

Floyd Firm Explores New Mining Approach

A coal company operating in this county has become the first in the nation to be given approval by the Office of Surface Mining (OSM) to create an alternative approach to one of the environmental protection standards of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act.

Zapata Fuels, Inc., will shortly initiate an "experimental practice" at its Triple Elkhorn mine site near Martin. Zapata's approach will utilize "spoil lanes" from an upper to a lower bench through which excess spoil will be end-dumped and then moved by bulldozer, or reloaded for hauling for use in a head-of-hollow fill. This method will reduce the total length of haul road construction, lessening environmental impacts resulting from switchbacks and should reduce the sediment load from runoff.

"We are delighted that this firm had the initiative and foresight to explore alternative environmental protection methods in its mining practices," said OSM Director Walter N. Heine. "Zapata's project should signal more companies to develop other methods that could be employed to better serve their own needs while continuing the environmental initiatives of our federal law."

Zapata was given exclusive permission for a one-time-only test of this approach, OSM officials emphasized. When the project is completed, OSM will weigh its full value in the light of nationwide mining practices. OSM's determination could include initiating steps to amend the applicable regulations.

Nesbitt Engineering, Inc., Lexington, will monitor the experimental practice and report its findings back to OSM and the operator. To help the coal company defray some of the monitoring costs, OSM provided a cost-share contract, with the government's portion totalling $9,500.

SNOW REMOVAL operations have become a yearly necessity with relatively heavy snows and cold temperatures characterizing the past few winters. Not only have Division of Highways personnel been involved in road clearing, but private individuals as well have pitched in with a variety of snow-moving machinery.

TV Commission Sets Rate; Gripes Heard

The Floyd county cable TV commission Friday denied Mike Little, owner of the Burton Antenna Co., the $2 per month rate increase he had sought but granted him a $1.50 increase in view of the recent addition to his system of a 24-hour Atlanta station. The increase boosts the operator's monthly service fee to $7.50.

The rate hike was made provisional on Little's restoring a Bristol, Tenn., station—one of two taken off in December to make room for channel 17.

The decision carried on the votes of commissioners Charles Clark, chairman of the body, Glen Frazier and Albert Burchett, over the objection of Anthony Castle, with Matthew Stevens abstaining. It came after a lengthy hearing, during which an accountant and an attorney for Little explained financial statements purporting to show that the cable operator needed an $8-a-month rate to realize even a modest operating profit this year.

A group of Little's Weeksbury customers, protesting the requested rate increase, complained of service difficulties and of the discontinuance of the Bristol station and a Bluefield, West Virginia, station. The cable operator agreed to restore the popular Bristol channel, but only by discontinuing another station—possibly WSAZ, Huntington.

The compromise elicited cries of protest from the Weeksbury delegation and the dissenting vote from Castle, but won majority support from commissioners noticeably wearied by the long discussion and the consumers' repeated interjections.

Accountant Mike Hall told the commission that Burton Antenna sustained a $7000 net loss last year and that, given the operator's additional investment in channel 17, even the $19,000 increase in annual revenues which would be realized by an $8 rate would result in only a two percent return on the company's investment. Some commissioners responded to the financial accounting with a measure of skepticism, however.

"I don't believe a bit of it. I don't believe Mike Little has been operating and losing money," Castle said, adding, "You can do anything with figures."

The $7.50 granted Little by the commission has become the norm in the county

Rail Crossings Help Sought by Legislator

State Rep. Gregory Stumbo introduced in the House this week a resolution asking the Department of Transportation to investigate the blocking of railway crossings in this county by trains, and immediately found that the same circumstances are plaguing other parts of the state.

Rep. Stumbo's action followed the death last Nov. 29 at Dwale of Nell Page. He said the P & B Ambulance which was transporting Mrs. Page to a hospital told him its ambulance was forced to wait 20 to 25 minutes at the rail crossing which was blocked by a train and that Mrs. Page was dead on arrival at a hospital. She apparently died of a heart attack.

State law forbids blockage of a railway crossing by a train longer than five minutes, he said, but long, slow-moving trains may require a longer period to clear the tracks.

Stumbo said he is hopeful that passageways beneath or above the tracks may be provided.

Dwale and the Goble-Roberts section here have been cited as extremely vulnerable in emergencies, with the river facing both and only one exit available, and that across railway tracks with only one crossing at each place.

City Councilman Bill Ray Collins pointed out here recently that if rail cars containing toxic chemicals wrecked at Goble-Roberts, some 300 residents of that community would have no means of escape if the wreck blocked the crossing.

Representative Stumbo said other legislators told him that blocking of rail crossings was common in their areas.

This Town...That World

Valentine Day—one of my favorites. However strong Cupid may be going, he doesn't insist on everybody taking a holiday on Monday.

The Postal Service, up to its ears in Mission Impossible as it struggles to make you and me keep it in the black, now takes on another as it tries to help sell folks like us on that Susan B. Anthony dollar joke.

Whatever became of that natural gas shortage? James Morell sends me a newspaper clipping reporting that Mobil drilled in the other day, down in Texas, a well which had an "absolute open flow of 140,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily."

With little else to bother except slippery roads and streets, Russia, the threat of international mayhem and the like, Christine Spradlin now shakes my conviction that we had—tra, la!—entered upon a new decade as of Jan. 1. Points out that a decade, a 10-year period, ends on the even number and that 1980 could not be the beginning of this much-heralded new decade. There are other arguments to indicate that the new decade will not begin until Jan. 1, 1981, but beyond ticking the years off on my fingers I haven't the ability to explain.

THE SACRIFICE

There was no charge for this story, so I pass it on without charge. It was the Lenten season and the father was explaining to his young son that it was a time when he should renounce something he liked. By way of illustration he explained that he and his wife had given up drinking for the season.

"But," the boy said, "I noticed you had a drink at supper."

"Yes, but that was wine. We've given up hard liquor."

"Then," decided the youngster, "I'll give up hard candy."

Juries Convict 4 Defendants

Floyd District court juries convicted four persons at the conclusion of trials, Monday and Tuesday. Those convicted:

Melvin Shepherd, David, terroristic threatening, $100 fine and 30 days in jail; Timmy Gibson, terroristic threatening, $100 fine and 30 days; Paul Maynard, Prestonsburg, theft by deception, trial in absentia, $250 fine and 40 days in jail; Barbara Neeley Shepherd, Hueysville, illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale, $100 fine and 30 days in jail.

Bobby Henson, of Ligon, entered a plea of guilty to a terroristic threatening charge, and his 30-day jail term was probated on the condition that he stay away from the prosecuting witness for 12 months. The illegal possession of alcoholic beverages charge against Chester "T.Y." Jarrell was dismissed on the Commonwealth's motion with the permission of the prosecuting witness.

Pastors, Supt. Talk Changes

Pastors of four Prestonsburg churches met Monday with Supt. of schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. and other school system officials in a discussion of the conflict between dates of school events such as basketball games and school board meetings with Wednesday evening services at the churches.

The discussion of the situation was an aftermath of a request made last week by the Rev. Dean L. Pack, pastor of First Baptist Church, at the direction of Enterprise Association of Baptist Churches, that the board of education change its

School Board Hears Supervision Attack

The adequacy of supervision at the John M. Stumbo grade school on Mud Creek was one of several issues raised by Sally Adkins, of Branham's Creek, at the meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education last Wednesday.

Lack of supervision at the school has resulted in older students abusing younger students on some occasions, said Mrs. Adkins, citing an incident in which a child was said to have been scalded by hot soup.

Speaking under the sponsorship of People for Better Schools (PBS), Mrs. Adkins also complained of bathrooms "unfit for a child," of poor quality food, and of bus drivers speeding on the tortuous Mud Creek road. A recent attempt to organize a parent-teacher association was rebuffed by the school principal, she added.

Dr. Ellen Joyce, a physician at the Mud Creek Health Project, confirmed that a number of children have been brought to the clinic with school-related injuries which, she said, raise a question about the adequacy of supervision at the school.

Dr. Joyce cited cases of a "third or fourth grader" with a forehead laceration who claimed to have been "thrown against a wall" by an older student; a second-grader complaining of burns apparently inflicted by a lighted cigarette; and a mildly-retarded child who claimed to have been "beaten up." One youngster had received a deep hand laceration from ragged metal on a bathroom partition at the school, she added.

In response to a question from Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., Dr. Joyce said that Clara Martin, a nurse-practitioner at the Mud Creek clinic, had spoken to Stumbo school authorities about the apparent supervision problem at the school.

School board Chairman John M. Stumbo said that the school principal, Gary Newman, told him that a parent-teacher association once in existence at the school had been disbanded for lack of interest. Mrs. Adkins noted that this had occurred under a previous principal's administration.

PBS Chairman Lenny Grant questioned the propriety of a school principal's deciding that there was insufficient interest to warrant re-establishing a school PTA. School administrators should welcome cooperation from parents, he said.

Supt. Grigsby pointed out that the school board has consistently encouraged the formation of parent-teacher groups. This and other issues raised by Mrs. Adkins would be fully investigated, he said.

Carolyn Ford reported on concerns felt by the PBS grade school committee for the safety of children at Prestonsburg grade school, where Trimble Branch enters on the school property in a deep, open ditch.

Board members said they shared parents' concern over the hazard, but that

City May Share Trash System

City officials will meet with members of Floyd County Solid Waste Inc.—the non-profit corporation formed some months ago to manage the county's solid waste, problems—with a view to discussing the possibility of Prestonsburg's participating in the proposed countywide trash collection system.

Robert McAninch, chairman of the task force which reported to the Floyd fiscal court last year on the solid waste problem, told city council members at their regular meeting Monday that revenue bonds to finance purchase of equipment would be more saleable if the city agrees to participate in the plan. Plans call for sale of bonds to purchase a bulldozer for the proposed landfill, on a site near Martin, and trucks for collection.

Mayor Harold W. Cooley directed council members Carolyn Ford and Cloyd Johnson and City Administrator David Evans to negotiate the city's role in the planned garbage system.

In reply to a letter from the city administrator, officials of the U.S. Shoe Corporation, which recently shut down operations in its West Prestonsburg plant, said that economic predictors gave no reason to hope that the company might return to this area in the foreseeable future. The company is agreeable to subleasing the plant here, however, and council members agreed to intensify their efforts to attract other industry to the site.

