Dept. Asks Floyd Boost on Realty

Hall and Others Plainly Unhappy About Demands

Speaking of

and for

Floyd is one of 98 Kentucky counties whose real estate assessments have been rejected by the state Department of Revenue, and all 98 PVAs (property valuation administraters) in these counties are as unhappy about the situation as they know property-owners will be when the state-demanded increases are made. Lovel Hall, Floyd county PVA, said four PVAs already have resigned and that the state PVA Association is considering court action to forestall the increases.

The preliminary figures for this county, as submitted to the Department of Revenue, provides for a total real estate assessment this year of $138,800,000, which is, roughly, $12 million above last vear's total, which was accepted.

'In the past," Mr. Hall said, "as long as a county was 90 per cent of the fair market value, it satisfied the department, but now they tell us they want it to be 95 per cent, plus 5 per cent for inflation, which makers it 100 per cent. They say the assessment for this county is at the 75.5 per cent level and that we'll have to go to $170 million," Hall added.

Pike, Menifee and Robertson are the only counties in the Seventh Congressional district whose assessments have been accepted by the state department.

Hall said the time element presents a big problem. "Our recap figures were in and hearings were to begin next week. Now, with the records we have and our small staff, I don't know if we can do the job or not.

He pointed out that his office, which is dependent upon state funds, is getting no additional money and that his staff consists of himself and two people - the same as it was eight years ago.

He admitted that the increase that has been asked could be quickly realized through a "blanket raise," but said, 'That is most unfair and I'm trying to avoid it.

Review of county property already has been begun. "If I didn't have the mapping

This Town...That World

This column - had you noticed? - was on vacation last week. The returns are not in for all precincts but from the reports at hand it is indicated that its absence had no effect whatsoever on the weather, the stock market or the situation in Afghanistan and caused no loss of sleep or appetite here at home. Maybe, we should make a smooth transition from vacation to retirement.

THE BELLED CAT

If you doubt your cat's intentions toward the birds, put a bell on him (or her). Our daughter left her midnight black tomcat with us, and I had visions of bird feathers flying about the premises, but they belled him before they left, and the stealthy critter is finding it plumb frustrating to stalk his game in complete silence, then have those bells begin jingling, the moment he crouches for a leap.

But our feathered friends are still in danger of hearing the warning bell so often and long without anything happening that, as foolish even as we, they forget what it means.

Second Accused In Wells Death Draws 21 Years

James A. King, who has been held for safekeeping in the Floyd county jail while awaiting trial for the kidnap-murder of James Leonard Wells, Paintsville motel clerk, entered a plea of guilty in Pike circuit court last wednesday and his penalty was set at 21 years in the state reformatory on each charge.

58 Indictments Voted at Term By Grand Jury

Although none of the 58 indictments voted by the grand jury involved murder, 23 of them named individuals on assault and wanton endangerment counts involving alleged attempts on others. Four of the indictments accused defendants of shooting and wounding others, some for shooting into residences and mobile homes

The grand jury in its final report to Judge Hollie Conley last Wednesday commended the court and other officials for their efforts in cleaning up the criminal docket which has only one homicide case remaining for trial and that remaining from the work of an earlier grand jury.

The report, signed by James Donahoe foreman, asked all enforcement officers "to concentrate much of their time in investigating the trafficking in drugs and drug-related crimes," and also called for the best efforts of officers to solve the increasing number of theft cases.

The grand jury called on the district court to set the maximum fine for defendants convicted of littering. "We realize, its report said, "that numerous grand juries have made many comments regarding the serious garbage problem that we have in Floyd county. We feel that the Floyd county fiscal court should make garbage the No. 1 priority and that a workable system be developed."

'Its inspection of the courthouse resulted in recommendations that all courthouse windows be cleaned, the circuit courtroom be repaired and that braces be installed on the hallway rails. The window-cleaning job was begun immediately. Ben and Olive Ann Meade, the Prestonsburg couple involved in the much-publicized case in which child abuse was alleged after one of their children had been seriously injured, were named in two separate indictments each. McCauley, Chase Options At Odds on Area Projects

A David-based organization which came under severe criticism recently from Joe McCauley, executive-director of the Big Sandy Area Development District, issued a point-by-point rebuttal to McCauley's charges this week.

Sale of WPRT Waits Approval Of Commission

Subject to approval by the Federal Communications Commission Prestonsburg Radio Station WPRT AM-FM has been sold by Stephens Industries to the American Signal Corp., Kingsport, Tenn., it has announced this week.

D. C. Stephens, president of Stephens Industries, said application for FCC approval of the transaction was filed May 19.

WPRT, pioneer Floyd county radio station, is being sold for $325,000, he said. The purchaser operates other radio stations, mainly in Tennessee, it was said here.

The Prestonsburg station was first licensed for operation in 1952 by Mr. Stephens and his wife, the late Dora Stephens. Its original I KW power was later increased to 5KW, and FM (frequency modulation) was added about 15 years ago.

'Elected officials are given the legal right and responsibility to make certain decisions which affect the welfare of the citizens," he wrote. "This right is not to be usurped by a fanatical group who see themselves as being 'far more concerned about the people' than are those who have been chosen to govern.

Chase Options, which describes itself as "an ecumenical witness which seeks to bring together individuals and groups to develop social and economic options through self-help and cooperation,"has been funded by Rural America, which itself draws funds from the federal General Services Administration, to monitor use of federal monies in Wheelwright and in the Martin county town of Beauty.

Involved in each case is the administration of a $3 million HUD grant, the one designed for the rehabilitation of Wheelwright and the other intended for the relocation of Beauty out of the flood plain.

Maloney's and Fired Employees Reach Accord

Maloney Enterprises and six former employees at the company's Inez store reached an agreement shortly before a hearing on the scheduled worker's complaint here Friday.

The employees filed a complaint before the National Labor Relations Board last November, charging that Maloney's had fired them the previous September while they were engaged in lawful picketing outside the store.

Of 11 employees at the store who had previously refused to take lie detector tests ordered by management, three were fired and eight had their work hours cut. The firings and cuts precipitated the picketing, which was subsequently enjoined by order of Martin Circuit Court.

The picketers charged that the injunction and their subsequent dismissal abridged their rights under the National Labor Relations Act and constituted unfair labor practices under the Act.

Under the terms of Friday's settlement, the six women were awarded back pay in the amount of $10,041 and the company was ordered to post a notice at the store affirming their employees' rights to organize and bargain collectively, and to have the same notice published in the Martin Countian. For their part, the dismissed employees waived any rights to reinstatement

Ironically, the employees dismissed for refusing to take the lie detector test were not included in the case, since the NLRB did not recognize theirs as an activity protected by the law.

W'wright Said Quiet; Judge Draws Blame

Wheelwright officials stressed this week that their town is again peaceful following a series of incidents in Hall Hollow in recent weeks. And they insisted that, even though it was a group of white men that had allegedly cause the disturbance in the predominantly black section, the trouble should not be characterized as racially motivated.

"It's not a racial problem but a bunch of riffraff coming in from outside to make trouble," said Ella Jane Hall, chairwoman of the city's board of trustees, who added that community leaders and police had met to discuss the problem, which they now consider to be under control.

Nevertheless, in a May 2l letter sharply critical of District Court Judge Harold there as "frightened and angry.

And Richard Allen, who sells houses in Wheelwright on behalf of the Kentucky Housing Corporation, confirmed that the FBI had been asked to intervene, on grounds that the incidents constituted a possible violation of the civil rights of black residents there.

Mrs. Hall's letter, to Chief Justice John · S. Palmore, of the state Supreme Court, asked the judge's assistance "because we are doing everything we can do and our best efforts are being blocked again and again."

"Our specific complaint," she wrote, "is that this city's police citations are consistently dismissed or reduced by District Court Judge Harold Stumbo.

Floyd Delegates To Attend State Democratic Meet

County Democratic Chairman Dr. Larry M. Leslie will lead the Floyd county delegation to the state Democratic convention in Frankfort, Saturday.

The 36 local delegates, plus alternates, will meet at 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the Capitol Plaza Sports and Convention Center to elect a presidential elector and five State Central Executive Committee members for the Seventh Congressional district.

At 2 p.m., the delegates will meet at the same place to choose electors and committee members for the state at large, and the chairman for the Kentucky Democratic Party.

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr., will address the afternoon session.

Dr. Leslie urged all local delegates to contact him this week, prior to the convention, at 886-8174. He also announced that the Floyd county Democratic convention will be held June 14 at 2 p.m. at the courthouse, and urged all registered Democrats to attend and participate. Representatives of this county will be electied at that meeting to attend the Congressional district convention, June 21 at Paintsville. At the district convention, delegates to the 1980 Democratic National Convention will be elected.

The following are Floyd County's delegates to the State Convention: Dr. Leslie, chairman; Mrs. Cliff Latta, vice chairman; Morris Isaac, Mrs. Delores S. Dingus; Betty Caudill, Raymond Griffith, Jr., Anthony Castle, Burl Shepherd, Earnest G. Burchett, Fred Conn, Earl D. Ousley, Denzil Ray Hall, Gary Lovely, Paul Hoffman, Harlos Holl, Judy Rice. Outstanding Student

Greg Frasure, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Frasure, of Grethel, will be graduated from the eighth grade at John M. Stumbo school, June 3. He has played basketball for the last four years, being in the starting lineup the past two years. The team won two county championships and was runnerup this season. A member of the football team for three years, young Frasure led the county grade school teams in scoring with 116 points last season. In addition to participating in athletics, he is an honor student at Stumbo Elementary with an "A" average. He plans to play basketball and football as a member of the Betsy Layne High School teams next year.

RETURNS FROM VISIT

Anna DeRossett, of Spurlock Creek, has just returned from a two-week trip to Ohio where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Deloris Campbell, who underwent surgery recently. She is doing nicely now. Mrs. DeRossett also visited another daughter, Mrs. Bessie Swartz, while there.

