4774.

Little Mud Dev. Club Holds Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Little Mud Community Development Club was held Thursday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m. Major item on the agenda was the incorporation of the community club in order to become eligible for grant monies.

Officers of the incorporating committee were announced including Walter Akers, president; Astor Hall, vice-president; Janice Pullium, secretary, and Betty Hunter, treasurer. The articles of incorporation were completed and copies will be available at the next monthly meeting set for Dec. 7 at 6 p.m. at the Spruce Pine school. All residents of Little Mud are urged to take part in the meetings. Area residents may become voting members by purchasing a $1.00 membership card.

Guests at the meeting were Magistrate Hershel Hamilton and County Extension Agent John Sparks. Dorothy Clark, executive director of the David Community Development Corporation, who was scheduled to make a slide presentation, was unable to attend because of grant application work at David. She is expected to be available for the December meeting.

Magistrate Hamilton stated that he would help the club in any way he could in working for funds for a community park. He also confirmed that $46,000 in road money that was believed to have been taken away has been returned. He commended club members Naomi Meade, Betty Hunter and Janice Pullium for their efforts in having the funds returned.

Extension Agent Sparks talked to the members present about the club becoming a member of N.E.C.D.A. (Northeast Community Development Association.)

Workshop at Greenbo To View Waste Rules

Interim hazardous waste regulations will be the subject of four information meetings sponsored by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection during November.

The meetings are scheduled in industrialized sections of the state to attract those interested in discussing the effects of the interim hazardous waste regulations recently signed by Gov. Julian Carroll.

The Eastern Kentucky area meeting will be held November 20 at 8 p.m. at Greenbo Lake State Park, Greenup.

There are times to exercise and times to exercise caution.

Regular exercise is vital to building and maintaining a healthy, fit body. It improves our cardiovascular system. It helps us control weight. It keeps us flexible. It makes us feel and look better.

But, like most good things, even exercise can be overdone, or done at the wrong time. For example, physical activity during extremely hot or extremely cold temperatures is risky. To be safe, don't exercise when the temperature is above 90°F or below 15°F.

Be especially careful of hard seasonal chores such as digging a garden, shoveling snow, or doing yard work in the hot sun. All put a severe strain on the heart. If you can't avoid these tasks, then at least do them sensibly. Work slowly. Take frequent rest breaks. And exercise caution.

Exercising to stay fit is something we can all do. And so is exercising good judgement. If you're over 35, and out of shape, don't start an exercise program without your doctor's o.k.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we're concerned about the rise in the cost of health care. By working to stay healthier, we can all do our part in helping to hold down these costs.

Write us for information on enrolling in quality health care prepayment plans. For a free booklet on health care (limit one) write c/o "Help Yourself" at the following address: Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Delta Dental of Kentucky, 9901 Linn Station Road, Louisville, KY 40223.

We want you to stay healthy.

Area Unemployment Rises

Unemployment in the eastern Kentucky area increased from 20,932 in August to 21,991 in September. The rate of unemployment climbed from 6.9 percent to 7.1 percent.

According to Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the state's Department for Human Resources, the increase in unemployment was due primarily to layoff in the area.

Kentucky's overall unemployment rate dropped from 5.6 percent in August to 5.3 percent in September. The national unemployment rate was 5.6 percent in September.

In the eastern Kentucky area, Menifee county had the highest unemployment rate at 17.2 percent, while Martin county had the lowest at 3.7 percent. Floyd county stood at 6.5 percent.

The unemployment rate figures for other counties of the area:

Bath 12.9, Bell 7.8, Boyd 5.2, Breathitt 7.9, Carter 8.3, Clay 7.8, Elliott 6.2, Greenup 3.9, Harlan 7.9, Jackson 7.6,

COMING ACTIVITIES ANNOUNCED
Mrs. Patsy Evans, Director of the Archer Park Senior Citizens group, announces that coming activities at the Center include a Thanksgiving covered-dish luncheon, Friday, November 16, and a Christmas bazaar, for the selling of craft items and home-baked foods at the Center, beginning around December 1.

