

Annexation Here May Reach Vote

The annexation ordinance has yet to be drawn up, but some Mays Branch residents chose not to wait before registering their objections to a proposal which would include that section in the city of Prestonsburg.

A petition signed by 22 residents and property owners opposed to annexation was presented to the city council Monday, a move that could mean the issue will be placed on the ballot next general election.

If 50 percent or more of the residents and property owners in an area proposed for annexation demand it, the question must be put to a popular vote. In that event, opposition by 75 percent or more of the resident voters in the affected area is needed to kill the annexation proposal.

Some 11 Mays Branch residents are said to favor the proposal.

City police and firefighters have a new pay schedule as the result of a council decision. Police will get increases ranging from one to four cents an hour, and firefighters increases ranging from nine cents to 74 cents.

The relatively higher increases for firefighters is designed to bring their pay scale more into line with police pay rates, City Manager David Evans said. Starting police patrolmen and firefighters will now earn $3.50 an hour. Prior to the new pay schedule, patrolmen began at $3.47 an hour and firefighters at $3.41.

Ranks and gradations within each rank were also revised for both departments. Besides the chiefs, both departments will now have three ranks, with each rank embracing seven grades or "steps." In addition, the fire department

Ask Ban on Public, Press at Hearings

Reporters and the public may be barred from some pretrial hearings in the case of Ben and Olive Meade, accused of assaulting one of their infant triplets, according to a ruling Monday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

Judge Conley said he would rule "one at a time" on motions by defense attorneys to close the hearings. If evidence is to be produced in a pretrial session which would be inadmissible during the trial, he will sustain a request to withhold it from the press and public; otherwise he will deny the request, he said.

Conley made his decision in a closed session with Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Jerry Patton and defense attorneys Gary Johnson and R. Neal Walker. Johnson, who is representing Ben Meade, and Walker, a public defender representing Olive Meade, had filed the motion to exclude the media and the public from pretrial hearings in the case. The motion was opposed by representatives of the Floyd County Times and the Lexington Herald.

In explaining his decision, Conley cited an opinion in a November, 1980 state appeals court case, according to which closing part of a judicial proceeding is justifiable "after a determination has been made that there exists a substantial probability that the right of the accused to a fair trial... will be irreparably damaged."

Ben Meade, 30, and his wife, Olive Ann Meade, 28, of Prestonsburg, were charged with assault February 21, 1980, after 4-month-old Bobby Jean Meade was admitted to a Louisville hospital with fractures of the skull, ribs and legs.

At a pretrial hearing in the case Monday, defense attorneys sought unsuccessfully to have county funds appropriated for the purpose of securing a second radiologist's opinion of the nature of the infant's injuries. Hearings will continue in the case April 30.

A motion to exclude the public and press from pretrial hearings in another case—that of Denver Patrick, accused of murder in the insurance plot slaying of James T. Niemi at Wayland last October—was filed by Richard R. Burmeister, the public defender representing Patrick, this week.

Perkins Slates State Hearings

Washington—The first two of a series of hearings into the possible effects of cuts in child nutrition and vocational education have been scheduled by Rep. Carl D. Perkins, of Kentucky.

Rep. Perkins, chairman of the subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary and Vocational Education, which has jurisdiction over vocational education and child nutrition, set the first hearing for March 13 at Paul Blazer High School, in Ashland, and the second at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, on March 14.

"We just have to take a good look at what might happen to our young people—we have to make sure that at least we have some idea of the effects on them of cuts in nutrition and vocational education," Rep. Perkins said.

"Nobody objects to cutting out waste in federal spending, and nobody objects to cutting out unnecessary programs—I have always supported that," he said. "But when it comes to the size of the proposed cuts in child nutrition and vocational education, we have to know what the effect will be on the school children."

Perkins said he does not want to see a return to the days "when too many young people were so hungry in school, it prevented them from learning, and because of that, they were not prepared for a working career. Instead, a lot of them ended up on welfare," he said.

"We want to make sure that we don't let that happen again, and we want to make sure that we train our young people for jobs that are going to exist in the years ahead," he added.

A large number of educators and citizens interested in education and nutrition are scheduled to testify at the two hearings in Ashland and Lexington. Many will come from other states, including Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan and Alabama. The day-long hearings will start at 7:30 a.m., which is early for Congressional hearings, but Rep. Perkins said he wanted to give all of the witnesses a chance to testify.

Additional hearings will be scheduled in other cities around the country, Perkins said.

Strike Threatened At Hospital Here

A strike may be "unavoidable" unless Highlands hospital workers see substantial progress soon in their contract negotiations with the hospital administration, a spokesman for the hospital workers' union said Tuesday.

While negotiations have been under way for several weeks, progress has been "very slow" and the administration has so far been unwilling to discuss economic issues, Ellis Stevens, a delegate for District 1199 of the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, charged.

Hospital administrators claim, however, that they are continuing to bargain in good faith, that all matters are open for discussion, and that economic issues will be addressed as soon as other issues are resolved.

"Our concern is to proceed in a businesslike fashion," Assistant Administrator Russell Dean said. "We have been negotiating, and will continue to negotiate, according to customary procedures."

The hospital workers' present contract expires March 23. Pay rates are a central issue in the current bargaining, Stevens arguing that workers will need a raise of at least two dollars an hour to keep up with the rising cost of living.

After five years' employment as an operating room technician, Stevens said, he earns $3.59 an hour. About 60 percent of the hospital's 450 employees earn the same or less and "we can't support our families on it," he said.

"There is a 100 percent turnover in staff here every year, and that ought to tell you something," Stevens said.

Posters Illicit In City

A Prestonsburg city ordinance prohibits the posting of political advertisements on utility poles within the city. City Manager David Evans reminded candidates and their supporters this week. Evans said he fears the city might begin to look "junky" as campaigning for the May primaries progresses.

Buck's Branch Fires Cause Arson Scare Among Residents

Residents of the Buck's Branch area, near Martin, are frightened and sleeping lightly, these nights. They fear they have a firebug in their midst.

The fire which last Saturday night damaged the home of Gordon Shepherd was "definitely of incendiary origin," a report received here says.

And it was within a thousand feet of the Arthur Crisp home which was destroyed by fire, a week earlier.

In all, it is reported, no fewer than nine homes or buildings have burned on Buck's Branch since last August, although arson remains to be proved in any of the blazes.

Barry McKenzie, arson investigator for the Kentucky State Police, and State Police Detective Danny Stumbo have investigated the most recent fire. The certainty that it is a case of arson stems from the fact that the carpeting in a section of the living room was saturated with gasoline and the container yet containing gas was left at the end of a gas-soaked trail across the carpet.

"If the fire had reached the gasoline can, there would have been an explosion and four other buildings would have burned," a Martin fireman said.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd were in Huntington, W. Va. at the time of the blaze.

Investigators found that a rear window had been used for entering or leaving the room.

Our Mistake

The Times erroneously reported last week that the building destroyed by fire in the Cliff vicinity was owned by Jim Hammond, Prestonsburg attorney. Mr. Hammond says he did own the property at one time but sold it early this year, to H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. and Sallye Ligon Clarke. The building was not insured and was untenanted at the time of the fire.

Plan To Impose Tax on Utilities May Be Dropped

The Ten Commandments will have to come down. There will be no attempt, for the time being at least, to raise a utilities tax. Watch for a drug education program in at least some of the schools by August.

Those were among the messages coming from the Floyd Board of Education at its meeting last Wednesday.

While Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. and several board members emphasized that "it went against the grain" of their personal convictions, the board unanimously accepted the superintendent's recommendation to order removal of plaques depicting the Ten Commandments from county schools.

According to legal advice coming from the state attorney-general's office and the state board of education, local school boards are bound by a recent Supreme Court decision to have the Commandments removed or face costly lawsuits, Grigsby told the board.

Grigsby said this week that about 80 percent of the county's schools had received the plaques, which were sponsored by local citizens' groups. Some schools had already removed them voluntarily and the others will be instructed to do so, he said.

The board declined to act on Grigsby's request that he be authorized to "feel the pulse" of the county on

Rosenberg Sees Program's Loss A Blow to Poor

"Amid all the talk of budget reductions, no one has yet come up with an answer to the problems all this will create for the poor," John Rosenberg, director of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund (APPALRED), charged this week.

While the cuts will likely mean that low-income persons will need legal help more than ever, he added, the same cuts will substantially reduce their chances of getting it.

Originally funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity to address the impact of coal-related problems on low-income people, the legal services agency has increasingly expanded its caseload beyond such social issues to include the "day-to-day needs" of individual clients.

As well as its traditional involvement in such issues as black lung, environmental damage, land reform, taxation, and the broadform deed, the agency is now virtually the only source of legal aid for a poor person needing a divorce, involved in a housing dispute, wishing to file a consumer complaint, applying for food stamps or government benefits, or seeking a school program for a handicapped child, he maintains.

Legal aid attorneys can always find alternative employment but their clients "are in for a very hard time," if cuts proposed for legal services by the President win the approval of Congress, Rosenberg said.

The Reagan administration has recommended that the $321 million federal program that finances APPALRED and the nation's other legal services agencies be eliminated. While some members of the congressional budget committees now considering the proposal are said to favor retention of the program in some form, drastic cuts in its budget still appear likely.

If that happens, legal aid attorneys will need to make hard decisions about what services they can continue to provide and what salary scales they can live with, Rosenberg said. (Legal aid lawyers just out of law school presently start at $13,500 a year here and generally earn about $20,000 annually after four years' service, significantly

Third Home Burns In Maytown Area

The home of Darrell and Glenna Bradley on Turner Branch near Eastern, was destroyed by fire last Wednesday evening, the third house to burn in the Maytown-Eastern section in two weeks.

As in the earlier blazes, the owners of the home were away at the time the fire erupted, making an early report of the fire to the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department impossible. By the time the flames were spotted by a local resident, Zeb Prater, and reported to the fire department, the blaze had advanced too far to be controlled, according to Maytown Fire Chief Edward F. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley reportedly lost all their household possessions in the fire.

Although Robinson stressed that the Maytown department is not equipped to determine fire causes, he said faulty wiring would be a "reasonable guess" as to the origin of the recent fires.

This Town...That World

The poet had an idea that the melancholy days were come with autumn, "the saddest of the year." But these days of approaching spring, when word comes drifting back of others struggling off the winter coat of despair long enough to make it to Toledo Bend, Norris, Kentucky, Cumberland and other hallowed spots long enough to fill stringers with bass, leave the less fortunate among us still in the "serf and yellow leaf."

MORE AND MORE

The late Judge Milligan described politics in Kentucky in more volatile language, but this fellow drew within a niblingshot of him when, discussing the developing campaign in this county, he said, "It's gittin' heccticker and heccticker."

GOOD EDUCATION

Plutarch is quoted as saying or writing that "the very spring and root of honesty and virtue lie in good education."

It might be noted that the esteemed philosopher did not say, "a good education" but left off the "a" to make it simply good education. A good education could connote mere knowledge of languages, mathematics, literature, this and that—mental training which sometimes makes educated crooks.

I like to think that the noble Plutarch deliberately omitted the "a" to make it plain "good education," the kind that trains the mind and also stores up within the human mind and heart a respect for morality, honesty, kindness, respect for others.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q—We're planning to insulate our home. A neighbor said she saw a program on television about something in insulation making people sick or causing cancer. Can you tell me if this is true?

A—Some types of insulation—especially foamed-in insulation—contain formaldehyde as an agent to assure the complete chemical reaction of the ingredients in the insulation. Formaldehyde vapors (fumes) are toxic and intensely irritating to mucous membranes—the lining of the nose, mouth, and lungs. They also can cause a burning sensation in the eyes and a rash on the skin. In addition, formaldehyde is a suspected carcinogen. NCI has tested it in both rats and mice, and tumors did develop in one of the species. Thus, formaldehyde remains in the suspect category.

When homeowners go to the trouble and expense of adding insulation, they usually caulk seams, and any formaldehyde vapors are sealed into the living space. If a vapor barrier is placed between the insulation and the interior walls, then the vapors can't reach the living space. A vapor barrier can be a securely fastened plastic sheet or a coat of air-tight paint. (Most paints are "breathers" letting air pass through, so the paint would have to be specially chosen.) If a vapor barrier is installed, the insulation must be vented to the outside in some way, or the build-up of vapors might cause serious problems.

Foamed-in insulation tends to be used in existing houses where there is no access to install a workable vapor barrier in the walls. Building a second interior wall to act as a vapor barrier and adding vents to the outside between the two interior walls should solve the problem. This, of course, is expensive. However, if a second wall is to be built anyway, the installation of venting can be avoided by using insulation that does not contain formaldehyde.

When foamed-in insulation has already been used, and if another wall can't be added, the air-tight paint can be tried on the interior walls if outside venting is also added. If the vapor pressure—the amount of fumes—is too great, then the air-tight paint will peel off. If "breather" paint is used the fumes pass right through without affecting the paint, but then there are fumes in the living space.

The cheapest ingredient in foamed-in insulation is the formaldehyde, so it is the tendency of manufacturers to use excess formaldehyde to be sure all the other ingredients react completely.

Perhaps public knowledge and questioning can prevent this overuse of formaldehyde. People have learned to read ingredient labels on foods. Now is the time to start reading ingredient labels on other products as well.

Tax Tips

If you are married but living apart during the year 1981, you must file "married filing separately" or, in some cases, "married filing jointly" (which will still be a tax savings). To be able to file as a single person, your spouse must not have lived with you any time during 1981.

Employees may deduct traveling expenses (including cost of meals and lodging) only if they are incurred while he is away from home over-night in connection with business of his employer. Deductions for traveling and entertainment expenses may be disallowed unless the tax-payer substantiates the following (1) amount (2) time and place (3) business purpose and (4) business relationship of the entertained person. An account book, diary, or similar records should be kept and documentary evidence for any lodging expense or expenditure of $25 or more.

Standard mileage rates have been increased for business use of a car or truck to $.20 per mile for the first 15,000 miles. For each mile over 15,000 the rate is $.11 per mile.

Medical expenses (to the extent exceeding 3% of adjusted gross income) include air conditioning used for alleviating illness, birth control pills, food and beverages (special) for specific ailments, memberships in cooperative health association, rental of medical and healing equipment, support or corrective devices (including special mattress and board for arthritis) etc. are also deductible.

If a taxpayer travels outside the United States and the entire travel time is devoted to business activities, the cost of traveling expenses may be deducted. However, if a vacation was included in such travel, the taxpayer may have to allocate transportation costs between business and non-business activity.

Deductibility of convention, seminar, etc. expenses depends on primary purpose of attending—must be of business purpose and not pleasure. Expenses include travel, meals, lodging, and these are separable. The trip to the place where the convention is held may be primarily for personal reasons, while the expenses incurred for meals and lodgings may be related to business. Deductions for attending foreign conventions are restricted. Expenses for only two foreign conventions per year are allowable.

Beefing Up The Army

Today's volunteer peacetime Army is an unqualified flop, requiring extensive restructuring and a new identity. It is seriously understaffed, leading Sen. Sam Nunn (D., Ga.) to comment that "our military-manpower problem may prove to be our nation's No. 1 security problem."

So writes Ralph Kinney Bennett in the March Reader's Digest. He reports that the Army is "inadequately trained, indifferently disciplined and composed increasingly of minorities and undereducated or barely educatable whites. About 50 percent of recruits have high-school diplomas, and better than 45 percent are 'Category IVs,' the lowest intelligence category permitted in the service."

There is an even more serious problem, however; Bennett charges that the government itself has destroyed the Army's identity. "Civilian authorities have replaced leadership with 'management' and egalitarian experimentation," he writes. "They have made the Army into a combination school, encounter-group and jobs program rather than a disciplined fighting force ready to defend the nation."

Basic training is a mere eight weeks; bayonet drill is virtually nonexistent and hand-to-hand combat training is rare. Twenty percent of Army women are unable to move out with their units in the event of an emergency because of pregnancy or their status as sole parents of small children.

The problems until now have been virtually ignored by a series of Administrations, beginning with the Kennedy years. Congress must help rectify them by making extended service better paid and by rewarding NCOs with pronounced pay differentials to prevent further loss of experienced personnel. This, combined with a return to leadership, training and discipline will produce the combat-ready Army the nation needs, the author asserts.

ment will include the rank of major, as a salaried position.

John Wright was promoted by the council from police patrolman to sergeant. Robert Ranier, who resigned from the police force last August, was re-hired on a temporary basis.

The city will now charge architects for reviewing building plans, it was announced. Code Enforcement Officer Paul Chaffins argued before the council that, since architects routinely bill their clients for the service, the city, which reviews building plans for conformity with state building codes, should collect the fee.

A delegation from the Disabled American Veterans' Auxier post petitioned the council for permission to conduct a fundraising roadblock but was refused in view of a prior council decision to limit to two the number of roadblocks permitted in the city annually.

The Floyd County Rescue Squad and the Oleika Shriners have been given permission for roadblocks this year. The present council is disposed to allow the rescue squad to hold a roadblock "as long as they want it," since this has been the group's traditional fundraising method. Councilman Paul Phillip Hughes indicated.

Fifteen summer jobs for youths will be available again this year, and a supervisor for the group will be hired in addition, according to a council decision.

Parking on city sidewalks has become a problem as a result of "tax" enforcement of the law. Councilwoman Carolyn Ford charged. Premises on First Street, Arnold Avenue and Third Street were named as offenders. Police Chief Keith Lawson defended his department's record, noting that 2561 parking tickets were issued by police officers in February.

Dr. David White was reappointed to the Prestonsburg-Pointsville airport board for a three-year term.

less than private attorneys might expect to earn.)

"One thing is sure, we are not prepared to just roll over and die," Rosenberg said. "We will be doing everything we can to keep legal services coming to low-income people."

What he sees as a growing concern, not only among legal aid attorneys and their clients, but also among judges, private attorneys and the general public to retain the legal services program might yet stem the budget-cutting tide, Rosenberg believes.

Alternatively, legal aid attorneys might be able to expand their caseload to include paying clients in order to support their work with non-paying clients, he said.

A concern among legal aid lawyers to bring down the cost of legal services generally could result in their advertising cut-rate services to a wider clientele as a means of staying in the business of providing legal aid to their traditional clientele, Rosenberg suggested.

While tax-exempt public-interest law firms have been successfully established elsewhere, they have invariably been in urban areas and the foundation support which has often financed them appears to be dwindling.

"Our main fight right now is to keep the legal services program going and to see that it is funded at the highest possible level," Rosenberg said.

APPALRED has its administrative offices in Prestonsburg and serves about 8000 eastern Kentuckians annually. Private attorneys would not be able to absorb this caseload even if they were willing to do so, legal aid attorneys contend.

For their clients, they say, the issue is simple: Without a legal aid program they will be defenseless. And the nation's celebrated ideal of "liberty and justice for all" will be for the poor, they argue, a hollow promise.