County Schools To Stay Closed Until Thursday

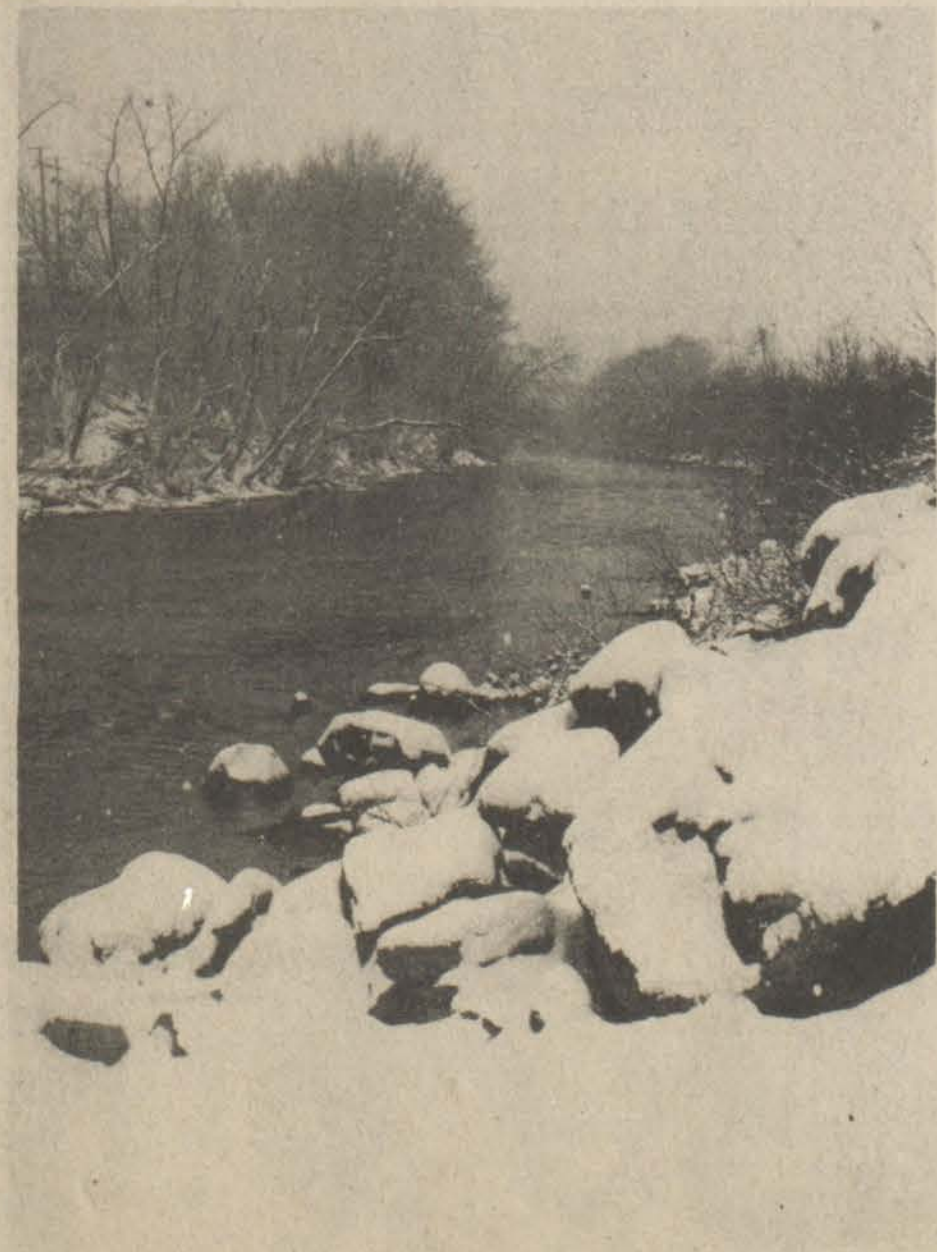

Schools will remain closed through today (Wednesday) but are scheduled for reopening tomorrow after a 12-day layoff because of snow and ice on some roads which school buses travel. Supt. of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. said Tuesday morning.

A two-three-inch snowfall Saturday night compounded travel problems for school buses. Main highways had been cleared of an earlier seven-inch snowfall, but some secondary roads were still covered by ice or snow, or both, when the lighter snow of last week-end came.

Early this week, up-hollow roads were still "in bad shape," and school buses could not reach turning points.

"When we do reopen school, bus drivers will be instructed to go only where they safely can," Supt. Grigsby said Tuesday.

In all, the schools this year have lost 13 days to weather conditions. At that, they are far ahead of the 1979 and '78 records. This week last year, an eight-inch snowfall closed the schools only two days after they had reopened, ending a two-week weather-enforced "vacation." The schools at this time last year had lost about 25 days.

BETWEEN SNOW-COVERED banks, the Big Sandy River runs green and clear, thus far spared the inevitable appearance of masses of plastic jugs and other trash which accompanies heavy rain and rising water levels.

SLEDDING MAY SOON be replaced by "tubing" if the number of folks of all ages riding the oversized innertubes on local snowy slopes are any indication. In this photo several family members start their "run."

A SNOW PANDA, constructed by Wayne Rigor and Teresa Jarrell, with help from Cindy Whitaker and Bonita Woods, was one of the most unique of scores of snow sculptures and igloos which have popped up in lawns all over the county.

Taking Advantage of the Snow

Area residents of all ages turned out over the past two snowy weeks for a variety of frigid fun, including sliding down icy slopes on sleds, innertubes, garbage can lids or whatever might be handy. In photo at top left, six would-be Olympic competitors from the Yellowtown section of Prestonsburg perform a daring downhill formation. Dramatic (and oftentimes painful) crashes are common on sled and tube runs. One such minor disaster is pictured in progress in photo at right, while daredevil in lower photo also appears to be "losing it."

Engineer Says Stripmine Permit May Cost $50,000

"Depressed" is the way George Lee described his feelings at the close of a seminar here on stripmine permit procedures yesterday. Lee, who is chief engineer for the Elkhorn Coal Corporation, at Wayland, was one of 205 engineers, coal operators and government officials who attended the two-day conference, designed to help coal operators cope with government regulations affecting the industry.

Coal operators have generally favored the state's taking over primary responsibility for enforcing the stripmine law, on the understanding that state officials might be more conversant with local conditions than federal officials and more flexible in interpreting the law.

"But the state regs are going to be as strict as the federal," Lee lamented. "They won't allow any flexibility for specific local conditions."

Lee estimates the cost of preparing a stripmine permit application is around $50,000 because of the extensive technical surveys required. Even allowing for a gradual reduction in costs as coal companies accumulate the data they need, and for the federal assistance program available to small operators, the industry will be "badly hurt," Lee said, and the small operator will be unable to survive.

"The coal will be mined, but it will have to be done by the large outfits. It will be costly, and the consumer will pay," Lee predicted.

The federal Small Operators Assistance Program offers grants to operators mining fewer than 100,000 tons of coal annually, covering the cost of all pre-mining surveys except core drilling. "The grants won't prevent some operators from going out of business," conceded John Rosenberg, director of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, a legal services agency prominent in the debate over environmental law here. "But if the small operator can't mine in a way that protects the environment, he ought to be out of the business."

Moreover, if meeting the requirements of the law means increased costs to coal consumers, Rosenberg argued, "better that the costs of mining be spread widely than that they be borne by local communities in environmental damage."

A state stripmine law and a new set of regulations are expected to be proposed soon by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for consideration by the General Assembly. In drafting the new regulations, DNREP has been under pressure from the federal Office of Surface Mining to insure that they are at least as strict as the existing federal regulations.

The federal agency is to decide this year whether it or the state will have primary responsibility for regulating stripmining in this state.

Alex Barker, assistant director of DNREP's Division of Permits, dampened any remaining hopes that the 1977 federal stripmine law may yet be substantially watered down. A recent attempt in the U.S. Senate to drop the federal regulations, retaining only the statute, has all but died, he indicated.

This week's seminar, at Prestonsburg Community College, was conducted by the Office for Informational Services and Technical Liaison, of the University of Kentucky's Institute for Mining Minerals and Research. Similar seminars were held last month at Madisonville and Hazard.

Unlike the earlier seminars, at which environmental groups were more strongly represented, this week's audience was more uniformly representative of the coal industry, said Brenda Smith, moderator of the program.

Chitti Case Not Dismissed, Judge Says of Report

Confusion as to the status of a criminal complaint against a Teaberry stripminer was apparently cleared up this week when the judge in the case asserted that, contrary to some reports, the case has never been dismissed.

The complaint, filed in district court here by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNREP), alleges that Frank Chitti "wilfully and knowingly engaged in the surface mining of coal without a valid permit" on July 3, 1978. The offense was said to have occurred on property belonging to Sterling Hamilton, on Andy Branch of Tinker Fork.

Cessation orders were issued to Hamilton by the federal Office of Surface Mining in October, 1978, and to the Smith Construction Company last April, for alleged illegal stripmining at the same site. Chitti was formerly Hamilton's foreman.

The confusion surrounding the case arose because of a notation on the file jacket indicating that it was dismissed last September 5. No written order to that effect appears to be on file, however.

Chitti's attorney, Paul P. Burchett, moved to have the case dismissed last February on grounds that the Franklin circuit court had found that DNREP had wrongfully denied Hamilton a permit to stripmine on the property. At that time the case against Chitti was continued, pending a resolution of Hamilton's case, which was scheduled to be heard by the state court of appeals.

The appeals court last week overturned the Franklin court decision, ruling that Hamilton had not been denied due process in DNREP's denying him a permit, and sent the case back to the Franklin court for a ruling on whether the permit denial was based on substantial reasons.

Informed of the notation that the Chitti case had been dismissed, Larry Arnett, coordinator of special investigations for DNREP, said last week that his investigation of the case revealed that the case had been dismissed by an order of Floyd District Court Judge Harold J. Stumbo, subject to possible redocketing at a later date.

Judge Stumbo this week denied that he had written a dismissal order or that he had ever discussed the case with DNREP officials. He should not be held responsible for a casual notation on the file jacket, written in somebody's else's hand, the judge said.

Burchett said this week that he had no knowledge of any dismissal order pertaining to his client's case. County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said that the fact that there is no formal dismissal order on file suggests that the case is still pending.

DNREP "wants the case to remain active," Arnett said, adding, "If the reason for the continuance (namely, the litigation related to Hamilton's permit application) ceases, we expect to take up the Chitti case again."

CONCLUDES VISIT Mrs. Eunice McMahn, of Knoxville, Tenn., has returned home after having spent two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Gracie C. Wells Is Charged In Liquor Raids

Two raids last Friday by Sheriff Doug Lewis and other officers resulted in the arrest of William R. Wells, of the Auxier road, on two counts alleging possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale.

Sheriff Lewis said the first raid uncovered 15 pints of whiskey and vodka and 75 cans of beer in a car near Wells' home and that the second resulted in the confiscation of 634 cans of beer from a car at Auxier which was listed in Wells' name. Wells was booked as a third-time offender. State Troopers Castle and Burdette accompanied Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Phillip Neeley on the raids.

On Bull Creek Sheriff Lewis, Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Phillip Neeley and State Trooper J. Rederick confiscated a 12-ounce jar which was almost filled with marijuana seeds, a small quantity of marijuana and pills which have been sent to a laboratory for analysis. Darrell Bentley was later jailed by Sheriff Lewis on a charge of trafficking in a controlled substance.

Others booked at the county jail last week, charges against them, and arresting officers are:

George Thornsby, drunk driving (DUI), no operator's license, leaving scene of accident, no insurance, by State Trooper Stephens; Rebecca Collins, theft by deception, by Deputy Sheriff P. Neeley; Shirley Crum, 3rd degree assault, disorderly conduct, by Prestonsburg policemen Murdock and Shelton; Winfield Moore, DUI, no operator's license, by State Trooper Scott; Albert Robinson, theft by deception, by State Trooper Stephens and Deputy Sheriff P. Neeley; Mark Colvin, DUI, improper passing, by Prestonburg policeman J. Wright; Rupert V. Samons, Jr., DUI, by State Trooper J. Rederick; Larry D. Isaacs, 3rd degree criminal mischief (warrant), by Deputy Sheriff R. Lewis; Timmy Gibson, terroristic threatening, by Deputy Sheriff F. Hardin; Melvin Shepherd, terroristic threatening, by Deputy Sheriff F. Hardin; Virgil Hall, Jr., theft by deception, by Deputy Sheriff G. Conn.

no funds were available to remedy it. An estimated $40,000 would be needed to rectify the problem, it was said. Dr. J.D. Adams said that, in the meantime, the possibility of installing a sturdier fence to enclose the area would be investigated.

PBS went on record as recommending a centralized lunch program for the county schools system. Supt. Grigsby noted that Blanche Dingus, of the schools' nutrition department, was studying a plan for centralized food purchasing but had as yet made no recommendation on the matter.

The board gave permission to the Betsy Layne High School band for a three-day absence from school. The band is to attend the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, February 16 and 17. Cost of the trip, said to be about $6000, was raised by private donations, including an anonymous gift of $2700.