BETSY LAYNE COMMUNITY NEWS

By PAULINE T. JONES

Elijah Collins is spending a week in Ashland with his daughter, Vesta Layne, then he will travel to Homer, Mich., to spend the summer with his son, Ezra Collins.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lynch this week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Justice, of Ousley, Ky., and Letha Stephens, of Toler Creek.

Arvid Lynch has been dismissed from the VA hospital, Lexington, and is back at his home, where he is reported to be feeling better.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fife, formerly of Betsy Layne, now living in Pikeville, have another grandchild, a son born to Jack and Greta Fife at the Methodist Hospital, of Pikeville. The other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Noah Vance, of Beaver.

W. M. Lynch is ill at his home. We hope he will soon be feeling much better.

Jackie Layne Hale, of Louisville, son of the late S. B. and Esta Hale, has been visiting friends and relatives here recently.

The United Methodist Conference is being held at Morehead, June 3-6. Representing the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church at the conference will be Willie Caldwell and the pastor, Rev. K. Robinson.

Entering the Pikeville Methodist Hospital for surgery are Mrs. Luther Tibbs, and Keith Tackett. We wish for them speedy recovery.

Otis Foley is reported to be feeling better after having further surgery at the Highlands Regional Hospital, Prestonsburg.

Bev Blankenship has returned to his home after being a patient at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Marie Dotson is a patient in the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Brian Hardwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardwick suffered an injured leg in a bicycle accident.

Citizens of Betsy Layne were saddened to learn of the blaze that destroyed the home and all the belongings of Dr. and Mrs. Russell H. Davis, of Pikeville. Citizens of Betsy Layne remember in prayer the sick and needy of our community. Those known at this time are Henry Adkins, Earl Brooks, Otis Foley, Myra Amburgey, Bev Blankenship, Rufus Sturgill, Alice Layne, Marie Dotson, W. M. Acreage Certification By Farmers Under Way

Farmers across the state have begun reporting and certifying acreages planted to various crops. As explained by Zeb Ousley, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee for Floyd County, certification is the procedure by which farmers report their acreage planted to feed grains. This method, several years ago, replaced a procedure where field reporters visited each farm

'The certification method is less costly," Mr. Ousley said.

As soon as farmers finish planting their crops, they can start reporting and certifying the acreages at the Floyd County ASCS office.

"Acreage certification is very important,"Mr. Ousley said, "in order to be eligible for program benefits.

Farmers participating in the farm programs and planting corn, who want to be eligible for price support loans and or disaster or deficiency payments, if applicable, must report acreages planted. "If acreages have been certified, ASCS personnel make spot checks of farms at random. Crops reported and measured are compared with certification made by the farmer," Mr. Ousley said.

July 15 is the final date for reporting acreages planted to all other crops.

KET Offers Analysis Of Iranian Situation

Three nationally prominent scholars discuss the issues surrounding the hostage-taking in "Iran, Religion And World Conflict." The 60-minute program comes to KET Monday, June 9 at 8 p.m. From three widely divergent perspectives, Islamic scholar Hamid Algar of the University of California at Berkeley, former Undersecretary of State Joseph Sisco and philosopher Mortimore Adler explore such concerns as the present circumstance in Iran, the culpability of the U.S. in the crisis and the role of religion in world conflict.

Algar maintains America is responsible for creating the crisis and gives a detailed chronology of U.S. support for the Shah and repressive political policies. In contrast, Sisco defends U.S. policy as a pragmatic defense against Soviet expansion. From another view, Adler blames organized religion as a dominant force behind this crisis and world conflict in general

Her letter concluded: "This town is now being terrorized by several of the people who Judge Stumbo has let off again and again. The criminals have the upper hand because the police cannot get appropriate convictions.

Judge Stumbo this week defended his record, pointing out that defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty and that they are entitled to make reasonable bail

In a letter to Judge Palmore, Judge Stumbo wrote "As you know, every defendant may execute a bond under the law and there is a constitutional question as to excessive bail ... I have informed each police officer by memorandum that if he desires to prosecute an individual, he should indicate his desire on the citation. I do not know of any person that has been released who is a criminal, except people who have been released under bond.

Stumbo also questioned the legal standing of Wheelwright City Marshal Roger Anderson, since Anderson is a deputy sheriff in Pike county and resides in that county. Anderson's two offices are 'incompatible," the judge said, and pose a "conflict of interest.

In any event, Wheelwright has no grounds for complaining that he is dismissing or reducing citations issued by Anderson, Judge Stumbo said, since the city Marshal "has not arrested or issued a citation during 1980 that we have a record

Judge Stumbo also noted that a certificate of necessity had been filed with the legislature, recognizing the need for an additional judge for this district; but that none had been appointed. About 6,500 cases were disposed of in this district last year, he said.

Raising the rejected assessments to meet the state requirement will not automatically mean that property owners will face higher tax bills. That is because tax rates are set by fiscal courts and city governments, not by the valuation administrators.

If assessments go up, tax rates may be lowered so that a city or county's revenue is not affected by the higher assessments. In fact, under state law, a local government's income from property taxes may rise by only 4 percent without being subject to challenge by voters. A tax rate exceeding that guideline would be put to a referendum if 10 percent of the number of voters in the last presidential election petitioned for it.

The state constitution, reinforced by a 1965 court ruling, requires that property be assessed at fair market value. Allphin said the department interprets court rulings to allow a 5 percent margin of error in mass assessments of property.

Enforcement of the requirement that county officials maintain assessments at 100 percent of fair market value has been "put off and put off," Revenue Commissioner Allphin said, resulting in a steady erosion of assessment percentages.

The state officials conceded the merits of the Inez-Auxier corridor, assured the meeting that this project is being treated on a par with other outstanding projects, and pointed out that the freeze on engineering contracts is temporary, pending the current statewide review, which is expected to take several more weeks.

But they left no doubt that some justifiable projects would nevertheless remain unfunded. Given the present state of the economy, said Metts, "something has got to give.

The Alternate to Doing Nothing

Cigarette manufacturers still maintain they aren't convinced that use of their product results in lung cancer. Now that sophistry is echoed by a coal official's argument that the burning of coal to produce electric power is not the only cause of the acid rain that is now plaguing the northeastern United States and could conceivably afflict the entire nation.

Of course, cigarettes are not the only cause of lung cancer. Dust, grime, emissions from motor vehicles, fissionable materials-we're breathing them all, and all may share responsibility for the grim harvest. Likewise, the combination of sulfur and nitrogen oxides pouring into the atmosphere from power plant smokestacks to fall to earth as acid rain is not solely to blame for this phenomenon that stirs up memories of ancient Egyptian plagues. Emissions from oil-fired plants and from vehicles powered by oil byproducts also surely contribute.

But the weight of scientific evidence is against both cigarettes and coal in each case, and any attempt to discount it is sheer whistling past the graveyard. No economic consideration can justify the temptation to government, industry or the public to yield to the temptation to ignore the situation a little longer and wait for the danger to pass.

The smog of the West coast and damage to vegetation a hundred miles from population centers led to emission controls on autos and trucks. The death of fish and other acquatic life in ten or more northeastern lakes from acid rain is a mere precursor of more tragic things to happen, and whatever coal is doing to contribute to this dark picture that can, and surely will, become darker must also be controlled.

We write this as a friend of coal, the economic strength and hope of this region. This is not an argument against the fuel; rather, it is an argument that emissions from coal can be controlled and that that is a work to be begun now, not after greater damage is done.

It will be costly, and the cost eventually will be passed down to the consumer, as usual. But it is not a cost too heavy to pay. For the alternate is a greater cost that could be visited upon anybody, anywhere, at the whim of shifting winds.

Letters To the Editor

Not As a Stranger

I would like to write concerning one of Floyd county's citizens, Roger Recktenwald. A few month's ago, a friend and I were driving from Lexington to Pikeville. About eight miles west of Prestonsburg, one of my tires blew out. Discovering that my spare had gone flat, we started hitchhiking to a pay phone. After walking about two-and-a-half miles, Roger, a complete stranger, stopped and picked us up. When we got to his house at Dwale, he not only let us borrow a spare tire, at no charge, but packed up his family and drove us the whole distance back to my car, then waited until we were ready to

The point of this is to acknowledge Mr. Recktenwald's unselfish assistance to a stranger, while opening himself to a very possible loss. But I cannot believe that a person such as that would go unprotected from harm. If the world was full of Roger Recktenwalds, people wouldn't get in trouble pharmacist, Chauncey Young, Jill Wright, Jerry Leon May, Olean May, Earl May and James May - were indicted last

The indictments, it was said, are based on incidents which occurred between Nov.7, 1978 and July 7, 1979 in Johnson, Floyd, Magoffin, Anderson, Bourbon, Clark, Fayette, Franklin, Jessamine, Scott and Wolfe counties.

Other unnamed pharmacists were involved, the indictment said.

Dr. Vanhoose is charged with issuing 'written orders purporting to be prescriptions" in a number of names for Schedule II narcotics and non-narcotics. He was charged on 10 counts of distributing Schedule II narcotics and five counts of distributing Schedule II non-narcotics. Young was accused on eight Schedule II narcotics counts and six for nonnarcotics.

The indictment accused the pharmacist of filling prescriptions for other defendants while knowing they were not for legitimate medical purposes.

Jill Wright and the Mays were named in various Schedule II narcotics an nonnarcotics possession counts

All seven were also named collectively in a conspiracy count.

Addresses of only the doctor and pharmacist were available.

At last Wednesday's hearing, King said he did not shoot Wells but admitted he acted in concert with his brother.

Authorities have been told that James King faces a 30-year prison term in Ohio on an armed robbery charge. It is not known if he will first be imprisoned there, then transferred to Kentucky. Also yet to be decided is which, if any, of the sentences will run concurrently

King has been in jail here since the brothers' return from Ohio to face charges in the Wells case.