Ten Years Ago

(March 11, 1971)

The McDowell Daredevils won the 58th district basketball tournament here last Saturday night, 79 to 68, over their strongest Floyd county rivals, the Maytown Wildcats. In this county for a series of meetings last week, Dr. Leon Cooper, Washington, D.C., said that the Floyd County Health Services Program "will have to be changed very much, or it will not be funded after August 1." The Floyd County Board of Education has assembled for its monthly meeting last Saturday afternoon and was presumably ready to accept architect's plans for a seven-room grade-school building at Martin when a temporary restraining order barred any immediate action on the proposed structure. Floyd county may not be split, after all, in the redistricting of Kentucky's House districts at the current special session of the General Assembly. Grady Stumbo, of McDowell, who had to fight to get into the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine, now is a leader of UK medical students and is the co-founder and a director of the Appalachian Program of the Student American Medical Association there. In Lexington last week, Ervin Akers, Dana contractor, was the recipient of an honorary doctor of engineering degree. The Postal Service has proposed rate increases which would put the postal system on a sound financial basis. There were 7,285 low-income people in Floyd county on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp Program in December as compared to 4,726 receiving assistance during the same period a year earlier. Detective Sgt. J. E. Combs retired Monday from the Kentucky State Police after 32 years of service. There died: Michael Dean Brown, 27, Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, died Sunday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, the apparent victim of injuries suffered in an auto accident near Wayland; Mrs. Amy Lee Hall Turner, 41, of Drift, last Wednesday in Bethesda, Md.; Mrs. Eliza Patton Allen, 89, Saturday at her home at Garrett; Mrs. Margaret Johnson Puckett, 82, of Wayland, Saturday in a Martin hospital; Charlie Salisbury, 84, at his home at Hunter, Friday; Mrs. Olive Mae Everage, 52, of Martin, in a McDowell there last Thursday; Rudolph Griffith, 56, of Martin, in a McDowell hospital last Wednesday; Ellis Conley, 83, of Waverly, O., veteran Floyd county teacher, Monday in a Columbus, O. hospital; Harve McKinney, 67, of Printer, in a Martin hospital Tuesday; Mrs. Lydia Meade, 82, of Hi Hat, Sunday in a McDowell hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(March 9, 1961)

Floyd county has been selected as one of eight pilot counties in the United States to test the effectiveness of President Kennedy's food stamp plan in the administering of food-relief to the needy, it was announced Tuesday by Governor Combs and Commissioner of Agriculture Beauchamp. Charles Wilson Baker, 42, foreman at the Price No. 2 mine of the Inland Steel Company, was instantly killed last Thursday by a slatefall. Daniel Boone Arnett, well-known Abbott Creek man, died last Thursday afternoon in an automobile wreck which saw his auto plunge into the Big Sandy river within 200 yards of the scene of the 1958 school bus tragedy. The wreck also occurred on the third anniversary of the raising of the school bus from the river. The State Department of Highways last week asked bids on construction of an additional 5.42 miles of the Prestonsburg-Auxier-Pointsville highway and on the building of a bridge across the Big Sandy near Hager Hill. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Garland Godsey, of Louisville, a daughter, Nancy Carol, February 15. There died: James Melvin Flanery, 72, of Allen, last Wednesday at Martin; Jack Wallen, 49, assistant fire chief here, last Wednesday at his home at West Prestonsburg; Franklin W. Moore, 50, of Prestonsburg, Sunday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Gorman Turner, 58, of Plymouth, O., formerly of this county, Friday at Mansfield, O.; Mrs. Virginia Alice Bilotta, 60, of Prestonsburg, last Wednesday at Williamson; Allen Ratliff, 74, Sunday at his home at Langley.

Thirty Years Ago

(March 8, 1951)

Martin High School's Purple Flash won in the first round of the 15th regional basketball tournament at Pikeville, defeating Belfry, 73 to 61. The Wayland Wasps will play Cannel City tonight. Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the health department, reported this week that two children have died in the county of measles which he described as being of "the most virulent type." He said there have been at least 300 cases in the county during the present epidemic. Mrs. Frances Bowling, of West Prestonsburg, whose son, 19-year-old Walter Karr, was the first Floyd victim of World War II, was notified last Thursday that another son, Cpl. Thomas Edward Bowling, had died in action in Korea. The Floyd County Board of Education voted Tuesday to buy the additional land needed as a site for a county high structure here. The City Council in a tempestuous session Monday evening granted building permits to Scott C. Craft who proposes to build eight homes of five and six rooms each which he expects to cost a total of $50,000. The month's pre-induction quota for the county is 70. E. B. Brown, of Prestonsburg, is one of the first to pledge a pint of blood when the Blood Center receives blood here, April 4—though he is blind. Carl Woods, former principal of the Auxier school, has received from Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., a fellowship to do post-graduate work. Pfc. Thomas Osborne, of Martin, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in action in Korea. There died: Ballard M. James, 61, Prestonsburg attorney, Sunday at Prestonsburg General Hospital; Mrs. Fanny Mayo Fitzpatrick, 70, wife of H. D. Fitzpatrick, Prestonsburg banker, Tuesday at her home here; Mrs. Causetta Allen, 70, at Oldtown, Ky., last Thursday, the day her mother, Mrs. Polly Allen, was buried on Salt Lick, near Hueysville; Jonathan H. Fitzpatrick, 88, Friday at his home on the Middle Creek road; Mrs. Frances Richmond, 54, Feb. 17 at her home at Garrett; John Henry Salyers, 51, on March 1 at his home at Ball Alley here; Everett Wright at a Huntington, W. Va. hospital Monday of injuries sustained Feb. 22 in a Drift mine accident; Mrs. Martha Music May, 72, formerly of this county, Friday at a Portsmouth, O. hospital; Samuel Steed Moore, 82, father of Franklin Moore, Sunday at an Ashland hospital; Mrs. Margaret Ellis Butler, last Thursday at her home here; Irvin Mullins, 42, Wednesday at Hunter.

Forty Years Ago

(March 6, 1941)

Construction of the Johns Creek flood control dam at Dewey, this week drew a step nearer actuality as Maj. Gen. Julian Schley, chief of U. S. Army Engineers recommended to Congress that profitable expenditure of $2,000,000 could be made in beginning construction of the dam, spillway and appurtenances. Though unconfirmed by company officials, the report persists here that when the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company's new building is completed here its occupancy will mark the change to the dial system in this vicinity. Re-districting of Floyd county's Magisterial divisions was made last week, the number of districts remaining at four and the only changes made being the transfer of Johns Creek to District No. 1 and Prater Creek to District 4. Consolidation of four school districts with that of Martin and of two with the Wayland school district was voted Saturday by sizeable margins. Eight enrollment periods in the Citizens' Conservation Corps instead of the usual four were announced last week for 1941 by the Floyd county referral agent's office. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Martin, Jr., of Martin, a son, March 1. There died: Mrs. Hamie Jarrell, 68, Thursday at her home at Warco; John Elliott Walters, 56, last Wednesday at Betsy Layne, following an auto wreck two weeks earlier; Mrs. Harry Privett, 79, of Brandy Keg, last Thursday at the home of a daughter at Lancer; Richard C. Gray, 38, of Weeksbury, last Wednesday, the result of injuries sustained in a mine accident, last October.

the question of levying a utilities tax to finance the schools.

With the backing of citizen organizations and the media, the community might be persuaded to accept an additional tax at this time, the superintendent argued. Board member Dr. J. D. Adams said the move would be premature, however, in the absence of a detailed proposal outlining how the additional revenues would be spent.

While the Floyd school district stands a good chance of finishing this year in the black, the outlook for next year is "bleak" in view of proposed cuts in state and federal spending, Grigsby told the board.

The Reagan administration is expected to ask Congress this week to approve a 25 percent reduction in federal programs for educating disadvantaged and handicapped students. One such program is authorized under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

A major component of the federal government's aid to the nation's schools, Title I is designed to provide compensatory education to children from poor families and represents about $1 million annually in aid to this county. A 25 percent cut could mean the loss of 16 teachers here, it was estimated.

The reduction in federal aid will compound the effects of state education cuts, which could cost this county as much as $800,000, the board was told.

It is hoped that a drug education program will be introduced in at least some of the county's schools by the beginning of the next school year. Among several programs being considered is one sponsored by the state Department of Education and intended to impart drug information and sharpen decision-making skills for pupils in the first grade and on through high school.

Kathy Hatfield, of the McDowell P.T.A., Don Goble, drug program director at Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, and Frank H. Layne, a long-time worker among alcoholics here, urged the board to consider the program.

A delegation of parents from the Garrett grade school asked the board to have the parking lot there repaired, Sue Owens claiming that children could not alight from school buses "without falling into a mud puddle." The Floyd fiscal court will be approached again in an effort to procure gravel for the lot, it was decided.

Parents of students at the Home Branch school complained about the quality of lunches there and about irregular school bus service.

School teachers will be reminded of a state law requiring them to seek recertification after 10 years, Supt. Grigsby told the board. Teachers must have earned a master's degree or its equivalent to be recertified, he said.

The board decided to re-apply to the Kentucky Arts Commission for a grant for the Artists-in-Education program. Under the program, which places professional artists in residencies in the schools, several Floyd schools have had the services of a potter this year.

Hired by the board were: Brenda Johnson, teacher aide at Osborne Elementary; Delena Osborne, Kanzia Hamilton, and Ruby Hollifield, substitute cooks at McDowell School; Pat Potter, custodian at McDowell, and Verta Jean Tackett, custodian at Prestonsburg High School; Carl F. Compton, substitute bus driver; Sherry Music, emergency substitute teacher; David Lane, maintenance worker; and Connie Nunemaker, substitute teacher aide at Dwale.

Arrests Listed

There follows a listing of those booked at the county jail during the past week, charges against them, and arresting officers:

Windfield Moore, 37, drunk driving (DUI), hit and run, by Wheelwright policeman E. Meade; Steven Mills, 38, driving on revoked license, by Wayland policeman N. Thornsbury; Harold Prater, 40, driving on revoked license, DUI, by Wayland policeman Thornsbury; Danny Hampton, 35, DUI, by Park Ranger J. ## Atty. General Explains 10 Commandments Role

Since the United States Supreme Court handed down its decision concerning the posting of the Ten Commandments in Kentucky's public classrooms, much has been written and said about it. There have been certain misleading statements concerning the Supreme Court decision and the role of the Attorney General's Office in this matter. Other comments have indicated an apparent lack of understanding of the basic principles underlying our constitutional form of government and the statutory role of the Attorney General's Office in Kentucky. I want to take this opportunity to explain what has happened and why it has happened.

In November, 1980, the United States Supreme Court declared unconstitutional a Kentucky statute requiring the posting of the Ten Commandments in public classrooms of Kentucky. However, the Court in its Opinion went far beyond a simple discussion of the statute in question. Here are the exact words of the United States Supreme Court:

"The pre-eminent purpose for posting the Ten Commandments on schoolroom walls is plainly religious in nature..."

"This is not a case in which the Ten Commandments are integrated into the school curriculum, where the Bible may constitutionally be used in an appropriate study of history, civilization, ethics, comparative religion, or the like...Posting of religious texts on the wall serves no such educational function. If the posted copies of the Ten Commandments are to have any effect at all, it will be to induce the school children to read, meditate upon, perhaps to venerate and obey, the Commandments. However desirable this might be as a matter of private devotion, it is not a permissible state objective under the Establishment Clause."

The Court went on to point out that it made no difference that the posted copies of the Ten Commandments were financed by voluntary private contributions. In other words, the United States Supreme Court indicated that it does not matter how the school board receives the copy of the Ten Commandments, by gift or otherwise, because it is the permanent posting of the Commandments that violates the United States Constitution.

The above words and thoughts are not Steve Beshear's—they are those of the United States Supreme Court.

The Attorney General's Office was then asked by the Kentucky Superintendent of Public Instruction what should be done about copies of the Commandments already posted in classrooms. By statute, my office is to give such an advisory opinion when requested. We therefore issued our advisory opinion, based upon the clear language quoted above, that the United States Supreme Court is requiring the removal of those copies of the Ten Commandments now posted on Kentucky's public classroom walls.

Contrary to some statements being made, the Attorney General's Office is not ordering anyone to do anything. This office has no authority to order a local school board to take this kind of action. Our opinions are advisory only and are meant to give guidance to local officials as to what the law is. If we had not advised local school boards the way we did, we would not have been doing our job.

As the son of a Baptist minister who was raised in a Christian home, I understand and appreciate the sincere feelings of many Kentuckians that copies of the Ten Commandments should be posted in the public classrooms. However, under the Kentucky Constitution and the laws of this state, my job as Attorney General is to tell people what the law is—not what many people might like it to be.

There are only two ways to change a decision of the United States Supreme Court: (1) Wait for the membership of the Court to change and hope that a new majority has a different attitude on an issue; or (2) An amendment to the United States Constitution.

As you can imagine, this was not an easy opinion for me to issue. However, the United States Supreme Court left me no choice. I didn't make the decision, but, once made, my role is to advise school boards so as to keep them out of legal difficulties, including possible lawsuits.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Department of Biological and Environmental Services
Morehead State University

Recent news stories have highlighted interesting environmentally-related items. Environmental Action, a publication of Environmental Action Foundation, has summarized several of these items in recent issues.

In what may become a landmark case, Mountain Stream Monitors, a West Virginia environmental group, has been sued by a local stripmine company for making "defamatory and libelous" statements. The environmental group declared in a mimeographed newsletter that DLM Mining Company had "destroyed over seven miles of native brook trout streams." The company contended the accusation was false and although legal experts say the suit cannot be won, it may effect public criticism of environmental degradation. Usually environmental groups are plaintiffs, not defendants.

In another item, Environmental Action reported that the 1980 census shows that America is abandoning its cities and sprawling to the suburbs and beyond. There is also a trend towards migration to the sunbelt states. Typically, "bedroom communities" of commuters are greatly increasing, while older urban and suburban population centers are dying of neglect. Louisville, Kentucky, for example, actually showed a decrease in population, while surrounding counties experienced a population surge during the past 10 years. Seattle, Washington's population dropped by about 10 percent, but a surrounding county grew by 63,000. San Diego grew 26 percent, but outlying areas grew by 46 percent. It seems Americans like living in warm, rural areas and working, if necessary, in cities. This could become an important component of any future energy crisis.

In another news item, it was noted that, according to Environmental Protection Agency figures, there are more than 2,100 U. S. toxic waste sites where hazardous wastes may be polluting groundwater supplies. Some 250 are places where toxic wastes were dumped in unlined pits within one mile of a public water supply well. The dumps were located in 35 states; Florida led the list with 54, South Carolina had 23, Ohio had 21 and Pennsylvania had 20.

Finally, some good news. Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company has announced a revolutionary method for getting rid of PCB's poisonous, possibly carcinogenic compounds used in a number of industrial processes, including the insulation of electric transformers. Although its manufacture was banned in 1967, about 750 million pounds are still in use. The new process reduces PCB's to common table salt and a residue which can be rendered harmless through incineration.

Forest Fire Season In Effect This Week

Floyd county residents are being reminded this week by the Division of Forestry that, beginning March 1 and continuing through May 15, the official fire threat season in Kentucky will be in effect.

Rocky Hamilton, speaking for the division, said that during this period all burning must be done between 4:30 p.m. and midnight.

Hamilton identified the burning of debris and unattended campfires as two of the major causes of forest fires in Kentucky. The Division of Forestry urges all hunters to be extra careful with their campfires.

He stressed the late afternoon or evening burning of leaves and debris around private dwellings. "It is not advisable to do any burning while any type of wind exists and it is illegal to burn within 150 feet of any wooded area or fuel lines leading to woodlands," he said.

During the fire season a Division of Forestry airplane will be flying to detect fires and illegal burning. "This plane allows us to quickly know if there really is a fire and to spot offenders", he said. Citations will be issued for 4:30 burning law violations, he said.

Further information concerning burning laws may be obtained by contacting the Division of Forestry at 886-8562.

★ KENTUCKY AFIELD ★

By JOHN WILSON

Just because winter seems to be slowly withdrawing, don't assume that all the dangers associated with cold weather are leaving with it. The probability of getting into serious—or even fatal—trouble while outdoors in late winter and early spring is as great, if not greater, now than in the dead of winter.

More people will be out fishing, canoeing or hiking as the days warm. Many of them may not be prepared for sudden changes in the weather. A capsize boat, even on a 70-degree day, may toss a fisherman into 50-degree water, where he can remain conscious for less than half an hour.

Wet clothing (either from a dunking or from a sudden rain) coupled with strong winds can lower the body's internal temperature to dangerous levels, even when air temperatures are in the 50s. Most garment materials (wool is an exception) lose their insulating value when wet and winds increase evaporation, which has an even further cooling effect on the body.

While this lowering of the body's core temperature (called hypothermia) isn't technically the same as "freezing to death," the results can be just as permanent. A drop of only two degrees from the normal 98.6 degrees can bring on the first symptoms of hypothermia—uncontrolled shivering, followed by loss of mental powers, muscular rigidity, unconsciousness and, if internal temperatures drop below 70 degrees, death.

So be particularly alert during cool-weather outings. Watch for, both in yourself and your companions, shiverings, slurred speech, irrational behavior—like the sufferer was drugged or drunk—and clumsiness.

The treatment for hypothermia is to reverse the body's heat loss. In mild cases, getting the victim into a warm place (a heated building or a sleeping bag with another person) is generally enough.

In severe cases, however, it's important that the head, shoulders, chest abdomen and groin be warmed first. If the arms and legs are warmed too rapidly, blood is drawn away from the body's core area and increased internal cooling, called "afterdrop" can occur, sending the victim into sometimes fatal shock.

After initial treatment, be sure to seek professional medical aid. And don't rely on the victim's own assessment of his condition—remember that a loss of reasoning power is one of the first effects of hypothermia.

If you're going to be around water at all, wear a personal flotation device. Exposure to cold (below 50 degree) water renders even the strongest swimmer helpless in a matter of minutes. Also keep foul weather gear handy on any outing, along with a change of clothes and matches (in a waterproof container) for fire starting.

In other words, remember your boy scout days and be prepared. Winter and spring outings are fun and can be safe if you are alert to, and make proper preparations for, their dangers.

"Ain't Life Grand?"

By WILMA MAY

It surely is when the world's eligible bachelor says he is old-fashioned and chooses a fiancée of the same caliber. The courageous stand of Prince Charles against the nefarious E.R.A. is well known. At last, its potential evils are being better understood.

'Tis really grand when Garnet Fairchild devotes 2700 hours in seven years to hospital work, gratis, when Administrator Traum of Highlands Regional pays tribute to her and recognizes the work of all Auxiliary volunteers. What better way to serve humanity and the Lord? Rom. 13:7 says: Render therefore to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute is due...honor to whom honor. Most of us are sometimes negligent about expressing gratitude.

'Tis great when we have kind doctors who call us by first names, recommend second opinions when indicated, or send patients where better facilities are available. This should be unnecessary some day as our hospitals provide more sophisticated equipment and specialists. Life is swell when there are nurses like Dixie Hyden who drove Tress May home from Lexington following major surgery, and when we have hospitals that permit family members to remain with patients.

'Tis wonderful to have a man like Doug Lewis as sheriff. A friend remarked that he arrested her brother, who said the sheriff urged him to turn over a new leaf, to avoid bad company, to attend church and Sunday School. Mr. Lewis went further. He called the pastor of the church nearest that young man, requested him to contact the youth. Though a Christian less than two years, Sheriff Lewis has volunteered for the ministry, values life's cornerstone, the spiritual. He and his wife adopted a precious little girl, named Buffie. In our book it takes good people to adopt children.

Life is more joyous when the U. S. gets firmer with enemies and allies, saying what it means and meaning what it says, hopefully. (Time will prove.) When more Christians assume the offensive to turn the national tide from its roller-coaster downhill pace, when more publications expose the Bilderbergers, their offspring, the Trilateralists, who want to abolish the sovereignty of the U.S., to create one-world government and one-world religion, it is encouraging. When countless high-ranking officials, and retired ones, of our armed services demand that the Congress increase military preparedness and stop the foolish unilateral disarmament that benefits the enemy, and leaves America in grave danger.