The Small Purchase Procurement Code adopted by the board was implemented with the appointment of Asst. Supt. Ray Brackett as coordinator and other school systems personnel to handle purchases not to exceed $2500. Each principal or head teacher will serve as purchasing agent under the code for their respective schools under the supervision of department heads: Asst. Supt. Ronald Hager for instructional materials; Joe C. Moore, maintenance supplies; Wayne W. Ratliff, director, and Freddie Turner, supervisor, for transportation supplies; Harry Wallace, Title I; Kay Halbert, Head Start; Blanche Dingus, food services; Ned Bush, health.

The board directed its attorney, W.W. Burchett, to negotiate with Tri-State Roofing Co. for its repair of the Allen Central roof under an existing bond, and approved a contract with El Hasa Temple for its use of the Allen Central gym for the Shrine circus.

In its employment of personnel the board transferred Bonnie Johnson to the LBD (learning and behavioral disorders) class at Osborne Elementary and named Thomas Gibson as her replacement there as a regular teacher. Rita Ann Osborne was employed as business education teacher at Allen Central, and Darrell Greer, Head Start social worker, was granted sabbatical leave for the remainder of the school year.

Others employed: Certified substitute teachers—Phyllis Maynard, Gary Branham, Linda Kay Salisbury and Timothy Jack Salisbury; emergency substitute teachers—Wanda Murphy, Timothy Price, Teddy Bailey, Clara Ousley and Lois Lawson; regular bus drivers—Larry Lewis and Jackie Smith; substitute bus drivers—Elmer Fields, Billie Jo Stegall and John David Conley.

Teresa Ratliff was employed as teacher aide at Spradlin Branch to succeed Donna Turner who resigned. Brenda Howell was hired as cook at McDowell, replacing Brenda Goble who resigned, and Rosa Lee Duncan was hired as substitute cook at Garrett.

The council received a draft report from the Downtown Redevelopment and Renovation Commission on its study of a downtown parking lot, the first phase of the planned redevelopment of the city, and agreed to meet with the commission to discuss future plans. The meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday, at 7 p.m., at the municipal building.

Prestonsburg policeman Keith Lawson was hired as police chief. Lawson remains confined to a wheelchair after being shot in the back last August while making a liquor raid in West Prestonsburg.

Robert Ranier was hired as police patrolman, Larry Adams was hired as fireman, and Gurvin Waddle was hired as public works director.

Councilman Dixon Nunery commended the street department for its work in clearing the city after the two recent snowfalls. City employees were at work at 6 a.m. some days and did a remarkable job, he said. A number of private citizens also contributed labor and equipment to assist in the city cleanup after the most recent snowfall, it was noted. Wes Blackburn, of the Blackhawk Mining Co., Fred Goble, of Valley Pipelines Inc., Steve Blackburn, Bobby Hackworth and Bobby Holbrook, were all said to have taken part in the effort.

for cable systems receiving satellite TV signals.

Paul Gearheart, president of Tel-Com Inc., submitted to the commission an application for a rate increase for customers receiving service from his company's Martin tower, in view of plans to add channel 17 (Atlanta) to the system. Gearheart asked for a $10 monthly rate—up a dollar—to be effective when the new channel is on the line, about September 1.

When plans presently under way to connect customers served by the Prater Creek tower to the Martin tower are complete, those customers will also receive channel 17 and would be subject to the $10 rate, Gearheart said. A hearing on Tel-Com's rate hike request has been scheduled for the next meeting of the cable TV commission, March 7, at 5:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, a delegation of Wheelwright residents presented a petition, which they said bore some 300 signatures, requesting a revocation of Tel-Com's franchise on account of what they claimed to be totally unacceptable TV reception in that section.

Gearheart said that sets tested in the area were all found to be receiving a signal of acceptable strength. While some commissioners questioned the validity of the signal metering in view of widespread dissatisfaction with picture quality in the area, Gearheart defended the metering as the only objective measure of TV reception.

The commission gave the operator 30 days in which to bring service in the area up to the standards required by the franchise ordinance, standards which Gearheart claims he is already maintaining. Reception difficulties are in many instances due to atmospheric conditions, he argued, or to tampering with the cable.

A recent inspection of Wheelwright revealed 37 unauthorized hookups there, which interfere with reception for authorized customers, Gearheart said. County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., promised his cooperation in prosecuting persons found to be illegally tapping the system.

The commission approved a transfer of the franchise presently held by Phil Hamilton, covering sections of Middle Creek and Left and Right Beaver Creeks, to Tel-Com, after Hamilton explained that he was negotiating the sale of his system to Gearheart.

A resolution recommending that the fiscal court require cable operator Paul Butcher to extend service to residents in the Abbott Mountain and Little Paint sections was passed unanimously. The area is not presently included within the franchise boundaries of any system. The franchise ordinance provides that an operator may be required to provide service in areas where there are at least 10 households per mile requesting service.

Our Yesterdays

Ten Years Ago

(February 19, 1970)

Floyd county's rural roads, usually in poor condition at this time of year, are now possibly at their worst, County Judge Henry Stumbo said Monday. Expanded home mail delivery, principally in small communities, has been implemented by a new postal service program which affects 80 Eastern Kentucky towns, 22 of which are in Floyd county. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been asked by Sheriff Frank Leslie to join in the investigation of wire thefts in this county which have affected companies in interstate commerce. First Sgt. Ronald B. Osborne, formerly of Martin, has been awarded the Bronze Star for combat duty in Viet Nam. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Gregory, of Martin, a son, at Our Lady of the Way hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Younce, of Melvin, a son, Feb. 8 at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Forest Rivers, of Allen, Feb. 8 at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital. There died: Mrs. Esther Bond Bever, 66, of Winter Haven, Fla., formerly of Prestonsburg, Feb. 9 at Winter Haven; Melvin Green, 46, of Wayland, Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Mrs. Allie Collins Burchfield, 60, native of this county, Saturday in Utah; Mrs. Rosa Lily Ward, 85, of Van Lear, Wednesday at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Mrs. Maggie Ward Goble, 76, Floyd county native, Sunday at Louisa; Mrs. Maudie McGuire Scutchfield, 88, of Munith, Mich., formerly of this county, last Tuesday at Munith; Kelly Frasure, 48, last Thursday at his home here; Lawrence Tackett, 67, of Melvin, Saturday at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Everett T. Moore, 49, Sunday at his home at Price; Jack Stanley, 75, of Garrett, February 9, at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(February 18, 1960)

That Old Man Winter still packs a wallop was evident last week where a 10-inch snowfall blanketed Eastern Kentucky and brought traffic to almost a standstill over a wide area. Schools reopened Thursday only to be closed at noon by the second blast of snow that struck today (Thursday). As announced in last week's paper, residents of Wayland and Prestonsburg will be able to call each other without going through an operator. The town of Martin not only is ready for urban renewal involving slow clearance and a parking area, but also has set in motion the machinery to bring to it low-rent public housing. Work on the project is expected to start in a matter of a few months. The first meeting of the newly-organized Jenny Wiley Drama Association is scheduled here Sunday. Some of the huge problems to be solved are organization, housing facilities for tourists, production and many others. The access road from Hager Gap should be finished soon. Kentucky made a historic break with the past Wednesday when Governor Bert T. Combs presented a billion-dollar budget to the General Assembly. Spurred by his interest in low-rent public housing Tom O. McGuire recently looked in on such a project at Mt. Sterling. This week he gave an enthusiastic report on his findings. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Howard of Lake Drive, a daughter, Margaret Virginia, at Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Osie Kendrick, 55, Allen, at Pikeville Memorial hospital; Noah Harris, 84, Prestonsburg, at Beaver Valley hospital; B.D. Friend, 91, Prestonsburg, at Franklin, Tenn.; Mrs. Perlina Ousley Prater, 69, of Blue River, at the home of a daughter; Mrs. Dona Caudill, 49, of Bypro, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

Thirty Years Ago

(February 16, 1950)

Purchase of the Glogora Coal Company buildings at Glo, this county, by George E. Evans, Jr., and associates was announced here this week. The school "recess" in protest against failure of the legislature to provide funds asked by teachers began in Floyd county shortly after noon Thursday with the closing of the Martin Consolidated school. Floyd county officers and U.S. deputy marshals Friday reduced the number of moonshine stills by four and the possible weekend supply of liquor by the destruction of approximately 750 gallons of mash. The Floyd county jail this week had its largest population in several years, with 53 prisoners on the jail register Tuesday noon. The Floyd County Board of Education voted Wednesday afternoon its official acceptance of the Prestonsburg Board of Education's plan for county ownership and administration of the Prestonsburg and Floyd County high school. The Floyd County Fish and Game Club this week announced winners of its 1949 fishing contest. They are Billy R. Fannin, first; Charles E. Holbrook, second, and Mrs. Clark L. Pelphrey, runnerup, in the bass division. Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill was winner in the pike division. The Prestonsburg VFW Ramblers, state champions for two consecutive years, suffered its first defeat in nine starts here Monday night by the New York Colored Clowns, 73-66. High scorers for the local team were Tommy Blackburn, 17, and Adrian Blackburn, 10. The Wayland Wasps defeated the Martin Purple Flash, 61-55, Friday night and Prestonsburg, 86-66, Saturday night. Garrett Black Devils blistered the McDowell Daredevils, 66-40, Friday night. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Burchett, a daughter, Ruth Ann, on February 4 at Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Mrs. Ada Conn Layne, 40, at her home at Hunter, Monday; Mrs. Belle Langley Flanery, 89, native of Spurlock, in a Washington, D.C. hospital; Thomas M. Hereford, Sr., 73, of Cliff, in Prestonsburg General hospital, Tuesday; William Henry Collins, 22, of Van Lear, last Thursday at the home of his grandparents at Melvin; Mrs. Julia Stumbo Mosley, 92, at her home at Emma, Monday; Miss Etta Perkins, 21, at her home at Manton, Friday; Mrs. Sarah Jones, 62, at her home near Odds in Johnson county.

Forty Years Ago

(February 15, 1940)

Wayland, considered by many a prominent contender for the championship of the 58th basketball district (Floyd county) and Auxier are the only teams to play in the first round of the net tournament to begin at Garrett February 29. Superintendent Town Hall Saturday was authorized by the County Board of Education to contact Levi J. Dean, architect, of Huntington, for plans for a new gymnasium at Wheelwright Junction, which will serve Wheelwright high school. Continuing the fight for an improved fire department here to comply with requirements of the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau and thus to gain a reduction in fire insurance rates, the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association Friday evening organized a volunteer fire department of 14 men. Volunteer firemen are John Warrix, James Morell, Jr., Frank H. Layne, Richard Spurlock, S.L. Isbell, A.W. Lawson, Marvin Conley, Wes Howard, Martin Lee May, Burl Spurlock, Bob Francis, Elza Conley, N.M. White, Jr., J.D. Harkins, Jr. If the Floyd Fiscal Court accepts lowest bids on WPA commodity deliveries to the warehouse here and on to the 26 distribution points of the county, the work will be done at a total cost of only $1,320 a year. For 25 cents a woman bought a baby boy at Garrett, Floyd county health department records reveal. Tuesday night at Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg, after losing to Garrett, Saturday, came back to trounce the Paintsville team, 38-26. Five rural teachers who did outstanding work in the county last year were named this week. They are Mrs. Elsie Prater, Mrs. Norma Stepp, Mrs. Genevieve Robinette Hays, Miss Kelsa Gearheart, and Miss Grady Flannery. There died: Mrs. Margaret Baldridge Compton, 68, native of Abbott Creek, at her home near McGuffey, O., Thursday, Feb. 1; Geneva Smiley, 13, Tuesday at Betsy Layne; Mrs. Lucille Kuykendall Loar, 31, former teacher at Betsy Layne, at her home in Pittsburgh, Pa., last Thursday; Scott Hall, 90, of Amba, died at the home of his son-in-law, John Compton, at Martin.