Wells was abducted May 13, 1978 while working at the Heart O'Highlands Motel in Paintsville and was taken to Little Creek, Pike county, where his body was several days later found tied to a tree with two bullet wounds in his head.

Was Fire Threat 'Made Good'?

View of burned-out interior of mobile home.

"If you don't move them Reeds out, we''ll burn 'em out.

These words, voiced by unidentified callers, were recalled by Herschel Flanery, of Stephens Branch, as he watched his mobile home burn Monday night. He says he has received several such calls.

Flanery lives near the mobile home which he rents to Dora Reed and family. A window of the trailer was broken from the outside and other evidence convinced him that the threats were made good - at with no insurance. The furniture, owned by Mrs. Reed, also was lost.

Assistant Fire Chief Robert Campbell and Capt. Jimmy Rudder, of the Martin fire department, found two plastic milk jugs, each about three-fourths full of what they called "used gasoline," in either end of the mobile home. Had the flames reached these, they said, firemen could have suffered severe injuries. The Martin firemen were leaving city hall after their regular monthly meeting when the call came from the Maytown fire department for assistance in fighting the blaze. Together, they succeeded in halting the fire short of burning the trailer to the ground.

An arson investigator is expected to be asked to investigate the fire.

charges, Chase Options' Executive Director William Thomas wrote this week: "There is no question of the legal right and responsibility of the elected officials. In Beauty, the problem has been the fulfillment of these duties in terms of the Congressional intent and the HUD regulatory process.

Thomas also responded to charges made in letters sent by ADD staffers, at McCauley's request, to Jack Eversole, executive-director of the Barren River ADD and a board member of the Kentucky Social Welfare Foundation, which also funded Chase Options last year.

Davelene Webb, a housing specialist with the ADD here, accused Szakos of carrying on "an unspoken but nevertheless declared vendetta," stemming from a dispute between Chase Options and the Floyd County Community Development Agency over the rehabilitation of a Prestonsburg house which Chase Options did under contract with the CD agency.

Miss Webb charge that "Szakos' rehab work was les than standard and he caused (the owner of the house) a great deal of distress in the process." Thomas said this week that Chase Options' dispute with CD in this instance resulted from differing interpretations of the terms of his agency's contract with the CD agency.

Recent efforts of the two agencies to come to a mutual understanding were threatened by Miss Webb's "reciting a list of grievances," said Thomas, who challenged the ADD staffer to substantiate her charges against his organization

In response to Miss Webb's accusation that Chase Options set unrealistic goals in the areas of disaster preparedness, housing, transportation and agriculture and then did little to meet them, Thomas itemized his agency's initiatives in those areas, but did not dispute Webb's contention that the goals represent "a stupendous scope of work," comparable to the scope of the ADD itself.

Efforts by Chase Options to establish a senior citizens center in Pike county and a garden cooperative here were criticized by ADD "aging planner" Phyllis Stanley as uncoordinated with ADD plans and as representing "a paper chase for funding," charges denied by Thomas.

Thomas said his organization is proud of its efforts and dismayed by McCauley's "hostility" to the group.

Last year an average of 56 Kentuckians were referred to jobs each hour of every work day by local Job Service offices of the Kentucky Department for Human Resources.

UP THE DOWN STAIRCASE

A Dallas (Texas) Morning news writer recently made reply to a query about the English language usage of the words, 'up'' and "down," sometimes without rhyme or reason. For example:

You always wake up or wise up, never down. We dress up for a party but dress down the guy who spoils it, even look up a word while glancing down the page. We wash down the car, then go wash up ourselves. But why always clean up the mess, never down? Likewise, why always spruce up instead of the other direction? Tell me, too, why it is that when the audience stands to applaud they say the play brought down the house.

This week we will discuss trivia by considering that we often live with many small frustrations and aggravations that we could really do without. One of the most annoying problems faced on occasion is one of the leaky toothpaste tube. Toothpaste comes out the side instead of the top. Save your toothpaste and sanity by cutting the tube around the hole. Leave the cap on and squeeze. Prevent the problem at all by evenly squeezing from the bottom. In fact, you may wish to try using a toothpaste squeezing key available in some stores as a novelty.

A pharmacist who doesn't care about your health needs can be aggravating, and certainly is not trivial. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, we are health professionals and we care about your health. We use only the highest quality ingredients in our prescriptions. There is always a pharmacist available to answer any questions you might have about prescriptions and other health matters. Ronald J. Wright, income maintenance supervisor here for the Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Insurance, received the Award of Excellence at the annual Ten-Ure conference held in Owensboro, May 16. It was the first such award made by the club since its organization 29 years ago.

Mr. Wright was chosen from a DHR Ten-Ure membership of 2,600 for the honor and was awarded a certificate and plaque as one of the top five members in the state. He also was elected vicepresident of the club for 1981. The award which was conferred on him is in recognition of "outstanding work proficiency, effectiveness and superior individual qualities ...

Wright began work with state government in July, 1961 and has worked his way up through the ranks to his present position of income maintenance supervisor in charge of the Prestonsburg office. He is an active member of the Kentucky Human Services Association and is a past district president. He has served on the State Board of Directors, and is presently serving a two-year term for 1980-1981. He received the District Kentucky Welfare Association Ula Faust Award for 1979, and an award of appreciation from the K.W.A. State Board for outstanding work done during the year. Mr. Wright is also an active member of the American Public Welfare Association. In 1969 he was named Minuteman of the Department for Economic Security Stability, was named 'Mr. K.W.A.," and received an award for District 11 in 1970.

Wright is one who likes his job. "In my opinion," he said recently, "no profession could be more rewarding than the social work field and being able to help people in need.

Wright is a member of Zebulon Masonic Lodge here and of the El Hasa Shrine Club. He and his brother, Gary, a local hair stylist, are both accomplished musicians and have their own musical group. In the past, their band has provided free entertainment for disabled veterans at the Veterans' Hospitals in Lexington, and Huntington, W. Va.

He, his wife, Marsha, and their two sons, Stewart and Steven, reside on the Water Gap road, near here.

By JANET E. Hicks Here in Kentucky there are more than 26,000 victims of glaucoma - a serious disease of the eye that damages nerve fibers, a major link in the process of seeing

The best way to prevent needless blindness from glaucoma is to be tested for the disease. You may be tested for glaucoma at the Floyd County Health Department, Monday, June 9, from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3. If higher than normal pressure is found in your eyes, you will be referred to an eye physician who can give you further tests and diagnose the problem. If you have glaucoma, the physician will prescribe treatment to prevent progress of your condition and help conserve your sight. Also on Monday, June 9, the regularly scheduled Wayland Outpost clinic will be conducted in the basement of the Wayland Methodist Church from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2. Immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, and blood pressures will be available This clinic is a free service and the public is welcome to attend.

Perkins almost literally dragged a gallons of treated water, and its distribufederal official from Atlanta to tion system will extend south to provide Prestonsburg to demonstrate to him the necessity and feasibility of the project.

the project were also happy about the results. Ralph Coldiron, director of the Division for Community and Economic Development, Department for Local The connection of the Prestonsburg Government, commented:

"This project is indicative of the type of cooperation that is needed between state, federal and local government. Without this kind of cooperation, this project would have never been implemented."

A few weeks ago, the project hit a snag when it was indicated full expansion could not be done without additional cost to local consumers. City officials balked at tunity for economic development. that proposal; the funds were finally approved without it.

The funds available, in addition to the $1 million ARC grant are grants and loans of $1.7 million from the Farmers Home dustry, will greatly benefit from the Administration, $1 million from the reliable water source, Coldiron said.

As the sun starts going down and pleasure boaters, water skiers and daytime fishermen head for home, another group of anglers, the night fishermen, are just starting their "day." Some anchor in a favorite spot, usually off a deep point or a steep, almost vertical bank, light lanterns and fish for white bass and crappie. Others glide quietly, with no lights showing, along the shoreline, casting surgace lures into the darkness for largemouth bass.

At dawn, as the rest of the world begins to wake up, these nocturnal anglers are back at the dock, busy with their filleting knives. Chances are they've been more successful than their daytime counterparts and know that fishing at night is worth losing sleep over.

White bass and crappie anglers who use lanterns are, in effect, attracting an entire food chain around their anchored boat. The light from the lanterns attracts plankton (in the water, these small plants and animals look something like swirling cornmeal). The plankton attracts shad and other bait fish, which in turn lures hungry sport fish to the scene.

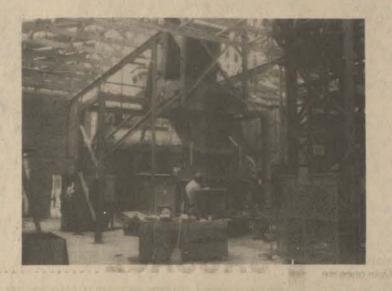

The fisherman, with several baited lines over the side, waits for this natural process to work itself out. Sometimes almost the entire night will pass with little activity, then the white ba move in like a pack of hungry aquatic wolves and the fishing will suddenly get fast and furious.

School Asbestos Bill Cleared by Congress

Legislation growing out of the problem authorization is $150 million. Employees Prestonsburg High School encountered last year with asbestos received final Congressional approval last week and the bill is now in the hands of President Carter, it was announced in Washington late last week by Congressman Carl D. Perkins, House leader of the move for passage of the bill.