'Tis super when Modesto, Ca. produces a school superintendent and system daring to place basic academic skills in primary position where they belong. We said that emphatically in an ordinary little book published in 1957, but some did not see it then. They were sold on the philosophy of modern education with frills. NBC just presented a series on The Failure of Our Schools. Those who think more money is the sole thing needed to solve educational problems should be as old as some of us, who recall oldsters whose education was limited to eighth grade in one-teacher schools, minus plumbing, government subsidies, often with 30 pupils but who could or can read, write, spell and do "figgers," creditably! States requiring competency tests for teachers are to be commended. Reader's Digest, Jan. 1981, cover announces an article, Help, Teacher Can't Teach. None can teach what he does not know. Colleges now offer remedial reading, etc. One major cause of the situation is the moral breakdown. When a nation defies God, discards time-proved and time-honored conventions, concepts, permits homes and family life to be destroyed by evil forces, as ours is doing, every institution and/or profession will suffer drastically. Such conditions often precede the fall or demise of a country. Who dares say it can't happen here? Despite these views, it is hoped Kentucky teachers receive higher salaries, as promised.

'Twas truly a splendid life when the daughter and "Yours Truly" had car trouble returning in the rain from Lexington one recent evening. She stopped at the first toll station, hoping some man could assist, but two girls had come on for night duty. Three young men from Paintsville left their empty coal trucks to offer help. They got the car started, insisted upon following us and stopping each time the problem recurred, even offering to go all the way home if necessary. The daughter had called her husband to meet us at the Sizzler, where the boys said they often ate. The three persistently refused to accept pay, so we resolved to pay for their dinners, but they drove rapidly past, waving and honking good-by, and all we know is their first names: David, Danny, and Leroy. We also know that life is grand more often than not. And that the valleys of life teach us much more than the mountain tops do!

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Burton Antenna Co., Inc. has requested a rate increase for T.V. service in the Melvin, Weeksbury, Bypro, and Bevinsville areas.

A public hearing will be held March 13, 1981 at 5:30 p.m. at the Floyd County Courthouse Annex conference room, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. All interested parties are invited to attend.

While there she attended Somerset High School's production of "Brigadoon" in which her granddaughter, Lori Ellen Trosper, was a member of the cast.

OPEN AA MEET SET

Anonymous meeting will be held at the Floyd County Library, Saturday, March 14, at 8 p.m. A woman speaker will be coming from Louisville for the meeting. The public is invited.

COMMITTEE MEETS

Members of the By-Laws committee of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club met at the Floyd County Library, Thursday evening, February 26, with the chairman, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, presiding. Several changes in the by-laws were proposed, and these will be brought before the club members for discussion during their regular meeting March 5, and voted on during the following monthly meeting on April 2. Present were Mrs. Bierman, Mrs. Boots Adams, Mrs. Eileen Burchett, Mrs. Martha Leake, and Mrs. Mabel Brown.

Town Makes Contribution To Paintsville Hospital

The Medi-Home Care Company, of Prestonsburg, a division of Medical Services of American, Inc., recently donated food warmer carts to the Paintsville Hospital. Doug Fleming, regional manager of Medical Services of America, made the presentation to the hospital on February 10.

Food warmer carts are used to deliver food trays to patients in their rooms. The trays are prepared in the dietary kitchen and placed in these carts to be taken to the patient's rooms.

A Different Kind Of Warning

You get them on the labels of cigarettes, on diet soft drinks—warnings, that this ingredient or that may be hazardous to your health. Two signs erected along Lake Drive here by the Carter Funeral Home give a different kind of warning to passing motorists, one with which few people would argue.

Delano Stumbo Defies Illness To Continue Service to Others

Delano Stumbo, former teacher here and resident of Lancer, is very ill at his home in Hamilton, O., but he has not time for self-pity. He is too busy thinking about others and working to meet their needs.

Two months ago, he was in a Hamilton hospital, and it was while he was there that the idea for what he termed his "latest project" was born—a hospice.

Erceel Eaton, Hamilton newspaperman, went to Stumbo's home to inquire about the movement he had initiated. The former Floyd man, still suffering, told him:

"At the time I was in the hospital about a dozen patients there were considered terminally ill. They obviously needed additional assistance."

So he invited clergymen, club members, others to his hospital room, told them his plan. Soon 150 persons were involved in his "project" which would include in-the-patient's-home care by qualified nurses and others.

Help for these who are by some considered beyond help is only one of a long list of service projects Stumbo has been involved in over a 19-year period during which he served the nearby Fairfield schools as counselor and as social worker for the school district.

All his undertakings are people-related:

—as a counselor he established a drug program;

—served as president of BAPSO three years and was instrumental in starting a neighborhood watch program;

—served on the Butler county mental health board;

—helped pass a bond issue for the D. Russell Lee vocational school and coordinated the placement of pupils there;

—was instrumental in procuring federal funding for various projects affecting youngsters and others in need;

—helped develop a policy on child abuse cases which has been adopted by several other Ohio communities;

—as a member of the Community Action Committee of Hamilton worked on a breakfast feeding program.

A son of Mrs. Beryl Dingus Stumbo, of Nicholasville, and the late Charles Stumbo, he is a 1951 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, received his bachelor's and master's degrees at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, later studied at Ohio State, Miami U., the University of Cincinnati and St. Xavier. His wife, the former Zetta Ratliff, also is a teacher.

Before going to Ohio, he was a teacher in Prestonsburg High School.

Not many weeks ago, while confined to bed at his home at 405 Gray Ave., Hamilton, O., he continued to communicate by telephone with others interested in his "projects."

"I miss the kids," he told his interviewer. "I'm sure I made some mistakes but, overall, I feel very happy about my work."

HERE FROM VIRGINIA

The Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, of Falls Church, Va., arrived here Tuesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Johnson. The Rev. Jones was the Johnsons pastor when they resided at Flemingsburg, Ky., and is now pastor of Glen Carlyn Road Baptist Church in Falls Church.

Betsy Layne Band Leads Mardi Gras

Of the multitude of bands which marched and performed in the world-famous Mardi Gras celebration a couple of weeks ago, it was a group of young Floyd countians which led the procession through the streets of New Orleans.

It was the second year the Marching Bobcat Band of Betsy Layne had made the trip to the bayou country, and for the second time the youngsters took top honors in the Mardi Gras band competition. Their win last year gave the 94-member band the lead position in the parade, and this year's top ranking has brought added praise and another invitation to lead the 1982 parade.

The band returned home Monday night following the Mardi Gras celebration held during the weekend of Feb. 2 through March 1.

A special practice and training regimen was begun by the Bobcat band in January, according to BLHS Band Director Billie Jean Osborne, and a lot more was expected of band members than perfecting their instrumental assignments. "Starting January 1, each kid had to run 10 laps daily in the gym," said Mrs. Osborne. That the routine of physical training paid off became clear during Saturday's 12-mile Mardi Gras parade route which was made in 88-degree heat. The following day, a six-mile march was required under the same conditions. "Not a single member had to drop out," commented Mrs. Osborne, "although several picked up some bad sunburns."

Mrs. Osborne thinks the musical selections performed at the band's two Mardi Gras appearances made the difference in their first-place ratings. "Last year we played 'The Basin Street Blues' while marching down Basin Street," she said. "This year we played 'The Marching Boogie'."

The band didn't miss the opportunity to display some Kentucky pride, either, following its performance for judges, Sunday. Since the University of Kentucky Wildcats had just defeated the LSU Bengals in Lexington, the band burst into the UK fight song in celebration, and actually repeated the number three more times.

Mrs. Osborne said after the band had finished its musical tribute to UK's victory in the heart of LSU country, one man told her, "Young lady, you have more nerve than any I know."

But it is this kind of spirit that makes the Betsy Layne group winners, Mrs. Osborne believes, and she has a three-foot trophy, $1,000 and a plaque for "super performance" to bear out her belief.

The band's stay in New Orleans was certainly not "all business," according to Mrs. Osborne, who pointed out that members enjoyed a tour of the Superdome, a parade and performances by other bands, and a boat ride on the Mississippi River to Natchez. The band's housing was furnished, as were guides around the city.

The Betsy Layne band is distinguished in other areas since the majorettes who lead the group are Kentucky's state champs, having won the title in August, and the band will continue to seek honors in representing Kentucky at the annual Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C., April 4.

Awards and honors are not the primary concern of Mrs. Osborne, band director at Betsy Layne for 22 years. She thinks the experience of seeing other bands is worth the Mardi Gras trip, with or without coming home with trophies. "Just to have the kids see the Armed Forces bands there was well worth the trip," she commented.

Veteran Rebekah Honored

Mrs. Venelia Rinehart was honored Tuesday evening, March 3, at the close of the Rebekah meeting in the I.O.O.F. Hall. The occasion was the anniversary of her 50 years as a member of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31. She was escorted to the center of the floor by Effie Hopkins and a corsage pinned on by Myrtle Allen. Tributes of 50 years were read by Hope Whitten and Norma Stepp and a history of the activities of her life given by Mabel Jean LeMaster, after which she was presented a 50 year jewel.

A faithful member and a diligent worker, she has served two terms as Noble Grand, 1944 and 1945; as District President, October 1945 to October 1946; as District Deputy President, 1945, 1946, 1947 and 1950. In 1975, she was selected as "Rebekah of the Year." She is serving as musician at the present time, an office she has held approximately 30 years.

Mrs. Rinehart is a member of the First Presbyterian Church and assistant teacher of the adult Bible class. She was a teacher and social worker and retired as social worker from the Department of Economic Security, November 20, 1970. She is the widow of Clifford Rinehart and resides on Maple Avenue.

She was presented a monetary gift from her sister and brother Rebekahs by Theckley Short, and received other individual gifts.

A beautifully decorated cake from Mary Zemo and other delicious refreshments were served in the dining room.

Those present for the occasion were Mesdames Maman Leslie, Theckley Short, Hope Whitten, Norma Stepp, Effie Hopkins, Jean Hickman, Beatrice Patton, Myrtle Allen, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Alicia Adkins, Linda Hager, Mary Zemo, Otella Smiley, Paulena Owens, Violetta Wright, Ortha Meece, Ann Patton, Julia Harrington, Susan Weems, Winifred Blackburn, Willa Mae Branham, Belva Wills, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Pope, of Thealka, Mrs. Mary Spradlin and Mrs. Rebecca Layne, of Pikeville.

VISIT OVER WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haywood have returned from a weekend visit with their daughter, Miss Rebecca Haywood, in Falmouth.

BRADLEY-HOBBS

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rowe, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Karen Lorraine Bradley, to Mr. James E. Hobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Hobbs, of Pikeville.

Miss Bradley is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and has attended Prestonsburg Community College.

Mr. Hobbs is a graduate of Pikeville High School and Georgetown College, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

An April wedding is planned.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S FELLOWSHIP TO MEET

The Men's Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church will meet on Sunday, March 15, at 6 p.m. at the church for their monthly fellowship dinner. The speaker will be Father James Ryan, priest in residence for the Floyd County Catholic Parish. Father Ryan will speak on his experiences as a chaplain at the Women's Penitentiary in Alderson, West Virginia.

Plans for the Palm Sunday men's breakfast at May Lodge will also be made.

WEEKEND GUESTS HERE

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Turnbull, of Palestine, W. Va., were weekend guests of Rev. and Mrs. Timothy Jessen. They were in town to celebrate the first birthday of their grandson, Paul Timothy Jessen.

At the birthday dinner, guests included Mrs. Jessen's sister, Jane, of Berea College, Mrs. Violet DeVault, of Berea, and the Rev. Moultrie McIntosh, Vicar of St. James Episcopal Church here.

VISITORS FROM PIKEVILLE

Mrs. Kay Baird and two of her daughters, Sarah Roberts and Elizabeth Anne Baird, were here Saturday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. May K. Roberts.

MINISTER HONORED

The Rev. Moultrie McIntosh, vicar of St. James Episcopal Church, was honored with a surprise birthday party, following Sunday morning's church services. A cake, representing a golf course, was baked for this occasion by Mrs. Harold Conn. The Rev. McIntosh received many gifts and good wishes.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stephens observed their tenth wedding anniversary, Friday, March 6. They were congratulated by their families and many friends, and received recognition from their pastor and members of their church during Sunday morning's services.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Helen Clark is showing improvement at her home here following a few days as a patient at the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Mrs. Clark is manager of Stop 'n' Shop here.

Mrs. Vera Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey, of Prestonsburg, and Roudolph Spencer, of Garrett were at Moultrie Tuesday, when they called at the home of Mrs. Pearl Martin following the death of her sister, Miss Ethel Martin. Funeral services for Miss Martin were conducted at the Regular Baptist Church there, Wednesday.

IN PIKEVILLE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Wayne Walters, of Emma, is a patient at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club was held last Thursday evening at the Floyd County Library, with Mrs. Abby Grant, president, presiding. Mrs. Dorothy Osborne was in charge of the devotionals, entitled "Friendship." Mrs. Osborne, a native of this section who lived in another state for a number of years before returning here to live, stressed the importance of having friends here and elsewhere, and read two poems, entitled, "It's Friendship," and "An Evening Prayer." She placed special emphasis on "The Friend who gave His life for us." The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Mrs. Grant, who also welcomed the members. Mrs. Boots Adams, first vice-president, discussed the program for the April meeting. Mrs. Maxine Bierman, vice-governor of the seventh District, K.F.W.C., urged members to enter the club's Spring Contest to be held at Pikeville, March 28. Mrs. Eileen Burchett, chairman of the committee on Community Improvement, discussed the contest being sponsored by her group for a slogan for car stickers relating to the Prestonsburg clean-up program. Mrs. Burchett asked that ideas for these be submitted to her within the week.

It was decided that a rummage sale will be held by the club in Mrs. Lucille Nunner's garage, April 3, 6, and 7. Members are asked to bring items they wish to contribute for this cause. The proposed changes in some of the club's by-laws were approved. Mrs. Grant appointed the following Nominating committee to select officers for the coming year: Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, Miss Betty Rowland, Mrs. Carolyn Traum, Mrs. Lynn Burchett and Mrs. Martha Leake.

Plans to assist with the KET fund-raising project were discussed, and the members voted to make a $50 donation to this cause. It was agreed that the club's Arts and Crafts Center may be used during the summer by the Prestonsburg Community College's summer camp. Members signed a get-well card, to be sent to Mrs. Leo Weddle, a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington.

A "white elephant" sale, with Lennie Grant as auctioneer, was conducted following the meeting. The amount realized was $65.75. Mr. Grant was presented a gift by the club.

Hostesses were Mesdames Clyde Burchett, Tom O. McGuire, Charles D. Johnson and Joe W. Burchett. Cake, decorated with shamrocks, and coffee were served to Abby Grant, Boots Adams, Maxine Bierman, Sandra Robinson, Martha Leake, Docia Woods, Mabel Brown, Lynn Leslie, Beatrice Collins, Dorothy Osborne, Christine Spradlin, Garnett Fairchild, Elizabeth Ramey and Jean Clark.

The club's next meeting will be Thursday evening, April 2, at 7:30, at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center. The program leader will be Mrs. Paul Combs, and the topic will be "Dressing for Success." Hostesses will be Mrs. James Donahoe, Miss Christine Spradlin, Mrs. Warren Clark, and Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick.

CONTEST ANNOUNCED

The Spring contest for the Seventh District Woman's Club will be held at the Pikeville Elementary School Saturday, March 28, with Mrs. E. L. Bierman, vice-governor of this district, in charge. Registration and a coffee will be held at 9 a.m. Reservations may be made by writing Mrs. Lesley Cunningham, Box 55, Pikeville, by March 21.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wells and daughters, Charlotte and Stephanie, entertained to dinner in their new home on Lake Road Saturday evening, having as their guests his sister, Mrs. Stuart Stephens, Mr. Stephens and son, Ray, and her sister, Mrs. Don Bays, Mr. Bays and children.

VISIT IN LEXINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey spent several days recently in Lexington, where they were guests of their niece, Mrs. Don Harris, Mr. Harris and children. Mrs. Harris' mother, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, is there for an extended visit with the family.

SERVICES AT APARTMENTS

Services were conducted at the Highland Terrace Apartments Sunday afternoon by the Community United Methodist Church. The Rev. Taylor Biggs is pastor of this church.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET

A special meeting of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association was held Saturday afternoon, Feb. 28, at the Floyd County Library, with the president, Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, presiding. The devotionals were given by Mrs. Lucy Regan, who based her discussion on First Corinthians, and used as her theme, "What is the meaning of Easter for me?" The treasurer, Mrs. Anna May Mellon, announced that the organization now has 107 paid members. The president announced that the annual K.R.T.A. and N.R.T.A. combined workshop would be held at May Lodge, September 15, and urged all members and prospective members to attend. The Visiting committee reported that several retired teachers had been ill. Miss Linda Stephens distributed pamphlets, furnished by Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd county home economist, entitled, "Tips on Consumer Protection." Mrs. Stepp discussed the possibility of a bus trip by the retired teachers to the state Capitol at Frankfort. Mrs. May K. Roberts read a letter from K.R.T.A. Director Marvin Dodson, announcing the forthcoming retirement of Les Wetherell, K.R.T.A. volunteer membership chairman. The group voted to have the secretary, Mrs. Opal S. May, write a letter to the Kentucky Education Association, expressing the members' appreciation for Mr. Wetherell's services during the past years. Portfolios of vital information were shown the members, and the president announced that she was in the process of placing orders for these. It was announced that Mrs. May K. Roberts and Miss Ruby Akers will represent the Floyd County Retired Teachers at the Kentucky Education Association's meeting, in Louisville.

The president distributed "Guidelines for Legislative Priority Questionnaires" to each retired teacher, who, after studying each item on the questionnaires, voted for five priorities for the 1982 Legislative Program. Votes were tabulated by Mrs. Oma Elkins, Miss Elsie Stephens, and Carmel Akers, and the results were sent to N.R.T.A. headquarters, in Washington, D.C.

Following the meeting, members of the Food committee Mrs. Nora Martin and Mrs. Docia Woods, were assisted by Mrs. Anna May Mellon and Mrs. Virginia Goble in serving refreshments to Mesdames Norma Stepp, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Opal May, May K. Roberts, Beatrice Collins, Lucy Regan, Anne Scutchfield, Alma Lowe, Anne Tackett, and Oma Elkins; Misses Lexie Allen, Elsie Stephens, and Linda Stephens, and Messers Carmel Akers, and Lewis Campbell, and guests: Messers Audie Elkins, Beecher Scutchfield, and W. H. Martin.

The next quarterly meeting of the F.C.R.T. will be held Thursday morning, May 14, at 10 o'clock, at the same location.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Forest Brown, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Lynn, to Mr. Philip Daniel Neeley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Neeley, of the Abbott Road.

Miss Brown is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and Fugazzi College. She is employed by Dr. Jerry Tackett, of Paintsville.

Mr. Neeley is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and Eastern Kentucky University. He is employed by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department.

The wedding will take place at 7 p.m. March 20 at the Bonanza Free Will Baptist church. The gracious custom of an open wedding will be observed.