The chapter also has breakfast fellowship meeting at the same location, the second and fourth Saturday mornings at 8.

A Contrast of the Old and New

In 1940 J.D. Mayo bought the old boarding house which was originally built for the Eureka Mining Co., based in the present Briarwood section, until the company went out of business in 1924. The contractors who built the boarding house were Ballard Carter, grandfather of Nancy Carter Webb, and Jeff Brown, father of Lavada Damron. Minter Homes Corp., of Huntington, W.Va., furnished the materials. Mayo dismantled the boarding house in sections to construct the barn and at one time 150 cows were milked daily in order to serve numerous Prestonsburg families and businesses. The land on which the barn was located belonged to the Mayo family since 1813.

The old boards were dismantled for the last time with the beginning of construction of Riverview Manor in 1976-77. The ultra-modern health care facility, first of its kind in this area, is equipped to house 116 residents, 56 persons for skilled care and 60 for intermediate care. With a staff of 75 in varied departments, the facility generates approximately $600,000 in salaries annually.

ARCHERY IN ONE LESSON

And there's the one dating back to King Arthur when some of his knights called his attention to the fact that targets were found around the countryside, each pierced, dead center, by an arrow.

"Find me that archer!" commanded the good king. "I need his services, to teach you, my knights, how to shoot."

The search went on till it was finally determined that a young lad was the bowman of such great accuracy. He was hailed before the king.

"Are you the lad whose arrows my knights have found, each dead center in the target?" was the Arthurian inquiry.

The boy admitted that he was.

"You never miss?"

"No."

"Will you teach my knights how you do this?"

"Sure," said the boy. "First shoot your arrow, then paint the target."

meeting date or time and that other activities for that night be rescheduled to another date, or eliminated.

The Rev. Pack was joined in presenting the case for the churches by the Rev. Moultrie McIntosh, of St. James Episcopal, the Rev. Taylor Biggs, of Community Methodist, and the Rev. Walter Applegate, of First Methodist.

As a result of the conference at which the issues involved were aired at length, Supt. Grigsby invited the ministers to the next board meeting Wednesday evening, March 5. The invitation was readily accepted.

The superintendent later commented: "I don't think they (the ministers) are being unreasonable, and I feel the gap has been narrowed somewhat, but we can't control everything."

He expressed surprise upon learning that some freshman basketball games are being played here on Wednesday nights. The Rev. Pack pointed out that play on Wednesday nights not only keeps youths from church services but in many cases causes fathers of the players to attend games rather than church, in support of their sons.

He described the general tone of the meeting as "courteous and congenial," adding that his group plans "a strong response" to the invitation to the next meeting of the board.

Letters To the Editor

My maiden name was Collins and I have been trying to trace my father's family and have not had much luck. My father and all known relatives are deceased. My search has been made more difficult due to the fact that I am now living in California. I was born in Williamson, West Virginia and grew up in Paw Paw, Pike County, Ky.

My father was Marshall Franklin Collins, born in 1917 in McVeigh, Ky. His parents were Daniel Mason Collins and Nancy Cordelia Helton.

Daniel Mason Collins was born in 1893 probably in Johnson County, Ky. At one time he was a driller in the coal mines—in 1911 he worked for the Consolidated Coal Co. in Van Lear, later working in Beaver and McVeigh. He died in 1931 in Williamson, West Virginia. He married Nancy Cordelia Helton in 1911 in Paintsville, Ky.

Daniel Mason Collins (my grandfather) had the following brothers and sisters: 1. Lula Collins Carter, 2. Lilly Collins Hall, 3. Bertha Collins Scott, 4. Crate Collins, 5. Charlie Collins, 6. Virgie Collins Hall and 7. Bob Collins. The name Minnie Collins has also been found, but I don't know how she was related.

The father of Daniel Mason Collins was Bud Collins. Bud Collins was born in the 1860's possibly in Johnson county. He married a Lydia Davidson, of Clay Co., Ky.

Bud Collins is where I hit a block—I can't find when, where he was actually born, or who his parents were. It is possible that his father was Elijah Collins or Bill Collins.

I would appreciate it if anyone recognizes any of these names or are related in some way to one of them if they would contact me and share their information with me.

Thank you for printing this letter for me.

Floyd countians will have a chance to see a whole band of people they know on television if they watch the Mardi Gras parades this weekend. Betsy Layne High School's band, under the direction of Billie Jean Osborne, will march in the Parade of Selena, Saturday, and the Parade of Thoth, Sunday, both of which will be televised.

The band's participation in the Mardi Gras is being sponsored by the Krewe of Thoth which is furnishing housing for band members while they are in New Orleans. The group will leave early tomorrow (Thursday) morning by chartered Greyhound bus, which is being paid for by band parents and former members of the band.

While in New Orleans, the group will enjoy a cruise up the Mississippi, and will tour the space center in Huntsville, Alabama on the return trip.

Weinberg Wants Major Changes In Highway Maintenance System

Rep. Bill Weinberg, D-Hindman, has introduced a bill (House bill 212) in the Kentucky General Assembly which would make sweeping changes in the state's highway maintenance program.

Weinberg's plan calls for local governments, rather than the state, to receive more money and more responsibility for maintaining Kentucky's roads. "We need to put more authority in the hands of local government," Weinberg said. "They are closer to people than state government. They know the road needs better and, most importantly in this time of a financial squeeze, the local governments could get the maintenance work done at a much less cost than state government."

Weinberg said giving more responsibility to local officials would also mean that citizens would know who is responsible for what roads and "they wouldn't be getting the runaround."

House Bill 212 would reorganize the road system throughout Kentucky into a primary road system and a secondary road system.

The primary system would include any road which passes through three or more counties and the secondary system would consist of roads and streets now classified as state secondary, rural secondary, unclassified, or county roads.

Local governments would be responsible for maintaining all roads and streets in the secondary system which are within their boundaries.

This new division of authority would clear up a lot of confusion which Weinberg says has been caused by the lack of coordination between the state and county maintenance operations.

"We need to cut out the waste and duplication which comes from having a county and state garage in every county," Weinberg said. "People don't care whether they're on a state or county road...they just want them properly maintained."

"The legislation I've introduced can be a major start toward correcting some of the problems we have had," Weinberg said. "The introduction of this bill should begin a dialogue with the Department of Transportation toward a more cost efficient use of state maintenance money. It represents an area where the state can recognize significant cost savings by reorganizing their method of road maintenance."

If House Bill 212 is enacted, Weinberg said Eastern Kentucky will really be able to begin dealing with the problems of its up-hollow roads.

"Kentucky's secondary roads are inadequate, especially in Eastern Kentucky," Weinberg said. "They are inadequate for getting coal out and they are inadequate for getting people from their homes to these fine superhighways that have been built."

"As I've said before, it doesn't do any good to build the superhighways if people can't get to them," Weinberg said.

Recycle Your Garbage

By KATIE C. NEWSOME

We can all help our government officials solve the Solid Waste Disposal problem. With the ever-rising cost of transportation to carry the refuse to the dump and the constant increase in population to create the garbage, it seems only practical to minimize the amount of materials we dispose of.

Following are hints to cut down on waste:

Table Food Scraps

A dog that prefers table scraps above the commercial variety of dog food fills the bill! Otherwise, a plastic container or metal can may be used to dispose of food before placing in the garbage can. If you have a garbage disposal unit—no problem!!!

Non-eatable Food Scraps

Plan a small garden, flower or vegetable, and start a compost pile. All non-eatable food scraps, onion skins, potato peels, celery strings, nut and egg shells, carrot scrapings, etc., may be recycled into your soil as an organic fertilizer. Table food scraps may also be used in a compost. Keep away hungry "critters" and offensive odors by covering scraps with a layer of soil.

Paper

If you are fortunate enough to have a fireplace or wood-burning stove, there is little or no paper to be hauled to the dump. Newspapers rolled into logs (apparatus for rolling newspapers may be purchased from mail order houses) and coated with wax—an excellent use for those stubby candles left over from the Holidays—will burn readily and display beautifully colored flames.

If you do not have a home source for utilizing paper it may be burned outdoors in a container without making a mess. Observe local burning laws.

Caution

Certain areas restrict burning of debris. Also, do not burn papers in a fireplace without kindling wood on top to weigh it down. Burning paper swept up a chimney by an air draft may ignite creosote build-up and cause an uncontrollable chimney fire.

Aluminum

All aluminum, pop cans, TV trays, foil, chili cans, vienna cans, etc., may be resold. Many private individuals, charitable and non-profit organizations collect aluminum for re-sale.

Plastics

Milk and bleach containers have an infinite variety of household, garden and craft uses, however, they tend to accumulate faster than one can find uses for them! Plastics may be burned leaving "a glob of ulk," but the odor and danger involved are not worth the effect.

Garbage

To be transported to a dump:

1. Plastics
2. Metal cans (other than aluminum)
3. Glass (Non-returnable bottles)
4. All other non-re-usable materials.

It is wise to have separate containers for each re-cyclable material. Your refuse will be handled one time by disposing in a container with all paper, all aluminum, etc.

The Solid Waste Disposal problem cannot be solved except by many persons working together to maintain their environment. Your individual garbage problem is not solved by dumping in a creek or on a roadside in an isolated hollow.

Work out your own methods of recycling. We all want to see a workable solution to our Solid Waste Disposal Program.

By LARRY BURKE

"Few of the men and women about us today have what they want, and few want what they have."

The above words sum up man as well as any we know. It's human nature to find our little world is actually a prison wall. Within these walls we must spend our days — spend them happily, or resentfully. We gain our victories, not by assaulting the walls, but by accepting them.

We accept life by looking at it in this respect: However uncontrollable our past, however disappointing our present — our future can be what we choose to make it.

We may seem at times to be the prisoners of fate, while we are actually its master.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: The mastery of life is often just a simple adjustment.

Wild Flowers of Spring

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
 UK COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
 Soon the myriad wild flowers of spring will begin carpeting the countryside with masses of bloom, bringing joy to the hearts of all who love the outdoors.

Starting in February with the rare Oconee bells, peppergrass, perhaps a hardy violet or two, and a stray periwinkle, the tide of blooming will swiftly rush up from the South in an ever-swelling flow before ebbing away in early summer.

Some of the early wild flowers to look for are Epigae repens, the trailing arbutus, adder's tongue, trillium, chickweed, wild phlox, and wild geranium. History states that the trailing arbutus was the first wildflower to greet the Pilgrims at Plymouth after the terrible hardships of their first winter on the New England coast. The tiny white or delicately pink-tinted arbutus flowers are enchantingly fragrant and one has to look closely to spot them among the leathery green leaves. This vining plant, a product of rocky woodland borders and hillsides, is also known as "gravel plant." A tea boiled from its leaves was once extensively used in the treatment of kidney stones.

Adder's tongue with its pale-green, brown-spotted leaves is a fascinating wild flower to look for. Also known as trout lily and fawn lily, this curious little plant bears a solitary, nodding, pale-yellow flower and often appears in great colonies in moist woodlands, beside shady water-courses, and in swampy places.

And there is no native wild flower that greets the springtime walker more heartily than the trillium. This stately plant which may vary in color from white to maroon, follows the rule of three to perfection. In addition to three leaves and petals, it boasts three sepals, six stamens, and three pistils. Even the red seed pod that follows the flower is slightly six angled.

Then there is the starry-eyed chickweed whose seed is the delight of the tiny chipping sparrow when it returns from its winter home in the South; the lilac-purple phlox, and the wild geranium with its charms that never wane and a flower that seems touched with the spirit of open woods.

The geranium also goes by the name, "Cranesbill," a name stemming from the beaklike appearance of its seed pod. Geranium is from the Greek word meaning crane.