The legislation is known as the Asbestos School Hazard Detection and Control Act

"The action of the House ends over one year's effort to help the school districts of the nation to remove this hazard to the health of schoolchildren," Congressman Perkins said. "There is no question that the inhalation of asbestos fibers is a serious threat to one's health. Testimony . before my committee established that 10 per cent or more of the schools in this country have asbestos hazards. Prestonsburg High School in the district I am privileged to represent has already undergone a renovation to deal with this are protected from being discharged from employment or otherwise discriminated against because they have brought to the attention of the public any hazards connected with asbestos in school buildings. Finally, the legislation is retroactive to January 1, 1976, in order to provide reimbursement for those systems which have acted already to protect the health of their students. Congressman Perkins is chairman of the Education and Labor Committee which projeced the legislation.

Named Outstanding College Democrat

John McCauley, of Prestonsburg, was awarded the William Jones Memorial Award, naming him as the state's Outstanding College Young Democrat for 1979-80 at the Kentucky Young Democrats annual Awards Banquet, May 25 at the Hyatt Regency, Lexington.

The legislation, he said, provides for grants to local school districts and state educational agencies for asbestos hazard detection programs in the amount of $22.5 million Additionally, low interest loans for asbestos removal are authorized. Total amount of the loan

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO OUR MOTHER, ERNESTINE WARD CHUCK, KIM, BOBBY, BRAD AND CHIP WE LOVE YOU

McCauley, president of the Cumberland College Young Democrats, received the honor at the conclusion of the 1980 KY state convention. Special guests for the occasion included former Governor Julian Carroll, former Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, Sec. of State Frances Jones Mills, Speaker of the House William Kenton, Comm. of Agriculture Alben Barkley, II, and William "Bill" Cox , of Madisonville. McCauley was also named to the 1980 Outstanding Young Men of America by the United States Jaycees, last week. McCauley, who will be a senior at Cumberland College next fall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCauley, of Prestonsburg.

Lexington's Red Mile harness racing track was first unveiled to the race-going public on Sept. 28, 1875.

Minnows are the favorite bait for this type of fishing and the anglers experiment with different depths to find out how deep the fish are running. In addition to rods, reels, hooks and bait, about the only other equipment required is extra lantern fuel, warm jacket (it gets chilly on the lake, even in summer) and plenty of coffee

Fishermen at Laurel Lake, near Corbin, use similar techniques but fish with "organic" baits--worms, cheese or cornfor rainbow trout. During the summer months, night fishing is the most productive way to take trout at Laurel.

On lakes with clear water and a lot of daytime activity, largemouth bass usually "hole up" during the day. But they become active after dark, move into shallow water and do most of their feeding then. They will strike readily on just about anything from top-water lures to plastic worms, although most night bass fishermen like a loud surface lure, one that makes enough noise to allow the bass to home in by sound alone. Black is by far the most popular lure color for night fishing.

Experienced night fishermen usually like dark nights-the darker the better. Heavy tackle is required, because it's often necessary to cast toward a shoreline that's barely visible, so jerking lures out of trees or bushes is a regular part of night casting.

It's important to move quietly and show as little light as possible, since the fish in shallow water will be spooky. And remember that bass won't be active all night long-activity, like it does during the day, will come in spurts. But feeding periods are usually longer and more intense at night.

White bass have finished spawning now, and several lakes are reporting good mixed catches of white bass and crappie. Night largemouth fishing should be getting good around now and will get better as the summer progresses.

So if your daytime trips aren't as productive as you'd like, try sleeping during the day and fishing all night.

Good News

by Wilmay

Recently, the Courier Journal carried a series of articles about the rest-homes and mini-homes across the state. We hope that many Floyd countians noticed the list of those about which the state has received the most complaints, for not one of these is located in Eastern Kentucky. So often our section is rated low, especially by some outsiders, even when statistics may show otherwise. It should be gratifying to all of us, and particularly to those in charge of our good nursing and rest homes, to see them conspicuous by their absence on this list. It has been our privilege to visit every home in the vicinity of this county, as well as one minihome, and we never saw a thing to criticize; moreover, no one among the respective personnel or staffs knew visitors were coming. More than once we have known staff members who summoned a physician for some patient in the hour of need. Such attentiveness is or should be appreciated by loved ones, and patients. The variety of care given is amazing. Ministers, many civic and Christian groups, as well as individuals, render different services for these people, nost of whom are in the twilight of Who knows, we may join them some day. At least we are thankful to find our section missing from the list published critically, since frequently the opposite is true. When a patient has a prolonged, chronic illness some of us are inclined to become negligent about remembering them and their families in countless small ways. May this not be true of Americans who have been concerned over our hostages in Iran? They no longer capture the headlines but they need our prayers as much as ever, and so do their anguished families. Chances are some of them are sick, and the majority are certain to be sick at heart as months and months pass with no relief in sight. THIS paragraph contains no good news! So many have commented glowingly on the program of the senior class at Allen Central High School. Reports say prayers by the young people were great, and that more than one participant included God and spiritual values. This is a compliment to students, faculty, Principal J.O. Dingus, and parents of the graduating class. So far as we know, no protests occurred when prayer was a daily feature in most schools, until one misguided soul decided to throw her weight around. The law today is not against prayer, unless it is of a specific kind and made compulsory. Many schools in more than one state never discontinued prayer and Bible reading. The least America could do now to restore prayer in schools daily is to suggest having a minute of silent prayer each morning. That method would not necessitate sending any pupil from the room. Each would pray in his own way if he wished to pray at all. Those who are atheists could continue studying in their seats and no one would notice or care. It is highly probable that some of the current problems in most schools may be attributed to discontinuance of recognition of God in public schools where such is the case. Our nation is paying a heavy price indeed for its negligence of God. The great philosopher, Edmund Burke, said the surest way for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing!

When addressing a letter to a young man, experts on etiquette say, it's best to address him as master if he's 12 or under, mister if he's 18 or over and with just his first and last name if he's in between.

Members of the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department battle a blaze which threatened to burn a mobile home, Friday at the Hyden Trailer Court on the Auxier Road. An elderly woman, who, with her husband, rented the trailer, was home when the fire broke out but was not injured. The Auxier fire fighters were able to confine the blaze to the bedroom area where it began and aside from some minor water and smoke damage, the structure was saved. The fire was said to have been electrical in origin.

Insect Bites

Mosquitoes and other insects can make real "pests" of themselves and leave you scratching in misery. For relief, try applying ice and holding the bite under cold water. Or, make a paste of moistened baking soda and cover the sting. Calamine lotion and rubbing alcohol may also help. Do not scratch an insect bite as it will only itch more and could lead to infection. Consult your friendly Pharmacy Plus pharmacist for technical assistance.

ARAMIS CELEBRATES FATHERS AND FOREFATHERS Father's Day is a special day and Aramis has a rather patriotic and special way of celebrating it this year. By honoring America and the landmarks that give our great nation its distinct identity. Just as father is the foundation of the family, landmarks. . . the souvenirs of America's past living styles. . . are the very basis of our culture. To mark the moment, gift sets from Aramis bear sleeves of boldly beautiful photography. Each carrying a message to explain its historical significance.

What determines the calorie content of a potato is its size and any ingredients added in cooking or for seasoning. Compare a baked potato and french fries to illustrate the difference in calorie content: Half baked potato: Calories, 73; fat, .1 gm.; sodium; 6 mg.

French fries (11/2 small bags from fast food restaurant): Calories, 274; fat, 4 gm.; sodium, 163 mg. (if salt added).

Since the USDA-HEW Dietary Guidelines are encouraging Americans to decrease fat, calories and sodium in their diet, it is obvious that the baked potato is the better choice. but, by adding one tablespoon of butter or one-fourth cup sour cream you add 100 extra calories.

To hold calories to a minimum, eat them plain or with a small helping of cottage cheese or yogurt to replace calorieladen sour cream or butter. Eat skins, also, they're packed with vitamins and fiber

And baking potatoes provides a no-fuss way to serve this hearty vegetable. Scrub skins well for later eating. Either brush skins lightly with oil to keep them soft or leave them plain if you like them crisp. to cut baking time in a conventional oven, insert a metal skewer. If you use a microwave, pierce skins with a fork.

Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Bailey, Elissa and Glenna Jo Hatcher, all of Frankfort; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bailey, of Pikeville; Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Roark, Johnathan and Thad, of Georgetown; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Springate, of Harrodsburg; Michael Wright, of Burbank, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown, of Oakhill, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Walker Hamilton, of McDowell, Mrs. Sandra Wilson and Miss Elissa Bailey, of Ivel; Buddy Hatcher, of Allen; Mr. and Mrs. John Huppert, of Auxier; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howard, and Mrs. Opel Branham, all of Dwale; Mrs. Kate Whitt and Kathy, Mrs. Rebecca Jarrell and Tommie, all of Sugar Loaf.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Members of the Day Homemakers' club met May 13, at the First United Methodist Church, with the president, Mrs. Phyllis Herrick, presiding. The nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Short, Mrs. Mae K. Roberts, and Mrs. Eleanor Horn, presented the names of the following of ficers, chosen to serve during the coming çlub year: President, Mrs. Phyllis Herrick; vice-president, Mrs. Eleanor Horn; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mary Sue Moore. The president appointed these committees: Telephone, Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, Mrs. Julia Stephens, and Mrs. Kathryn Stephens; Devotionals, Miss Alice Harris; Publicity, Mrs. Docia Woods and Mrs. Dorothy Stover. The club voted to make a donation to the church for the use of the building and facilities throughout the past year. Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd county home economist, has announced that Mrs. Martha Leake would conduct a needlepoint workshop at the Kentucky Power Company here, May 27. Mrs. Pitts also invited members to attend a yeast bread workshop at this same location on June 5. Mrs. Herrick discussed with the group the Cultural Arts Camp, to be held at Irish Acres 4-H Club Camp, in Boyd county, June 29-30. Mrs. Mary Sue Moore will be one of the instructors there. Although the Day Homemakers had previously met their 100 per cent contribution to the Ovarium Cancer Fund, club members made individual donations amounting to $16.50, after it was learned that more money was needed to meet the countywide quota. Mrs. Short and Mrs. Darlene Jones presented the program on "Makeup and skin Care," and this was followed by a slide by Mrs. Pitts, depicting "before and after" photographs of persons using the correct makeup. By popular request, Mrs. Beatrice Collins gave a reading entitled, "Domestic Tragedy," and she was asked by the president to present another reading at the beginning of the fall meetings. The hostesses, Mrs. Darlene Jones and Mrs. Becky Short, served punch and cookies to: Mesdames Phyllis Herrick, Eleanor Horn, Mary Sue Moore, Gladys Blackburn, Gertrude Bradbury, Katherine Stephens, Dorothy Stover, Julia Stephens, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Frances Pitts, Fanny Runnels, Docia B. woods, Mabel Donahoe, Lucy Regan, and Beatrice Collins, and Miss Alice Harris.