HOLD WEEK OF PRAYER

"Go Forward!" was the theme for the Week of Prayer for Home Missions, conducted by the W.M.U. circles of the First Baptist Church, March 1-8. Monday evening, members met at the home of Mrs. Janice Pack, and the discussion was on "Preaching the Gospel," Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Charlene Nunn, "Preaching in Many Tongues" was the topic; Wednesday evening, during prayer services, the Rev. Dean Pack led the discussion on "Setting the Captive Free;" Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Sandra Bellamy, the topic was "Helping the Hurting," and on Friday evening, at the church, the discussion centered on "Planting Churches."

CONDITION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Ricky Davis, who was injured several weeks ago in a fall from a Prestonsburg fire truck, remains a patient at the Cabell-Huntington Hospital, where his condition for the past several days has been showing improvement. Members of his family have been there with him.

CHURCH NAMED VESTRY

The St. James Episcopal Church has selected as its vestry for the coming year: Rob Schissler, vicar's warden; Harry Short, junior warden; Perry Summers, secretary; Vance Smith, treasurer, and Mrs. Betty Popp, Mrs. Tom Mattox and Arthur Leach.

VISITS IN LEXINGTON

Mrs. Jonas Miller spent from Monday until Friday in Lexington, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Gene Ball, and Mr. Ball.

DEDICATES CURTAIN

On Sunday morning, March 8, the vicar of St. James Episcopal Church dedicated the new Dossal curtain behind the altar. The curtain was designed by Mrs. Harold Conn, Mrs. Arthur Leach and Everett Patton.

VISITORS FROM NEW YORK

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weddington, and son, Joe David, had as their guests last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Weddington's son-in-law, Andrew Tucker, and two friends, Richard Haigh, and Jim Quinn, all of New York City.

REBEKAHS MEET

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 met in the I.O.O.F. Building Tuesday evening, March 3, with the noble grand, Mrs. Maman Leslie, presiding. During the business session plans were made for the Odd Fellows' district meeting, March 14. At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Venelia Rinehart was recognized and introduced as a member who had served her lodge faithfully and diligently for the past 50 years. Mrs. Rinehart was honored with 50-year tributes, her life history, and was presented a 50-year jewel. She was presented a monetary gift from individual Rebekahs, and received other gifts. Refreshments, including a decorated cake, were served in the lodge dining room at the conclusion of the program. Those joining Mrs. Rinehart in this celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Pope, Thealka; Mrs. Mary Spradlin and Mrs. Rebecca Layne, Pikeville, and the following members of Miriam Rebekah Lodge; Mesdames Maman Leslie, Theckley Short, Hope Whitten, Norma Stepp, Effie Hopkins, Jean Hickman, Beatrice Patton, Myrtle Allen, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Alicia Adkins, Linda Hager, Mary Zemo, Ann Patton, Julia Harrington, Susan Weems, Winifred Blackburn, Willa Mae Branham, and Belva Wills.

The next meeting of the lodge will be held Tuesday evening, March 17, at 7 o'clock.

Floyd Crafts Go To N.Y.C.

The David Crafts Center has been invited by Gov. John Y. Brown and Phyllis George Brown to attend a preview of Oh! Kentucky, a collection of Kentucky crafts which will be displayed at the Capitol Rotunda in Frankfort this Sunday, before being shipped to Bloomingdale's in New York.

The giant Manhattan department store will begin marketing the goods in the store's new Kentucky Crafts Boutique, March 18. The boutique will introduce New Yorkers to what Bloomingdale's is calling "Kentucky country chic."

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO MEET

The Floyd County Democratic Woman's Club will meet today (Wednesday) at 12 noon at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mrs. Cliff Latta, president, urged all members to attend to discuss plans for a countywide Democratic rally in May. Anyone interested in becoming a member is invited to attend also, she said.

McDowell Man Hurt As Car Hit By Train

Woodrow Pack, McDowell man, escaped serious injury Saturday morning, although his car was hit at a McDowell railway crossing by a coal train and driven approximately 150 feet up the tracks. He suffered multiple contusions but has been discharged from the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The Pack vehicle was hit by a train of 41 empty coal gondolas at what is known as the Rooster Crossing. The crossing is described as "blind," with visibility of trains approaching from either direction limited. Pack was quoted as saying he heard no warning whistle.

Frank H. Leslie, of Emma, former Floyd sheriff, was conductor of the train.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. John Rodebaugh was honored on her birthday, Monday, February 23, when Mrs. Eunice Spradlin entertained for her with a chicken-and-dumping dinner, at her home on Spradlin Branch.

Merger of United Federal, 1st Federal Is Approved

Officials of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Pikeville, and United Federal Savings and Loan Association, Prestonsburg, confirmed today the proposed combination of the two firms into the largest savings and loan association in a three-county area.

As a result of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board's approval, the merger will be effective April 1, and the two associations will be known as United Federal Savings and Loan Association, Phillip Blackburn, of First Federal, and Sam Blankenship, of United Federal, said in a joint statement.

"As a result of a strong working relationship between United Federal and First Federal over the past years, the decision has been made to become one association," Blackburn and Blankenship said.

Although United Federal's home office will be in Prestonsburg, Blackburn stressed there will be no changes in the staff or management of the Pikeville office.

Under terms of the plan, Pikeville will become a branch office along with an existing branch of United Federal at Hindman.

The combination of the two savings and loan associations will make the new firm the largest Savings and Loan Association in Pike, Floyd and Knott counties. The assets of the facilities will approach $43 million, making the combination the fourth largest institution of its type east of Lexington.

Patrick, 3 Others Baptized at Jail

Four prisoners were baptized by sprinkling in the county jail last Sunday, and one of the four was Denver Patrick, one of the two men accused of the death at Wayland of James T. Niemi.

The officiating ministers were Ken Wilson, Dayton, O. evangelist, and Steve Wilson. It was said they are non-denominational. The other prisoners who were baptized were listed as Bill Allen, Charles Keathley and Alfred Music.

Wrote Patrick later in a lengthy "testimonial":

"The devil has put me in here, and I know God will set me free in time. I also know he wants me to stay in here for a while...and study his word, so when I do get out I can lead others to God."

Low-Cost Seedlings Available From State

As a land owner, if you have idle land which has grown up in brush or if you have any undesirable trees that are not producing any returns for you, a way to bring this land into profitable production is to plant tree seedlings," says Carter Conley, of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

The Division of Forestry will supply the seedlings at a low cost, ranging from $30-$75 for 1000 seedlings, with a minimum order of $10 for 100 seedlings.

"The trees will be bundled, shipped, and can be delivered by the Division of Forestry," Conley said. Assistance through the county ASCS office is also available for seventy-five percent of the total cost of a tree planting operation." Tree seedlings available from the state nurseries are Loblolly pine, virginia pine, white pine, scotch pine, shortleaf pine, yellow poplar, white oak, black walnut, Chinese chestnut, white ash, cottonwood, sycamore, black alder, autumn olive, black locust and a special packet of one-hundred mixed seedlings designed for wildlife plantings.

Anyone desiring to order tree seedlings or information on timberland management can contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry office at Prestonsburg, 886-8562.

Will Promote Kentucky Products

Secretary of State Frances Jones Mills (shown above) has just completed filing all necessary papers for a new non-profit corporation, Kentucky Export Resources Authority, Inc. The corporation was formed to "encourage and facilitate the production and sale of Kentucky coal and other products produced or grown in Kentucky."

The formation of the export corporation resulted from a recent trip to Italy made by several interested Kentuckians who were seeking information as to possible prospective buyers of Kentucky products.

The initial board of directors of the corporation are: William B. Sturgill, secretary, Kentucky Department of Energy; William T. Young, vice chairman of Governor John Y. Brown's cabinet; and Arthur F. Nicholson, commissioner, Bureau of Energy Products and Utilization, Kentucky Department of Energy.

Shown with Mrs. Mills are Judge Bert T. Combs, one of those who made the trip to Italy; William B. Sturgill, and Arthur F. Nicholson.

Dear Billie Jean:

It was a distinct honor and pleasure to have had your fine unit in our Mardi Gras Parade Celebration. Their performance was a credit to their parents, school, director and community. I do believe they felt the special warmth and excitement which cannot be described in words, but is truly unique to New Orleans and its culture. We have received many compliments on your performance.

On behalf of the Krewe, the city and myself please extend congratulations to your students, who are a tribute to the youth of our country.

Thank you for your personal work in developing such a fine band, consider this a standing invitation to return in the future.

Respectfully,
George E. Steltz
Music and Parade Coordinator

Art and Music May Make Youngsters Better Readers

Lee Jenkins, director of the reading and elementary-education departments at Oregon State University in Corvallis, has some novel ideas about learning to read. He's convinced that children who can sing and draw will become better readers.

"A child who can sing 50 songs can read 50 songs," said Jenkins. "We need to tie reading and music together. After pupils have sung a song and know the words to it, then we can bring it out in print. And there is a whole world of discovery because the kids know what the words are already."

"There is so much reading that can come from music. Music certainly is not a subject that should be set aside because there isn't enough classroom time. It can be one of the major ways some children learn to read."

Jenkins favors the idea of giving children a beginning line from which they can generate ideas for writing a story, such as, "One dark and stormy night..."

"But they seem to be more imaginative writers if they have a picture drawn first and they write about that," Jenkins said.

"If they can draw, then the reading can come because they can draw and then they can write about their art. Then you can have them read about what they wrote."

"If we were to learn to read the way we learn to talk, it would be a much simpler process. We don't get a bunch of rules in our preschool days on how to talk, but we pick it up."

Beginning readers should write their own reading material, Jenkins maintains. He said national studies indicate that children using the write-your-own method "do no better, nor any worse" than other beginning readers in conventional classroom programs.

"Art and music may be the very things kids need to get their reading done," Jenkins said. (Reprinted from Grit)

Announcing JIMMY 'Gabe' TURNER Democratic Candidate for COUNTY JUDGE EXECUTIVE

(Pol. Adv. Pd. for by Committee for Jimmy Turner for County Judge, Johnny R. Turner, Treasurer, II.)

Posting the Commandments . . .

Between Indoctrination And Neglect: A Third Way?

By RON MARSTIN

It seems more than a bit odd that, even though parents are generally skeptical these days about the ability of the schools to impart even rudimentary literary and computing skills, many impute to the same schools a massive influence on their children's values.

That, at any rate, seems to be behind much of the controversy about the wisdom of hanging the Ten Commandments on the walls of the state's classrooms. If advocates and critics of the practice hold anything in common, it is a belief that it all matters, and matters profoundly.

Much of the heat, presumably, stems from a conviction that displaying the Commandments represents the thin end of a wedge. And much of the concern, pro and con, appears founded on diverse understandings of just what the broad end of that wedge entails.

What have we here? The beginnings of a mighty return to the moral underpinnings of the nation? Or a frightening move to bend a diverse people to the constraints of a single, simple-minded orthodoxy?

Floyd Schools Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr. and members of the school board generally lean toward the former understanding—or at least believe that most of their constituents do.

Several of them were anxious to go on record at last Wednesday's school board meeting, to make it clear that their vote to remove the Commandments from Floyd classrooms was taken under duress and did not reflect their personal convictions.

"I believe in the Ten Commandments and what they stand for," Grigsby asserted. "But as state officers we are sworn to uphold the law of the land."

The direction of State Schools Superintendent Raymond Barber, explained at a recent meeting of the Kentucky School Board Association, was that local boards should have the Commandments removed in order to comply with the Supreme Court's ruling on KRS 158.178, he told the board.

That statute had required that the state superintendent be instructed to post copies of the Ten Commandments on school walls throughout the state. The Supreme Court ruled the statute unconstitutional.

"We could be sued collectively and individually; we could be put behind bars," Grigsby counseled the board members, "if we do not comply with the law."

The board fell into line, amid protestations that their own beliefs were being sacrificed on the altar of an ill-advised but omnipotent law.

If any of them felt there might be something to be said for the law as a guarantor of personal freedoms in a pluralist society, they weren't saying so Wednesday night. If anyone thought the fragile balance of a culturally-diverse nation might merit some protection, there was no evidence of it here.

Of course, if the board takes any heat for its decision, it is not likely to be over any threat to civil liberties. Rather, it will come from those who see it as yet another assault on values they cherish and want their children to cherish.

In that regard, a group of Crittenden county parents took the lead last week, in filing suit against the school board there—for a decision identical to that taken by the Floyd board.

The Crittenden board, too, had been impressed by the message disseminated at the previous week's meeting of the K.S.B.A.—that, if the Commandments didn't come down, they might all be sued for large sums of money. But critics characterized that argument as part of "an orchestrated campaign of fear and misinformation."

What the Crittenden parents argue is that the law stricken by the Supreme Court doesn't apply in their case, or in the case of the other 21,000 plaques posted under the auspices of the Kentucky Heritage Foundation. The Commandments, they point out, can be used for quite non-religious purposes in classroom teaching.

But further, they contend, they "desire their children to be educated in an environment which is not adverse to their own religious, moral and ethical values."

Fair enough. It is of the nature of deeply-held values that parents want to pass them on to their children. And, almost by definition, one's most basic convictions are those one thinks others should share.

It is only in a pluralist society that this poses a dilemma. Maintaining an ethically-sensitive society in which atheists, non-Christian believers, and Christian believers of a non-fundamentalist stripe can all feel at home demands subtler social strategies that simplistic "back to the Bible" campaigning.

Coincidentally, another decision of the Floyd school board last week suggests a possible strategy worth pursuing.

The board moved enthusiastically toward adopting a drug education program in at least some of the schools next year, and a common presupposition of the programs being considered is that values education is a critical component of drug education.

Few are likely to argue with that. The method espoused by at least one of the programs, however, is one that has been circulating among educators for some years as "values clarification." "Values clarification" is intended not to inculcate a particular set of values so much as to help students identify and appropriate their own values.

Other models of values education are also available, including one developed in recent years by Harvard psychologist Lawrence Kohlberg. Setting aside people's various conclusions about what is morally right or wrong, Kohlberg draws attention to the way they arrive at those conclusions. The focus shifts from the content to the mechanics of moral decision-making.

While the schools cannot properly get into the business of moral indoctrination, Kohlberg argues, they can and ought to be in the business of moral education. There are more or less adequate ways of making ethical judgments, and students can learn the difference, he claims.

Such a method will not completely satisfy parents bent on having the schools impart a particular canon of religious and ethical values. However, it does suggest a "middle way"—between heavy-handed indoctrination and outright neglect of moral education—which may be the best deal we can hope for in a nation that prides itself on its cultural diversity.

Parents and school board members might well give it more attention.

WIC Food Program Open To Floyd Residents

The Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children, (WIC) funded by the United States Department of Agriculture provides specified nutritious food supplements to pregnant women and infants and children up to 5 years of age who are determined by competent professionals (nutritionists, nurses, and other health officials) to be at nutritional risk because of inadequate nutrition.

Under the WIC program infants receive iron-fortified infant formula; cereal which is high in iron; and fruit juice which is high in Vitamin C. Participating women and children receive fortified milk and/or cheese, eggs, hot or cold cereal which is high in iron, and fruit juice which is high in Vitamin C.

Infants, children, and pregnant or nursing women are eligible for the WIC Program if they reside in Floyd county. Eligibility for the program is individually determined by competent professionals on the staff of the Floyd County Health Department.

If you believe that you or a member of your family may meet the eligibility requirements of the WIC Program, you may obtain more information contacting the WIC Program at the Floyd County Health Department, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Phone number 606-886-2788.

The WIC Program is open to everyone, regardless of race color or national origin.

Oil Decontrol Mixed Opinions

Senator Howard M. Metzenbaum (Ohio) "...I think that we have turned back the clock. We have set the Nation on its heels, and this decision is truly not in the Nation's best interest..."

Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Mass.) "...Oil decontrol will put 750,000 workers out of work. Today's decision alone will put 40,000 auto workers out of work..."

Senator Russell B. Long (La.) "...There is no doubt in my mind...that this Nation in its policy of bureaucracy and Federal control, red-tape, has impeded enormously this Nation's hopes for energy independence. The President's move for decontrol is moving this Nation in the direction of a capability to control its own destiny..."

Representative William E. Dannemeyer (Calif.) "...I ask permission to insert into the Record an editorial from the Washington Post. (An excerpt) Decontrol At Last

President Reagan was absolutely right to decontrol oil and gasoline prices quickly and without qualification...More than five-sixths of the country's oil supply is (already) decontrolled. Home heating oil was decontrolled five years ago...For the country as a whole, these controls have brought nothing but harm, and the end of them will bring nothing but benefit.

Representative Robert H. Michel (Ill.) "...I ask unanimous consent to insert in the Record (the editorial) by the New York Times. (An excerpt)

Yes, Decontrol Oil, but Now What? President Reagan is right to end the price controls on oil immediately, eight months ahead of schedule...But price increases are a necessary, if unpleasant, part of the process of adjusting to energy scarcity.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT MYTH: Oil decontrol was President Reagan's decision.

FACT: President Carter, not President Reagan, made the decision to decontrol oil, effective October 1, 1981. President Reagan moved up the effective date.

Moving up the effective date of oil decontrol worked to the oil companies' disadvantage. The last OPEC price increases moved through to the consumers at the same time as decontrol was put in effect. Oil companies, not OPEC gets the blame.

Traffic School Bid Is Denied By State

A request by District Court Judge Harold Stumbo for an additional state traffic school here has been turned down by Transportation Department officials.

Stumbo had asked for a traffic school to be located at McDowell, in addition to one already operating in Prestonsburg.

Sandy Pullen, director of the transportation department's division of licensing, replied that a school at McDowell would possibly require hiring another instructor and would not be justified by the number of participants from that area.

Traffic schools in Prestonsburg and Pikeville are within "reasonable driving distance" for people living in the McDowell and Wheelwright communities, Pullen said.

IN MEMORY OF BERTON CONN

Although it's now been three years, the pain is still there.

It hurts to think that you are no longer here, that we're no longer able to hear you laugh and sing the Old Baptist songs we all took for granted. Not able to look out and see you in the yard, and with spring almost here, looking out in the garden and picturing you there.

Now I try to put out the garden. I think of you; it makes me feel close to you. There's not a day goes by I don't think of you.

But I feel you have gone to a better place and I hope to get in shape to see you on that bright morning.

CATV CONSTRUCTION CONFERENCE

A pre-bid conference has been scheduled for Wednesday, March 11, 1981, at 10:00 p.m. at Tel-Com's office at Harold. At that time, several potential contractors will be furnished copies of bid books for construction of the first 70-mile section of CATV distribution plant. The plans outline labor only contract. Materials including electronics will be furnished by Tel-Com., Inc.

Bid opening for this portion is scheduled for March 31, 1981, 10:00 p.m. Plans allow 90 days for completion of this section of the total 365 mile project.

The area which will be served by this proposed construction is Prater Creek, and south from Banner along U.S. 23 to the Pike-Floyd County line. The section includes Ivel, Tram, Stanville, Betsy Layne and Harold.

The system will be a 40-channel capability CATV distribution facility. It will offer 15 channels initially including 3 Lexington, Kentucky stations, Channels 3 and 13 Huntington, Channel 8 Charleston, Kentucky ETV, Channel 17 Atlanta, CBN (Religious), CNN (News), Channel 57 Hazard, and pay channels including HBO and ESPN.

Construction of the additional 295 miles will follow according to the engineering construction schedule. All construction in Floyd County should be completed by the end of this year.

Pictured above is the head end equipment for the Martin tower located on a mountain peak approximately two miles east of the Floyd County town. From left to right are Paul D. Gearheart, Service Coordinator, Ralph Osborne, Head End Technician, and Charles Inglis, Chief Engineer.