There are, of course, hundreds of other wild flowers that will be blooming in orderly succession as the season progresses. Behind nearly every one is an interesting myth, legend, superstition, or story and to find, identify, and to study these products of the great outdoors can be a great pleasure.

The first thing to do, therefore, is to find out their names. Once they are identified, the curiosity and enjoyment grows until nothing escapes scrutiny from the little white foam flower of the woodland path to the green moss on the wall. So, for those who may be taking wild flower walks come February and spring, the pleasure will be enhanced and specimen identification simplified if any one of the many handbooks on wild flowers is taken along and, as the occasion demands, consulted.

We in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture urge you to take time out from the serious business of farming and gardening this spring to enjoy the beauty of wild flowers in the countryside. They signify what spring is all about.

Weinberg Bill Would Limit Power of Lt. Governor

A bill limiting the power of Kentucky's lieutenant governor when the governor is out of the state has been passed by the House of Representatives in Frankfort.

The bill is sponsored by Rep. Bill Weinberg, a Democrat from Knott County. If the bill becomes a law it would require the lieutenant governor to make a "good faith" effort to notify the governor of an emergency and give him an opportunity to return to the state before taking action such as calling a special session of the Legislature.

Weinberg said the legislation would allow the governor to continue being governor even if he is out of state. The bill (House Bill 143) passed by a vote of 70-27. "The thought is that just because the governor goes to Cincinnati, in this age of modern transportation there's no reason for the lieutenant governor to take over and call a special session, pardon prisoners, or take any other significant action while the governor's away," Weinberg said.

The bill was the result of work done by a special legislative committee which studied the issue last year after then-Lt. Governor Thelma Stovall called a special session of the Legislature when then-Gov. Julian Carroll was out of the state. Weinberg was the chairman of the committee which also recommended two other bills dealing with the lieutenant governor's office.

One of those bills (House Bill 144) designates the lieutenant governor as a member of several boards and commissions, including the Economic Development Commission, the Kentucky Housing Corporation and a newly-created Appalachian Development Council. The bill would prohibit the governor from abolishing or altering any of the duties given to the lieutenant governor and would allow the two top office holders to agree on additional duties which the lieutenant governor could perform.

The other bill recommended by Weinberg's committee (House Bill 145) would establish a procedure for determining whether a governor is unable to perform the duties of his office due to a physical or mental disability. The procedure would involve a conference of state officials and representatives from the state's medical schools examining the governor and determining if he is temporarily unable to take care of his duties for any reason. The lieutenant governor would be authorized to carry out the governor's duties if it were found he could not.

"I hope we never need to use this law," Weinberg said. "But we do need to be prepared to face the situation if it does arise."

If you want to know how a bill is doing in the Legislature or if you want to contact a legislator, the General Assembly is providing toll-free telephone numbers for you to do both those things. If you want information on a bill, call 1-800-372-7194. If you want to get a message to a legislator, call 1-800-372-7164 and an operator will take your message to the legislator. If you want to write to a legislator, address your letter to the senator or representative by name, in care of the General Assembly, State Capitol, Frankfort, KY. 40601.

Mine Operators Told To Rehire Workers, Pay Back Wages

An Eastern Kentucky coal operator who fired two miners after they talked about striking to gain higher wages must rehire them and pay them back wages, the National Labor Relations Board ruled Saturday.

The NLRB, in upholding an earlier order by Administrative Law Judge Robert A. Giannasi, ruled against Paul and Marcella Salyer, of Salyersville, who operate the Coastline Coal Corp., a Magoffin county strip-mining firm.

They were ordered to re-instate two miners—Sanah Arnett and Charles Bailey—to their old mining jobs or to similar positions and pay them the wages they lost during the last two years.

Both were fired by Salyer on Nov. 13, 1977. The two charged in an unfair labor practice complaint that they were dismissed for talking about the possibility of striking in order to gain a pay increase.

The complaint was expanded last year when Salyer allegedly offered to rehire Bailey if he would withdraw his complaint and decline to testify on behalf of Arnett's companion complaint.

Both the dismissals and the offer to rehire Bailey violated federal labor laws, the NLRB ruled.

Pharmacy Footnotes

The fat soluble vitamins are A, D, K and E. Vitamins in this group are not all single substances. The identifying letter actually refers to a group of substances with a similar vitamin function. The fat soluble vitamins are characterized by the presence of pro-vitamins in the body. Vitamin A, for example, has four precursors. The vitamin D precursor found in the skin is converted to vitamin D by the action of sunlight on the skin. An additional characteristic is the fact that they are stored by the body to a greater extent than are water soluble vitamins.

Vitamins are an important aspect of maintaining your good health; another is COOLEY APOTHECARY INC., No. 2 Town Center Bldg. (886-8106). Have your doctor call us with your next prescription. We'll have it ready for you with no waiting. And don't forget, prescriptions are tax deductible items. We offer the most complete and professional prescription service in the area, and we want to be YOUR pharmacist. There's always a registered pharmacist on duty to serve you. Hours: 9-5:30 M-F; 9-5 Sat.

Lincoln Marriage . . .

No 'Happy Ever After' Story

He was rough-cut, scraggly as the bark of an aged oak tree and just as tough. But for all that, he was as smooth as an acorn, sharp as a beechnut and gentle in his heart as the first plum blossom in spring. She was small and round with words that tantalized the tall man from the Kentucky backwoods country. She was skilled in leadership, deft in courtship, shrewd in thought and single-minded in marrying a future president.

The courtship of Abraham Lincoln of the log-cabin background and Mary Todd of the Bluegrass social set should have indicated that their marriage would not be a "happy ever after" story. Maybe he should have married Mary Owens, who possessed facial features a bit like Mary Todd, perhaps Caroline Meeker, Ann Roby Polly Warnick or Sarah Richard.

Brazil Featured On "Great Decisions"

"Brazil's Rising Power: What Weight in the World Scale?" is the topic of "Great Decisions: 1980," Saturday, February 23 at 4 p.m., on KET.

The 30-minute international affairs program features moderator Martin Agronsky in dialogue with Dr. Kenneth Maxwell, program director for The Tinker Foundation (a Latin America studies organization), and Sergio Correa da Costa, permanent representative to the United Nations for Brazil.

The University of North Carolina Television production is immediately followed at 4:30 p.m. (ET), by "Great Decisions 1980: Kentucky Perspective," produced by the University of Louisville.

The latter program examines Brazil's place in world affairs with a regional focus. Dr. Kenneth Cann, professor of economics at Western Kentucky University, moderates a panel of foreign affairs specialists, which includes Dr. Frank Traina, professor of sociology at Northern Kentucky University; Dr. Frank McCann, professor of history at the University of New Hampshire; and Dr. Emilio Moran, professor of anthropology at Indiana University.

Cann and panelists will select discussion topics from the following Brazilian affairs: industrialization, the chances for democracy, the economic impact of military versus multi-party and democratic government, the impact of Brazil's new power in the world community, U.S. policy towards Brazil's nuclear program, and the effects of that nation's diversified trade exports and technology.

"Brazil's Rising Power: What Weight in the World Scale?" is the sixth program in the eight-part "Great Decisions" series.

Of course, there was a sweetheart named Ann Rutledge who died at age 19. But if memories of Ann lingered, they eventually were put in a file along with law cases that did not fare well in those early years.

Abe Lincoln and Mary Todd were to marry New Year's Day 1841 but they didn't, and Abe began seeing Matilda Edwards of Springfield. It was Mary Curtis of Louisville who got a gold watch Abe planned to give Mary Todd on their wedding day.

But it was Mary Todd who got Abe Lincoln.

In a letter to a friend, Abe called his marriage to Mary on November 4, 1842, a "matter of profound wonder."

His house was divided on many issues, none more pronounced than the matter of slavery. The Todds, like countless Kentucky families, were split down the middle in their siding with the North and South.

The Todd-Lincoln marriage survived. The years before the Civil War were mixtures of joys and disappointments. One of the joys was moving to their home in Springfield (Ill.), knowing it was debt-free despite 12 percent interest rates.

There were also tensions. Abe was defeated twice for the Senate. But their house comforted them, even though the heartache of three-year-old Edward's death in 1850, through dissolved law partnerships and through long separations while Abe was away on business.

Abe's absences, frequently as long as three months, would have destroyed some marriages but theirs survived.

While he worried and pondered his law practice and politics, she had long hours to worry about "Tadpole's" speech impediment and Robert's bad eye.

The boys, Robert Todd, Edward Baker, William Wallace and Tad (Thomas) were the sunshine in the house. They filled the rooms with boyish games, childhood pranks and duck feathers from pillow fights.

The house, so filled with the presence of Mary and the boys, was a warm haven to Abe when he returned from circuit court sessions in far-away places.

During one of those long absences, Mary, possibly lonely and frustrated and even more possibly wanting a house with some of the niceties of her Lexington home, added another story to the house.

Still, the marriage survived. Had there not been a bond of love, he might have said on his return to find his house remodeled at considerable expense, "I've had it. This time you've gone too far."

Or she, exasperated when Abe kept getting his fingers caught in the handles of dainty teacups, might have thought her judgment poor in thinking he could some day reside at White House dinners.

But she had not misjudged him, and he had not, finally, been disappointed in her.

ALL NEW STYLE—The Corolla line, including the sleek Sport Coupe, is all new inside and out for 1980. Highlighted by a stylish aerodynamic wedge shape design, the new Corollas have more interior room than ever before and an EPA highway rating that's 17% better than last year (with standard five-speed transmission on federally equipped models). The new Sport Coupe has a wide-opening rear hatch that replaces last year's 6.2 cubic-foot trunk with a rear-seats-down cargo area of 25 cubic feet. Powering the 1980 Corollas is a 1.8 liter (1770cc), low maintenance engine that does not require any scheduled servicing for the first 10,000 miles or eight months of ownership.

SOME SHADE TREES NOT TO SELECT

It takes a long time to grow a good shade tree, so we should be quite careful in their selection. It is very disappointing to wait many years for a tree to develop and then find that it has contracted some fatal disease, been broken up by a storm, or become a nuisance or hazard. There are a few trees that are best avoided if we want to reduce the possibility of future problems.

Of course, no one can predict such widespread and devastating diseases as the Dutch elm disease that can suddenly appear and destroy almost all trees of a given species. No longer can we plant American elms unless we are extreme optimists. With the elimination of the American elm, much publicity has been given to the Chinese elm as a substitute. Most of the elms that are listed as Chinese elms are really Siberian elms (Ulmus pumila) that really do not have the vase shape of the American elm. These Siberian elms can be quite disappointing because they break up easily in storms and are attacked by the elm leaf beetle that may cause defoliation in late summer.

This beetle also attacks "hybrid elms", crosses between the Siberian and slippery elms, and frequent sprays of carbaryl have to be used to control it.

Both boxelder and silver maple are fast growing, brittle trees that can break up easily. Box elder is best for a fast growing temporary screen. Silver maple usually gets extremely large branches on a short trunk, and becomes a dangerous tree when planted close to buildings or near streets. Since the wood is very soft, it will rapidly decay if it becomes infected and thereby further weaken the tree.

Lombardy poplar, an upright, narrow grower, is very susceptible to Cytospora canker that can kill a mature tree suddenly. There is no control for this disease. Poplars are also quite susceptible to borers. Cottonwoods are a fast growing, weak wooded member of the poplar family that usually get too large for the average home site. They may raise walks, and the seed travels for many miles, so they can become a serious pest.

American sycamores, or plane trees are very susceptible to a disease known as anthracnose. Young leaves look as though killed by frost and older leaves turn brown and die. Oriental plane trees and London plane trees are less susceptible to the disease, but should be planted sparingly.

All these trees, nevertheless, may give years of satisfaction. However, since they have problems and limitations not possessed by many other trees, the home owner should seriously evaluate them in relation to better trees before he makes his final planting.