Lunch Program To Begin, June 9

Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., and Miss Banche Dingus, food service director for the Floyd county school system, examine final plans for the first free summer lunch program in this county which will begin June 9. Helping them formulate plans are Beecher Woods, of Emma, standing at left, and Johnny Maddox, of Martin, who will both serve as monitors of the program.

Personnel who will administer the first summer lunch program in this county met Monday at the Board of Education offices here to correlate plans for the program which will begin June 9 and continue through July 31.

Free lunches will be made available to any person 18 years old or younger at 10 centers in the county. These centers will be located at the following schools :

Allen Elementary, Betsy Layne Consolidated, Clark Elementary, Garrett Elementary, John M. Stumbo Elementary, McDowell Consolidated, Martin Elementary, Melvin Elementary, Osborne Elementary, and Prestonsburg Elementary

Meals will be served from 10:45 a.m. until 12:15, Monday through Friday, with the stipulation that the meal must be eaten at the center.

The program, sponsored by the Floyd County Board of Education in conjunction with the state Department of Education, is federally funded under the Department of Agriculture's Child Nutrition Program. Sponsorship of the program in this county came about largely through the interest of Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who brought it to the attention of Supt. Pete Grigsby, Jr

Miss Blanche Dingus, who is directing the program, stressed the fact that the free lunch is for anybody up to 18, and is not limited to students. In addition to providing nutritious lunches for young people, the program will provide several summer jobs. How many will depend on the response to the program, Miss Dingus said.

Carl Horn Cited by U.S.D.A.

Carl Horn, of Prestonsburg, one of the first to arrive and the last to leave scenes of disaster, has been cited by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service for his dedication in assisting victims of floods, hurricanes and other misfortunes.

Horn, who is district manager of the Food and Nutrition Service, was presented the citation along with a cash award at ceremonies recently in the agency's regional office in Atlanta by Administrator David B. Alspach.

Whenever a disaster strikes in his district, Horn assesses the damage and then assures an ample supply of USDAdonated foods for shelter feeding of the victims. Later he supervises the distribution of food stamps to those who qualify for emergency assistance. His district consists of all of Kentucky and parts of Tennessee, North and South Carolina.

A veteran in the field of food assistance, Horn has the distinction of helping to open the nation's first pilot food stamp program in Floyd county in 1961. Later he was made manager of the Food and Nutrition Service's Prestonsburg field office, and then in 1971 was promoted to district manager.

When the field office was opened, Horn's duties consisted primarily of monitoring the food stamp program. They have now been expanded to include the school lunch and other food assistance programs administered by USDA. Horn resides with his wife, the former Eleanor Spurlock, at 324 South Lake Drive.

Chides Non-Voters

I would like to take this opportunity to express my feelings concerning the poor vote turnout during the past election held on May 27.

First, the right to vote is not only a fought-for right, but an obligation that all eligible Floyd County voters cast their votes in every election, whether we feel it's important, or whether we think our individual vote does not count in the final outcome, because a certain candidate is sure to win.

I am concerned about all elections, but particularly this past one, which involved Congressman Carl D. Perkins. Congressman Perkins has been in office many years, and has acquired a name and working record synonymous with people like Bert Combs and John L. Lewis. From congressman Perkins' first term to his present term, he has made every possible effort to provide for the people, not ony in his Congressional District, but also for all the people of Kentucky. He possesses a quality that is quickly disappearing in our country's political representatives today-the quality to always be in close contact with the wishes of the people.

For years many people have called upon him for help involving personal problems, such as acquiring Black Lung benefits, Social Security, veterans' benefits and many other individual problems too numerous to list. Each time he has been approached with a problem, he has made every possible effort to provide the service.

Considering all of the problems in our government, such as the economy, world affairs and corruption in many of the political representatives, it is a disgrace that we Floyd countians, who have such a great man representing us, fail to show our appreciation to Congressman Perkins, by getting out and casting our votes, in order to elect him by the majority he deserves.

Period for Comment By Beekeepers Extended

The comment period on a proposal to terminate the U.S. Department of Agriculture's beekeeper indemnity payment program, originally scheduled to end April 29, has been extended 30 days until June 12, according to Ray Fitxgerald, administrator of UDSA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Under the proposal, beekeepers whose bees are killed by insecticides approved for use by the government would no longer be eligible for federal indemnity payments.

The program originally was scheduled to be terminated by May 15.

All comments on the proposal should be sent to Bob Cook, ASCS-EIPD, USDA, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Danese F. Amburgey, of Allen recently announced her retirement from the Floyd county school system after 30 years of teaching, the last 22 of which she spent at the Allen Grade School.

Her teaching career began at the Brush Creek School at Hippo in July 1943. After spending approximately 10 years in the rural schools in Floyd county, she moved to Allen Elementary in 1959 where she has taught first grade. She has influenced the lives of approximately 900 children during her years of teaching.

Friday, May 30, Daniel Branson principal of the Allen Elementary School served as master of ceremonies at a dinner given in her honor, and the faculty presented her with a Norman Rockwell print, "The School Teacher", a figurine of "School Days," and a plaque of dedication. She also received many personal gifts from parents and students. The table was decorated with a cen terpiece of spring flowers in shape of the "Little White School House" which was a replica of her first school.

After retirement she plans to get more involved in Christian education, do more needlework, read, travel and mainly rest.

The Blackcats had a winning record and Tennessee. Sharon is happy with the respect her team gained this season.

"The golf season is so short, it lasts only five weeks and so it is up to the players to get ready by practicing before the season and then they have to practice every day when they aren't playing a match during the season,"she said. They not only sacrifice time but also money because they have to pay every time they play at Jenny Wiley. Their dedication has paid off for them and I am really pleased that they have had such a successful season."

There are 16 members of the golf team. In addition to the four players who earned regional and then state tournament berths, B.J. Sturgill, Danny Milligan, Bill Marcum, Phillip Minns, Ted George, Todd Johnson, Mike Mays, Mark Baldridge, Jeff Cook, Dickie Leslie, David Mann and Kevin Webb also played for PHS this season.

Their coach commented:

The top four golfers were not that far ahead of the rest of the team. We had good competition all season long to see who could move up a position on the team. Of the four who played in the state tournament only Mark is a senior, so our prospects for next season are encouraging.'

Prestonsburg received contributions from several people to make the trip to the Anderson Golf Course at Ft. Knox for the state meet. The contributions came in rapidly as the golf team had less than a week to raise the needed money.

"I want to thank all those who donated money to help us go to Ft. Knox," Sharon said, "They came through in a short time and we really appreciate their support.'

Prestonsburg's state tourney showing was respectable in comparison to past Eastern Kentucky teams. Our area has not been a high school golf power and, Sharon told me, several coaches from throughout the state suggested that teams from our area not be allowed to compete.

"It made me mad the way they looked down on our area at the state tournament but our golfers do not have the advantage golfers from other areas have. I was pleased with our performance at the state tournament and with the way our team conducted themselves on the course. They were gentlemen.

McGuire had the best score among the Prestonsburg golfers with a two day score of 167. That score put him in the middle of the field.

"Mark shot better than several golfers who will be attending college on golf scholarships," his coach said. "I,m proud of all my team this year.

Dewey Layne, Prestonsburg's outstanding linebacker and fullback, has been selected to play in the annual East-West All Star football game to be held at the Louisville Fairgrounds stadium at 8 p.m. Friday, June 13.

Layne, a first team all-stater in almost every poll, is one of 22 players chosen to play for the East squad. Prestonsburg's head football coach, Philip Haywood, said, "Dewey's a fine young man and is very deserving of the honor of playing in this game. It's good for him and for our program. I hope a lot of people will be able to attend. We have one of ours playing and the games are for a good cause

Realtor Survey Shows Existing Home Slump May Be Over

> WASHINGTON (May 27, 1980)--Substantial reductions in mortgage interest rates have apparently rekindled home buying activity in most areas of the nation, Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors, disclosed today.

> "A survey of 22 major metropolitan areas indicates that the sharp decline in existing home sales is behind us," Carlson said. "Respondents said there has been increased buyer interest in resale properties. This interest should give rise to increased sales, which should continue in the months ahead.'

> Based on the telephone survey, he said it appears that May sales will be about 2.5 million units on a seasonally adjusted annual basis, a moderate increase from the 2.4 million existing home sales in April. Carlson noted that conditions vary across the country, with the South and the West reporting sales either comparable to April or slightly improved, while metropolitan areas in other regions no longer are reporting steep declines. "In these areas," he added, "we anticipate improvements in June.

Prior to the sales slump, prices of existing homes were increasing at doubledigit rates-faster, in fact, than the overall inflation rate, Carlson said.

"The last six months, however, have seen some moderation in the rate of increase in home prices," he said. "The survey reveals that home prices in general are remaining stable or increasing at a more modest annual rate, equal to about half the rate of inflation."

The survey suggested, he noted that should sales increase further, the inventory of existing home listings would be depleted quickly and the rate of home price appreciation could paralled the overall rate of inflation.

The survey also disclosed that not only are mortgage loans becoming less expensive, but also more available.