Above, right: Satellite receiver installed at the base of the 587-foot tower to provide HBO, ESPN and CBN. The installed cost of this equipment is approximately $45,000.

Below, right: The 18x30 foot masonry building where the equipment will be installed is nearing completion. Cost of the structure including standby power supply is about $30,000. A satellite receiver is already in place there.

The building will also house microwave equipment to beam multi-channel TV signals to receivers located in other areas of Floyd and adjoining counties in Kentucky and southern Virginia.

Both Allen Central Teams Win 58 District Tourney

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON and TOMMIE LYNN MAY

The Allen Central girls were expected to win the 58th District tournament, and they did. But their "big brothers," the Rebels, dark horses at best with a 17-16 season record, refused to be outdone, and they emerged tournament champs, also.

The Rebels won the title in the championship game Saturday night at the Allen-Central gym, defeating a favored Betsy Layne five with relative ease, 76 to 63. But they squeaked by in earlier games, over Prestonsburg, 46-44, and over McDowell in the semi-finals, 62 to 60.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats had only one game to play before the title game, and that was their defeat of the Wheelwright Trojans, 59 to 37.

As district winners and runners-up, all four teams, Allen Central and Betsy Layne's boys and girls, will be playing in the Regional tournaments at Belfry High School. The 15th Region for girls started Monday night with Virgie playing Johnson Central and Betsy Layne facing Belfry. Last night (Tuesday) Allen Central faced Phelps while Sheldon Clark played Millard.

The 15th Regional for boys will start tonight (Wednesday). In the upper bracket Betsy Layne will battle Virgie and in the second game tonight Belfry will go against Johnson Central. Tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m. Allen Central will battle Elkhorn City, while Sheldon Clark will go against Pikeville. Allen Central and Betsy Layne are in opposite brackets and could face each other only in the championship game Saturday night.

In the first district tournament game Wednesday night, the homestanding Rebels had their hands full but were able to win over the young, stubborn Blackcats, 46 to 44. The Rebels were led by Bruce Mullins with 20 points and 13 rebounds. Randy Conley connected for 12 points and 9 rebounds. Joe Marson led the Blackcats with 18 points, Todd Nairn had 9 points while Jack Wells had 7 points and 12 rebounds.

Allen Central faced the McDowell Daredevils in the semi-finals and this was the fifth meeting between the two teams. The Daredevils had won three of the first four games. It was a see-saw battle all the way. The game was tied at halftime, 25 all. McDowell led by one going into fourth quarter, but Chester Newsome and Jimmy Turner got into foul trouble and the Rebels took advantage of the situation and won, 62 to 60. Bruce Mullins had 17 points and 12 rebounds. Randy Conley had an outstanding game with 19 points. Chester Newsome had one of his better nights with 21 points. Pete Grigsby in the first half had several assists but only 2 points, but in the second half he started driving and scored 18 points and finished with 20. Jimmy Turner had 8 points and 9 rebounds.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats won over Wheelwright, 59 to 37. The Trojans opened up with a slow-down and was in the game until the final quarter. James Hall had 16 points and Dwayne Lykins had 15 points and 11 rebounds. Dwight Newsome connected for 10 points. Gilford Hall, Mark Curry and David Tackett each had 8 points. Jack Kendrick had 7 rebounds. Betsy Layne as a team had 13 turnovers, while Wheelwright had 9.

In the championship game Betsy Layne was facing Allen Central for the third time in the finals game of the 58th district tourney. Last year, Betsy Layne won, 51 to 48. The previous year the Bobcats won by three points.

Allen Central got off to a fast start, leading at the end of the first quarter, 18 to 9. The Bobcats were still cold in the second quarter as the Rebels led at halftime, 40 to 22. The Bobcats had a couple of rallies in the second half, but the Rebels were able to halt them before they got out of hand. Bruce Mullins had his best night of the tournament and took scoring honors with 29 points. The 6-4 junior in the three tournament games scored 66 points and pulled down 57 rebounds and Randy Conley had a good night with several rebounds and scored 16 points. Tony Jones had a big night with 14 points. Betsy Layne was led in scoring by James Hall with 16 points. Dwayne Lykins, Marty Meade and Coy (Bowie) Samons each had 10 points. Stanley Tackett came off the bench and had a good night with 7 points.

The girls district tournament got underway last Wednesday night at Allen Central High in the John E. Campbell Arena with the McDowell Daredevillettes facing the Wheelwright Lady Trojans, and the Trojans came up with the win, defeating the Daredevillettes, 62 to 59. The Lady Trojans were led in scoring by freshman Mia Jones with 21 points. Pabby Holbrook and Anna Thornsberry each had 13 points. Melinda Hopkins fired in 40 and grabbed off 15 rebounds in a losing cause. Thursday night, the Allen Central Rebelettes won over the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats, 83 to 24. Trena Hensley led the Rebelettes with 20 points. Kim Shepherd had 13, Kristi Frye 12 and Lisa Green 9. Ten players for Allen Central scored. Drema Webb, Brenda Music, Glenda Shepherd and Kerry Johnson each collected 6 points for the losers. In the semi-finals, the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats won over the Wheelwright Lady Trojans, 59 to 43. Lela Layne and Sheila Johnson each had 13 points. Kim Tackett had 11 and Cassandra Keathley had a very good night with 11 rebounds and several assists and also scored 8 points. The Lady Trojans were led in scoring by freshman Mia Jones with 15 points. Pabby Holbrook had 9 points.

In the championship game the Allen Central Rebelettes won over the Betsy Layne Bobcats, 45 to 32. This was their 33rd win against only one loss. The Rebelettes were led in scoring by Trena Hensley with 18 points. Kim Shepherd connected for 14 points, Lecia Mulkey and Lela Layne each had 8 points. Sheila Johnson and Kim Tackett each had 6 points while Cassandra Keathley had another good night on the boards with several assists and 4 points.

Rice's Crispies . . .

The Region Takes a Gamble

By KENNY RICE
The reason for the 15th Regional tournament, aside from determining a representative to the state tournament, is to provide fans a chance to see the eight hottest-playing, if not always best, clubs in action.

Without the fans there would be no tournament, not just the district and region but the state event as well. The tournament is not only to see who is the best team in the area but also to bring in money for the athletic programs of the area schools. Make no mistake, the post-season tourneys are not for the students to showcase their skills—it is for the schools to make bucks.

That is why the regional tournament is not rotated among the 20 schools in the 15th Region. The tournament is held at a centrally located site, near restaurants, with a reasonable amount of parking and with a good road or two providing access for fans from Martin, Lawrence, Pike, Magoffin, Johnson and Floyd counties.

Make that, "the tournament WAS held at a centrally located site." This season, the tournament is being moved to West Virginia—well, almost; it is in Belfry, which is as close to West Virginia as you can get in the region.

Take it from a guy who had 12 hours of geography in college (I always knew it would come in handy, someday), Belfry is not the most centrally located place in the 15th Region. It is not even the most centrally located place in Pike county.

I don't have a personal vendetta against Belfry, I spent a week there one day, but the KHSAA blew it when they allowed the political influence on the association's control board to shift the tournament from either Prestonsburg or Paintsville (Johnson Central High). If a Pike county school had to be the host site, Pikeville is the obvious choice. The school is a nice facility, located right off US 23; no complaints about Pikeville.

Belfry has a gym capable of hosting the tournament, but so does Sheldon Clark and Lawrence County. There are several nice gyms in the region now to make a pitch for the tournament. But, without a doubt, Prestonsburg, Johnson Central and Pikeville High Schools are as close as you can get to having a centrally located tourney in a nice facility with reasonable parking and a restaurant or two nearby should you want to eat before or after the game. Even if there are some nice restaurants in Belfry, you probably won't feel like eating after the long drive.

I'm not looking at this from a Floyd countian's point of view, either. The fans of Magoffin and Lawrence counties have to miss a day's work to make the tipoff for the first game. OK, so I'm exaggerating a little, you get the point. Even schools in Pike county such as Mullins and Pikeville have a better road to Prestonsburg than Belfry.

If it isn't bad enough the boys have their regional there, the girls also have to decide their regional champ at Belfry. Fans from our area of the region wanting to follow the 58th District clubs in both regional tournaments will use enough gasoline to make a stock purchase in an oil company.

This is not a knock on Belfry High. They have one of the region's finest athletic programs. I'm sure they will do a nice job of hosting the tournaments. But facts are facts, and the major fact, the one that glares out every time you look at the map, is simply that Belfry is not easily accessible from the majority of the schools in the region.

It will be interesting to see if the average fan with no particular rooting interest in the tourneys will be able to go every night to Belfry from this county or Lawrence or Magoffin or Johnson.

The fans are the big losers in the decision to have both tournaments at Belfry. And the fans are the main ingredient.

STATE TOURNEY

With a decline in high school basketball attendance in the state, it will be interesting to see how attendance holds up for the state tournament in Lexington, this time around. In 1979, the tourney averaged close to 12,000 fans per session compared to an average of just over 7,000 in recent years of Louisville-hosted Sweet 16's.

If Lexington can reach the 12,000 average again, or come reasonably close, it is hard to imagine Louisville seeing the state tournament for the next several years.

ANOTHER REGIONAL

Johnson Central has been the best place to hold the regional baseball tournament; no arguments from Floyd county with no facility close to JC's. But Pikeville High is making a strong bid to get the regional this season and their facility is excellent for high school baseball and this is Pike county's year to host tourneys, so it seems.

Garrett Devilettes Losers in Upset To Stumbo Girls

By JOE HANCOCK
Talk about baseball! In the first round of the Floyd county sectional tournament for elementary school teams held at the J. E. Campbell Arena the Garrett Devilettes won over the Maytown Wildcats, to put them in the finals against the Martin Purple Flash. The Devilettes then won over the Purple Flash, 35 to 25.

In the week to follow, Coach O'Quinn took his team to the finals, which was held at the T. W. Howard Fieldhouse at Betsy Layne.

In first-round action the Devilettes won over the Clark Indians, 39 to 22. This advanced the Devilettes to the semi-finals Saturday night against the McDowell Daredevils, one of the toughest teams in the area.

In the past McDowell had won two of three games over Garrett in regular season action. These two games were the only game the Devilettes has lost in season play.

In Saturday night's semi-final action the Devilettes came from behind in the final two minutes of the game to win on a remarkable showing of fifth grader Debbie Bolen. With 10 seconds to go, the Daredevils' lost the ball. Coach O'Quinn, immediately called a time-out to discuss a last second shot. Play resumed, with the ball in bounded to No. 3, Debbie Bolen, who dribbled the ball the length of the floor to score with a shot from the corner hitting nothing but the nylon. This gave the Devilettes a 37 to 36 win.

This win advanced the Devilettes to the semi-finals Tuesday night against the Stumbo Lady Mustangs and in an upset victory the Lady Mustangs won by a score of 39 to 32.

Area Drug Group Aim of Workshop

Organizers of a workshop on alcohol and drug abuse hope it will result in the formation of a regional organization to combat the problem, it was said this week.

A regional group would coordinate the activities of drug abuse committees recently formed in Floyd, Pike and Martin counties as a result of growing concern about drug use by school students here.

The workshop is to be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Wednesday, March 25, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Rusty Williams, a Lexington alcohol and drug abuse specialist, will be the featured speaker.

All interested citizens are urged to attend. Childcare will be provided by Teens Who Care.

Clutch Play by Jones Gets Alice Lloyd in Nat'l Meet

Alice Lloyd College freshman Monroe Jones, a former standout at Wheelwright High School, hit a free throw in the final seconds to give the Eagles an upset victory at Bluefield, Va. last Saturday night. The stunned Bluefield crowd, who had seen their home team win 19 games in a row at home and compile a No. 1 ranking in the National Little College Athletic Association standings, reacted sharply to the 80-79 setback. A postgame brawl and rock-throwing melee prompted the police to escort the Alice Lloyd College team safely out of town.

Jones, who made the All-District first team as a freshman, hit a clutch basket with three seconds left on the clock to tie the game. He then put in the free throw to give Alice Lloyd its first lead since the opening basket of the game. Alice Lloyd, winner of the Eastern District, will now travel to Oakland City, Indiana, to participate in the N.L.C.A.A. national tournament. At 2 p.m. Monday they met the winner of the South Atlantic District.

The tournament win was the highlight of the year for a steadily improving Alice Lloyd team. To win the title they had to beat Bluefield earlier in the day by a score of 65-59, which set the stage for the thrilling tournament final. Coach Lonnie Morris praised the young Alice Lloyd squad for its effort and summed up their tournament. "These young men just won't give up."

Martin Title I Council Meets

The Martin Elementary Title I Parents' Advisory Council met recently at the school to review the existing Title I program and to offer suggestions for next year.

Parents were shown a short film entitled "Shared Learning," which depicted the importance of the parents' role as the child's first teacher in his life-long quest for knowledge and learning.

PAC chairperson Ilene Thompson read a portion of a report submitted by T. A. Bumgardner, a Title I supervisor for the Kentucky State Department of Education. The report stated that the county's Title I program is well organized and is in compliance with both state and federal regulations. Floyd county reading consultant Anna Lee Rice also shared with parents a letter recently received from the State Department of Education commending title I Director Harry Wallace and his staff for their 1980 Title I evaluation report. Out of 181 reports, Floyd county submitted one of the 41 that were given the rating of "excellent."

Parents and teachers discussed the various aspects of the school's program and set priorities for next year. Included in the group discussion were money for materials, absenteeism, the number of students per class, the need for more emphasis on cleanliness of the school's plant, and suggestions for minor changes in the county's Title I guidelines.

Attending the session were Ilene Thompson, chairperson, Dorothy Bentley, Magdalene Ferrell, Shirley Anderson, Faye Pitts, Consultant Anna Lee Rice, and teachers Virginia Martin, Audrey Gunnell, and Pam Wohlford.

It is well-known that resistance to disease and the rapidity of recovery from many illnesses often depend on a well-balanced, regular diet. Modify a diet only on a doctor's orders to compliment a diagnosis and bodily needs during illness. All the basic food groups should be included in daily meals unless a physician orders otherwise. These include milk and milk products, meat, vegetables, fruit, bread and cereal. We suggest that balanced diets with some nutritional education is far superior to resorting to fad diets to combat certain health deficiencies.

In addition to a good diet, many people need the aid of prescription medication to fully recover from an illness. When you need a prescription filled, come to COOLEY APOTHECARY, 2 Town Center Building. We give fast, personal service. We make sure that one medication does not interfere with another you might be taking. We're open Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30; Sat., 9-5. 886-8166.

HANDY HINT:
With a cold or a cough, it is best to use disposable handkerchiefs that can be destroyed after use.

Kentucky Almost Had 121 Counties

An interesting Kentucky side trip might be a visit to Beckham and Hardscrabble counties. Travelers would have to go into there and then still might not find them.

Beckham and Hardscrabble counties do not exist today. Beckham county did exist if only for 80 days. That 80-day period was long enough for Beckham, named for Kentucky Gov. J.C.W. Beckham, to make history. Gov. Beckham has named acting governor in 1900 after Gov. William Goebel was killed. Later Beckham was elected to the office.

As far back as 1877 efforts had been made to create a new county. The Vanceburg Courier, Lewis county, in June of that year noted a meeting had been held at Olive Hill in Carter county to hear a report from a committee that had been appointed to establish lines for the new county.

"The lines were established to the satisfaction of the congress assembled," noted The Courier "after which it proceeded to appoint committees to enroll the names of the citizens favoring a new county. A committee to post notices in Vanceburg, Grayson and Martinsburg was also chosen."

Vanceburg was the county seat of Lewis at the time, Grayson of Carter and Martinsburg (now Sandy Hook) of Elliott.

The new county was in business. Gov. Beckham, a Democrat, named men of both parties to leadership posts. C.C. Brooks was named county judge; L.N. Raybourn, sheriff; E.A. Evans, court clerk; J. W. Lusk, county attorney; Lewis Gearhart, circuit clerk, and Tom Goodman, jailer. Circuit judge of the new county was Matthew M. Redwine, and state senator was W.B. Whitt.

In 1979, 35 percent of all women in the work force were clerical workers, according to "Jop Opinions for Women in the 80's," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor's Women's Bureau. Seventeen percent were service workers (except private household workers) and 16 percent were professional workers.

On the map, the new county took the southern third of Lewis County, the western third of Carter and a northern tip, or about one-fourth, of Elliott. Beckham was bounded on the west by Rowan and Fleming counties.

The county, like an earlier attempt to create Hardscrabble County from parts of Lewis and Carter counties, did not survive. Opponents of the 121st county, especially a faction of Carter county, challenged the effort. Brought out was a statute that prohibited a new county if by so doing its creation left another with less than 400 square miles or if the new county consisted of less than 400 miles. Another statute decreed that a county line must be 10 miles from another county seat.

If tombstones had been used for counties, Beckham's would have read: Born Feb. 9, 1904, died April 29, 1904. The end came as a result of a state Court of Appeals ruling.

Many years later the new, but no longer active, county figured in a wedding and a divorce.

A woman in another state wanted her family record to show that her late husband had been legally divorced from his first wife before their marriage. All she remembered about the divorce was that it had been granted in Olive Hill. Records for Carter county did not show the divorce action. The search continued. Finally, an aged resident of Carter County advised the searchers to sort through records of Beckham county. The divorce record was found.

Beckham county might have been a stepchild of Hardscrabble County. It might also have had another name. One recommendation for a name included that a Farrow county, to honor Kenaz Farrow a circuit judge in the area.

Candidates Warned There Are Regulations To Be Observed

Some 4,000 Kentuckians will be crowding the primary ballots this year for elected offices across the state, says John Craig, director of the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance.

Although rules, regulations and laws applying to campaigns and elections in the state are covered in a manual issued by the registry, Craig said there are still some areas which have caused problems for candidates.

"One area which candidates frequently overlook is filing copies of their financial reports with the county clerk of the county of their residence at the same time they file with the registry," Craig said.

Another area, Craig said, is when financial reports should be filed with the registry. Primary reporting due dates for 1981 are:

- April 24, 32-day pre-primary report
- May 14, 12-day pre-primary report
- June 25, post-primary report.

Craig said candidates should be sure to follow this schedule for filing their financial reports with the registry. He warned that if the reports are not filed with the registry within five days after their due dates, the reports will be considered delinquent.

All reports to the registry are to provide the name, address and occupation of all contributors giving more than $100 either as a single contribution, or when multiple contributions are made by a contributor, at the point the multiple contributions are more than $100, Craig said.

Craig also advised candidates to keep these regulations in mind:

- Contributions or loans by a candidate to his or her campaign are to be reported in the same manner as contributions from other contributors.
- Candidates or their treasurers are required to maintain accurate records of all their receipts and expenditures.
- Candidates should note that all financial reports are required to be filed, even though the candidate may lose the election.

—All campaign receipts are to be deposited in a candidate's or committee's campaign bank account. All expenditures are to be made by checks drawn on that account.

—No candidate or committee shall accept a cash contribution in excess of $100. This applies cumulatively during an election.

Anonymous contributions in excess of $50 may not be used or expended. If the contributor cannot be identified, the contribution reverts to the state.

—Corporate contributions of money or anything of value, either direct or indirect, are prohibited, but this does not prevent the use of corporate funds in support of, or opposition to, public issues.