Great Pumpkin

A little bit of Floyd county grew and grew in Ohio this summer.

Mrs. Rita Varner, who lives near Continental, O., is shown above with the "possum punkin" she grew from seed given to her by Mrs. Frank Kopp, of Continental, who brought the seed from her native Hueysville. The monster pumpkin which weighed in at 33 pounds, was 38 inches long and 26 inches in diameter.

Fire Season Ends With More Fires

The fall forest season ended with Floyd county suffering an additional 51 forest fires during the late fall and early winter. Division of Forestry Law Enforcement Officer Stephen R. Brackett reported this week. Hunting activities caused most of the fires, and burning of debris ranked second.

The following persons paid suppression costs for allowing forest fires to escape, Brackett said:

Chessie Systems, $90.28, collected by Officer Brackett and Ranger Tilton Johnson; Mirtie Reynolds, Ligon, $23 collected by County Guard Willard Hamilton, Ranger T. Johnson and Officer Brackett; Turner Elkhorn Coal Co., Drift, $109.22, collected by Officer Brackett and Ranger Johnson; Virginia Johnson, Wheelwright, $14.81, by Ranger Johnson; Maudie Hill, Betsy Layne, $43.11, by Officer Brackett, County Guard Willard Hamilton, and Education Officer Conley; Gene Rowe, Water Gap, $38.84, by Co. Guard W. Hamilton and Officer Brackett; Joe King, Betsy Layne, $53.75, by County Guard Rocky Hamilton and Officer Sowards; Marvin McKinney, Grethel, $29.04, by County Guard R. Hamilton; and Ellen Jacobs, Stone Coal, $22.25, by Officer Brackett, Ranger Johnson and Guard W. Hamilton.

The following were cited into Floyd district court for burning before 4:30 p.m. by Enforcement Officer Brackett and Ranger Johnson: Hermon Blevins, Harold; Johnnie Conn, Dana; Vina Tuttle, Garrett; Leonard Ousley, Caney Creek; Willie Hunter, Garrett; John Martin, Garrett; Dennis Gibson, Langley; Eddie Parsons, Betsy Layne; Rogel Thornsberry, Melvin; Dortha Newsome, Melvin; Hester Singleton, Melvin; Danny M. Hicks, Langley; Fred Conn, Printer; Cecil Ousley, Caney Creek; Virgil Ousley, Caney Creek; Charles Johnson, Caney Creek; Allard Newsome, Grethel; Nova Bradley, Caney Creek; Don Ed Ousley, Caney Creek; Zeb Ousley, Caney Creek; Kermit Rowe, Dana; Clyde Isaacs, Grethel; Dorinda Watson, State Road Fork; Ruth Duncan, Hueysville; Allen M. Collett, Stone Coal Creek.

In Appreciation

I would like to express my thanks and best wishes in appreciation of the fine gifts received by my grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Stephens, from Ann, David and Betty DeRossell.

Legislative Group Terms Education Budget 'Unrealistic'

Calling the proposed budget for education "unrealistic," the joint Appropriations and Revenue Committee asked Education Department officials to present a revised budget by Monday, this week.

After the meeting, however, House appropriations committee chairman Joe Clarke (D-Danville) said reviewing agency budget requests was the "wrong tactic." He said the committee needed to proceed and to write the agency's budget for them.

At last week's meeting, department officials were requested to prepare a budget based on the percentage of the budget allotted to education in the current fiscal year (47 percent) applied to revenue projections for the biennium prepared by legislative consultant Dr. Larry Lynch.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber said he had not been involved in preparing the proposed budget, since the figures were drawn up before he took office in January. John Nelson, head of education finance department, said the budget was composed by groups including the Parent Teacher Association, the state association of school board administrators, the Kentucky Association of School Administrators and former officials of the state education department.

Committee reaction to the proposed budget was uniformly negative. Senate appropriation chairman Michael R. Moloney (D-Lexington) said, "Why don't we have something here other than a wish list from the department." Rep. Buddy Adams (D-Bowling Green) said he had never seen "such an unrealistic proposal," and Clarke expressed shock at the lack of a specific revised proposal.

Clarke commented that "if everybody's in this shape, we will have a special session," to consider the state budget.

Rep. Carl Nett, (D-Louisville), chairman of the education budget subcommittee, urged education officials to "look at what you have to do for quality education." He called the idea that increased money means a better education "a myth" and said the committee needs to know how much the department needs to "do the job" of educating grades kindergarten through high school.

The budget request originally submitted to the committee included $999.3 million in General Fund appropriations for 1980-81 and $1.13 billion for 1981-82. This was a more than $500 million increase over the biennium.

Applying the formula suggested by the committee would scale about $98.5 million from the education budget, with $951.3 million in the first fiscal year and $1.076 billion for education in the second year of the biennium. About $905.9 million was budgeted for education in the year ending June 30, 1980.

Earlier in the meeting, Barber noted he was "somewhat at a disadvantage today" since he had to cooperate with the administration, and he didn't know "what they have in mind for elementary education." The legislature is in a better position to know what money is available "than we are," he added.

Nelson said the Finance Department's budget arm, the Office for Policy and Management, had told them that they could not submit a new budget but could only submit revisions to the existing budget.

When Adams asked Barber whether he agreed that the budget proposal was "totally unrealistic" Barber replied, "We recognize that this budget can be reduced."

Barber said he had not previously received any request to modify the budget since it was presented.

There were several questions from legislators about the proportion of money spent on administration of educational programs as opposed to money going directly to local school districts.

Power Use Here Hits New Peak

Electricity usage by Kentucky Power Company customers hit its highest peak ever, 922,000 kilowatts, Tuesday at 9 a.m. This is up five percent from last year's peak demand.

"Despite a relatively mild winter," said Robert E. Matthews, the company's president, "our customers are demanding more and more electricity. Conservation efforts by customers have helped, but growth in eastern Kentucky continues at a rapid pace. Kentucky Power's load growth is higher than the national average."

On Friday, Kentucky Power recorded the season's first peak, 878,000 kilowatts, up slightly from last year's peak of 876,000 kilowatts.

The company's only generating facility, the Big Sandy Plant located near Louisa, has a maximum capacity of 1,060,000 kilowatts.

Most Take Part In KET School Reception Plan

The KET School Reception Equipment Project has been utilized by 98 per cent of Kentucky's school districts, it was reported January 29 at a meeting of the KET Authority.

Paul Smith, KET director of field services, told the Authority that three school districts decided to participate in the project shortly before the January 31 deadline, resulting in the final participation figure of 98 per cent.

The KET School Reception fund was established by the state legislature in 1976-78 to provide matching funds for public schools to install antenna systems, television receivers and videocassette recorders, so that KET instructional programming might be used more effectively in the classrooms.

Sawfly Damage To Pines Expected Less This Year

The sawfly population continues to decrease, according to Elmore Grim, director of the state Division of Forestry. Because of that decrease, forest landowners can expect very light damage from pine sawflies this year.

Grim said a recently completed survey indicates defoliation of Virginia, shortleaf and loblolly pines by Virginia and Arkansas pine sawflies should be minimal this spring.

During December 1979 and January 1980 forestry field personnel conducted a survey of sawfly eggs. The northeastern, eastern, Kentucky river, southeastern, south central and western districts all participated in this survey.

Results show a few counties in Eastern Kentucky can expect defoliation from the Virginia Pine Sawfly to be around 10 percent or less. This area includes Lewis, Greenup, Carter, Rowan, Lee, Owsley, Breathitt, and parts of Clay counties.

In other counties known to have had past heavy sawfly problems, only a very few eggs could be found. Defoliation in those counties is expected to be negligible to non-existent.

The lack of eggs found during this year's survey appears to be a continuation of a sawfly population decrease. Pine sawfly surveys have been conducted annually since 1974. They indicate the high population levels and subsequent defoliation from 1972 through 1974 and again in 1977 are in a long gradual decline.

The Virginia Pine Sawfly is found in the eastern half of the state. It feeds primarily on Virginia and shortleaf pines. The most damaging stage of this pest is caterpillar. Mature larvae are pale green with four gray to black stripes running the length of the body. The head is usually shiny black. It also has three pair of small jointed legs just behind the head with five pair of stumpy legs behind these.

The Arkansas Pine Sawfly, found in Western Kentucky is loblolly and shortleaf pines, is very similar to the Virginia pine sawfly. The Virginia Pine Sawfly has a black head, while the head of the Arkansas Pine Sawfly is orange to brown.

Richard Dorset, forest pest control specialist, cautioned that although a county is not predicted to have sawfly problems this year, there still may be small isolated spots of heavy defoliation.

He said anyone having a problem with any forest or tree pest should contact the nearest Kentucky Division of Forestry district forester or write to Forest Pest Control Office, Kentucky Division of Forestry, 618 Teton Trail, Frankfort, Ky. 40601

Dances For Two Open TV Ballet

"Dance In America" begins its fifth season as a part of "Great Performances" with "Two Duets." The 60-minute program choreographed by Jerome Robbins and Peter Martins airs Wednesday, February 20 at 9 p.m. (ET), on KET.

"Two Duets" explores the pas de deux through the works of the two choreographers: "Other Dances" by Robbins and "Calcium Light Night" by Martins. Robbins is already renowned for his innovative work. Martins is new in his role as choreographer, although he has gained worldwide attention as one of the great ballet dancers of our time.

Robbins originally conceived his romantic pas de deux, "Other Dances," for Natalia Makarova and Mikhail Baryshnikov, who gave it its world premiere at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City on May 9, 1976.

"Other Dances" is Robbins' fourth ballet to Chopin music and the third in the direct line of American romanticism that began in 1969 with "Dances at a Gathering." In this piece, he uses four mazurkas: Opus 17, No. 4; Opus 41, No. 3; Opus 63, No. 3 and a solo waltz, Opus 64, No. 3.

"Calcium Light Night" is a first choreographic work for Peter Martins, performed for television by Heather Watts of New York City Ballet and Ib Andersen of the Royal Danish Ballet.

The work had its world premiere in Spokane, Washington in October, 1977. It was first performed as part of the regular repertory for New York City Ballet on Thursday, January 19, 1978 at the New York State Theater at Lincoln Center.

For this piece, Martin chose eight compositions from various sets of musical works by Charles Ives: "The Seer," "The New River," "Incantations," "Ann Street," "Calcium Light Night," "At Sea," "Gyp the Blood or Hearst! Which Is Worst?!" and "Hallowee'n."

Watching the Winter Olympics

By Lynn Varacalli

"Mind and body working together." This ancient Greek ideal still explains what is behind the Olympics. As we watch superb athletes from all over the world competing against one another with such elegance, the Olympics reaffirm our underlying belief in the greatness of humanity. Every Olympic year, old records are broken—making us wonder if there is any limit to human capabilities.

This year, the Winter Olympics are on our soil (actually our snow). Lake Placid is the place and February is the month.

From February 12 through February 24, Lake Placid, N.Y. will host the Winter Olympics for the second time in the history of the Olympics. The first time was 1932, which was also the first time the Winter Games were hosted by the United States. Forty-eight years later, some of the original facilities will be utilized once again.

A total of $92 million has gone into building and rebuilding the Lake Placid area, all spent to hold this year's Olympics in perhaps the finest collection of winter sports facilities anywhere in the world. Intervale Hill, site of the 1932 Ski Jumping Competitions and also many international competitions in the past, has been totally rebuilt to facilitate this year's Ski Jumps.

Whiteface Mountain, site of the Alpine events, will make history with the first Olympic downhill courses to be equipped with top-to-bottom snowmaking. The fully refrigerated Bobsled and Luge runs at Mt. Hoevenberg are the only facilities of their kind in the Western Hemisphere. The Olympic Arena, which in 1932 was the first indoor ice facility to be used in Olympic competition, will be used again in conjunction with a new 8000-seat Olympic Center as the site of the Hockey and Figure Skating competitions.