"Eighty percent uninsured conventional loans are now available in all areas surveyed," Carlson said, "and the supplies of mortgage funds have shown improvements and are deemed quite adequate.

Mortgage interest rates have fallen dramatically in recent weeks, according to most respondents, with average declines of 2 percentage points reported in the areas surveyed. Rates now range from 12.25 to 15 percent with the average being about 13.50 percent. In the South, Carlson point out, rates have fallen to as low as 12 percent in some areas and average about 13 percent, while in the Northeast, the average appears to be about 14.50 percent.

"The recent declines in mortgage interest rates have slashed $50 to $100 from the monthly principal and interest payments on a $50,000, 30-year mortgage," Carlson said. "This has gone a long way toward restoring the affordability of a home purchase for millions of Americans who want to buy their first home or move up the housing ladder.

The telephone survey, conducted by the Economics and Research Division of the National Association of Realtors, involves 22 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA) and the results are based on aggregate reponses, not individual areas.

Most of the feedback the department has received from private sector employers participating in the program has been favorable, said Hodgkin. According to employers contacted, the workers hired through the program are just as reliable as workers hired any other way.

Betty Stanlye, the accounting section manager of the Outdoor Venture Corp., said her company stands to receive about $25,000 in tax credits this year. "The employees we hired under the tax credit program are no different than the company's other employees. They are just as productive," said Stanley.

Appalachian Computer Services saved about $12,000 in taxes during the second half of last year, said company book-keeper Judy York. "We would like to have more employees who qualify for the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit program," said York. "It is a direct tax savings that doesn't require a lot of time.

Changes I Would Like at Prestonsburg High

the first prize winner in a contest for Prestonsburg High School students sponsored by People for Better Schools. Miss Hinchman received a $75 cash award. Second prize, $50, was awarded to Chris Stephens and third prize, $25, to Cohen H. Swiney. Pamela Joyce Justice received an honorable mention for her essay.)

While Prestonsburg High School is one of the best high schools in this county, I feel that it can be improved with a few changes in its facilities and the education it provides. Some of these suggestions require only a change in the school policies, while others, since this is a public high school, would need changes in the Board of Education's policies or even those of the state education department. They may or may not be realistic because of these policies and lack of funding, but they are only my suggestions on how to improve the school.

First of all, the school needs a lot more teachers with more training, education, and experience. Some classes are being taught by teachers that really shouldn't be teaching them, but are because there is no one more qualified than themselves to teach. A lot of classes previously offered are not available because of a lack of experienced and qualified teachers. It is the

(Editor's note: The following essay was education because of this and there is really nothing that they can do except let their thoughts and ideas be known no matter how small or trivial they may think they are > classes are often overcrowded and the teachers overworked or some students have to be dropped from classes for which they registered. Smaller classes are necessary for each student to get the individual attention he needs to get the most out of school. Smaller classes would probably cover more material more quickly than a large, disorganized class.

Along with smaller classes, a more varied curriculum would enable students to choose an education that they would find beneficial to their future plans. College-bound students may need to take a foreign language to enter the particular college or university they have in mind. In the past five years, French and Spanish have been dropped from the curriculum at Prestonsburg, leaving only Latin as a foreign language. This may be better than some other high schools, but it isn't a consolation to those who need or want to take another foreign language. The curriculum should have (besides the regularly required courses) a variety of elective classes such as art, drama, dance, creative writing, music, gymnastics, and classes that teach students how to apply for loans, apply for a job, buy a house or car, balance a checkbook, file an income tax return, drive an automobile, and numerous other skills necessary to survive in today's world.

Increasing the number of periods in a school day would improve school life by allowing students to take a few extra in a regular six-period day. Several change. popular courses are offered only one period a day and many students who would be interested in taking them cannot munications Act of 1934, as amended, and because they have another one-periodof Section 53.3580 of the Rules and Regula- only class they have to take. If the school tions of the Federal Communications day were divided into more periods, these classes could be offered so that more students could enjoy and learn from with the Federal Communications Com- them. I also think that such one-semester mission, Washington, D.C., for its consent classes as English, literature, psychology, and sociology should be taught in separate periods as an all-year class so that more of the material in the textbooks can be covered

Another improvement in the education treme cases. Paddlings are often easily forgotten, while suspensions are often viewed as "three-day vacations" and tant assignment or a test, thus restricting his learning. A more positive alternative for dealing with minor infractions of school rules would be to set up a special study hall in which the student could only amount of time. A teacher in charge of the study hall, who would work in rotating shifts, would assign the student with extra work if he didn't have enough to do.

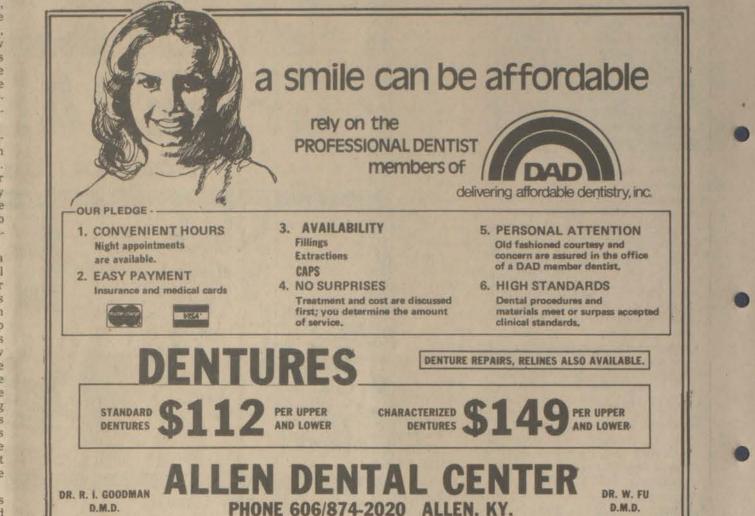

Also, with the day divided into more periods, there could be a special period set aside at the end of the day for holding students who are missing out on their desks are needed and shelves, shades, chalkboards, and painted walls are in disrepair. Lights and windows are needed in several of the rooms. Along the hallways, ceilings should be repaired, walls painted, and new lockers put in. The Because of the lack of teachers, our classes, especially biology and chemistry, need more money with which to buy new supplies and equipment. The physics class needs a lab, as well as the physiology class which, like the chemistry classes, rarely gets an opportunity to do lab work that is vital in college

Another improvement that would greatly benefit student-faculty communication is to reinstate the student council. Students would benefit by having a bigger voice on happenings at school and by learning about student government. The teachers would have a better chance to work alongside the students and understand them better.

For health and safety as well as for a pleasant learning environment, the school should be properly maintained, a factor which is often missing in the classrooms and restrooms. The classrooms often need to be swept and have trash picked up and have the seats straightened as well as have the windows washed once every few weeks, instead of every year. The restrooms often have no tissue paper; the sinks are often dirty and clogged; the stalls are barely standing, few having doors or walls. The floors and the toilets are messy if not dirty, and some teachers on "potty duty" (supervising the bathrooms) hold the door wide open, not leaving one much privacy from the hallway traffic.

Complaints point out a problem, but it is the efforts of the faculty, students, and classes than they would have been able to concerned others that will bring about club meetings, pep rallies, or special programs. Students wouldn't have to miss classes and teachers wouldn't have to put up with having their work constantly disrupted. During the different athletic seasons, pep rallies could be held regularly and school spirit and support would become more enthusiastic than it is now. Changes in the facilities would have to start in the classrooms where

Golden Fryes

Speaking of Tongues

Delicious, nutritious—the only problem is getting anybody to eat them. But don't pass up a good buy just because it's tongue!

Although veal, pork and lamb tongues are all available, beef tongues are the most popular, probably because of their size. You can make them look like something else, either with a sauce or by slicing them so cleverly your family won't even know the origin of that delicious dish.

Tongue is sold fresh, frozen, pickled and smoked. It can be any color from black to a gray-pink. If it's fresh, it should glisten.

Tongue is not tender; because of the exercise it receives, the tongue muscle develops connective tissue which you will have to soften by soaking and simmering. Salted or smoked tongue must be soaked overnight in fresh water. Fresh tongue should be washed very carefully and thoroughly in warm water before cooking. Then simmer the tongue in water slowly (3-4 hours for a beef tongue). After simmering, remove the heavy skin and roots (the thick part).

After the necessary cooking by moist heat, you can braise, bake, roast or freeze the tongue for use later. You can freeze the tongue in some of the liquid in which it was simmered to keep it moist, and use the thawed broth later for an accompanying sauce. You can also freeze fresh tongue, uncooked, in a moisture-proof freezer wrap.

Serve tongue hot or cold with a sweet and sour sauce, a hot mustard sauce, or any other spicy sauce; or you might want to use it as an unusual salad or casserole ingredient-especially if you are trying to introduce your family slowly and successfully to this great variety meat.

Tofu, Anyone?

You can do just about anything to a soybean: sprout it, ferment it into soy sauce; or grind it into flour. Consumers are increasingly turning to tofu, the ancient staple of Oriental diets, as an inexpensive source of protein. Tofu, more familiar to some as bean curd, is widely available at health food stores, fruit and vegetable markets and an occasional supermarket; it usually sells for about 70 cents to $1.09 a pound.

Tofu is the curd of soy "milk", usually made by soaking soybeans, then grinding them into a puree. Fresh tofu is highly perishable, and should be eaten within several days of processing. It is often sold unpackaged, usually held in a tub of water at the store; other tofu is pre-packed in water, and still other brands are vacuum packed.

Except for the vacuum-packed brands, tofu should be covered with water that is changed daily, and stored under refrigeration in a covered container. The first sign of tofu deterioration is syneresis, the separation of the liquid from the curd; tofu which is not covered with water may develop an inedible skin. Silken tofu, which is made with a heat process, has a considerably longer shelf life than other tofus, and at least one brand of silken tofu may be stored at room temperature. Cleanliness and care in handling tofu are essential; consumers should choose their stores carefully.