NOTICE
To All Water Consumers of
Beaver-Elkhorn Water District:

We have found some customers permitting their "neighbor" to connect onto their line, thereby avoiding the hook-up charge and the metered water charge. This is clearly a violation, both on the part of the regular metered customer and the "neighbor" who is permitted to make this connection.

Customers permitting this, when discovered, will be "Back Charged" for minimum billing as though he had two meters, or in the event he declines to pay the back charges, he will be subject to be disconnected for violation of rules and regulations of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District and the Energy Utility Commission of Kentucky.

J. M. JONES WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS AT THE PLANTATION MOTEL, RT. 23 & 460 PRESTONSBURG, THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1981

Mr. J. M. Jones will be back in Prestonsburg again Thursday, March 19, 1981. Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every man and woman now losing hair should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION.

proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

GUARANTEED
 You will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from the beginning to the end.

FREE CONSULTATION

Just take a few minutes of your time on Thursday, March 19, 1981, and go to the Plantation Motel, Rt. 23 & 460 in Prestonsburg between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for J. M. Jones room number.

Naturally we could not give you such a guarantee if it didn't work.

CAN'T HELP

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Ebb Hair Specialists cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

There is no charge or obligation... all consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no

East Again Highest In No. Out Of Work

A combination of economic factors pushed Kentucky's unemployment in 84 counties to exceed the statewide rate.

According to figures released today by the Department for Human Resources, about 70 percent of Kentucky's 120 counties posted unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher for the month. Edmonson County in the south central area recorded a 27.9 jobless rate in January, the highest rate in the state.

Kentucky's unemployment rate exceeded the national rate of 8.2 percent in January, with 171,400 Kentuckians looking for jobs.

The state's two major labor areas both reported unemployment rates in January. The Louisville metropolitan area recorded a 9.5 percent jobless rate while the Lexington metropolitan area's rate was 6.2 percent.

Geographically, eastern Kentucky had the highest unemployment in the state, 13.1 percent. The Bluegrass area posted the lowest rate in January, 7.9 percent.

Several economic factors have combined to cause high levels of unemployment in Kentucky, said Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Human Resources Department. "The growth in the labor force has been much greater than the growth in job opportunities, plus the duration of unemployment has been increasing for the past six months," he said. Job layoffs in most major industries caused by the economic recession and normal seasonal layoffs that occur in January have both added to already high unemployment rates here, he added.

Of the 33 eastern counties only three—Breathitt, Martin and Pike—show unemployment rates of less than 10 percent. Menifee county had the highest rate of 26.5 percent; Martin county, with 5.6 percent, had the lowest.

The figure for Floyd was 11.9 percent; for Knott, 7.8; for Magoffin, 16.9; and for Pike 7.9.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Earl Thornsbury wishes to thank all who helped in any way upon the passing of our dear, beloved Father. We deeply appreciate the flowers, food and words of kindness given by all. A special thanks to Our Lady of the Way Hospital, the doctors and entire staff, and the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. Also we express our sincere thanks to the Regular Baptist ministers for their comforting words and church members for their kind support and consideration, and the Hall Funeral Home for its efficient service.

Reading, GED Skills Taught in TV Series

There are more than 152 million adults (age 16 and over) in America and of this number more than 60 million are without a high school diploma. There are two million adults in Kentucky and of that figure over one million are lacking a high school education. Each year more than 20 thousand students drop out of school in Kentucky alone.

KET has united with educators throughout the state to address the critical need to reach this population—help motivate and make available instructional materials so that this target group may complete the high school equivalency exam, titled the General Educational Development (G.E.D.) test.

To do this, KET has designed two instructional telecourses. One, KET's "GED Series," is specifically designed to prepare students to pass the G.E.D. exam. There are 34 half-hour programs in the series that use skills and real-life situations to explain the subject areas: literature, grammar, science, social studies and mathematics. For those students who cannot read well enough to take the G.E.D. exam, KET has designed a new vehicle for improving reading skills—the instructional series, "Another Page."

"Another Page," a series of 15 half-hour programs, is designed to provide reading skill instruction and practice for adults who would like to read well enough to begin studying for the high school equivalency test.

Each program of "Another Page" deals with a specific skill, ranging from reading for details to drawing inferences. The multi-segmented programs use examples of real-life situations to teach various reading and life coping skills. The "Another Page" series is scheduled to premiere on KET this fall.

KET's outreach in adult education is not limited to Kentucky. The KET "GED Series" has been nationally distributed since 1975. The telecourse is being used in 43 states, Puerto Rico, Guam and Mexico. It is enjoying wide usage in both state and federal correctional institutions, on American Indian reservations, the Urban League Street Academies and in community college developmental skills programs.

To make the "GED Series" available to as many as possible, KET is cooperating with many existing communication channels, including: state departments of education, business and industry, the Kentucky Department of Human Resources, adult learning centers and, prospectively, the U. S. military.

SAME NAME DIFFERENT PERSONS

The James Hoover who was listed in the arrests column in the February 25 issue of the Times is not the James Hoover who resides at Hippo.

In 1980, 13,925 adults passed the GED exam as compared to 8,567 in 1974—a 63 percent increase. Studies have shown that a contributing factor may be that learning supplemented by media is effective and most effective when coupled with trained educators and support staff.

A significant result of improved education is that high school graduates earn $1200 a year more than non-high school graduates which has the potential for adding a sizable increase to the taxable income in Kentucky and elsewhere.

The KET productions "GED Series" and "Another Page" are both part of KET's commitment to enhance the quality of education in Kentucky and the nation.

For additional information about KET's adult education telecourses contact KET (606) 233-3000.

Cancer Radiothon Set For April 4

The Floyd County Chapter, American Cancer Society, will present its fifth annual Cancer Radiothon, Saturday, April 4, it was announced this week by chapter chairman, Lyda M. Spradlin.

With air-time and broadcast facilities donated by Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins, of WDOC radio, Prestonsburg, the fund-raising effort will feature an all-day program of live music of all varieties and other live entertainment.

With the Floyd chapter's goal set this year for $12,000, the radiothon is particularly important as a means of reaching that figure, according to Mrs. Howard.

"Most of our pledges come each year from our radiothon," said Mrs. Howard, "so naturally we're depending on it a lot again in April to provide the needed money for the cancer fund." Mrs. Howard said this county's radiothon was one of only "three or four" such programs in the state.

Volunteers to work during the day as well as talent to provide the entertainment are needed, according to Mrs. Howard. Anyone interested may call her at 886-3050, weekdays.

Be Wary of Delayed Coal Contracts: AG

FRANKFORT, Ky. (March 5, 1981)—Attorney General Steven L. Beshear has warned investors to be wary of offers to purchase deferred delivery coal contracts. These coal contracts are arranged through so-called "coal exchanges" located in several major cities and are offered from "boiler room" sales offices throughout the country, Beshear explained.

Unlike traditional coal brokers who sell to ultimate users without a delay in delivery, "boiler room" salesmen offer deferred contracts to persons who wish to speculate that coal prices will rise prior to the delivery date. Purchasers may extend delivery under their 12-month contracts for additional periods up to 24 months.

The contracts are sold on a claim of a strong upward trend in the national price of coal. Exports of coal, coupled with dramatic upward domestic shifts in demand occasioned by huge coal gasification plants, are cited as reasons to purchase coal contracts now.

Investors are not informed that the prices charged for the contracts are often 1.5 to three times higher than the spot market price of the coal. It is unlikely the spot market prices will rise to exceed the price charged in the deferred contracts.

Often, the coal offered in the "boiler room" contracts is of such poor quality it cannot be used except by limited industrial users. Some coal offered to investors would not comply with existing Environmental Protection Agency requirements.

To attract the interest of individual investors, unprincipled promoters have revived what are known as "boiler room" techniques. Sales persons with little or no background in business or in energy exploration use high-pressure sales techniques which include unsolicited telephone calls to members of the public.

"Boiler room" techniques are dangerous because the salespersons using them do not know enough about what they are selling to give investors the important information they need, and to which they are entitled. The more unscrupulous promoters intentionally misrepresent or withhold information about an investment because they are more concerned with making money for themselves than with helping investors.

Investors are cautioned that no contracts for the future delivery of coal are traded on any commodity exchange registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, Beshear said. There is no assurance that the coal sold on a "coal exchange" will meet the contract specifications.

The price of coal for future delivery is not based on adequate historical information from which a realistic projection of future market price can be made. Because the terms of such contracts are not standardized, there is no established market for these type contracts.

Investors are further cautioned there is no assurance coal producers who market their coal through "coal exchanges" can produce coal in sufficient quantities to fill their contracts.

Through the attorney general's office and the division of securities, Kentucky is a member of the Leviticus Project. This is a cooperative multi-state organization with the purpose of investigating and prosecuting a variety of crimes related to the coal industry, particularly in the Appalachian region. The project consists of 14 law enforcement agencies from Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The member states joined as a structured group in 1978, after working together on a case-by-case basis since 1976.

Scholarship Deadline Draws Near At PCC

Any student wishing to apply for a Presidential Scholarship to attend Pikeville College must file a financial aid application with the college no later than Friday, March 13, according to admissions officers of the college in a statement issued earlier this week.

Applicants must have at least a 3.5 grade point average to quality and must rank in the top 10% of their graduating class. Presidential scholarships are awarded to freshmen and eligible transfer students who have at least 64 credit hours. Maximum amount is up to $2,150, or one year's tuition at the college. All applicants are screened by the Presidential Scholarship Committee and finalists will be interviewed on campus.

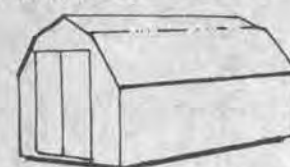

Ten of these scholarships are awarded each year, seven of them to freshmen, the remaining three to transfer students. Awards are announced on the 3rd of April.

Those interested should contact the Office of Admissions at Pikeville College. Call 432-9332.

NO JOKING MATTER—Sign vandalism cost Kentuckians $1.3 million last year, in addition to the accidents that occur when signs are missing or defaced. Anyone found guilty of damaging highway signs faces a penalty of up to one year in jail, up to a $500 fine or both. Kentucky Department of Transportation officials ask Kentuckians to report any missing signs to the nearest district highway office.

VOICES

An ambitious young nightclub singer and a shy deaf teacher who would like to be a dancer find love and mutual encouragement in 'Voices,' romantic drama starring Michael Ontkean and Amy Irving (pictured), to be broadcast for the first time on network television on 'The CBS Tuesday Night Movies,' TUESDAY, MARCH 17.

Drew Rothman (Ontkean), a Hoboken nightclub singer who wants to be a rock-star, lives at home with his grandfather (Herbert Berghof), his father (Alex Rocco) and teen-age brother (Barry Miller). The family runs a dry cleaning store, but since the death of his wife, Drew's father spends much of his time at the racetrack trying to strike it rich.

Drew's life changes when he meets Rosemarie Lemon (Miss Irving), a teacher of deaf children who is herself deaf.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

Continental Hydro Corporation
Project No. 3938-000
NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PRELIMINARY PERMIT

(February 24, 1981)

Take notice that Continental Hydro Corporation (Applicant) filed on January 7, 1981, an application for preliminary permit (pursuant to the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. para. 791(a) - 825 (r)) for proposed Project No. 3938 to be known as Dewey Lake Dam located on Johns Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky. The application is on file with the Commission and is available for public inspection. Correspondence with the Applicant should be directed to: Mr. A. Gail Staker, Continental Hydro Corporation, 141 Milk Street, Suite 1143, Boston, Massachusetts 02109. Any person who wishes to file a response to this notice should read the entire notice and must comply with the requirements specified for the particular kind of response that person wishes to file.

Project Description—The proposed project would utilize the existing U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' Dewey Lake Dam and Reservoir and would consist of: (1) a powerhouse having an installed generating capacity between 2,000 KW and 2,500 KW; (2) a new penstock approximately 650-feet long; (3) new transmission lines; and (4) appurtenant works. The Applicant estimates that the average annual energy output would be between 4,500,000 kWh and 5,500,000 kWh.

Purpose of Project—Project energy would be sold to local public utilities and/or industries.

Proposed Scope and Cost of Studies under Permit—Applicant seeks issuance of a preliminary permit for a period of three years, during which time Applicant would investigate project design alternatives, financial feasibility, environmental effects of project construction and operation, and project power potential. Depending upon the outcome of the studies, the Applicant would decide whether to proceed with an application for FERC license. Applicant estimates the cost of studies under the permit to be $45,000.

Purpose of Preliminary Permit—A preliminary permit does not authorize construction. A permit, is issued, gives the permittee, during the term of the permit, the right of priority of application for license while the Permittee undertakes the necessary studies and examinations to determine the engineering, economic, and environmental feasibility of the proposed project, the market for power, and all other information necessary for inclusion in an application for a license.

Agency Comments—Federal, State, and local agencies that receive this notice through direct mailing from the Commission are invited to submit comments on the described application for preliminary permit. (A copy of the application may be obtained directly from the Applicant.) Comments should be confined to substantive issues relevant to the issuance of a permit and consistent with the purpose of a permit as described in this notice. No other formal request for comments will be made. If an agency does not file comments within the time set below, it will be presumed to have no comments.

Competing Applications—Anyone desiring to file a competing application must submit to the Commission, on or before April 24, 1981, either the competing application itself or a notice of intent to file a competing application. Submission of a timely notice of intent allows an interested person to file the competing application no later than June 23, 1981. A notice of intent must conform with the requirements of 18 C.F.R. para. 4.33 (b) and (c) (1980). A competing application must conform with the requirements of 18 C.F.R. para. 4.33 (a) and (d) (1980).

Comments, Protests, or Petitions to Intervene—Anyone desiring to be heard or to make any protests about this application should file a petition to intervene or a protest with the Commission, in accordance with the requirements of its Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 C.F.R. para. 1.8 or para. 1.10 (1980). Comments not in the nature of a protest may also be submitted by conforming to the procedures specified in para. 1.10 for protests. In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but a person who merely files a protest or comments does not become a party to the proceeding. To become a party, or to participate in any hearing, a person must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules. Any comments, protest, or petition to intervene must be received on or before April 24, 1981.

Filing and Service of Responsive Documents—Any comments, notices of intent, competing applications, protests, or petitions to intervene must bear in all capital letters the title "COMMENTS", "NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE COMPETING APPLICATION", "PROTEST", or "PETITION TO INTERVENE," as applicable. Any of these filings must also state that it is made in response to this notice of application for preliminary permit for Project No. 3938. Any comments, notices of intent, competing applications, protests, or petitions to intervene must be filed by providing the original and those copies required by the Commission's regulations to: Kenneth F. Plumb, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: Fred E. Springer, Chief, Applications Branch, Division of Hydropower Licensing, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 208, 400 First Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20426. A copy of any notice of intent, competing application, or petition to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the Applicant specified in the first paragraph of this notice.

Trucks Need License

Truckers must license their trucks this month and state licensing officials say, "Do it early." Jesse Chisholm, director of motor vehicle licensing, said nearly 9,000 trucks must be licensed by March 31. The licenses are issued from Frankfort.

Last year, Chisholm said, truck drivers were lined up in the hall outside the division's office. Some were unable to obtain their licenses by the deadline.

Without the license, it is illegal to haul on Kentucky's highways. The trucks are licensed according to weight and the percentage of miles driven in Kentucky.

Under the International Registration Plan, interstate haulers can pay all fees in their home state. The fees are based on the number of fleet or truck miles driven in each participating state. Fees for other states are sent by the motor vehicle licensing division of those states. Twenty-seven states and Canadian provinces are participating in the plan.

To license a truck, the driver must submit the truck title and a certificate of apportionment registration obtained from the county clerk where the driver resides. No personal or company checks will be accepted this year. Fees must be paid in cash or with a certified money order, Chisholm said.

Licenses and applications for the International Registration Plan can be obtained from the Division of Motor Vehicle Licensing, Second Floor, State Office Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

AG Advises Caution On Mine Tax Shelter

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear has warned investors to be wary of offers to buy limited partnership units in tax-shelter coal mining ventures.

Through the attorney general's office and the division of securities, Kentucky is a member of the Leviticus Project, which is a cooperative multi-state organization with the purpose of investigating and prosecuting a variety of crimes related to the coal industry, particularly in the Appalachian region. The project consists of 14 law enforcement agencies from Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The member states joined as a structured group in 1978, after working together on a case-by-case basis since 1976.

Beshear advised investors to:

—Consider only those limited partnership offerings in coal mining ventures that are offered by reputable and established investment advisors, preferably those previously known to the investor.

—Examine the offering prospectus carefully.

—Gather as many facts as possible regarding:

The general partner—does he have an established reputation for competence and experience in coal mining ventures? Will the general partner actually manage the ventures on a day-to-day basis?

The promoter—frequently coal mining ventures are really organized and run by a "promoter" whose name and background may not appear in the offering prospectus.

The property—is there a verifiable chain of leases and subleases giving the limited partnership leaseable mineral rights in the property to be mined? Is the property described specifically in the offering prospectus? Could the investor easily locate the property using information contained in the offering prospectus? Can any geological reports contained in the prospectus be verified? Are the geological reports done by an established and reputable firm that can be easily located and contacted?

The contract miner's capacity to mine—is the contract miner established and experienced? Does he have sufficient equipment and personnel to mine coal at the production rate described in the offering prospectus? What portion of investors' funds will actually go to the contract miner to support mining activities?

In the event that a limited partnership coal mining venture is found to have been fraudulent or does not meet the requirements of the Internal Revenue code, an investor's sizeable tax deduction may be disallowed retroactively by the Internal Revenue Service. This may mean the investor will be required to pay to the IRS substantial sums plus penalties several years after the tax year in which the deduction was taken.

—If it is determined from all of the circumstances that an investor in a limited partnership coal mining venture did not actually intend that his investment be profitable, but only sought the advantages of a tax shelter, the investor's deduction may be retroactively disallowed, and the investor may be liable to a federal criminal charge of tax evasion, Beshear said.

Get instant relief for your pocketbook with our Equal Payment Plan.

Winter is here. And with its chilling winds comes the most expensive time of the year. Bills from the holidays, snow tires, cold and flu expenses, taxes — the list is long.

And winter is also the highest electric usage period for most of our customers. That means higher energy bills come right along with everything else.

To help ease the overall winter drain on the pocketbook, Kentucky Power is offering "instant relief" for customers with good bill-paying records. It's called the Equal Payment Plan (EPP). By going on EPP now, qualified customers can defer part of each winter electric bill to spring and fall when usage is less.

Here is how it works — If for example, your current bill is $150 but your average bill (based on last year's usage) is $75 per month for a year, you would have to pay only the $75 when you go on EPP. Over the first 11 months you would pay $75 per month. (If there is any difference between your estimated and actual usage, we'll make an adjustment in your monthly EPP amount after six months.) On the 12th month, we'll settle up any differences.

EPP is that simple. You pay less than what you actually use during these heavy-use periods, then pay the company back (with no interest) during the low usage months.

EPP is of most benefit to heating and air conditioning customers whose bills fluctuate seasonally, but the program is available to all residential customers.

If the idea of leveling off your electric bills sounds good to you, come in or call your nearest Kentucky Power office. We have an EPP specialist waiting to talk to you.