A total of 1200 athletes from 40 countries will be competing in eight winter sports—Alpine Skiing, Nordic Skiing, Biathlon, Bobsled, Luge, Figure Skating, Speed Skating, and Ice Hockey—for the gold, silver and the bronze medals.

Men and women ski against the clock in the Alpine Skiing competitions. The event is divided into Downhill, Slalom and Giant Slalom. Nordic Skiing includes Cross-Country and Ski Jumping. Cross-country races are held for women at distances of 5 to 10 kilometers and for men at distances of 15 to 50 kilometers. The Ski Jumping competitions are held on the 70 meter and 90 meter hills.

The Biathlon event combines cross-country skiing and rifle marksmanship. Individual competitions are held on the 10 and 20 kilometer courses.

In the Bobsleds events, two-man and four-man teams compete on steel and aluminum sleds at speeds up to 80 miles per hour. The team with the lowest combined time for four runs wins.

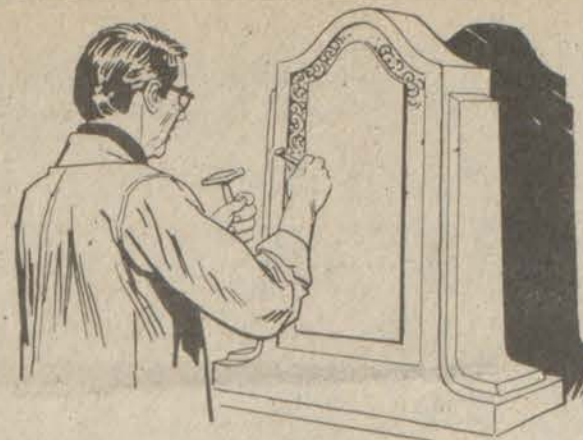

The Luge is under much the same format as the Bobsled competition. Luges glide down their courses at tremendous speeds on lightweight, streamlined sleds. The categories are Men's Singles, Women's Singles and Men's Doubles, with the best combined time winning in each category.

There are four divisions in the Figure Skating: Men's Singles; Women's Singles; Pairs; and Ice Dancing, a relative newcomer to the Olympic program. Men and women in the Speed Skating events compete in sprints of 500 to 1500 meters and also in long distance races of up to 10,000 meters. A total of 12 teams will be competing in the Ice Hockey Games. A 30-game round robin tournament will ice off the competitions.

A total of 550,000 tickets went on sale last July 23 for the 90 events in this year's Olympics. Approximately 78,000 of that figure were allotted to other countries, with Canada allowed close to 33,000 because of its close proximity to the Games. Each section of the United States was allotted a certain percentage, with the Northeast getting a higher percentage. Ticket prices range from $10 to $60 for the indoor events of Figure Skating and Ice Hockey. For outdoor competitions, prices run from $15 to $40.

If you are not at all satisfied to sit home and listen to Jim McKay ever so ably describe all the action on TV, it might still be possible to obtain tickets. Your best bet would be to go through a travel agency for tickets. The Olympic Committee gave allotments to agencies across the country, to package with housing accommodations. The chances are zero to none of finding available lodging on your own. If you have access to a trailer, there is a mobile home parking site in Malone, N.Y., about 60 miles from Lake Placid.

Still, all of this is academic if you can not obtain tickets. You can contact the Olympic Committee for tickets directly by writing the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee, P.O. Box 1980, Lake Placid, N.Y. 12946 or by calling (518) 653-4211.

BACK IN ACTION—Knee surgery forced Bridgett Clay, a 5-6 guard for Morehead State University's women's basketball team, to sit out the 1978-79 season. The junior Prestonsburg native is back this season and apparently her knee problems have not slowed her a bit. The Lady Eagles now have a 13-7 record.

Rice's Crispies . . . All-Stater Layne Keeps Working

By KENNY RICE
Dewey Layne was in a familiar place, the weight room of the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse, and in a familiar position, lying on a bench, lifting weights. For Layne it must seem like the millionth hour in the room that is filled with the smell of sweat and liniment pumping the umpteenth ton of iron. Layne has been a worker since he arrived at Prestonsburg High four years ago to play football.

"Dewey is the most intense player I've seen on the field and in training," said Prestonsburg's assistant football coach Tony Burchett. "He works hard, and the year round, he's constantly trying to improve himself."

"He's been a joy to work with and to coach," said Blackcat Coach Phillip Haywood. "One reason it's easy to work with him is because he works so well by himself. Whatever was needed for him to be a great football player he worked on it. He's been a leader, he has a great attitude. It may seem hard to believe but he wasn't the best athlete on the team, but over four years he worked so hard he made himself a football player. He might have worked harder than any player I've seen."

Anyone who hasn't followed the football career of Layne almost always opens the conversation about him with the words, "hard worker." And while Dewey has been an all-area and all-district performer in his sophomore and junior seasons at Prestonsburg, he received the ultimate compliment last December when he became a consensus All-State selection at linebacker.

"It is an honor to be selected All-State," Layne said. "I've tried to make myself a better player and this (All-State) is rewarding. I hope in the future some other players here will be selected All-State because there are some deserving players."

Without doubt Dewey Layne has been a high school coach's dream. At 6 feet, 215 pounds, above average speed and strength, Layne played fullback and linebacker. He was voted the team's Most Valuable Player. The opposition keyed on stopping Layne. His outstanding high school career is over and Layne wants to play football in college. Every school that has seen him in action, and that includes Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Marshall, has been impressed with his determination on the field, his strength and his football savvy.

"I think he is a definite college player," Haywood said. "He's got a couple of disadvantages. I've talked to a number of the college coaches who have looked at him, some are interested in him, some think the disadvantages outweigh the advantages that he has. The college coach wants the ideal athlete. They look for a 6'4" who can run the 40 in 4.6, but they can't always get that. They look at Dewey's height and he needs a little speed. He can get faster but he can't get taller is what they're saying.

"There are a lot of schools that are still looking at him because of the determination Dewey has. He can play college football. If someone doesn't take him they are making a big mistake. His height hurts him among the major colleges but they tend to overlook his dedication to the game."

ENJOYING RETIREMENT

Wendell Wallen, who retired from the basketball coaching ranks this season after 18 years in the business and four 15th Regional championships, says he is enjoying his retirement.

"I'm working some with the grade school boys (in Johnson county), I'm watching Allen Central and Johnson Central play a lot of basketball and I'm staying real busy that way. I'm enjoying my retirement very much right now."

Wallen is seeing more games than when he was coaching. But he hasn't found himself plotting strategy from the stands, with one exception that is.

"I only find myself second guessing when Allen Central plays. I sometimes like to second guess Howard (his son and Allen Central's coach). With some of the conversations we've had prior to the games I think I have an idea what he's going to try to do. But beyond that I really don't find myself wondering what I would do."

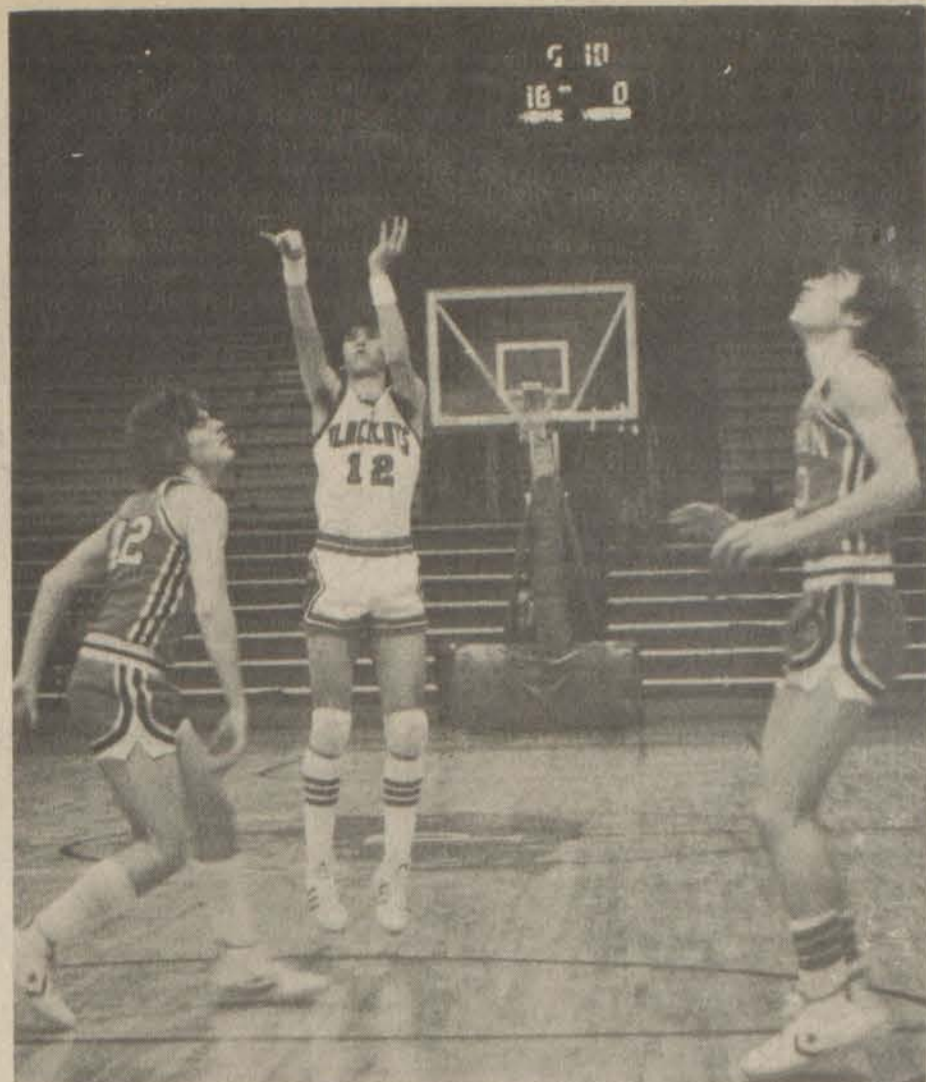

Wallen is working as an administrator at Johnson Central Elementary, a job he requested after he retired from Johnson Central High as coach last August. He is happy with the move to the grades.

As far as missing coaching, Wallen said, "I've resolved to the fact that I have retired from coaching, I'm not in it now and I don't have plans of going back in it."

GRADE SCHOOL TOURNEY

Floyd county's grade school basketball teams begin their tournament to decide both boys' and girls' county champions, February 18. The tourney starts with four sectionals at Allen Central, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg and alternating between McDowell and Wheelwright gyms. The winners of the sectionals meet for the semi-finals and finals at a site to be determined.

To find out when the grade school team you are interested in watching will be in action, contact that school for exact time and place.

CHRIS STEPHENS goes up for two of eight points he collected for the Prestonsburg Blackcats in his team's game against Dorton, Friday night at the PHS fieldhouse. Dorton won the game, 66-56.

Only Trojans Go Undeclared

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Wheelwright Trojans was the only team in the 58th district to go undefeated last week in an abbreviated, unplanned, bad-roads-and-bad-weather week of high school basketball.

The Trojans won two games, McDowell and Prestonsburg, dropped two games, Allen Central lost its fourth game of the season, while the bad weather kept the Betsy Layne Bobcats at home.

Last Tuesday night at Wheelwright, the Prestonsburg Blackcats were leading the host team by three points at halftime, 32 to 29, but in the third quarter, the Trojans threw out a zone press and held the Blackcats to only six points. The Trojans outscored the Visitors by 17 to 6 and led 46 to 38 going into the fourth quarter. The Blackcats came back in that quarter but it was a little too late.