There are several different kinds of tofu available; they vary in moisture content (and thus in nutrient values), texture and flavor. All, however, are custard-like and bland; tofu picks up other flavors readily.

Tofu is often fried and flavored with soy sauce and garlic; it may, however, be broiled, pan-fried, or cooked in soups. Many use it as a dip or salad dressing, or as the base for imitation sour cream, mayonnaise, icing or even ice cream. While some report success in substituting tofu for soft cheeses, it does not melt; reliable recipes are needed to substitute tofu for cheeses. Tofu is a generous source of high quality vegetable protein; it is also low in fat, calories and sodium.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Mink Branch Coal Co. (Mine No. 3), Craynor, Kentucky, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 1.8 acres located on orth of Craynor in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles west of State Route 970's junction with Mink Branch Road, and located north of Mink Branch, latitude 37°26'25", longitude 82°40'00". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Charles Howell. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Surface Disturbance for Underground Mine. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and-or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5079. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the premining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

Makes Plea in N.Y. For Mansion Funds

Governor John Y. Brown, Jr. last week appealed to the prestigious Kentuckians club in New York to join his wife, Phyllis George, in what he called her Number One Kentucky project, to save the man-

"If you want to do something directly to help your state, help us save the mansion," Brown said. "We've got to do something to see that it is preserved for all Kentuckians, including those here in New York. We need your help."

to the annual banquet of The Kentuckians, an exclusive club of native Kentuckians who now live in New York.

Brown explained that he was making the appeal on behalf of Mrs. Brown, who had wanted to make the appeal herselt but was advised not to go by her doctor. Brown outlined the problems at the mansion which have forced the browns to move to their Lexington home, Cave Hill. The New York group expressed surprise that the mansion actually had been closed earlier this month by a fire marshal's order due to fire hazards.

Brown said that before they moved out. the state had planned to renovate the mansion with $1.7 million the General Assembly had approved from federal revenue sharing.

However, within days after the Browns moved out, President Carter announced an end to the state's portion of revenue sharing, putting the $1.7 million approved for renovation in jeopardy.

On May 5, 1980, the state fire marshal's office issued the order condemning the mansion, saying that it was unsafe for human habitation because of dangerous wiring and other safety hazards.

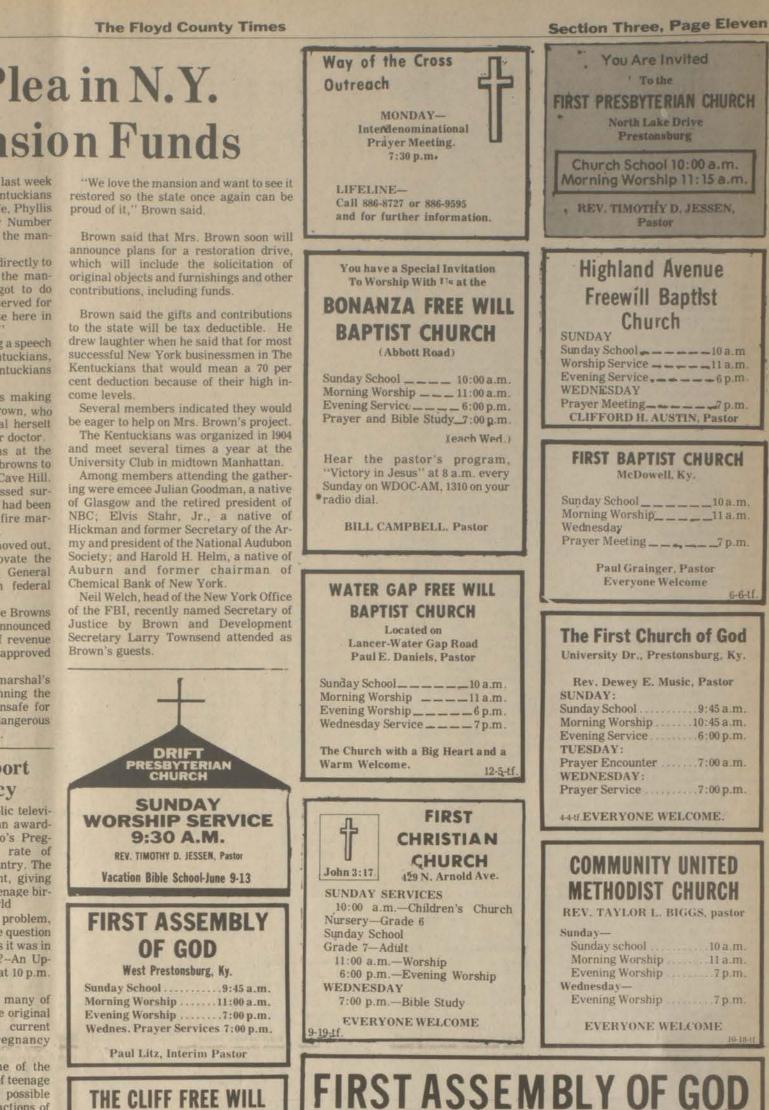

KET Updates Report On Teen Pregnancy

Three years ago Chicago public television station WTTW produced an awardwinning program, "Guess Who's Pregnant?," about the alarming rate of teenage pregnancies in this country. The outlook was becoming pregnant, giving the United States the highest teenage birth rate in the industrialized world

In an update on the national problem, WTTW filmmakers return to the question to find the situation as serious as it was in "Guess Who's Pregnant? -- An Up-1977. date" airs Wednesday, June 11 at 10 p.m. on KET.

The hour-long special revisits many of the experts who appeared in the original program and asks for their current assessments of teenage pregnancy statistics.

The program documents some of the reasons for the increasing rate of teenage pregnancies and offers some possible remedies. It also surveys the actions of government, the media, schools and parents to come to grips with the problem.

I'm trying to learn the whereabouts of Luther Lamb, who would be about 67 years old, if still living. I last saw him in 1934. At that time he made his home with a brother, "Tag" (Elmer), and they lived at Mossy Bottom, Pike Co., and worked as coal miners at Boldman, Ky. If anyone has information, good or bad, concerning Luther, Please write to: NORA A, DAVIS, 826 Majerle St., Cadillac, Mich. 49601. My maiden name was Smith, and I lived at Big Shoal, Pike Co., Ky., when I knew Luther Lamb. It-pd.

Love Those Kelpburgers Will food supplies last forever? The answer is definitely yes, depending to some extent on whether we can develop a taste for "filet of kelp" or "soybean sundaes." These and other exotic staples are already being considered by scientists as likely sources of protein and sugar by the mid-1980's.

We won't have to develop a taste for kelp and soybean in their natural states; rather, their nutrients will be isolated and refined into desirable sources of food through the use of enzymes. Enzymes-tiny, non-living protein molecules found in all living cells-can be used to improve the taste of these protein-rich foods.

According to biochemist E. Kendall Pye, an enzyme researcher at the University of Pennsylvania, the need to develop scientificallyproduced food will be dictated by our current inefficient use of land. We are wasting high-protein vegetable grown as animal fodder for a small return of animal protein, which is a main source of protein in our diet. This waste is dramatized by the following figures:

· One acre of land used for grazing animals produces enough protein for one man for 74 days. · One acre of land planted with corn yields enough protein for five men for 74 days.

· One acre of land planted with soybeans yields enough protein for 12 men for 74 days.

If more protein-rich crops like soybean, sunflower, and alfalfa were grown, there would be a greater source of more nutritious foods for man. The protein from these plants could be enzymatically processed and used as an additive or extender in processed foods, or they could be enzymatically treated to become soluble in any liquid-which would make water as rich in protein as milk.

Enzymes can also be used to break down cellulose (which comprises about 60 percent of all plant life) into glucose-a simple sugar used widely in foods today. Glucose can used to tenderize meat, brew beer and make yogurt. One of the most important uses of enzymes is to convert the starch content of corn into a liquid sugar, which is used as an economical alternative to cane sugar in soft drinks and many other products. The lower cost and stable supply of this naturally-produced sugar also helps keep down the price of these popular foods.

Thomas Robert Malthus, the 19th Century British economist, predicted the world would be plagued by disease, famine, war, poverty and destruction unless curbs were placed on population growth.

The most recent of these predictions about the future of our world have focused on dwindling natural resources-particularly energy resources-and the availability of sufficient foods to meet a growing world population. Unlike many of their predecessors, these modern doomsayers base their opinions on scientific facts and laws and have managed to build a substantial following.

Few argue the fact that natural resources are finite; however, developments in food technology are at least encouraging.

Synthetic foods won't be in your shopping basket for a while. For the present, most of the "new foods" available are soybean-based. They don't offer a huge price advantage over meat protein, but they do shave cholesterol, so they're a bonus to dieters and those concerned about heart disease.

also be converted by enzymes into protein.

According to Pye, these new vegetable protein-based foods need not taste or look any different than the real thing. When the vegetable protein fiber is spun into a meat-like texture and artifically flavored, it will be difficult to tell the difference between a T-bone and a steak made from soybean. Fresh meat, however, is destined to become a luxury item, Pye believes.

Animals, in limited numbers, could be fed enzymaticallyprocessed plant and animal wastes, including much of what we currently dispose of in dumps and landfills. Therefore, making a better use of arable land.

Another valuable source of protein in the future will be whey-the liquid waste from cheese making. Enzymes separate milk into solid (cheese curd) and liquid (whey) parts. Until recently, the protein and sugar-rich whey portion-some 30 billion pounds annually-has been dumped into waterways, where it causes pollution problems.

Food scientists are "recycling" much of the whey protein by using an enzyme to isolate it from the liquid. Whey protein can be used to boost the nutritional value of processed foods, or can be combined with soybean flour to form a milk substitute, which is currently being distributed in Central and South America by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Additionally, research in Italy indicates whey may be suitable as animal feed.