We give it our best.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Tel-Com Inc. of Harold, Kentucky has filed petition on December 22, 1980 before the Floyd County Franchise Agency seeking authority to increase its rates on all classes of service throughout Floyd County, Kentucky. The existing rates and those proposed to be charged for each class of service is as follows:

Number of Customers	Class of Service	Existing	Residential Rate Proposed	Effective Date
1835	C-1	6.50	7.50
1297	C-2	7.50	8.00
973	C-3	9.00	10.00
-0-	C-4	-0-	11.00	When service is made available
-0-	C-5	-0-	7.50

Notes:
(1) Service listed as C-1, C-2, C-3 and the proposed increase are interim rates to remain in effect only until services are made available under C-4 and C-5 classifications.

(2) C-4 service when completed will provide 15 channels (including 3 optional pay channels) with a 40 channel capability. At the date that subscriber service is upgraded from C-3 to C-4 the subscriber will receive C-4 service at the C-3 rate for a period of 30 days. After 30 days those subscribers desiring the continued C-4 service will be charged the prescribed rate. Those subscribers not desiring C-4 service will be given C-5 service at the designated rate with the payment of a thirty ($30.00) dollar reconnect fee.

The Floyd County Franchise Agency has scheduled a hearing on the petition to be held at the Floyd County Courthouse Annex on 13th, March 1981, at the hour of 5:30 p.m. All subscribers of Tel-Com, Inc. and any interested party is invited to attend and to testify or otherwise be heard on any fact to contents of the Petition, including the Classes of Service and the rates to be charged therefore.

Copies of the Petition and exhibits relating to the Classes of Service, Rates and Financial Data are on file in the Franchise Agency Office and may be viewed by any interested party prior to the date of the hearing.

Dated: This 23rd day of December, 1980.

Psychology Ranges From Shock To TLC

worked, apparently, because the patient improved, and shock treatments became common therapy for severe psychotic illnesses.

A number of antipsychotic drugs were introduced in the 1950s to control the more severe illnesses. At the same time, many stories began to circulate about excessive and indiscriminate use of electric shock treatments. Some psychiatrists abandoned shock treatments, but then discovered that many cases of severe depression did not respond either to psychotherapy or to medication. Many of the depression cases did respond to electric shock.

By Patrick Tague

Electric shock treatment has always been the epitome of what many people fear and hate about psychiatry. It symbolizes an attitude where the psychiatrist may be more interested in his patient's reaction than the patient. Despite what you may think about shock treatments, and despite what even many psychiatrists think, shock treatment seems to be making a comeback.

Shock treatments date back to the 1930s when two Italian psychiatrists, looking for a treatment for schizophrenia, used electricity to induce convulsions in a patient. It treatment is sometimes a wiggle of the finger. Critics say there can be permanent brain damage. In fact, author Ernest Hemingway claimed electric shock treatments ruined his writing because it supposedly made him forget his experiences as a young man. Whatever the truth, some 100,000 people undergo electric shock treatments every year in the United States alone, a staggering figure for a treatment no one really understands.

Tender Loving Care

If the return of shock treatments is the wave of the future, consider this recent study by two psychologists from Tennessee's Vanderbilt University. Hans Strupp and Suzanne Hadley separated two groups of college men, 17 to 24 years old, diagnosed as suffering from neurotic depression or anxiety reactions. One group was treated by trained psychotherapists. Sympathetic (but untrained) college professors listened to the fears and anxieties of the second group.

Preliminary research showed that both groups had similar improvement, leading Strupp and Hadley to conclude an intelligent and sympathetic ear may be as effective as skilled psychoanalytic treatment. They caution that the patients were not severely ill, and Strupp and Hadley also note that they are not suggesting that untrained counsel replace skilled psychotherapy. They are saying that a little tender loving care-sometimes works wonders, but then, you knew that.

People in Florida and South Dakota might be happy to know that TLC works wonders. Because in those two states, you don't need any training to become a licensed psychologist, just the money—as little as $5 for the license. In a budget-cutting move, both states deregulated the licensing of psychologists. At least 23 other states have now passed, or are considering, legislation to abolish psychology examining boards.

Talking Pictures

In Toronto, Joel Walker, a 37-year-old psychiatrist, uses images as an aid in treating his patients. When he hung a few of his photos in his office, he found patients commenting on them in revealing ways.

"It's often a more economical way of getting through," he explains. "Reactions to the photos are not definitive in themselves, but they indicate useful directions for therapy."

Nothing Nice About Lice

For several years now, pediculosis—more commonly known as head lice—has been showing up in cities in epidemic proportions. Because a new batch of eggs hatches every 3 to 14 days, lice spread quickly. At one time limited mainly to the poor, now they are found in all classes of people.

The school year seems to be the time when the problem reaches its peak. School children sharing items such as hats, scarves, combs or brushes and who are in close contact in the classroom and on the bus unconsciously pass the disease.

What can be done if you find someone in your family has contracted lice? Follow a six-point program.

- Parents should get together with the school principal, doctor and nurse to learn what they can do about the outbreak. (Better yet, find out how to prevent it before it reaches your neighborhood or school.)

- Parents should learn how to recognize lice in their children. If you notice constant and vigorous itching of the scalp, be suspicious. Check your child with a hand lens for a small, pearly, oval-shaped egg attached to hair in common areas such as the back of the head, behind the ears, and in some cases, in facial areas such as the eyebrows or beard.

- Meetings should be held to inform parents with literature on the subject. This information should be passed along and distributed to those who could not attend the meeting.

- If someone in your family does get lice, the remedy is a shampoo called Kwell (which consists of gamma benzene hexachloride 1%). It should be applied to the hair and scalp for four minutes and is available on prescription.

Saving Face

Collagen, a whitish substance extracted from cattle hides, is a common protein found in vertebrate connective tissues. A California company has developed a way to turn collagen into a product which is capable of reducing facial wrinkles and repairing acne scars.

Collagen for Implantation (CFI) is removed from the animal hide and processed into a form that can be injected into human skin. Once inside, this product turns into an elastic-type material, and is absorbed by body tissues.

In the majority of cases, inflammation does not occur. A special procedure rids the product of all traces of bacteria and also eliminates the substances which would cause the body tissues to reject the collagen.

Once this product gets final approval, it will be offered as an alternative treatment to acne dermabrasion. It will be both less costly and faster; not only is dermabrasion expensive—from $700 to $2000—but it is extremely painful and requires a long recovery period. CFI has the unique characteristics of being able to smooth out scars and become part of the living tissue.

Prevent Birth Defects

Cerebral palsy is caused by lack of oxygen to an infant's brain. It may occur before, during or after birth; there is no one isolated cause.

Because of the incredible amount of recent research, the occurrence of cerebral palsy has been greatly reduced in the last ten years. Where 80 out of 1,000 babies who weighed 4.4 lbs. or less at birth used to be affected by CP, now as few as 10 to 15 will get the disease, The United Cerebral Palsy Research and Educational Foundations list several ways to assure that you will give birth to a healthy baby.

- Good nutrition before pregnancy is as important as during pregnancy. Women who have eaten poorly as children and as adolescents will give birth to babies with abnormalities more often than mothers who had healthy eating habits all along.

- As soon as a woman learns she is pregnant, she must practice proper pre-natal care to bring her baby to full term, which is a factor in reducing birth defects.

- At childbirth, proper care will prevent damage caused by blood incompatibility—Rh factor—and prevent or detect jaundice, making treatment of the affected infants possible.

- Diabetic mothers must be especially careful; their children have five times as great a chance of developing respiratory distress syndrome (RDS) as do the children of non-diabetic mothers. These children also have a greater chance of developing cerebral palsy.

To Wed April 12

Mrs. Edna Bailey, of Hueysville, and Mrs. Donna Jean Kulas, of Crystal, Minnesota, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Darlene Bailey and Mr. Anthony Joseph Brown. Miss Bailey is a 1975 graduate of Allen Central High School and will graduate from Eastern Kentucky University next December with a B.S. degree in Police Administration and a minor in Traffic Safety. She is also a Kentucky Certified Emergency Medical Technician and her name is on the National Registry of EMT's. She is the daughter of the late Arnold Bailey, of Hueysville.

Mr. Brown is a 1977 honor graduate from Armstrong High School in Plymouth, Minnesota. He joined the United States Air Force in 1978 and was sent to Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi where he was an honor graduate in electronics. He was later sent to the Lexington Bluegrass Army Depot in Richmond where he attended the AN MPST-1 Radar School and became the first and only honor graduate since its conception seven years prior.

The wedding will be solemnized Sunday, April 12, at 4 p.m. at the Peace United Church of Christ in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Vance Recognized For Rescue Role

Coast Guard Electronics Technician James M. Vance, son of Marie Vance, of West Prestonsburg, has been awarded the Coast Guard Unit Commendation.

He received the award for service as a crewmember of the Coast Guard cutter Boutwell during the rescue of 520 persons from the stricken Dutch cruise ship Prinsendam last October.

The Prinsendam caught fire off the Alaskan coast and the Boutwell, homeported in Seattle, Wash., assisted in the rescue operations in which the total crew and passenger complement was saved.

The Boutwell recently departed on an Alaskan fisheries patrol which will last about two months. During the patrol, the Boutwell will maintain surveillance over the foreign fishing fleets and conduct law enforcement boarding within the 200-mile limit to ensure compliance with the Fisheries Conservation and Management Act.

A 1969 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, and a 1971 graduate of Prestonsburg Community College, with an associate of arts degree, Vance joined the coast Guard in October 1980.

Paul Jordan Retires

Paul R. Jordan, ex-newspaperman and former resident of Wayland, retired Feb. 28 on disability after 12 years with the Federal Energy Commission, Washington, D. C. He had done publicity for federal agencies almost 15 years.

Mr. Jordan said he expects to move from his present residence in Annadale, Va. to the Lebanon, Ky. area and to do freelance writing.

Marijuana: New Evidence And Warning Signals

During the past three years startling new evidence of the dangers of marijuana has surfaced, and the warning signals are loud and clear. Marijuana can affect the lungs and pulmonary system, the reproductive system, the genes and chromosomes, the white blood cells, and certain areas of the brain. It also has damaging psychological effects. Even with all of these findings, pot smokers tend to put them down. In the next few paragraphs, the medical findings on marijuana and its effects on the body will be described in limited detail.

BRAIN: The first point to make is that THC (Delta-9 Tetrahydrocannabinol), the main ingredient found in marijuana, is fat soluble. Therefore, it builds up in all parts of the body, especially the fat-storing organs like the brain and sexual organs. For this reason, marijuana may be harmful to the brain. It enters the bloodstream and then is quickly soaked up by fatty cells. A British research report attributed brain atrophy to marijuana use in humans. According to Webster's dictionary, atrophy means the wasting away or decrease in size of a body part. People use marijuana because of its short-term effects on the brain to develop a "high" not considering the possible long-term effects (actual physical damage to the brain tissue). An experiment in Bristol, England, was conducted by Dr. A.M.G. Campbell, where he discovered young chronic users of marijuana (chronic defined as daily users) from age 18-26 had suffered as much brain damage as is normally encountered in people age 70, 80, and 90.

REPRODUCTIVE SYSTEM: MALE—In the male, pot greatly decreased sperm count in humans and animals; there also was marked increase in abnormal sperm. Five hundred men, ages 18 to 30, who had smoked pot for 6 years showed significantly lower rates of sexual activity and fewer orgasms. Thirty percent of male patients who have smoked for five years complain of impotence. "Today's pot smoker may not only be damaging his own mind and body, but may be playing genetic roulette with unborn generations," said a leading doctor in the field.

REPRODUCTIVE SYSTEM: FEMALE—Marijuana's effect on human reproductive organs is significant. Researchers have found that 38.3 percent of the women who smoked pot for six months had defective menstrual cycles. They also detected a very high testosterone level in the groups that used marijuana. Testosterone is the chief male sex hormone. This causes excessive facial and body hair on women. There were also significantly lower prolactin levels in the marijuana users. Prolactin is a hormone involved in milk production of a nursing mother. It is also thought to have other effects on the reproductive system. "We are particularly worried about what marijuana is doing to the adolescent female. The effects might be even stronger before the body has matured."

LUNGS: As of yet, there is no direct clinical evidence that marijuana smoking causes lung cancer. It has been reported that marijuana smoke contains more carcinogens (cancer-causing materials) than tobacco. Someone smoking one joint a day will develop air way resistance which one would not develop from smoking a pack of cigarettes a day.

Marijuana also destroys a person's white blood cells. It causes a 3.4 chromosome break per 100 white cells. The normal rate of breakage is 1.2 per 100 cells. White blood cells are used by the body to fight disease. Therefore, pot may reduce a person's resistance to disease by interfering with the body's immune response.

PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECTS: Marijuana is a drug that can cause profound personality changes which lead to loss of ambition and maturation, chronic listlessness, apathy (non-caring), withdrawal and an unwillingness to communicate, moodiness, irritability, loss of interest in school activities and sports, a drop in school grades, neglect in ap-

Marlow To Perform At P-Burg Elementary

Marlow Tackett and the Southern Comfort Band will appear at Prestonsburg Elementary School, March 24 at 1 p.m.

Mr. Tackett has agreed to donate his time to help the Prestonsburg Elementary P.T.A. raise money to carpet the fifth grade classrooms.

According to Mrs. Phyllis Calhoun, P.T.A. president, several other projects are also being planned this spring in hopes of having the carpet laid before the school year ends.

Carpet has already been installed in the kindergarten room, music room, and the first, second, third, and fourth grade classrooms.

D.A.V. SERVICE OFFICER TO BE AT AUXIER

A D.A.V. state service officer will be at the Auxier Fire Department building, Thursday, March 12 to help widows and other dependents with benefit applications. All those who plan to take advantage of this service should bring military discharge, birth certificate and marriage license, D.A.V. Chapt. 18 Vice-Commander James Connors advised.

pearance, hostility toward authority, and paranoia. Several doctors call pot "our most dangerous drug because of its nationwide prevalence and because people use it thinking nothing bad is happening to them."

One of the most dangerous things for young people is that drugs interfere with the normal process of growing up. Young people need to learn how to make decisions, to deal with success and failure, and to form their own beliefs and values to carry with them into adulthood. Drug taking can be an escape from these "growing pains" and may mean that the young person will never learn these important skills of maturity. Marijuana is a chemical experience. It affects your mood, your body, and your mind.

All the information in this article was taken from the most recent surveys on marijuana by the National Institute on Drug Abuse and by various doctors: Dr. Robert L. Dupont, former Director of N.I.D.A.; Dr. Joan E. Bauman and Dr. Robert C. Kolodny of the Reproductive Biology Foundation of St. Louis; Dr. A.M.G. Campbell, Bristol, England. Edited by Don Goble, M.C.C.C.

Miners' Respiratory Treatment funds Release Official

The federal funds to operate the Coal Miner's Respiratory Treatment Program at Highlands Regional Medical Center have been released according to Larry Stanifer, project director.

The program is being funded by the federal government and administered by Highlands Regional Medical Center to deliver a number of education and outreach services to miners and other individuals with respiratory diseases. The program will serve the five Big Sandy counties.

Though the funds have just now officially been released, the program has been operating for several months under the direction of Stanifer and his staff. Preliminary and developmental work has already progressed to the point that a patient education unit in Johnson county began offering services to people last week.

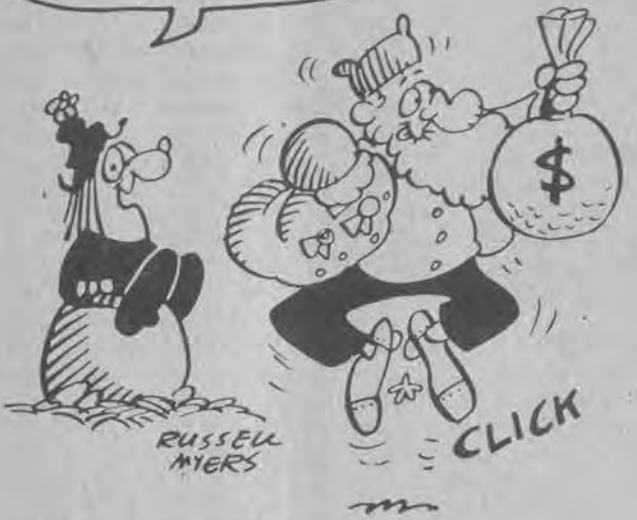

The next phase of the program to be implemented will be a demonstration clinic in Martin county. Eventually program services will each be extended to Floyd, Pike and Magoffin counties and will include patient/family education, evaluation, outreach and transportation.

Persons who feel they might benefit from the services of the C.M.R.T.P. should call 886-1706 to obtain additional information.

FAITH BIBLE CHURCH DEDICATION

Reverend Bob Martin, Pastor

Martin, Kentucky

March 15, 1981

10:30 A.M.

We, the people of the Faith Bible Church, would like to convey our appreciation to the many friends who helped us in the rebuilding of our church structure which was destroyed by fire October 14, 1980. We thank you for your contributions, your labor, your concern, and your prayers. We praise the Lord for people like you who care about His work!

To our neighboring churches we also say 'thank you' for your concern and courtesies extended us. Several churches offered to share their facilities with us; prayers were offered on our behalf; the Church of Latter Day Saints provided portable seats for our convenience; and generous love offerings were sent by the Dinwood Sunday School, the First Assembly of God Church, and the Middle Creek Baptist Church. We sincerely appreciate each offer, each deed, each prayer, and each kind word.

We are especially indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Conley, of Martin, who graciously provided temporary facilities during the past months. Because of these dear people, we have suffered no hardship; instead, our services were held regularly in a warm and comfortable building. May the Lord bless them mightily!

To all of you we extend a very cordial invitation to worship with us as we dedicate our new church to the Lord. As Solomon said when he made preparation to build the Temple, "Behold, I build an house to the name of the Lord my God to dedicate it to Him..." And so do we, Lord, so do we.

REVEREND BOB MARTIN and members of the Faith Bible Church

Heritage Comm. Head Seeks To Save Past

America has traditionally been a land of progress. That progress, however, has often been at the expense of tradition and landmark buildings.

That is changing. With a tight economy and high interest rates, more and more home buyers and investors are looking to old buildings. Using low-interest federal loans, grants or tax breaks, people are renovating older structures and restoring them to their original grandeur.

The Kentucky Heritage Commission, a relatively small state agency that aims to preserve the state's heritage, helps people obtain the aid needed for restoration.

Providing that restoration assistance, though, is just one way the commission does its job.

Anne Armstrong Thompson, the commission's newly appointed executive director, says the agency's staff is presently surveying the state's historic sites to find what should be preserved. Once that survey is finished, she says, a complete and illustrated roster of the state's historical resources will exist.

Thompson hopes that some of the material from the survey will then be used in county histories, some of which have already been published. She says the histories would show people "the old building next to the bus stop" could have historical value.

If a structure, site or area has significant historical importance, it could be added to the National Register of Historic Places. For that to happen, the state Preservation Review Board must examine the site and decide if a formal application for inclusion should be made.

Once on the register, a site is provided limited protection and the owners are qualified to apply for a 50-50 matching grant for restoration or rehabilitation. Owners of commercial properties can apply for tax incentives. There are 979 Kentucky sites listed on the register.

A 23-member staff keeps the board and commission members up to date on the survey, the status of grants and possible additions to the register. Thompson supervises the staff and works with the commission's numerous advisory committees. This work is new for her, but not alien.

She says she had a "a knowledge that I was living in an historic area" when she grew up near Lexington's distinguished old Gratz park neighborhood. Her family had lived in the area for generations and provided her with an appreciation for its historical importance. A Kentucky history course in the fourth grade helped turn that appreciation into love.

That love blossomed in college when she took another state history course and wrote a paper on John Hunt Morgan.