To The Citizens of Prestonsburg:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who voted for and supported me in my bid for election to the City Council in Prestonsburg. Although I needed only a few more votes to be elected, I think that we elected a City Council that we can be proud of. Let's get behind these people and help them to once again make Prestonsburg the "Model Community" of Eastern Kentucky.

Thank you,
JOHN GRANT ANDERSON

Perfect Mirror-Image Sound

The Koss CM/1010, CM/1020, and CM/1030 loudspeakers were designed for perfect mirror-image sound when placed in the vertical position. This means that you will always hear a perfectly balanced, full-width sound whether walking around the room or sitting in your favorite chair. In developing the Koss CM/530 bookshelf speakers, however, Koss engineers realized that available space might be a problem. So they designed the CM/530 in matched pairs with the tweeters at a 45-degree angle from the passive radiator and the woofer. This configuration allows the listener to place the CM/530 speakers either horizontally or vertically without losing the perfect right to left or left to right imaging. The sound from both the left and right speakers comes to the listener with the same musical balance. You enjoy an incredible degree of dispersion and the beautiful Sound of Koss.

Govt. To Review School Food Programs

School lunch and breakfast programs will be the subjects of a proposed federal-state review system designed to correct problems with accountability of federal money and quality of meals.

According to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman, audits and reviews of food programs in recent years have revealed weaknesses in state and local management.

"In looking at the programs, we found that some schools do not have adequate systems for reviewing applications for free lunches and claim federal funds for an excessive number of free meals. They are also sometimes serving meals that do not meet federal nutrition standards. This new review system will improve meal quality as well as accountability of federal money," she said in Washington.

While states currently review the operation of school food programs, the new review system proposes that states be required to review a specified number of schools every year and correct problems uncovered in those reviews within 90 to 180 days.

The federal government provides 3 billion dollars a year to provide meals for over 27 million children in schools. Schools and states file claims for federal money based on the number of meals they serve. In turn, they must serve meals that meet federal nutrition standards.

Thirty-three departmental audits of state agencies over fiscal years 1975-78 also showed that 45 percent had problems with accurate meal counts. In addition in 12 of these audits there were instances of reimbursements exceeding allowable costs.

The proposed review systems sets specific minimum requirements for schools in processing applications for free and reduced price meals, filing reimbursements for meals and other costs, keeping counts of the types of meals served, and ensuring that meals meet federal nutrition standards.

Homebuilders' Info Offered by College

An information session covering the subject, "Techniques in Constructing New Homes to Conserve Energy," will be held at Prestonsburg Community College in the Pike Auditorium tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m.

Passive and active solar techniques will be covered. Energy-saving techniques used in the construction of the "Arkansas Plan," "Super-Saver House," and the "Low-Cal" homes will be discussed. Building material samples will be on display.

The session is free and will be of interest to builders, realtors, contractors, developers and any person planning to build a home or other small structure. The program is being offered by the Continuing Education - Community Services of Prestonsburg Community College under the auspices of the Kentucky Energy Conservation Plan Consortium which consists of state universities and community colleges throughout Kentucky.

Allen Jury 'Hangs' In Federal Court; Hall Pleads Guilty

The U.S. district court trial at Catlettsburg of Lawton Ray Allen, former Prestonsburg accountant, on a charge of conspiracy to manufacture, distribute and possess a non-narcotic controlled substance ended recently in a "hung" jury.

The jury was dismissed as hopelessly disagreed after a trial of a week or more. Federal court officials indicated that a retrial of the case may be held.

A second defendant, Rex Denver Hall, 36, of this county, entered a plea of guilty to the conspiracy. He was sentenced to five years in prison and was fined $15,000, according to the clerk's office of the court.

Hall alone was named on seven other counts—one for distribution, three for possession and three for manufacturing the substance—but these charges were dismissed.

It costs our government 51 cents to collect every $100 in taxes.