On Friday the Trojans entertained the McDowell Daredevils and it appeared the Daredevils were going to turn the tables on the Trojans. They were leading by six points and only 39 seconds remaining in the game, the Trojans tied the game up and went into an overtime. The Trojans outscored the Daredevils, 5-0, in the overtime. Strawn Berger was the hero in the story book finish. He hit the shot that tied the game up at 56-all and led both teams in scoring with 18 points.

McDowell traveled to Dorton last Tuesday night and lost to the Wildcats, 71 to 62. The home-standing Wildcats blustered the nets in the first quarter and led, 22 to 8, and at halftime, 40 to 23, in the second half the Daredevils began to connect and outscored the Wildcats 20 to 12, Dorton held their own in the fourth quarter and won their 11th game of the season.

Dorton traveled to Prestonsburg Friday and found the Blackcats as cold as the weather and won over the Cats, 66 to 56. Dorton got its big edge in the second quarter and was able to withstand the Blackcats in the second half.

The Allen Central Rebels hadn't played in about 10 days due to road conditions. The road to Ashland was clear, however, but the Rebels were cold and lost their fourth game of the season, 60 to 50. The Rebels trailed at halftime by 10 points, missing their first seven shots and connecting for only 6 of 25, and finished the game with 17 of 57 attempts—their worst shooting percentage this season. Ashland had 22 of 54 from the field, and outbounded the Rebels, 56 to 35.

Girls' basketball during the past week was very limited. The Allen Central Rebellets played in the Pikeville Girls Invitational last Friday and lost to the Lady Panthers in an overtime, 61 to 58. The Lady Panthers had no trouble at all Saturday night in defeating Belfry, 66 to 43. The Lady Panthers remain undefeated at 19 and 0. Allen Central is now 20 and 4. In other action the Lawrence county girls won their 16th game of the season, defeating the Paintsville Comets, 58 to 40.

Sheldon Clark won its 15th game by defeating the Belfry Lady Pirates, 69 to 60. Tonight (Wednesday) the Allen Central Rebellets will entertain the Knott Co. Central Patriots, a team that defeated the Rebellets a month back. Irvin Stepp continues his blistering scoring pace last Monday night, he scored 57 points as the Hornets won over Elkhorn City, 92 to 88. The 6-3 senior poured in 60 points to lead the Hornets to a 103 to 76 win over Hurley. Phelps has a record of 16 wins and 5 losses.

The scoring:
Ashland (60)—Smith 18, McCauley 3, Crank 2, Anderson 8, Haller 2, Tipton 11, Anderson 11.

Allen Central (50)—Slone 22, Martin 13, Bailey 4, Conley 2, Mullins 6, Allen 2, Ridenour 1.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

By JOHN WILSON

What was a honey badger doing in Boone County?

It took quite a bit of research to figure out that the strange creature killed on a Boone county road was a honey badger, a native of Africa and India.

Identification problems were compounded by the fact that this particular specimen, a partial albino, was almost totally white. How it got onto a Boone County highway will probably always remain a mystery.

The honey badger gets its name from its liking for honey. According to published descriptions, he's generally a nasty little fellow, in spite of his sweet tooth. These badgers will reportedly attack horses, cattle, antelopes, buffalos or just about anything else that makes them mad or gets too near their burrows.

Although they're only about the size of a cocker spaniel, they could probably kill a human. They often prey on sheep, eating the tongue, windpipe, eyes and brain.

All things considered, we're probably better off without honey badgers in Kentucky. This one was in the state illegally, since no permit for it had ever been issued by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, as required by law.

"One major reason for requiring a permit to possess wildlife is so we can control what kind and how many exotic species enter the state," says Jim Durell, assistant director of fish and wildlife's game management division.

Wild animals which cause few problems in their home ranges can become major pests when introduced elsewhere, Durell explains, citing the examples of the starling, the English sparrow and the Norway rat as three introduced species which have become pest in this country.

North American species as varied as white-tailed deer and largemouth bass have wrecked environmental havoc when introduced in some areas overseas. All things considered, it's usually best to let species remain in the regions where they evolved and where natural checks on their population exist, Durell says.

"We would probably have issued a permit for one honey badger, Durell says. "But I doubt we would have approved the importation of a pair of them."

Another reason for requiring a pet permit, Durell says, is so the department will know the location of caged animals. Fish and wildlife conservation officers make periodic inspections of permit holders' facilities to make sure they are adequate and sanitary.

"In most cases, wild animals don't make good pets anyway," Durell says. "Some never lose their wild nature and can become vicious as they mature. Others, like skunks, can carry serious diseases, including rabies."

The best place for wild animals," Durell concludes, "is the wilds—and in their own environments. I'd hate to see something like the honey badger get established in Kentucky. The problems it could cause far outweigh any virtues it might have as a 'pet.'"

Black History Month Recognized on KET

"Legacy in Sound: The Struggle Song" encores on KET, Monday, February 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Narrated by Emyna, a professional musician and Afro-American culture teacher, the 30-minute special examines black musical forms and traces them to their African roots. Historical events that helped to shape the evolution of black musical forms are also discussed.

Musical performances with background scenes filmed in Houston and Africa illustrate the vitality and variety of black music and its influence on American culture. "Legacy in Sound" is a production of KUHT, Houston.

Immediately following "Legacy in Sound," award-winning actress Paulene Myers appears in "Mama," a moving solo performance portraying the life of black women in America.

During the half-hour program at 8 p.m. (ET), Miss Myers depicts four memorable characters ranging from her mother, herself as a child, an aristocrat, and Aunt Rachel from Mark Twain's "A True Story."

Both programs are scheduled on KET in recognition of Black History Month.

Brown Announces Plans To Attract New Business

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. last week announced a legislative package which, he said, will enable Kentucky to become one of the most progressive states in the nation in its ability to attract new business and industry.

"The major thrust of my campaign concerned the promotion of economic development," Brown said. "These legislative proposals will give us the tools to make Kentucky competitive."

Brown joined with Development Secretary Larry Townsend and Deputy Development Secretary Bruce Lunsford in announcing legislative proposals to give various governmental entities new powers regarding commercial financing.

Under the proposed legislation, local governments, air boards, riverport authorities and the Kentucky Development Finance Authority could issue bonds for the financing of industrial and commercial facilities throughout the state. They would also have authority to issue bonds to finance construction of facilities which support and augment industrial development such as convention and exhibition centers, sports facilities and office complexes.

Townsend said bonds issued under the provisions of the new legislation would in no way constitute an obligation or lien, against city, county or state property. Responsibility would rest solely with the corporation or individual whose project was financed by a particular bond.

Emergency Energy Measures Proposed

The Department of Energy has proposed nine measures for a standby federal emergency energy conservation plan. In the event of a severe national fuel shortage, the measures could be used in a state which did not meet the fuel conservation target set for each state by the President.

The nine measures are: the strict enforcement and, possibly, lowering of speed limits; an employer program for reducing commuter use of private vehicles; a compressed workweek; an energy conservation public information program; non-residential building temperature restrictions (the current temperature restriction program expires in April); a minimum motor fuel purchase requirement; an odd-even motor fuel purchase requirement; restrictions on weekend use of recreational boats; and a vehicle sticker program to prohibit use of a vehicle on one or more days per week.

Public hearings on the measures will be held in March in six cities and written comments will be accepted until April 7. The measures will be published in the Federal Register on February 7.

The vehicle sticker measure, boat use restrictions, compressed workweek program and portions of the employer program for reducing commuter driving will be published as a notice of proposed rulemaking. This means that public comment is required before these measures could be used.

The other measures will be published in an interim final rule. They could be imposed by the President even during the 60-day comment period, if necessary.

Seedlings Available For Spring Planting

Seedlings for tree-planting are available from the Kentucky Division of Forestry through ASC signup, it was said here last week in response to an inquiry by The Times.

Five varieties of pines are available at $25 per thousand. The charge for locust seedlings is $20 per thousand and $30 for yellow poplar.

ASC will share 75 percent of the cost of planting and site preparation, including fencing of the planting site.

Year's First Bills Passed By Senate

The first bill to pass both houses during the 1980 General Assembly is a measure amending state law to increase the annual expense allowance for sheriffs from $2,100 to $3,600.

House Bill 117 was passed by the Senate by a 35-0 vote, last week. HB 117 will now be sent to Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. The governor can sign it into law, veto the bill or allow it to become law without his signature. Sen. Jon W. Ackerson (R-Louisville) said the $1,500 allowance increase is already in effect under provisions in current law but HB 117 is a housekeeping measure.

In other Senate action Monday, four bills were passed including:

—Senate Bill (SB) 45 with a committee amendment, which would amend current law to allow creation of emergency ambulance service districts within cities located in counties containing a first-class city. The bill was sponsored by Sen. Eugene Stuart (R-Prospect). The bill originally would allow creation of ambulance districts within all cities.

Stuart said his bill was in response to a request from the city of Anchorage in Jefferson County. Louisville, the state's only first-class city, is located in Jefferson County.

—SB 109 with a committee substitute, which would require clarifying language in all industrial life insurance policies with the aim of protecting the client. If the bill becomes law, it would require a provision printed in red ink which states the insured person must be notified of the cash surrender value upon default in any premium payment.

The bill is sponsored by Sen. Bill "Fibber" McGee (D-Louisville). Sen. McGee said many people will pay on a policy for many years then get in a "financial bind" and cancel the policy. They should then be notified of the "built-up cash value" in that policy, he said.

—SB 7 with a committee substitute, which would require the state Bureau of Highways to inform property owners of the availability of a program to eradicate noxious weeds along rights of way. It would also require advertising of the program in each county annually.

Originally the bill required the bureau to eradicate Johnson grass, Canada thistles, multiflora roses, nodding thistles and giant foxtails on state rights of way within a county upon request by the fiscal court. Sen. Joe Wright (D-Harned), the bill's sponsor, said the original bill had "cost problems."

—SB 40 with a committee amendment, which would require the state commissioner of insurance to prescribe uniform health insurance claim forms to be used by all health insurers and state agencies that require health insurance claim forms for their records. It is sponsored by Sen. Benny Ray Bailey (D-Hindman).

The committee amendment changed the effective date from July 1, 1981 to a year later. Sen. Bailey spoke against the two-year delay and said it seems excessive. Bailey voted against his bill as amended. He said the bill requiring uniform health insurance claim forms is needed because most physicians either have computers or plan to get computers. If the forms are not uniform, computer programming is necessary with each change of form, he said.

Also on Monday, the Senate tabled SB 111 which would allow disabled voters to obtain regular absentee ballots. The bill is cosponsored by Sen. David Karen (D-Louisville) and Sen. Georgia Powers (D-Louisville). Sen. Karen said disabled or sick voters are now required to get a medical certificate each time they get an absentee ballot. This can be expensive since it might average $15 per physician's office visit to get the certificate, he said.

The senator said he feels voters who are disabled or ill should be able to obtain an absentee ballot by sworn statement in the same way a person can if he or she will be out of town on election day. Senators voting to table the bill said there was a potential for election fraud. The tabled bill cannot be reconsidered without a vote of 20 of the 38 senators.

Benjamin Franklin was engaged in papermaking and urged the colonists to save all of their worn clothing and rags as it was needed to manufacture paper. This paper was used for printing currency and to print newspapers. Much of this newsprint was circulated secretly to let the colonists know what was taking place. This industry was important to encourage people to fight for independence. Please join the Daughters of the American Revolution and observe this February as American History Month.

Saw mills and grist mills were very often built on the same dam which utilized the power from a river or stream to either saw lumber or grind corn and wheat. These industries were most important to the effort of the Revolutionary War as ships, wagons and flour were manufactured for use by the colonists and the Continental Army. Won't you observe February as American History Month? The Daughters of the American Revolution urge you to do so.