The 41-year-old graduate of the University of Kentucky and the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy kept her love alive as a volunteer member of the commission's Franklin county Committee from 1967 to 1973. Since the early 1970s, however, her main interests have been her family and writing.

She is the wife of Frankfort architect Milton Thompson and the mother of two young sons. Her three novels, "The Swiss Legacy," "Message From Absalom" and "the Romanov Ransom," have all been financially successful.

The suspense and intrigue that fill her books come from her imagination and three years' experience with the Central Intelligence Agency. She is now working on a book that concerns life in France during World War II. She spends an hour and a half each night on the book after her sons are in bed and she has worked a full day.

Taking care of her family, writing and working on the commission is not tiring for Thompson. In fact she says the work is "stimulating." "I'm looking for personal enrichment by working," she says. She also hopes to enrich the lives of her fellow Kentuckians.

She wants to work with the state Tourism Department to establish tours of historic areas and she hopes the Kentucky Film Commission continues to use the commission's files when it is looking for movie locations. That process was used successfully for the film "Black Beauty."

Thompson believes such efforts, along with Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.'s economic development plans, go hand in hand with historic preservation. People deciding on whether or not to move to the state will want attractive surroundings, she says. And she believes that Kentucky's rich heritage and tradition provide those surroundings.

Old-Time Country Music Taped At Natural Bridge

Country-music radio as it used to be will attract visitors to Natural Bridge State Resort March 13-14. Kentucky folk musicians Dick and Anne Albin will produce two evenings of old-time country music radio shows for eventual airing on stations in Kentucky and elsewhere. Joining the Albins at the 8 p.m. taping sessions will be Lily May Ledford, an original member of the Coon Creek Girls group; and The Riders of the Sky, a Nashville trio that performs often at the grand Old Opry. Admission to the tapings is free. The park's multi-purpose building is the setting for the shows. Further information may be obtained by contacting Natural Bridge in Slade, Ky. 40376 or by calling (606) 663-2214.

Coal-Oil Plant To Use Island Creek Product

Occidental Petroleum corporation's subsidiary, COM Energy, Inc., and Eastern Seaboard Petroleum Co. of Jacksonville, have jointly announced plans for the location of the first commercial coal-oil mixture plant in this country at Jacksonville, Florida. Production of a coal-oil mixture product is planned to begin early in the second quarter of this year. Site preparation is now under way. COM is a combination of pulverized coal and fuel oil and is expected to provide an economical alternative to total conversion to coal. The use of a COM product can cut an industrial consumer's use of fuel oil by one-half. The plant, which was designed by Occidental Engineering Company, Irvine, Calif., is self-contained and can produce 1 million barrels a year of the coal-oil mixture. The facility has been designed to incorporate various technologies to improve stability or viscosity of the mix as required for extended storage and handling. Plans call for the product to be shipped to customers in trucks and later by barge.

- Honest, qualified and sober.
- If you want law and order in Floyd county, vote for me.

My Platform

- I think that the Drug Problem should be taken care of. It's destroying our young generation. Think. Is your child or grandchild involved yet? Are you afraid some pusher will slip some drugs in their food or drink?
- I want to see that churchmembers and followers can get to and from church, without fear of losing their lives, or being run over by some drunk.
- I want the citizens of Floyd County to be able to lay down at night, at home, without fear of being robbed.
- I'm for all labor organizations and unions. I have stood on the picket line many times. I am for the working men and women.
- Funerals and ballgames will be taken care of.
- No one will be beaten up by me, or my deputies. I want the young people to think of this. Floyd County belongs to you, the people. Respect me as Sheriff and I'll respect you.

I offer my pledge as a "Good-Honest" Magistrate for your support.

We can work together for the Progress of District 3.
I will attend and participate in all fiscal court meetings.
Let me serve you and solve the neglected road problems in your community.
Let's build better roads to our many long-forgotten cemeteries.
Give me your support; I promise, you won't be sorry.
Effort will get the job done.
Teach the citizens of District 3 what a "GOOD" Magistrate can do.

Telephones will be listed.
Help the volunteer Fire Departments of District 3.
Equal opportunity in each community.

Jobs will get done upon request.
On the move every day to better our District.
Better roads instead of bigger holes.

District 3 will be a better place to live.
Out daily to best serve you.
Not just a selected few will benefit.

I will work to better all of our communities, in District 4 and all of Floyd county—I will be a Magistrate for the people.

(Pol. Adv. Pd. by Candidate, 3-4-51-pd.)

TO THE VOTERS IN DISTRICT 1

For the past few weeks I have been over the roads and up the hollows, talking to the people of District 1 about the sorry conditions of the roads. I hear the cry of our people for help. They tell me of the promises that were never kept from the past elections. Some of our roads are still in 18th century. This is the 20th century. I do not think there is any excuse for the condition of some of our county roads today. It's time for the roads to be improved, for the safety of the school children who have to ride over them to get to school. I hope you had the opportunity to see the conditions of our roads on Channel 57, Hazard, this past Saturday, March 7. I hope to show you more of our road conditions on Channel 13 in the next few weeks, and interview some of our citizens so you can hear their views. So watch for time and Channel in the Floyd County Times.

If you would like to talk with me and explain your needs, you can call me any time—phone 874-9192. I will be glad to talk with you on the phone or visit with you at your home.

It is evident that drugs have weakened our great country. At first the problem was contained to the larger cities, but now it has spread into our rural areas.

As a Kentucky State Trooper, I worked every type of case, from air craft accidents to homicide investigations, but the ones that concern me most are the ones involving drugs and alcohol abuse. I have seen individuals suffer from these dreadful abuses, and it is not pleasant.

There is one pledge I will make to the people of Floyd County: it is to work hard toward controlling these very serious problems, and especially to keep them away from our schools.

Candidate

I would like to take this opportunity to let the voters of District 2 better acquaint themselves with their candidate.

I am a graduate of Garrett High School. My parents are the Rev. James and Creddie Lawson Duff. My grandparents were the late Zach and Nancy Duff and John and Dollie Lawson. I am married to Patricia Truman Duff and we have three children, Sandy, Sheila and Todd Duff. I have operated a service station at Hueysville, Ky., for the past 15 years.

If you elect me your Magistrate I will be a servant of ALL the people and will make sure that:

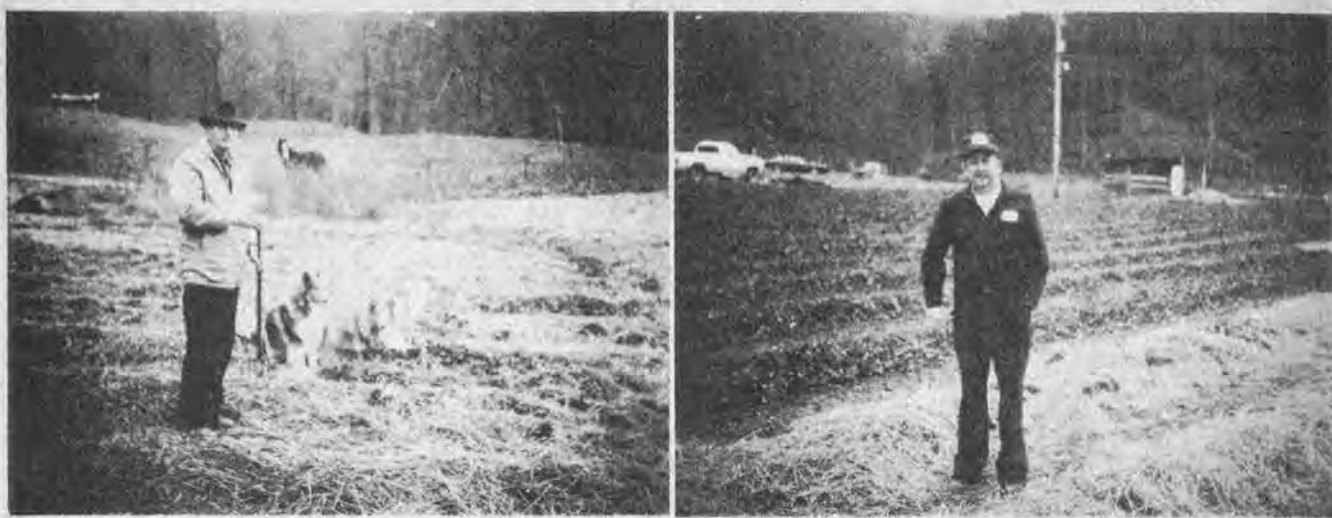

- (1) The county equipment is operated eight hours a day, five days a week;
- (2) Ditches are cleaned and adequate drainage is provided for roads;
- (3) Equipment is left on a road until the job is finished;
- (4) Work is done on every road in this District, regardless of how you vote or what political party you belong to;
- (5) I will work with the County Judge-Executive and other members of the Fiscal Court to better Floyd County and make Floyd County a better place in which to live.

Strawberries, a Good Cash Crop

By JOHN SPARKS
Cooperation Extension Agent
Strawberries can be a profitable crop or pastime in the Big Sandy region, as Bill Ward, of Little Paint, and Curtis Blackburn, of Stanville, will tell you. Mr. Ward has been growing berries for approximately two years and has nearly two acres. Mr. Blackburn has grown berries for several years and currently has 1/2 to 3/4 acre.

Mr. Blackburn sells his berries on a pick-your-own basis. He has established rules to govern pickers and protect his plants. The names of pickers from past years are kept and they are notified when berry season arrives. "We've never been able to grow enough to supply all the pickers on our list," says Mr. Blackburn. Some people come from as far away as West Virginia.

Mr. Ward sells his berries picked. He feels people will damage the plants if he went to a pick-your-own operation. Mr. Ward feels he will be able to secure the necessary labor to harvest the crop. "I've been able to sell everything we can pick," he said.

Both type operations have advantages. Picking the berries requires additional seasonal labor, but the gross is more. Pick-your-own strawberry operations required less labor, but require strict rules and someone to oversee picking.

Both gentlemen have excellent sites for strawberries—good, well-drained soils with a slight slope for air drainage. Low spots where cold air settles and poorly drained soils should be avoided. Pick-your-own operations should be reasonably near to well-traveled roads and allow for adequate parking.

Both growers lost some of their early berries to frost. Both are able to irrigate and plan to use irrigation to protect their early fruiting varieties. The main crop and later varieties were not badly hurt. Irrigation is important insurance for frost protection and for supplemental watering during dry seasons. One or two irrigations while the fruit is developing and maturing generally increases fruit size. Irrigation in strawberries will generally pay for itself in a few years.

Both growers use Enide to control weeds in their plantings. "We about went crazy fighting weeds, especially grass, until we went to a herbicide program," according to Mr. Ward. Several new herbicides have been labeled for strawberries and promise better control of weed pests.

A straw mulch will be applied in late November or early December. The mulch prevents temperature extremes and protects the plants. It is removed in the spring but kept handy in case of a late frost. It can be placed back on the rows for protection. Mr. Blackburn uses a hay rake to move the mulch off of the plants. At least some of the straw is left between rows making a cleaner surface for pickers and berries and adds organic matter to the soil when turned under during renovation.

Renovation is very important for home and commercial strawberry plantings. It keeps the planting from becoming a patch, keeps the plants vigorous and extends the number of years before the planting must be renewed. Both growers use tillers to narrow the rows to around 12 to 18 inches. Fertilizer is applied at renovation and again in early fall.

Mr. Blackburn also uses a harrow to thin the plants. Some varieties form too many plants and like any other crop, strawberries will do best when properly spaced. Certain varieties are more likely to require thinning than others. Pulling a harrow over the patch uproots many young plants but will not harm large plants with extensive root systems. These young plants would have cropped only lightly and crowding results in small size and lower fruit quality.

Strawberries can be a good way to supplement your income and can develop to a major part of your farming system. Success requires proper management and planning and work. "Growing strawberries is a family operation" Mr. Blackburn said. "You have got to be willing to put in the work to make it a success." Your County Extension Office can provide you with publications and additional information to aid you in establishing a home or commercial planting.

Conservation Corps Begins Work in Pike

Ten Young Conservation Corps (YACC) workers are beginning work in Pike county this week on a reclamation project designed to help prevent flooding in the Tug Fork Valley.

The YACC crew will perform basic reclamation work, including stabilizing the slopes, to prevent additional silt from getting into the Tug Fork and its tributaries.

While this work is going on, the state of Kentucky will undertake a study to determine what further reclamation work will be necessary in the area, involving the Peter Branch watershed of Blackberry Creek, near Freeburn, about seven miles south of Belfry. That work will be done under a cooperative agreement with OSM, using OSM funds also.

David C. Short, OSM's Region II Director in Knoxville, TN., said the Peter Branch subwatershed is one of the major contributors to sedimentation of the Tug Fork from the Kentucky side. That sedimentation, in turn, is a major factor in flooding problems in the valley.

At least 65 homes located downstream on Peter Branch, Blackberry Creek and Tug Fork now are very vulnerable to flooding, Short said.

★ CONSUMER ALERT ★

Automobile Repairs

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear warns Kentucky consumers to collect a lot of information before spending money on car repairs. This would help reduce the recurring problems encountered by people who negotiate repair agreements with businesses they do not know and about problems they do not understand.

"Before taking your car in for any repairs, check the reliability of the garage," Beshear said. "Ask family and friends about its business reputation. Ask them also about the kind of service they have received, the attitudes of the people who did the work, the reasonableness of the charges and the willingness of the business to stand behind or guarantee its work."

Call ahead to find out whether or not an appointment is necessary and whether labor costs are lower on weekdays than on Saturdays. You may be able to arrange your schedule to benefit from this savings, Beshear explained.

When you take your car to the repair shop, describe your car's problem in detail to the service manager. Do not suggest what you think is wrong with the car; just list the symptoms.

Be sure to stay with the service manager while he examines the car, and if possible talk with the mechanic and discuss the car's problems.

Don't be talked into having repairs done that you do not want or did not plan on having done. If other repairs are suggested, you may want to confirm the need for them elsewhere.

After the car has been examined, have the needed repairs specifically described by the repairman. Do not accept vague, work-order terms such as "repair brakes" or "fix transmission." Get an estimated cost for repairs in writing, and make sure the cost of all parts and labor is included, Beshear said.

If a need for a major repair job is indicated, it may be advisable to obtain several estimates before having the work done. Every repair shop has a flat-rate book that gives the average time and the number of parts required to complete the job. Ask the service manager for a price quotation based on this book.

Read the work order before signing it. This paper should state that any repairs required beyond those described in the work order must be authorized by you.

"If this is not printed on the authorization, write it in yourself...and obtain a copy of the repair order for your records and to review if further repairs are suggested," Beshear said.

When the repair work is done and you pick up the car, test drive it to be sure the work has been done properly, the attorney general advised. If it has not, return the car and insist the work be done correctly and at no extra cost.

Before paying the bill, make sure the computations are accurate and that all costs are itemized. Kentucky sales tax should only apply to parts—not to labor. Make sure any guarantees are put in writing, and keep copies of work orders, bills and guarantees, he added.

If you have a complaint about the repairs done to your car, you should first contact the management of the repair shop directly. If you do not get the problem resolved in that manner, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

The Harman Family

By CHARLES C. WELLS
Few families have had more influence in the settlement of the frontier of Eastern Kentucky and Southwest Virginia than the Harmans, yet history has sadly neglected their contribution to our nation's development.

The Harmans of Eastern Kentucky trace their ancestry to Heinrich Adam Harman and his wife, Louisa Katrina. Heinrich, who was usually referred to as Adam, was born in Prussia, Germany, about 1690. He and Louisa Katrina were married in Prussia in 1723, and in the late summer of 1724 their first child, Adam, Jr., was born.

Early in 1725, due to the repressive nature of life in Germany during this period, Adam, Sr. and his family left their home to begin a new life in the American Colonies. En route, the Harmans were forced to delay their journey and were residing on the Isle of Man when their second son, Henry, was born.

We know that the Harmans had reached America by 1729 as their third son, Daniel, was born that year in Pennsylvania.

By 1734 or 1725, Adam Harman, Sr. and his growing family had settled in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, near Strasburg. It was here in 1736 that Mathis Harman was born.

New settlers were soon filling the Valley of Virginia and Adam, Sr. once again felt the need to find a less crowded area. Divesting himself of his holdings in the Valley, Adam and his family began their journey into the wilderness of Southwest Virginia. Reaching the New River area in the present Giles County, Virginia, he established his permanent residence at what is now Eggleston, Virginia.

Here, Adam Harman and his sons were the founders of the first permanent English-speaking settlement west of the Alleghany Mountains, possibly in the whole Mississippi Valley.

While most histories fix the first settlement at Drapers Meadow in 1746, in Montgomery County, Va., a county court record entered in Orange County, Virginia, dated 29th of May, 1745, orders a road survey to "Adam Harman's on New River." We also find that he was a road overseer, a constable and an officer in the militia in the New River area prior to 1746.

From their home on New River the Harmans were soon exploring and hunting in the Big Sandy Valley. By 1755, Mathis Harman had constructed a hunting cabin near the mouth of Johns Creek in the present Johnson County, Ky. This cabin was to become the foundation for the first permanent English settlement in Eastern Kentucky.

It was not until around 1786 that a real effort was made to settle the Big Sandy Valley when Mathis Harman, his brothers and a few of their neighbors came into the valley and erected a block-house near the site of Mathis' old hunting cabin. It was at this site that the ordeal of Jenny Wiley reached its dramatic climax.

Whether by design or not, the Harmans built their block-house near the War Trail used by the Indians, and constant harassment by these warriors prevented the settlers from planting. Without supplies to carry them through the winter, Mathias Harman and his friends were forced to return to Virginia. When the Indians discovered the block-house abandoned, they promptly burned it to the ground.

Another attempt at establishing a settlement was made by the Harmans the following year and it met the same fate as the first. Once again, the block-house was rebuilt but this time was surrounded by a stockade and by 1789 Harman's Station was firmly established in the Big Sandy Valley. While the Indians were still troublesome for several years, they were never again able to force the settlers out.

An excellent account of the founding of Harman's Station and the Wiley captivity will be found in a book by the same title written by William Eleyse Connelley and published by Edward R. Hazlett, of Paintsville.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE
FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

Mid-State Homes, Inc. . . . . Pff.
VS. NOTICE OF SALE
80-CI-769

Donald Green and Linda Greer . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the January 9, term, 1981 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on Friday the 13th day of March, 1981 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six (6) months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract of land lying and being on the waters of the Spurlock Fork of Beaver Creek and being part of the same land that was conveyed the defendants Donald Greer and Linda Greer on June, 1977, as recorded in deed book 230, page 140, in the Floyd County Clerk's Office and being more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning on road right of way of Spurlock Road; thence with road right of way N 87 degrees, 00 minutes, W 60' to a stake; thence leaving road right of way N 2 degrees, W 720' to top of hill; thence S 87 degrees, 00 minutes E 60'; thence S 2 degrees E 720' to beginning, containing one acre more or less, and being part of the same land conveyed to Clyde Greer and Margie Greer, his wife, by deed dated June 28, 1945, from G. C. Ferill and Louise, his wife, recorded in Deed Bok 126, page 417, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

This being part of the same land conveyed to Donald Greer and Linda Greer, his wife, by deed dated June, 1977, from Clyde Greer and Margie Greer, his wife, recorded in Deed Book 230, page 140, records of Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $18,079.39 with interest thereon at 8% annually from the 9th day of January, 1981 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms. Given under my hand, this 17th day of February 1981.