With the help of enzymes, Pye points to a nutritious, if somewhat unorthodox, food supply in the future-but enzymes actually have been used for centuries to produce many of our most common foods. Bread, for example, wouldn't rise without enzymes and sugar wouldn't ferment into alcohol for wine. Cheese is impossible to make without enzymes, which also are

Q. My mother took something called detected early, the treatment of these DES when she was pregnant with me. Will I develop cancer

A. Mothers of perhaps several million young men and women were given a synthetic hormone diethyl-stilesferol (DES) during pregnancy to prevent complications. In 1971, it was noted that some of the female offspring of these pregnancies developed a very rare cancer called clear-cell adenocarcinoma of the lower female genital tract. Since this was first noted, studies have shown that the risk of developing this cancer in exposed women is very small. The cancer develops after puberty and the peak incidence is at about 19 years of age.

When this relationship was discovered, a national registry was created so that information about the effects of this medication could be collected. Examination of exposed women has revealed that certain minor physical alterations commonly are present. These include the presence in the vagina of tissue normally found inside the opening of the uterus and some minor structural changes in the uterus and fallopian tubes. Although these changes are not felt to represent a risk for cancer, continued careful followup is indicated. Recent reports have indicated there may be some impaired reproductive function in exposed individuals. Thus, careful observation and care of these patients throughout their reproductive life is essential. No increased risk for cancer has been noted in exposed male offspring. However there has been some increase in the incidence of conditions associated with male infertili-

If there is the possibility of exposure to medication before birth, every effort should be made to identify the medication. If something was given to prevent miscarriage or treat diabetes, it could have been a DES-type drug. Physicians' records and hospital charts are the best sources. However, since a lot of time has elapsed, these sources may not be available. If the history is positive, or even if there is the chance of exposure, the affected offspring should have a pelvic examination. The examination is not painful and even young girls should be evaluated if they have symptoms or if their menstrual cycles have begun. If

Fear Of Flying: Facing Your Phobias

By Ken Dowell

A high school student can sleep only with a night light. A mother keeps her son home rather than face the drive to school. A man quits his job because his firm has relocated to a higher floor. About 23 million Americans are afraid of flying.

They all suffer from a phobia. Some phobias are petty, almost laughable, annoyances. Others pose serious disabilities.

Common phobias include flying, heights and elevators. Some exotic varieties involve demons, germs, animals and blood. More debilitating is agoraphobia, which leaves its victims in terror of leaving their homes.

Fears are defined as phobias when the reaction that an object or situation arouses is out of all proportion to any danger which may actually be present. The phobic can be terrorized by the mere thought of flying, driving, riding an elevator, or appearing in public. Knowing the phobic reaction will occur provokes an anticipatory terror. The phobia becomes fear of fear itself, and the overwhelming response is to escape.

Confronted with the object of their terror, phobics become dizzy and nauseous. Often they will sweat profusely or tremble. Breathing becomes irregular, and pulse rates quicken.

Common Traits

Phobias exist without regard to age, sex or social class. Researchers have, however, identified a number of characteristics common to most phobics. They are generally intelligent and imaginative. Doctors note that these qualities are necessary, since phobics are dealing with an abstract quality and the frightful objects must be vividly imagined. Phobics tend to be emotional and unusually sensitive.

The source of some phobias can be traced to a traumatic experience. Being trapped in an elevator for a long period of time may lead to claustrophobia, the fear of enclosed spaces. A vicious attack by a dog may lead to cynophobia (fear of dogs).

Usually, however, the causes of phobias are not so readily identified. Psychologists associate their development with stressful events or situations. Some see phobic reactions as an expression of the anxiety aroused by other psychological problems. One teenage girl developed a driving phobia after two relatively minor accidents. Her reaction was attributed by her psychologist to two other stressful situations: her parents' inability to pay her college tuition, and her boyiriend's move to another town. While children's fears are considered a normal process of development, some adult phobias have been traced to traumatic childhood experiences. For example, a young child's fall from a tree may be related to a fear of heights later in life. There is also some evidence that phobias are passed on to children by their parents. Children's imitating behavior may result in a phobia being passed from generation to generation.

clinician to accompany the phobic in facing the stressful situations. Thus, in dealing with a patient terrorized by elevators, the therapist will escort the phobic to an elevator and ride up and down with the patient until the phobic reaction disappears.

Self-Help Cures

Some self-administered schemes for combatting the more common phobias have been devised utilizing the same principles employed by professional clinicians. While the natural reaction of the phobic is to escape, these plans encourage faceto-face encounters with the fearful situations. Phobics are advised to acknowledge that the fears lie with the beholder, not with the object of the phobia.

An airline sponsored course has been used to assist aviophobics, those afraid of flying. To minimize the anxiety of an impending flight, a number of steps are counseled. Go to the airport with a friend. Leave early. Viewing the cockpit area while boarding may provide reassurance. Once aboard, read a magazine or strike up a conversation with a crew member or fellow passenger. Finally, the aviophobic is advised not to hide his fears.

A good book, a willing friend and a favorite snack constitute the arsenal prescribed in one program to combat fears of enclosed spaces. If closing yourself in a closet makes you anxious, try this program.

This scheme requires some uncomfortable clothing, an empty closet, a chair, a good book, enticing food and an accomplice. The chair goes in the closet; the book, food and clothes go on a table just outside.

Enter the closet and put on the uncomfortable clothes. Start with five minute periods with the door half shut, and progress to half hour stints with the door closed, reading the book and slowly eating the food inside the closet. The idea is to keep your mind off your fear.

Now, close the door, turn off the light and count off 300 seconds. If you are still frightened, repeat the whole program. If this can be done without fear, have a friend lock you in the closet and leave the premises for five minutes. During this period, return to your literature, food and counting. Try it again for 15 minutes, then for a half hour.

This method is called the orienting reflex program. The rationale is that by orienting to the various aids—the food, literature, uncomfortable clothes, and counting—the phobia is disregarded. A similar scheme has been developed for elevator phobias.

Confronting Phobias

The most recent clinical approaches to phobias are based on the behavioral therapy concept of desensitization. This involves teaching the phobic to cope with the object of the phobia with the counselling of a professional therapist, within a group of other phobics and ultimately by the phobic individually.

Relaxation exercises have been used by clinicians to bring about this desensitization. One California clinic uses this method to deal with agoraphobia. Agoraphobics are afraid to leave the safety of their homes.

Treated in groups of 10-15, these patients are trained to imagine soothing landscapes or to concentrate on rhythmic breathing exercises when confronted with the onset of their symptoms. The relaxation techniques are initially used in the group to confront imagined fears. Training eventually progresses to the point where real versions of the phobia provoking situations can be confronted.

Another treatment called Contextual Therapy, originates on an individual basis and gradually progresses to a group approach. The therapist, in treating agoraphobics, will initially meet with the patient in the home. The counseling sessions are progressively located closer to the outside world. Therapist and patient may move their talks to a porch or patio, gradually building up to excursions outside the home.

A variation of this approach, exposure therapy, calls for the elevator with few users, some recorded music, food and an assistant.

Call up the elevator and count the seconds it takes to arrive. Lean against the wall, facing the floor selector panel. Have your partner push a button, and do that many pushups against the elevator wall.

When the car stops at the designated floor, stay inside. A back massage from your friend may be helpful. Break out the snack and select another floor. This time multiply the floor number by three and do that many pushups.

To keep relaxed you could also pitch pennies against the elevator wall or sing a favorite song. With the tune in progress, select a floor as distant as possible and dance to the closing of the elevator doors.

If the elevator ride still provokes anxiety, try again after a one week interval.

Counseling Childhood Fears

Childhood fears are not phobias. A visit to the closet is not in order. and, in most cases, neither is professional therapy. The most effective counseling for children will come from the most readily available counselors: the parents.

Animals and monsters are the most common objects of children's fears. Less frequent are more realistic concerns, such as illnesses, injuries and punishments.

Parents should acknowledge their child's fears, but not the irrational objects of those fears. Tell the child there is no monster in the closet, but let him know you are there to protect him anyway.

Since childhood fears are most often expressed at bedtime, a night light is often helpful. Most important, however, is a reassuring parent.

CONCERNING THE PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION OF AN ASPHALTIC CONCRETE PLANT TO BE LOCATED NEAR PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

The East Kentucky Paving Corporation has applied to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for a permit to construct an asphalt plant to be located on New Ky. 80, 1.5 miles north of Martin, Kentucky.

The application proposes the construction of facilities for receiving. storing, and drying aggregate, and facilities for blending asphalt and aggregate to make asphaltic concrete. Air pollution control measures proposed by the application include a baghouse on the aggregate dryer and wet suppression on the facilities handling the aggregate.

This proposed construction is subject to Standards of Performance for New Stationary Sources, and Kentucky Air Pollution Control Regulations for New Source Review of Asphalt Plants. The use of the control technology proposed is considered sufficient to assure that the construction will not result in a violation of the applicable emission or air quality standards. Therefore, a preliminary determination has been made to grant the permit to construct.

Copies of the report of this determination are available for public inspection during normal business hours at the following locations:

> Division of Air Pollution Control Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection West Frankfort Office Complex 1050 U.S. 127 By-Pass South Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

> > and

Division of Air Pollution Control Hazard Regional Office 825 High Street, 3rd Floor Rear Hazard, Kentucky 41701

and

County Clerk's Office Floyd County Courthouse Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653

Any member of the general public who considers himself affected by this facility, on the basis of air quality, is invited to make written comments. To be considered, any comments must be postmarked within thirty (30) days of the date of this notice, and should be addressed to Mr. Robert J. Welch, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection of Air Pollution Control, West Frankfort Office Complex, 1050 U.S. 127 By-Pass South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Any comments received will be considered in the Department's Final Determination to grant or deny the permit.
